THE COACHES

BOBBY ADAMS

51

A veteran of 14 major league seasons, Bobby played for the Cubs in 1957, 1958, and the early part of 1959. . . . After finishing the '59 season at Seattle, he became secretary of the Association of Professional Baseball Players of America, a post he held until he resigned this February to join the Cubs coaching staff. . . . Bobby spent most of his big-league career with Cincinnati and was briefly with the White Sox and Baltimore before coming to the Cubs. . . . A versatile infielder, he played third base, second, and first while with the Cubs, and also saw service at shortstop and in the outfield during his career. . . . He started out in pro ball at Ogden in the Pioneer League in 1939.

DICK COLE

Dick joined the Cubs coaching staff on April 26 of this season to specialize in infield instruction, after starting the season at Houston. . . . He broke into pro baseball at Sacramento in the St. Louis Cardinals system in 1943, then served in the Army two years. . . . A slick-fielding second baseman, he came up to the Cardinals in 1951, was traded to Pittsburgh later that season. . . . In 1957 he was traded to Milwaukee, and in addition to utility infield duty, handled part-time coaching work. . . . Also gained instructional experience while at Houston.

JAMES (RIP) COLLINS

Rip returns to the Cubs for the first time since 1938 when he helped the club win the National League pennant that year. . . . He has been out of baseball the past 10 years, 9 of which he spent with Wilson Sporting Goods Co. in the baseball division. . . . Rip was a member of the Cardinals' famous "Gashouse Gang" from 1931 through '36. . . . Always a standout at first base with the glove, he enjoyed his finest season in 1934, when he hit .333, led the League in slugging percentage at .615, and fielded .991. . . . Has managed 9 years in the lower classifications—5 at Albany, two at San Diego, and two at Hartford.

HARRY CRAFT

When Harry joined the Cubs coaching staff in May of 1960, he brought with him a wide range of experience. . . . He had managed four clubs, from Class D through AAA, in the New York Yankees organization, then had served as coach with the Kansas City Athletics starting in 1955. . . . In August of 1957 he was named manager of the A's to succeed Lou Boudreau. . . . After the 1959 season he resigned as manager to become supervisor of scouts for Kansas City, leaving that post to come with the Cubs. . . . In his playing days Harry was a top-flight outfielder with the Cincinnati Reds from 1937 thru 1942.

CHARLIE GRIMM

Charlie Grimm's long record of valuable service with the Cubs began in 1924 when a trade with Pittsburgh brought him to Chicago for 12 great seasons as player and player-manager. . . . As a first baseman he set fielding records that establish him as one of the best of all time. . . . And he starred at the plate, too, with a .290 average over 20 big-league seasons. . . . Charlie led the Cubs to pennants in 1932 and 1935, then returned to lead the club to another flag in 1945. . . . Later he managed the Braves several seasons, then rejoined the Cubs in 1956 to help develop young players. . . . He managed the Cubs again in the early part of 1960, also directed the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League last fall.

Vedie was appointed to the Cubs coaching staff in May of last season to specialize in working with the pitchers. . . . Previously he had circulated among the associated clubs in the Cubs organization to coach the young pitchers coming up. . . . In his 9 years with the Cubs he has also served as a scout and as co-ordinator of spring training activities for young players. . . . Vedie's playing career began with Alexandria, La., in 1937. . . . He pitched for St. Paul from 1939 thru '42, then served 3 years in the Navy. . . . He returned to St. Paul as pitcher and coach in 1946. . . . From 1947 thru '51 he was with the Cardinals system as business manager, team manager, and scout.

GOLDIE HOLT

57

The Cubs became interested in obtaining Goldie Holt's services on the basis of his success in helping develop several outstanding young pitchers in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization. . . . He played infield and outfield in league classifications up through AAA, including service in 1937 with the Los Angeles Angels, then associated with the Cubs, and with Kansas City and Newark in the Yankee organization. . . . He has managed 14 years, most recently at Spokane in 1958, and was a coach with Pittsburgh in 1948-50. . . . Developing a special knack for working with young pitchers, he became roving pitching coach in the Dodgers' system.

