REMEMBERING A LEGEND

In August of 2002, the Los Angeles Lakers lost a cherished family member with the passing of Chick Hearn. More than an announcer, Chick embodied the spirit and determination that have made the Los Angeles Lakers champions 16 times over. The Lakers lone play-by-play voice since the team moved to Los Angeles prior to the 1960-61 season, Chick was the Lakers for the better part of four decades. With his words-eye-view of the game and colorful chickisms making his broadcasts truly one of a kind, it is a streak of unmatched proportions that will perhaps be Chick's lasting legacy. Beginning in Los Angeles on November 21, 1965 against the Philadelphia 76ers, Chick went on to broadcast 3,338 consecutive regular and postseason games, with the streak culminating in a 101-85 victory over the same Warriors on December 16, 2001. Two days later Chick underwent surgery to replace the aortic valve in his heart. The surgery was a success and Chick was expected to make a full recovery.

Anticipating a return to the broadcast booth on March 1, Chick was again befallen by bad luck as he suffered a hip fracture in a fall on February 17. This additional setback would force Chick to undergo a second surgery and more rehabilitation. Again, however, he persevered and on April 9th, returned to the booth to broadcast the Lakers 112-82 victory over the Utah Jazz. Shortly into the broadcast of a game that began with the sellout crowd of 18,997 giving Chick an extended standing ovation, the legendary announcer gratefully exclaimed, "This is the happiest I've been since I married Marge!"

Chick, along with his announcing partner of 15 years, Stu Lantz, broadcast the Lakers final five regular season games and each of the Lakers 19 playoff games. With Chick returning to his familiar position behind the mic, the Lakers season culminated on June 12 in New Jersey with their third consecutive NBA championship.

The refrigerator door might have closed for the final time on that June evening as the Lakers defeated the New Jersey Nets, but Chick will forever be remembered for the fervor and passion that he brought to each and every Lakers broadcast.

A TRIBUTE FROM BILL PLASCHKE

As a tradition set forth in the 2004-05 edition of the Lakers media guide, the Los Angeles Lakers organization will select a prominent Southern California media member each year to pen a tribute to Chick and carry on his legacy with a favorite story or anecdote about the man who came to be known as the "Voice of the Lakers."

This year, the Los Angeles Lakers are pleased to have long-time Los Angeles Times columnist Bill Plaschke share some of his stories about the broadcasting icon. A sports columnist at the Times since 1996, Plaschke has made nationally recognized contributions in both journalism and public service. As a journalist, Plaschke, in his 21st year with the paper, has been named National Sports Columnist of the Year by a variety of organizations, including Associated Press, Sigma Delta Chi, and National Headliners. He has been a Pulitzer Prize entrant, and his work has been featured in several editions of the annual "Best American Sports Writing" book. He has also published a collection of his columns entitled, "Plaschke: Good Sports, Spoil Sports, Foul Balls and Odd Balls." Plaschke was recently named Man of the Year by the Los Angeles chapter of Big Brothers/Big Sisters for his longtime involvement as a Big Brother. He has also received a "Pursuit of Justice" award from the California's Women's Law Center for his coverage of women's sports. In 2002, Plaschke was selected to carry the Olympic Torch for a couple of blocks through downtown Los Angeles as it worked its way to Salt Lake City for the Winter Olympics. Plaschke is also a regular panelist on the ESPN daily talk show, "Around The Horn" and made his film debut with three lines in the Will Smith movie, "Ali." In what some more cynical colleagues considered a stretch, Plaschke played the part of a sportswriter. Plaschke was born in Louisville, Ky., and worked in Fort Lauderdale and Seattle before joining the Los Angeles Times in 1987.

Imagine, if you will, an NBA broadcaster being honored by his team at halftime of a game he is working.

Imagine him laying down the microphone, coming to midcourt, accepting the honor, enjoying a standing ovation, then making a speech.

Imagine, in that speech, him referring to his team as "dogs."

That was Chick Hearn, who was not only the longtime Lakers voice but also its most enduring conscience. That was Los Angeles' beloved Chickie, speaking on a night when his team had stumbled through the first half and he just couldn't take it anymore.

Man, I still miss him. It's been 11 years since Chick Hearn died at age 85 after spending more than four decades as a Laker broadcaster, and the Lakers still don't sound the same without him. He essentially introduced professional basketball to Los Angeles in the early 1960s and became its most clear and trusted voice through all the varied Lakers eras and diverse Lakers championships.

At various times, at various levels, Lakers fans have been on a one-name basis with many of their stars, guys like Jerry and Elgin and Kareem and Magic and Worthy and Coop and Shaq and Kobe. But there was only one name that remained a constant companion through good times and bad, one name that rose from the level of fandom to family, and that would be Chick.

"What Chick has meant to the Lakers and the popularity of NBA basketball in Los Angeles can never be overestimated," said the late Dr. Jerry Buss upon Hearn's death on Aug. 5, 2002. "This 'words-eye view' is as responsible for this success as any of the great players who have worn a Lakers uniform. We will be forever grateful to him."

It was appropriate that Dr. Buss honored him by using one of Chick's wonderful word inventions. Chick referred to his broadcasts as giving the fans a "words-eye view," and, indeed, he practically invented the modern basketball lexicon with his many "Chickisms."

Whenever I hear fans derisively chanting, "Air-ball," I don't think of the poor player who just missed a shot, I think of Chick. He invented the word, and what a perfect word it is.

Whenever I read about the NBA's slam dunk contest – it's not a dunk contest, it's a "slam dunk contest" – I think of Chick. He also invented that phrase, adding the "slam" to the "dunk" in a simple act of literary genius.

Chick had a brilliant brain with a commoner's tongue, making him beloved by both the Lakers' front-row fans and their upper-deck faithful. He not only spoke like an imperfectly perfect broadcaster, he also sat like one, in the middle of the stands halfway up the lower section. He called the games not from some courtside perch or lofty box, but from the view of an average fan, in an area that was cramped and loud. He turned the NBA's most glamorous franchise into a hometown team by situating himself as though he was watching a playground game with a crowd of neighborhood folks from behind a chain-link fence.

I still remember the long lines of fans who paid homage to Hearn after his death by coming to the STAPLES Center with the sole intention of solemnly filing past this unique seat. It was a line filled with suits and jeans, dresses and cut-off shorts, the aging and the young. Chick related to everyone, even to a novice sports columnist who had grown up with baseball and was just trying to learn about basketball as he wrote about the Lakers.

It was the spring of 1997, I was finishing my first full year as a Los Angeles Times sports columnist, and I had just botched the Lakers final playoff loss in Utah even worse than Kobe Bryant. While Kobe had been throwing up airballs on the court, I was filling my column with them, writing an impossible deadline piece filled with factual errors and typos. While exhaustedly hunched over my computer at courtside after finally filing an 800-word mess that night, I was passed by Chick as he was walking to the locker room. He saw my obvious distress, and, even though I was a lowly rookie on the Lakers beat, this Hall of Famer paused to see if I was OK.

"I just don't see it yet," I said to him, pointing to the court

"Don't worry about your eyes," he said, tapping lightly on his chest. "Just write from your heart."

Sixteen years later, every time I enter the Chick Hearn Press Room at STAPLES Center, I still hear those words, and strive to follow that advice.

One of the last times I saw Chick was at the STAPLES Center after he had returned from one of the illnesses that had finally broken his 3,338 consecutive game broadcast streak. That streak, which spanned 36 years, will forever be the greatest in Los Angeles sports history. Baltimore has Cal Ripken Jr., New York has Joe DiMaggio, and we have Chick.

Chick was battling age and ailments, but he still returned to work on April 9, 2002, and the crowd of people wanting to welcome him back stretched from his usual seat up to the concourse. There was a huge buzz, the place was filled with love, and Chick was his usual Chick.

"This is the happiest I've been since I married Marge," he said on the air, referring to his longtime wife and best friend, before pausing. "Shaq down the middle...BLOWS THE LAYUP!"

It was perfect Chick, a guy who never spoke to us but with us, an announcer who was not only our eyes but our heart. Nearly four months after his return, he was dead, but in the refrigerator that houses his memory, the doors will always be open, lights will always be on, the eggs warm, the butter soft, and the jello still.

That is, perhaps, a terribly corny way to end a remembrance column about Chick Hearn. But he told me write from the heart, so I'll blame it on him.

