HERMAN FRANKS, Manager

This will be the third season with Herman Franks as manager of the Chicago Cubs. He surprised many critics by taking a fourth place team which had spent only one day tied for first place in 1976 to a contending position in only one season.

Carefully manipulating the talent already available with the players furnished him by executive vice president Bob Kennedy in trades, Franks' 1977 Cubs spent 69 days in first place. They so pleased the fans that for the 10th consecutive season the Cubs drew over a million at home and were such an exciting draw on the road that a new club record of 1,680,497 was attained.

Last year, his squad reached the first place rung of the Eastern Division ladder of the National League 32 times. With another 1.6 million fans on the road and over 1.5 at home, the Cubs came within only 2,013 shy of their overall home and road attendance record of 3,155,944 set in 1969.

An even closer look at Herman's two-year recording reveal some other interesting results. For example, since the Cubs went into first place on May 7, 1977, they have played 303 games. Of these games, they were in the first half (first, second, or third place) of the Eastern Division 284 games or 94% of the time.

And, during the period they were in the top of the division, 98 games (34.5%) was spent in first place, 95 (33%) in second, and 95 (33%) in third. Only 19 games (6%) were in fourth or fifth and none in sixth place.

Despite the injuries to key players (e.g. Dave Kingman, Bill Buckner, Rick Reuschel, Steve Ontiveros, etc.), Franks managed to earn a third place finish in 1978 and only 11 games behind Philadelphia (East Champs) as opposed to 20 in 1977.

He did it by using a lot of his bench throughout the season in addition to substituting for injuries. Two examples of the extreme came on September 5 when he used 24 players and Montreal 21 to set a two-club major league record and on September 21 when he used 27 players in 14 innings at Pittsburgh to tie a single club National League record. Montreal used eight pitchers and Chicago six in the former game which tied a major league mark.

He also received good hitting from his subs as well as his starters as the 1978 Cubs led the league in hits and batting percentage. It was the first time the Cubs had topped the loop in batting since 1945.

Herman's club also led the league in assists for the 15th time since 1900 to set a new National League mark. They also led in total chances (15th time) and changes accepted (14th time) to extend their National League records and they tied New York Mets for the most putouts.

Franks' Background

He spent most of his baseball career with the San Francisco Giants before being selected to manage the Chicago Cubs in 1977. The Giants' franchise is the only team in the history of the game to win more National League pennants (18) than the Cubs (16).

Franks, who was born January 4, 1914, at Price, Utah, recorded an impressive 367-280 record as a manager for the Giants from 1965 through the 1968 seasons. Although the flag eluded him, he guided the Giants to a runnerup position in each of the four years. In his rookie managerial campaign, Franks' team posted a 95-67 record and was only two games behind the leader when the season ended. It was only a one-and-a-half game margin in 1966 with a 93-68 total.

He started his baseball career as a 17-year-old catcher in 1932 with the Hollywood Club in the Pacific Coast League. When he hung up his playing spikes, in 1949, Franks had six years in the majors with St. Louis (1939), Brooklyn (1940-41), Philadelphia Athletics (1947-48), and the New York Giants in 1949. The other portions of his playing years were in the minor leagues except for a four-year stint in the U.S. Armed Forces (1942-46).

Franks has coached for the Giants (1949-55, 1958, and 1964) and with the Cubs part of the 1971 season when Leo Durocher hired him to substitute for the ailing Joe Becker. Franks scouted for the Giants in 1957 and 1959-60.

Herman was general manager at Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League when he gave a 42-year-old former White Sox and Cleveland third baseman-outfielder a job as manager of the Salt Lake team. In December of 1976, this man—Robert D. Kennedy—was named vice president-baseball operations of the Chicago Cubs and promptly talked Franks into returning to baseball as his field manager.

COACHING STAFF

JOE AMALFITANO

Joe returned to the Cubs in 1978 after an absence of several years. Joe coached for the San Diego Padres last season and previous to that, worked for the San Francisco Giants from 1972-74. He began his coaching career with the Cubs, from 1967-71. Joe played 10 years in the majors, toiling for the Giants, Houston Astros and the Cubs. Primarily a second baseman, he played every infield position at one time or another and also saw limited action in the outfield.

HARRY (P-NUTS) LOWREY

P-Nuts was named as the Chicago Cubs third base coach prior to the 1977 campaign. Lowrey broke into the majors with the Cubs in 1942 and played with Chicago until 1949, with the highlights of his career coming in the 1945 World Series when he hit .310. He also appeared in the 1946 All-Star game. Lowrey began his major league coaching career with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1960, coached the Giants from 1967-68, the Expos in 1969, served on the Cubs coaching staff during 1970-71 and coached for the Angels in 1972. Peanuts managed three minor league clubs in 1957-58, and 1960.

MIKE ROARKE

Mike made his debut as a major league pitching coach in 1978. Previously, he was in the Cubs' organization as a roving instructor for pitchers. Mike brings 10 years of major league experience to his position, having been a four-year catcher and three-year coach for the Tigers. He also coached for the Angels for three years. Mike launched a five-year tenure as a minor league manager in 1971. He won the American Association championship in 1972 with the Tigers' Evansville club. Mike's first year with the Cubs was 1974 when he managed the Wichita Aeros.

OCTAVIO (COOKIE) ROJAS

Cookie joined the Cubs in 1978 as a major league coach after a long and memorable career as a premier second baseman. His final year as a player was in 1977 when Rojas played for the American League Western Division champs, the Kansas City Royals. He spent the past eight seasons in Kansas City, and before then, belonged to the Philadelphia club for seven years. Cookie appeared in five all-star games and is a member of the 1500+ hit club. He has played all nine positions in his career and was selected Philadelphia's greatest second baseman in a 1969 poll.

THE 1979 CUB PLAYERS

(Note: The last names are listed in the large, bold type preceding each biography. Next is his nickname, position(s), height, weight, how he bats and throws, and his date and place of birth.)

BIITTNER, Larry 1B-OF
Born 7/27/47 Pocahontas, IA

Acquired: With Steve Renko from Montreal Expos for Andy Thornton on May 17, 1976.

Personal: Larry David Biittner is married and has two sons. In the off-season they reside in Arlington, Texas. Larry is a graduate of Pocahontas (IA) Catholic High and attended Drake University (Des Moines, IA), and Buena Vista College (Storm Lake, IA), majoring in physical education. He has brown hair and blue eyes and enjoys hunting, fishing, and golf. Larry is a teacher in the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Biittner excelled in basketball as well as baseball at Pocahontas (IA) Catholic High School. In fact, he enrolled at Drake University on a full basketball scholarship, but later switched to Buena Vista College at Storm Lake, Iowa, to concentrate on baseball. While attending the latter, he was on the 1967 and 1968 All-Iowa Conference Team, and in 1968 was elected to the NAIA All-American Team. Biittner was originally signed to a professional contract by the Washington Senators in 1968. He had an outstanding minor league season with Pittsfield in the Eastern League (Class AA) in 1970. He batted .3247, but was nosed out of the league batting title by Reading's Greg Luzinski (now with the Philadelphia Phillies) who had a .3248. Larry's performance earned him a berth on Topp's Class-AA All-Star Team.

Major Leagues: Larry moved from Washington to Texas when the Senators changed to the Rangers. Texas traded him on December 20, 1973, to the Montreal Expos for the contract of pitcher Pat Jarvis. In his first full season with the Expos (1975), Biittner batted .315 to lead the team in hitting. He was very consistent that year as verified by the fact he batted .323 at home, .306 on the road, .312 in day games, .317 in night games, .321 on natural grass, and .295 on synthetic surface. He only struck out 33 times in 121 games that season. Larry is a line drive hitter who can spray the ball to all fields. A perfect example was June 19, 1976, when he went four-for-four. Two of the hits were lined to center field, one to left, and the other to right center. In 1977, Larry set career highs in games (138), AB's (493), RBI's (62), home runs (12), doubles (28), hits (147), and runs (74). Larry had the Cubs' longest hitting streak last season when he batted safely in 15 straight games from June 5 through June 20. During this period he batted .333 with 22 hits in 66 official appearances. On June 16, he drilled four hits, including two doubles. He was manager Herman Franks top clutch hitter coming off the bench. He had 12 RBI's as a pinchhitter with 11 hits in 33 trips for a .333 percentage. Larry hit best last season against Cincinnati (.360), Houston (.355), and San Francisco (.333).

BLACKWELL, Tim C
5'11" S-R
185 lb.
Born 8/19/52 San Diego, CA

Acquired: Signed as free agent by Chicago Cubs in February 1978.

Personal: Timothy P. Blackwell is married and resides in his native San Diego. He was graduated at Crawford High School (San Diego, CA) in 1970 and attended Grossmont Community College (El Cajon, CA). Tim's hobbies include golf, tennis and basketball.

Prior to majors: Tim began his baseball career in Little League and continued in high school where he played both baseball and football. He was named the school's Most Valuable Player in both sports. In his senior year, Tim batted .392 in the Eastern League with .355 overall and was selected as the third baseman for the All-League first team and All-San Diego second team. Ray Boone inked Tim to a contract with the Boston Red Sox as an infielder in 1970, right out of high school. Tim spent the 1970 season in Jamestown (Class A) where he appeared in 81 games. With Greenville (Class A), in 1971, he made the switch to catching and went through two more seasons in the minors before he was elevated to the big club in 1974 after appearing in 50 games at Pawtucket (Class AAA).

Major Leagues: Since his major league debut with Boston in 1974, Tim has divided his time between the majors and Class AAA affiliates. He spent the entire season in the big leagues with Boston in 1975 when he appeared in 59 games. He was traded to Philadelphia prior to the 1976 season but toiled in Rhode Island (Class AAA) and Reading (Class AAA) where he led the Eastern League catchers in assists (64) and was named to the All-Star team before finishing the year in Philadelphia. Tim started the 1977 season in Reading (Class AAA), was brought up to Philly and then traded to Montreal. He joined the Cubs in spring training 1978 and played in Wichita (Class AAA) before being called up halfway through the season.

BUCKNER, Bill OF-1B
Born 12/14/49 Vallejo, CA

Acquired: With Ivan DeJesus and Jeff Albert from Los Angeles Dodgers for Rick Monday and Mike Garman on January 11, 1977.

Personal: William Joseph Buckner resides in Woodland Hills, CA. He is a graduate of Napa (CA) High School. Bill enjoys hunting and fishing. He is a rancher during the off-season. Bill has brown hair and eyes.

Prior to Majors: Buckner enjoyed a stellar prep career at Napa High School, where he was a standout in both baseball and football. He was an outstanding wide receiver on the gridiron, being named to the Coaches' All-American team in his junior and senior years, as well as being named to the Northern California Football Hall of Fame. In baseball, Bill hit .667 as a junior and .529 as a senior. Buckner was the Dodgers second selection in the 1968 June Free Agent Draft and he passed up over 60 collegiate football scholarship offers to sign with the Dodgers following his prep career. Buckner has hit .300 in every league he's played in on the professional level starting in 1968 at Ogden, Utah, where his .344 average led the Pioneer League (Rookie Class). He also led the league in games (64), at bats (256), and hits (88). In 1970, his final year in the minors before being elevated permanently, he batted .355 for Spokane (WA), finishing a close third in the race for the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) batting title.

Major Leagues: Buckner's first full season in the majors was in 1971 when he hit .277 for the Dodgers and served primarily as a first baseman. His great potential showed in his second season when he batted a career-high .319 in 105 games. While his average dipped to .275 in 1973, he finished third on the Dodgers in hit production with 158. Bill enjoyed his most productive season in 1974 when he hit .314, fourth best in the National League, stole a career-high 31 bases and had a 17-game hitting streak (longest on the Dodgers) in leading club to the N.L. pennant. Buckner's most frustrating season was 1975 when a severely sprained ankle hampered him throughout the year and eventually required surgery. He rebounded by playing in 154 games in 1976 with a batting average of .301 and 28 stolen bases. His 193 hits and 60 runs batted in represent personal career highs. Bill showed consistency at the plate in 1976 by never going hitless in more than two successive games, hitting .304 in Los Angeles and .298 on the road, posting a .296 average prior to the All-Star Game and .307 after. In 1976, Bill was the third toughest N.L. batter to fan with one strikeout every 26.15 trips to the plate. Last year, Bill attained career highs in homers (11) and tied RBI's (60). He struck out once every 18.52 trips to the plate, making him the fourth toughest N.L. player to fan. On August 19, he went four-for-five with two homeruns and five RBI's against his former teammates, the Los Angeles Dodgers, and the next day was three-for-four with one homer and three RBI's. For the week of August 16-21, Bill had 13 hits in 27 at bats with three home runs and ten RBI's to earn National League Player of the Week honors. He was also named Sports Illustrated and Gillette Player of the Week for the same period. In 1978, Buckner struck out only 17 times in 470 plate appearances to lead the National League with the least number of strike outs of those batting 450 or more times. His .323 batting average would have been second in the loop only to leader Dave Parker of Pittsburgh had his injuries not kept him below the minimum 502 qualifying requirement. Bill's average was tops on the Cubs for those with as many appearances and he topped all Cubs with his 26 doubles. His 74 RBI's were second on the club to Dave Kingman's 79. Bill was fourth with seven game-winning hits. He also hit safely seven consecutive times (June 23-24) last season. "Buc" led his teammates in batting against the Mets (.429), Dodgers (.420), Giants (.353), and Padres (.351). He went 20-for-50 against his former teammates from Los Angeles and led the Cubs with 13 hits against San Diego. He batted over .300 against 7 of the 11 Cub opponents and was .391 against lefthanded pitchers. His performance earned him the Cubs' Major League Player Award from the Pitch and Hit Club and Chicago's Player of the Year from the Chicago Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. He was also chosen as the most popular professional athlete in Chicagoland area in a poll of fans by Sports Phone.

BURRIS, Ray P
6'5" 195 lb.
Born 8/22/50 R-R
Idabel, OK

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Bertram Ray Burris is married and has three sons. They reside in nearby Palatine, IL. Ray was graduated at Duke (OK) High School and majored in recreational leadership at Southwestern State in Weatherford, OK. Ray has black hair and brown eyes and his hobbies include fishing, hunting, traveling, basketball, coins, and pool. Ray does promotional marketing during the winter months.

