Jerry D. McMORRIS

Chairman, President & Chief Executive Officer

Direction is extremely important to Jerry McMorris. The fact that the Colorado Rockies are moving forward into the new century, not backward, is paramount. No one cares more about that direction.

Faced with hiring a general manager, McMorris and his partners were about to make the most important decision in franchise history, or for that matter, the franchise's future. Eventually, they chose a somewhat unconventional direction, to give a young baseball engineer his first GM position. But they chose to give Dan O'Dowd that position before anyone else. They chose to move in a direction with not only the next year in mind, but also the next decade. They chose to move forward.

"Obviously, we want the organization to perform at a championship level," he said at the news conference, Sept. 20, 1999. "With the tremendous fans we have, we hope this is the beginning of having championship-quality baseball on a consistent basis here in the Rocky Mountains.

"And no one in the Rocky Mountains wants that consistency more than McMorris. It's an attainable goal, but in order to get there, the Rockies must move forward. And moving forward means change.

There are some things about McMorris that haven't changed. In the eyes of the players and front-office, his commitment to winning is unwavering. He makes an effort to talk to each player and his door is always open to them. And, he doesn't seclude himself from the fans, who've supported the Rockies at an incredible rate. He sits with them, in his seats behind the home dugout.

When he, Charlie Monfort, and their group purchased controlling interests in the club on Sept. 2, 1992, McMorris was unanimously chosen to lead the franchise. He began cultivating that leadership ability early in his life. In 1959, at age 19, McMorris began building one of the largest family-owned transportation companies in North America. Today, he chairs Major League Baseball's Legislative Committee and serves as vice chairman of the sport's Blue Ribbon Committee on economics. He also sits on the Major League Baseball Executive Council.

A 1962 graduate of the University of Colorado's School of Business, he sits on the CU Foundation Board of Directors. Named the 1993 Colorado Business Leader of the Year and the 1992 Master Entrepreneur of the Year, he sits on the executive committee and serves as treasurer of the National Western Stock Show. Also a member of the Institute of American Entrepreneurs, he's one of the state's most sought after public speakers.

Jerry and his wife, Mary, reside in Timnath, Colo. They have two married children, Kelly and Scott, who have each added two children to the family: Kelly with husband Michael Dorvillier and their children Madeline and Blake, and Scott with wife Rachel and their children Samantha and Dade. McMorris is well known throughout the region. He owns Timnath Farms and the Red Mountain and Belvoir Ranches, with interests based in Northern Colorado and Wyoming.

Ryan McKee

Charles K. MONFORT

Vice Chairman

One of the strongest aspects of the Rockies organization is its stable and longstanding ownership. Charlie Monfort embodies each of those respects.

Monfort, an original Colorado Rockies founder, became a vice chairman Sept. 2, 1992, when he, along with Jerry McMorris, acquired the expansion team's controlling interests.

With deep local roots, Monfort's family operated a major cattle feeding operation for three generations, and introduced fabrication of beef products in 1959. Based in Greeley, Colo., the company was operated by the Monforts since the 1930s. Charlie became president of Monfort International Sales Corp. in 1988 and under his guidance the corporation became one of the largest beef exporters in the world, and the leading exporter of beef products to Asia. Monfort opened company offices in Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Beijing, Moscow, Mexico City and Rio. Those international ties were pivotal in the Rockies' ability this winter to sign RHP Tsao Chin-Hui, the best prospect ever produced by Taiwan. Monfort and the Rockies hope Tsao is paving a road from that region to Coors Field.

Monfort, 40, in 1996 became president of ConAgra Refrigerated Foods International, Inc., which consolidated his company with all of ConAgra's refrigerated foods international companies. In order to concentrate on his leadership role in the Rockies, Charlie resigned as president in late 1998.

Charlie lives with his two children, Kenny and Ciara, in Greeley. He has a bachelor's degree in marketing and business management from the University of Utah ('82) and served as president of Kappa Sigma fraternity in college. He also sits on the Special Olympics Board of Directors.

Vice Chairman

Dick Monfort became a vice chairman of the Colorado Rockies Dec. 8, 1997, joining his brother in the club's leadership.

Monfort, 45, spent 15 years in the cattle business, primarily with his family's company. He became president of Monfort of Colorado, Inc. in 1987, then joined ConAgra Red Meats in 1991 as President & CEO. Today, Monfort owns the Hyatt Grand Champions Hotel in Palm Springs, Calif., the Hilltop Steak House in Boston, and interests in various commercial real estate ventures in Denver and Greeley, Colo. Monfort helped to launch the Montera Cattle Co. in 1996 and, one year later, the first Brett Favre Steak House in Milwaukee. He has since opened a second Brett Favre Steak House in Green Bay.

In addition, Monfort is the Chairman of the University of Northern Colorado Board of Trustees, the Chairman of United Way of Weld County in 2000, sits on the Board of Directors of Denver's University Hospital, is a member of the Colorado Economic Development Board as well as other area boards.

A Colorado native, Monfort lives in Greeley, Colorado with his wife Christine and their three children. A 1976 graduate of the University of Northern Colorado, Dick has a bachelor's degree in business management.

Keli S. McGREGOR

Executive Vice President – Business Operations

Compared to Keli McGregor, few baseball executives can say they have as much passion for their organization.

He not only verbalizes that passion, but embodies it in his leadership qualities. McGregor directs much of that ardent enthusiasm towards two areas: people and precedents. And both areas are constantly intertwined.

McGregor, 38, works closely with two groups of people: the team's fans and the team's front-office associates. In fact, he believes those groups form the organization's most important asset. Establishing and maintaining precedents within that asset is a challenge. But it's a vital challenge because without those people, the organization could never enjoy high levels of business success.

One precedent is the team's outstanding customer service. He would turn off the rain if he could, but no one can control the weather. However, Keli is passionate about the things the Rockies can control, such as keeping the Coors Field experience unique and appealing, and giving the fans meaningful memories.

Building memories are important to McGregor because he holds tightly to his own recollections. A Colorado resident for most of his life, Keli sat in the North Stands at Mile High Stadium for more than 20 years watching the Broncos. And like every other fan who grew up in Colorado without Major League Baseball, he has a genuine appreciation for what Coors Field has become to the Rocky Mountain region.

The incredible gem that sits on 20th and Blake, which has resurrected Denver's lower downtown, has drawn the most fans in baseball each of its first five seasons. And McGregor will not let the organization take that support for granted. He works tirelessly to not only listen to fan feedback, but also implement changes, such as more consistent game times. Most importantly, he pushes the organization to preserve the appeal of the Coors Field experience so that today's children can bring their children to the park.

There are other people that drive McGregor's passion. He openly admits that the people he works with internally, his front-office associates, motivate him to come to work each day. And his steady commitment to the organization has provided much stability during the transition of the past few months. That commitment extends into the new baseball department.

Dan O'Dowd, when asked to name the four most important factors in his decision to come to Colorado, replied: ownership, Coors Field and its tremendous fan base, the quality of the community, and Keli McGregor. O'Dowd and McGregor, part of the new generation of baseball leadership, have already formed an important relationship. The two will continue to break down the organizational barriers between baseball and business.

Promoted to executive vice president before the 1998 sesaon, Keli begins his seventh year guiding the organization's non-baseball functions. He also sits on the board of the Colorado chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. And, in memory of his friend Michael McMorris, who lost his life to cystic fibrosis before the 1996 season, McGregor co-founded the Reaching Out to Youth (ROY) Foundation to assist the battle against the disease.

A two-time All-American tight end at Colorado State, McGregor was drafted by the Broncos in the fourth round (110th overall) of the 1985 NFL draft. He played for Denver, Indianapolis and Seattle before retiring. Keli still holds CSU's single-season reception record (69) and stands third on the all-time reception list with 153. He recently gained membership into the school's Hall of Fame and All-Century team.

After his football career, McGregor served four years as an associate athletic director at the University of Arkansas, where the school won 11 national titles in four sports during his time in Fayetteville.

Keli and his wife, Lori, live in Golden, Colo., and have four children: daughters Jordan, Taylor and Landri and son Logan.

Denver Broncos/Clarkson & Associates

After attending games at Mile High for more than 20 years, McGregor played one season (1985) for the Denver Broncos.

Daniel J. O'DOWD

Executive Vice President, General Manager

There's a quality about Dan O'Dowd that overshadows his aggressiveness. More than his creative vision or his bold energy, more than anything else, he is honest.

It was an honest, 40-year-old general manager who introduced himself to Rockies fans at a Saturday morning hot stove meeting in November. Addressing a visibly emotional crowd, the young baseball engineer shared some honest promises. One, that the team would take calculated risks, reflecting O'Dowd's nature. Two, that the Rockies would make mistakes, but would admit them and be accountable to their fans. And three, that Colorado would not win consistently until the scouting and player development system began producing major league players.

And, honestly, the Rockies limped away from the 1999 season stripped of their pride and direction, convicted by a last-place finish. On the heels of a second straight disappointing season, the environment was fit for change.

O'Dowd wasted no time in changing. From Oct. 30 to Dec. 13, only 44 days, the Rockies added 15 players to their major league roster, reshaping the team at a rate almost unprecedented. Incredibly, he made five trades in a month and-a-half, deals that involved 23 players. At the winter meetings, he engineered the first four-team deal since Jan. 18, 1985. Two of the four teams in that deal, the Royals and Mets, won the next two World Series, respectively. He capped the off-season with a three-player deal to acquire Masato Yoshii Jan. 14. He also hired manager Buddy Bell and was ultimately responsible for 35 baseball operations hirings. The moves were made with a focused vision, part of his long-term strategic plan.

Conservative but dotted with exciting risks, the plan has three branches. First, it calls for a team of more athletic, defensively sound players, with an offense focused on quality at-bats, on-base percentage and plus speed. The pitching staff should consistently throw strikes, with low walks/nine innings ratios, a group a hurlers who don't defeat themselves. Second, it involves long-term strategic planning that fixes costs while creating greater decison-making flexibility. Finally, working with Keli McGregor, the plan ties every part of the organization into one focused goal: winning both on and off the field.

The commitment behind that plan is extraordinary. In addition to the 18 added to the major league roster, the Rockies will report to Tucson with only 10 of the 25 players on their 1999 Opening Day roster. What's more, Bell's first lineup will have at least six different starters from the 1999 regular season opener.

O'Dowd served the Indians front office for 11 years, from 1988-98, most recently as the vice president of baseball operations and assistant general manager. During his tenure in Cleveland, the Indians won four straight AL Central pennants (1995-98) and advanced to the World Series in 1995 and 1997. He spent his first five seasons (1988-92) as Cleveland's director of player development, cultivating future All-Stars, such as Charles Nagy, Manny Ramirez, Jeff Shaw and Jim Thome. Indians president Hank Peters promoted O'Dowd after Baseball America named Cleveland its 1992 Organization of the Year. O'Dowd spent six seasons as assistant GM and directly oversaw the player development and scouting departments. From 1988-92, O'Dowd oversaw the Colorado Springs Sky Sox, Cleveland's AAA Pacific Coast League affiliate. During that period, the farm team advanced to the PCL playoffs four straight seasons (1989-92) and won the league championship in 1992.

Before joining the Indians, O'Dowd worked five years for the Orioles. He left Baltimore after two and-a-half seasons as the assistant director of player development and scouting. O'Dowd also worked in Baltimore's broadcasting and marketing departments.

Dan and his wife, Jackie, have two children. Born Sept. 6, 1959, he is a graduate of Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla.

Harold R. ROTH

Sr. Vice President – Chief Financial Officer

Hal Roth will mark his eighth season in the organization this year. He's served as the Rockies' CFO since August, 1993.

Roth, 49, is responsible for all financial functions, including accounting, taxes, payroll, banking and insurance.

Prior to joining the Rockies, Hal was a partner with the public accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand, where he specialized in taxation, for 19 years from 1975-93.

Roth holds a bachelor's degree from Albion College ('92), an M.B.A. and J.D. from the University of Denver ('75) and an L.L.M (in taxation) from New York University. He is also a certified public accountant.

Hal and his wife, Connie, and sons, Reilly (18) and Rory (16), reside in Englewood. He currently serves on the board of the Colorado Neurological Institute, and has served on the boards of the Colorado Children's Chorale and Seniors, Inc.

A Michigan native, Hal likes to climb Colorado's 14,000-foot peaks during the summer. In the winter, he can be found on the state's ski slopes. His grandfather came to Denver in 1923 and served as an inaugural member of the Colorado Courtesy Patrol (later know as the state highway patrol).

Clark E. WEAVER

Sr. Vice President – Corporate Counsel

Clark Weaver joined the Rockies in the fall of 1992, and embarks on his eighth season in the club's front office.

Weaver plays a highly important role with the ball club, assisting Colorado's ownership with his legal expertise.

He entered baseball after working for the Hamilton Oil Corporation, where he handled all of the legal affairs for a publicly-held energy company. Hamilton's principal assets were located in the United Kingdom sector of the North Sea.

A 1969 graduate of the Colorado School of Law, and a '64 graduate of Stanford with a degree in political science, Clark and his wife, Martha, reside in Denver. From 1961-63, Weaver preceded Jim Plunkett and John Elway as a quarterback at Stanford, where he captained the team his senior season.

Gregory D. FEASEL

Vice President – Sales & Marketing

Greg Feasel, now in his fifth year with the club, joined the Rockies before the 1996 season. He oversees corporate sales, publications, promotions and special events, broadcasting, community affairs and merchandising.

Feasel joined the Rockies after serving as a division director of sales and marketing for Coca-Cola Enterprises from 1988-95.

A 1981 graduate of Abilene Christian,.Feasel played three seasons for the USFL's Denver Gold. He also played for the Green Bay Packers and San Diego Chargers.

Before his days as an athlete ended, Greg cultivated his business career. During the off-season, he worked in the real estate and automotive industries, and also taught school. After joining Coca-Cola, he worked his way up the corporate ladder. Known for his leadership abilities, he's chaired several organizations, including Grocery Sales Managers of Colorado and the Career Tech Prep. Committee. He's also served as a chairman of Colorado community colleges and their occupational education system, and as past president of the Colorado chapter of the NFL Alumni Association. He is single and lives in Denver.

Michael J. KENT

Vice President – Finance

One of the original members of the officer roster, Michael Kent joined the Rockies in January, 1992, and enters his ninth year with the club.

Kent, 42, is in contact with every department in the organization, assisting them in financial planning and budgeting. He also is responsible for financial reporting, cash management, club insurance and benefits.

Michael came to Colorado after a decade with the Philadelphia Phillies (1982-91). He served as Controller at the time of his move West.

He and his wife, Mary, have four children: Jonathan (9), Laura (7) and Timothy (2) and Bryan, born in December. The family resides in Highlands Ranch, Colo. A 1979 graduate of Villanova University, Kent owns a bachelor's degree in accounting.

Sue Ann McCLAREN

Vice President – Ticket Operations & Sales

Sue Ann McClaren joined the Rockies in the fall of 1992 and enters her eighth season with the club, her 23rd year in Major League Baseball.

McClaren oversees pro sports' busiest ticket department, which has sold more seats for one game and one season than any big-league club in history.

On Dec. 1, 1995, with the addition of vice president to her title, she became the Colorado Rockies first female officer.

Sue Ann joined Colorado after a 15 years with the St. Louis Cardinals, who won three NL pennants and one World Series during that time. She joined the Cardinals in their sales department, then worked her way up to director of ticket sales before departing for the expansion Rockies. A 1977 graduate of William Woods College in Fulton, Mo., McClaren is single and lives in Denver.

Josh BYRNES

Sr. Director – Baseball Operations, Asst. General Manager

Josh Byrnes joined the Rockies Sept. 30, 1999 and enters his first season with the club, his seventh in a major league front office. He worked closely with Dan O'Dowd as the Rockies added 18 players to the major league roster this winter.

Byrnes, 29, is the youngest assistant general manager in the National League, and second-youngest in the majors. Only Oakland's Paul DePodesta, 27, is younger. The two began their careers in the Indians baseball department.

Josh worked six seasons for the Indians, beginning as a baseball operations intern in 1994. Since his first month in that internship, he's assisted in the intricitate tasks of acquiring and evaluating major league players. Cleveland hired him full-time (baseball operations assistant) before the 1995 season, which culminated in the club's first pennant since 1954, and first of five straight division titles. The team promoted him to assistant scouting director in October, 1996. Then, after the 1998 first-year player draft, he became one of the youngest scouting directors in major league history at age 27.

A native of Washington D.C., Byrnes graduated from Haverford College, near Philadelphia, where he played four seasons for the Fords, establishing school records in career home runs and RBI. He is single and lives in Denver.

Mark WILEY

Sr. Director – Player Personnel

Mark Wiley was named to his newly created position Oct. 19, 1999. He begins his 31st season in professional baseball. Since signing his first professional contract in 1970, he has played, managed, scouted or coached at every level of the game.

Wiley, 52, assists Dan O'Dowd with major league player and roster evaluations and also has responsibilities in the player development and scouting areas.

He comes to the Rockies after serving one season as the Kansas City Royals major league pitching coach. Prior to his year with the Royals, Mark had two stints (1988-91, 1995-98) as the Cleveland Indians major league pitching coach. In both '95 and '96, Wiley's Cleveland staff captured the AL ERA title. Sandwiched between his time as the big-league pitching coach, Mark spent 1992-94 as a special assignment scout for the Tribe.

Cal Ripken, Sr., gave Mark his first major league coaching job, as Baltimore's pitching coach in 1987. Wiley earned that post after six seasons of instruction and one year of play in the Orioles system. He was roving pitching instructor (1986), pitching coach at Triple-A Rochester (1983-85), interim Rochester manager (1985) and manager at Double-A Charlotte (1981-82).

A right-handed hurler, Wiley ended his 11-year playing career at Rochester in 1980. He spent all or parts of 10 seasons at Triple-A. Minnesota's second-round selection in the 1970 June draft, Mark made his major league debut with the Twins in June, 1975. He pitched in 21 big-league games (four starts) for the Twins, Padres and Blue Jays.

Mark earned All-America honors and his school's Athlete of the Year at Cal-Poly Pomona before the Twins took him in 1970. A 1966 graduate of Helix High School (LaMesa, Calif.), he lettered in baseball, basketball and football.

He and his wife, Jo Ann, have two children, Clint and Kristen, and reside in Boca Raton, Fla. He has a degree in kineisology from Cal-Poly.

Michael HILL

Director — Player Development

Michael Hill joined the Colorado organization Oct. 11, 1999. He enters his eighth season in the professional game.

Hill, 28, comes to Coors Field from the Tampa Bay Devil Rays, where he had worked since August, 1995, all four seasons as an assistant in the scouting and player development departments.

A 1993 graduate of Harvard University, Hill was elected senior class marshal (the equivalent to president), while starring as the football team's top rusher and the baseball team's captain. The Texas Rangers made him their 31st selection in the 1993 June draft, and he played two seasons (1993-94) in the Rangers system and one year (1995) in the Cincinnati organization before joining the Devil Rays.

Hill's reputation is already well known in organizational circles. In an off-season feature, Baseball America named Hill as one of 10 people in baseball whose prominence will increase significantly in the first decade of the new century. It quoted strong sources who said he will turn into a successful general manager before the 2010 season.

A Cincinnati native, he starred in football, baseball and basketball at the city's County Day School. Michael also shares several ties with Buddy Bell's family. At County Day, Hill played against Moeller and David Bell during the spring; the two then played on the same Connie Mack team, the Midland Redskins, that won a world series in 1989. Twenty years earlier in 1969, Buddy Bell led his Cincinnati Connie Mack team to a world series title. Hill and Mike Bell were selected by the Rangers in the 1993 June draft. And, after his playing career, Hill scouted Ricky Bell for the Tampa Bay Devil Rays.

Michael is single and lives in Denver.

Bill SCHMIDT

Director – Scouting

Bill Schmidt began his direction of the Rockies scouting department on Oct. 1, 1999. He is the second scouting director in club history.

Schmidt, 40, also joins the Rockies from the Indians, where he served four seasons (September, 1995 – October, 1999) as the organization's only national cross checker. Before his time in Cleveland, Schmidt supervised the Southern California, Arizona and Nevada regions for the New York Yankees (1988-95). He worked for the Major League Baseball Scouting Bureau from 1987-88, and launched his scouting career as an associate with the Reds (1982-84). All told, he has 14 years of scouting experience.

Schmidt also has nine years of coaching experience, at a variety of levels. His first job out of college was as head baseball coach at his alma mater, Magnolia High School in Anaheim, Calif. He also assisted at Santa Ana Junior College (1982-84) and Arizona State (1985). Professionally, he coached in the Pioneer League for the Reds (1984) and Brewers (1986) before his three seasons (1991-93) coaching the Yankees' New York-Penn League club.

Schmidt has a master's degree from Azusa Pacific University ('87) and a bachelor's from Cal State-Long Beach. He and his wife, Linda, have two sons: Andrew (5) and Matthew (3).

Baseball 101: The Bases

First, second and third bases shall be marked by white canvas bags, securely attached to the ground. The first and third base bags shall be entirely within the infield. The second base bag shall be centered on second base. The bags shall be 15 inches square, not less than three nor more than five inches thick, and filled with soft material.

— Rule 1.06 from the MLB Rule book

Tony SIEGLE

Director — Baseball Administration

Tony Siegle keeps the baseball operations staff up-to-date on baseball's many and complicated rules interpretations. He also handles contract negotiations and all big-league administration.

Now in his fourth decade in baseball, Siegle arrived in Colorado after the 1994 season. Before joining the Rockies, he worked four years as the San Francisco Giants' vice president of baseball administration and operations.

Siegle has come a long way in baseball since a stint as an officer in the United States Navy. He began in the scoreboard operations department of the Houston Astros in 1965, the first year of the Astrodome. Then, he joined the Phillies in 1969 as director of stadium operations before moving to the baseball side of the game, joining the Milwaukee Brewers in 1970. During his time in Milwaukee, he served in the minor league and scouting departments. He headed the Brewers' farm system from 1975-79.

Siegle rejoined the Astros as assistant to the general manager from 1979-82. He then returned to the Phillies in 1982 as an executive assistant in baseball operations and was promoted to vice president a year later. Siegle spent the majority of the 1989 season as the Padres' vice president of player personnel, and followed that by joining the California Angels as a special assignment scout. He joined the Giants in 1990.

Tony and his wife, Cynthia, reside in Denver. The couple has four children, Andrew, Amy Beth, Zachary and Gregory, and one grandchild, Zachary James.

Stacie Brungardt

Assistant to the Exec. VP/General Manager

Stacie Brungardt begins her sixth season with the Rockies, her fiffth in her current position. She joined the baseball department Oct. 8, 1995.

Brungardt, 30, schedules and coordinates all of the general manager's interviews and meetings, preserves all major-league player files and maintains a board with all 30 major-league rosters. Before moving into her current role, she worked five months as a a Rockies administrative support assistant.

Stacie worked at Pebble Beach Golf Resort during the 1995 AT&T Pro-Am. A Mile High City native, she has a bachelor's degree from Metro State College of Denver and has worked closely with the Leukemia Society and other various charities. In her spare time, she enjoys downhill skiing, water skiing and especially softball.

Thad Levine

Major League Administrator

Thad Levine joined the Rockies Oct. 11, 1999 and begins his first season with the club. He worked behind the scenes as the Rockies revamped the major league roster this winter, compiling extensive statistical and payroll analyses.

Levine, 28, comes to the Rockies from Los Angeles, where he worked one season for the Dodgers (business development) and earned an MBA from UCLA ('99). He has marketing experience with Coca-Cola and the Rockport Company.

An Alexandria, Va., native, Thad also has a bachelor's degree from Haverford College ('94), where he played baseball with assistant GM Josh Byrnes. He hurled two no hitters in summer ball. Levine fulfilled some of his graduate work abroad, at Cape Town, South Africa, and has volunteered with the Special Olympics. He is single and makes his home in Denver.

Rockies on the Web

The official Colorado Rockies Web site (www.coloradorockies.com) provides extensive information. Fans and media alike can access press releases, game notes, biographies and statistics. Fans can also purchase tickets and merchandise on-line, or play the interactive pavilion and Coors Field experience.

Coley Brannon Scouting Administrator

Coley Brannon marks his ninth year with the Rockies. He started his current position July 28, 1997. He's worked in four areas throughout the club.

Brannon, 30, evaluates amateur talent in Colorado and Wyoming, organizes the First-Year Player Draft in June and supervises and administers all scouting personnel throughout the year.

He worked in customer service for four months, then he became the chief assistant in the public relations department later that year. In August, 1996, Coley moved to marketing and served as an account executive.

Coley is single and resides in Littleton. He has a degree in business administration with a marketing major from the University of Iowa. His two brothers nicknamed him after Coley O'Brien, a Notre Dame quarterback during the 1960s. His grandfather was a backup halfback for Coach Knute Rockne in 1928. Born in Stamford, Conn., he was raised in Lake Forest, Ill., where he played prep baseball and basketball.

Holly Burkett Assistant to the Director – Scouting

Holly Burkett embarks on her seventh season with the Rockies. She began her current position July 20, 1998 and assists in all aspects of her department.

Before joining scouting, Holly worked four and-a-half years as an accountant in the finance department.

Burkett, 30, came to the Rockies from Disneyland in Anaheim, Calif., where she worked as a cost accountant from 1992-93.

Holly and her husband, Lance, live in Highlands Ranch, Colo., with their dog. A 1991 graduate of Colorado State University, she owns a degree in accounting. Her brothers, Brian and Brady Schneider, played football at CSU. Brian currently coaches the tight ends and special teams on Sonny Lubick's CSU staff. Her father is the principal at Standley Lake High School in Arvada.

Paul Herfurth Scouting Administrator

Paul Herfurth begins his first year with the Rockies after joining the front office Oct. 25, 1999. Paul monitors the transmission of professional reports, assists in the Rule V draft, oversees the extensive MIS network, maintains the pro scouting budget, compiles advance information for the major league coaches and evaluates talent as assigned.

Herfurth, 34, from 1996-99 taught business and served as head baseball coach at nationally ranked St. Thomas Aquinas in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Before that, he held a similar role at Chaminade High School in Hollywood, Fla. The 1997 Miami Herald and Florida Athletic Coaches Association Coach of the Year, he coached Troy Cameron, an Atlanta Braves first-round seclection. He worked for one season both in the Yankees front office (1988) and for the Miami Miracle (1989), where he served as director of operations in its inaugural season.

Paul is married to Barbara and he has a degree in athletic administration from St. John's.

Paul EGINS

Director – Minor League Operations

Paul Egins joined the club Oct. 30, 1991 and he's been with the Rockies longer than all but four employees. This season marks his first in a newly created position.

Egins, 36, served as the director of player development from Sept. 9, 1997 through the end of the 1999 season. He was the assistant director of player development, player personnel and scouting since he joined the club after the Braves and Twins decided the '91 World Series.

Before coming West, the Georgia native worked for the Braves, most recently as the assistant to the director of player development and scouting. Paul assisted baseball's career home-run leader Hank Aaron in Atlanta. Egins first joined their front office as assistant director of player development.

Prior to his arrival in Atlanta, Egins spent two seasons as the team trainer of the Burlington Braves in the Midwest League. He also worked in a similar role at both the University of Georgia and Florida A&M.

"Eegs" received a bachelor's degree in biology from UGa in 1986. Paul's graduate work at Florida A&M was in sports administration. He is single and resides in Denver.

Marc Gustafson Player Development Administrator

Marc Gustafson, who joined the organization in 1993, took over his current responsibilities Oct. 20, 1997. He was a Rockies trainer for five years.

Gus, 30, updates the club on all farm news and also administers minor-league trainers and coaches, handles all visa requirements for major- and minor-league players, and assists in the budgeting and operation of all the minor-league affiliates, including camps in the Dominican Republic and Venezuela.

A 1992 graduate of Colorado State University (exercise and sports science), Marc worked as a student trainer for CSU's football and basketball teams (1989-1992). He then served the Rockies as a trainer at rookie-level Chandler (1993), Single-A Asheville (1994) and Double-A New Haven (1995-97).

Marc and his wife Amy, make their home in Westminster. He lettered in football, baseball and basketball at Eaton (Colo.) High School. His great grandparents immigrated to Eaton and his family has lived there four generations. He played baseball at Doane College in Crete, Neb., before transferring to CSU.

Jody Ross Assistant to the Director – Player Development

Jody Ross begins her eighth season with the Rockies. She began her current position Nov. 1, 1999, her birthday. She's also served the club part-time in guest relations (1993-98) and full-time in ballpark operations (1998-99).

Ross completes all minor-league contracts, maintains personnel files, handles organizational travel and assists in the administration of all transactions.

She worked previously as a legal secretary for attorney Joseph Archuleta and in the attendance office of the Cherry Creek School District (1993-97). The Denver native owns a medical assistant degree from Capitol City Tech in Austin, Texas (1977). She is a graduate of Denver East High School.

Jody and her husband, Kent, have two children: Christopher and Anne. The family resides in Denver.

Baseball 101: Rain Delays

As stated in the Green Book, NL umpires are instructed to wait at least one hour and 15 minutes before calling the game. Should there be a second suspension, umpires shall wait at least 45 minutes before calling a game. For third and any subsequent delays umpires are to wait at least 30 minutes.

Brandy LAY

Director — Team Travel

Brandy begins his seventh year with the Rockies, his second as director of team travel. He began his current position Dec. 18, 1998 and is one of the youngest traveling secretaries in the major leagues.

Lay, 29, secures the club's airline commitments, ground transportation and hotel accommodations, and handles both ticket requests and per diem for players, coaches and staff. He also organizes travel plans and housing needs during the team's seven-week spring training in Tucson, Ariz. The club promoted Brandy after more than two seasons (1996-98) in the public relations department, where he served as assistant to the director and was selected by the league to assist in the 1998 NLCS. He also worked within Coors Field's in-game entertainment department, beginning as an intern in 1994 and moving to video production coordinator in 1996.

A Colorado native, Brandy graduated from Thompson Valley High School (Loveland, Colo.), lettering in football and basketball. He went on to Bethany College in Lindsborg, Kan., where he earned a degree in communications and played four years on the nationally ranked NAIA football team. After his playing days, he coached defensive backs and headed the team's video operations. He lives in Westminster.

Jay ALVES

Senior Director — Communications/Public Relations

Jay Alves joined the Rockies Oct. 1, 1997 and resumed a baseball career that now includes 17 years of major league experience. Alves and his staff are responsible for the club's internal and external communications and publicity. The club promoted him to senior director after the 1999 season.

Alves, 45, entered baseball in 1981 with the Oakland Athletics, where he served three years in marketing (1981-83) and three years as the assistant director of scouting (1984-1986). Then, during his nine years (1987-95) as the director of baseball information, the A's hosted the 1987 All-Star Game and earned postseason berths four times, including three consecutive trips to the World Series (1988-90). He also worked on Oakland's radio broadcast team (1993-95) and hosted pre- and postgame talk shows. From 1996-97, he served as SportsChannel Pacific's director of public relations.

Jay and his wife, Doreen, make their home in Littleton with their three sons, Andrew, Scott and Jake. A native of Half Moon Bay, Calif., Alves graduated from of the University of Arizona with degree in radio-television ('77). In 1978 he worked as an anchor and sports reporter at KGUN-TV in Tucson.

Front-Office Dynamics: Foundation and Future

When tragedy struck Columbine, two Rockies employees felt personally touched; they graduated there. The club's strong local ties begin with ownership and echo everywhere within the bricks of Coors Field. In fact, 55 percent have spent at least half their life in Colorado (38 percent are natives), growing up without big-league baseball. When the franchise was born in the early 1990s, 71 percent of the current front office lived in Colorado; they supported the construction of Coors Field and felt genuine excitement when the NL awarded the team. The front office has raised itself, too; 36 current employees joined the club before the end of its '93 inaugural season. What's more, the average age in the front office is 34, and 11 individuals in the baseball wing of the park are 30 or younger. The foundation of the Colorado Rockies, with respect to the club's community ties and its future, is in its front-office people.

Zak Gilbert Assistant to the Director – Communications/Public Relations

Zak Gilbert embarks on his third season with the Rockies. He moved into his current position Jan. 4, 1999, exactly one year after joining the PR department.

Gilbert, 24, came to the Rockies from the Denver Broncos, where he served as a media relations intern during the 1997 season. He also worked every college semester in the University of Colorado's SID office, primarily with football. At CU he worked two bowl games and four NCAA Basketball Championships, and covered high school sports as an intern for the Boulder Daily Camera.

A Colorado native, Zak and his wife, Jennifer, have two children: Ashlynn (2) and Braden (six months) and live in Lafayette. He graduated with a degree in print journalism from CU in December, 1997. At Ft. Collins (Colo.) High School, he earned all-state as a sports editor, lettered in football and delivered an address at his 1994 commencement. In junior high, he worked for STATS, Inc., scoring Cubs games on WGN, and served one year as a Ft.Collins Youth Baseball commissioner at age 15.

Dan Reinke Communications/Public Relations Assistant

Dan Reinke marks his third campaign with the Rockies. He joined the PR staff Feb. 11, 1999, but worked previously as a group sales and customer service representative in the ticketing department.

Reinke, 27, assists in the research and writing for the regular season and postseason information guides, publicizes each club's lineup before home games, handles the department's extensive ticket requests, and fields assorted administrative duties daily. He also assists in special assignment number crunching on prospective Rockies acquisitions.

Before entering baseball, Reinke worked through college as a systems analyst for STC-METSAT, Inc. and managed a movie-rental establishment. An Oklahoma native, he has an electrical engineering degree from Colorado State ('96). Dan is single and makes his home in Denver.

Charity Stowell Communications/Public Relations Coordinator

Charity Stowell is in her fourth season with the Rockies, her third in public relations. She joined the department Nov. 14, 1997.

Stowell, 27, manages all press credentials, coordinates the annual Winter Caravan, helps accommodate interview requests and scores every home game on the MLB-IBM system. She also writes most business-related press releases. Prior to her current position, she interned in marketing and promotions (1997).

The San Diego native graduated with a sociology degree ('94) from Northern Arizona University, where she ran on the cross country and track teams for four years, worked in the SID office and served on the NCAA Student Athletic Advisory Board. Today, she still trains for marathons, and has competed in several distance events, including the Bolder Boulder.

Stowell is single and resides in Denver. She volunteers for the Leukemia Society Team in Training and the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. She also serves on the Race for the Cure committee and snowboards during the offseason.

The Rockies' Mark McGwire connection

"I'm sure he has no idea who I am," Patty Dunlap, a representative in the season ticket department, said recently.

Patty, however, knew Mark McGwire long before the rest of the world. Dunlap, pictured at right, and the future home run king crossed paths 30 years ago when the families lived in the same neighborhood in Pomona, Calif. McGwire's dad, John, was Patty's family dentist and Patty's older brother, Mike, was in the same class with Mark at St. Madeline's grade school. Mike and Mark were born at the same Pomona hospital, along with their respective siblings.

The Dunlaps moved East after Patty finished kindergarten. The McGwires moved to Claremont, Calif. And the rest, as they say, is history.

The Most Significant Fans' Team in Pro Sports History

Most people know that Rockies fans own several attendance records. But long before the team took the field, the fans were the reason the NL Expansion Committee selected Colorado in the first place. Baseball did not consider Colorado the leading candidate until late in the 1990-91 process; specifically, after the gestational Colorado franchise received more than 21,000 season ticket deposits in two months. And after voters approved a measure to fund Coors Field, Denver and its fans outdistanced every other city. Rockies fans are also the most loyal in baseball history. In 1999, they became the first in major league annals to lead baseball in attendance while their team finished in last place.

Business Leadership History

On Oct. 1, 1991, three months after the club's birth, the Rockies hired Chuck Javernick and Roger Kinney, their longest serving employees. Javernick's first assignment was to activate more than 30,000 season ticket deposits. Kinney served as director of regional operations, establishing contacts all over the region. Six others have at least eight years: Alan Bossart (10/11/91), Steve Tomlinson (10/16/91), Paul Egins (10/30/91), Liz Stecklein (12/19/91), Michael Kent (1/1/92) and Diana Alarid (1/21/92).

Manager

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 220 Age: 48 (turns 49 on August 27)
Born: 8/27/51 in Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence: Denver, Colo.
Major League Managing Experience: Three seasons (1996-98)
Contract: First year of a three-year contract, through 2002

Managerial Career: Buddy Bell was named the third manager in Colorado franchise history, Oct. 20, 1999, replacing Jim Leyland. His lone tenure as a professional manager was with Detroit, where he guided the Tigers for three seasons, 1996-98. Bell became the 30th skipper in Tigers history, replacing Sparky Anderson, who'd managed the club since 1979. He inherited a team that had finished last or next-to-last in three of the four seasons before he took over and was entering the first season of a major rebuilding phase. His most impressive managerial accomplishment to date was the 1997 season, when he finished second in the AL Manager of the Year voting after guiding the team to a 26-game improvement, the best year-to-year difference in the American League during the 1990s. In nearly three seasons, his cumulative record was 184-277 (.399). Bell has now replaced two managers, Anderson and Leyland, who combined to win 3,263 games, eight division pennants and four World Series titles.

1998 — Playing in the AL Central for the first time, the Tigers lost 17 of their first 21 games and never recovered. The club suffered a few key injuries, including starting shortstop Deivi Cruz, out for most of April. Bell's Opening Day roster was one of the four youngest in the majors. Detroit rebounded to go 15-12 in May, standing only 9.5 behind the first-place Indians at month's end, but couldn't stay in the race into the summer. Bell departed September 1.

1997 — Bell and his overachieving players orchestrated one of the most extraordinary turnarounds in major league history. Detroit won 26 more games than the previous year, the AL's largest improvement since 1988-89 and the second-largest improvement in Tiger history, which began in 1901. Plus, the jump in winning percentage (.327 to .488) was the 13th largest in league annals. The Baseball Writers recognized that effort and voted him runner-up to Manager of the Year Davey Johnson. In the field, the Tigers embodied their skipper, an exeptional fielder in his time. Detroit established a franchise-record and AL-leading .985 fielding percentage, becoming the first major league club ever to go from last (.978 in 1996) to first in club fielding; Bell's players committed fewer errors and played fewer errorless games than any season in the historic franchise's history. His pitching staff improved its ERA by 1.82 runs, the largest such improvement in AL history (surpassing the 1954 mark, also held by Detroit, 1.54) and the third largest year-to-year drop in major league records. The Tigers went 8-4 in extra-inning affairs, the second-best winning percentage in the league. And, three players (Tony Clark, Travis Fryman and Bobby Higginson) drove in 100 runs, the first Tiger club to do that since 1950 (Vic Wertz, Hoot Evers and George Kell).

1996 — In Bell's first season as a manager, Detroit won eight of its first 15 and stood tied for second, three and-a-half games out of first on April 17. The Tigers then lost 34 of their next 39 to drop out of contention. Bell used a club-record 27 pitchers and 53 players, the most by a Detroit manager since Hughie Jennings used 53 in 1912. His players also hit a club-record 104 home runs away from Tiger Stadium, but his pitchers allowed a major league record 241 homers. Bell notched his first managerial win in his second game, April 2 at the Metrodome, 10-6. The organization made several significant moves before the season, on the field and in the front office.

Coaching Career — Bell coached for six seasons before earning the Tigers managerial post in 1996. His first position after retiring his 18-year major league playing career was with Cleveland, the team that drafted him in 1969; in 1990 he served as the Indians' roving minor league hitting instructor, a post given him by current Rockies general manager Dan O'Dowd, then the Tribe's farm director. Bell then moved to the Chicago White Sox, and served three seasons (1991-93) as director of minor league instruction. Mike Hargrove then brought him back to Cleveland and gave Bell the unique title of infield coach. He coached for two seasons in Cleveland (1994-95), Jacobs Field's inaugural two years. In 1995, he helped the Indians to the World Series and briefly coached his son, David, in his first major league season.

Front Office Experience — The Cincinnati Reds hired Bell in September, 1998, as minor league field coordinator. He held that position until Aug. 5, 1999, when the club promoted him to director of player development.

Playing Career Highlights — Arguably the best fielding third baseman of his generation, Bell played 21 seasons, 18 at the big-league level. Most historians consider him the best infielder taken in the middle rounds of the amateur draft since its 1965 inception. On the all-time third-base list, he ranks sixth with 2,186 career games, third with 6,979 total chances, fourth with 4,925 assists and fifth with 428 double plays. He played 2,405 games for the Indians, Rangers, Reds and Astros. A five-time All-Star, he led league third basemen in fielding three times: 1980 (.981), 1982 (.976) and 1987 (.979). Bell also won six consecutive Rawlings Gold Gloves (1979-84); only Brooks Robinson (16) has won more at third base in AL history. He hit .279 over his 18 seasons with 201 career homers and 1106 RBI. He had homered in every major league park at the time of his retirement in 1989, as well as Minnesota's previous home park, Metropolitan Stadium.

In Cleveland — The Indians' 16th-round selection in the 1969 draft, Bell spent only two and-a-half seasons in the minors before his first and only major league promotion. After the American Association named him Rookie of the Year in 1971, the Indians made room on their roster the next spring by shifting him to outfield. Tribe manager Ken Aspromonte wrote Bell, a 20-year-old, into his Opening Day lineup, batting seventh in right field, April 15, 1972; he went 0-for-3 against Brewers starter Bill Parsons in his big-league debut at Municipal Stadium. One week later, at home, Bell hit his first major league homer, a grand slam off Baltimore's Ed Watt. Both Topps and Baseball Digest named him to their all-rookie teams, but Boston's Carlton Fisk ran away with Rookie of the Year honors. The next season, 1973, Bell moved back to his natural third-base position, replacing Graig Nettles, traded during the winter to the Yankees. Bell responded by earning his first All-Star appearance, and first of five career invitations. In Cleveland, he batted .274 (1016-for-3712) with 64 homers and 285 RBI over his first seven big-league seasons.

In Texas —The Indians dealt him to Texas for INF Toby Harrah after the 1978 campaign and Bell became one of the most popular players in Rangers history. In his first of two stints in Texas, Bell hit .295 (1045-for-3541) with 87 homers and 496 RBI in 924 games. He made four more All-Star appearances and earned six consecutive Rawlings Gold Gloves his first six seasons in Arlington (1979-84). Texas named him its Player of the Year three times (1979, 1981-82), more than any player in franchise history except Juan Gonzalez (five). In 1979, he led the club with 162 games, 670 at-bats, 200 hits and 42 doubles, all Rangers single-season records at the time, while tying for the league lead with 16 game-winning RBI. In 1980, Bell built a career-high 21-game hitting streak and earned AL Player of the Week twice during the stretch. On April 10, 1992, he tied a major-league record by homering twice on Opening Day, in his old park at Cleveland. In 1984, he finished fourth in the AL with a .315 average. He posted his 2,000th hit April 26, 1985 vs. Toronto. Later that summer, the Rangers traded him to Cincinnati for OF Duane Walker and RHP Jeff Russell. He returned to Texas to finish his career, signing as a free-agent before the '89 season, his final major league campaign.

In Cincinnati — In four full seasons with his hometown Reds, from July, 1985 to June, 1988, Bell batted .266 (370-for-1391) with 43 homers and 184 RBI in 386 games. Bell arrived in Cincinnati months before his manager, Pete Rose, broke Ty Cobb's career hit record (Rose started Bell at third base, batting fifth, in the historic contest). The following season, his first full NL campaign, he hit a career-high 20 homers. Bell's 1997 season included his 1,000th RBI (April 18 vs. Houston), a NL-leading .979 fielding percentage at third base, and only seven errors, which would've set the NL record had he played eight more games to reach the minimum qualification, 150. In June, 1988, the Reds dealt him to Houston for a PTBN (Carl Grovom).

In Houston — In only three and-a-half months with the Astros (the last half of 1988), he hit seven homers to tie for third on the club. He led the team with 18 RBI in July and his one RBI every two games was the club's second-best ratio, behind Glenn Davis (1:1.54).

Personal — David Gus (Buddy) Bell…he and his wife, Gloria, have five children: David (27), Mike (24), Ricky (20), Kristi (17) and Traci (14), and currently make their home in Cincinnati…born in Pittsburgh, his family moved to Cincinnati after his father was traded from the Pirates to the Reds before the '53 season…Last summer, he managed Team USA at the Pan Am games in Winnipeg, Canada, with Marcel Lachemann and former Rockies coach Jackie Moore; the squad earned the silver medal, dropping a 5-1 championship to Cuba…His father, Gus, played for the Pirates, Reds, Mets and Brewers from 1950-64. Like his son, the elder Bell also led his league in fielding, in both 1958 and '59 with the Reds. Each of Buddy's three sons currently plays professionally and all are infielders. David, who has five seasons of big-league experience, is Seattle's starting second baseman. Mike, Texas' first-round selection in the 1993 June draft, spent last season with Norfolk, the Mets' International League (AAA) affiliate. And Ricky, the Dodgers' third-round selection in the 1997 June draft, played last year at Vero Beach, Los Angeles' Florida State League (A) club. A 1969 graduate of Cincinnati's Archbishop Moeller High School, Bell was the first of six prospects from that school to advance to the major league level. Moeller's graduates also include Ken Griffey, Jr., Barry Larkin, Bill Long and Len Matuszek, as well as Bell's three sons...He attended Xavier University and Miami of Ohio...The Texas Baseball Hall of Fame inducted him in 1988...Also in 1988 he won the Lou Gehrig Memorial Award, presented by the Phi delta Theta national fraternity.

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 225 Age: 37 (turns 38 on November 27)
Born: 11/27/62 in Elyria, Ohio
Residence: Denver, Colo.
Major League Coaching Experience: 10 seasons

The 2000 season: Brad Andress joined the Rockies coaching staff Nov. 1, 1999 and enters his first season with the club, his 11th in major league baseball. Quickly after coming to Colorado, he implemented a thorough off-season conditioning program, and many players became acquainted with him over the winter. He works out side-by-side with most of the players, performing the same exercises. Brad's role is unique in major league baseball. In addition to his strenghth and conditioning work, Andress is a member of Buddy Bell's coaching staff. He gives the Rockies a bonus they've never had on a major league staff: a coach who throws batting practice left-handed. As quality control administrator, his third role, Brad handles all of Bell's administrative duties, such as implementing traveling dress codes and preparing the team's state of mind before each game; he serves as a communication outlet for players, and oversees everything that enters the clubhouse in an effort to keep the team focused. Andress' position and presence n the clubhouse is meant to send a message to both the current players as well as the rest of baseball: the club cares about its players—their physical conditioning, preparation, mental state and overall outlook—at a level above the industry's standard.

Coaching Experience: Andress joins the Rockies from the Detroit Tigers, where he served 10 seasons (1990-99) in a similar strength and conditioning capacity. From 1996-98, he worked under his current manager, Buddy Bell. While in the Motor City, Brad designed and implemented conditioning programs for not only the Tigers' major league players, but also their organizational players. He also assisted the Tigers as they upgraded their computer system. Before moving to Detroit, he worked four years as the strength/conditioning coach in the University of Michigan's athletic department. While in Ann Arbor, he conditioned the Wolverines' 1989 NCAA Men's Basketball National Champions.

Athletic Playing Career: An offensive guard at Penn State, Brad played four seasons under Coach Joe Paterno, including 1982, when the Nittany Lions won the national championship by defeating Georgia in the Sugar Bowl. Before college, he earned three letters in baseball at Elyria (Ohio) High School.

Personal: Brad and his wife, Inger, have five children: Hanna (9), Ingrid (8), Lars (7), Bria (4) and Britta (3). He has a bachelor's degree in exercise physiology from Penn State, and a master's in exercise physiology from the University of Michigan.

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 185 Age: 53 (turns 54 on August 3)
Born: 8/3/46 in Steubenville, Ohio
Residence: Parker, Colo.
Major League Coaching Experience: 18 seasons

The 2000 season: Rich Donnelly begins his 19th season as a big-league coach, and second with the Rockies. This year marks his 34th in the pro game.

Coaching/Managing Career: Donnelly has served under Jim Leyland the past 14 years, the former manager's longest professional coaching relationship. From 1986-91, Donnelly coached in the Pirates bullpen, before moving the third-base box in 1992. He embarked on a 10-year minor-league managerial career in 1972, when the Texas Rangers appointed him to their Single-A Greenville club. Donnelly garnered Western Carolinas League Manager of the Year in each of his first three seasons as a minor-league skipper. He steered Gastonia to an outright league championship in 1974, after finishing first during each half. He jumped two levels to earn his first Triple-A post in 1976, with Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League, his first of six total seasons managing at AAA. Tucson, Ariz. marks a homecoming of sorts after Rich managed there for three seasons (1977-79). In 1980, he made his first appearance on a major-league staff, coaching the bullpen for the Rangers, a club that included Buddy Bell. The following season, Donnelly returned to the minors, this time to the American Association, to guide AAA Wichita (1981) and Denver (1982). The Rangers brought him back to coach first base in 1983, and he remained in Arlington until Leyland hired him in 1986 and brought him to Pittsburgh.

Playing Career: A former left-handed hitting catcher, Donnelly signed with the Minnesota Twins in 1967. Rich launched his minor-league career with St. Cloud of the Northern League. He concluded his playing days in the Mile High City, where he spent one and-a-half seasons with the Denver Bears. In four minor-league seasons, Donnelly batted .230 with two homers and 115 RBI.

Personal: Richard Francis Donnelly...he and his wife, Bert, have eight children: Bubba (27), Amy (25), John (24), Tiffany (21), Mike (20), Leigh Anne (20), Tim (19) and Adam (16)...the family resides in Parker, Colo. ...a 1969 graduate of Xavier University, he holds a bachelor's degree in education...he played baseball and basketball at Steubenville (Ohio) Catholic Central High School...he has won the prestigious Ted Dragasich Racquetball Tournament in Weirton, W.V., seven straight years.

Dave GARCIA

Senior Advisor

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 180 Age: 79 (turns 80 on September 15)
Born: 9/15/20 in East St. Louis, Ill.
Residence: San Diego
Major League Managing Experience: Four and-a-half years
Major League Coaching Experience: 10 seasons

The 2000 season: Dave Garcia marks his 63rd season in professional ball. According to the Hall of Fame, he is the third-oldest major league coach/manager in history (after Jimmie Reese, Babe Ruth's former roommate who coached for the Angels at age 92 in 1994, and Connie Mack, who retired at age 88 after the 1950 season with the Philadelphia A's). Garcia has had at least one quality conversation with each of the 58 Hall of Famers listed below. He will join the Rockies at spring training and approximately 60 percent of their games (mostly those at Coors Field and in California).

Managerial Career: Garcia managed in the majors for all or parts of six seasons, 19 overall. He compiled a 307-310 (.498) cumulative record, managing Don Baylor and Nolan Ryan in Anaheim, and Toby Harrah in Cleveland. Dave resigned his Indians post after the 1982 season. He entered managing in 1948, when Carl Hubbell asked him to guide the Giants' affiliate in the Tri-State League, Knoxville, which included Hoyt Wilhelm. In 1954 at Sioux City Garcia managed Bill White, the future NL president. And, in 1955, he helped Orlando Cepeda get playing time in Indiana, before the outfielder joined the Giants system.

Coaching Experience: Dave has served all or parts of 10 seasons as a major league coach. Preston Gomez gave Garcia his first big-league assignment, replacing Sparky Anderson on the San Diego staff. He also coached under Frank Robinson and Jeff Torborg in Cleveland, Norm Sherry with the Angels, and Harvey Kuenn and Rene Lachemann with Milwaukee. On the Indians staff in the mid 1970s, he first met Buddy Bell, a Tribe third baseman. Before that he worked in San Diego with current coach Fred Kendall.

Playing Career: A 16-year-old shortstop/second baseman, Dave signed his first pro contract in 1937. His injury-plagued career peaked in the Triple-A American Association; it ended after he broke his hand as a player/manager at Danville in 1957. A World War II veteran, Garcia served in the Air Force from 1943-45.

Scouting Career: Garcia has 22 years of scouting experience, eight with the Giants (1958-63), six as a special assignment scout for Milwaukee (1985-91) and eight evaluating the NL for the Angels (1992-99).

Personal: David Garcia...he has three grown children, Marilyn, Cathleen and David...during the late 1970s David played two years in the Yankee organization.

Toby HARRAH

Bench Coach/Infield Instructor

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 180 Age: 51 (turns 52 on October 26)
Born: 10/26/48 in Sissonville, W.V.
Residence: Azle, Texas
Major League Managing Experience: One season
Major League Coaching Experience: Five seasons

The 2000 season: Toby Harrah embarks on his 33rd season in pro ball, his first with the Rockies. He has coached or managed each year since his retirement in 1986. And, Toby marks the third organization in which he's worked with Buddy Bell, including Detroit and Cincinnati.

Managerial Career: Harrah has spent all or parts of four years as a skipper, including the last half of the 1992 season as interim manager of the Rangers, succeeding Bobby Valentine. Texas went 32-44 under Harrah, who took over July 9. However, he made his mark in 1995, at the helm of the Mets' Triple-A club, Norfolk. That season, the International League Manager of the Year guided the Tides to the league's best record (86-56), a division flag and an appearance in the circuit championship. Harrah's first two seasons after retirement were at the reins of Oklahoma City, the Rangers' Triple-A club.

Coaching Experience: After Buddy Bell departed to manage Detroit, Harrah replaced him on the Cleveland staff (1996). Toby also coached under Valentine in Texas, and has five years experience as an organizational hitting instructor with the Rangers (1993-94), Tigers (1997-98) and Reds (1999). His first year on the Rangers major league staff, 1989, was spent with Bell, who retired during that season.

Playing Career: The former third baseman spent 17 seasons in the majors. He broke into the big-leagues as a shortstop, making his major league debut with Washngton in 1969. After moving with the franchise to Texas, he posted 20 homers on three occasions. In '72, he earned his first All-Star invitation then returned to the Midsummer Classic two times (1976 and 1982). On Dec. 8, 1978, the Rangers traded him to the Indians in exchange for Buddy Bell. Toby's five seasons with the Tribe produced a .281 average, 70 homers and 324 RBI. After one season with the Yankees, Harrah returned to finish his career in Texas. He remains the Rangers' franchise leader in career walks (668) and only Jim Sundberg and Juan Gonzalez have played more games in a Texas uniform.

Personal: Colbert Dale "Toby" Harrah...he and his wife, Janet have four children, Toby (26), Haley (21), Katie (19) and Thomas (16)...he lettered in baseball, basketball and football at Elgin (Ohio) High School, earning a football scholarship to Ohio Northern University, before launching his baseball career...he is a member of the Texas Baseball Hall of Fame.

Clint HURDLE

Hitting Coach

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 210 Age: 42 (turns 43 on July 30)
Born: 7/30/57 in Big Rapids, Mich.
Residence: Palm City, Fla.
Major League Coaching Experience: Three seasons

The 2000 season: The only Rockies hitting instructor to coach for more than one season, Hurdle enters his fourth year tutoring Colorado's big-league hitters, his seventh overall year with the organization and 26th in professional baseball.

Managing/Coaching Experience: Hurdle, who doubled as the club's first-base coach from 1997-98, is one of the only coaches in major league history to remain on a staff through two managerial changes. During his first three seasons with Rockies hitters, the club established the NL club home run record (239), compiled in 1998 the highest NL club batting average (.291) since the 1939 Cardinals (.294) and in 1999 established NL records with 2,696 total bases and 567 extra-base hits, each the highest league marks in 69 years. What's more, during Clint's tenure, the Rockies have earned three of their five consecutive club batting titles, tying an 85-year-old major league record. Before joining the big-league staff, Hurdle served as the system's minor-league hitting instructor for three years, 1994-96; in that role he became acquainted with many of the Rockies hitters, working with the established players in spring training and the younger prospects during their time in the farm system. Before the Rockies, Clint managed in the Mets system for six seasons, most recently piloting Tidewater (AAA).

Playing Career: After the Royals drafted him in the first-round as age 17, Hurdle quickly climbed the organizational ladder. He not only made the AAA club (Omaha) in his third pro season in 1977, but he also earned the American Association Rookie of the Year and All-Star Game MVP. He made his major-league debut Sept. 18, 1977 and kicked off a 10-year big-league career, which included five seasons in Kansas City and tours with Cincinnati, New York (NL) and St. Louis...Baseball Digest and Topps named him to their 1978 All-Rookie squads. In 1980, his best overall season, he batted .294 with 10 homers and 60 RBI on the Royals' AL championship club...during the 1980 World Series against the Phillies, he hit .417 (5-for-12). Hurdle spent the majority of his time in the outfield, but also worked at the corner infield spots and behind the plate.

Personal: Clinton Merrick (Clint) Hurdle...he and his wife, Karla, were married in November...Clint has a daughter, Ashley (14)...a 1975 graduate of Merritt Island (Fla.) High School, he lettered in baseball, football and basketball...a star quarterback, he had signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Miami (Fla), but chose to sign with Kansas City later in the year after the Royals selected him in the June draft...an All-American prep baseball player, he batted .567 his senior season.

Bullpen Coach, Catching Instructor

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 210 Age: 51
Born: 1/31/49 in Torrance, Calif.
Residence: Torrance, Calif.
Major League Coaching Experience: Three seasons

The 2000 season: Fred Kendall joins the Rockies staff from the Cincinnati Reds, where he served as a roving catching instructor last season. Like Rich Donnelly and Toby Harrah, Kendall's first year in pro ball was 1967. Kendall is the first coach in Rockies history to work exclusively with catchers.

Managing/Coaching Experience: Kendall makes his second appearance on a major league staff and begins his fourth season in that capacity. From 1996-98, he was Buddy Bell's bullpen coach with the Detroit Tigers and becomes the only Colorado coach who previously worked under Bell at the major league level. Before his stint in Detroit, Fred managed four seasons in the White Sox system. He guided Utica (1992) and Hickory (1994) into their respective postseason. During that '94 season, Hickory went 46-17 after July 1, en route to the White Sox organization's best record.

Playing Career: The former catcher spent 12 seasons in the majors with the Padres, Indians and Red Sox. He made his major league debut Sept. 8, 1969, only three days after a prospective shortstop named Toby Harrah debuted with the Washington Senators in the other league. Fred's best overall season came in 1973, when he earned San Diego's MVP honors from the local chapter of the baseball writers. Dave Garcia, who joins Kendall on the Rockies staff, coached for the Padres during Fred's first years in the majors. In 1976, he led NL catchers in games (146) and only Johnny Bench (.997) finished with a higher fielding percentage than Fred (.994). For two seasons (1975-76), he caught every game for San Diego ace Randy Jones, who won 42 games during the period. The hurler in '75 led the NL with a 2.24 ERA and earned the Cy Young in 1976, when he led the league with 22 wins, 25 CG and 315 IP. Kendall and Bell were teammates for one season with the 1977 Cleveland Indians, along with Duane Kuiper and Dennis Eckersley. After a brief tour in the American League, Kendall returned to San Diego to finish his career.

Personal: Fred Lyn Kendall...he and his wife, Patricia, have three children: Michael (28), Jason (25) and Kathy (21)...Jason, the starting catcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates the last four seasons and 1992 first-round draft pick, has already earned two All-Star appearances.

Marcel LACHEMANN

Pitching Coach

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 185 Age: 58 (turns 59 on June 13)
Born: 6/13/41 in Los Angeles
Residence: Penryn, Calif.
Major League Managing Experience: Three seasons
Major League Coaching Experience: 13 seasons

The 2000 season: Marcel Lachemann enters his 33rd season in pro baseball, his 38th including five years of college assistance. Highly regarded, he is the fourth pitching coach in club history, and he joins his fourth major league organization. Marcel's been a pitching coach for all or parts of 22 seasons, 13 at the major league level.

Managing/Coaching Experience: Lachemann has managed 330 major league games on either a full-time or interim basis (1994-96, all with the Angels). The Los Angeles native comes to Colorado from the Anaheim Angels, where he served for 17 years, most recently as minor league field coordinator (1999). Lachemann began his first tenure with the Angels in 1982, as roving pitching instructor (1982-83). He was the Angels' major league pitching coach from 1984-92, and from 1997-98. All told, he coached under six Angel managers: John McNamara, Gene Mauch, Cookie Rojas, Doug Rader, Buck Rodgers and Terry Collins. Marcel's first coaching experience was with the Montreal organization (1973-75), where he worked with future All-Stars Steve Rogers and Gary Carter as a roving minor league instructor. In 1992, he left the Angels to become the first pitching coach in Marlins history, joining his brother, Rene, who managed the club. The next season, Marcel returned to the Angels to become manager, May 17, 1994. He went 160-170 in parts of three seasons guiding California, including a second-place finish in the AL West in 1995. He resigned Aug. 6, 1996. From 1977-81, Lachemann was an assistant coach at his alma mater, the University of Southern California. During that time, he recruited Mark McGwire, a pitching prospect out of Claremont, Calif. This past summer, he served as pitching coach under Buddy Bell for Team USA.

Playing Career: Lachemann lettered at USC from 1960-62, helping the Trojans to the 1961 College World Series title. Art Lilly of the Kansas City Athletics signed Marcel to his first professional contract in 1962. He reached the major leagues with Oakland, who'd recently relocated from Kansas City, and pitched for parts of three seasons with the A's (1969-71). The right-hander was 7-4 with a 3.45 ERA in 70 career major league games.

Personal: Marcel Ernest Lachemann...he and his wife, Suzi, have two sons, Brett (33) and Brad (30)...like Bell, Lachemann belongs to a highly prominent baseball family...Marcel and Rene in 1994 became the first brothers to manage at the same time in the majors since Harry (Boston Braves) and George Wright (Providence) in 1879...Rene is currently Don Baylor's Cubs bench coach; Marcel and Rene played together with the Iowa Oaks ('72)...another brother, Bill, is the Angels' AA batting coach (Erie).

Dallas WILLIAMS 20

First-Base Coach/Outfield & Baserunning Instructor

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 190 Age: 42
Born: 2/28/58 in Brooklyn, N.Y.
Residence: Indianapolis
Major League Coaching Experience: First season

The 2000 season: Dallas Williams is in his first year with the Rockies, his 22nd in professional baseball. This season also marks the southpaw's first as a major league coach.

Managing/Coaching Experience: Dallas comes to Colorado from the White Sox organization, where he spent nine overall seasons, most recently as the hitting coach at Bristol, the club's Appalachian Rookie League affiliate. In 1998, he served as the hitting coach at Winston-Salem, who led its circuit in home runs and finished second in club average. Dan O'Dowd, now the Rockies' executive vice president and general manager, gave Williams his first position after retirement, as a coach for the Indians' Carolina League affiliate, Kinston, in 1989. O'Dowd, the Indians' farm director at the time, also gave Bell his first position after retirement in 1990. Bell worked with Williams that year when the two were roving instructors in the Cleveland system.

Playing Career: Another former first-round draft choice (Baltimore 1976, 20th overall), Williams began his playing career in the Orioles chain. The outfielder made his major league debut with the Orioles, Sept. 19, 1981, and made one other stop in the majors, with Cincinnati in 1983. The Reds obtained him from Baltimore with pitcher Brooks Carey for C Joe Nolan in March, 1982, before trading him back to Baltimore in 1984. Dallas earned All-Star honors at Indianapolis (AAA) in both 1983 and 1987; he posted American Association batting titles each of those seasons and led the circuit with 168 hits in '83. He also led his league in outfield assists in 1976 (11) and 1983 (16). He also led the International League with 51 steals in 1981. Indianapolis won the league championship in back-to-back years, 1986-87. He played for Felipe Alou with the Triple-A Indians in 1985.

Personal: Dallas McKinley Williams, Jr....he and his wife, Teal, make their home in the Indianapolis area...Williams has two children, Dallas III and Dior...a product of Abraham Lincoln High School in Brooklyn, N.Y, Williams garnered All-City accolades three times in baseball and twice in basketball.

Chico McGINN

Clubhouse & Equipment Manager

Dan "Chico" McGinn is in his eighth season managing the Rockies' clubhouse and equipment. He is the only individual ever to hold that position.

McGinn, 33, joined the Rockies from the Twins, where he spent nine seasons (1984-92). Chico's first assignment with Colorado was to prepare for 63 hopefuls at the franchise's inaugural spring camp. He has since gone from the tight quarters of Mile High Stadium to one of the premier clubhouses in pro sports at Coors Field.