JEANIE BUSS

Entering her first season as President after 14 seasons as Executive Vice President of Business Operations, Jeanie Buss is now responsible for running all aspects of the Los Angeles Lakers organization. Buss, who will continue to lead all Lakers business operations, which include managing team marketing and sponsorships as well as relationships with broadcast partners, will also oversee the team's basketball operations, working closely with Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations Jim Buss and General Manager Mitch Kupchak.

In addition to her role as team President, Buss also serves as the Lakers' Governor, representing the team on the NBA's Board of Governors.

Buss, who spent four years serving as President of the Great Western Forum before joining the Lakers, began her career at the age of 19 as general manager of World Team Tennis' Los Angeles Strings. While guiding the team to two league titles, she also created the Forum Tennis Challenge Series which became a regular part of the Great Western Forum calendar for years. Buss was responsible for bringing in players such as John McEnroe, Pete Sampras, Andre Agassi, Jimmy Connors, Steffi Graff, Chris Evert, Martina Navratilova and many other top professionals.

In 1993, Buss brought professional roller hockey to Los Angeles as the owner of the Los Angeles Blades. Her outstanding leadership and dedication earned her Executive of the Year honors by Roller Hockey International.

Named by the Sporting News in April 2005 as one of the Top 20 Most Influential Women in Sports, Buss serves as a board member on the Southern California Committee for the Olympic Games working to bring the Olympics back to Los Angeles. She also is a co-host of Lakers All Access, a yearly event presented by the LA Sports and Entertainment Commission, a nonprofit organization which attracts events and attractions to Los Angeles.

Actively involved in the community, Buss lists Canine Companions for Independence, The Amanda Foundation and the Best Buddies organization among her many charitable endeavors while also working internally with the Lakers Youth Foundation to raise money for Southern California Youth charities.

Buss graduated from the University of Southern California with a degree in business. She currently resides in Manhattan Beach and is engaged to Hall-of-Fame and former Lakers head coach Phil Jackson.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

JIM BUSS

Jim Buss begins his 16th season in the Lakers front office and the ninth in his current capacity. An Assistant General Manager for his first seven seasons, Buss has continued to work alongside General Manager Mitch Kupchak over the years in handling basketball related decisions that range from the scouting of players and the NBA Draft to trades and the signing of free agents.

In addition to his role in Basketball Operations, Buss also serves as the Lakers' Alternate Governor.

Since moving from Assistant General Manager to his current role, the Lakers have won two NBA Championships, made three NBA Finals appearances and claimed five Pacific Division titles while completing transactions that include the drafting of Andrew Bynum, the signing of Metta World Peace and the acquisitions of Pau Gasol from Memphis and Dwight Howard from Orlando among others.

Buss, who studied mathematics at the University of Southern California, worked in several management positions at the Great Western Forum before serving as the President and General Manager of the Los Angeles Lakers of the Major Indoor Soccer League from 1985 to 1989. In that capacity, Buss evaluated talent, had a direct hand in player personnel decisions and was responsible for all day-to-day operations of the team.

Before joining the Lakers front office, Buss spent the previous nine years pursuing one of his life's passions, training thoroughbred racehorses.

Born November 9th, 1959, Buss is the second of his late Hall-of-Fame father Dr. Jerry Buss' six children.

MITCH KUPCHAK

After capturing two championships as a player and now seven as a front office executive, Mitch Kupchak's name has become synonymous with winning.

Entering his 27th season as a club executive and the 14th in his current capacity, Kupchak has picked up right where close friend and mentor Jerry West left off. Since taking the reins prior to the Lakers first title defense in 2000-2001, Mitch's teams have compiled a 663-387 (.631), captured six Western Conference Championships and four NBA Titles while winning 63 percent of their postseason contests (111-66). Along the way, he has made moves such as trading for Pau Gasol and Dwight Howard, bringing back Derek Fisher, drafting Andrew Bynum, signing Metta World Peace and free-agent future Hall-of-Famers Karl Malone, Gary Payton and Steve Nash and acquiring role players the likes of Trevor Ariza, Shannon Brown and Horace Grant (a trade involving four teams and 12 players that was, at the time, the largest such transaction in league history) to help keep Los Angeles competitive within the confines of the salary cap.

Kupchak's duties include a variety of responsibilities which keep him thoroughly active 12 months a year. Number one on the list is the day-to-day management of the team. Included in his management duties are personnel decisions, contract negotiations, salary cap concerns and strategy, overseeing the Lakers' entry in the annual Summer Pro League and the scouting of collegiate and international players. In addition to those tasks, he also deals with various marketing, public relations and other management functions.

Kupchak, who joined the Lakers front office in 1986 following a 10-year NBA career, has played prominent roles in the past success of the Lakers as well as in the club's recent return to the upper echelon of the NBA.

Originally a first round draft choice of the Washington Bullets in 1976 (13th overall), Mitch spent the first five years of his career with the Bullets, earning NBA All-Rookie Team honors following the 1976-77 campaign. He posted a career-best field goal percentage during his rookie season (.572), a figure which at the time represented the 10th highest in league history. During the 1977-78 campaign, Mitch played an important role in Washington's drive to the NBA championship, ranking second among all NBA reserves with a scoring average of 14.6 points per game while posting a career-high-tying 32 points against the Lakers on November 24, 1978.

The opening chapter to Kupchak's Los Angeles career was written August 5, 1981 when the Lakers acquired him from Washington in exchange for Jim Chones, Brad Holland and a pair of draft choices. A reserve during his five-year tenure with the Bullets, Mitch was quickly inserted into the Lakers starting lineup. During the first 26 games of the 1981-82 campaign, Kupchak averaged 14.3 points and 8.1 rebounds per contest. Unfortunately, Mitch suffered multiple injuries to his left knee during a game at the San Diego Sports Arena on December 19, 1981, an injury which required two major operations. It was feared - even expected - that he would never play again. After missing the entire 1982-83 campaign, Kupchak proved doctors wrong by rejoining his teammates on the floor during the early portion of the 1983-84 season after undergoing intensive daily therapy for 16 months.

His persistence paid big dividends the following year as the reserve forward/center played a vital role in the Lakers march to the 1985 NBA Championship. With the victory, Kupchak joined a select group of players to win an NBA championship with two different clubs. Additionally, he remains one of only five players in club history to convert at least 10 field goals in a game without a miss (11-11 vs. San Antonio 11/20/81, joining Wilt Chamberlain, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Byron Scott and Pau Gasol).

Prior to the start of the 1986-87 campaign and after yet another lengthy rehabilitation following an additional knee injury, Kupchak retired as a player and joined the front office. He concluded his NBA career averaging 10.2 points and 5.4 rebounds in 510 regular season games. His career field goal percentage of .523 still ranks 43rd among the all-time NBA leaders (minimum 2,000 field goals made).

Due to his unfortunate injury and aware that his playing career would end prematurely, Kupchak studied for an MBA degree at UCLA during his spare time and rehabilitation stints, earning a degree in February of 1987. This foresight helped prepare Mitch for his present job as a professional sports executive.

A long-time Yankees fan who admired Mickey Mantle as a child, Mitch was born in Hicksville, New York on May 24, 1954 and starred at Brentwood High School on Long Island. An All-American standout at the University of North Carolina, Kupchak became the first freshman to play at the university after the freshman eligibility rules changed prior to the 1972-73 season. He averaged a career-high 18.5 points per game during his junior campaign and ranked eighth overall in the NCAA in field goal percentage that season (.602). As a senior, Mitch was named ACC Player of the Year and is one of 49 UNC standouts to have his jersey (#21) honored and raised to the rafters of the Dean Smith Center in Chapel Hill (November of 1994).

Prior to his initial NBA campaign, Mitch was the starting center on the gold-medal winning United States team in the 1976 Olympic Games.

An avid golfer, Mitch and his wife Claire live in Brentwood with their son Maxwell (16) and daughter Alina (14).

GLENN CARRARO

A club executive with the Lakers since 2000, Glenn Carraro enters his second season as the team's Assistant General Manager. Responsible for assisting General Manager Mitch Kupchak in all basketball operations, Carraro also serves a dual role as Vice President of Basketball Operations for the NBA Development League's Los Angeles D-Fenders.

Elevated to the VP position with the D-Fenders prior to the 2013-14 campaign after two highly successful seasons as the team's General Manager (2011-13), Carraro now serves in an advisory role on personnel decisions, contract negotiations, salary cap concerns and scouting. During his time as GM, the team finished with the best regular season record in NBA D-League history (38-12) in 2011-12, had a total of 11 GATORADE Call-Ups to the NBA and received the 2011-12 NBA D-League Development Champion Award.

