JERRY D. McMORRIS

Chairman , President & Chief Executive Officer

Jerry D. McMorris is a 1962 graduate of the Colorado University School of Business. In 1959, the McMorris family purchased Westway Motor Freight, Inc. At that time Jerry assumed the office of President and began operating three trucks between Denver and Golden, Colorado.

Today, NW Transport Service (the parent company) operates over 10,000 units in North America and is the largest privately-held motor carrier in the West. NW employs over 2,000 people in Colorado alone and another 3,000 people throughout the U.S. and Canada. NW Transport Service is now the largest transportation company based in the Rocky Mountain Region.

He has already made an impression among baseball owners, being selected by the Executive Council to serve on the Player Relations Committee, as well as the newly founded committee that will deal with Congress and Federal Legislation.

Jerry is a member of many civic organizations and is also an active member of the World Business Council and Chief Executives Organization. He currently is an officer of The American Trucking Association based in Washington, D.C., and The Western Highway Institute based in San Francisco. Jerry is also a board member of The National Western Stock Show.

Jerry and his wife, Mary, have three grown children, Mike, Scott, and Kelly. Jerry and Mary reside at Timnath Farms in Timnath, CO.

COLORADO ROCKIES TM

JOHN McHALE, JR.

Executive Vice President
Baseball Operations

John McHale, Jr. serves as the Rockies' Executive Vice President of Baseball Operations. In concert with Bob Gebhard, during the start-up months of the Club, McHale oversaw all aspects of the club's major league, minor league, scouting and player development operations. He now heads the business activities of the Rockies, coordinating the Business Operations and Sales and Marketing functions. He also serves Major League Baseball as a member of the Baseball Operations Committee.

McHale practiced law in Colorado since 1981 prior to joining the Rockies, most recently with the firm of Miller & McCaren, P.C. His work was concentrated in the areas of litigation, labor relations, and employment law.

Since 1985, he has represented fifteen of the twenty-six major league baseball clubs in salary arbitration hearings. He was a member of the Denver Baseball Commission from 1984-1989 and a member of the Denver Metropolitan Major League Baseball Stadium District from 1989 to 1991. He was counsel to the Montreal organization in 1975 and worked in the Expos' minor league system during the summer months from 1969-72.

He graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1971, Boston College Law School in 1975, and received a Master of Laws degree from Georgetown University Law Center in 1982.

McHale and wife Sally live in Boulder with sons, Duncan and Will.

BOB GEBHARD

Senior Vice President
General Manager

Bob Gebhard was named Senior Vice President/General Manager of the Colorado Rockies in September, 1991, joining the club after fulfilling his duties as Vice President, Player Personnel for the Minnesota Twins. He started with Minnesota in 1987 as Director of Major League Personnel, then assumed the V.P. role a year later. Twice during his five seasons with the Twins they were baseball's World Champions, including his final season.

Gebhard was one of the Rockies "Road Warriors" during the 1992 season, scouting all 26 established clubs in major league baseball in preparation for the November 17 expansion draft. He was instrumental in assembling and assigning the group of major and minor league scouts that compiled the names chosen to become Colorado Rockies.

He joined Minnesota after 13 seasons in the Montreal organization, beginning as a player/coach in 1974. He served the same role in '75, before becoming the Expos' Minor League Field Director and pitching coach for six years. After spending the 1982 season as major league pitching coach, he was named Director of Minor League clubs the following year, remaining in that role until joining the Twins.

His playing career spanned 11 seasons, including portions of three years pitching in the majors for both the Twins and Expos.

Gebhard was a four-sport letterman in high school in his hometown of Lamberton, MN, then played both baseball and basketball at the University of Iowa. He was a 15th round selection of the Twins in the first-ever June Free Agent Draft in 1965.

He and wife, Nancy, have three children, daughters Angie and Jenny, and son Casey, and reside in Highlands Ranch.

KEVIN JORDAN

Senior Vice President
Chief Financial Officer

Kevin Jordan joined the Colorado Rockies in August, 1992 as the Chief Financial Officer. As Senior Vice President of Administration and Finance, Jordan's responsibilities include financial reporting to the owners of the Colorado Baseball Partnership, club financing, and coordination of all accounting and financial functions. In addition, Front Office Administration, Ticket Operations and Merchandising are also overseen by Jordan.

Raised in Ft. Collins, Jordan graduated from Colorado State University with a B.S. degree in accounting. Jordan practiced with the international public accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, based out of the Denver office. Prior to joining the Colorado Rockies, Jordan served as the chief financial officer of a number of multi-national companies for the Denver based CONCORD group of companies.

He and wife Nancy live in Evergreen.

CLARK WEAVER

Senior Vice President
& Corporate Counsel

Clark Weaver joined the Rockies on October 15, 1992, serving the organization as a Senior Vice President and Corporate Counsel. He previously served under the same title for the Hamilton Oil Corporation, handling all legal affairs for a publicly-held energy company with its principal assets located in the United Kingdom sector of the North Sea.

Prior to that, Weaver was responsible for all legal affairs for the IntraWest Financial Corporation, establishing its law department. He has also practiced for a private law firm and for ten years was the General Counsel for Monfort of Colorado, Inc., establishing a law department there.

In 1991, Weaver was named the University of Colorado's School of Law Outstanding Alumnus - Corporate Counsel. A 1964 graduate of Stanford University, he received a B.A. in Political Science. When not attending classes at Stanford, he served as the varsity quarterback, and was captain during his senior season. Clark is a 1969 graduate of the University of Colorado School of Law.

He and wife, Martha, have two daughters and reside in Denver.

BERNIE MULLIN

Senior Vice President
Business Operations

Bernard ("Bernie") Mullin was appointed Senior Vice President - Business Operations in September, 1991. In this position he oversees broadcast and telecast operations, ticket sales operations, and stadium operations.

Prior to joining the Rockies, Mullin was Senior Vice President - Business Operations for the Pittsburgh Pirates for five seasons (1986-90).

Before working for the Pirates, Mullin was President of NSM Management Consultants in Deerfield, MA, specializing in start-ups and financial turn-arounds of sports, health and fitness operations. He was also a Professor of Sports Marketing and Adjunct Professor of Management at the University of Massachusetts.

A native of Liverpool, England, Mullin obtained his B.A. in Business Studies from Lanchester Polytechnic and played semi-professional soccer for Oxford City in England.

He is a University of Kansas graduate holding an M.S. degree in Marketing and an MBA and a Ph.D. in Business.

Mullin resides in Jefferson County and has three children, Julie, Lara and Steven.

DAVID H. GLAZIER

Vice President - Sales

Dave Glazier joined the Colorado Rockies in August, 1991, and was named Vice President of Sales in May, 1992. He is responsible for sales and marketing operations, including television advertising and corporate sponsorships.

Prior to joining the Rockies, Dave served two years as manager of sports sales for WLWT-TV, the NBC affiliate flagship station of the Cincinnati Reds. He also worked for four years as regional manager for the Miller Sports Group. His baseball background includes three years in the American League office, as well as the executive training program with the Chicago White Sox.

A 1982 graduate of Capital University in Columbus, OH, he also received a Master of Sports Administration degree from Ohio University in 1984.

Dave and wife, Julie, and daughters, Jennifer and Mallory, reside in Highlands Ranch.

MICHAEL KENT

Vice President - Finance

Michael Kent joined the Colorado Rockies in January, 1992, from the Philadelphia Phillies, where he was Controller. As Vice President-Finance, Kent is responsible for developing and implementing all controls for accounting, budgeting and operations. Prior to joining the Phillies in 1982, he worked in the Long Island, NY, office of Deloitte Haskins and Sells, providing accounting services to small and growing businesses.

Kent, 35, earned a B.S. degree in Accounting from Villanova (PA) University in Philadelphia.

Michael and his wife, Mary, have two children, Jonathan and Laura, and reside in Highlands Ranch.

RANDY SMITH

Assistant General Manager

Randy Smith began his professional baseball career in the San Diego Padres' organization on the minor league side as administrative assistant with Beaumont, the AA entry in the Texas League. He joined the major league front office in September, 1984, assisting in the Padres' preparation for post-season play.

Smith, 30, was named Assistant Director of Scouting and Minor Leagues in January, 1985, then just three years later took over the role of Director of Scouting. While with San Diego, he inherited the smallest scouting staff in baseball; however, under his direction the Padres increased their operations domestically, as well as in the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, and Australia.

With the Rockies, he played an integral role in scouting talent for both the June draft and the MLB expansion draft. Smith's responsibilities also include assisting Bob Gebhard with player contract negotiations, and utilizing his expertise in the scouting and player development areas.

In 1990, he was selected by Baseball America as one of the 10 people that will influence baseball in the 1990's.

A native of Houston, TX, he attended Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. He is single and resides in Denver.

PAUL A. JACOBS

General Counsel

Paul Jacobs, who serves as the organization's General Counsel, had primary responsibility for structuring and organizing the Colorado Baseball Partnership and processing its National League franchise application.

Prior to joining the Rockies, Jacobs practiced law with Holme, Roberts & Owen for 24 years and was a Senior Partner specializing in business, real estate and sports law.

Jacobs graduated magna cum laude from both Tufts University, earning an Economics degree, and the University of Denver College of Law. A Denver resident, Jacobs is a Director of the Anti-Defamation League and a member of the Budget and Finance Committee for Rose Medical Center. He and his wife, Carole, have four children.

DICK BALDERSON

Director Of Player Development

Dick Balderson was named Director of Player Development on August 7, 1992. His responsibilities will include all minor league player development, as well as structuring the farm system and its clubs.

He had spent the last four years in the Chicago Cubs' organization, beginning in 1988 as Director of Scouting, then was promoted two years later to Vice President of Scouting and Player Development.

Balderson, 46, began his baseball executive career in April, 1976, as Assistant Farm Director of the Kansas City Royals. In 1980, he was promoted to Director of Minor League Operations, then to Director of Scouting and Player Development a year later. After a 10-year stint in the Royals front office, he ventured to Seattle, serving as Vice President of Baseball Operations from October, 1985 to July, 1988.

A former minor league pitcher in the Kansas City organization, Dick played collegiate baseball for the Richmond Spiders.

He and wife, Marcia, have two children, son, Brett (12), and daughter, Melissa (7).

PAT DAUGHERTY

Director of Scouting

Pat Daugherty joined the Colorado Rockies after six seasons as the Scouting Supervisor for the Montreal Expos. He performed double-duty for the Expos during the 1990 season, also serving as manager of Jamestown in the New York-Penn League.

Double-duty is nothing unusual for Daugherty, because while coaching at Indian Hills Community College in Centerville, Iowa, for 17 years, he spent the last 10 of those also working as a manager or coach in the Expos' chain. He began in professional baseball in 1972 as manager at Cocoa Beach in the Gulf Coast League. He was on the field both with the Expos and Indian Hills C.C. until 1981, when he was named Field Director of Player Development for the Montreal organization.

Daugherty began his collegiate coaching at Indian Hills C.C. in 1965 after eight seasons as a high school coach in Iowa. He has been well honored for his years of amateur service by being inducted into the Simpson College Hall of Fame, Iowa Coaches Hall of Fame and the National Junior College Hall of Fame.

His responsibilities include scouting and evaluating amateur talent for upcoming drafts, as well as organizing and assigning his scouting staff around the country. Pat's first draft with the Rockies last June netted 40 signings out of 50 choices, tops among major league clubs.

Daugherty has a B.A. from Simpson College and earned his M.A. at Drake University. He and wife JoAnn have four children, daughters Mary Beth, Ann and Peggy, and son Mike.

PAUL EGINS

Assistant Director Of Scouting & Player Development

Paul Egins arrived on the Colorado scene after serving the Atlanta Braves in a variety of roles. He tutored under Hank Aaron as the Assistant to the Director of Player Development and Scouting, then was named Assistant Director of Player Development.

Prior to joining the front office in Atlanta, Egins put his collegiate athletic training to use by serving the Braves for two seasons as the trainer for their Burlington Class A team. He was previously a trainer at the University of Georgia and Florida A&M University.

As a member of the Rockies' staff, Egins' responsibilities include scouting, organization of the free agent draft, organizing tryout camps, and other baseball duties.

Egins, 28, received a B.S. from the University of Georgia in 1986, majoring in Biology. His graduate work at Florida A&M was in Sports Administration. He is single and resides in Denver.

HERB HIPPAUF

National Cross-Checker

Herb Hippauf joined the Rockies in 1992 after a three-year scouting stint with the Montreal Expos. His hard work and dedication preparing the organization for the first amateur draft in club history merited a three-year contract extension last July 13.

Hippauf, 53, just completed his 25th year as a scout for five different organizations, beginning in 1968 with the Houston Astros. The former pitcher had a professional playing career that spanned seven seasons, including a brief interlude with the Atlanta Braves in 1966.

During the 1980's, aside from his scouting duties, Hippauf also served the Braves' organization as a minor league pitching coach.

A native of New York City, Herb and wife, Judy, have three daughters, Kathy, Karen and Kim, and reside in Sunnyvale, CA.

MIKE SWANSON

Director of Public Relations

Mike Swanson joined the Colorado Rockies as Public Relations Director in March, 1992, marking his 20th year in professional sports. He most recently served as the lead researcher for ESPN's Major League Baseball telecasts. Prior to joining ESPN, Swanson served as Media Relations Director for the San Diego Padres in 1990, after being the Assistant Director for six seasons. Other major league experience came as a member of the Kansas City Royals public relations staff from 1973-78.

When not involved with professional baseball, Swanson has worked virtually every major sporting event as a television network statistician. He worked with CBS Sports in their coverage of NCAA Basketball, culminating in 1992 with his sixth Final Four in Minneapolis. He has worked the NBA and NFL for Turner Sports and been in the booth for four Super Bowls, four NFC Championship Games, six Cotton Bowls and three NBA Championships.

Swanson, 38, attended Longview Community College in Lee's Summit, MO, and the University of Kansas. He is single and resides in Denver.

MANAGER

DON BAYLOR
25 Manager

HT: 6-1 WT: 225
AGE: 43 (Turns 44 on June 28)
BORN: June 28, 1949 in Austin, TX
RESIDENCE: LaQuinta, CA

Don Baylor was named the first major league manager in club history on October 27, 1992. The announcement was made by Bob Gebhard, Rockies' Senior Vice President and General Manager, "This is a monumental day in Colorado Rockies history and I'm very pleased and excited with the decision we've made. It was an exhaustive search, but very important to us that it was completed with precision and that as an organization, we were comfortable with what would be our biggest baseball announcement to date. In Don Baylor, we not only have the best candidate for the job of manager, but we have an outstanding leader that our young players will be able to learn from and respect."

Gebhard and Baylor were together only briefly during their championship season in 1987 at Minnesota, and the future manager made a quick impression on his current boss. "I used to watch him in the clubhouse," added Gebhard. "He was only with us for six weeks, but our players would go up to him for advice. I never forgot what I saw."

With that, the Rockies had the leader they coveted. Baylor, who had been mentioned in various other managerial openings in previous seasons, spent the last three years as a hitting coach, two with the Milwaukee Brewers, followed by 1992 with St. Louis. Despite not having previous managerial experience, he brings 19 years of major league seasoning to the Colorado bench.

Winning followed Baylor throughout his active days, playing for seven division winners with five different clubs, climaxing a marvelous career with three consecutive World Series appearances from 1986-88. He reached the pinnacle in 1987 with a World Championship ring as a member of the Twins.

A former standout high school baseball and football player in his native Austin, TX, Baylor chose to sign a baseball contract with the Baltimore Orioles in 1967 rather than play football at the University of Texas. The choice was difficult, however, the future baseball superstar was told he could not play both sports in college by football coach Darrell Royal. The Longhorns loss on the gridiron was baseball's gain.

In 1970, at the age of 21, Baylor got his first taste of major league action with the Orioles. Two years later, he was a regular in manager Earl Weaver's lineup and remained with Baltimore through the 1975 season. Prior to the start of the 1976 season, he was involved in one of the blockbuster trades of the '70's, going to the Oakland A's with Mike Torrez and Paul Mitchell in exchange for Reggie Jackson, Ken Holtzman and Bill Van Bommel.

After a one-year stint with the A's, he opted for free agency and signed with the California Angels, establishing himself as one of the premier players in the game. Baylor's best overall season came in '79, when he was named the American League Most Valuable Player as California won their first of two Western Division titles. He finished with a .296 average and 36 home runs, while leading the majors in runs (120) and RBI (139).

Following the '82 season, he again went the free agent route, signing with the New York Yankees, playing in the Bronx for three seasons. During spring training of 1986, he was traded to the Boston Red Sox for Mike Easler, beginning the stretch of three straight visits to the Fall Classic.

Along the way, Baylor played for some of the best managers in the game: Weaver, Chuck Tanner, Gene Mauch, John McNamara, Jim Fregosi, Billy Martin, Tom Kelly and Tony LaRussa, all of whom influenced his career.