Prior to Majors: Burris participated in Little League and American Legion baseball. He played semi-pro ball for the Lawton (OK) Pepsis and helped lead the club to the Oklahoma State Championship in 1970-71 and was named to the all-state team both years. Ray was on both baseball and basketball teams in high school. At Southwestern State College, he played baseball and basketball earning four varsity baseball letters. In 1971, his junior year, he won 16 and lost 4 with a 1.50 ERA in helping lead Oklahoma College to a NAIA District Nine title. He was named to All-District and NAIA All-American first teams that season. In his senior year, Ray compiled a 9-4 record with a 2.06 ERA, striking out 93 and walking only 13 in 83 innings earning his selection to all-conference and all-district teams. Burris was signed to his first contract by Bill Capps after he was selected by the Cubs in the 17th round of the 1972 free agent draft. Ray was assigned to Bradenton, FL, in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class), and after a short stay devoted entirely to pitching batting practice, was promoted to Midland in the Class AA Texas League. He had a brief visit with the Cubs in 1973 and made it permanently in 1974 after only 27 games in the minor leagues.

Major Leagues: Ray's greatest baseball thrill was "going to the major leagues my second year in pro ball." He picked up his first major league win in his first start on April 18, 1973, when he pitched five shutout innings against the New York Mets. Burris began the 1975 season as a starter and notched his first complete game in his first start of the year gaining a 2-1 decision over the Expos. The first shutout of his career came against the Atlanta Braves on May 26, 1975, as he yielded only four hits. After a disappointing 3-11 start in 1976 Ray turned it around in July to become one of the most effective pitchers in the National League. He won 11 of his last 13 decisions and pitched nine complete games in his last 17 starts, including four shutouts, posting a 2.64 ERA. He tied the National League season high with 25 consecutive shutout innings. Burris was named the National League Pitcher of the Month for August when he was 6-1 with a 1.89 ERA. He had four complete games during the month and walked only seven while striking out 21 in 57 innings. He led the team for the second straight year in victories (15), complete games (10), and shutouts (4). In 1977, Ray compiled a 14-16 record, including five complete games and one shutout. In 1978, Ray struck out 94 falling short of the 100 mark for the first time since his first full season in the majors four seasons ago. He still ranked third on the pitching staff in that department. He added three saves to his seven wins to contribute directly to 10 Cub victories. Three of Ray's triumphs came against the St. Louis Cardinals as he posted a 3-0 record, a 3.52 ERA, hurled two complete games in four starts, and walked only four in 23.1 innings. Ray's best strikeout ratios were against Montreal fanning 22 in only 31.1 innings (1.4 per inning) and against Atlanta with 12 in 19.1 innings (1.6 per).

CAUDILL, Bill P
6'1" 175 lb. R-R
Born 7/13/56 Santa Monica,
CA

Acquired: With Woodie Fryman and Rudy Meoli from Cincinnati Reds for Bill Bonham on October 31, 1977.

Personal: William Holland Caudill is single and resides in Manhattan Beach, CA. He was graduated at Aviation High School in Redondo Beach, CA. Bill enjoys motorcycling and hunting. He is an assistant coach during the off-season. Bill has brown hair and blue eyes.

Prior to Majors: Bill was a standout pitcher at Aviation High School (Redondo Beach, CA) where he holds the school strikeout record. He was a member of the Ocean League and received the MVP award, along with the honor of being on the All-Star team. Bill was selected eighth by the Cardinals in the June 1974 free agent draft and was signed by Harrison Wickel and Bob Harrison. He played for the Cardinals/Astros team in the 1974 Florida Winter Instructional League. A short season in Sarasota (Rookie) showed him a strong pitcher as he struck out 35 in eight games while recording a 1.80 ERA. He was superb in 1975 when, as a member of the St. Petersburg (Class A) team, he led the Florida State League in complete games (12), wins (14) and strikeouts (153). He pitched a 4-0 no-hitter against Winter Haven on May 14 of that season. In 1976 he moved up to Arkansas (Class AA), striking out 140 to lead the Texas League. Bill was traded to the Cincinnati Reds organization on March 28, 1977, and was assigned to their double-A affiliate, Three Rivers. There he compiled an excellent 13-4 record with 93 strikeouts in 114 innings.

CLINES, Gene OF
5'9" 170 lb.
Born 10/6/46 San Pablo, CA

Acquired: With cash from the Texas Rangers for Darold Knowles on Feb. 5, 1977.

Personal: Eugene Anthony Clines is married and resides in York, PA, during off season. He is a graduate of Harry Ells High School in Richmond, CA. He has black hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Gene's first year in professional baseball was in 1966 with Salem, VA, of the Appalachian League (Rookie Class). That season he hit .358 and led the league in hits (63) and tied for the league lead in triples (4). In 1968 Clines was playing for York, PA, in the Eastern League (Class AA) and he led outfielders in assists with 16. In 1969 he played third base for York and led all Eastern League third baseman in putouts (153) and assists (224) and led the league in stolen bases with 63 successful thefts. In 1970 he again led the Eastern League in steals when he had 32 successful attempts with Waterbury, CT.

Majors Leagues: Gene made the jump to the majors from Class AA ball in 1970 when the Pirates called on him and he responded with a .405 batting average in 31 games. Clines hasn't been back to the minor leagues since. His best season was 1972 when he hit .334 in 107 games but lacked the necessary at-bats to qualify for the batting title. He won a starting job with the Pirates in mid-June of 1973, but was sidelined a month later when he tore ligaments in his right ankle against the San Diego Padres. In 1976, Gene proved that he is a good clutch hitter as he hit .436 with runners in scoring position and two outs. Gene responded to the exciting 1977 season by being one of the most consistent hitters on the club, hitting .292 vs. the East and .294 vs. the West, his best average coming against San Diego (.414) One of the best games of Gene's career occurred on May 16 vs. the Padres when he had four hits, including a homerun and one walk, driving in five runs. The next day he tapped out two more hits to give him seven consecutive hits, the club season high for 1977. In 1978, Gene had his most success at the plate against moundmen from St. Louis (.368), San Diego (.353), Montreal (.351), and Atlanta (.333). His best month was May (.389) and runnerup was June (.313). He was .293 in day games, .288 at home, and .303 against lefthanders.

COX, Larry C
5'11" 190 lb.
Born 9/11/47 Bluffton, OH

Acquired: With Pete Broberg from Seattle Mariners for Jim Todd and Steve Hamrick on October 25, 1977, as a player to be named later.

Personal: Larry Eugene Cox is married, has four children and resides in Lima, OH. He attended Ottawa-Glandorf High School (Bluffton, OH) and served a stint in the U.S. Army Reserve. Larry lists his hobbies as hunting and fishing. He has black hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Larry played baseball in high school and was named Putnam County League baseball MVP three times and All-Ohio catcher once.

Cox, Cont'd

He became a member of the Phillies farm system in 1966 as a catcher-pitcher. He became a full time catcher in 1970.

Major Leagues: Larry came up to the majors in 1973 with the Phillies and saw limited action through 1975. He suffered several injuries and spent time on the disabled list, going back and forth from Philadelphia to Toledo (Class AAA). He was traded to the Minnesota Twins on October 24, 1975, and was assigned to Tacoma (Class AAA) for the 1976 season, when he enjoyed his finest year in the minors by batting .265, belting 22 doubles, five triples and 12 home runs with 66 RBI's. On October 22, 1976, the Seattle Mariners acquired Larry, known for his superlative defensive acumen. Larry had his best year at the plate by far in 1978 by batting .281. His favorite pitching corps in the East was one many found the toughest, the Philadelphia Phillies, champions of the Eastern Division. Against them he belted nine hits in 25 trips for a hefty .360 percentage. His favorites in the Western Division were San Diego (.385) and Houston (.333). Larry, playing irregularly, started slow with the bat, but in June he hit .276, then soared to a .400 mark in June, and batted .353 in September after sitting out August due to an injury. Larry was a .300 hitter in day games collecting 21 hits in 70 at bats.

DAVIS, Steve
6'1"
Born 12/30/53

IF
R-R
Oakland, Calif.

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Steven Michael Davis is single and resides in San Jose, CA. He was graduated at Cambell High School. He has brown hair and blue eyes.

Prior to Majors: Davis played Little League, Pony League, Colt League, and Connie Mack League ball. In high school he played baseball, basketball and football. In his senior year, he was named to the All-League and All-CCS Tournament Teams in baseball. A graduate of Stanford University, Steve majored in Economics. He played varsity baseball all four years. In his senior year, he batted .298 in 65 games with 12 home runs and 49 RBI's, and was named to the All-Northern California Team. He set Stanford single game records for most runs scored (57 in 1976) and career records for most runs scored (141), hits (237) and times at bat (772). In November of 1974, he helped lead the United States team to the Championship of the World Baseball Amateur Tournament; batting .417 and playing shortstop. In 1973, he helped lead the Eureka Humboldt Crabs to the California State Semi-Pro Championship. In 1974-75, he played for the Anchorage Glacier Pilots and was voted team's Pilot-of-the-Year. In 1976, Steve led the Gulf Coast League in fielding at shortstop (.983 with only four errors in 283 total chances), putouts (76), assists (158) and double plays (27); putting him on the GCL All-Star Team. In 1977, he led the Texas League in fielding (.958), putouts (233) and assists (399) at shortstop. In the fall of 1977, he played in the Arizona Instructional League and batted .306 in 36 games with 24 RBI's and was named to the AIL All-Star Team. In 1978, Steve played for Wichita and led the league in games played (135) at second base.

DEJESUS, Ivan SS
5'11" 175 lb. R-R
Born 1/9/53 Santurce, P.R.

Acquired: With Bill Buckner and Jeff Albert from the Los Angeles Dodgers for Rick Monday and Mike Garman on January 11, 1977.

Personal: Ivan Alvarez DeJesus is married, has one daughter, and resides in Santurce P.R., in the off-season.

Prior to Majors: DeJesus was signed to his first pro contract by the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1969 while still in high school and he was sent immediately to Daytona Beach of the Florida State League (Class A). He remained on the Class A level for four years until 1974 when he was elevated to Albuquerque, NM, where he hit .298 and was named to the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) All-Star Team. He had his best season in 1976 when he posted a .304 average in 108 games with 64 runs-batted-in and 31 stolen bases. His seven home runs were the third highest on the team as were his doubles (27) and triples (7).

Major Leagues: Ivan was first elevated to the majors in 1974 and spent a portion of three seasons on the top level. He appeared in 63 games for the Dodgers in 1975 as he got the opportunity to play on a semi-regular basis when Bill Russell was out with an injured knee. In 1976 he played in 22 games for Los Angeles with his best performances coming against the Atlanta Braves with six hits in 21 at bats for a .286 average. Ivan established himself as the Cubs' full-time shortstop in 1977, playing 155 games which was second on the team to Steve Ontiveros' 156. DeJesus' 595 assists and 862 total chances led all major league shortstops. He and keystone partner Manny Trillo were nicknamed the "Latin Connection" by Baseball Digest as they were so fluid in turning doubleplays. In 1978, the fans were buzzing all over the league talking about DeJesus. They had marveled at his phenomenal catches afield and was surprised to see him hit so well in 1977 during his first full season in the majors. But in 1978, he showed them even better hitting as he was dazzling them with his speed on the base paths and at the same contributing to three National League team records with his glove. He played in 160 games, tops on the team and more than any other shortstop in the majors, and made 558 assists to again pace all major league shortstops by far. This is over 27% of the 2,059 assists made by the Cubs in 1978 who led the majors, in that category and in total chances (6,569). The Cubs also tied the Mets for the National League high in put outs (4,366). This gave the Cubs its 15th season as league leaders in assists which is a new National League record. They extended their NL records in most seasons leading league in total chances (15) and chances accepted (14). DeJesus tallied 104 runs to edge former Red Pete Rose and Pittsburgh's Dave Parker out of the National League lead. Ivan also led his teammates in at bats (619), hits (172), sacrifice hits (15), stolen bases (41), and tied teammate

DeJesus, Cont'd

Greg Gross for the lead in triples (7). DeJesus' stolen bases were the most by a Cub since KiKi Cuyler pilfered 43 in 1929 and Johnny Evers 46 in 1907. Ivan's good eye at the plate gave him 74 walks to net him, when added to his hits, etc., a .357 on base percentage which was second on the squad to Bobby Murcer's .380. DeJesus also led the team in total bases, an unusual occurrence for a shortstop, with 219. He paced the team against Pittsburgh pitching with a .378 and finished the season with a torrid .342 percentage at the plate in September-October.

GEISEL, Dave

6'3" 205 lb.

Born 1/18/55

Windber, PA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: John David Geisel is single and resides in Tonawanda, New York, in the off-season. He was graduated at Tonawanda High School. His hobbies include cooking, fishing, hunting, music and cards. Dave has brown hair and eyes.

Prior to Majors: Geisel played Little League, Babe Ruth, and for Tonawanda in the All-American Amateur Baseball Federation. He played basketball and was captain of his baseball team in high school where he was All-Niagara Frontier League selection. He pitched three no-hitters in seven starts and struck out 21 consecutive batters in one game. He was signed to a Cub contract by Ralph DiLullo. Dave won 20 and lost only 12 in his first two seasons of professional baseball. In the 1975 Arizona Winter Instructional League he recorded a 2.85 earned run average and struck out 38 in 41 innings. Dave has never pitched below double-A classification.

Major Leagues: Big Dave got his opportunity to play in the majors when the Cubs traded Woodie Fryman to the Montreal Expos for a player to be named later (Jerry White) on June 9. He did a commendable job for a nervous rookie the rest of the year for the Cubs despite a brief trip back to Wichita July 20-August 31. His lone victory in the big leagues was a 7-5 victory in relief against the Cardinals in St. Louis on July 4, 1978.

GORDON, Mike C
6'3" 216 lb. S-R
Born 9/11/53 Leominster, MA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs

Personal: Michael William Gordon is single and resides in Brockton, MA, in the off-season. Mike was graduated at Brockton (MA) High School. His religion is Catholic, has brown hair and blue eyes and enjoys fishing and golf.