His responsibilities include ordering every piece of equipment and handling players' needs in shoes, bats and uniforms. McGinn also handles all the club's equipment transportation, both to spring training and on road trips. In addition, he assembles the players' postgame meals.

With the Twins, Chico served as the assistant clubhouse manager for the World Series champions in 1987 and '91. He was also a bat boy at the 1985 All-Star Game at the Metrodome.

Tom PROBST

Head Athletic Trainer

Tom Probst is in his ninth season with the Rockies. An original hire when the team began minor-league play in 1992, he was promoted to head trainer Oct. 27, 1998. The second head trainer in Rockies history, "TP" teams with assistant Keith Dugger to return players to active duty as soon as possible.

Probst served as the trainer for the franchise's first group of draftees, during a June, 1992, mini-camp. Later that year, he was the trainer of the first team in organizational history, Bend in the Northwest League.

The '92 campaign marked a return to pro baseball for Probst, who spent five years in the Montreal organization dating back to 1981.

Probst has two degrees: one in physical education from Mankato State University ('81) and a B.S. in physical therapy from Florida International University ('88). A Minnesota native, he attended Brainerd (Minn.) High School.

He and his wife, Gina, reside in Littleton with their two sons, Daniel and Nicholas. The family is expecting a third addition in March. Also a horse owner, he relaxes away from the ballpark at a local stable.

Keith Dugger Assistant Athletic Trainer

Keith Dugger begins his second season as Colorado's assistant major league trainer.

It's his 11th year in pro baseball, his eighth in the Rockies organization. He began his current duties Nov. 1, 1998.

Dugger, 34, assists in all areas of the club's day-to-day training regimen. He works with players during every month of the year.

Before coming to Coors Field, Dugger worked at three levels of the Rockies' minor-league system: Bend (A), New Haven (AA) and Colorado Springs (AAA). He joined Colorado after three years (1990-92) as a trainer in the Padres chain.

Keith and his wife, Shannon, reside in Littleton with their baby daughter, Tianna Cherie. He has a bachelor's degree from San Diego State ('88).

Mike Allen Physical Therapist

Mike Allen begins his first season with the Rockies. The director of physical therapy at Steadman-Hawkins, he joined the ballclub this off-season.

Allen, who holds a master's in physical therapy (Wichita State '94), is a certified athletic trainer and certificed strength and conditioning specialist. He's worked for Steadman-Hawkins since 1995, as well as with the Denver Broncos and Colorado Avalanche. He's also worked closely with Ellis Burks, Scott Servais and other pro athletes in rehab programs. In addition, Allen has made presentations at seminars on shoulder and knee rehabilitation.

A former defensive back at Fort Hays State, Mike earned All-America honors both on the field and in the classroom. in 1990. He received his bachelor's in 1992 before moving on to Wichita State. Allen lives in Highlands Ranch.

Mike Hamilton Video Coordinator

Mike Hamilton is in his first year with the Rockies. He joined the club Jan. 1, 2000. He creates video of both the Rockies and their opponents.

Hamilton, 34, worked from 1990-99 for the major league scouting bureau, editing tape of top major league prospects for the annual June draft. He also worked in a similar capacity last summer for Team USA, making advance video for Buddy Bell and Marcel Lachemann at the Pan Am Games.

The former catcher was selected by the Rangers in the 1987 draft, along with Brian Bohanon, Texas' first-round pick. Injuries limited Hamilton's career and he retired after three seasons in the Texas chain. Before that, he played collegiately at Western Oklahoma State and the University of Oklahoma. He lettered in baseball and football at LaMar High School in Arlington, Texas.

Mike and his wife, Meredith, have a daughter, Mackenzie, and are making the move to Colorado.

Mark Razum Head Groundskeeper

Mark Razum is in his sixth season as Coors Field's head groundskeeper, his 23rd year in the profession. He has built one of the top surfaces in professional sports, working in baseball's only park that annually receives rain and snow during the regular season.

Razum's peers named him the 1998 Turf/Grass Professional of the Year, an award presented by the Rocky Mountain Turf/Grass Association. He won the honor partly because of an incredible star design he cut into the grass during the '98 All-Star Game. He served as the organization's keynote speaker this winter.

Joining the Rockies in October, 1994, Razum served six years at the reins of the Athletics' grounds crew at the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, where players voted his surface the best in the AL for three straight seasons (1992-94). Prior to that, he spent seven years in charge of spring surfaces for Oakland (1984-89) and the Angels (1982-84). His groundskeeping career began in 1978 at old Municipal Stadium in his native Cleveland. Mark and his wife, Katherine, make their home in Aurora, Colo.

Keith Schulz Visiting Clubhouse Manager

Keith Schulz has managed the visiting clubhouse for the Rockies since their inaugural season. He's now in his eighth season with the club.

Schulz, 37, joined the Rockies after serving as equipment manager for both the AAA Denver Zephyrs and Metro State College from 1988-92.

The former infielder played one season for Pat Daugherty at Indian Hills Community College, then transferred to Metro State College of Denver, where he earned all-conference honors as a shortstop.

A Mile High City native, Schulz and his wife, Melinda, live in Highlands Ranch with their two boxer dogs. He has a degree in psychology from Metro State ('86).

Dr. Richard J. Hawkins Medical Director

Dr. Richard Hawkins is known throughout professional and college sports as one of the leading minds in his field.

After graduating from the University of Western Ontario with a degree in orthopedics, Dr. Hawkins has remained in the educational arena. A clinical professor, he teaches at the University of Colorado, the University of Texas and Southwestern Medical Schools.

Born in Canada, Hawkins is well known in his native country as well. He has presided over the Canadian Academy of Sports Medicine and served as Team Canada's physician during the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary.

A founding member of the American Shoulder and Elbow Surgeons association, Dr. Hawkins was recently listed as one of the United States' 100 premiere physicians. He's also been honored in the Who's Who national directory of Executives and Professionals.

Dr. Michael J. Curtin Associate Orthopedists

Another former football player, Dr. Michael J. Curtin has an athletic background in which Rockies player can relate.

Dr. Curtin signed as a free agent with the Cleveland Browns in 1986, the year John Elway led the Broncos in "The Drive" at Municipal Stadium.

The surgeon also brings a strong educational background to the ballclub. Dr. Curtin owns a bachelor's degree from Yale, and received his medical degree from the University of Utah ('93).

He studied all over the world before completing his medical training. Dr. Curtin enhanced his orthopedic expertise in Switzerland, Italy and Canada before joining the Steadman-Hawkins clinic.

Dr. Allen Schreiber Internal Medicine

Now in his eighth season with the Rockies, Dr. Allen Schreiber has handled the club's internal medicine needs since 1993.

Schreiber is currently chief of the Division of Gastroenterology at Rose Medical Center. He also operates a private practice, the Schreiber Clinic.

In previous winters, Schreiber has served as the Denver Nuggets team physician and has also worked with the Colorado Avalanche.

A cum laude graduate of Johns Hopkins University ('73), he moved on New York Medical College, where he graduated ('76) with valedictorian honors and the David Spiro Award for excellence in pathology.

Schreiber and his wife, Lisa, have a son, David, and two daughters, Jillian and Arielle.

Rockies announce new orthopedic team physicians

On Dec. 10, 1999, the Rockies announced that the Steadman-Hawkins clinic will serve as the ballclub's official orthopedic consultants. In addition to the above physicians, Dr. Richard Steadman will serve as the team's official orthopedic consultant.

The move was a major step in Dan O'Dowd's plan.

"These world-renowned surgeons are a crucial component, " the executive vice president and general manager said. "That was one of our goals, to ensure that we'd get one of the finest medical teams in all of baseball, creating a year-round program for our players."

The clinic will work with Rockies trainers to institute a research program that studies the orthopedic effects of throwing a baseball. In order to effectively manage and prevent arm injuries, the innovative program focuses on physical training and rehabilitation.

The highly respected Steadman-Hawkins clinics are located in Denver and Vail, Colo.

During spring training, Dr. Jon Wang (orthopedist) and Dr. Steve Krope (internal medicine) will also be on hand to assist the club physicians and trainers in Tucson.

Rolando ARROJO

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-4 Wt: 220 B/T: R/R Age: 31 (turns 32 on July 18)
Born: 7/18/68 in Havana, Cuba
Residence: St. Petersburg, Fla.
Major League Service: Two years, zero days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from Tampa Bay in a nine-player deal at the winter meetings, Dec. 13, 1999, the first four-team transaction since 1985...along with Arrojo, the Rockies received INF Jeff Cirillo and LHP Scott Karl from Milwaukee and INF Aaron Ledesma from Tampa Bay...in turn, Colorado sent INF Vinny Castilla to the Devil Rays, C Henry Blanco and RHP Jamey Wright to the Brewers and RHP Justin Miller to Oakland...the A's then dealt RHP Jimmy Haynes to Milwaukee.

Career Summary: Rolando Arrojo makes his National League debut after two seasons in the Tampa Bay rotation...he enters the spring looking to solidify a starting position...Arrojo has pitched at Coors Field, as a rookie in the 1998 All-Star game (1.0 scoreless inning, fanning Craig Biggio); the Rays' inaugural All-Star, he became the first AL rookie to pitch in an ASG since Seattle's Matt Young (1983) and the first Cuban-born All-Star pitcher since Luis Tiant (1976)...after winning 14 games in an outstanding rookie season, he won half as many in 1999, battling a slow start marked by injury...in two big-league seasons, he's walked only 3.28 batters per nine innings and 27 of his 56 career starts have been quality (six-plus innings, three-or-less ER)...what's more, his catchers have thrown out 16 of 45 base stealers (36 percent)...he's also hit 33 batters over the last two years, most in the majors; his 19 hit batsmen in 1998 were the third most by a big-league pitcher over the previous 20 years...Ken Griffey, Jr. career vs. Rolando is 6-for-10 (.600) with three homers, but Juan Gonzalez is 1-for-12 (.083)...he won twice as many games on the road (3.30 ERA) as he did at Tropicana Field (5.03)...in six career interleague starts against NL foes, he is 1-1 with a 3.29 ERA, 10 walks and 24 Ks, averaging almost 7.0 innings per game...the 'Rays gave him only 4.23 runs of support in the two seasons...his numbers on grass (12-8, 2.99) outshine those on turf (9-16, 4.95).

1999 — Over his first nine starts, Arrojo was 2-5 with a 7.31 ERA...on April 24 vs. Seattle, he surrendered five homers (two to Griffey), three of which came in the fourth inning; his 23 overall homers allowed tied for the AL lead with Bobby Witt...Rolando went onto the disabled list May 25 (right shoulder inflammation)...much more effective, he returned July 15 and went 5-7 with a 4.08 ERA and both complete games in 15 starts after the break...he won only two over his first 15 starts, but won five over his last nine outings...in nine of his last 13 starts, he went 6.0 or more innings and allowed three runs or less...outstanding in August, he posted the league's fifth best ERA (2.21); in five August starts, he went 2-2 with both CGs (consecutive starts, Aug. 22-27)...on Aug. 16 at Tiger Stadium, he won for the first time in three months (since May 18 at Texas), going 8.0 innings on one run...in his next start, Aug. 22 vs. the Royals, Rolando notched his first home win in 11 months (since 9/15/98); the complete-game effort, his first since a shutout 5/6/98 at KC, took only 2:05, the fastest contest in Tampa Bay history...he went the distance again Aug. 27 at Cleveland, but sustained a 2-1 loss...he went 5-3 on the road and his road ERA (4.02) was nearly two runs better than at home (5.95).

1998 — Arrojo finished second to Ben Grieve in the AL Rookie of the Year voting (Todd Helton also finished second, in the '98 NL voting to Kerry Wood)...he paced AL rookie hurlers in wins (14), ERA (3.56), games started (32), innings (202.0), strikeouts (152), shutouts (2) and opponent average against (.256)...Rolando tied Arizona's Andy Benes with 14 wins, the most ever by an expansion team pitcher...in the 1990s, only Seattle's Dave Fleming (1992) won more as a rookie (17)...he won that many despite only 4.01 runs/game support, the second-lowest mark in the league...right-handers hit just .204, second in the AL behind Roger Clemens (.198)...two consecutive shutouts, April 30 and May 6, highlighted a solid first half (10-5, 3.06); the last rookie to string together a pair of SHO was Hideo Nomo in 1995, including a win vs. Colorado...the No. 2 starter, he earned the Devil Rays first franchise win, 4/1/98 vs. Buddy Bell's Detroit Tigers.

1997 — Rolando first hit the field in a major league uniform at Tampa Bay's extended spring camp in St. Petersburg, May 5...he remained there with the club's Florida State League affiliate and pitched the entire year in that circuit...opponents hit .217 off Arrojo in his first pro season...he retired 15 of the 16 batters he faced in his pro debut, June 3...on July 27, he earned a 1-0 complete-game two-hit win, with no walks and 10 Ks; he retired the last 17 in order and faced one over the minimum...he threw four consecutive complete games, July 17-August 2...after the season in the Arizona Fall League, he went 5-0 with a 1.38 ERA for Peoria, walking eight with 39 strikeouts in 39.0 innings.

From Cuba to the United States: Rolando said this winter that moving to a different city was easier than moving to a different country...Arrojo defected while touring in Albany, Ga., with the Cuban national team, on July 9, 1996 at 2 a.m....in preparation for the Atlanta Olympics, the right-hander had just thrown seven shutout innings in Zebulon, NC, en route to snapping Team USA's 39-game winning streak...he established residency in Costa Rica, living for nine months without his family, waiting for Major League Baseball to declare him a free agent...19 big-league clubs traveled to Costa Rica for a tryout in April, 1997...he signed with the Devil Rays later that month (4/21/97)...in early June, 1998, Arrojo left the Devil Rays to meet his family, fleeing from Cuba; on June 5 in Miami, the pitcher met his mother Uvendolina, brother Roberto, sister-in-law Estel, nephew Luis and niece Lilliet...in his native country, he compiled a .750 career winning percentage (180-60); internationally, he was undefeated (10-0)...Rolando (1-0) and Team Cuba earned a gold medal at the Barcelona Olympics in 1992...he no-hit Japan's Western National Team in 1996...his club's Rookie of the Year in 1986, he went on to earn consecutive Team Cuba MVP honors (1994-95)...in eight appearances vs. Team USA, he went 2-1 with a 2.38 ERA.

Personal: Luis Rolando Arrojo...he and his wife, Mayda, have two children: Rolando (11) and Jason (4); the family will remain in St. Petersburg...his wife was a doctor in Cuba...while pitching for St. Petersburg in 1997, he learned to drive a car...as a player in Cuba, he earned approximately $11 per month...signed by Devil Rays scout Rudy Santin.

Pedro ASTACIO 34

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 210 B/T: R/R Age: 30 (turns 31 on Nov. 28)
Born: 11/28/69 in Hato Mayor Dominican Republic
Residence: Hato Mayor, Dominican Republic
Major League Service: Seven years, 52 days
Contract: Third year of a four-year contract, through 2001

How Obtained: Acquired from the Los Angeles Dodgers for infielder Eric Young, Aug. 18, 1997.

Career Summary: In little more than two years, Astacio has become the most dominant pitcher in Rockies history...he enters the spring as the No. 1 starter and figures to get his first career Opening Day start when the club opens in Atlanta...with five victories, he will become the franchise's winningest pitcher, surpassing Kevin Ritz (37)...already the Rockies all-time strikeout leader (431), he needs 69 to reach 500 in a Colorado uniform...he also owns Colorado's top two single-season strikeout marks: 170 in 1998 and 210 in '99..."Petie" has six of the nine double-digit strikeout performances in team records, including five last year...in 1999, Pedro became the first NL pitcher ever to fan 200 with an ERA above 5.00...Astacio has eclipsed 200 innings the last four seasons, including a career-best and franchise record 232.0 last season...since he somehow cleared waivers in August, 1997 (after the July 31 deadline), Astacio has not missed an assignment in the Colorado rotation...since his first Rockies start, Aug. 23, 1997, Pedro owns one of every five strikeouts and one of every five victories earned by the staff...in two-plus seasons, the Rockies are 44-32 (.579) in Pedro's 76 appearances, 43-32 (.573) in 75 starts...Astacio has also allowed the most home runs in the NL (77) over the last two years; however, they haven't hurt him for the most part...45 of those (58 percent) are solo homers and 42 (55 percent) have come at Coors Field...he's walked only three batters per nine innings during that two-year period; in 1999, Pedro walked only one of the runs that scored on his NL-leading 38 homers allowed.

1999 — Astacio emerged as the staff ace as he tied or set several club and personal records, earning Colorado Pitcher of the Year honors...in the NL, he finished third in strikeouts (210), third in complete games (7), sixth in innings pitched (232.0) and tied for eighth in wins (17, with Cy Young winner Randy Johnson)...the right-hander recorded nearly a quarter of the Rockies' 72 victories by tying the club record (Kevin Ritz in 1996) with a personal-high 17 wins...in the process he joined Ritz as the only two pitchers in club history to win 10 or more games in consecutive seasons...Astacio also established career and franchise highs in innings pitched (232.0) and strikeouts (210)...he is the only pitcher in Colorado annals to strike out 200 or more batters in a single season...his seven complete games in 1999 not only set a Colorado single-season record, but also a club career mark...he struck out 10 or more hitters during five 1999 starts...Astacio reached the 1,000 milestone when he fanned Wilton Guerrero in the eighth inning at Montreal September 6...he worked 7.0 or more innings in 21 of his 34 starts...his 11 road victories finished second in the major leagues to Houston's Jose Lima (12)...the Rockies responded when Pedro took the mound, giving him 6.48 runs of support per nine innings (fourth in the NL)...Petie also held runners very well; his catchers threw out 14 of his base stealers, tied for third in the circuit...not only was the 1999 season his best throwing the ball, but it was also Astacio's best season swinging the bat...Pedro totaled a Colorado record for a pitcher with 20 hits, including his first career triple...at the start of the year Astacio gave no indication as to how his season would play out as he lost his first three decisions, allowing 19 earned runs in just 20.1 innings...he did not record his first win until his fifth start, April 30 at Pittsburgh...take away his first four starts and Pedro went 17-8 with a 4.72 ERA (211.2 ip, 111 er) over his last 30 assignments...he opened May with three wins in three starts including an 11-strikeout performance at Chicago May 5, and his first complete game of the season, May 16 at Arizona...he went 0-2 over his last three starts in May despite allowing nine earned runs over 21.2 innings...Astacio won his first three decisions in June, the last of the which was a seven-hit complete game vs. Chicago, June 23...in his final three starts before the break he went 1-2 and allowed 20 earned runs over 19.2 innings...included in those three starts was his most forgettable outing of 1999, July 2 vs. San Diego; the Padres scored 10 runs on 13 hits over his 6.0 innings...Pedro opened the second half a new pitcher, posting six wins in his first seven decisions; he was particularly effective on the road, going 5-0 in six road starts, allowing just 12 earned runs over 50.0 road innings (2.16 ERA)...his best start during the span was at Milwaukee August 10, when he set a club record by no-hitting the Brewers for the first 6.0 innings; Rich Becker's leadoff single in the seventh broke up Astacio's no-hit bid and he wound up with a no-decision, despite allowing just one unearned run and two hits over 9.0 innings...in consecutive starts against Pittsburgh at the end of August, his hot streak came to a quick halt...he lasted just two innings at Pittsburgh August 26 and then, four days later at Coors Field, Pedro went just 2.2 innings before he was lifted...he broke his two-game losing skid with a win at Montreal September 6...the win, No. 15 on the season, established his single-season high...he went on to win three of his four decisions in September, tying Ritz's single-season club record in his final start of the year, September 29 vs. Arizona...Astacio tied the mark with style tossing his seventh complete game of the year.

1998 — Astacio led the staff with a career-best and club-record 170 strikeouts (ninth in the NL), and tied Darryl Kile for the staff high in wins with 13.....Pedro worked seven-or-more innings in 14 of his 34 starts and allowed three-or-fewer earned runs 15 times...he lost three straight to open the year, allowing 34 earned runs in his first 34.0 innings...on May 3 at New York, he struck out eight in 7.0 innings, but wound up with the loss after a pair of infield errors led to three unearned Mets runs...with his second out May 29 vs. Houston, he reached his career 1,000-inning plateau; in the same game, he hit three batters to tie the club record...during June, he dropped his ERA more than a run-and-a-half, going 2-1 with a 3.52 ERA (46.0 ip, 18 er)...he struck out a season-high nine June 3 vs. Arizona...his best start in June was actually a no-decision at Los Angeles on the 14th, when he worked 9.0 innings and allowed just three hits; he retired his last 14 Dodgers, but left with the score tied, 1-1...he started the second half by winning five of his first seven decisions...on September 12 at San Francisco, he matched Mark Gardner's eight scoreless innings, before Jeff Reed's pinch-hit single in the top of the ninth scored the game's only run; Pedro did not allow a runner past first until the ninth inning...in his next start September 18, he tossed another gem at San Diego, blanking the Padres over his first eight innings and allowing just one runner as far as third; he left with one out in the ninth and earned the victory...in a wild regular-season finale September 27 vs. the Giants, he made his first relief appearance since April 11, 1997.

1997 — Pedro made his only two relief appearances April 7 vs. New York and April 11 at Pittsburgh before returning to the Dodger rotation...on May 6, after eight appearances and six starts, Pedro was 3-0 with a 2.00 ERA but then dropped seven consecutive decisions (10 starts), May 13-June 24...he made his Colorado debut August 23 in Houston and recorded a no-decision despite allowing three runs over 6.2 innings with eight strikeouts...his first Colorado win came August 28 vs. Seattle, the first of five straight wins to tie a career high...he set a career best with 12 strikeouts at Atlanta September 14...Astacio totaled four of the Rockies' top five single-game strikeout performances in 1997...Colorado was 6-1 in the seven games that Pedro started and the club was 23-15 after his arrival...combined with both Los Angeles and the Rockies he was 12-10 on the season with a 4.14 ERA (202.1 ip, 93 er), 61 walks and 166 strikeouts.

1996 — Over his final 17 appearances (15 starts) he was 5-3 with a 3.04 ERA (109.2 ip, 37 er)...Pedro won a career-best five consecutive decisions, July 25 – September 2, and reached the eighth inning in seven of his final 15 starts...he worked one game in relief vs. the Braves in the Division Series, pitching

1.2 scoreless innings with one strikeout.

1995 — Pedro opened the season as the Dodgers' fifth starter and went 1-6 with a 4.82 ERA in his first 11 starts, before moving to relief...he made his first big-league relief appearance, June 23 at San Francisco...he worked all three games of the NLDS...he also pitched in the Dominican Winter League.

1994 — He started the season in the Dodger rotation and fanned 11 hitters in his season debut, April 8 vs. Atlanta...Astacio had the fifth-best home ERA among NL starters (2.63, 11 starts) but led league starters in road ERA (6.31, 12 starts).

1993 — In his first full season he led the Dodger staff with 14 victories and built a career-best 21 consecutive scoreless innings, September 12-24...he also had a 15-inning scoreless streak September 2-7...in his last 11 starts Pedro was 7-3 with a 1.82 ERA (74.1 IP, 15 ER)...umpires ticketed him for nine balks, tops in the NL and most in Los Angeles history...he held opposing hitters to a .239 average.

1992 — Pedro began the season in Albuquerque (AAA), but joined the Dodgers June 2...the next day, in his major-league debut vs. the Phillies, he tossed a three-hit complete-game shutout...in fact, Astacio launched his career with four shutouts in his first 10 starts.

1991 — Astacio opened the year in Vero Beach (A) and won five of his first eight decisions with a 1.67 ERA before being promoted to San Antonio (AA) May 24.

1990 — Combined at all three stops, he was 8-7 with a 3.99 ERA (119.2 ip), 42 walks and 97 Ks.

1989 — An All-Star in the Gulf Coast Rookie League, he led the Kissimmee staff with seven wins, 12 starts and 76.2 innings pitched.

Personal: Pedro Julio Astacio...he attended Pilar Rondon High School in the Dominican Republic...signed by Ralph Avila and Elvio Jimenez.

Manny AYBAR

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 177 B/T: R/R Age: 25 (turns 26 on Oct. 5)
Born: 10/5/74 in Bani, Dominican Republic
Residence: Tampa, Fla.
Major League Service: One year, 162 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals with INF Brent Butler, RHP Rick Croushore and RHP Jose Jimenez for RHP Darryl Kile, RHP Dave Veres and RHP Luther Hackman, Nov. 16, 1999.

Career Summary: Aybar (EYE-bar) enters the spring as one of seven candidates for the starting rotation...raised in the Cardinals system, Manny has spent most or parts of the last three seasons in the majors...at age 25, he already has eight seasons of professional experience...he's started in 111 of his 114 minor league appearances, and until last season, also started in most of his major-league games...his most impressive season as a starter was 1998, when he went 10-0 with a 2.60 ERA at Triple-A Memphis...the Cardinals' primary setup and long relief man, Aybar excelled in a new role in 1999, his first full major league season...Manny in 27 major league starts (26 from 1997-98) is 7-11 with a 5.74 ERA (141 ip, 90 er), 71 walks and 91 strikeouts...in 70 relief appearances, he is 5-4 with a 4.70 ERA (105.1 ip, 55 er), 36 walks and 81 strikeouts...in three games at Coors Field, Aybar is 1-0 with an 8.64 mark (8.1 ip, 8 er), but he has not walked a batter in Denver...from the '98 All-Star game in Colorado to the '99 break, Manny went 7-5 with a 3.19 ERA (90.1 ip, 32 er).

1999 — Manny turned in his first full major-league season, and first working exclusively out of the bullpen...he established career highs in games (65), innings (97.0) and strikeouts (74)...one of three relievers with four wins, Aybar paced the St. Louis bullpen with 93.1 innings, tied for fifth in the NL...most his work came during an outstanding first half; before the break, he worked 69 percent of his season's innings (36 games) and compiled a 3.34 ERA...on April 14 at Pittsburgh, he worked 3.0 scoreless innings to earn his season's first win...two weeks later at home vs. Colorado, Aybar blanked the Rockies over 4.0 innings, but the Cards lost to Darryl Kile, 6-2...in fact, over four appearances from April 14 to May 4, Manny allowed one run in 15.0 innings, a 0.60 ERA...he closed that stretch May 4 by blanking the Braves at Turner Field, allowing three hits in 6.0 innings for his second win; the night marked his longest career relief appearance...in four games vs. the eventual NL East champion Braves, Manny allowed one run in 9.1 innings (0.96)...Aybar walked only one batter over 18.0 innings to begin the season...he issued only two walks over his first 25.2 relief innings...he continued to perform well into May...on May 21 at Dodger Stadium, he earned his first professional save with 2.0 scoreless frames...the next night, an LA home run snapped an impressive streak: 17.0 scoreless relief innings...in an emergency start May 9 vs. the Pirates, his season's only start, in 3.2 innings he allowed nine earned runs; the night inflated his ERA from 2.00 to 5.40...at the end of the season, the start still weighed heavily on Manny's ERA, tacking on a half run (without the start his ERA would've been 4.82)...from May 31 to June 7, Aybar built a 7.1 scoreless inninings stretch, the longest of his career...he gave up a grand slam to Detroit's Juan Encarnacion June 11 at Busch Stadium...in less than three months, Manny went at least 3.0 scoreless innings on four occasions...the fourth instance came vs. the Mets June 19 when he blanked New York with 4.0 shutout frames, notching his third win...Manny was a different pitcher after the break...he pitched only 31 percent of his season's innings after the All-Star game, and compiled a 10.31 ERA...overall, though, he enjoyed a highly productive season...in 17 save situations he posted two saves, 12 relief holds and only two blown saves.

1998 — Aybar was in St. Louis on Opening Day, but made four round-trips between the big-league club and Triple-A Memphis...while he struggled somewhat with the Cardinals (6-6, 5.98 ERA), he dominated in the minors...the No. 3 starter, Aybar gave up seven runs in his season debut, vs. San Diego...but he got his first win, at Coors Field April 8, in his next start...the Cards optioned him April 28 to Memphis and Aybar embarked on a 10-decision winning streak, tied for the longest in all of baseball during '98...Aybar made only three starts before the Cardinals brought him back, on May 16...he was in and out of the rotation over the next two months, until St. Louis optioned him back to Memphis July 10...four of his Triple-A wins came in August (4-0, 2.53 ERA, 29 hits, 38.1 ip), when the organization named him Pitcher of the Month...back up for one start in Game 2 of a DH Aug. 21 at Shea Stadium, he dropped a 1-0 decision...the Cardinals recalled him Sept. 8, the day Mark McGwire hit home run No. 62 to surpass Roger Maris, and Aybar remained with the club until season's end...a last-minute starter, he replaced Kent Mercker Sept. 20 at Milwaukee; Manny earned the win and helped his cause with his first home run, off current teammate Scott Karl...overall during '98, in six relief outings, he allowed only eight hits in 12.0 innings and held opponents to a .186 average...out of the bullpen, he was 1-0 with a 3.75 ERA.

1997 — He pitched in the Louisville (AAA) rotation until August, when the Cards gave him his first big-league recall because of injuries in the rotation...once in St. Louis, Aybar remained in the rotation for the year's final two months...his two Triple-A shutouts tied for the American Association lead and he also finished sixth in ERA (3.48) and fifth in strikeouts...Manny made his major league debut Aug. 4 at New York; but rain cut short the effort (5.1 innings, four Ks), a 4-2 loss...he went 8.0 innings Aug. 25, but sustained a 2-1 loss to Montreal and Pedro Martinez...despite an 0-3 record, Aybar compiled a 2.67 ERA over his first four career starts; he drew Montreal's ace in two of those four...Manny's broke the string Sept. 3 vs. the White Sox for his first major league win (6.0 innings, no walks, five Ks); Aybar added his first two major league hits, and first RBI...St. Louis went 7-5 with Manny on the hill.

1996 — Aybar, who hadn't pitched above Single-A, opened at Arkansas (AA), and even got his first taste of the next level by season's end...his 3.09 combined ERA ranked sixth in the St. Louis chain...his 3.05 Texas League ERA ranked second...Manny closed his Double-A career with wins in five straight decisions (2.00 ERA) before making the transition to Louisville.

1995 — In the St. Louis system, the right-hander finished second in innings and strikeouts...he held the league to an SAL-best .199 average...Aybar's best start was a two-hit shutout (13 Ks) vs. Macon.

1994 — He closed the Arizona League season with one earned run over his last six starts (0.26 ERA), with one walk and 35 strikeouts...Manny finished among circuit leaders in ERA, wins and CGs.

1993 — In the Dominican Summer League, he made the transition from shortstop to pitcher.

1992 — Manny experimented on the mound with Estadio Quisqueya, but played primarily as an infielder...in 55 games, he hit .203 with one homer and 11 RBI.

Personal: Manuel Antonio Aybar...Manny is one of more than 200 current or former big-league players who reside in the Tampa-St. Petersburg area, according to Major League Players Alumni research...originally signed by Cardinals scout Bobby Diaz.

Stan BELINDA 37

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 215 B/T: R/R Age: 33 (turns 34 on Aug. 6)
Born: 8/6/66 in Huntingdon, Pa.
Residence: Alexandria, Pa.
Major League Service: Nine years, 162 days
Contract: Option year (Reds exercised 10/8/99), through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the Cincinnati Reds with OF Jeffrey Hammonds for OF Dante Bichette and cash, Oct. 30, 1999.

Career Summary: In the new landscape of the Rockies, Stan Belinda is the most experienced pitcher in camp...and, on Colorado's 40-man roster, only Larry Walker (11.045) has more major league service...Stan has pitched in 529 games, all in relief, and owns 78 saves...what's more, in his career he has fanned 2.17 batters for every walk he's issued...Belinda's career strikeouts/nine innings is 8.04... the veteran joins his fifth organization; he has major league time with Pittsburgh (1989-93), Kansas City (1993-94), Boston (1995-96) and Cincinnati (1997-99)...Belinda, who grew up in the State College area of Western Pennsylvania, was drafted by the Pirates in the 1986 June draft...he was Jim Leyland's Pittsburgh closer when the Bucs won three straight pennants from 1990-92...in fact, Stan has pitched in every field of relief, from closer to setup man, to the middle innings...three All-Stars—Gary Sheffield (0-for-9), Ken Caminiti (.083, 1-for-12) and Craig Biggio (.176, 3-for-17)—have hit below .200 against Belinda...over the last five years, righties have hit only .217 against Stan, while lefties (.244) haven't fared much better...Belinda battled two stints on the disabled list in 1998, including a stint on the 60-day DL, with spinal cord inflammation...Stan's committed only two errors in his entire career...in eight career postseason appearances (10.1 innings) he has a 0.87 ERA with 10 strikeouts.

1999 — After emerging from a turbulent '98 season, Belinda battled a strained right shoulder...he went on the disabled list March 25 and missed the season's first three months...before his June 26 reinstatement, Stan made 10 rehabilitation appearances at Triple-A Indianapolis (June 3-24)...in a long-awaited return, Belinda threw 1.0 scoreless inning at Houston June 26, his first major league game since Aug. 9, 1998...in his first outing after the All-Star break, July 15 vs. Colorado, the Rockies touched him for four runs; he also gave up four runs July 31 vs. the Giants...in his other 27 outings, Stan's ERA was 3.76...from July 16-30 (six games), the right-hander built a season-high scoreless string, 10.1 innings...on July 30 vs. San Francisco, Belinda singled for his first hit since 1997, off Rich Rodriguez...he picked up his first two wins in consecutive, extra-inning affairs: July 25 at San Francisco and July 26 at Los Angeles...the win at 3Com Park was his first in exactly a year (7/25/98, also at San Francisco)...on Aug. 8 at Milwaukee, he posted his first save (3.0 ip, three strikeouts) since April 11, 1998, at Coors Field...he converted his only other save opportunity on the year: Sept. 4 at Philly; Stan pitched the minimum 3.0 innings to qualify in a 22-3 Cincinnati win...Belinda notched a pivotal victory Sept. 27 vs. St. Louis; the win tied Cincy with Houston for the division lead, and improved its wild-card lead over New York to 1.5 games...he was scoreless in 19 of his 29 games...after the season, on Oct. 8, the club exercised its 2000 option, three weeks before the trade to Colorado.

1998 — Stan suffered his season's only blown save during a strange game at Coors Field; on April 13 the Rockies scored the go-ahead tallies off Belinda, to snap the club's eight-game losing streak...the night included a third-inning streaker, who made a dash at Dante Bichette, and Belinda's first career error, his first since Little League...the right-hander did earn a save at Coors Field two days before; in the Reds' 12-5 win, he worked 3.0 innings...on May 16, he fanned five Cubs, a career high...he fanned at least one batter, 26 overall, in 13 straight appearances, May 5-June 2...he went on the disabled list with spinal cord inflammation June 3, his first of two stints on the DL in '98...before that spinal cord inflammation ended his season Aug. 10 (60-day DL), Stan pitched his best...he did not allow a run over his final five appearances (6.0 ip)...he also had a five-game shutout stretch May 8-16 (7.0 ip)...what's more, the reliever didn't allow a hit over his last four games (4.1 ip)...he retired his first batter faced in 29 of 40 appearances, and stranded seven of his 11 inherited runners...the NL hit just .212 against Belinda.

1997 — In his first season in Cincinnati, Belinda led the NL and tied Milwaukee's Bob Wickman for first in the majors with 28 relief holds; he also led NL relievers with 98.1 bullpen innings, paced the club with 84 appearances and established a career high with 114 strikeouts...from June 18 to Aug. 1, he compiled a 24.0-inning scoreless streak (20 appearances), the longest streak on the Reds staff in '97...he did not allow a run in 11 July appearances.

1996 — Like 1999, Belinda was placed on the DL late in the spring (biceps tendinitis) and began the campaign at extended spring training...he made two other trips to the list: elbow inflammation May 21,, and a strained right groin Aug. 20, a season-ending injury...he saved a game in consecutive appearances, Aug. 9 and 11 vs. Milwaukee.

1995 — With right shoulder tendinitis, he began the year on the Red Sox DL...he struck out the side May 6 at Detroit in his debut in a Boston uniform, also earning his first save...on May 18 vs. Cleveland, he induced Albert Belle into a double play roller with the bases loaded and one out, to earn a win...he spent most of the season splitting the closer duties, and saved four straight appearances, June 18-24...he registered a career-high eight wins...he led the Boston staff, allowing opponents to hit only .205.

1994 — Used mainly in middle relief by KC, he tossed a career-high 4.0 innings June 26 at Minnesota.

1993 — Belinda began his last season in Pittsburgh back in the closer's role...he posted a career-best 19 saves...right-handers hit only .198 against him...in a last-minute trade, the Royals on July 31 acquired Belinda for pitchers Dan Miceli and Jon Lieber...he made 23 appearances for KC in his AL debut.

1992 — He saved 18 games in 24 opportunities for the NL East Champions...opened the season with one earned run over his first 14.0 ip...he closed the door on New York Sept. 27 to clinch another pennant.

1991 — With 5.74 hits allowed per nine innings pitched, Belinda established the second-lowest mark in club history...he held Atlanta scoreless in 5.0 innings during the NLCS.

1990 — After opening the year at Triple-A Buffalo, Belinda earned a promotion May 19...he got his first major league win June 5 vs. Chicago, and first big-league save June 24 at Montreal.

1989 — He was virtually untouchable in his first taste of Triple-A, at Buffalo, going 2-2 with a 0.95 ERA.

1988 — Belinda led Salem, the future Rockies affiliate, with 14 saves.

1987 — Stan held Macon opponents to only a .205 batting average.

1986 — In his first pro season, Belinda began in Rookie ball, then jumped to Single-A by year's end.

Personal: Stanley Pete Belinda...he and his wife, Lori, have three children: Maura (7), Wyatt (5) and Kady (born last August)...they own and operate a 770-acre farm in Alexandria, Pa...Stan founded the Strike Out MS program last season...the program raised more than $60,000 in 1999, thanks to donations by Teva Marion Partners, Cincinnati bullpen coach Tom Hume and other individual contributions...Stan graduated from State College (Pa.) High School, then went to Allegany Community College in Maryland...the Pirates drafted him in the 10th round of the '86 draft...signed by Joe Consoli of Pittsburgh.

Keeping up with the Joneses

On May 11, 1998, when the Mets' Bobby Jones met the Rockies' Bobby Jones at Coors Field, two pitchers with the same first and last name opposed each other for the first time in the 20th century. Elias Sports Bureau, after hours of research, made the determination, noting more definitively that it marked the first game this century in which starters had the same legal (Robert) or common (Bobby) names. In January, the Rockies acquired Masato Yoshii from the Mets in exchange for RHP Lariel Gonzalez and Bobby Jones, giving New York both Bobby Joneses. In their 1962 inaugural year, the Mets had a pair of Bob Millers and the recent trade is believed to give New York the first instance of same-name pitchers since. The four contests involving same-name starting pitchers in baseball history (all in the NL)...

Year	Starter, Club	Starter, Club
1999	Bobby M. Jones, Col.	Bobby J. Jones, NY
1899	John B. Taylor, Cin.	John W. Taylor, Chi.
1876	George H. Bradley, Bos.	George W. Bradley, StL.
1876	George W. Bradley, StL.	George H. Bradley, Bos.

A popular late 19th century periodical, The Sporting Life, had a reporter in attendance when Taylor met Taylor in 1899. The writer didn't mince any words.

"Taylor, the ex-Philadelphian," he wrote, "was very wild, while young Taylor, the new Chicago twirler, was steady and effective, and this, together with very stupid ball playing, explains the defeat of Cincinnati."

Needless to say, Chicago won the contest, 8-4.

In 1876, the first year of Colorado statehood and first season of National League competition, St. Louis' Bradley started each of his club's 64 games that season.

The Near-Cycle Experience

Todd Helton became the third Colorado player to hit for the cycle, June 19 vs. Florida. After that, he fell one hit shy of a second cycle on FOUR occasions. Only one player since 1900 (Brooklyn's Babe Herman in 1931) cycled twice in a season. Helton wasn't the only Rockies player, or Rockies opponent, to come within a hit of the cycle. Larry Walker needed a hit for the cycle on six occasions. On April 18 vs. Atlanta, four players in one game fell a hit shy…

Rigo BELTRAN

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 200 B/T: L/L Age: 30 (turns 31 on Nov. 13)
Born: 11/13/69 in Tijuana, Mexico
Residence: Delray Beach, Fla.
Major League Service: One year, 103 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the New York Mets with OFs Brian McRae and Tom Johnson for OF Darryl Hamilton and LHP Chuck McElroy, July 31, 1999.

Career Summary: Rigo comes to spring training looking to secure a setup/middle relief spot in the team's new-look bullpen...Beltran had several connections to both the Rockies and the region before he came to play in Colorado...another product of the Cardinal farm system, Beltran was traded to the Mets on Opening Day, 1998; in return St. Louis received former Rockies starter Juan Acevedo...Beltran also played college ball at the University of Wyoming in Laramie...the left-hander made his 1997 major league debut vs. the Rockies...Rigo, now with his third organization, has four seasons of major league experience...he's pitched in 75 big-league games (four starts) with a career 3.88 ERA...he's made eight stops over the last three seasons, including four in 1999...a starter for his first seven seasons, Beltran made the transition to relief during his first major league tour with the Cards in 1997...Beltran has fanned 9.06 batters per nine innings pitched; including his minor-league service, the figure is 8.25 Ks/nine innings...Beltran is reunited with three teammates in the Cardinals system: Manny Aybar, Rick Croushore and Jose Jimenez...he also rejoins Masato Yoshii,whom he played with in New York.

1999 — Rigo just missed his first Opening Day roster, as the Mets optioned him to AAA in one of the spring's final moves, April 2...he wasn't in Norfolk long, though, as New York recalled the left-hander when Rick Reed went on the disabled list, April 12...Beltran made his 1999 debut that afternoon, vs. Florida and retired all three batters faced...he tied a career high with 3.0 relief innings April 27 vs. the Padres, allowing only one hit on no runs, no walks and four Ks...from April 27 to May 23, over seven appearances, he compiled a 1.35 ERA (13.1 ip, 2 er) with four walks and 18 strikeouts...in fact, during that stretch, he fanned 18 of the 51 batters he faced (35 percent)...he established a career high with his 3.1 relief innings at Arizona, May 9, one of three times in the season he would be asked to work at least 3.0 innings (also April 27 with New York and August 26 with Colorado)...the Mets brought Bobby Bonilla off the DL May 31 and to make room, optioned Beltran back to Norfolk...Rigo was 1-1 with a 3.52 ERA, 11 walks and 26 Ks in his first 1999 big-league stint...he spent all of June at AAA, but returned to New York July 3, when the Mets put John Franco on the DL...in his first two outings, July 3-4 at Atlanta, he allowed one baserunner in 4.0 innings...he pitched his last game in a Mets uniform July 23 vs. Chicago, retiring both batters faced...in late July, the Mets acquired Kenny Rogers from Oakland and again, optioned Beltran to AAA, July 25...on July 31, in the hour before their scheduled game at St. Louis, Colorado announced that it had acquired Beltran along with OF Brian McCrae and Tom Johnson for OF Darryl Hamilton and LHP Chuck McElroy...Beltran, whom the Mets had acquired from St. Louis for former Rockies hurler Juan Acevedo, was assigned to AAA Colorado Springs...on August 17, after Colorado optioned Bobby Jones the day before, the Rockies recalled Beltran...he made his Rockies debut that night vs. Atlanta and fanned his only batter faced, Ryan Klesko, earning a relief hold in a one-run game...on August 26 at Pittsburgh, he fanned a career-best six batters, tying for the second-most strikeouts ever by a Rockies reliever...in August, over his first six appearances for the Rockies, Rigo was 0-0 with a 9.53 ERA, three walks and 11 strikeouts...he worked only six more times, but four of those six appearances were in back-to-back games, September 21-22 vs. Arizona and October 1-2 vs. San Francisco...on September 5, he returned to Shea Stadium and retired his only batter, the final out...Jim Leyland used Beltran primarily in "mop-up" work, as the Rockies were winners in two of his 10 appearances with them...combined with both New York and Colorado, Rigo was 1-1 with a 4.50 ERA in 33 appearances, with 19 walks and 50 strikeouts (a 0.38 BB:SO ratio).

1998 — Beltran opened the year in Triple-A Norfolk's starting rotation, but went on the disabled list May 17 (left shoulder soreness)...he worked primarily out of the bullpen upon his return, but did make four starts...he stranded nine of his 10 inherited runners at Triple-A...the Mets recalled him Sept. 1 and he made his debut in a New York uniform that night, tossing a scoreless inning at San Diego...six of his seven major league appearances were scoreless...big-league left-handers were 0-for-5 against him...Rigo went 2.0

scoreless innings at Atlanta, Sept. 25.

1997 — For the third straight season, he opened at Triple-A Louisville...out of the gates he was 5-2 in eight starts for the Redbirds, earning a May 21 promotion...Beltran made his major league debut June 2 vs. Colorado, at Busch Stadium; in relief of Danny Jackson, he got his first batter Jason Bates to fly out, then gave up a double to Eric Young and a walk to Ellis Burks before departing (both runners scored) in a game won by the Rockies...he notched his first major league win at Kansas City Aug. 29 with a perfect inning...two days earlier, Aug. 27 at Cincinnati, he posted his first professional save...Rigo held Cardinal opponents to a .198 average; he was 1-1 with a 2.45 ERA in 31 relief outings.

1996 — Beltran spent the whole season at Louisville, splitting time between the rotation and bullpen...Rigo three-hit Omaha June 3, one of three complete games.

1995 — The left-hander threw two consecutive wins, April 19-24, both against Nashville, compiling a 14.1-inning scoreless streak...a minor shoulder injury sidelined him in mid-July.

1994 — He won his first four games at Arkansas (AA) and earned his first trip to the next level...Rigo threw a no-hitter for Arkansas, April 10 at Shreveport, then one-hit Tulsa over six innings in his next start, a 1-0 win April 16...he spent some time on the disabled list in early May.

1993 — Made his Double-A debut and spent the entire season in the Texas League with Arkansas.

1992 — Beltran started the whole season, split between the South Atlantic League (A) and Florida State League (A).

1991 — Rigo launched his career in the New York-Penn League, with Hamilton.

Personal: Rigoberto Beltran...he and his wife, Lauri, have two sons: Rigoberto Antonio (5) and Luis Ricardo (1)...Beltran graduated from scenic Point Loma High School in San Diego, where he lettered in baseball and cross country...he played collegiately at Wyoming and earned third-team All America honors for the baseball Cowboys...this off-season, he played winter ball for Culiacan in the Mexican Pacific League...signed by Manny Guerra of the Cardinals.

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 240 B/T: L/L Age: 31 (turns 32 on Aug. 1)
Born: 8/1/68 in Denton, Texas
Residence: Houston
Major League Service: Seven years, 58 days
Contract: Second year of a three-year contract, through 2001

How Obtained: Signed as a free agent, Nov. 7, 1998.

Career Summary: Bohanon embarks on his 14th season in pro ball…he's pitched all or parts of 10 seasons at the major league level…this spring he looks to secure a spot in the starting rotation after a solid 1999…he won 12 games last season despite a nagging elbow…he underwent minor surgery in October, 1999, to remove bone chips in his left elbow and is expected back at full strength…Brian's resiliency has helped him overcome four previous arm surgeries…the left-hander enjoyed the best stretch of his career from Aug. 1998 (with Los Angeles) to April 1999 (with Colorado); during the period, he went 7-5 with a 2.71 ERA, starting full-time over the three months…Brian won nearly as many games in one season with the Rockies (12) as he did the previous two seasons (13)…he's pitched in 250 career contests (112 starts) with six complete games, three last season…Bohanon has spent time in six organizations now (Texas, Detroit, Toronto, New York-NL, Los Angeles and Colorado) and has pitched in 34 major league parks.

1999 — Bohanon picked up where he left off in 1998, enjoyed the best first two months of any pitcher on the staff, and established a series of career bests by season's end…Brian came out of the gates better than any starter in Rockies history…his debut in a Colorado uniform came at Los Angeles April 8, when he three-hit the Dodgers over his 7.0 innings and did not allow an unearned run against his former team…in his first career appearance at Coors Field, April 15 vs. San Diego, Brian took a no-hitter through 5.1 innings, tying a club record…he didn't allow an earned run over his first 15 consecutive innings to begin the season…at one point in that April 15 game, he had retired 24 of his last 27 hitters (13 of his last 15 on April 8 and and 11 of his first 12 April 15…his April (4-0, 3.96 ERA) was so remarkable, media voted him Rockies Player of the Month, an honor almost always given to a position player…he won his first five decisions, tying a club record (Bill Swift in 1995, Pedro Astacio in 1997) for wins in consecutive starts…a loss to Philadelphia halted the winning streak May 8, but he rebounded with one of his finest career performances, a complete-game, six-hitter at Arizona, May 14; in that effort, he gave up a run in the second, then blanked the D'backs over the final seven frames, retiring 11 of his last 12…at that point, he was 6-1 with a 3.31 ERA…the Reds touched him for seven earned runs and 10 hits in 2.2 innings May 19, but he left trailing by a run, 7-6…those six runs of support were three times as many as the Rockies would give him in his next two starts (2)…he walked a career-high six batters in his next start May 24 at Houston, a no-decision…then, on May 29 at Philadelphia, Brian drew Philly ace Curt Schilling, who shut out Colorado, 2-0, despite Bohanon's four hits in 7.0 innings…at the end of May, he was 6-3 with a 4.31 ERA in 10 starts, and voters were mentioning his name in Cy Young and All-Star conversations…in June, however, he compiled a 9.55 ERA and gave up more earned runs (35) than in April and May combined (31)…he still had a winning record, 3-2 in the month…he won three straight starts, all at home June 9-20, despite allowing 32 hits and 20 earned runs in 16.1 innings (11.02 ERA)…the Rockies scored 39 runs in those three starts…the support didn't hold up, though…with his ninth win in 14 starts June 20, he was on pace to win 21 games…however, he lost his next four starts, June 25 – July 8, and Colorado scored one run or less in three of those four…in fact, Bohanon started each of the times an opponent shut out Colorado: July 4 vs. San Diego (Andy Ashby) and May 29 at Philly (Schilling)…Brian reached the All-Star break 9-7 with a 6.62 ERA…he opened the second half with a no-decision at Cincinnati July 15, despite allowing two hits, two runs and one walk…in his next start, a no-decision at Los Angeles July 22, he lost hold of three leads in his 3.1 innings, including a 4-0 cushion entering the bottom of the first…he was 0-3 with a 9.97 mark in July, but rebounded with a strong August…over his month's final three starts, two of which came at Coors, he was 1-0 with a 1.13 ERA (3 er, 24.0 ip), seven walks and 24 strikeouts…in an August 18 no-decision vs. Atlanta, he went 8.0 innings on one run, no walks and seven strikeouts; unfortunately for Bohanon, he drew another stellar opponent, Kevin Millwood, who matched his 8.0 innings on one run (Larry Walker won the game on a ninth-inning homer off John Rocker)…on August 28 in the nightcap of a split doubleheader vs. the Phillies, he turned in the best performance of his 13-year professional career…Bohanon tossed his first career shutout, tied a career-high with 10 strikeouts and allowed only two runners to touch second (none reached third)...the shutout also marked the third by a Colorado pitcher in Coors history (10th overall at Coors), the eighth overall in club history and the first complete game by any team against the Phillies since 9/2/98...in his next start, September 3 at New York, he went 8.0 innings in a 4-2 complete-game loss...Brian became only the second pitcher in franchise history to throw complete games in back-to-back starts (Roger Bailey did it twice in 1997, April 16-22 and May 4-9)...it marked Bo's third complete game of 1999; he had three big-league complete games entering 1999...in a memorable night September 10 vs. Milwaukee, he earned his 12th and final win, going 8.0 innings on three runs; he hit his first career home run to lead off the second, a first-pitch offering from Bill Pulsipher (the 12th by a pitcher in Rockies history)...his ERA stood at 5.73 at that point, but he allowed at least five earned runs in each of his final four starts to finish with a 6.20 mark...he allowed opponents a .445 on-base average leading off an inning, second highest in the National League behind teammate Darryl Kile (.469).

1998 — Bohanon split time with the Mets and Dodgers...his 39 appearances (18 starts) gave him a career-best 2.67 ERA...the Mets dealt him July 10 for relief pitcher Greg McMichael...he pitched seven or more innings in nine of 14 starts with the Dodgers...Bohanon allowed two earned runs or less in nine of his 14 starts; he allowed less than two earned runs in eight starts with LA and allowed more than three runs just twice...the Dodgers scored less than four runs in 10 of his 14 starts, and just 12 in his last six starts...he made his Dodger debut July 12 vs. San Diego...Bohanon notched his first complete game in seven years at San Diego September 11; he allowed only a first-inning run and seven hits over 8.0 innings in a 1-0 loss...Brian fanned a career-high 10 in 8.0 innings vs. Colorado September 16...his second '98 CG came in his final start, a 3-2 defeat at San Diego September 23...despite a 2.53 ERA and 51 punchouts in 53.1 innings, he was only 1-4 in his last seven starts...overall, he was 1-3 with a 3.24 ERA in 21 relief appearances...Bohanon led the NL by holding first batters faced to a .244 on-base percentage...Bohanon held right-handed batters to a .205 average (85-for-414), fourth among NL pitchers...left-handers hit .267 (36-for-135) off him...overall, opponents hit .220 vs. Bohanon, .213 while he pitched with the Dodgers...offensively, he batted .279 (12-for-43) with two doubles, a triple, and five RBI.

1997 — Bohanon started at Norfolk (AAA), joined the Mets April 5 and won his first NL start at San Francisco the next day...New York outrighted him back to AAA May 1, but he returned July 22 and he spent the remainder of the season with the Mets...Brian collected his first career hit off the Cardinals' Todd Stottlemyre August 13.

1996 — A minor-league free agent, Brian received a major-league invite to Blue Jays spring training and earned a spot on Toronto's Opening Day roster...outrighted May 31 to Syracuse (AAA) of the International League.

1995 — Appearing in a career-best 52 games, he also threw a career-high 105.2 innings with the Tigers...he went 0-1 as a starter and was 1-0 with one save in relief...Brian hurled one scoreless inning at Toronto September 11 to earn his first career save...twice he worked at least six innings of relief, including 6.1 innings August 31 at Chicago.

1994 — Bohanon began the campaign with the Rangers' AAA club, Oklahoma City, and his contract was purchased June 30...he joined the starting rotation July 25 and went 2-2 in four starts to finish '94.

Ryan McKee

1992 — From AAA Oklahoma City, he joined the Rangers April 11 to replace Nolan Ryan in the rotation...he went 0-0 in four starts before going on the DL with an inflamed left bicep...he made two more round trips between AAA and Texas and finished the year with the Rangers...Brian underwent arthroscopic surgery to relieve pressure on the bicep October 21.

1991 — On January 18 he had arthroscopic surgery to repair torn cartilage in his left shoulder, then went on the 60-day DL and began a rehab assignment June 4...Brian registered his first big-league victory at Milwaukee August 2, the same day he was recalled from Oklahoma City.

1990 — He pitched the first two months for Texas before his AAA option June 6...went on the minor-league DL with rotator cuff tendinitis.

1989 — Shelved until the early part of the season after elbow surgery in June of '88, Bohanon got his first pro victory July 2 vs. Jackson.

1988 — After two starts, elbow surgery sidelined him for the season.

1987 — Embarked on his pro career with Texas' rookie league club in the Gulf Coast League.

Personal: Brian Edward Bohanon, Jr....Brian and his wife, Tina, have six children, Brian II (9), Brandon (8), Brittany (6), Breanna (4), Brooke (2) and Brady, born this past August...originally the Rangers' first-round selection (19th overall) in the 1987 June draft, Bohanon was signed by the Texas scout Doug Gassaway...a first-team all-state selection, he was twice named Houston Player of the Year (1986-87) at North Shore High School...during his four-year prep career, he went 43-13 with three no-hitters, 20 shutouts and 529 Ks...in his senior season he was 17-2 with a 1.19 ERA and 219 Ks in 135.2 innings.

HOME RUN: 9/10/99 vs. Milwaukee (Bill Pulsipher)

Rockies pitchers as pinch hitters, pinch runners

On Aug. 18, 1995 vs. the Cubs, Bryan Hickerson stepped to the plate to pinch hit for Mike Muñoz. Hickerson drove a Terry Adams pitch deep into center. The triple, which drove in two runs against the Cubs, remains the only pinch-base hit ever delivered by a Rockies pinch hitter.

Darren BRAGG

Outfielder

Ht: 5-9 Wt: 180 B/T: L/R Age: 30 (turns 31 on Sept. 7)
Born: 9/7/69 in Waterbury, Conn.
Residence: Roswell, Ga.
Major League Service: Four years, 128 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000 (2001 club option)

How Obtained: Signed as a free agent, Feb. 1, 2000.

Career Summary: He's spent the last three full seasons in the majors and has nearly five years of big-league service...known for his aggressive play and savvy baserunning, Bragg joins his fourth organization (Seattle, Boston, St. Louis)...in 1998, platooning in right field, he led all AL players at the position with a .995 fielding percentage and made strong contributions on a club that earned the league wild card in the postseason...a career .289 pinch hitter (11-for-39), Bragg also can play every outfield position...he has only one career stint on a major league disabled list (Aug.-Sept. 1999)...usually hot out of the gate, 26 of his 36 career homers and 123 of his 201 career RBI have come before the All-Star break...since college, when he drew the most walks in ACC history, Bragg's at-bats have always been competitive...he's drawn 236 career walks, and won't hesitate to drop a bunt; he also has 20 career HBP...his .351 major league on-base percentage is 90 points higher than his .261 average...and, in 534 minor-league games, he has .405 OBP...his skippers have used him primarily in the leadoff and No. 2 positions (46 percent of his at-bats)...Bragg's right arm has also recorded 43 outfield assists, 36 over the last four seasons.

1999 — Darren, who hit .260 with six homers and 26 RBI, saw his season end after tearing his right ACL in a game at San Diego, Aug. 2...before the injury, Bragg registered 20 multi-hit games, five multi-RBI efforts and drove in pair of game-winning runs...in the field, his seven outfield assists were second on the club to J.D. Drew (9)...he batted 39 points better vs. right-handers...continuing a career trend, before the All-Star game he batted 113 points better than after the break, with four of his six homers...in May, he went 23-for-72 (.319)...in his third start, April 14 at Pittsburgh, he hit two homers and drove in three...Bragg tied that career high (third time) with another two-homer game, May 21 at Dodger Stadium; that night he also tied a personal best with four hits (fourth time)...from May 12-19, he built a six-game hitting streak, then matched the streak June 4-9...in a three-game Interstate 70 series at Kansas City, he went 6-for-12, June 7-9...over a longer stretch, from June 5-9, he strung together five multi-hit games (.555, 11-for-20)...he drew three walks and scored three times in a home win over New York, June 19...against the Reds in a three-game series, July 6-8, Bragg was 8-for-11 (.727) with a homer, four RBI and two walks...on July 18 vs. the Twins, he blasted his first career pinch homer, a two-run shot in the ninth off Mike Trombley.

1998 — Bragg courted the .300 mark, but hit just .216 in September...he still finished with a career-high .279 average and was a significant factor in a Boston club that qualified for postseason...he made 113 starts (102 in right, six in center, four in right and one at DH) and led all AL rightfielders with a .995 fielding percentage...his lone outfield error came April 4 and his arm recorded six assists...the left-handed hitter batted .292 with runners in scoring position, and .312 with runners on base...on Aug. 8 at Texas, he hit a leadoff home run and finished the night 4-for-6 with two homers, four runs scored and 11 total bases...he hit .083 (1-for-12) in the division series vs. Cleveland...after the season, the Red Sox decided to non-tender him and he signed with St. Louis.

1997 — Darren got his first shot at starting full-time, in the Red Sox outfield...he tied Nomar Garcia for first on the club with 153 games, a career-high...he also tied for sixth in the AL with 12 outfield assists, another career best...the sox used him in six spots in their order...of his 57 RBI, 12 either tied the game or put Boston ahead...four of his nine home runs, and 12 RBI came in April, when he hit .306...he notched his first career multi-homer game, April 4 at Seattle...four days later at Oakland, he went 3-for-5 with his second career grand slam and a career-high five RBI...he touched Anaheim for a leadoff homer, July 25.

1996 — With the Mariners to begin the year, he homered in the majors' first regular season game on ESPN, March 31 vs. the White Sox...Seattle optioned him to Triple-A April 10, but recalled him May 4...one day before the trading deadline, July 30, the Red Sox picked him up for LHP Jamie Moyer...on Aug. 2 vs. Minnesota, he touched Rick Aguilera for his first hit in a Boston uniform, a leadoff homer...his second Red Sox homer was also a leadoff blast, Aug. 8 vs. Toronto...from Aug. 2-9 he had a nine-game hitting streak, a career high...his first career homer vs. a left-hander was also his first career grand slam: Aug. 24 vs.

Seatlle (Randy Johnson)...following the trade, he played in every Boston game, including 52 leadoff starts.

1995 — In only 47 games, Bragg paced Mariner outfielders with seven assists... in Seattle's first two wins over Detroit, Bragg went 3-for-9...he was 5-for-40 over the next 13 games...on May 23 vs. his future teammates, he hit his first major league homer, a solo shot off Boston's Aaron Sele...Seattle optioned him to Tacoma June 20...recalled July 1, he hit safely in his first five games back...after Seattle signed Norm Charlton, the M's sent Bragg back to Triple-A on July 16...he made five appearances after his Sept. 5 recall.

1994 — The Mariners' organizational Player of the Year, he finished fourth in the PCL batting race (.350) with 17 bombs and 85 RBI...he went 4-for-5 in his Triple-A debut and was hitting .625 (10-for-25) when Seattle purchased his contract April 11...Seattle's DH, Bragg made his major league debut April 12 vs. the Twins and singled in his first at-bat, off Scott Erickson...he went 2-for-his-next-18 and the Mariners optioned him back to Tacoma April 27...on July 17 vs. Tucson, Darren hit for the cycle...following the season, Baseball America named him the PCLs 10-best prospect...he hit .315 in winter ball (Oriente), leading the Venezuelan League with a .491 on-base percentage.

1993 — At Double-A Jacksonville, he finished fifth with 81 walks...he pitched in a 16-4 loss at Orlando, throwing 1.0 inning on three hits and one run).

1992 — Darren led the Carolina League with 83 runs, 105 walks and a.418 on-base percentage...he was second with 44 steals...he tossed three scoreless innings vs. Kinston Aug. 12.

1991 — Bragg began his pro career in the Carolina League, with Seattle's Single-A affiliate, Peninsula.

Personal: Darren William Bragg...he and his wife, Kathleen, reside in Roswell, Ga....Bragg enjoyed a highly productive college career at Georgia Tech...he set an ACC record with 73 walks in 1989 and earned all-ACC honors in 1990 and '91...like Rigo Beltran, Bragg was third-team All-America...he played in the Cape Cod League in 1989 (Chatam), and with Team USA in 1990, going to the Goodwill Games...signed by Dan Jennings of the Mariners.

Infielder

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 180 B/T: R/R Age: 22
Born: 2/11/78 in Laurinburg, N.C.
Residence: Laurinburg, NC
Major League Service: none
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals in a seven-player deal, Nov. 16, 1999; with Butler, the Rockies received RHPs Manny Aybar, Rick Croushore and Jose JImenez for RHPs Darryl Kile, Dave Veres and Luther Hackman.

Career Summary: Butler begins his fifth professional season after four years in the Cardinals system…he also marks his first appearance on a major league roster, and in a major league camp…St. Louis' third-round selection in the 1996 June draft, Butler's reputation has a host of attributes…he's reliable, having played 456 of his club's 486 games (94 percent) in his career, including 139 of 140 at Arkansas last season…he's versatile, having played every infield position except first base…and he's competitive at the plate, having struck out only once every 8.8 plate appearances (12.02 in 1999)…Brent earned All-Star honors in each of his first three seasons, in the Appalachian, Midwest and Carolina leagues …he's spent the vast majority of his career at shortstop, but the Rockies will look at him in a second-base role…at the end of the '98 season, Butler was rated the third-best prospect in the St. Louis organization, behind OF J.D. Drew and LHP Rich Ankiel.