Baylor finished his playing career following the '88 season, totaling 338 home runs, 49th best on the all-time list, and 1,276 RBI, 64th all-time.

Fear at the plate was never a factor for this imposing figure, establishing a major league record by getting hit with 267 pitches, shattering the American League mark of 189 held by Minnie Minoso, and the N.L. record of 243 held by Ron Hunt. He had double figures in HBP's in 14 different seasons bringing new meaning to "taking one for the team".

Also a credit off the field, while playing for the California Angels, Baylor established the "65 Roses Club", a charitable organization to assist the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. For 14 years, he has hosted an annual golf tournament in Southern California to raise money for the foundation, last year bringing in over $100,000. Since joining the cause for Cystic Fibrosis, Baylor's efforts have raised more than $5 million for the Foundation. He was the 1985 recipient of the Roberto Clemente Award, symbolic of the player that best exemplified the qualities of the late Pittsburgh outfielder both on and off the field.

Don and wife, Becky, have spent their recent off-seasons in La Quinta, CA. Son, Don

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT DON BAYLOR

Bill White, President, National League:

"I am very pleased with the selection of Don Baylor as manager of the Colorado Rockies. I am gratified one of the National League expansion teams, through an extensive interview process, has chosen a man who has demonstrated strength, leadership, knowledge of the game and all the other qualities we talk about when we discuss hiring managers."

Earl Weaver, former manager, Baltimore Orioles:

"He played the game the way it's supposed to be played, and he was great in the clubhouse. As far as a person who knows baseball and has paid his dues, the Rockies couldn't have picked a better man."

Nolan Ryan, former teammate with the Angels:

"He has that special presence about him. I expect him to make a good manager. He'll carry those qualities over to the job. He just has those leadership qualities. They are something a person either has or doesn't have. His approach to the game and the consistency with the way he lives, on the field and off, will be assets."

Gene Mauch, former manager, California Angels:

"The surprise to me is that it took this long for him to get a big league job. I thought he would be a veteran manager by now. Don never said an awful lot, but you were always aware of his presence by the way he carried himself, the way he prepared for a game. He'd see some little thing, and he'd take care of it. All he wanted to do was see his name in the lineup. What I remember was how tough he was when there were two outs and you needed a single to score a run. He changed his whole approach to hitting. He became an up-the-middle, line-drive hitter. He will be very helpful to anybody that wants to listen to him. He's a very intelligent man."

COLORADO ROCKIES™

COACHES

LARRY BEARNARTH

36 Pitching Coach
HT: 6-2 WT: 215
AGE: 52 (Turns 53 on September 11)
BORN: September 11, 1940 in New York, NY
RESIDENCE: Seminole, FL

COACHING CAREER: The 1992 season marked the first time in 21 years that Bearnarth did not wear the uniform on a full-time basis, but he was no less a factor in the success of an organization...he spent the entire season serving as special assistant to G.M. Bob Gebhard, essentially scouting both leagues in preparation for the 1992 Expansion Draft...when not scouting, which was not often, "Bear" found the time to instruct the newest members of the Rockies' organization who were drafted last June...he was tabbed major league pitching coach on October 29, 1992, two days after Don Baylor was named manager...regarded as one of the top pitching instructors in the game, Bearnarth most recently worked in the Montreal organization from 1972-91, the last 7 seasons with the major league club...his most satisfying season on the bench had to come in 1990, when his pitching staff won the N.L. ERA title (3.37), which ranked 2nd only to the A.L. Champion Oakland A's... while the "Nasty Boys" of Cincinnati were pulling down the press clippings, Bear's pitching staff tied the Reds with 50 saves, led the N.L. in lowest opponents batting average (.245) and fewest wild pitches (27)...this all came after 3 of the 5 starters from '89 had left via free agency, as he worked with 22 different pitchers in 1990, including 9 rookies...Bear had to "play hurt" during 1989, when on July 8 he took a Rex Hudler batting practice liner off the right cheekbone causing a fracture...his '88 staff established a club record with a 3.08 ERA...the 1987 corps won the Rolaids bullpen of the year honors with a 29-14 mark and 50 saves...he had first opportunity to coach on the big league level in 1976, when at the age of 35 he was the Expos' pitching coach...excluding that season, he served as their minor league pitching instructor, 1972-75 and 1977...worked as a manager in the organization from 1978-81, then returned to minor league pitching coach duties (1982-84).

PLAYING CAREER: Bear had a 10-year pro pitching career before being hired by Montreal on December 1, 1971...he spent 9 seasons in the New York Mets' organization (1962-70) and his final year was with the Milwaukee Brewers (1971)...he totaled a 13-21 career record in 173 big league games.

PERSONAL: Lawrence Donald (Larry) Bearnarth...he and wife, Barbara, have four children, daughters Karin and Kristin, and sons Larry and Erik...Bearnarth is a 1958 graduate of St. Peter's H.S. in Staten Island, NY, and a '62 grad from St. John's University...an English literature major, he once authored a story from the winter leagues for Sport Magazine.

SVEUM CONNECTION TO THE ROCKIES

Even though Dale Sveum is not a member of the Colorado Rockies, through some wheeling & dealing, his name twice came up in the transactions of future members of the Rockies. Originally a Milwaukee Brewer, Sveum was dealt to the Phillies on December 11, 1991 for lefthanded hurler Bruce Ruffin, a free agent signee by the Rockies.

On August 10, 1992, Sveum was shipped from the Phils to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for righthanded pitcher Keith Shepherd, Colorado's 12th choice in the second round of last year's Expansion Draft.

RON HASSEY

29 First Base Coach

HT: 6-2 WT: 200
AGE: 40
BORN: February 27, 1953 in Tucson, AZ
RESIDENCE: Tucson, AZ

PROFESSIONAL CAREER: This is Ron's first stint as a coach after spending the 1992 season as an advance scout for the New York Yankees...he retired as a player following the 1991 season, closing out a major league career that began in 1978 with the Cleveland Indians...he is the only catcher in major league history to catch 2 perfect games...Hassey was behind the plate on May 15, 1981, when Cleveland's Len Barker was perfect against the Toronto Blue Jays, then in his final active season, called the pitches for Dennis Martinez when the Expo hurler retired all 27 L.A. Dodgers he faced on July 28, 1991 in Dodger Stadium...played for 6 different clubs, his longest stint coming with the Indians from 1978-84, originally signing with them in 1976...also had major league time with both Chicago entries, the Yankees, Oakland and the Expos...with Oakland, Hassey made consecutive visits to the World Series (1988-89)...he was 2-for-8 in the '88 series against the Dodgers, but due to unusual circumstances, did not get an AB vs. the Giants in '89...throughout that season, he was Bob Welch's designated catcher, with Welch going 16-7 when Hassey was calling signals...he was slated to be behind the plate for Game #3 of the Fall Classic, however, the Bay area earthquake cancelled that opportunity...he was involved in one of the bigger trades during the 1984 season, that sent Hassey, Rick Sutcliffe and George Frazier to the Chicago Cubs from Cleveland in exchange for Mel Hall, Joe Carter, Don Schulze and Darryl Banks, June 13...that trade help propel the Cubs to their first Eastern Division title.

PERSONAL: Ronald William (Ron) Hassey...he and wife, Jennifer, have a son, Brad, and two daughters, Kimberly and Dana...they reside in his native Tucson, AZ, the spring training home of the Rockies... Hassey was a 1972 graduate of Tucson High School, then remained in town to attend the University of Arizona, where he enjoyed a stellar collegiate career, while earning a degree in Public Administration...an All-American, he was a member of the 1976 squad that won the national championship...he also played on the 1974 and '75 USA teams and participated in the 1976 Pan American Games...his father, Bill, was an outfielder in the N.Y. Yankees' organization from 1949-52.

RESIDENCE: Lexington, KY

M.L. SERVICE: 1 year, 161 days

HOW OBTAINED: Selected as the eleventh pick in the first round of the major league baseball expansion draft from the Houston Astros.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: Opened the season on the Tucson roster (AAA), pitching there until being recalled on June 12...made N.L. debut 2 days later with a scoreless inning of relief vs. S.F...followed that with 4 consecutive starts, losing each through July 4...picked up first N.L. victory after that streak with relief appearance on July 9 vs. New York, tossing 6.0 scoreless innings on 4 hits...that outing ranked as the 2nd longest relief stint in the N.L. to Steve Cooke of Pittsburgh who tossed 7.0 frames...continued to pitch well in relief role, posting a 4-2 mark and 2.68 ERA in 21 outings (12 ER in 40.1 IP)...won 3 straight decisions from August 22-Sept. 14, beating the Giants twice in that span...finished the season with a 2-0 mark and 1.69 ERA in 5 outings vs. S.F....pitched well in the Astrodome, compiling a 2.48 ERA (10 ER in 36.1 IP), compared to a 5.31 mark on the road...picked up first (and only) major league hit on August 12 off the Giants' Buddy Black...finished the '92 season making 4 more starts for the Astros...while at Tucson, he appeared in 21 games (2 starts), posting a 4-4 mark and 2.39 ERA, with 2 saves.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—Acquired by the Astros from Cleveland on December 10, with catcher Eddie Taubensee in exchange for Kenny Lofton and Dave Rohde...opened the '91 season at Colorado Springs, then was recalled by the parent club on May 14...made just 2 appearances with the Tribe before being optioned back to AAA on May 22...returned to the major league roster to stay on August 17, pitching much better than previous stint...had a pair of 8-inning performances, beating the White Sox (August 23) and Twins (Sept. 4)...posted 9-6 mark at Colorado Springs, splitting time between starting and bullpen...won last 6 decisions as a starter before recall to majors. 1990—Earned spot on Toronto staff out of spring training and made major league debut on April 11, with 2.0 innings of relief vs. Texas...that outing earned him the distinction of being the 200th player to appear in a major league game in a Blue Jay uniform...his first month of big league duty saw a 1.17 ERA in 5 games and opposing batting average of .192...first major league start was no decision on May 11 at Skydome vs. California, going 6.0 innings with a run on 4 hits...lost first 5 major league decisions...first victory came in relief role on July 1 against Oakland...was sent to Syracuse (AAA) for 3 starts in mid-August, but returned to Toronto in September...was acquired by Cleveland on November 6 in exchange for Alex Sanchez. 1989—Spent the entire year at Syracuse, going 5-8 in 19 games (17 starts) with a 3.97 ERA... missed over a month at mid-season with an ulnar collateral ligament strain...fired a 2-hitter and a 3-hitter during the season. 1988—Opened the season on the D.L. after undergoing knee surgery on March 30...hurled in 4 games for Dunedin (A), going 2-0 with a 2.70 ERA before being promoted to Knoxville (AA)...made 34 appearances for Knoxville (9 starts), going 5-5 with a 3.62 ERA... it marked the first time he had been used as a starter in his pro career. 1987—Led Dunedin in games (50) and saves (13)...ranked 4th in the Florida State League with 45 games finished. 1986—The MLB Expansion Draft was not the first time he was the 11th selection, being the 11th pick of the Blue Jays in the '86 June draft...made his pro debut for St. Catharines in the NY-Penn League, going 5-0 with 12 saves and a 1.68 ERA in 21 games...fanned 55 in 53.2 IP, while walking just 20...allowed 3 ER in last 41.0 IP (14 outings) and was named club's MVP.

PERSONAL: William Allen Blair...he and wife, Trina, and daughter, Paige (9-23-91) make their home in Lexington, KY...he was an all-Conference performer at Morehead State (KY) University in 1985...he was a graduate of Johnson Central (KY) H.S., playing baseball and basketball.

24 JERALD CLARK OF

HT: 6-4 WT: 205 B/T: R/R

AGE: 29 (Turns 30 on August 10)

BORN: August 10, 1963 in Crockett, TX

RESIDENCE: San Diego, CA

M.L. SERVICE: 3 years, 21 days

HOW OBTAINED: Selected as the fourth pick in the first round of the major league baseball expansion draft from the San Diego Padres.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: Jerald brought real definition to the terms "first half and second half" during the '92 campaign...by the end of June, he was hitting just .192 with 4 homers and 15 RBI, but turned it around in the second half to hit at a .283 clip for the duration with 8 home runs and 43 RBI...finished the year with career bests in virtually every offensive category...had a pair of 7-game hitting streaks, the second of which coming from July 9-18, when he batted .524 (11-for-21) with 2 homers and 9 RBI, including a stretch of at least 1 RBI in 5 consecutive games...the second half also witnessed the first major league grand slam of his career, Sept. 7 at San Francisco off Buddy Black...on Sept. 19 in Los Angeles, he became the 7th player in S.D. history to steal home, the first since 1984...entering the season, he had collected just 1 triple in 526 at bats, but wound up leading the Padres with 6

during'92 (496 AB's)...defensively, he spent much of his time working with Gold Glove outfielder Tony Gwynn to improve his skills and the work paid off with just 3 errors in 298 outfield chances, while finishing 2nd on the club with 10 assists.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—This was his first full season of major league duty and had a promising start, as he hit .288 with 13 RBI in the first 21 games...in that stretch, he reached base safely 8 consecutive times, 1 shy of the club record...the hot start hit a roadblock on April 30, when he injured his left achilles on the wet turf at Shea Stadium...after a stint on the disabled list, he began to struggle at the plate, hitting just .175 (7-for-40) over the next 15 games...it wasn't until mid-June that he regained his early season form, hitting .367 during the last 2 weeks of the month... overall, 8 of his 10 home runs came at S.D./Jack Murphy Stadium. 1990—He opened the season on the big league roster, however, was used in a starting role just 7 times (5 at 1st base) prior to being sent to AAA on July 3...in one of those starts, went 4-for-4 at Philadelphia on May 30...in 40 games for Las Vegas, he hit at a .304 clip with 12 home runs and 32 RBI...season average at AAA marked the 6th consecutive year that he broke the .300 barrier on the minor league level...displaying more than occasional power, on August 4-5, he hit home runs in 4 of 5 at bats against Edmonton to help pace Las Vegas to a pair of wins. 1989—With a couple of hot streaks at mid-season, Jerald was assured of yet another year over the .300 mark...had a 14-game hitting streak to close June in which he batted .350, followed by a 20-game stretch in mid-July that witnessed a .363 clip, with 7 homers and 24 RBI...a September recall, his second stint in the majors in '89, witnessed his first big league homer, a solo shot on Sept. 29 at home off the Giants' Ernie Camacho. 1988—His first stops at both the AAA and major league levels came in '88...led the PCL champion Las Vegas club with 27 doubles and finished with a .301 average...he followed that with a September promotion that gave him 6 games of big league experience...first major league hit came on Sept. 25, a 2-run, double off Houston's Rocky Childress. 1987—His first of 2 consecutive minor league titles, hitting .313 for the Texas League champion Wichita Pilots...he led the club in RBI (95) and triples (8), while finishing 2nd in homers (18) and doubles (36)...he closed the year hitting at a .429 clip in the 6-game championship series vs. the Jackson Mets. 1986—He opened the year for Reno in the California League, hitting .303 in 95 games, with 118 hits, 34 doubles and 76 runs scored...he received a late-season promotion to AA Beaumont, which marked a homecoming...he attended Lamar University in Beaumont prior to signing his first professional contract. 1985—First pro assignment was at Spokane, where he finished 5th in the Northwest League in batting with a .325 mark, and tied for 1st in the loop in doubles (24)...was chosen by Baseball America as the Player-of-the-Year in the league, as well as being named to the All-Star team.

PERSONAL: Jerald Dewayne Clark...he and wife, Lydia, have one daughter, Gabriella Ré (6-8-92) and reside in San Diego, CA... Jerald attended Crockett (TX) H.S., then went to Lamar University in Beaumont...his brothers, Phil and Isaiah, were both first round draft choices in baseball...Phil signed with Detroit (1986) and Isaiah originally signed with Milwaukee (1984)...Jerald was first drafted by the L.A. Dodgers in 1984, however, chose to remain in school...his community work in San Diego earned him the Boy Scout Good Scout Award in 1991...he was a participant in the Rockies' first Winter Caravan last January.