Prior to Majors: Mike played baseball, basketball, and football in high school and was captain in all three his senior year (1972). He has always been a leader and a winner from Little League (he pitched a perfect game in the state tournament) all the way up through high school and American Legion baseball. His prep baseball team won Suburban League Championship with Mike gaining all-league and All-Boston Scholastic Team honors. He helped lead his football team to a Massachusetts state title in 1970. As a senior, he was named on the Sunkest, Kickoff, and Parade All-American Football Teams and was chosen Outstanding College Football Prospect by Scouting Systems of America. He also played in two state basketball championship tournaments. He was the Cubs' third selection in the 1972 summer free agent draft and — as he was so heavily sought by college grid coaches — Chicago is fortunate Cub scout Len Merullo was able to ink Mike to a baseball pact. In 1975, he was named catcher on the Class A Florida State League All-Star Team.

Major Leagues: Mike was originally elevated to the majors in 1977 getting his first major league hit on September 26 at Wrigley Field. In his brief stint in the majors in 1978, he added his second safety. Both were singles.

GROSS, Greg OF
Born 8/1/52 York, PA

Acquired: In trade with Houston Astros for Julio Gonzales on Dec. 8, 1976.

Personal: Gregory Eugene Gross is married, has a daughter and resides in Missouri City, TX, in the off-season. Greg was graduated at Red Lands High (Etters, PA). His hobbies include golf and raising German Shepherds. He has light brown hair and blue eyes.

Prior to Majors: After prep baseball in 1970, Gross signed a professional contract with the Houston Astros. At Covington that year, he led the Appalachian League outfielders in putouts (93), assists (10), and tied in games (54), and double plays (3). He also batted .351 and led the league in hits (74) to gain Appalachian Rookie of Year Award and an all-star berth on the league and Rookie-East teams. He made the 1971 Southern League (Class AA) All-Star Team by hitting .291 for Columbus and the 1973 American Association (Class AAA) All-Star Team with a .330 for Denver. His 174 hits with the latter club was tops in the loop that season.

Major Leagues: He rapped 185 hits to set a club record for the infant Astros in his first full year. He also batted .314 to earn him recognition by The Sporting News and Baseball Digest as Rookie Player of the Year in 1974. It also gained him Houston's Most Valuable Player Award by the local chapter of Baseball Writers Association of America and a runnerup position in the national voting for National League Rookie of Year. He easily gained Topps Rookie All-Star Team that season. In the outfield, he threw out 14 attempting to take an extra base. Greg batted .294 in 1975 and caught 15 over ambitious runners, ranking second in the league. He remained consistent in 1976 with a .286 average and an impressive 13 assists in the field. In 1977, Greg established career highs in homers (5) and batting average (.322), the top mark on the team. He hit his first major league homer, a three-run blast, on July 6. He added four more during the season, two occurring back-to-back on August 24-25. In 1978, Greg shared the team high of seven triples with Ivan DeJesus as the Cubs hit an unusually high total of 48, second in the National League to Pittsburgh (54). Two of Greg's came in one game on May 19 against the Cardinals at Wrigley Field. As is always the case, he proved to be among the toughest to strike out in the league. Greg was fanned only 19 times in 390 appearances. He had four game winning hits and his seven sacrifice flies were second on the team to Manny Trillo's eight. Gross led the Cub regulars in batting against St. Louis with a .333 percentage collecting 15 safeties in 45 at bats. Three of his triples came against these arch rivals of the Cubs. His best batting mark was against his former teammates from Houston. He batted .341 against Astro pitching. Others which satisfied his quick stroke were pitching staffs on the Pittsburgh (.310) and Cincinnati (.314) clubs. Greg had his most successful months at the plate in April (.366), May (.310), and August (.323).

Gross, Cont'd

HERNANDEZ, Willie P
6'2" 180 lb.
Born 11/14/55 L-L
Aguada, P.R.

Acquired: Drafted from the Philadelphia Phillies' Oklahoma City Club in the Major League Draft on Dec. 2, 1976.

Personal: Guillermo "Willie" Hernandez (Villa-neuva) attended Martin Hernandez High in Aguada, P.R. He is married, has one son and his hobby is fishing. He is a welder during the off-season.

His hair is black and eyes brown.

Prior to Majors: He played prep baseball and was signed by the Phillies as a free agent in 1974. That season with Spartanburg he led the Western Carolinas League (Class A) in games started (26), complete games (13), innings pitched (190), and strikeouts (179). His 2.75 earned run average ranked ninth. These accomplishments earned him a berth on the WCL All-Star Team. While playing for the Phillies 1974 Florida Winter Instructional League Team, Hernandez recorded a 2.65 ERA. He had a composite won-loss record of 14-6 and a 3.11 in 1975 while pitching for Toledo and Reading of the International League (Class AAA) and Eastern League (Class AA), respectively.

Major Leagues: Willie had a strong rookie season, compiling an 8-7 record with a 3.03 ERA. He was second on the team in game appearances with 67 and recorded 78 strikeouts in 110 innings pitched. This impressive young lefty, then a 21-year-old, appeared as a reliever and combined with Rick Reuschel for a shutout vs. New York on June 24. He picked up his first major league win on May 29 and, three days later, faced six men in relief, striking out five of them. His 1977 performance earned him the Rookie of the Year Award from the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. In 1978, Willie had the highest won-loss percentage (8-2 record for a .800 percentage) of those Cub pitchers with 10 or more decisions. With his three saves, Hernandez contributed directly to 11 victories of the Cubs last season which ranked fourth on the pitching staff behind Bruce Sutter (35), Rick Reuschel (14), and Donnie Moore (13). Hernandez' two wins against Houston were tops on the club. He etched earned run averages of 3.00 and below against four of the Cubs' 11 opponents: Atlanta (0.00 in 4.1 IP), Cincinnati (1.80 in 5 IP), St. Louis (1.80 in 5.1 IP), and New York (3.00 in 2.2 IP).

HOLTZMAN, KEN LHP
6'2" 190 lb. R-L
Born 11/3/45 St. Louis, MO

Acquired: In trade with New York Yankees for minor league player Ron Davis on June 10, 1978.

Personal: Kenneth Dale Holtzman is married, has two daughters and resides in suburban Lincolnshire, IL. Ken attended University City (MO) High School and the University of Illinois in Champaign, majoring in business administration. Ken's hobbies include reading and golf. He has blond hair and blue eyes.

Prior to Majors: Ken began his baseball days in Little League, continued through high school and college where he was named "Sophomore Athlete of the Year". Ken was named Most Valuable Player on the state championship team his senior year in high school. Ken was originally signed by the Chicago Cubs in 1965 and was sent to the Treasure Valley Club (Rookie) where he appeared in four games, compiling a 4-0 record with a 1.00 ERA. He moved up to Wenatchee (Class A), posting a 4-3 mark in eight games and was then called up to the parent club, never to return to the minors.

Major Leagues: Ken appeared in three games for the Cubs in 1965 and remained with the team through 1971. In 1966, he posted an 11-16 record and in 1967 attained a perfect 9-0 mark by pitching only on weekends. Limited to pitching in only twelve weekend games while on leave from the army, Holtzman would fly on Friday night, pitch on Saturday, and return to camp Sunday morning. After an 11-14 season in 1968, Ken put forth his best effort in his career in 1979, winning 17 while losing 13. One win was his first no-hitter on August 19, when he beat the Atlanta Braves 3-0 at Wrigley Field. Kenny turned in another successful season in 1970 (17-11) when he tallied 202 strikeouts in 288 innings pitched. Another no-hit gem was added to his record in 1971 when he defeated the Reds, 1-0, on June 3 in Cincinnati. After that season, Holtzman was traded to the Oakland A's in return for outfielder Rick Monday, staying with them through 1975. Holtzman never won fewer than 18 games in his four seasons at Oakland, including a 21 victory season in 1973, when he was "The Sporting News" left-handed pitcher of the year in the American League. A two-time All-Star (1972 and 1973), Ken has been on a divisional championship team each of his six years in the American League, and has played on five pennant winners. Traded to the Baltimore Orioles during the 1976 season, Ken started 13 games for them and was then sent on to the New York Yankees. In his six-plus years in the American League, Ken posted a 94-69 record. He had good World Series success both on the mound (4-1) and with the bat (.833 slugging percentage). After returning to the Cubs organization the previous day, Ken was put in the game on June 12 in Cincinnati, and struck out four Reds in three innings while earning a save. He will report to Spring Training with the knowledge he will be given a full opportunity to earn one of the starting berths.

R-R
Seattle, WA

Acquired: In trade with St. Louis Cardinals for Vic Harris on Dec. 17, 1975.

Personal: Michael Dennis Kelleher is married, has one daughter and resides in Santa Barbara, CA, in the off-season. He was graduated at Shoreline High School (Seattle, WA), attended Wenatchee (WA) Junior College and majored in social science at University of Puget Sound (Tacoma, WA). His hobby is buying, collecting and refinishing antique furniture. During the winter months, Mick is a real estate agent. He has hazel eyes, and light brown hair.

Prior to Majors: Kelleher progressed through virtually every type of amateur league. He played Little, Pony, and Babe Ruth Leagues; American Legion; baseball and basketball through high school and junior college; and baseball only at senior college. In his junior prep campaign, 1964, he made the All-Seattle Metropolitan Team. In 1966 and 1967 at Wenatchee, he was named to the All-State Teams. In 1968, he captained Puget Sound and was voted its Most Valuable Player. In 1969, he helped Puget Sound to a NCAA College Division District Eight Championship and netted a berth on the All-District and All-College World Series Teams with a .444 batting average. Mick was drafted by St. Louis in the third round of the free agent draft in June, 1969. In 1971, he led all California League (Class A) shortstops in fielding (.938) and double plays (49); and was voted as C.L.'s Best Defensive Shortstop by the league managers. In 1972, he set all-time American Association (Class AAA) record for highest fielding average (.979) by a shortstop, and also led the circuit in 1974 (.966) and 1975 (.978). He is recipient of Rawlings' Silver Glove Awards (1972 & 1975) as the National Association's best fielding shortstop.

Major Leagues: Mick made his first trip to the majors in late 1972 followed by a short visit in late 1973 with the Cardinals before they sold his contract to Houston on Oct. 23, 1973. He started the 1974 campaign with the Astros, but was soon transferred to the Denver Club in the American Association. He returned to St. Louis on Dec. 13, 1974, to be assigned to its triple-A affiliate at Tulsa before the Cubs acquired him in their trade. Playing for the first full season in the big leagues, he made only 12 errors while handling 491 chances without a flaw for a .976 fielding average in 1976. Only two players in the 24-team major leagues playing in at least 100 games at shortstop had less errors than the quick-footed Kelleher: Houston's Roger Metzger and Cleveland's Frank Duffy had 10 each. Mick's .980 fielding average in 101 games at shortstop was second in the National League to Metzger's .986. Once again in 1977, the spirited infielder's defensive statistics sparkled. At shortstop, he was perfect and flawlessly handled 40 chances in 14 games with 27 assists. Mick played in more games at second base (40) and made 65 putouts in 168 total chances with only four errors for a .976 fielding percentage. He was sidelined about six weeks with a broken right thumb, which cut his chances for even better defensive records. In 1978, Kelleher rapped San Francisco pitching at .444 pace, Montreal .400, Los Angeles .385, and Philadelphia .333. He hit .348 with 8-for-23 in July and was .273 against righthanded pitchers. He batted .333 as a pinchhitter, but his main contribution to the team was coming off the bench cold and making key defensive plays in later innings and as a substitute for injured infielders. In this role he was superb once again. In fact, last season, for the second straight campaign he fielded flawlessly at short-stop (19 chances) and for the first time in his career was errorless at third base (52 chances), and second base (81) for a 1.000 fielding average. The 152 total chances in 1978 without a miscue gives him a total of 164 in a row since he made his last error in 1977 on September 22. In the past three seasons with the Cubs, Mick has made only 16 errors while handling 811 total chances for an excellent .981 fielding average.

KINGMAN, Dave

6'6" 210 lb.

Born 12/21/48

Pendleton, OR

OF

Acquired: Signed as free agent with the Cubs on November 30, 1977.

Personal: David Arthur Kingman is single and resides in Phoenix, AZ. He attended Mt. Prospect (IL) High School, Harper (Palatine, IL) Junior College and the University of Southern California. He has blond hair and blue eyes and enjoys hunting and fishing.

Dave is a sales representative for a major airlines during the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Dave started his brilliant career in high school as a pitcher and was selected by the California Angels in the June 1967 free agent draft. However, he went on to USC where his first varsity season (1968) resulted in an 11-4 record, 1.38 ERA and a hefty .353 average with eight home runs and 26 RBI's in 32 games. He and teammate Jim Barr helped move the Trojans to the College World Series. The Giants picked Dave number one in the June 1970 secondary phase of the draft. He went directly to double-A level with Amarillo, pounding out 15 homers and was elevated to Phoenix (Class AAA) in 1971 where he made the switch to first base and the outfield. He slammed 26 homers and drove in 99 RBI's in 105 games.

Major Leagues: Dave was called up to San Francisco in the late 1971 season and showed his now well-known power by hitting a grand slam off Dave Giusti in his first start. He hit two more off Doc Ellis the next day. Dave stayed with the Giants through 1974, ringing up 77 homers. He was sold to the New York Mets on February 28, 1975. He belted 36 homers in 1975 and was on his way to his finest year in 1976 when he suffered a hand injury in July. At the time of his disabling, Dave was leading the NL with 32 homers and was second in RBI's with 72. He made his first all-star game appearance and amazed hundreds of observers with his tremendous clout. On April 15, 1976, he hit a prodigious home run out of Wrigley Field that sailed about 600 feet. His best game was on June 4 at LA when he walloped three homers and drove in eight RBI's. In 1977, Dave circled the country, as he played for New York (N), San Diego, California and New York (A), but still managed to hit 26 home runs. After joining the Cubs in 1978, Dave hit his first home run as a Cub against his former Met teammates at Wrigley Field on April 21. Despite missing 43 games, he was sidelined almost a month due to a severe hamstring muscle pull, big Dave still led the club in home runs (28 and 18 at home) and RBI's (79). His .266 batting average was his best since his partial season as a rookie and was almost 40 points higher than his career average at the beginning of the season. Dave also led the Cubs with 11 game winning hits. One of these came on May 14 last season at Dodger Stadium when Kingman slammed three home runs and had eight RBI's to match his tremendous 1976 performance in the same stadium. On Aug. 14, he drilled three doubles at Wrigley Field against Atlanta enroute to his .419 batting average against that pitching staff which was tops on the club. The Dodger staff were high on Dave's list (.391) and he hit five of his homers and had 12 RBI's against them. He hit .330 in September and was .301 on grass diamonds.

