EXECUTIVE PROFILES

STEVE SCHOTT

Owner, Managing General Partner

When Steve Schott purchased the Oakland Athletics on November 1, 1995 along with Ken Hofmann, he laid out a long-term plan for success that would restore the glory to one of baseball's most storied franchises that had won 10 division titles, six league championships and four World Series in its previous 28 years.

The plan concentrated on three areas—build a World Series contender from within the organization; assemble a dynamic front office staff; and continue to strengthen the A's commitment to the city of Oakland and the East Bay by expanding the club's public community relations program.

Under the Schott and Hofmann ownership, the Athletics franchise has successfully rebuilt itself by emphasizing a strong minor league system that produced the majority of the players who led the A's to a first place finish in the American League West last season, the team's first championship since 1992. In this day and age of free spending and constant player movement, Schott envisioned a team made up of young, dynamic homegrown players which fans would identify with for years to come.

Schott has assured the nucleus of the team will remain intact for future pennant runs by signing young stars Tim Hudson, Eric Chavez and Miguel Tejada to long-term deals. In addition, he inked Billy Beane, considered by many to be one of the top general managers in the game, to a contract extension through the 2005 season.

The wealth of talent throughout the A's organization and sound player evaluation earned the Athletics back-to-back Organization of the Year Awards in 1998 and 1999.

Under Schott's ownership, the A's are one of the most community-minded teams in all of sports, donating close to two million dollars to various community projects since 1995. Three recent beneficiaries of the team's generosity are the Oakland public schools, the Oakland Parks and Recreation Department and the Boys and Girls Club of Oakland.

While ownership has demonstrated a commitment to fielding a championship team and enhancing the community of Oakland, A's baseball remains the most affordable entertainment values of all of the major sports franchises in the Bay Area. Despite recent renovations, the Network Associates Coliseum remains a comfortable, safe, clean, entertaining and accessible venue to watch a game.

A native of the Bay Area, Mr. Schott serves as the CEO of Citation/Award Homes, one of the largest homebuilders in California. Citation/Award Homes and its predecessor companies have built over 50,000 homes in Northern California over the last four decades. A member of the National Association of Home Builders, Schott has been involved with the development in Santa Clara, Alameda, San Mateo, Monterey, San Joaquin and San Benito counties for over 35 years.

Mr. Schott's philanthropic interests include the "Read to Exceed" program which he and his wife, Patricia, assisted in launching 10 years ago to stimulate reading and promote the importance of literacy among elementary, middle and high school students through the Bay Area. After receiving a Presidential Citation from the White House in 1997, Read to Exceed is increasingly viewed as a unique and successful example of how positive results can be obtained when business, government and the community join to support education. The Schotts also played a key role in the development of the Role Model Program, an organization that pairs at-risk middle school students with positive role models in the community, with the hopes the students will make positive life choices and achieve in the classroom. The Schotts have established their own private foundation that funds scholarships for needy students and contributes to a variety of non-profit organizations throughout the Bay Area. A founding member of the Alexis de Tocqueville Society, which is associated with the United Way, Mr. Schott is regent at Bellarmine College Preparatory in San Jose and a past chairman of the Saint Francis High School Foundation Board.

This year, Schott was one of 10 recipients of the prestigious Horatio Alger Award, which annually honors a group of men and women who have faced and overcome significant personal adversity through positive thinking, determination and hard work while exemplifying the values that formed the foundation of the American spirit. Past honorees include President Dwight D. Eisenhower, General Colin Powell, Senator Bob Dole, Oprah Winfrey, Ray Kroc and Dr. Maya Angelou, to name a few.

A native of San Jose, Calif., Mr. Schott attended Santa Clara University, where he was a pitcher on the school's baseball team. He currently serves on the University's Board of Trustees. In 1989, he earned Santa Clara's Distinguished Alumnus Award.

Mr. Schott and his wife, Patricia, reside in Los Altos Hills. They have three children, Lisa, Stephen E. and Kristen, and eight grandchildren, who all live in the Bay Area.

KEN HOFMANN
Partner/Owner

When Oakland native Ken Hofmann purchased the Athletics franchise with partner Steve Schott in November 1, 1995, the duo ensured the A's would remain a fixture in the Bay Area for the foreseeable future.

Mr. Hofmann, like Schott, has enjoyed a successful business career as one of California's top land developers. After working as a plastering contractor for three years, he moved into the home building business in 1951 and in 1957, formed the Hofmann Company. Over the last 44 years, the Hofmann Company has built over 30,000 homes and apartments, along with over $150 million in other commercial and industrial properties. Today, the Hofmann Company operates two athletic clubs, a youth center and a championship golf course. Mr. Hofmann is a two-time president and a member of the Board of Directors of the Building Industry Association and also holds a membership with the National Association of Home Builders.