HT: 6-0 WT: 170 B/T: L/R

AGE: 27 (Turns 28 on August 17)

BORN: August 17, 1965 in Fayetteville, NC

RESIDENCE: Clearwater, FL

M.L. SERVICE: 2 years, 70 days

HOW OBTAINED: Selected as the ninth pick in the first round of the major league baseball expansion draft from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: Split the season between Cleveland and Pittsburgh, after being traded to the Pirates on July 3 for outfielder Tony Mitchell and pitcher John Carter...was hitting .206 with 5 RBI in 41 games at the time of the trade, but hit .278 in 64 games for the Bucs, swiping 7 of 11 bases...had 3 doubles and 7 triples with Pittsburgh, compared to just 1 extra base hit (a double) while a member of the Indians...the speedster had 14 infield hits with the Pirates, including 6 bunt singles...posted a trio of 4-hit games, one with Cleveland (May 3) and two with the Bucs (Sept. 3 and Sept. 9)...had an impressive August, hitting .356 (21-for-59) with 24 runs scored in 21 games...3 of his first 8 hits with the Pirates were triples...stole 5 bases vs. Cal. (May 3) for the second time in his career.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—Opened the year as the Indians' centerfielder, hitting .309 in the first 15 games before going on the disabled list with a strained lateral abdominal muscle...after an 8-game rehab assignment in Colorado Springs (AAA), was reinstated to the big league club on May 26...a consistent season, that had a .292 average prior to the All-Star break, followed by a .296 mark in the second half...tied his career high with a 10-game hitting streak in September, hitting .447 (17-for-38)...despite the early-season injury, he led the club in walks (58), stolen bases (27) and on-base pct. AGE: 31 (Turns 32 on June 18)

BORN: June 18, 1961 in Caracas, VZ

RESIDENCE: Caracas, VZ

M.L. SERVICE: 7 years, 46 days

HOW OBTAINED: Signed as a free agent, November 16, 1992.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: After 13 seasons in the Montreal organization, he was traded on November 25, 1991, to the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for pitcher Ken Hill...began the '92 year as the Opening Day first baseman for the Redbirds, however, in just his 2nd game of the season (April 7) he was hit by a pitch that broke a bone in the right wrist...he spent 44 days on the D.L., and had an 11-game rehab assignment in Louisville before returning to regular duty on May 22...despite returning to the lineup, his bat was slow coming around, hitting just .189 through July 19, however, from that point the season turned around...hit safely in 9 of 10 games at a .425 clip (17-for-40), with 7 runs scored, 3 homers and 8 RBI...closed the season hitting .301 (47-for-156) in the final 45 games, with 8 homers and 29 RBI to raise season average 45 points...known as the "Big Cat" for his defensive prowess, he committed just 3 errors during that 45-game stretch.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—Started the season slowly, then once the bat began to turn around, an injury incapacitated him for the entire month of June...was hitting .184 through the first 2 weeks of the season, but went on a month-long tear that raised his season average 105 points to .289...batted .342 (26-for-76) during the hot streak, but then was sidelined for 36 games with a left knee injury that required being scoped below the kneecap on June 8...finished the season strong, compiling a slugging pct. of .459 with 13 RBI after Sept. 1...of his last 19 hits, 9 went for extra bases, including 5 home runs...defensively, he had a 34-game errorless streak during the year. 1990—Hit at least 20 home runs for the 3rd straight season, while driving in 87 runs...hit 2nd career grand slam on August 21 vs. New York...earned his second consecutive Gold Glove with a career-best .993 fielding pct. 1989—Though the average tailed off from previous seasons (.257), still strong in run production, hitting 23 homers and driving in 87...hit first career grand slam on August 27 at San Francisco...had 10-game hitting streak in mid-July, batting .395 in that span...excelled defensively, earning the first of 2 consecutive Gold Gloves. 1988—Had the biggest season of his major league career, hitting .302 with a N.L. leading 184 hits and 42 doubles, earning his only All-Star Game selection...named All-Star 1st baseman by both Baseball America and USA Today...finished in the league's Top 10 in 12 different offensive categories...was named N.L. Player-of-the-Week on 3 different occasions, including back-to-back weeks (May 23-June 5)...had only career 5-hit game on July 2 vs. Atlanta...of his 29 homers, 20 came before the All-Star break...18 of his HR's either tied the game or gave Montreal the lead...became the 2nd Montreal player to post consecutive 90-RBI seasons (Rusty Staub, 1970-71). 1987—Started the year hitting in the #3 spot in the batting order, but after being moved to the #5 spot on May 2, hit safely in 16 of 17 games at a .426 clip (26-for-61), including a .672 slugging pct., and career-high 14-game hitting streak. 1986—Hampered by injuries during his rookie season, still managed a .271 mark in 105 games...pulled muscles in right rib cage kept him on the disabled list from July 10-August 19...hit safely in 18 of 19 games after returning from the injury. 1985—First season on the AAA level, named the American Association Rookie-of-the-Year, hitting .269 with 25 homers and 87 RBI for Indianapolis...he was such a threat at the plate, he even drew a bases-empty intentional walk during the year...was recalled to Montreal on August 23, and collected first major league hit the next day of L.A.'s Rick Honeycutt...hit first big league homer on Sept. 21 at St. Louis, then hit second 2 days later at Wrigley Field. 1984—Earned Southern League M.V.P. honors with .289 average, 27 homers and 87 RBI at Jacksonville. 1983—Batted .289 at West Palm Beach in 104 games, missing 25 games due to beaning. 1982—Connected for double figures in home runs (14) for first time as a pro...finished with .281 mark at West Palm Beach. 1981—Appeared in 47 games at Jamestown (A), hitting .260. 1980—Second year at Calgary (Rookie), hitting .263, 49 points better than previous season there. 1979—Signed as a non-drafted free agent by the Expos' organization on January 19...made professional debut at age 18 with West Palm Beach, playing in 7 games before dropping down to Calgary, where he batted .214 in 42 games.

PERSONAL: Andres Jose Galarraga...he and wife, Eneyda, have one daughter, Andria (12-27-85) and reside in Caracas, VZ...he attended Enrique Felmi H.S. in Caracas.

HOW OBTAINED: Selected as the second pick in the first round of the 1992 major league expansion draft from the New York Yankees.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: Arrived on the New York scene February 18, as the "player-to-be-named" in a January 8 deal with the Phils for pitcher Darrin Chapin...Hayes had his best overall major league season, hitting .257 in 142 games, establishing career bests in home runs (18) and RBI (66)...his home run and games played totals were the most by a Yankee 3rd baseman since Mike Pagliarulo in 1987...in fact, over the 1990-91 seasons, 10 Yankee third basemen combined for 18 home runs and 87 RBI...he started the year strong, hitting .325 in April while not committing an error during the month...he followed that by closing May with a season-high 10-game hitting streak, and hammering 5 homers during the month...his season average took a tumble at the start of the second half with an 0-for-15 beginning, however, he turned that around with a .274 August that included 13 RBI...on August 5 he had the only multi-homer game of his career, hitting a pair vs. Cleveland...a head-first slide into home plate on Sept. 1 at Milwaukee cost Hayes the next two weeks due to a stretched ligament in the little finger of his left hand...upon returning from the injury, he hit .327 for the remainder of the season...a solid glove at the hot corner, he tied with Chicago's Robin Ventura for the A.L. lead in double plays with 29...his 13 errors on the year were 2nd fewest in the A.L. among third basemen with at least 300 chances...committed just 3 errors in 68 home games at Yankee Stadium...while his defense excelled on the home turf, it was his offense that was superior away from New York, posting a .292 road average with 11 home runs and 36 RBI...the righthanded hitter had better success at the plate vs. RHP as opposed to southpaws, hitting .276 with 12 homers and 48 RBI against righties, while batting .213 with 6 HR and 18 RBI vs. LHP...he was 5-for-18 (.278) with 13 RBI when hitting with the bases loaded...29 of his 66 RBI (44%) came with 2 outs.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—Unlike the '92 season, Charlie started the year slowly for the Phillies, hitting just .219 in the early going before embarking on a career-best 12-game hitting streak (May 3-15) that upped his season average to .246...he turned it on during the final 34 games of the year, hitting .302 with 6 homers and 20 RBI in that span...his lone career grand slam came on August 28 against Houston, a game he also posted his best career RBI output with 5... he matched his career-high with 4 hits on Sept. 20 at Pittsburgh... defensively, Charlie finished 4th among N.L. third basemen with a .958 fielding pct. 1990—Hayes' first full major league season saw him in a club-high 152 games, while finishing 3rd among N.L. third basemen in fielding (.957)...his 20 errors on the year were 2 fewer than he committed in 1989, when he played just 85 games...his 324 assists tied for the most in the majors...he had a 34-game error-less streak from May 27-July 5...he snared Gary Carter's line drive to closeout Terry Mulholland's no-hitter against the Giants on August 15...it was only fitting that Charlie would make the final play since he was dealt with Mulholland and Dennis Cook from San Francisco to the Phils on June 18, 1989, in exchange for Steve Bedrosian and a player to be named (Rick Parker)...Hayes homered in 3 straight games from July 26-28 at Pittsburgh...his first career 4-hit game took place on July 17 at Atlanta...contrary to the '92 season, he was very effective vs. lefthanded pitching with a .295 mark. 1989—Charlie started the year in AAA at Phoenix (PCL), then was recalled for limited duty (1 start, 2 PH) in early May...he eventually returned to Phoenix, where he was hitting .284 in 61 games at the time of the trade to Philadelphia...Hayes reported to Scranton (AAA) and went 11-for-27 (.407) in his first 7 games, earning a quick promotion to the majors where he has since remained...he finished the season as the Phillies everyday third baseman, hitting .258 in 84 games (79 starts)...on July 28, he homered off Pittsburgh's Rick Reed into the leftfield upper deck at The Vet, only the 34th time it had been done...Charlie homered in 3 straight games from July 28-30. 1988—Hayes spent the entire minor league season at Phoenix, hitting .307 in 131 games, with 7 homers and 71 RBI...he was promoted to San Francisco in September, going 1-for-11 in 7 games...the lone hit, his first as a major leaguer, was a single off Jim Deshaies on Sept. 17 at Houston...he made his major league debut 6 days earlier against the Astros, starting in leftfield. 1987—Charlie had an outstanding year at Shreveport (AA) in the Texas League...he led the club in virtually every offensive category, at bats (487), runs (66), hits (148), homers (14) and RBI (75)...his .934 fielding pct. and 334 total chances led all Texas League third sackers. 1986—His first taste of AA at Shreveport produced a .247 mark in 121 games with 5 homers and 45 RBI...he led T.L. third baseman with 27 double plays. 1985—Hit .283 in 131 games at Fresno (A) of the California League...he was voted the Most Popular Player by the fans...Hayes led all Cal League third basemen in fielding pct. (.949) and putouts (100). 1984—Batted .245 in 116 games at Clinton (A) of the Midwest League. 1983—Signed with the Giants' organization after being selected in the 4th round of the June free agent draft...he hit .261 in his first pro test, however, played in just 34 games before missing the remainder of the season due to injury.

PERSONAL: Charles Dewayne Hayes...he and wife, Gelinda, have two sons, Charles, Jr. (11-26-83), and Tyree (8-8-88), and reside in Hattiesburg, MS...a 3-sport star at Forrest County Agricultural H.S. in Brooklyn, MS, and was named all-state in baseball and basketball in '83...a member of the Hattiesburg team that played in the Little League World Series in Williamsport, PA, in 1977.

HOW OBTAINED: Selected as the fifth pick in the second round of the major league baseball expansion draft from the Houston Astros.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: Completed the climb up the ladder with his first stop at the big league level and staying all season in Houston's starting rotation before missing the final month with tendinitis in his right shoulder...finished 2nd on the staff in starts (28) and innings pitched (165.2)...pitched in tough luck through much of the year, with the Astros scoring 13 runs in his 9 losses (1.44 runs per game), including just 1 run in each of his last 5 setbacks... the offense finished the year scoring 3.37 runs per outing for Henry, 4th lowest among N.L. starting pitchers behind Andy Benes (3.03), Tom Candiotti (3.23) and Orel Hershiser (3.29)...dropped the first 4 decisions of his major league career, however, during that stretch tossed 9.0 scoreless innings in a no decision vs. San Diego on April 19, then had 7.0 shutout frames on May 3 vs. Pirates, both games ending in 1-0 Houston wins...his first big league win came on May 25 at Montreal, a game in which he added 2 hits offensively...won a complete game shutout on August 15 at Wrigley Field, 5-0, over the Cubs...posted a 3-3 mark and 3.21 ERA after the All-Star break, walking only 9 men (2 intentional) in 67.1 innings...his first major league hit was a 3-run, inside-the-park homer at Pittsburgh on May 8.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—Spent the entire year at Tucson (AAA), leading the staff in starts (27), while ranking 2nd in wins (10) and innings (153.2)...started strong, going 3-0 in April with a 0.84 ERA (2 ER in 21.1 IP)...after a tough May (1-3, 9.24 ERA), regained the touch in June going 4-0 with a 3.26 ERA in 6 starts. 1990 — Started for the 2nd straight year at Chattanooga (AA), posting an 8-8 mark in 24 games (22 starts)...was traded from the Reds' organization following the minor league season (August 31) with Keith Kaiser and Terry McGriff to Houston in exchange for Bill Doran. 1989—Struggled through an elbow injury that permitted just 7 starts at Chattanooga, totaling 26.1 innings...made 6 appearances before being sidelined from April 24-July 24...managed just 1 more start, then was out from July 30 through the end of the year. 1988—Had a tremendous season at Cedar Rapids, going 16-2 in 27 starts with a 2.26 ERA...fanned 163 hitters in 187.0 innings, while walking 56...was named to the TOPPS Class A All-Star team. 1987—Signed with the Reds' chain after being selected in the 15th round of the June draft...reported to Billings, going 4-0 with a 4.63 ERA, fanning 38 batters in 35.0 innings.

PERSONAL: Floyd Bluford (Butch) Henry...he and wife, Mary, and daughter, Alisha Loren (1-29-91) make their off-season home in El Paso, TX...he was a two-time All-State performer at Eastwood H.S. in El Paso, going 10-1 with a 0.79 ERA during his senior season.

AGE: 26 (Turns 27 on April 25)

BORN: April 25, 1966 in Ashville, NC

RESIDENCE: Fletcher, NC

M.L. SERVICE: 2 years, 3 days

HOW OBTAINED: Selected as the third pick in the first round of the major league baseball expansion draft from the Milwaukee Brewers.

1992 HIGHLIGHTS: Had 2 separate stints on the Denver (AAA) roster, both coming before the end of May, when he was called to major league duty for good...he opened the season in Denver, then was recalled on May 6 for a 2 weeks with the Brewers...he was shipped back to the minors on May 19 due to roster limitations, however, returned to Milwaukee just 10 days later...his brief time in the minors witnessed outstanding numbers, with just 2 earned runs in 13.0 innings (12 outings) for a 1.38 ERA...he posted 7 saves in that span, while fanning 12 and walking just 1...with the Brewers, he compiled a 4-4 mark, with 6 saves and 2.55 ERA in 41 relief outings...he worked in a set-up role for the majority of the season, at times serving as a closer...only 6 of 35 inherited runners crossed the plate when he was on the mound (17%), tops among Milwaukee relievers...the opposition managed a .224 average against him, fourth best on the staff...3 of his 6 saves came in the final 2 weeks of the season while the Brewers were chasing division leading Toronto...in fact, he was at his best during the final 2 months of the campaign, allowing only 1 earned run in that span, covering 17 outings and 20.2 IP for a 0.44 ERA...his post All-Star break numbers included a 2-1 record in 21 appearances, with all 6 of his saves and a 1.93 ERA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS: 1991—Opened the season on the Denver roster, however, was not there long, making just one appearance before being recalled on April 12 due to an injury to Ron Robinson...he made an impressive A.L. debut 2 days later, striking out 6 in a 3.0 inning stint at Toronto...a month later, May 16, he earned his first major league save with a 4.0 innings of relief at Minnesota...a hamstring injury in July disabled him for half of the month, then he was slow to regain his old form after returning to the active roster...he allowed 17 earned runs in his next 11.2 innings (8 games) as his season ERA rose to 5.79 by August 6...as was the case in '92, he finished strong by allowing 1 earned run in his last 15.2 innings (9 games) for a 0.57 ERA... that stretch included a 6-game, 10-inning scoreless streak. 1990—Spent the majority of the season in Albuquerque (AAA) of the P.C.L., making 56 relief appearances for the Dukes, going 12-2 with 13 saves and a 3.11 ERA...he fanned 99 men in 93.2 innings...it was the first time since 1985 that he had been used exclusively as a reliever...his outstanding minor league season earned a September promotion to the Dodgers, where he made 14 relief appearances...his major league debut came on Sept. 1 at Montreal, with a pair of scoreless innings...he was traded on December 20 to the Brewers in exchange for catcher Bert Heffernan. 1989—Splitting the season between San Antonio (AA) and Albuquerque, he was used mainly as a starter...he was 5-8 with a 3.83 ERA for San Antonio in 17 games (16 starts), while earning a save in his lone relief appearance...after moving to AAA, the going was a bit tougher, posting a 1-4 mark and 7.45 ERA in 9 games (8 starts)...combined, he fanned 112 men in 149.0 innings. 1988—Spent the majority of the campaign with San Luis Potosi, going 9-9 in 23 games (all starts) with a 4.64 ERA...he posted the first 100+ strikeout season of his career with 110 in 139.0 innings...finished the year with one start at Albuquerque. 1987—Pitched for the third straight season at Vero Beach, going 6-4 with a 4.52 ERA in 19 starts. 1986—Made just 11 appearances (10 starts) for Vero Beach, going 3-6 with a 2.92 ERA.. he fanned 59 hitters in 64.2 innings. 1985—Had 33 outings for Vero Beach, all in relief, going 4-3 with a 3.11 ERA and 2 saves. 1984—Selected 16th in the June free agent draft by the Dodgers and assigned to Great Falls...went 2-5 with a 6.65 ERA in 18 games (6 starts).

