MEET ROBERT E. SHORT

Bob Short thrust himself suddenly, forcefully and enthusiastically on the Washington sports scene last December 3 when he rushed to the major league meetings in San Francisco and agreed to purchase the Senators.

Few men have topped Bob Hope, but in this instance Short did. He emerged a winner over Hope's bid for the club and Short quickly made it apparent he wasn't kidding. He announced dedication to spurring the Senators out of the doldrums by whatever means necessary.

ROBERT E. SHORT

Short is neither a newcomer to Washington nor to sports. He is a graduate of Georgetown University Law School, served as Assistant U.S. District Attorney for the District of Columbia, was Liaison Officer with Congress on the staff of the Judge Advocate General's office of the Navy Department and is Treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, with offices in Washington.

On the sports side, Short was affiliated with the National Basketball Association Lakers for nine years, first in Minneapolis-St. Paul and later in Los Angeles. In his first year with the Lakers he obtained the great Elgin Baylor after Short had been advised that Baylor could not be signed. When the move was made to Los Angeles in 1959 he had the equally accomplished Jerry West under contract.

His efforts paid off when, following their initial year in Los Angeles, the Lakers outdrew all other clubs in the NBA. The Lakers carried on to win three division titles, placed second once and third once in the Short regime.

Short has the winning touch. He moved from a law office in 1950 to become president of a small Twin Cities-Chicago truck line. Ten years later he emerged as a big regional carrier when he acquired Merchants Motor Freight, Inc., of St. Paul and merged it with his Admiral Transit, Inc.

In 1967, with the purchase of Jack Cole, Co., and its subsidiary Dixie Highway Express, he forged ahead as one of the Nation's largest motor freight lines not publicly held, with 34 terminals in the North, South, East and West. Last year his trucking interests grossed $40 million.

—SENATORS' NEW OWNER

Short also owns the controlling interest in Gopher Aviation, Inc., four hotels in downtown Minneapolis and Station KRHM-FM in Los Angeles.

Born July 20, 1917, Short lives in suburban Minneapolis with his wife and seven children. He commutes to the Capital on Monday and returns to his native Minnesota on Friday.

Short has ranged far afield in sports, politics, as a Naval officer, in his law work and in various scattered commercial enterprises.

He is a graduate and now a trustee of the College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn. He is a member of the board of directors of the Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce. He was national chairman of Discover America, Inc., a private industry organization aimed at encouraging travel within the United States.

Short has been immersed in political activity, from precinct level to statewide assignments to national leadership. In 1964 he was national coordinator of Hubert Humphrey's campaign for the Vice Presidency.

Public service has received top priority among his activities. He has been a member of the Minnesota Advisory Committee for Manpower and Training and has served as a regional advisor to the Small Business Administration. He headed the Minnesota campaign for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library and otherwise has been involved in a score of civic organizations, church councils and interfaith programs.

Obviously, Short is a man on the move who is impatient of inefficiency, intolerant of intolerance, contemptuous of complacency, a stern foe of status quo.

The Senators' new boss has been accustomed to success. He is the personification of acceleration. The Senators have a dynamo at the helm, determined to move them among the elite.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PRESENCE

Ten Presidents have thrown out the first ball at Senators' home openers on 44 occasions, through 1968, with Vice Presidents substituting 10 times and lesser dignitaries filling in 14 times. President William Howard Taft inaugurated the custom in 1910.

With Presidents present at openers, the Senators have an overall 23-21 record. The breakdown:

Wilson	3	0	Taft	2	0
Roosevelt	4	4	Harding	2	1

WILLIAMS, Theodore Samuel (Ted) No. 9

Born in San Diego, Calif., August 30, 1918. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 230 lbs. Former outfielder. Batted left. Threw right. Lives in Islamorada, Fla.

Hall of Famer Ted Williams, the greatest hitter of his era, brings class, color and controversy to the Nation's Capital. The surprise choice of Owner Bob Short to steer the Senators, Ted's predictable pattern is that he will not accept mediocrity.

Ted's .406 batting average in 1941 is the highest mark compiled in the last 44 years and the measure of the man is reflected in his manner of achieving that pinnacle with the Boston Red Sox.

Williams was hitting well over .400 when the schedule had a week to go. Manager Joe Cronin told Ted he could sit out the rest of the season—the Yankees had clinched the pennant and Red Sox games were meaningless—but Williams insisted on activity.

