LOCAL RADIO AND TV SCHEDULE

RADIO: WNEW (1130), Flagship station of Mets' Network, will broadcast most games. Those not carried by WNEW can be heard on another New York Station.

TELEVISION: A minimum of 117 regular season games will be televised over WOR-TV (Channel 9).

Lindsey Nelson, Bob Murphy and Ralph Kiner comprise the radio-tv team, which has been intact since the Mets were organized.

SAVE RULE FOR RELIEVERS

A relief pitcher will be credited with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions:

1. He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club, and
2. He is not the winning pitcher, and
3. He qualifies under one of the following conditions:
 - a. He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning, or
 - b. He enters the game with the potential tying run either on base, at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces), or
 - c. He pitched effectively for at least three innings

The GM: Joe McDonald

It's 17 long miles and 32 short years from the obscurity of pushing an Ebbets Field turnstile in Brooklyn to the prestige of running a front office at Shea Stadium in Queens. Joseph Anthony McDonald knows. He made the trip. Not, as one might assume, by Arabian Night-like magic flying carpet, but rather by New York every day-like subway.

Born here—Staten Island, to be precise—New York's his town. Oct. 1, 1974 he owned it. That's the day the smiling Irishman was introduced as general manager of the Mets, a job voluntarily relinquished by Bob Scheffing.

"It's the happiest day of my life," said 45-year-old Joe McDonald. He paused slightly. "I just wish my father could have been here to share it with me," he wistfully continued. "Pop would have been proud."

Jim McDonald died three years ago. A city employee, he had spent the better part of his life in a big league ball park, moonlighting as a ticket-taker at Ebbets Field from the day it opened in 1913 until it closed in 1957. His son Joe also made it to Ebbets Field—in 1942, as a 13-year-old schoolboy with doctored working papers. He was assigned to the "stiles" on summer afternoons on the heels of mornings spent chasing sandlot baseballs and major league rainbows.

Now, 32 years later, he stood there, trying to mask the emotion of the moment, flanked by M. Donald Grant and Bob Scheffing. Joe McDonald had caught a rainbow. So what if he didn't have a first baseman's glove in his hand, too. There are other ways to get to the big leagues if you give it your best shot.

Somebody asked Don Grant if the Mets had considered anyone else for the job. "No," firmly replied the Chairman of the Board. "We believe in developing our own people. We believe in Joe McDonald. He must have had something to do with producing the talent that won a world championship and two pennants in the 12 years he's been here. He's been well trained."

Bob Scheffing beamed. The handsome old Cub catcher had groomed McDonald for the job. McDonald's not about to forget it. Not in this century. Or the next.

The gaunt Yonkers transplant from Flatbush, where his family moved when he was a toddler of three, is the fifth GM appointed by the Mets. He follows in the footsteps of the late George Weiss; Bing Devine, who succeeded him on Nov. 14, 1966, after Mr. Weiss retired; Johnny Murphy, who replaced Devine on Dec. 27, 1968, after the latter resigned to return to St. Louis; and Scheffing, who took over for Murphy on Jan. 19, 1970, five days after the one-time Fordham Fireman succumbed to a heart attack. Scheffing had stipulated he would serve a limit of four years and was persuaded to stay on a fifth.

The new boss came up from the ranks. From how far back? You name it, he did it. Would you believe club statistician? Well, you better believe. That was in 1962, the first year the Mets sent a team out on the field ("a team built on nostalgia," as Don Grant put it). And after they lost the last of an unprecedented 120 games that season, the club statistician was given an opportunity in the minor league department.

The decision was a pivotal one in the fortunes of both the Mets and Joe McDonald. With the September, 1964, arrival of Bing Devine as chief lieutenant to George Weiss, McDonald advanced steadily in a variety of roles, notably (and most personally gratifying) as director of scouting and administrative secretary. In the process he was a vital factor in the implementation of a program dedicated to the development of pitching talent—the cornerstone on which the Mets were to build distinction as the first expansion team in history to win a pennant, climaxed, of course, by the World Series "Miracle" which made them objects of international adulation. By that time McDonald had already assumed command of the farm system as Director of Operations.

He teamed with Whitey Herzog as a tireless "Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside" combination. Herzog was responsible for the field cultivation and McDonald for the administrative decisions. The results? They could proudly claim as

The Manager: Joe Frazier

Eddie Stanky called him Cobra Joe—"he'd strike like a snake" as a pinch-hitter.

In the dugouts they called him Smokin' Joe because of his fiery personality.

His North Carolina mill town folks called him Joseph Fillmore (after America's 13th president).

And the hard-bitten press-radio-tv corps assembled at Shea Stadium last October 3 to meet the new manager of the Mets, was prepared to call him "Joe Who?"

But what no one can ever call Joe Frazier is timid or counterfeit. He's all man. And he's all there. After the mass interview the media concluded that he's also alright. Joe Frazier, self-styled country boy, made quite an impression—by not trying to make an impression. All he did was give homespun, straight-from-the-shoulder answers to cold, flush-on-the-jaw questions.

That's the only way he knows. It's one of the reasons his friends call him Plain Joe—as unsophisticated upon suddenly surfacing as a figure of national prominence, as the gypsy ball player who survived 14 years in the shadow of minor league eclipse and three of virtual obscurity in the majors.

The tally sheet added up to a playing career of 1,993 games—of which a mere 217—encompassing a .241 batting average and a total of 10 home runs represented the big leagues. It was scarcely a track record that threatened to run Ty Cobb out of Cooperstown. But swarthy, bull-shouldered Joe Frazier made his mark on the bench rather than the field. He paid his dues with a 10-year apprenticeship as a minor league manager. And now he was being introduced three days short of his 53rd birthday, as the manager of the Mets.

Questioned about the departure from name-oriented Shea tradition, Joe McDonald's explanation was simple and succinct: "Joe Frazier's got all the qualifications you could want. He wins." The general manager is Frazier's loudest cheerleader.

Regarding the risk involved in naming an "unknown", McDonald referred to the accomplishments of Walt Alston, Earl Weaver and Sparky Anderson (each of whom jumped directly from the minors) parenthetically adding, "the game is played the same way up here as it is down there."

Joe Frazier need never apologize for his 10-year managerial credentials. He won five pennants—and was deprived of a sixth by less than one percentage point, because of a rainout that wasn't made up! Four of those championships were produced for the Mets' organization, after he signed on in 1968. But more remarkable is his achievement of three consecutive pennants: back-to-back Texas League titles at Memphis and Victoria, followed by the International League flag at Tidewater last season en route to designation as "Minor League Manager-of-the-Year."

The blue-eyed Tarheel with the face of a bulldog and the tenacity to match had been the beneficiary of increasingly strong sideline support from McDonald's minor league administrative offices since leading Visalia to the California League championship in 1971.

The knob on the door to Shea turned slightly last August 6, after Yogi Berra was relieved of his command. When Don Grant, Chairman of the Board, solicited thoughts about a successor, McDonald unhesitatingly pointed in the direction of Tidewater. Grant, however, expressed a reluctance to make a late-season move that might interfere with the No. 1 affiliate's blazing stretch bid, whereupon the GM promptly endorsed the suggestion that Roy McMillan come off the first base coaching line and take over for Berra in an interim role.

McMillan finished out his 53-game term with a 26-27 record. And after a decision to make a change was made, "Frazier was the only man seriously considered for the job," said McDonald. To which Grant nodded: "That's right. He backed Frazier 100 per cent, and our board agreed he deserves the chance."

The Coaches

McMILLAN, Roy David

BORN: July 17, 1929, (47), Bonham, Tex. HT: 5-11; WT: 165;

RESIDENCE: Bonham. Former infielder.

Returns to first base coaching lines this season after serving as interim manager of Mets from Aug. 6 to end of 1975 season as replacement for Yogi Berra. Joined Mets coaching staff for 1973 season after serving in similar capacity with Milwaukee Brewers for three seasons. . . . Rated with elite of N.L. shortstops, taciturn Texan's brilliant 16-year playing career came to end after two unusual mishaps within one-week 1966 span; right shoulder injured trying to check swing Aug. 3 against Giants, and re-injured Aug. 11 when fan bumped him as he was en route to clubhouse at end of game in Pittsburgh; underwent surgery Sept. 15, subsequently was unconditionally released and reported to spring training as free agent; forced into voluntary retirement after dislocating troublesome shoulder making routine throw to first base in West Palm Beach exhibition game against Braves. . . . Remained in Mets' organization as farm system instructor in 1967; managed Visalia in 1968 and again at outset of 1969 before being transferred to helm at Memphis, where won divisional title and playoffs. . . . Mets had acquired him from Braves May 8, 1964, for Jay Hook and unspecified amount of money. . . . After breaking in with Cincinnati in 1951 he earned two starting All-Star assignments and four N.L. fielding championships; dealt to Braves in 1960 for Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro.

The Players . . .

ALOU, Jesus Maria Rojas

OF

BORN: Mar. 24, 1943, (33), Haina, Dom. Republic. HT: 6-2; WT: 205;

BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Santo Domingo, Dom. Republic

ACQUIRED: Signed as free agent, Apr. 12, 1975.