1999 — Butler spent the entire season at Arkansas (AA) of the Texas League…the organization named him Player of the Month in June, when he hit .325 (39-for-120) with three homers and 12 RBI…he played 22 consecutive games, June 20 to July 13, without an error…on the season, Brent fanned only once every 12.02 plate appearances; he went 18 games (67 at-bats) June 26 to July 17 without a single strike out…he led the club and finished tied for third in the organization with 142 hits, and he tied for the club lead in games (139)…when the Cardinals traded him in November, Brent was playing for the Phoenix Desert Dogs in the Arizona Fall League.

1998 — A Carolina League All-Star, Brent hit .286 with 11 homers and 76 RBI…he played 116 games at shortstop, 12 at third and one at second.

1997 — Butler was named the team's Prospect of the Year after an All-Star season at Peoria…he led the league with 220 putouts from his shortstop position, and led the club with 129 games played and a .306 average…he also tied for the club and organizational lead with 81 runs scored, led the team and finished third in the system with 147 hits and led the entire chain with 37 doubles.

1996 — In his first pro season, the 18-year-old infielder led the Appy League with 85 hits and a .946 fielding percentage at shortstop, garnering All-Star recognition…he also led the club with 50 RBI…his .343 average was fifth-best in the organization.

Personal: Justin Brent Butler…Brent was a star baseball standout at Scotland High School in Laurinburg, N.C.…he still resides in the town, located in the southern part of the state, near the South Carolina border…signed by Randy Benson of the Cardinals.

Strikeouts are from Mars, Walks are from Venus

On June 22, 1999 vs. Chicago, after nearly two full games without a walk, Colorado pitching did not strike out a Cubs batter until the ninth inning. It marked the first of Darryl Kile's 232 starts in which he failed to fan at least one.

Shawn CHACON

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 212 B/T: R/R Age: 22 (turns 23 on Dec. 23)
Born: 12/23/77 in Anchorage, Alaska
Residence: Greeley, Colo.
Major League Service: none
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the third round of the 1996 June draft.

Career Summary: Chacon, the first player drafted by the Rockies out of a Colorado high school, makes his first appearance on a major league roster…one of the most prolific prep baseball players in state history, he was 12-11 over his first two pro seasons, with a 3.59 ERA…after the '97 season, the Rockies chose to keep Chacon, rather than trading him to Montreal in the deal that brought Mike Lansing to Colorado; instead, the Expos received right-handers Jake Westbrook (1) and John Nicholson (2), the two players taken ahead of Chacon in the '96 draft…before the '98 season, Baseball America rated Chacon (cha-CONE) the No. 2 prospect in the Rockies organization, behind Todd Helton…in high school, scouts flocked to Northern Colorado, mainly to confirm rumors of a 94-mph fastball…in his senior season at Greeley Central High School, he won almost as many games (10-0) as earned runs allowed (14)…he was taken in the same round of the '96 draft as new teammate Brent Butler.

1999 — Shawn spent the entire season at Salem (A) of the Carolina League, for the second straight year…looking to rebound from an injury-plagued 1998, Chacon finished the year 5-5 with a 4.13 ERA in 12 games (all starts)…the league hit only .251 against Shawn, and of 316 batters faced, he gave up only three home runs…the right-hander actually dominated left-handed hitters, allowing only two extra-base hits all season (both doubles) and holding them to a .235 mark (23-for-98)…right-handers hit .260 off him…Carolina League leadoff batters struggled even more; they hit .169 (11-for-65) off Chacon…with runners in scoring position, however, the league compiled a .290 (20-for-69) average, and hit .351 with RISP and two outs…he spent the season's first month out of action for violating organization rules, but got off to a good start after his May 5 activation…Shawn went 2-1 with a 3.72 ERA over his first three starts, fanning 22 in 19.1 innings…he then lost four consecutive outings to close May…on June 7 vs. Potomac, he threw two-hit ball over 6.0 innings, fanning nine, to snap the streak; he struck out six of seven hitters at one point…he fanned 66 on the year, the second-highest total of his pro career.

1998 — With Westbrook and Nicholson traded away, Chacon entered the year as the No. 1 starter at Single-A Salem…the three pitchers were born within three months, drafted out of high school, and spent their first two pro seasons together, developing a competitive spirit…after a stellar 1997 in the South Atlantic League, Chacon struggled to find his groove over the season's first two months, before encountering another storm: injury…on May 26 in his 10th start, Chacon strained his elbow's ulnar collateral ligament, and missed the next two months…he returned on July 19, but the elbow flared up again seven days later…Colorado then flew him home in order to rest the elbow before Arizona Instructional League play.

1997 — Chacon shined on an Asheville team that finished 14 games below .500…he went 11-7 and led the rotation with 149 strikeouts and a 3.89 ERA.

1996 — At age 18 in his first pro season, Chacon won the Arizona Rookie League's ERA championship (1.60), despite finishing the season at Single-A Portland…at the end of the season, Baseball America tabbed him the organization's No. 7 prospect.

Personal: Shawn A. Chacon…he chose the Rockies over a college career at Arizona State…he led his summer Legion club, Greeley GoJo Sports, to three consecutive state titles…during his senior season at Greeley Central, he went 10-0 with a 1.51 ERA and two saves, guiding the Wildcats to the state championship game…signed by Rockies scout Mike Ericson.

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 195 B/T: L/L Age: 25
Born: 3/31/75 in Oneonta, N.Y.
Residence: Oneonta, N.Y.
Major League Service: none
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the 11th round of the 1996 June draft.

Career Summary: Christman sowed a strong 1999 campaign at Salem, and reaps his first appearance on a major league roster...he's one of 11 players on the spring 40-man roster taken by the Rockies in the June draft...four of those players are pitchers selected in 1996 (Christman, Shawn Chacon, Josh Kalinowski and Travis Thompson)...Tim missed the entire 1998 season after surgery to reconstruct his left elbow, but before and after that year, Christman was solid...over his last two seasons (1997 and '99), he has walked only 30 batters in 111.2 innings (2.4 walks/nine innings)...he walked only 2.2 per nine innings last year at Salem...over the same two-year span, Christman has struck out 12.2 batters per nine and compiled a 0.2 walks/strikeouts ratio...in his first three seasons pitching in the Rockies system, Christman has excelled in the humble role of midde relief.

1999 — Christman spent the entire season at Single-A Salem of the Carolina League, rebounding from reconstructive elbow surgery that sidelined him for all of 1998...Tim served as the left-handed setup man for closer Travis Thompson, and was a significant pillar in the organization's best bullpen...with firm command, he compiled a 2.42 ERA and didn't allow a home run all year...his 11.92 strikeouts per nine innings were second-most among league relievers...what's more, he allowed only 9.68 baserunners per nine innings, fourt-best among league relievers...the circuit hit just .222 (38-for-171) vs. Tim...he was virtually untouchable against left-handers (.120, 6-for-50, three walks, 24 strikeouts)...in fact, of the 56 left-handers he faced, only 18 hit fair balls.

1997 — Tim issued only 18 walks, fanned 87 and went 7-3 with a 3.41 ERA in 29 games at Single-A Asheville...he also notched three saves.

Personal: Timothy A. Jeff CIRILLO

Infielder

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 195 B/T: R/R Age: 30 (turns 31 on Sept. 23)
Born: 9/23/69 in Pasadena, Calif.
Residence: Redmond, Wash.
Major League Service: Five years, 113 days
Contract: Third year of a four-year contract,through 2001 (signed extension in June, 1997)

How Obtained: Acquired from Milwaukee in a nine-player deal at the winter meetings, Dec. 13, 1999, the first four-team transaction since 1985...along with Cirillo, the Rockies received LHP Scott Karl from Milwaukee and RHP Rolando Arrojo and INF Aaron Ledesma from Tampa Bay...in turn, Colorado sent INF Vinny Castilla to the Devil Rays, C Henry Blanco and RHP Jamey Wright to the Brewers and RHP Justin Miller to Oakland...the A's then dealt RHP Jimmy Haynes to Milwaukee.

Career Summary: Jeff Cirillo, one of the better all-around third basemen in baseball, could be the cornerstone player of the new Rockies in the next century...his offensive makeup—revolving around a high average and on-base percentage—is just what the club's new regime has in mind for Coors Field...a No. 2 hitter for most of his career (he owns the majors' seventh-best average from that spot, .311, over the last five years), Cirillo should be asked to hit cleanup...in two seasons at Colorado's home park, Jeff has batted .375 (18-for-48), hitting safely in nine of 11 Denver games, with six multi-hit contests...last season, only two other players, Derek Jeter (67) and Sean Casey (66), had more multi-hit games than Cirillo (64)...all told, Jeff has 249 career multi-hit games in 669 starts...playing his entire career in Milwaukee, which shifted leagues before the '98 season, he has the advantage of having faced a large cross section of pitchers...an All-Star in 1997, his .307 career batting average is the best in Milwaukee history and ranks 18th among active players...since 1994, when Cirillo broke into the majors, few players have had more full-count plate appearances...his favorite month is June; over the last five years, he's hit .340 in the month, fourth in the majors (Larry Walker is first, .369)...he hits to all fields, too, vs. left- and right-handed pitchers; he's consistently ranked among league leaders vs. RHP...on the basepaths, he's averaged only 5.3 steals per season, but he has bold instincts...defensively, year-after-year he contends for the Rawlings Gold Glove; he has great range to either side and one of the strongest infield arms in the league; in '98 he tied Darrel Evans' 24-year-old NL record with 45 double plays (by a third baseman) and has finished third in the NL in fielding percentage each of the last two years...originally Milwaukee's 11th-round selection in the 1991 June draft, Jeff begins his seventh major league season.

1999 — Cirillo paced the Brewers with a career-high .326 average and 198 hits...he also tied for seventh with Robin Yount (1987) and Fernando Viña (1998) on the Brewers all-time single-season hits list...second in the National League in multi-hit games (64), Jeff also ranked fifth in hitting (.326) and third in hits (198)...his .354 mark at home, and his .327 average against righthanders, were seventh in the circuit...Cirillo was third among NL third basemen with a .966 fielding percentage...the NL's top hitting third baseman, he was second to AL leader Tony Fernandez (.328)...with the bases loaded, he hit .385 driving in 11 runs...Jeff tied a career high with four RBI on three occasions (April 23 at Pittsburgh, May 14 vs. Florida and Sept. 21 vs. Philly)...he tied a career high with five hits in two contests: July 3 at Pittsburgh and

David Gonzalez

Aug. 27 at San Diego, going 5-for-5 in each game...he hit in a club-high 13-straight games, April 23-May 7 (.373)...the NL Player of the Week (Sept. 12-19), he hit .467 with two home runs, five doubles, seven runs scored and six RBI during the stretch...Cirillo strung together four multi-hit games, Sept. 13-17...it marked the first time in more than two years a Brewer earned the weekly honor (Dave Nilsson, July 1997)...he ended the year by hitting .352 in September and .462 over the final three games, Oct. 1-3.

1998 — Jeff led the club with 79 walks, a .402 on-base percentage and a .321 average, eighth in the league...with a full count, he was fourth in the league (.386)...in the NL, his .329 average on the road was sixth and his .330 average against RHP was third...defensively, he led all major league third basemen with at least 400 total chances with a .978 fielding percentage (445 chances, 10 errors)...he hit in 14 straight (.392, 20-51, three homers, 11 RBI), May 15-31, tying his career high (June 26-July 13, 1996)...Jeff went 5-for-5 June 28 at Comiskey Park, and tied his career high with four RBI June 21 vs. Pittsburgh...he batted .345 over his last 87 games.

1997 — Cirillo for second straight season collected 46 doubles...tough in the clutch, he batted .362 (54-149) with RISP, fourth in the American League...Jeff also ranked second in the AL with the bases loaded (.625, 5-for-8)...on May 30 vs. the White Sox (AL), he hit his first career grand slam (James Baldwin)...on June 2 vs. Boston, he hit a game-winning, two-run homer with two out in the ninth (Heathcliff Slocumb), the first game-winning homer of his career...Joe Torre selected him to the All-Star game, July 8 in Cleveland, Cirillo's first career midsummer appearance...he struck out against Shawn Estes in the seventh, his only at-bat...he had 49 multi-hit games.

1996 — The third baseman hit .325, the highest average by a second-year player in club history (Paul Molitor, .322 in 1979)...after the sixth inning, he hit .366 (60-for-164), the best mark in the AL...he batted .350 (103-294) on the road, fifth in the league and led the club with 58 multi-hit games, sixth in the AL...he built a 14-game hitting streak, June 26-July 13, an early career high he'd later match...on April 16, he recorded nine assists, two shy of the major league 3B record.

1995 — In his first full big-league season, he appeared at all four infield spots...with the bases loaded, he ranked 10th in the AL (.500)...Cirillo also led the Brewers in percentage of pitches taken (.600)...hit three home runs in a two-game span, Aug. 21-22.

1994 — Cirillo opened the season at Triple-A New Orleans, but joined the Brewers May 10...the next day, May 11 at Fenway Park, he made his major league debut as a defensive replacement at third base...on May 13 vs. the Yankees, he touched Terry Mulholland for his first major league hit...Jeff returned to New Orleans May 30...Jeff rejoined Milwaukee in mid-June, but didn't play...he homered in four straight Triple-A games, including a grand slam, in early July...recalled again on July 8, he immediately kicked off a 12-game hitting streak (.370, July 14-26)...his first major league homer came July 15 at Minnesota (Dave Stevens)...Baseball Digest named him to its All-Rookie team.

1993 — Between Double-A and Triple-A, he combined to hit .319 with 73 RBI in 125 games...the organization promoted him to New Orleans, June 24.

1992 — Cirillo split the season between the California and Midwest leagues.

1991 — Jeff earned Pioneer League All-Star honors in his first pro season.

Personal: Jeffrey Howard Cirillo...Jeff and his wife, Nancy, have two sons: Cole and Carson...a 1987 graduate of Providence High School in Burbank, Calif., he lettered in baseball and basketball, earning the CIF Player of the Year...like Marcel Lachemann, Cirillo graduated from the University of Southern California ('92, communications); a two-time All-Pac-10 selection in baseball, he pitched and played infield...he played on championship teams in high school and college...he enjoys fishing, golf and reading and sleeps with his bat when he's in a slump...in Milwaukee, he hosted the Jeff Cirillo Celebrity Bowling Tournament for the benefit of the Child Abuse Prevention Fund...for two straight years (1997-98), Cirillo earned the Harvey Kuenn Award, given annually to the Milwaukee Offensive MVP...signed by Reuben Rodriguez and Mark Garcia.

Originally drafted by the Chicago Cubs in the 37th round of the 1987 June draft (did not sign)...Selected by Milwaukee in the 11th round of the 1991 June draft...on New Orleans disabled list, July 22 – Aug. 6, 1993.

Edgard CLEMENTE

Outfielder

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 188 B/T: R/R Age: 24 (turns 25 on Dec. 15)
Born: 12/15/75 in Santurce, Puerto Rico
Residence: Bayamon, Puerto Rico
Major League Service: 110 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the 10th round of the 1993 June draft.

Career Summary: Edgard got his first considerable major league playing time last season…he eclipsed the minimum qualification for rookie status, and enters this spring looking to secure a reserve spot in the Colorado outfield…the nephew of the late Roberto Clemente, Edgard made his major league debut in 1998, the 25th anniversary of his uncle's induction into the Hall of Fame…he carries a significant amount of power, despite his 5-11 frame…the outfielder has at least 17 home runs in each of his last four seasons, including a minor league career high 22 in 1998…all told, he's hit 101 homers and driven in 405 runs in seven minor league seasons…last season at the major league level, he homered once every 20 at-bats…Edgard also brandishes a strong arm; he was leading all of Triple-A with seven assists when the Rockies recalled him May 25 last year…Edgard has posted 69 outfield assists since 1994, his first full professional season, including 16 in 1995, 15 in '94 and 13 in '97…he plays every outfield position, but has spent most of his career in center.

1999 — In a season that produced a host of major league firsts, Clemente played 57 games, including the season's final two months as the primary center fielder…Edgard learned on March 21, when Colorado reassigned him to minor league camp, that he'd start his third consecutive season at AAA Colorado Springs…but unlike the previous two years, he didn't stay there long…in a little less than two months at AAA, Edgard collected seven outfield assists to claim the Triple-A lead; he also built a 12-game hitting streak, the team's longest of the season at the time…the Rockies recalled him May 25 and he replaced Mike Lansing on the active roster…his 1999 debut came in an eighth-inning pinch appearance that night, and he dropped a sacrifice bunt against Mike Hampton with Colorado up one run…two days later, in the series finale May 27, Jim Leyland inserted Edgard in the seventh as pinch runner for Jeff Reed; Clemente scored the game-tying run on a sac fly and Colorado went on to win…he made his first start June 2 at Atlanta, and picked up his first hit (1-for-4)…on June 9 vs. Seattle, Edgard went 2-for-4 with two RBI and his first major league homer, a solo shot off Jeff Fassero…on June 14 vs. San Francisco, he earned the dubious distinction of grounding into a triple play, a 5-4-3 grounder; he notched another hit in that game, though, and he was 6-for-his-first-18 (.333) overall…that marked his last start in his first major league stint and on June 25, exactly a month after his recall, Colorado optioned him back to AAA…he spent the next six weeks with Colorado Springs and finished his AAA season in early August, when the Rockies recalled him to spend the remainder of the year with them, August 9…that day, the Rockies dealt CF Brian McCrae to the Blue Jays, one week after trading CF Darryl Hamilton to New York…Clemente started 36 of the final 49 Colorado games in center field…Edgard answered the organization's new assignment by hitting safely in five of his first six games (8-for-25, .320, triple, four homers, 10 RBI)…in fact, those four homers came in four games…he also posted a trio of three-RBI games in the stretch (tying his career high in ech contest)...on August 14 vs. Montreal, Clemente registered his first career multi-homer game...he collected a career-best three hits (3-for-3) with a pair of doubles in a win vs. Atlanta, August 17...Edgard built a career-high seven-game hitting streak August 26 – September 5 (9-for-28, .321)...on September 15 vs. New York, Clemente earned his first career outfield assist, converting a double play by throwing out Shawon Dunston at the plate...four starts later, he tallied his second assist, September 22 vs. Arizona...over four starts near season's end, he fell into an 0-for-16 slide, and his average slipped from .277 to .248...in his last start of the season, October 2 vs. the Giants, he doubled, tripled and drove in three...Clemente before his option in late June was hitting .286 (6-for-21) with one homer and two RBI in 18 games...during his second major league stint, he batted .220 (31-for-141) with seven homers and 23 RBI.

The 1930 Phillies Reincarnated

Colorado's 1999 club shared many similarities with the 1930 Philadelphia Phillies. Offensively, both teams led the NL in hits and placed among league leaders in club average (Colorado was first, Philadelphia was second) and finished last in stolen bases. Meanwhile, Colorado's pitching staff allowed exactly 1,700 hits, 1,028 runs, 955 earned runs, and a 6.01 ERA, all the most by an NL club since the 1930 Phillies (1,993 hits, 1,199 runs, 1,024 earned runs and a 6.71 ERA). The Rockies' 737 walks and 237 home runs were NL records. Every Phillies regular that year hit at least .280, including Chuck Klein (.386) and Lefty O'Doul (.383). Every Rockies regular, except Vinny Castilla (.275), hit at least .280. And, each club finished last in its division.

1998 — In his sixth year in the Rockies system, he played the entire campaign at Colorado Springs (AAA) for the second straight season...he set minor-league career highs and led the Sky Sox with 22 homers and 82 RBI...Clemente opened the season as Colorado Springs' everyday center fielder, before moving to right for the final month of the year...he hit three homers and six RBI in his first four Triple-A games...he joined the Rockies Sept. 8 and made his major league debut two days later, starting in right vs. Florida, Sept. 10...after walking in his first major league appearance, he singled to left off the Marlins' Rafael Medina in his first official at-bat; he also recorded his first major-league RBI with the single...Edgard started four games (three in right, one in center)...he hit safely in all four starts, going 5-for-13 with his only extra-base hit, a triple vs. San Francisco September 25.

1997 — Edgard played the entire year at Colorado Springs, his first taste of Triple-A...Clemente hit .360 (32-for-89) with 12 doubles, two triples, five homers and 24 RBI in June, his best month...Edgard improved his average 41 points with his red-hot June...playing some center and mostly right, he finished the year with 13 assists, his third season of 13 or more (16 at Salem in 1995 and 15 at Asheville in 1994)...Baseball America rated him the Rockies' No. 4 prospect after '97.

1996 — Clemente spent the season at Double-A New Haven...after hitting 10 homers in his first 25 Ravens games, he went 38 consecutive contests without a HR...Edgard had nine outfield assists.

1995 — Playing for Salem (A), Baseball America tabbed his arm as the best in the organization (he finished tied for the league lead with 16 assists)...he also was second in the league in hits and third in batting, earning a trip to the Carolina League All-Star Game.

1994 — Clemente hit .237 at Single-A Asheville, his first visit to a full-season club.

1993 — He launched his pro career at rookie-level Chandler.

Personal: Edgard A. Velazquez Clemente...he married the former Rocio Rivera Jan. 17, 1998...a 1993 graduate of Colegio Hostos, he played not only baseball, but also basketball and volleyball...Edgard is the nephew of the late Roberto Clemente, the Hall-of-Fame outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, who lost his life in a plane accident three years before Edgard's birth...in 1999 Edgard changed his number to 12, in honor of his uncle, who wore 21...signed by Jorge Posada of the Rockies.

Rick CROUSHORE 54

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-4 Wt: 210 B/T: R/R Age: 29 (turns 30 on Aug. 7)
Born: 8/7/70 in Lakehurst, N.J.
Residence: Benton, Ark.
Major League Service: One year, 93 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from St. Louis with RHPs Manny Aybar and Jose Jimenez and INF Brent Butler for RHPs Darryl Kile, Dave Veres and Luther Hackman, Nov. 16, 1999.

Career Summary: Rick Croushore enters his eighth professional season…for the second straight spring, he comes to camp looking to land a role in a bullpen that underwent a major off-season overhaul…he's proven that he can pitch in any role the Rockies have for him, and he can throw everyday…other than three years (1995-97) as a part-time starter, he's worked as a relief specialist his entire career…Croushore (KRAU-shore) at the major league level already has experience in every relief role, from the middle innings, to setup, to closer…in two seasons and exactly 100 games, he has 20 relief holds and 11 saves, and opponents have hit him at a .232 clip…in St. Louis, he struck out 9.64 per nine innings over the two years, and 11.05 in 1999, when he led the bullpen with 88 strikeouts…Rick's career numbers have shown four significant trends: he's been much more effective at night than during the day, before the break than after it, at Busch Stadium than on the road, and better on grass than on artificial turf…what's more, Croushore's been especially effective vs. left-handed hitters (.183, two HR) than against righties (.270, 13 HR)…at Coors Field, Rick's made two appearances, going 0-0 with a 4.91 ERA (3.2 ip, 2 er) with three walks and four Ks; he earned a save in his Denver debut, July 26, 1998, pitching 1.2 scoreless innings.

1999 — The right-hander was one of Tony La Russa's bullpen workhorses, logging 71.2 innings in 59 appearances, despite spending the season's first month at Triple-A Memphis…Croushore earned saves in four of his seven Memphis appearances before his recall May 7…with the Cardinals for the remainder of the year, he led the bullpen with 88 strikeouts and finished second with 14 relief holds…on May 26 vs. the Giants, he singled off Kirk Rueter for his first big-league hit…he notched his first major league win June 6 at Tiger Stadium…he worked a season-high 3.0 innings in three appearances, all in July…on July 26 at San Francisco, he fanned a career-best five hitters; he matched that total Aug. 6 at Pittsburgh (Game 2 of a doubleheader)…he earned all three of his season's saves in consecutive appearances, Aug. 2-6…Rick on Aug. 10 was 3-2 with a 2.47 ERA; he'd saved three of five save opportunities and allowed only three home runs…then, over his last 17 games, he went 0-5 with an 11.77 ERA (13.0 ip, 17 er), six home runs, including a John Olerud grand slam Aug. 22, and five blown saves…at Busch Stadium, he posted a 2.06 ERA and opponents hit only .226 off him in 30 games…he stranded 29 of 50 inherited runners.

1998 — Rick in his rookie season pitched in 41 games and made three round-trips between Triple-A Memphis and St. Louis…he was with the Cards May 18-24, May 27-Aug. 20 and Sept. 8 to season's end…the toughest Cardinal to hit, Croushore led the entire St. Louis staff with a .213 opponent's average, and a .148 (13-for-88) mark against left-handed hitters…first batters faced hit only .114 against him, the second-lowest mark among NL relievers…against Houston Croushore compiled a 0.73 ERA and two saves in eight appearances; in 12.1 innings vs. the Astros, he fanned 17 and walked three…six of his eight saves came in games in which he worked more than an inning…on May 18, St. Louis recalled him from Memphis and handed him the ball in his major league debut vs. Florida…exactly one month later, he registered his first major league save, June 18 at the Astrodome…at Memphis, he struck out 12.6 batters per nine innings.

1997 — Croushore for the second straight year opened at Double-A Arkansas and spent the entire season in the Travelers rotation…he threw a complete-game to beat Shreveport May 31, 2-1…he shifted to relief after a promotion to Triple-A Louisville…in his debut at that level, he didn't allow a run over his first four appearances…he made six starts for the Redbirds, and allowed two or less runs in four of them.

1996 — In his first experience at Double-A, Rick split the season between the Arkansas rotation and bullpen…he threw two complete games, including a four-hit victory July 15 vs. San Antonio.

1995 — The right-hander spent the first two months on the disabled list after sustaining a forearm injury in spring training…he lost his first four decision with St. Petersburg (A), but rebounded to win his last six starts and garnered Florida State League Pitcher of the Month for August (5-0, 0.59, 15 h, 30 so).

1994 — Rick made 62 appearances to tie for the Midwest League lead…he fanned 9.8 per nine innings...after the season, he pitched in the Winter Instructional League.

1993 — Croushore launched his pro career with Glens Falls in the New York-Penn League.

Personal: Richard (RICK) Steven Croushore...he and his wife, Tami, have a son, Jake, and are expecting a second addition this July...he played college ball at James Madison and Hutchinson Community College...a 1988 graduate of Mt. Vernon High School in Alexandria, Va., he lettered in baseball...signed by Scott Nichols of the Cardinals.

Baseball 101: Proving a Boxscore

10.03 (c) A box score is in balance (or proved) when the total of the team's at bats, bases on balls received, hit batters, sacrifice bunts, sacrifice flies and batters awarded first base because of interference or obstruction equals the total of that team's runs, players left on base and the opponents putouts.

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 212 B/T: R/R Age: 29 (turns 30 on Sept. 28)
Born: 12/28/70 in Baton Rouge, La.
Residence: Castle Rock, Colo.
Major League Service: Two years, 150 days
Contract: Second year of a three-year contract, through 2001

How Obtained: Acquired with pitcher Steve Shoemaker from the New York Yankees for catcher Joe Girardi, Nov. 20, 1995.

Career Summary: Mike DeJean marks his eighth season in pro baseball, his fourth in the Rockies organization…his first 92 big-league appearances marked the longest career-opening streak without a loss in major league history (Phil Paine held the previous record, 81, before sustaining the only loss of his career with the 1958 Cardinals)…the streak began with his debut, May 2, 1997, and lasted until his first loss, July 3, 1998 at San Diego…DeJean (day-ZSHONN) this spring rebounds from minor off-season elbow surgery; Dr. Richard Hawkins and Dr. Michael Curtin performed the procedure, to remove small bone chips, in Denver Dec. 8, 1999… Mike's first two major league seasons (1997-98) were drastically different than his '99 campaign…over those first two seasons, he was 8-1 with a 3.49 ERA in 114 appearances…last year, he went 2-4 with an 8.41 mark in 56 games…at Coors Field from 1997-98, he was 6-0 with a 2.96 ERA…at home in 1999, he went 2-1 with a 10.30 mark…some of Mike's stuff is unhittable, and scouts still foresee him as a future closer (his first five minor league seasons were spent in that capacity, almost exclusively)…he's also extremely emotional; he was the player ejected by umpire Tom Hallion, who was later suspended by the NL, in San Diego June 26…overall, he's proven dependable pitching in the toughest pitcher's park in major league history; he has 33 career relief holds and has stranded 51 of 83 inherited runners (61.4 percent)…defensively, the former college shortstop hasn't committed an error since 1997.

1999 — After DeJean went 3-1 with a 3.03 ERA in 1998, Mike and the Rockies agreed to terms on a three-year contract Feb. 9, less than a week before spring training opened…DeJean compiled a 3.86 ERA over his first six appearances, allowing runs in only one of those outings…he got his first relief hold April 15 vs. San Diego, handing over a two-run lead to closer Dave Veres in the Rockies' first home win…then, a tough outing vs. Atlanta April 18 (five hits, seven runs, six earned), shot his ERA to 15.43, the first of five straight appearances in which he allowed runs…he then put together his best stretch of the season…over 12 appearances, from May 2 – June 2, DeJean compiled a 2.08 ERA (3 er, 13.0 ip)…the month-long stretch lowered his ERA by nearly four and-a-half runs, from 11.57 to 7.15…on May 15 at Arizona with one out, DeJean faced one batter and diffused a bases-loaded jam; he induced a Matt Williams fly ball and Derrick Gibson threw out speedy Tony Womack at the plate…on May 25 at Houston, Mike was saddled with a disheartening loss; he entered a tie game in the 12th, saw Jim Leyland ejected after replays showed Henry Blanco threw out Craig Biggio; then, after loading the bases on an intentional walk, he forced Biggio at the plate on a great play, before allowing the game winning bouncer through a drawn-in infield…he rebounded to post holds in his next three outings, all Rockies wins…on May 28 at Philadelphia, he retired all five batters faced in a two-run game…two days later in the series finale, he entered with the bases loaded and two out, with the tying run at third, and induced a foul-pop from Mike Lieberthal; the Rockies won the game, 1-0…then, on June 2 at Atlanta DeJean retired the Braves 1-2-3 in the eighth inning of a one-run game…he pitched 3.0 innings June 8 vs. Seattle, his season's longest outing…on June 13 at Texas, in a two-run game, Mike sat down all five batters faced, including Juan Gonzalez and Rafael Palmeiro (the 2-6 hitters)…from June 8-13, in three appearances, he retired 10 consecutive batters…he turned in 2.0 scoreless frames vs. Florida June 20, retiring six of his seven hitters and lowering his ERA to 6.12, its lowest since

Baseball 101: The Strike

A STRIKE is a legal pitch when so called by the umpire, which (a) Is struck at by the batter and is missed; (b) Is not struck at, if any part of the ball passes through any part of the strike zone; (c) Is fouled by the batter when he has less than two strikes; (d) Is bunted foul; (e) Touches the batter as he strikes at it; (f) Touches the batter in flight in the strike zone; or (g) Becomes a foul tip.

April...he compiled a 24.75 ERA in August, closing the month with six earned runs Aug. 13 vs. Montreal...he went on the 15-day DL (right elbow tendinitis) the next day...he made one rehab appearance at Colorado Springs and rejoined the Rockies Sept. 1...he allowed runs in only two of his September appearances, and finished the month, at Arizona September 28, with a scoreless inning on his birthday...on the season, Mike inherited four bases-loaded situations, and allowed inherited runners to score in only one of those games...from May 21 to season's end, only one of his final 15 inherited runners crossed the plate.

1998 — DeJean appeared in a career-best 59 games before a broken left hand ended his season, Sept. 1...solid over the first five weeks, he posted a 1-0 record and a 3.26 ERA after 16 appearances...even stingier at that point, he dropped his ERA below 3.00 May 15...by July 28 he'd shrunk it to 1.81, allowing just five earned runs over 31 appearances (40.1 ip)...in an emergency start June 20 vs. Los Angeles, when a finger blister forced John Thomson out of the rotation, it was DeJean's first start anywhere since 1989 at Mississippi Delta College...he recorded the first of two saves July 25 vs. St. Louis, throwing two perfect innings...he built a 12.2 scoreless innings streak over nine appearances, July 11-28...in his final three appearances, opponents touched him for 11 hits and six earned runs over 3.2 innings and it was a frustrated DeJean who punched his locker at Milwaukee's County Stadium following his appearance Sept. 1...he suffered a broken left hand (fifth metacarpal) and was placed on the 60-day disabled list Sept. 2...Dr. Frank Scott inserted two screws and a plate into the hand Sept. 4 at Denver's Rose Medical Center.

1997 — Mike opened the year at Colorado Springs (AAA), but he earned his first trip to the majors May 2 and finished the year with the Rockies...he made his big-league debut the day of his recall, May 2 vs. Philadelphia, and pitched a scoreless inning...he didn't allow an earned run in his first seven appearances covering 13.0 innings...DeJean posted his first career victory May 12 at Philadelphia; he induced his first hitter into a double play, then retired the next nine to earn the win...he recorded his first save May 31 at Florida, escaping a bases-loaded situation in the ninth...he pitched a perfect 3.0 innings at Texas June 18, fanning a personal-best four...from June 21 – July 10, he went 12.1 straight scoreless frames, over eight appearances...he was on the DL July 18 – Aug. 7 (inflamed right elbow), rehabbing at New Haven (AA)...DeJean closed the year with seven scoreless appearances (8.0 innings).

1996 — DeJean began the year at Triple-A, then moved to New Haven in late April...he returned to Colorado Springs in mid-June and stayed there for the rest of '96.

1995 — He spent the entire season in the Eastern League, working as Norwich's closer.

1994 — The right-hander split the year between Tampa (A) and Albany (AA), combining for 50 appearances and 20 saves...his 16 saves at Tampa were fifth in the Florida State League.

1993 — Mike appeared in 20 games for Greensboro (A).

1992 — DeJean signed as the Yankees' 24th-round pick, then reported to Oneonta (A)...he saved 16 games in 16 appearances June 18 – August 2.

Personal: Michel Dwain (Mike) DeJean...he and his wife, Holly, make their home in Castle Rock, Colo...a 1988 graduate of Walker (La.) High School, he lettered in baseball, basketball and football...a three-time all-district shortstop in high school, he also earned all-state honors in football and won the Southeast Louisiana Slam Dunk Competition...he attended Mississippi Delta Community College and Livingston University, where he contributed to a Gulf South Conference title in 1992...a full-time shortstop, he pitched only 6.0 innings in college, but by retiring two batters in the '92 NCAA Division II World Series, he was scouted and signed by the Yankees as a hurler...an avid hunter, DeJean spends some off-seasons as an elk hunting guide in the mountains of Colorado...signed by Leon Wurth (Yankees).

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 205 B/T: R/R Age: 31 (turns 32 on May 24)
Born: 5/24/68 in Jersey City, N.J.
Residence: Littleton, Colo.
Major League Service: Six years, 89 days
Contract: First year of a two-year contract, through 2001 (2002 club option)

How Obtained: Acquired from the New York Mets for RHP Armando Reynoso, Nov. 27, 1996...agreed a two-year extension, Nov. 2, 1999.

Career Summary: Jerry Dipoto begins his eighth major league season, his fourth in Colorado...after the Rockies on Nov. 16 traded Dave Veres, his good friend, Dipoto enters the spring with the inside track at the closer role...in a spring bullpen that has nine relievers who've closed at one time in their pro careers, Jerry's the only pitcher with more than one Coors Field save...during each of his three seasons in Colorado, Dipoto's role has shifted...in 1997 he entered the year in middle relief and earned the closer's duty by August...in 1998, he opened as the closer and then moved to a set-up role in mid-season...and in 1999, he spent the entire season as a set-up man for Veres; arguably the best setup man in the league, Jerry led the NL by stranding 87. 5 percent of his inherited runners, one of the most revealing relief statistics...one of the reasons he's so tough on inherited runners is because those runners aren't too excited about stealing against him; Dipoto's catchers in his career have thrown out 57 percent of base stealers...in three seasons with the Rockies, Dipoto is 12-12 with a 4.22 ERA and 36 saves...at Coors Field since he joined the club, Jerry has gone 9-6 with a 3.97 ERA (64 er, 145.0 ip)...he enters 2000 needing just 11 saves to move into second on the franchise's all-time list, surpassing Darren Holmes (46)...25 more rescues would give him the all-time lead, surpassing Bruce Ruffin's 60...the right-hander also needs only 27 appearances to reach 400 in his career...Dipoto's original contract contained an option for 2000, but the Rockies re-worked the pact, bought out the option, and gave him a new, two-year deal Nov. 2, 1999...pitching through a bases-loaded situation is nothing compared to what Jerry has overcome in his life...one of the most inspirational players in baseball, he survived thyroid cancer in 1994 and then, after the '98 season, his heart stopped for approximately 10 seconds after receiving medicine to dissolve a blood clot in his left wrist...Dipoto began his career in the Indians system, when Dan O'Dowd served as Cleveland's farm director.

1999 — For the third straight season from the Rockies bullpen, Dipoto was consistently effective...in a key relief statistic, Jerry allowed only four of 32 inherited runners to score (12.5 percent), the best mark in the NL and second in the majors to Cleveland's Ricardo Rincon (11.9 percent)...his four inherited runners who scored did so in two games, June 18 vs. Florida and Sept. 1 vs. Pittsburgh (two each)...he stranded all 13 inherited runners on the road, and 15 of his 19 at home...the bullpen's top setup man, Dipoto recorded a club-leading 15 relief holds...Jerry compiled a 2.53 ERA in seven April appearances, including April 27, when he went 3.0 innings at St. Louis in his longest outing since 1997...three straight scoreless appearances lowered his ERA to 3.72 on May 17...two days later, May 19 vs. the Reds, he extinguished a bases-loaded situation, then in the next 1.1 innings gave up six runs and his ERA inflated to 6.00...Jerry then turned in six straight scoreless appearances (10.2 innings), May 23 – June 9, lowering the ERA to 3.98...over a longer stretch, through June 19, he gave up only two earned runs over 10 appearances (14.2 innings, a 1.23 ERA)...on June 5 vs. Milwaukee, he preserved a one-run win in the ninth, converting his only save opportunity of 1999...on June 18 vs. Florida, he allowed his first 1999 inherited runners to score, and first since 8/27/98 (11 runners)...the next day, he fanned four of the seven batters he faced...however, Dipoto allowed seven earned in his five July games before the break...despite a tough second-half debut, a loss at Cincinnati July 17, his ERA after the break was almost two runs better (3.32) than before it (5.09), thanks mainly to a stellar scoreless streak...that stretch spanned 11 appearances and 14.1 innings, August 17 – September 13, and included 9.2 innings at Coors Field...it lowered his ERA from 5.01 to 4.10...he threw 3.0 shut-out innings and fanned four vs. Pittsburgh August 31, tying a season high in innings (also April 27) and a career high in Ks...he pitched 5.0 innings in less than 24 hours August 31–September 1...his combined ERA in August and September was 3.03 (10 er, 29.2 ip)...Jerry finished the season having allowed five earned runs over his final 16 games.

1998 — Dipoto opened the season as the closer and held that role until mid-June when the club went to a closer by committee...he earned his 14th save June 15 at San Francisco but didn't get No. 15 until August 12 vs. Montreal, 20 appearances later...in 23 save opportunities, he did lead the club with a career-best 19 saves...Jerry held hitters to a .232 average, the lowest on the staff...he retired 48 of 68 (71 percent) first hitters faced and allowed four of eight inherited runners to score...actually more effective at Coors Field, he was 2-3 with a 2.61 ERA and six saves in 39 home appearances, holding hitters to a .201 average (30-for-149) ...after the break, he picked up five saves in six chances and compiled a 2.16 ERA...his longest outing of the year was 2.1 shutout innings vs. Pittsburgh July 28, during a stretch of four outings (July 24 – August 1) in which he retired 19 consecutive hitters, two shy of the club record...Jerry also started a scoreless streak on July 24 that lasted 12.1 innings over nine appearances, or until August 18...his final three saves came in three consecutive appearances, September 11, 12 and 15...his final outing of the season came in the finale, September 27 vs. the Giants, and with a perfect ninth Jerry earned the victory.

1997 — During his first season in Colorado, Dipoto entered the year as a middle reliever but by August, he earned the closer role and finished with a club-high 16 saves...he topped the bullpen in relief innings, and finished tied for ninth in appearances among major-league pitchers...his Colorado debut came at Cincinnati on Opening Day, April 1...in his next 11 appearances, covering 11.1 innings, he allowed just two earned runs...over his final 49 appearances he went 4-2 with 15 saves, allowing just 23 earned runs over 69.0 innings (3.00 ERA)...he held his opponents scoreless in 23 of his last 28 games...Jerry's big-league-best 65.0-inning homerless streak, June 8 – Sept. 16, ended with a Bobby Bonilla grand slam...still, he allowed just two homers over his final 70.0 innings of work...he established a personal record with 18.0 consecutive scoreless innings over 12 games, June 15-July 10...Dipoto converted 14 of 16 save opportunities over his last 25 appearances.

Casey Wilson

1996 — Jerry built a 10.2 scoreless innings streak June 14 – July 5...twice he worked 3.0 innings in a game, earning a win vs. Cincinnati on June 21.

1995 — In his first full big-league season, and first year in the NL, he led the Mets with 58 appearances...through 20 games he had a 7.16 ERA, but a 1.94 mark over his last 38 outings...he registered his first NL save on Sept. 3 at San Francisco, blanking the Giants in his 2.2 innings.

1994 — Jerry rebounded from March 24 surgery to remove a malignant thyroid gland; he moved from the Indians' 15- to 60-day DL on April 24...Dipoto began a rehab assignment at Charlotte (AAA) on May 10 and after a June 12 activation, he was optioned back to Triple-A...he made two trips to the majors in the second half...Dipoto pitched for San Juan of the Puerto Rican Winter League...he was traded after the '94 season from Cleveland to the New York Mets in a six-player swap, Nov. 18.

1993 — Dipoto opened the year with Triple-A Charlotte, but received his first big-league recall May 11, and made his debut that day against Kansas City...optioned back to Triple-A after two outings, Cleveland summoned him again on July 5...he earned his first major league win on July 15 with an inning vs. California; he picked up his first big-league save three days later, also vs. the Angels...he finished second on his staff with 11 saves, the most by an Indians rookie since Tom Buskey in 1974.

1992 — He spent the entire year at Colorado Springs (Cleveland's Triple-A club at the time), leading the staff with 50 appearances.

1991 — In his final year as a full-time starter, he led Canton-Akron in starts and strikeouts.

1990 — He ranked third among Carolina League hurlers in strikeouts and fourth among starters in strikeout ratio (8.86 per nine innings)...the organization promoted him to Canton-Akron in August.

1989 — After Cleveland picked him in the third round of the June draft, he opened at Watertown (A).

Personal: Gerard Peter (Jerry) Dipoto III...he and his wife, Tamie, have two daughters, Taylor (7) and Jordan (5), and a son, Jonah (3)...a 1986 graduate of Toms River (N.J.) High School, Jerry tossed consecutive no-hitters in the 1985 state tournament...he played three seasons at Virginia Commonwealth, earning All-Sun Belt Conference honors in 1988 and '89. ...Jerry has contributed funds towards two facilities in the Rockies Fields of Dreams Youth Field Program...he dedicated Jerry Dipoto field in Littleton during an Aug., 1998, ceremony, and Jerry Dipoto Field in Kiowa, Colo., last September...this winter Dipoto participated in the club's winter caravan and also joined Mike DeJean, John Thomson and Jamey Wright in their caps and Rockies jerseys during a scene in the Nutcracker, presented by Colorado Ballet...Jerry has written letters to former major leaguers since his youth....signed by Roy Clark of the Indians.

Angel ECHEVARRIA

Outfielder

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 226 B/T: R/R Age: 28 (turns 29 on May 25)
Born: 5/25/71 in Bridgeport, Conn.
Residence: Aurora, Colo.
Major League Service: One year, 164 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the 17th round of the 1992 June draft.

Career Summary: Angel is one of the last on-field links to the origins of the franchise, after the trades of Dante Bichette, Vinny Castilla and Curtis Leskanic...Angel (AIN-gel) made his major league debut in 1996 and played parts of the next two seasons with the Rockies before his breakout year, 1999...now the Rockies' best all-time pinch hitter (.329), Echevarria teamed with Lenny Harris to give the Rockies the top pinch-hit combo in the majors last year...he also came off the bench to fill injury vacancies in the outfield...Angel embarks on his ninth professional season...while he wasn't in Colorado, Echevarria at Triple-A hit .322 or better each season from 1996-98...the versatile Echevarria (etch-uh-VAIR-ee-ah) has played 14 games at first base.

1999 — Given an opportunity, Echevarria excelled in 1999, giving the Rockies one of the league's top pinch hitters, while playing both first base and the outfield...he enjoyed one of the best, if not the best, springs of any player in camp, solidifying his first career appearance on an Opening Day roster...he played in the Rockies' first game, too, a pinch appearance at Monterrey, Mexico April 4...in his next pinch appearance, April 7 at San Diego, Echevarria singled to lead off the eighth in a tie game...overall on the year, Angel hit .319 (15-for-47) as a pinch hitter; in the seventh inning and later, Echevarria's pinch average was .368 (14-for-38), with three of his four pinch homers and 13 of his 14 pinch RBI...Angel made his first two starts of the year April 8-9 at Los Angeles, in place of an injured Larry Walker in right field...he made his first appearance at first base in a start April 24 at San Francisco...early in the season, Angel struggled as a starter, going 0-for-8 in his first three assignments, and 3-for-30 over his first nine starts...as a pinch hitter, though, Echevarria shined in the early months...he was 5-for-his-first-11 in the pinch with three homers and seven RBI...in fact, by himself, Angel led all major league clubs in pinch homers until late May...and, each of his three early pinch homers came away from Coors Field, the biggest of which was a three-run blast at Wrigley Field, May 4, tying the game in the seventh...he also collected pinch bombs at San Francisco April 25 and at Pittsburgh May 1...on April 17 vs. Atlanta, he stepped to the plate in the bottom of the ninth with two out, the bases loaded and Colorado down two; facing Braves closer John Rocker, Echevarria ripped a single to left to tie the game, and the Rockies won it one batter later...Angel had only three career plate appearances with the bases loaded, and none since 1996...in early June, in easily the best stretch of his career, he established himself as more than a dependable pinch hitter...from June 4-14, he was 11-for-17 with two doubles, three homers and seven RBI...on June 9 vs. Seattle, he established single-game career highs in four categories: three hits (3-for-3), two homers, five RBI and 10 total bases in a 16-11 Rockies win (he would collect four hits on October 2)...in August, he batted .319 with two homers and 12 RBI...on August 9 at Milwaukee, Angel was 3-for-4 with two RBI and a homer that tied the game with two out in the top of the ninth (the Rockies lost it in the bottom of the frame)...on the season, five of his 11 homers either tied the game or put the Rockies in the lead...during September, he played sparingly (11 games) on an expanded roster...but during the season's final series, Angel stamped an exclamation point on a fine season...on October 1, he tied the single-season club record with his fourth pinch homer (Howard Johnson in 1994 and John Vander Wal in 1995), a two-run, ninth-inning blast off Russ Ortiz...in an encore, the next afternoon he notched a career-high four hits (4-for-5)...he closed the season by flying out in a pinch at-bat, but he was 4-for-his-last-7 in the pinch...Echevarria led the majors with 14 pinch RBI, and only Chicago's Glenallen Hill had as many pinch homers (4)...Angel also had more at-bats (47) than any right-handed pinch hitter in the majors.

1998 — With the AAA Sky Sox, he batted better than .300 for the fourth straight minor-league season...he went on the DL with right knee inflammation, April 29 – June 3...on June 24 vs. Calgary he belted a pair of homers, the first of three two-homer games for Angel in 1998...from July 1 to August 21, when the Rockies recalled him, he hit .360 (67-for-186) with 12 homers, 18 doubles, and 47 RBI in 48 games...Angel made his first start for the Rockies August 25 vs. Milwaukee and picked up two hits and his first major league homer (David Weathers); he also knocked in a career-best four runs...overall, Echevarria made six Colorado starts, three in left and three at first base; in his six starting assignments he was 5-for-18 with two doubles, one homer and four RBI...he started three consecutive games at first base at Los Angeles September 14-16...in the pinch-hit role, Angel was 5-for-10 with three RBI.

1997 — Angel played mostly at Colorado Springs (AAA), but did earn a month stay with the Rockies...on April 17 at Calgary he drove in six and had a game-tying and game-winning homer...he batted .350 (28-for-80) in May and posted his second six-RBI game May 29 at Las Vegas...Colorado recalled Echevarria June 29 when Ellis Burks went on the DL...used primarily as a pinch-hitter, he did make two starts...Angel singled in his first '97 at-bat vs. San Francisco June 29; overall he was 2-for-8 as a pinch-hitter...after 20 games, Echevarria went on the DL with a strained left abdominal muscle; he was activated and then optioned to AAA on August 16...Angel hit .410 (48-for-117) with runners in scoring position...following the season, playing winter ball at Ponce, he fractured his left wrist in his first game (second at-bat)...he also underwent arthroscopic surgery on his knee to repair cartilage in December, 1997.

1996 — He started the season at Triple-A but the Rockies brought him up July 14 and he made his big-league debut as a pinch hitter July 15...he picked up his first major-league hit and RBI July 18 at San Diego, a pinch-single off Ron Villone...optioned to Triple-A on Aug. 15, Angel returned to Colorado in September.

1995 — Echevarria led the league in RBI, tied for third in homers (21) and led all outfielders with 20 assists...an All-Star, he hit four homers in as many ABs during mid-June, including a three-homer game June 19 at Reading...he sported three six-RBI games.

1994 — Angel started the year in Central Valley and was promoted to New Haven June 12.

1993 — In his first year at Central Valley, Echevarria hit .271 in 104 California League games.

1992 — Angel hit five homers in 57 games for a historic Bend team, which qualified for the Northwest League postseason.

Personal: Angel Santos Echevarria...he has one son, Angel Jr. (5). ...a 1989 graduate of Bridgeport's Bassick High School, he played three years at Rutgers University...a two-time All-Atlantic 10 selection, Angel twice made the NCAA All-Regional Team...he hit .322 during his senior season...signed by Rockies scout Mike Garlatti.

Derrick GIBSON

Outfielder

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 244 B/T: R/R Age: 25
Born: 2/5/75 in Winter Haven, Fla.
Residence: Winter Haven, Fla.
Major League Service: 57 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the 13th round of the 1993 June draft.

Career Summary: Derrick Gibson this season will either play with Colorado's major league club or another organization...the power hitter enters the spring out of transaction options, meaning he will either make the Opening Day roster, or the Rockies will place him on waivers...he's one of three Rockies outfielders out of options (Edgard Clemente and Chris Latham)...Gibson brings pure strength to the plate, and he's athletic for his size, agile enough to play center field...his outfield arm is highly regarded among Triple-A third-base coaches...Baseball America tabbed him the organization's No. 1 prospect at the end of the '95 season, when he blasted 32 homers and led all of minor league baseball with 115 RBI; it was the first 30 homer/30 steal campaign since Greg Vaughn in 1987...since '95, though, he's averaged 18 homers and 74 RBI per season...with the exception of three days in May last season, all of Derrick's major league service has come in September...in 1998, he made one of the most remarkable big-league debuts ever, going 4-for-4, but no one heard about it because it was Sept. 8, 1998, the night Mark McGwire hit No. 62 to break Roger Maris' record...his two major league homers and all six of his 1999 RBI came in one game, Sept. 20, 1999...a product of Haines City in Central Florida, Gibson was recruited by Auburn as a linebacker out of high school...he's still considered a rookie because he hasn't eclipsed the minimum qualifications.

1999 — Gibson nearly made the big-league club out of spring training, but began his second year at Colorado Springs...the Rockies recalled him for a weekend series at Arizona, May 14-16, after the club optioned down RHP John Thomson...when Thomson's turn in the rotation surfaced, Colorado brought up Mark Brownson and sent Gibson back to Triple-A...Derrick played in one game during that weekend, a start at Bank One May 15 vs. Randy Johnson, the eventual Cy Young winner; Gibson went 1-for-3 and tied both athe single-inning and single-game franchise records by throwing out two runners in one inning...Derrick returned to the Rockies when rosters expanded Sept. 1...he played sparingly over the season's final month, but did have the game of his career...on Sept. 20 vs. Arizona, Derrick went 3-for-5 with his first (Omar Daal) and second (Armando Reynoso) major league home runs, and six RBI...he finished the year 0-for-11 over his last three games...at Colorado Springs, Derrick hit .275 with 17 homers and 67 RBI on the year.

1998 — Derrick played his first full year at Colorado Springs (AAA) and received his first big-league promotion in September...the everyday left fielder until mid-August, he closed the season in center, and finished tied for fifth in the PCL with 11 assists...the organization named Gibson its Colorado Springs MVP...on September 8, the date Mark McGwire broke Roger Maris' single-season home run record, the Rockies recalled Derrick and he made his major-league debut that night, starting in left vs. Florida; Gibson doubled off Jesus Sanchez in his first big-league plate appearance, and went on to go 4-for-4 with two RBI...he became the 16th player in major-league history to have at least four hits in his first game, and the first to go 4-for-4 since Boston's Ted Cox in 1977...Gibson started six September games in left, hitting safely in all six...he started all three games of the Los Angeles series, September 14-16, and picked up his first major league assist on the 14th when he threw out Eric Karros at the plate.

1997 — Gibson opened his season at New Haven (AA) and moved to Colorado Springs in August, his first taste of AAA...he homered in four consecutive games, May 2-6...Derrick notched the first three-homer game of his career, July 15 at Portland...he garnered a postseason appearance on the Eastern League All-Star squad, despite missing the final 22 games of the EL schedule...Gibson homered in the first Sky Sox postseason game vs. Phoenix and knocked in a pair, then duplicated the performance in Game 2, before his club was eliminated...he combined at his two stops to lead the Rockies system with 26 homers...he batted .332 overall, a career-best and fourth highest in the chain.

1996 — Derrick spent the season at AA New Haven, where a heel and nagging hamstring injuries kept him out of the lineup ...he finished the year strong, hitting .316 (23-for-73) over the final 19 games.

1995 — At age 20, he tied for the SAL lead in homers (30)...an All-Star, Derrick's 115 RBI topped all of minor-league ball, while the homer total was tied for third best...named the Rockies Minor League Player of the Year, he led the league in total bases (280).

1994 — He batted .264 in 73 games for the Bend, tying for the Northwest League lead in homers (12), extra-base hits (36)...defensively he led circuit outfielders with 10 assists.

1993 — Aerrick played organized ball for the first time in 15 months, after not playing his senior season of high school.

Personal: Derrick Lamont Gibson...he is single...a 1993 graduate of Haines City (Fla.) High School, he lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track...he was headed to Auburn University as a linebacker, but opted to sign with the Rockies after they drafted him in 1993...signed by Pat Jones of the Rockies.

New-look Rockies add new look in 2000

On Jan. 19, the Rockies introduced the first major additions to both their home and road uniforms since the 1994 season, when the team added the last name of each player to the back of the home jersey and added purple to the lettering across the road jersey.

The club now has a solid purple alternate jersey, a new alternate home white jersey, a road gray uniform that features "Colorado" inscribed across the chest with purple pinstripes, and a new alternate cap with a purple bill. The Rockies also added the player's number on the front of each jersey.

For both home and road games, the day's starting pitcher will decide which jersey his club wears. The white pinstriped pants will be worn at home and the gray pinstriped pants will be the road standard.

Tom GOODWIN

Outfielder

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 175 B/T: L/R Age: 31 (turns 32 on July 27)
Born: 7/27/68 in Fresno, Calif.
Residence: Colleyville, Texas
Major League Service: Six years, 43 days
Contract: First year of a three-year contract, through 2002 (2003 club option)

How Obtained: Signed as a free agent, Dec. 8, 1999.

Career Summary: Of the 18 players the Rockies added to their major league roster this off-season, Tom Goodwin could carry the most impact...he's expected to fill two pivotal roles on a team that plays in the most prolific hitter's park in history: leadoff man and center fielder...if anyone can cover baseball's largest outfield, Goodwin can...he enters 2000 with a personal 71-game errorless streak...two events have embodied the kind of excitement fans may see generated by their center fielder over the next three years: in one contest, Tom advanced from first to third, on a sacrifice bunt; in another game, he was thrown out at the plate within inches of an inside-the-park home run...Goodwin also carries an 11-game hitting streak into this season...no player in the majors has more stolen bases over the last five years (Tom has at least 38 bags in each of those five seasons, 1995-99)...he has 243 of his 252 career steals since '95...an All-American at Fresno State, he made his big-league debut in only his third pro campaign, 1991; he's played nine major league seasons in all...Goodwin has led his league in steals three times (1989 at Glens Falls, 1990 at San Antonio and in 1994 at Omaha); he also led the nation in steals each of his final two seasons in college, 1988-89...he's stolen three bases, his career high, in five major league games...Tom in his career has nearly twice as many triples (23) as he has home runs (12)...he's played in three organizations: Los Angeles, Kansas City and Texas...his two trips to the disabled list in 1999 marked the only DL time of his career...because the Rangers didn't offer Goodwin salary arbitration at the end of '99, the Rockies did not surrender a draft pick to sign him (Brent Mayne was a similar situation)...Eric Young, the Rockies' all-time stolen base leader (180), is a good friend of Tom's...Goodwin's signing gives the Rockies their first exclusive leadoff hitter since they dealt Young to the Dodgers in 1997 for current staff ace Pedro Astacio.

1999 — Limited by injury, Tom started 103 games for the Rangers...he strained his hip flexor June 11 against Colorado in Arlington; after a sixth-inning single off Darryl Kile, Tom pulled the muscle while going from first to third...in essence, the injury sidelined him for two months...he was still third in the league with 39 steals...before the setback, Tom opened the year 14-for-73 (.192) over his first 20 games...he swiped his 20th base in the Rangers' 40th game, faster than any player in club history...Tom in 10 games stole at least two bases, including a trio of three-steal contests...after his first career stint on the disabled list, the Rangers activated him June 27 and he returned to the lineup that night (1-for-4) at Seattle, but aggravated the hip and went back on the DL after the game...upon his return Aug. 6, after rehabbing at Charlotte, he fell into a 5-for-32 (.156) spell over his first nine games back...however, he rebounded to hit .304 (49-for-161) over the season's final 44 contests...even sharper over his last 27 games, he hit .354 (35-for-39) and closed the season with 71 straight errorless games...he also closed the year on a seaon-long 11-game hitting streak...he posted four hits for the fifth time in his career, Aug. 17 at Jacobs Field...earlier in the year, on May 7 at the SkyDome, Goodwin bashed his first career leadoff home run...he batted leadoff before the break, but shifted to ninth for most of the second half.

1998 — Goodwin paced the Rangers and finished seventh in the AL with 38 steals...he also ranked third in the junior circuit in singles (133) and set career highs with a .290 average, 154 games, 151 hits, 73

Baseball 101: Caught Stealing

10.08 (h) A runner shall be charged as "Caught Stealing" if he is put out, or would have been put out by errorless play when he (1) Tries to steal. (2) Is picked off a base and tries to advance (any move toward the next base shall be considered an attempt to advance). (3) Overslides while stealing.

NOTE: In those instances where a pitched ball eludes the catcher and the runner is put out trying to advance, no caught stealing shall be charged. No caught stealing should be charged when a runner is awarded a base due to obstruction.

walks and 102 runs...Tom's average stood at .387 (36-for-93) on May 1, but it fell to .273 at the break...a strong second-half raised it to .296 as late as Sept. 17...away from Arlington, Goodwin hit .304 (79-for-260)...he also hit .300 (24-for-80) against LHP...in the leadoff role, he hit .295 (195-for-491) with a .383 on-base percentage, second among AL leadoff hitters...only Odibe McDowell (105) in 1986 scored more runs as a Rangers leadoff hitter...he saw an 85-game errorless streak snapped June 7...Goodwin grounded into just two double plays in 520 at-bats, the fourth highest ratio in the league (260:1)...hampered by a jammed left shoulder for parts of the season, he went 1-for-4 in two ALDS games vs. the Yankees.

1997 — Tom combined to hit .260 with two homers, 39 RBI and 50 stolen bases in 150 games with the Royals and Rangers...his 36 infield hits led the league, and he finished tied for first with 41 bunts put into play...his 50 steals were third...Goodwin made 93 starts for Kansas City before the Royals traded him to Texas for INF Dean Palmer, July 25...he still led the Royals with 36 steals.

1996 — Kansas City's Player of the Year, Goodwin (66) finished second to Kenny Lofton (75) for the second straight season...Tom made 130 starts, 68 in center and 62 in right...the AL's toughest hitter to double up, he rolled into a double play three times in 524 at-bats...his 21 sacrifice hits also led the league...he built the two longest hitting streaks of his career, 12 and 13 games...he enjoyed 16 straight steals without getting caught, July 20-Aug. 14...he began that streak with his 100th career steal, July 20 at Comiskey Park...Tom had arthroscopic surgery on his right shoulder Oct. 16; doctors repaired minor tearing in his rotator cuff and labrum, and he was full speed by spring training.

1995 — Inhis first full big-league season, Goodwin led the league with 14 sacrifice hits, and tied for second with 50 steals...he posted his first major league home run (Todd Stottlemyre) June 16 at Oakland; the solo shot tied the game in the ninth with two out.

1994 — Claimed on waivers, he earned a spot on Kansas City's Opening Day roster...he played two games before an option to Triple-A Omaha, where he spent the rest of the year...Baseball America named him the American Association's fastest baserunner and best defensive outfielder.

1993 — For the second straight year, Tom made three round trips between the Dodgers and Triple-A Albuquerque...he was with Los Angeles from Opening Day to April 22, June 18-July 15 and Sept. 6 to season's end...he scored five of his six runs after Tommy LaSorda inserted him as a pinch runner.

1992 — Goodwin began the year at Triple-A, but made three major league tours...on Aug. 18 vs. the Mets, he went 3-for-3 with two steals, his first career multi-hit and multi-steal contest...he scored eight runs as a pinch runner, accouting for 18 of his games...a PCL All-Star at Albuquerque, he batted .301.

1991 — Baseball America called him the best baserunner at the Triple-A level, after he stole 48 in 71 attempts...Los Angeles gave him his first recall Sept. 1 and he made his major league debut that night vs. the Cubs...he singled off Dave Smith in his first big-league plate appearance...three days later, Sept. 4 at Busch Stadium, he stole his first major league base.

1990 — Tom began the year, his first full season as a professional, at Single-A Bakersfield...after a promotion to Double-A San Antonio, he went on to garner All-Star recognition and lead the Texas League with 60 steals...all told, his 82 combined bags led all of minor league baseball.

1989 — He established a Pioneer League record with 60 steals, and hit .308 in 63 games.

Personal: Thomas Jones Goodwin...Tom and his wife, Staycee, have two children: Weslee (6) and Winston (4)...Goodwin's family has made significant career accomplishments...his mother, Frances, was the first African-American school teacher in Fresno, Calif....Tom's agent is his older brother, Hugh, who's also a certified public accountant...older brother Paul is a pilot for a major airline...and, older sister Anna is an attorney in San Jose, Calif. ...he served as honorary chairman of the Rangers' Wells Fargo Rookie League program from 1998-99...a two-time All-American at Fresno State (1988-89), he led all D-I players in stolen bases each year...in August, 1988, he went to Seoul, Korea, and helped Team USA earn the gold medal at the Summer Olympics...a 1986 graduate of Fresno Central High School, he split his springs between the track and the baseball diamond...originally signed by Deni Pacini of the Dodgers.

The most pivotal slot in the majors

No other slot in baseball comes to the plate more than the Rockies leadoff hitter. And no other slot in baseball affects offensive production more than the No. 1 hole on a Coors Field lineup card. Since the Eric Young trade, Aug. 18, 1997, the club has used 11 different leadoff hitters. In 1999, the Rockies struggled from that position more than any year, and perhaps as a result, finished below .500 at Coors for the first time. Here's a look at the NL leadoff slots in 1999, ranked by OBP+SLG...

Born: 3/5/71 in Scotch Plains, N.J.
Residence: Scotch Plains, N.J.
Major League Service: Six years, 69 days
Contract: Final year of a three-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired with RHP Stan Belinda from Cincinnati in exchange for OF Dante Bichette and cash, Oct. 30, 1999.

