IN MEMORIAM

JIMMY HEWITT

(August 16, 1941 - November 29, 2020)

Jimmy Hewitt, an Orlando native, was the architect for the Magic — he dreamed it, believed it, conceived it, and nurtured it into a reality. Hewitt passed away on November 29, 2020 at the age of 79.

The idea blossomed in 1985, a year after Hewitt met former Magic Senior Vice President Pat Williams when he heard the then-Philadelphia 76ers general manager speak at a Texas function. Becoming fast friends, Williams reached out to Hewitt when he was in Orlando a year later, speaking at a local basketball clinic and it was on that drive back to the airport that Williams presented the question to Hewitt – "Which location in Florida would be the best location for a potential NBA franchise – Miami, Tampa or Jacksonville?" Hewitt uttered the proud, passionate words that would forever change Central Florida, "Orlando is the place to be."

The Magic tipped-off its very first NBA preseason game in Orlando on October 13, 1989 and the city was electric. Professional sports in Orlando had arrived. And Jimmy Hewitt was to thank.

Hewitt was inducted into the Orlando Magic Hall of Fame on March 29, 2017.

"It takes a special person to move big ideas forward and Jimmy Hewitt was certainly that. A natural leader, an optimist, a cheerleader and a dreamer, Jimmy was the spark that brought the NBA and the City Beautiful together and we are forever grateful to him and the group he assembled for their tremendous efforts. It is an honor to be stewards of the team they created, and we are dedicated to modeling the same positivity and perseverance with the Magic that Jimmy brought to everything he did. Jimmy famously said that 'Orlando was the place to be' and we couldn't agree more.

Thank you, Jimmy – you will be greatly missed but always a part of the Magic organization."

MAGIC TOGETHER

ABOUT THE ORLANDO MAGIC

Orlando's NBA franchise since 1989, the Magic's mission is to be world champions on and off the court, delivering legendary moments every step of the way. Under the DeVos family's ownership, the Magic have seen great success in a relatively short history, winning six division championships (1995, 1996, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2019) with seven 50-plus win seasons and capturing the Eastern Conference title in 1995 and 2009.

Off the court, on an annual basis, the Orlando Magic gives more than $2 million to the local community by way of sponsorships of events, donated tickets, autographed merchandise and grants. Orlando Magic community relations programs impact an estimated 100,000 kids each year, while a Magic staff-wide initiative provides more than 7,000 volunteer hours annually. In addition, the Orlando Magic Youth Foundation (OMYF) which serves at-risk youth, has distributed more than $25 million to local nonprofit community organizations over the last 30 years.

The Magic's other entities include the team's NBA G League affiliate, the Lakeland Magic, which began play in the 2017-18 season in nearby Lakeland, Fla.; the Orlando Solar Bears of the ECHL, which serves as the affiliate to the NHL's Tampa Bay Lightning; and Magic Gaming, of the NBA 2K League, which began play in the spring of 2018.

The Magic play their home games at the award-winning Amway Center, honored with TheStadiumBusiness Awards' 2013 Customer Experience Award and named SportsBusiness Journal's 2012 Sports Facility of the Year.

Tickets for the 2020-21 regular season will be made available to the general public on a game-by-game basis. For more information, call (407) 89-MAGIC or log on to OrlandoMagic.com/tickets.

ABOUT AMWAY CENTER

The Orlando Magic served as the developer of the Amway Center, which hosts major national events, concerts and family shows. Opened in the fall of 2010, the facility is owned and operated by the City of Orlando on behalf of the Central Florida community.

The Amway Center was designed to reflect the character of the community, meet the goals of the users and build on the legacy of sports and entertainment in Orlando. The building's exterior features a modern blend of glass and metal materials, along with ever-changing graphics via a monumental wall along one facade. A 180-foot tall tower serves as a beacon amid the downtown skyline. The 875,000 square foot, Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Gold certified building features a sustainable, environmentally-friendly design and unmatched technology, including 1,100 digital monitors, the tallest high-definition video board in an NBA venue and multiple premium amenities available to all patrons in the building. Amway Center was recently honored with TheStadiumBusiness Awards' 2013 Customer Experience Award and named SportsBusiness Journal's 2012 Sports Facility of the Year.

The DeVos family purchased the Orlando Magic in September of 1991. Since then, the family has proudly served in its self-appointed role as the franchise's "caretaker" while operating under the belief that the NBA franchise really belongs to the Central Florida community and the loyal Magic fans.

Orlando Magic Tenure

Since 1991, the franchise has won six division championships, two Eastern Conference titles and had seven 50-win seasons, including a franchise-record 60 victories in 1995-96. The Magic have advanced to the playoffs 16 times during that span, while finishing with a .500 record or better in 17 of the last 28 seasons.

The operation of the Magic has always been a passion and priority for the entire family – starting with the late Rich and Helen DeVos, and their four children and spouses. Today, Rich and Helen's grandchildren, as the third generation of DeVos family members, are increasingly active with the team and affiliates as well.

Affiliates include the team's NBA G League franchise, the Lakeland Magic, which began play in 2017-18 in nearby Lakeland, Florida; the Orlando Solar Bears of the ECHL, which serves as the affiliate to the National Hockey League's Tampa Bay Lightning; and Magic Gaming, which competed in the inaugural season of the NBA 2K League in 2018.