KRUKOW, Mike P
6'4" 195 lb. R-R
Born 1/21/52 Long Beach, CA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Michael Edward Krukow is married and resides in San Gabriel, CA, in the off-season. Mike was graduated at San Gabriel High School and is majoring in physical education at California Poly State University (San Luis Obispo, CA). He has brown hair and hazel eyes and his hobbies include backpacking and music. Krukow's most interesting off-field experience since joining the Cubs was "writing a song for teammate Bruce Sutter's wedding."

Prior to Majors: Krukow played Little League, Pony League, Babe Ruth League and Connie Mack ball. Mike played baseball, basketball, and football at San Gabriel High School and was named to the All-Pacific League Baseball and Basketball Teams in his senior year. In 1971, he pitched for LaCrescenta in the California Collegiate League. He played varsity baseball in 1972 with a 9-3 record and a 2.44 ERA striking out 105 batters in 115 innings. In 1973, he was 10-3 with a 1.35 ERA and he set the school strikeout record of 126 in 113 innings, tied the record for most wins in one season and tied for the team lead in home runs (4) to earn a berth on the all-conference team. His collegiate composite record was 25-7 with a 1.93 ERA and 274 strikeouts in 274 innings pitched. His most unusual feat was in amateur baseball when he pitched a no-hitter while walking 17 batters. He was signed to his first pro contract by Gene Handley of the Chicago Cubs. In 1973, Mike led the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) in strikeouts (80), and tied for the lead in complete games with four. In 1975, he received Texas League's Gene Lawing Memorial Award "for contributions to baseball on and off the field."

Major Leagues: Mike made a brief major league debut in 1976 and turned in a respectable 1977 rookie season, compiling an 8-14 record, 4.40 ERA and 106 strikeouts. The highlight of Mike's first year in the big leagues came on May 26 when he shut out the Expos on only four hits. He had a poor start in 1978 and was finally optioned to Wichita on May 13. After Paul Reuschel was traded to Cleveland on June 27, Mike was recalled and did a yeoman's job on the mound for the Cubs. He won five straight before sustaining a loss and finished the season with an impressive 9-3 record. His first win was a three-hit, 2-0, triumph over Philadelphia which was completed in only one hour, 45 minutes, (fastest of year for Cubs) as Krukow faced just three men over the minimum. Mike was 2-0 against New York and St. Louis. Against the Phillies, he recorded a 0.75 earned run average allowing only one earned run in 11.2 innings of work. In 24.2 against St. Louis, he struck out 19 and permitted only four runs for a 1.44 ERA, lowest on the team against the Cardinals who lost 15 of their 18 games in 1978 to the Cubs. Against Cincinnati (1-0), Mike hurled a four-hitter and struck out nine during a 7-1 complete game (his third) victory to outduel Tom Seaver. Mike gave up only 125 hits in over 138 innings while equaling or allowing less hits per innings pitched against eight of Cubs' 11 opponents in 1978.

LAMP, Dennis P
6'3" 190 lb. R-R
Born 9/23/52 Los Angeles, CA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Dennis Patrick Lamp is married and resides in Evanston, IL, in the off-season. Dennis was graduated at St. John Bosco High School in Bellflower, CA. He enjoys music. Dennis has black hair and hazel eyes.

Prior to Majors: Lamp has participated in Little League, Pony League, Colt League and American Legion baseball programs. He played baseball and basketball in high school and was named to the All-Santa Fe League Baseball Team in his junior and senior years as well as being voted the league's Most Valuable Player both seasons. As a senior he won 13 of 15 decisions, allowing only 48 hits in 94 innings while striking out 127. Dennis was signed to his first pro contract by Gene Handley of the Chicago Cubs. In 1972, Lamp was fourth in ERA (1.93) in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) and tied for second in wins with seven. In 1973, he was selected to play in the Midwest League (Class A) All-Star Game after posting a 6-4 record and 2.63 ERA with the Quincy (IL) Club. In 1975, while with Midland (TX), Dennis was 10th in the Texas League (Class AA) in ERA with a 3.33 mark, and led all pitchers in doubleplays with six. Dennis began the 1977 campaign with the parent club in spring training, but returned to the Wichita (Class AAA) team. There he had an excellent season (11-4, 2.94 ERA, 52 SO) and was a member of the American Association All-Star team.

Major Leagues: Dennis debuted in the majors in mid-August 1977. He appeared in 11 games for the Cubs; starting three. He also proved himself to be a good hitter, as he singled in his first major league at bat and did it again his second time up. In 1978, Lamp had a respectable 3.29 earned run average (lowest of all Cub starters) which makes it difficult for one to understand why his record was 7-15. An investigation revealed the Cubs were held scoreless during six of his losses and managed to score only one run in six others for which he was given the loss. With a little luck, Dennis could easily have been 19-3 and certainly was deserving of at least a 15-7 mark as the Cubs averaged 4.1 runs per game in 1978 and eight of his defeats were by these scores: 0-1, 0-1, 0-1, 1-2, 1-2, 0-3, 1-3, & 1-4. His first win in the majors came on Apr. 21 when he blanked the Mets (5-0) with a four-hitter to give the Cub pitching staff its first of seven shutouts and his first of three (tops on squad). In four of his next five decisions (all losses), the Cub batters tallied exactly one run. Then, on June 9 at Wrigley Field—he thrilled a 15,770 Ladies Day crowd by hurling a one-hitter to defeat San Diego 5-0. Gene Richards line drive single to left ruined the no-hitter. Lamp's third victory was also over the Padres, a 4-3 thriller, and his fourth a 1-0, pitching conquest over San Francisco's Bob Knepper. Against the Mets on Sept. 11 his sixth and last complete game of the season, he fanned 10 batters. This total was unusually interesting as Dennis averaged less than two (1.97) strikeouts per game all year. While he was only 1-2 against Houston, he walked only four and gave up only four runs in 26.1 IP for a 1.38 ERA and was 3.00 or below vs. six of 11 foes.

McGLOTHEN, Lynn P
Born 3/27/50 Monroe, LA

Acquired: In trade with San Francisco Giants for Hector Cruz and cash on June 15, 1978.

Personal: Lynn Everatt McGlothen is married, has three daughters and resides in Simsboro, LA. He graduated from Grambling (LA) High School and attended Grambling (LA) College. Lynn has black hair and brown eyes and enjoys hunting, fishing and listening to music.

Prior to Majors: Lynn demonstrated versatility in all sports while in high school, earning 16 letters in baseball, basketball, football and tennis. He played baseball all four years, losing only two games and was named All-State in football in 1967. He was originally signed by the Boston Red Sox after the June 1968 free-agent draft and was assigned to the Waterloo (Class A) team where he compiled a 3-2 record in his first year in pro ball. He spent the 1969 season in Winter Haven (Class A), posting a 15-8 mark with a 3.92 ERA. In 1970, Lynn put together a super season. He was named Carolina League Player of the Year while with Winston-Salem (Class A), leading the league in strikeouts (202), complete games (16), and ERA (2.24) and was also a member of the all-star team. His excellent play encouraged the Boston organization to move him up to Louisville in 1971, where he led the International League (Class AAA) in complete games (8) and was ranked ninth in ERA (3.72). Lynn started the 1972 season with Louisville and after notching a 9-2 record, was called up by the Red Sox for the remainder of the year.

McGlothen, Cont'd

Major Leagues: Lynn finished the 1972 campaign with Boston, started the 1973 season for them and was sent down to Pawtucket (Class AAA). He posted a 9-9 American League record in the two seasons at Boston, including his first big league win, a 2-0, three-hitter over Minnesota on July 4, 1972. Lynn was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals in December 1973 with whom he enjoyed his best success. He was named to the National League All-Star Team for the first time in 1974. He earned 44 victories in three seasons in St. Louis, including a career high of 16 in 1974. Former teammate Bob Gibson, current teammate Bruce Sutter and McGlothen are the last three National League pitchers to strike out three consecutive batters in an inning on nine straight pitches. Lynn accomplishing that feat on August 19, 1975. Traded to the San Francisco Giants prior to the 1977 season, Lynn spent most of the year on the disabled list, but still managed to put together back-to-back complete game victories over New York and Philadelphia. Used primarily as a long relief pitcher, McGlothen performed commendably for the Cubs in 1978 after his acquisition from the Giants. Lynn's 5-3 record and 3.04 ERA were one of the bright spots on the pitching staff as the Cub officials and manager Herman Franks plan their possible starting rotation in 1979. This hard throwing righthander (60 strikeouts in 80 IP's) and veteran of seven seasons in the majors (three with 30-or-more starts) will be one of several new members on the staff considered for one of the starting berths. He was 3.00 or below against six of the Cubs' 11 opponents and failed to relinquish earned runs to two teams, Cincinnati and Houston, and permitted Montreal only one tally in 8.1 innings of relief. Against New York he was 2-2 and struck out 12 in 18.2 innings (2.37 ERA) and fanned 9 in 5.2 innings versus Atlanta.

MEJIAS, SAM OF
6'0" 170 lb. R-R
Born 5/9/52 Santiago, DR

Acquired: In trade with Montreal Expos for Jerry White and Rodney Scott on December 14, 1978.

Personal: Samuel Elias Mejias is single and he resides in Santiago, Dominican republic, during the off season. His hobbies include table tennis, playing guitar, and listening to music.

Prior to Majors: Sam played basketball and participated in track and field while attending high school in Santiago. He was signed to a professional baseball contract in 1971 by the Milwaukee Brewers who traded him to the St. Louis Cardinal organization on June 23, 1976, to complete a deal which sent the late Danny Frisella to Milwaukee on June 7, 1976. Mejias led two different minor leagues in fielding as an outfielder: the NY-Penn. League with .992 in 1972 and the Midwest League with .983 in 1973. He led the Texas League outfielders with 326 putouts in 1974. He also tied for the lead in double plays (3) in 1974 and had 21 assists. He even pitched one inning that season, giving up three earned runs on three hits.

Major Leagues: After batting .323 with the Tulsa Club of the American Association (Class AAA), the Cardinals elevated him to the majors to finish the season. During the winter following (November 6, 1976), he was traded to Montreal along with Bill Greif and Angel Torres for the contracts of Steve Dunning, Pat Scanlon, and Tony Scott. His first major league hit was a single at Jarry Park on September 19, 1976, and his first home run was off Clay Carroll on June 5, 1977, while pinchhitting against St. Louis in the seventh inning of a tie game. After exhibiting a steady bat and an outstanding arm in spring training, Montreal put him on their major league roster where he has remained since. Between June 2 and August 22, 1977, he collected 21-for-61 for a .346 pace. He had a big double-header at Wrigley Field on July 4. In the first game, he was a pinchrunner in the eighth and singled in the ninth, scoring on both occasions. In the second game, starting in right, he tripled in the first, doubled in the seventh, and homered in the ninth off Bruce Sutter, scoring three runs and driving in two, including the game winner.

MOORE, Donnie P
Born 2/13/54 Lubbock, TX

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Donnie Ray Moore is married, has a daughter and resides in Lubbock, TX, in the off-season. He was graduated at Monterey High School (in Lubbock) and is majoring in Business Administration at Ranger (TX) Junior College. Donnie's hobbies include hunting, fishing, traveling and helping others. He has black hair and brown eyes.

ing others. He has black hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Donnie has played baseball on many levels including Little League, Pony League, Colt League, and American Legion. As a prepster, Moore twice was named to the All-Texas Class AAAA Team and once to the High School All-American Team. Donnie had an 18-4 record in pitching Monterey to the state championship and was selected as Texas' most outstanding baseball player. He played baseball for Ranger Jr. College in 1973, winning 18 of 19 decisions and leading the school to the National Junior College Tournament Championship. Moore was named to the Junior College All-American first team, was chosen the tournament's Most Valuable Player and its Outstanding Pitcher. In the National Tournament he picked up four of the five Ranger victories, was credited with a save in the fifth win, had an ERA of 1.29 and set new tourney records for most wins (4), and most strikeouts (32). Donnie played semi-pro baseball with the Lubbock Hubbers. He was the Cubs' first selection in the January 1973 free agent draft, secondary phase, and was signed to his first pro contract by Bill Capps and Buck O'Neil of the Chicago Cubs.

Major Lagues: Moore came up to the Cubs at the end of the 1975 season, making his major league debut on September 14 against the Phillies in Chicago. He got the call for his first major league start four days later in New York going 5.1 innings with no decision. Donnie made a few trips between Wichita and Chicago in 1977. He began the year at Wichita, after participating in the Cubs' spring training camp. On May 12 he rejoined the parent club when the Cubs came into Wichita to play an exhibition game. He won his first major league game (9-3) on May 21 in Atlanta and got into the extra-base hitting columns on July 28 by smashing his first big league triple and RBI. He was optioned back to Wichita on July 31 and hasn't been back to the minors since. In fact, in 1978, Donnie was the "workhorse" of the pitching staff. He toiled in 71 games with nine wins and four saves to contribute directly to 13 wins and indirectly to several others as a long and mid relief pitcher. He had his most success against Atlanta, collecting three victories and one save in seven relief stints. He also won two important victories against Eastern Division foe Pittsburgh and permitted them only six hits and only one earned run in 10 innings during six relief appearances for a 0.90 ERA. Against St. Louis (1.00) he allowed only one run in 8.2 innings while winning his only decision and saving another in four trips to the mound. Donnie also was very effective (2.57) against Los Angeles in six treks from the bullpen (13.2 innings).

MURCER, Bobby OF 5'11" 180 lb. L-R Born 5/20/46 Oklahoma City, OK

Acquired: With Steve Ontiveros and Andy Muhlstock from San Francisco Giants for Bill Madlock and Rob Sperring on Feb. 11, 1977.

Personal: Bobby Ray Murcer is married, has two children, and they reside in Oklahoma City, OK. He was graduated at Southeast High in Oklahoma City and attended the University of Oklahoma. Bobby's hobbies include hunting, fishing, golf, and tennis.

Prior to Majors: Murcer was a three-sport standout in high school, excelling in baseball, football, and basketball. He was all-state in football leading the state's Class A schools in scoring. In basketball he was an all-city selection. He was named to the all-city and all-state baseball teams in his senior year and hit .458 with only one strike out all season. He was signed to his first pro contract by the New York Yankees in 1964. That same year Bobby was named Appalachian League (Rookie Class) All-Star shortstop while playing for Johnson City (TN). In 1965 Murcer was fourth in the Carolina League (Class A) batting race with a .322 average and was named to the league all-star team. While with Toledo (Ohio) in the International League (Class AAA) he hit four consecutive home runs in a doubleheader against Toronto (two in each game) on June 26.