Going into the final day of the season it appeared that Ted's pride could prevent him from joining an exclusive fraternity of .400 hitters in modern baseball—Nap Lajoie, Ty Cobb, Rogers Hornsby, George Sisler, Harry Heilmann and Bill Terry. His average had slipped to .399 and he needed four hits in a doubleheader against the Athletics at Philadelphia to reach the lofty plateau.

But Ted was, and is, something special. He collected four hits in five tries in the opener, added two for three in the second game and his .406 final figure became the highest American League average since George Sisler batted .420 in 1922.

Williams compiled a .344 lifetime batting average during a brilliant career from 1939 through 1960. Nearly five years were chopped out of his career, twice interrupted because of service as a Marine pilot. He hit 521 home runs, won the American League batting title six times, played in 18 All-Star Games, twice was named the Most Valuable Player in the American League and was elected to the Hall of Fame the first year he became eligible, in 1966.

Ted batted .338 in 1957 and at age 39 became the oldest player in major league history to win a batting crown. He did it again the following year, batting .328 at age 40. On his last time at bat in the majors, September 28, 1960, he appropriately slugged a home run at Fenway Park off Baltimore's Jack Fisher.

He was named to The Sporting News All-Star Major League team on 14 occasions and the same publication named him Major League Player of the Year five times. He was named Player of the Decade by The Sporting News in 1957.

No other player ever studied the art of hitting as much as Ted in his quest to be the best. He questioned every reputable hitter he ever met, seeking to add to his batting knowledge. He watched opposing pitchers and batters and players on his own team. He queried his own catcher during batting practice, concentrated on pitchers' deliveries and explored the subject exhaustively. And Ted practiced and practiced and practiced.

The third time Ted hit three home runs in a game, on July 14, 1946, in the first game of a doubleheader, he drove Manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland to desperation. Between games Boudreau devised the "Williams shift." It was a drastic measure designed to curb a super hitter.

Boudreau's maneuver placed only one man on the left side of the diamond. The leftfielder moved in to a position just behind the shortstop. Everybody else went to the right. The rightfielder and the first baseman played on the foul line. The second baseman was back on the grass and closer to first base than to second. The shortstop moved over to the right side of second base, near the normal second baseman's post. The centerfielder shifted over to the rightfielder's normal position. The third baseman played directly behind second base.

DR. GEORGE A. RESTA is entering his 24th season as the Senators' club physician. One of the East's most respected surgeons, he also is team physician for the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. Born in Plattsburgh, N. Y., Dr. Resta is a graduate of Georgetown University Medical School, is married and has two sons and a daughter.

Ted accepted Boudreau's challenge and got two hits by continuing to pull the ball. Ted later dropped down enough bunts and hit to leftfield occasionally to force teams to use a more modified version of the shift.

Williams has some marvelous moments in All-Star Games. In 1941 at Detroit the American League was trailing, 5-4, with two out and two on in the bottom of the ninth inning. Claude Passeau had one strike and two balls on Ted when Williams connected. The ball soared majestically above rightfield and crashed against the facade atop the third tier of the stadium, lifting the American League to a7-5 victory.

And in 1946 at Fenway Park he destroyed the National Leaguers with a superb batting exhibition. He hit a home run off Kirby Higbe and he lashed an amazing homer off Rip Sewell's famed blooper ball, a delivery which descended from a trajectory of about 30 feet. He added two singles and walked for a perfect four-for-four day, scored four runs and batted in five as the American Leaguers won, 12-0.

BALDWIN, David George (Dave) No. 37 P

Born in Tucson, Ariz., March 30, 1938. Height: 6 ft. 2 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Graduate of University of Arizona, Post-Graduate Student of Anthropology. Lives in Tucson, Ariz. Married. English-French descent.

Dave was an outstanding relief pitcher in 1967 and started last season with two saves in his first five appearances. Then things got worse as the sidearmer yielded a covey of seven home runs in 42 innings after permitting only two homers in 69 innings the previous season. He'll be striving to regain his confidence and the deceptiveness of a wicked delivery which had righthanded hitters moaning. Never has pitched more than 3.2 innings in 102 appearances with the Senators. Zoology and anthropology are topics he can discuss with intelligence.

BERTAINA, Frank Louis No. 24 P

Born in San Francisco, Calif., April 14, 1944. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 180 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Lives in Cupertino, Calif. Married. Italian descent.