Philanthropy

The DeVos family is actively involved with philanthropic and community efforts in Central Florida and beyond – contributing more than $500 million in the last five years alone to nonprofit causes. Much of the family's philanthropy supports efforts to come alongside underserved communities and support their work to enact meaningful change, remove barriers, and allow for all to achieve their full potential. One such effort is a partnership with the Orlando Magic Youth Foundation (OMYF), which seeks to positively impact nearly 100,000 youth each year through programs addressing education, the arts, homelessness, and health and wellness. The DeVos family covers all operating expenses for the OMYF so that each dollar raised can go to kids who will benefit from it.

Commitment to Orlando

The family played a key role in helping to secure the state-of-the-art Amway Center in Orlando. Opening in October 2010, the Amway Center is part of a public community venues program that also includes a new Performing Arts Center and a renovation of the Citrus Bowl Stadium. The Magic and the DeVos family also contributed $12.5 million toward construction of five community recreation centers throughout Orange County, Florida, as part of its commitment to build the new Amway Center.

DeVos family members were introduced to the Central Florida community during Orlando's drive to bring a Major League Baseball team to "The City Beautiful." An ensuing relationship was formed between the DeVos family and the city of Orlando that culminated with the purchase of the team.

The family patriarch and Amway co-founder, Rich, understood the impact professional sports can have on the upcoming generation and inspired his family to remain committed to ensuring the team provides a positive, encouraging example for all.

RICH AND HELEN DeVOS COURT MEMORIAL INSIGNIA

In 2019, the Orlando Magic permanently dedicated its home court at the Amway Center to honor its late Senior Chairman, Rich DeVos and his late wife, Helen DeVos. The court prominently features a "Rich and Helen DeVos Court" memorial insignia.

After purchasing the Magic in 1991, Rich and Helen's vision was that the team and organization would serve as a platform to improve the Central Florida community. They led by example donating more than $2 million annually to the local community through grants, sponsorships of events, donated tickets and autographed merchandise. Their legacy lives on today through the Orlando Magic's community and philanthropic contributions.

DAN DeVOS
Chairman/Governor

Dan DeVos serves as chairman of the Orlando Magic and a member of the NBA Board of Governors. In this role, he focuses on long-term strategic planning for the organization and new business initiatives. He also represents ownership in business and public relations activities while working closely with the Magic's CEO regarding business and basketball operations.

DeVos is chairman of RDV Sports which, in addition to the Orlando Magic, includes the Orlando Solar Bears of the ECHL, the Lakeland Magic of the NBA G League, and Magic Gaming of the NBA 2K League. He also leads the Orlando Magic Youth Foundation as the organization's chairman.

In addition to his commitment to the Magic, DeVos supports a number of sports, business and philanthropic endeavors. He is co-owner, CEO and governor of the Grand Rapids Griffins of the American Hockey League (AHL) – the 2013 and 2017 Calder Cup Champions, and the top affiliate for the NHL's Detroit Red Wings. DeVos serves as a member of the AHL's executive committee as well.

In business, DeVos is chairman and CEO of DP Fox Ventures, LLC, a diversified business development and management company with interests in real estate, transportation and sports. DP Fox employs more than 1,500 professionals through companies including Fox Powersports and Fox Motor Group, a retail transportation group representing 48 manufacturers at 50 locations in Michigan and Chicago.

A member of the board of directors of Amway, the world's largest direct selling company, DeVos also serves as president/CEO of Cape Eleuthera Resort and Marina on the island of Eleuthera in The Bahamas. Additionally, DeVos is a partner in the Georgian Automotive Group, based in Barrie, Ontario, as well as a partner of CWD Real Estate Investment in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

DeVos is involved in a variety of philanthropic organizations including serving on the board of trustees for Hope Network Foundation, as past president of the board of the Grand Rapids Symphony, and as vice chair of the Grand Valley University Foundation. He also serves on the board of trustees for Northwood University, his alma mater.

His wife, Pamella, is president and creative director of PAMELLA ROLAND. They have two daughters and one son.

ALEX MARTINS
Chief Executive Officer/Alternate Governor

Alex Martins, who has spent 33 years in professional sports management and rejoined the Magic in June 2005, was promoted to chief executive officer on December 7, 2011. He previously served as president for more than one year and was the team's chief operating officer from 2006-10. Martins also serves as CEO of SED Development, LLC, an affiliate of the Magic which is currently planning an entertainment mixed use development across Church Street from the Amway Center. Martins represents the Magic as the team's alternate governor to the NBA Board of Governors, as well as managing partner of the Lakeland Magic, Orlando's affiliate in the NBA G League. Martins is a member of the NBA's Team Media Advisory Committee, Labor Relations Advisory Committee and Business & Basketball Committee, as well as having served on the NBA's Season Restart Committee which has advised the league on the return to play from the COVID-19 hiatus.

Martins, who served in various senior-level management capacities with the Magic between 1989-98 and as the organization's executive vice president of marketing and franchise relations in 2005-06, oversees all operations of the club.

During the past 14 years, Martins led the Magic in a transformation of its business operations, while overseeing a ticket sales, premium sales and corporate partnership effort which saw the most successful business year in the history of the franchise in the 2010-11 season. The transformation process received the recognition of the SportsBusiness Journal which named the Magic as a finalist for Professional Sports Team of the Year, the only NBA team to be named a finalist that year.

Similarly, Martins has spearheaded the transformation of the current Magic basketball operations department, with the hiring and management of the current basketball administration leadership.