Career Summary: Colorado fans will remember Jeffrey Hammonds as the player who blasted three homers in a 24-12 win at Coors Field, May 19, 1999...but outside of Colorado, Hammonds is generally regarded as a former can't-miss prospect who has battled injury, but still holds plenty of kinetic energy...he enters the spring as the leading candidate to replace the player whom the Rockies traded to get him, Dante Bichette, in left field...but Hammonds can play any outfield position...he even played all three in one game during a 1997 contest vs. Buddy Bell's Detroit club at Tiger Stadium...All-America as a freshman (1990) and junior (1992) at Stanford, he teammed with Mike Mussina on a formidable Cardinal team...Jeffrey made his major league debut in only his second professional season, 1993...the first player from the 1992 June draft to play in the majors, he played parts of six seasons in Baltimore, before the Cincinnati acquired him...a career .268 hitter, he has 68 home runs and 235 RBI...in a little more than one full season in the National League, Jeffrey has batted .285, 21 points better than his time in the junior circuit...a swift, athletic outfielder, Hammonds last season leaped over the wall to rob Arizona of home runs in two close contests last year.

1999 — In his first full NL season, Hammonds hit .279 with 17 HR and 41 RBI in 123 games...after the All-Star break he hit .331 with 10 homers...over his last 30 games, as the Reds battled for a postseason berth, he hit .400 with seven homers and 15 RBI...he made 54 starts, including 37 in right, 14 in center and three in left...he started 22 times from the No. 2 slot, 10 from the No.7 position...he started 12 straight games in late August; in that stretch he hit .381 with five homers and eight RBI, extending a season-high 10-game hitting streak Aug. 26-Sept. 5, to tie a career high...in his first 23 games Hammonds hit .108 (4-37), including a season-high 0-for-15 skid April 29-May 8...he then hit .307 in 100 games over the rest of the season...a .327 hitter in June, he homered three times and drove in 12 runs while making just 11 starts...after hitting .191 in July, he countered by batting .333 in August...beginning Sept. 1, he hit .367 in 24 games over the rest of the season as the Reds secured a one-game playoff for the NL wild card...seven of his 17 home runs came in three games...May 19 at Coors Field (three), June 5 at Kansas City (two) and Sept. 5 at Philadelphia (two)...in the Coors Field contest, he busted out of a 2-for-21 skid with the best game of his career; he established career highs with three homers, five RBI, five runs scored and 14 total bases, while tying his career high with four hits (4-for-6)...the three HR and five runs scored tied Cincinnati records, and his 14 total bases fell one shy of the club mark...in the Kansas City game, June 5, Hammonds had two HR and four RBI...on June 23 and 29, both vs Arizona, he went above the outfield wall to snag a pair of home runs...playing left in the 9-7 win on the 23rd, he robbed Jay Bell for the final out of the seventh inning to preserve a 6-5 lead...then, playing RF in the 5-4 victory on June 29, he stopped pinch-hitter Dave Delucci's bid for a leadoff HR to keep the Reds within a run (3-2) in a game they would win by scoring three in the ninth...on July 17 vs Colorado, atter Larry Walker had tied the game in the top of the ninth with a two-run pinch homer, Hammonds answered in the bottom of the frame with a leadoff homer off Jerry Dipoto to give Cincinnati a dramatic 3-2 win...on Sept. 4 at Philadelphia, Jeffrey homered to help the Reds establish the NL record for club homers in a game (9) and the majors' single-game record for most players with at least one dinger (8)...his HR into left that game off Paul Byrd was only the 52nd homer ever hit into Veteran Stadium's upper deck...on Sept. 14 vs. the Cubs he hit his first career pinch-hit HR, a two-run shot in the ninth that pulled the Reds to within a run in a 4-3 loss.

1998 — Hammonds combined to hit .280 with six HR, and 39 RBI in 89 games for the Reds and Orioles...with Cincinnati he hit .302 with 11 RBI in 26 games, including 24 starts in center...he appeared in 25 games for the Reds before soreness in his left wrist kept him out of the lineup...he made last start on Sept. 10 and didn't play again until final appearance of the season, as a pinch runner Sept. 22...the next day he had surgery to repair a hamate fracture and torn triangular fibro cartilage in his left wrist (Dr. Tom Kiefhaber at Bethesda Oak Hospital)...Jeffrey hit safely in 19 of his 26 games for the Reds...on Aug. 11 vs Pittsburgh, he started in center field and went 2-for-4 in his NL debut...with the Orioles he hit .269 with six HR, and 28 RBI in 63 games...from June 3-July 9, Hammonds was on Baltimore's DL with back spasms; he rehabbed at Bowie...he started 46 games for the O's, 21 in RF, 20 in CF and five in LF...on May 23 at Oakland, he hit the first grand slam of his career.

1997 — Jeffrey with the Orioles established career highs in games (118), at-bats (397), runs (71), hits (105), total bases (193), doubles (19), triples (3), home runs (21) and RBI (55)...in the first game of a split DH vs Clevland Sept. 15, he won the game with a two-run HR off Eric Plunk; the O's estimated that homer at 460 feet, the second-longest in the six-year history of Camden Yards...on July 3 at Tiger Stadium he played every outfield position in one game for the first time in his career...a strained left achilles tendon hampered him late in the season.

1996 — He opened the season starting in left for the Orioles...on June 17, Baltimore optioned him to Triple-A Rochester...he hit .272 in 34 games there before a July 31 recall...on Aug. 15 at Oakland, Hammonds strained his left knee while trying to make a sliding catch; Baltimore placed him on the disabled list the next day...after his Sept. 22 activation, he didn't play for the rest of the year...following the season, he played winter ball in Puerto Rico.

1995 — The outfielder suffered through an injury-plagued season...following off-season surgery to reconstruct his right ACL (Dr. James Andrews), he started in right on Opening Day...the Orioles optioned him to Class AA Bowie in early May after right knee soreness limited him to only seven games...Baltimore on 5/26 recalled him and Hammonds hit safely in 10 of his first 12 games back...he went on the 15-day disabled list July 18 with a strained right trapezius muscle, caused by a herniated disc...activated Sept. 3, he went 1-for-3 with a double in 6 more games, all off the bench.

1994 — In his second big-league season, his .296 average was third on the club, behind Rafael Palmeiro (.319) and Cal Ripken (.315)...he led AL right fielders in total chances per nine innings (2.45)...he hit .317 (33-104) when behind in the count, second-best in the AL and fourth-best in the majors...as the ninth batter in the lineup hit .303, fourth-best in the majors...on April 30 at Seattle, he cut his face and sustained a concussion in a home plate collision with Bill Haselman...in May, while recovering from the concussion, he strained his right knee in batting practice and went on the DL...he was hitting .326 (4hr, 14rbi) in 23 games before he went on the DL...activated June 16, he hit .280 the rest of the season.

1993 — Hammonds hit .305, the second-highest average among AL rookies with 100 or more at bats (Minnesota's Chip Hale, .333)...he made 27 starts for Baltimore...despite recording 32 hits and 11 multi-hit games, he would remain a rookie for the '94 season...began the season at Double-A Bowie, went to Triple-A Rochester on May 3 and was recalled by the Orioles on June 25, when Brady Anderson was diagnosed with chicken pox...that night he arrived at Camden Yards in the first inning and made his big-league debut as a pinch hitter in the sixth vs. the Yankees...he singled off Jim Abbott in his first plate appearance, then added another single and an intentional walk as he helped the O's rally from a 6-0 deficit to win, 7-6, in 10 innings...he made his first start the next night, doubled and blasted a two-run HR helping the O's rally again...he hit .337 with 19 RBI and 11 multi-hit games in his first month in the big leagues...he hit safely in each of his first six games (9-for-23, .391)...on Aug. 8 he went on the disabled list with a herniated disk...he came off on Sept. 1 but played in only two games before returning to the DL on Sept. 28.

1992 — On July 11 as the starting CF for the U.S. Olympic team, he went 2-for-4 with two stolen bases vs Korea in a game at Camden Yards...immediately following that game, during an O's game that night, signed with the Baltimore, then was introduced to the crowd during the game...during the Olympics, he led Team USA with a .414 average and .586 slugging percentage.

Ryan Mckee

Todd HELTON

17

Infielder

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 206 B/T: L/L Age: 26 (turns 27 on Aug. 20)
Born: 8/20/73 in Knoxville, Tenn.
Residence: Knoxville, Tenn.
Major League Service: Two years, 59 days
Contract: Second year of a four-year contract, through 2001

How Obtained: Selected in the first round of the 1995 June draft.

Career Summary: In two full seasons, Todd Helton has quickly developed into one of the game's most productive first basemen...ignoring a recent trend, which saw many players fall off after an outstanding rookie season, Helton in his "sophomore" season blew away his rookie numbers...one of 10 players remaining from the Rockies 1999 Opening Day roster, Helton is key to the club's future...the only position player ever drafted by the Rockies in the first round (1995), Todd signed a four-year contract before the 1999 season, a deal rarely offered to a player after his rookie season...Helton was a catalyst to the Rockies success in '99; he hit nearly 100 points better in Rockies wins than in Rockies losses; what's more, 23 of his 35 homers, and 75 of his 113 RBI came in Colorado victories...Todd's resilient, too, having started slowly each of the last two years, before expoloding in the second half...in August, no player in the majors has proven more dangerous from 1998-99; Helton has hit .381 (88-for-231) with 12 homers and 57 RBI over the last two Augusts...he plays one of the toughest first bases in baseball, learning to deal with the late-evening sun that hounds his position for most of the summer...during his career he's ranked among major league leaders in 3-6-3 double plays; he has a quick release and he's left-handed, so he has a good angle in executing the play...he wasn't a full-time first baseman until the '98 season, after Andres Galarraga opted to sign with Atlanta and Helton stepped into the shoes of the franchise icon; even during his first few months in the majors, Helton played in the outfield...he wasn't blessed with great speed, either, but he's sharp on the basepaths...of his 25 home runs in 1998, 12 came on the road...few hitters threaten right-handers more than Helton, who ranked second in the league last year with a .349 average and a .670 slugging percentage vs. RHP...in Buddy Bell's order, Helton figures to bat fifth, where he posted a .376 average last season...he's also hit .335 with runners in scoring position over his career...Helton's .315 career average ranks seventh among active players; his .554 career slugging percentage ranks 12th.

1999 — After an outstanding rookie season, in which he finished a close runner-up to Rookie of the Year Kerry Wood, the Rockies and Helton agreed to terms on a four-year contract, March 2...he was solid at first base, making 148 starts...but perhaps his most important contribution to the team was his offensive consistency, despite being asked to bat in five slots in the order (second, third, fifth, sixth and seventh)...Helton not only avoided the "sophomore jinx," he greatly improved upon his impressive rookie numbers...Todd, the only Rockies starter without a hit, went 0-for-5 on Opening Day in Monterrey, Mexico...on April 8 at Los Angeles, he delivered a two-out, three-run homer in the seventh, the deciding blast in a 4-1 Rockies win...the game marked the first of 19 in which Todd drove in at least three runs; the Rockies were 13-6 in those contests...he hit .120 (3-for-26) on the team's opening road trip, but built a seven-game hitting streak to improve to .288...he then went 1-for-17 over his next six games to close April, by far his toughest month (.232, three homers, 13 RBI) of the season...Helton changed with the calendar, opening May with a 10-game hitting streak, including two hits in each of the streak's last four games; the streak wound up as his longest of the year, and tied his career long from 1998...he posted his first of six multi-homer games on May 11 vs. New York...Todd then hit the skids again, going 1-for-15 over his next five games...on May 21 vs. Arizona, he tied his career high with four hits, his first of two four-hit games on the year (fifth and sixth of career); the four hits were all singles, tying a club record, last accomplished by Helton, 8/28/98...on June 2 at Atlanta, Helton blasted a solo homer to break a 2-2 tie in the 10th, giving the Rockies a win...his second four-hit contest came during the most memorable week of his career, in mid-June...he opened the stretch Monday, June 14 vs. the Giants; inserted as a pinch runner, he delivered a three-run double in his only at-bat (nine pitches), the game-winning hit in a 5-4 Rockies win...he homered and drove in four runs the next day in a 15-6 Colorado win...on June 18 vs. Florida, Todd was 3-for-5, tied a career-high with five RBI and homered twice, the second of which was his first career game-ending home run...one night later, on June 19, Helton doubled, singled and homered; in his fourth trip, knowing he needed his first triple since 5/15/98, he drove a pitch off the right-field wall and slid into third, posting the third cycle in club history...he capped the week with a homer and two more RBI and ran away with the NL Player of the Week...at one point during the Marlins series, he'd reached base in eight consecutive plate appearances...amazingly, Helton's first four hits after his cycle were a homer, single, double and triple; he had two career triples entering the season, but posted two over the four-game stretch in June...Todd fell one hit shy of a second cycle – on FOUR occasions; only one player since 1900 (Brooklyn's Babe Herman in 1931) cycled twice in a season...Helton went 12 games in between his 55th and 56th RBIs...over a longer stretch, from June 27 to July 22, he drove in only two runs, and finished July with nine RBI (after posting 25 in June)...he bounced back with another incredible August...Helton, who in 1998 led the majors with a .398 August average, hit .364 during the month in '99, with eight homers and 28 RBI, earning the club's Player of the Month honors...Todd strung together three significant hitting streaks over the season's final two months...from August 11-15, he posted five consecutive multi-hit games (.480, 12-for-25, four homers, 10 RBI)...from August 29 to September 1, he had four straight multi-hit games (11-for-18, .611, triple, three homers, eight RBI)...finally, from September 8-13, Helton posted multiple hits in five straight (.545, 12-for-22, three doubles, three homers, eight RBI)...on August 30 vs. Pittsburgh, with more than a month left, Helton surpassed his 1998 career high with his 26th home run...12 days later, on September 10 vs. Milwaukee, Helton eclipsed his '98 career-best in RBI...also that night, Todd improved his average to a season-high .316, one point better than his .315 average the previous season (he finished '99 hitting a career-high .320)...on September 27 at Arizona, Helton sat out his third and final game; he played in a club-leading 159 games.

1998 — In the closest balloting in 16 years, Todd Helton finished second in the NL Rookie of the Year race, despite one of the finest rookie seasons in recent memory...Helton led all major-league rookies in average (.315), homers (25), RBI (97), multi-hit games (49), total bases (281), slugging percentage (.530) and extra-base hits (63); and, among NL rookies, he was first in runs (78), hits (167), and on-base percentage (.380)...since 1972, only Mike Piazza (35), David Justice (28), and Darryl Strawberry (26) have hit more homers as an NL rookie, and only Piazza had more RBI (112)...Helton compiled his overall numbers despite a slow start, and despite platooning at first base vs. left-handed starters...on May 1 Todd was hitting just .259 with no homers and 12 RBI...he broke out in a three-game series at Philadelphia, May 4-6, going 6-for-13 with six RBI and his first two homers of the season...the first homer, May 5 off the Phillies' Mike Grace, snapped a streak of 134 consecutive homerless at-bats (dating back to 1997)...on May 10 at Montreal Todd registered his first career multi-homer game...Helton's first eight homers on the year were solo shots, but he delivered a three-run blast off Sean Bergman June 24 vs. Houston to end the streak...at the break he was hitting .273 with 13 homers and 45 RBI...he hit safely in the first seven games after the break, including four hits July 14 vs. San Diego...Greg Colbrunn's July 30 trade to Atlanta officially ended the club's first-base platoon and Todd proved in August that he could hit lefties as well as righties...Helton led the majors in August with a .398 average, hitting safely in 24 of his 29 games with 29 RBI...he went 5-for-8 in an August 18 doubleheader at New York, pushing his average past .300, where it would remain the rest of the year...he had at least one RBI in seven consecutive games August 22-28 (13 total) and finished second to Jeff Kent in the NL-Player of the Month balloting...he notched his fourth and final four-hit game of the season, September 4 vs. San Diego...a sprained right wrist (during an at-bat September 13 at San Francisco) kept him out of action during the Los Angeles series, September 14-16...on September 23 vs. Arizona, he was 3-for-5 with a double, two homers and a career-high five RBI...his 25th and final homer was a three-run blast in the season finale, September 27 vs. San Francisco; the homer played a key role in helping the Rockies erase a seven-run deficit to beat the Giants...on the year 12 of Helton's 25 homers either tied the game or put the Rockies in front...vs. lefthanders, he started the year 0-for-12 with five strikeouts, but ended the season with a .304 mark, collecting 34 hits in his last 100 at-bats (.340) vs. lefties...his .386 average with men in scoring position led the Rockies and was fourth-best in the NL.

1997 — Little more than two years after being drafted, Helton made his major league debut...he opened the season at Triple-A Colorado Springs, where he was hitting .352 when the Rockies called August 1...a PCL All-Star, he played 78 games at first and 22 in the outfield...Todd made a memorable major-league debut August 2 at Pittsburgh, batting fifth and starting in left; he flied out in his first at-bat but singled in his second trip off the Bucs' Francisco Cordova for his first major-league hit; after a walk he belted his first big-league homer, a solo shot off Marc Wilkins...the next day at Three Rivers, he picked up two more hits and his second homer...Helton hit safely in his first four games in the majors (7-for-16)...he went 3-for-12 as a pinch-hitter and homered off Cincinnati's closer, Jeff Shaw, on August 25...on the season he made 14 starts in the outfield (13 in left and one in right) and posted two assists...he also started seven games at first base.

1996 — Helton opened his first full pro season with Double-A New Haven, but by late July he'd moved up to Colorado Springs...the Eastern League named him the first baseman on its midseason and postseason All-Star teams, despite his July departure...he debuted in AAA July 30, going 3-for-4 at Tucson...after three consecutive hitless games in early April, Todd did not go more than two consecutive games without a hit, including his stint in AAA...named the best defensive first baseman in the Eastern League.

1995 — Helton began his pro career at Asheville (A)...after the regular season, Todd played winter ball for the Maui Stingrays.

College: A quarterback for the gridiron Vols, he started several games during the '94 season in place of an injured Jerry Colquitt...a first baseman/pitcher in the spring, Todd set 19 school records and in 1995, led the Vols to the College World Series, both at the plate and on the hill...he narrowly missed the '95 SEC triple crown, posting the second-best average (.407), while leading in homers (20) and RBI (92)...as a hurler in '95, Helton was 8-2 with a 1.66 ERA and 12 saves; he made four starts on the mound, each a complete-game victory...capping an incredible collegiate career, he was Baseball America's '95 College Player of the Year, the SEC's Player of the Year, the Mizuno/Collegiate Baseball Co-National Player of the Year and was named All-America for the third straight season.

Personal: Todd Lynn Helton...he and his wife, Kristi, were married Jan. 29...a '92 graaduate of Knox Central (Tenn.) High School, he lettered in baseball and football...a 1992 Baseball America prep All-American, he hit .655 (51-for-78)...he remained a two-sport star and attend the University of Tennessee, passing on an opportunity to sign with San Diego...he had bone spurs removed from his heels late in the fall of 1996...during the '98 season his teammates named him as the club player representative, the first time the Rockies have named a rookie to that role...following his spectacular rookie season, the Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame named him its 1998 Professional Athlete of the Year...signed by Ty Coslow.

Jose JIMENEZ

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 190 B/T: R/R Age: 26 (turns 27 on July 7)
Born: 7/7/73 in San Pedro de Macoris, Dominican Republic
Residence: Boca Chica, Dominican Republic
Major League Service: One year, 48 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals with RHPs Manny Aybar and Rick Croushore and INF Brent Butler for RHPs Darryl Kile, Dave Veres and Luther Hackman, Nov. 16, 1999.

Career Summary: There's a feeling with Jose Jimenez (he-MEN-ez) that there's still a lot of untapped potential...the right-hander's career hasn't prodcued consistent results, but one can't ignore several dominating performances...there aren't many pitchers who can say they've thrown two professional no-hitters, including one in the majors; even fewer hurlers can say that in the present era...and, although he already has eight seasons of professional experience, a lot of scouts still think Jimenez's best days are in this century, rather than the last...he made two incredible starts for the Cardinals within a 10-day stretch in midsummer 1999, both shutouts against eventual Cy Young winner Randy Johnson...those two gems chopped more than a half-run off his career ERA (6.11 without them, 5.52 with)...they weren't flukes, though..."inconsistent" is probably the best, and worst, way to describe Jimenez...one wouldn't normally call a pitcher inconsistent when he finished second in the National League with two 1999 shutouts, led his St. Louis staff in strikeouts per nine innings and finished with the Cardinals' lowest stolen-base percentage allowed (41.2, fifth in the NL)...he also earned the Texas League Pitcher of the Year in 1998, after he went 15-6...but in addition to those strong numbers, in 1999 he finished with the league's lowest winning percentage, highest groundball/flyball ratio and third-highest ERA...after spending most of the '99 campaign in the Cards rotation, Jimenez made his debut at Triple-A for three weeks last August...Jose, who's never pitched at Coors Field, could open in Buddy Bell's rotation; 31 of his 33 major league appearances are starts, and he has five professional shutouts and nine complete games...or, he could pitch out of the bullpen; left-handers (.305) have hit 60 points better against Jose in his career than right-handers (.245)...in fact, he pitched his first 141.1 innings before he allowed a home run to a right-handed hitter (Pokey Reese)...the Rockies should know the role Jose will fill in their organization by the time camp breaks.

1999 — Jose in his rookie season, his first full major league campaign, experienced everything from euphoria to frustration...his season's biggest highlight came at Bank One Ballpark, June 25, when he became only the 23rd rookie to pitch a no-hitter; in the eighth no-hitter in Redbirds history, he faced one Arizona batter over the minimum and fanned eight in a a 1-0 shutout over Randy Johnson (who allowed just five hits and fanned 14 in a complete-game loss)...the second St. Louis rookie with a no-hitter (Paul Dean, 1934), Jimenez threw the first no-no by a Cardinal since Bob Forsch in 1983...Jose earned NL Player of the Week honors for his accomplishment...Jimenez, who also threw a no-hitter Aug. 27, 1998 vs. Shreveport (AA), turned in another outstanding effort July 5 at Busch Stadium; in a two-hit shutout, he fanned a career-best nine and again defeated Randy Johnson, 1-0...on the season vs. Arizona, Jose went 2-0 with two complete-game shutouts and two hits in 18.0 innings pitched; the D'backs hit .038 (2-for-53) against him...overall, Jimenez held runners better than all but four pitchers in the NL (a .412 stolen-base percentage); only seven of the 17 runners who attempted to steal off him were successful...his run support (4.25 runs per game) was the fourth lowest among NL starters...he ranked third on the Cardinals staff in innings pitched (163.0), starts (28) and strike-outs (113)...Jimenez opened the season 2-0, extending his winning streak to five games dating back to 1998...he lost seven straight decisions (covering eight starts) April 28 to June 4, as the Cards averaged just 3.0 runs per contest in that span...on July 21 at Cincinnati, he lost a heart breaker, 1-0; he allowed only three hits in seven innings, but surrendered his first-ever home run to a right-handed batter (Pokey Reese), which made the difference...on August 17, the Cardinals optioned him to Triple-A Memphis, for a three-week stay...recalled Sept. 7, he made his season's only relief appearance Sept. 11, vs. Pittsburgh, and suffered his 13th loss; Jimenez pitched two innings and allowed four runs on five hits...he lost his last six decisions (covering 12 games and 11 starts).

The last three rookie no-hitters

Jose Jimenez on June 25 last season became only the second rookie in the past 27 years to throw a no-hitter. Here's a look at that 1999 performance, compared to the previous no-no's in each league...

1998 — In his first big-league season, the right-hander won all three of his starts and pitched once in relief, after the Cards brought him up from Double-A Arkansas on Sept. 8...he held major league righthanders to a .217 average, but lefties hit .316...he did not allow a home run in 21.1 innings...Jose made his big-league debut Sept. 9 at Cincinnati and tossed three scoreless innings in relief; he retired the first six batters he faced and allowed just one hit before departing...on Sept. 14 vs. Pittsburgh, he made his first major league start; Jimenez gave up one run and four hits in seven innings to earn his first major league victory...at Double-A he earned the Texas League Pitcher of the Year, leading the circuit in wins (15-6), ERA (3.11) and innings (179.2)...the innings led the Cardinal organization, and the wins tied for first...a Baseball America Double-A All-Star, he started the annual All-Star Game at New Haven, a Rockies affiliate at the time...his first pro no-hitter, Aug. 27 at Shreveport, marked his season's only complete game.

1997 — At Single-A Prince William, he made 24 appearances with two complete games...Jose finished fourth in the St. Louis farm system with a 3.09 ERA...Jimenez also led all Carolina League pitchers with 36 assists.

The 2000 buzz words in Colorado: New & Change

Over the winter, the Rockies made one of the largest wholescale changes in one off-season in pro sports history. Here's a closer look at the numbers involved in those changes...

36 individuals added to the Rockies baseball operations in less than four months (excluding players). The process began Sept. 20, when the team hired Dan O'Dowd. The new GM then added eight full-time employees in the front office and clubhouse, who in turn brought in 28 more.

17 staff members (managers, coaches, instructors or trainers) added since O'Dowd's hiring. After Jim Leyland retired from managing, O'Dowd replaced him with Buddy Bell, who in turn hired six new big-league coaches. The farm system added 10.

5 new scouts, most of whom joined the revamped major league and pro scouting departments.

5 added to the Rockies medical team: three highly regarded orthopedists, a full-time physical therapist and a sports psychologist/enhancement coach.

18 players added to the major league 40-man roster since the 1999 World Series.

26 players touched by the six off-season trades engineered by O'Dowd. The trades involved eight different organizations.

10 players remain from Colorado's 1999 Opening Day roster, and only three remain from last year's Opening Day lineup.

35 players signed by the farm system from the regular season finale, Oct. 3, to January.

70 players in major league camp, 40 on the big-league roster and 28 non-roster invitees; the previous franchise record was 63 in 1993, Colorado's inaugural season.

Josh KALINOWSKI

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 190 B/T: L/L Age: 23 (turns 24 on Dec. 12)
Born: 12/12/76 in Pasco, Wash.
Residence: Casper, Wyo.
Major League Service: none
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the 33rd round of the 1996 June draft.

Career Summary: Josh Kalinowski's numbers over his three-year pro career rank in the top 10 percent of minor league baseball...he is the latest of 12 organizational connections to Indian Hills Community College...the Rockies' first scouting director, Pat Daugherty, won more than 500 games as head coach at the Iowa school...the Rockies first eyed Kalinowski in their backyard, at Natrona County (Wyo.) High School back in 1995; Colorado drafted him that June in the 37th round, but he opted to head to IHCC...there wasn't a lot of interest in him one year later (1996) when Colorado snagged him again, in the 33rd round, and signed him as a draft-and-follow in 1997...there's a lot of interest in him now...Josh, the Carolina League's 1999 Pitcher of the Year, is considered the best left-handed pitcher in the Colorado organization...he has led his circuit in strikeouts each of his two full professional seasons (1998-99)...in three years, he's fanned 10.64 per nine innings (418 so, 353.1 ip), with nearly three strikeouts for every walk...the thing that excites the Rockies so much about Kalinowski is that his numbers have improved as he has ascended in the system...expected to start the season at Double-A, he'll get another shot to continue that trend, his toughest challenge yet...if he can continue his brilliant career into the higher levels, don't be surprised to see him contributing to the club's starting rotation a few years ahead.

1999 — Kalinowski moved up one level, to high Class-A Salem, and improved his ERA from the previous year (3.92) by nearly two full runs, earning the Carolina League Pitcher of the Year...in fact, his 2.11 ERA was second among all full-season minor league pitchers (Mike Meyers, 1.73, Cubs organization)...Kalinowski's 176 strikeouts and his 6.60 hits per nine innings were 11th among full-season starters...he allowed only 119 hits in 162.1 innings...over his first four starts, the southpaw was 1-0 with a 1.83 ERA, despite 21 walks over his first 19.2 innings...on May 20 vs. Lynchburg, he sat down the first 13 batters, including five consecutive strikeouts from the first through third innings; in the contest, a 5-1 loss, he fanned 11 in 5.2 innings with two walks and three unearned runs...on May 31 at Myrtle Beach, he fanned 12 and threw two-hit ball over 7.0 innings in a no-decision...he allowed two runs or less in seven consecutive starts, May 15-June 15 (4-1, 1.83 ERA, 44.1 ip, 9 er, 14 bb, 56 so)...on July 27 at Potomac, he fanned 10 over 8.0 scoreless innings to earn a 1-0 win...Josh went six straight starts without allowing more than two runs, July 27-Aug. 22 (0.81 ERA, 44.2 ip, 4 er, 14 bb, 52 so).

1998 — Josh in his first full season went 12-10 with a 3.92 ERA at Single-A Asheville...he struck out 215, more than any pitcher in organizational history...the Ks were second among all minor league pitchers in 1998, one notch behind Rick Ankiel (221)...on June 28 vs. Hickory, Kalinowski set another organizational record with 17 strikeouts, the most in all of minor league ball that season...on Aug. 26, one day before Jose Jimenez threw his first no-hitter in the Texas League, Kalinowski threw one of his own; he faced two over the minimum in the 5-0 shutout over Charleston, SC, walking four and fanning seven.

1997 — After signing as a draft-and-follow, Josh launched his pro career in the short-season Northwest League with Portland (A)...he went 0-1 with a 2.41 ERA in six starts (five no-decisions)...he helped the Rockies to the league championship, the second in organizational history.

Personal: Joshua David Kalinowski...a 1995 graduate of Natrona County (Wyo.) High School, he actually received more honors in football and basketball than in baseball...he was All-Conference and All-State in football and basketball from 1994-95...the Casper school has also produced Mike Lansing, Mike Devereaux and Tom Browning...Josh attended Indian Hills (Iowa) Community College for one year.

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 209 B/T: L/L Age: 28 (turns 29 on Aug. 9)
Born: 8/9/71 in Riverside, Calif.
Residence: Solana Beach, Calif.
Major League Service: Four years, 144 days
Contract: Final year of a three-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from Milwaukee in a nine-player deal at the winter meetings, Dec. 13, 1999, the first four-team transaction since 1985...along with Karl, the Rockies received INF Jeff Cirillo from Milwaukee and RHP Rolando Arrojo and INF Aaron Ledesma from Tampa Bay...in turn, Colorado sent INF Vinny Castilla to the Devil Rays, C Henry Blanco and RHP Jamey Wright to the Brewers and RHP Justin Miller to Oakland...the A's then dealt RHP Jimmy Haynes to Milwaukee.

Career Summary: Scott Karl enters his sixth major league season...he comes to camp looking to secure a spot in the club's starting rotation...he should eclipse 1,000 innings and 500 strikeouts this year...he's won 10 or more games in each of his four full seasons (1996-99), pitching on a Brewers club that finished below .500 every year...durable and dependable, he hasn't missed an assignment since he joined the Brewers rotation in 1995...in fact, he's been on a disabled list only once in his career, in 1994 with Triple-A New Orleans...Scott threw five complete games and a shutout in his first three seasons, but hasn't recorded one since 1997...defensively, he has one of the best pickoff moves in the league and has 17 career double plays in four-plus seasons, an unusual amount for a pitcher...offensively, he ripped two home runs in 1999, and he's dropped 21 successful sacrifice bunts in his career...Karl isn't overpowering...he's averaged only 3.3 strikeouts in 148 starts, and 4.67 per nine innings...however, his command has been generally effective; he's walked only 3.18 per nine innings...he's not intimidated by Coors Field, either; his makeup—a ground-ball pitcher who doesn't walk a lot and has a respectable off-speed pitch—is a good fit for Coors...his bat is also a good fit for the park, as one of his two bombs last year came in Denver off Pedro Astacio; Scott also owns a 1998 Coors triple...most of the problems he's encountered in recent years are ground balls that find holes through the infield...Karl could suprise a lot of people, much like Brian Bohanon.

1999 — Karl for the second straight year led the Brewers in starts (33) and tied for second in wins (11)...his 11 victories were the most since he won 13 in his first big-league season,1996...he induced 26 double plays, tied for fourth in the NL...he induced 1.18 GIDPs per nine innings, seventh in the league...on the road, his 3.58 ERA was ninth among NL starters...he won four straight decisions, April 25-May 22...and, from April 20-May 12, he went five starts without allowing a home run, a season high...all told, he gave up 19 home runs, allowing only two to left-handed batters (Pittsburgh's Al Martin June 27 and Arizona's Steve Finley Sept. 9)...on June 6 in Colorado Scott notched his first career homer, a fourth-inning blast off Pedro Astacio...then, in his next start June 11 vs. Minnesota, he became the first Brewer pitcher to homer twice in a season (off Dan Perkins)...on Sept. 9, he beat the Diamondbacks, 9-8, his first win at County Stadium in 14 months, since July 15, 1998...over his final 10 starts, Karl went 4-1 with a 4.02 ERA ...he allowed four or fewer earned runs in 12 of his last 13 outings, and only one earned run in three of those starts ...the Brewers were 5-0 over his last five assignments; Milwaukee was 16-17 overall with Karl on the hill...he closed the season with three straight winning decisions.

1998 — The only Milwaukee pitcher to make at least 30 starts (33), Scott led the staff in innings pitched (192.1)...the Brewers were 20-13 in his starts and 10-2 in his no-decisions...his fielding was flawless (50 total chances) and tied for third among NL pitchers...he induced 1.03 double plays per nine innings, fifth in the NL...he tripled on August 25 at Colorado off Mike DeJean, becoming the first Brewers pitcher to triple since Eduardo Rodriguez on Sept. 3, 1973 vs Cleveland...Karl became the first Milwaukee left-hander to win his first four decisions since Ted Higuera started 4-0 in 1987...on April 7, he beat the Expos in the first Brewers first NL game at County Stadium...his longest outing was 8.1 innings on July 25 vs Montreal...he snapped a five-decision losing streak in his last start of the year, Sept. 26 at Los Angeles.

1997 — Karl dropped his first five decisions, but later won eight straight, July 15-Aug. 29...the eight-decision streak matched the most ever by a Brewers left-hander (Mike Caldwell) and tied for the third-longest in club history...he earned his first victory on May 5 vs Oakland...on June 29 at Kaufmann Stadium, he equalled a career high with eight strikeouts...during the winning streak, he posted a 2.45 ERA over nine starts (55.1 innings)...he averaged only 1.1 walks per nine innings over the stretch...on July 20 vs. New York, on ESPN, he tossed his season's only complete game, an eight-hitter, to beat Hideki Irabu...after the season, on Dec. 18, he signed a three-year contract, through 2000.

1996 — In Scott's first full major league campaign, he led Brewers in wins, complete games and shutouts....his offense gave him 6.77 runs per game, fourth in American League ...he picked off five runners, sixth in the league....he tossed back-to-back complete games, Sept. 3-9...the duo included his only career shutout, vs. Boston on the 9th (9 IP, 6 H, 1 BB, 5 SO), the Brewers' only shutout of '96.

1995 — Scott began the season with Triple-A New Orleans, but Milwaukee placed him on its Opening Day roster April 24 ...all told, he made three round trips between Milwaukee and New Orleans; he was with the Brewers April 24-May 14, May 23-25, and June 27 to season's end...he made his big-league debut, in relief, May 4 at Baltimore ...after six relief appearances he made his first major league start July 1 vs. New York (7 IP, 5 H, 1 R, 1 ER, 2 BB, 6 SO); he took a no-decisions in a 3-1 Brewer loss ...Karl earned his first big-league win July 6 at Oakland (6 IP, 6 H, 2 R, 2 ER, 5 BB, 2 SO) ...he saved his finest outing for the season finale vs. Boston, a complete-game six-hitter; he needed only 98 pitches...Karl worked at least six innings in 14 of his 18 starts.

1994 — The left-hander opened the season at Triple-A New Orleans...the third youngest pitcher in the American Association, he went on the disabled list with shoulder tendinitis in late April...he joined El Paso six weeks later for eight starts before returning to New Orleans ...he still tied for fifth in the Texas League with three complete games...after the season, he played for Chandler in the Arizona Fall League.

1993 — Karl moved up to Double-A El Paso...he paced the Texas League in innings pitched (180.0) and tied for the lead in starts (27), complete games (four) and shutouts (two)...he finsished second in the loop with a 2.45 ERA and 13 wins; he also walked only 1.75 per nine innings, third in the circuit.

1992 — Scott began his career in the Pioneer Rookie League, and led the loop with a 1.46 ERA.

Personal: Randall Scott Karl...he and his wife, Dorret, make their home in the San Diego area...a 1989 graduate of Carlsbad (Calif.) High School, he lettered in baseball and soccer...a two-time all-conference selection in baseball, he was his team's captain and Player of the Year his senior season...he lettered three times in baseball at the University of Hawaii, twice earning All-Western Athletic Conference honors...Karl also garnered All-WAC academic honors in 1991 and '92 ...second team All-America in 1992, Karl received the WAC's Player of the Year...he threw a complete game to beat Pepperdine at the National Regionals in '92 ...he enjoys scuba diving, going to the movies and playing golf ...person he most respects outside of baseball is his father, Gene...signed by Brewers scout Kevin Christman.

Career Transactions

Infielder

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 195 B/T: R/R Age: 32
Born: 4/3/68 in Rawlins, Wyo.
Residence: Palm Beach Gardens, Fla.
Major League Service: Seven years, zero days
Contract: Third year of a four-year contract, through 2001 (2002 club option)

How Obtained: Acquired from the Montreal Expos for pitchers Jake Westbrook and John Nicholson, and OF Mark Hamlin, Nov. 18, 1997.

Career Summary: Mike Lansing enters his 11th pro season, his third in Colorado…he's spent every day in the major leagues since Opening Day 1993, when an expansion team from the Mountain Time Zone began NL play…history records Lansing, who grew up in nearby Casper, Wyo., as the first to bat in a major league game in Colorado, April 9, 1993 (he went on to record his first big-league homer that afternoon at Mile High Stadium)…five years later, at Bank One Ballpark in Phoenix, Lansing became the first to bat in a major league game in Arizona (he singled for the park's first hit and the Hall of Fame received his bat) and later that year in San Francisco June 16, he belted the 1,000th homer in Rockies history, off Orel Hershiser…if Josh Kalinowski, who joins Lansing in Rockies camp this year, can make the majors, their Natrona County High School in Casper, Wyo. will have produced four big-league players, including Mike Devereaux and Tom Browning…Lansing enters the spring as the starting second baseman, and he figures to bat second, or seventh in Buddy Bell's lineup…Mike celebrates his 32nd birthday on April 3, when the Rockies open the year in Atlanta, a pivotal season for Lansing…he's encountered several obstacles in his first two years in Colorado, the most significant of which was season ending back surgery last summer…because of his surgery, Lansing has been looking forward to spring training longer than anyone else…his perspective has changed, too, not just on baseball, but on life…so consider him a strong candidate for Comeback Player of the Year, because if anyone can rebound from such adversity, it's Lansing, who also underwent back surgery 10 years ago at Wichita State…a blue-collar infielder, he's not afraid to throw himself at ground balls, and he's finished among the top five fielding second basemen for most of his career…he's tough at the plate, as well…his best career season was 1997, the year before he came to Colorado, when he hit .281 with 20 homers and 70 RBI…this season's unlike any other for Lansing, though…Mike, who stands 85 hits away from career No. 1000, reports to Tucson without the pressure of batting leadoff (as in 1998)…and because he's coming back from major back surgery, few are putting pressure on him to duplicate his '97 numbers…but if he can conquer the back problems, Mike Lansing could surprise a lot of people this year.

1999 — Lansing opened the year with a pair of hits on Opening Day at Monterrey, Mexico…he kept his average above .300 most of the year, before back pain forced him onto the disabled list May 24 (retroactive to May 21)…he flew with the team on a late May road trip, but when a rehab program didn't produce favorable results, he flew from Houston to Denver to undergo further tests…those tests revealed a bulging disc, and in June he opted to undergo season-ending back surgery…the Rockies shifted him to the 60-day disabled list June 29 and the next day, June 30, Dr. Steven Shogan performed the procedure at Denver's Columbia Rose Medical Center…before the operation, in 35 games, Lansing was hitting .310 with four homers and 15 RBI, on pace for 18 homers and 66 RBI over a full season…he spent most of April in the order's No. 7 spot, but on April 27 at St. Louis, Lansing and Neifi Perez traded places, and Lansing shifted to batting second…Mike responded with three hits in each of his first two games after the move (6-for-11)…the shift came in the midst of Lansing's season-long 10 game hitting streak (.364, 16-for-44), and he hit safely in his first five games from the No. 2 slot…overall from the second spot, Lansing hit .333 (30-for-90), compared to .275 from the seventh spot (14-for-51)…Lansing drove in at least one run in seven of eight games from April 15-25…his season's best game was vs. New York May 11, when he went 4-for-4 with a double and stolen base…he was hitless in only eight of his 35 starts…in the field, Mike compiled a .990 fielding percentage at second base…he committed two errors in his first 10 games, but was flawless over his season's final 25 contests, including the entire month of May.

1998 — In his first season in Colorado, he matched his career .276 average and totaled his second most homers and RBI…defensively, he ranked third among NL second basemen with a .987 fielding mark…he singled in his first Rockies at-bat, Opening Day March 31 at Arizona…Laser hit safely in 15 of his first 16 games; he notched three four-hit contests over a span of four games, April 8-11...he built a 12-game hitting streak, April 4-16 (25-for-54, .463)...Mike belted his first homer as a Rockie April 22 at Florida, a go-ahead shot; on the season, seven of his 12 homers either tied the game or put Colorado in front...his average stood at .327 entering May...then he went into a 6-for-47 slide and wound up hitting just .160 (16-for-100) in May ...Lansing opened the second half July 10 vs. San Francisco with three hits, including a double, and two RBI setting the tone for a strong second half; he hit at a .299 clip after the break with eight homers, 40 RBI and 25 doubles in 69 games...Mike also made just two errors, and none after Aug. 7 (his final 42 games)...in August, he hit .301 and built a nine-game hitting streak, Aug. 6-16, in which he collected six multi-hit games...on Sept. 6 vs. San Diego, Lansing registered his first career inside-the-park homer, off Scott Sanders, the second at Coors Field and fourth by a Rockies player...on Sept. 22 vs. Arizona, his three homers tied a single-game club record; he became the first at Coors Field to homer three times...the homers also marked a career high, his first multi-homer game as a Rockie and the fourth of his career (including a two-homer effort June 18, 1996 at Coors Field as an Expo)...Lansing had a better mark with men in scoring position (.285) than his overall .276 average; with two outs and MISP, he hit .304.

1997 — In his most productive season, he set career highs in doubles (45), homers (20), and RBI (70), all records by a Montreal second baseman...he finished third in the league with a .987 fielding mark...in the sixth inning at San Francisco May 7 he homered twice and drove in five runs, becoming the first modern NL second baseman to homer twice in the same inning, and only the second all-time in the NL (Bobby Lowe, Boston Bean Eaters, May 30, 1894)...his third career multi-homer game came May 25 vs. Pittsburgh...he got his second career five-hit contest May 18 vs. the Dodgers...he hit .347 (35-for-101) in July, la career-best 15 straight games July 12-27 (26-for-61, .426)...he also had a 14-game streak August 15-29...Mike batted second in all of his 143 starts...he missed four games at Philadelphia, April 17-20, with the flu, then missed nine starts, Aug. 1-10, with a strained rib muscle.

1996 — Lansing started all but three games, despite injuries to his back, knee, wrist and both Achilles' tendons...he set a career high with 183 hits, and tied his personal best with 23 steals...he batted .311 on the road, sixth in the league...he batted second in all of his 159 starts...he started at shortstop June 11 vs. the Marlins, his first such assignment since May 22, 1994 at Pittsburgh...Mike registered his first career two-homer game June 18 at Coors Field, and drove in a career-best seven runs; he got a three-run homer off Bryan Rekar and capped his night with a grand slam off Darren Holmes...he collected his 500th hit Aug. 3 vs. Cincinnati.

1995 — Mike led the Expos with 62 RBI...he missed 14 games, May 31–June 15, with a strained right hamstring...his .991 fielding percentage was third in the loop...he belted his first career grand slam May 23 vs. San Diego's Andy Ashby...he stole 17 straight bases without being caught.

1994 — After the Expos dealt Delino DeShields to Los Angeles, Lansing opened the year as Montreal's staring second baseman...he started the season as Montreal's leadoff hitter, too, but after 32 starts he was moved to the lower third of the lineup...he fanned once every 11.8 at-bats, the fifth best ratio in the league.

David Gonzales

1993 — Mike earned a spot on Montreal's Opening Day roster and made 74 starts at third, 15 at second and 34 at shortstop...he recorded his first major-league hit in his big-league debut, April 7 vs. Cincinnati's Dwayne Henry...his first major league homer came off the Rockies' Steve Reed at Mile High Stadium April 9, in Colorado's inaugural home opener; he also picked on the Rockies for his first career five-hit game, April 11 also at Mile High...he had six consecutive hits, including three doubles, at Florida, Sept. 29-30.

1992 — The Eastern League's All-Star shortstop, Mike received from Baseball America the circuit's second-best prospect honors, behind the Mets' Bobby Jones...after the season Lansing played in the Arizona Fall League.

1991 — Lansing led his independent Miami Miracle club in hits (110), RBI (55) and total bases (162), and tied for the club high in doubles (20) and triples (7)...Montreal purchased his contract following the season, one year before his major league debut in 1993.

1990 — At the time, independent minor league clubs participated in the June draft following the fourth round, and the Miami Miracle chose Lansing with its sixth-round choice.

Personal: Michael Thomas Lansing...Mike and his wife, Kathleen, married Thanksgiving Day, 1997...with their son Dustin and daughter Kendal, the family lives in Morrison, Colo. during the season...a 1986 graduate of Natrona County High School in Casper, Wyo., Lansing became the third major-leaguer from Casper (Tom Browning, Mike Devereaux)...he attended Wichita State University and was named to the 1989 All-Missouri Valley Conference team...the shortstop on the Shockers' 1989 NCAA Championship club, he led Division I players in runs scored (101) and finished fifth in hits (107)...his nickname is Laser...after the 1999 season, on October 30, Lansing helped break ground on an Adams County T-ball complex, in which he donated a portion of his salary to build; one of the first of its kind in the nation, the facility is part of the Rockies Youth Fields Program.

Chris LATHAM

Outfielder

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 205 B/T: S/R Age: 26 (turns 27 on May 26)
Born: 5/26/73 in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho
Residence: Las Vegas, Nev.
Major League Service: 155 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the Minnesota Twins for RHP Scott Randall, Dec. 7, 1999.

Career Summary: Chris Latham embarks on his 10th professional season; he's played in more than 3,000 games...the switch-hitting outfielder has spent parts of the last three years in the majors...he comes to Tucson expected to compete for a reserve outfielder role...and that competition figures to be fierce, because he's one of three Rockies outfielders (Gibson and Clemente) competing for that role who is out of transaction options, meaning he cannot be assigned to Triple-A Colorado Springs unless he first clears waivers...and whether he winds up with the Rockies or not, Latham's chances of playing a full season in the majors are great...the speedy outfielder has toiled at Triple-A for all or parts of the last five seasons and he's only 26...his numbers haven't fallen off, either; they've improved...a career .294 minor league hitter, he's averaged 200 total bases per year at Triple-A Salt Lake over the past three seasons...from 1998-99, he's batted .323 (245-for-759)...he's explosive, too...last year 38 percent of his hits went for extra bases, including a club leading eight triples...Latham fits the mold of the kind of players the Rockies new regime wants because he's more of an athletic, line-drive hitter who gets on base, rather than a pure power hitter...Chris is swift for his size; that speed is manifested in his above-average range in the outfield, and aggressiveness on the basepaths... he's made 374 stolen-base attempts in his pro career (42 per season)...he swiped three bags in two minor league contests...if Latham can turn his Triple-A success into consistent major league play, he could prove a valuable asset to a Rockies team that has always relied heavily on a productive bench.

1999 — Latham made his first career Opening Day roster and made 12 appearances, four starts, before the Twins outrighted him May 21 to Salt Lake (AAA), where he spent the remainder of the year...on June 11 at Oklahoma City, he recorded a season-high five hits...he stole three bases June 12 at new Orleans...on July 19 at New Orleans, he drove in three runs, a season-high...from July 24-Aug. 8, he compiled a 15-game hitting streak (22-for-63, .349)...Chris closed the Triple-A campaign by hitting safely in 16 of his last 17 games, Aug. 21-Sept. 6, including a homer in three straight contests, Sept. 1-3...Latham led the Buzz, who finished five games above .500, in triples and stolen bases.

1998 — Chris began the year in Salt Lake, but drew attention from Twins management when he hit safely in 11 of his first 13 games...Minnesota recalled him April 29 for a one-month stay, before optioning him back to the Buzz, May 30...however, the big-league club brought him back Aug. 1 and he played in five more games before Minnesota optioned him back to Triple-A, Aug. 8...on Aug. 22 vs. Tucson, he blasted a grand slam and his four RBI were his season high...overall at Salt Lake, Latham batted .312 with two homers vs. LHP and .328 with nine homers vs. RHP...he also hit .418 with runners in scoring position and .455 with the bases loaded...he was successful on 85 percent of his steal attempts (29-for-34), finished tied for third in the PCL with 29 steals, and eighth in batting (.324)...Chris returned to Minneapolis after the Salt Lake season, Sept. 8 and remained with the Twins over the season's final three weeks...he hit safely in four of five big-league games from Sept. 23-27...on Sept. 23 vs. the White Sox, he delivered the game winning RBi with a 12th-inning single...three days later, Sept. 26 vs. Cleveland, he posted his first major league home run, off Dave Burba at the Metrodome.

1997 — After opening his second straight year at Triple-A, Chris got his first major league recall April 11...he made his debut at Kansas City the next day...four days later, on April 16 vs. Anaheim, he collected his first major league hit, a double off Alan Watson...the Twins optioned him back to Salt Lake May 1 and he reached safely in 21 straight games, May 8-28...he drove in five runs Aug. 14 at Albuquerque, his former club...Chris also built a pair of 11-game hitting streaks...in the leadoff role, he batted .352 (62-for-176)...recalled Sept. 1, he made four starts for the Twins in center and finished the year with them.

1996 — In his first full season in the Minnesota organization, Latham opened at Triple-A...he stole three bases June 9 vs. Colorado Springs...he suffered a broken left wrist Aug. 30, a season-ending injury...Chris batted .318 in the leadoff spot and was successful in 76 percent of his stolen-base attempts (26-for-35).

1995 — Latham parlayed an outstanding Single-A start into trips up to Double- and Triple-A...at Vero Beach (A), he earned the Topps Florida State League Player of the Month after stealing 19 bases in May...a league all-star, he was second in stolen bases and stolen-base percentage (.792)...Baseball America tabbed him the best and fastest baserunner, most exciting player in the FSL...he went to San Antonio (AA) on June 26 and spent the season's final week with Albuquerque (AAA)...his combined 90 walks drawn were sixth in all of minor league ball...his 54 combined steals ranked ninth...the player to be named in the trading-deadline deal that sent Kevin Tapani to the Dodgers, Chris played in the Arizona Fall League following the season...he underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right shoulder (Dr. John Steubs), Nov. 8.

1994 — Chris spent the season in both the California League (named fastest baserunner by Baseball America) and the Northwest League (All-Star Game MVP)...he earned the NWL's batting title (.340) and also paced the circuit in runs, hits and triples...his 61 steals were sixth in the entire minors.

1993 — Latham successfully converted from second base to the outfield at Yakima (A)...he was promoted to Bakersfield (A) Aug. 27.

1991 — Chris launched his pro career as a second baseman with in the Gulf Coast League.

Personal: Christopher Joseph Latham...he and his wife, Sarah, have two children: Christopher (4) and Alexis (1)...a 1991 graduate of Basic Tech (Nev.) High School, he played baseball and football...he earned his teams' Most Valuable Player honors in both his sophomore and junior seasons...his father, William Sledge, played in the Phillies system during the 1960s...signed by Dodgers scout Gail Henley.

Career Transactions

Selected by Los Angeles in the 11th round of the 1991 June draft...traded by Dodgers to Minnesota, Oct. 30, 1995, completing a deal in which the Twins traded pitchers Mark Guthrie and Keven Tapanin to Los Angeles for INF Ron Coomer, pitchers Greg Hansell and Jose Parra and a PTBN, July 31, 1995...acquired by the Colorado Rockies for RHP Scott Randall, Dec. 7, 1999.

Baseball 101: Runs Batted In 10.04 (a) Credit the batter with a run batted in for every run which reaches home base because of the batter's safe hit, sacrifice bunt, sacrifice fly, infield out or fielder's choice; or which is forced over the plate by reason of the batter becoming a runner with the bases full (on a base on balls, or an award of first base for being touched by a pitched ball, or for interference or obstruction). (1) Credit a run batted in for the run scored by the batter who hits a home run. Credit a run batted in for each runner who is on base when the home run is hit and who scores ahead of the batter who hits the home run. (2) Credit a run batted in for the run scored when, before two are out, an error is made on a play on which a runner from third base ordinarily would score. (b) Do not credit a run batted in when the batter grounds into a force double play or a reverse force double play. (c) Do not credit a run batted in when a fielder is charged with an error because he muffs a throw at first base which would have completed a force double play. (d) Scorer's judgment must determine whether a run batted in shall be credited for a run which scores when a fielder holds the ball, or throws to a wrong base. Ordinarily, if the runner keeps going, credit a run batted in; if the runner stops and takes off again when he notices the misplay, credit the run as scored on a fielder's choice.

Aaron LEDESMA

Infielder

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 200 B/T: R/R Age: 28 (turns 29 on June 3)
Born: 6/3/71 in Union City, Calif.
Residence: Tierra Verde, Fla.
Major League Service: Two years, 132 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from Tampa Bay in a nine-player deal at the winter meetings, Dec. 13, 1999, the first four-team transaction since 1985...along with Ledesma, the Rockies received RHP Roland Arrojo from the Devil Rays and INF Jeff Cirillo and LHP Scott Karl from Milwaukee...in turn, Colorado sent INF Vinny Castilla to the Devil Rays, C Henry Blanco and RHP Jamey Wright to the Brewers and RHP Justin Miller to Oakland...the A's then dealt RHP Jimmy Haynes to Milwaukee.

Career Summary: Aaron Ledesma joins his fifth organization and begins his 11th season in pro ball, his fifth in the majors...the infielder is the epitome of versatility...arguably the most versatile active infielder in the majors, he is the only player in either league who has started at every infield position during each of the last two seasons (he appeared at all four in 1997 with Baltimore)...Aaron has the inside track at a reserve infielder's role with the Rockies; he'll compete this spring with a few veteran non-roster infielders for that position...Ledesma (luh-DEZ-mah) came to the Devil Rays in the 1997 expansion draft, along with former Rockies Quinton McCracken and Bryan Rekar...McCracken (18) and Ledesma (16) own Tampa Bay's two longest career hitting streaks...an outstanding two-strike hitter, Aaron in 1998 led the majors with a .458 average (11-for-24) on an 0-2 count, the highest mark since STATS, Inc. began tracking the category (minimum 24 ABs) in 1989...he also in '98 ranked second in the AL by hitting .301 with two strikes...and, that season, he was third in the majors hitting .316 (48-for-152) when behind in the count...Aaron's previously worked in the organizations of the Rays, Orioles, Angels and Mets, who drafted him in the second round of the 1990 June draft...he's battled shoulder injuries since his early days in the Mets system...despite hitting .265 (78-for-294) in 1999, his career average is still an even .300 (214-for-714) in 252 big-league games...he's not a power hitter, or a burner...Ledesma hasn't hit a homer since Sept. 26, 1997 with the Orioles, at Milwaukee; he enters 2000 with a 186-game, 593-at-bat drought...what's more, he has two career homers and 11 career steals...but the Rockies aren't asking him to compete for awards named after Mel Ott or Lou Brock...Ledesma's best assets are in his defense and his clutch hitting.

1999 — Aaron encountered some bad luck late in spring and opened the season on the disabled list...he returned May 12 and hit .265 in 93 games...Ledesma hit 12 points better (.277) with RISP than his overall average...a victim of the mysterious '99 Tropicana Field hex, which also hounded Rolando Arrojo, Aaron hit 40 points better on the road (.287, 23 RBI) than at home (.247, seven RBI)...Ledesma made 77 starts (13 at second, 49 at short, 10 at third, three at first and one as the DH)...he missed the season's first five weeks after dislocating his left thumb on April 3...the injury came in the seventh inning of Tampa Bay's spring training finale, while he played first base...reinstated May 12, he played four games in a rehabilitation assignment...Aaron started 50 of the Devil Rays' last 67 games, 35 at shortstop in place of an injured Kevin Stocker...on June 25 vs. Toronto, he tied a Rays record (10th time) and set a career high with four hits...on Aug. 16 at Detroit, he tied his career high with four RBI (8/30/98 also at Tiger Stadium)...his season's best month was from Aug. 3-Sept. 4, when he hit .363 (33-for-91) in 26 games, boosting his average 50 points from .226 to .276...that month included a pair of seven-game hitting streaks (Aug. 12-21 and Aug. 28-Sept. 4), his longest streaks of the year...on May 15 he snapped a career-long 16-game hitting streak, which dated back to Sept. 15, 1998 (he hit in the final 14 games of '98 and his first two of '99).

1998 — Ledesma not only set career highs, but he also bettered his career totals in several offensive categories (95 games, 299 at-bats, 30 runs, 97 hits, 16 doubles, two triples, 29 RBI and nine steals)...the best hitter on the inaugural club, he topped the Rays in seven batting areas: overall average (.324, 97-for-299), vs. RHP (.298, 64-for-215), vs. LHP (.393, 33-for-84), hitting at home (.323, 43-for-133), hitting on the road (.325, 54-for-166), with men in scoring position (.296, 21-for-71) and with the bases loaded (.556, 5-for-9)...he ended the season with a 14-game hitting streak, and extended it to 16 into the 1999 season...he moved into the lineup at shortstop Aug. 29 after Kevin Stocker (broken hand) was lost for the year...Aaron hit .303 (30-for-99) from that point, starting 25 of the team's last 29 games...Ledesma hit safely in 57 of 69 starts...he made 48 starts at short, 16 at second, three at third base, one at first base and one at DH.

1997 — He made his AL debut, with Baltimore and made 18 starts (43 games), batting .352...Aaron appeared at all four infield positions, primarily second base (22 games)...he had 10 multi-hit games for the Orioles...on July 20 vs. the White Sox, he replaced Cal Ripken at third base and notched his first two AL hits...Ledesma hit his first major league home run Aug.17 vs. Anaheim, a solo shot off Allen Watson...he was fourth in the International League batting race (.325) when Baltimore recalled him.

1996 — Aaron spent the season with the Angels' Triple-A club, Vancouver...he returned to shortstop (93 games) after playing most of the '95 season at third base due to a shoulder injury.

1995 — The infielder made his major league debut June 28 with the Mets, and delivered a pinch single in his first at-bat, off Cincinnati's John Smiley...after being recalled by the Mets from Norfolk on June 28, recorded a pinch-hit single in his first major league at-bat, off Cincinnati's John Smiley...Aaron went 3-for-5 in his first career start, July 7...he played 10 games at third base, two at shortstop, and two at first base.

1994 — The Norfolk Most Valuable Player, he led the Tides in hits and tied Butch Huskey for the club's most RBI...he did not play in the field after a strained right rotator cuff, Aug. 8.

1992 — He tied a St. Lucie team record for games played with 134, and led Florida State League shortstops with 641 total chances and 79 double plays.

1991 — Ledesma started the season on the disabled list with a broken right hand...activated May 24, he broke his foot June 26 and missed the rest of the '91 campaign.

1990 — He launched his professional career with the Mets' Rookie affiliate at Kingsport...an Appalachian League and Topps All-Star, he finished second in the league in steals.

Personal: Aaron David Ledesma...he and wife, Kersten, have a one-year-old son, Samuel...Aaron met Kersten, a foreign exchange student from Germany, while he played at Norfolk and she attended Old Dominion University...Ledesma earned JC All-America honors at Chabot College in 1990...he graduated from James Logan (Calif.) High School in 1989, batting .488 as a senior.

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 202 B/T: R/R Age: 27
Born: 3/12/71 in Pittsburgh, Pa.
Residence: Pittsburgh, Pa.
Major League Service: 120 days

How Obtained: Selected in the 23rd round of the 1995 June draft.

Career Summary: David Lee in 1999 went from just another minor league reliever to one of the Rockies' best major league pitchers, and certainly the one with the brightest future...his season represented one of the best by a rookie pitcher in franchise history...Colorado's 23rd-round selection in the 1995 June draft, Lee became the 22nd player cultivated in the Rockies system to make his major league debut...with so many new, veteran relievers acquired over the off-season, the Rockies may want Lee to get more work at Triple-A, where he's pitched only six games, all during a short stint in 1999...in fact, he's only seen 22 appearances above the Single-A level...he was so dominating at Double-A over the first month last year that he leap-frogged the next level in order to make his major league debut in May...if Lee does open in the minors, the Rockies may ask him to return to the closer's role...he's saved 68 games in a little more than three minor league seasons...there's nothing within sight to slow down David...his unique, side-arm delivery throws off most hitters, and freezes the rest...and his mental approach is unwavering...not many young pitchers, especially those who just jumped Triple-A, can take a blow on the chin in their major league debut and rebound to the level of consistency Lee showed in 1999...rest assured, wherever he pitches in 2000, the new century is incredibly bright for David Lee.

1999 — Over the winter, Lee earned his first spot on a major league 40-man roster...he went to spring training and made such a good impression on Jim Leyland that the manager asked him to make the jump from Double-A to the major leagues in May...Lee also helped in the Rockies' decision with his performance at Carolina (AA), where he opened the year...when the Rockies recalled him from Double-A May 20 and optioned Roberto Ramirez, Lee was second in the Southern League with 10 saves, preserving 10 of Carolina's 19 wins; in 16 games, he was 0-0 with a 1.04 ERA, three walks and 16 strikeouts...in that big-league debut, May 22 vs. Arizona, his first batter faced, (Jay Bell) turned Lee's third major league pitch into a three-run homer...Lee walked his next batter, Luis Gonzalez, before ending the inning with his first major league strikeout, Matt Williams swinging...after the Bell home run, Lee turned in 5.1 scoreless innings, and he wouldn't allow another homer until July 4...his roughest outing of the year came June 5 vs. Milwaukee, who touched him for four earned runs, raising his ERA from 1.59 to 6.75...four days later, the Rockies optioned him to Triple-A Colorado Springs for his first experience at that level...David earned his way back to the majors by allowing only one baserunner in 5.2 innings with the Sky Sox...his two and-a-half weeks with Colorado Springs (0-0, 0.00 ERA, six games, three saves, no hits, one walk, seven Ks) represented his only time with that club in 1999...on June 27, the Rockies recalled David and he spent the remainder of the season in a Colorado uniform...shortly after his second recall, from July 3 to August 13, Lee fanned at least one batter in 14 consecutive appearances (21 strikeouts)...his first 6.1 innings on the road in 1999 were scoreless, but Cincinnati snapped the string July 15...overall on the road, Lee posted the staff's best ERA, 0.93, in 14 games...from July 27 to August 15, Lee retired 23 of his 25 batters faced...on September 14 vs. New York, Lee fanned a career-high four batters...he allowed one run in that appearance, the only time opponents scored on him over his last seven outings (1.00 ERA, 9.0 ip)...over a longer stretch, David closed the season allowing only two earned runs in 11 appearances, a 1.46 ERA (12.1 ip)...in his first major league tour, he went 0-0 with a 7.04 ERA in six appearances; after his second recall, June 27, he went 3-2 with a 3.62 ERA (13 er, 32.1 ip)...more than half of his 19 earned runs (10) came in just three appearances (all at Coors), June 5 vs. Milwaukee (4), and in back-to-back appearances July 4 vs. San Diego (3) and July 8 vs. Los Angeles (3)...in his other 33 appearances, Lee's ERA was 1.85 (9 er, 43.2 ip); and, in his other 19 appearances at Coors Field, Lee's ERA was 2.96 (8 er, 24.1 ip)...over his final 16 appearances at Coors Field, Lee was 2-2 with a 2.57 ERA (6 er, 21.0 ip) and 16 strikeouts.