So far a managerial headache with all that talent used so sporadically, but those with faith recall that Lefty Gomez started in the majors with a 2-5 record, Tommy Bridges was 8-16, Red Ruffing 9-18, Sandy Koufax 2-2 and Bob Gibson 3-5. Has been in and out of active duty with the Maryland Air Guard and it may have hampered his effort to show more consistency last season. Blanked the Twins on two hits for 11 innings on August 26 but the Senators won it for Dennis Higgins in the 13th, 1-0. His first major league win (for Baltimore) was a one-hitter against the A's on September 12, 1964, when his mound foe, Bob Meyers, also pitched a one-hitter. Led the International League with 188 strikeouts (in 181 innings) in 1965.

There have been nine pinch home runs in history clouted by players their first time at bat in the majors. Senators' fans have seen two of them, by John Kennedy on September 5, 1962, and by Brant Alyea (on the first pitch he ever saw in the majors) on September 12, 1965.

The New York Yankees will be battling the Senators for the 23d time in a Washington opener when they clash at Kennedy Stadium in the season's lid-lifter on April 7. The Yankees possess a 13-9 margin in these games. The Senators have lost six straight openers after winning their Kennedy Stadium debut over Detroit, 4-1, in 1962.

Born in Havana, Cuba, December 31, 1941. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Lives in Oakdale, Conn. Married. Cuban Negro descent.

Voted the American League All-Star catcher by the Baseball Writers' Association in 1966, made the American League All-Star squad and was voted the Senators' most valuable player by fans in 1967, but got off to a bad start last season and reached the .200 level only one day en route to a .196 batting average. It was an agonizing 52-point drop and his bosses believe he can do much better. Played for the Indianapolis Clowns in 1961.

COLEMAN, Joseph Howard (Joe) No. 20 P

Born in Boston, Mass., February 3, 1947. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 177 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Lives in Natick, Mass. Single. Irish descent.

Joe put in a full season in the majors last year for the first time since the Senators selected him as their top draft choice in 1965. He responded with 12 wins and the 22-year-old product of Natick, Mass., could become one of the league's solid pitchers. Young Joe comes by it naturally. His father, Joe, was a fine pitcher with the Philadelphia Athletics until arm trouble shortened his career. Young Joe won his first two major league starts less than four months after receiving his high school diploma, going the distance in each to defeat Kansas City and Detroit.

The longest night game in history, by time, was when the Senators defeated the White Sox, 6-5, in 22 innings at Kennedy Stadium on June 12, 1967. It required 6 hours 38 minutes and ended at 2:43 a.m.

Bucky Harris made 479 putouts at second base with the Senators in 1922 and that's still a major league record.

Born in San Francisco, Calif., February 16, 1942. Height: 6 ft. 1 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Graduate of Santa Clara University. Lives in Oxon Hill, Md. Married. Irish descent.

Was used only twice as a pinch-hitter by the Senators last season and the results were satisfactory—a bases-loaded triple to beat Cleveland, 10-9, and a two-run single to nip Chicago, 2-1. Marked his return to the Senators, in the deal that returned Ron Hansen to the White Sox, with a 3-for-5 night that helped to whip Chicago at Milwaukee. Has an accounting degree. Hit two grand slams in one inning as a semipro with Saskatoon, Saskatchewan in 1962.

EPSTEIN, Michael Peter (Mike) No. 12 1B

Born in Bronx, N.Y., April 4, 1943. Height: 6 ft. 3½ in. Weight: 230 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Lives in Stockton, Calif. Attended University of California (Berkeley, Calif.). Married. Jewish descent.

Got off to a wretched start last season, batting .099 thru May 21, but after a brief demotion to Buffalo (where he batted .400 in 11 games), Mike returned to hit .276 for the remainder of the year and amassed 13 home runs. He had two remarkable years in the minors. After breaking in with Stockton, Calif., in 1965 (30 homers, 100 RBI and a .338 batting average), Mike was elevated to the International League in 1966. His 29 homers, 102 RBI and .309 batting earned him "Minor League Player of the Year" awards by The Sporting News and the Topps Chewing Gum Co. He was the league's most valuable player, rookie of the year, made the league's All-Star team and was picked on the National Association All-Star team. Mike was first string fullback for California as a sophomore but did not play as a junior. A philosophy bug, he's erudite and articulate.