LOU KLEIN

Lou had been managing at Houston in the American Association just before joining the Cubs coaching staff on July 18 this season. . . . Earlier this year he had piloted the Carlsbad, N. M., club in the Cubs system. . . . Was a Cub coach in the early part of the 1960 season, then became a special assignment scout. . . . Previously he had successfully managed 4 clubs in the Cubs system—LaFayette, Des Moines, Memphis, Ft. Worth. . . . A good hitter and a stylish fielding shortstop and second baseman, he entered the majors with the St. Louis Cardinals, played 3 years in the Mexican League, 1946-48, then returned to the Cardinals.

Fred was named to the Cubs coaching staff on March 22 while assisting in instructional work at the spring camp in Mesa. . . . Pitching is his instructional specialty. . . . Fred's active career as a pitcher spanned a period of 24 years, starting in the St. Louis Cardinals system in 1935. . . . At 44 he was a relief pitcher for Houston in 1959. . . . After 4 years in the Army in World War II, he joined the Cardinals in 1946. . . . He went to the Mexican League the same year, and returned to the Cardinals in 1949. . . . Was player-manager at Dallas before joining the Cubs organization to manage at St. Cloud in 1960.

ELVIN TAPPE

El Tappe at age 31 has 3 seasons of coaching experience with the Cubs and is probably the youngest of the major league coaches. . . . He also saw some active service as a player during this period, appearing in 51 games in 1960. . . . El broke into professional baseball at Henderson, Texas, in 1947. . . . He was with Beaumont in the New York Yankee system when he came into the Cubs organization via draft by the Los Angeles Angels, then a Cub affiliate. . . . During his career as a catcher he was noted for his skill in handling pitchers, as well as his all-around defensive ability. . . . Became the Cubs' bullpen coach in mid-season of 1958, then gained experience as baseline coach in addition to handling instructional work with catchers.

VERLON WALKER

In his past 4 seasons of handling managerial assignments in the Cubs organization—1957-59 at Paris, Ill., in the Midwest League and 1960 at Carlsbad, N. M., in the Sophomore League—Verlon Walker made a name for himself in instructing and developing young players. . . . He has been in the Cubs system since 1948, when he began his pro career as a catcher with Lumberton, N. C., of the Tobacco State League, and has caught on 7 different clubs in the Cubs organization since that time. . . . Had his top year as a hitter in 1956 while managing at Paris, when he batted .321 and hit 20 homers. . . . He's the younger brother of former Cub catcher Al (Rube) Walker.

THE 1961 CUBS TEAM

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born March 20, 1933. Height 6 ft., 4 in. Weight 200. Married, one daughter. Home: Chicago.

After a fine rookie year in 1959, George enjoyed an even better one in 1960 by hitting .266, which was 21 points over his 1959 average. . . . Played both the outfield and first base during the 1960 season. . . . In 1959, he was named the Chicago rookie of the year by the Chicago Baseball Writers Association. . . . Started in the Cubs organization at Burlington in 1956. . . . Was moved up to the Cubs roster during spring training in 1959 and was named the outstanding rookie at Mesa by the Chicago baseball writers. . . . Graduated from Tennessee A. & I. University in 1955 and played with the Kansas City Monarchs that summer.

RICHIE ASHBURN

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born March 19, 1927. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 170. Married, five children. Home: Tilden, Nebraska.

In his first season in a Cub uniform, Richie led the club in hitting with a .291 average. . . . He was second to Banks in total hits with 159 and led the National League in walks with 116, holding his pre-eminence as one of the top men in the majors in ability to get on base. . . . Now has a major league career total of 2,376 hits—second only to Stan Musial among active National League players. . . . Also led the Cubs last season in runs scored (99) and stolen bases (16). . . . In 11 of his 13 major league seasons he has played in 150 or more games. . . . Won the National League batting championship in 1955 and again in 1958. . . . Has played in 3 All Star games and one World Series.