1975: Released by Oakland, Mar. 28, after .586 spring training mark, and agreed to Mets' terms after considering offer in Japan. . . Led Shea troupe in pinch-hitting with 39-for-14 (.359) & six RBI compared to overall .265 on 102-for-27, and 11 RBI. . . Pinch appearance in Ed Halicki's Aug. 24 Candlestick no-hitter against Mets represented 5000th major league game for freres Alou, making them (Jesus, Matty, Felipe) first combination in history to reach that milestone (leading Waners' 4541, DiMaggios' 4245 & Boyers' 3872).

Youngest of three brothers signed by Giants broke into pro ball as pitcher, hurling two innings for Hastings of Nebraska State League in 1959 before switching to outfield. . . Made big league bow as pinch-hitter against Mets, Sept. 10, 1963, at Polo Grounds, being disposed of by Carlton Willey, who then retired brothers Matty and Felipe, making for unique 1-2-3 disposition of family in one inning. . . Led three minor leagues in base hits: Sophomore in 1960, Northwest in 1961 & PCL in 1963. . . Most notable big league exploit: 6-for-6 day against Cubs, July 10, 1964, at Wrigley Field. . . Acquired by Montreal in 1968 expansion draft (on 7th round), but sent to Houston with Donn Cleundenon for Rusty Staub in controversial trade, wherein Cleundenon refused to report and deal had to be consummated on revised basis; missed 35 games that season after suffering concussion and fractured jaw in Pittsburgh collision with Hector Torres. . . Sold to Oakland July 31, 1973.

APODACA, Robert John

RHP

BORN: Jan. 31, 1950, (26), Los Angeles, Cal. HT: 5-11; WT: 175;

BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Paramount, Cal.

ACQUIRED: Signed by Harry Minor, July 6, 1971.

1975: Staff leader in saves (13) despite missing 37 days of regular season in two turns on disabled list. Sidelined until April 18 with elbow inflammation suffered in spring training; then sustained compound nose fracture, concussion and facial laceration requiring 14 stitches June 29 when Johnny Oates' one-hopper struck him in second game of twin bill against Phillies and idled him until July 27. . . Picked up four saves working five times during a May 20-28 stretch over which he hurled 7 $\frac{3}{4}$ scoreless innings. . . Recorded saves in five of Jon Matlack's 16 wins.

After winning all state recognition as high school third baseman, was converted to pitcher in 1968 at Cerritos Junior College by coach Wally Kincaid; transferred to California State, where was named MVP as senior and then led South Dakota Basin League in victories with nine, only to be completely by-passed in 1970 free agent draft. . . Rapidly developed into farm system's brightest relief prospect and forced way onto 1974 varsity on strength of 0.50 ERA in seven spring appearances and 18 innings. . . Pressed into service as starter May 13, 1974, and marked occasion by achieving first major league win at expense of Bob Gibson; had to retire after five innings with skin tear of finger that hampered him remainder of season. . . Spent last autumn in New York making personal appearances for Mets and will become local resident this year after moving into Sea Cliff (L.I.) home at end of spring training.

AYALA, Beningo "Benny"

OF

BORN: Feb. 7, 1951, (25), Yauco, P.R. HT: 6-1; WT: 185;

BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Bayamon, P.R.

ACQUIRED: Signed by Nino Escalera, Jan. 28, 1971.

1975: Sidelined six weeks with left hand fractured by Bob Galasso (Rochester) pitch April 18, and used sparingly until taking over for Mike Vail after latter joined Mets, Aug. 17; responded by emerging as one of key figures in successful pennant push. . . Starred in two of Tides' victories over Syracuse in final round of International League playoffs, poling two-run homer in 3-1 first game and scoring both runs in 2-1 third game. . . Played customary Puerto Rico Winter ball for Arecibo after season.

Made vivid impression on Yogi Berra during latter's Caribbean tour following 1973 campaign, winding up Puerto Rico League MVP on strength of league-leading 14 home runs, runner-up 46 RBI & .340 average that shrunk from .422 six weeks earlier after Craig Swan fast ball clipped his wrist; tutored by Willie Mays in minor league camp after reporting from spectacular winter ball exploits. . . Made history Aug. 27, 1974, as first Met to hit homer in first major league turn at bat (off Astros' Tom Griffin), feat which hadn't been accomplished in NL since Cuno Barragan turned trick for 1961 Cubs. . . Attracted attention after outstanding scholastic athletic career and attended Junior college one year in Rio Piedras, P.R.

BALDWIN, Rickey Alan "Rick"RHP*BORN: June 1, 1953, (22), Fresno, Cal. HT: 6-3; WT: 180;BATS: L; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Modesto, Cal.ACQUIRED: Mets' 9th selection in June, 1971, free agent draft.

Signed by Roy Partee, June 28, 1971.

1975: Staff leader in appearances with 54 (all in relief), despite raw rookie status, and second to Bob Apodaca in saves with six. . . Recorded first major league victory April 17 in St. Louis, allowing three hits and two runs over 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ -inning span that represented his longest of year. . . Reported to Florida Instructional League entry after season to develop change-up pitch as supplement to natural sinker, and played winter ball in Puerto Rico with Santurce after completion of Instructional League campaign.

Bible-reading 210th player selected in 1971 free agent draft ear-marked for stardom by Nelson Burbrink, Director of Player Development who took him off starting line during 1974 season at Victoria and moved him into bullpen; decision paid dividends amounting to nine triumphs and eight saves in relief as Victoria went on to take Texas League title. . . First professional catcher (with Marion, Va., Rookie League club) was Larry Berra, son of former Met manager, whose career was ended by torn knee cartilage.

BALDWIN, Robert Harvey "Billy"OF*BORN: June 9, 1951, (24), Tazewell, Va. HT: 6-0; WT: 180;BATS: L; THROWS: L; RESIDENCE: Akron, O.ACQUIRED: From Detroit with Mickey Lolich for Rusty Staub and Bill Laxton, Dec. 12, 1975.

1975: Brilliant Montgomery and Evansville performances prompted advancement to Detroit, where collected 21 hits in 95 appearances, including four homers; racked up substantial 78-game Montgomery stats of 15 home runs, 48 RBI & nine steals while batting .301, maintained pace in 14 games at Evansville with .306 stickwork that included 62-for-19 and 7 ribbys. . . Made big league debut at Shea vs Yankees, July 29, going 4-for-1, recorded first homer Aug. 5, off Cleveland's Eric Raich, and tapped Luis Tiant for Sept. 11 circuit. . . Reported to Navajon club for Mexican League competition after season.

GM Joe McDonald insisted on inclusion in Rusty Staub deal during winter meetings on recommendation of Bob Scheffing, who was impressed during late-season AL scouting tour. . . Completely by-passed in free agent draft making Akron scholastic headlines in baseball, football, & soccer which led to Southern University scholarship; two years later signed by Denny Galehouse for Tigers, as undrafted agent. . . Won 1974 Florida State League All Star honors with league-leading 150 hits & 12 triples at Lakeland.

Signed by Len Zanke, June 9, 1970.

1975: Continued to win regard with impressive Tidewater campaign underlined by 126 hits (farm system's fifth best total), 21 steals (unsurpassed in organization above Class A level), and standout centerfield performance (four errors in 127 games). . . Overcame problems against lefthanded pitching with .290 mark against southpaws, and enjoyed .357 Governor's Cup post-season series. . . Suffered broken nose when hit by Mike Paul (Toledo) pitch, missing nine games. . . Played with Florida Instructional League entry after season.

Got taste of big league life in 1974 after Sept. recall, managing three hits in 12 trips, and accompanied Mets on Japanese tour. . . After being 486th player selected in June, 1970, free agent draft, reported to Marion for Appalachian Rookie League service and promptly broke in with base-clearing double; wound up handling 50 chances flawlessly in field. . . Extraordinary scholastic career included All State football designation (end), MVP award in basketball & All Star conference outfield selection.

1975: Called up from Tidewater June 30 after Bob Apodaca went on disabled list; made two appearances before being sent down again July 18, charged with 10-7 defeat in Philadelphia, July 5, that represents only major league decision. . . Compiled impressive 2.61 ERA at Tidewater, where contributions included 4-hit shutout over Rochester, Sept. 2, in one-game playoff for International League title after both teams finished deadlocked for first place at end of regular season. . . Led International League pitchers in fielding, handling 39 chances flawlessly, and then reported to Aguilas for Dominican Winter League duty.

Came to U.S. in summer of 1970 to live with brother Amable; played amateur baseball in Bronx and in Brooklyn's Pan American League, where he attracted Mets' scouting attention. . . Made impressive major league debut Sept. 13, 1974, four days after being called up from Victoria, by throwing seven scoreless innings at Cubs, only to see 2-0 lead transformed into 3-2 deficit during eighth inning kayo.

GARRETT, Ronald WayneINF*BORN: Dec. 3, 1947, (28), Brooksville, Fla. HT: 5-11; WT: 183;BATS: L; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Gatlinburg, Tenn.ACQUIRED: Drafted for $25,000 from Atlanta system, Dec. 2, 1968.