Born and raised in Oakland, Mr. Hofmann graduated from Fremont High School and attended Saint Mary's College in Moraga for two years before earning his degree from the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy in Kings Point, NY. A World War II veteran, Mr. Hofmann served the Merchant Marines in many theaters, earning a rating of Master Marine.

Mr. Hofmann has served on the Board of Trustees and is a Regent Emeritus at Saint Mary's College and is a member of the alumni association of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy. He endowed Saint Mary's football stadium, basketball facility and a football scholarship. In 1983, he was named Saint Mary's Alumnus of the Year.

An avid outdoorsman, Mr. Hofmann is a former executive director of the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, having served in that position for 10 years. He has also been an active fundraiser for Ducks Unlimited, the California Waterfowl Association, the Regional Theater for the Arts in Walnut Creek and the Mount Diablo Medical Center.

Mr. Hofmann and his wife of 43 years, Jean, reside in Lafayette. They have two daughters.

BILLY BEANE
Vice President, General Manager

Billy Beane's fourth season as general manager of the Oakland Athletics marks his 13th year with the A's organization. He is responsible for the overall baseball operations of the club, including scouting, player personnel and player development.

The 39-year old Beane as gained the respect of baseball's brightest minds for molding the A's into a World Series contender in just three short seasons. Under Beane's watch, the A's have improved by 26 games in the win column since a 65-97 showing in 1997 and have compiled 252-233 (.520) record over the last three seasons.

Last season, the organization's long-term plan of scouting and developing young talent into coveted Major League players came to fruition, as the A's captured the American League's West Division championship with a 91-70 record, finishing one half game ahead of the Seattle Mariners in a heated race which went down to the last day of the season. Oakland's playoff roster featured eight players under 25 years of age.

While the A's organization is blessed with a wealth of young talent on all levels, Beane's player acquisitions over the years have proved to be the necessary pieces to complete the club's championship puzzle. In 1999, he added veterans such as John Jaha, Doug Jones, Tony Phillips and Tim Raines to a team of talented youngsters that put the A's in the thick of the playoff race at the All-Star Break. Beane then orchestrated a series of trades just before the trading deadline that brought Kevin Appier, Omar Olivares, Randy Velarde and Jason Isringhausen to the club. His first deal in a week of furious trading, however, sent veteran Kenny Rogers to the New York Mets for minor league outfielder Terrence Long, who finished second in the AL's Rookie of the Year voting as the A's every day centerfielder just a year later. For his efforts, he was named Executive of the Year by The Sporting News. Last season, Beane acquired Jim Mecir, one of the American League's top setup men, from the Tampa Bay Devil Rays, a move which solidified the A's bullpen over the last two months of the season.

In January, Beane again opened the eyes of the baseball world by orchestrating a three-team, nine player deal which landed the game's top leadoff hitter, Johnny Damon, in Oakland.

Although he has been one of the most active aggressive general managers on the trade front over the last three seasons, Beane's maneuvers have not depleted the organization's wealth of talent on the minor league level. Recent homegrown talents to make an impact on the Major League level include Miguel Tejada, Eric Chavez, Tim Hudson, Mark Mulder, Barry Zito, Ramon Hernandez and Adam Piatt. Chavez and Piatt each earned Minor League Player of the Year Awards in 1998 and '99, respectively.

Beane has set the offensive style for the A's, emphasizing plate discipline, on-base percentage and the big inning. The ability to work a count and develop a solid understanding of the strike zone is stressed on all levels of the A's organization. Although the A's finished last season ranked tied for tenth in the American League with a .270 batting average, they finished third in runs scored (947), second in home runs (239) and walks (750) and third in on-base percentage (.360). The club's home run total was the ninth highest in Major League history while its walk total was the 12th highest ever recorded. The A's also set a Major League record with 14 grand slams.

While the A's offense has flourished, the pitching staff has also blossomed. Last year, the A's staff, headed by 20-game winner Tim Hudson, ranked third in the American League with a 4.58 ERA.

Beane joined the A's front office staff in 1990 as the club's major league advance scout. In 1993, A's President and General Manager Sandy Alderson promoted him to the assistant general manager's position when Walt Jocketty left the organization to accept the assistant general manager's job in Colorado. Alderson handed over his general manager's duties to Beane on October 17, 1997. Shortly after the 1999 season, A's ownership signed Beane to a three-year contract extenstion through the 2005 season.

In his first season as manager, Houston finished third with an 86-76 record and Howe finished fourth in the BBWAA National League Manager of the Year voting. It was one of two third place finishes, with the other coming in his final season in 1993 (85-77).