Major Leagues: Murcer first came up to the major leagues in 1965, when he joined the Yankees late in the season, in just his second year in pro ball. After a stint in the U.S. Army (1967-68), Bobby rejoined the Yankees in 1969 and was shifted to centerfield as the successor to Mickey Mantle. In 1970, he tied for the American League lead in assists by an outfielder (15). He was second in the A.L. in batting (.331) and slugging (.543) in 1971. In 1972, Murcer led the A.L. in runs scored with 102 and total bases with 314, in putouts (382) and total chances (396) to receive the Rawlings Gold Glove Award. He was fourth in the American League batting race in 1973 with a .304 average and tied for the lead in assists (14) by an outfielder. Murcer was named to The Sporting News American League All-Star Team in 1971-72-73 and has played in the Major League All-Star Game for the A.L. in 1971-72-73-74 and for the N.L. in 1975. One of Bobby's greatest baseball thrills was hitting four consecutive home runs in a doubleheader against Cleveland on June 24, 1970. His three circuits in the first game and one in the second tied the major league record most home runs, consecutive at bats and the American League record for the most home runs in a doubleheader. He hit three home runs in one game against Kansas City on July 13, 1973, and hit for the cycle against Texas on Aug. 29, 1972. On Aug. 20, 1976, he hit a home run off Montreal's Dale Murray which was the first homer off Murray in 247-1/3 innings (a modern major league record). In 1977 as a Cub, he appeared in 154 games and stole a career high 16 bases. He led the Cubs in RBI's (89), total bases (252), home runs (27) and sacrifice flies (10) and tied with Bill Buckner for the lead in game-winning hits (9). In 1978, Bobby's .281 was the highest on the team of players with 502 or more appearances to qualify for the batting title. He also paced his teammates in base on balls (80) and intentional ones (15). Added to his hits, it gave Murcer a team high on-base percentage of .380. He tied with Manny Trillo with eight game-winning hits for the runnerup slot behind Dave Kingman. Murcer was most successful at the plate in 1978 against New York (.426), Los Angeles (.378), Cincinnati (.341), and Montreal (.340). His best months were July (.355) and September-October (.320).

ONTIVEROS, Steve IF-OF
6' 185 lb. S-L
Born 10/26/51 Bakersfield, CA

Acquired: With Bobby Murcer and Andy Muhlstock from San Francisco Giants for Bill Madlock and Rob Sperring on Feb. 11, 1977.

Personal: Steven Robert Ontiveros is single, has one son and they reside in Bakersfield, CA. He was graduated at Bakersfield (CA) High and his hobbies include basketball, ping pong, and football. Steve has brown hair and eyes. His greatest baseball thrill was hitting a home run his first pro game.

Prior to Majors: Ontiveros has participated in Little League, American Legion, high school and semi-pro baseball programs. Before graduating from high school in 1969 he helped lead Bakersfield to four straight South Yosemite League baseball championships and earned berths on the all-league squads in his sophomore and junior seasons. Ontiveros was signed to his first pro contract by the San Francisco Giants in 1969. In 1969, Steve led Pioneer League (Rookie Class) third basemen in fielding percentage (.898), and in 1970 led Midwest League (Class A) third basemen in fielding (.915), putouts (93), assists (219) and doubleplays (18). In 1971 while with Fresno, Ontiveros led the California League (Class A) in doubles with 33, triples with 10, second in bases on balls (102) led third basemen in total chances (313), and was named third baseman on the California League and

Ontiveros, Cont'd

National Association Class A All-Star Teams. He was chosen Topps' Player of the Month for July and, in a poll of California League managers, was voted the best batting prospect, best defensive infielder, and the infielder with the best arm. He was the Pacific Coast League batting champion in 1973 with a .357 average, the highest season average in the PCL since 1956, and he led the league in doubles (32) and triples (16). On July 9, 1973, he hit two home runs, two triples and a single in five at bats, driving in seven runs in a 15-4 win. Among the honors he received that season were: being named to the PCL and National Association Class AAA All-Star Teams as an outfielder, voted league's Player of the Month for July, named Topps' Player of the Year and was chosen Minor League Player of the Year by The Sporting News.

Major Leagues: Steve first came to the majors in 1973 when he joined the Giants late in the season, and he hasn't been off a major league roster since. On August 24, 1975, Steve was playing right field and made a spectacular catch on John Milner's looping line drive to save Ed Halicki's nohitter. On September 3, 1975, he enjoyed a career high four-hit game against Houston in the Astrodome. With the Cubs in 1977, he blossomed into a highly respectable third baseman and set his career highs for one season. Among those on the team playing enough to qualify for the league batting race, Steve had highest batting average (.299) and led in walks (81). In 1978, Steve got off to one of his worst starts of his professional career. In April he managed a lowly .145 and only was slightly better in May with a .178. Finally, in June, he burst out of his season long slump with a .367 and followed with a .269 in July until, trying to play with an injury, dislocated his left shoulder for the second time. The succeeding operation took him out of action for the remainder of the season.

PAGEL, Karl OF
Born 3/29/55 Madison, WS

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs

Personal: Karl Douglas Pagel is married and resides in Phoenix, AZ, in the off-season. He is a graduate of Washington High in Phoenix and attended Glendale (AZ) Junior College and University of Texas at Austin. He was in Who's Who in Junior Colleges in 1975 and was on the National Honor Society in high school. He has brown hair, blue eyes, and his hobbies are listening to music and watching movies. He is in insurance sales in the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Pagel played all three major sports in high school and helped lead the baseball team, coached by his father, Tom, to a division championship in his junior year. As a senior, Karl batted .435, won 9 and lost 4 while pitching three no-hitters and striking out 150 batters. He was an all-division pitcher and an all-stater as a pitcher and outfielder. He batted .420 and set a Glendale record with 46 runs-batted-in in 1974 which earned him a berth on the National JC All-American Team. At Texas in 1976 he batted .307 in 58 games with eight home runs and 43 RBI. He signed a professional contract with scout Bill Capps after the Cubs had drafted him in first round of secondary phase of June 1976 free agent draft. He had been drafted earlier by the Mets (January 1975) and Cardinals (June 1975), but did not sign. After a slow start, he blossomed in his second year as a professional. He led Midland, Cub Class AA affiliate, and the Texas League in home runs (28), base on balls (88), and slugging percentage (.637). He was second in RBI's (104) and total bases (261). He was selected to the Texas All-Star Team and was named Texas League's Most Valuable Player. After a .458 slugging percentage, 23 home runs (two with bases loaded), and 86 RBI's at Wichita in the American Association (Class AAA), Karl was elevated to the majors on September 1, 1978.

PUTMAN, Ed IF-C
6'1" 190 lb.
Born 9/25/53 Los Angeles, CA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Eddy William Putman is married and resides in Covina, CA, in the off-season. He is a graduate of Northview High (in Covina) and majored in physical education at the University of Southern California. Ed has brown eyes and hair and enjoys fishing, tennis, and bicycle riding.

Prior to Majors: Putman has probably played on more amateur championship teams than any other player in the Cubs' organization. He helped his Pony League to a runnerup slot in the national tournament, and two years later he paced his Colt League teammates to a national title. The following year he led the West Covina Post #790 to an American Legion National Championship with a .545 batting average and 15 runs-batted-in during the seven-game series. While attending Northview High, as an All-Montview League catcher, he was instrumental in his team winning the California Interscholastic Federation Class AA title. He was drafted by Texas in 1971, but did not sign. During his three years at USC, Ed was named All-Pacific Eight Conference catcher and was named Honorable Mention on The Sporting News' College All-America Team. He helped the Trojans win three consecutive conference, district, and College World Series Championships (1972-5). He was the Cubs' first selection in the secondary phase of the January free agent draft and was signed by Gene Handley. Putman's first season as a professional was not overly impressive at first glance of his statistics. A check of his hits and bases on balls as compared to his trips to the plate revealed he was on base by those two methods almost 35% of the time at Key West in the Florida State League (Class A). In the 1975 Arizona Instructional League, Putman batted .365 and continued his improvement as a catcher and first baseman in 1976 at Midland in the Texas League (Class AA) and Wichita of the American Association (Class AAA). Major Leagues: Ed was impressive before the major league coaching staff during spring training in 1976. Then, his success at Midland and Wichita merited him a trip to Chicago in September. In his first time at bat, Sept. 7 at Wrigley Field, Putman hit a pinchhit single to collect one of the eight hits off New York's Jon Matlack. Ed played errorless ball at first base and rapped another single in his next game. He got another one-base safety in his third appearance before he finally failed in a pinchhit role in his last time at bat for a fine .429 major league debut.

RADER, Dave C
Born 12/26/48 Claremore, OK

Acquired: With Hector Cruz from St. Louis Cardinals for Jerry Morales, Steve Swisher, and a player to be named later on December 8, 1977.

Personal: David Martin Rader is single and resides in Bakersfield, CA, where he is a real estate salesman. Dave attended South High School (Bakersfield, CA) and Bakersfield (CA) Junior College. His hobbies include fishing and hunting. He has black hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Dave played baseball and football in high school and was named to all-conference teams. He also participated in American Legion ball and was the Giants No. 1 selection in the June 1967 free agent draft. After being inked to his first pact by Dick Wilson, Dave started the 1967 season with Salt Lake City (Rookie) and compiled enough impressive stats to earn a promotion to Fresno (Class A). He moved steadily through the various minor league classification culminating in a superior year at Phoenix (Class AAA) in 1971 when he led Pacific Coast League batters with a .314 and was named to the all-star team.

Major Leagues: Dave started his major league career on a good note. After making his debut in 1971, he became the Giants top catcher and was selected National League Rookie of the Year by The Sporting News in 1972. Dave remained with San Francisco through 1976. His hottest year was 1975 when he put together a 12-game hitting streak and batted .291. He was traded to St. Louis along with John D'Acquisto and Mike Caldwell for Willie Crawford, Vic Harris, and John Curtis on October 20, 1976. After a season understudying the enduring and fine hitting Card catcher, Ted Simmons, Dave was traded to the Cubs.

REUSCHEL, Rick P
6'3" 230 lb. R-R
Born 5/16/49 Quincy, IL

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Rick Eugene Reuschel is married, has one son, one daughter, and resides in nearby Arlington Heights, IL. He was graduated at Central High School in Camp Point, IL, and majored in Mathematics at Western (Macomb) Illinois University. His hobbies include carpentry and basketball. Rick has brown hair and eyes. His older brother, Paul, pitches for Cleveland.

Prior to Majors: Rick played in Little League and Pony League ball in Golden, IL, and American Legion ball in Keokuk, IA. He pitched on the varsity baseball team at Western Illinois University. In 1968, as a member of the Galesburg Pioneers of the Central Illinois Collegiate League, Rick earned a 4-4 record with a 3.42 ERA. In 1969, he helped guide Western Illinois to the Illinois Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Championship with a superb 10-0 record and a 1.29 ERA. That same year Reuschel was named to the all-conference and all-district teams. Rick was signed to his first pro contract by Elvin Tappe of the Chicago Cubs. In 1970, Reuschel led the Northern League in complete games with seven. When he was promoted to the big club from Wichita in June, 1972, Reuschel was leading the American Association (Class AAA) in ERA (1.33), wins (9), complete games (8), and shutouts (3).

Major Leagues: In his first major league game, June 19, 1972, Rick struck out the only man he faced, Bobby Bonds of San Francisco. The next day he recorded his first big league win in six innings of relief, and hit a double in his first time at bat for his first RBI. In 1973, he was 12th in ERA (3.00) in the National League and in 1974 led National League pitchers in total chances (84). In 1975, Rick earned a 3.73 ERA, starting all but one of his 38 games. A rare baseball phenomena took place on August 21 vs. the Dodgers, when Rick and his older brother, Paul, combined to blank the Dodgers for nine innings, giving Rick the win and Paul the save. Rick started 37 of his 38 games in 1976, earning one save in his only relief appearance. Rick's lowest hit game of his career was on June 4 vs. Houston, when he pitched eight innings, allowing only one unearned run on two hits, but he lost the heartbreaker 1-0. It was 1977 when Rick finally entered "the cream of the crop corps" among National League pitchers. He compiled the best statistics of his career and became the Cubs' 24th 20-game winner and the first since Fergie Jenkins won 20 in 1972. His performance earned him a berth on the National League All-Star Team. Rick led the staff in several categories—victories (20), complete games (8), shutouts (4), innings pitched (252), and strikeouts (166). He set club highs for longest winning streak (from June 6 to July 11, 6 wins), most consecutive scoreless innings (20.2, June 28 to July 12), and most strikeouts in one game (11, August 17 vs. Pittsburgh). In 1978, pitching with a sore arm during one stretch, Rick's performance dropped slightly, but he was still the winningest pitcher on the team and the ace of the starters. He fanned 10 batters on two occasions (June 8 vs. Cincinnati and Sept. 10 vs. Montreal) and led the club with 115 surpass the hundred mark for the sixth straight season. Rick led the team in wins against Cincinnati (4-0) and Montreal (3-1). He was superb against the Reds, permitting them only 17 hits in 31 innings while striking out 27 and walking only three. They only managed to score twice off big Rick which gave him a sizzling 0.58 ERA against that Western Division opponent. The other foes against which he recorded an ERA of 3.00-or-below were New York (2.25), Montreal (2.53), and San Francisco (3.00). He allowed less hits than innings pitched against seven of the Cubs' 11 opponents.

Born 10/6/56 Philadelphia, PA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: George Michael Riley is single and has brown hair and blue eyes. He resides in Philadelphia where he attended South Philadelphia High School. His hobbies include cars, music and fishing.