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Jan. 31, 1931. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 180. Married, twin sons. Home: Chicago.

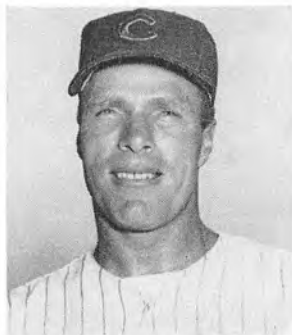

Ernie came up with another solid season in 1960, even though not up to his sensational pace of 1958 and '59 when he shattered National League precedent by winning the Most Valuable Player Award two years in a row. . . . Banks led both leagues in home runs last season with 41. . . . Has now hit more home runs—269—than any other shortstop in major league history. . . . Broke Gabby Hartnett's career record of 231 homers to become the Cubs' all-time home run leader. . . . 1960 was the 4th year in a row, and the 5th in his career, that he hit more than 40 homers. . . . And Ernie also led all National League shortstops in fielding. . . . Ernie came to Wrigley Field on Sept. 14, 1953, when the Cubs purchased his contract from the Kansas City Monarchs. . . . He immediately established himself as a Cub regular, and soon developed as one of the greatest stars of modern times. . . .

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born June 20, 1932. Height 5 ft., 11 in. Weight 180. Married, three children. Home: Sacramento, California.

The Cubs drafted Barragan off the Sacramento roster last November after he had completed his best season since breaking into pro ball at Idaho Falls in 1953. . . . Besides hitting .318 at Sacramento, he set a new Pacific Coast League record by throwing out 24 would-be base stealers. . . . Also led all PCL catchers in double plays with 12. . . . Has a strong, accurate arm, is regarded as a good handler of pitchers, and can run. . . . Starred in baseball at Sacramento Junior College. . . . A stand-out at the Mesa training camp this spring. Cuno suffered a severe ankle fracture March 25 while sliding into third base and was placed on the disabled list March 27, 1961.

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born November 21, 1935. Height 6 ft., 1 in. Weight 195. Single. Home: Des Moines, Iowa.

Dick developed steadily as the top young catching prospect in the Cubs organization after starting out at Des Moines in 1957. . . . Has a strong arm and showed he knows what to do with a bat by hitting .289 last season at Houston, where he was named to the American Association All-Star team. . . . Was graduated from Roosevelt High School, Des Moines, in 1953, where he starred in baseball and was named captain of the All-City team two years in a row. . . . At Iowa State College, he paced his team to the Big 7 championship in 1957... He captained this team and was named All-American.

JIM BREWER

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born Nov. 17, 1937. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 195. Married, one son. Home: Broken Arrow, Oklahoma.

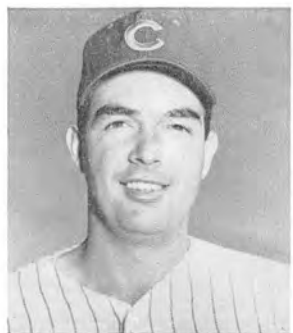

Jim came to Wrigley Field from Houston in July of last season and quickly won himself a place on the Cubs pitching staff... Though he lost 3 decisions, two of them were well-pitched heartbreakers which he lost by one run... Then on August 4 his career was halted when he suffered a severe facial injury in an attack by Bill Martin, then of the Reds... After several painful operations, Jim courageously came back to pitch for the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Dec. 7, 1935. Height 6 ft., 4 in. Weight 210. Married, two children. Home: Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

For his sensational debut with the Cubs last season, Don was presented with a special Headline Award for individual accomplishment by the Chicago Baseball Writers Association. . . . On May 15, 1960, two days after joining the Cubs with Ed Bouchee in the deal that sent Tony Taylor and Cal Neeman to the Phillies, Cardwell pitched a 4-0 no-hit game against the Cardinals. . . . This was the first no-hitter ever recorded by a pitcher in his first start after being traded from one major league club to another. . . . Don went on to lead the Cubs staff in strikeouts with 150. . . . And he was quite a hitter last season—he clouted 5 home runs and was used as a pinch-hitter on several occasions.