1998 — David led the Rockies organization and finished third in the Carolina League with 25 saves...he posted more than 20 saves for the second straight season...Lee allowed just two homers over his 57.1 innings and struck out 54 while walking only 15...he saved six in his first nine appearances...he had an eight-game stretch, May 6-22 in which he was 2-0 with five saves and allowed just one hit and no runs over 9.1 innings...Lee finished the year with six saves over his last 10 games, including saves in his final three outings of the year...he pitched well vs. the eventual league champ, Wilmington; in eight appearances vs. the Blue Rocks he saved four games, walked two and struck out eight in 7.1 innings.

1997 — Lee finished second among league relievers in saves (22) and appearances (51).

1996 — In his first pro season, the organization named him Portland's MVP after he went 5-1 with seven saves in just 17 games...he earned a promotion to Salem (A) in early August and in eight relief appearances he saved one game.

1995 — Drafted by the Rockies in the 23rd round of the June draft , David couldn't pitch because of a strained right elbow.

Personal: David Emmer Lee...a 1991 graduate of Pittsburgh's Langley High School, he lettered in baseball, basketball and golf...he attended the College of Allegheny County in Pittsburgh, where he was a baseball JC All-American for two years before transferring to Mercyhurst College in Erie, Pa. ...David and his wife, Traci, make their home in Pittsburgh....signed by Rockies scout Ed Santa.

Belvani MARTINEZ 63

Infielder

Ht: 5-11 Wt: 172 B/T: R/R Age: 21 (turns 22 on Dec. 14)
Born: 12/14/78 in Palenque, Dominican Republic
Residence: Palenque, Domincan Republic
Major League Service: none
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the Arizona organization for INF/OF Lenny Harris, Aug. 31, 1999.

Career Summary: The Rockies consider the fact that Belvani Martinez is now in their organization a major coup...Colorado and Arizona made the deal in order to give Lenny Harris, a respected veteran, a chance at going to the postseason with Arizona...before the club hired Dan O'Dowd, Director of Baseball Administration Tony Siegle and former Pro Scouting Director Jeff Schugel engineered the trade, giving the Rockies an infielder whom many scouts regarded as one of the top five players in the Arizona system...Martinez could open the year at Double-A Carolina, but wherever he plays this year, the Rockies are as excited about him as they are about any player in their organization...baseball insiders believe Belvani could develop into a five-tool player, although his defense needs to improve (33 errors in 1999)...one of the fastest players in the Rockies chain, he's swiped 98 bases in 148 attempts in three and-a-half seasons (Martinez has averaged one steal attempt for every two games played).

1999 — Martinez at age 20 played his fourth professional season in the Diamondbacks organization...at High Desert (A), he finished fourth in the Cal League batting race (.333) and third in hits (159)...he also tallied 84 runs scored, 39 extra-base hits and 35 steals in 109 games...Belvani earned All-Star recognition, as well as the league's Hitter of the Week award..with only a few days left in the California League season, the Rockies after acquiring Martinez sent him home to the Dominican Republic, then added him to their 40-man roster Nov. 18...he played this winter for Escogido of the Dominican Winter League.

1998 — Belvani split the season between the Pioneer League's Lethbridge Black Diamonds (rookie), and the Midwest Leagues' South Bend Silver Hawks...in his first taste of Single-A ball, he batted .250 with five steals in 18 games...at Lethbridge, despite his early departure, Martinez's 30 steals were good enough for fourth in the circuit; he batted .305 with 19 extra-base hits in 63 games.

1997 — Martinez made two rookie-level stops: Peoria in the Arizona League and Lethbridge in the Pioneer League...at Lethbridge, from July 15-Aug. 1, Belvani doubled in six straight contests, tying for the longest such '97 streak in all of minor league baseball...he combined at both stops to hit .330 (74-for-224) with 15 doubles, three triples, six homers, 24 RBI and 11 steals.

1996 — The young prospect began his pro career near his home, at Boca Chica in the Domincan Summer League.

Personal — Belvani Martinez...on Nov. 22, 1995, he signed as a non-drafted free agent at age 16...signed by Arizona's Latin America coordinator, Junior Noboa.

Brent MAYNE

Catcher

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 192 B/T: L/R Age: 31 (turns 32 on April 19)
Born: 4/19/68 in Loma Linda, Calif.
Residence: Corona Del mar, Calif.
Major League Service: Nine years, 11 days
Contract: First year of a two-year contract, through 2001 (2002 mutual option)

How Obtained: Signed as a free agent, Dec. 9, 1999.

Career Summary: Brent Mayne joins his fifth organization and embarks on his 11th season in the majors...he has the best shot at starting behind the plate on Opening Day...Mayne's playing time will depend on the direction in which the organization chooses to go with Ben Petrick...but wherever Petrick opens, Mayne figures to play a significant role in 2000...a career .265 hitter, all 20 of his home runs have come off RHP...Mayne becomes the fifth catcher on a Rockies major league roster who played previously for the Giants (Scott Servais will become the sixth if he makes the club)...like Brent, Jeff Reed had 20 career home runs when he joined the Rockies after the '96 season; Reed then hit 25 in his first two seasons in Colorado (1996-97), in only 206 games...Brent also has two things in common with his hitting coach, Clint Hurdle; the two were both drafted in the first round, and both selected by Kansas City...the reliable left-handed hitter has never spent time on a major league disabled list.

1999 — In his 10th major league season, Brent enjoyed his best all-around campaign...his games played (117), average (.301), runs scored (39), hits (97), RBI (39) and doubles (32) were all career highs...he not only topped .300 for the first time, but he also kept his average above .300 for most of the season (it fell below only four times after May 9)...no other NL catcher had as many doubles (36), 21 more than the previous year, and twice as many as his previous career best, 18 in 1995 with the Royals...fittingly, his double Sept. 25 vs. Arizona established for the Giants a club record, 293...off the bench, Mayne led the club with seven pinch-base hits (7-for-18, .389, four RBI)...only Mike Lieberthal (.997) among NL catchers had a better fielding percentage than Brent's .995 (644 total chances, three errors)...he caught 25 percent of base stealers (23-of-92)...on Sept. 14 vs. Florida, he hit his season's second home run; it snapped a string of 176 at-bats since the year's first home run, June 2 at Philadelphia (Paul Byrd)...the Philly homer, his first since July 15, 1998 at LA, halted a 238-at-bat homerless string...on Aug. 6 at Atlanta, he equaled a career-high with four hits (4-for-4), his third four-hit effort of the year...on July 26 vs. St. Louis, he went 4-for-5 and tied a franchise record with three doubles...and, in the home opener vs. San Diego, he was 4-for-5...in May he hit .357 (20-for-56)...during a seven-game hitting streak in the month, he boosted his average 60 points...the Giants' Opening Day catcher (April 5 at Cincinnati), Mayne became the club's fourth such catcher in four years (Kirt Manwaring in 1996, Rick Wilkins in '97 and Brian Johnson in '98).

1998 — Mayne platooned with Brian Johnson, starting 72 of 94 games...Brent started exclusively during Johnson's two trips to the DL, May 4-19 and July 22-Aug. 6...he made his Giants debut April 1 in Houston, going 3-for-4...he touched Jon Lieber April 21 at Pittsburgh for a two-run homer, Mayne's first '98 home run...on May 6 at Florida, he blasted his second career grand slam (Antonio Alfonseca); the seventh-inning shot tied the game and came four years after his first slam (May 5, 1994 at Toronto)...he collected three hits (a career high at the time) on four occasions...on July 15 at Dodger Stadium, he clubbed his third home run (Darren Dreifort), a game-tying shot; Brent later drove in the game-winning run in the sixth...during the one-game playoff Sept. 28 at Chicago, he went 2-for-2; his pinch single in the seventh ended Steve Trachsel's no-hitter...Mayne on the season threw out 20.9 percent of base thieves (14-for-67).

1997 — Brent went to spring training with Seattle, but was released March 28...signed by the Oakland organization April 8, Mayne joined the A's, who purchased his contract, April 17...he posted career bests in

Contract: First year of a three-year contract, through 2002 (2003 club option)

How Obtained: Acquired from the Milwaukee Brewers for RHP Curtis Leskanic, Nov. 17, 1999.

Career Summary: Mike Myers over the last few seasons has established himself as one of the better left-handed relievers in the majors...his acquisition gives the bullpen the NL's top LH setup man, and top RH setup man in Jerry Dipoto, with respect to a key effectiveness indicator: inherited runners scored...last season Myers finished second to Dipoto (87.5) by stranding 84.6 percent of his inerhited runners (66 of 78)...in the majors, only Cleveland's Ricardo Rincon (88.1) stranded more of his IR...what's more, in 1999 with runners in scoring position, Myers' opponents hit just .200 (10-for-50) against him...Myers was arguably the most significant off-season addition to the revamped Colorado relief corps...in 1998, he quietly led the NL with 23 relief holds; he has 73 career relief holds and only 11 blown saves in 325 relief appearances....especially in Colorado, there's probably not a more important, or more ominous role, than the assignment the Rockies will mostly give to Myers: retire lefties in close games at Coors...everyone knows Coors Field's reputation...but left-handed hitters (.333), from 1997-99 at Coors, have hit 22 points better than right-handers (.311)...last year, Denver lefties hit 24 points better...Myers has proven he can get left-handers out...over his career, Mike has held LHB to a .213 average (83-for-389) with 130 strikeouts; he's averaged one strikeout for every three LHB faced...last year, lefties hit him at only a .188 clip (15-for-80)...in fact, over the last two years, against Myers lefties have hit .176 (26-for-148), including .162 in 1998...Mike pitched two seasons (1996-97) under Buddy Bell in Detroit, and saved six games and fanned 69 hitters, both career highs, in '96...in those two seasons, Bell called on Myers 171 times, a two-year American League appearance record...originally a fourth-round selection by the Giants in 1990, Mike joins his fifth organization, including Florida, Detroit, Milwaukee and now Colorado...he has five seasons of major league experience...all of his 325 career appearances are in relief...no doubt, he will make Rockies games more exciting this year; his ability to retire lefties increases the chess-match drama of Bell and his managerial counterpart.

1999 — Used primarily against LHB, Myers tied for the club lead with 71 appearances (Bob Wickman)...only 15.4 percent of his inherited runners scored, the second lowest mark in the league; he allowed an inherited runner to cross the plate in just nine of 71 games...he stranded 28 of his last 32 inherited...on June 12 vs. Minnesota, he hurled a career-high 2.1 innings...Mike worked 1.0 or more innings in 25 percent of his games (18 of 71)...he worked just one-third of an inning in 30 appearances (42 percent)...and, he logged 2.0 or more innings four times...in August, he allowed only one run in 12 appearances in August, compiling a 1.23 ERA...on Aug. 21 vs. San Francisco, the Giants snapped his season high 6.1 scoreless innings streak...on Sept. 8 vs. Arizona, he struck out four batters, a career best...over his final 38 games (21.1 innings), he allowed eight runs, a 3.38 ERA...overall, his 41.1 innings of work on the year were his lowest since he joined the Brewers bullpen full-time in 1996.

1998 — Myers paced the NL with 23 relief holds...he walked only 22 batters in 50.0 innings, 3.6 per nine innings...he tossed 1.1 hitless innings for the win, April 2 vs. Atlanta, his first win since Sept.r 2, 1996 at Comiskey Park...from Opening Day to May 20, he allowed only one run in 16.2 innings...on May 16 at Coors Field, he struck out Larry Walker to post his first save since May 27, 1997 vs. Anaheim...however, he did not allow an earned run from May 26-July 16 (22 appearances)...his first loss came at Comiskey June 28, when he allowed three unearned runs...his ERA was perfect in June (10.0 innings, 11 appearances)...he brought a 0.58 ERA into the All-Star break, but compiled a 6.16 mark after it...opponents hit .249 against him...left-handers hit .162 (11-for-68)...16 of his 46 inherited runners (35 percent) scored.

1997 — His 88 games were two shy of the American League appearance record; he did establish a Tiger club record for the second straight season, bettering his 83 in 1996...his 88 games were 10 more than any other AL hurler...he allowed four runs in his final 18 games (13.0l ip, 2.77 ERA)...he began the season with seven consecutive scoreless outings...on May 18 at Kansas City, he induced Bip Roberts to ground out with the bases loaded for his first save.

1996 — Myers (83) broke the club appearance record held by Guillermo Hernandez, who pitched in 80 games for the Tigers '84 World Series champions...the 83 games also set a major league rookie record for (Mitch Williams, Texas, 80 in 1986)...lefties hit .229 (27-for-118) against him...he was also tough on first batters faced...he retired 37 of his final 41 first batters faced (90 percent), and 67 of 83 overall (81 percent)...Mike stranded 79 percent (60 of 76) of inherited runners...he was the pen's only left-hander until July 31...he struck out a batter in each of his final nine games, despite pitching just 5.2 total innings.

1995 — Myers pitched for four teams in four leagues, including Florida and Detroit...he spent most of the season at Triple-A...he made Florida's Opening Day roster and made his major league debut in the opener; he threw 1.0 scoreless innings vs. Los Angeles...optioned to Charlotte (AAA) May 6, he pitched there until the Tigers acquired him Aug. 8 (the PTBN in the Buddy Groom trade)...he made 11 relief appearances for the Tigers, including his first major league win, Sept. 19 vs. Baltimore.

1994 — After beginning at Triple-A Edmonton, he made one start before landing on the disabled list April 13 (left elbow bone spurs)...he opened a rehab assignment July 11 with Brevard County (A)...he earned his only victory vs. Colorado Springs.

1993 — At Edmonton (AAA), he posted a team-high 27 starts, tied for second in the PCL.

1992 — He split the season between the Giants' Single-A affiliates, Clinton and San Jose...combined at the two stops, he was 6-3 with a 1.85 ERA..Mike allowed just one home run during the entire season (92.1 innings)...the homer came in his last outing, August 30.

1991 — A Midwest League All-Star, he helped Clinton clinch the Midwest League championship.

1990 — Myers launched his career in the Northwest League with Everett.

Personal: Michael Stanley Myers...he and his wife, Robyn, have two sons, Christian and Daryl...a graduate of Crystal Lake Central (Ill.) High School, Myers lettered in baseball, basketball and soccer...he attended Iowa State University (1988-90) and earned 1989 All-Big Eight honors in baseball ...he helped Team USA win a silver medal in the 1989 IBA Presidential Cup in Taiwan...he won a gold medal with Team USA at the 1987 U.S. Olympic Festival...his favorite musician is Clint Black, favorite food is lobster...he grew up a Cubs fan and Steve Carlton was his favorite pitcher...the person he admires most outside of baseball is his wife, Robyn...he rolled a perfect game at the 1999 Jeff Cirillo Celebrity Bowling Tournament...this winter, he participated on the Rockies Winter Caravan, making stops around the region...signed by Giants scout Bill Parese.

How Obtained: Signed as a non-drafted free agent, Nov. 9, 1992.

Career Summary: Excluding first basemen and catchers, only Craig Biggio has fielded more total chances than Neifi Perez in the NL over the last two years…in the most prolific hitter's park in baseball history, batters hit most of their ground balls in the shortstop's direction, and a competent Perez fills that all-too important role…he has arguably the strongest arm of any NL infielder, and complements it with above-average range…Neifi (NAY-fee) also has the speed to reach the shallow drives into the outfield…at the plate in 1999, like Todd Helton, Perez improved his numbers in every major area, compared to his first full season…Neifi figures to bat second or seventh in the order (he hit .302, 60-for-199, from the No. 2 spot last year)… but one thing's certain: he won't get many leadoff starts with the signing of Tom Goodwin…even before the Darryl Hamilton trade in 1999, the Rockies thrusted him into that role…and while he accepted the assignment, he compiled the lowest on-base percentage of any No. 1 hitter in the league last year…the switch-hitter is an excellent bunter, a skill perfect for the Rockies' No. 2 slot because of the need to manufacture runs on the road…the franchise's all-time leader, he has 37 career sacrifice bunts; in 1998 he posted 20 bunt singles to lead the NL and also topped the majors with a club-record 22 sacrifice hits, the most in the big leagues since 1993 when the Dodgers' Jose Offerman dropped 25…Perez is the toughest on the club to double up or strike out…Neifi in his career has averaged 108 plate appearances per double play grounded into, and 10.5 trips per strikeout…he's exciting, too…on July 25, 1998, he became the first NL shortstop to hit for the cycle since Houston's Andujar Cedeño, Aug. 25, 1992…exactly four years after Cedeño, Perez hit for his first professional cycle at Triple-A Colorado Springs (Aug. 25, 1996)…and he's the single-season (11 in 1999) and all-time club triples leader…the fact that Neifi is on the verge of becoming one of the NL's premier shortstops is testament to the importance of international scouting…more than six months before the major league club began play, the Rockies' first impression of Perez was not as a baseball player, but as an athletic point guard; he was playing for the Domincan Republic's Junior National Basketball Team…always dependable (he played in all 162 games in '98), Perez looks for his 500th career game and 500th hit.

1999 — For the second consecutive season, Perez proved highly dependable in an important position…he also served the club as full-time leadoff hitter over the season's final three months…143 of his hits were singles, third in the league…Perez also led the club and finished fifth in the circuit with 60 multi-hit games…what's more, Neifi in 1999 shattered Rockies club records with 690 at-bats (first in the majors) and 732 plate appearances (second in the league)…in the NL only Raul Mondesi (200.3 at-bats per gidp) was harder to double-up than Perez (172.5)…and, the toughest Rockies player to fan (13.6 plate appearances per K), he was also fourth in the NL…his year opened somewhat slowly, at the plate and in the field…he tied a dubious club record with three errors in a game, April 10 at Los Angeles, but none of the three led to runs in a 2-0 pitcher's duel…with Perez hitting .254 (0-for-13 over his last three games), the Rockies flip-flopped him and Mike Lansing, shifting Perez from second to seventh in the order…in his first game there,

Most consecutive errorless games by a Rockies infielder, 1993-99

Player	Games	Consecutive Total Chances	Dates
Vinny Castilla	62	161	May 16 – July 24, 1998
Kurt Abbott	55	263	June 19 – Sept. 17, 1999
Neifi Perez	53	245	June 13 – Aug. 8, 1999

April 27 at St. Louis, he answered with two hits...he added three hits in the series finale April 29, and another three May 5 at Chicago, including his first home run...he got his first 1999 taste of the leadoff spot May 9 vs. Philadelphia (replacing a hobbled Darryl Hamilton), and posted two hits and an RBI... on May 19 vs. Cincinnati, a strained left wrist forced him to miss his first game since 1997; his consecutive-game streak (267) was the third-longest in the majors at the time...on May 26, he moved back to the No. 2 slot when Lansing went on the DL for season-ending back surgery...from June 13 to August 8, Perez built a 53-game errorless streak at shortstop; the streak, from the third inning June 12 to the eighth inning August 9, covered 245 consecutive total chances...on July 2, with the club having lost eight in a row, Jim Leyland made another flip-flop, this time batting Hamilton second and Perez first...Neifi again answered with a hit (1-for-5)...in fact, in each of Perez's first 11 leadoff starts, including five in May and one in June, he hit safely...one day after trading places with Hamilton, in a split doubleheader July 3 vs. San Diego, Perez enjoyed an extraordinary offensive day...after playing 234 major league games with no more than three RBI, Perez drove in eight runs in one day...in Game 1, he homered and drove in a career-best four...in Game 2, he matched the four RBI, and added the Rockies' first 1999 grand slam, and first of his career (off Heath Murray)...on August 18 vs. Atlanta, in one of the two lowest scoring games at Coors Field of 1999, Perez delivered both a game-tying and go-ahead RBI; that night he also added his ninth homer, matching his career high...on Aug. 30, he hit his 10th homer, and on September 1, he drove in his 60th RBI, edging his respective 1998 marks...on September 14 vs. New York, Neifi tied a club record with two triples; the second of the night was his 28th in a Rockies uniform, tying Eric Young for first on the all-time list...he waited only one game to grab sole possession of the lead, tripling September 15 vs. the Mets; that triple, his third consecutive hit that went for three bags, also tied his own 1997 single-season club record (10)...he'd have No. 11 and the record by the end of the homestand, on Sept. 21 vs. Arizona; it was his final triple, as he finished tied with Bobby Abreu for first in the NL...Neifi hit safely in all 12 games of that homestand, his season's longest hitting streak...he opened the club's final road trip 0-for-17, his season's longest drought...before the spell, Perez had a strong shot at reaching the 200-hit barrier, but had only five hits in his last eight games, finishing with 193...his hits still led the club and were tied for fifth in the NL.

1998 — In Neifi's first full season, he started at shortstop in all but six games...Perez appeared in all 162 contests, becoming one of two players in club history to play in every game during a single season (Vinny Castilla, 1998)...he ranked fifth among NL shortstops with a .975 fielding mark, but topped all major-league players, across all positions, in assists (517) and led all non-first basemen in total chances (808)...Neifi opened the year hitting mostly from the No. 8 slot, but Don Baylor inserted him into the leadoff position in mid-May and the move jump-started his season...he remained in the top spot until Darryl Hamilton's August 1 arrival, when Perez shifted to the No. 2 position...he blasted a pair of leadoff homers on the year, the 13th and 14th in club history, June 2 vs. Arizona and July 21 at Houston...his defense also stepped up as he had a 29-game errorless streak, June 8–July 12...on July 25 vs. St. Louis, Perez enjoyed the best game of his career; he became the second Rockie to hit for the cycle with a double, triple, bunt single and, on an 0-1 pitch in the seventh inning, homer...the homer, his second in 273 at-bats from the left side of the plate, won the game...after moving down one spot Aug. 1, he put together a career-best 15-game hitting streak, July 27-Aug. 11 (24-for-61, .393)...he hit in 13 straight contests, Aug. 30-Sept. 12 (18-for-54, .333)...Neifi stamped an exclamation point on the Rockies season in the club's final at-bat, September 27 vs. San Francisco; he capped a seven-run comeback victory, homering off Robb Nen to break an 8-8 tie in the ninth...his first homer since he hit for the cycle two months earlier, the shot sent San Francisco to Chicago for a one-game playoff to determine the NL's wild-card playoff berth...all told, Neifi finished with nine triples to lead the Rox and tie for the third-best total in the majors.

Ryan McKee

1997 — Perez started his year at Colorado Springs but played the final three-and-a-half months in the majors...at Triple-A in 68 games he had 35 extra-base hits...an league all-star, his .975 fielding mark (eight errors in 365 total chances) was tops among PCL shortstops who played in 50 or more games...recalled June 19, he started 79 of the Rockies final 91 games, splitting time between second and short...he tied an NL record for a shortstop in a nine-inning game with five double plays, June 6 (Rafael Ramirez, 8/1/85)...he made 38 starts at short, all but five prior to the Eric Young trade August 18...he then moved to second base and made 39 starts there to finish the season...he also started twice at third base...Neifi belted his first major league homer in his first '97 start, June 20 at San Diego (Andy Ashby)...he tied the club's single-game record with two triples vs. Los Angeles, Sept. 25...Perez finished his season with a career-best five hits vs. the Dodgers in the finale Sept. 28...he hit .312 in 77 right-handed at-bats, and .284 as a lefty (236 at-bats).

1996—Neifi earned the organization's Minor League Player of the Year and a spot on the PCL All-Star team...Baseball America called him the fourth-best prospect in the PCL after the season...during a 23-game hitting streak in May, he hit .360 (36-for-100)...on Aug. 25, in a 13-inning affair at Salt Lake, Neifi fanned in his first at-bat and then hit for the cycle; he collected seven consecutive hits, the best single-game hit performance by any minor leaguer in 1996...on August 30, the Rockies purchased Neifi's contract and he made his big-league debut the next night in St. Louis, at second base...he recorded his first hit with a single off Atlanta's John Smoltz, September 12 at Coors Field.

1995—Perez opened at Triple-A, then moved to Double-A New Haven April 25...he played in all nine postseason games for the Ravens...defensively, Neifi led Eastern League shortstops in fielding pct. (.967) and tied for the top spot in double plays turned (80).

1994—Neifi landed a spot on the California League All-Star team...the busiest shortstop in the league, he finished first in total chances (650), putouts (223) and double plays (86).

1993—In his first year as a professional, Neifi debuted at Bend.

Personal: Neifi Neftali Perez (Diaz)...he is single and makes his off-season home in his native Dominican Republic...the Rockies signed him at age 17, one week before their expansion draft.

Born: 4/7/77 in Salem, Ore.
Residence: Hillsboro, Ore.
Major League Service: 33 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the second round of the 1995 June draft.

Career Summary: Given the choice, the Colorado Rockies have always considered amateur pitchers higher priority than amateur position players...always, that is, except the 1995 draft...never before or since have the Rockies taken a position player in each of the first two rounds...that year, they grabbed their current starting first baseman, Todd Helton, in the first, and an Oregon prep star named Ben Petrick in the second...and like Helton, Petrick (PEET-rick) could've gone far on the gridiron (he was his state's football player of the year as a senior)...Ben became a ball player, though, a player whom Baseball America this winter called the No. 2 prospect in the entire organization, behind Choo Freeman...at the 1999 major league All-Star festivities at Fenway Park, Petrick started at catcher for the U.S. team in the first annual Futures contest...Ben has hit at least 14 homers and driven in 50 or more runs in each of his four pro seasons...and, after a cup of coffee in the majors, Petrick for the first time arrives in Tucson on Colorado's major league roster...the Rockies will need to answer several questions this spring, and the one with the most impact on their future is the current catching situation...offensively, Petrick over the full '99 season was everything as advertised...he made 18 starts for the Rockies last September, and at one time, four of his five hits were homers...defensively, though, he struggled somewhat (two errors, three passed balls)...but Buddy Bell, who holds high regard for the catcher position, landed Fred Kendall to tutor Colorado's receivers...Kendall will spend a lot of time with Petrick this spring, and the questions about the Rockies' immediate catching future will resolve themselves by Opening Day...if Petrick is with the Rockies in Atlanta April 3, consider him a strong candidate for Rookie of the Year...with his speed and athleticism, Petrick has drawn comparisons with Jason Kendall (Fred's son)...some analysts have even tabbed him the next Craig Biggio (a former catcher)...but if Ben can bring the breakout season he enjoyed in 1999 to the next level, odds are that 10 years from now, those analysts will be searching for some other prospect, searching for the next Ben Petrick.

1999 — Ben played for three clubs on three levels, including his first major league tour...he combined at the three stops—Carolina (AA), Colorado Springs (AAA) and the Rockies—to bat .313 (129-for-412) with 27 homers and 98 RBI in 123 games...he drove in one run every 4.2 at-bats, and homered once every 15...over a full 1999 season in the American League, the respective AL leaders—Shawn Green (14.6) and Jim Thome (4.6)—averaged similar numbers...Ben began his second straight year at Double-A, where with runners in scoring position, he hit .455 (17-for-22) and with RISP and two out, he hit .400 (6-for-10)...from April 12-20, he compiled a seven-game RBI streak (11 overall RBI)...he spent two weeks (April 26-May 6) on the disabled list with a sprained left wrist...but in his first game back, May 8, he doubled and homered...the next night, May 9, Petrick hit for the cycle vs. Huntsville, going 4-for-4 with three RBI...five days after the cycle, which earned him Southern League Hitter of the Week, Petrick left for Colorado Springs

The Rockies & battery debuts

On Sept. 1, 1999 starter Luther Hackman and his catcher, Ben Petrick, made their respective major league debuts, vs. Pittsburgh at Coors Field. It marked the first time in the majors a battery debuted in the same game since April 30, 1995, when Colorado's Juan Acevedo and Jorge Brito made their debuts together at the Astrodome. The Rockies dropped both contests, but neither starter figured in the decision.

Organizational Cycles

Ben Petrick and Neifi Perez are the only players in Rockies minor league history to hit for the cycle. Petrick, with Double-A Carolina at the time, pulled it off May 9, 1999 vs. Huntsville. Perez, who later added a major league cycle, first recorded one Aug. 25, 1996 with Colorado Springs. In that 13-inning affair, Perez reeled off hits in seven consecutive plate appearances, the most knocks in a game that season in all of minor league ball.

(AAA)...he didn't slow down in his first career Triple-A tour (7-for-his-first-20, .350)...Ben's first hit at that level was a triple, May 15 vs. Fresno...in 83 games for the Sky Sox, he batted .319 with 19 homers and 64 RBI, making 66 starts at catcher; his on-base percentage (.403) and slugging percentage (.606) weren't the typical catcher numbers...in fact, had his .319 average qualified (only 282 at-bats), he would've outdistanced Triple-A catchers by 35 points (New Orleans' George Williams, .284)...he homered in four straight games in late July...the cap on that streak came vs. Salt Lake July 25, when he blasted two homers, including a third-inning grand slam...the overall hitting streak, through Aug. 1, reached seven games (.409, 9-for-22, four homers, 11 RBI)...less than a week later, from Aug. 6-8 in one series vs. Fresno, he homered in three straight (6-for-13)...on Aug. 17 vs. Iowa, he delivered a pair of two-run homers (3-for-4, five RBi), his seventh career multi-homer game...from Aug. 1-20, he batted .420 (21-for-50, six homers, 17 RBI)...the Rockies recalled him Sept. 1 and he made his major league debut that afternoon, vs. Pittsburgh, batting eighth at catcher...in his first major league plate appearance, he doubled in a run off Jason Schmidt...he actually reached safely in his first four big-league trips (double, single and two walks), going 2-for-3 on the day...he hit safely in seven straight starts, Sept. 10-20...on Sept. 17 vs. Los Angeles, Petrick hit his first major league home run, a solo shot off Mike Maddux (3-1 pitch)...three of his next four hits were homers, including his first multi-HR game, Sept. 22 vs. Arizona...he started 18 games overall, getting the bulk of catching work in September.

1998 — In his first Double-A stint (New Haven) he battled a sore left wrist for much of the first two months...he still belted 18 homers and knocked in 50 runs...he was off to a solid start when a pitch jammed fingers on his left (glove) hand April 29...then, three days later he was hit on the left wrist while batting...he was hitting .310 prior to the injuries...the day before his fingers were jammed he blasted two homers at Harrisburg...after getting hit with the pitch Petrick did not swing a bat in a game for nine days...he returned to the lineup May 11 at Portland and had three hits, including a homer and four RBI, but after four games he missed another week of action with lingering soreness in his left wrist...Petrick's 18 homers were second on the club to Chris Kirgan's 22 and only Kirgan and Edgard Clemente hit more in the Rox system...behind the plate, he fielded at a .991 clip and threw out 16 of 93 (17 percent) runners.

1997 — Petrick swiped 30 bases in 41 attempts...he recorded two steals in four contests...he recorded two homers in three contests...behind the plate he nailed 31 percent (38 of 84) of base stealers and the Salem staff compiled a 3.89 ERA, the best in the organization and third in the league...his 30 steals tied for fourth in the chain...following the year he was named to the postseason league All-Star squad.

1996 — Ben played his first full season of pro ball at age 18...Baseball America's postseason All-Star catcher, Petrick on July 7 vs. Hickory went 4-for-5 with a double, two homers and six RBI.

1995 — The 38th overall pick in the June draft, Petrick signed late and had a September stint in the Arizona Instructional League.

Personal: Benjamin Wayne (Ben) Petrick...he is single...he lettered in baseball, basketball and football at Glencoe (Ore.) High School...the 1994 Oregon Offensive Player of the Year, he led the state in rushing, helping his squad to a state championship...he was also a two-time state Player of the Year in baseball...Petrick turned down several Pac-10 full-ride football scholarships to sign with the Rockies...signed by Rockies scout Greg Hopkins.

Infielder/Outfielder

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 200 B/T: R/R Age: 33 (turns 34 on Aug. 16)
Born: 8/16/66 in Paducah, Ky.
Residence: Lee's Summit, Mo.
Major League Service: Six years, 58 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000 (2001 club option)

How Obtained: Re-signed as a major league free agent, Dec. 28, 1999...originally signed as a minor league free agent, Aug. 13, 1997...also re-signed as a six-year minor league free agent Dec. 20, 1998.

Career Summary: The Rockies this winter retained Terry Shumpert on the major league roster, not a high-profile move, but one that could prove the most significant...in club history, players with versatility become valuable because the Rockies manager tends to make a lot of pitching changes...there aren't many players more versatile than Shumpert...last season, he played six positions (every spot except first base, pitcher and catcher)...what's more, in 1999, the Rockies wrote him into five different slots in the line-up: leadoff, second, third, seventh and eighth...despite not knowing in '99 where he would play or bat, the veteran turned in the best all-around season of his 10-year big-league career...in less than four months, he improved his career batting average by 28 points, from .223 to .251...his .347 average last year was 130 points better than his previous single-season best, .217 in 1991...the second-best clutch hitter in the National League, Shumpert last year batted .395 (17-for-43) in "close & late" situations...he's hit .294 (52-for-177) in that category over his career...few other players exhibit as much heart on the field...at Shea Stadium last year, Shumpert robbed Mike Piazza of a homer, smashing into the wall in order to snag his line-drive...and, even though he spent the first two months at Triple-A, Shumpert led the Rockies with 14 stolen bases...in fact, he's never been caught in a Rockies uniform, and has established the single-season and career records with 14 steals without a CS...the last time a catcher threw him out stealing was June 21, 1996 at Jack Murphy Stadium, playing for the Cubs (a string of 14 overall SB)...he also brings an even more remarkable streak into 2000...Shumpert's first major league base hit each of the last two seasons with the Rockies, and three of the last four years, has been a home run...in 1997, his first big-league hit wasn't a homer, but his first hit in the Rockies organization, with New Haven (AA) in August that year, was a round-tripper...he has major league time in each of his five organizations, including Boston, Chicago-NL, San Diego and Kansas City, who drafted him...in Royals history only Frank White (2,150) and Cookie Rojas (792) have played more games at second base than Terry's 306.

1999 — Shumpert came to spring training with a legitimate shot at the Opening Day roster...however, in one of the final moves of the spring, the Rox reassigned him to Colorado Springs (AAA)...he persevered, though, and hit .375 at Triple-A with six homers and 17 RBI in 29 games...eyeing those numbers, the Rockies purchased his contract June 5 and Jim Leyland wrote him into the lineup that night vs. Milwaukee...just like 1998, Shumpert's first major league hit was a home run, this time in his first plate appearance, off Hideo Nomo...the Rockies played their best baseball after Shumpert's arrival; they were 23-28 when he joined them, but then won 10 of their next 14 to climb to a season-high one game over .500...more revealing, the Rockies won six of the first eight games in which Shumpert played...he hit safely in his first eight games, all starts...he fashioned a streak of hits in 21 consecutive starts (.391, 34-for-87)

Batting in close & late* situations, NL, 1999

Player	Avg. (h/ab)
Jones, C., Atl.	.417 (35-for-84)

Gonzalez, Ari.	.384 (33-for-86)
Barrett, Mon.	.375 (27-for-72)
Belliard, Mil.	.368 (25-for-68)

*—Seventh inning or later, team at-bat is either leading by one, tied, or has the potential tying run either on base, at the plate or on deck.

over the season's final two months...the streak began at Pro Player Stadium (Aug. 8), and ended there, on Sept. 26...on July 6 vs. Los Angeles, Terry tied his career high with three hits...in his next start July 8, he matched the three hits, and he'd match the total in six games overall during 1999...on Sept. 12 vs. Milwaukee, Terry tied three career highs: three hits, two homers and four RBI; his second multi-homer game...the afternoon also established Terry's single-season career high in home runs...he penned his name into the franchise record book twice during the season...first, on Sept. 21 vs. Arizona, Terry swiped two bases; the first tied the Rockies record for most consecutive successful steals (13) and the second (14) broke the mark...then, on September 29 at Arizona, Shumpert doubled three times to tie a single-game franchise mark...he also established career highs in homers (10) and RBI (37)...Shumpert's .389 average with the bases empty led the club, but he ranked in the lower tier with runners on (.286)...in the NL, only league MVP Chipper Jones (.417) had a better mark than Shumpert (.395) in "close and late" situations...and, he possessed the league's third-best mark (.288) with two strikes.

1998 — Terry began at Colorado Springs (AAA) and played second, third and shortstop, as well as all three outfield positions and DH...he earned PCL Player of the Week June 8-14, when he went 14-for-26 (.538)...selected to the July 8 Triple-A All-Star game, Terry homered in the contest and garnered the game's MVP...the Rockies purchased his contract July 30 when Greg Colbrunn was traded to Atlanta, and Terry finished the season in the majors...his first hit as a Rockie was a pinch-homer off Chris Peters at Pittsburgh August 4...following the season Terry elected free agency but re-signed with Colorado in December.

1997 — A Padres non-roster invitee, he opened the season at Las Vegas (AAA) but was recalled by San Diego May 1 and appeared in 11 games; he made seven starts at second base and one at third...Shumpert went on the DL June 6 (retroactive to May 27) with a strained left hamstring...he went back to Las Vegas on a rehab assignment before he was reinstated August 5 and released by San Diego...he then signed a contract with New Haven, the Rockies' Double-A affiliate, Aug. 13...he homered in his first start, August 15...promoted to Colorado Springs (AAA) Aug. 21, he played second, third, shortstop and center field for the Sky Sox...he made one appearance in the PCL playoffs, as a pinch hitter; he walked and scored a run.

1996 — Signed by the Cubs organization March 12, Terry saw his first NL playing time...Shumpert had two stints with Chicago, sandwiched around 72 games with Iowa (AAA)...he made three starts at third base...in his Cubs debut he knocked in the winning run with an eighth-inning sacrifice fly, June 10 at Philadelphia...his first Cubs hit was a game-winning three-run homer in the 14th off San Diego's Willie Blair, June 13...in his next game, June 16 vs. the Padres, he belted another homer...he went on the 15-day DL Aug. 19–Sept. 3 with a strained right forearm...he played all four infield positions for Iowa.

1995 — In his first and only season with the Boston organization, he opened the year with the Red Sox but was optioned to Pawtucket (AAA) on July 7...he made 11 starts, all in the infield.

1994 — He played the full year, his last in the Royals organization, with KC...on May 14 vs. Oakland, he helped turn a triple play...four days later, May 18 at Seattle, Terry hit a grand slam off Dave Fleming...he posted his first career two-homer game, at Yankee Stadium June 4.

1993 — Shumpert spent a full season at Omaha (AAA) before the Royals recalled him in September...a Triple-A all-star, Shumpert led the league with 36 steals...he made three starts for the Royals.

1992 — Kansas City's Opening Day second baseman, Terry started 12 of the first 13 games...he went on the Royals' DL Aug. 6 – Sept. 7 with a bruised right heel.

1991 — In Terry's first full major league season, he hit his first big-league homer, off Allan Anderson June 1 at Minnesota...he fell one short of a major league record when he walked in six consecutive plate appearances, Aug. 28-31...Shumpert led KC with 10 sacrifice hits.

1990 — Recalled from Omaha (AAA) April 30, when Frank White went on the DL, Shumpert made his major-league debut May 1 vs. Milwaukee and picked up his first hit, a single off Teddy Higuera...he tore ligaments in his left thumb while diving for a ball in batting practice, June 2; the injury required surgery and sidelined him until Sept. 11...then, in his first at-bat Sept. 12, a Todd Stottlemyre pitch broke his right "pinky" finger, ending his season.

1989 — Terry skipped Double-A and moved to Omaha (AAA)...he was slowed after a pitch fractured his right index finger.

1988 — At Appleton (A) in his first full professional season he led the Midwest League with 37 doubles.

1987 — The Royals' second-round June draft choice, he began his pro career with Eugene.

Personal: Terrance Darnell Shumpert...Terry and his wife, Dequita, have five children, Terrance (15), Brandon (15), Jayde (11), Tierra (6) and Nicholas (3)...All-SEC at the University of Kentucky, he hit .364 with 10 homers and 37 RBI as a junior, setting school records for runs scored (60), hits (79), and at-bats (217)...a teammate of current Arizona outfielder Steve Finley at Tilghman High School in Paducah, Ky. ...signed by Jerry Stephens and Will Rutenschroer of the Royals.

Juan SOSA

Infielder

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 175 B/T: R/R Age: 24 (turns 25 on Aug. 19)
Born: 8/19/75 in San Francisco de Macoris, Domincian Republic
Residence: San Francisco de Macoris, Dominican Republic
Major League Service: 24 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired from the Los Angeles organization in the Rule V Draft, Dec. 15, 1997.

Career Summary: Juan Sosa enters his eighth professional campaign, his third with the Rockies organization...Juan spent most of the '99 season at Double-A, although he did make a late-season stop in Colorado Springs (AAA) and his major league debut...regarded as one of the fastest in the Rockies system, Sosa stands only 34 steals away from the 200th of his pro career...since 1998, from Single-A through Triple-A, he's swiped 103 bases in 134 attempts (77 percent)...during that '98 campaign at Salem (A), Juan's 64 bags led the organization, the Carolina League and tied for fifth across all of minor league ball...his 12 triples in '98 led the league, organization and tied for sixth in the minors...last season, his 39 steals were second in the Colorado chain to Juan Pierre (66)...in each of his last two seasons, he's produced eight homers and 47 RBI...Sosa, who enters his second spring on the roster in major league camp, could get more time this year at Triple-A, where he spent a memorable week to close the '99 season...if he can get his on-base percentage up, and develop more patience at the plate, he could turn into a strong leadoff man...he's spent most of his career as a shortstop, but does have experience in the outfield...the Rockies may choose to develop him as an outfielder, but that's only one of the questions in camp this spring.

1999 — Sosa made his debut at three levels: Double-A, Triple-A and the majors...he combined at his three stops—Carolina (AA), Colorado Springs (AAA) and the Rockies—to bat .281 (148-for-526) with eight homers and 47 RBI...he made his Double-A debut to open the season, and batted mostly at the top of the lineup, including 47 at-bats in the leadoff spot, where he hit .300 with four homers...he struggled somewhat over the first half...entering the Southern League All-Star break, he went 0-for-his-last-17...but Juan put together a solid second-half, finished tied for third in the league with 38 steals, and closed on a strong note with multiple promotions, to Triple-A and the majors...on Sept. 1, the Rockies recalled Chris Sexton and moved Sosa from Carolina to Colorado Springs...in a 10-day Triple-A debut, Juan batted .393 (11-for-28) with a double, triple, homer and stolen base...he spent most of the Sky Sox stint in the outfield (four starts), while starting twice at short...then, on Sept. 10, the Rockies brought him to Denver...Sosa made his major league debut that night at Coors Field, a pinch-hit strikeout...one week later, vs. his former Los Angeles organization Sept. 17, he delivered his first major league hit, a pinch single off Robinson Checo...Juan's only start came Sept. 28 at Arizona; he went 0-for-3 with a walk...he picked up his second pinch-base hit, Oct. 1 vs. San Francisco...overall he went 2-for-4 in the pinch and played shortstop, left and center fields.

1998 — Sosa had an All-Star year in his first season in the Rockies organization...he led the Carolina League and the Colorado organization in triples (12) and steals (64)...he also topped his team and finished third in the loop in both runs scored (88) and hits (147)...Salem's everyday shortstop, he actually earned

Origin of the Rockies name & colors

Colorado's Major League Baseball expansion franchise received its identity July 5, 1991, the day owners unanimously approved Denver and South Florida as baseball's newest teams. The excitement of that day even moved Denver television anchors to dawn the black "CR" cap on the air. The name was picked by the Colorado Baseball Partnership, who'd campaigned to the expansion committee as the "Timezone Without a Team." Ownership also chose the more inclusive "Colorado," as opposed to "Denver," to acknowledge the incredible number of season-ticket deposits it had received from across the region. Team colors were chosen to represent Colorado's majestic mountains (purple) and to reflect the state's rich mining history (silver). The franchise's image was also inspired by Katherine Lee Bates, who wrote the song America the Beautiful from the top of Colorado's Pikes Peak in 1893. The Rockies aren't the first major sports franchise known as "Colorado Rockies." The NHL's Colorado Rockies skated at McNichols Arena before heading east to become the New Jersey Devils in the early 1980s.

postseason All-Star honors as a utility infielder...Juan led league shortstops in games (122), total chances (555), and putouts (196)...he stole two bases April 27 vs. Danville, his first of 12 multi-steal games during the year...he also had a pair of three-steal games in August and totaled 20 steals in 29 games during the month...he stole five bases in his final four contests.

1997 — In his fifth and final season in the Dodger organization he played the full season at Vero Beach (A), splitting time at both middle infield spots.

1996 — Sosa played 112 games at Savannah (A) of the South Atlantic League and saw time at second, third, shortstop and the outfield.

1995 — Juan started the year at Vero Beach but was moved to Yakima (A) of the Northwest League early in the season.

1994 — During his second season with the Dodgers' Santo Domingo club in the Dominican League, he hit a career high .290.

1993 — As a 17-year-old infielder, he debuted at Santo Domingo in the Dominican League.

Personal: Juan Luis Encarnacion Sosa...Dodgers scout Ralph Avila signed Sosa as a non-drafted free agent July 24, 1992 ...he is single and makes his winter home where he was raised, San Francisco de Macoris, Dominican Republic...he graduated from Renacimiento High School in his hometown...despite

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 190 B/T: L/R Age: 26 (turns 27 on May 22)
Born: 5/22/73 in Santiago, Dominican Republic
Residence: Broadway Heights, Ohio
Major League Service: Five years, 62 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Acquired on waivers from the San Francisco Giants, Nov. 16, 1999.

Career Summary: Julian Tavarez has been a key component in a strong Giants bullpen over the last three seasons...only Rich Rodriguez has pitched more games over the last three seasons out of the Giants pen than Tavarez (196)...the right-hander comes to Tucson as the only player on the Rockies roster who's played in a World Series (1995 with Cleveland)...the Indians originally signed him when Dan O'Dowd was Cleveland's farm director...Cleveland then dealt Julian (JOOL-ee-an) to San Francisco after the '96 season in a major deal involving Matt Williams and Jeff Kent...like Mike Myers, Tavarez (tuh-VARR-ez) has been a workhorse during some seasons in his career...in fact, Julian's acquisition gives the Rockies bullpen the majors' top two appearance leaders during the '97 season: Tavarez (89) and Myers (88)...last year, he snapped a string of four straight seasons in which he's made 50-or-more appearances...the right-hander joined the Rockies on the same day Colorado made then the largest trade in franchise history, the Darryl Kile deal with St. Louis...Julian has pitched for winning teams throughout his career...his club won three consecutive pennants from 1995-97 (Cleveland from 1995-96 and San Francisco in '97)...in 1998, he made 60 appearances, going 5-3 with a 3.80 ERA, from a Giants pen that led the NL in relief ERA....in 1995, when he went 10-2 with a 2.44 ERA for the AL champs, The Sporting News named Julian its American League Rookie Pitcher of the Year...after that season, scouts projected him as a major league closer, but he found more of a niche in the setup/middle-innings role...if need arises, he could start; he's started 12 games in his first seven major league seasons and 94 at the minor league level...but most of those outings were in his early career...he's been more effective before the break (3.59 ERA) than after it (5.24)...June is his favorite month; over the last five years, he's gone 5-3 in the month with a 2.27 ERA, 26 walks and 55 strikeouts...Tavarez marks his 11th pro campaign in 2000.

1999— Julian was limited to a career-low 47 games with the Giants...pneumonia sidelined him for 27 games, May 7-June 1...then, from Aug. 16-31, the Giants optioned him to Triple-A for two weeks...the right-hander finished with a career-high 5.93 ERA...early in season, he allowed runs in eight of 13 outings before San Francisco placed him on the DL May 7...after a rehab assignment at Fresno (AAA), he returned in early June and immediately turned his season around...in June and July, Tavarez compiled a 2.22 ERA (7 er, 28.1 ip) and blanked opponents in 16 of 22 games...he turned in eight consecutive scoreless appearances, June 1-20 (10.0 ip)...with his ERA at a season-low 4.89, he surrendered 10 earned runs over his first three August games...his wins came April 6 at Cincinnati and June 13 at Seattle, improving his career mark to 29-19...his season's longest outing was 3.0 innings, July 19 at Texas...he went 2.2 innings July 4 at Dodger Stadium, but Joe West ejected him after a bench-clearing rhubarb involving Tavarez and Eric Karros...on the season, Julian stranded 25 of 38 inherited runners (65.8 percent) and sat down 29 of 47 first batters faced (61.7 percent).

1998— Unlike 1999, when Tavarez was outstanding after a return from the DL, he battled adversity after returning from the list in '98...the right-hander was tagged with 17 earned runs over last 21.2 innings (21 games), following his Aug. 7 reinstatement...that stint (strained right latissimus muscle) marked his first career trip to the DL...in 12 games leading up to the injury, he gave up only two earned runs (0.83 ERA)...from Sept. 14-16, he served a three-game suspension for his part in a Sept. 9 argument with Sam Holbrook...he reeled off nine straight scoreless outings, April 14-May 5 (12.2 ip, 8 h)...on May 14 vs. Montreal, he posted his first career save, working 3.0 scoreless frames...on June 27 vs. Texas, he matched his longest career relief effort with 4.0 scoreless innings on one hit.

1997— In his NL debut, he led the majors with 89 appearances, 32 more than his previous '95 career high...his 82nd game, Sept. 12, established the Giants' single-season record...from May 24-July 11, he strung together 24 consecutive scoreless appearances (23.0 ip,15 h,6 bb,6 so); the streak dropped his ERA by more than four runs, from 8.06 to 3.97...over that 24-game span,opponets hit .192 (17-for-78)...unblemished in June, he hurled 19.1 scoreless innings (18 games) on 11 hits...on July 5 vs. Colorado, he fanned Andres Galarraga in the eighth, then earned the win when the Giants busted a 1-1 tie...from May 25-July 5, he allowed runs in one of 33 appearances (0.28 ERA, 2 er, 32.0 ip)...he appeared in all three NLDS games against Jim Leyland's Marlins...in Game 1, after hurling a perfect eighth, he sustained the loss when he allowed the deciding runs to reach.

1996 — Tavarez retired 35 of 47 first batters faced (74.5 percent) and the Indians were 32-19 (.627) when he appeared...Dr. Gene Budig suspended him five games for his part in a May 31 brawl in Milwaukee...the AL later reduced the ruling to three games and he served it June 18-20 vs. Boston...on June 21 vs. the Yankees, he made his first start (2.2 ip, 10h, 7 r, 7 er) since May 26, 1994 at Boston ...over his next six outings (three starts) he was 1-2 with 7.92 ERA (19.1ip, 33h, 17er) and the Tribe optioned him to Triple-A Buffalo, July 21...recalled Aug. 5, he went 1-1 with 3.98 ERA (9 er, 20.1 ip) in his next 16 relief outings...all told, in 47 relief games he went 3-4 with 3.70 ERA (27 er, 65.2 ip) in 47 outings...in four starts he was 1-2 with 12.60 ERA (21 er, 15.0 ip)...he logged 1.1 scoreless innings in two ALDS games.

1995 — In his rookie season, Julian led the AL with 10 relief wins and finished sixth in the BBWAA Rookie of the Year voting...the league hit .235 off him, .211 with runners in scoring position...righties hit just .206 (35-for-170) while lefties batted .266 (41-for-154)...the Indians were 43-14 (.754) in his 57 appearances...his 85.0 relief innings tied for third in the circuit and his 2.44 ERA was fifth lowest among AL relievers...his 19 relief holds were third...at Jacobs Field, he went 6-1 with a 1.72 ERA (9 er, 47.0 ip)...Julian stranded 80 percent of his inherited runners (28 of 35)...he appeared in 12 of Cleveland's 15 postseason games...Tavarez hurled 4.1 scoreless frames in five World Series appearances.

1994 — He spent most of season at Triple-A Charlotte, going 15-6 with 3.48 ERA in 26 starts...his 15 wins tied for the league lead...recalled by Cleveland May 25, he made his only '94 big-league start May 26, losing at Boston 13-5...optioned to Charlotte June 1, Julian remained there for the rest of season.

1993 — Tavarez opened a Single-A Kinston, but the organization promoted him to Double-A Canton-Akron July 19....then, he jumped to the majors Aug. 6 when Cleveland purchased his contract...even though he left in mid-July, the Carolina League named him Player of the Year...Baseball America rated him the CL's top pitching prospect and his fastball best in the league...Julian made his major league debut Aug. 7, starting at Baltimore; hampered by rain delays, Tavarez took the loss...he recorded his first major league victory vs. Texas in his second start.

1992 — He paced the Appalachian League in starts (14), tied for first in shutouts (2) and finished second in walks per 9.0 innings (1.24).

1991 — In Tavarez's second pro season in the Dominican Summer League, he yielded only 95 hits in 121.1 innings.

1990 — Julian embarked on his pro career in the Dominican Summer League.

Personal: Julian Tavarez...he is single...he attended Santiago public school in the Domincan Republic...after the '94 season, he spent the winter learning English with Alan Davis, Cleveland's director of community relations...in San Francisco, Julian supported several Latin American organizations by participating in the Giants' Latin American Day festivities...he also provided equipment to the Roberto Clemente Youth League in San Francisco's Mission District, and took part in local health fairs and the Giants' Home Plate Scholars program, which rewards good students in San Francisco's Unified School District...signed by Indians scout Winston Llenas.

Rockies name Robledo bullpen catcher

The Colorado Rockies on Feb. 3 named Nilson Robledo bullpen catcher. He is the third bullpen catcher in club history (Mike Shepard 1993-94, Todd Maulding 1995-99).

Robledo, 31, spent seven seasons (1990-96) in the Chicago White Sox system, playing mostly first base. In 1995, he set franchise records at Single-A South Bend with 108 RBI, 153 hits, 537 at-bats and 135 games played. That year, his hits and RBI led the Midwest League, while his 20 homers and 243 total bases ranked third. His 108 RBI were the third most in all of minor league ball. The previous year, 1994, at South Bend, he set a franchise record with a .445 slugging percentage. He's also played in the Gulf Coast and Florida State leagues. His career peaked at Triple-A in 1996.

Born Nov. 3, 1968 in Entrega, Panama, Nilson signed with the White Sox as a non-drafted free agent in 1989. Rockies skipper Buddy Bell came to know Robledo in the early 1990s, when Bell served as the system's director of minor league instruction (1991-93). Nilson still makes his home in Entrega.

Career Summary: Some individuals in sports seem to captivate hope...because they've overcome incredible odds or steep adversity, those people are more than just great stories, they're great people...Bill Taylor's career is the epitome of perseverance...he played professionally for 14 seasons, in 11 cities, before he broke into the big leagues in 1994...at 32, he was then the oldest rookie in the majors...he made his debut Opening Day, April 5 at County Stadium, fanned his first batter and completed a 1-2-3 inning...three days later, he notched his first of 100 career saves...then, not even five months into his first season, adversity crept up again...on July 26, 1994, sprained knee ligaments ended his year...following a long rehab, the next spring in Phoenix, he slipped on loose infield dirt and tore two ligaments in his knee, ending his 1995 season before it even began...so after three-and-half seasons at Single-A, four-and-half seasons at Double-A and six years at Triple-A, two season-ending injuries challenged him to give it all up...Taylor answered that challenge the next season by earning a major league closer's role ...in fact, he saved 17 of 19 opportunities (89.5 percent) for Oakland in 1996, the third-best percentage in the league...what's more, he led the majors that year by stranding 85.3 percent of his inherited runners (29 of 34)...Taylor closed games for the A's in all or parts of four seasons (1996-99)...when the club traded him last July, only Dennis Eckersley (320) and Rollie Fingers (136) had saved more games in an Oakland uniform than Taylor (100)...over his six big-league seasons, Bill has saved 100 of 122 opportunities (82.0 percent)...and, in 314 career games (54 total chances), he has not committed an error...the Mets, who acquired Bill in a trading-deadline deal, didn't include him on their postseason roster after two months...now, he turns another page, joining his eighth organization (Texas, Seattle, San Diego, Atlanta, Toronto, Oakland, New York-NL and Colorado)...one of 18 roster players added to the Rockies organization this winter, Taylor comes to Tucson looking to find a role in an experienced bullpen...now in his 21st pro season, he is believed to be the most experienced pitcher in club history (Bryn Smith played for 18 years before he started Colorado's inaugural home opener in 1993) ...Matt Holliday, a non-roster invitee in this year's camp, was five months old in 1980, when the Texas Rangers selected Taylor in the second round of the June draft...Taylor and Holliday played their first full seasons with the Asheville Tourists, 19 years apart...there's no telling what role Taylor will fill in a new-look Rockies bullpen...one thing is certain, though; if Taylor can help the Rockies make the postseason, no one would appreciate it more.

1999 — Taylor opened as Oakland's closer and went 1-5 with a 3.98 ERA in 43 games, his last with the A's...he held right-handed AL hitters to a .222 average...on July 18 and 20, in back-to-back appearances, he saved wins over the Rockies at Network Associates Coliseum...then, on July 30 vs. Tampa Bay, Taylor saved the 100th game of his career and his 26 saves stood fourth in the league (he saved 26 of 33 opportunities for the A's)...the next day, hours before the "deadline," Oakland traded him, the one thing he had yet to experience over a career laced with obstacles...with the Mets, he made his NL debut at Wrigley Field and pitched one-third of a frame in a 13-inning New York win...but on a club that would earn the NL wild card, Taylor struggled...he made only 18 appearances in two months with the Mets, going 0-1 with an 8.10 ERA...New York did not include him on its postseason roster...the A's went 30-13 (.698) when he pitched...the Mets were 7-11 (.389).

1998 — Bill began as a setup man but permanently regained his closer role when Mike Fetters went on the disabled list April 6...his 33 saves made him the third pitcher in Oakland history to save 30 in a season...Bill Caudill had 36 in 1984 and Dennis Eckersley had six 30-save seasons (1988-93)...Taylor's rescues were eighth in the AL...however, his .892 save percentage (33-for-37) ranked fourth in the league...after a save and blown save, he then saved each of his next 15 opportunities, April 18-June 27, the best streak of his career...he posted a 1.32 ERA (5 er, 34.0 ip) over that span, with two double-digit scoreless streaks: 12.2 and 14.1 innings...a Wally Joyner homer, June 30 vs. San Diego, snapped the save stretch ...Taylor finished the season with 10 saves in his last 10 opportunities and did not allow a run over his final 13 games (14.1 innings)...on the season, first hitters faced batted .269...overall, opponents hit .255 (.299, with the bases empty and .202 with runners on).

1997 — Bill's 23 saves and 72 games were 10th in the league...he became the first A's reliever other than Dennis Eckersley to save 20 games since Jay Howell preserved 29 in 1985...from June 5-July 25, he converted 10 straight opportunities (19 games, 1.93 ERA, 18.2 ip, 4 er)...his ERA in July was 0.73...on Aug. 24 vs. Cleveland, he entered in the sixth inning, and spent most of the season in a set-up role...Bill did not allow an earned run in his last 11 games (11.2 ip, two saves)...overall, he allowed three home runs in 73.0 innings, none after May 27 (a 50.2 inning homerless streak to close the year)...first batters faced were 14-for-66 (.212)...opponents batted .254 (LHB hit .323, RHB hit .192).

1996 — Taylor began the year at Triple-A Edmonton but not only returned to the majors, he also earned the closer's job...recalled April 27, he arrived at Tiger Stadium during the game that day, in time to retire the final four hitters for the save...on June 16 at Milwaukee, he fanned five, a career high...then, in his next outing June 18 back in Detroit, he matched the five Ks...he fanned 10.0 per nine innings on the year...from June 16-July 12, he built a 15.1 inning scoreless streak...his ERA stood at 2.94 at the break...after the ASG, he stranded 12 of 13 runners, but compiled a 6.08 ERA...he ran his consecutive save streak to 12 before suffering a pulled right groin on Aug. 15...activated from the DL Sept. 13, he made seven appearances after the injury (1-0, three saves, 3.60 ERA)...on the year, opponents hit .231...first men faced batted .188 (9-for-48).

1995 — The right-hander returned from a season-ending left knee injury, then re-injured the knee during spring training in April...he slipped on the loose infield dirt at Phoenix Stadium during a base-running drill on April 9...an MRI on his the joint revealed torn anterior cruciate and medial collateral ligaments...Bill spent the entire season on the disabled list.

1994 — After 467 minor league games and 1,314 minor league innings, Taylor finally reached the majors...he made his major league debut April 5 at Milwaukee...he opened a perfect inning by fanning his first major league hitter, Kevin Seitzer...on April 8 at Minnesota, he recorded his first major league save, in his third appearance...on June 7 vs. Milwaukee, he posted his first big-league win...then, pitching his best baseball of the season, he sprained ligaments in his left knee July 26 at Anaheim Stadium; the injury occurred as he moved towards a grounder that ended the game...the injury put Bill on the disabled list and he missed the last 15 games of the year...on the season, opponents hit .220 (RHB hit .187 (20 for 107)...41 of his 48 strikeout victims were righties.

1993 — He spent spring training with Toronto after the Jays drafted him from the Atlanta organization in the Rule V draft...because he did not make Toronto's 25-man roster, the club sent him back to the Braves...at Triple-A Richmond, he earned International League All-Star honors after leading the league in saves (26) and games finished (55)...he walked just 26 and struck out 81 in 68.1 innings and held the league to a .224 average (56 for 250).

1992 — Bill pitched the full year at Triple-A Richmond and led the staff in saves (12), fourth most in the league...he struck out 82 and walked only 27 in 79.0 innings of work.

1991 — Taylor worked at Double-A Greenville for the full season and led the league in appearances (59)...his 22 saves ranked third in the league, while his 1.51 ERA marked his career low.

1990 — Out of baseball until August, when he signed as a free agent with Atlanta, he made stops at Double-A Durham and Triple-A Richmond...he combined for only seven games with the two clubs.

1989 — Signed by the San Diego organization as a six-year minor league free agent, he spent his only year in that chain at Triple-A Las Vegas...he led the Stars staff with 47 appearances.

1988 — During his final season in the Ranger organization, he earned his second pro shutout and his first save in four seasons.

1987 — Taylor finished first in the American Association in wins (12), tied for first in starts (28), third in innings pitched (168.1), and fifth in strikeouts (100).

1986 — Bill opened another year at Double-A Tulsa, but received a promotion to Triple-A June 10...he worked six or more innings in 13 of his 16 starts for the 89ers.

1985 — The right-hander held opponents to a .218 average, the fifth lowest in the Texas League...that year, Major League Baseball's new basic agreement permitted the NL to expand by two teams.

1984 — Bill struck out 80 in 80.0 innings at Tulsa, pacing the club in appearances (42).

1983 — He opened the year with Salem, the future Rockies affiliate, and fired a one-hitter to beat Winston-Salem, April 22, two weeks before the Denver Broncos acquired John Elway from the Colts...the Rangers promoted Taylor to Tulsa (AA) in May.

1982 — Used mostly in relief at both Wausau and Burlington, Bill recorded his first career saves.

1981 — For the second straight year, he divided the year between Single-A clubs Asheville and Sarasota...23 of his 26 appearances were as a starter and he tossed his first professional complete game.

1980 — Drafted by Texas in the second round of the January draft, Taylor split his first summer of pro ball between Asheville (A) and Sarasota (A).

Personal: William Howell Taylor...Bill and his wife, Lisa, have one daughter, Logan...a 1979 graduate of Thomasville (Ga.) Central High School, he lettered in baseball and basketball...Bill also attended Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College in Tifton, Ga. ...away from the park, he enjoys hunting, fishing and all outdoors activities.

The Roberto Clemente Award, presented by John Hancock

Since 1970, baseball has presented an honor, which recognizes the player who best exemplifies the game of baseball, sportsmanship, community involvement and contribution to his team. Now sponsored by John Hancock, the honor recognizes those who truly understand the value of helping others.

In 1972, following the tragic death of Roberto Clemente, the award was renamed to honor the man whose spirit and goodwill always will be remembered. The 12-time All-Star and Hall of Famer lost his life delivering food and medical supplies to earthquake victims in Nicaragua.

Early in the season, each team will submit three candidates. A local panel formed by John Hancock, made up of local community representatives, will select a nominee from each club. Then, a panel of baseball dignitaries, including Vera Clemente and Commissioner Bud Selig, will select a winner from the list of 30 nominees. At an on-field ceremony during the World Series, the winner of the Roberto Clemente Award will receive a $25,000 donation from John Hancock Financial Services for the local charity of his choice. John Hancock will also make a cash contribution to the Roberto Clemente foundation and to each nominee's local charity.

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 189 B/T: R/R Age: 25
Born: 1/10/75 in Milwaukee, Wis.
Residence: Greenfield, Wis.
Major League Service: none
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the 12th round of the 1996 June draft.