The Astros began a rebuilding process in 1990 which saw Houston field the youngest team in the majors in 1991. In that season, Howe was named as a coach on Lou Piniella's staff for the All-Star Game in Toronto. By 1992, he had Houston back to the .500 level at 81-81. During his tenure in Houston, Howe oversaw the development of young players such as 1991 National League Rookie of the Year Jeff Bagwell, Craig Biggio, Ken Caminiti, Pete Harnisch and Darryl Kile.

Howe's professional baseball career began in 1971 with Salem and he made his major league debut in 1974 with the Pirates. A lifetime .260 hitter in 10 big league seasons, the former infielder played in 891 games with Pittsburgh, Houston and St. Louis. He spent parts of the 1974 and 1975 seasons with the Pirates before he was traded to Houston to complete a deal for Tommy Helms following the 1975 season. Howe played for Houston from 1976-83 and had his best season as an Astro in 1981 when he led the team with a .296 average. During that season he set what was then a Houston record with a 23-game hitting streak. He was also a member of Houston's first ever division winner in 1980, collecting a homer, two singles and four RBI in the one-game playoff at Dodger Stadium to win the title. Surgery on his left ankle and right elbow forced him to miss the entire 1983 season and he finished his playing career in St. Louis from 1984-85. Following his release by St. Louis on April 22, 1985, he joined the Texas Rangers coaching staff on May 21.

Howe's managerial experience began during his playing days in the Puerto Rican winter league. He managed at Bayamon in 1979, 1980 and 1982, earning Manager of the Year honors during the 1980 season. Following the conclusion of his playing career, he guided the Ponce club in 1985 and returned to winter ball in 1994, leading the expansion Azucareros del Este team from the Dominican Republic to the Carribean World Series.

He was a football and baseball star at Shaler (PA) High School and attended the University of Wyoming in Laramie. While picking up his degree in business administration, he played for four years on the Cowboys' baseball team and had a season as a quarterback for the football team until a back injury put a halt to his gridiron career. Upon his graduation from Wyoming, Howe was employed as a computer programmer for the Westinghouse Corporation when a friend convinced him to attend a Pirates tryout camp. He eventually signed a free agent contract with the club in August, 1970, at the age of 23.

Howe and his wife, Betty, have three children, Stephanie (Mrs. Edwin Sullivan), Gretchen and Matthew. Matthew was selected by the A's in the 29th round of the 1998 June draft. Art and his wife work with Special Olympics, both in Houston and the Bay Area, and were honored for that work last November as they were one of five recipients of the "2000 Threads of Hope Award" presented by Diablo Magazine. Following the Columbine High School tragedy, the Howes launched a "respect awareness" program called SAFER, which stands for Student Action For Encouraging Respect.

DESIGNATED HITTER RULE

A hitter may be designated to bat for the pitcher in any spot in the batting order in any game without affecting the status of the pitcher. The designated hitter must be selected and be included on the lineup cards presented to the umpire-in-chief prior to the game. Failure to do so precludes the use of a designated hitter for that game.

The designated hitter is "locked" into the batting order but may be removed for a pinch-hitter or pinch-runner, who in turn becomes the designated hitter. The designated hitter, while still in the game, may be used defensively but the pitcher then assumes the batting order of the replaced defensive player, thus terminating the designated hitter role. The designated hitter is eligible for all American League batting titles.

2000 REVIEW

2000 Season In Review

A's RETURN TO POST SEASON PLAY: The A's returned to post-season play for the first time since 1992, losing to the eventual World Champion New York Yankees in the American League Division Series in five games...the A's reached the playoffs by winning their 11th American League Western Division Championship...that equals the Atlanta Braves for most Division Championships...although the A's had not been to post season play since 1992, it was the A's second appearance in the Division Series as the A's won the first half of the 1981 season and then swept Kansas City 3-0 in the Division Series before being swept by the Yankees 3-0 in the ALCS...the A's have won 11 A.L. West Division Titles, 6 American League Pennants and 4 World Championships in the first 33 seasons in Oakland...the post-season appearance was the 19th for the Athletics franchise as the A's went to the World Series eight times while in Philadelphia...the A's have won nine World Championships (five in Philadelphia, four in Oakland), a total surpassed only by the Yankees 26...the A's also have 15 American League Championships (nine in Philadelphia, six in Oakland).