PERSONAL: Darren Lee Holmes...he and wife, Kathy, have one daughter, Courtney (5-8-89) and reside in Fletcher, NC...he was a 1984 graduate of T.C. ROCKIES

EXPANSION DRAFT

NOVEMBER 17, 1992

DRAFT DAY '92

The floor of the grand ballroom at the Marriott Marquis in New York City resembled that of a trading session on Wall Street, as executives from the 26 established clubs congregated to witness first hand the players they would lose in the upcoming hours. Radio, television and print media from across the United States and Canada also converged on the floor and surrounding balcony to report the first National League expansion in 22 years.

Then at 2:14 p.m. (EST), National League President Bill White stepped to the microphone and said, "With the first selection in the first round, the Colorado Rockies have chosen from Atlanta, righthanded pitcher David Nied."

That announcement kicked off 7 1/2 hours of intensity that was viewed for the first time by a national television audience as the Rockies and Florida Marlins assembled the squads that would represent them during the 1993 season.

The thousands of hours of scouting and miles traveled by the baseball departments of each organization were finally paying off. Larry Bearnarth, the current Rockies' pitching coach who spent the 1992 season scouting both leagues, estimated that over 100,000 man hours of preparation had been amassed by the Colorado staff for this monumental day.

Then the same club that opened the draft much earlier in the day also closed the proceedings, as the Rockies selected pitcher Denis Boucher at 9:40 p.m. It was then official, the 11th and 12th expansion clubs in major league history were ready to do battle with the rest of baseball in 1993.

Upon completion of the draft, both the Rockies and Marlins involved themselves in trades, with Colorado adding outfielder Dante Bichette and pitcher Rudy Seanez for Kevin Reimer and Jody Reed, respectively.

As night fell on New York City, the first major league battle between Colorado and Florida had ended. As the cliche goes, "Only time will tell," but the first scoreboard read:

	Colorado	Florida
Pitchers	21	22
Catchers	4	2
Infielders	7	7
Outfielders	4	8

DRAFT CELEBRATION AT CURRIGAN HALL

CROWD GATHERS AT CURRIGAN HALL AS OVER 20,000 FANS WITNESS THE EXPANSION DRAFT.

The excitement of the 1992 Expansion Draft was not limited to the ballroom of a hotel in New York City, as over 20,000 fans passed through Currigan Hall in downtown Denver on November 17 to witness the building of a franchise.

At precisely 11:55 a.m. (MST), Jerry McMorris, Rockies' Chairman, President and C.E.O., walked onto the stage and introduced newly-signed free agent first baseman Andres Galarraga to the throng of screaming fans. Just moments later, when Bill White announced the first pick in the historic draft from New York, David Nied appeared on stage adorned the number 17 jersey that he will wear in Mile High Stadium during the 1993 season.

The crowd was treated to baseball exhibits, pitching machines, batting cages, a miniature rendering of Coors Field and a wide-screen projection of the draft as it took place on ESPN. Media and fans from all around the Rocky Mountain Region were able to be a part of the biggest day in Rockies' history to date as they watched the birth of a baseball team.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL EXPANSION HISTORY

The addition of the Colorado Rockies and Florida Marlins marked the first National League expansion since the Montreal Expos and San Diego Padres joined in 1969. It was the first overall expansion since 1977, when Toronto and Seattle upped the American League roster to 14 clubs.

The November 17 get together in New York City, was also the first time in baseball history the two clubs involved in selecting were permitted to draw from all 26 existing teams. The first two expansion drafts had clubs submitting a list of 15 players who could be selected, while the most recent drafts have changed that to where clubs could only protect 15 players. Each expansion has had a different twist and here is a brief summary of each of those:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
LOS ANGELES ANGELS AND WASHINGTON SENATORS

The initial expansion draft was structured to the point that the selections were made by categories, starting with pitchers, then catchers, infielders and outfielders. A coin toss determined which club had the first choice in each category, and the Angels' Fred Haney won the first three tosses, choosing first in each group but outfielders.

The eight A.L. clubs had to submit a list of 15 players from their 40-man roster who could be selected. A minimum of seven of those 15 had to have been on the 25-man big league roster prior to September 1, 1960. A price of $75,000 was placed on each choice and both expansion clubs were required to select 28 players. A minimum of three, but no more than four players were to be taken from any team. The breakdown included 10 pitchers, two catchers, six infielders and four outfielders. The other six selections could be from any position.

Each club was also given the opportunity to purchase two players from a special minor league pool for $25,000 apiece. The Senators took three more players to total 31, while the Angels took two. The total amount dished out was $2,175,000 for Washington, while the Angels spent $2,150,000.

DRAFT HIGHLIGHTS—The defending A.L. Champion Yankees were tapped by the first two selections, with the Angels picking righthanded pitcher Eli Grba as the first player ever, and the Senators following with southpaw Bobby Shantz. Shantz was traded just two days later to the World Champion Pirates for three prospects.

Among other names taken in the first draft were current Angel manager Buck Rodgers, the 12th choice of L.A., and current Phils' skipper Jim Fregosi, the Angels 17th pick. The Angels 26th choice remains in the record book, as right-hander Dean Chance still holds club records he established in 1964 with a league-leading 1.65 ERA and 11 shutouts.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
HOUSTON COLT 45's AND NEW YORK METS

The initial rules for the first N.L. expansion draft were similar to those of the previous year in the A.L., in that each club submitted 15 players off the 40-man, including seven with MLB experience prior to Sept. 1, and each selection costing $75,000. Both new entries were allowed to select two players from each existing club for a total of 16, with no minimum position require-ment. Each club was given the opportunity to choose one minor league player from existing teams for $50,000, with Houston taking three and the Mets two. Upon conclusion of that phase, existing clubs were required to release two "special" players from their active list who had not been available in the first round. Each of these players cost $125,000, with the existing club only losing one each. With the Colt 45's winning the original coin toss to open the draft, the Mets selected first in the "special" round.

DRAFT HIGHLIGHTS—Among the names selected in the first N.L. expansion derby was current Dodger third base coach Joe Amalfitano, who was a 28-year old infielder at the time, taken by Houston in the "special" phase. The Colt 45's also chose Bob Aspromonte, who still holds the Houston record with six career grand slams. Another familiar name was Bobby Shantz, taken in the expansion draft for the second consecutive year, after being the first choice of the Senators the previous season only to be traded to the Pirates. Meanwhile, the Mets, who dropped 120 games in their first season finishing 60 1/2 games out of first place, were not without some current day familiar names. Current Giants' manager Roger Craig was NY's opening day hurler, while other future managers, Gil Hodges and Don Zimmer were also among the expansion draftees.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
MONTREAL EXPOS AND SAN DIEGO PADRES
AMERICAN LEAGUE
KANSAS CITY ROYALS AND SEATTLE PILOTS

This marked the first expansion where 15 players were protected off the 40-man roster, instead of the previous procedure when 15 were made available. Though expansion hit each league in '69, the drafts were held separately and only within their respective league. A round consisted of five players for each new club, one from each of the existing 10 teams. Clubs could then protect three additional players after each of the next five rounds. The only difference was that N.L. players cost $200,000 per selection, while the A.L. was priced at $175,000.

DRAFT HIGHLIGHTS—The Expos drafted veteran talent, led by 31-year old Manny Mota in the first round and 36-year old Maury Wills as the 11th selection, both of whom were traded at mid-season to the Dodgers. Montreal's 7th pick was an outfielder named Jesus Alou, brother of current Expo skipper Felipe. They used their 10th choice to draft Bill Stoneman, who tossed a pair of no-hitters for the Expos, the first coming just 10 days into the club's existence. San Diego drafted young slugger Nate Colbert, who clobbered 163 homers in just six seasons. They also found a "Diamond in the Rough" in Cito Gaston as their 30th selection, who was an All-Star in just his second season and is currently the manager of the defending World Champion Toronto Blue Jays. Kansas City established the "model" for expansion clubs by drafting predominately young talent, mixed in with a couple of vets that were to be traded for futures. For example, they chose 45-year old Hoyt Wilhelm, but sent him to the Angels for outfielder Ed Kirkpatrick, an early star with K.C. They shipped 12th choice Steve Whitaker to Seattle for Rookie-of-the-Year to be Lou Piniella, and sent veteran third baseman Joe Foy to the Mets for future All-Star and Gold Glover Amos Otis. The Royals finished fourth in their first two years of existence, and were nine games over .500 in just their third season. They have still yet to finish in the cellar of the division. Seattle, in its first of two expansions, was not as fortunate, drafting more veteran talent and finishing 34 games under .500. They last just one year in the Northwest, moving to Milwaukee for the '70 season.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
SEATTLE MARINERS AND TORONTO BLUE JAYS

The rules and one of the names were the same when the A.L. expanded for the third time going to 14 teams. Each existing club protected 15 players off the 40-man roster, while the expansion teams took six players each in the first round. Existing clubs could then protect an additional three players after the first three rounds, then just two after the fourth round. Seattle and Toronto were also allowed to take two players in the Rule 5 draft before the existing clubs were allowed to participate, yet not be required to offer those players back to their respective clubs before sending them to the minors.

DRAFT HIGHLIGHTS—The northwest found itself in an expansion draft for the second time in eight years as the Mariners were added to the A.L. Seattle made the Royals' Ruppert Jones the first choice in the draft. Toronto followed by selecting outfielder Bob Bailor, who played for four seasons in Canada and is now a coach for the Jays. The Blue Jays hit the century mark in losses for three consecutive seasons, however, have turned it around to finish no worse than second place in six of the last eight years.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
COLORADO ROCKIES AND FLORIDA MARLINS

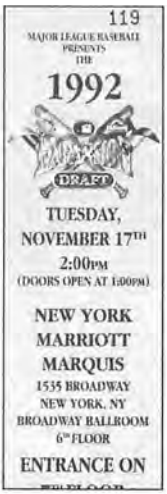

The National League's first expansion effort since 1969 was the first time new teams could draw from talent in both leagues. The 26 existing teams designated a maximum of 15 players to be protected and not available for selection. Among the 15 protected were any players with a "no trade" clause or with "10 & 5" rights (10 years in the majors, five of those with the same club), unless he waived his right to be protected. All other players in the organization were eligible for selection in the draft except for those that fell into the following categories:

1) Players not under contract.
2) Players who signed a professional contract at age 18 or under, who have not yet played four seasons, and did not appeared on their clubs' 40-man rosters in 1992.
3) All other players who had not played at least three seasons and who had not appeared on their clubs' 40-man rosters in 1992.
4) Military list players in long-time military service.

The draft consisted of three rounds, with a coin toss that was won by the Rockies determining the order of selection by rounds. The Rockies had the option to: 1) take the first selection in the first round and second selection in the second and third rounds, or 2) second selection in the first round and first selection in the second and third rounds. The Rockies chose to take the first pick in the draft and selected David Nied.

Existing clubs lost only one player in a given round. Before rounds two and three, each National League club added three additional players to its protected list and each American League team added four. In the third round, after eight American League clubs had lost players, no more players from that league were selected.

FIRST DRAFT A SUCCESS

The Colorado Rockies stressed collegiate pitching in the first June Free Agent Draft of the club's existence. The initial four selections were righthanded pitchers, highlighted by first round choice John Burke, an Englewood native who was drafted out of the University of Florida. He prepped at Cherry Creek High School prior to pitching for the Gators.

The Rockies led major league baseball with 40 signings out of the 50 selections, and were the only club to ink their first 25 choices. The signees included 25 out of 26 four-year college selections, nine of 14 junior college players and six of the 10 high school picks.

The position breakdown of signees included 20 pitchers, four catchers, eight infielders and eight outfielders.

MINOR LEAGUE ACHIEVEMENTS IN FIRST SEASON

While the major league club continued its preparations for the 1993 season, the Rockies' minor league side flourished in their first year of operation.

Bend (OR), the only minor league club made up entirely of Rockies' organizational players, posted a 43-33 record in winning the Southern Division title. The quest for the league championship was halted by Bellingham, with the Rockies dropping both games in a best-of-three playoff.

The loss in the finals could not put a damper on a year that began with catcher Will Scalzitti's game-winning grand slam in the season opener. Many outstanding individual performances helped lead Bend to its division crown, led by Colorado's second selection in the June draft, righthanded pitcher Mark Thompson. He led the staff in virtually every statistic posting an 8-4 record and 2.03 ERA in 16 starts, completing four, with 102 strikeouts in 106.1 innings. The Rockies' first round selection in June, John Burke, went 2-0 in 10 starts with a 2.41 ERA. Roger Bailey, the third round pick from Florida State and Lloyd Peever, taken in the fourth round from L.S.U., each performed well. Bailey posted a 5-2 mark and 2.20 ERA, while Peever added a 3-2 ledger and 2.91 ERA.

Jason Hutchins, an 18th round choice from Texas A&M provided a pleasant surprise out of the bullpen, collecting 18 saves in 34 outings with a 2.59 ERA. Hutchins signed with the Rockies after hurling just 17.0 innings for the Aggies in the spring, supposedly due to wildness. He tossed 41.2 frames for Bend, with 24 walks and 65 strikeouts.

Offensively, the Rockies were led by 49th round choice Lamarr Rogers from Cal. St./Long Beach, who hit at a .290 clip in 66 games, including a team-high 21 stolen bases. On his heels was catcher Will Scalzitti, who finished with a .287 mark and team best 40 RBI. Scalzitti, who provided the opening night fireworks, was the sixth round selection from Miami Dade North JUCO. Jason Bates, the seventh round pick from Arizona, hit .286 with a team leading 73 hits, 107 total bases, and 57 runs scored.

An injury to second baseman Craig Counsell opened the door for one of the biggest surprises of the summer, as Quinton McCracken took advantage of his opportunity to play by hitting .280 in 67 games. The 25th round choice from Duke University began switch-hitting during the final month of the year and raised his average from the .212 mark he had when August began. "Q" went on a two-week tear in which he hit .531 and earned consecutive Northwest League Player-of-the-Week honors.

The Visalia Oaks, Minnesota's entry in the California League, had six members of the Rockies' organization participating on their roster in '92. The Oaks advanced to the league championship finals before losing out to Stockton.

Outfielder Troy Ricker set a league record with 41 doubles, while posting a .295 average in 131 games. He also hammered 14 home runs and drove in 78. Ryan Turner, the first signee in Rockies' history, hit .266 with 22 doubles, seven homers and 62 RBI in just his second professional season.

The short-season club in Mesa (AZ) was shared with the Chicago Cubs' organization, and struggled to an 18-38 record. Shortstop Mauricio Gonzalez, free agent from the Dominican Republic, led the offense with a .347 mark in 35 games. Sixteenth round draft choice Greg Boyd chipped in with a .295 average, including 14 doubles and 31 RBI. For his efforts, Boyd was named to the league All-Star squad.

Post-season honors had Bend place Mark Thompson and Jason Bates on the league All-Star team. Bend also had four of the top ten prospects in the league in a poll of managers, as Jason Hutchins (#1), Thompson (#2), Roger Bailey (#5) and Bates (#7) caught the eye of the opposing mentors throughout the season.

(Pitching Coach)

Has served in all capacities in professional ranks, managing, coaching and scouting, working last year as the pitching coach for the Rockies at Mesa...joined the organization after 6 years at Indian Hills Community College in Centerville, IA, the same school that Scouting Director Pat Daugherty coached for 17 seasons...pro experience includes a 10-year stint with the Kansas City organization, working as a manager, traveling instructor and Assistant Director of Player Development...managerial experience included Charleston (1981), Ft. Myers (1982-83), Memphis (1984) and Eugene (1987), finishing second in each of those seasons except '83, when they won the division...a native of Centerville, began coaching career in 1969 at Eddyville H.S., remaining in the prep ranks until 1976, when he moved to Iowa Western JUCO...earned B.A. and Master's from Northwest Missouri State University in Maryville...he and wife, Mary Louise, and son, Jonathan, and daughter, Sarah, reside in Centerville.

BILL MCGUIRE – Bend Rockies
(Coach)

Joins the Rockies organization after 8 seasons as a catcher, including a pair of stints with the Seattle Mariners...originally an '82 draft choice of the Cleveland Indians, he chose not to sign and attend the University of Nebraska, twice earning All-Big 8 and All-Academic honors...then was Seattle's 2nd selection in the '85 June draft, a compensation pick from Oakland after the A's signed free agent Steve Henderson...it was against Oakland that he picked up first major league hit on August 7, 1988...only major league homer was a 3-run shot off Cleveland's Bud Black on June 11, 1989...wound up playing in the Indians' chain in 1991 (Colorado Springs), then signed as a free agent with the Cubs organization prior to the '92 campaign.