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born March 22, 1940. Height 6 ft., 4 in. Weight 190. Married, one son. Home: Fresno, California.

Dick, who was one of the country's top high school stars when the Cubs signed him in 1958, won his first National League game on May 4 last season... This was the day after his recall from Houston, where he had been assigned after spring training with the Cubs at Mesa... At Houston he had pitched brilliantly, winning two games with no losses and an 0.86 earned-run average... Led National League pitchers in fielding in 1960, handling 41 chances without an error... Won 110 games with only 5 losses in 3 years at Fresno, Calif., High School and in American Legion competition... Made his first appearance as a Cub on June 16, 1958, in the annual boys' benefit game, blanking the White Sox 1-0 on 4 hits.

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born April 6, 1929. Height 6 ft. Weight 170. Married, three children. Home: Northbrook, Illinois.

As the reliable ace of the Cubs' bullpen, Don came through with another fine season last year... Led the staff in won-and-lost percentage with an 8-9 record and had a 3.40 earn-run average in 60 appearances... Has appeared in a total of 194 games in three full seasons with the Cubs... After signing into the Cubs organization in 1948, Elston was traded to the Dodgers after the 1955 season... Pitched for St. Paul in the Dodger organization in 1956, then moved up to Brooklyn the following spring. . . . The Cubs got him back on May 23, 1957, in exchange for Jackie Collum and Vito Valentinetti, and he has starred as a relief specialist ever since. . . . In the 1958 season, Don set an all-time Cub record since 1900 for most games pitched by appearing in 69 games.

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born April 24, 1936. Height 6 ft., 3 in. Weight 195. Married, one son. Home: Wilt, Illinois.

Glen's 16 victories in 1960 made him the Cubs' winningest pitcher for the third straight season.... The strong-armed young right-hander also led the Cub staff last season in complete games pitched with 16 complete performances in 36 starts.... Also led in innings pitched with 259 in 46 games, and in shutouts with 4.... This is Hobbie's 7th season in a professional career that began with Charleston, W. Va., in 1955.... Though not a member of the Cub organization at the time, he chalked up a sparkling 15-15 record in 1957 at Memphis, which had a working agreement with the Cubs.... The Cubs made a large cash offer for his contract and he came to Wrigley Field near the end of the '57 season.

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Sept. 4, 1936. Height 5 ft., 10 in. Weight 190. Married. Home: Los Angeles, Calif.

Jim came into the Cubs organization on April 1 of this year in a trade that sent Lou Johnson to the Los Angeles Angels. . . . He was assigned to Houston, where he was batting .318 when he was called up to Wrigley Field on July 30. . . . Made his debut in a Cub uniform by hitting a pinch single in the second game of a double header with Cincinnati that day. . . . Attended the University of Southern California for two years and signed into the White Sox system to begin his pro career with the Waterloo, Iowa, club in 1955. . . . Was a sensation at Colorado Springs in 1958, when he hit .400 and batted in 117 runs.

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Jan. 25, 1933. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 190. Single. Home: Richmond, Virginia.

On May 9 of this season, the Cubs obtained Roach in a deal that sent Frank Thomas to Milwaukee. . . . A versatile performer with experience at first base, second, third, and in the outfield, Mel hit .300 for the Braves last year, .309 in 1958. . . . His career was interrupted in the latter season by surgery for a torn knee ligament. . . . As a bonus player signed by the Braves in 1953, he saw little action in the '53 and '54 seasons. . . . Spent two years in military service, returned to the Braves via Atlanta and Jacksonville.