2000 RECAP: The A's won 91 games in 2000, a four-game improvement over the previous season…it was the 10th 90 win season in Oakland history, the first since 1992 (96-66)...it was the 19th time in 33 seasons in Oakland the A's finished at or above .500…spent 26 days in sole possession of first place but most of those days came in June…were ½ game up on Seattle on June 28 but lost seven of eight games from June 28 to July 5 to fall 3½ back of the Mariners…the deficit peaked at seven games on August 11 after a six-game losing streak but the A's won four of their five games from August 12 to 16 to pull to within three…remained between 1 and 3½ games behind the Mariners from August 17 to September 20…the A's and Mariners played similar schedules over that stretch and as the A's got cold, so did the Mariners…Oakland lost 10 of 14 games from August 18 to September 1 but actually gained ½ game on the Mariners in the standings over that stretch…then won 13 of the next 17 games from September 2 to 20 but lost ½ game in the standings and were three back of Seattle entering a four-game series at Safeco Field starting September 21…won each of the first three games to pull into a first place tie but lost the final game on Sunday and entered the final week of play one game back of Seattle…took three out of four from Anaheim from September 25-28 but were only able to gain ½ game on the Mariners…then swept a three-game series from Texas while the Mariners won two of three at Anaheim and the A's won the West by one-half game on the final day of the season…A's went 21-7 in September, the best record in the majors in the month and the second best win total in a month in Oakland history to a 23-8 mark in August, 1973…did it with pitching as the A's staff posted a Major League low 2.88 ERA in September, the lowest by an A's pitching staff in a month since May of 1990 (2.43)…finished with a 91-70 record to the Mariners 91-71…A's had their September 17 game at Tampa Bay postponed because of Hurricane Gordon (the A's second hurricane postponement in the last two years) but did not have to make up the game since they won the home field advantage tiebreaker with Seattle, who also made the playoffs, by going 9-4 against the Mariners during the regular season…began the season by going 12-13 in April…set Oakland records for most hits (10) and total bases (21) in an inning in the seventh inning on May 3 at Kansas City…that was part of the A's longest road trip of the season and Oakland went 8-4 on the trip…all four losses were by one run and the A's had leads of 4, 8, 5 and 5 in the losses …took over first place in the West for the first time on May 12 but lost five straight from May 16 to 20 to fall out of first place…won four straight games from May 30 to June 3 to move back into first place and then had a season best nine-game winning streak from June 13 to 23…the streak tied for the fourth longest in Oakland history…set an Oakland record for margin of victory and tied the club record for runs scored in a 21-3 win at Kansas City on June 18…scored 10 runs in the third inning, the fifth 10 run inning in Oakland history…every starter had one hit, one run and one RBI…the runs scored and margin of victory records were broken on September 30 against Texas when the A's defeated the Rangers 23-2…A's set a major league record as 14 different players scored a run in that game…spent every day in sole possession of first place from June 16 to 28…A's won eight consecutive series from May 29 to June 25, the second longest such streak in Oakland history (11, August 26-October 2, 1988)…finished June 18-7.

LOCKED UP: The A's signed four of their young players to multi-year contracts in 2000...Ben Grieve signed a four-year deal through the 2003 season on March 3, Miguel Tejada signed a four-year deal through 2003 on April 21, Eric Chavez signed a four-year extension through 2004 on June 23 and Tim Hudson signed a four-year extension through 2004 with a club option for 2005 on August 16...manager Art Howe signed a one-year contract extension through 2001 on February 24.

IN THE DAYS OF MY YOUTH: The A's roster for the Division Series against New York featured eight players that were 25 years old or younger...Barry Zito and Eric Chavez were 22, Adam Piatt, Terrence Long, Ben Grieve, Ramon Hernandez and Miguel Tejada were 24 and Tim Hudson was 25...the average age of the 25 players on the ALDS roster was 28.8 years...the two oldest players on the roster will not be returning in 2001, Doug Jones (43, retired) and Randy Velarde (37, traded).

THE PHILOSOPHY: Although the A's finished the season ranked tied for 10th in the American League with a .270 batting average, they were third with 947 runs scored...were second with 239 home runs and second with 750 walks for a .360 on-base percentage, third best in the league...the home runs tied for ninth most in major league history and the walks were 12th most...the A's finished with a major league low 40 steals, the fewest in Oakland history...previous low was 58 in 1996.

Trailing Kansas City 8-0 entering the bottom of the second, Oakland scored twice in the second, six times in the fifth and two more in the seventh for a 10-9 win. The all-time Athletics record is also the major league record, set by the Philadelphia A's on June 15, 1925 against Cleveland. The A's trailed by 12 runs in that game and scored 13 times in the bottom of the eighth to win 17-15.

HISTORY

The Athletics Franchise

The 2001 season marks the Athletics 34th season in Oakland and the sixth under new owners Stephen C. Schott and Ken Hofmann. The two land developers/home-builders purchased the franchise from the Haas family and assumed control of the club on November 1, 1995. They share a sense of commitment to the Bay Area and together they will strive to maintain the tradition of A's baseball both on and off the field.