Bringing 18 years of professional basketball experience to the Assistant GM position, during his time in the Lakers front office alone, Carraro has been part of five NBA Championship teams and seven NBA Finals appearances. Originally serving as Assistant to the General Manager/Director of Camps for his first six years with the team, in 2006, Carraro was named Director of Basketball Administration for the Lakers as well as Assistant General Manager for the newly formed D-Fenders.

Prior to joining the Lakers, Carraro served in various positions with the New York Knicks from 1995-99, starting off as a Sports Management Trainee, then Player Personnel Coordinator/Manager of Knicks Camps and eventually as Manager of Basketball Operations. With primary responsibilities including the creation and management of player personnel databases as well as separate salary cap reports, in his time with New York's front office, the Knicks posted a 174-122 (.588) record and made at least the Eastern Conference Semifinals in all four seasons while appearing in the 1999 NBA Finals.

A graduate of SUNY-Stony Brook after transferring from NYU-Polytechnic following two seasons on the men's basketball team, Carraro completed his graduate coursework in Athletic Administration at St. John's University (1991-94) while also serving as the USBL's Director of Sales and Marketing/Operations from 1992-95. Having also worked in the CBA for the Hartford Hellcats and Connecticut Pride, Carraro, in all, is a veteran of four professional basketball leagues.

A diehard Yankees and Steelers fan dating back to his childhood, Carraro currently resides in Silver Lake.

SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE GM / BASKETBALL CONSULTANT

BILL BERTKA

Bill Bertka returns for his 33rd consecutive season with the Lakers and the 11th season in his current capacity. Having served as an assistant coach under seven Lakers head coaches dating back to 1981, Bertka brings a wealth of experience to the position. His talent as a scout and experience in player personnel matters make him an excellent resource for Mitch Kupchak, Jim Buss and the rest of the team's basketball operations staff.

First employed by the Lakers in 1968, Bertka served as a scout, assistant coach and director of player personnel up until 1974 when he left the club to join the expansion New Orleans Jazz as the team's general manager.

Bertka rejoined the Lakers in 1981 as an assistant coach and for the next 20 years was a key member on the staffs of Pat Riley, Mike Dunleavy, Randy Pfund, Earvin "Magic" Johnson, Del Harris, Kurt Rambis and Phil Jackson. Earning a victory over the LA Clippers as head coach February 25th, 1999 after Del Harris was relieved of his head coaching duties, Bertka became the oldest person to ever coach an NBA game at the age of 71. It was the second time in his career with the Lakers that Bertka was the interim head coach, previously having led the team to a 1-1 record prior to Earvin Johnson's 16-game tenure in 1994. Additionally, Bertka and Phil Jackson are the only people to serve as the team's head coach on two different occasions.

The Santa Barbara native is also well known for founding Bertka Views, one of the most successful college scouting services in the country, which he and his wife, Solveig, operated from 1961-1995. Throughout that time period, many of the nation's premier college basketball programs utilized Bertka Views as their sole scouting service. Adding another feather to his cap during the summer of 1992, Bertka served as a scout for the United States' Olympic basketball team at the European Qualifying Tournament in Zaragoza, Spain. In 1989, Bertka enjoyed the dual distinction of being inducted into each of his hometowns' respective Hall of Fames. In May of that year he was inducted into the Santa Barbara Sports Hall of Fame and just five months later in October, he was inducted into the Summit County (Ohio) Sports Hall of Fame where he grew up as a child. Most recently in January of 2004, Bertka was inducted into the Kent State University Sports Hall of Fame.

Bill and Solveig have two married daughters, Britt (wife of former Lakers' assistant coach Jim Eyen) and Kris, and make their home on a 50-acre avocado ranch in Santa Barbara.

HEAD COACH

MIKE D'ANTONI

Once a fierce division rival throughout the mid-2000's, on November 12, 2012, the Lakers named Mike D'Antoni the 24th head coach in franchise history (20th in the Los Angeles era). D'Antoni, a veteran of 11 NBA seasons as a head coach with Denver, Phoenix, New York and now Los Angeles, owns a 428-371 (.536) all-time regular season record following his first season on the Lakers bench.

Prior to joining the Lakers, D'Antoni most recently served as an assistant coach under Mike Krzyzewski on the gold medal-winning US Men's National Basketball Team during the 2012 London Olympics. In what was his second stint with the Men's Senior National Team, D'Antoni was also an assistant coach for Team USA's gold medal run at the 2008 Beijing Olympics.

Hired to become the 24th head coach in Knicks franchise history on May 13, 2008, D'Antoni guided the 2010-11 team to their first winning season since 2000-01 and concluded his four-year tenure in New York as the sixth-winningest coach in team history (121-167 (.420)). In each of his three full seasons on the Knicks bench, his teams finished in the Top 10 league-wide in scoring (4th in 2009, 9th in 2010 and 2nd in 2011).

Prior to joining the Knicks, D'Antoni spent five seasons with the Phoenix Suns (2003-08), compiling a 253-136 (.650) overall record. In his four full seasons as head coach in Phoenix (2004-08), D'Antoni was named 2004-05 NBA Coach of the Year after leading the Suns to a franchise record 62-20 (.756) mark, posted four straight 50-plus win seasons (two 60-plus win seasons), won three Pacific Division titles and a recorded a 232-96 (.707) record over that span. In his time with the Suns, D'Antoni's teams led the NBA in scoring three straight years (2004-07). In 2004-05, the Suns averaged 110.4 points, increased their win total from 29 to 62 and registered a 16.2 point-per-game increase (from 94.2), the biggest single-season jump for any NBA team since the advent of the shot clock in 1954-55. At the end of his tenure in Phoenix, D'Antoni ranked as the third-winningest coach in franchise history and had the second best win percentage of any Suns coach ever.

D'Antoni, who also spent four years in the NBA as a player with the Kansas City-Omaha Kings and San Antonio Spurs (3.3 ppg, 1.4 rpg, 1.9 apg, 130 games) and another 13 playing in Italy, made his NBA head coaching debut with the Denver Nuggets during the lockout shortened 1998-99 season. Originally joining the Nuggets as Director of Player Personnel for the 1997-98 campaign, in his lone season on the bench with the Nuggets, he posted a 14-36 (.280) overall record. Following a year scouting for the San Antonio Spurs, he joined the Portland Trail Blazers, where he served one season as an assistant coach (2000-01) before returning to coach one final season in Italy (2001-02), where he had previously coached for seven years from 1990-97.

As a player in Italy, D'Antoni was voted the Italian League's all-time greatest point guard in 1990 following a career that saw him become Milan's all-time leading scorer and lead the team to five Italian League titles, two Cups of Europe, two Cups of Italy, one Korac Cup and one Intercontinental Cup. Selected to play on the Italian national team for the European Championships in 1989 and part of the Milan team that competed in the inaugural McDonald's Open in 1987, D'Antoni stayed in Italy following his playing career and cemented his legacy as an Italian League legend, coaching Philips Milan to two first place finishes over four seasons and Benetton Treviso also to two first place finishes in four seasons while twice being voted the league's Coach of the Year. Following his final year with Benetton Treviso in 2001-02, D'Antoni came back to the NBA as an assistant coach with the Suns in 2002 and served in that capacity until assuming head coaching duties 21 games into the 2003-04 season.

Fluent in English and Italian, D'Antoni has co-authored two books: Playmaker, with former Milan head coach Dan Peterson, and Vivendo Giacando, with Italian sportswriter Tullio Lauro. He also served as an analyst for NBA.com following the 1998-99 regular season and worked as a broadcast analyst for Team USA throughout the 2003 FIBA Americas Men's Olympic Tournament in San Juan.

Born on May 8, 1951, the Mullens, WV native played at Marshall University and graduated in 1973 as the school's career assist leader (659; now second to Greg White's 701) while also being named GTE Academic All-American that same year. Mike's father, Lewis, is a legendary high school basketball coach in West Virginia and Ohio and was inducted into West Virginia's Sports Hall of Fame in May, 2004. His brother, Dan, served as an assistant coach with him in Phoenix and New York. Both Mike (1997) and Dan (1990) have been enshrined in the Marshall Univ. Hall of Fame. On September 10, 2011, Mike's jersey no. 10 was retired by the Thundering Herd.

D'Antoni and his wife Laurel, whom he met in Milan, Italy, have one son, Michael.