BOBBY MEACHAM – Colorado Springs Sky Sox
(Coach)

Last year was first as a manager, posting a 36-40 mark at Eugene of the Northwest League...worked at Eugene as a position coach in '91, following 10-year playing career that ended with Omaha of the K.C. organization...a first round selection of St. Louis in 1981, 8th player overall and began pro ball with Gastonia that summer... played for St. Petersburg the following year, then was traded to New York Yankees, where he spent parts of 6 big league seasons, including the entire 1985-86 campaigns...had a lifetime .236 avg. in 457 major league games...a graduate of Mater Dei H.S. (Santa Ana, CA), then played collegiate baseball at San Diego State...he and wife, Gari, reside in Littleton, CO, with children, Brooke, Alexandra and Colton.

BEND WELCOMES ROCKIES WITH BLAST

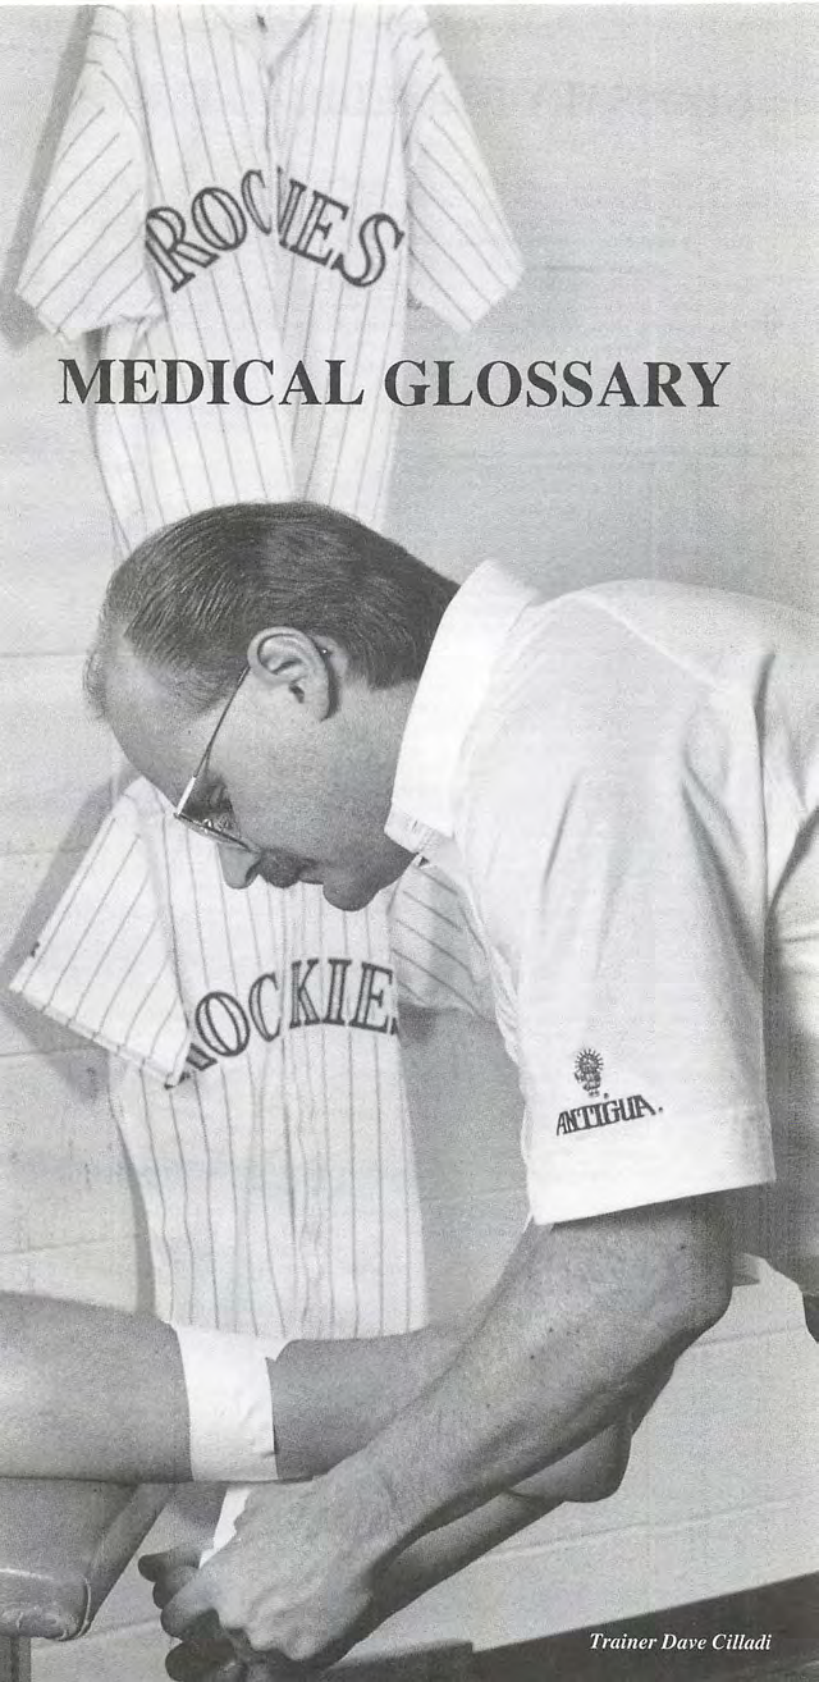

A Hollywood script writer could not have designed a better beginning to the Rockies franchise when the first organizational game in history took place in Bend, Oregon, on June 16. The Rockies made an immediate impression on the Northwest League, when they came from behind with a 5-run eighth inning to topple Boise, 6-4 in front of a sellout crowd of 3,125 in Vince Genna Stadium.

The dramatic finish was provided by catcher Will Scalzitti, Colorado's 6th round selection in the June draft from Miami-Dade Junior College. With the Rockies trailing 4-1 entering the 8th inning, Scalzitti hit the first home run in franchise history, a 1-out grand slam that landed atop the Albertsons grocery store beyond the leftfield wall. The blast provided James Hovey, the 12th round draft choice, with the victory in relief.

Righthander Mark Thompson, taken in the 2nd round from the University of Kentucky, was impressive in his professional debut, allowing 5 hits and a run with 6 strikeouts in 5 innings of work. He fanned 4 of the first 6 hitters he faced.

But the night belonged to the 19-year old Scalzitti, who also picked up the first hit in Rockies' history, singling to left with 2-out in the first inning. With 19 members of the Denver media on hand for the opener, he quickly became the most sought-after interview in Bend.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

Trainer Dave Cilladi

GLOSSARY OF MEDICAL TERMS

The following glossary provides definitions of terms that are used during the course of the season by medical staff members of the baseball organizations. This glossary is provided by the Professional Baseball Athletic Trainers Society. (The numbers 1-21 correspond with the charts on pages 139 and 140 representing common baseball injuries.)

A.T.,C—Athletic Trainer Certified: athletic trainers with this designation have passed the certification exam administered by the National Athletic Trainers' Association (N.A.T.A.).

1 AC Joint—Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abrasion—Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess—An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adhesion—Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic—Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anabolic Steroids—Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormone).

Anaerobic—Exercise without the use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercise.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome—Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

2 Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL)—A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 month of rehabilitation.

3 Anterior Talofibular Ligament—A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (later ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is oft times subject to sprain.

Anti-Inflammatory—Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Arteriogram—A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram—X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscope—An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy—A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration—The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy—To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis—Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion—The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

4 Baker's Cyst—Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

5 Bennett's Fracture—A fracture and dislocation of the base of the first metacarpal, the thumb.

Bone Scan—An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labelled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up by the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Bruise—The discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of blood into the underlying tissues.

Bursa—A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Calf—Large muscle located at the back of the shin that includes the gastrocnemius and the soleus muscles and is connected to the heel by the Achilles tendon. This is responsible for foot plantar-flexion and is instrumental in jumping.

Capsule—An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage—Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

CAT Scan—Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from x-ray data.

Cervical Vertebrae—Group of seven vertebrae located in the neck

Charley Horse—A contusion or bruise to any muscle resulting in intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Chondral Fracture—Fracture to the chondral (cartilaginous) surfaces of bone.

Chondromalacia—Roughening of the articular cartilage. Best known for the roughening of the underside of the patella, which can occur in any patellofemoral injury.

Clavicle—The collar bone.

Coccyx—The "tail bone"; a group of four vertebrae that are fused together, located at the terminal end of the spine.

Colles' Fracture—A fracture of the distal end of the radium with the lower end being displaced backward.

Computed Tomography (CT)—Method of visualizing the body's soft tissues. Using x-rays with the beam passing repeatedly through the body part, the CT scans while a computer calculates tissue absorption at each point scanned.

Concentric Muscle Contraction—A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Concussion—Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Congenital—Existing before birth; to be born with.

Conjunctivitis—Inflammation of the membrane lining the eyelids and covering the eyeball.

Contractures—Abnormal, usually permanent contraction of a muscle due to atrophy of muscle fibers, extensive scar tissue over a joint, or other factors.

Contusion—an injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object.

Costochondral—Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryotherapy—A treatment with use of cold.

Cyst—Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Debridement—Removal of non-healthy tissues and foreign material from a wound or burn to prevent infection and permit healing.

Degenerative Joint Disease—Changes in the joint surfaces as a result of repetitive trauma.

Deltoid Ligament—Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side. Is sprained less frequently than other ankle ligaments.

6 Deltoid Muscle—Muscles at the top of the arm, just below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions to the front, side and back.

Disc, Intervertebral—A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Dislocation—Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction—An overall lengthening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; of times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Eccymosis—Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Edema—Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body; swelling.

Effusion—Accumulation of fluid, or the fluid itself, in various spaces in the body. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.

Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS)—An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.

Electrolyte Drink—Fluid for replacing electrolytes.

Electromyogram (EMG)—Test to determine nerve function.

7 Epicondylitis—Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.

Ethyl Chloride—"Cold spray" or "freeze", a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.

External Rotation—Lateral movement of a joint or extremity to the outside.

Fascia—A connective tissue sheath consisting of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissue.

Fat Percentage—The amount of body weight that is adipose, fat tissue. Fat percentages can be calculated by underwater weighing, measuring select skinfold thickness, or by analyzing electrical impedance.

Femur—Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.

Fibula—Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Flexibility—The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch forces.

Fracture—Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress or transverse.

Gamekeeper's Thumb—Tear of the ulnar collateral ligament of the metacarpophalangeal joint of the thumb.

8 Glenohumeral—The shoulder girdle; consists of the glenoid capsule, head of the humerus and labrum. The type of joint that allows 360-degree motion, a "ball and socket" joint.

Glenoid—Cavity of the scapula into which the head of the humerus fits to form the shoulder girdle.

Grade One Injury—A mild injury in which ligament, tendon, or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury—A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury—A severe injury in which tissue has been significantly, and in some cases totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Groin—Junction of the thigh and abdomen; location of muscles that rotate, flex and adduct the hip.

Hammer Toe—Condition when the first digit of a toe is at a different angle than the remaining digits of the same toe.

Hamstring—Category of muscle that runs from the buttocks to the knee along the back of the thigh. It functions to flex the knee, and is oft times injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle flexibility. 9

Heat Cramps—Painful muscle spasms of the arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Heat Exhaustion—Mild form of shock due to dehydration because of excessive sweating when exposed to head and humidity.

Heat Stroke—Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat and could result in death if not cared for appropriately.

Hematoma—Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hot Pack—Chemical pack that rests in water, approximately 160 degrees, and retains its heat for 15-20 minutes when placed in a towel for general therapeutic application.

Humerus—Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow. 10

Hydrotherapy—Treatment using water.

Hyperextension—Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Iliotibial Band—A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint and is occasionally inflamed as a result of excessive running.

Impingement Syndrome—Pinching together of the supraspinatus muscle and other soft tissue in the shoulder. The most common (Throwing) arm injury, which represents many pathologies and generally involves supraspinatus overuse. 11

Inflammation—The body's natural response to injury in which the injury site might display various degrees of pain, swelling, heat, redness and/or loss of function.

Intermittent Compression Pump—Therapeutic modality that uses an air pump to send air into a sleeve worn over an injury, on an intermittent basis, in order to disperse edema and break up swelling at the injury.

Internal Rotation—Rotation of a joint or extremity medially, to the inside.

Interosseus Membrane—Uniting membrane between the tibia and fibula that forms a collagenous fibrous tissue. It has two functions: to serve as an origin for many of the muscles of the lower leg, and to transmit stress from the tibia to the fibula.

Isokinetic Exercise—Form of active resistive exercise in which the speed of limb movement is controlled by a pre-set limiting machine, such as Cybex or Biodex.

Isometric Contraction—Muscular contraction in which tension is developed but no mechanical work is done. There is no appreciable joint movement and the overall length of the muscle stays the same.

Isotonic Contraction—A concentric or eccentric muscular contraction that results in movement of a joint or body part, as in lifting a weight.

Labrum (Labrum Glenoidale)—The cartilage of the glenoid cavity in the shoulder. A lip-edge or lip-like structure.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL)—Ligament of the knee along the lateral aspect that connects the femur to the fibula. It provides lateral stability to the joint.

Ligament—Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone to bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Lumbar Vertebrae—Five vertebrae of the lower back that articulate with the sacrum to form the lumbosacral joint.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)—Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc and meniscus injuries.

Malleolus—Rounded projection on either side of the ankle joint; the lateral malleolus is the fibula and the medial malleolus is the tibia. 12

Mallet Finger—Injury of the finger tip in which the extension tendon is avulsed off the distal phalanx.

Maximal Aerobic Power (MAX VO 2)—The maximal volume of oxygen consumed per unit of time.

Medial Collateral Ligament (MCL)—Ligament of knee along the medial aspect that connects the femur to the joint. 13

Meniscectomy—An intra-articular surgical procedure of the knee by which all or part of the damaged meniscus is removed.

Meniscus—Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals—Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers. 14

Metatarsals—Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes. 15

Morton's Neuroma—Involves the nerves and is usually the result of a trauma to the foot, causing inflammation and sharp pain, usually between the third and fourth toes.

Morton's Toe—A hereditary condition in which the second toe is longer than the first toe. This can cause mechanical imbalances which produce pain with weight bearing.

Myositis—Inflammation of the muscle.

Myositis Ossificans Traumatica—A benign ossification, usually following severe trauma to a large muscle mass.

N.A.T.A.—National Athletic Trainers' Association. The certifying and governing body of the athletic training profession.

Neuritis—Inflammation of a nerve.

16 Olecranon Process—Bony projection of the ulna at the tip of the elbow.

One Repetition Maximum—The maximum amount of weight that can be lifted by the player in a particular exercise at one time. This is used as a strength testing technique.

Orthotic—Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Osteochondritis Dessicans—A piece of bone and/or cartilage loosened from its attachment after trauma and a cause of a lesion.

Parasthesia—Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Patella—The kneecap. The patella functions to protect the distal end of the femur as well as increase the mechanical advantage and force generating capacities of the quadriceps muscle group.

17 Patella Tendinitis—Inflammation of the patellar ligament; also known as "jumper's knee."

PBATS—Professional Baseball Athletic Trainers Society; the governing body of athletic trainers in professional baseball.

18 Peroneal Muscles—Group of muscles of the lateral lower leg that are responsible for everting the ankle. Tendons of these three muscles are vital to the stability of the ankle and foot.

Phalanx—Any bone of the fingers or toes; plural in phalanges.

Phlebitis—Inflammation of a vein.

Phonophoresis—The technique of driving whole molecules of medication with ultrasound.

Plantar Fascia—the tight band of muscle beneath the arch of the foot.

Plantar Fasciaitis—Inflammation of the plantar fascia; associated with overuse of acute foot injury.

Plantarflexion—Ankle motion such that the toes are pointed toward the ground.

Plica—Fold of the tissue in the joint capsule and common result of knee injury.

Pneumothorax—A collection of air or gas in the pleural space causing the lungs to collapse.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL)—A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Progressive Resistance Exercise (PRE)—An approach to exercise whereby the load or resistance to the muscle is applied by some mechanical means and is quantitatively and progressively increased over time.

Proprioceptive Neuromuscular Facilitation (PNF)—An approach to therapeutic exercise based on the principles of functional human anatomy and neurophysiology.

19 Quadracep Muscles "Quads"—A group of four muscles on the front thigh that run from the hip and form a common tendon at the patella; they are responsible for knee extension.

Radiography—Taking of x-rays.

Radium—Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Referred Pain—Pain felt in an undamaged area of body away from the actual injury.