Prior to Majors: George began his baseball career in high school where he played baseball, basketball and football. In his senior year (1974) he helped lead the school to the Philadelphia City Baseball Championship. His biggest baseball thrills have been winning the city title game and pitching four no-hitters in a row. Picked fourth by the Cubs in the June 1974 free agent draft, George was assigned to Bradenton (Rookie) where he appeared in five games, striking out 16. In 1975, with Key West (Class A), he tied for the Florida State League lead in assists by a pitcher (36). He split the 1976 campaign in Pompano Beach (Class A) and Midland (Class AA), pitching a no-hit game against Ft. Lauderdale on July 11 for Pompano. George participated in the 1976 Arizona Instructional League, making 10 appearances with a 3.38 ERA. Last season, a tryout with Wichita (Class AAA) gave George a 4.85 ERA in nine games, so he returned to Midland (Class AA) and finished the season with a 3-1 record, along with 57 strikeouts in 75 innings and six saves, second highest on the team.

Segelke, Herman P
6'4" 215 lb. R-R
Born 4/24/58 San Mateo, CA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Herman Neils Segelke is single and resides in South San Francisco, CA. He is employed by a mattress company in the off-season. His hobbies include hunting, fishing and foosball. Herman has red hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Segelke played in the Police Athletic League, Pony League and the Joe DiMaggio League. In football he won the National Punt, Pass and Kick competition for his age group at the 1968 Pro Bowl Game in the Orange Bowl (Miami, FL). Herman played football and baseball in high school. In his senior year he won 11 and lost 2 with a 1.60 ERA, averaging 12 strikeouts a game. He pitched El Camino to the League and Region I championships. He was named to the All-North Peninsula League, All-San Mateo County, All-Region I, All-Central Coast Section, All-Northern California and High School All-American District VIII; and was named Most Valuable Player in the League, Region and Central Coast Section. His greatest baseball thrill was pitching a no-hit, no-run game against San Mateo High in the first start of his senior year, after a ten-month layoff due to tendinitis, while twenty major league scouts were watching. Segelke was Chicago's first selection in the June 1976, free agent draft, regular phase, the seventh player selected in the country.

Born 10/16/55 Cheverly, MD

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Kurt Elliot Seibert is single and resides in Ellicott City, MD. Kurt was graduated at Mount St. Joseph High (Baltimore) in 1973. He is assistant baseball coach at Clemson University in the off-season. His hobbies include tennis and dancing. He has green eyes and red hair.

Prior to Majors: Seibert played football, basketball and baseball in high school. Was All-State in baseball twice and football once, and was named Baltimore Sun's Athlete-of-the-Year. He also played American Legion ball, and was named to the All-State team, and voted Most Valuable Player in the Maryland Legion All-Star Game. Kurt played for Clemson (SC) University for three years where he hit .316 as a freshman; and in his sophomore year he batted .320 and set team and Atlantic Coast Conference record of 48 runs scored in a season. He also stole 21 bases in as many attempts, and was named shortstop on the AC All-Conference Team. In 1976 he hit .344 with 43 runs in 44 games in helping lead Clemson to Conference and Atlantic Regional Tournament titles and a fifth place tie in the College World Series where he batted .455. He was named all-conference and all-american. Kurt also set Clemson career records for most runs (113) and most walks (106); tied the record for most stolen bases (38); and set season marks for most walks (50) and singles (46) both in 1976. Kurt was Chicago's third selection in the June 1976 free agent draft, regular phase.

The calendar cover portrays a beautiful aerial view of Wrigley Field with Lake Michigan in the background as well as many photographs of your favorite Cubs in action. Calendars can be purchased at the park for $3.00 or by mail by sending $3.50 ($.50 for postage and handling) to: Calendar, Wrigley Field, Chicago 60613.

SEMBER, Mike IF
6' 185 lb. R-R
Born 2/24/53 Hammond, IN

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Michael David (Mike) Sember is married and resides in Lansing, IL, in the off-season. Mike was graduated at Bishop Noll Institute (Hammond, IN) and majored in broadcasting at University of Tulsa (OK). Mike has brown hair and eyes; and enjoys tennis, and disco music. Mike is in public relations in the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Mike played baseball, basketball, and football at Bishop Noll, but only played baseball in his senior year. At Tulsa, he quarterbacked the freshman team, but then switched to baseball. He was instrumental in Tulsa winning four consecutive Missouri Valley Conference (MVC) Championships, 1971-74; a NCAA District Five title and a tie for second place in the College World Series in 1971. Sember's play gained him a shortstop berth on the All-MVC Teams in 1972, 73, and 74; All-District Five in 1973 and 74; and Academic All-American Team in 1974. He batted .349 with eight homers and 29 RBI's in 43 games in 1972; hit .352 with 16 RBI's, and 22 SB's in 51 G's in 1974. His greatest baseball thrill was hitting two home runs to beat Memphis State, 9-8, in the 1973 MVC Championship Game. He played semi-pro baseball at Liberal, KS, and Midlothian, IL. Mike was drafted in the second round of the June 1974 free agent draft by the Cubs and was signed by scout John Hennessy. In 1975 at Midland, he led all Texas League (Class AA) short-stops in fielding (.937), putouts (218), and total chances (623). During the 1976 season, Mike played outfield at Midland and shortstop at Wichita in the American Association (AAA). He stayed with Wichita during the 1977 swing, as the team's No. 1 shortstop, appearing in 103 games with a .245 average. In 1978, one of Sember's home runs was a grand slammer.

Major Leagues: For the second straight season, Mike was elevated to the majors by the Cubs in September and met the test as a late inning defensive substitute at shortstop and third base. He also hit safely in his only pinchhitting role, a single to right advancing a runner into scoring position.

SEOANE, Manny P
6'3" 185 lb. R-R
Born 6/26/55 Tampa, FL

Acquired: With minor league player Jose Figuerou from Philadelphia Phillies for Jose Cardenal on October 25, 1977.

Personal: Manuel Modesto Seoane is married and resides in Tampa, FL. He was graduated at Tampa Catholic High School and Hillsborough (FL) Community College. He has brown hair and blue eyes and his hobbies are fishing and boating. He plays winter ball during the off-season.

Prior to Majors: Manny participated in Little League, Pony League and Colt League as a youngster. He also played American Legion ball and was a member of his high school baseball team, where he was named MVP in 1972 and 1973. In his senior year (1973), Manny experienced his greatest baseball thrill when his school won the state championship. That same year he was selected for the Southern All-Stars. He was drafted sixth by the Phillies in June 1973 free agent draft, signed by Gust Poulos and played for the Phillies' 1973 entry in the Florida Instructional League. While with Pulaski during his first professional season, Manny led the Appalachian League (Rookie) in strikeouts (101) and tied for the lead in games started (14). He played for Rocky Mount (Class A) in 1974 and made the all-star team. In 1975, he was elevated to Reading (Class AA), posting a 9-4 mark, and spent the 1976 and 1977 seasons at Oklahoma City (Class AAA), doing fine work as a starter.

Major Leagues: Manny debuted in the majors in late September 1977 with the Phillies. He appeared in two games, starting one of them against the Cubs allowing four hits and one run in three innings. In 1978, the Cubs brought him up to the majors in September after his impressive statistics at Wichita where he was the ace of the Aeros staff leading the club in virtually every pitching category. His hits allowed (164) and strike outs (131) in relation to his innings pitched (174) were particularly interesting to Cub officials. He fanned five during his brief stint with the Cubs and gained his first major league triumph on Sept. 30 with a 7-5 win over New York in relief of teammate Dennis Lamp when the Cubs rallied five runs in the eighth inning.

SUTTER, Bruce P
6'2" 190 lb. R-R
Born 1/8/53 Lancaster, PA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Howard Bruce Sutter is married, has one son, and resides in Arlington Heights, IL, in the off-season. Bruce was graduated at Donegal High School (Mt. Joy, PA). His hobbies include hunting and fishing. Bruce has blue eyes and brown hair.

Prior to Majors: Bruce excelled in baseball, basketball, and football at Donegal High School and received honors in each sport. He helped lead the baseball team to the Lancaster County Championship and was chosen all-county pitcher. He was instrumental in the basketball team winning the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association District Three title. In football he was chosen the district's outstanding quarterback. He captained the basketball and football teams in his senior year and received the school's Outstanding Athlete Award. Sutter played American Legion ball, leading Mount Joy's team to the District Ten championship and was voted the district's best pitcher. He played semi-pro ball for Hippey's Raiders in the Lebanon Valley League. Sutter was signed to his first pro contract by Ralph DiLullo of the Chicago Cubs. In the fall of 1974, Bruce pitched for the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League posting a 3-0 record with a 0.90 ERA and led the league with seven saves.

Major Leagues: Bruce was called up to the Cubs on May 8, 1976, and made his major league debut the next day against the Cincinnati Reds. He was credited with his first major league save on May 23 against the Pirates in Pittsburgh and picked up his first win on July 9 against the Giants. Sutter established himself as the ace righthander in the bull pen and led all Cub relievers in wins with six, saves with 10, and an ERA of 2.71. The local chapter of the BBWAA named Bruce the 1976 Rookie of the Year. Phenomenal is the only word to describe Bruce's contributions to the 1977 Cub campaign. The young forkball (he calls it a "split-fingered fast ball") specialist not only won seven games in 1977, but he saved 31 to tie Ted Abernathy's Cub save record established in 1965. His 1.35 ERA was lowest in the majors of those pitching in 100-or-more innings. On September 8, Bruce tied a National League record for the most consecutive strikeouts by a relief pitcher when he struck out the first six men he faced. In the ninth inning of the same game vs. the Expos, he struck out the side on nine pitches to become the most recent N.L. player to accomplish such a feat since teammate Lynn McGlothen did so as a Cardinal on August 19, 1975. He was selected National League Player of the Week for May 9-15 (4 games, 3 saves, 6 IP, 2 H, 0 BB, 7 SO) and National League Pitcher of the Month, also in May (0-1, 15 games, 11 saves, 30 IP, 14 H, 2 BB, 28 SO, 0.90 ERA). Bruce incurred a muscle injury and was sidelined twice from mid-July through much of August (including a stint on the disabled list, August 2-23), which forced him to miss his first Major League All-Star Game. Bruce was fifth in the balloting for the Cy Young Award and was an easy choice as the recipient of the Headliner Award from the Chicago Chapter of the BBWAA for his 1977 performance. In 1978, Bruce tacked on 27 more saves to his 31 in 1977 and 10 in his partial 1976 season. These two-and-a-half season total of 68 saves added to his 21-16 record indicates he has contributed directly to 89 wins since arriving on the major league scene. Last season's performance earned him a berth on the National League All-Star Team and he pitched admirably to gain the victory. During his 1.2 innings of relief, not one American League Star reached first safely and he struck out Jim Rice and Dwight Evans. During regular season play in 1978, Bruce permitted only 82 hits in 98.2 innings while fanning 106 and walking only 27 unintentionally. Of those pitchers on the team with as many or more innings pitched, his ERA (3.18) was lowest. He was below 3.00 with his ERA against six teams: Atlanta (0.00, no runs, 4 hits in 10 IP), Los Angeles (0.00, no runs, 1 hit in 7 IP), San Francisco (1.13), New York (2.25), Philadelphia (2.25), and Pittsburgh (2.57).

THOMPSON, Scot IF-OF
Born 12/7/55 Grove City, PA

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Vernon Scot Thompson is married and resides in Renfrew, PA, in the off-season. He was graduated at Knoch High School in Saxonburg, PA. He has brown hair and eyes; and enjoys hunting and cards. Scot is a carpenter during the winter months. Scot's father, William K. Thompson, IB-OF, played pro ball for 10 years (1953-62), was in A's and Braves farm systems, playing principally in Texas League, Southern Association and South Atlantic League.

Prior to Majors: Thompson's high school did not field a baseball team; therefore, he participated in basketball, football, and track. He made all-section in basketball and was voted the school's Most Valuable Player in his last two seasons. Scot once caught three touchdown passes in one game in football. He played his baseball in Little League; Senior LL;

American Legion at Saxonburg, PA; and in the Mid-County League at Penn Township, PA. He was drafted in the first round of the June 1974 free agent draft by the Cubs and signed by Frank DeMoss. In 1974, he was named to the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) All-Star Team. In 1975, he led Florida State League (Class A) outfielders with six double plays. Following that season he finished second (.333) in the Arizona Winter Instructional League batting race and was tied for the lead in triples. In 1976, he played most of his games at first base at Midland in the Texas League (Class AA), but he is also an outfielder. In 116 games at both positions, he made only 12 errors. In 1978, Thompson led his Wichita teammates in every major batting category except home runs and RBI's. His stolen bases (35) were second on the team to Rodney Scott's 36. Thompson's 169 hits set a Wichita Club record and was only one shy of John "Champ" Summers, a 30-year-old Indianapolis player, who led the American Association (Class AAA). Thompson's batting average ranked fifth in the loop of those players with 400-or-more at bats and was fifth in stolen bases.

Major Leagues: On Sept. 3, the third day after reaching the majors, Scot was inserted as a pinchhitter. Using his excellent speed afoot, he collected an infield hit to drive in a run. He continued to be successful in that role, batting .500 with six hits in 12 trips to the plate. He concluded his brilliant .417 burst into the majors with a four-for-four performance in the final game of the season (Oct. 1). Included were three doubles which tied Dave Kingman and several other players for the National League high in 1978.

TRILLO, Manny IF
6'1" 160 lb.
Born 12/25/50 R-R
Caritito, Venez.

Acquired: With Darold Knowles and Bob Locker from Oakland A's for Billy Williams on Oct. 23, 1974.

Personal: Jesus Manuel Trillo is married, has one daughter, and resides in Caracas, Venezuela, in the off-season. Manny is a graduate of Tecnica Industrial and attended Libertador Bolivar (both located in Maturin, Monagas, Venez.). In the off-season, Manny plays baseball for Caracas in the Venezuelan League, and also enjoys going to movies and playing golf. Manny has black hair and brown eyes.

Prior to Majors: Trillo played Little League baseball, and competed in basketball and volleyball as well as baseball in high school. He was originally signed to a pro pact by the Phillies as a catcher, but also played in the infield in his first year. He was selected by Oakland at the major league draft session of the 1969 Winter Baseball Meetings after a fine sophomore season in pro baseball. When he worked up to the Iowa Club of the American Association (Class AAA), he was consistently around the .270 mark. At Iowa, he batted .301 (4th in loop) with 27 doubles, six triples, and nine home runs to gain a berth on the American Association All-Star Team. When the franchise moved to Tucson, Manny found the Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) about the same as he almost matched his figures the year before (.312 BAVG, 24 2B's, 7 3B's, 8 HR's). He also had 76 runs, 78 RBI's, and 162 hits (3rd in league); led second basemen in fielding (.973), putouts (304), assists (373), and double plays (113); gaining a spot on the PCL All-Star Team and a boost to the major leagues.