1975: Turned in characteristically creditable job sharing third base assignment with Joe Torre. . . Contributed two pinch home runs, second, May 26, fraught with drama; hobbled to plate on injured left ankle and connected for three-run ninth inning blow that handed Andy Messersmith first defeat after Dodger ace reeled off seven straight victories; hours later low-keyed redhead was rushed to hospital with what diagnosed as dangerous infection of ankle tissues, disabling him until June 11; poled other pinch circuit May 9 against Reds. . . Only Rusty Staub's 77 walks exceeded his 50 among Mets, making for total of 281 past four seasons.

Major factor in 1973 pennant, chipping in with pace-setting 11 game-winning hits and runner-up slot in home runs (climaxed by September spree of six), triples and walks; slump caught up with him in World Series, when tied classic mark of 11 strikeouts, although rapping two homers. . . Missed all of 1971 spring training and half of regular season on military duty. . . Ranks as best minor league draft selection (recommended by Bob Scheffing after Arizona Instructional League observation). . . Sixth round 1965 free agent draft pick of Braves, who had also originally signed brothers Adrian (with Cubs & Angels last season) and Jim.

Signed by Pete Gebrian, June 9, 1972.

1975: Biggest winner (13) on Jackson staff with every Texas League rival among his victims at least once. . . League's top fielding pitcher with 32 errorless chances and touched for only two home runs in 145 innings. . . Reported to Tidewater for International League playoffs and beat Charleston in opening series. . . Pitched in Florida Instructional League after season.

Youngest player on Mets' roster acquired year of professional experience at 17 before he had received his Colonia (NJ) High School diploma, having become eligible for free agent draft prior to 1973 graduation; was 325th player selected in 1972 draft. . . Racked up three scholastic no-hitters before making pro debut at Marion in Appalachian Rookie League, where smoking fast ball fanned 68 in 62 innings. . . Self confidence that falls inch short of bawiness reflected in unmasked disappointment over Mets' decision not to take him north with varsity last year after impressive spring training performance.

TOM SEAVER'S FOUR ONE-HITTERS

Three-time Cy Young winner Tom Seaver has four National League one-hitters in as many seasons to his credit. The first was within two outs of becoming a Perfect Game, July 9, 1969, when Jimmy Qualls of the Cubs singled with one gone in the 9th. Mike Compton of the Phillies was the spoiler on May 15, 1970, with a third inning single; Vic Davalillo was the culprit on Sept. 26, 1971, with a seventh inning single for the Pirates, and Leron Lee of San Diego connected for a ninth inning single with one out in the first game of a July 4, 1972, doubleheader.

GROTE, Gerald Wayne

C

BORN: Oct. 6, 1942, (33), San Antonio, Tex. HT: 5-11, WT: 190;

BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: San Antonio

ACQUIRED: From Houston's Oklahoma City farm club for cash and player to be named later, Oct. 19, 1965. Tom Parsons went to Houston, Nov. 29, 1965, to complete deal.

1975: Achieved career high batting average (.295) and led NL catchers in fielding with .995 percentage (four errors in 765 chances)—credentials made noteworthy by the fact that they were compiled after he suffered severely damaged ligament in right hand from Doug Rader foul tip Aug. 26 that sidelined him for balance of 1974 season and caused heavy concern for his future . . . Was league's fourth toughest batter to fan: one strikeout per 18.61 at-bats. . . Most dramatic blow: pinch 2- run homer with two out in 9th, July 4, off Tug McGraw, that beat Phillies 4-3. . . Best hitting streaks: eight games (June 7-18) and seven (July 13-23). . . Became advocate of transcendental meditation.

Picked up second All Star ring in 1974 on heels of vital contributions to 1973 pennant stretch run, after coming back from 60-day disabling arm fracture and broken finger four days after return from disabled list; wound up with 14 hits in subsequent Championship and World Series', of which he caught every inning, and set two World Series records: 71 chances and 67 putouts. . . Holds major league catching record of 20 putouts in nine-inning game (thanks to 19 San Diego strikeouts by Tom Seaver, April 22, 1970). . . Caught Ken Johnson's losing 1-0 no-hitter to Reds, April 23, 1964, with only one year of professional experience. . . Owns 350-acre ranch in Smiley, Tex., (pop. 440), to which he commutes from San Antonio home, 75 miles distant. . . Intense battle-scarred veteran acknowledged by peers as game's No. 1 defensive agent. Some testimonials—Johnny Bench: "If the Reds had Grote, I'd be playing third base"; Joe Torre: "Grote is a catcher who hits while Bench and Simmons are hitters who catch"; Tom Seaver: "He's the best catcher a pitcher could want to throw to." . . . Jerry Grote on Jerry Grote's intensity and disposition": I don't go on the field to win friends, I go out there to win ball games."

HALL, Tom Edward

LHPBORN: Nov. 23, 1947, (28), Thomasville, N. C. HT: 6-0; WT: 160;BATS: L; THROWS: L; RESIDENCE: Riverside, Cal.ACQUIRED: From Cincinnati for Mac Scarce, Apr. 15, 1975.

1975: Worked two no-decision scoreless innings in as many appearances for Reds before acquisition by Mets. . . Half of four NY triumphs achieved as starter at expense of Houston, June 3 and Cardinals, July 29, going five innings and yielding three runs on each occasion. . . Recorded lone save of season May 12, against Giants, picking up for Jon Matlack. . . Did not see action after Sept. 14 relief appearance in St. Louis.

Compiled .750 winning percentage for Reds after Cincinnati acquired him from Minnesota for Wayne Granger, Dec. 3, 1971, with 21-7 log operating in dual starting-bullpen role. . . Responded to Twins' trade with 10-1 campaign in 1972 for Reds, going undefeated (7-0) as reliever in Reds' run to pennant and absorbing only defeat of campaign at hands of Padres while on weekend pass from military duty. . . Third round choice of Twins in Jan., 1966, free agent draft missed winning 1970 American League ERA title by $\frac{6}{10}$ innings—margin by which he failed to qualify—as he turned in 2.55 market compared to Diego Segui's 2.56 for Oakland. . . Came out of bullpen four times in 1972 World Series, pitching eight scoreless innings and fanning seven. . . Nicknamed "The Blade" because of frailish physique.

With complete game victories in five consecutive games from Aug. 25-29, 1975, the Met pitching staff tied a club record for consecutive complete game victories set in August, 1964. Last year's streak included victories by Hank Webb, Randy Tate and Tom Seaver against San Diego and Jerry Koosman and Jon Matlack over Los Angeles. The earlier streak (Aug. 16-21, 1964) was by Galen Cisco over Philadelphia, Dennis Ribant, Al Jackson and Tracy Stallard against Pittsburgh and Jack Fisher against Chicago.

HARRELSON, Derrel McKinley "Bud"

INF

BORN: June 6, 1944, (31), Niles, Cal. HT: 5-11; WT: 160;

BATS: SW; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Asharoken, N. Y.

ACQUIRED: Signed by Roy Partee, June 7, 1963.

1975: Plagued by another injury-stalked season begun on ominous note when spiked by Lou Brock, April 16, required five stitches in right hand; then endured pain-wracked period trying to function on damaged right knee which forced him to abandon batting lefthanded and resulted in May 31 surgery for fragment of loose cartilage (same knee had been operated on in 1968). . . . Week after Roy McMillan replaced Yogi Berra as manager, served as first base coach—from Aug. 12-31, while on 60-day disabled list. . . . Reactivated Sept. 1, when marked return with single first time at bat to accompaniment of standing ovation. . . . After season voluntarily went to St. Petersburg for dedicated Tom McKenna-supervised rehabilitation program comprised of isometrics, weight-lifting, jogging, fielding (with help of McKenna & minor league pitching coach Billy Connors) and running geared to eventual mile effort jubilantly ticked off in six minutes as most encouraging clue to knee's ability to withstand rigors of major league grind, continued program upon returning north before Yule holidays and resumed Florida workouts in mid-January.

Born on World War II's D-Day, guts of Mets infield has been ill-starred casualty of baseball wars during past four years—stretch over which he's missed 280 games—with run of injuries that included fractures of both hands, fractured sternum and strained back. . . . All time Met leader in triples (29) and stolen bases (101) marked 1000th game June 4, 1974. . . . Sparked stirring 1973 stretch drive to pennant after August return from second tour on disabled list; had tied major record of 14 assists May 24, in 19-inning win over Dodgers. . . . Won Gold Glove and second of back-to-back All Star selections in 1971. . . . Outstanding 1970 contributions included club record 95 walks, errorless streak of 54 games that equalled Don Kessinger's major league mark for shortstops, and 23 of 27 steals (two of home). . . . Won basketball scholarship at San Francisco State after spectacular high school career climaxed by senior year captaincy of baseball, hoop and football (QB) teams; signed by Mets over offers of Yankees, Cardinals & Cubs following .430 freshman campaign at SF State.