DAN D'ANTONI

The older brother of head coach Mike D'Antoni, Dan D'Antoni enters his ninth season as an NBA assistant coach and his second season on the Lakers bench. Prior to joining the Lakers, D'Antoni spent the previous four seasons as an assistant coach with the New York Knicks, helping the 2010-11 Knicks to their first winning season since 2000-01. Before his time in New York, Dan served as an assistant coach with the Suns during Mike D'Antoni's final three seasons in Phoenix, two of which culminated in Pacific Division titles (2006, 2007).

Preceding his time with the Suns, D'Antoni spent three decades as head coach of Socastee High School in Myrtle Beach, SC, where he compiled over 500 victories with the Braves and continued a legacy of family success in the prep ranks; his 99-year-old father, Lewis, a legendary high school basketball coach in West Virginia and Ohio, was inducted into West Virginia's Sports Hall of Fame in May of 2004.

As a player, D'Antoni starred at Marshall University and led the Thundering Herd in scoring (17.5 points per game) during the 1968-69 season. Upon graduating from Marshall in 1970, he served as an assistant coach for the men's varsity basketball team during the 1970-71 season, earned a Master's degree in Principles of Guidance from the university in 1972 and was later inducted into the Marshall University Athletics Hall of Fame in 1990.

Dan has three sons, all of whom played collegiate basketball: Matt played at Brown University; Nick served as team captain for William and Mary; and Andrew attended West Point Academy, served over three years in Iraq, rose to the rank of captain in the U.S. Army and in 2011 graduated from the University of South Carolina Law School.

Dan and his wife, Vanessa, are also proud parents of daughter Morgan (16).

ASSISTANT COACH

JOHNNY DAVIS

While the 2013-14 season marks Johnny Davis' first as an assistant coach with the Lakers, overall it is his 38th campaign in the NBA where he has been either a player, assistant coach, front office executive or head coach.

Davis joins the Lakers following two seasons as an assistant coach on Dwane Casey's staff with the Toronto Raptors (2011-13). Prior to his time in Canada, Davis spent four seasons with the Memphis Grizzlies (2007-11), which included a two-game stint in 2009 as the team's interim head coach.

In addition to Memphis, Davis has been an assistant coach with Atlanta (1990-93), the Los Angeles Clippers (1993-94), Portland (1994-96), New Jersey (1997-99), Orlando (1999-2003), Minnesota (2005-06) and Indiana (2006-07).

A two-time NBA head coach, Davis earned his first such position with the Philadelphia 76ers in 1996-97 and later moved on to lead the Orlando Magic for parts of two seasons (2003-05).

Named Eastern Conference Coach of the Month in November of 2005 while with the Magic,

Davis compiled a 73-146 mark (.333) as a head coach in Philadelphia, Orlando and Memphis.

The versatile Davis also has administrative NBA experience, having spent three years in the front office of the Atlanta Hawks. During his tenure in Atlanta, he served as Director of Community Affairs, Assistant to the President and President of the Atlanta Hawks Foundation; the latter of which saw him play an instrumental role in the fundraising of more than $500,000 for Atlanta area homeless shelters.

The 22nd overall pick in the 1976 NBA Draft, Davis played with Portland, Indiana, Atlanta and Cleveland over 10 NBA seasons. A member of the Trail Blazers' 1977 NBA Championship team as a rookie, he averaged 12.9 points and 4.5 assists in 750 career regular season games, including a career-high 18.3 points per game with the Pacers in 1978-79, while posting 10.3 points and 3.7 assists in 43 postseason appearances.

Heavily recruited as a high school All-American out of Detroit and voted as one of the Top 10 players of all time in the Detroit Public School league, Davis attended the University of Dayton from 1973-76 and was inducted into the school's Hall of Fame in 1993. Also voted onto the Flyers' All-Century Team, while at Dayton, Davis earned two gold medals as a member of the 1975 PanAmerican Team and the 1975 Intercontinental Cup Team.

The owner of a bachelor's degree in community development from Georgia State University and a master's degree in sports psychology from Union Institute and University, away from basketball, Davis is an avid golfer and has recorded three hole-in-ones while on the links.

Davis and his wife, Lezli, have two sons, Reginald and Austin.

KURT RAMBIS

After four seasons away from the team, Kurt Rambis returns home to the Lakers for his first season as an assistant coach on Mike D'Antoni's staff.

Following a decorated playing career, Rambis initially entered the coaching ranks as an assistant on Del Harris' staff for four-plus seasons (1994-1999) before being named the Lakers interim head coach 12 games into the 1998-99 season. After tying a then NBA record with nine consecutive victories to start his head coaching career, he led the team to a 24-13 mark and into the Western Conference Semifinals.

Working the next two seasons in the team's front office, first as an advisor and then as assistant general manager, Rambis returned to the sidelines and joined head coach Phil Jackson's staff for the 2001-02 season. Serving as assistant coach on Jackson's staff for seven seasons (2001-04, 2005-09) and for half of the 2004-05 season under interim head coach Frank Hamblen, Kurt helped guide the Lakers to four NBA Finals appearances (2002, 2004, 2008, 2009) as an assistant, with Los Angeles winning NBA Championships in 2002 and 2009.

Following the Lakers 2009 title, Rambis was named head coach of the Minnesota Timberwolves and tasked with helping rebuild a 24-win team. In two seasons with the Timberwolves, who were the youngest team in the NBA at the start of the 2010-11 season, Rambis struggled to find success in terms of wins and losses despite helping develop Kevin Love into an NBA All-Star and leading Minnesota to league-wide top-10 rankings in points, three-point field goal percentage, rebounds and blocked shots his final year.

Rambis, 55, distinguished himself as one of the NBA's most renowned blue-collar workers during his playing career. His grit and effectiveness were key components of the Lakers' "Showtime" era, helping spark the club to four NBA titles during his initial stint in Los Angeles (1982, 1985, 1987, 1988). Later, Kurt's aggressive and intense play helped extend his career several years as he was asked to be a stabilizing influence for the expansion Charlotte Hornets and the title-hungry Phoenix Suns.

Taking the unconventional route to the NBA, Rambis played his first year out of college in Athens, Greece before earning a roster spot with the Lakers in 1981. Originally a third round choice of the New York Knicks in the 1980 NBA Draft (58th overall), Rambis never played with New York after being released in training camp. After a brief four-month, 20-game stint playing for AEK (Greece), Kurt signed a non-guaranteed free agent contract with the Lakers on September 13, 1981. Although the club had recently acquired veteran power forward Mitch Kupchak from the Washington Bullets, head coach Pat Riley quickly became enamored with Rambis' work ethic and elected to add the Forum fan-favorite to the Lakers' 12-man roster. Less than two months into the season, Rambis, who had played only token minutes to that point, was thrust into the club's regular rotation after Kupchak suffered a career-threatening knee injury. He moved into the Lakers' starting lineup in January and proceeded to start 43 of the final 45 regular season games, helping propel Los Angeles to the 1982 NBA title. Over the next six seasons, Rambis continued to play an integral role in the astounding success of the Lakers, joining Magic Johnson, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, James Worthy and Byron Scott in a star-studded lineup that produced Pacific Division titles each of his first seven years with the club.

Born February 25, 1958 in Terre Haute, IN, Rambis' family moved west when he was a child and settled in Cupertino, CA. A stellar basketball career at Cupertino High School, where his number is now retired, ultimately led him to Santa Clara University in 1976, where he promptly earned West Coast Athletic Conference Freshman of the Year honors after averaging 15.0 points and 11.6 rebounds. Concluding his career with the Broncos ranked among the all-time school leaders in points (1,735/1st), field goals (686/2nd) and rebounds (1,037/2nd), he was named WCCAC Player of the Year following his senior season and graduated with a B.S. degree in psychology.

In addition to his playing, coaching and front office work, Kurt has also participated in several broadcast ventures, formerly working as a pre and postgame commentator on Lakers telecasts for FOX Sports West and Time Warner Cable SportsNet and as an NBA analyst for ESPN.

Kurt and his wife, Linda, reside in Manhattan Beach, CA and have three children: Jesse (27), Jordan (26) and Ali (21).

LARRY LEWIS

After two seasons with the Los Angeles D-Fenders of the NBA Development League, the first as player development coach and the second as assistant coach, Larry Lewis enters his first season as player development coach for the Lakers.

Making the transition from player to coach, in his first season with the D-Fenders (2011-12), Lewis helped develop eight NBA Call-Ups along with six players on assignment from the Lakers as the team went on to post the best regular season record in NBA D-League history (38-12). Named an assistant on the NBA D-League Select Team in 2012, Lewis played a central role in helping the D-Fenders earn the Regular Season Champion award, reach the franchise's first NBA D-League Finals and capture the Development Champion award, which is given to the team that best embodies the D-League's goals of developing NBA talent via Call-Ups and player assignments.