The only Senator ever to hit two triples in one inning was Gil Coan, who did it against the Yankees' Spec Shea and Allie Reynolds at Griffith Stadium on April 21, 1951. The Senators scored seven runs in that sixth inning and lost, 8-7.

Don Blasingame batted into only one double play in 506 times at bat with the 1964 Senators. It's a league record.

Scrappy, intelligent and a fellow the Senators' pitchers love to have behind the plate. When he's catching and Jim Hannan is pitching it all adds up because both have Masters Degrees in Finance. French and Hannan teamed in eight games to a decision, won six and lost two—by 1-0 and 2-1. Hannan didn't give up more than two runs in any of those games. The mathematics marvels have things figured.

Born in Oshkosh, Wisc., October 26, 1947. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats left. Throws right. Lives in Oshkosh, Wisc. Married. Polish-German descent.

Pitching Coach Sid Hudson is high on this youngster, of whom he said when he first saw him in 1966, "This boy is going to be a major leaguer." Only 21, he has a moving fast ball and a knuckle curve. His progress has been slowed by military service. Pitched a 10-inning no-hitter for Oshkosh High, struck out 108 in 60 innings, allowed 14 hits.

HANNAN, James John (Jim) No. 16 P

Born in Jersey City, N. J., January 7, 1940. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Graduate of Notre Dame University. Received Masters Degree in Finance at New York University. Lives in Jersey City, N. J. Single. Scotch-Irish-English-Swedish descent.

Was available at the $25,000 draft price little more than a year ago and the Senators are happy he wasn't grabbed. He compiled a 5-2 record early last season with Buffalo, was called up by the Senators in late May and won 10 games. Jim retired 26 batters in order at Cleveland last June 2. Larry Brown doubled and Lee Maye homered as the first two batters, but the next man to reach base was Maye, who tripled with two out in the ninth and scored on Max Alvis' single as Hannan won, 11-3. Jim pitched 102 innings over one stretch last season without yielding a home run.

HOWARD, Frank Oliver (Hondo) No. 33 OF

Born in Columbus, O., August 8, 1936. Height: 6 ft. 7 in. Weight: 260 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Attended Ohio State University. Lives in Green Bay, Wisc. Married. German-Irish descent.

Frank's 10 home runs in 20 times at bat, spread over six games, captured headlines and the imagination of the Nation's sports fans last May. Howard continued his cannonading throughout the year to lead the major leagues with 44 home runs, most ever by a Washington player. The 6-foot-7 Howard has smashed homers in 22 major league parks, many of them monumental. He's the only player to reach the upper deck in dead centerfield in Washington, accomplishing it twice. Six of his more memorable clouts are honored by painted white seats in the outer precincts in Washington, but the most eye-popping homer he ever hit was unloaded against Mickey Lolich at Detroit last May 18. That blast hit atop the leftfield roof at Tiger Stadium and bounded out of the park. The only other player to achieve the feat has been Harmon Killebrew. Frank has hit 242 homers, 119 in the American League following 123 in the National League. If he hits 26 homers this year he'll pass Jim Lemon's 144 and rise to second on the Senators' all-time list, topped by Roy Sievers' 184.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SAVE

Credit a save to a relief pitcher who enters the game with his team in the lead if he holds the lead the remainder of the game, provided he is not credited with the victory.

A relief pitcher cannot be credited with a save if he does not finish the game, unless he is removed for a pinch-hitter or runner.

When more than one pitcher qualifies for a save under this rule, credit the save to the relief pitcher judged by the scorer to have been the most effective.

Frank Howard's home run spree last year, when he connected for 10 home runs in 20 times at bat spread over six games, was one of the most fantastic displays of batting power in baseball history.

Starting with his first homer in that outburst, against Mickey Lolich in Washington, and ending with his last homer in the same explosion, against Mickey Lolich in Detroit, Howard batted .600. He had 12 hits (the others were a single and a double) and batted in 17 runs.

Howard, who led the majors with 44 homers, a slugging percentage of .552 and 330 total bases, set major league records for most home runs in five consecutive games (8), most home runs in six consecutive games (10) and most home runs in one week (10). He also set an American League record for most home runs in four consecutive games (7).

HUMPHREYS, Robert William (Bob) No. 23 P

Born in Covington, Va., August 18, 1936. Height: 5 ft. 10 in. Weight: 170 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Graduate of Hampden-Sydney College. Lives in Temple Hills, Md. Married. English descent.