Included in the franchise's success has been the largest season ticket base in franchise history in 2010-11 (14,200) and the most successful corporate sales effort in franchise history in 2014-15. Amongst these records are the largest increase in attendance in the NBA over that five-year period.

Martins was instrumental in helping to secure the new state-of-the-art Amway Center in Orlando. The Amway Center is part of a public community venues program that also includes a new Performing Arts Center and a renovation of the Citrus Bowl Stadium. The new Amway Center opened in October 2010. 10,000! On December 22, 1988, the 10,000th season ticket was sold, ending the Magic's commitment to the NBA of guaranteeing 10,000 season ticketholders by January 1, 1989. Pat Williams (above) makes the announcement of Orlando meeting its season ticket goal.

"I had been working in conjunction with Jimmy Hewitt on this idea of trying to bring a basketball team to Orlando," said Williams. "He had put everything in place with ownership, an arena, the backing of the city. He called one night, late April 1986, and I remember taking the phone call in my kitchen. Jimmy, in his unmistakable southern drawl, said, 'Bubba, we've gone about as far as we can go down here. If you come down here and spearhead it we'll go forward… If you don't, we'll pull the plug'."

Williams could feel the urgency. He knew it was decision time.

"We (Philadelphia 76ers) were getting ready for the lottery in which we had a pick and we were getting ready for the playoffs. We ended up winning the lottery and had a good playoff run which made things more confusing.

"But I knew deep within that the adventure and risk involved in trying to start up a team was really something that I had to pursue. There was a restlessness in my spirit. I needed a new adventure."

More than 30 magical years later, Williams has certainly lived an incredible adventure.

LAKELAND MAGIC

On December 14, 2016, the Orlando Magic and the NBA G League announced that the Magic agreed to purchase the Erie BayHawks with plans to relocate the team to Lakeland, Florida, to begin play during the 2017-18 season. With the purchase, the Magic became the 17th NBA team to own and operate their NBA G League affiliate.

The Lakeland Magic completed the 2019-20 season atop the Southeast Division with a 25-17 record. Since their inaugural season in Lakeland, the Magic have reached the NBA G League Eastern Conference Finals (2019) and won more regular season games than any other team in the NBA G League.

Located near the heart of Central Florida, Lakeland is approximately 55 miles from downtown Orlando and approximately 35 miles from downtown Tampa. The franchise, which is owned and operated by the Orlando Magic, plays its 24 home games at the RP Funding Center.

"When we started this process, our goal was to have our G League team closer to home and the perfect fit for us was the City of Lakeland," said Orlando Magic CEO and G League Team Managing Partner Alex Martins. "Having our G League team in Lakeland gives us the best opportunity, not only to continue developing our young players, but to extend the Orlando Magic brand across Central Florida."

"Things happen in a city which can profoundly change for the better that city's future," said former City of Lakeland Mayor Howard Wiggs. "Lakeland now has professional basketball and we are excited. This is a great example that Lakeland has a bright future and we are glad to be partnering with such a quality organization like the Orlando Magic."

The Lakeland Magic season is made up of 50 regular season games, with 24 home games at the RP Funding Center, plus a postseason. Season tickets, partial plans and group tickets are available now by calling (863) 825-3258, emailing info@lakelandmagic.com or logging on to LakelandMagic.com. Stay up to date with the team by following @LakelandMagic on Instagram, Facebook and Twitter.

COMMUNITY, PHILANTHROPY, DIVERSITY

The Orlando Magic is committed to helping children reach their full potential by investing our resources in the areas of Education, Homelessness, Health & Wellness, and The Arts. We are dedicated to creating an inclusive environment in which our fans, community partners, and employees feel welcome, valued and appreciated.

ORLANDO MAGIC YOUTH FOUNDATION

The Orlando Magic Youth Foundation (OMYF) focuses on helping children in Central Florida realize their full potential, especially those most at risk, by supporting nonprofit agencies with programs that empower families and change lives. It is our mission to nourish the minds and bodies of children who need it most. This is a total team effort, supported by the community and fueled by you, our fans.

Over the last 30 years more than $25 million has been distributed to local nonprofit community organizations through the OMYF to support at-risk youth in education, homelessness, health & wellness, and The Arts. With no administrative costs, 100 percent of donations to OMYF directly benefit underserved children and families throughout Central Florida.

OMYF fundraising events and programs include: Orlando Wine Festival and Auction, OMYF Open Golf Tournament, State of Florida License Plate Program, Employee Giving Campaign, Player Giving Campaign and online and in-game silent auctions.

Over the past 30 years, more than $25 million has been distributed to local nonprofit community organizations through the OMYF.

RICH AND HELEN DEVOS COMMUNITY ENRICHMENT AWARD

Magic owners Rich and Helen DeVos established this program to honor an Orlando Magic player who dedicates his efforts beyond the basketball court to enhance the lives of others. In selecting the player each year, the anonymous committee looks at several criteria including the three "A's": Action, Attitude and Atmosphere. Specifically, that means the player's actions off the court are honorable in nature, the player displays a respectable attitude toward those he encounters, and the player shies away from situations that may be negatively perceived and provides a positive environment for others through his actions. $25,000 is donated to the charity of the honored player's choice.