Major Leagues: Manny had only 39 games in the majors before the Cubs acquired him in trade. He played 154 games in his first season in Cub pinstripes to share the team high. In 1976, the durable Trillo stood alone at the top with 158, only missing four games the entire year. His 17 stolen bases that year was not only the second best on the club but was by far the most in Trillo's life as a professional ball player. After leading the National League second sackers with 509 assists in 1975 to help him gain Chicago Rookie of the Year Award, Trillo did even better in 1976 by compiling 527 (tops in N.L.) and 350 putouts while making only 17 errors for a .981 fielding percentage. In 1976, Manny had a span of 42 consecutive errorless games (July 29-September 10) in which he flawlessly handled 69 putouts and 143 assists. In 1977, Manny led National League batters through the first half of the year, reaching a peak average of .388 on May 9 and was selected National League Player of the Week for May 2-8 (.550, 11 H, 20 AB, 2 2B, 1 3B, 3 HR, 9 RBI). He tied a major league record on April 15 by getting two doubles in one inning. Manny appeared in his first All-Star game in July and, even though his average tailed off a bit, finished the year by setting career highs for himself in batting average (.280), hits (141), and home runs (5). The 1978 season became the fourth straight for Manny in which he played over 150 games. He was second on the club in hits (144) to Ivan DeJesus' 172. As a pinchhitter, Trillo was two-for-two last season and he tied Bobby Murcer for the runnerup slot in game winning hits with eight to Dave Kingman's 11. Manny led the team in hitting against Philadelphia, 18-for-61 for a .295, and was tops with nine RBI's. He was over .300 against Pittsburgh (.319) and Atlanta (.308). He hit best in day games (.291), at home (.294), and against lefties (.332). His greatest asset to the team was again obvious in 1978. For the fourth straight year, he led all second basemen in assists (505) and for the second straight season in total chances (878). He was nudged out of the major league honors in both categories by Texas' Bump Wills who had 526 assists and 893 total chances. The fielding of Trillo and DeJesus have contributed greatly to the Cubs leading the majors in assists and total chances the past two consecutive seasons and in capturing a new record in the National League: Most Seasons Leading League, Assists, Club (since 1900), 15.

VAIL, Mike

6' 185 lb.

Born 11/10/51 San Francisco, CA

Acquired: In trade with Cleveland Indians for Joe Wallis on June 15, 1978.

Personal: Michael Lewis Vail is single and resides in St. Petersburg, FL. He graduated from De Anza Junior College (Cupertino, CA). Mike has brown hair and blue eyes. His hobbies are collecting stamps and coins and breeding Persian cats.

Prior to Majors: Mike was signed by the St. Louis Cardinals organization after college graduation. He was assigned to the Sarasota (Rookie) club where he hit 253 in 35 games. In 1972, he moved up to Class A ball, playing for Modesto and Cedar Rapids, and finished the season in Arkansas (Class AA). Mike returned to Modesto of the California League in 1973, batting .278 with 15 home runs, 80 RBI's and 31 doubles. He began the 1974 season in Modesto, posting a .357 average with seven roundtrippers and 41 RBI's. His effective play earned him a promotion to Arkansas of the Texas League, where he batted .314. After the 1974 campaign, Mike was traded to the New York Mets organization and was assigned to Tidewater (Class AAA) of the International League where he had a superb year. He was named the International League's Player for 1975 and led the league in hits (140), triples (9), RBI's (79), and batting (.342).

Major Leagues: Mike was called up to the big leagues by the New York Mets on August 17, 1975, after his superlative play in Tidewater. He continued his hot pace as he put together a 23-game hitting streak that was the season's longest in the majors; tied the National League record for a rookie; equalled the Mets' club record and fell only three short of Guy Curtright's major league freshman record mark for the 1943 White Sox. Hampered by an off-season foot injury that placed Mike on the disabled list for half of the 1976 swing, he played in 53 games, batting .217, but he came back in 1977 to notch a .262 average in 108 games with eight homers and 35 RBI's. He started 69 games overall and batted .351 vs. left-handed pitching. In 1978, Mike was the Cubs best pinchhitter. In that role, he batted .367 with 11 hits and 11 RBI's in 30 at bats. Mike was five-for-eight (.625) against Los Angeles pitching and batted over .300 against six opponents: S. Louis (.409), Philadelphia (.385), San Francisco (.353), and batted his norm, .333, against Pittsburgh and Atlanta. Monthly, after joining the Cubs in mid-June, he went .444 in June, .347 in July, .260 in August, and .361 in September-October.

Wilkerson, Byron P
6'3" 165 lb. R-R
Born 2/4/55 Evansville, IN

Acquired: Signed by the Chicago Cubs.

Personal: Byron Rendall Wilkerson is married and resides in Evansville, IN. Byron was graduated at Harrison High in Evansville in 1973. He is a banker in the off season. His hobbies include tennis, basketball and bowling. He has red hair and green eyes.

Prior to Majors: Wilkerson played Little League, Pony League, Babe Ruth League and American Legion ball. He pitched a no-hitter in Babe Ruth competition. His greatest baseball thrill was striking out 23 batters in a legion tournament game in which he gave up only one infield hit. His most unusual baseball experience was, "a game in which I went 4-for-4 with 4 RBI's. I was terrible hitter!" Byron also threw two no-hitters in high school ball. In 1973 he led the Gulf Coast League in ERA (1.13). On July 22, 1973, he came within one out of pitching a no-hit, no-run game. After Vassie Gardner singled, the next batter was retired to end the game. From July 5 to August 22, 1973, he pitched 55 consecutive innings without allowing an earned run. In 1974 he led the Florida State League with games started (29) and two of his five wins were shutouts. He was on the restricted list all of the 1976 season.

DAHLEN'S AMAZING STREAK

Bill Dahlen recorded a .274 batting average after 21 years in the National League as a shortstop, but in 1894 he hit .362 thanks to an amazing 42-game hitting streak (June 30 thru Aug. 6). After he was held hitless Aug. 7, the Cub infielder then put together a 28-game span (Aug. 8 thru Sept. 9) for a total of 70 games in which he hit safely out of 71 consecutively played games. The 42-game streak is tops in the National League and is second only to Joe DiMaggio's 56 in the American League. No National League player has equalled Dahlen's 70-out-of-71.

Rawlings dominates the World Series. Again!

All of the balls, most of the gloves, and the red hot bats.

Rawlings Baseballs: We made the special Commemorative 75th Anniversary ball used during the Series. We also made every ball used during the regular season. Again!

Rawlings Gloves: At least 12 or more starters in each Series game used Rawlings gloves. And during the regular season, more players used Rawlings than any other brand. Again!

Adirondack® Bats: Our familiar "Pro Ring" circled bats that collected 32 of the 56 total Series R B I's. And we stole the power show with 8 out of 9 Series homers. Again!

Rawlings Domination: What's it mean to you? It means you can take the field with equipment built with the same know-how as the models we build for the pros. And the pros obviously think we build 'em pretty well. Agreed!

SAUL, Jim

WICHITA AEROS

After two successful managerial campaigns in Midland, Texas, leading his club to two second place finishes, and netting himself Manager of the Year honors in 1978, Jim has been promoted to manage the Wichita Aeros of the American Association (Class AAA). Jim's playing career spanned 14 years. In 1963, Jim led all Pacific Coast League (Class AAA) catchers with a very impressive .997 fielding percentage. In 1975 and 1976, Jim was bullpen coach for the Chicago Cubs. Jim is married and has two daughters.

HIATT, Jack

MIDLAND CUBS

Jack Hiatt played 66 of his 483 major league games with the Cubs before concluding his eight-year career in 1972. Besides the Cubs, Hiatt caught for the Angels, the Giants, the Expos and finally the Astros. After a player-coach role with the Wichita Aeros under Mike Roarke, Jack was named manager of the Cubs' Bradenton (Fla.) Club of the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class) in 1975. He earned his promotion to the Pompano Beach Club in the Florida State League (Class A) in 1976. After three seasons at Pompano Beach, Jack has been promoted to manage the Midland Cubs in the Texas League (Class AA). One of Jack's greatest thrills in baseball was a pinch hit home run off Sandy Koufax in his first time at bat in the National League.

HUNDLEY, Randy

QUAD CITY CUBS

Randy has been promoted after his initial season as manager at Bradenton, Fla. (Rookie Class) to the Quad City Cubs (Class A). Randy led the rookies to a record of 30 wins and 24 losses, and was eliminated from the championship the second to the last day of the season. Randy signed his first professional contract with the San Francisco Giants organization in 1960, played with the Giants briefly in 1964 and 1965 and joined the Cubs for the 1966 season. Randy was rated as one of the better defensive catchers earning the Golden Glove Award in 1967. He established the following major league records: Most home runs, catcher, rookie season (19), 1966; most games, catcher, season (160), 1968; highest fielding average, catcher, season (150 or more games), .996, in 1967; fewest errors by catcher, season (150 or more games), 4, in 1967. He led the National League catchers in doubleplays with 17 in 1969.

HARTSFIELD, Bob

GENEVA CUBS

Bob's second season as a manager in the Cub farm system netted him the New York-Pennsylvania League Championship. His team compiled an excellent record of 51 wins and 20 losses, then swept their opponents, the Oneonta Yankees, in the playoff series. The Geneva Cubs compiled a league leading team batting average of .297 and league leading fielding percentage of .954. His players led the league in eleven offensive categories and four pitching departments. When not winning pennants, Bob scouts for the Cubs and referees college basketball in the SEC and ACC during the off season. Bob's biggest thrill during his playing career was breaking into pro ball with a 21-game hitting streak. Bob is the younger brother of Roy Hartsfield, currently the manager of the Toronto Blue Jays.

DID YOU KNOW . . . that the first Cubs' game was played on April 25, 1876? The Cubs beat Louisville, 4-0.

RUDOLPH, Ken

SARASOTA CUBS

Ken, after conclusion of his 1978 season as player-coach at Springfield in the American Association (Class AAA), was hired as manager of the Sarasota Cubs in the Gulf Coast League (Rookie Class). Rudolph, a native of Rockford, Ill., was originally signed to a professional baseball contract by Cub scout Gene Handley in 1965. He first made the major league scene in 1969 with the Cubs as a catcher-outfielder, but was used almost exclusively as a catcher afterwards. He was traded to San Francisco in 1974, to St. Louis in 1975, back to San Francisco in 1977, and then later that year to Baltimore where he concluded his major league career.

SCHULTZ, Barney

PITCHING INSTR.

Barney is starting his third season as minor league pitching instructor for the Cubs. He started his professional baseball career in 1944. Schultz played for the Cubs from 1961-63, compiling a 13-11 record. A knuckleball specialist, Barney had a major league career mark of 20-20 with 264 strikeouts in 347 innings. His best year was in 1964, when he posted a 1.65 ERA and played a major role in a dramatic Cardinal finish that gave St. Louis their triumph over the New York Yankees. After finishing his playing days with St. Louis in 1965, he served as their minor league pitching instructor from 1967-70 and Cardinal pitching coach from 1971-75, and served as the Cubs' major league pitching coach in 1977.

WILLIAMS, Billy

BATTING INSTR.

Billy Williams, a former National League batting champion, is in his second year with the Chicago Cubs organization as a minor league batting instructor after a year of retirement from active play. Williams began his 16-year major league career as an outfielder-first baseman with the Chicago Cubs in 1959. He was named 1961 National League Rookie of the Year. His .333 batting average in 1972 gave him the National League Batting Championship and earned him the Major League Player of the Year Award given by "The Sporting News." While he has established many records, probably his most cherished is the National League mark of 1,117 consecutive games played (Sept. 22, 1963-Sept. 3, 1970).

ADAMS, Bobby

INFIELD INSTR.

Bobby Adams spent 14 years in the major leagues prepping for his present position: teaching the art of infield play to the young players in the Cubs' affiliated clubs. The Cubs were one of four clubs Adams played for in the majors. The others were the Reds, his original club; the Orioles; and the White Sox. In 1966, Bobby moved into the executive end of baseball, serving six years as the president of the Cubs' Tacoma club, and one at Midland. Bobby returned to the field in 1973, and is presently in his seventh season in his latest role.

ROLAIDS RELIEF MAN AWARDS

In an effort to further reward one of baseball's most significant set of specialists, the Warner-Lambert Company is sponsoring the Roloids Relief Man Awards. The awards are in the form of sterling silver trophies of fireman's caps. The premier relievers in the American and National Leagues and on each of the 26 major league clubs will be selected on the basis of a newly-established point system which awards two points for each win, similar number for each save and will take one point away for each loss. In case of ties, the hurler with the lowest ERA will be declared the winner. Bruce Sutter was the Cubs' Roloids Relief Man in 1978 with eight wins, 27 saves and 10 losses for a total of 60 points.

WEEKEND PITCHER

Lefty Ken Holtzman, winner of two no-hit, no-run games for the Cubs, had a very remarkable season in 1967. Limited to pitching in only twelve weekend games while on leave from the army, Holtzman won nine straight without a loss. The soldier-pitcher would fly on Friday night, pitch on Saturday, and return to camp Sunday morning.

SHUTOUT STARS

Four pitchers have accounted for fifty-four shutout victories for the Cubs. Mordecai Brown pitched nine twice. Once in 1906 and again in 1908. Orval Overall reached nine in both 1907 and 1909. Grover Cleveland Alexander had nine in 1919, and 19 years later, "General" Bill Lee posted nine zip performances.

Annual Golf Benefit
For Baseball Charities Set Aug. 6

The annual golf invitational tournament which has been designed by the Chicago Baseball Cancer Charities, Inc., has been set for the Sunset Ridge C.C. on August 6.

Cub players and former Cub and Sox stars of the past will be participating to help raise funds for recipients of the CBCC:

- Hutchinson Scholarship
- Walker Leukemia Center
- Fox Cancer Center
- Lollar Scholarship

Those desiring to participate in the golf portion should send their $250 contribution in immediately by check or money order to the Chicago Baseball Charities Invitational, Box 3515, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Ill., 60654.

This includes the brunch breakfast, the green fee, the cart fee, door prizes, golf prizes, free refreshments throughout the affair, and a dinner followed by appropriate entertainment. For those attending the dinner only, the tickets are $55 and are available at the same address. Phone (312) 664-7676 for additional information.