HEIDEMANN, Jack SealeINF*BORN: July 11, 1949, (26), Brenham, Tex. HT: 6-0; WT: 180;BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: BrenhamACQUIRED: From St. Louis with Mike Vail (assigned to Tidewater) for Teddy Martinez, Dec. 11, 1974.

1975: Handled utility role in reliable fashion with service at second, third and short. . . Best offensive efforts four RBI against Cardinals, April 17, and 3-for-3 two-RBI game against Dodgers, Aug. 8; collected first homer (and only one as Met) since Sept. 3, 1970, in opener of April 20 Cub twin bill off Ken Frailing. . . Victim of freak injury July 24 when Felix Millan foul bruised ribs.

Cleveland's No. 1 selection in 1967 draft dealt to Oakland with Ray Fosse for Dave Duncan & George Hendrick, Mar. 24, 1973; after spending entire '73 season at Tucson, was sold back to Indians, Mar. 26, 1974, and traded to Cardinals for Luis Alvarado & Ed Crosby, May 31, 1974. . . Suffered two serious 1971 injuries with Indians: concussion in May 17 collision with John Lowenstein & Vada Pinson chasing pop-up; and torn left knee ligaments in Aug. 3 second base play against Yankees. . . Shared AL 1970 title for sac flies with 10. . . Son-in-law of Bill Cutler, Spokane club owner and former AL official.

1975: Reported to Mets Sept. 12, upon completion of International League playoffs. . . Hit two home runs in as many days against Phillies: 11th-inning two-run blow for 9-7 victory Sept. 20, and another two-run belt (among his three hits) following day. . . No. 1 Tidewater receiver for International League-leading ERA staff, and improved the throwing which had fallen below par with Mets in 1974.

Not related to late Mets' Miracle Manager, although was 1972 roomie of Gil Hodges, Jr., during first year of pro ball at Pompano. . . Caught eyes of Yogi Berra and Rube Walker during 1972 Florida Instructional League tour and brought up in emergency measure from Memphis, June 6, 1973, despite .173 batting average; proceeded to take over with professional flair as replacement for injured Jerry Grote and then made vital contributions to successful pennant push after Grote's return; failed, however, to play to potential during disappointing 1974 Met campaign. . . Tapped by Baltimore, Kansas City and Atlanta in free agent drafts of 1970 and '71. . . One of nine children, and now has one of own since wife Peggy gave birth to their first born last October.

KINGMAN, David ArthurINF-OF*BORN: Dec. 21, 1948, (27), Pendleton, Ore. HT: 6-6; WT: 210;BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Millbrae, Cal.ACQUIRED: Purchased from San Francisco, Feb. 28, 1975

1975: Biggest (physically & financially) bargain purchase in Met history responded to first full campaign with awesome display of power that provided hungry Shea bulls with first genuine contender for home run crown. . . Total of pro career high 36 circuits erased 1962 (Polo Grounds) club record of Frank Thomas, and was surpassed in majors only by Mike Schmidt's 38, matching production of George Scott & Reggie Jackson. . . Opportunity to play every day opened in training camp while Cleon Jones was slow recovering from knee surgery, and proceeded to make himself talk of Florida with eight king-sized homers—including Ft. Lauderdale tape job off Catfish Hunter which made Mickey Mantle gasp: "I've never seen one hit further!" . . . Went on July spree that added up to 13 homers, 31 RBI & .322 average over 31-game period, and earned Player-of-Month honors; assault also wiped out Tommie Agee's June, 1970, club record of 11 circuits in one month. . . Set Met game-winning RBI pace with 20 (compared to Rusty Staub's runner-up eight); collected fourth career Grand Slam in opener of Aug. 24 Candlestick twin bill, against former USC teammate Jim Barr. . . Tormented Pirates with eight home runs (seven in Three Rivers Stadium). . . Three times poled two round-trippers in one game. . . Saw service in 71 games in outfield, 58 at first & 12 at third. . . Turned over to batting instructor Phil Cavarretta upon reporting for spring training and learned to relax under tutelage of former NL batting champion, who got him to shorten & level the swing Bobby Bonds said would in a few years make Kingman "the next man to hit 60 home runs."

Selected by Angels (as pitcher) in June, 1967, free agent draft after brilliant diamond & basketball career at Mt. Prospect (Ill.) HS, and tapped by Orioles in Jan. 1968, secondary phase after attending Harper (Ill.) Junior College for one semester; however, elected to transfer to USC, where first varsity season resulted in 11-4 record and 1.38 ERA on mound, and .353 batting average with eight home runs & 26 RBI in 32 games; missed first half of season with fractured right arm & torn knee, coming back to team with Jim Barr as 1-2 punch that led Trojans to College World Series title. . . Giants made him first pick in June 1970, secondary phase of draft (when Casey Stengel had him tabbed No. 1 for Mets). . . Literally broke into majors with bang: Grand Slam off Dave Giusti in first start, July 31, 1971; followed with two circuits off Dock Ellis next day. . . Led Giants in homers & RBI while stealing 18 bases in 1972, when also hit for cycle against Houston in second game of season. . . Pitched four innings in two appearances for 1973 Giants. . . United Airlines sales rep during off-season.

KLEND, David JosephRHP*BORN: Oct. 23, 1950, (25), Hillsboro, Kan. HT: 6-0; WT: 175;BATS: L; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Marion, Kan.ACQUIRED: Signed by Owen Friend, June 30, 1973.

1975: Groomed for bullpen service as only one of 45 appearances involved starting assignment (which resulted in complete game and one of eight victories in 15 decisions). . . Worked 99 innings with 2.82 ERA and seven saves.

Undrafted despite impressive scholastic (letters in track, football & basketball) and collegiate credentials (Kansas State seasonal records for victories (13), strikeouts (151), innings (190) & games (45)). . . Broke into organization with 1973 contributions at Marion that included 72 strikeouts in 55 innings & 1.64 ERA, followed by 131 strikeouts in 124 innings and 2.10 ERA that earned 1974 Western Carolinas League All Star honors. . . Protagonist in what was probably most dramatic minor league episode of 1974: hit two-out, 9th-inning home run that beat Charleston, 1-0, and broke up Perfect Game by Randy Sealy, July 9. . . Earned degree in animal science at Kansas State. . . Reported to 1976 camp as invited player.

KOOSMAN, Jerry Martin

LHP

BORN: Dec. 23, 1943, (32), Appleton, Minn. HT: 6-2; WT: 208;

BATS: R; THROWS: L; RESIDENCE: Morris, Minn.

ACQUIRED: Signed by Red Murff, Aug. 27, 1964.

1975: Recorded 100th major league triumph June 24 in 5-1 decision over Cardinals. . . Raised career total to 21 shutouts at expense of Expos, Astros and Cubs. . . Marked only two relief appearances with saves—for Tom Seaver Aug. 17, and Jon Matlack Aug. 19; only other save dated back to May 25, 1972, in Chicago for Tug McGraw, and hadn't worked out of bullpen since June of that year. . . Double figure strikeouts: 11 against Giants and 10 against LA and Phillies. . . No. 1 Met pitcher in RBI with six and second to Seaver's 17 safeties with 14. . . First big league steal—in third inning of 3-1 win over Reds, July 22—also represented first by Met hurler since 1971 Nolan Ryan theft.

Brought to attention of Met minor league dept through combined efforts of Shea father-son usher team in accounts of Koosman's Ft. Bliss service team exploits described by his catcher, John Luchese, Jr., in letters to dad. . . After winning NY-Penn League ERA and International League strikeout championships, compiled extraordinary 1968 credentials as rookie, including Met records for wins, ERA and shutouts—latter total of seven matching NL freshman standards of Irving M. Young for 1905 Braves and Grover Cleveland Alexander for 1911 Phillies; capped All Star distinction by fanning Carl Yastrzemski (only batter he faced), for final out of 1-0 NL victory. . . Had started 1968 on historic note by achieving first ever Met victory in home victory opener (3-0 over Giants) and ended it by losing out to Johnny Bench by one vote—10½-9½—in closest rookie-of-year balloting on record. . . Tormented twice in 1969 by fears career was ended: scalded pitching hand in New Year holiday kitchen accident, and on April 29 arm suddenly went dead pitching to Johnny Bateman in Montreal—yet contributed 17 victories (six shutouts) to Met Miracle and then beat Orioles twice in World Series. . . Relegated to bullpen April 30, 1972, after three successive defeats, but forced way back into starting rotation after nine successive relief appearances. . . Maintained unbeaten status in post-season competition in 1973 with third game decision over Reds in Championship Series and 6th game triumph over Oakland in World Series. . . Joined Tom Seaver in 1974 as second Met pitcher in history to accumulate 1000 strikeouts and was also biggest staff winner (15).

1975: Ever-ready Eddie enjoyed in many respects finest season, responding to diversified role of pinch-hitter extraordinaire, left-fielder and first baseman with career high .323 average. . . Collected eight hits, three walks & sac fly in 24 pinch appearances (remarkable .500 efficiency), worked four games in outfield and 82 at first, committing only two errors. . . Saw starting service on regular basis when John Milner suffered May 15 hamstring pull in Mayor Trophy game, and in next 14 games soared from .308 to .412 on 46-for-23 spree. . . Nursed 18-game hitting streak through July 18-Aug. 5. . . Struck out only 21 times and went to bat 86 times before Tom Griffin pinned first whiff on him, June 5.