Career Summary: One example of the deep talent in the lower-mid levels of the Rockies system is Travis Thompson...the right-hander, projected to close games at Double-A Carolina this year, makes his first appearance on a major league roster...the scout who signed him, Nick Venuto, compared his slim frame and broad shoulders to John Smoltz...Thompson began his pro career as a starter, but made the transition to relief in the Arizona Instructional League after the '98 season...the Rockies asked him to shift roles after discovering the resiliency in his arm, learning that he could maintain his velocity and command on one or two day's rest...in spring training last year, Travis learned he would close at Single-A Salem, then turned in one of the finest seasons ever by an Colorado organizational closer...the Milwaukee native has a strong, sinking fastball...he'll get a ground ball most every time he needs one...and his curve ball can be nearly unhittable when thrown in the right location (he's averaged 13.72 strikeouts per nine innings, one of the highest marks in the organization)...what's more Travis has as much energy as anyone in camp...he's bold and he'll challenge hitters, then turn around and do it with the same vigor the next day...Travis himself faces a challenge this year in the Southern League, a circuit with a reputation for making or breaking talented pitchers...but Thompson has the track record, the skills and the resiliency to stand up at Double-A...he's not one to back away from challenge...so there may be another challenge further down the road, when he throws that fastball at 5,280 feet.

1999 — Travis worked the full season as the closer at Salem (A-advanced) in the Carolina League...his 27 saves led the league and organization, and finished tied for eighth in all of minor league baseball...he also led the circuit in games finished (52) and won its Rolaids Relief Man Title with 81 points...overall, the league hit .224 vs. Thompson...but he was even tougher with runners on base (.197, 24-for-122), runners in scoring position (.207, 17-for-82) and RISP with two out (.167, 7-for-42)...he earned Pitcher of the Week honors (May 6-12), when in four games he pitched 4.1 scoreless innings with a win, three saves, two hits, no walks and four strikeouts, retiring 12 of the 14 hitters he faced...from June 3-July 18, he worked 19.2 innings without an earned run (one unearned tally, 18 appearances)...he gave up only one homer the whole year, and none after May 29, closing the campaign with 40.2 homerless innings (37 games)...he finished the game in all but four of his appearances...18 of his 27 saves came June 29 or later...he notched a save in 18 of his last 28 appearances.

1998 — In his fourth pro season, his last as a starter, Thompson spent the season at Asheville (A)...he walked only 2.2 batters per nine innings...Travis earned South Atlantic League Player of the Week honors, May 1-7...after the season, he returned to Arizona so the Rockies could convert him into a full-time reliever in the instructional league.

1997 — Travis worked the year at Portland in the Northwest League...he made 11 starts and walked about one for every three batters struck out.

1996 — Thompson launched his pro career with Portland...the organization then moved him to the Arizona Rookie League...in October, he had arthroscopic surgery on his right knee.

Personal: Travis Michael Thompson...an NJCAA All-American in 1996 at Madison Area Technical College, he helped the squad to back-to-back NJCAA World Series titles (1995-96)...signed by Nick Venuto

John THOMSON 52

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 187 B/T: R/R Age: 26 (turns 27 on Oct. 1)
Born: 10/1/73 in Vicksburg, Miss.
Residence: Sulphur, La.
Major League Service: Two years, 61 days
Contract: First year of a one-year contract, through 2000

How Obtained: Selected in the seventh round of the 1993 June draft.

Career Summary: John Thomson enters a pivotal season...the tall right-hander, who marks his eighth campaign in the organization, won't be with the Rockies on Opening Day for the first time since 1997...after pitching in the big-league rotation for most of the '97 season and all of '98, Thomson's career hit a wall last year...he battled injuries all season, from his shoulder to his finger, and closed the year with successful separate surgeries to repair the torn labrum in his shoulder and treat the recurrent blister on his pitching finger...Thomson began a light throwing program Feb. 2 and will continue it in Tucson, so long as he doesn't feel pain...the Rockies have targeted June for a minor league rehab assignment, and hope to have him back sometime during the summer...before the '99 season, Thomson's first two years in the majors were strong...he threw four complete games from 1997-98; at the time, only two other pitchers (Roger Bailey and Armando Reynoso, five each) had thown more in a Rockies uniform...those two years produced a 4.76 ERA, impressive for a pitcher whose home games are at Coors Field...his best career performance came Aug. 6, 1997 at Shea Stadium, where he fired a four-hit shutout; he allowed only two Mets as far as second base...Thomson encountered two setbacks during the '99 regular season: his first career option down to the minors, and a painful finger blister that sidelined him...once the brightest pitching prospect in the organization, Thomson now faces an uphill, arduous and unpaved road...any pitcher who's torn a labrum will testify: rebounding isn't easy...but the club has revamped its medical team and even added a full-time physical therapist, all of whom will work closely with Thomson.

1999 — Start to finish, Thomson endured the toughest year of any Rockies pitcher in 1999...after struggling early in the season, the Rockies optioned him to Triple-A, but he saw little action there because of injury...he pitched his strongest upon his return to the majors, in mid-August, but again struggled in his final two starts...after the season, he underwent labrum surgery, which will sideline him indefinitely into the year 2000...John missed the first 11 days of the exhibition season with soreness in his right shoulder...the No. 5 starter, he made his '99 debut at Los Angeles, April 9 and sustained the loss (3.1 ip, 9 h, 5 er)...postponements wiped out his next two scheduled starts, April 14 vs. San Diego (snow) and April 21 vs. Montreal (Columbine High School tragedy), two of Colorado's five postponements in April...Colorado then skipped John twice in the rotation...in attempt to keep him fresh, the Rockies gave him his first career relief appearance, April 23 at San Francisco, and he threw 2.0 scoreless innings on one hit, one walk and one strikeout, finishing the game...he had to wait 18 days in between starts, but returned to the rotation April 27 at St. Louis...in the first inning that night, the Cards scored four runs on three walks and four hits; Thomson gave up another run in the second and left after 2.0 innings, tying the shortest start of his career...he went 0-3 over his next three starts, and including his last four decisions of 1998, tied a club record with his eighth consecutive losing decision...after his start May 12 vs. New York (2.2 innings), Colorado optioned him to Colorado Springs (AAA)...but upon his arrival, a recurring blister problem on his right middle finger flared up, putting him on the minor league disabled list...he made just five starts for the Sky Sox (0-2, 9.45 ERA, nine walks, 18 strikeouts), and received his recall August 14...he rejoined the rotation August 15 in the first game of a split doubleheader vs. Montreal, and turned in his finest outing anywhere in 1999...he went 7.0 innings on six hits, two runs, earned, no walks and two Ks; he didn't allow a runner past first until Vladimir Guerrero touched him for a two-run homer in the sixth, and earned his first and only win of the year...he also met the Expos Sept. 7 at Olympic Stadium and again pitched well against them, going 7.0 innings on four hits in a losing cause...he pitched respectably against Kevin Brown and the Dodgers at Coors Sept. 19 (7.0 innings, eight hits, five runs, four earned, one walk, two Ks), but took another loss; Thomson received a complete game in the rain-shortened contest to move into a second-place tie (five complete games) on the franchise's all-time list...he closed the season with two tough losses, 4.1 innings at Florida Sept. 25 and 2.2 innings vs. the Giants Oct. 1, on his birthday...looking back, before his option to Colorado Springs, John was 0-5 with an 11.84 ERA in six games, walking 17 and fanning nine...after his return in mid-August, he was 1-5 with a 6.39 ERA in eight starts, with 19 walks and 25 strikeouts...what's more, going completely against the grain, Thomson pitched better at Coors Field (1-4, 7.01 ERA) than on the road (0-6, 9.32 ERA)...his offense averaged only 3.4 runs per start, and in four of his 13 starts, the Rockies gave him two runs or less...on Oct. 12 in Birmingham, Ala., Dr. James Andrews successfully repaired a torn labrum in Thomson's right shoulder; the next day, Andrews operated on John's blister-prone right finger.

1998 — In John's first full season, he finished with a career-high eight wins, despite missing a month with a blister on his right middle finger...the only starter with an ERA under 5.00, Thomson held opponents to a .282 mark, tied with Bobby Jones for the lowest among starters...on the road he was 5-6 with a 3.45 ERA...most of his problems arose in four outings; in each game during that quartet, he went 0-4 and allowing 32 earned runs in 16.1 innings...in his other 22 starts, he was 8-7 with a 3.36 ERA (144.2 ip, 54 er)...in his first start, April 1, he won at Arizona, fanning four in 8.0 innings while allowing three hits, no runs and two walks, combining on a shutout...on June 4 vs. Arizona he tossed his season's first complete game, fanning a career-high 11 and allowing one walk on four hits...after logging 8.2 innings in a no-decision at San Francisco June 15, he arrived at the ballpark for his next start, June 20 vs. Los Angeles, and began his pregame bullpen routine; however, a severe blister on his right middle finger kept him from his start and the club placed him on the DL (retroactive to June 16)...he did not return until July 26, spending 40 days on the DL and missing 34 games...John won three consecutive games over four starts, August 6-23...on August 6 at Pittsburgh, he earned his second complete game of the year, on just four hits and one run.

1997 — Thomson opened the year at Colorado Springs (AAA) but by the end of the season he was a key component in the Rockies starting rotation...in his final Triple-A outing he struck out 14 in 7.0 innings at Tucson May 5...called up May 9 by the Rockies, he made his major league debut May 11 at Philadelphia and was charged with the 3-1 loss despite seven Ks in 7.0 innings...he then allowed three earned runs in his next two starts (11.2 innings), but still came away with two more losses, dropping to 0-3...John lost his fourth consecutive start, May 27 to St. Louis, but finally notched his first big-league win, at Florida June 1; he tossed a seven-hit complete game with two walks and six strikeouts, and helped his cause by going 4-for-4 (a record hit total for a Rockies pitcher) with three RBI...Thomson fanned eight vs. Chicago July 27, pitching 8.0 shutout innings to earn the victory...he threw his first career complete-game shutout, Aug. 6 at New York, a four-hitter in which he allowed only two Mets as far as second base...in seven of his nine losses the Rockies scored three runs or less...he pitched 7.0 innings or more in 11 of his 27 starts.

1996 — He opened at Double-A New Haven...John earned a spot in the All-Star Game and a promotion with his May performance: 5-1 with a 2.08 ERA...in his Triple-A debut July 12, he went 8.0 shutout innings, fanning seven in a win...during his four victories he compiled a 0.93 ERA.

1995 — Thomson got his first Double-A experience...John recorded a season-best nine strikeouts in Game 1 of the Eastern League championship series.

1994 — John started the year in Asheville (A) but finished with Central Valley (A-advanced).

1993 — Thomson signed with the Rockies and reported to Chandler in the Arizona Rookie League.

Personal: John Carl Thomson...he and his fiancee, Kelly Anderson, have plans for a Nov. 11 wedding in Phoenix...a 1991 graduate of Sulphur (La.) High School, he attended McNeese State for a year, then went to Blinn Junior College in Brenham, Texas, where he pitched when the Rockies chose him in the '93 draft...always contributing to the community, John has regularly participated in the club's winter caravan, making stops throughout the region.

Larry WALKER

Outfielder

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 237 B/T: L/R Age: 33 (turns 34 on Dec. 1)
Born: 12/1/66 in Maple Ridge, British Columbia, Canada Residence: Evergreen, Colo.
Major League Service: 11 years, 45 days
Contract: First year of a six-year contract, through 2005

How Obtained: Signed as a free agent, April 8, 1995.

Career Summary: Larry Walker has an affinity for the number three, or any number divisible by three...before, during and after each game, he engages in a variety of mini-rituals involving the numeral...well, No. 33, will play this season at age 33...three years after he won the NL MVP, he begins his sixth year in Colorado and embarks on a six-year contract...the deal, signed as an extension during '99 spring training, included a joint $3,333,333 donation to children's organizations in British Columbia and Colorado, made by Walker and the Rockies...for three seasons, Walker has hit better than anyone in 69 years (the first to top .360 in three straight years since Al Simmons in the early '30s)...only three players in history (Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby and Tris Speaker) have topped .360 in more than three straight seasons...Larry has used the last three years to improve his career batting average 27 points, from .285 to .312...the right fielder, who has three career grand slams, last year established a career-best 21-game hitting streak...then, three weeks later, he hit in 18 straight (each ended with a Coors Field CG)...that first half earned him his third consecutive start in the All-Star game...he went on to win the percentage triple crown, leading his league in average, slugging percentage and on-base percentage, becoming only the 18th player ever to do so...this year he looks for his third straight batting title and his sixth career Rawlings Gold Glove (he has the only three fielding awards in Rockies history)...he's not perfect; he has 333 strikeouts in a Rockies uniform...but he does have 99 Coors Field homers...and, his bio somehow happens to appear on Page 150 of this guide...what's more, during the season in which he marks his 12th year of major league service, Walker's most significant career milestones within reach are his 1,500th hit and 300th home run...could this be one of Walker's best career years?...three words: don't be surprised.

1999 — Walker reported to spring camp wondering whether it would be his last in Tucson with the Rockies, but on the morning of the club's first exhibition game, March 4, he reached agreement with Colorado on a six-year extension...Larry then homered that afternoon in his first spring at-bat...only four days before Opening Day, in batting practice March 30 in Tucson, he strained a muscle on the right side of his rib cage; the club placed him on the 15-day disabled list April 6 (retroactive to March 29) and he missed his first Opening Day since 1989, when he started the year in Triple-A...he returned to the roster April 14 and started that night, but snow cut the game short...the next day, in his first official at-bat, he doubled for his 600th hit in a Rockies uniform...he hit safely in his first five games, went hitless in his sixth, then kicked off a memorable 21-game hitting streak, the longest of his career...during the streak (April 25 – May 21) Walker batted .506, only the eighth time in history a player has batted at least .500 over a streak of 20 or more...the stretch included a historic night in St. Louis April 28, when Walker went 4-for-5, tied a career high with three homers and established a personal best with eight RBI, tying a franchise record; two of his three homers sliced through driving Midwest rain...on April 29 at Busch, Walker threw out Placido Palanco at the plate, his first of 13 outfield assists and first of seven in outs at home...the next night at Pittsburgh, Walker homered twice and drove in four...in fact, he strung together four consecutive multi-RBI efforts, establishing club records for most RBI in four straight (17) and three straight (15), and ran away with the NL's Player of the Week...he slapped an RBI pinch single off Turk Wendell to continue the streak; the single boosted his average to .400, and he'd spend the next 13 days over the Ted Williams line...on May 17 vs. Cincinnati, Walker drove a line-drive off Pete Harnisch to right; he lapped the bases for his first career inside-the-park homer, the third in Coors Field history...he collected seven hits in the streak's final two games...on May 21 vs. Arizona, he blasted a game-ending homer off John Frascatore in the 11th; the shot was his second game-ending HR in a Colorado uniform and first of two in 1999 (also Aug. 18); the homer bumped his average to its season's high, .435...the next day, May 22, the streak ended vs. Arizona's Omar Daal (Walker was the only starting position player on either team without a hit)...he hit .506 (41-for-81) with 10 homers and 33 RBI over the 21 games...three weeks later, Larry embarked on an 18-game streak, which made him only the fourth player in the 1990s with multiple streaks of at least 18 in the same season...he hit .471 (33-for-70) over the 18 games with 11 homers and 27 RBI...from June 18-23, Walker homered in five consecutive games, tying Dante Bichette's 1995 club record...from June 18-24, he strung together six straight multi-hit games, two shy of Andres Galarraga's franchise record...at Qualcomm Stadium on June 26, after the Padres prematurely set off victory fireworks in the ninth inning, he doubled through the outfield smoke to score two runs, continuing the streak...Walker on June 28 at San Diego, drove in his 68th run, surpassing the 67 he totaled during the entire '98 campaign...in the second game of a split doubleheader July 3 vs. San Diego, Larry blasted two homers, his 23rd and 24th on the year, to surpass the 23 he totaled during 1998...Walker's 18-gamer ended with a Coors Field shutout, by San Diego's Andy Ashby July 4...on July 8 at Coors, he hit a 1-2 pitch off the Dodgers' Chan Ho Park for his 250th career homer...he went to the All-Star game in Boston with a major league best .382 average; at that point since the 1998 break, he'd batted .390 (189-for-484) over the equivalent of a full season...Walker made his third consecutive All-Star start and fourth appearance...he left the historic park with a souvenir: a clump of grass from right field...on July 17 at Cincinnati, with the Rockies down to their last out and Walker down to his last strike, he smacked a game-tying pinch homer off closer Scott Williamson (his fourth career pinch HR), but Jeffrey Hammonds won the game with a leadoff homer in the bottom of the frame...the next night at Oakland, Walker's first-inning single gave him 2,500 career total bases...on July 27, his right arm recorded its 100th career outfield assist; four innings later, he got No. 101, becoming the first Rockies player to record two assists in one game in more than one contest (also 4/13/97 vs. Montreal)...in a "turn-ahead-the-clock" game Aug. 18 vs. Atlanta, Larry homered in the first inning off Kevin Millwood to give the Rockies the lead (Millwood's only run and one of two hits in 8.0 innings); then, in the ninth with the score 1-1, Walker hit a three-run homer off closer John Rocker to end the afternoon...the game winner marked Larry's 1,400th career hit and the game marked his 23rd multi-homer effort, fourth and final of 1999...he closed his season by hitting safely in his last 12 starts, including multi-hit efforts in his final six...he had an RBI in six straight games, Sept. 8-17...on Sept.17 vs. Los Angeles, he reached safely in every plate appearance for the fourth time in 1999...in the final month, he made the decision to undergo season-ending arthroscopic knee surgery, and he made his final appearance Sept. 21...Larry left his team's road trip Sept. 29 and Dr. Wayne Gersoff repaired frayed cartilage in his left knee Sept. 30...Walker's club-record .379 average was the fifth highest since Ted Williams hit .406 in 1941...he led the majors in slugging (.710) and on-base percentage (.458), becoming the first player to win the percentage triple crown since George Brett in 1980 (the last NL player to lead the league in the three categories was Stan Musial in 1948; the last NL player to lead the majors in all three was Musial in 1943)...his .04349 margin of victory was the 11th highest in history...finally, his .461 average at home is believed to be a major league record; Elias Sports Bureau has tracked home/road splits since 1974 and Walker's 1999 home mark is 43 points better than any other player's in that span.

1998 — Larry compiled a .363 average to win the NL batting title by 10 points...he became the first Canadian-born player this century to win a batting title; St. Louis' Tip O'Neill won the American Association title in 1887...Larry captured the league lead Sept. 2 and held it the rest of the season, hitting .528 (28-for-53) in September...he batted .402 after the break, the best mark in the majors...Walker built a 20-game hitting streak, May 4-25; during the streak, the NL's second longest in '98, he hit .342 (27-for-79)...he hit safely in 49 of his first 56 games, but with nagging elbow soreness, he hit just one homer through April...on May 6 at Philadelphia, he hit a pinch grand slam off Jerry Spradlin...after his 20-game hitting streak ended, May 27, he hit safely in his next eight games...his second grand slam of the month (third career) came May 29 vs. Houston (Doug Henry)...despite the elbow, he made just one trip to the disabled list, June 18, and returned for the final series before the All-Star break...fans elected him to his second consecutive NL All-Star lineup and his third overall appearance; Walker, who garnered the sixth-most votes (1,744,944), started in center field at his home park and went 0-for-1 with a walk...he came out of the break cold, going 6-for-his-first-32 (.188) and his average slipped to .314, the lowest since April 5...he had two hits the next day, Aug. 19, and from that date on he hit .440 (78-for-177)...during a seven-game homestand, July 23-28, he was 15-for-27 (.556) with three doubles, two triples, four homers and nine RBI, boosting his average from .319 to .340; the surge took him from 10th place, 20 points behind the leader, to second place, just three points back...he sprained the middle finger on his right hand swinging at a 3-0 pitch in the second game of a DH at New York Aug. 18...he appeared as a defensive replacement in two games, Aug. 23 and 24, but could not swing a bat until a pinch-hit appearance Aug. 26 vs. Milwaukee; the injury kept him from starting until Aug. 27...after returning to the lineup, he had seven hits in his first 13 at-bats...he missed the entire Los Angeles series, September 14-16, with back spasms, which kept him from starting nine of the Rockies' final 17 games...Walk did pinch-hit in four games, including a key 11th-inning double, Sept. 20 at San Diego, which led to the game's only run in a 1-0 win...he pushed his final average over .360 in the season's last two games, vs. the Giants Sept. 26-27, going 5-for-8...he hit .350 or better vs. eight NL clubs...Walker was the first hitter other than Tony Gwynn to win an NL batting title since Galarraga won it in 1993, the Rockies' inaugural season.

1997 — In November baseball awarded Larry, in a landslide vote by the BBWAA, the NL Most Valuable Player...the first native Canadian to win the most coveted individual honor, Walk received 22 of 28 first-place votes and finished with 359 points to outdistance Mike Piazza (263)...he came within four hits and 10 RBI of winning the first Triple Crown in 60 years...Larry topped the league with 49 homers, ranked second with a .366 batting average, and third with 130 RBI...he also led the league with 29 road homers and his .346 road average ranked third among NL hitters...he also led the league with a .720 slugging percentage, the fifth highest in NL history; he became only the 14th player to top 400 total bases in a single season (409), the most in the majors since Stan Musial had 429 in 1948...only nine players in the history of the game had amassed more total bases in a single season—Joe Dimaggio, Jimmie Foxx, Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth in the AL, and Musial, Babe Herman, Rogers Hornsby, Chuck Klein and Hack Wilson in the NL...he was the first player to touch 400 total bases in the NL since Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves reached that number in 1959...he topped the league with a .452 on-base percentage...with 33 steals in 41 attempts he became only the fifth major league player (Hank Aaron, Jose Canseco, Barry Bonds, Ellis Burks) with at least 40 homers and 30 steals in one season...only Walker, Burks and Aaron had collected 40 homers, 30 steals and 200 hits in one season...Larry also won his third Rawlings Gold Glove...Walker committed just two errors in 246 total chances and set a club record with 132 consecutive errorless games...on the season he kept his average over .400 through July 1 and did not permanently dip below the magic mark until July 19...Larry hit .440 with six homers and 11 RBI in the first week...he tied a club record by hitting three homers April 5 in Montreal...the NL's April Player of the Month, Walker tied an NL mark with 11 homers in Apri...Larry blasted a 493-foot homer into the third deck Aug. 31, the longest ever hit by a Colorado player in Coors Field...he belted his 49th homer of the year Sept. 26 but sat out the last two games with a sore right elbow...he hit .400 or better vs. six clubs...despite a sore right knee, injured in the 10th game of the season, and a sore right elbow, Larry appeared in a professional career high of 153 games...he underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right elbow Jan.13, 1999 to treat a bone spur.

1996 — Larry opened in center field and homered in his first '96 at-bat (off Sid Fernandez)...on May 21 vs. Pittsburgh, Walker set a club record and career high with 13 total bases; he also established a personal best with six RBI...the next afternoon, he tied a club record with two triples, and with a double, he set the NL record for consecutive extra-base hits with six...Walker on June 8 vs. Atlanta was 4-for-4 with four runs scored, including a pair of solo homers...the next afternoon, on June 9, he slammed into the Coors

Field fence in pursuit of a Jeff Blauser drive and broke his left clavicle...hitting .283 with 14 homers at the time, he missed the next 60 games...upon activation Aug.15, he returned to right field...on Aug. 28 he incurred a left shoulder spasm that limited him to 14 at-bats over the final month...Walker knocked in his 500th career run on April 24 with a homer vs. Philly.

1995 — Walker's 31 home runs, 14 HBP, 72 extra-base hits, .607 slugging pct. and 300 total bases were second in the NL and he finished seventh in the MVP balloting ...in his April 26 Rockies debut, and Coors Field's inaugural game, he had three doubles, including one with two out in the ninth that sent the game into extra innings, an 11-9 win over New York...he homered in four consecutive May games ...Walker hit his 100th career homer, May 7 vs. Los Angeles off Hideo Nomo...Larry hit a game-tying three-run homer off Tom Glavine in Game 2 of the Division Series vs. Atlanta.

1994 — He played first base for most of the year, taking strain off a right shoulder that required surgery...Larry still tied for the NL lead in doubles (44)...he was diagnosed with a rotator cuff tear, but stayed in the lineup at first base...on an infamous evening at Dodger Stadium April 24, Larry had a pair of "throwing" errors; Brett Butler led off the first with a double, which Walker fielded on the warning track, but when he turned to throw, the ball slipped out of his hand, bounced off his shoulder and landed at his feet; in the third inning, Larry made a running catch for what he thought was the final out but with Jose Offerman tagging on the play, Walker handed the ball to 9-year-old Sebastian Napier...Dr. Larry Coughlin operated on Larry Oct. 4 at Montreal's Queen Elizabeth Hospital, repairing a slightly torn right rotator cuff and labrum.

1993 — Larry turned in the first 20/20 season of his career...he hit his first grand slam, Sept. 1 at Cincinnati (off John Roper)...Walker earned his second straight Rawlings Gold Glove, teaming with Marquis Grissom for two-thirds of the golden NL outfield.

1992 — In a breakout season, he earned his first Rawlings Gold Glove, and a Louisville Silver Slugger for offensive performance...he played in the All-Star Game at San Diego and garnered AP and Sporting News postseason All-Star honors...he finished fifth in the NL MVP balloting.

1991 — Walker enjoyed the NL's best second half, hitting .338 in 72 games with 21 doubles, 10 HR and 41 RBI after the break...he played first base for 39 games, including Dennis Martinez's July 28 perfect game at Los Angeles (16 putouts, one assist).

1990 — Larry finished tied for seventh in Rookie of the Year balloting, although he wasn't classified as a rookie for a period during the season...the BBWAA reinstated that status in a vote at the All-Star Game, clarifying and modifying the rookie rule to once again classify Walker as a rookie.

1989 — Montreal recalled him Aug.16 and he made his big-league debut that night, starting in right field vs. San Francisco...in the contest, Larry walked three times and got his first hit off Mike LaCoss.

1988 — On the DL all season, he suffered a right knee injury while playing winter ball at Hermosillo (Mexico), Jan. 16...his leg was in a cast for eight weeks and he rehabbed for seven months.

1987 — At Double-A Jacksonville, he earned Southern League postseason All-Star honors and won the prestigious James "Tip" O'Neill Award as the top baseball player from Canada.

1986 — A 19-year old at Burlington, Walker hit 29 homers in 95 games, leading the league with 74 RBI before earning a promotion to West Palm Beach in mid July.

1985 — Signed as a non-drafted free agent Nov. 14, 1984, Walker began his career at Utica.

Personal: Larry Kenneth Robert Walker...Larry and his wife, Angela, were married the day after the 1998 All-Star Game...Larry has a daughter, Brittany Marie (6), and this winter he and his wife welcomed their first child, daughter Canaan Rose-Lynn...he graduated from Maple Ridge (B.C.) Senior Secondary School in 1984...he grew up a hockey goaltender, playing for 13 years, and teaming with Cam Neely, a former All-Star with the Boston Bruins...Walker was playing baseball for the Canadian National Junior Team when Expos scouts discovered him...his family includes brothers, Gary, Cary and Barry, and parents, Larry and Mary...Cary was drafted by the Montreal Canadiens as a goaltender in 1977...the voluntary clubhouse mailman, Walker away from the park spends some evenings in squad cars, on ride-alongs with local law enforcement...Walker has donated a substantial sum to the Rockies Youth Fields of Dreams Program; he's opened three Colorado facilities (Denver, Ft. Collins, and Northglenn High School last September).

Masato YOSHII 21

Right-Handed Pitcher

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 210 B/T: R/R Age: 34 (turns 35 on April 20)
Born: 4/20/65 in Osaka, Japan
Residence: Tokyo, Japan
Major League Service: Two years, zero days
Contract: Second year of a two-year contract, through 2000 (signed as an extension with the Mets, Nov. 12, 1998)

How Obtained: Acquired from the New York Mets for LHP Bobby M. Jones and RHP Lariel Gonzalez, Jan. 14, 2000.

Career Summary: Picture a hurler who's pitched for 13 years in the majors, including the All-Star game and four World Series...say that pitcher, who grew up in the U.S. and spoke only English, then decided to move halfway across the globe to pitch in Japan...now, flip-flop the countries, languages and cultures...welcome to Masato Yoshii's world...the right-hander becomes the first player from the Far East region to wear a major league uniform for the Rockies...acquired in Dan O'Dowd's sixth off-season trade, Yoshii comes to Tucson as one of seven candidates for the starting rotation...Colorado's interest in bringing Yoshii West revolved around two factors: his quality-start percentage and walks-per-nine-innings ratio...for two seasons as a Mets starter, Yoshii (yo-SHEE) has walked 2.92 per nine innings...what's more, over his 15-year professional career, including 13 in Japan, he's also averaged 2.92 walks per nine innings...compare that with the 1999 Rockies, who established an NL record with 737 walks, issuing 4.62 passes per nine...last year at Coors Field the Rockies were 18-8 (.692) when walking three or less...Masato (mah-SAH-toh) since 1998 has compiled a .586 quality-start percentage (in 58 big-league starts, he's made 34 in which he went at least 6.0 innings and allowed three earned runs or less)...two of those starts were shortened before the sixth inning by rain...last season, 20 of his 29 starts (69 percent) were quality...he's fashioned two significant scoreless innings streaks...the first covered his first 14.0 innings in the majors (one run, none earned)...the second, a 16.1-inning scoreless stretch, helped keep the Mets in contention for the 1999 NL wild-card berth...Masato also changes speeds, vital for effectiveness at Coors...one of two in camp who was 32 in his rookie year (Bill Taylor), Yoshii has gone 18-16 with a 4.16 ERA over his first two seasons...one of the most highly regarded pitchers in Japan history, the right-hander went 74-50 with a 3.43 ERA over 13 years in his native country...a member of four Japanese Central League championships, Yoshii's next-to-last outing across the ocean was a complete game to clinch the '97 circuit title...Yoshii has had two years to adapt to the United States...but there's one thing he's yet to experience: he hasn't pitched at Coors Field...but don't try to sway him with his new park's offensive reputation...Masato was excited that the Rockies wanted him...and Colorado is hoping that excitement translates into success.

Blazing a trail across the Pacific

For decades, major league players have left the U.S. to play in Japan. Some leave by choice, while others have their contracts sold (the Rockies this off-season sold Roberto Ramirez's contract to the Hanshin Tigers). But until the 1990s, Japanese stars weren't coming to the U.S. in large volumes.

Japanese players are tied to a stiff reserve clause, locking them to their teams. The Dodgers needed a minor miracle to sign Hideo Nomo, who was injured and his club carelessly released him. In 1998, the two countries formalized an agreement that states U.S. teams must bid for available Japanese talent. Some major league clubs have opted to sign the younger talent, out of Japanese high schools and colleges, rather than the established pro players. In 1998, eight Japan-born players were in the minor leagues in North America.

Masato Yoshii, who will again have his starts televised live in Japan (usually during the morning) was one of the few pros to leave for the U.S. from the Central League, the wealthier of the two. Most players leave from the less-prestigious Pacific League. Not every Japanese player wants to leave the country. Some are revered, and despite the economy, the average '98 salary in Japan was $390,000.

Several teams, including the Rockies, are competing for players in Japan. But did you know that Japan is competing with major league clubs for talent in the Dominican Republic? Each club in Japan is allowed to sign four imported players, and 10 Dominicans played there in 1998. The Hiroshima Carp have operated an academy in the Domincan Republic since 1990.

1999 — On a club that earned the NL wild-card entry by one game over the Reds, Yoshii won his final five decisions and went 5-1 with a 1.74 ERA over his last10 starts...he worked 62.0 innings, allowing 42 hits, 13 runs, 12 earned, 16 walks and 48 strikeouts over that span...as a starter, he went 12-8 with a 4.24 ERA...Masato built two double-digit scoreless streaks during the season...the first lasted 13.0 innings, May 2-14...Philly's Bobby Abreu stopped that stretch with an inside-the-park homer at The Vet...later in the year, with the Mets contending, he blanked opponents for 16.1 straight frames, a career high...in five starts, May 2-25, he went 4-0 with a 1.71 ERA...on May 20 vs. Milwaukee, he scattered eight hits over 7.0 innings en rout to a 10-1 win, the 100th victory by a Japanese pitcher...on June 27 at Turner Field, he four-hit the Braves on one run through 7.0 innings, but lost a 1-0 decision...after 49 consecutive starts, Masato made his first major league relief appearance, Aug. 3 in Milwaukee; he retired three straight on four pitches in the Mets' 10-3 victory...two weeks later, Aug. 18 at San Diego, he hurled his second career complete game, a 9-1win (6 h, 1 bb, 5 so)...on Sept. 18, he delivered a two-run single off Philly's Mike Grace...the Mets were 17-14 in his 31 games (16-13 in 29 starts)...into the postseason, he made three starts, one in the division series vs. Arizona, and two vs. Atlanta in the NLCS...he worked Game 1 of the NLDS at Bank One Ballpark vs. Cy Young winner Randy Johnson...he walked none, fanned three and took a 4-2 lead into the sixth, but gave up the tying runs before departing (the Mets eventually won on an Edgardo Alfonzo grand slam in the ninth...In the NLCS, he again worked Game 1, this time against Greg Maddux Oct. 12 at Turner Field; Masato took the 4-2 loss, despite leaving in the fifth after allowing the Braves to go up 2-1...his final NLCS start came in Game 5 at Shea, Oct. 17, one of the best postseason games in history...with the Mets trailing in the series, 3-1, Yoshii pitched into the fourth, when he gave up three straight leadoff hits (Bret Boone, Chipper Jones and Brian Jordan) and two resulting runs; after Bobby Valentine pulled Masato, the teams remained tied until the 15th, when Robin Ventura ended it with an out-of-the-park single (he only touched first base)...the game's final score (4-3), and official scoring on Ventura's hit, took about 10 minutes to determine...all told, in three postseason starts, Yoshii was 0-1 with a 5.54 ERA, 13.0 ip, 15 h, 8 r (all er), 3 bb, and 7 so...in the early hours of Jan. 15, he was asleep in Japan when the Rockies acquired him...the trade happened almost exactly two years after he signed with the Mets as a free agent, Jan. 13, 1998.

1998 — Yoshii kicked off his major league career by logging 14.0 straight innings without an earned run...in his big-league debut, April 5 vs. Pittsburgh, Masato fanned seven over 7.0 shutout innings, struck out seven over 7.0 shutout innings (three hits, one walk)...the only rookie on the Mets Opening Day roster, Masato on May 7 vs. St. Louis doubled in two runs for his first major league hit, off Donovan Osborne...on May 21 vs. Cincinnati, he hurled his first big-league complete game, adding nine strikeouts...on June 28 vs. the Yankees, he fanned 10, a career high, and allowed just two hits and one run through 7.0 innings, but took a no-decision...two of his starts, June 2 at Pittsburgh and Sept. 7 vs. Atlanta, ended prematurely after long rain delays...he went nearly three months without win (14 starts, nine no-decisions), from May 25 to Aug. 19, when he snapped the string with a 2-1 win over Colorado...the Mets were 13-16 in his 29 starts...all told, 15 of those 29 were no-decisions.

Japanese League Highlights: 1997 — Masato again helped lead the Yakult Swallows to the Central League championship and the Japan Series title...In the Central League, he finished fourth in ERA (2.99),

Sadaharu Oh: the world's career home run leader

The most revered player in Japan history is Sadaharu Oh, who hit 868 home runs, 113 more than Hank Aaron.

Oh also drew more walks than any player in world history, including Babe Ruth and Mark McGwire. The Japanese slugger, who played a 130-game schedule, never got more than 500 at-bats in a season. He posted less than 400 in several campaigns.

In 1974, the year Aaron hit No. 715 to pass Ruth, Sadaharu established the best pace of his career. He hit 49 in 385 at-bats, one homer every 7.85 at-bats. His single-season career high was 55 in 1964 (472 at-bats).

In 1998, McGwire hit 70 home runs in 509 at-bats. Sammy Sosa hit 66 in 643. If Oh had as many at-bats as McGwire, the Japanese player could have hit 65. If he had as many at-bats as Sosa, he would have hit 81. Now compare his lifetime at-bats (9,250) to Aaron's (12,364). Given Oh's lifetime ratio, if he had as many at-bats as Aaron, he would've hit 1,160.

There are two blemishes on Oh's career. One, that Japanese fences (generally 280 feet down the lines) were shorter than the average American park. And two, that Japanese pitching wasn't as good as its American counterpart during Oh's generation.

But after facing Oh in exhibition play, Tom Seaver said that Oh could average 35 homers a season in the majors, more than most of the sluggers enshrined at the Hall of Fame.

How many home runs would Oh have hit at Coors Field?

NOTE: The source of these notes is the essay, "Baseball in Japan" by Yoichi Nagata and John B. Holway, in Total Baseball.

third in victories (13), fourth in innings pitched (174.1), fourth in winning percentage (.684), second in complete games (six) and tied for second in shutouts (two)...his complete-game victory over Hanshin pushed Yakult to the Central League title...he also started Game 3 of the Japan Series against the Pacific League champs, the Seibu Lions.

1996 — Yoshii finished third in the Central League in ERA, fourth in strikeouts, fifth in innings pitched, seventh in winning percentage (.588) and tied for ninth in wins.

1995 — Before helping his club to the Japan Series championship, he ranked ninth in the Central League in ERA.

1994 — Teammate Hideo Nomo, who would precede him in the trek to United States a year later, taught Yoshii the forkball.

1993 — He pitched his first professional shutout.

1990 — He became a teammate with future Met teammate Hideo Nomo. The two would play together for five seasons in Japan.

1989 — He went 5-5 with 15 saves, leading Kintetsu to the Pacific League championship.

1988 — Voted the best reliever in Japan, he won 10 games and saved 20...his Kintetsu club won the season's final game to capture the Pacific League title.

Personal: Masato Yoshii...he and his wife, Sayuari, and their son, Yusuke (6), make their part-time residence in Los Angeles...he enjoys playing the guitar (he played in a band during junior high and high school...for his participation, availability and goodwill, the New York chapter of the BBWAA has honored Masato with its annual Good Guy Award each of the last two seasons...he graduated from Minoshima High School in Wakayama, Japan...signed by Kyosuke Sasaki, who is now the manager of the Kintetsu Buffaloes of the Japanese Pacific League.

A true World Series?

Fast forward 12 Novembers into the new century. Could Major League Baseball pit its World Series champion against the Japan Series winner in a true World Series? Some purists scoff, while other fans shrug their shoulders. The concept may take a while, but the logistics are already in place. Like the Rockies last season, the Mets and Cubs will open this major league campaign outside the U.S., this time in Japan. And off and on since 1913, when the White Sox and Giants made the cross-planet trip, MLB has sent players there for a winter exhibition series. Considered the best in the Far East region, Japanese teams have the most money and sign pro and amateur talent from the surrounding countries, including Korea and Taiwan. But a competition between Japan and the U.S. that counts? Stay tuned.

Raul CASANOVA

Catcher

—NON-ROSTER INVITEE—

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 195 B/T: S/R Age: 27 (turns 28 on Aug. 23)
Born: 8/23/72 in Humacao, Puerto Rico
Residence: Ponce, Puerto Rico
Major League Service: Two years, 169 days

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Dec. 15, 1999.

Career Summary: The switch-hitting catcher, originally the Mets' eighth-round pick in the '90 June draft, played six years in the minors for both the Mets and Padres before making his major league debut with Detroit in 1996...in three of the last four years, injuries (left toe, fractured hamate bone, left wrist, right abdominal strain, left hamstring strain, right wrist fracture and fractured rib) limited Raul to just 142 games.

1999 — He went to spring camp with Detroit but injuries kept him on the DL until July...camp began with back spasms and ended after doctors found a benign tumor and fracture on his seventh rib...on July 12, when Detroit activated him, the Tigers outrighted him to Toledo (AAA), where he finished his season...he elected free agency following the season and played winter ball in Puerto Rico...with Ponce, he won the batting title (.331) and topped the league with a .579 slugging percentage.

1998 — Casanova made Buddy Bell's Opening Day roster, in a platoon with Joe Oliver...an April 24 abdominal strain put him on the DL...Detroit activated him May 28 but sent him to Toledo (AAA)...four days after his July 16 return, he strained his left hamstring and went back on the Tigers' DL...in a rehab assignment at Toledo, he suffered a fractured right wrist swinging a bat Aug. 2 and missed the remainder of the season...while with the Tigers, he threw out 27 percent (4 of 15) on the bases.

1997 — He began at Toledo (AAA) but finished as Detroit's primary catcher, starting 83 games, including 48 of the Tigers' 77 games after the break...he threw out 22 percent 920 of 92) attempting to steal.

1996 — After Detroit obtained him in a March trade, he made two tours with the Tigers...recalled for the first time May 24, he made his major league debut starting role that night vs. Cleveland...his first big-league hit came May 27 at Kansas City (Tim Belcher)...he belted his first homer two nights later off KC's Kevin Appier...on June 6 at Baltimore, he homered from both sides of the plate...on June 18 vs. Oakland he fractured the hamate bone in his left wrist and, after surgery, remained on the DL until Aug. 13...the Tigers then optioned him to Toledo (AAA) and recalled him Sept. 3...he made 22 major league starts and threw out 18 percent (6 of 34) on the bases...named by Baseball America as Detroit's third best prospect.

1995 — Limited to 89 games at Memphis (AA) by two ankle injuries, he still hit 12 homers and knocked in 44 to earn the Padres' sixth-best prospect tag from Baseball America.

1994 — In his best pro season, he led the Cal League in average (.340) and hits (160), and among leaders with 120 RBI, a .552 slugging percentage, 23 homers and 42 extra-base hits...he helped his club to the league title and earned the Padres' Organizational Player of the Year award and Baseball America's Single-A All-Star catcher honor.

1993 — Acquired by San Diego from the Mets in the fall after the 1992 season, Raul appeared in 76 games...he missed nearly a month at Waterloo (A), May 18-June 7, with a right ankle sprain.

1992 — In his final year in the Mets system, he spent most of his season at Kingsport (R) but also appeared in five games at Columbia (A).

1991 — He split his year between the Gulf Coast Mets and the short-season Kingsport (R) club.

1990 — At age 17, he reported to the Gulf Coast League after signing his first pro contract

Personal: Raul Casanova...he makes his permanent home in Ponce, Puerto Rico, with his wife Dali and their two sons, Raulito (5) and Roy (2)...a graduate of Ponce High School, he has played winter ball in his native Puerto Rico in each of the last 10 off seasons.

Born: 11/21/67 in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Residence: Mustang, Okla.

Major League Service: One year, zero days

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Dec. 1, 1999.

Career Summary: Cincinnati's fifth-round selection 11 years ago, Darron played 10 years in the United States, Mexico and Canada before getting his major league debut last year…at 31 years, 136 days, he became the oldest player to debut in Montreal history, April 6 at Pittsburgh, 1999 — A non-roster player, Cox went to camp with Montreal and made the club as the third-string catcher…he recorded his first major league hit April 13, a single off Milwaukee's Steve Woodard…six days later he made his first major league start, vs. the Rockies at Coors Field, and went 1-for-3 with his first big-league RBI…on May 5 at Montreal, he belted his first homer, off the Dodgers' Onan Masaoka…his season ended June 26, after just 14 appearances, when he severely sprained his left knee running out a fly ball…he went to Ottawa on injury rehab July 12 but played just three games…he underwent arthroscopic surgery Aug. 2, then elected free agency on Oct. 15.

1998 — Re-signed to a minor league contract, he went to Tampa Bay's inaugural spring training, but played the full year at Durham (AAA)…he set career highs with a .302 average and nine homers.

1997 — After signing a minor league contract in March with Tampa Bay, he played the whole year with the Mexico City Tigers, batting .287 in 107 games.

1996 — Atlanta signed him to a minor league contract and Cox played the year at Richmond (AAA)…he pitched in one game and worked a scoreless inning.

1995 — In Darron's final season in the Cubs system, he split his year between Orlando (AA) and Iowa (AAA)…combined at both stops, he hit .260 with five homers.

1994 — After making his Triple-A debut, he spent the year as the everyday catcher at Iowa (AAA)…Cox led league catchers in games played and assists (76).

1993 — In his fifth and final year in the Cincinnati chain, he played the full season at Chattanooga (AA)…Darron ranked second in the league with a .429 caught-stealing percentage (45 of 105)…the Reds dealt him to the Cubs with Mike Anderson and Larry Luebbers for Chuck McElroy, Dec. 10.

1992 — At Chattanooga (AA) he led the Southern League with a .992 fielding mark; Cox threw out 47 percent (45 of 96) on the bases.

1991 — Darron appeared in a career-high 113 games, playing at three levels in the Reds organization — Cedar Rapids (A), Charleston (A-advanced) and Chattanooga (AA)…

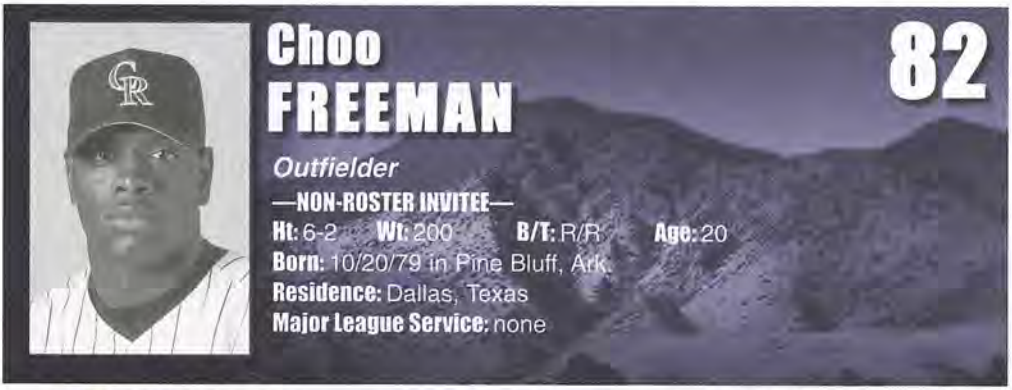

1990 — In Cox's first full season, the South Atlantic League named him its best defensive catcher…in 103 games with Charleston, he stole a career-high 14 bags and helped lead the club to the league title.

1989 — Cincinnati's fifth-round selection in the June draft, Darron played the full summer in Billings, as the everyday catcher.

Personal: Darron James Cox...he makes a home in Broomfield, Colo., with his wife Karen and their two children, Caleb James (3) and Joshua Courtland (1)...a 1986 graduate of Mustang (Okla.) High School, he earned all-state honors in baseball and basketball...Cox went to the University of Oklahoma and earned the Big Eight Conference Player of the Year following his junior season, 1989...converted to catcher at OU, he played infield and pitched in high school...Darron received his bachelor's degree in communications from OU in 1994...signed by Cincinnati scout Larry Barton.

Butch HENRY 35

—NON-ROSTER INVITEE—

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 205 B/T: L/L Age: 31 (turns 32 on Oct. 7)

Born: 10/7/68 in El Paso, Texas

Residence: El Paso, Texas

Major League Service: Seven years, 144 days

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Dec. 17, 1999.

Career Summary: In June of 1987, Butch Henry signed his first pro contract at age 18…since that day, he's logged 13 years in professional baseball and has seen just about everything the sport has to offer…he's been drafted twice, once as a amateur and once by the Rockies in the 1992 Expansion Draft…he's been traded twice, claimed on waivers once, and released and signed as a free agent twice…Butch has pitched for six organizations with five trips to a major league disabled list…when healthy over the past five years, the southpaw has been a very effective pitcher…from 1994-99 he appeared in 90 major league games, made 47 starts, and went 24-15 with a 3.07 ERA, 202 strikeouts and only 80 walks…if he pitches for the Rockies this season, he'll become the second player in club history (Nelson Liriano) to leave the big-league club and return after time in another organization.

1999 — Henry signed with Seattle as free agent in December and opened the year in the Mariners rotation…he made four starts for the M's, winning twice, before a torn left labrum put him on the DL April 30…after a rehab assignment at Tacoma, he did not return to the Mariners active roster until Sept. 3…he made three relief appearances before Seattle placed him on unconditional release waivers Sept. 29…he cleared waivers and became a free agent Oct. 4.

1998 — He missed most of the season recovering from surgery on his left knee (torn ACL)…Henry opened the year on Boston's DL (strained left hamstring suffered in spring training)…activated April 14, he made two starts for the Red Sox but did not record a decision…Butch went back on the DL April 21 and did not return due to his injured left knee.

1997 — The left-hander made his Boston debut, in a relief outing at Anaheim April 2…his first game since Aug. 10, 1995, it was also his first relief appearance since June 18, 1994…on April 4 at Seattle he struck out the first five batters he faced, earning his first save since June 14, 1994…he spent a month on the Red Sox disabled list May 23-June 23 (left shoulder tendinitis)…he moved into the rotation Sept. 1and and over five starts went 2-1 with a 1.48 ERA (30.1 ip, 5 er).

1996 — Butch spent the entire season on a medical rehab assignment at Ft. Myers, following the "Tommy John" surgery the previous August.

1995 — He made 21 starts for Montreal before an elbow injury ended his season…Henry was 4-2 with a 1.36 ERA (46.1 ip, 7 er) in his final seven starts through Aug. 10…he underwent "Tommy John" surgery on his left elbow, Aug. 22…Boston claimed him on waivers, Oct. 13.

1994 — Henry opened the year at Ottawa (AAA) and went 2-0 with a 0.00 ERA before Montreal recalled him April 18…he tossed 20.0 consecutive scoreless innings in his first seven appearances for the Expos, before allowing a Fred McGriff homer May 6…inserted into the rotation May 10, he went 3-0 in five starts before he moved back into the pen…Henry earned his first major league save, June 15 vs. Pittsburgh…he returned to the rotation June 24 and made 10 starts to finish out the season…he fanned a career-high nine, June 29 vs. Atlanta…his overall 2.43 ERA would have ranked second in the NL, but he finished 6.2 innings shy of qualifying.

1993 — A member of the Rockies inaugural Opening Day squad, he worked 2.0 scoreless relief innings in the franchise's first game, April 5 at New York and he moved into the rotation after that appearance…but after 20 games, 15 starts, the Rockies optioned him to Colorado Springs July 11…from July 10-20, he actually wore four uniforms without an appearance…during a July 16 Colorado Springs game, the Rockies dealt him to Montreal for Kent Bottenfield…he reported to Ottawa (AAA) but before he pitched, the Expos summoned him…he pitched one game for Montreal before his return to Ottawa, July 22…Butch returned to the Expos Aug. 17 and won his only Montreal start, Aug. 21.

1992 — He pitched the full season in Houston's starting rotation…despite missing the entire September (left shoulder tendinitis) he finished second on the Astros staff with 28 starts…he lost his first four major league decisions before recording his first victory, May 25 at Montreal…his first big-league complete game came Aug.15 at Wrigley Field…on November 17, the Rockies selected him 36th overall, in the second round of the Expansion Draft.

1991 — Henry spent the full year in Triple-A Tucson's rotation.

1990 — In his final season with the Cincinnati organization returned for a second season at Chattanooga (AA) and went 8-8 in 24 games, 22 starts…traded to Houston on September 7 with Terry McGriff and Keith Kaiser to complete the deal in which the Astros traded Bill Doran to the Reds for three players-to-be-named later, August 30.

1989 — Made just seven starts at Chattanooga (AA) due to a left elbow injury…went 1-3, 3.43 ERA.

1988 — His first full pro season and he was brilliant at Cedar Rapids (A) of the Midwest League going 16-2 with a 2.26 ERA in 7 starts…helped pitch his team to the league title as he earned all-star honors.

1987— Cincinnati's 15th-round selection in the June draft, Butch after signing reported to Billings (R) of the Pioneer League…in nine games, five starts, he was a perfect 4-0 with 38 strikeouts.

Personal: Floyd Bluford (Butch) Henry III…Butch and his wife, Mary, make their permanent home in El Paso, Texas, with their two children, daughter Alisha (10) and son BJ (Floyd Bluford IV, 6)…a 1987 graduate of Eastwood High School (El Paso, Texas), he earned All-El Paso honors all four years…in his senior season, he went 10-1 with a 0.79 ERA, garnering city MVP and All-State honors…he owns a golf store (Major League Golf) in El Paso…originally signed by Cincinnati scout Les Houser.

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Dec. 1, 1999

Career Summary: Once a top prospect in the Kansas City farm system, Phil joins his seventh organization, including the Hanshin Tigers of the Japanese League…he has nearly two years of major league service, combined with the Royals and Tigers, but has not played in the majors since 1996…he opened his career with three years in the Kansas City chain, before he made his major league debut in 1993…for a two-month stretch that year, he was the Royals' everyday third baseman, but lost his starting role in mid-June and since then has logged only 192 major league at-bats…like Buddy Bell and Dan O'Dowd, respectively, he has connections in the Detroit and Cleveland organizations…he played seven games for Bell in

'96...Phil's also played for Hanshin, as well as the New York Yankees and Cincinnati Reds organizations.

1999 — Hiatt signed with Cincinnati as a minor league free agent and played the full season at Indianapolis (AAA) of the International League...nearly 40 percent of his hits went for extra-bases (29 of 74)...he belted 18 homers, second on the club, in just 311 at-bats.

1998 — Phil went to spring training as a non-roster player with the Yankees, but was released April 23...five days later he signed with the Indians and spent the season with Cleveland's Buffalo (AAA) club...he hit 31 homers, fourth in the International League, and the second-most in modern Buffalo history...Hiatt played both first base and designated hitter...he had a seven RBI game vs. Norfolk on June 19.

1997 — During Masato Yoshii's final season in Japan, Hiatt spent the year playing in the same league, for Hanshin...Phil belted 11 homers and knocked in 30 runs...after the season, he returned to the United States and signed with the Yankees organization.

1996 — In his only season with Detroit, he played the full year at Toledo (AAA) before a September call-up...the International League MVP, he won two-thirds of the triple crown with 42 homers and 119 RBI, both franchise records...he also topped the loop with 555 at-bats, 99 runs, 304 total bases, 72 extra-base hits and 180 strikeouts...Phil homered every 13.21 at-bats, the best ratio in the league...he appeared in seven September games for Bell's Tigers.

1995 — In his sixth and final season with Kansas City, Hiatt made the Opening Day roster; the Royals on Aug. 12 optioned him to Triple-A, where he finished the season...on Sept. 14, the Tigers acquired him for Juan Samuel.

1994 — A Southern League All-Star with Memphis (AA), he led league outfielders with 18 assists, and ended the campaign with a promotion to Omaha (AAA).

1993 — He opened the season with Omaha (AAA), but before he played, Kansas City called him April 7 to make his major league debut that night vs. Boston...he recorded his first major league hit the next night, a two-run single off Boston's Joe Hesketh...Hiatt belted his first career homer, April 11 vs. Minnesota (Kevin Tapani)...KC's starting third baseman through June, Phil saw his playing time dwindle until he was optioned down to Triple-A, Aug. 23...after 12 games with Omaha, he re-joined the Royals in September.

1992 — A non-roster invite, he played the year at Memphis (AA) and ranked among circuit leaders with 27 homers (second) and 83 RBI (third)...the homer and RBI totals led the Royals' system and earned him postseason All-Star honors...he played five September games for Omaha (AAA), his first action at that level...the Royals added him to their 40-man roster at the end of the year.

1991 — Hiatt split his year between Baseball City (A) and Memphis (AA)...Florida State League managers voted him the loop's best prospect...after the FSL All-Star game, the Royals moved him to Memphis...Baseball America rated him the organization's No. 5 prospect.

1990 — Selected in the eighth round of the June draft by Kansas City, Phil launched his career with Eugene (A) of the Northwest League.

Personal: Philip Farrell Hiatt...he and his wife, Misty, are the parents of two-year-old triplets: Madison, Morgan and Mackenzie...a 1987 graduate of Pensacola (Fla.) Catholic High School, he was an all-state baseball player...Hiatt attended Jefferson Davis Community College (Brewton, Ala.) and Louisiana Tech University (Ruston, La.), where he earned all-conference honors...lists golf and old cars among his hobbies...Phil was signed by Kansas City scout Ken Gonzales.

The non-roster leap

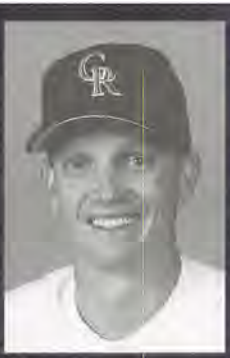

On 33 occasions, a non-roster invitee has made Colorado's big-league club over the course of the year. Eight players have left spring training as part of the Opening-Day roster. In 1999, the Rockies tied their '93 franchise record by bringing seven non-roster players to the majors. But the club had never brought that many to Denver without a non-roster player in uniform on Opening Day. There's a good chance this year that Colorado will leave Tucson with a non-roster invitee for the first time in three years.

—NON-ROSTER INVITEE—

Ht: 6-0 Wt: 175 B/T: S/R Age: 33

Born: 2/26/67 in Sarasota, Fla.

Residence: Leawood, Kan.

Major League Service: Eight years, 144 days

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Dec.r 22, 1999.

Career Summary: In Howard's 14th pro season, he joins his third organization (Kansas City, St. Louis)...he's played every position but catcher (he pitched in 1994)...the AL's top fielding shortstop in 1996, he compiled a .982 percentage...David, a career .229 hitter, has played in 645 major league games.

1999 — Howard played his second season with St. Louis...disabled from April 3-18 (right groin), and then April 24-June 22 (left hamstring), he saw leg injuries affect his playing time...he also missed several August games (sprained right ankle)...when healthy he played seven positions, including 13 games at short, nine at both first base and second base, four at third base, three in left and one in center and right.

1998 — He signed with St. Louis as a free agent and, after making the club out of spring training, a shoulder injury trimmed his season to 46 games...on the Cardinals DL May 25-June 9 (sprained left shoulder), it crept up again a month later...from July 3-season's end, he was on the DL with the same injury.

1997 — In David's 11th and final year with the Kansas City organization, he played primarily second base but also saw time at third, short and all three outfield positions...he played in just two of the Royals' final 45 games due to an injured left shoulder...he underwent arthroscopic surgery Sept. 9.

1996 — Howard became the Royals' starting shortstop in mid-April and enjoyed his finest season...the best fielding shortstop in the AL (.982), he made 11 errors in 135 games...David set career highs in runs (51), hits (92), doubles (14), triples (5), homers (4) and RBI (48)...his 17 sac hits, were second in the AL.

1995 — He appeared in 95 games (70 starts) and started at five positions, including his starting debuts at first base and in the OF (center)...he built a career-high 10-game hitting streak July 28-Aug. 8.

1994 — During his first full season in the majors, the club utility player made 46 appearances...he played second, third, short, left and even pitched (April 12 vs. Boston; 2.0 ip, 2 h, 1 r, 1 er, 5 bb, 0 so—the last two innings of a 22-11 loss)...he made only one error all season.

1993 — Howard opened the season with Omaha (AAA), but Kansas City brought him up April 15...he went on the disabled list (Bell's Palsy) four days later...he returned to KC May 17 but went back on the Royals' DL June 7 (strained right hamstring)...reinstated Aug. 10, he missed more than two months, and KC immediately optioned him to Omaha...he returned to the Royals Sept. 8 but played four more games.

1992 — The switch-hitter opened as Kansas City's starting shortstop but lower back stiffness landed David on the DL April 21...activated July 6, the club immediately optioned him to Omaha (AAA)...recalled July 16, he finished the year in KC...in August, he made his first two career appearances in center.

1991 — On the Opening Day roster, he made his big-league debut April 14 vs. New York, a start at second base; his first hit was a single off Eric Plunk...optioned to Omaha (AAA) May 9, Howard returned May 27...he started at shortstop July 7 and held that job until Sept. 14 when KC moved him to second...he belted his first career homer (Jimmy Key) July 26 at Toronto...named to Baseball Digest's All-Rookie Team.

1990 — He spent the full year with Memphis (AA) and set career highs in homers (5) and RBI (44).

1989 — Howard returned to the Florida State League and struggled through an injury-plagued season...limited to 83 games, he spent two stints on the DL (hamstring), in May and late July-August.

1988 — During his first full season, he played the year at Appleton (A) of the Midwest League...playing shortstop exclusively, he improved his average 29 points from his first year.

1987— KC's 32nd-round selection in June, David was assigned to Fort Myers (A).

Personal: David Wayne Howard...he and his wife, Jill, have a daughter, Bridget Ann (1)...a 1985 graduate of Riverview (Sarasota, Fla.) High School, he lettered in baseball, basketball and track...at Manatee Community College (Bradenton, Fla.), he earned All-State honors and played in a 32-inning game that took more than seven hours (David's team lost, 6-4)...a member of the 1985 Babe Ruth World Series champions...his father, Bruce, pitched six seasons in the AL, going 26-31 over 120 major league games (Chicago-AL, 1963-67; Baltimore, 1968; and Washington,1968)...signed by Kansas City scout Herb Rayborne.

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor-league free agent, Dec. 1, 1999.

Career Summary: The right-hander's resume has nine pro seasons, including 85 major league games (40 starts)...he's bounced between Triple-A and the major leagues in five of the last six years, with one season in Japan...three times during the six-year stretch he made Cincinnati's Opening Day roster...in the minors, he has a .614 career winning percentage (51-32) with a 3.42 ERA in 132 appearances, 114 starts.

1999 — Signed by Oakland as a free agent, Jarvis received a big-league camp invitation...he made two stints with the A's, one at the beginning of the year and one at the end...he opened with Vancouver (AAA), but before he appeared there, Oakland purchased his contract April 12...he landed on the DL April 19 with a blood clot in his left index finger and upon his activation was outrighted to Vancouver June 4 (Modesto rehab)...at Triple-A for most of the second half, he went 10-2 and helped his club to the PCL title and the Triple-A World Series championship...in the postseason, Jarvis went 1-1 with a 2.45 ERA, including a win in Game 2 of the Triple-A series vs. Charlotte (at Las Vegas)...brought back to Oakland September 26 to make a start vs. Texas, he took the loss...he made one more outing for the A's, in relief, and was outrighted off the Oakland roster Oct. 6.

1998 — Kevin pitched in three countries...he signed with Chunichi of the Japanese Central League Jan. 23, but appeared in four games (three starts) before he returned to the U.S. and signed a minor league contract with Cincinnati, Aug. 27...he completed his world tour in the Dominican Winter League.

1997 — He logged major league innings for three clubs...on Cincinnati's Opening Day roster for the third time in four years, he made nine relief appearances for the Reds before Detroit claimed him on waivers May 2...Cincinnati pulled him off the wire, then designated him for assignment...then, on May 9, Minnesota claimed him...he appeared in six games for the Twins (two starts)...on June 17, the Tigers claimed him again on waivers...after three Detroit relief appearances, the club placed him on the DL June 25 (back sprain)...activated July 14 (rehab at Toledo), he went 0-3 on the year for Detroit (17 games, three starts).

1996 — He split his year between Indianapolis (AAA) and the Reds but enjoyed his most productive major league season...after a brief April appearance with Cincy, he returned for good June 5...on July 13 vs. Pittsburgh, he tossed his second career shutout, a three-hitter...on July 23 at Philadelphia, he earned his third career complete game...he set career highs for wins (8), starts (20), innings (120.1), and Ks (63).

1995 — Kevin began the season in Cincinnati's starting rotation...on May 10 at Florida, he tossed his first career shutout, a two-hitter...optioned to Triple-A July 11, he returned to the Reds in September.

1994 — On the Reds' Opening Day roster, he made his major league debut, April 6 vs. St. Louis, working in relief...optioned to Triple-A April 8, he returned to Cincinnati May 2 only to be sent back down two days later...recalled again May 30, he made his first major league start June 1 vs. Montreal (a no-decision despite opening with 5.0 shutout innings)...he went back to Indianapolis June 16 but again returned to the Reds, Aug. 9, and recorded his first major league victory that night vs. the Dodgers; he also posted an RBI single for his first hit...in Indianapolis he helped the club to the league title with two postseason wins.

1993 — He split the year between Winston-Salem (A) and Chattanooga (AA)...promoted to Double-A Aug. 1, he went 3-1 with a 1.69 ERA in seven games, three starts, for the Lookouts.

1992 — With Charleston (A) most of the season, he fanned 8.86 per nine innings.