CBCC donated almost $30,000 to its charities last season and have set a goal of $75,000 this year. In addition to revenue obtained through the golf and dinner, the Cubs are selling golf balls at Wrigley Field and the White Sox are selling a pewter finished medallion of Nellie Fox and Sherm Lollar with proceeds going to CBCC. The medallion, which is made into a key chain, may also be purchased by mail by sending $2 by check or money order to Fox-Lollar Fund, Comiskey Park, 324 W. 35th St., Chicago, 60616.

CUBS' "HOME AWAY FROM HOME" IN ARIZONA

The Chicago Cubs plan to return to Mesa, Arizona, in February of 1979 to re-establish their Spring Training Camp there for the first time since 1965. However, instead of the old Rendevous Park, the Cubs will now train in the new HoHoKam Stadium on North Center Street just north of Brown Road in Mesa.

The Stadium was opened on March 11, 1977, and was previously the home of the Oakland A's. The Cubs also have three nearby diamonds at Fitch Park on which to practice prior to the exhibition season and for workouts of squad members who are not playing during exhibition games. This will be a plus for the Cubs as they not only prepare for the current season but build for the future.

The HoHoKam Stadium has a group of Mesa businessmen who will provide assistance to the Cubs in operating the Stadium, selling tickets, etc. the HoHoKams and the Stadium are named after the Indiana tribe that inhabited the region many years ago. They were the first to bring water to the dry area by a system of canals which can still be traced today.

Mesa is only the fourth training site used by the Chicago Cubs in over 50 years. They trained 26 years from 1921 to 1951, excluding the World War II years, at Catalina Island. Mesa was home of the Cubs from 1952 through 1965. After a one-year stop at Long Beach, California, the Cubs set up camp at Scottsdale, Arizona where they remained until after the Spring of 1978.

Mesa still harbors many Cub fans as was evidenced by a stadium record of 4,012 who turned out to watch the Cubs and the A's play on March 19 last Spring.

The friendly city is located just southeast of Scottsdale and Phoenix. It has a population over 100,000 which has more than doubled in size in the past five years.

FREE AGENT DRAFT RULE

Major league and National Association clubs participate in two meetings a year for the purpose of drafting free agent player talent. Selection of a free agent entitles the club to the exclusive right of negotiation with the player for a specified period (from the date of selection until 15 days prior to the next draft meeting). Draft meetings are held in June and January.

There are two categories to each draft meeting:

(1) Regular Phase—Selection of free agents is in inverse order of major league standings. Each organization may select only one player for each of its major league, "AAA" and "AA" rosters but is not limited to the number of picks for "A" level. Minor league clubs select in the same order as their parent clubs.

(2) Secondary Phase—Selection is of free agents who had been drafted at a previous meeting, but who were not subsequently signed during the negotiation period. It is possible for a club to redraft a player whom it had been unable to sign after the original selection, but only with written consent of that player. Order of selection in the secondary phase is determined by lot.

GENERAL RULES INFORMATION

Player Limits: Clubs must cut active roster to a maximum of 25 players on opening day. . . . From Sept. 1 to opening day, clubs may carry up to 40 players.

Trades within the National League: From midnight the last day of the season to midnight June 15, player contracts may be traded or sold without getting waivers. . . . From June 15 to the end of the season, League waivers are necessary.

Waivers: Player contracts may be available for purchase by other clubs in reverse order of the League standings at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after opening day. Otherwise, in reverse order of the standing at the close of the previous season.

Inter-League Trades: From midnight on the fifth day after the completion of the World Series to midnight of the day preceding the last day of the Winter Meetings and from February 15 to midnight, March 15, player contracts may be traded or sold between clubs of the National and American League without waivers. . . . From midnight, the final day of the Winter meetings each December, to midnight, June 15, and from the last day of the season through the fourth day after the completion of the World Series, waivers are necessary in the assignor's league. . . . From midnight, June 15, to the last day of the season, waivers from all major league clubs are necessary.

Regulation Game: A regulation game consists of nine innings unless extended because of a tie score or shortened because (1) the home team needs none of its half of the ninth or only part of it; or (2) because the umpire-in-chief calls the game after five completed innings. A regulation game may be less than five innings if the home team is ahead after the first of the fifth, or takes the lead or ties the score while at bat in the fifth.

Tie Game: A regulation game that is called by the umpire-in-chief when both teams have the same number of runs is a tie game. Individual player performances are official and are entered in the records, but the game does not count in the League standings and may be re-scheduled at a later date.

Suspended Game: A game becomes a suspended game if it is terminated for any of the following reasons: (1) a curfew imposed by law; (2) a time limit permissible under league rules; (3) light failure or malfunction of a mechanical field device under control of the home club (including automatic tarpaulin or water removal equipment; or (4) Darkness because of any law, the lights may not be turned on. No game called because of a curfew or a time limit shall be a suspended game unless it has progressed far enough to have been a regulation game (see above). A game called under either provision (3) or (4) shall be a suspended game at any time after it starts. Note: weather and similar conditions shall take precedence in determining whether a called game shall be a suspended game. A game can only be considered a suspended game if stopped for any of the four reasons specified. Any legal game called due to weather with the score tied is a "tie game" and must be replayed in its entirety.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CUBS HISTORY

The Chicago Cubs are rich in heritage. The team is most proud of the fact that it is the only one of the original eight charter members of the National League which has operated continuously in the same city in which it was franchised over 100 years ago.

One of the prime movers behind the establishment of the new National League in 1876 was William A. Hulbert, president of the Chicago Club. He was one of the early presidents of the League, and held the dual roles of league president and club president until his death in 1882.

The Chicago Club was known originally as the "White Stockings," although in those days nicknames were not official. About 1890 that name was dropped and the team was known by several nicknames, most notably the "Colts" and "Orphans." Legend has it that a newspaper writer, searching for a short nickname to fit a headline, first used the name "Cubs" in 1900. It was officially adopted as the nickname of the club in 1907.

Early in the 20th century the club came under the absentee ownership of the Taft family of Cincinnati, but following the 1915 season a group of influential Chicagoans, among them William Wrigley, Jr., purchased the club. Five years later, in 1921, Wrigley became majority stockholder. After the death of William Wrigley, Jr. in 1932, his son, Philip K. Wrigley, became majority stockholder. Philip K. Wrigley passed away in 1977, leaving his son, William Wrigley, principal owner of the ball club.

NOTES ON CUBS HISTORY

In 103 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 15,027 games, and won 7,726 of them, both lifetime major league records.

The Cubs have won 16 National League pennants, second only to the Giants with 18.

The Cubs, as a team, have hit 100 or more home runs in 27 of their last 29 seasons.

The all-time major league record for wins in a season and winning percentage in a season is held by the 1906 Cubs, who won 116 and lost 36, for a .763 percentage.

The 1935 Cubs set the club record for consecutive wins in a season with 21 in a row.

The largest crowd ever to see a baseball game at Wrigley Field, was 51,556 on June 27, 1930, against Brooklyn. Of that number, however, 30,476 were Ladies Day guests and 1,332 passholders so the official paid crowd that day was only 19,748.

The largest Opening Day crowd at Wrigley Field, 45,777, attended the 1978 home opener vs. Pittsburgh on April 14.

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

The Chicago Cubs have always made it a point to provide fans with the best possible facility in which to watch major league baseball in comfort and convenience, but at the same time, to retain the rich heritage of the Cubs and Wrigley Field. One of the few remaining parks in the major leagues that was designed for the sole purpose of playing baseball, Wrigley Field is still a place where fans are close to the action. This has not changed, even though the Cubs have spend more than $5,135,000 in recent years in improvements and modernization projects, excluding expenditures for each year's regular maintenance.

More than a half century of baseball tradition is present within the ivy-covered walls of Wrigley Field. After all, here is where Babe Ruth made his famous gesture toward the bleachers before slamming a homer there, where the Cubs' famed "murders' row" of Rogers Hornsby, Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, and Charlie Grimm pounded opposing pitchers, where Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dizzy Dean, Claude Passeau, Charley Root, Larry French, and Bill Lee toed the pitching rubber.

Even in this day of instant communications the Cubs still maintain the tradition of flying a flag bearing either a "W" or an "L" from atop the scoreboard after a game to inform passerbys of the outcome of the day's contest. A blue flag with a white "W" indicates a win while a white flag with a blue "L" indicates a loss.

In 1978 a new innovation was started to inform night travelers. A blue light atop the scoreboard signals victory and a white one indicates defeat.

Early History of the Park

The Cubs moved to the present North Side location for the start of the 1916 season. The site had been the playing field for the Chicago Whales of the short-lived Federal League, which operated in 1914-15. The Cubs played their first game on the present site April 20, 1916, defeating Cincinnati 7-6 in 11 innings. The seating capacity was originally 14,000.

First major improvements were made in 1922-23 when the grandstand was moved back and enlarged, increasing the seating capacity to 20,000.

	Total 37,741

Time of games:

Single games: 1:30 p.m. Mondays thru Fridays; 1:15 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays

Double headers: Noon.

Next, the park was double-decked in the winter of 1926-27, nearly doubling the seating capacity. During the summer of 1937 improved bleachers were constructed. Then, in 1938, wide chairs were installed in the boxes and grandstand. This added to fan comfort, reducing the park's total capacity by several thousand.

During the early years, the park was known simply as Cubs' Park. Then in 1926 it was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of William Wrigley, Jr.

In recent years, the lower grandstand in right field was turned-in so that fans sitting down the right field line would face home plate; the entire upper deck was completely re-constructed (in a four-year project that began in the winter of 1967-68 and was completed in the winter of 1970-71); and plastic, self-rising, contour seats were installed in the lower deck reserved seating area, replacing folding chairs; along with many other improvement projects. During the past winter, new cafeteria-type concession stands were put in and more seats were changed to reserved grandstand, all for the fans' enjoyment.

The Flags of Wrigley Field Tell a Story

At all Cubs home games Old Glory flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park. The flags of the 12 National League cities, eight States, and Quebec fly at the Clark St. entrance.

Before and during each game, 12 pennants, one for each National League Club, fly from the yardarms in the order of the standings of each division on the morning of the game—the first place team in the East Division at top left, and the West Division leader at the right.

The Chicago Cubs flag—red and white on a blue background—displays 16 red stars representing the Cub's 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Cub's two World Championships.

Public Transportation is Easy and Convenient

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West, Clark St. buses (No. 22) and Addison buses (No. 152) take you to main gates. CTA Rapid Transit trains ("L" and subway) take you to 1/4 block from the ball park (Addison St. station). All northbound and southbound "B" trains on the North-South Rapid Transit route stop at Addison on days of all Cubs home games throughout the season. "A" trains stop on hour before game time.

Ticket Information and Prices

Reserved seat tickets for all games are available by mail. Just send your order to Director of Ticket Services, Wrigley Field, Chicago, Ill. 60613. Available on the morning of every home game are more than 17,000 general grandstand and bleacher seats, for which no reservations are needed.

Reserved tickets can also be purchased in advance at the Wrigley Field Ticket Office (Addison and Sheffield).

Reserved box seats are $6.00 for adults and children. Reserved grandstand seats are $4.50 for adults and children. General grandstand seats are $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children under 14. Admission to the bleachers is $1.50 for all ages.

September 23	vs. Pittsburgh	Fan Appreciation Day

On the giveaway days, the first 15,000 youngsters age 13-and-under with a fully paid ticket to the box, reserved or general admission areas will be given the free item (i.e. Jacket, Helmet, etc.). On Camera Day, each Cub fan with a camera will be allowed on the field to take pictures of their favorite Cubs prior to the game at a designated time. Fan Appreciation Day will feature drawings during the game for many valuable prizes. Tickets may be ordered early for these games. See ticket information on page 67 or call (312)248-7900.

QUICK CHANGE ARTISTS

Max Flack and Cliff Heathcote didn't have time to worry about the fit of their new uniforms when they were traded between games of a morning-afternoon doubleheader in Chicago, May 30, 1922. The Cubs sent Flack to the Cardinals for Heathcote, and both outfielders played for their new clubs in the second game. Flack, who lived in Chicago, walked home for lunch between games. He didn't catch up with the news until fifteen minutes before the second game.

DID YOU KNOW . . . that Cub pitcher John Clarkson holds the Cub record for most victories? He racked up 53 wins for the pennant-winning Cubs in 1885!

Radio-TV Announcers for 1979

LOU BOUDREAU

Lou Boudreau, a name synonymous with the color, excitement, and expertise of major league baseball, has participated actively in the world of professional sports all of his adult life, first as one of the greatest shortstops in the history of baseball, and then as a sports broadcaster for WGN Radio.

His dedication to the world of professional baseball was recognized on January 20, 1970, when Lou was voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He joined the Cleveland Indians in 1939 and became one of baseball's greatest shortstops. In 1942, at the age of 24, he was named manager of the Indians and by 1948 was the most popular athlete in America, in addition to being chosen as the most valuable player in the American League.

JACK BRICKHOUSE

"I like some 'Gee Whizz' enthusiasm in broadcasting sports . . ." is the motto and manner of sportscasting of Jack Brickhouse.

Jack has been covering baseball for Television 9 since the station's first telecast in 1948. No baseball broadcaster has televised as many games as Brickhouse.

He entered the broadcasting profession at the age of 18 on radio station WMBD in his home town of Peoria, Illinois, and at that time was the youngest sports announcer in the nation. While at WMBD he sold the station on basketball broadcasts so he could follow Bradley University's quintet on a number of coast-to-coast trips. After broadcasting sports at Peoria for six years, Jack joined WGN to cover sports for the Mutual network and WGN.

Since then he has become one of the most knowledgeable and most respected sports announcers in the business earning many Emmys among his numerous awards.

VINCE LLOYD

It takes an unusual quality of electricity to relay the excitement of a live sporting event over the radio waves, and Vince Lloyd's voltage of enthusiasm has made him one of the most respected names in sport broadcasting.

The WGN Radio voice of the Chicago Cubs since 1966, Vince possesses the exacting expertise to convince the listeners that "He was there, and saw it all," even if he was listening from his own car radio.

The recipient of hundreds of awards in sports broadcasting, his versatility extends to calling the play-by-play action of Big Ten Football games for WGN radio and television. Vince is truly one of the nation's top pro's in broadcast sports.