ANDRE RODGERS18

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Dec. 2, 1934. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 190. Married, two children. Home: Nassau, Bahamas.

Andre came to the Cubs from Milwaukee on March 31 of the current season, along with Daryl Robertson (assigned to San Antonio), in exchange for Moe Drabowsky and Seth Morehead. . . . A native of Nassau in the Bahamas, he played cricket as a boy and did not come in contact with baseball until he was 17. . . . Two years later he was playing in the Giants organization at Olean, N.Y. . . . Was traded by San Francisco to the Braves after the 1960 season for Alvin Dark. . . . In 1960 he was 2nd among National League pinch-hitters with a .437 average.

RON SANTO10

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Feb. 25, 1940. Height 6 ft. Weight 185. Married, one son. Home: Seattle, Washington.

Ron's rise to a major league berth after just a little over a year in professional baseball is an example of the Cubs' accelerated player development program. . . . Though not on the roster, he was taken to spring training with the Cubs at Mesa in 1960, then assigned to Houston to start the season. . . . On June 26, 1960, he was brought up to the Cubs and he took over at third base for the rest of the season, missing only one game. . . . Was so impressive as a rookie that he was named to the Sporting News All-Star Rookie team and was honored as Chicago's Rookie of the Year by the Chicago baseball writers. . . . Was graduated from Franklin High, Seattle, in 1958.

BARNEY SCHULTZ

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Aug. 15, 1926. Height 6 ft., 2 in. Weight 200. Married, two children. Home: Beverly, New Jersey.

George Warren Schultz, better known in baseball as Barney, was acquired from Houston on June 11 of this season to strengthen the relief pitching. . . . The veteran knuckleball specialist promptly went to work in both games of a double header against Milwaukee, saving a victory for the Cubs in the second game. . . . In a career that goes back to 1944, Barney appeared briefly in the major leagues with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1955 and Detroit in 1959. . . . In 1960 he compiled a fine 3.02 earned run average at Houston, then reached sensational form in the early part of the current season. . . . Pitching in 24 games, all in relief, he won 6 and lost 1, and had a 2.81 ERA.

Items of Interest about the 1961 Cubs

Twelve of the Cubs are new to the team since June of last season. . . . Newcomers are Ron Santo, Billy Williams, Jim Brewer, Dick Bertell, Sam Drake, and Jack Curtis—all developed in the Cubs organization; Al Heist and Cuno Barragan from Sacramento; Andre Rodgers and Mel Roach from the Milwaukee Braves; Barney Schultz and Jim McAnany from Houston.

The average age of the team is 27.1 years. . . . All of the pitchers are 26 or younger except relief specialists Don Elston and Barney Schultz.

Ernie Banks at 30 has the most years of service as a Cub—7 full seasons since he joined the club in September, 1953. . . . Elston, who joined the Cubs in May, 1957, is next in consecutive service, followed by Glen Hobbie, who came up in the fall of '57.

Team members were born in 19 States of the U.S., and Andre Rodgers comes from the Bahamas. . . . Illinois, California, and North Carolina are represented by 3 Cubs each.

Cubs 1960 Season Highlights

Ernie Banks set a new major league record for most home runs by a shortstop with 269. . . . Early in the season, on April 29 at St. Louis, Ernie hit a three-run homer off the Cardinals' Bob Miller to break Gabby Hartnett's club record of 231 home runs. . . . Ernie tied a major league record by receiving 28 intentional walks; broke a National League record by leading the League in games played for the 6th time; and tied a League record by hitting 40 or more home runs for the 5th season.

* * * * *

When Don Cardwell pitched his famous no-hitter on May 15 in his first appearance in a Cubs uniform, he became the 4th Cub hurler since 1900 to come up with a no-hit game. . . . He followed Jimmy Lavender (1915), Jim Vaughn (1917), and Sam Jones (1955). . . . A Wrigley Field crowd of 33,543 watched Don's feat in the second game of a double-header against St. Louis.