OMYF PARTNER SPOTLIGHT

Central Florida Community Arts (CFCArts) – Access to the Arts - K-12 Programs
With the support of OMYF grant funding, Central Florida Community Arts (CFCArts) launched five initiatives to increase arts education access as well as expand the current reach of the Young Artists Orchestra. Their goal is to promote access to critical music, movement, and drama programs specifically designed to increase students' GPA, promote emotional well-being, and teach necessary life skills such as creativity, teamwork, and diligence. These programs will also encourage life-long appreciation of the arts as a healthy form of self-expression and a means to promote learning and critical thinking.

Through these efforts, arts experiences will be offered to groups that traditionally struggle with access. To date, CFCArts has able to reach over 1,000 children with programs that will strengthen their academic performance, build character and self-worth, and enhance their artistic abilities. Central Florida Community Arts is making significant strides toward a community where no student is impeded from experiencing the academic and emotional benefits of the arts due to location, financial situation, program capacity, or being differently abled.

ELEVATE Orlando – College & Career Pipeline Program
The goal of the ELEVATE Orlando College and Career Pipeline Program is to start early and intentionally expose students to emerging industries thus preparing them for thriving careers. The most significant impact you have on a student's life is providing hope for a future early in their academic journey. We can inspire students to great academic achievement by having them dream about their future and visualize their successes in achieving their dreams.

The College & Career Pipeline Program reaches Middle School students enrolled in six ELEVATE accredited classes at six OCPS Title I Schools (35 students per class) and High School students in three Title I High Schools. Students receive wrap around resources to help them identify their interests, then assist them in determining which career would best fit each student based on their individual career assessments. At the end of their 8th grade year, ELEVATE Orlando students will declare a major and be assigned an industry specific mentor to walk alongside them through the remainder of their school and post-secondary journey. Helping support, track and elevate students out of poverty to a better life.

IMPOWER – The Village Youth Homelessness Prevention & Transitional Housing Program
IMPOWER demonstrates how transitional housing option and outreach services for homeless youth engage perilously housed youth, an often 'hidden population', to prevent them slipping into homelessness. IMPOWER's target population are former foster care and unaccompanied at-risk youth, ages 18-24, that are homeless or perilously housed. More than 84 young men and women received housing or other supportive services through the Village program last year. Youth with a foster care background, or who may have experienced unstable, and often dysfunctional, family lives, face significant challenges in transitioning to adulthood and attempting to live on their own. In addition to safe, dorm-style housing, The Village provides a holistic approach to helping youth build "assets" through wraparound services that include employment and education advocacy, life-skills, transportation, mental health/substance abuse intervention and prevention, and more.

Under the leadership and direction of Magic CEO Alex Martins and through the support of the teams' ownership group, the DeVos family, the Magic and its affiliates have formed an internal social justice task force comprised of Magic, Solar Bears, Magic Gaming and Lakeland Magic staff members. The task force will continue to move forward each teams' commitment to race, gender, equity, diversity and inclusion.

Inspired by the Orlando Magic's mission to be champions off the court, the team's social justice task force will focus on addressing racial, economic and gender inequality within the community, workplace and business to improve the Magic organization and its affiliates, Central Florida and beyond.

The group will specifically focus on the three pillars of community, workplace and business through support and impact in the community, diversity and inclusion in the workplace and economic development for local businesses. Some of the task force's initial efforts, NBA partnership and DeVos family support include:

- A voter education/registration campaign, Get Off the Bench, Get Into the Game, VOTE. The campaign included a dedicated web page, www.OrlandoMagic.com/vote; Vote.org partnership; PSAs; voter toolkits; player and coach involvement; social media education campaign; opening Amway Center as early voting/ voter registration location; and events to encourage voter participation.
- Donating $50,000 to the Black Business Investment Fund to help its mission to develop and promote Black business enterprises in Florida through education, training, loans, investments and other activities to promote an atmosphere conducive to their development.

- The Magic joined the NBA in its announcement that its teams, players and coaches agreed to immediately establish a social justice coalition, with representatives from players, coaches and team governors, that will be focused on a broad range of issues, including increasing access to voting, promoting civic engagement and advocating for meaningful police and criminal justice reform.
- The NBA worked with the players and network partners to create and include advertising spots in each NBA playoff game dedicated to promoting greater civic engagement in national and local elections and raising awareness around voter access and opportunity.
- The NBA announced the creation of the NBA Foundation that will contribute $300 million in initial funding focused on economic empowerment in the Black community. Over the next 10 years, the 30 NBA team owners will collectively contribute $30 million annually establishing this new, leaguewide charitable foundation. Through its mission to drive economic empowerment for Black communities through employment and career advancement, the NBA Foundation will seek to increase access and support for high school, college-aged and career-ready Black men and women, and assist national and local organizations that provide skills training, mentorship, coaching and pipeline development in NBA markets and communities across the United States and Canada.
- Much of the DeVos family's philanthropy supports underserved communities and supports efforts to enact meaningful change, remove barriers, and allow for all to achieve their full potential.
  - The DeVos family has contributed $529 million to nonprofit causes in the last five years, a level noted by Forbes when naming the family as one of the nation's top givers.
  - Along with supporting the team's arena, the Amway Center, to serve as an early voting location for Orange County residents:

    Businesses owned fully or partly by the DeVos family, such as Amway, have long advocated for participation in the political process regardless of an individual's political ideals through programs such as "Amway Votes."

    The DeVos family have been long-time and vocal advocates for similar criminal justice reforms in Michigan, working to reduce barriers that have disproportionately impacted people of color.