First 1976 home run will make him all-time Met leader, status now holds in games, at-bats & doubles; second in runs, hits & RBI. . . Was 17 years old and Mets three months old when signed to $85,000 bonus contract out of James Monroe (Bronx) HS; has since become only player to participate in every season of Met history. . . Achieved greatest popularity and most respect in 1974 reserve role, setting club record of 17 pinch hits (in 35 appearances), NL figure matched only by Tony Taylor. . . Contender for 1971 Comeback-Player-of-Year honors, establishing then-career highs in batting, RBI and doubles after considering retirement in pique reaction to Tidewater optioning, June 24, 1970. . . One-time stock broker and restaurateur hero of Mets' post-season tour of Japan with pace-setting seven homers and .386 clubbing that inspired Nipponese inquiries about his availability.

1975: Purchased from Tucson July 28 by Tidewater farm club on recommendation of Mets' coast scout Harry Minor and ticketed for Shea delivery at first available roster opening; brought up Aug. 4, after three relief outings and five scoreless innings, when Harry Parker was sold to Cardinals. . . Recovered effectiveness in bullpen at Tucson after staggering through nine starting turns at outset of season. . . Gained lone Met triumph Aug. 11 with five shutout innings against Padres.

$100,000 bonus baby as third baseman with Kansas City A's in 1964 (same year Catfish Hunter got $75,000 from A's) after brilliant scholastic baseball, basketball & track career. . . Converted into pitcher at 1967 Arizona Instructional League and drafted at subsequent major league winter meetings by Houston, which returned him to A's following spring. . . Selected by Seattle in AL expansion draft after 1968 season and went through a 48-day stretch of inactivity at Elmira; divided 1970 campaign with Brewers and Portland (PCL) after Seattle franchise was shifted to Milwaukee. . . Traded with Ollie Brown, Joe Lahoud, Gary Ryerson and Ellie Rodriguez to Angels for Clyde Wright, Steve Barber, Ken Berry and Art Kusnyer, Oct. 22, 1973; traded to Yankees for Bill Sudakis, Dec. 3, 1974; went to spring training with Yankees last year, but requested and received release rather than go to Syracuse farm on speculation. . . Leads majors in colleges attended (6): Merrimack, Boston College, Bryant & Stratton, Marquette, Carroll and Emerson; speech major, he boasted 3.93 average out of possible 4.00, and was 24 credits short of degree when returned to Emerson after 1975 season.

1975: Physical setbacks continued to sabotage bid for predicted major league stardom as rib injury (after elbow, shoulder & tonsil ailments spiked preceding big league campaigns) ilted him on Disabled List from July 6-Aug. 31. . . Wound up with paltry 22 hits in 106 at-bats and collected only homer of season Sept. 4, off Angels' Jim Brewer.

Endowed with strong arm, excellent speed, sharp line-drive switch-hitting ability and colorful personality catalogued between "audacity" & "brashness". . . First pick by Texas in Jan., 1969, free agent draft after spectacular San Pedro (Calif.) HS career in baseball & football. . . Played every position—with exception of pitcher & shortstop—in pro ball and operated at third, first & outfield in majors; had been converted to third baseman in spring of 1973 by Whitey Herzog, then Texas manager, and since returned to outfield.

BATS: R; THROWS: L; RESIDENCE: Washington, Mich.

ACQUIRED: From Detroit with Billy Baldwin for Rusty Staub and Bill Laxton, Dec. 12, 1975.

1975: As "10 & 5" veteran, exercised right of refusal on Rusty Staub deal until Donald Grant and Joe McDonald broke down resistance four hours before inter-league trading deadline expired at winter meetings. . . . Wound up 13-year Detroit career as all time strikeout leader among lefthanders in major league history with 2679; had eclipsed Warren Spahn's record June 6 in Oakland by fanning Reggie Jackson for No. 2584, and trails only right-handers Walter Johnson (3508), Bob Gibson (3117), Jim Bunning (2855) & Cy Young (2819). . . . Got off to 3-0 start, beating Catfish Hunter twice and blanking Luis Tiant, 1-0; shutout his only one & represented 39th career effort (compared to Gibson's all time high 56) and surpassed among active pitchers only by 40 of Claude Osteen and Don Sutton. . . . Hurled 241 innings (after string of four 300-plus campaigns) and lifetime total of 3363 exceeded among active players only by Jim Kaat's 3636, Gaylord Perry's 3610 & Osteen's 3459. . . . Dozen victories raised career total to 207, topped among current pitchers only by Kaat's 235 and Gaylord Perry's 216. . . . Completed 19 starts for lifetime 190 excelled among current pitchers only by Gaylord Perry's 236 & Fergy Jenkins' 206. . . . Was 10-5 on July 11, when dropped 13 of next 14 decisions, with Tigers giving him total of 11 runs in the 13 defeats, marked by seven shutouts and five other occasions when he received one run!

Natural righthander until accident as 3-year-old resulted in triple fracture of left collar bone, necessitating exercise program designed to restore left shoulder mobility; had ridden tricycle into parked motorcycle, which fell on him. . . . Signed by Detroit as 17-year-old bonus baby for reported $30,000 in June of 1958, but didn't turn in winning professional season until 1964, when was 18-9 with six shutouts, for Tigers. . . . Thereafter enjoyed only modest success until last half of 1967 campaign: after going 84 days without victory, abruptly turned "Woolworth" 5-10 record into 14-13 log, winding up season with scoreless string of 28.2 innings. . . . In '68 was struggling at 7-7 when sent into bullpen, Aug. 2, and chalked up four victories in one week of relief to regain starting status; kept rolling right into World Series against Cardinals, emerging as Toast of Town with three triumphs, including 4-1 decision over Bob Gibson in deciding game, to earn Outstanding Player Award. . . . Twice in '69 set 16-strikeout club records (against Angels & Seattle) while packing 9-game streak into 19 wins. . . . Literally went from ridiculous to sublime next two years: AL's biggest loser of 1970 with 19 setbacks; but rebounded spectacularly in '71, when led majors in wins (25), strikeouts (308), starts (45) & innings (376)—most in 55 years in big leagues). . . . Added another 22 wins in 1972, when gained third All Star berth, was AL runner-up in strikeouts, complete games & starts, and tossed 1.42 ERA at Oakland in two starts, covering 19 innings, of Championship Series.

MATLACK, Jonathan Trumpbour "Jon"

LHP

BORN: Jan. 19, 1950, (26), West Chester, Pa. HT: 6-3; WT: 205;

Signed by Ollie Vanek, Aug. 9, 1967.

1975: Winning pitcher in All Star game (2 innings, 2 hits, 4 strikeouts), sharing MVP award with Cubs' Bill Madlock. . . Posted career high victories (16), but winless after 6-1 verdict over LA, Aug. 29, charged with four defeats in last six turns. . . Most significant personal triumph: July 2, over Cubs, hours after birth of first son (and third child). . . First (and only) relief appearance since 1972 soured by Ted Simmons 8th inning Grand Slam that produced all runs in 4-0 setback charged to George Stone, June 23. . . Fortunate to escape with 10-stitch chin wound and bruised knees in rain-swept parkway accident en route home from Shea Aug. 6.

Recorded league-leading seven shutouts in 1974 while gaining first All Star honor during campaign also marked by second career one-hitter (June 29, against Cardinals, to go with July 10, 1973 near-classic against Houston). . . Survived brush with death May 8, 1978, when line drive off bat of Atlanta's Marty Perez fractured his skull; came back 11 days later with scoreless six-inning stint against Pirates; wound up season NL's No. 3 strikeout artist behind Seaver and Carlton, and was victim of three 1-0 results; went on to throw two-hit shutout at Reds in second game of Championship Series, gaining honor of opening World Series; charged with 2-1 defeat on two unearned Oakland runs, went eight innings to win fourth game, and then absorbed 5-2 defeat in seventh game on two-run homers by Bert Campaneris and Reggie Jackson. . . Climaxed first full big league campaign with 1972 Rookie-of-Year Award. . . Made Met debut in July, 1971, as replacement for disabled Jerry Koosman, and after coming up again at end of International League season, turned in one-run, eight-inning effort vs Pirates in final appearance. . . Fantastic scholastic record included eight no-hitters in 22-1 log marred by defeat in final game, despite 16-strikeout one hitter; quarterbacked football team until knee injury forced him out as sophomore.

1975: NL's most under-rated player enjoyed finest campaign with imposing stats that included three clubs records: 162-game log (matched only by Dave Cash & Pete Rose) erasing 157-game marks of Roy McMillan (1965) & Bud Harrelson (1970); 191 hits (exceeded only by Cash, Steve Garvey, Rose & Ted Simmons), surpassing own 1973 standard; and 37 doubles, eclipsing Rusty Staub's 36 of 1973. . . League's toughest man to fan third successive year with 28 strikeouts representing 26.54-per trip ratio. . . Knicked by league-leading 12 pitches. . . Uncommon total of 56 RBI for second place batter one short of his 1969 high. . . Accumulated hitting streaks of 19 games (July 5-26) and 13 (Aug. 25-Sept. 7). . . Credits offensive resurgence to bat switch from 37 ounces to 34. . . Reported for usual Puerto Rican Winter League exposure for Caguas.