Prior to working on the sidelines, Lewis, a 6'7" forward, played internationally in Argentina (2011), Spain (2001-2011), Japan (1996- 2001), Cyprus (1996), Great Britain (1993) and the Dominican Republic (1992). Furthermore, Lewis also played a season in the United States

Basketball League with Sarasota (1996), in the Continental Basketball Association with the Harrisburg Hammerheads and Rapid City Thrillers (1994-95) and for the silver medal winning Team USA (1995) in the Pan American Games. A three-year collegiate basketball player and alumnus of Morehouse College, Lewis, 43, turned pro when he was selected by the Albany Patroons of the CBA in 1992.

PLAYER DEVELOPMENT COACH

MARK MADSEN

Roughly ten years after his final game with the Lakers, fan favorite Mark Madsen returns to the franchise for his first season as player development coach.

Selected by the Lakers in the first round (29th overall) of the 2000 NBA Draft, Madsen played three seasons in Los Angeles (2000-03) and was a member of back-to-back NBA championship teams in 2001 and 2002. He then signed with the Minnesota Timberwolves as a free agent prior to the 2003-04 campaign and played six seasons (2004-09) with the Wolves. In 453 games over nine NBA seasons, Madsen averaged 2.2 points and 2.6 rebounds in 11.8 minutes.

Following his playing career, Madsen served as an assistant coach during the 2009-10 season with the Utah Flash of the NBA Developmental League before returning to his alma mater, Stanford University, to complete coursework towards his MBA at the Stanford Graduate School of Business. In 2012, he was named an assistant coach on Stanford head coach Johnny Dawkins' staff and spent the 2012-13 season working primarily with the team's post players.

Known by fans as "Mad Dog" for his signature physical and aggressive style of play, Madsen has enjoyed success at every level of basketball. Helping lead Stanford to four NCAA Tournament appearances, including the 1998 Final Four, Madsen averaged 10.9 points and 7.9 rebounds for his Cardinal career while ranking among the school's top-10 all-time performers in field goal percentage (4th/587) and total rebounds (6th/ 857). A two-time All-Pac-10 selection, Madsen was tabbed a two-time All-American by the NABC (1999 Third Team, 2000 Second Team) and a Third Team All-American by the Associated Press in 2000. He was also named a member of the John R. Wooden Award team as a senior. During Madsen's playing career, Stanford compiled a 105-24 record, producing an 81.4 winning percentage that ranks second in school history for a consecutive four-year period. The Cardinal also notched its first 30-win season (1997-98), claimed two Pac-10 titles (1999, 2000), earned a No. 1 seed in the NCAA Tournament for the first time (2000) and advanced to the NCAA Final Four (1998).

Madsen also played in international competition, leading the United States to a gold medal at the 1999 World University Games before being named to the roster for the 2001 Goodwill Games.

A native of Danville, CA, Madsen, 37, earned his undergraduate degree in economics in 2000. He attended San Ramon Valley High School and served a two-year Mormon mission in Spain following his graduation from high school.

BILL SHARMAN

Selected as one of the 50 Greatest Players in NBA History during the league's 50th anniversary season (1996-97), Bill Sharman begins his 24th year as a Special Consultant with the Lakers. Providing the front office with a tremendous amount of basketball experience and a history of unparalleled success, Sharman began his basketball career in 1950 and has been an integral member of 17 different championship teams as either a player, coach or executive. His 17 titles, including 15 in the NBA, have been captured with four different teams, in three respective leagues and in four different capacities.

Sharman began his championship odyssey with the Boston Celtics, winning the first of four NBA titles as an active player in 1957. During his 10-year stint with the Celtics, Boston won four NBA Championships (1957, 1959, 1960 and 1961), finished in first place in the Eastern Conference five times and never suffered through a losing season. He earned All-NBA honors on seven occasions and participated in eight NBA All-Star Games, earning the Most Valuable Player award in the 1955 contest. Arguably the greatest shooter of his era and one of the most deadly free throw shooters in the history of the game, Sharman was the first NBA guard to post a field goal percentage above .400 for a season (.436, 1952-53) while his career free throw percentage (.883) still ranks 12th among the NBA's all-time leaders (minimum 1200 FT made). He led the NBA in free throw percentage seven times, including a league-record five consecutive seasons from 1952-53 through 1956-57. In 711 career games, Sharman averaged 17.8 points and 3.0 assists.

As a coach, Sharman is the only person in professional basketball history to win championships in three professional leagues (ABL, ABA and NBA). In his first season with the Lakers, Sharman led the club to their first NBA championship in Los Angeles, a then-NBA record and current franchise record 69 wins and compiled the longest winning streak in the history of professional sports (33 consecutive victories). It was during this legendary 1971-72 campaign that Sharman introduced the morning shootaround to the NBA, now routine for NBA teams on the day of games. Originally inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1976 as a player, in April 2004 Sharman became just the third individual (John Wooden, Lenny Wilkens) to be named to the Hall of Fame as both a player and coach.

Bill and his wife Joyce live in Playa del Rey. He has two daughters (Nancy & Janice) and two sons (Tom & Jerry) from a previous marriage.

GARY VITTI

While the Lakers entered the 21st century with new uniforms, a new arena, new practice facilities, a new coaching staff and a host of new players, one constant has remained. Entering his 30th season as the team's athletic trainer, Gary Vitti is widely recognized as one of the best practitioners of his respective field.

Vitti, who monitors the health of the club throughout the season using state-of-the-art methods in conditioning, dieting, stretching and testing, is the longest tenured athletic trainer in Lakers history with 29 years of service.

The 59-year old native of Stamford, Connecticut is responsible for the care, prevention and treatment of injuries to Lakers players, assuring the coaching staff that each athlete is in the best possible condition from October through April, May, or, in the event of a championship run, June. Yet just because the season ends doesn't mean Vitti is off the clock. His job typically continues throughout the months of July, August and September as he spends a portion of his summer working with players during the off-season.

Vitti earned his B.S. degree from Southern Connecticut State University in 1976 and his M.S. degree in sports medicine from the University of Utah in 1982. In addition to studying at the University of Utah, he spent two years as a trainer and teacher at the university while working as an assistant trainer with the NBA's Utah Jazz (1981-82). Following his stint with the Jazz, Vitti served as head athletic trainer and an adjunct assistant professor at the University of Portland for two years before joining the Lakers prior to the 1984-85 campaign. Since his arrival in Los Angeles, the Lakers have won eight NBA championships (1985, 1987, 1988, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2009 and 2010), thanks in no small part to the health of such players as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, Magic Johnson, Shaquille O'Neal, Kobe Bryant, Pau Gasol and numerous others. In a much-deserved honor, Vitti was named the National Basketball Association's Trainer of the Year in 1991 by the NBA's Trainers Association, partially due to his philanthropic work. Additional honors over the years have included Southern Connecticut State University's 2001 Citation award as a distinguished alumni and most recently, the 2011 "Local Hero Award" presented by the Team HEAL Foundation, whose mission is to bring comprehensive injury prevention, medical care, athletic training, healthcare awareness, mentoring and academic support to high school athletes in underserved communities.

Having long been considered one of the top athletic trainers in the country, Vitti's services are well in demand. Complementing his NBA duties, he has also served as lead trainer for numerous other sporting events since 1984, including Los Angeles Strings tennis, the Summer Pro League and several summer basketball camps throughout the country. Additionally, he is a frequent visitor on the lecture tour, sharing his wisdom at a number of athletic seminars and workshops each year such as the time he traveled to the Philippines to speak at a Coaches/Sports Medicine Clinic. The seminar was by invitation only and included some of the top coaches, trainers, doctors and physical therapists in the world. He has also spent a portion of recent summers working abroad, participating in clinics throughout Italy.

Vitti has also supervised physiological profile studies published in English and Japanese and has written a monthly column for "Sports Medicine Digest." He has written a monthly sports medicine column for the Los Angeles Times syndicate, produced a conditioning video in 1992 called "Training for Excellence." He also created the NBATA Foundation, the NATA Annual Blood Drive and served on the NATA Public Relations Committee.

On weekends Vitti enjoys riding his Harley Davidson through the canyons of the Santa Monica Mountains. Each summer he spends time in his 400-plus year old house in Settefratti, Italy, a remote village situated in the mountains 60 miles southeast of Rome.