* * * * *

For the second straight year, Ernie Banks led all National League shortstops in fielding with a percentage of .977. . . . Dick Ellsworth handled 41 chances without an error to lead the National League pitchers in fielding.

* * * * *

Ron Santo was honored as the Chicago Rookie of the Year for 1960 by the Chicago Baseball Writers Association.

* * * * *

Don Elston appeared in 60 games in 1960 to run his total for the past 3 years to 194 games.

About the Cubs' New Program for Faster Development of Young Players

As major league baseball expands into more cities, the game offers more openings at the top for young men starting out. Last year the National League made plans to add clubs at Houston and New York in 1962. Soon after, the American League moved to add Minneapolis-St. Paul and Los Angeles in 1961.

Next season both Leagues will be operating with 10 clubs, instead of the traditional 8. This means a 25% increase in the number of players on major league rosters. And chances are that each League will bring its club total up to 12 in the next several years.

More Opportunity—and a Challenge

The result is more opportunity for the young man considering professional baseball as a career. And it also spells a challenge for the established clubs, because: (1) They must give up some of their players to help form the new clubs. (2) Competition in finding and developing players with major league ability is becoming much sharper.

To meet this challenge, the Chicago Cubs are pioneering the "management team" plan. It consists of the key people in every part of the organization—from Class D on up to the major league club—working together as a close-knit group to provide more and better instruction for young players.

Major League Instruction at All Levels

The Club has built up a staff of 10 major league coaches, and more may be added as needs for instruction require. These coaches work interchangeably with the Chicago club and the associated clubs in other league classifications. The Cubs have a compact organization of associated clubs, listed on page 40.

Each coach has an instructional specialty, and from time to time is assigned to the associated club where his particular specialty can be helpful to young players in developing their talents.

Coaches are Rotated Where Needed Most

At any one time during the season, 4 to 5 members of the coaching staff are with the Chicago club, one of them serving as head coach to direct the play on the field. This position is rotated during the season, permitting coaches to go out to the associated clubs whenever needed on special assignments to work with young talent.

The Chicago Cubs have dropped the position of team manager, believing that a modern method of operation ought to be worth a try. The custom of having a manager has been followed for 90 years in baseball—that is, ever since the professional game started in 1871.

The manager set-up has meant constant turnover both in personnel and style of play. In the last 14 years in the two major leagues, 103 changes in managers have been made. And each new manager generally meant a new style of play and a new set of coaches who, for the most part, were special friends of the manager.

Standard System of Play Thruout

The core of the new Cubs program is a standard system of play, administered by a stable, good-sized group of coaches. The coaches are selected on the basis of merit, knowledge of the game, and ability to teach, rather than personal favoritism.

The Cubs system of play has been developed and put in writing by the coaches and other members of the management team as a group. While it is naturally subject to improvements to keep up with changes in the game, it is followed uniformly thru-out the organization—from bottom to top.

From the time a young player comes into the Cubs organization, he is trained consistently in the same system of executing baseball fundamentals. He does not have to adapt himself to a succession of different types of play. When he reaches Wrigley Field in Chicago he will know the fundamentals, and know them right.

Furthermore, he will not come to the major league club as a stranger in strange surroundings. When he arrives on the Cubs roster, he will know personally—and be known by—the coaches who have worked with him on his way up.

Added Instruction in Fall and Spring

As a further means of accelerating the development of young players, the Cubs' team in the Arizona Instructional League each fall operates directly under the major league coaching staff.

The League has a schedule of games from October thru early December, and young prospects in the organization who have shown special promise are invited to play on the Cubs team. It has its headquarters at Mesa, Arizona, using the field and facilities of the Cubs spring training base.

In the spring, a group of selected prospects not on the major league roster receive an opportunity of training with the Cubs at Mesa. The Cubs coaching staff is large enough to make sure that they receive plenty of individual attention. When the associated clubs open training at Mesa, a group of the coaches is assigned to handle spring drills for the young players on all associated clubs.