With the Tigers, Cards, Cubs and Senators, Bob shows an overall 22-14 major league record. Had home run problems last season, allowing six in the first 21 innings he worked and 13 overall, but hopes the development of a knuckler will abate the noise. Has started three games for the Senators in emergencies and has permitted one run in 14 innings in those efforts.

Born in Covington, Va., December 22, 1943. Height: 6 ft. 2 in. Weight: 205 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Attends Lincoln Memorial University. Lives in Plant City, Fla. Married. Irish-German descent.

Jack was one of the first high school hot shots signed by the expansion Senators. Periodic arm trouble has impeded his progress, but he was a busy fellow with Buffalo and in the Venezuelan Winter League and may be ready to show more.

KNOWLES, Darold Duane No. 32 P

(In Military Service)

Born in Brunswick, Mo., December 9, 1941. Height: 6 ft. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws lefthanded. Attended University of Missouri. Lives in Brunswick, Mo. Married. English-German descent.

Had a hectic 1968, what with serving in the D.C. Air Guard during the day, pitching for the Senators at night at home and joining them on the road when possible on weekends until summoned to duty in Japan in mid-July. When he'll emerge from the service is doubtful, but he'll bolster the club appreciably when he returns. He is one of the game's more accomplished relief pitchers, with a move to first base which permits runners no liberty.

MARTIN, Thomas Eugene (Gene) No. 22 OF

Born in Americus, Ga., January 12, 1947. Height: 6 ft. 2½ in. Weight: 190 lbs. Bats left. Throws right. Lives in Albany, Ga. Single. English descent.

Emerged from two years (one year in Viet Nam) with the 173d Airborne Division last season and chipped off the rust nicely. His first hit in the majors—on his fourth try—was a pinch homer off Stan Bahnsen at Yankee Stadium last September 8. A line drive hitter, he is regarded as a sure thing to crash the Senators' outfield in the near future and remain there for years.

Born in Oxnard, Calif., June 1, 1942. Height: 6 ft. 3 in. Weight: 195 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Lives in Oxnard, Calif. Married. Scotch-Irish descent.

Slammed 20 home runs last season and needs only a bit more consistency at the plate to thrust himself to stardom. Ken is superb at swooping in on bunts and slow rollers, picking them off barehanded, and firing to first base. His 67 homers in four years with the Senators have been at the expense of 58 different pitchers, with Sam McDowell and George Brunet the only three-time victims.

Attended Northwest Mississippi Junior College (Senatobia, Miss.) for two years. Graduate of Delta State College (Cleveland, Miss.) with B.S. Degree in Education. Single. Irish descent.

Big, eager, equipped with a sinking fast ball and good breaking stuff which could elevate him to the majors quickly as a relief specialist. The only time he faced Mickey Mantle last year he fanned the famed Yankee. Jim's coach at Delta State College was Dave "Boo" Ferriss, former Red Sox pitching ace.

This strong-armed youngster has served his apprenticeship and should materialize as a winner. Finished by taking three of his last four decisions and has shown on occasion that he can be a stand-out starter. Pitched 12 no-hitters from Little League ranks through high school, once fanned 21 in a seven-inning game.

ALL-STAR GAME IN WASHINGTON JULY 22

The All-Star Game to be played on July 22 at Kennedy Stadium will be the 40th contest between American League and National League standouts. It will be the fourth time the Senators have been hosts, most for any club.

The first game in Washington was the fifth gathering of the greats and was won by the American League, 8-3, at Griffith Stadium on July 7, 1937. The National League won, 7-3, on July 10, 1956, at Griffith Stadium, and the National League won, 3-1, at Kennedy Stadium on July 10, 1962.

Two games a year were played from 1959 through 1962. It all started in Chicago's White Sox Park on July 6, 1933, as the brainchild of Arch Ward, late sports editor of the Chicago Tribune.

ORTEGA, Filomeno Coronado (Phil) No. 26 P

Born in Gilbert, Ariz., October 7, 1939. Height: 6 ft. 4 in. Weight: 200 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Lives in Mesa, Ariz. Single. Mexican-Yaqui Indian descent.