Vitti, who has two daughters, Rachel, 26 and Emilia, 22, resides in Manhattan Beach with his wife, Martha.

Providing each broadcast with his expert analysis and unique insight garnered through his 40-plus years associated with the NBA as both a player and color commentator, he has received numerous awards over the years. Chosen Southern California's best radio color commentator six times by the Southern California Sports Broadcaster's Association and best television color commentator on seven occasions, Stu has also won seven local EMMY Awards for his work in the Best Live Sports Telecast category.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska (1968), the Cornhuskers officially retired his uniform number (22) on October 17, 1989 during halftime ceremonies of a Lakers' preseason game in Lincoln. Born in Uniontown, PA, Stu was originally a third round draft pick of the San Diego Rockets in 1968. Spending his first three seasons in San Diego, he enjoyed his finest pro

Immediately following his playing career, Stu embarked on a broadcasting career, serving as a commentator for the San Diego Clippers, San Diego State University, CBS and the NBA Radio Network. In addition to his broadcast work, for 20-plus years, he also served as an instructor at Pete Newell's renowned Big Man's Camp during the offseason, helping improve the skill-set of some of the game's premier big men.

A black and white photograph of Jerry Buss, an older man with a mustache, smiling and holding a framed plaque of his Hollywood Walk of Fame star. The star is a five-pointed star with "JERRY BUSS" inscribed on it. The plaque also contains text about the ceremony on October 30, 2008, and mentions the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and Johnny Grant as chairman. The background shows a city street with buildings and other people.

Lakers In The Community

NBA Cares is the league's global social responsibility program that builds on the NBA's mission of addressing important social issues in the United States and around the world.

Through this program, the NBA, its teams and players have donated more than $220 million to charity, completed more than 2.5 million hours of hands-on community service, and created more than 810 places where kids and families can live, learn, or play, in 25 countries and territories on five continents.

NBA Cares works with internationally recognized youth-serving programs that support education, youth and family development, and health and wellness, including: KaBOOM!, Special Olympics, Boys and Girls Clubs of America, UNICEF, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, and GLSEN.

LOS ANGELES LAKERS YOUTH FOUNDATION

OUR MISSION

The Los Angeles Lakers Youth Foundation supports local non-profit and youth organizations that are dedicated to improving the quality of life in our community. We are committed to utilizing our resources to provide educational, athletic and recreational opportunities to Los Angeles youth.

BUSS FAMILY & THE LAKERS

During his lifetime, as a result of his considerable charitable efforts, Dr. Jerry Buss was honored by a wide range of organizations that included City of Hope, NAACP, the B'Nai B'rith, United Negro College Fund, United Indian Development Association, National Organization of Women, Boys and Girls Clubs of America, Muscular Dystrophy Association, the Los Angeles Human Relations Commission, Heart of Los Angeles Youth and Special Olympics of Southern California. Following in their father's footsteps, the Buss family's philanthropic and community support is as diverse as the community in which they live and work.

The Lakers and the Lakers Youth Foundation annually donate thousands of dollars, tickets, merchandise, and autographed items to support countless neighborhood schools, libraries, and churches as well as non-profit organizations which attend to the needs of communities in Southern California.

LAKERS "READ TO ACHIEVE"

The Los Angeles Lakers READ TO ACHIEVE campaign enjoys continued success as the organization and its players focus their efforts on literacy and instilling the joy of reading in Los Angeles youth. The main components of the program are the annual reading challenge, book drive and the development of Lakers Reading and Learning Centers throughout L.A. and Hawaii.

Currently its thirteenth year, the Lakers Read to Achieve Reading Challenge is open to local elementary schools and has encouraged nearly 275,000 students to read for Lakers prizes and tickets. Students who complete the challenge receive a Lakers prize, a certificate of completion, and are entered into a drawing to win Lakers tickets. Classrooms with a 100% completion rate are eligible to win Grand Prizes.

Chick Hearn Night has been celebrated at the Lakers home game closest to Chick's birthday every season since his passing in 2002. The book drive is a perfect way to celebrate Chick's passion for reading and education, and the Lakers dedication to literacy. All of the books collected benefit Lakers Reading and Learning Centers that have been created throughout the Los Angeles area. Over the past six seasons, Lakers fans have generously donated over 8,000 books to support literacy.

Since 2002, the Lakers have created fifteen Lakers Reading Rooms or Lakers Reading and Learning Centers throughout Los Angeles and Hawaii. Each site was remodeled with new carpet, paint, bookshelves, tables, chairs, sofas, children's books, and framed Lakers photos, offering children a safe and fun learning environment dedicated to literacy.

LAKERS YOUTH BASKETBALL CLINICS

The Lakers youth basketball program is dedicated to promoting the sport of basketball and developing the skills of young players.

With our talents and resources, the Lakers support existing youth basketball leagues, renovate basketball courts throughout the city of Los Angeles, conduct clinics for players and coaches, and host our annual summer camp, Camp Lakers.

Camp Lakers, an annual summer youth basketball camp for boys ages 9-18, focuses on providing young players with a program that improves their overall basketball skills in a fun and challenging environment. Camp Lakers 2013 was held at the Next Level Sports Complex in Garden Grove. Since 2000, Camp Lakers has featured personal instruction and appearances by players such as Kobe Bryant, Derek Fisher, and Steve Blake, as well as insight from Lakers Legend Michael Cooper and General Manager Mitch Kupchak. Proceeds from the camp benefit the Lakers Youth Foundation.

LAKERS "TEAM UP"

Lakers Team Up is the organization's service initiative, designed to allow the Lakers staff to give back to our community. Last season we donated our time to many local and national nonprofit organizations, including: Heal the Bay, US Vets, LA Works, Operation Gratitude, Los Angeles Regional Food Bank, UCLA Mattel Children's Hospital and Habitat for Humanity of Greater Los Angeles.

IN-ARENA AUCTION

At each Lakers home game, fans have the opportunity to bid on autographed memorabilia from the Lakers and other sports teams, with all proceeds benefiting the Lakers Youth Foundation. The auction excitement can be found next to Guest Services and across from Aisle 12 inside STAPLES Center. The auction begins ninety minutes before tip-off and concludes ten minutes before the end of halftime. Over the past fifteen seasons, the in-arena auction has raised over $1.9 million to support youth education, and basketball programs.

LAKERS CELEBRITY GOLF INVITATIONAL

Each season, the Lakers organization and some of their biggest fans gather to raise money for the Lakers Youth Foundation at the Lakers Celebrity Golf Invitational. Last season's 23rd annual tournament was held at the Riviera Country Club, where golfers had the opportunity to play alongside Lakers Legends and sports and entertainment celebrities on the famed course. After the golfing, guests had the opportunity to meet the entire Lakers team and coaching staff at a charity auction and gala dinner. The money raised at the Lakers Celebrity Golf Invitational benefits the Lakers Youth Foundation, and enables the foundation to provide educational, athletic and recreational opportunities to Los Angeles youth.

GAME NIGHT PROGRAMS FOR KIDS

At each Lakers home game, ten High-Five Kids have the opportunity to line up at courtside and "high five" the Lakers team as they run out onto the court for their warm-up practice. The youth are invited to participate in these programs either as special guests of the Lakers organization, or through random selection from the stands on game night.

COMPLIMENTARY GROUP TICKETS

Each year, the Lakers and the Lakers Youth Foundation donate several thousand tickets to Southern California non-profit organizations so that their members may enjoy a game together. Often, the complimentary group ticket is the non-profit member's first opportunity to see a Lakers game. In addition, the Lakers' It's Time For Kids program provides tickets specifically for foster children, group homes, and underprivileged children.

SPECIAL WISHES

In collaboration with wish granting organizations, the Los Angeles Lakers regularly provide game tickets and arrange player meetings for children and adults facing life-threatening medical conditions. Over the past twelve years, the Lakers have granted over 330 special wishes for children and adults from all over the United States, Canada, and as far away as Israel and the Netherlands.

STUDENTS & EDUCATORS OF THE MONTH PROGRAM

Once a month during the NBA regular season, the Los Angeles Lakers and STAPLES honor three local students, two local teachers and one local principal for their outstanding academic and extracurricular achievements. All educator nominations are submitted to the Lakers office by local school personnel and all student nominations are submitted by teachers. Each honoree receives four tickets to attend a Lakers game and at halftime, is presented with a plaque and a $50 gift certificate to STAPLES, proud sponsor of the program.