Highlights of Cubs History

This year marks the 85th anniversary of the National League, founded in 1876 as baseball's first major league... And the Chicago Cubs are the only club among the 8 original charter members that has operated continuously in the same city ever since the League was formed.

* * * * *

The founder of the National League was William A. Hulbert, who was president of the Chicago club... Known in the very early days as the White Stockings, the team was called the Colts in the 1890's, and in 1900 the team was officially named the Cubs... In the League's first year, A. G. Spalding, later to become famous as a sporting goods manufacturer, pitched 47 wins against 14 losses and led Chicago to the championship.

* * * * *

In 85 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 12,116 games... They have won 6,351 of them, for an all-time percentage of .524.

The Cubs have won 16 National League championships, second only to the Giants, with 17.

* * * * *

All-time major league record for games won in a season was set by the Cubs in 1906 with 116 victories that season.

* * * * *

Under the leadership of Charlie Grimm, the Cubs won 21 games in a row in 1935 to clinch the pennant that year.

* * * * *

Ernie Banks holds the all-time major league record for grand slam home runs in a season, hitting 5 homers with the bases loaded in 1955.

Hack Wilson set the all-time National League record for home runs in one season in 1930, with 56. Hack batted in 190 runs that season, an all-time major league record.

Wrigley Field—Home of the Cubs

Everywhere in the world of sports, the home park of the Chicago Cubs has long been famous as "beautiful Wrigley Field."

Located in a residential section on Chicago's North Side, the park provides 36,755 comfortable seats for baseball fans. It is at the corner of Clark and Addison Sts. Area: 7.7 acres.

Constant program of improvement

The Chicago National League Ball Club takes pride in presenting its games in comfortable, attractive surroundings. Every effort is made to keep the stands spic and span, and the playing field in finest possible condition. To help provide a park-like atmosphere, the walls are covered with ivy vines instead of advertising signs. Nor is there any advertising on the big scoreboard, one of the most informative in baseball.

The club conducts a constant program of improvement and modernization. A new box seat deck was built several years ago. In 1958, new concrete slab facing was installed on much of the exterior. A modernized entrance and new ticket windows were installed at Addison-Sheffield in 1959. In 1960 a similar new project was completed at the Clark-Addison entrance.

Early history of the park

The Cubs moved to this location from their West Side park in 1916. The site had been the playing field of the Chicago Whales of the old Federal League. The grandstand was enlarged from 14,000 seats to 20,000 in 1922-23, and the park was double-decked in 1926-27.

The club put in wider seats in the boxes and grandstand in 1938. This provided greater comfort for the fans, reducing the seating capacity by several thousands.

For some years, the ball park was named Cubs Park. In 1926 it was renamed Wrigley Field, after the late William Wrigley Jr., who headed the club from 1919 until he passed away in 1932. The Cubs won two pennants under his leadership, and four more under Phil Wrigley, present-day owner and president.

How to get tickets

Reserved box seat tickets for all games through the end of the season available by mail. Just send your order to Ticket Manager, Wrigley Field, Chicago 13, Ill. 22,500 grandstand and bleacher tickets go on sale the morning of every game at 10:30.

You can also buy box seat tickets in advance at the Wrigley Field ticket office at Addison and Sheffield and at Bond's downtown store, 234 S. State St., near Jackson.

How to get to the park

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West. Clark-Wentworth and Addison buses take you to main gates. North Side "L" trains take you to ¼ block from ball park.

The flags of Wrigley Field

Old Glory always flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park. On game days, the flags of the 8 National League cities and 6 states are flown at the Clark St. entrance.

Before and during each game, eight pennants, one for each club in the National League, fly from the yardarms in the order of the League standings on the morning of the game—the first place team's pennant on top at the left, the 8th place team's pennant on the bottom at the right.

The Chicago Cubs flag—red and white on a blue background—displays 16 red stars representing the Club's 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Club's two World Championships.