Won four of his first six decisions last year but after May 9 he was 1-10. Won eight in a row in 1967, lost eight straight last season and was one of the Senators' big disappointments. Fanned seven Red Sox in a row on May 29, 1966. A two-hit 1-0 victory over Cleveland on April 28 was his only complete game last season and he definitely will be on trial in spring training.

The Seattle Pilots and the Kansas City Royals are new clubs competing in the American League this season and here is the divisional setup:

AMERICAN LEAGUE EAST	AMERICAN LEAGUE WEST
Baltimore	California
Boston	Chicago
Cleveland	Kansas City
Detroit	Minnesota
New York	Oakland
Washington	Seattle

The 1969 schedule will have each club playing nine games at home and nine on the road with each other club in its own division and six games at home and six on the road with each of the clubs in the other division, for a total of 162 games.

The divisional champions will meet in a best-of-five playoff following the close of the regular season to determine the American League representative in the World Series.

In the past six seasons the Senators have contributed $171,507.31 to Children's Hospital from benefit games played at Kennedy Stadium.

PASCUAL, Camilo Alberto, Jr. No. 17 P

Born in Havana, Cuba, January 20, 1934. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 185 lbs. Bats and throws righthanded. Lives in Miami, Fla. Married. Cuban descent.

One of three active pitchers who have amassed more than 2,000 strikeouts, with his 2,102 trailing only Jim Bunning's 2,493 and Don Drysdale's 2,462. Camilo's 36 shutouts top American League pitchers. Pascual won 28, lost 66, while learning his trade his first five years in the majors, but in the past 10 years his record reads 142-97. A proud performer and a no-nonsense fellow when he's working, he paced Washington pitchers the last two years with 12 and 13 wins.

Walter Johnson's strikeout feats are impressive lines in record books. He fanned 3,487 in his career and led the American League 12 times, including eight years in a row.

The club record for strikeouts in a nine-inning game, however, was set by Camilo Pascual of the current Senators. He fanned 15 Boston Red Sox in a 10-1 Washington victory in the 1960 Opening Day game at Griffith Stadium before a crowd of 28,327, including President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Another current Senator, Phil Ortega, tied an American League record against Boston on May 29, 1966, when he struck out seven Red Sox in a row.

PETERSON, Charles Andrew (Cap) No. 4 OF

Batted .368 vs. Minnesota and .321 vs. Boston but suffered against other clubs last season. Was the Most Valuable Player in the Texas League in 1962, when he smashed 29 homers and led the league with 130 RBI. A former shortstop, Cap received a reported $90,000 to sign with the Giants.

Born in LaPine, Ala., October 31, 1939. Height: 5 ft. 11 in. Weight: 175 lbs. Bats left. Throws right. Lives in Warren, O. Married. Negro descent.

Bothered the Yankees more than somewhat with his .382 hitting against them but Ed was out for long periods with an ailing back and his encouraging early activity was followed by a steadily dwindling batting average. His big day was in a doubleheader May 30 at Yankee Stadium when he collected a single, double, triple and two homers in nine tries. Swiftest of the Senators, he led the Midwest League in stolen bases with 74 in 1963, the Carolina League with 72 in 1964 and the Pacific Coast League with 57 in 1966.

WALTER JOHNSON

Baseball's greatest pitcher, in the opinion of most veteran observers, was Walter Johnson, the famed righthander who hurled for the Senators from 1907-1927.

Johnson won 416 games and 113 were shutouts. He started 666 games and completed 531. He won 38 games by 1-0 and lost 26 games by the same score. He struck out 3,497 batsmen.

Time never will dim the brilliance of Johnson's accomplishments. The most incredible of his feats probably was when he pitched three successive shutouts (in four days) against the New York Yankees (then the Highlanders), in 1908.

When Walter Johnson pitched 56 consecutive shutout innings for the Senators in 1913 he did it in five starts and three relief appearances. In the streak he blanked the Yankees for a total of 17 innings, the Red Sox for 26.2 innings, the White Sox for nine and the St. Louis Browns, who ended the string, for 3.1 innings.

Al Crowder pitched 327 innings for the Senators in 1932 without a wild pitch and without hitting a batter. Walter Johnson had four wild pitches in one inning in 1914.

There never has been a no-hit game at Kennedy Stadium. Joe Horlen of the White Sox had a no-hitter for 8.1 innings on July 29, 1963, but Chuck Hinton singled with one out in the ninth and Don Lock homered with two out to give the Senators a 2-1 win.