A SEASON OF GIVING

The Lakers "A Season of Giving" campaign, presented by East West Bank is an opportunity for the Lakers to share in the joy of the holiday season with the people of Los Angeles. The 2012-2013 "A Season of Giving" kicked off last November at Lucille's Smokehouse Bar-B-Que where Catholic Big Brothers Big Sisters mentors and mentees were treated to a delicious Thanksgiving meal. The Laker Girls, Metta World Peace and Dwight Howard spent the evening serving a traditional Thanksgiving meal to 80 "Bigs" and "Littles," all while stopping to pose for photos and sign autographs. To continue the Thanksgiving festivities, Pau Gasol and the Laker Girls distributed over 300 Thanksgiving turkeys and pies to residents of Harbor Hills Housing Community prior to Thanksgiving day.

In December, the Lakers and East West Bank hosted a holiday party for children from local youth organizations at Toyota Sports Center. Kids from various Boys & Girls Clubs around Los Angeles were treated to a day of holiday fun, starting with ice skating with the Laker Girls. From the rink the kids headed in to the party area where they feasted on a holiday lunch, decorated gingerbread cookies, and played games with their favorite Lakers players. Each child also posed for an individual photo with Kobe Bryant on a big Lakers Santa chair, and received presents and toys from the Lakers.

In addition to spreading holiday cheer to the youth of Los Angeles, the Lakers and East West Bank participated in an Adopt-A-Family program with LAUSD's Homeless Education Program. LAUSD identified families that would benefit from receiving some holiday cheer and the Lakers along with East West Bank customers purchased gifts for eight families in the Los Angeles area. Along with receiving gifts the families were then treated to meeting some of their favorite players: Kobe Bryant and Antawn Jamison.

"A Season of Giving" culminated at the Lakers' Christmas Day game at STAPLES Center, where the Lakers continued their tradition of hosting boys from a local group home and inviting children from Five Acres to participate in an on-court gift exchange with Lakers players and the visiting team.

“FREEDOM THROUGH MY EYES” ART & ESSAY CONTEST

The Lakers Youth Foundation's "Freedom Through My Eyes" art and essay contest is open to Los Angeles middle school students and encourages them to explore the meaning of liberty and our nation's symbols of freedom. Students enter by submitting an essay and artwork expressing what freedom means to them. Five lucky winners are then invited on an exciting 5 day/4 night trip to Washington, DC.

The winners of last year's 7th Annual "Freedom Through My Eyes" contest had a memorable trip to Washington D.C. During the days, the winners toured the White House, U.S. Capitol, Arlington National Cemetery, the Newseum and the International Spy Museum. During the evenings, the winners also took in the sights on a guided twilight bus tour of the city. The bus tour included stops at famous national landmarks such as the Lincoln Memorial, Vietnam Veterans Memorial, Iwo Jima Memorial, Jefferson Memorial and FDR Memorial. Upon returning to Los Angeles, the winners were invited to a Lakers home game, where they were recognized at halftime and their essays and artwork were prominently displayed on the main concourse during the game.

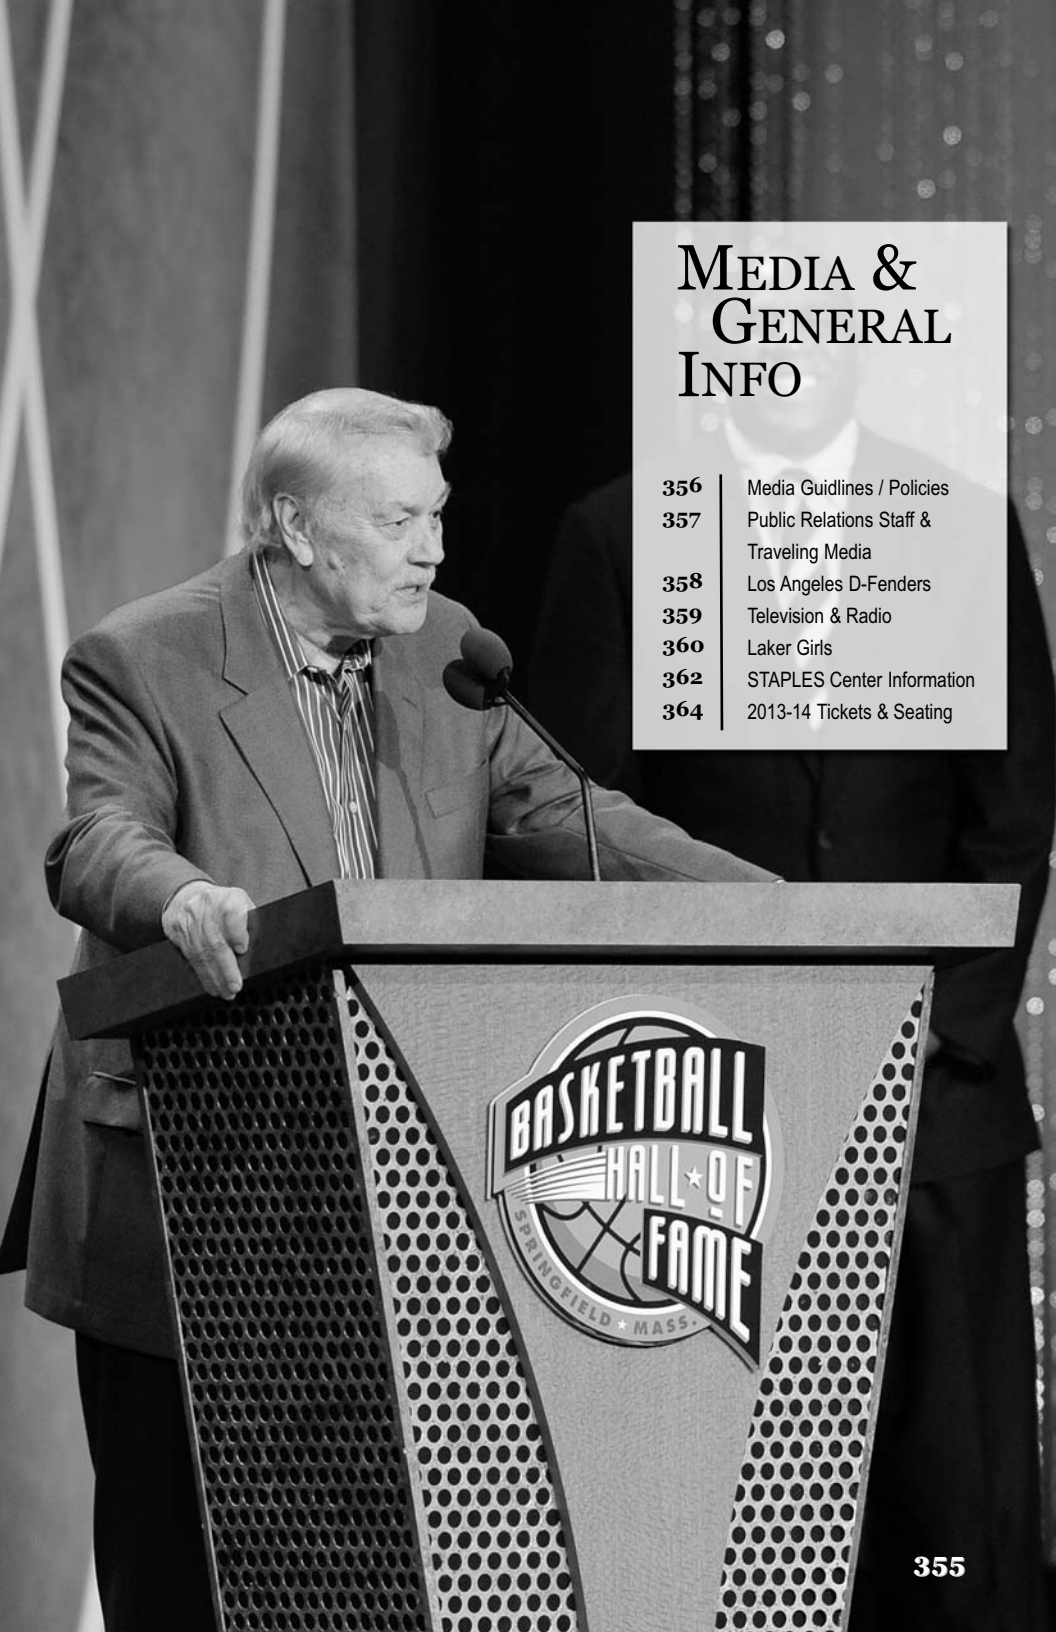

HEALTH AND FITNESS INITIATIVES

The Lakers are dedicated to helping their fans live a healthy lifestyle. To emphasize the importance of health and fitness, the Lakers sponsor programs that reward local students for being active about their health.