    DeVos family members partnered with California-based Alliance for Safety and Justice to bring awareness and understanding to more than 400 Michigan leaders, have used their voice to champion change in state newspaper opinion columns, and voiced support for criminal justice legislation in outreach to elected officials.

NICK ANDERSON
Community Ambassador

As part of its continued commitment to the Central Florida community, Nick Anderson joined the organization's community relations department as community ambassador during the summer of 2006. Anderson, who was a staple in the Orlando community as a player for a decade, will continue to take part in a variety of community outreach efforts.

The Magic's first-ever NBA Draft selection out of the University of Illinois (11th overall, 1989 NBA Draft), Anderson played ten seasons for Orlando from 1989-99. In 692 career regular season games with the Magic, he averaged 15.4 ppg., 5.3 rpg., 2.8 apg. and 1.45 stlpg. Anderson ranks as the franchise's all-time leader in games played (692), field goals made (4,075), steals (1,004), field goals attempted (8,976) and three-point field goals attempted (2,480). He also stands second on the Magic's all-time list with 10,650 points, 900 three-point field goals made and 22,440 minutes played.

In 2014, along with Pat Williams, Anderson was an inaugural inductee into the Orlando Magic Hall of Fame. He was also inducted into the Chicagoland Sports Hall of Fame in September 2016 and into the Florida Sports Hall of Fame in November 2019.

Anderson may best be remembered for one of the greatest moments in Magic history – stealing the ball from Michael Jordan during the closing seconds of Game 1 of the 1995 Eastern Conference Semifinals, allowing Orlando to win the contest and eventually move on to the NBA Finals.

In 2005-06, Anderson was the first honoree as part of the Magic's "Commitment to the Past" program, a multi-season effort aimed at embracing Magic history and the team's former players. Anderson won the inaugural Rich and Helen DeVos Community Enrichment Award in 1995-96. He also serves as a pregame and postgame analyst for select games on FOX Sports Florida.

BO OUTLAW

During his time with the Magic, Outlaw was recognized for his outstanding work in the Central Florida community with the Rich and Helen DeVos Community Enrichment Award. He won the award three times (1998-99, 2005-06, 2006-07) and is one of only two players in team history to accomplish that feat.

STUFF THE MAGIC MASCOT

On October 27, 1988, STUFF literally burst onto the scene when a large egg was discovered in front of the old Amway Arena. No one is sure where it came from or how it arrived in Orlando. Witnesses, however, reported a giant explosion followed by a shower of deflated basketballs, Orlando Magic bumper stickers and puffs of green smoke. The oversized green dragon that emerged from the commotion had no idea of the impact he would soon have on "The City Beautiful."

STUFF is one of the most recognizable mascots in professional sports. STUFF prides himself as the Orlando Magic's number one fan, and he relishes his role as the team "funny guy." Whether seen backflipping off of a 16-foot ladder, shooting his signature backwards half-court shot, or perhaps throwing a cake in the face of an unsuspecting fan from another team, STUFF seldom seems to slow down his pace. Although unpredictable at times, his comedic timing and impromptu style is guaranteed to bring a smile to the faces of fans both young and old.

Our lovable dragon STUFF took his fame to new heights in 2014. After a game-time decision to propose to supermodel Kate Upton, STUFF was seen on several media outlets and was even discussed on TMZ. That wasn't enough for the big green guy. STUFF delivered a dance-off challenge to Hashtag, the mascot of the "Tonight Show with Jimmy Fallon." While the show was visiting Orlando on June 18, 2014, STUFF and Hashtag battled it out in an epic dance-off on national television. The result was a tie. In March of 2015, STUFF made ESPN's Top Ten Plays with his dangerous and exciting backflip dunk off a 16-foot ladder. STUFF was also named the NBA's Mascot of the Year for 2015-16 and 2016-17, making him the first ever back-to-back recipient.

For more information on "Orlando's Mascot" follow him on Twitter and Instagram (@STUFFMagic).

AMWAY CENTER: TRULY LEGENDARY

FROM A VISION TO BLUEPRINTS TO REALITY

The Orlando Magic served as the developer of the downtown Amway Center, which competes to host major national events, concerts and family shows. The facility is owned and operated by the City of Orlando on behalf of the Central Florida community.

The Amway Center opened in 2010 and was designed to reflect the character of the community, meet the goals of the users and build on the legacy of sports and entertainment in Orlando.

The building's exterior features a modern blend of glass and metal materials, along with ever-changing graphics via a monumental wall along one façade. A 180-foot tall tower and spire serves as a beacon amid the downtown skyline.

2017 VENUE EXCELLENCE AWARD

In August 2017, the Amway Center was recognized with the prestigious Venue Excellence Award from IAVM – the International Association of Venue Managers. The Amway Center was the only arena to earn the honor.

The Venue Excellence Award recognizes five IAVM venues of any type within the membership which demonstrate excellence in the management and operation of public assembly venues. This includes but is not limited to amphitheaters, arenas, auditoriums, casinos, complexes, convention centers, exhibit halls, fair/festival grounds, performing arts centers, race tracks, stadiums & university venues. IAVM takes pride in its members and member venues that excel in providing their communities with a safe and enjoyable space for all types of events and educational opportunities.

Any venue, publicly or privately owned and operated, that has demonstrated excellence within the last calendar year and has at least one current employee who is an IAVM member in good standing may apply.