Since the 1968 season, the franchise has now won 11 American League West division crowns, six American League pennants and four world championships. Only the Atlanta Braves equal the Oakland A's in Division Championships and since 1968 only the New York Yankees have won more world championships (6) and league pennants (8).

The Athletics history has been spiced with color and dotted with championships. From their beginnings under Connie Mack in 1901 to Art Howe's current version, the Athletics have won a record 11 division titles, 15 American League pennants and nine World Championships. Only the New York Yankees organization can claim more World Championships.

Mack managed the A's for an incredible 50 seasons (1901-50). During his tenure he compiled the managerial record for most wins (3766). However in the process he also logged his name in books for most losses (4025). Under his reign in the dugout, the franchise won nine American League Championships and five World Championships during the Philadelphia era.

In 1951, Mack finally gave way to a new skipper, Jimmie Dykes. One of Mack's most valuable players, Dykes took over a struggling team and was unsuccessful in reversing their fortunes. After three seasons with Dykes at the reigns the team was sold to Arnold Johnson in 1954 and the franchise moved to Kansas City for the 1955 season.

In 13 seasons playing in Kansas City, the club never managed to play .500 baseball. The highest the A's would finish in the standings was sixth-place while compiling a 829-1222 record under ten managers. In 1968, Charlie Finley, who had entered the scene in 1960, moved the franchise to Oakland.

In 1969 the Oakland A's won 88 games, the most victories for an A's club since 1932 and it would be the fewest wins for the team over the next six years. The A's became one of the most dominant teams of the 1970's. Reggie Jackson, Joe Rudi, Rollie Fingers and Bert Campaneris formed the backbone of the clubs which won three consecutive World Championships from 1972-74. The franchise again fell on hard times in the late 70's, but was brought back to life again under the control of Walter A. Haas Jr. The Haas family owned the club from 1980-95 and the A's won three consecutive American League pennants from 1988-90, including the 1989 World Championship.

The Athletics franchise returned to post season play in the 2000 season. The A's clinched their 11th American League Western Division championship on the final day of the 2000 season with a team that featured nine players under the age of 25. Names such as Chavez, Giambi, Hudson, Long, Tejada and Zito may soon be joining the likes of Canseco, Eckersley, Henderson, Lansford, McGwire and Stewart; Bando, Blue, Campaneris, Fingers, Hunter, Jackson, Rudi and Tenace; Cochrane, Earnshaw, Foxx, Grove and Simmons; and Baker, Bender, Collins, Coombs and Plank as the A's hope to begin their fifth championship era.

THREE STRAIGHT ROOKIES OF THE YEAR

The A's are the only American League club to have three straight Rookies of the Year. Jose Canseco won the award in 1986, followed by Mark McGwire in 1987 and Walt Weiss in 1988. In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers won four straight awards from 1979-82 and five straight from 1992-96.

Former major league catcher Bob Geren returns for his second season as the manager of the A's Triple-A affiliate in Sacramento. Geren joined the A's organization in 1999 at Modesto and guided the A's Single-A affiliate to an 88-52 record and an appearance in the California League playoffs while earning Cal League Manager of the Year honors. Geren now owns a 311-243 record in five seasons as a minor league manager, including 178-106 in two seasons in the A's organization. He came to the A's from the Boston Red Sox organization where he spent five seasons as a manager and roving catching instructor. Geren joined the Red Sox in 1994 as a minor league roving catching instructor, a role he also served in 1996 and 1997. He made his managerial debut at Utica of the New York-Penn League in 1995 and then moved to the Red Sox affiliate in the Gulf Coast League in 1996. In 1998 he guided Sarasota (A) to a 76-61 record in the Florida State League. Geren played professionally for 15 seasons, including five in the majors with New York and San Diego. He was originally drafted by the Padres in 1979 and was traded to the St. Louis organization before making his major league debut with the Yankees in 1988. Geren played four seasons with New York from 1988-91 and had his best season in 1989, batting .288 with a career high nine home runs. He spent the 1992 season in the Red Sox farm system and finished his career with San Diego in 1993. Geren owns a .233 career batting average in 307 major league games. He resides in Phoenix, Arizona during the off-season.