Paid immediate 1972 dividends as focal figure in "best trade in Met history", teaming with Harrelson as unexcelled keystone combination in 1973 and making offensive contributions of club records for hits sacrifices, while achieving 1000-hit milestone Aug. 3. . . Hampered by injuries in 1974, but none-the-less put together string of 55 errorless games, attained 1000-game plateau (June 1) and set league pace in saes with 24. . . Got into record book at expense of Mets, participating in six double plays against them, Aug. 15, 1971, matching major league standard. . . Three-time Atlanta All Star product of Kansas City organization, which signed him after high school graduation in Puerto Rico and then left him exposed to draft by Braves at 1964 winter league meetings. . . Went 6-for-6 against Giants, July 6, 1970, year had to forego All Star starting assignment because of broken hand. . . Named 1967 Minor League Player-of-Year at Richmond.

Signed by Julian Morgan, June 14, 1968.

1975: Three-time club home run champion went into decline after suffering pulled leg muscle in Mayor Trophy game, May 15, winding up with poorest stats of pro career; struggled home at .191 in 91 games, and connected for last of seven circuits Aug. 3 in Pittsburgh. . . Delivered only twice in 32 pinch-hitting appearances; played 31 games in outfield & 29 at first.

First authentic power hitter developed in farm system and "capable of 40 home runs a year" in opinion of qualified observers if could learn to cut down swing and go with pitch. . . Nagged by muscle pulls, he has yet to enjoy injury-free campaign, but still managed to take Met homer titles first three seasons; accumulated career high 23—including two Grand Slams, off Mike Torrez & Dave Tomlin—in 1973, despite missing 23 straight games with pulled hamstring. . . Appeared headed for stardom after impressive 1972 season begun on high note during spring training campaign climaxed by first annual John J. Murphy Award as camp's outstanding rookie.

1975: May very well have been Mets' MVP—Most Valuable Pickup, that is—right out of Hollywood script: scheduled for reassignment to Tidewater upon acquisition from Giants, was waiting for clearance of waiver period when Bud Harrelson knee injury granted him emergency opportunity—which he seized by taking over first string shortstop job and polling incredible 332,444 write-in All Star votes. . . Set club pace in triples (7) and contributed 12-game hitting streak (June 7-18).

Had been claimed by Mets year earlier but was withdrawn from waiver list by SF. . . Giants' first pick in 1969 free agent draft after outstanding Texas scholastic career highlighted by All State and prep All American shortstop honors; also sparkled in basketball & quarterbacked football team. . . Survived several serious injuries in pro ball; 1971 shoulder separation sidelined him more than two months at Fresno; accidental 1972 beaming at Phoenix prompted necessity of wearing ear-flapped helmet which saved career after Al Hrabosky pitch struck him in same temple area few months later in Mexican Winter League.

1975: Obtained by Tidewater affiliate from Angels' Salt Lake City farm for Ike Hampton, Mar. 22; accumulated nine saves in 27 appearances for Tides (and three wins and a save in May 26-June 4 four-game stretch) before purchased by Mets June 24 after Harry Parker was disabled. . . First of five Met saves (all on road) coincided with 34th birthday, July 8, in Atlanta. . . Suffered ruptured vessel in right eye, disabling him for 21 days, in freak accident Aug. 10 when struck by Johnny Stearns return throw of warm-up toss.

Started only one of 374 games in majors (Aug. 27, 1966 for KC vs Angels). . . With seven AL clubs after coming up to KC in 1964; drafted from Vancouver by Red Sox in 1965; traded back to KC, June 13, 1966; sent to Portland of PCL as part of six-player deal in which Oakland acquired Don Mincher from Seattle, Jan. 15, 1970; brought up by Milwaukee, May 30, 1970; dealt with Jim Lonborg, Ken Brett and Earl Stephenson to Phillies for Don Money, Billy Champion and John Vukovich, Oct. 31, 1972, but month later traded to Minnesota in deal for Cesar Tovar; waived to Cleveland, Aug. 3, 1973; released by Indians and signed by Salt Lake in June, 1974; purchased same month by Angels. . . Outstanding 1971 accomplishments with Milwaukee included league-leading figures for saves (31) and appearances (83) and a then major league season record of 77 games finished en route to "Fireman of Year" award.

SEAVER, George Thomas "Tom"RHP*BORN: Nov. 17, 1944, (31), Fresno, Cal. HT: 6-1; WT: 206;BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Greenwich, Conn.ACQUIRED: Signed by Nelson Burbrink, Apr. 3, 1966.

1975: Climbed all way back to summit after 1974 plunge to depths of 11-11 record traced to spasmodic sciatic nerve that threatened his career. . . Third Cy Young Award (along with those of 1969 & '73) climaxed spectacular return to form in series of remarkable accomplishments, most significant of which included: eighth consecutive year of 200 or more strikeouts—unprecedented in major league history; 2000-strikeout milestone (2099); league-leading 22 wins and 243 strikeouts; and lifetime 2.46 ERA representing lowest figure by pitchers with 2000 or more innings since category was instituted. . . Fanned Munny Sanguillen in 7th inning, Sept. 1, for No. 200, and Reds' Dan Dreissen in 2nd inning, July 24, for 2000. . . Came within one strike of no-hitter against Cubs, Sept. 24, at Wrigley Field, when rookie outfielder Joe Wallis singled with 0-2 count in 9th inning of scoreless duel; allowed two more hits in 10th and gave way to Skip Lockwood, who was tagged with 1-0 defeat in 11. . . Racked up five shutouts, raising career total to 34, figure surpassed among active NL pitchers only by Don Sutton's 40 and Mickey Lolich's 39. . . Selection to eighth All Star team in nine seasons, ended on rare negative note: reached for three-run homer by Carl Yastrzemski, for only runs Met pitchers have ever yielded in All Star competition. . . Three times fanned 10 or more for lifetime total of 55. . . During off-season became father of second daughter and worked as weekend WCBS-TV sportscaster.

Profusion of career credits include: four one-hitters; NL Rookie-of-Year Award in 1967, first time player on last place team was so-honored; three rare "doubles"—league strikeout & ERA titles same year (1970-71-73); Hickok Pro Athlete of Year and Sporting News Man of Year Awards in 1969; league strikeout records for right-handed pitcher in 1970 & '71; major league mark of 10 consecutive strikeouts, against San Diego, April 22, 1970, when also matched Steve Carlton's record of 19 for nine-inning game. . . Spurned June, 1965 draft by Dodgers and subsequently signed with Braves in 1966, only to have contract voided by then Commissioner Wm. D. Eckert, who ruled signing occurred after USC season had begun; made eligible to clubs willing to match Atlanta contract—Mets winning April 1 drawing from Phillies and Indians (only three teams expressing interest). . . Served Marine Corps hitch after All City baseball & basketball career at Fresno HS; attended Fresno City College before transferring to USC; played with Alaska Goldpanners of Fairbanks in 1964-65. . . Dad, Charles, once represented U.S. in Walker Cup, whose donor was father of G. Herbert Walker, Jr., Mets' Executive VP. . . Last year obtained degree from USC in public relations.

STAIGER, Roy JosephINF*BORN: Jan. 6, 1950, (26), Tulsa, Okla. HT: 6-0; WT: 200;BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: TulsaACQUIRED: Mets' 1st selection in January, 1970, free agent draft. Signed by Hershel Martin, May 19, 1970.

1975: Prime third base prospect climaxed impressive Tidewater campaign by winning International League RBI crown (81)—unprecedented feat in club history; lived up to defensive reputation as league's top-fielding (.987) hot corner man, charged with only five errors at 3rd; also handled 67 chances flawlessly at 2nd and made two bobbles in 32 chances at short. . . Key factor in Tidewater stretch run with 22-game August hitting streak; contributed decisive two-run homer against Rochester in one-game playoff breaking first place tie, and batted torrid .464, with four homers and 8 RBI in seven games of Governor's Cup competition. . . Purchased by Mets Sept. 11 and handled 16 chances perfectly in 13 games, although admittedly pressed at bat. . . Played with Aguilas in Dominican Winter League after season.

All State and conference Player-of-Year at Will Rogers HS (Tulsa) in 1968; gained national junior college All America honors at Bacone (Okla.) in 1969 & '70. . . Named Tidewater's 1973 MVP as led league in putouts (98), assists (252) and double plays (31).

1975: Won back-up job to Jerry Grote with eye-catching Gas House Gang aggressiveness that earned him annual John J. Murphy Award emblematic of outstanding rookie of Mets' spring training campaign. . . Recorded first major league home run April 30 in Chicago off Ray Bauris. . . Played winter ball with Caguas in Puerto Rico and suffered right hand finger fracture resulting from foul tip.