The following four criteria framework help demonstrate the ways in which the venue has demonstrated excellence in venue management and operations: operational excellence, team-building/professional development, safety and security, and service to the community.

2013 CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE AWARD

The Amway Center was honored on June 6, 2013 with the Customer Experience Award during TheStadiumBusiness Awards presentation held in association with TheStadiumBusiness Summit in Manchester, England.

TheStadiumBusiness Summit is the largest dedicated meeting in the world of the owners, operators and developers of the world's leading stadiums, arenas and major sports venues. Previous recipients have included City Square/Etihad Stadium, Manchester City FC, Manchester, England (2012), The Family Area – Cardiff City FC, Cardiff, Wales (2011) and The O2 Arena, London, England (2010).

With the opening of the Amway Center in 2010, the Orlando Magic spearheaded a specialized customer service training program in conjunction with the Disney Institute for all Amway Center employees. Annually the initiative provides training to more than 2,000 employees.

The criteria for a Customer Experience Award nomination requires that the stadium, arena or major sports venue consistently deliver outstanding levels of service at every stage of the customer journey.

2012 FACILITY OF THE YEAR

At a sports industry annual awards ceremony on May 23, 2012, the Amway Center was named "Facility of the Year."

The announcement was made by Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal and SportsBusiness Daily at the prestigious SportsBusiness Awards in New York City, which annually recognizes excellence and outstanding achievement in the business of sports.

Amway Center served as host for the 2012 NBA All-Star Weekend in Orlando, culminating with the 61st NBA All-Star Game on Sunday, February 26. In a thrilling contest, the West defeated the East, 152-149. More than $95 million in economic impact in Orange County, Florida was generated from NBA All-Star Weekend, according to a study conducted by Strategic Marketing Services and SportsEconomics, LLC. In addition, the NBA All-Star Game at the Amway Center provided unprecedented exposure, as the contest was broadcast in 215 countries and territories in 47 different languages.

AMENITIES FOR ALL LEVELS OF TICKET BUYERS

The 875,000 square foot, Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Gold certified building features a sustainable, environmentally-friendly design and unmatched technology, including 1,100 digital monitors, the tallest high-definition video board in an NBA venue and multiple premium amenities available to all patrons in the building.

Every level of ticket buyer has access to a number of premium amenities.

"It's a great day for Central Florida. History will look back on this day in the same light as the day that Walt Disney announced he was building his theme park in Orlando," Magic Chief Executive Officer Alex Martins said the night of the approval, July 26, 2007, adding: "I would like to thank Mayor Rich Crotty and Mayor Buddy Dyer, as well as both the County and City Commissions for their vision and leadership. I would also like to thank the Walt Disney World Company, Universal Orlando, SeaWorld, the Central Florida Hotel and Lodging Association, the Orlando/Orange County Convention and Visitors Bureau, as well as the entire Orlando tourism and business community for their active participation in ensuring this positive outcome for new downtown sports and entertainment facilities for the people who call Central Florida home."

The Magic were major financial participants in the public-private partnership - contributing $50 million toward construction of the Amway Center, $10 million toward the arts center, and $25 million toward construction of five community recreation centers. The Magic's other contributions toward operations, fundraising and financing push the team's total participation in the downtown venue projects to more than $150 million.

In a historic move, the Magic agreed that Amway Center would be designed and constructed to meet the certification criteria for an environmentally "green" building development standard.

"We want this facility to not only serve our community but to reflect our community's values," Martins said.

Populous, formerly HOK Sport, was selected as designer of the Amway Center. Hunt Construction group was selected as the construction manager. The official groundbreaking celebration was held July 25, 2008. The events center was named the Amway Center on August 5, 2009 and the building opened to the public for the first time on October 1, 2010.

Inside the arena, patrons will find modern amenities in a comfortable setting – ideal for hosting family events as well as basketball games. Concourses are spacious, offering unique concessions and activities for kids and adults alike. The Bud Light Baseline Bar on the main Terrace concourse overlooks the event floor, and children will enjoy spending time in the kid-oriented STUFF's Magic Castle and retail opportunities on the upper Promenade concourse.

"From the inside out, beginning to end we were committed to developing a world class venue that would bring a myriad of events that would appeal to the diverse taste of Central Florida residents," said Mayor Buddy Dyer. "Whether it's a child experiencing his or her first basketball game or two friends singing along at a concert, these are the shared experiences and memories that will be created at the Amway Center."

With 875,000 square feet of space, the Amway Center offers plenty of room to incorporate the modern-day amenities found in most professional arenas of today, and seating which is expandable to more than 20,000 seats to accommodate major national events.

The $380 million facility features eight levels, five public concourses, 37 restrooms, 55 concession points of sale, 60 suites, 68 loge boxes and 1,400 club seats. The Amway Center features up to 17 hospitality spaces for rental on a per event basis.

UNIQUELY ORLANDO

"We took a hard and long look at the essence of Orlando before coming up with a design that we believe reflects the best and most distinctive aspects of this community," said AIA, Populous Sport Senior Designer Brad Clark. "And just as importantly, the building will set a new standard in sustainable design as one of the greenest professional sports facilities in the country."

To celebrate Central Florida's moderate climate, the building is filled with a variety of indoor-outdoor spaces. Once guests enter the voluminous, 80-foot-tall Disney Atrium main lobby, they are able to return to the outdoors via the Michelob ULTRA Club overlooking Church Street.