1991 — Selected by the Reds in the 21st round of the June draft, he was assigned to Princeton (R) and went 5-6 in 13 starts, despite a 2.42 ERA including four complete games and one shutout.

Personal: Kevin Thomas Jarvis...he and his wife, Elizabeth, have a son, Bryce (2)...a 1987 graduate of Tates Creek High School (Lexington, Ky.), he helped lead his club to the 1986 state championship...at Wake Forest University, he became one of only 10 pitchers in school history to win 20 or more career games...he graduated with a B.S. in Biology ('91) and a minor in Chemistry...named the 1991 Wake Forest Male Scholar Athlete of the Year, he was signed to his first pro contract by Cincinnati scout Paul Faulk.

Career Summary: Jeff begins his 16th professional season...since signing his first pro contract with the Angels in 1985, he's played 1,544 pro games, in three countries, for 12 organizations...he's made three tours with the Indians, two with the Yankees and one season with the Yomiuri Giants of the Japanese Central League...Manto has played in the major leagues in each of the last five years and in eight of the last 10 seasons...including 15 minor league stops, he's played professionally in 25 cities...a particular fan favorite in Buffalo, Jeff in three stints with the Bisons has appeared in 182 games and slammed 66 homers with 161 RBI in just 599 at-bats...along the way he has twice earned minor league MVP honors...he also shares two remarkable major league records: homers in four straight at-bats, and a three-game streak without a homerless at-bat (both in 1995 with Baltimore)...he has played all four infield positions, the outfield and even caught five games for the Indians in 1991...with the exception of eight games for the Phillies in 1993, Jeff has played his major league career in the AL, but he is no stranger to Colorado...he played two years at Colorado Springs (1990-91) when the Sky Sox were affiliated with Cleveland and Dan O'Dowd was managing the Tribe's farm system.

1999 — Manto returned to Cleveland as a non-roster spring invitee and opened his year back in Buffalo (AAA)...but the Indians purchased his contract June 9...he belted his season's lone major league homer the next day in a loss to Milwaukee...Jeff appeared in 12 games for the Tribe before he was designated for assignment June 29...the Yankees claimed him off the waiver wire July 2 and he appeared in six games for the Yankees, making one start (at first base) before he again was designated for assignment, this time on July 31...on August 10 Manto elected free agency.

1998 — Jeff went to spring camp with the Indians as a non-roster invitee and was in the the starting lineup Opening Day at Seattle, March 31, vs. Randy Johnson...he appeared in seven games before he was designated for assignment, April 21...claimed on waivers by Detroit, he appeared in 16 games for the Tigers with seven starts (four at first base, three at DH)...the Tigers released him June 16...re-signed by the Indians, he went to Buffalo (AAA)...Cleveland recalled him for a seven-game stint, but he was outrighted back to Buffalo Aug. 18...after the International League playoffs he returned to Cleveland Sept. 26 and started the last game of the season, Sept. 27 at Minnesota.

1997 — Signed by Toronto to a minor league contract he was assigned to Syracuse (AAA)...the Jays then traded him to the Cleveland organization June 6...after an outstanding seven-week stretch at Buffalo (AAA), in which he belted 20 homers and knocked in 54 runs in 54 games, he was recalled by the Indians and played the balance of the season at the major league level...he went to the postseason and World Series with the Tribe, but did not appear in a playoff game.

1996 — Jeff played with three organizations in two countries at four levels of pro baseball...signed in the off-season by the Yomiuri Giants of the Japanese Central League, after just 10 games he was released April 23...Boston then signed Manto on May 7 and assigned him to Pawtuckett (AAA)...the Red Sox brought him to Boston after May 22...after 22 games with the Red Sox, plus a stay on the DL and rehab assignment with Trenton (AA), Boston dealt him to Seattle July 23 for Arquimedez Pozo...Jeff made 14 starts for the M's at third base and in his last at-bat for Seattle, hit a three-run, pinch-hit homer to beat New York 7-4...two days later he was waived and then re-signed by Boston Aug. 29...Manto played the rest of the year with the Red Sox and opted for free agency on October 8.

1995 — A member of Baltimore's Opening Day roster, he enjoyed his finest year at the major league level...Jeff set career highs in nearly every offensive category, including games (89), at-bats (254), hits (65), homers (17) and RBI (38)...he started 37 consecutive games for the O's, May 17-June 25...during that stretch, from June 8-10, he became the 24th player in major league history to homer in four consecutive at-bats...Jeff accomplished the feat over three games to tie another major league mark...he hit one June 8, two June 9 and one June 10.

1994 — He opened the year with Norfolk (AAA) in the Mets chain, but he was traded to Baltimore May 19 for Mike Cook...assigned to Rochester (AAA), he completed the year there...combined at both stops Manto led the International League in homers (31) and RBI (100) and earned the league MVP...also led the league in extra-base hits (64), total bases (260), and on-base percentage (.404).

1993 — Played most of the year at Scranton-Wilkes Barre (AAA) but did have two stints with the parent club, Philadelphia...the Phils didn't include him on their postseason roster.

1992 — In his only season with the Atlanta organization, he played at Richmond (AAA).

1991 — He broke camp with the Indians but split his year between Cleveland and Colorado Springs (AAA)...he made his big-league debut at catcher, June 15...the Indians released him Nov. 27.

1990 — Cleveland acquired Manto from the Angels Jan. 9, with Colin Charland, for Scott Bailes...he made three round trips between Colorado Springs (AAA) and Cleveland...Jeff made his major league debut June 7 vs. Detroit...on July 27 (Game 2) he recorded his first major league hit, vs. New York...his first homer came Aug. 4 (Jimmy Jones) at Yankee Stadium...he went to Instructional League after the season to learn the art of catching...at Colorado Springs he led the Sky Sox in RBI (82) and walks (78); he also tied for the team lead in homers (18) despite appearing in just 96 games.

1989 — He belted 23 homers in his first Triple-A season, his last in the Angels chain.

1987 — With Palm Springs (A), his career-high 102 walks led to a .419 on-base percentage.

1986 — He went on the disabled list July 16 and did not return.

1985 — Manto signed his first pro contract and was sent to Quad City (A) of the Midwest League...playing in 74 games, he popped 11 homers, knocked in 34 runs and walked 40 times.

Personal: Jeffrey Paul Manto...Jeff and his wife, Denise, make their home in Langhorne, Pa., with their three children: daughters Gabrielle (5), Andreana (3) and son Jeffrey (1)...he graduated in 1982 from Bristol (Pa.) High School...his career came full circle last year when he appeared in six games for the Yankees; following high school he was drafted by New York in the 35th round but elected to attend Temple University in Philadelphia...he majored in criminal justice at Temple, and as a junior set the school record with 16 homers...at Temple he made the transition from pitcher to infielder...drafted by California in the 14th round of the 1985 June draft, six picks before the Angels selected Bo Jackson...he officiates high school and junior college basketball games during the winter months...nickname is "Mickey"...signed by Angel scout Al Goldis.

Right-Handed Pitcher

—NON-ROSTER INVITEE—

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 220 B/T: R/R Age: 32 (turns 33 on Oct. 4)

Born: 10/4/67 in Houston

Residence: Arlington, Texas

Major League Service: Six years, 39 days

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Jan. 26, 2000.

Career Summary: After 13 seasons in the Texas organization, Roger Pavlik's .547 winning percentage (47-39) ranks sixth in Ranger history...especially stingy over the season's final six weeks, he built a 16.1 scoreless innings streak late in 1996...his favorite month is September (3.51 ERA)...after that dominant 1996 season, Pavlik has battled injuries each of the last three years...since the beginning of the '97 season, Roger has appeared in 16 games (11 starts) and thrown 71.2 innings...after action in five games to begin '98, he suffered two major setbacks, which claimed the final five months of that season, as well as the entire 1999 campaign...first, on April 23, 1998, former Colorado player Quinton McCracken ripped an atom ball back to the mound, fracturing Roger's right (pitching) index finger...placed on the 15-day DL April 24, 1998 he underwent surgery April 27, when doctors inserted two pins in the finger...the pins were removed June 9, while his stiches were removed June 16...then, the Rangers discovered a partial tear in the thickness of his right rotator cuff...he underwent surgery to repair that injury Aug. 28, 1998...now, after an arduous 17 months, Pavlik makes his comeback in Tucson with the Rockies this spring.

1999 — Roger missed the season recovering from surgery to repair a torn rotator cuff.

1998 — Pavlik left Florida on the Rangers' Opening Day roster...on April 2 in Texas, he picked up his first major league save, hurling 4.0 scoreless innings in a 20-4 win over the White Sox...it marked his first professional save since 1989 with Charlotte...he gave up runs in three of his next four games (6 er, 10.0 ip)...then, on April 23 vs. Tampa Bay, McCracken's rope back through the box fractured Roger's right index finger...placed on the DL the next day, he missed the rest of the season...he was granted free agency Oct. 27...the Rangers offered him salary arbitration Dec. 7 and he formally rejected the offer Dec. 19.

1997 — A right elbow injury limited him to 11 starts...on April 18 in Arlington he opened with walks of four straight Blue Jays, establishing an AL record for walks to begin a game...after elbow soreness forced him out of a scheduled start, May 11 at Fenway Park, the Rangers placed him on the DL the next day...Roger underwent arthroscopic surgery May 23 to treat a bone spur and remove chips from the joint...he made three stops during a rehab assignment and Texas activated him Sept. 2...he went 1-2 with a 2.48 ERA to finish the season, including a 1.80 mark over his final four starts...Pavlik built a 15.0 scoreless innings streak, Sept. 11-12...his decrease in wins, from 15 in 1996 to three in '97, marked the second largest drop in the AL over that span; Tornoto's Erik Hanson won 13 in 1996 and none in '97.

1996 — Roger tied for second in the AL with seven complete games, compiled the circuit's sixth highest winning percentage (.652) and tied for eighth with 15 wins...his wins starts (34), complete games and innings (201.0) were career bests...he won his first five decisions and into mid-July he stood 12-2, the best record in Texas history after 14 decisions...only Kevin Brown (June 30, 1992) posted 12 wins faster in club annals...Roger was then 3-5 with a 6.44 ERA in his final 14 assignments...on May 4 against Buddy Bell's Tigers, he threw a one-hitter; Mark Lewis' two-out homer in the fifth was Pavlik's only baserunner...Ken Hill one-hit the Tigers the previous night and, with Roger's effort, it marked the eighth time in history a team hurled back-to-back one hitters, the first in the AL since 1917...selected to the All-Star team, on July 9 at Veterans Stadium, he pitched 2.0 innings...he took the loss in Game 4 of the ALDS vs. New York, Oct. 5.

1995 — His 149 strikeouts led the club...he compiled a 2.89 ERA over his final 13 starts, including September, when he was 4-1, 1.90...he tossed 16.1 straight scoreless innings, Sept. 13-23.

1994 — Pavlik made three trips to the disabled list with right shoulder soreness, which limited him to 11 starts...just before spring training, he noticed the soreness, and after doctors diagnosed him with a partial rotator cuff tear, he opened the year on the DL...after rehab stints in Port Charlotte and Oklahoma City, the Rangers activated him May 15...he went back on the DL June 16 (strained right shoulder)...following one rehab appearance, he returned to Texas July 2...after only 1.1 innings that night, he went back to the DL with recurring shoulder soreness...he made three more rehab starts at Triple-A, and Texas activated him again July 24...he went 1-1 with a 4.64 ERA over four starts to close the year.

1993 — Roger opened with Oklahoma City (AAA), but joined the Rangers permanently May 21...his 3.41 ERA led Texas starter...on Aug. 7 vs. Seattle, he struck out a career-best 13...he went 6-0 with a 2.15 mark over his last 10 starts (the Rangers won every game in that stretch, and went 19-7 overall with Roger).

1992 — Pavlik made two tours with the big-league club...recalled from Oklahoma City (AAA) April 28, he made his major league debut May 2 at Comiskey Park; after opening with 5.1 no-hit innings, he left after six innings en route to a no-decision, despite allowing one hit...optioned to Triple-A May 20, Pavlik returned Aug. 13 and posted his first major league win, Aug. 20 back at Comiskey Park; it was the first complete game by a Ranger rookie since Kevin Brown, July 21, 1989.

1991 — Injuries kept him out of all but seven games...he missed more than three months, May 25-July 28 with a sprained ulnar collateral ligament in his right elbow...on April 24 vs. the Denver Zephyrs, he pitched 3.1 innings, fanning every batter he retired (10 total strikeouts).

1990 — In 27 combined starts with Charlotte (A) and Tulsa (AA), he led the organization with 167 strikeouts he led the Texas League with 8.16 Ks per nine innings and a .195 opponents average against.

1989 — Pavlik led Charlotte (A) with 98 strikeouts....he hurled a three-hit shutout to beat St. Petersburg, June 22.

1988 — Roger opened the year with Gastonia and went 2-12 in 18 games before the organization moved him to Butte, July 19...he went on to lead that club with 56 strikeouts, going 3-0 in eight starts.

1987 — He first encountered shoulder problems that would hamper him throughout his career...out of action from June 4-Aug. 6, Roger strained a muscle and suffered tendinitis in the right shoulder.

1986 — One day after the Rangers drafted him in the second round of the 1986 June draft, he underwent June 5 surgery to repair a torn ligament in his left knee and missed the season.

Personal: Roger Allen Pavlik...a 1986 graduate of Houston Aldine High School, he lettered four years in baseball...he missed most of his senior season with a fractured left wrist...Roger enjoys fishing and hunting and he spent one week fishing on Brazil's Amazon River after the '96 season...one year later, he fished in Costa Rica...Pavlik participated in the Ks for Kids program with other Ranger starting pitchers...he helped to build a fitness path at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital...signed by Wayne Krivsky of the Rangers.

Born: 6/4/67 in LaCrosse, Wis.
Residence: Castle Rock, Colo.
Major League Service: Eight years, 88 days

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Dec. 17, 1999.

Career Summary: Scott Servais (SER-viss) brings 11 years of professional experience to the Rockies camp as an non-roster invitee...the veteran catcher has been behind the plate with Houston (1991-95), the Chicago Cubs (1995-98) and San Francisco (1999)...last year with the Giants he hit .273, the best season average of his career, and nailed nine of 45 runners (20 percent) attempting to steal.

1999 — Scott went to spring camp with San Francisco as a non-roster invitee and made the club out of spring training...he shared catching duties for most of the season with Brent Mayne, who joins him in Tucson this spring...Servais went on the disabled list June 17...Vinny Castilla's foul tip dislocated Scott's right thumb Aug. 16 at Coors Field...after a three-game rehab stint at Fresno (AAA), Scott returned to the active roster July 9...a solid bat off the bench, Scott was 4-for-11 (.364) with a homer and three RBI in the pinch role.

1998 — A member of the Cubs' wild-card postseason team, Scott made 87 starts for Chicago...despite a regular season .222 average, he had 20 hits in his last 71 at-bats to help the Cubs nail down the the final playoff spot...Scott ranked second among NL catchers with a .991 fielding mark, and threw out 19 of 83 (23 percent) on the bases...in his first career postseason action, he started Game 2 of the National League Division Series vs. Atlanta and had two hits...he elected free agency Oct. 23...Scott had arthroscopic surgery on his right knee, Nov. 2, after a knee problem bothered him for much of the season.

1997 — He made 110 starts behind the plate for the Cubs and threw out 42 of 134 (31 percent) attempting to steal...he also batted a solid .260 with six homers and 45 RBI...Servais tied his career high with five RBI May 19 vs. the Giants, his future club...he had arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Oct. 1 to repair a medial meniscus tear.

1996 — In his first full year with the Cubs, Scott established career highs for games (129), runs (42), hits (118) and RBI (63)...he made 125 starts behind the plate for Chicago...hit by a pitch 14 times, he was beaned more than any Cubs player in 91 years...Frank Chance was hit 17 times in 1905...Scott played two innings at first base, at Atlanta May 20, his first appearance at the position since 1989 with Osceola (A).

1995 — Houston's Opening Day catcher, Servais was traded to Chicago June 28 with Luis Gonzalez for Rick Wilkins...he batted a combined .265 in 80 games with 47 RBI and a career-high 13 homers...in his first game with the Cubs he recorded his first major league steal...on Chicago's disabled list, July 10-Aug. 3, with a sprained left knee, he injured the joint in a homeplate collision with Darren Daulton, July 9.

1994 — Servais appeared in 78 games for the Astros...three of his nine homers on the season came during a five-game span, May 24-30.

1993 — Scott belted 11 homers for Houston, a career high at the time...his first career homer came April 25 at Pittsburgh, off Randy Tomlin...in a home-plate collision with Roberto Mejia, he was spiked on his right hand Sept. 14 at Mile High Stadium; he needed four stitches to close the cut and missed the remainder of the year.

1992 — During his first full major league season, Scott appeared in 77 games...Houston pitchers compiled a 3.38 ERA while he was behind the plate.

1991 — Servais opened the season in Tucson (AAA) but received his first call from the major leagues July 10 from the Astros...he made his big-league debut July 12, at Wrigley Field as a pinch hitter...he opened his major league career 0-for-22, before he singled off the Giants' Don Robinson Sept. 23 for his first hit...on the disabled list, Aug. 4-Sept. 7, a foul tip fractured a bone in his right hand.

1990 — In his first full season, he spent the year at Tucson (AAA) and appeared in 89 games.

1989 — Because of his Team USA commitment, Servais signed late with the Astros after they drafted him in June 1988...he did not see his first pro action until '89...assigned to Osceola (A), Servais by midseason earned a promotion to Columbus (AA).

Personal: Scott Daniel Servais...he makes his permanent home in Castle Rock, Colo., a 35-minute drive from Coors Field...Scott and his wife, Jill, have three children: Tyler (7), Jacqueline (5) and Victoria (2)...he graduated from Westby (Wisc.) High School in 1985 and later attended Creighton University, where he was a three-year starter...a member of the 1988 United States Olympic Baseball team, he and Tom Goodwin helped the squad capture the gold medal in Seoul, Korea...the year before with Team USA, he and his teammates won the silver at the 1987 Pan American Games...Scott won USA Baseball's Alumni Award in 1994...he provides charitable assistance to the Denver Dumb Friends League and to the New Horizons Women's Shelter in LaCrosse, Wisc., where he was born...Scott and his wife also fund a college scholarship at Westby High School in Wisconsin...he organizes and teams up with Arizona Diamondback catcher Damian Miller to put on an annual bowling tournament, Catchers for Kids, that helps fund youth organizations in the LaCrosse area...he's also involved with "Sungate," a family-resource program for abused children throughout Denver...Scott owns The Yard Baseball Academy in Englewood, Colo....originally selected by the New York Mets in the second round of the 1985 June draft, he elected to attend college at Creighton...three years later the Astros used their third-round selection to select Scott and he was signed by Houston scout Dave Lakey.

Outstanding Second-Half Hitters

After the All-Star break, Todd Helton over the last two years has hit better than anyone in the National League. Off-season acquisition Jeff Cirillo ranks third on that list. Only two players in the majors, Edgar Martinez and Albert Belle, have compiled a better second-half average than Helton. Here's a look at the NL leaders, and major league hitters over the last two stretch runs.

How Obtained: Selected in the 28th round of the 1992 June draft.

Career Summary: Mark Strittmatter (28th round) and Angel Echevarria (17th) are the longest serving players in franchise history…each was drafted in the organization's first June draft, in 1992…Roger Bailey, who re-joins the Rockies this year in minor league camp, was also drafted by Colorado in '92, but left the organization briefly…Strittmatter enters his ninth pro season and marks his third spring as a non-roster invitee in major league camp…Mark made his big-league debut in 1998…he's worked at Triple-A Colorado Springs over each of the last four full seasons, as well as parts of 1995 and 1993.

1999 — Mark spent his fourth full consecutive season at Triple-A…he shared catching duties first with Henry Blanco, then with Ben Petrick, arguably the organization's top two catching prospects (Blanco has since been traded to Milwaukee)…he threw out 27 of 61 (.443) attempting to steal, sixth in the PCL…he started 60 games at catcher and committed just two errors…on May 28 vs. Las Vegas, Mark singled home Chris Hatcher with the game winning run in the bottom of the 10th.

1998 — After seven years in the Rockies organization, Strittmatter earned a September callup…he hit a career-high .278 at Triple-A…Strittmatter threw out 29 percent (36 of 123) of PCL base thieves…he homered and collected four hits June 2 at Albuquerque, the first of six consecutive multi-hit games that jumped his season average to .319…he capped the streak with another four-hit game, June 11, which included two doubles and a season-high five RBI…the Rockies purchased his contract Sept. 1 and he made his major league debut and his only start behind the plate Sept. 3 at Milwaukee; John Thomson carried a no-hitter into the fourth inning but the Brewers eventually won, 7-3…after two more appearances, he was optioned to Colorado Springs Sept. 6 for one day when injuries cut into the Sky Sox catching depth...recalled by the Rockies Sept. 8 Mark closed the year with Colorado...he made just one more late-inning defensive appearance, Sept. 25 vs. San Francisco.

1997 — A strained ligament July 18 kept him out Colorado Springs' final 43 games...he still led the catchers on his club by nailing 39 percent (11 of 28) of PCL runners...he made just one error in 257 total chances behind the plate (.996)...he hit better on the road than at Sky Sox Stadium.

1996 — In Mark's first complete Triple-A season, he was Colorado Springs' backup catcher.

1995 — He started at Colorado Springs but returned to New Haven (AA) in mid-April and put together his best offensive season, which included three grand slams...Mark hit .290 (9-for-31) with two homers and five RBI in the Eastern League playoffs as New Haven lost in the finals to Reading...he threw out 29 of 82 (35 percent) of Eastern League baserunners.

1994 — Strittmatter caught the full season at New Haven (AA) and led league catchers with a .992 fielding percentage, making just four errors behind the plate...he nailed 37 percent (30 of 81) of runners.

1993 — Mark played most of the season at Central Valley (A) in the California League but he also spent a month in Colorado Springs (AAA) as the backup catcher.

1992 — A member of the franchise's first June draft in 1992, Mark helped the first Rockies organizational team, Bend, win its division.

Personal: Mark Arthur Strittmatter...he is single...Strittmatter came to Coors Field during the '98 All-Star festivities to serve as the catcher in the NL bullpen...a graduate of Ridgewood (N.J.) High School, he lettered in baseball and basketball...he attended Morris County Junior College (Randolph, N.J.) for two years before transferring to Virginia Commonwealth University (Richmond, Va.)...as VCU's starting catcher (1991-92), he hit .333 over 107 games and was a member of the '92 team that won the Metro Conference Championship...Mark was signed by Rockies scout Danny Montgomery.

How Obtained: Signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Jan. 26, 2000.

Career Summary: Like Roger Pavlik, Jeff Tabaka comes to Tucson looking to rebound from season-ending surgery...originally the Expos' second-round selection in the 1986 June draft, the veteran left-hander marks his 15th year in pro ball...exclusively a reliever since he made his Double-A debut with El Paso in 1992, Jeff has made 365 straight relief appearances since his last pro start...he has six seasons in the majors, including last year...Tabaka (tah-BAW-kah) has pitched major league games for the Pirates, Padres, Reds and Astros...the Rockies are his ninth organization, as he also has time in the Montreal, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Florida, Pittsburgh, San Diego, Houston and Cincinnati systems...he's made two stints each in the Brewers and Pirates chains...since the Expos drafted him, he's now changed organizations 11 times...he's been drafted three times (amateur, Rule V and expansion), signed six free agent contracts, been traded (in July 1995 from San Diego to Houston for OF Phil Plantier), and claimed on waivers...but until 1998, he'd remained fairly healthy; he's made one DL trip in each of the last two years.

1999 — Tabaka, hampered by tendinitis in his left elbow during spring training, went on the 15-day disabled list March 26...the Pirates transferred him to the 60-day DL April 16 and he missed the entire campaign recovering from surgery on the joint...after the season on Oct. 14, the Pirates outrighted him off their roster...he elected free agency and signed with the Rockies in January.

1998 — Jeff set career highs in strikeouts and innings, spending most of the year with Pittsburgh...on the Bucs Opening Day roster, Tabaka was optioned to Nashville (AAA) April 24, then recalled April 27...on May 1 vs. Los Angeles, he notched his first big-league victory since Sept. 15, 1995 with the Astros...on May 24, he suffered a broken jaw and underwent surgery the next day...the Pirates placed him on the DL and he missed the next five weeks...after four rehab appearances with Nashville, he was reinstated July 3...he worked a season-high 3.2 innings Aug. 13 at Cincinnati, fanning a career-best five in a shutout effort...he reeled off six straight scoreless appearances, Aug. 13-30, dropping his ERA to 2.40...on Sept. 15 at St. Louis, he left the game with a strained muscle in his left side...his ERA at night (1.83) was more than five runs better than during the day (7.15)...opponents hit just .204 off him (LHB hit .175 and RHB hit .218).

1997 — The left-hander spent most of the year with Indianapolis (AAA) in the Reds chain...his ERA stood at 0.87 (31.0 ip, 3 er) after 31 games...he pitched 5.0 straight innings without a hit, May 18-June 6...on July 19 at New Orleans, he threw five wild pitches...the Reds purchased his contract Aug. 19 and two of his three appearances were scoreless...he cleared waivers and returned to Triple-A Aug. 26.

1996 — Tabaka broke camp with the Astros...he registered his second major league save Aprl 12 at Cincinnati...optioned to Tucson (AAA) May 21, he won six of his eight decisions for the Toros...recalled by Houston, Sept. 3, he closed the year with the Astros, making two more appearances.

1995 — Jeff left spring training on San Diego's Opening Day roster, his first of two stints with the Padres (through May 16; also June 12-22)...traded to Houston July 19 (with P Rich Loiselle for OF Phil Plantier), Tabaka remained with the Astros for the rest of the year...his first six Astros apperances were scoreless...over a longer stretch, 15 of his first 17 Houston games were scoreless, including 11 straight unblemished appearances (12.2 ip) through Sept. 15.

1994 — Milwaukee released Tabaka before spring camp closed, and he signed for his first of two tours with the Pirates...recalled April 18, he made his major league debut April 19 at Cincinnati...claimed on waivers by San Diego May 12, he earned his first major league save (May 29 vs. St. Louis) for the Padres...his first big-league hit was a double off Fernando Valenzuela, June 22 at Philly.

1993 — His 53 appearances led New Orleans (AAA) and ranked fifth in the league...he saved 22. 1992 — A Texas League all-star, Jeff fanned eight in 3.0 innings April 27 and gave up one HR all year. 1991 — In his last year as a starter, he was released July 24 and signed by Milwaukee Aug. 2. 1990 — Jeff spent the full season with Philly's Single-A club. 1989 — Promoted July 29, he finished the season at Triple-A. 1988 — He compiled a combined 2.21 ERA in 18 games. 1987 — On July 26, he fanned 11 on one hit in 7.0 innings. 1986 — He averaged 9.9 strikeouts per nine innings in his first pro season.

Personal: Jeffrey Jon Tabaka...he and his wife, Gretchen have a daughter, Brooke (7)...he earned all-state in baseball at Copley (Ohio) High School, as well as third-team All-America at Kent University.

Career Summary: Ed Vosberg enters his 18th season in pro ball...the left-hander, who launched his career in 1983, has pitched for 18 regular-season teams, including the 1992 season in the Italian League and the 1997 World Series champion Marlins...he's pitched in four countries, including Canada and winter ball in Mexico...the Rockies mark his 11th organization; he's also pitched in the San Diego, Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco, California/Anaheim, Seattle, Chicago-NL, Oakland, Texas and Florida systems...he's made two tours each with the Dodgers and Padres, who drafted him in the third round of the '82 June draft...he made his major league debut in 1986 and has pitched all or parts of eight seasons in the majors...Vosberg has pitched in 213 big-league games with 13 saves...excluding one 1994 start for Tacoma, he's pitched exclusively in relief each of the past 10 seasons...he did throw 17 complete games over his first six pro seasons...in spring training, Vosberg won't be found at the Rockies' team hotel...a Tucson native, a graduate of Salpointe High School and the University of Arizona, he's lived in the city his entire life...he's even made two stints with the local Triple-A club, the Toros in 1989 and the Sidewinders last year...as a youth, he helped his Tucson team to the 1973 Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa. (runner-up to Taiwan)...he also contributed to U of A's 1980 National Championship and an American Association crown...with nearly 1,500 innings as a professional, he has 1,011 strikeouts in 587 games...in the majors, he's averaged less than one inning per game (184.2 ip, 194 appearances) over his career.

1999 — Vosberg pitched on four clubs in two organizations...he went to camp with the Padres but went on the DL (strained left shoulder) March 30...after a two-week rehab assignment in Las Vegas, he returned to the Padres April 24...Ed made 15 appearances for the Padres before his release, June 7...he signed a minor league contract with Arizona June 10 and the D'backs purchased that contract six days later...Vosberg pitched in four D'backs games over a week stretch, before the club designated him for assignment June 24...he cleared waivers and was outrighted back to Tucson June 28...Ed was outstanding pitching for his hometown club...overall in 26 appearances, he went 1-0 with a 0.78 ERA and seven saves...he turned in 15 straight scoreless appearances, July 3-Aug. 18...over a longer stretch, he didn't allow an earned run over 20 appearances, July 3-Sept. 2...he fanned at least one in 20 of his 26 outings.

1998 — Ed missed the entire season with a left shoulder injury, suffered before during the off-season...Dr. Lewis Yocum performed surgery to tighten the joint capsule in his shoulder, April 7...he remained with National League championship club all season while rehabiliating the shoulder.

1997 — Combined with Texas and Florida, the southpaw set career highs with 59 apperances, 53.0 innings and 37 strikeouts...the Rangers traded him to the Marlins for RHP Rick Helling, Aug. 12...Vosberg's first 10 Marlins appearances were scoreless (8.1 ip)...he earned a World Series ring after pitching four times in the postseason...in the NLCS vs. Atlanta, he threw 2.2 scoreless innings, and pitched twice in the Fall Classic vs. Cleveland (2.0 ip, 3 h, 2 r, 2 er, 3 bb, 2 so).

1996 — Vosberg saved eight of nine opportunities with 11 holds in 52 appearances for the Rangers during his first full big-league season...among pitchers who spent the full season with Texas, his 3.27 ERA led the staff...only 17 of his 47 inherited runners (36 percent) scored...five of his saves came in his first eight appearances (all shutout outings)...he made one NLDS appearance vs. New York, facing one batter.

1995 — Ed refused an outright from Los Angeles April 24, then signed a minor league deal with Texas April 26...the Rangers purchased his contract April 29 and he finished the year in the majors...he allowed 11 of 49 (22 percent) of inherited runners to score...on May 17 vs. Toronto Vosberg notched his first major league save...on May 20 vs. Milwaukee, he picked up his first big-league win since June 14, 1990...managers, polled by Baseball America, rated his pickoff move second in the AL...he also pitched for Los Mochis in the Mexican Pacific League.

1994 — He opened his only season in the A's organization at Triple-A Tacoma, where left-handed batters hit only .116 off him...on July 4, Oakland recalled him and he made his AL debut that night at New York

(AL); he retired his only batter faced, Paul O'Neill, for the game's final out...Vosberg stranded 9 of 12 inherited runners...after the season, he pitched for four Mexican winter league clubs.

1993 — He helped Iowa (AAA) to the Amercian Association championship...over his last 40.2 innings, he allowed only nine earned runs, a 1.99 ERA...the streak chopped his season ERA in half, from 6.45 to 3.57...overall, he fanned 63 in 62.0 innings.

1992 — Vosberg ventured to the Italian League and spent a season with Novara...re-living his college days, he also batted full-time (.320, 10 homers, 36 games — pitching stats weren't kept).

1991 — He opened the year with Edmonton (AAA), but the Angels organization released him May 11...on May 20, he signed a minor league deal with the Mariners and pitched 16 games before at Triple-A before they released him, July 10.

1990 — During his first season pitching only in relief, Ed split the year between Phoenix (AAA) and San Francisco...the Giants recalled him May 8 and three days later at Philadelphia, he made his first major league appearance in four years...he garnered his first major league win against his former club, San Diego, June 14...optoned to Phoenix July 30, he wound up with a staff-leading 2.65 ERA.

1989 — Vosberg pitched in three organizations over an eight-month stretch...the Padres dealt him to Houston over the off-season and he made 23 appearances with Tucson (AAA)...the Astros then sent him to Los Angeles, Aug. 1, as the PTBN in the Javier Ortiz trade of July 22...he finishe teh year at Triple-A.

1988 — In his final season in the San Diego system, after he shifted to relief in June, he went 7-1.

1987 — Recalled June 30, he didn't pitch in his week-stay and spent much of the year with Las Vegas.

1986 — Vosberg debuted at both Triple-A and in the majors...recalled Sept. 14 after the PCL playoffs, he pitched his first big-league game Sept. 17, a start vs. San Francisco.

1985 — He again tied for the Texas League lead with 27 starts...he won four of his first five decisions and three of his last five...in between, he was 2-8 through June and July.

1984 — Vosberg's 27 starts for Beaumont (AA) matched a league high.

1993 — In his pro debut, he opened with Single-A Reno but earned a promotion to Beaumont (AA) before year's end...in his first and only Double-A game, he threw a two-hit shutout.

Personal: Edward John Vosberg...he and his wife, Lori, have two daughters, Larissa (19) and Emilie (15)...he graduated from the University of Arizona in 1983 and the Padres selected him in the third round of that year's June draft...at U of A, he went 29-19 in four seasons...as a senior, he earned second team All-America honors, going 10-2 with a .290 batting average...All-Pac 10 in both '81 and '83, he helped the Wildcats to the 1980 National Championship as a freshman (he beat Florida State in the first round of the College World Series)...at Tucson's Salpointe High School, he lettered in baseball (two-time all-state) and football...at age 11, he hurled a one-hit shutout in the semis of the Little league World Series...his uncle, Don, played for the NFL's New York Giants.

Ht: 6-2 Wt: 195 B/T: R/R Age: 30 (turns 31 on April 8)

Born: 4/8/69 in Beverly, Mass.

Residence: East Lyme, Conn.

Major League Service: 76 days

How Obtained: Re-signed as a six-year minor league free agent, Oct. 27, 1999.

Career Summary: Pete Walker embarks on his 11th pro season, his second in the Rockies organization...he spent his first six seasons (1990-95) in the Mets chain, including his 1995 major league debut...he's also pitched one year (1996) in the Padres system and two (1997-98) in the Red Sox organization...Walker has toiled at Triple-A for all or parts of the last six seasons...he's pitched one major league game, with the Padres in 1996, since his first big-league stint, in 1995 with the Mets...a starter over his first three campaigns, he made the transition to relief in 1993...he's allowed only 19 home runs in 750.1 innings pitched as a professional...Walker returns to Tucson, where he pitched after the '93 season in the Arizona Fall League (he led the six-team circuit with 11 saves).

1999 — Walker pitched the entire season for Colorado Springs (AAA)...his final line was a numerologists' dream: 8-4 with a 4.48 ERA in 48 games...pitching in the North America's highest venue, Sky Sox Stadium, he compiled a 4.48 ERA, his lowest since the '94 season...his five saves were his most since '95...his eight wins tied Mike Farmer for the staff lead and his .667 winning percentage ranked first among Springs pitchers with at least seven decisions...all five saves came during a stretch of 10 May appearances, while closer Dave Wainhouse was with the Rockies...Walker spent the month of July on the disabled list...after his return, he allowed only three earned runs over his final 12 outings (15.1 ip)...on May 9 vs. Oklahoma he worked 3.0 innings and fanned six, a season high...he gave up nine homers, but only three came in high-altitude Colorado Springs...his 48 apperances were more than the previous two seasons combined.

1998 — Walker re-signed with the Red Sox organization Jan. 14...he battled injuries and spent the full season, his last of two in the Red Sox chain, at Pawtucket (AAA)...he went 1-4 with a 5.94 ERA in 22 games...he was on the Pawtucket DL from June 11-22...then only four days after his return, on June 26, he went back on the list for the rest of the year...after the season, he signed a minor league free agent contract with Colorado Springs.

1997 — Pete signed as a minor league free agent July 1...he began in the Gulf Coast League, but moved quickly to Trenton (A) and finished in the Triple-A postseason with Pawtucket...he opted for free agency, Oct. 10.

1996 — With Triple-A Las Vegas, he went 5-1 with a 6.83 ERA in 26 games...his season's only major league appearance came with the Padres, Sept. 7 vs. St. Louis...the game would be his last until the next July, when he made his debut in the Red Sox organization.

1995 — Walker opened the campaign with Norfolk (AAA)...his only start came Aug. 7 vs. Syracuse, a loss...he made his career's first two big-league tours, June 5-July 9 and Sept. 14-season's end...he made his major league debut June 7 at Candlestick Park, throwing 1.1 innings...he earned his first major league win in the season finale, Oct. 1 vs. Atlanta; he took the victory, after a scoreless inning, when the Mets scored the game's only run in the bottom of the 11th.

1994 — Pete experienced elbow problems in spring training with the Mets...the organization placed him on the DL April 7 (right elbow strain)...he joined St. Lucie May 19 and pitched three games before a promtion to Norfolk (AAA) May 23...he built a 2.70 ERA over his last 40.0 innings at Triple-A...he shruk his ERA from 12.79 June 10 to 3.62 Aug. 8...in October, he pitched for Sun Cities in the Arizona Fall League.

1993 — In his second full season at Binghamton, his first nine appearances, and 10 of his first 11, were starts...then, he shifted gears and worked out of the bullpen for the rest of the year (the season's final 34 games)...at one point, he hurled 16 straight shutout apperances (17.0 ip)...overall in relief, he went 3-2 with a 2.09 ERA and 19 saves...overall as a starter, he went 1-7, 4.47...after the season, he pitched for Tucson in the Arizona Fall League.

1992 — The right-hander went 7-12 with a 4.12 ERA in 24 games, 23 starts.

1991 — Pete finished second on the St. Lucie (A) staff with 10 wins.

1990 — Making his professional debut, Walker wetn 5-7 with a 4.16 ERA in 16 games, 13 starts with Single-A Pittsfield of the New York-Penn League.

Personal: Peter Brian (Pete) Walker...he and his wife, Kari, have one child, Kazi Morgan (2)...he lettered in baseball and basketball at East Lyme (Conn.) High School, graduating in 1987...he went on the University of Connecticut (1988-90) and helped the Huskies to the 1990 Big East Championship...Paul Berretta of the Mets signed him to his first pro contract...in his spare time, he enjoys crossword puzzles and playing the stock market.

COLORADO ROCKIES

Ryan McKee

1999 in Review

Pedro Astacio in 1999 fired seven complete games, not only the most in a season by a Rockies pitcher, but also the most in a career

1999 SEASON SUMMARY

THE '99 SEASON AT A GLANCE... Colorado finished in last place for the first time in seven years of major league play, 28 games out of first...The Rockies for the fourth time in the last five seasons compiled both the NL's highest batting average and ERA...Bob Gebhard, the only general manager in franchise history, resigned August 20...After the season, skipper Jim Leyland retired from managing after 25 seasons.

A NEW ERA... On Sept. 20, the Rockies named Dan O'Dowd executive vice president and general manager.

ANOTHER NEW ERA... Exactly one month after his Sept. 20 hiring, and exactly two months after Gebhard's Aug. 20 resignation, O'Dowd made his most important move, hiring Buddy Bell as the third manager in franchise history, Oct. 20.

ANOTHER ATTENDANCE TITLE... Colorado edged Cleveland for the franchise's seventh consecutive major league attendance title, in seven years of major league play. In 1999, the Rockies drew 3,481,065, a 42,976 average over 81 dates. The Rockies sold out 11 games, including the largest regular-season paid attendance in Coors Field history (48,876, June 24 vs. Chicago) and the most tickets ever distributed for a Coors Field regular-season game (50,400, July 3, Game 2 vs. San Diego).

ANOTHER CLUB BATTING TITLE... The Rockies tied an 85-year-old major league record by leading their league in batting five straight seasons. The Philadelphia A's (1910-14) are the only other club to accomplish it. Previously, the New York Giants (1910-13) held the NL record. The Rockies finished with a .288 mark, three points shy of the '98 club record, but nine points ahead of the runner-up Mets (.279).

ANOTHER INDIVIDUAL BATTING TITLE, AND MORE... Larry Walker batted a club-record and major league best .379 to capture a second straight NL title.

◆ His .379 average was the fifth highest since Ted Williams hit .406 in 1941.

◆ He also led the majors in slugging (.710) and on-base percentage (.458), becoming the first player to win the "percentage triple crown" since George Brett in 1980. The last NL player to lead the league in the three categories was Stan Musial in 1948; the last NL player to lead the majors in all three was Musial in 1943.

◆ Walker became the first to bat .360 or better three straight seasons since Al Simmons (1929-31). He's only the ninth player since 1900 to join the group (Rogers Hornsby did it on two occasions). Ty Cobb (1909-19) holds the record, 11 consecutive seasons.

◆ His .04349 margin of victory was the 11th highest in history.

◆ He was only the fourth player this decade with multiple hitting streaks of 18 or more in one season. During a career-long 21-game streak in April-May, Larry batted .506, only the eighth time in history a player has hit .500 or better during a streak of at least 20 games.

SPEAKING OF OUTSTANDING SEASONS... Pedro Astacio set career highs in complete games (7), innings (232.0) and strikeouts (210), all single-season club records. His 17 wins tied the team record, held by Kevin Ritz (1996). What's more, Astacio became the franchise's all-time strikeout leader; he enters 2000 with 431 Ks and needs only four wins to tie Kevin Ritz (39) for first on that all-time list. In '99, he held 20 percent of the staff's strikeouts and won 24 percent of its games. On a staff that lost 90 games, Pedro finished third in the NL in strikeouts, third in complete games, tied for eighth in wins, tied for sixth in games started and sixth in innings pitched. Astacio in '99 alone threw seven CGs to claim first on that all-time career list. Finally, Pedro in 1999 fanned 10 or more on five occasions; he now has six of the nine double-digit strikeout games in franchise history.

THE UNQUESTIONABLE TURNING POINT... After sweeping the Marlins, June 18-20, Colorado stood one game over .500, a season high. It'd won 13 of 18 games to begin June, then dropped nine straight, including an 0-7 road trip, to fall out of the division race.

TOTALLY AWESOME TOTAL BASES... The Rockies on the last day of the season, Oct. 3, established single-season NL club records with 2,696 total bases (surpassing the 1930 Chicago Cubs, 2,684) and 567 extra-base hits (surpassing the 1930 St. Louis Cardinals, 566). Earlier in the season, on May 19 vs. Cincinnati, the Reds and Rockies combined for 81 total bases, a major league record in Cincy's 24-12 win.

ROCKIES FINISH RUNNER-UP TO ROCKIES... Colorado's '99 club hit 223 homers, tied for the second most in National League history. Only the '98 Cardinals, who hit 223 (70 by Mark McGwire) and the '97 Rockies, who established the NL record 239, have hit as many in a season. The top single-season totals in the 124 years of NL play...

BASE-HIT BITS... Colorado's club-record 1,644 base hits were the most by an NL club since the 1930 Phillies collected 1,783. Only seven teams since 1931 (all AL) have totaled as many: the 1936 Cleveland Indians (1,715), the 1997 Boston Red Sox (1,684), the 1936 New York Yankees (1,676), the 1931 Yankees (1,667), the 1950 Boston Red Sox (1,665) , the 1999 Texas Rangers (1,653) and the 1934 Detroit Tigers (1,644).

PINCH-HIT BITS... Colorado pinch hitters shattered the club record with 72 pinch-base hits, most in the majors. The previous Rockies record was 64 in 1995. The club also led the majors in pinch home runs (9) and RBI (45). Colorado's .278 pinch average was second in the majors to Arizona. Individually, Angel Echevarria led the majors in pinch at-bats (47) and pinch RBI (15); his four pinch homers tied a club record (Howard Johnson, 1994; John Vander Wal, 1995).

ROCKIES REGAIN MEMBERSHIP INTO OWN CLUB... The 1999 Rockies became the third team in major league history with four players hitting 30 homers and driving in 100 runs: Dante Bichette (34 HR, 133 RBI), Vinny Castilla (33,102), Todd Helton (35, 113) and Larry Walker (37, 115). The 4x30x100 club was founded by the Rockies, who've now accomplished it three times; before 1999 the only two major league clubs to do it were the '96 and '97 Rockies.

'99 ROCKIES PICK UP WHERE '97 CLUB LEFT OFF... Only six teams in history have had four players hit 30 or more homers...

Club	Year
Colorado	1999
Los Angeles	1997

BROTHERLY LOVE... The Rockies threw two shutouts in 1999, both against Philadelphia. On May 30 at the Vet, Darryl Kile, Mike DeJean and Dave Veres combined on a rare 1-0 shutout. Then, on Aug. 29 in the second game of a split doubleheader, Brian Bohanon tossed a four-hit shutout at Coors Field.

STILL HARDEST TO FAN, BUT NOT AS PATIENT... The Rockies were once again the hardest in the NL to strike out. Colorado hitters fanned once every 7.38 plate appearances, well ahead of the next closest club, Atlanta (6.60). However, in '99 the Rockies drew 508 walks, or one every 12.54 plate appearances, 13th in the NL. Houston was the league's keenest team, drawing one walk every 8.79 plate appearances.

GOING THE DISTANCE... Colorado starters threw a club-record 12 complete games: seven by Astacio, three by Brian Bohanon and one each by Darryl Kile and John Thomson. Three of those CGs were losses. The previous club record was nine (1993, '97 and '98).

STRIKEOUTS WERE IN... Rockies pitchers fanned a club-record 1,032, 81 more than the previous record, 951 in 1998. Pedro Astacio led the way, breaking his own club record with 210, 40 more than the previous mark, 170 in 1998.

I FEEL THE NEED FOR SPEED... Colorado attempted the second-fewest stolen base attempts in the NL, behind Chicago. The Rockies' 61.9 percent SB-success rate was 14th in the league, including two times thrown out at the plate. The Rockies also called a hit-and-run 66 times, fewest in the NL. What's more, Colorado in 1999 used 11 pinch runners, fewest in the circuit.

AVOIDING THE SHUTOUT... Colorado finished '99 with a run in 83 straight games, a club record. The club was shut out only three times in '99, April 10 at Los Angeles (Kevin Brown, Jeff Shaw), May 29 at Philly (Curt Schilling) and July 4 vs. San Diego (Andy Ashby).

TOP HITTER'S PARK SHATTERS OWN HOMER RECORD... Coors Field sluggers in '99 hit 303 home runs, 32 more than the previous major league park record, 271 at Coors in 1996. The park's milestone 272nd homer was hit by Larry Walker, the 200th homer of the season for Colorado. Before Coors opened in 1995, the single-season homer record for any park with only one tennant was 248 at Los Angeles' Wrigley Field in 1961. The '96 record was 18 more than St. Louis' Sportman's Park in 1925, when not one, but two clubs called that venue home: the Cardinals and Browns.

REST FOR THE WEARY... The Rockies rotation started a pitcher on three days rest 20 times, 15 more than any team in the majors.

WEST-COAST WOES... Colorado went 5-14 in the Pacific Time Zone this season, all in key, divisional parks. The Rockies will welcome Pac Bell Park in San Francisco, after dropping their final six in a row at 3Com. Overall Colorado was 1-6 in San Francisco and 0-6 in San Diego, including an 0-7 trip through the two venues in late June. The Rockies did however continue to play well at Dodger Stadium (4-2).

WALK THIS WAY... On June 19, the Rockies and Marlins combined for the first major league game in Denver history (nearly 500 games) without a single base on balls. The pitchers: Bobby Jones and Jerry Dipoto for Colorado, Alex Fernandez, Braden Looper and Brian Edmondson for the Marlins. Todd Helton hit for the cycle.

SATURN MUST'VE BEEN IN THE FIFTH HOUSE OF PLUTO... The Astros July 26-27 won back-to-back games in Denver for the first time in franchise history. Colorado entered the season with a better all-time home winning percentage vs. Houston than against any foe.

SECOND-PLACE SECOND BASEMEN... The Rockies lost starting second baseman Mike Lansing for the season, after he underwent May 30 back surgery. Despite the loss, Lansing's replacements, primarily Kurt Abbott and Terry Shumpert, kept up the pace Lansing established. Overall, Colorado second basemen hit .300, second among NL teams. Only the Mets (.301) hit better in 1999.

FUNDAMENTALS... The Rockies finished last among major league teams in sacrifice bunt success rate, 67 percent. In 1998, Colorado's success rate was 80.2 percent, ninth in the National League.

THE THREE-RUN BAROMETER... Opponents dominated the Rockies in 1999 when holding Colorado to three runs or less. When Colorado's offense generated three or less runs, the Rockies were 6-48 (.111), 1-14 at home and 5-34 on the road.

BLACK SUNDAY... The Braves in the ninth inning April 18 scored more runs (10) and totaled more hits (9) in one frame than any opponent in Rockies history. Previously, three teams touched Colorado for nine runs in an inning. The Braves' 45 total bases tied the record by a Rockies opponent (Chicago 8/18/95).

CLOSE SHAVES AND LARGE MARGINS... The Rockies in 1999 tied the 1993 club record with 47 one-run games (24-23). They were 13-7 at home and 11-16 on the road in one-run contests. In games decided by five or more, Colorado was 19-33. On Sept.10, the Rockies beat the Brewers by 12 runs, Colorado's largest margin of victory since 4/5/97 at Montreal (12). The club record is 14, established in a 17-3 win over San Diego at Mile High Stadium, 6/19/93.

CATCHER PARADIGM SHIFT... Henry Blanco from May 15-22 started eight straight Rockies game at catcher. It was the first time Colorado started the same catcher as many as eight straight since it started Jeff Reed 10 consecutive games, April 8-20, 1996. What's more, when Colorado activated Kirt Manwaring off the disabled list June 4, it marked the first time since 1993 the Rockies officially had three catchers on an active 25-man roster. In June of that inaugural season, Colorado carried Jayhawk Owens, Danny Sheaffer and Joe Girardi. However, Girardi went on the disabled list, retroactive to his injury, and never played during the three-catcher span.

ROCKIES CAN'T SAVE SELVES FROM SAVE RECORD... On May 21 vs. Arizona, the Rockies blew a significant save opportunity. It marked the 21st consecutive game in which Colorado didn't record a save, a club record. The '97 club (June 27–July 19) held the previous mark, 20. The dubious streak eventually reached 26 games, ending when Dave Veres preserved a 4-3 win at the Astrodome, May 27. It began April 29, the day after Veres saved a 9-7 victory at St. Louis.

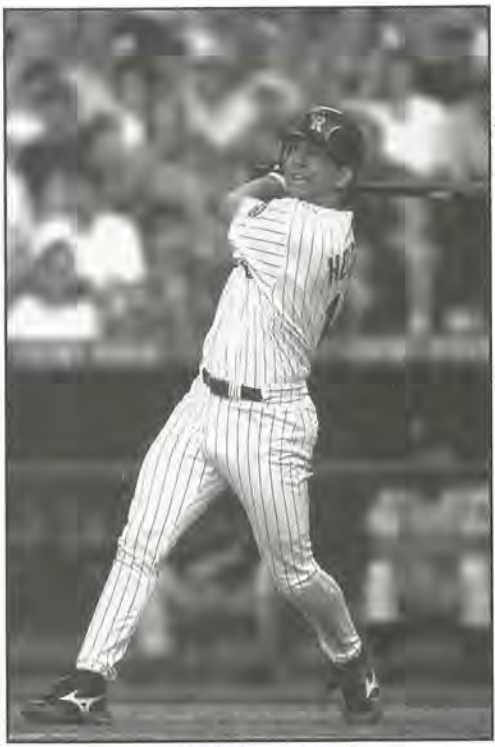

WILLIAMS ROBBED OF LEADOFF HOMER, AGAIN... Atlanta's Gerald Williams had a strong case of bad luck during the Braves' second trip to Denver. On Aug. 18, he led off the game with a drive to left and Dante Bichette went over the wall to steal a sure home run. Exactly 24 hours later, Williams led off the series finale with another long drive to left; this time, Jeff Barry snagged the ball over the fence. Each game was decided in the final at-bat. The two over-the-wall catches were the only such robberies at the park in 1999.

NOW THAT'S A MARATHON... Colorado and Pittsburgh played a 10-inning contest at Coors Field that was so long, it literally began in August and ended in September. The Rockies erased not one, but two four-run deficits but lost, 9-8.

SIGN OF THE TIMES... The '99 season marked the first in Rockies history in which the club did not play a traditional doubleheader. The team did play five "day-night splitters," including for the first time a pair of split contests away from Coors Field, at Los Angeles July 22. The Rockies swept all but one of their split doubleheaders (they dropped both games of a split DH to Montreal August 13).

WHO ARE YOU & WHAT HAVE YOU DONE WITH COORS?... For three August games, Coors Field simply was not itself. On Aug. 17, the Rockies and Braves combined for five runs in the lowest-scoring game in Denver since the Rox and Marlins scored four, 9/10/98. The next day, Aug. 18, the teams matched the five runs (Kevin Millwood and Brian Bohanon each threw 8.0 innings on one run before Walker slugged a three-run homer to end it in the ninth). Then, on Aug. 28 (Game 2), Bohanon shut out the Phillies, 4-0, establishing the season's low-run total. The Rockies swept that series without a homer, the first time in club history Colorado won three straight home games without a round-tripper.

TRIPLE TRIPLES... The Rockies tied their club record with three triples June 24 vs. Chicago, their most in a game since the inaugural season (9/19/93 and 7/23/93, both at Mile High Stadium). Later in the year, at one point in September, Neifi Perez's last three hits were triples. Perez established the single-season club record with 11, tied for first in the NL.

The Two Triple Plays in Rockies History

On June 13, 1998 at Los Angeles, the Dodgers turned the first triple play in Rockies history. With no outs in the fifth, and runners on first and second, Kurt Abbott dropped a sacrifice bunt attempt. Pitcher Darren Dreifort picked up the ball and threw to second to force out Neifi Perez. Shortstop Jose Vizcaino, who received Dreifort's throw, fired to first to get Abbott. Second baseman Eric Young, who was covering first, then completed the play by throwing to third to get Jamey Wright (1-6-4-5).

Then, almost exactly one year later at Coors Field, on June 14, 1999, it happened again. This one, though, was more "routine." With Edgard Clemente at-bat and runners on first and second, Giants left-hander Shawn Estes induced a hot ground ball to third. Bill Mueller fielded it, stepped on his bag to force Angel Echevarria, and gunned it to second. Jeff Kent, the second baseman, made the pivot, forcing Henry Blanco at second, before completing the play by nailing Clemente at first, thanks to J.T. Snow's stretch (5-4-3).

Baseball 101: Rule 10.18 (i)

When pitchers are changed during an inning, the relief pitcher shall not have the benefit of previous chances for outs not accepted in determining earned runs.

NOTE: It is the intent of this rule to charge relief pitchers with earned runs for which they are solely responsible. In some instances, runs charged as earned against the relief pitcher can be charged as unearned against the team.

EXAMPLES: (1) With two out, P1 walks A. B reaches base on an error. P2 relieves P1. C hits home run, scoring three runs. Charge two unearned runs to P1, one earned run to P2. (2) With two out, P1 walks A and B and is relieved by P2. C reaches base on an error. D hits home run, scoring four runs. Charge two unearned runs to P1, two unearned runs to P2. (3) With none out, P1 walks A. B reaches base on an error. P2 relieves P1. C hits home run, scoring three runs. D and E strike out. F reaches base on an error. G hits home run, scoring two runs. Charge two runs, one earned, to P1. Charge three runs, one earned, to P2.

Spectacular Big-League Debuts

Derrick Gibson turned in the best overall offensive debut in club history Sept. 8, 1998 vs. Florida, but few people heard about it. On the night Mark McGwire broke Roger Maris' single-season home run record, Gibson kicked off his career with a four-hit performance. He tied a modern big-league record, becoming the 14th player this century to get four hits in his first game. Gibson, who delivered an RBI double in his first plate appearance, was also the first to go 4-for-4 in his debut game since Boston's Ted Cox in 1977.

Mark Brownson on July 21, 1998 at Houston became just the 72nd pitcher this century to throw a shutout in his first major-league game. The righthander took a no-hitter into the sixth and allowed just four hits all night. With his parents in the stands, he blanked the Astros, the NL's top run producer. The performance was the seventh complete-game shutout in Rockies history.

And, at Cincinnati on May 14, 1993 Jay Gainer became the 12th player to homer on his first major-league pitch, an offering from Tim Pugh.

COLORADO'S 10 MOST MEMORABLE WINS

in chronological order

Colorado 11, Montreal 4

April 9, 1993 ◆ Mile High Stadium

Eric Young, in the first major-league game in Denver, delivered a leadoff home run, a 3-2 shot into the left-field seats. Four batters later, Charlie Hayes answered with a homer of his own, helping Colorado to an unforgettable four-run first. The Rockies drew 80,227 to establish baseball's single-game attendance record, setting the pace for the single-season mark they'd own at the end of the year. Behind starter Bryn Smith, the Rockies earned their first franchise win, rewarding fans who'd waited 100 years for big-league baseball in Colorado.

Colorado 12, Cincinnati 7

Sept. 26, 1993 ◆ Mile High Stadium

He'd homered only once the entire season entering the Rockies' home finale. But to close a magical inaugural home schedule, Eric Young homered twice. The second baseman finished the home slate the way he started it, with the long ball. Colorado drew 70,069, the ninth time the Rockies cracked 70,000 in their inaugural season. The crowd topped off Colorado's attendance at 4,483,350, the largest single-season draw by any baseball team in history.

Dante Bichette

Colorado 11, New York 9

April 26, 1995 ◆ Coors Field

On a frigid evening, Dante Bichette christened the Rockies' new park with a dramatic homer, a three-run clout to beat the Mets in the bottom of the 14th. Colorado lost the lead twice in extra frames, including the final inning, before Bichette's homer catapulted them to victory. Rico Brogna hit the first homer in the park's history, and Todd Hundley followed with the first Coors Field grand slam. With two out in the ninth and the Rockies down 7-6, new acquisition Larry Walker delivered an RBI double to send the game into the 10th. The two teams combined for 32 hits off 14 total pitchers, giving the baseball world a glimpse into the future of the majors' most exciting ballpark.

Colorado 10, San Fran. 9

Oct. 1, 1995 ◆ Coors Field

The Rockies clinched a post-season berth in the franchise's third season, five years faster than any expansion team in history. And, by beating the Giants, Colorado became the National League's first wild-card team, finishing just one game behind first place Los Angeles. The Rockies clawed back from an early 8-2 deficit, using a pair of four-run innings to take the lead. Holding the Giants in check, the Colorado bullpen retired nine of its last 11 hitters. Curtis Leskanic, the seventh Rockies pitcher, fanned his first two batters in the ninth and induced a slow roller from Jeff Reed to preserve the victory.

Eric Young
April 9, 1993

Colorado 7, Atlanta 5

Oct. 6, 1995 ◆ Fulton Cty. Stadium

In Game 3 of the NL Division Series, the Rockies produced the go-ahead runs with two out in the 10th, en route to the franchise's only postseason victory. After watching an early three-run lead dissolve, Colorado allowed the game-tying tally in the ninth. But the resilient Rockies made their extra-inning cushion stand, as Mark Thompson retired the Braves in order in the 10th. Vinny Castilla homered and drove in the game's final run.

Colorado 9, St. Louis 8

May 18, 1996 ◆ Coors Field

Few gave the Rockies a chance heading into the bottom of the ninth. With his club on top 8-4, Dennis Eckersley, one of the game's most dominant relievers, entered the game in what wasn't even a save situation. But the future Hall of Famer walked Eric Young to lead off the ninth, the pitcher's second walk of the season and first unintentional. The next batter, Ellis Burks, blasted a 1-1 pitch over the center field wall and cut the Cards' lead in half. Three batters later, with one out and runners on the corners, manager Don Baylor called for his power-hitting pinch-hitter, John Vander Wal, setting up a confrontation the skipper had been waiting for all weekend. Vander Wal hammered a 1-0 pitch into the visitors bullpen and capped the largest ninth-inning rally in Rockies history. In an eerie contest that could only happen at Coors Field, St. Louis' John Mabry actually hit for the cycle. Larry Walker became the first player to reach the park's third deck with a 475-foot shot in the sixth inning.

Neifi Perez

Colorado 16, L.A. 15

June 30, 1996 ◆ Coors Field

After three explosive contests to begin their four-game series, the Rockies and Dodgers saved the real fireworks for the finale. In the longest nine-inning game in NL history (4:20), the Rockies erased a one-run deficit in a well-executed ninth. After pinch-hitter Jeff Reed singled home Dante Bichette to tie the contest, with two out, Quinton McCracken produced the game-winning double to score Vinny Castilla. The lead changed hands six times and the teams combined for 38 hits. Dante Bichette was 5-for-6 with four RBI and Eric Young stole a club-record six bases, including three in the third inning. Two Dodgers, Eric Karros and Raul Mondesi, each homered twice, while Mondesi drove in six in a losing cause. The Rockies got at least two hits in every inning except the first, when they had none. During the four-game series, the clubs combined for 85 runs, 25 home runs and 122 hits.

Colorado 8, Cincinnati 4

April 13, 1998 ◆ Coors Field

He wanted only to impress a girl, but he wound up jump-starting the Rockies, and bringing light to the club's darkest homestand. Colorado snapped an eight-game losing stretch and got its first home win in a chilly but memorable night. In the third inning with the Reds at bat, a naked fan leaped onto the field and attempted a foulpole-to-foulpole sprint, before security guards intercepted him. Ironically, the streaker seemed to inspire the Rockies, who scored eight unanswered runs to beat Cincinnati, 8-4.

Colorado 9, San Fran. 8

Sept. 27, 1998 ◆ Coors Field

In the season's final weekend, the Rockies played the most significant role in determining the NL's final postseason entry, other than the teams in contention. In a closely watched three-game series, Colorado hosted the Giants, who came to Denver trailing the Mets and Cubs by a full game. In Sunday's regular-season finale, with the Mets out and the Cubs and Giants tied for first, Houston broke a tie in the bottom of the 11th to beat the Cubs, giving the Giants the temporary lead. However, less than 60 seconds after Houston scored its winning run, with ESPN's national audience shifting to Coors Field, Neifi Perez stepped to the plate. The Rockies' shortstop homered to break an 8-8 tie in the bottom of the ninth, denying the Giants of the final postseason spot and forcing a one-game playoff with the Cubs. Colorado had rallied from a 7-0 deficit to beat the Giants, tying for the second-largest comeback victory in team history.

Colorado 13, Chicago 6

May 5, 1999 ◆ Wrigley Field

The Rockies became only the third team in the 20th century, the first in 35 years, to score in every frame of a nine-inning game. In only three innings, including the ninth, the Rockies waited to score until two were out. They got unearned runs with two retired in the first and ninth, and scored on a two-out wild pitch in the sixth. Dante Bichette was 4-for-4 with two RBI. Neifi Perez went 3-for-5 with a homer, double and three RBI. Pedro Astacio fanned 11 in 8.0 innings. Over a longer stretch, from May 4-7, the Rockies scored in 14 straight innings, tying a 50-year-old NL record.

ROCKIES CHRONOLOGY

1985

August 8 – Baseball's new Basic Agreement permits the National League to expand by two teams.

1987

October 31 – U.S. Senators from eight states, including Colorado Sen. Tim Wirth, announce they have formed a Congressional task force to investigate baseball expansion.

1989

June 15 – Baseball says it will announce a timetable for N.L. expansion within 90 days after the completion of a new Basic Agreement.

1990

August 14 – Denver area voters pass a 0.1 percent sales tax to finance construction of a new baseball stadium, if MLB awards a franchise.

August 23 – Colorado's Baseball Advisory Committee, headed by Gov. Roy Romer, designates the Colorado Baseball Partnership to spearhead the formation of an ownership group.

September 18 – The N.L. Expansion Committee hears Denver's presentation.

December 18 – The N.L. unveils its short list of six potential expansion sites: Buffalo, Denver, Orlando, South Florida, Tampa-St. Petersburg and Washington, D.C.

January 25 – Denver's baseball ownership group launches a season ticket drive, requesting a refundable deposit of $50 per seat.