Nation's second selection (to David Clyde of Texas) in 1973 free agent draft had originally been 9th selection by Oakland in 1969 draft but elected to accept football scholarship at Colorado; participated in four successive post-season Bowls as defensive halfback; enjoyed proportionate success in baseball, winning 1972 Big Eight batting title, 1973 NCAA home run crown (15) and All America team designation. . . Named to International League All Stars in 1974 after moving up from Class A in mid-season. . . Capable of bench-pressing 270 pounds. . . 17th round Buffalo Bills choice in 1973 NFL draft. . . Most quotable quote: Upon being acquired by Mets in Tug McGraw deal, he said: "The Mets made a steal; they would have made an excellent trade if they got me even up for McGraw."

Signed by Buck Elliott, June 21, 1972.

1975: Complete recovery from 1974 elbow fracture underscored by gaudy Tidewater figures that included International League-leading 13 complete games, club record seven-game winning streak and 2.24 ERA. . . Recalled Aug. 13, chalked up lone Met win three days later, 4-2, over Giants. . . Reported to Caguas for Puerto Rico Winter League ball after season.

Emerges as Mets' No. 1 prospect after only 14 games and one year of professional ball, only to have development hindered by physical setbacks: subsequent two seasons; peritonitis that followed May, 1973, appendectomy; and stress fracture of elbow (traced to May 26, start against Pittsburgh) with which he pitched 10 weeks, to astonishment of doctors, before injury was determined. . . Had been relied on to round out "Big Five" with Seaver, Koosman, Matlack and Stone in 1974 after Mets resisted all trade bids (including one from Houston as part of Jimmy Wynn deal) at winter meetings. . . Worked at curbing appetite that ballooned him to 255 pounds three years ago. . . Arizona State varsity career highlighted by school records in victories (47), strikeouts (459) and IP (457); lost only one of 17 decisions as senior, winning twice in College World Series tourney. . . Pitched semi-pro ball in Alaska summers of 1969-70-71, after spurning Cardinal selection in 1968 free agent draft upon high school graduation.

Signed by Paul Trefiak, May 21, 1972.

1975: Most impressive outing ironically revolved around losing effort—Aug. 4 at Shea—as he held Expos hitless for 7½ innings and racked up 13 strikeouts (one less than John Montefusco's NL high) only to wind up 4-3 loser on Mike Jorgensen's three-run homer that capped 4-run 8th; Jimmy Lyttle's pinch single broke up no-hitter; Gene Mauch rhapsodized "he had the best stuff the Expos ever faced, with the exception of a Dock Ellis performance against us a couple of years ago". . . Fanned 15 in next two starts for winless three-game, 21-inning stretch marked by 28 strikeouts. . . Recorded first big league victory in 6-inning start against Cubs, April 20, and first complete game in 5-2 decision over Phillies, June 28; beat Padres Aug. 26 for other CG. . . Played winter ball in Puerto Rico for Santurce.

Inexperience and inability to control what scouts label "the fastest curve in the league" separate him from fulfillment of superstar potential; status as major leaguer last year with 13-30 minor league record testimony to his promise. . . Made Hollywood Grade B scenario debut with Mets in Norfolk exhibition Aug. 15, 1974; drove all night for assignment against Tidewater for pitching-short Mets, and after arriving just before game time, tossed seven, (two-hit) shutout innings for beaming benefactor Bob Scheffing; effort prompted promotion to Triple A from Class A month later, when won his two starts with complete games for Tidewater. . . Scholastic star in baseball, football, basketball & track; attended John C. Calhoun Junior College (Ala.) to study welding; dropped out in Jan., 1972; signed with Mets in May and after 0-9 baptismal campaign went home for job as welder; had to be persuaded by mother to return to baseball.

Gil Hodges hit the first home run in Met history. It came off the Cardinals' Larry Jackson in fourth inning of Mets' first game—April 11, 1962 in St. Louis.

TORRE, Joseph Paul

INF-C

BORN: July 18, 1940, (35), Brooklyn, N. Y. HT: 6-1; WT: 200;

BATS: R; THROWS: R; RESIDENCE: Ft. Lee, N. J.

ACQUIRED: From St. Louis for Ray Sadecki and Tommy Moore, Oct. 13, 1974.

1975: Made official Met debut in headline fashion with ninth-inning single off Steve Carlton that beat Phillies 2-1 on Opening Day; however, it represented one of few positive notes in campaign marked by all-time low .247 average, poorest RBI production (35) since 1962, and inner torment that made him consider retirement. . . Put together 16-game hitting streak May 24-June 9 that raised average 71 points to .285; reached 2000-game milestone June 15 against San Diego but took heavy lick on left elbow from Mike Ivie throw home in 2nd inning and went downhill shortly thereafter. . . Reached nadir July 21 at Shea, tying major league record by grounding into four double plays (after as many singles by Felix Millan); only Goose Goslin of 1934 Tigers & Mike Kreevich of 1939 White Sox had previously gained that dubious distinction. . . Brought .300 major league lifetime average and high hopes to Mets after spectacular Japanese tour with Shea troupe (.437 slugging & 18 RBI in as many games en route to four MVP designation); but suffered spring training setback in freak accident during Ft. Lauderdale exhibition March 12: jammed his right ankle backing off third base bag trying to give Bobby Bonds access to area. . . Made 83 appearances at third & 24 at first, & was 22-for-5 pinch-hitting.

Pre-season 1976 plan was to use nine-time All Star primarily at first base after spurned minor league managing offer and decided to play again "in an effort to regain my pride"; embarked on rigorous Downtown A.C. winter conditioning program toward that end. . . Reached peak of brilliant career (spotlighted by All Star representation as catcher, third baseman & first baseman) in 1971, when extraordinary credentials resulted in MVP Award and included: league-leading stats in batting, RBI, hits & total bases (352); it marked first time NL player set pace in four batting departments since Stan Musial captured eight in 1948, and in preceding 35 years his total of 230 hits was surpassed only by Joe Medwick's 237 of 1937, Earl Averill's 232 of 1936 & Matty Alou's 231 of 1960. . . Moved from catcher to third base in 1970, playing position for first time since St. Francis Prep days of late Fifties, but operated primarily at first base after inflamed shoulder affected throwing in 1973. . . Came up to majors to stay after first 21 games of 1961 & finished second to Billy Williams in Rookie-of-Year balloting; took over as Milwaukee's varsity catcher after Del Crandall was traded to Giants in Dec. of 1963. . . Traded to Cardinals for Orlando Cepeda in spring training, Mar. 17, 1969, when Mets lost out in trade bid. . . Partner in sport equipment stores bearing his name. . . Brother Frank, former first baseman with Milwaukee & Phillies, vice-president of Rawlings Sporting Goods Co.

1975: One of organization's more highly regarded power products never got untracked; opened with Tidewater, sent to Jackson June 15 and rejoined Tides for playoffs and Little World Series. . . After accumulating 30 home runs in 198 games of first two pro campaigns, was limited to seven (all at Jackson) in 124. . . Reported after season to Florida Instructional League for outfield, in addition to third base service.

Lettered in baseball and swimming at Oak Lawn (Ill.) HS and then gained NAIA All Star honors in District & College Division tourneys at Eastern Illinois. . . 551st player selected in 1973 draft, broke into pro ball by winning NY-Penn League home run title, followed by Texas League All Star designation as third baseman at Victoria, where hit 18 homers, 31 doubles and drove in 79 runs.

1975: Furnished Mets with most reliable centerfield patrol in history and steady (lifetime high) .294 stickwork. . . His 13 assists exceeded only by Rusty Staub's 15 and 14 by Jose Cardenal & Greg Gross among NL outfielders. . . No. 3 in Met homers to Dave Kingman & Staub. . . Reached 1000-hit milestone Aug. 18 with leadoff single off James Rodney Richard. . . NL's chief tormentor of Cardinals with .479 average (73-for-35), four homers & 15 RBI against St. Louis.

Won Mississippi State scholarship as pitcher (after outstanding scholastic baseball, football, basketball career), but hitting ability prompted conversion to first baseman, and then to outfield as senior. . . Spurned free agent draft selections by Minnesota and Pittsburgh before signing as Washington's first choice in June, 1966, secondary phase of draft. . . Climaxed freshman big league campaign by sharing Sporting News Rookie-of-Year Award with Stan Bahnsen and winning Topps Rookie Team berth; led AL outfielders with 20 assists (which also led major league centerfielders) and 10 double plays. . . Traded to Indians with pitchers Gary Jones, Terry Ley & Dennis Riddleberger for pitchers Mike Paul & Rich Hand, catcher Ken Suarez & outfielder Roy Foster, Dec. 2, 1971; dealt to Phillies with infielder Terry Wedgewood for outfielders Oscar Gamble & Roger Freed, Nov. 30, 1972. . . Son of former Detroit & Cincinnati catcher Al Unser, and one of eight children, seven of whom have college degrees while other is currently enrolled. . . Excellent golfer; teamed with pro football star Leroy Kelly to win 1973 American Airlines tourney. . . Real Estate broker during off-season.