Rotator Cuff—Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by overuse. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome—A microtrauma or overuse injury caused by stress. The four stages are: 1)tendentious with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff, 2)fiber dissociation in the tendon with a permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation, 3)A partial rotator cuff tear of less than 1 cm, and 4)a complete tear of 1 cm or more.

SC Joint—Sternoclavicular joint; articulation of the collarbone with the sternum.

Sacroiliac—Junction of the sacrum with the hip bone.

Sacrum—Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the low back.

Scapula—Shoulder blade.

Sciatica—Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling running down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve—Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint—A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Soft Corn—A corn, softened by moisture, that is found beneath the toes rather than on the upper surface of the toe.

Spleen—Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Spondylitis—Inflammation of one or more vertebrae.

Spondylolisthesis—Forward displacement of one vertebrae over another below it due to a developmental defect in the vertebrae.

Spondylosis—Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobility.

Sprain—Injury resulting from the stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Sternum—The breast bone.

Strain—Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture—A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Stress X-Ray—A continual x-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum in order to determine joint stability. This is a test utilized in some ankle injuries.

Stretching—Any therapeutic maneuver designed to elongate shortened soft tissue structures and thereby increase flexibility.

Subluxation—Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Synovial Fluid—Lubricating fluid for joints and tendons, produced in synovium, or the inner lining of a joint.

Synovitis—Inflammation of the synovial lining of a joint.

Talus—The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Target Heart Rate—A pre-determined pulse to be obtained during exercise when circulation in working at full efficient capacities.

Tarsals—Group of six bones of the foot consisting of the calnavicular, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Tendinitis—Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon—Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tennis Elbow—General term for lateral elbow pain.

Tenosynovitis—Swelling of a tendon sheath caused by calcium deposits, repeated strain, or trauma.

Thoracic—Group of twelve vertebrae located in the thorax and articulates with the twelve ribs.

Thoracic Outlet Compression Syndrome—A neuro-vascular disorder of the upper extremity common in throwing.

Tibia—Larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Tomograph—A special type of x-ray apparatus that demonstrates an organ or tissue at a particular depth.

Trachea—The windpipe.

Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (TENS)—An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic, endorphin.

Transverse Process—Small lateral projection off the right and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius—Flat, triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Triceps—Muscle of the back of the upper arm, primarily responsible for extending the elbow.

Ulna—Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve—Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

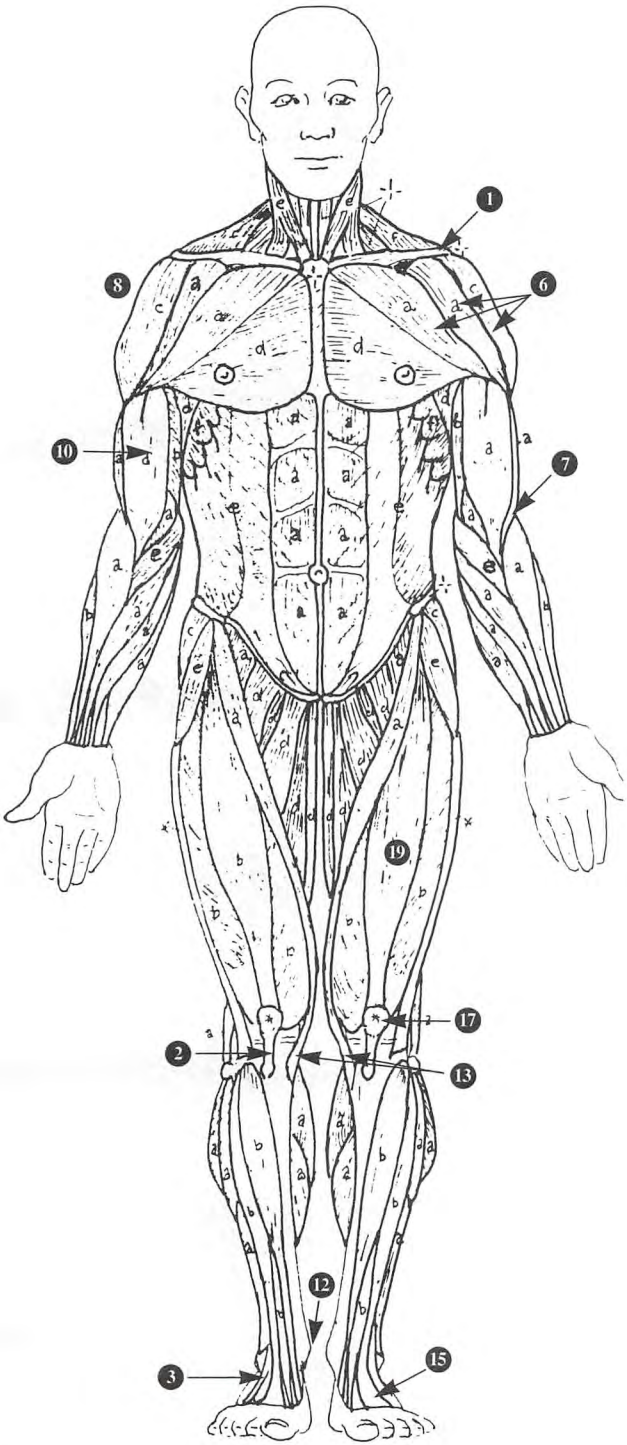

Ultrasound—An electrical modality that transmits a sound wave through an applicator into the skin to the soft tissue in order to heat the local area for relaxing the injured tissue and/or disperse edema.

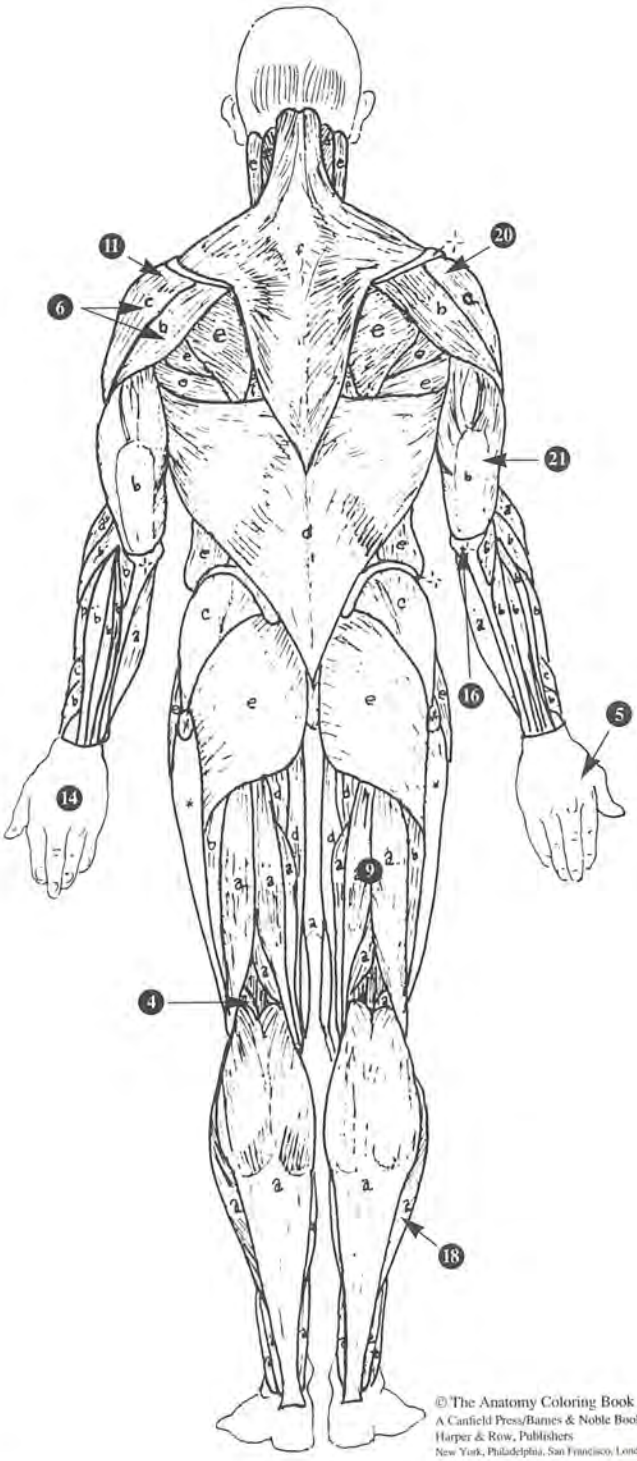

Whirlpool—Water bath in which the water is propelled by air to produce a massaging therapeutic action.

"Wind Knocked Out"—Syndrome describing a contraction of the abdominal nerve trunk, the solar plexus, as a result of an abdominal contusion.

Wrist—The junction between the two forearm bones (radium and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, trapezoid, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetral, lunate and scaphoid).

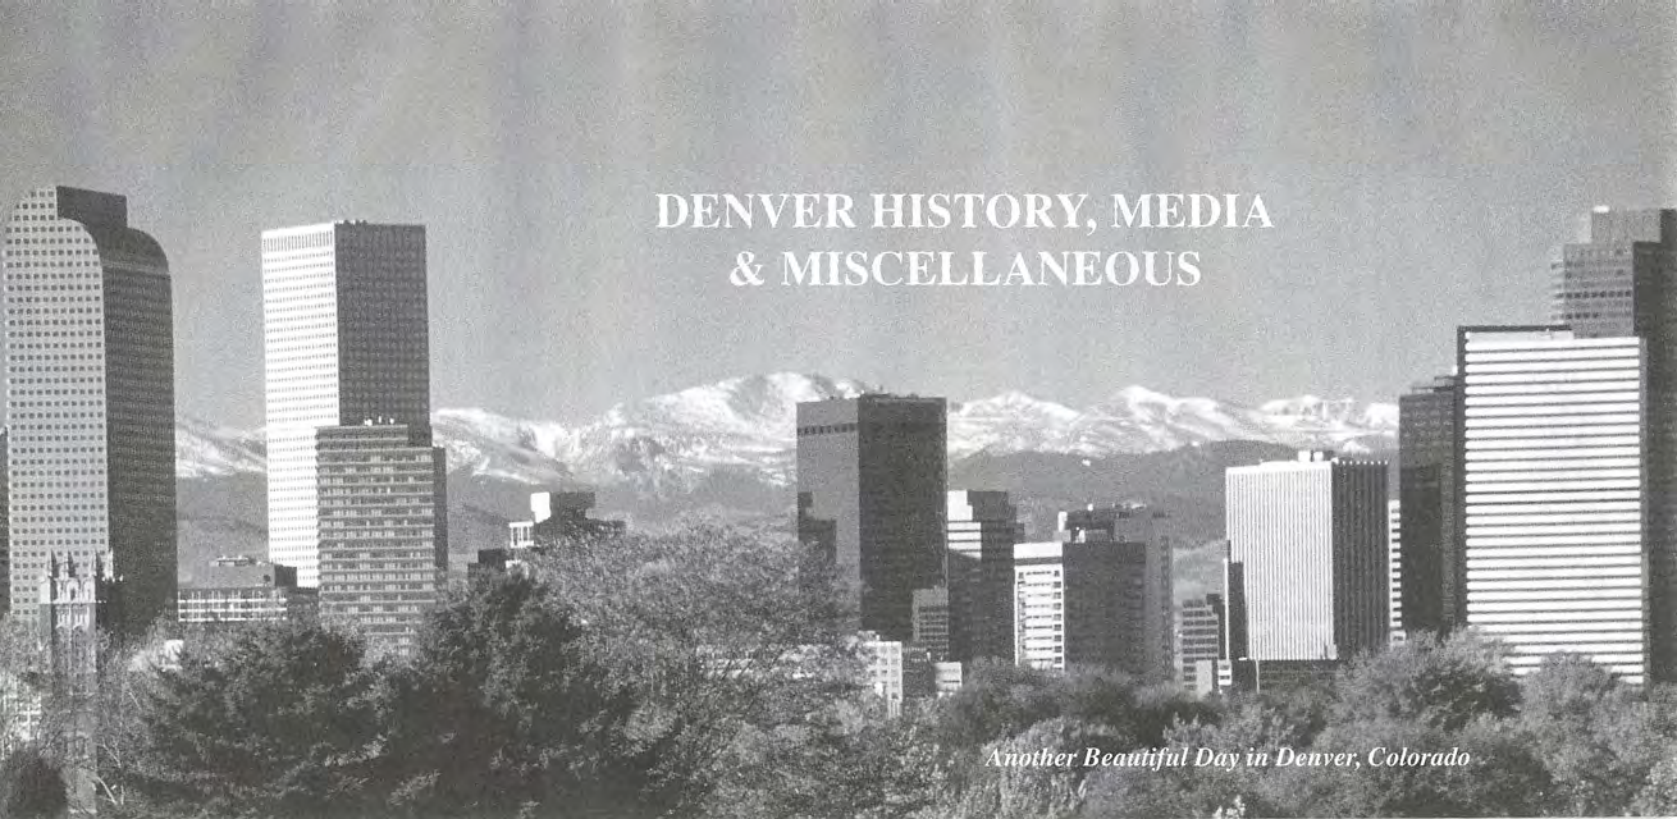

Zygoma—The cheekbone.

DENVER HISTORY, MEDIA & MISCELLANEOUS

Another Beautiful Day in Denver, Colorado

DENVER, COLORADO—FROM ONE BOOM TO ANOTHER

(Courtesy the Denver Metro Convention & Visitors Bureau)

In the summer of 1858, a small group of prospectors from Georgia crossed the great plains of the Colorado Territory and at the base of the Rocky Mountains they made a startling discovery. Gold! Not much of the metal was found, but this was only nine years after the great California gold rush, and just the mention of the word was enough to start a stampede.

By the spring of 1859, there were cities on both sides of the South Platte. Horace Greeley described the new metropolis as a "log city of 150 dwellings, not three-fourths completed nor two-thirds inhabited, nor one-third fit to be."

One of the quickest ways of getting rich from a boom town like this had nothing to do with gold. All that was required was to arrive early, stake out a claim of land, lay out city streets, and then sit back and sell lots to the new arrivals. Major General William H. Larimer was a late arrival, but that didn't stop him. He claim-jumped the land on the eastern side of the Platte River, laid out a city, and hoping to gain political favors, named it after Territorial governor James Denver, ignorant of the fact that Denver had already resigned.

There were three other separate towns already organized and the situation sparked rivalry, confusion and almost bloodshed until finally a torch-lit meeting was held on the one bridge over Cherry Creek, and for the price of a barrel of whiskey, all other names were dropped and the little settlement became known as Denver.

All the problems over the name seemed premature when a huge gold strike was discovered in the mountain town of Central City, and Denver was nearly deserted as everyone headed into the hills to stake a claim. But slowly the people came back — and some because they found there were easier ways to make a fortune than digging in the ground, and others because of a strange weather phenomenon. They discovered that the mountains acted like a shield which prevented most storms from passing. In 1859, winter conditions in the mountains were severe, but down on the plains Denver had a pleasant, sunny, year 'round climate. It was a much better location to ship and receive goods, and Denver began to grow as a trade center.

When the Union Pacific Railroad bypassed Colorado on its transcontinental route, Denver citizens raised $300,000 and built their own railroad to meet the Union Pacific at Cheyenne, Wyoming. Soon the Kansas Pacific crossed the plains to Denver and when a major silver strike was discovered in Leadville, Denver became a boom town.

The Silver Panic of 1893 destroyed much of the city's economy and threw the entire state into a depression, but a year later the nation's richest gold discovery was made in Cripple Creek and once again Denver boomed with fresh money. Respectability was coming to the West, and this time Denver turned its new found wealth into building parks, curbed streets, an impressive Capitol building and Civic Center and the best in hotels, newspapers and theaters.

Until the end of World War II, Denver remained a small, quiet city. Then the combination of great climate and abundant recreational opportunities created a housing boom. The energy boom of the last decade brought Denver to its present look as 16 skyscrapers were built, creating its distinctive skyline.

Much of Denver's colorful past has been carefully preserved and restored and can still be seen today. Larimer Square, the Colorado History Museum, the Molly Brown House on Capitol Hill, and within a short drive, historical towns like Central City, Blackhawk, Georgetown for those who want to study Colorado's history.

DENVER AT A GLANCE

POPULATION: The City & County of Denver has a population of 469,861, and the six-county metro area has a population of 1,876,000.

LOCATION: Contrary to popular belief, Denver is not in the mountains, it is near them. The "Foothills" start to rise 15 miles west of the city. Slightly beyond that is the Continental Divide and a series of peaks soaring to heights of 14,000 feet, known locally as the "Front Range." Considered "Western" in character, Denver is actually just 346 miles west of the exact center of the Continental United States. The 15th step on the west side of the State Capitol Building is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level.

TRANSPORTATION: Stapleton International Airport is the sixth busiest in the nation, serving over 34 million passengers a year. The new airport, which will be the nation's largest, opens this October. Covering 53 square miles (twice the size of Manhattan), the $2.7 billion project will have five full-service runways.