Fit For Life with the Los Angeles Lakers aims to educate the community about the importance of physical fitness and nutrition in an effort to help fight childhood obesity and encourage all fans to be fit for life. During the 2012-2013 season students and teachers could enter the Fit For Life Contest with a chance to win an invitation to the Lakers Health Fair. A total of 250 students from elementary schools and middle schools throughout Los Angeles County came out to the 4th Annual Lakers Fit For Life Health Fair, for an afternoon of nutrition lessons and fun exercise with the Laker Girls and Laker players.

LOS ANGELES D-FENDERS

Now entering its 13th season, the NBA Development League - the NBA's minor league established to develop talent across all disciplines for the NBA - is designed to help grow the sport of basketball both domestically and internationally by offering NBA-quality basketball and fun, family entertainment at affordable prices.

In July 2006, the Los Angeles Lakers became the first NBA franchise to own its own NBA Development League team. Starting in the 2006-07 season, the Los Angeles D-Fenders franchise began playing its home games either prior to or following Lakers home games at STAPLES Center. Beginning in 2011-12, however, the D-Fenders started to play all their home games exclusively at the Toyota Sports Center, the Lakers practice facility in El Segundo, CA.

On three separate occasions during the D-Fenders inaugural season, the Lakers utilized the minor league affiliate by assigning rookie guard Jordan Farmar to the team and recalling him following each game. What's further, the Lakers made history on April 1, 2007 when Farmar became the first player in league history to play in an NBA and NBA D-League game in the same day. In 2007-08, Coby Karl scored five points for the Lakers February 19 versus Atlanta, becoming the 2nd player in league history to play in same-day D-League and NBA games. In 2008-09, rookie guard Sun Yue became the third Lakers player to play for the D-Fenders. With no D-League assignments in 2009-10 and a one year hiatus from the D-League in 2010-11, the D-Fenders returned to competition in 2011-12, posting the best regular season record in league history (38-12) and receiving the first ever NBA Development League Champion Award (an annual award given to the team that best embodies the D-League's goals of developing NBA talent via call-ups & assignments). Since the 2006-07 season, the D-Fenders have developed 11 Lakers assignees and helped 11 players and three coaches earn NBA Call-Ups. Included in the list of coaching call-ups are current Lakers player development coaches Mark Madsen and Larry Lewis along with Advance Scout Clay Moser.

Of the 17 NBA D-League teams playing during the 2013-14 season, six are fully owned and operated by their NBA affiliates: the Austin Toros (San Antonio), Canton Charge (Cleveland), Delaware 87ers (Philadelphia), Los Angeles D-Fenders (Lakers), Santa Cruz Warriors (Golden State) and Tulsa 66ers (Oklahoma City). The Erie BayHawks (New York), Idaho Stampede (Portland), Maine Red Claws (Boston), Rio Grande Valley Vipers (Houston), Reno Bighorns (Sacramento), Sioux Falls Skyforce (Miami) and Springfield Armor (Brooklyn) are the seven NBA D-League teams with 'hybrid' single-affiliation partnerships, where NBA teams control the NBA D-League affiliates' basketball operations. The Dallas Mavericks remain solely affiliated with the Texas Legends.

TIME WARNER CABLE

Time Warner Cable Sports, a division of Time Warner Cable Inc., encompasses Time Warner Cable SportsNet and Time Warner Cable Deportes, two regional sports networks that launched in Southern California on October 1, 2012 and that are entering their second season as the local TV homes of the Los Angeles Lakers. Through their exclusive partnerships with the Lakers, LA Galaxy, Los Angeles Sparks and the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF), the award-winning 24/7, high-definition networks each deliver more than 180 live events per year, extensive team coverage and behind-the-scenes access unlike anything fans have seen before.

Lakers programming on Time Warner Cable SportsNet includes "Access SportsNet: Lakers," the network's signature studio show that encompasses pre- and post-game shows, and "LakeShow," a live social media show driven by of-the-moment conversations about the team. "Backstage: Lakers" (titled "Lakers Confidencial" on Time Warner Cable Deportes) is a weekly documentary series that gives fans unprecedented access to team. It chronicles the Lakers season from start to finish, taking viewers into the locker room, executive offices and other previously off-limits areas, providing a behind-the-scenes look at the season while it unfolds. The "Laker Girls" miniseries takes fans inside the making of the dance squad, going behind-the-scenes as dancers audition, make the team and then perform on Opening Night at STAPLES Center. All Lakers games on Time Warner Cable SportsNet are called by veteran Lakers broadcasters Stu Lantz and Bill Macdonald and studio commentary is led by James Worthy, Robert Horry, Chris McGee, Jaime Maggio and Dave Miller.

Time Warner Cable Deportes is the nation's first-ever Spanish-language regional sports network offering content, commentary and original programming developed especially for the Hispanic sports fan and local community. Lakers programming on Time Warner Cable Deportes includes the "Lakers En Vivo" pre-game show and "Somos Lakers" post-game show. Lakers games are called live on Time Warner Cable Deportes by play-by-play announcer Adrián García Márquez and analyst Francisco Pinto and the network's studio team is led by Ricardo Celis.

For more information about Time Warner Cable SportsNet and Time Warner Cable Deportes, visit www.twcsportsnet.com and www.twcdeportes.com. Follow the networks on Twitter @TWCSportsNet and @TWCDeportes and on Facebook at www.facebook.com/TWCSportsNet and www.facebook.com/TWCDeportes.

Entering their 35th season and long considered the premier dance squad of the NBA, the Los Angeles Laker Girls have undoubtedly earned a place in team history right alongside the greats who have worn a Lakers uniform.

Impressed with the collegiate look and spirit that existed at USC and UCLA in the late 1970s and seeking to bring that same atmosphere to Lakers home games, then-new owner Dr. Jerry Buss brought together former songleaders from both universities to form the original Laker Girls in 1979.

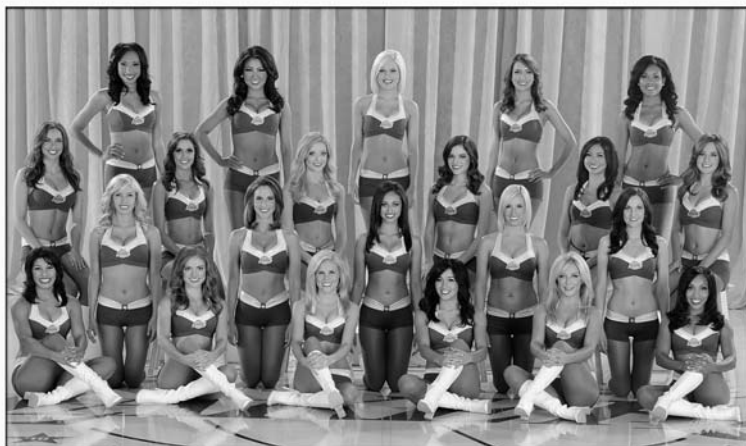

After becoming known almost immediately for their unique and innovative dance routines, routines which actually helped spawn trends in music videos, it wasn't long before the Laker Girls were the glamour dance group of the NBA and a household name nationwide. What had first begun as an experiment ultimately resulted in a trend-setting tradition.

Over the years, the Laker Girls have evolved into an even more professional dance squad while maintaining that same collegiate spirit that brought about their positive reputation.

The 2013-14 squad consists of 22 talented, intelligent and energetic young ladies chosen from over 400 candidates. With each position considered a part-time job, each member of the Laker Girls is also involved in academic pursuits, theatrical/dance careers or non-entertainment careers.

Beyond dancing at Lakers home games, the Laker Girls have become ambassadors for the organization and NBA worldwide. While active in the local community with various personal appearances throughout the season at many non-profit and charitable functions, Laker Girls have also been chosen to represent the NBA globally on the continents of Asia, Europe and Australia. In addition, Laker Girls have also been afforded the opportunity to support and visit our military troops in places abroad such as Italy, Bosnia, Korea, Japan, Israel and Sarajevo.

Whether it is a community appearance, a clinic on foreign soil, a television show cameo or a game-night dance routine, the Laker Girls' positive image is an integral part of the Los Angeles Lakers. While other NBA teams have followed suit and created dance or performance squads of their own, the Laker Girls still remain the standard by which all other teams are measured.