March 13 – Envisioning a traditional ballpark, the Denver Metropolitan Major League Baseball Stadium District formally chooses its site: 20th and Blake streets

March 15 – Colorado Baseball Partnership announces that the proposed baseball park will be named Coors Field.

March 26 – The N.L. Expansion Committee visits Denver.

June 6 – Commissioner Fay Vincent announces that both leagues will share revenues generated by the $190 million expansion fee, and that both circuits will contribute players to the expansion draft.

June 10 – Vincent announces Denver and South Florida are the N.L. Expansion Committee's selections.

June 28 – The two leagues and the Major League Baseball Players Association compromise: A.L. teams will protect extra players in each draft round. Only eight A.L. teams will have to give up three players; the other six will give up players only in the first two rounds. With the agreement, a final expansion vote is scheduled for July 5.

July 5 – Major-league owners unanimously approve Denver and South Florida as baseball's two newest franchises. Colorado Baseball Partnership announces that the team will be called the Colorado Rockies and unveils the team logo.

September – Bob Gebhard takes his post as the first general manager.

February 14 – KOA-Radio (850 AM) signs a five-year agreement to become the team's flagship station.

March 2 – Ownership chooses Tucson, Ariz. as the Rockies' spring training home. The agreement between the Rockies and the Pima County Sports Authority calls for the club to play its spring training games at Hi Corbett Field, the former Cactus League home of the Cleveland Indians.

March 19 – The club announces its 1993 ticket prices, seating locations, and season-ticket packages. The Colorado Rockies Foundation commits to providing at least 150,000 tickets in '93 to the less fortunate. April 16 – KWGN-TV (Channel 2) in Denver signs a five-year agreement to become the Rockies' exclusive over-the-air television broadcaster.

June 1 – John Burke, a pitcher from the University of Florida and a native of Englewood, Colo., is selected by the Rockies in the first round of the MLB June Draft, the club's first-ever draft selection. The 6-4, 220-pound righthander, the 27th player selected overall in the draft, signs a contract with the Rockies.

June 6 – The Rockies conduct a tryout camp at the University of Denver baseball field.

June 16 – Bend, Ore., hosts the first game in organization history, a Single-A Northwest League contest between the Bend Rockies and Boise Hawks. With the Rockies trailing 4-1 in the bottom of the eighth, catcher Will Scalzitti hits a grand slam to give his club a dramatic 6-4 win.

July 4 – The Rockies unveil their traditional 1993 Uniforms (home, away, and Sunday alternate) at a Team USA-Team Cuba baseball game at Mile High Stadium before 61,165 fans. Included on the home Uniform is purple pinstripes, making the Rockies the first team in major-league history to feature purple stripes. The club's road Uniform is gray and the alternate is black. Also, the team improves its logo.

September 2 – Jerry McMorris, Oren Benton and Charles Monfort acquire all of the interests previously owned by non-Coloradoans. The local trio assumes control of the team.

October 16 – Club officials, civic leaders and other dignitaries break ground on the future site of Coors Field.

October 27 – The Rockies name Don Baylor their first manager.

November 9 – The Colorado Baseball Partnership completes its acquisition of the franchise by the paying the $95 million franchise fee. Shortly thereafter, the Rockies acquire pitcher Travis Buckley from the Montreal Expos in exchange for a player-to-be-named (Matt Connolly) in the club's first trade.

November 16 – The club signs free-agent first baseman Andres Galarraga.

November 17 – The Rockies select David Nied from the Atlanta Braves to open the MLB Expansion Draft in New York City. At the same time, over 20,000 fans fill Denver's Currigan Hall to watch the historic event. After the draft, Colorado trades Kevin Reimer and Jody Reed for Dante Bichette and Rudy Seanez, respectively.

January 26 – The Rockies restructure their front office. Jerry McMorris becomes Chairman, President and C.E.O.; Oren Benton and Charles Monfort become vice chairmen.

February 18 – Pitchers and catchers report to Tucson, Ariz. for the club's inaugural spring training. Position players report five days later.

March 6 – The Rockies win their first spring training game, 7-2, over San Francisco. David Nied starts and pitches out of a jam in the first by striking out Barry Bonds.

April 5 – The club plays its first regular season game, against the Mets at Shea Stadium. Dwight Gooden tosses a three-hit shutout.

April 9 – The Rocky Mountain region welcomes big-league baseball, as the Rockies host Montreal at Mile High Stadium. Eric Young homers to lead off the bottom of the first, bringing the record-setting crowd of 80,227 to its feet. Colorado wins, 11-4, behind 37-year-old Bryn Smith, who blanks the Expos over seven innings.

May 9 – The team recognizes Lydia McKee as the one millionth fan through the gates at Mile High Stadium. Ironically, the mother of two is recognized on Mother's Day. The Rockies reach the million mark in just 17 home dates, breaking the previous best of 21 set by the '92 Toronto Blue Jays.

May 14 – Jay Gainer becomes the 12th player in history to homer on his first major-league pitch.

June 20 – After eclipsing the million mark on Mother's Day, the Rockies crack 2 million on Father's Day, the 36th home date. Colorado reaches the mark faster than any team in history, breaking the '92 Blue Jays mark of 41 dates.

July 28 – The Rockies surpass the 3,000,000 plateau in their Rockies fans set many attendance records at Mile High Stadium, including the single-season and single-game marks in 1993. The club was on pace to eclipse the '93 total when a strike ended the '94 season.

53rd home date. Once again, the club is the fastest to reach the milestone, breaking previous mark, 61, set by Tornoto in 1992.

September 17 – In one game, their 71st home date, the Rockies surpass the 4 million mark, breaking the single-season attendance record.

September 26 – The inaugural attendance is final: 4,483,350.

October 3 – The Rockies conclude their inaugural season with the most wins by a N.L. expansion club. Andres Galarraga wins the batting title, the first won by an expansion player and Venezuelan native.

November 2 – The club and the Denver Metropolitan Stadium District agree to expand Coors Field to approximately 50,200.

December 1 – Free-agent outfielder Ellis Burks agrees to a three-year deal.

December 6 – The Rockies re-sign first baseman Andres Galarraga to a four-year contract.

January 7 – Free-agent shortstop Walt Weiss agrees to a two-year deal and becomes the first player to appear on the roster of both expansion teams. He played for Florida in '93.

January 13 – Responding to fan requests, the club alters its uniforms. Names are placed on the back of the home jerseys, while the road uniform's lettering is changed from silver to purple.

February 25 – The Rockies announce that they will exercise the '95 option on manager Don Baylor's contract.

June 26 – The Rockies claim one of the few major-league attendance records not yet in their possession, drawing 217,009 fans to a three-game series vs. the Giants.

July 17 – Colorado tops one of its own attendance records, drawing 259,113 to a four-game series against St. Louis.

August 7 – Again, the Rockies eclipse one of their own attendance marks, opening turnstiles for their 3 millionth fan in just the 52nd home date; 1993 saw Colorado crack 3 million in 53 dates.

September 30 – The Colorado Rockies, the City of Denver and Feed the Children announce an innovative literacy program called "Hitting Home." The program, which will run through the end of the 1995-96 school year, will distribute two books to 2,300 students.

October 31 – Colorado promotes Dick Balderson to vice president/player personnel and Tony Siegle is hired to replace Walt Jocketty as assistant general manager.

POSTSEASON HISTORY

1995 National League Division Series

In 1995, Colorado earned a trip to the postseason in the franchise's third year of play, faster than any expansion club in major-league history. The first NL wild-card entry, the Rockies posted the best winning percentage of any third-year club, .535 (77-67).

Although Colorado held a lead in all four games, the Rockies lost to the eventual World Champions, 3-1, in the first-ever NL Division Series. The lone victory came in Game 3, a 7-5 triumph. The linescores from the series with the Braves:

Boyd Coffie

Minor League Field Coordinator

Boyd Coffie began his professional baseball career in 1959 when he signed out of college with the New York Yankees. He reached AAA Richmond in 1961 before serving his country in the army. Upon his return, he embarked on a 20-year collegiate coaching career at Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla. There, Coffie spent 10 seasons as a baseball assistant and his last 10 as the head coach. During his time at Rollins, Coffie also coached basketball (the head coach for both sports in 1972), and managed Orlando in the Minnesota Twins organization, and Auburn (N.Y.) of the New York-Penn League. Coffie also played four seasons at Rollins (1955-58), and the school retired his No. 1 jersey, the first jersey retirement in school history. Coffie left Rollins to join the Cleveland Indians as field coordinator in 1991. He served the Indians for eight seasons before joining the Rockies.

Lorenzo Bundy

Outfield & Baserunning Instructor

Lorenzo Bundy is in his second season with the Rockies...the major league bulpen coach in 1999, he was named manager of the year for Navajo in the Mexican Pacific League this off-season...he spent four seasons in the Marlins organization as the major league outfield and baserunning coach (1998) and three seasons with Brevard County of the Florida State League, where he managed in 1997...he came to the Marlins from the Expos organization, where he managed for six seasons...his first coaching assignment was as a player-coach at Jacksonville (AA) in 1989 and in his first managerial stint, he led Bradenton to its Gulf Coast League division title...in an eight-year minor league career, he hit .318 with 135 homers and 534 RBI ...the 1981 James Madison University graduate has a bachelor's degree in communications...he and his wife, Lupita, and seven-year-old daughter Nichole reside in Melbourne, Fla.

The Herb Hippauf Scouting Award

Herb Hippauf joined the Rockies in 1992, helping the club prepare for the expansion draft, then served as a national cross-checker until his untimely death in 1995. Every May, Colorado's scouting department honors an individual in Herb's memory.

Baseball Lingo

ace — A team's best starting pitcher.
alley — The section of the outfield between the outfielders. Also "gap."
around the horn — A double play going from third base to second to first.
backdoor slider — A pitch that appears to be out of the strike zone, but then breaks back over the plate.
bag — A base.
Baltimore chop — A ground ball that hits in front of home plate (or off of it) and takes a large hop over the infielder's head.
bandbox — A small ballpark that favors hitters.
bang-bang play — A play in which the baserunner hits the bag a split-second before the ball arrives or vice versa.
basket catch — When a fielder catches a ball with his glove near belt level.
Bronx cheer — When the crowd boos.
brushback — A pitch that nearly hits a batter.
bush — Also "bush league." Amateur play or behavior.
can of corn — An easy catch by a fielder.
caught looking — called out on strikes.
cellar — Last place. Also "basement."
cheese — Also "good cheese." A good fastball.
chin music — A pitch that is high and inside.
circus catch — An outstanding catch by a fielder.
closer — A team's relief pitcher who finishes the game.
cutter — A cut fastball (one with a late break to it).
cycle — When a batter hits a single, double, triple and home run in the same game.
dinger — A home run.
dish — Home plate.
fireman — A team's closer or late-inning relief pitcher.
fungo — A ball hit to a fielder during practice. It's usually hit by a coach using a "fungo bat," which is longer and thinner than a normal bat.
gap — See "alley." A ball hit here is a "gapper."
gopher ball — A pitch hit for a home run, as in "go for."

Portland Honored with Freitas Award

The National Association, at Baseball's Winter Meetings in Anaheim, Calif., honored the Portland Rockies with the prestigious Freitas Award.

The honor, named after Bob Freitas, a longtime minor league operator and ambassador, annually recognizes long-term success, especially in the front office area in each classification (Portland won among short-season teams). The franchised earned the award in its first year of eligibility, as teams are eligible beginning with their fifth year of operation. Since their first season, 1995, the Rockies have paced the Northwest League in attendance, won the 1997 league championship, and the South Divison pennant in 1999.

Franchise owners Jack and Mary Cain knew Freitas when he was Northwest League president.

Portland is the first franchise honored while affiliated with the Rockies. The Carolina Mudcats, now Colorado's Double-A club, earned the distinction in 1996.

THE ROCKIES ON RADIO

Wayne Hagin Radio Announcer

The lead broadcaster on the Rockies radio network since the beginning of the franchise, Wayne's familiar voice has become synonymous with Rockies baseball. His strong knowledge of the game follows 17 seasons of broadcasting major league baseball, a career that began with the Oakland Athletics in 1981. In addition to the A's, the Denver native was a member of the San Francisco Giants and the Chicago White Sox broadcast teams before coming home to Colorado.

Baseball was a natural for Hagin, who played collegiately at San Diego State, then was an original at ESPN in 1979. He was mikeside for the network's first-ever baseball telecasts. Hagin displayed his versatility this past year calling Colorado State football for the Rams television network.

Named by the Rockies players as the 1998 Players Choice Denver Media Man of the Year, Wayne, 44, and his wife, Valerie, have two sons, Austin and Taylor, and make their home in Littleton, Colo. The family is active in the community, working with Foster Care for Children, the D.A.R.E. Program and the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Jeff Kingery Radio Announcer

There are few individuals who have witnessed more Rockies baseball than Jeff Kingery, who has been in the booth since the team entered the National League in 1993.

Fans have heard Kingery on the Denver airwaves for more than 20 years, as he came to Colorado to call the old Denver Bears, including their American Association championship year of 1981. Now, after 11 seasons as the voice of the Denver Nuggets, Kingery is living his lifelong dream, broadcasting major league baseball.

Raised near San Francisco, he credits the dulcet tones of Dodgers' broadcaster Vin Scully as the reason for his enthusiasm. Thrills have been many for Kingery since the Rockies began, but he recalls the 1995 season as the most exciting, when "every game meant something," he said.

Jeff and his wife, Meryl, make their home in Englewood, with their dog, Columbo. The Kingerys are also active in the community, working with Easter Seals and Recording for the Blind. In his spare time, he plays the guitar in a Denver rock band, E.K.G.

THE ROCKIES ON TELEVISION

Dave Armstrong Play-by-Play Announcer

Dave Armstrong is in his fifth season as the play-by-play television voice of the Rockies, as he joined Colorado after three seasons with the Kansas City Royals' TV network. He teams with George Frazier to call 125 regular-season Rockies broadcasts.

Armstrong, 45, is no stranger to area sports fans. For more than a decade, Dave has provided play-by-play for Big Eight and Big 12 college basketball telecasts. His television credits also include work with ESPN, the Prime Network and Seattle Seahawks exhibition football.

Raised in Detroit, Dave was an avid Tiger fan growing up. He graduated in 1976 from John Brown University in Siloam Springs, Ark., where he played tennis. Armstrong is also an accomplished golfer. Dave and his wife, Karen, and children, Tiffany and Troy, make their year-round home in Littleton, Colo.

George Frazier Color Commentator

George Frazier begins his third campaign in the Rockies booth, again teaming with Dave Armstrong to provide fans with exclusive coverage on both KWGN-WB2 and Fox Sports Net.

An experienced broadcaster, George has provided his insights for Home Sports Entertainment, the Baseball Network, ESPN and the Minnesota Twins.

A former major league relief pitcher (1978-87), he went 35-43 in 415 games with a 4.20 ERA and 29 saves, while pitching for St. Louis, New York (AL), Cleveland, Chicago (NL) and Minnesota. He made trips to the World Series with both the Yankees ('81) and the Twins ('87), earning a world championship ring in his final year as a player in Minnesota.

Frazier, 45, was born in Oklahoma City and earned All-State honors in baseball at Hillcrest High School in Springfield, Mo., going 7-0 with a 0.14 ERA during his senior season. He then played collegiately at the University of Oklahoma, leading the Sooners to four consecutive trips to the College World Series. Milwaukee selected him in the ninth-round of the 1976 draft. George, his wife Kay, and children, Mathew, 20, Brian,18, Parker, 11, and Georgia, 7, reside in Tulsa, Okla.

Denver-Area Facts

◆ In its June 30, 1997 issue, The Sporting News ranked the Denver-Boulder area as the No. 1 sports city in the United States.

◆ According to the 1990 census, the six-county Denver metropolitan area is the 22nd largest in the United States (1.85 million population).

◆ Called the "Mile High City" because it's exactly 5,280 feet above sea level.

◆ Denver has four major professional teams. The Denver Broncos (Super Bowl XXXII and XXXIII winners), the Colorado Avalanche (1995-96 Stanley Cup winners) and the Denver Nuggets join the Rockies in providing one of the most entertaining arenas in all of sports. As of 2001, each team will be playing in a state-of-the-art downtown facility. Meanwhile, four Division I colleges are within an hour's drive of Coors Field.

◆ Denver's climate boasts of over 320 days of sunshine annually. It is not unusual to often have 60 and 70 degree days during the winter months, and the humidity hovers at a low percentage virtually year-round. The large snowfalls are usually confined to the mountain areas, providing a base for the dozens of Colorado ski resorts.

ROCKIES MEDIA POLICIES

Welcome

On behalf of the Rockies organization, we welcome you to our region and our park. We genuinely appreciate the time you've taken to cover our ball club. If you have any questions or requests, please don't hesitate to contact a member of our staff and we will make every effort to accommodate you. We look forward to working with you throughout the 2000 season.

2000 Policies

Please understand that we must work together to provide an environment for you that works efficiently with everyone involved, including the players and fans. We respectfully remind you that you are a guest in our park and ask that you have the courtesy to work within the guidelines of these policies. In order to sustain precedent, any violation of these guidelines will result in immediate revocation of your credential and bar future access to Coors Field. While within the park, members of the media, their agents and personnel, shall at all times be subject to the direction and/or supervision of the Colorado Rockies and the club's contractors.

Working Press Credentials

Season and daily press credentials are issued with the intention they will be utilized for the working press in order to provide coverage of the Rockies at Coors Field. Requests for daily credentials must come directly from the affiliation's editor, producer or director on company letterhead at least 48 hours prior to the game requested. THE COLORADO ROCKIES DO NOT CREDENTIAL FREELANCE WRITERS. Fax requests will be accepted only if the requesting affiliation is currently on file with the Rockies public relations office. It is the responsibility of the requesting affiliation to confirm receipt, and subsequent approval/denial of access to the game in question.

Press Dining

A press dining room is also located adjacent to the working press box on the "lower press" level, and is available to credentialed members of the media whom with access to the working press box. Press meals are $7.

Photo Credentials

Season and daily photo credentials are issued only to photographers on assignment for legitimate news-gathering organizations and representatives of companies licensed by Major League Baseball. Requests must follow the procedure outlined above. THE COLORADO ROCKIES DO NOT CREDENTIAL FREELANCE PHOTOGRAPHERS. All flash photography is prohibited at Coors Field. Please be advised that priority in all photo bays will be granted to news organizations on nightly deadlines. All mono- and tripods of any sort are strictly prohibited from the field at all times. Any use of photographs taken other than for news-gathering purposes or MLB officially licensed products will be considered a violation of existing trademark and copyright restrictions. As an opportunity to change locations mid-game, photographers are permitted to move along the warning track behind home plate between the first- and third-base photo bays at the conclusion of the fourth inning, but prior to the start of the fifth inning. Photographers are prohibited from stopping and photographing while changing photo bays. Photographers wishing to gain access to the clubhouse must receive advance clearance from the Rockies public relations department. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited from any photo bay or camera well at all times.

Direct lines of Alves and Gilbert transfer to the press box during home games.

Internet Media

Only licensees of Major League Baseball Enterprises have exclusive rights to simulate accounts, descriptions or pitch-by-pitch reproductions of Major League Baseball games on the Internet. No transmission by any other media, specifically including the Internet and any other online network, of any information about the game, including (but not limited to) any account, description, picture, video, audio, reproduction or other information concerning any MLB game will be permitted to originate from inside the ballpark (including from a camera feed already positioned within the ballpark). Reproduction of such accounts without a license from Major League Baseball Enterprises is a violation of the policies of MLB and the Colorado Rockies. A breach in such policy will result in revocation of credentials, and may be subject to litigation.

Live Transmissions

Affiliations not licensed by MLB and non-rightsholders of the Colorado Rockies and MLB (television, radio and internet sites) are prohibited from providing live telecasts, radio broadcasts, game simulations, pitch-by-pitch accounts, as well as from using live or taped material originating from inside the ballpark during a period commencing with the conclusion of batting practice and ending with the conclusion of the game. Live transmissions will be permitted until the conclusion of the club's rightsholder's (radio or television) post-game programming. RADIO STATIONS AND ASSIGNED CORRESPONDENTS FOR OUT-OF-TOWN REPORTS ARE PERMITTED TO GIVE INNING OR HALF-INNING SCORE UPDATES; HOWEVER AT NO TIME CAN THEY FILE REPORTS ONCE PLAY IS IN PROGRESS.

Roving Cameras

Any camera light in the seating area of the ballpark is strictly prohibited. If a photo light comes on during the game, umpires will stop play. Still photographers must shoot from either one of the photo bays (first- and third-base bags).

With prior approval from the Rockies PR department., still photogs may shoot from the TV camera wells located in the outfield along the baselines & along the upper deck, space permitting. Interviews within the ballpark during the game may only be conducted on the concourse between innings, not in the stands while the game is in progress.

Working Press Box

Seating in the lower press box is prioritized by daily print media, visiting public relations departments, visiting beat writers and area radio and television representatives not on the air during games. The upper press box consists of two television booths and four radio booths for live broadcasts. Keeping with MLB and club policy, no person under 18 is permitted into the press box on game days. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited from the working press box (upper and lower) prior to the game or while the game is in progress.

Field Access

All members of the media with credentials allowing them access onto the field may conduct interviews at specific times prior to the start of the game. The field must be cleared 50 minutes before the beginning of the game. At no time are media permitted in fair territory or anywhere outside of the first- or third-base bags. Alcoholic beverages are prohibited from the field at all times.

Batting Practice

Members of the media are now prohibited from standing, photographing or conducting interviews from the circle of dirt surrounding the cage while batting practice for either team is in progress.

Cellular Phones

The use of cellular phones for radio interviews while on the field and in the clubhouse is strictly prohibited. Any and all telephone interviews must be arranged in advance with the Rockies public relations department. An exception to the usage of a cellular phone for an interview is in the dugout, only after receiving advance permission from the player or staff member to be interviewed. All other telephone interviews must be arranged through the Rockies public relations department.

Media Phones

Members of the press can make toll-free calls or use their calling cards on any of the 10 designated phones provided by the Rockies. These phones are installed for the use of all media in the press box for working conditions only. If members of the media feel there are not enough lines available, they should contact U S West representative, Carol Klein at 800/ 301-9220 or FAX at 800/705-3307 to install their own line for use during the season.

Clubhouse Access

Members of the media must have a SPECIFIC working purpose to gain admittance to the clubhouse. The clubhouse will be closed 50 minutes prior to the start of the game. It will re-open up to 10 minutes after the game. Access to the visiting Coors Field clubhouse will be determined by the visiting club's policies.

Autographs

Credentialed members of the media are strictly prohibited from requesting autographs or equipment on the field, in the dugout or in the clubhouse. Officials will revoke credentials immediately, no exceptions.

Ticket Requests

The maximum ticket request by a member of the media is four per affiliation, per series (one station may request eight tickets for a homestand of two opponents). Ticket requests must be made a minimum of 48 hours in advance of the game in question. Requests will be accepted on letterhead and must be made by the affiliation's sports producer, director or editor. It is the requesting party's responsibility to confirm receipt of the request by the Rockies PR department, as well as to confirm approval/denial of the said request. If media tickets are not picked up without prior notice of an inability to do so to the Rockies PR department, the affiliation's ticket privileges will be revoked. Media tickets are a limited quantity per game. The Rockies PR department may also help media purchase tickets over the phone with a credit card, and the tickets will be available at the media will-call window. Media tickets are generally available for pick up one hour in advance of the start of the game. Media tickets are not guaranteed unless specifically approved by a member of the Rockies PR staff.

Official Scorers

Dave Einspahr begins his seventh season as a full-time Rockies official scorer. He served as Frank Haraway's backup for the inaugural 1993 season. One of the most versatile statisticians in sports, he also heads the statistics crew during Denver Broncos, Denver Nuggets and University of Colorado football home games; he broke into the profession full time with the Denver Gold in the defunct USFL. Einspahr's first pro baseball experience was with the Denver Zephyrs. He's worked three AFC championship football games, several NBA playoff contests, two NCAA men's basketball regionals, and has traveled to Australia, Mexico City and Tokyo for Broncos preseason games. In the "real world" Dave has worked for the United States Postal Service for 27 years. In fact, the Broncos head statistician lived on his first mail route and summoned him to fill in on the Broncos crew during the team's first Super Bowl season, 1977. He's headed the Broncos crew since 1986, the Nuggets' since 1989-90 and the University of Colorado's since 1987. As a cooperative observer, he's also worked for the National Weather Service, tracking weather records for the city of Wheat Ridge, where he lives, since the early 1970s. The Denver native graduated from Lutheran High School.

Jack Rose is in his third season as a Coors Field official scorer. Rose served as the head baseball coach at the University of Denver for 36 years, retiring after the '97 season when the school dropped baseball, its oldest sport. His Pioneers, who played from 1962-75 at Division I and from 1976-97 in the NAIA, earned appearances in 13 national tournaments. Five of his players advanced to the majors, and 32 signed pro contracts, the most successful of whom was Dan Shatzeder, who pitched 13 years in the majors and won Game 6 of the 1987 World Series. Rose, who was 785-717 (.524) at DU, was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame and honored with the alumni's Distinguished Service Award. Jack and his wife, Dee, have three children, Tom, Susan and Lisa, and make their home in Highlands Ranch.

THE FRANK HARAWAY PRESS BOX

The Frank Haraway Press Box at Coors Field is one of the most media-friendly press facilities in all of sports. It was dedicated July 25, 1997 in honor of Haraway, the club's first official scorer, a man synonymous with Denver sports throughout the 20th century.

Features

Size: When necessary, the writers level can house more than 160, as it did for the 1998 All-Star Game. The broadcast level contains two full-size television booths and four radio booths.

View: Virtually every seat in the press box offers an unobstructed foulpole-to-foulpole view.

Dining: Coors Field has one of the largest press dining areas in baseball. Located on the writers level, the room is decorated with memorable Rockies moments, accomplishments and awards.

Conveniences

Media use an elevator which quickly takes them to a dugout-level lobby just steps from the home clubhouse. Media can also view replays on more than 12 televisions.

A fax machine is also available to media.

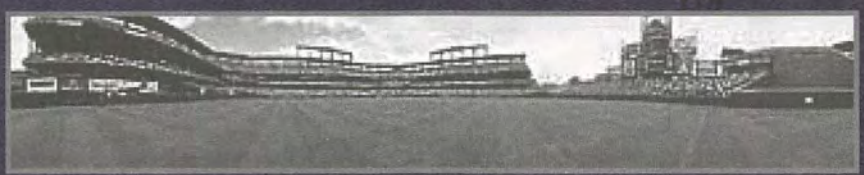

Updates

Rockies employee Jim Lambert has designed an elaborate major-league scoreboard complete with his hand-drawn logos. Lambert constantly updates the board with easy-to-read handwriting. Jim's also the person responsible for the unique chalkboard menus greeting press in the dining room.

The Control Room Hall of Fame

The JumboTron control room at Coors Field features a wall filled with celebrity autographs. Early in 1995, actor Bill Murray was visiting some broadcasters and found his way into the room. Somebody mentioned an autograph, and he inked his name on a wall between video production machines. Artist Peter Max followed, completing his autograph with an original drawing. The following lists the celebrities who've signed the wall, prior to the 2000 season.

Coors Field

Coors Field in 1999 produced 303 home runs, outdistancing its own 1996 major league record (271) for a ballpark with one or more home tenants

A CLOSER LOOK AT COORS FIELD

Financing

- On Aug. 16, 1990, almost a year before baseball awarded Colorado an expansion team, voters from the six-county Denver area approved a 0.1 percent sales tax to fund a baseball-only stadium.
- The ballpark's total cost was $215 million.

Capacity

- Architects originally designed the park to seat 43,800. However, after fans set dozens of attendance records at Mile High Stadium (1993-94), Rockies ownership paid to increase inaugural Opening Day capacity to 50,200.
- Today the park seats 50,381, after the opening of new suites in right field before the '98 season.

Location

- 20th and Blake streets in Denver's lower downtown ("LoDo") district
- Total Land: 76 acres (including the field's three acres)
- Fans sitting in the first-base and right-field areas are treated to a spectacular view of the Rocky Mountains
- Home plate faces due north

Structure & Construction

- Groundbreaking: Oct. 16, 1992
- Excavation: 181,000 cubic yards
- Backfill: 86,000 cubic yards
- Caissons: 1,387 (15-50 feet depth)
- 1.4 million bricks
  (red to match the LoDo warehouses)
- Natural sandstone from a Colorado quarry
- 8,975 tons of steel, designed to reflect the site's railyard heritage
- 4,500 tons of rebar
- Concrete Paving: 558,300 square feet
- Concrete masonry blocks: 700,000
- Handrails: 10 miles
- Upperdeck sunscreen: 95 feet above Blake Street
- Light towers: 140 feet above Blake Street
- Field lights: 528 main bulbs, each of which generate 2,000 watts
- Architects: HOK Sport of Kansas City, Mo., who also designed Oriole Park at Camden Yards, Jacobs Field and Denver's Pepsi Center, which opened in the Fall.
- General Contractor: Mortenson/Barton Malow

Seating Area

- Seat width: between 19 and 19.5 inches (22 inches on the Club Level)
- Each row is marked with a Rockies logo and its number
- Most of the stadium seats are green. However, the upperdeck's 20th row is painted purple, signifying exactly one mile above sea level.
- The Club Level offers padded seats, more leg room and a wait staff. A climate-controlled lounge, which features luxury furnishings and upscale concessions, sits behind the seating area.
- The Rockpile bleachers in center field offer a consistently low price: $1 for both children (12 and under) and seniors (55 and older). Admission for all other ages is $4. All day-of-game Rockpile purchases are limited to two tickets per person, and a portion can be purchased in advance; the remaining allotment goes on sale two and-a-half hours before gametime.
- There are 52 luxury suites across the upper portion of the club level, and an additional four party suites that possess the capability to expand to six. All but two of the suites have 12 seats outside, with a capacity of 20 inside. The party suites are sold on a per-game basis to individuals and groups. Most of the suites are named after Colorado's "fourteeners," the mountains at least 14,000 feet in elevation.
- For disabled fans, Coors Field offers 500 wheelchair seats for every game, including companion seating, and armless chairs. Disabled seating is in premier locations, such as the front row directly behind home, the front row of the leftfield pavilion and below the manual scoreboard.

Coors Field Ground Rules

Dugouts: Everything IN PLAY unless ball goes into the dugout. Photographers' areas are considered part of dugout.

Foul Poles: Ball hitting any part of screen area supported by poles down left- or right-field lines: HOME RUN.

Canvas (Tarp): Ball remaining behind or underneath canvas: ONE BASE on pitch, TWO BASES on throw by fielder, TWO BASES on batted ball, otherwise in play. Fielder may make catch standing on canvas.

Right-Field Manual Scoreboard: Ball going through the scoreboard, either on the bounce or the fly: TWO BASES.

Conveniences

- Restrooms: 74 (35 women's, 31 men's, eight family restrooms)
- Low-grade ramps to take fans to each level of the park
- Elevators: 11
- Escalators: seven
- The main concourse on the field level allows fans to walk the perimeter without losing sight of the playing field

Scoreboards

- Sony JumboTron: a 21,000-pound JTS-35 system, which stands 24 feet tall and 35 feet wide.
- The main matrix board below the JumboTron continually updates fans with lineups, linescore and statistics. It uses 56,320 lights and stands 33 feet tall and 73 feet wide.
- Seven auxiliary boards are spread throughout the park. Two matrix boards provide the linescore and batter information, and another shows electronic out-of-town scores. Two more boards on the upperdeck facade supply the speed and type of pitch, and pitch count. The newest auxiliary board, beneath the Mountain Ranch Club in rightfield, gives fans an opportunity to purchase a personal message.
- The manual scoreboard is one of Coors Field's more distinguishing features. This out-of-town scoreboard forms the rightfield fence and is within the field of play.

Dimensions

Playing Field

- Sod: 120,000 square feet, grown at Graff Turf Farms in Fort Morgan, Colo., a mixture of four bluegrass and two ryegrass strains. Graff Turf Farms was selected by Randall & Blake, Inc., the contractor chosen to build the surface.
- Drainage system: 10,000 feet of pipes, 3,000 tons of pea gravel and 6,000 tons of sand. These ingredients provide for a drainage rate of five inches of precipitation per hour.
- Heating system: The playing field houses 45 miles of wire, providing Coors Field with the only underground heating system in baseball. As a result, groundskeepers can quickly melt any snow accumulation.

- Infield and warning track: the infield skin is a combination of Colorado clay and sand, which is more than three inches deep. The warning track is 90 percent crushed lava and 10 percent red clay, both native to Colorado.

Features

- Centerfield water feature: added after the '96 season, this design replaced the sod farm that sat below the batter's eye in centerfield. Reminiscent of a natural landscape, Colorado Spruce, Blue Spruce and Pinon Pine are combined with Navajo Ruby Red Moss Rock and granite to create the scene. After a Rockies home run, when the Rockies first take the field, or when the Rockies complete a victory, seven water jets explode for 30 seconds.
- Mountain Ranch Club: this six-tiered structure in the rightfield corner is open to members before and during each game. Club members have the opportunity to watch the game either outdoors or from the climate-controlled indoor dining room.
- Platte River Rendezvous: a family picnic area below the Rockpile.
- Student Movers Building: the only original building to remain during the park's construction, this structure was renovated to house the kitchen for the club and private dining rooms, and the Sandlot Brewery, which makes its own varieties of Coors beer.
- Buckaroos: a concession stand built specifically for children, this leftfield area features smaller food and souvenirs and an enclosed playground.

- General Concessions: 43 permanent full-service stands in Coors Field, 18 beer portables, 16 food portables, two club-level kitchens.

Public Art

- Brick Paver Program: more than 12,000 fans took the opportunity to purchase personal bricks that were placed at the Wynkoop walkway adjacent to Coors Field's west concourse. Proceeds helped fund other ballpark artwork.
- Evolution of the Ball*: by Lonnie Hanzan; sculpture outside Gate E.
- Bottom of the Ninth*: by Erick C. Johnson; neon sculpture near Gate B.
- The West, the Worker and the Ballfield*: by Jeff Starr and Matt O'Neill; a 90-foot mural on the center field concourse, below the Rockpile.
- Decorative tiles: 40 terra cotta designs by Barry Rose, feature Colorado's state flower, the Columbine, and decorate the outside of the park.

Gameday Personnel

- Aramark: 750-800 concession staffers
- LLC: 350 ushers and ticket takers
- Rockies Guest relations staff: 50
- Central Parking System staff: 35
- Harry M. Stevens: 185 maintenance and custodial
- Rockies front-office staff: 50
- Police: 35 in-house officers, 34 with traffic
- Paramedics: 7, plus one attending physician

LoDo

- Commercial makeup: 11 micro breweries, more than 50 restaurants and more than 20 art galleries
- Housing Units: increased from 270 prior to '95, to more than 560 current units
- Hotel rooms: more than 4,800 within walking distance

COORS CUISINE

Coors Field offers everything you would expect at a major league park, and everything you would not expect. Here's a closer look...

What's new in 2000?

Plenty. Aramark, the park's concessionaire, has added a new All-Star Bar-B-Cue near section 137. There, fans can get chicken, pork or beef sandwiches, alone or on a platter, with cole slaw, potato salad or potato wedges. Or, how about a fried turkey leg or sausage on a stick?

For the health-conscious fan

At Coors, no one will look down on you if you don't have the standard hot dog. Besides a lot of cholesterol, do you really know what's in those things? Try the Hillyard Deli near section 137, where you'll find wraps and sandwiches with 98 percent fat-free turkey, roast beef, ham or cheese. Hillyard also offers chef and chicken fajita salads. There's a veggie burger at The Grill by section 134.

For the young fans

Behind the left-field foul pole, you'll find Buckaroos, where kids can get food to fit them: kid-size burgers, hot dogs, licorice, cups with a lid and straw, and even Dinger nuggets. After lunch, there's a playground next door, on the outfield concourse.

So, you're a hot-dog-and-cracker-jack guy?

Coors Field offers 15 hot dogs, or cousins of hot dogs. From the Hebrew Dog to the foot-long Rockie Dog, there's a size and taste for everyone.

So, you're NOT a hot-dog-and-cracker-jack guy?

How brave and curious are you? Well, you might be interested in Wings & Things, in the clocktower area near section 330. There, you'll find the world-famous Rocky Mountain Oyster Boat, or swingin' steaks. Don't be fooled, it's not seafood. It's definitely not seafood They're not chicken fingers, either. They don't even taste like chicken. In fact, forget trying to compare them to anything, because it's futile. They're flattened for aesthetic reasons, served on a bed of fries and come with plenty of sauce (if necessary). If you're not up for the challenge, perhaps you'd rather have a corn dog, chicken wings or twister fries.

Several Coors Field sub-contractors offer other alternative main courses.

At the Denver Buffalo Co., you can sample the shop's namesake. How about a buffalo beer stick, or a buffalo brat? Buffalo chips, burger, polish dog, hawker buffalo dog, buffalo italian dog, it's all there.

So, you didn't have time to hit the drive thru on the way to the game? No problem. There's a Taco Bell near section 114. There's also a Domino's Pizza, and several vendors in the stands.

Speaking of pizza, how about gourmet pizza? Try Roundin' Third, near section 137, where you'll find slices of veggie, mexican, quatro formaggio, white chicken pesto or coney island pizza.

Beer? The park's named after one

For those hot afternoons

From standard soft drinks to desserts, Coors Field offers plenty for the sweet tooth. You can even get a sundae inside a Rockies batting helmet (sorry, not a full-size helmet). Your best bet might be Madeline's near section 150, Gretel's near 331 or the Sweet Shop on the club level. Milkshakes, malts, sugar cones, floats and Otis Spunkmeyer cookies make up most of the menu. Or, try the Maui Wowi smoothie.

For those chilly nights

There isn't a bookstore next door, but you can get lattes, cappuccinos, hot cocoa and standard coffee at Coors Field. Venture over to Hit & Run near section 130 for a host of hot beverages.

THE MOST EXCITING PARK IN BASEBALL HISTORY

In 1999, Coors Field firmly founded itself as the most prolific offensive ballpark ever created. The Rockies and their opponents combined for 303 home runs, the most ever in a season at one venue, with one or more tenants. The average 1999 score was 8-7. And, like the park's previous four seasons, no lead was safe. The Rockies on one occasion lost after relinquishing an eight-run lead. Two days later, they entered the bottom of the ninth down 12-5, but rallied for five runs and stranded the tying run on second.

But while the experts are still debating whether the egg preceded the chicken, one thing's obvious: offensive baseball came well before Coors Field. Even after the park's inception in 1995, American League teams have consistently compiled higher batting averages and more hits than the Rockies. And, Mark McGwire hit only one of his 70 home runs in Denver during his magical 1998 season. In the park's short lifetime, there's also been a no-hitter and 14 shutouts. Coors was only a small cog in baseball's shift to a hitter's game; it wasn't the catalyst.

And, despite the fact Coors will become the oldest pro sports venue in Denver in 2001, the park isn't going anywhere. Every year since it opened, Coors has led the majors in attendance. On a clear Saturday night when the barometer reads 72 degrees and 23 percent humidity, there isn't a better place on Earth.

Some purists think the Rockies will never win consistently while they play at Coors Field, supporting arguments that when the club goes on the road, hitters can't re-compensate their swings after a Denver homestand. Or, that pitchers will never want to play in Colorado fearing that their ERAs will inflate out of control.

There was a time, especially early in park history, when opponents trembled at the thought of coming to Denver. The Rockies ranked among league leaders in home wins from 1995-96. But in 1999, the club endured its first losing season at home. Opposing pitchers have learned how to pitch at altitude.

Colorado management isn't sitting on its hands. This off-season the Rockies added 18 players to their 40-man major league roster. They made six trades and report to spring training with only 10 of the 25 players on the 1999 25-man Opening Day club. The massive change in the team's landscape is directly related to the new management's philosophy: a team will win consistently at Coors (and on the road) with faster, more athletic, high-on-base percentage hitters. Club philosophy with respect to pitching is also clear, stressing location over velocity and wins over ERA. In essence, the Rockies this year will give up the solo home run, knowing that it wasn't a three-run bomb after two guys got on via the walk.

But even with a new philosophy, the ball still travels nine percent farther at 5,280 feet than at sea level. So, fasten your shoulder harnesses, keep both hands on the bar in front you at all times, and enjoy the ride.

Mile High Memories

Coors Field closed the curtain on a brief but very memorable two-year stint in Mile High Stadium. In 135 dates at Mile High, the Rockies drew 7,701,861 fans (57,051 per game).

After drawing 4,483,350 in the '93 inaugural, the Rockies were on pace to shatter that mark in '94, averaging 58,598 through 56 home dates, which would have put the season ending mark at 4,687,840. Despite the year's abrupt end, in two seasons the Rockies had 52 occasions when better than 60,000 paid to watch baseball; 21 times the crowd eclipsed 70,000.

Despite the '94 work stoppage, the Rockies still managed to break four of their own attendance marks. Following is the complete list of attendance records set by the Rockies in Mile High...

General Information

- First Game: 1937
- Dimensions (LF, CF, RF): 366, 392, 348
- Capacity: 9,500
- Directions: From Phoenix, travel east on I-10 exiting at Broadway. Head east on Broadway and turn right on Randolph Way. Hi Corbett is located on the right-hand side.
- Ticket Prices: Box seats $12, homeplate grandstand $11, lower grandstand (rows 1-14) $10, upper grandstand (rows 15-30) $9, lower east and west pavilions $8, upper east and west pavilions $6, outfield bleachers $4.
- Rockies Spring Home Since: 1993
- Recent Renovations: The facility's newest additions came in winter '99, when a Rockies Dugout Store and a ticket office were added to make the complex one of the best in all of baseball.

Hi Corbett underwent a major overhaul before the '97 season. Its capacity increased by more than 1,500 and the park received Coors Field style seating, an improved visitors clubhouse and an expansion of the minor-league facility to include more locker space and a weight room. In addition, a fifth field was added for spring workouts.

Before the '93 season, the park received a new press facility, a modern home clubhouse, new administrative offices and upgraded restrooms, concession stands, batting cages and pitching mounds.

- Contract: The Rockies and the City of Tucson reached a 15-year agreement in 1996 that will keep the club at the complex through 2011.
- Previous Spring Tennants: Cleveland Indians, 1947-92

Miscellaneous Information

ROCKIES IN THE COMMUNITY

Since its inception, the Rockies organization has always strived to give back to to the community, especially to those less fortunate and placed an emphasis on promoting youth baseball throughout the region. Rockies staff, players and their wives, and front-office employees donate their time and resources toward community projects year-round.

REVIVING BASEBALL IN THE INNER CITIES

Ryan McKee

During 1999, the Rockies continued their involvement in the Revive Baseball in the Inner Cities (RBI) program. The program allows boys and girls 13 to 18 to compete in baseball locally, and often times on a national level. RBI's goal is to encourage inner-city youth to focus on their eduction, and participate in baseball, thus avoiding other self-destructive options which often present themselves. National League President Leonard Coleman initiated the RBI program, which now involves nearly 10,000 participants in more than 40 cities. In 1999, the Rockies-sponsored girls team placed third in the RBI national championship in Orlando, Fla., after receiving an automatic bid into the tournament for their first-place finish in 1998. The Rockies junior and senior boys teams each placed second last year at the regional tournament held in Houston.

The Care & Share Program

For the fourth year, the Rockies Care & Share program gave fans who are limited by a serious illness the opportunity to be a special guest at Coors Field. Care & Share participants spend time on the field before a game watching batting practice and meeting some of their favorite Rockies players. The club teams up with organizations including the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the National Sports Center for the Disabled and the Starlight Foundation, to assist disadvantaged families.

Wives Involvement

Rockies wives participate in a full schedule of events each year designed to give back to the community. In 1999, their major project consisted of a players' calendar, complete with family photos, with all proceeds (over $30,000) benefiting the Rocky Mountain Chapter of the Leukemia Society. Over the last five seasons, the Rockies wives' group has collected over 2,250 toys and $12,500 in cash donations for the Denver Santa Claus Shop, an annual event that generates toys and donations for underprivileged children in the area.

Casey Wilson

The Annual Winter Caravan

A number of Rockies representatives hit the road each year for the Rockies Winter Caravan. The caravan serves as a way for the Rockies to greet fans and generate excitement for the upcoming season, while also raising support for youth baseball throughout the region. Fans who are often unable to make the trek to Denver, have the opportunity to meet their baseball heroes in select cities throughout the Rocky Mountains. More than 20 participants broke into groups in 2000 and Rockies players, coaches, announcers and staff have traveled over 20,000 miles in eight years.

The Youth Fields of Dreams Program

One of the most visible examples of player donations to the community is again evidenced by the Youth Fields of Dreams program. To date, the program has more than 44 fields either open or currently under construction all over the region, from Pueblo, Colo. to Cheyenne, Wyo. The program is more than actual construction. It's an ongoing process which involves scouting new locations, organizing player donations, coordinating community resources and completing each new project.

The seeds of the program are planted during player contract negotiations, when signing players are asked to contribute a portion of their salary towards a new field to be named after them.

The Rockies Fields of Dreams program will look to have its most productive year to date in 2000, with a 54-acre Youth Sports Complex (Pedro Astacio) slated for dedication early spring in Colorado Springs, incorporating 12 youth baseball and softball fields for the community.

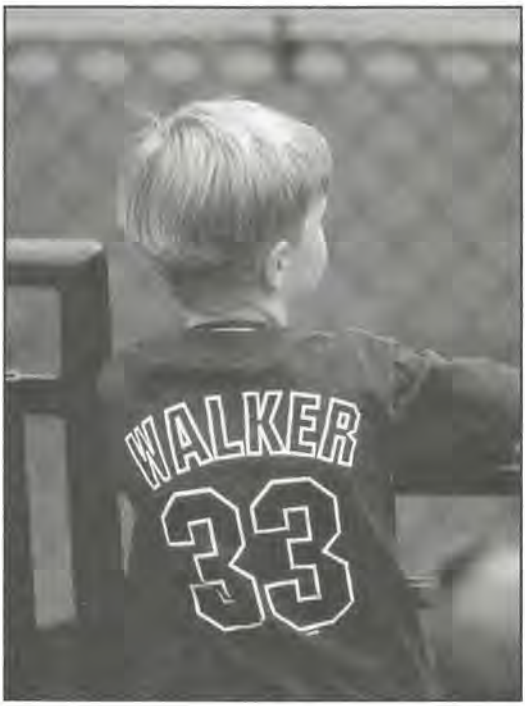

Program highlights of 1999 included the dedication of the Jackie Robinson Field in Denver, as well as the first ever T-Ball (Westminster, Colo.) and girls fast pitch softball (Denver) facilities in the state.

In 1998, the Rockies made it their mission to keep the legacy of the major league All-Star Game alive in the community. One of those endeavors was Coca-Cola All-Star Park in Lakewood, Colo. A replica of Coors Field on a 90-percent scale, the facility is the crown jewel of the fields program and represents the nation's premier youth baseball park. It received donations from dozens of entities, including the architects who designed Coors Field.

The following is a list of fields opened since the program began in 1995.

Rockies Charities

Ryan McKee

The Colorado Rockies have two charities, the Colorado Rockies Baseball Club Foundation and the Colorado Rockies Charity Fund, a fund of the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation, both of which continue to be two of the club's biggest priorities. The Executive Director of Rockies' Charities, Roger Kinney, and his staff work to raise funds for, and promote programs focusing on underprivileged and at-risk youth. In 1998, more than $3 million, a franchise record, was contributed to community projects through the Colorado Rockies Foundation, the Charity Fund and the baseball club. Every season the Rockies donate tickets to over 150 non-profit organizations throughout the region, totaling 82,351 in 1999 and 742,996 tickets donated since the club's inception.

The Rockies Charity Fund was formed in 1993 to benefit local youth baseball and literary programs that combat alcohol and drug abuse. The Charity Fund is a partner of the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation, a national charitable trust that provides significant matching monies to supplement contributions to our local community. Grants are made to applicants from non-profit 501(c)3 organizations serving and addressing the community needs.

The ROY Foundation

The entire Rockies family was deeply saddened by the passing of Michael McMorris before the 1996 season. Michael, the son of club chairman Jerry McMorris, lost a near-lifelong battle to cystic fibrosis.

Inspired by Michael, many members of the Rockies organization established on their own time the R.O.Y. Foundation, a charitable wing to assist in the battle against CF. The foundation's mission is to honor the memory and courageous character of Michael and continue a long-term commitment to conquer and cure cystic fibrosis.

Dinger, Official Mascot

On January 22, 1994, Coors Field construction workers unearthed a large purple egg in what is now the Rockpile. The National Guard was called to recover the egg, which was then incubated at Denver's Museum of Natural History.

On April 16, 1994, in Mile High Stadium, the egg was hatched in centerfield and a crowd of better than 50,000 witnessed the birth of Dinger.

Dinger's main color is purple, but he does possess various prehistoric spots, three horns and a huge tail that has been known to whip unsuspecting predators. For information and special appearance bookings, contact the Rockies promotions department at 303/312-2266.

MEDICAL GLOSSARY

The following glossary was provided by the Professional Baseball Athletic Trainers Society. It was also looked over by the Orthopaedic Center of the Rockies in Ft. Collins, Colo.

AC Joint—Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abscess—An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adhesion—Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic—Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anaerobic—Exercise without oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercise.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome—Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL)—A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 month of rehabilitation.

Anterior Talofibular Ligament—A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (later ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is oft times subject to sprain.

Anti-Inflammatory—Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Arteriogram—A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram—X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Arthroscope—An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy—A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration—The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy—To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis—Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion—The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

Baker's Cyst—Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bennett's Fracture—A fracture and dislocation of the base of the first metacarpal, the thumb.

Bone Scan—An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labelled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury

Bursa—A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Capsule—Enclosing structure surrounding a joint, containing ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Chondral Fracture—Fracture to the chondral (cartilaginous) surfaces of bone.

Chondromalacia—Roughening of the articular cartilage. Best known for the roughening of the underside of the patella, which can occur in any patellofemoral injury.

Coccyx—The "tail bone"; a group of four vertebrae that are fused together, located at the terminal end of the spine.

Computed Tomography (CT)—Method of visualizing the body's soft tissues. Using x-rays with the beam passing repeatedly through the body part, the CT scans while a computer calculates tissue absorption at each point scanned.

Concentric Muscle Contraction—A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Conjunctivitis—Inflammation of the membrane lining the eyelids and covering the eyeball.

Contractures—Abnormal, usually permanent contraction of a muscle due to atrophy of muscle fibers, extensive scar tissue over a joint, or other factors.

Costochondral—Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryotherapy—A treatment with use of cold.

Cyst—Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Debridement—Removal of non-healthy tissues and foreign material from a wound or burn to prevent infection and permit healing.

Degenerative Joint Disease—Changes in the joint surfaces as a result of repetitive trauma.

Deltoid Ligament—Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side.

Deltoid—Muscles at the top of the arm, below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions.

Disc, Intervertebral—A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. The disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction—An overall lengthening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; of times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Eccymosis—Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Edema—Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body; swelling.

Effusion—Accumulation of fluid, or the fluid itself, in various spaces in the body. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.

Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS)—An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.

Electromyogram (EMG)—Test to determine nerve function.

Epicondylitis—Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.

Ethyl Chloride—"Cold spray" or "freeze", a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.

External Rotation—Lateral movement of a joint or extremity to the outside.

Fascia—Connective sheath of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissue.

Fibula—Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Fracture—Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress or transverse.

Gamekeeper's Thumb—Ulnar collateral ligament tear of the metacarpophalangeal joint (thumb).

Glenohumeral—The shoulder girdle; consists of the glenoid capsule, head of the humerus and labrum. The type of joint that allows 360-degree motion, a "ball and socket" joint.

Glenoid—Scapula cavity into which the head of the humerus fits to form the shoulder girdle.

Grade One Injury—A mild injury in which ligament, tendon, or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn or otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury—A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury—A severe injury in which tissue has been significantly, and in some cases totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Hematoma—Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Humerus—Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow.

Hyperextension—Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Iliotibial Band—A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint and is occasionally inflamed as a result of excessive running.

Impingement Syndrome—Pinching together of the supraspinatus muscle and other soft tissue in the shoulder. The most common (Throwing) arm injury, which represents many pathologies and generally involves supraspinatus overuse.

Intermittent Compression Pump—Therapeutic modality using an air pump to send air into a sleeve worn over an injury, on an intermittent basis, to disperse edema and swelling at the injury.

Internal Rotation—Rotation of a joint or extremity medially, to the inside.

Interosseus Membrane—Uniting membrane between the tibia and fibula that forms a collagenous fibrous tissue. It has two functions: to serve as an origin for many of the muscles of the lower leg, and to transmit stress from the tibia to the fibula.

Isokinetic Exercise—Form of active resistive exercise in which the speed of limb movement is controlled by a preset limiting machine, such as Cybex or Biodex.

Isometric Contraction—Muscular contraction in which tension is developed but no mechanical work is done (no appreciable joint movement and the overall length of the muscle stays the same).

Isotonic Contraction—A concentric or eccentric muscular contraction that results in movement of a joint or body part, as in lifting a weight.

Labrum (Labrum Glenoidule)—Glenoid cavity cartilage in the shoulder, a lip-like structure.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL)—Ligament of the knee along the lateral aspect that connects the femur to the fibula. It provides lateral stability to the joint.

Ligament—Fibrous tissue band that connects bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)—Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc and meniscus injuries.

Malleolus—Rounded projection on either side of the ankle joint; the lateral malleolus is the fibula and the medial malleolus is the tibia.

Mallet Finger—Finger tip injury in which the extensor tendon is avulsed off the distal phalanx.

Maximal Aerobic Power (MAX VO2)—Maximal volume of oxygen consumed per unit of time.

Medial Collateral Ligament (MCL)—Ligament of knee along the medial aspect that connects the femur to the joint.

Meniscectomy—An intra-articular surgical procedure of the knee by which all or part of the damaged meniscus is removed.

Meniscus—Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals—Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers.

Metatarsals—Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Morton's Neuroma—Involves the nerves and is usually the result of a trauma to the foot, causing inflammation and sharp pain, usually between the third and fourth toes.

Morton's Toe—A hereditary condition in which the second toe is longer than the first toe. This can cause mechanical imbalances which produce pain with weight bearing.

Myositis—Inflammation of the muscle.

Myositis Ossificans Traumatica—A benign ossification, usually following severe trauma to a large muscle mass.

Neuritis—Inflammation of a nerve.

Olecranon Process—Bony projection of the ulna at the tip of the elbow.

One Repetition Maximum—The maximum amount of weight that can be lifted by the player in a particular exercise at one time. This is used as a strength testing technique.

Orthotic—Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Osteochondritis Dessicans—A piece of bone and/or cartilage loosened from its attachment after trauma and a cause of a lesion.

Parasthesia—Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Peroneal Muscles—Group of muscles of the lateral lower leg that are responsible for everting the ankle. Tendons of these three muscles are vital to the stability of the ankle and foot.

Phalanx—Any bone of the fingers or toes; plural in phalanges.

Phlebitis—Inflammation of a vein.

Plantar Fascia—the tight band of fibrous tissue beneath the arch of the foot.

Plantar Fasciitis—Inflammation of the plantar fascia; associated with overuse or acute foot injury.

Plantarflexion—Ankle motion such that the toes are pointed toward the ground.

Plica—Fold of the tissue in the joint capsule and common result of knee injury.

Pneumothorax—A collection of air or gas in the pleural space causing the lungs to collapse.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL)—A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Progressive Resistance Exercise (PRE)—An approach to exercise whereby the load or resistance to the muscle is applied by some mechanical means and is quantitatively and progressively increased over time.

Proprioceptive Neuromuscular Facilitation (PNF)—An approach to therapeutic exercise based on the principles of functional human anatomy and neurophysiology.

Radius—Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Referred Pain—Pain felt in an undamaged area of body away from the actual injury.

Rotator Cuff—Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by overuse. The muscles are the supraspinatus (most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome—A microtrauma or overuse injury caused by stress. The four stages are: 1)tendentious with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff, 2)fiber dissociation in the tendon with a permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation, 3)A partial rotator cuff tear of less than 1 cm, and 4)a complete tear of 1 cm or more.

SC Joint—Sternoclavicular joint; articulation of the collarbone with the sternum.

Sacroiliac—Junction of the sacrum with the hip bone.

Sacrum—Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the low back.

Scapula—Shoulder blade.

Sciatica—Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve—Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint—A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the shin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Soft Corn—A corn, softened by moisture, found beneath the toes rather than the toe's upper surface.

Spleen—Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Spondylolisthesis—Forward displacement of one vertebrae over another below it due to a developmental defect in the vertebrae.

Spondylosis—Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobility.

Sprain—Injury resulting from the stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Strain—Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture—A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Stress X-Ray—A continual x-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum in order to determine joint stability. This is a test utilized in some ankle injuries.

Subluxation—Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Synovial Fluid—Lubricates joints and tendons produced in synovium or the inner lining of a joint.

Synovitis—Inflammation of the synovial lining of a joint.

Talus—The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Target Heart Rate—A pre-determined pulse obtained during exercise when circulation in working at full efficient capacities.

Tarsals—Group of seven bones of the foot consisting of the calcaneus, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Tendinitis—Tendon and/or tendon sheath inflammation, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tenosynovitis—Swelling of a tendon sheath caused by calcium deposits, repeated strain or trauma.

Thoracic—Group of twelve vertebrae located in the thorax and articulates with the twelve ribs.

Thoracic Outlet Compression Syndrome—A neurovascular disorder of the upper extremity common in throwing.

Tibia—Larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Tomograph—An x-ray apparatus that demonstrates an organ or tissue at a particular depth.

Trachea—The windpipe.

Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (TENS)—An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic, endorphin.

Transverse Process—Small lateral projection off the right and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius—Flat, triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Ulna—Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve—Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Zygoma—The cheekbone.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Qualifications: For the batting title, 502 or more actual plate appearances, the equivalent of 3.1 appearances for each of the 162 scheduled games. For the ERA championship, at least as many innings pitched as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season. For the fielding championship, (1) A catcher must have participated as a catcher in at least one-half the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season; (2) an infielder or outfielder must have participated at his position in at least two-thirds of the number of games scheduled for each club in his league; (3) a pitcher must have pitched at least as many innings as the number of games scheduled for each club in his league that season. EXCEPTION—If another pitcher has a fielding average as high or higher, and has handled more total chances in a lesser number of innings, he shall be the fielding champion. (NOTE—These figures DO NOT determine the Rawlings Gold Glove. Those are selected by managers and coaches)

Rookie Rule: A player shall be considered a rookie unless, during a previous season or seasons, he has (1) exceeded 130 at bats or 50 innings pitched in the major leagues, or (2) accumulated more than 45 days on the active roster of a major league club or clubs during the period of the 25-man roster (excluding time in military service).

Save Rule: A pitcher shall be credited with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions: (1) he is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club, and (2) he is not the winning pitcher, and (3) he qualifies under one of the following conditions: (a) he enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches at least one inning, or (b) he enters the game regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces), or (c) he pitches effectively for at least three innings (in the judgement of the official scorer).

Suspended Games: For the purpose of this rule, all performances in the completion of a suspended game shall be considered as occurring on original date of game.

National League Night Game: In the NL, any game with the official starting time fixed after 5 p.m. All games, with official starting times for 5 p.m., or earlier, shall be "day" games.

Earned Run Average: Multiply the number of earned runs by nine, take that number and divide it by the total innings pitched.

Fielding Percentage: The sum of putouts and assists divided by total chances (putouts, assists and errors).

Magic Numbers: The number of games yet to be played, plus one, minus the number of games ahead in the loss column from the closest opponent.

Slugging Percentage: Total bases divided by at-bats.

Player Limits: 40 until Opening Day, when the number must be reduced to 25 until September 1, when it returns to 40.

Consecutive-Game Streaks: A consecutive-game hitting streak shall not be terminated if all the player's plate appearances (one or more) result in a base on balls, hit batsman, defensive interference or a sacrifice bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sacrifice fly and no hit. A consecutive-game playing streak shall be extended if the player plays one half inning on defense, or if he completes a time at bat by reaching base or being put out. A pinch-running appearance only shall not extend the streak. If a player is ejected from the game by an umpire before he can comply with the requirements of this rule, his streak shall continue.

Waiver Regulations: From 30 days after the start of the season, players are available for claiming off waivers in reverse order of standings, at the time waivers expire. Otherwise players are available for claiming off waivers in reverse order of standings at the close of the the preceding season. With respect to trades, no waivers are necessary from 5 p.m., eastern time, the day after the scheduled end of the regular season through July 31. Waivers are necessary from August 1 through the day after the scheduled end of the regular season.

Earned Runs

An earned run is a run for which the pitcher is held accountable. In determining earned runs, the inning should be reconstructed without the errors (which include catcher's interference) and passed balls, and the benefit of the doubt should always be given to the pitcher in determining which bases would have been reached by errorless play. For the purpose of determining earned runs, an intentional base on balls, regardless of the circumstances, shall be construed in exactly the same manner as any other base on balls.

(a) An earned run shall be charged every time a runner reaches home by the aid of safe hits, sacrifice bunts, a sacrifice fly, stolen bases, putouts, fielder's choices, bases on balls, hit batters, balks or wild pitches (including a wild pitch on third strike which permits a batter to reach first base) before fielding chances have been offered to put out the offensive team. For the purpose of this rule, a defensive interference penalty shall be construed as a fielding chance. (1) A wild pitch is solely the pitcher's fault, and contributes to an earned run just as a base on balls or a balk.

(b) No run shall be earned when scored by a runner who reaches first base (1) on a hit or otherwise after his time at bat is prolonged by a muffed foul fly; (2) because of interference or obstruction or (3) because of any fielding error.

(c) No run shall be earned when scored by a runner whose life is prolonged by an error, if such runner would have been put out by errorless play.

(d) No run shall be earned when the runner's advance is aided by an error, a passed ball, or defensive interference or obstruction, if the scorer judges that the run would not have scored without the aid of such misplay.

(e) An error by a pitcher is treated exactly the same as an error by any other fielder in computing earned runs.

(f) Whenever a fielding error occurs, the pitcher shall be given the benefit of the doubt in determining to which bases any runners would have advanced had the fielding of the defensive team been errorless.

(g) When pitchers are changed during an inning, the relief pitcher shall not be charged with any run (earned or unearned) scored by a runner who was on base at the time he entered the game, nor for runs scored by any runner who reaches base on a fielder's choice which puts out a runner left on base by the preceding pitcher. NOTE: It is the intent of this rule to charge each pitcher with the number of runners he put on base, rather than with the individual runners. When a pitcher puts runners on base, and is relieved, he shall be charged with all runs subsequently scored up to and including the number of runners he left on base when he left the game, unless such runners are put out without action by the batter, i.e., caught stealing, picked off base, or called out for interference when a batter runner does not reach first base on the play. EXCEPTION: P1 walks A, and is relieved by P2. P2 allows B to single, but A is out trying for third. B takes second on the throw. C singles, scoring B. Charge run to P2.

(h) A relief pitcher shall not be held accountable when the first batter to whom he pitches reaches first base on four called balls if such batter has a decided advantage in the ball and strike count when pitchers are changed.

(1) If, when pitchers are changed, the count is 2 balls, no strike, 2 balls, 1 strike, 3 balls, no strike, 3 balls, 1 strike, 3 balls, 2 strikes, and the batter gets a base on balls, charge that batter and the base on balls to the preceding pitcher, not to the relief pitcher.

(2) Any other action by such batter, such as reaching base on a hit, an error, a fielder's choice, a force out, or being touched by a pitched ball, shall cause such a batter to be charged to the relief pitcher. NOTE: The provisions of 10.18 (h) (2) shall not be construed as affecting or conflicting with the provisions of 10.18 (g).

(3) If, when pitchers are changed, the count is 2 balls, 2 strikes, 1 ball, 2 strikes, 1 ball, 1 strike, 1 ball, no strike, no ball, 2 strikes, no ball, 1 strike, charge that batter and his actions to the relief pitcher.

For the second half of the season (after July 1), ESPN lists up to three potential games, only one of which will be picked for telecast on 14 days prior notice.

The final two FOX Saturdays are considered "Wild Card" dates, meaning any game or games (up to four) on that day's schedule can be chosen at the network's discretion, given proper identification to Major League Baseball.