The arena was designed to respond to its distinct urban setting while revealing the activities occurring within. Bounded by Church Street, Hughey Avenue, South Street and Division Avenue, the arena's primary entrance faces north to Church Street, creating a natural extension of the nearby downtown entertainment core. The Church Street entry features a large public entry plaza connecting the arena's spacious Disney Atrium.

"In designing the community's new center we feel we created the framework for a facility that will be the catalyst for economic revitalization in downtown's west side, while establishing a flexible design that will serve as a great home and attract the nation's premier events," added the Magic's Martins. "The building has a design unique to Orlando, while providing a framework for environmental sustainability."

JOBS IN A TOUGH ECONOMY

The massive construction project served as a boon to the local construction business in a time when jobs were scarce because of the sharp downturn of the nation's economy.

The Magic and City of Orlando worked closely with local minority and women-owned businesses — some of which were based out of the nearby Parramore community — awarding them with more than 30 percent of the contracts totaling $90-plus million, exceeding the 24 percent benchmark established by the City of Orlando.

Of the 170-plus minority and women-owned firms which worked to construct the facility, 61 were African-American-owned firms, 52 women-owned firms, 37 Hispanic-owned firms, 22 Asian-American-owned firms and two Native-American-owned firms.

ENVIRONMENTALLY-FRIENDLY

Sustainable design and construction specifics focused on the opportunities to create an environmentally-friendly building in various categories. Among them: providing water efficiency; optimizing energy and atmosphere protection; conserving materials and resources; monitoring indoor environmental quality and health; selecting environmentally preferred operations and maintenance.

These elements combine to create one of the most environmentally-friendly, high-performing professional arenas in the country and the first NBA arena which was originally designed and constructed to be Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Gold certified.

MOST TECHNOLOGICALLY-ADVANCED BUILDING IN NORTH AMERICA

The arena has more than 1,100 screens of high-definition content via Internet Protocol Television and a state-of-the-art digital signage network which maximizes fan engagement and interaction, distributes an unprecedented amount of patron information, as well as providing unlimited opportunities for advertisers and sponsors.

The Daktronics center-hung scoreboard alone includes four primary high definition LED video displays with 840 lines of resolution, eight auxiliary video/scoring/statistics displays and two LED ring displays. The venue is the first in the world to utilize high resolution 6 mm surface mount LED pixel technology on all of the center-hung digital displays. More than 9 million individual LEDs are used in the 18 displays incorporated into the center-hung scoreboard. Overall dimensions of the center-hung scoreboard are 42 feet by 41 feet by 41 feet (HxWxD), making it the tallest and most capable of any in NBA venues. Complementing the primary scoreboard are two LED ribbon boards mounted on the interior fascia of the seating decks.

The bigger size, flexibility and advanced technology allows Orlando to attract bigger concerts, major political conventions and compete for more major sporting events such as conference and NCAA tournaments.

"We've designed a facility that has so many built-in amenities for every level of ticket-buyer," Martins said. "So many of these buildings in the past have been designed where a lot of the amenities have focused only on the premium ticket-buyer, the courtside seat holder or the club seat holder, but here with the new Amway Center, we have bars, restaurants and clubs on every level for every ticket-buyer; and that's for Magic games and every event. So, it really is a building that has a high level of amenity for everybody."

"Over the past three years, we have focused on revitalizing the Parramore neighborhood and have experienced a resurgence in our downtown," said Orlando Mayor Buddy Dyer as the design for the building was unveiled on December 11, 2007. "Today marks another important day in our efforts, as the facility takes shape with the design unveiling of this new landmark…a landmark that will be a gathering place for all of Orlando and Central Florida."

SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENT DISTRICT

In an effort to continue the revitalization of downtown Orlando and Parramore and to centralize the Orlando Magic staff downtown, the team continues to make progress on the Sports and Entertainment development design which will create jobs and provide dining, hotel, living, and entertainment options.

The design will feature class A office space, multi-family residences, a first-class hotel with meeting and event space, a multitude of dining options, and a vibrant central events plaza with the latest in WiFi, lighting, audio, and digital experiences.

The proposed office building, within which the Orlando Magic will be an anchor tenant, will include tomorrow's tech in regard to renewable utilities, security, transportation, digital infrastructure, and health and wellness.

"Like with the Amway Center, this has been several years of planning and working with the City to find the right avenue to add another iconic destination that will add to the core of downtown," said Magic CEO Alex Martins. "We look forward to entering this new stage as we work with our partners to make Orlando a great place to live, work and play."

The development, situated next to Amway Center, is located north of Church Street, east of Division Avenue, south of Central Avenue and west of Hughey Avenue. This development will further enhance the Magic's expanding footprint in downtown Orlando, while complementing the Amway Center and Exploria Stadium. The city-owned, Magic-designed Amway Center, where the Magic have played their home games since 2010, has been widely hailed as one of the finest sports facilities in North America. It was named the 2012 Sports Facility of the Year by the SportsBusiness Journal. The dazzling facility also allowed Orlando to play host to the 2012 NBA All-Star Game. Orlando Mayor Buddy Dyer has taken great pride in the success of the Amway Center, hailing it as "the envy of everyone in the NBA and the envy of everyone around the country."