1975: Collected more ink and superlatives than any rookie in Met history after reporting from Tidewater, Aug. 17, as International League leader in hits, triples, RBI & batting, with 19-game hitting streak snapped in final Tide appearance. . . Compiled 23-game Met hitting streak that (a) was season's longest in majors (b) tied NL record for rookie set by Joe Rapp of 1921 Phillies & matched by Richie Ashburn for 1948 Phils (c) equalled Cleon Jones' 1970 club record (d) fell three short of Guy Curtwright's major league freshman standard for 1943 White Sox. . . Streak ironically came to end in longest game of year: 18-inning win over Expos, Sept. 16, (7-for-0 with one walk). . . Broke into majors with pinch single off James Rodney Richard, Aug. 18, and recorded first home run in debut before Shea audience, Sept. 1, on first trip to plate against John Candelaria of Pirates. . . Also impressed with strong arm that accumulated nine assists (including three in finale of Sept. 8 Montreal twin bill). . . Wound up International League MVP and batting champion. . . Played Venezuela winter ball with Lara but came home after three weeks upon aggravating right knee sprain suffered in NL season's final series in Philadelphia.

Pre-season 1976 plans called for transfer from left to right field, where operated for manager Joe Frazier at Tidewater; Frazier had recommended his inclusion with Jack Heidemann in Dec. 11, 1974, deal with Cardinals for Teddy Martinez. . . Credits Joe Medwick with development as hitter, while late Hall of Famer was minor league batting instructor of Cardinals. . . Signed by St. Louis as infielder after graduating from DeAnza (Calif.) Junior College, whose coach was former Met Ed Bressoud.

JOE McDONALD

homebreds on the 1969 world championship club such "Miracle Men" as Tom Seaver, Tug McGraw, Jerry Koosman, Nolan Ryan, Cleon Jones, Ed Kranepool and Bud Harrelson.

It is worthy of parenthetical note here to cite the role destiny played in Koosman's survival as a Met farmhand. En route to the Homestead (Fla.) training camp in 1966, the big lefthander wound up in a racked car. McDonald apprehensively heeded Koosman's plea for a $75 loan. Weeks later, when the minor league officials and managers sat down to determine which players were to be released, all but one hand was raised when Koosman's name came up. The lone dissident was McDonald. "We just gotta keep him," he sighed. "Jerry still owes me the $75." Which only goes to show that not all bad debts are bad debts. Koosman was subsequently to pay off with two victories in the 1969 World Series.

McDonald's light red hair has gotten a little bit lighter (and a little bit thinner) since those days. Back in the early Fifties the color of that head was the source of deep pride. Not out of vanity. But because when the Cardinals or Cubs were in town it enabled him to be mistaken by autograph seekers for Red Schoendienst or Paul Minner, as he got off the Prospect Park subway station and headed for his ticket-taking duties.

And thereby can be traced a further extension of the long arm of coincidence. For he had been "moved up" to the Press Gate by Ebbets Field superintendant Jim Thomson, who 20-odd years later, as a Vice President and Board member of the Mets, was to participate in the decision to "move him up" to GM at Shea.

Behind him is the frustration of becoming a lefthanded big league first baseman. So is a St. Francis Prep career; star sandlot status with the Mercurys ("we had the best club in Brooklyn and represented New York in the 1948 Junior All America Federation tournament"); a Fordham accounting degree (1951); and a 1952-54 Air Force hitch.

Upon his service discharge he went to work for General Dynamics, where he eventually caught the eye of Fred Corcoran. A prominent sports figure, Corcoran was director of the International Golf Association, which initiated the prestigious Canada Cub matches, and whose spinoff is still a major event under the World Cup label. He was also director of the Ladies PGA and business agent for a stable of notables which included Ted Williams, Sam Snead and Stan Musial. Corcoran took the young man under his wing and soon McDonald was representing the former in all of his enterprises.

McDonald subsequently became acquainted with Ty Cobb, through whom he met George Weiss. With the organizational birth of the Mets in 1961, he asked Weiss for a job. That's how statisticians are born. Not to mention general managers. ("I couldn't work for a better man than Corcoran, but baseball was my first love.").

His poise and wit have been satisfactorily tested on the Fourth Estate under fire. During the press conference of his appointment he had expressed an eagerness to deal. Asked whether he considered anyone untouchable, he replied: "The only untouchables I know is a TV show." What he doesn't know at all is fear. At least not at a trading table. He went right out and dealt for Joe Torre and then swapped Tug McGraw. Queried as to how the popular relief pitcher reacted to the news, McDonald said: "After I told him I traded him we both broke down. It figured. We're both lefthanders."

McDonald married the former Therese Mulcahy of Yonkers on Sept. 2, 1959. Two sons—15-year-old Jody and 12-year-old Timmy—and a 14-year-old daughter, Marni, are products of that union.

1975 OPENING DAY ROSTER

The following players comprised the Mets' roster on Apr. 8, 1975 (Opening Day):
PITCHERS: Rick Baldwin, Jerry Cram, Jerry Koosman, Jon Matlack, Harry Parker, Mac Scarce, Tom Seaver, Randy Tate and Hank Webb; CATCHERS: Jerry Grote, Jerry Moses and John Stearns; INFELDERS: Wayne Garrett, Bud Harrelson, Jack Heidemann, Ed Kranepool, Felix Millan, John Milner and Joe Torre; OUTFELDERS: Gene Clines, Bob Gallagher, Dave Kingman, Rusty Staub and Del Unser. DISABLED LIST:
Bob Apodaca, Cleon Jones and George Stone.

JOE FRAZIER

The rugged pecan farmer (he owns a 40-acre tract on the Tulsa outskirts of Bixby, Okla.) is free to confess that managing saved his baseball life. He had thrown in his bat as a player at Spokane after the 1960 campaign ("I was too damn old and makin' too little money") and accepted Bobby Bragan's offer to work for Houston as a scout.

But four years of "too many rides on too many long roads" became a drudgery he could no longer endure. Only the opportunity to take over Houston's 1965 Florida Rookie League club at Bradenton influenced him to keep his hand in the game. He won the pennant the first crack out of the box and was hooked on managing ("It gave me a new lease on life").

The Astros advanced him to Cocoa in the Florida State League in 1966 and then made him the organizational batting instructor. But after a year he stepped out ("managing was in my blood") and Whitey Herzog stepped in.

A frequent sidekick of Frazier's when both were soldiers in the scouting trenches, Herzog was now farm director of the Mets and put Joe in charge of Mankato's 1968 Northern League entry. That's where he missed the pennant because of the unplayed rainout. It was Pompano in '69 and then Visalia for three years before he clicked on the stunning Memphis-Victoria-Tidewater Trifecta that put him in the Shea managerial company of Casey Stengel, Wes Westrum, Salty Parker (interim), Gil Hodges, Berra and McMillan.

It all started in Liberty, N.C., (pop. 800), where he grew up during the Depression and most everyone, including his parents, worked in the hosiery mill. Joe didn't play much baseball before high school ("those were the hard days, when there wasn't much money for bats and balls"). But he attracted a lot of attention of Burlington High (where he was also a tough basketball guard and pile-driving halfback) and with the hosiery mill team whose star pitcher was fire-balling Max Lanier.

He gave up the notion of going to college (turning down a North Carolina State football scholarship) for a $75-a-month contract to play third base for Leaksville (N.C.) of the Bi-State League in 1941. Cleveland bought and sent him to Cedar Rapids in '42, after which he volunteered for the Coast Guard in World War II. A seaman with the "Eighth Amphibs"—a landing craft unit assigned to the Navy in the Mediterranean Theater—he was aboard the flagship USS Duane during the invasion of southern France.

After the war Joe thrashed around the minors for eight more years (except for a 14 at-bat sip of coffee with Cleveland in 1947) as a left-handed hitting first baseman and outfielder until he racked up the Texas League as 1953 Player-of-the-Year and batting champion. The Cardinals purchased him, and the 1954 campaign represented the highlight of his playing career; at age 31 he led the majors in pinch hits with 20, a figure exceeded only six times in history. But it was just a brief moment of glory. For he was reduced to 70 appearances in '55, and the next year was shuffled to Cincinnati (with Alex Grammas), which a month later dispatched him to Baltimore. Then it was back to the "chain" gangs for three seasons at Vancouver and a fourth at Spokane, where he played the last of 1,776 minor league games.

He was reconciled to being a "a travellin' ball player". But it had its compensations in 1947 at Oklahoma City. That's where he met Thelma McClure, a local school teacher he subsequently took to the altar on Feb. 11, 1948. They're now a family of five. Joe, Jr., is a Tulsa fireman, Marty is a West Point cadet, and Cindy this year completed medical school at Tulsa.

And while there's no guarantee he'll find the right combination filling out the line-up card, give him plenty of room with a fishing rod, hunting rifle or golf club. He's scratch with all three.

There you have Joe Frazier, who comes to Shea with (a) the best managerial record in the history of the Mets' organization (b) the reputation of being a first sergeant and (c) a sincere appreciation "of the different techniques I learned along the way from people like Eddie Stanky, Paul Richards, Birdie Tebbetts and Preston Gomez."