CLIMATE: Nothing about Denver is more misunderstood than the city's climate. Located just east of a high mountain barrier and a long distance from any moisture, Denver has a mild, dry and arid climate. The city receives only 8-15 inches of precipitation a year (about the same as Los Angeles), and records 300 days of sunshine a year — more annual hours of sun than San Diego or Miami Beach.

The average temperature in February is 45 degrees. Snow does fall, but usually melts in a short time. Golf courses remain open all year and have been played on as many as 30 days in January. Chinook winds (a wind blowing down from a mountain that gains heat as it loses elevation) can bring 60 degree weather to Denver at any time throughout the winter. In summer, dry relative humidity makes Denver feel cool and comfortable, offering natural air conditioning.

COLORADO BASEBALL
A 100-Year Tradition

Though Major League baseball will be new to the Rocky Mountain region in 1993, it's just another step for the National Pastime as far as Denver and the surrounding community is concerned.

The nicknames, ballparks and players that have crossed Denver's path have been numerous and colorful. From the Denvers to the Skyscrapers, to the Grizzlies, Bears and Zephyrs, to name a few.

From Broadway Park to Merchants Park to Bears Stadium and Mile High.

From Joe Tinker, Dutch Leonard, Jack Hendricks and Babe Adams to more recognizable figures as Bob Howsam, Bobby Richardson, Tony Kubek and Billy Martin, to the modern-day names of Barry Larkin, Rob Dibble, Tim Wallach, Andre Dawson, Tim Raines, Gary Sheffield and, yes, even Joey Meyer.

All are a part of a tremendous baseball tradition in Denver that will only be augmented when a major league umpire belts out "Play Ball" for the first time in 1993.

It began innocently enough with the advent of the Western League in 1886, and fittingly the "Denvers" were crowned the first league champion. After the arrival of the initial Western League franchise, baseball was an off-and-on occurence over the next 60 years, with the game becoming a permanent fixture in 1947.

During the period prior to the '47 season, Denver did not consistently have professional baseball, but when it was in business the area saw some outstanding players.

The 1900 Grizzlies had a young shortstop by the name of Joe Tinker, who would later become one-third of the famous double play combination on Chicago's North Side, the trio of Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance. Pitcher Charles "Babe" Adams arrived on the scene just a handful of years later and posted a 23-12 record in 1907, then left Denver for a 19-year major league career.

In 1910 a true success story took place in the dugout, when Jack Hendricks took over the managerial duties for four seasons. His club won 102 games in the first year, yet did not win a pennant; so to prevent that from happening again, his clubs won 314 games the next three years, including a still-standing Denver record 111 victories in 1911. Needless to say, Hendricks' teams won the pennant in each of those seasons.

In fact, Hendricks was so sure that he had the best minor league team in baseball, he challenged the Double-A champion Minneapolis Millers to a post-season series and won. He followed that by inviting Oakland, champions of the PCL, to do battle, but when Oakland declined, Hendricks proclaimed the Bears were "champions of all the minors."

The 1932 season witnessed the loss of Western League clubs for both Denver and Pueblo. Professional baseball would not return to Denver for 15 seasons, however, when it did come back it was stronger than ever.

After one season back in the pro ranks, the Howsam family bought the ballclub. Led by Bob Howsam, his father, Lee, and brother, Earl, the group led the way to build a new ballpark to replace the termite infested Merchants Park. The city of Denver turned over dump land at West 20th Avenue and Clay Street, clearing the way for Bears Stadium, the site where Mile High Stadium currently stands.

The new stadium opened in August, 1948, with 10,000 seats and has been expanding ever since.

The 1952 season was anything but uneventful, as Denver broke a 39-year pennant drought when the Bears knocked off Pueblo for the title. The entire season of baseball came down to a passed ball in the bottom of the 10th inning giving the Bears the triumph.

That season also witnessed a one-year wonder, when the Bears experimented with "Strike Zone Uniforms." The idea was simple: To help umpires recognize the strike zone more precisely with a different color running from the arm pits to the knees. The uniforms were worn periodically, but the players convinced management that they looked ridiculous, thus relegating them to permanent storage.

Denver finally became a Triple-A city in 1955, when the American League's Philadelphia A's moved to Kansas City, thus allowing the Howsam's to purchase the then homeless New York Yankees' minor league affiliate for $90,000.

The Yankees tabbed an untried Ralph Houk to manage the AAA club, a position the venerable field general would hold for 20 years in the majors with the Yankees, Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

Talk about talent, try these future major league names on for size: Bobby Richardson, Tony Kubek, Ryne Duren, Whitey Herzog, Ralph Terry and Darrell Johnson just to name a few, however, they were unable to win a pennant in either of the two seasons they were together. Houk did manage a playoff victory in 1957, before moving up to the majors to take over for the amazing Casey Stengel in 1961.

The first AAA champions in Denver history were the 1960 Bears, piloted by Charlie Metro. In a time before "Bo knowing something" was in vogue, this season was a case of "Bo knowing RBI" as a young player named Bo Osborne and teammate Steve Boros each drove in 119 runs during the '60 season.

From 1963-68, the Bears were members of the Pacific Coast League. The '68 entry was the affiliate of the Minnesota Twins, managed by a fiery former infielder named Billy Martin, and led offensively by Graig Nettles and Bob Oliver.

THE 1968 DENVER BEARS FEATURED (FROM LEFT) JOE GAINES, GRAIG NETTLES & BOB OLIVER

The Bears returned to the American Association in 1969, where all remaining Denver franchises remained through the 1992 season. From 1970-83, the Bears established themselves as a championship franchise, winning five league crowns and three other division titles.

Denver fans of the '80's showed their baseball allegiance by attending games in record numbers. In fact, in 1982 a Fireworks Night crowd of 62,666 rushed the turnstiles to establish a minor league record that may never be broken.

Those fans also saw some outstanding future major league stars when they came to Mile High Stadium, watching a remarkable 1980 club that went 92-44 with the likes of Tim Raines and Tim Wallach. All Raines did was lead the league with a .354 average and 77 stolen bases, while scoring 105 runs. Add to that a season in which Wallach hit 36 home runs with 125 RBI, it's no wonder the Bears won 68% of their games.

Under new ownership, the Zephyrs were on the Denver scene in 1985, as an affiliate of the Cincinnati Reds. Talk about a who's who of future stars; Eric Davis, Kal Daniels, Paul O'Neill, Barry Larkin, Chris Sabo and even an unknown fireballer by the name of Rob Dibble, displayed their wares in Denver before heading off to prominent major league careers.

The Z's joined the Milwaukee Brewers' chain in '87 and have remained under their auspices since. The next to last season of minor league baseball confirmed what Denver fans knew all along, that people wanted to see the National Pastime. What would happen if the National League expanded to the Rocky Mountain region? Are over 25,000 season tickets sold enough of an answer to make a point?

By the way, Joey Meyer, what was that all about? All Joey did was launch a baseball 582 feet into the upper deck of the East Stands at Mile High. If you are a non-believer, just check out the colored seat in left-center field the next time you visit. Also, the orange seat a few feet to the left of Meyer's prodigious clout, that now belongs to John Jaha, a current Milwaukee Brewer, who propelled a shot in May, 1992.

Who will be the first Colorado Rockies player to change the color of a seat in Mile High Stadium? The team is in place, so let's play ball.

COLORADO ROCKIES
Baseball Club Chronology

1985

Aug. 8 - Baseball's new Basic Agreement permits the National League to expand by two teams to match the American League's 14 teams.

1987

Oct. 31 - U.S. Senators from eight states, including Colorado Sen. Tim Wirth, announce they have formed a Congressional Task Force to investigate the possibility of expansion.

1989

June 15 - Baseball says it will announce a timetable for N.L. expansion within 90 days after the completion of a new Basic Agreement between the players and owners.

1990

March 17 - A new Basic Agreement is reached between the owners and players.

June 14 - The N.L. releases its timetable for the addition of two expansion teams for the 1993 season.

Aug. 14 - Denver area voters pass a 0.1% sales tax to finance construction of a new baseball stadium if a franchise is awarded.

Aug. 23 - Colorado Governor Roy Romer's Baseball Advisory Committee designates Colorado Baseball Partnership to spearhead the formation of the ownership entity to acquire Denver's National League franchise.

Sept. 18 - The N.L. Expansion Committee hears presentation from the Denver ownership group.

Dec. 18 - The N.L. unveils its short list of six potential sites: Denver, South Florida, Tampa-St. Petersburg, Orlando, Buffalo, and Washington, D.C.

Jan. 25 - Denver's baseball ownership group launches season ticket drive, requiring a refundable deposit of $50 per seat.

March 13 - The Denver Metropolitan Major League Baseball Stadium District formally chooses a site at 20th and Blake Streets for a traditional major league ballpark if Denver is awarded a team.

March 15 - Colorado Baseball Partnership announces that the proposed baseball park will be named Coors Field.

March 26 - The N.L. Expansion Committee visits Denver.

June 5 - The N.L. announces that a decision on the two finalists will be postponed indefinitely. Baseball's Ownership Committee wants more time to review the six applicants.

June 6 - Commissioner Fay Vincent announces that both leagues will share the $190 million expansion fee and that both will contribute players in the expansion draft.

June 10 - Vincent announces Denver and South Florida are the two applicants chosen by the N.L. Expansion Committee.

June 12 - Major league owners meet in Santa Monica, Calif. After National League owners ratify the Expansion Committee's recommendation, American League owners delay the process by asking for more time to work out "internal differences."

June 28 - The two leagues and the Major League Baseball Players Association compromise: A.L. teams will protect extra players in each draft round. Only eight A.L. teams will have to give up three players; the other six will give up players only in the first two rounds. With the agreement, a final expansion vote, via telephone conference call, is scheduled for July 5.

July 5 - Major league owners unanimously approve Denver and South Florida as baseball's two newest franchises. Colorado Baseball Partnership announces that the team will be called the Colorado Rockies and unveils the team logo.

Feb. 14 - KOA Radio (850 AM) signs a five-year broadcasting agreement to become the radio voice of the Rockies.

March 2 - Tucson, Arizona is selected as the Rockies' official spring training home starting in 1993. The agreement between the Rockies and the Pima County Sports Authority calls for the club to play its spring training games at Hi Corbett Field, the former Cactus League home of the Cleveland Indians.

March 19 - The club announces its 1993 ticket prices, seating locations, and season ticket packages. Also announced is the Colorado Rockies Baseball Club Foundation commitment to provide a minimum of 150,000 tickets free of charge in 1993 to children and families within the region involved in activities aligned with the Foundation's objectives.

April 16 - KWGN-TV (Channel 2) in Denver signs a five-year agreement to become the exclusive over-the-air television broadcaster of Rockies games in the Denver Metro Area.

April 22 - Rockies announce that baseball fans throughout the Rocky Mountain Region have committed to buy 24,168 season tickets for the club's 1993 inaugural season, placing the club fourth among all Major League Baseball teams for 81-game season ticket plans.

June 1 - John Burke, a pitcher from the University of Florida and a native of Englewood, Colo., is selected by the Rockies in the first round of the MLB Free Agent Draft, making him the club's first-ever draft selection. The 6-4, 220-pound righthander, the 27th player selected overall in the draft, signs a contract with the Rockies the same day.

June 6 - Rockies conduct first tryout camp in club history at the University of Denver baseball field.

June 16 - The first game in the history of the Rockies organization is played in Bend, Oregon, between the Bend Rockies and Boise Hawks (Class A, Northwest League). With the Rockies trailing 4-1 in the bottom of the eighth inning, Bend catcher Will Scalzitti hits a grand-slam to help give his club a dramatic 6-4 win.

July 4 - The Rockies unveil their traditional-style 1993 uniforms (home, away, and Sunday alternate) at the Team USA-Team Cuba baseball game at Mile High Stadium before 61,165 fans. Included on the home uniform is purple pinstripes, making the Rockies the first team in major league history to feature purple stripes. The club's road uniform is gray and the Sunday alternate jersey is black. The Rockies also announce that the team's logo has been refined. The arc of the logo is switched from silver to black to emphasize the word "COLORADO". Additionally, the ball is increased in size and seams are added.

July 13 - The Rockies announce that the club has signed 40 of the 50 players selected in the June Free Agent Draft. The 40 signees represent the highest total among the 28 MLB clubs which participated in the draft. The Rockies are also the only club in the majors to sign all of their first 25 draft selections.

Aug. 5 - Major League Baseball announces specifics on the Expansion Draft, scheduled to take place November 17 in New York City at the Marriott Marquis Hotel. ESPN also announces they will televise the 6 1/2-hour event live.

Oct. 16 - Groundbreaking for Coors Field takes place at 20th & Blake Streets.

Oct. 27 - Don Baylor named the first manager in Rockies history.

Nov. 9 - The Rockies acquire pitcher Travis Buckley from the Montreal Expos in exchange for "Player to be Named" (Matt Connolly) in first trade in club history.

Nov. 16 - The Rockies sign free agent first baseman Andres Galarraga to a one-year contract.

Nov. 17 - The Rockies select David Nied from the Atlanta Braves to open the MLB Expansion Draft in New York City. At the same time, over 20,000 fans fill Currigan Hall in Denver to watch to building of a major league franchise. All totaled, 36 players were selected by both the Rockies and Florida Marlins. Upon conclusion of the draft, Colorado trades drafted players Kevin Reimer and Jody Reed for outfielder Dante Bichette and pitcher Rudy Seanez, respectively.

1993

Jan. 26 - The Rockies announce a restructuring of the front office, with Jerry McMorris taking over the roles of Chairman, President and C.E.O. of the ballclub.

ROCKIES ON THE AIR

RADIO

WAYNE HAGIN

Denver native Wayne Hagin returns to his hometown to call the play-by-play in the Rockies' first year on the field and on KOA Radio. This will be his 11th season of major league baseball on radio, previously working with the Oakland A's, San Francisco Giants and Chicago White Sox.

He has also served as the play-by-play voice for ESPN College basketball, Big-10 basketball and this past winter Pac-10 hoops. When ESPN opened its doors in 1979, Hagin was one of the original SportsCenter anchors in Bristol, CT.

Hagin, 37, was raised in San Jose, CA, and attended San Diego State University on a baseball scholarship. He and wife, Valerie, and son, Austin, reside in Highlands Ranch.

JEFF KINGERY

A familiar voice to those who listen to KOA Radio, Jeff Kingery finally has the position he has long coveted, announcing major league baseball. For 11 seasons the Voice-of-the-Denver Nuggets, he originally came to KOA radio to broadcast baseball, calling the action of the Denver Bears when they won the league championship in 1981.

Raised in Northern California, Kingery used to take a tape recorder to the upper reaches of Candlestick Park to practice his baseball play-by-play while in high school. He then went to San Francisco State University, and upon graduation landed jobs in television and radio in Idaho and California before arriving in Denver.

Kingery, 41, is also an auto racing enthusiast, covering events for Prime Network and ESPN when his schedule permits. He and wife, Meryl, reside in Englewood.

ROCKIES RADIO/TV NETWORK

The Colorado Rockies have assembled a radio and television network that will reach throughout the Rocky Mountain Region for the 1993 season.

The radio flagship station is News Radio 85 KOA, the sports voice of Denver. It will lead the way for a network that covers 12 states through the western half of the United States. Represented along the network are Colorado, Arkansas, Arizona, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah and Wyoming.

The television home of the Rockies is KWGN-TV, Channel 2, in Denver, heading up a seven state network. Fans is Colorado, Arizona, Nebraska, New Mexico, South Dakota, Wyoming and Utah will have an opportunity to watch the Rockies during their initial season of play in the National League.

The Director of Broadcasting for the Rockies is Mark Kachmer.

TELEVISION

CHARLIE JONES

Veteran network broadcaster Charlie Jones will provide the play-by-play for KWGN-TV, Channel 2, during the 1993 season. He is coming off his 33rd season of NFL play-by-play, 28th with NBC Sports. His announcing, however, has not been limited to football, serving for 16 years on NBC's Baseball Game-of-the-Week. He also worked for two seasons with the Cincinnati Reds and most recently called the action of the California Angels in 1990.

His list of broadcasting credentials reads like a Who's Who in professional and amateur sports, covering the Summer Olympics, nine different collegiate bowl games, college basketball, Wimbledon, golf, track and field and boxing to name a few.

Jones also called the action of the first Super Bowl, the first AFL Championship, the first Senior Skins Game, the first NBC SportsWorld, the first World Cup Gymnastics and the first multi-national athletic event in China, the 1980 Beijing Invitational Track and Field meet.

DUANE KUIPER

Duane joined the Rockies television crew after spending the last six seasons providing commentary for the San Francisco Giants, both on SportsChannel and KTVU-TV. A former major league infielder of 11 seasons, Kuiper closed out his playing career with a four-year stint in a Giants' uniform before retiring to the broadcast booth.