The Magic's major investment also continues their efforts in the revitalization of downtown Orlando and the Parramore neighborhood. The Magic and the Parramore community have long been partners in helping the citizens of that region. The Magic have given more than $1 million to the Parramore community while also donating thousands of community service hours, building nine reading and learning centers and two playgrounds, and providing hundreds of backpacks with school supplies.

SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENT DISTRICT

Martins is proud that the Magic have been able to broaden their footprint downtown so that they can continue to be socio-economic growth catalysts for the area. Martins is also extremely proud that the Magic will continue to be leaders in the growth and development of Parramore.

"It's our neighborhood and it's important to us that we continue to help revitalize it," Martins said of Parramore.

"We think this is another significant step. Like the great addition of Exploria Stadium, hopefully this is a spark for others to invest in that part of downtown. Downtown really stretches from Orange Avenue to Camping World Stadium. So, this is an opportunity to spark the western side of that stretch."

ADVENTHEALTH TRAINING CENTER

The Orlando Magic and AdventHealth announced an enhanced, multiyear partnership which will be highlighted by a new downtown state of the art training center. The AdventHealth Training Center will be the practice and training home to the Orlando Magic, while also encompassing AdventHealth community services ranging from primary care to sports medicine.

The $70 million, privately funded, two-story, 130,000-square-foot facility is located on a 3.8 acre site on S. Division Avenue to the east, W. Pine St. to the south, S. Terry Ave. to the west, and W. Central Blvd. to the north.

AdventHealth is a "Champion of the Community" partner of the Orlando Magic and has been a partner for more than 30 years. Magic "Champion of the Community" partners represent an elite tier of brands committed to Central Florida and the Parramore community. The fully-integrated relationship includes community programming, unparalleled team and facility access, brand recognition visibility and category exclusivity.

The goal for both the Magic and AdventHealth is to help high-level NBA athletes, youth sports players and weekend-warrior types become healthier and more well-rounded and efficient performers. The two continue to work together to develop a world-class sports performance and medical model to optimize performance and translate those learnings to the broader community.

Said Orlando Magic CEO Alex Martins, "The Orlando Magic and DeVos family are thrilled to once again broaden our longstanding partnership with AdventHealth. This best-in-class training center will provide Magic players, coaches and our human performance staff with the resources and technology necessary to excel in an increasingly competitive NBA landscape, while furthering our shared vision in providing health and wellness services in our community."

Features of the new facility will include two state-of-the-art basketball courts where the team will practice; expanded strength and conditioning, training and recovery facilities; An aquatic area; physical therapy areas and hydrotherapy pools; sports science and nutrition facilities; cutting edge audio-video and imaging technology; flexible hospitality areas; and work space for the team's coaching and basketball front office staffs.

FIVE THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

ORLANDO MAGIC

Owners: DeVos Family

CEO: Alex Martins

President of Basketball Operations: Jeff Weltman

General Manager: John Hammond

Head Coach: Steve Clifford

1. On August 7, the Orlando Magic clinched a berth into the 2020 NBA Playoffs. The Magic have advanced to the playoffs 16 times during their relatively short 31-year history, won six division championships (1995, 1996, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2019) and made two NBA Finals appearances after capturing Eastern Conference titles in 1995 and 2009.

2. By securing a place in the 2020 NBA Playoffs, it marked the first time in eight years that the Orlando Magic have advanced to postseason play in back-to-back seasons (since 2010-11 and 2011-12). During the 2018-19 campaign, the Magic went 22-9 during their last 31 games to finish 42-40 en route to a playoff berth. The +17 wins from the previous season was the best win improvement in the NBA. From Jan. 31 to the end of the regular season, the Magic recorded the third-best winning percentage in the NBA, going 22-9 (Houston 24-8, Milwaukee 24-9), and had the best defensive rating in the league.

3. On the business side, the Orlando Magic have led the NBA in group ticket sales for four straight years, while also finishing among the top five teams in single-game ticket sales. In back-to-back seasons (2018-2019 and 2019-2020), the Magic also won the NBA's Sponsor Retention Award, annually given to the top three teams who retain the most revenue from corporate partners.

4. During the last 30 years, the Orlando Magic Youth Foundation has raised and distributed more than $25 million to local nonprofit community organizations. More than 500 local nonprofit agencies have received funds over that span. The DeVos Family covers all operating expenses so that 100 percent of money raised goes to the community. Orlando Magic community relations programs annually impact an estimated 100,000 kids. Annually, the Magic (players, coaches, executives, ambassadors) make 1,000-plus community appearances, while the Magic Staff Volunteer Program provides 7,000-plus community service hours. During the Covid-19 crisis, the DeVos Family covered hourly arena worker salaries. The DeVos family has contributed $529 million to nonprofit causes in the last five years, a level noted by Forbes when naming the family as one of the nation's top givers. Much of the DeVos family's philanthropy supports efforts to underserved communities and support work to enact meaningful change, remove barriers, and allow for all to achieve their full potential.

5. The Amway Center, home of the Orlando Magic, was named the 2012 Sports Facility of the Year by the SportsBusiness Journal. The Amway Center has also received StadiumBusiness' highly coveted Customer Experience/Service Award. Other DeVos Family Central Florida owned sports franchises include: The Lakeland Magic of the NBA G League, the Orlando Solar Bears of the ECHL - an affiliate of the NHL's Tampa Bay Lightning, and Magic Gaming of the NBA2K League.

Orlando Magic Mission Statement: To be world champions on and off the court, delivering legendary moments every step of the way.