In his first season as manager in 1995, he guided the A's Arizona Rookie League club to a 37-19 record and first place finish en route to being named Manager of the Year. The Arizona A's finished 2nd in 1996 with a 33-23 record, earning Navarrete Co-Manager of the Year honors, and placed third the following season, posting a 29-27 mark. In 1998, he moved on to Modesto and guided the A's to a 77-63 overall record. His playing career spanned 21 years (1970-90), during which he spent the majority of his time with the Saltillo Saraperos of the Mexican League as both a player (1970-71, 78-82) and player-manager (1983-85). Navarrete was an eight-time All-Star and a member of the 1980 championship squad at Saltillo. The former infielder also had a six-year stint in the Montreal Expos organization (1972-77). Navarrete spent his winters fine tuning his baseball skills by participating in the Mexican-Pacifico Winter League (1972-90). He put up impressive numbers and ranks as the all-time stolen base leader and tenth all-time in hitting in league history. Prior to joining the A's, Navarrete's most recent job was as manager of the Tabasco Olemecas of the Mexican League from 1991-94. In 1998, he was elected to the Mexican Baseball Hall of Fame. Juan and his wife, Maria, are the parents of two daughters, Airam and Ana. The family resides in Saltillo, Mexico.

The Network Associates Coliseum

Network Associates Coliseum provides a memorable setting for any outdoor event. Having recently undergone a $120 million renovation, the Coliseum hosts concerts, conventions and other large gatherings in addition to serving as the home for the Oakland Athletics and Oakland Raiders.

Both the A's and Raiders have used The Net to its advantage over the years, winning six American League pennants, four World Series titles and two Super Bowls. Two of the A's world championships have been won on the Coliseum's turf.

The Coliseum's exceptional sight lines, fine weather and sizable staging areas have all contributed to its unrivaled popularity among performers, promoters and the Bay Area public.

The facility is conveniently located adjacent to I-880 with two exits (Hegenberger Road/66th Avenue) leading directly to the complex. It is the only major entertainment facility with a dedicated stop on the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system. The Oakland International Airport is less than a two-mile drive from the Coliseum with shuttle service to several local hotels and restaurants.

In October of 1995, the Network Associates Coliseum began a $120 million renovation project that added 22,000 new seats, 90 luxury suites, two private clubs and two state-of-the-art scoreboards.

The first crowd filled the Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum on Sept. 8, 1966, when the AFL's Oakland Raiders played the Kansas City Chiefs. The adjacent area celebrated its grand opening on Nov. 9, 1966, when the Oakland Seals met the San Diego Gulls in hockey. In the ensuring 34 years, the facility has hosted every conceivable event in the entertainment history. Audiences numbering nearly 100 million have made the Coliseum and Arena the premier entertainment facilities in Northern California.

A's On The Air

Bill King

One of the most recognizable voices in the history of Bay Area broadcasting, Bill King returns for his 21st season as a member of the A's broadcasting team. Since joining the A's in 1981, King has thrilled fans with his vivid descriptions of some of the most historical moments in Athletics history.

King's passion for painting a visual account of the action has made his broadcasting style an art form. His trademark exclamatory phrase, "Holy Toledo," whenever something needs a little extra emphasis, has been a familiar phrase to Bay Area sports fans over six decades.

King had already established himself as a local and national broadcasting icon when he joined the A's for the 1981 season. As the longtime voice for both the Golden State Warriors (1962-83) and the Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders (1966-92), King's voice defined the golden era for both teams.

His accounts of Raider games—from the infamous "Heidi" game against the New York Jets in 1968; a string of last second victories on George Blanda field goals during the 1970 season; the "Ghost to the Post" play, Dave Casper's touchdown reception that gave the Raiders a 1977 playoff win at Baltimore; the infamous "Holy Roller" game against the San Diego Chargers in 1978; and "Old Man" Willie Brown's interception return for a touchdown in Super Bowl XI—will forever be a part of the game's lore.

King's rapid fire, staccato play-by-play descriptions of the Warriors improbable run to the 1974-75 NBA Championship remain etched in the minds of Bay Area basketball fans. Although he gave up his basketball duties after the 1982-83 season, he is still mentioned in the same breath as Chick Hearn, Marty Glickman and Johnny Most, to name a few, as one of the greatest play-by-play talents the game has ever heard.

King was stationed on the island of Guam at the end of World War II when began his broadcasting career, working for the Armed Forces Radio Network. He launched his sportscasting career in the late 1940's in Pekin, Ill., broadcasting minor league baseball, along with high school football and basketball games. He later added duties calling Bradley University basketball games and Nebraska football and basketball contests.

King came to the Bay Area in 1958, when he was hired by KSFO radio to join Russ Hodges and Lon Simmons on the San Francisco Giant broadcasts. He also served as the radio voice for Cal football and basketball games.

A true renaissance man who is recognized by his distinctive handlebar mustache and beard, King is a devout patron of the arts who regularly attends the ballet, opera, and the symphony. A lover of all things nautical, he has sailed around the world, taking open-sea trips to Hawaii, Canada and up and down the West Coast. He is also a talented painter and voracious reader.