Kuiper, 42, was drafted six times as an amateur before finally signing with the Cleveland organization in 1972. In his fourth pro season, he worked his way to the big league club, playing for the Tribe for seven years.

He played junior college baseball at Indian Hills Community College in the late-1960's for current Rockies' scouting director Pat Daugherty. Kuiper then went on to earn his B.A. at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, IL.

COLORADO ROCKIES™

DICK CONNOR IN MEMORIUM

Dick Connor's public wasn't ready to stop reading his expertise on sports.

And he wasn't ready to stop producing the writing that had become the most respected and anticipated opinion on the world of sports for fans in Denver, Colorado and the Rocky Mountain region.

Almost right up to the day, Dec. 30, 1992, that cancer took Connor away from the Denver Post sports pages, he wanted to saddle up to his computer and bang out another column.

Maybe his writing and insight will be missed the most April 9 when the Colorado Rockies play their first major league baseball game in Denver.

On that day, 76,000 fans will be in Mile High Stadium to usher big league baseball into Denver. The Rocky Mountain region waited more than 30 years to get a big league baseball team. Connor's readers face an eternity to read another edition of his work.

There will be a vacant chair in Mile High Stadium's press box when the Rockies face the Montreal Expos in their home opener.

That vacant chair that Connor would have sat in won't be filled that day or maybe never again.

In his 31 years as a sports writer and sports columnist in Denver, Connor was named Colorado's best sports writer 22 times, including a span of 18 years in a row.

His viewpoint as a columnist became gospel and his energy on a story unequalled whether writing about the Super Bowl, Olympics or a high school basketball tournament.

Connor saw Denver become a major-league baseball city. However, he won't see the city's team play its first game.

He would have been up to the occasion. Somehow he would have weaved glimpses of Denver's baseball past into the promise of the future in a way that would catch the moment for the readers.

Connor's column on the first day of major-league baseball in Denver probably would have mentioned the Denver Bears. He would have brought up names like Bob Howsam, Gerald Phipps, Billy Martin, Don Larsen, Jim Burris and a lot of others from Denver's baseball past. And he would have linked them in a special way to the names of the present like Bob Gebhard, Don Baylor, Dante Bichette, Jerry McMorris and others.

Connor's dedication to his profession was recognized nationally as well as locally.

His awards included induction in the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association Hall of Fame last April. He also received the Lowell Thomas Journalist of the Year Award in 1987 from Denver's chapter of Sigma Delta Chi. The National Football League presented Connor the 1991 Dick McCann Memorial Award for long and distinguished reporting in the field of pro football.

Connor was professionally at home with commissioners, Olympic presidents, team owners, great athletes in the professional or amateur ranks or a high school athlete, who had worked magic to help his team win a state title.

Mary Kay Connor remembers the glow from the very beginning.

" On our very first date, he told me he wanted to be a writer," Mary Kay remembered. His determination to reach his goal was matched only by his desire to get the story.

Connor divided his time between Denver's two daily newspapers, working two terms each at both The Post and the Rocky Mountain News.

" I'm the only guy in town who has changed jobs four times and never changed his phone number, " Connor explained.

It would be difficult to predict Connor's favorite story. Maybe he would have selected Denver's entry into major-league baseball.

Mary Kay wonders if his favorite might have been the 1986 Masters Golf Tournament when Jack Nicklaus won at age 46.

" He liked writing golf because of the slower pace and the spectacular settings of the courses, " Mary Kay remembered. Once a family member asked Connor if he wouldn't rather be a political writer.

He answered that writing sports offered more freedom to use the language and just as much drama, suspense, intrigue and excitement.

Connor once said in an interview he couldn't imagine himself doing anything else than writing about sports.

His many readers, subjects and friends are glad he never changed his mind.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

BATTING CHAMPIONSHIP QUALIFICATIONS: To win a batting title a player must have 502 or more actual plate appearances, the equivalent of 3.1 appearances for each of the 162 scheduled games.

EARNED RUN AVERAGE CHAMPION QUALIFICATIONS: To win the ERA title a pitcher must have at least as many innings pitched as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season and have the lowest ERA.

FIELDING CHAMPIONSHIP QUALIFICATIONS: The individual field champions shall be the fielders with the highest fielding average at each position, provided:

(1) A catcher must have participated as a catcher in at least one-half the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season.

(2) An infielder or outfielder must have participated at his position in at least two-thirds of the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season.

(3) A pitcher must have pitched at least as many innings as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season. EXCEPTION—If another pitcher has a fielding average as high or higher, and has handled more total chances in a lesser number of innings, he shall be the fielding champion.

(NOTE—These figures DO NOT determine the Gold Glove winners at the end of the season. Those are selected by a vote of managers and coaches.)

PINCH HITTING: A player shall be considered a pinch-hitter only if he enters the game as a substitute batter and then only on his first time at bat, which must be before he becomes a fielder. If the team bats around in the inning and a pinch hitter comes up a second time, he will not be considered a pinch hitter the second time.

ROOKIE QUALIFICATIONS: A player shall be considered a rookie unless, during a previous season or seasons, he has:

(1) Exceeded 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched in the major leagues, or

(2) Accumulated more than 45 days on the active roster of a major league club or clubs during the period of the 25-man roster (excluding time in military service).

SAVE RULE: A pitcher shall be credited with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions:

(1) He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club, and

(2) He is not the winning pitcher, and

(3) He qualifies under one of the following conditions:

(a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches at least one inning, or

(b) He enters the game regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces), or

(c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

SUSPENDED GAMES: For the purpose of this rule, all performances in the completion of a suspended game shall be considered as occurring on original date of this game.

HOW TO FIGURE

BATTING AVERAGE: Divide the number of at bats into the number of hits.

EARNED RUN AVERAGE: Multiply the number of earned runs by nine, take that number and divide it by the total innings pitched.

FIELDING PERCENTAGE: Divide the total number of putouts and assists by total chances (putouts, assists and errors).

MAGIC NUMBERS: Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

ON-BASE PERCENTAGE: Add the total of hits, walks and hit by pitches and divide by the total of at bats, walks, hit by pitches and sacrifice flies.

SLUGGING PERCENTAGE: Divide total bases by the total times at bat. (At bats do not include walks, sacrifices, hit by pitcher, or times awarded first base by interference or obstruction).

WINNING PERCENTAGE: Divide the number of games won by the total games won and lost.

COLORADO ROCKIES
PUBLIC RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

DIRECTOR - PUBLIC RELATIONS — Mike Swanson
ASSISTANT TO THE DIRECTOR - PUBLIC RELATIONS — Coley Brannon
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT - PUBLIC RELATIONS — Karin Bearnarth

The staff of the Colorado Rockies would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to Denver and the Rocky Mountain Region. It is with great pride and excitement that we introduce major league baseball to this area and prepare to accommodate you in 1993 and in future years. Following are the Public Relations policies that have been instituted. If there are any requests or questions, do not hesitate to ask any member of our staff. We will make every effort to accommodate your needs.

DAILY CREDENTIALS: These will be issued to those who do not qualify for season credentials. These consist of freelance writers, weekly and monthly publications for special coverage. Daily credentials will also be issued to area Radio & TV stations when the need arises for extra pre-game personnel (i.e. live shots, etc.), and daily newspapers who have had last-minute changes in coverage. These requests may be made via FAX on letterhead, only if that news source is already on file with the P.R. office. All daily requests must be made at least 48 hours in advance of the game to be covered.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS: These will be issued to those photographers on assignment for legitimate newsgathering organizations and those representatives of companies licensed by Major League Baseball. Photographers for licensees will only be granted daily passes. Priority in all photo areas will be granted to news organizations on nightly deadlines. No freelance photographers will be granted credentials. All photographs taken are to be used for news-gathering purposes or officially licensed products. Any other use of photographs taken will be considered a violation of existing trademark and copyright restrictions.

AUTOGRAPH POLICY: Credentialed members of the media are prohibited from requesting autographs or equipment on the playing field, in the dugout or in the clubhouse. Should the need arise for an autograph request, notify the Public Relations Department and we will attempt to accommodate. Any violation of these guidelines will result in immediate revocation of the credential and future access.

CLUBHOUSE ACCESS: All credentials will list specific locations in the stadium where access is permitted. Members of the media must have a specific reason for clubhouse access to gain admittance. All media will be required to sign in at the clubhouse entrance. The Rockies field manager will determine when the clubhouse will open prior to games and following games. Generally, no more than a 10-minute "cooling off" period is applied after games. Manager Don Baylor will make his office available for a brief period of time between games of doubleheaders. Access to the visiting clubhouse will be determined by the visiting club's policies.

FIELD ACCESS: All members of the media with field access provided on their credential will be allowed to conduct interviews during specified times prior to the beginning of the game. The field must be clear of media at the same time the clubhouses are closed, 50 minutes prior to the beginning of the game. Due to the unusual arrangement of the clubhouse locations, media should be alert at all times when entering the field via the leftfield gate and move as quickly as possible towards the area behind the batting cage. At no time is the media permitted in fair territory and must stay inside the first and third base bags. These precautions are for the safety of all involved while batting practice is in progress.

LIVE TRANSMISSIONS: Non-rightsholders are permitted to transmit live reports from the stadium prior to and after every game. All television live shots must be done in designated areas outside the clubhouse due to space limitations. Live television reports by non-rightsholders are prohibited while the rightsholder is on the air or the game is in progress. Radio stations and assigned correspondents for out of town reports are allowed to give the score of the game during the half innings, however, at no time can they file reports once an inning is underway. Any violations of these policies will result in revocation of credentials.

ROVING CAMERAS: At no time will local television stations be permitted to use a camera light in the seating area of the stadium. Should a light come on, the game will be stopped by the umpiring crew. Separate credentials will be available for "roving" the stands prior to and during games.

WORKING PRESS BOX: The main press box behind home plate has limited seating, therefore, beat writers from both participating club's have first priority. Remaining media will be seated in the auxiliary press box down the first base line. At no time will guests be permitted in either press box.

PRESS DINING: The press dining room is located behind the auxiliary press box down the first base line. Pre-game meals for the media will be served from 2 hours prior to game time through the first inning. Snacks and soft drinks will be provided in both press facilities throughout the game. Media members must have proper credentials to be admitted to the dining room.

PHONES FOR MEDIA: The Colorado Rockies will provide a limited number of Charge Call phones in each press box. Should media members feel there are not enough lines available, they should investigate installing their own line for use during the season.

To order your own press box phone for the season or your visit to Mile High Stadium, the US West Representative in Denver is Ginger Florence (303) 787-0225.

ROCKIES IN THE COMMUNITY

Though the first season of playing ball is finally official for the Colorado Rockies in 1993, the organization has been extremely active in the Rocky Mountain community since its inception in 1991.

Rockies' representatives spent the summer of '92 attending youth baseball games, working with the Denver Public Library on a reading incentive program, conducted essay contests as part of the Catch-a-Kid glove giveaway, formed a Youth Fan Club and distributed thousands of tickets for an Olympic Exhibition game at Mile High Stadium last summer.

Prior to the start of the 1993 season, the Rockies completed one of the most ambitious and successful Winter Caravans in baseball history. Three different caravans covered Denver and the surrounding territory to the tune of eight states and 23 cities in just under two weeks. Combined, the excursions totaled over 5,000 miles traveled by manager Don Baylor, coach Amos Otis, seven players, radio announcers Wayne Hagin and Jeff Kingery and members of the front office staff.

The purpose of the caravans were to enable the entire Rocky Mountain region the opportunity to be a part of their major league baseball franchise. Stops during the hectic two weeks included children's hospitals, benefit dinners, autograph signings, television and newspaper interviews and guest appearances on local radio shows.

The caravan's original travel itinerary was made in conjunction with radio and television stations that have joined the Rockies' network.

MILE HIGH STADIUM

The Colorado Rockies' home for the first two years of operation will be Mile High Stadium. Located in southwest downtown Denver, it has been the outdoor home for professional sports since 1948, when constructed as Bears Stadium.

The original structure included the current lower level west and north stands. The south stands were added in 1963 to accommodate the Denver Broncos of the then American Football League. In 1967 the City and County of Denver assumed ownership and management of the facility. Additions to the stadium continued through the years, with the final upgrade coming in 1977 with the addition of the movable east stands bringing capacity to over 76,000.

The east stands are a unique structure, with 21,000 seats that can be moved to convert from baseball to football in 10 hours, then reverse the process back to baseball configuration in 12 hours.

The east stands are 450 feet long, 200 feet deep, 13 stories tall and weigh nine million pounds. At each of the 46 stand support points are clusters of three or four forty-ton capacity water bearings which are used to lift the stands off their permanent supports and allow them to float. Once the stands are lifted and the pressure within the diaphragm equals the supported weight, then water escapes around the bottom of the diaphragm to provide a lubricated surface on which the stands are moved.

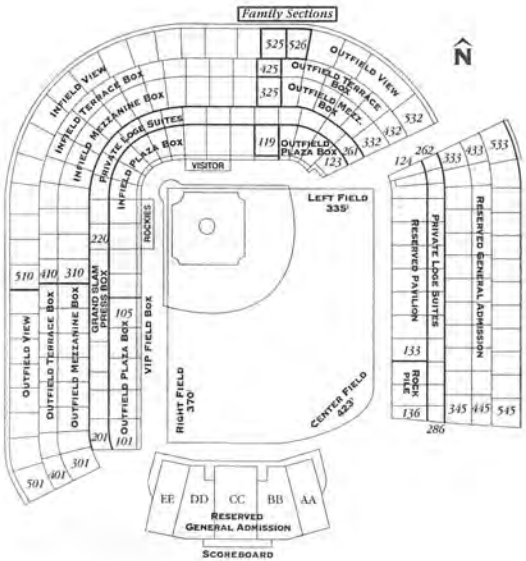

The water used is pumped from a 60,000 gallon storage tank and is recirculated throughout the system. The stands move at a rate of two feet per minute, thus the entire 145 feet move can take place in less than two hours.

ROCKIES TO RESIDE IN COORS FIELD IN '95

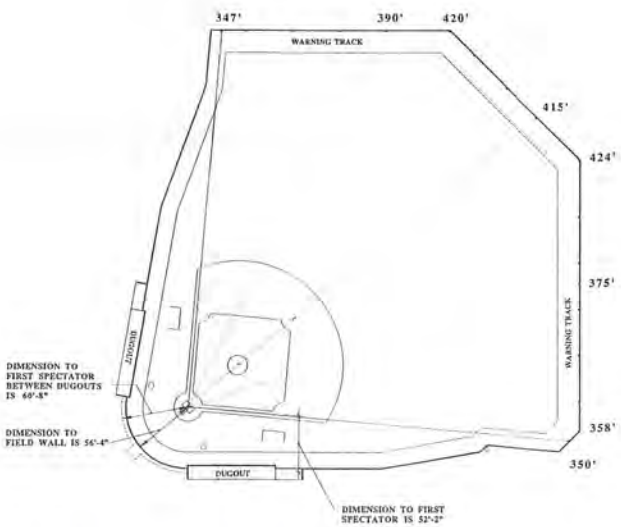

After calling Mile High Stadium home for the first two years of the club's existence, the Colorado Rockies are scheduled to move into Coors Field in time for the 1995 season. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new venue took place on October 16, 1992 at 20th and Blake in Denver's lower downtown historical district.

The modern facility will seat 43,800 fans, including at least 55 luxury boxes and 5,000 club seats. It will be open-air with a natural grass surface.

Coors Field has been designed by HOK Sports of Kansas City, MO, the same designers of new Comiskey Park in Chicago, and the highly acclaimed Oriole Park at Camden Yards in Baltimore.

The new "Home of the Rockies" will be financed by the taxpayers of the Denver Metropolitan Major League Baseball District and leased to the Colorado Rockies. Although the District will own the stadium, all operating and maintenance costs will be paid by the Rockies. Total cost of the project will be approximately $140 million.

HI CORBETT FIELD, SPRING TRAINING HOME OF THE ROCKIES

The first time the Colorado Rockies take the field in 1993 it will be in a newly renovated spring training facility in Tucson, Arizona. Currently the home of the Tucson Toros of the Pacific Coast League, Hi Corbett Field and the surrounding area will undergo a multi-million dollar facelift upon completion of the current minor league season.

Formerly the spring training home of the Cleveland Indians for 46 years, the list of improvements include a new press facility, modern major league clubhouse and administrative offices, new minor league clubhouse, concession stands and restrooms, and additional batting cages and pitching mounds.

The complex consists of the stadium field, where exhibition games will be played, as well as four workout fields arranged in a cloverleaf configuration just outside Hi Corbett Field.

Renovation of the facility is being designed by Anderson DeBartolo Pan, Inc., with the funds coming from the Pima County Stadium District and administered by the Pima County Sports Authority.