A native of Bloomington, Ill., King resides in Sausalito.

Ken Korach

Ken Korach begins his sixth year as a member of the A's broadcasting team, joining Bill King and Ray Fosse to form one of the top announcing trios in the game. In addition to his primary radio duties, Korach will also handle announcing assignments for a handful of television games on FOX Sports Net and KICU 36.

Prior to joining the A's in 1996, Korach served as a member of the Chicago White Sox broadcasting crew for four seasons, handling mostly weekend games. During the same period, he was the top play-by-play voice for the Las Vegas Stars of the Pacific Coast League, a position he held for three seasons.

In addition to his baseball work, Korach has 19 years of experience broadcasting college basketball and 15 years of college football play-by-play experience. He has been in the booth for two California Bowls, a pair of Las Vegas Bowls along with the 1993 Peach Bowl and the 1994 Senior Bowl. During the off-season, he handles play-by-play duties for UNLV men's basketball.

Korach's ties to the Bay Area precede his appointment with the Athletics. From 1985-92, he was the radio voice for San Jose State football and basketball games. He began his baseball broadcasting career in 1984, when he took over the play-by-play duties for the Redwood Pioneers of the California League. He also worked as the voice for the Phoenix Firebirds of the Pacific Coast League from 1986-87.

A native of Los Angeles, Korach attended San Diego State and UC Santa Barbara, where he graduated with a degree in social sciences in 1975. He and his wife, Denise, reside in Henderson, Nev. with their daughter, Emilee.

Ray Fosse

Former Major League standout Ray Fosse is in his 16th season as a member of the Athletics radio team and he returns for his 13th season in the television booth as the team's top analyst.

A 12-year Major League veteran, Fosse spent time with the Cleveland Indians, Oakland A's, Seattle Mariners and Milwaukee Brewers, compiling a .256 batting average with 61 home runs. A top draft pick of the Indians in 1965, he made his Major League debut with the Tribe in 1967 and spent the next six seasons in Cleveland. He enjoyed his most productive season in 1970 when he landed a spot on the American League All-Star Team and was a Gold Glove Award winner. He finished the year batting .307 with a career high 18 home runs and 61 RBI. He was traded to the A's for the 1973 season and played a major role on the club's 1973 and '74 World Championship teams. In 1973, he appeared in 141 games behind the plate, which stood as an Oakland team record until Ramon Hernandez caught 142 games in 2000. Fosse was back in Cleveland for the 1976 season and part of the '77 campaign. He wrapped up the 1977 season with the Seattle Mariners. He retired following the 1979 season after appearing in 19 games with the Milwaukee Brewers.

A native of Marion, Ill., Fosse and his wife Carol have been married for 30 years. They have two children, Nikki (9/24/75) and Lindsey (10/8/82).

Greg Papa

Greg Papa returns for his 12th season as the television voice of the Athletics.

One of the busiest announcers working today, Papa also handles radio play-by-play duties for the Oakland Raiders and national television duties with Turner Sports, in addition to his television assignments for the A's.

Papa has been a familiar voice in the Bay Area broadcasting circles since 1986, when he took over radio play-by-play chores with the Golden State Warriors, a position he held through the 1997 season. After his long stint with the Warriors, Papa handled television play-by-play duties for the San Antonio Spurs for three seasons (1998-2000). Prior to moving west, Papa was a member of the Indiana Pacers radio and television broadcasting teams for the 1984-85 and 1985-86 seasons.

In addition to his network duties with Turner Sports, his previous national network assignments have included duties with NBC, ABC and ESPN.

A native of Buffalo, NY, Papa graduated from Syracuse University's Newhouse School of Broadcasting in 1984. He resides in Danville with his wife Angela and their children, Derek, Alexandria, Danielle, Erika and Nicolas.

Robert Buan

Robert Buan returns for his second season as the host of the A's Extra Innings post game show after taking over host duties on a full-time basis last August. In addition to his on air duties, he also holds the position of broadcast manager in the A's front office, where he been employed since the 1995 season.

Buan has been featured on the A's broadcasts for each of the last five seasons, hosting various features such as The A's Road Report, The First 100 Years of A's Baseball and the A's Minor League Report. He has also worked as a local correspondent various national networks, including ESPN, SportsFan and One-on-One Sports.

Buan is a 1993 graduate of Santa Clara University where he majored in political science with minors in French and philosophy. He also worked at the campus radio station, handling play-by-play duties for basketball, baseball and soccer.

Originally from Spokane, Wash., the 29-year old Buan makes his home in Orinda.

Earning Straight A's in the Community

The Oakland Athletics organization has long prided itself on its involvement in the community, boasting one of the most active and far-reaching community relations programs in all of professional sports.

Virtually every A's player and coach is involved in at least one community project. Last season, Art and Betty Howe launched the S.A.F.E.R (Student Action for Encouraging Respect) program, which is designed to encourage respect among students, teachers and administrators in the hopes of preventing violent acts from occurring on campuses. The Howes, along with A's players made numerous visits to local schools on behalf of the S.A.F.E.R. Program, sponsored by Wells Fargo and also treated children to selected home games throughout the season.

For the past two seasons, the A's have presented Breast Cancer Awareness Day to honor breast cancer survivors, educate fans about breast health and raise money for the fight against breast cancer. The A's donate up to half of the game proceeds from the game to the American Cancer Society and Friends of Faith, an organization formed in support of Bay Area news reporter and breast cancer survivor Faith Fancher, which distributes funds to non-profit organizations for breast cancer research and education.

Oakland A's Community Fund: Each year, the A's Community Fund donates approximately $400,000 to various Bay Area community programs to support charitable organizations in their efforts to improve educational programs, aid the underprivileged, assist in crime and drug prevention and service children, seniors and those who work to improve the quality of life for people throughout the Bay Area.

The team's generosity has no geographical boundaries. Last year, the Community Fund joined A's players and coaches in donating over $100,000 to assist Venezuelan flood victims. In November, the A's, in partnership with the Wheelchairs for the World Foundation, purchased 2,500 wheelchairs for the needy people of the Dominican Republic.

The A's Elephant

Prior to the 1988 season the A's brought back one of the team's most familiar and successful characters from past years — the Athletics' Elephant. After two seasons featuring a more aggressive elephant holding two crossed bats in it's trunk, the old A's Elephant, which brought the A's three straight American League titles from 1988-90 and a World Championship in 1989, returned in 1995. The A's Elephant has been featured in many of the club's promotions and publications. Also, each player wears a special A's Elephant patch on the left sleeve of their uniform.

For 60 years the Athletic Elephant was one of the most popular and colorful logos in all of major league baseball. In 1901 Connie Mack and his Philadelphia Athletics helped form the American League. The following year, New York Giants Manager John McGraw dismissed the A's with contempt, calling them "The White Elephants," implying Mack shouldn't be allowed to spend money without supervision. Mack defiantly adopted the White Elephant as the team insignia, and in 1902, the A's won the American League pennant.

The White Elephant remained the team's mascot until later that decade, when it finally made its way to an A's uniform. Its first appearance was on the team's sweaters. In about 1918, the Elephant finally saw game action when Mack had the pachyderm symbol (in blue with a white "A" inside) placed on the left sleeve of every player.

By 1920, Mack had fully adopted the A's Elephant as the team's symbol. Gone was the traditional "A" on the front of the jersey. In was a blue elephant logo. But after a few poor seasons, Mack decided a change was in order. So, in 1924, the blue elephant was replaced by the white elephant on the team's jersey. The new-look pachyderm seemed to do the trick, as the A's played better ball for the next few years.

In 1928, Mack decided the elephant had worn out its brief welcome on the A's jersey fronts. He replaced it with the familiar "A" on the uniforms, and the A's went on to win two World Championships and an AL crown in the next three years. This resurgence was probably due more to the additions of Foxx, Simmons, Grove, Cochrane, et al., than to the elephant's absence.

That was the last year for the elephant on the A's uniform until 1955, when the A's, now in Kansas City, added an elephant patch to their left sleeves. But when Charlie Finley purchased the team in the early sixties, the elephant mascot was once again sent packing, replaced by, of all animals, a mule. This was the last we saw of this loveable A's mascot until 1988.

The elephant has once again proven to be a "good luck" charm for the A's, as since its return the Athletics have won three American League pennants and one world championship.

A COMMON MASCOT

The A's and the Republican Party share a common mascot in the elephant and the A's have had their best success when a Republican has held the office of President. The A's have won nine World Championships and a Republican has been President during eight of those seasons. In the one season a Democrat was in office when the A's won the World Series in October, 1913, William Taft began the year in office before Woodrow Wilson took over in March.

The Presidents of the United States when the A's won their World Championships:

Year	President	Year	President
1910	William H. Taft, Republican	1972	Richard M. Nixon, Republican
1911	William H. Taft, Republican	1973	Richard M. Nixon, Republican
1913	Woodrow Wilson, Democrat	1974	Gerald R. Ford, Republican
1929	Herbert Hoover, Republican	1989	George Bush, Republican
1930	Herbert Hoover, Republican
