ROBERT SARVER

MANAGING PARTNER

Robert Sarver is the managing partner of Arizona's original sports franchise. In addition, the Arizona native and Valley resident is a successful businessman and a committed philanthropist, husband and father with a lifelong passion for basketball, the Suns, the state of Arizona, and—above all—winning.

THE MANAGING PARTNER

As an 8-year-old boy, Robert Sarver attended his first Phoenix Suns basketball game after receiving tickets as a birthday gift from Donald Diamond, one of the franchise's original owners. Thirty-five years later in 2004, Sarver became the managing partner of one of the NBA's model franchises, assembling a group of investors that purchased the Suns, the WNBA's Phoenix Mercury, and the operating rights to US Airways Center, since renamed Phoenix Suns Arena.

In 16 years under Sarver's leadership, the Suns have enjoyed great success on the court. His tenure includes three appearances in the Western Conference Finals and two of the three 60-win seasons in the franchise's 52-year history.

Sarver's passion for winning extends beyond the men's game. His commitment to the WNBA in Phoenix has resulted in the Mercury winning three league championships, in 2007, 2009 and 2014, with the team winning a WNBA-record 29 games in the 2014 regular season. Regular contenders for the title, the Mercury have made 10 appearances in the league semifinals in the past 14 seasons. Over the last 16 seasons through 2020, the Mercury's record of 287-245 ranks it fifth in the WNBA in wins.

Guided by his stated mission, the Suns and Mercury organizations are industry leaders in business innovation and community outreach and involvement. Sarver is a member of the NBA's Board of Governors, Advisory Finance Committee, and Audit and Compensation Committee.

In 2019, the Suns and the City of Phoenix extended their longstanding partnership by agreeing to reinvest in downtown with a $230 million renovation of Phoenix Suns Arena to make it one of the West's premier venues. Sarver further demonstrated his commitment to providing the Suns and Mercury with the proper resources to compete with an investment to build the Verizon 5G Performance Center, a state-of-the-art facility opened in 2020 that features unprecedented technology integration, ideally located in the shadow of Camelback Mountain in Phoenix.

In addition to his commitments in basketball, Sarver owns a controlling share of Real Club Deportivo Mallorca, a Spanish soccer club that in 2019 earned promotion to La Liga, the top professional soccer division in Spain and one of the highest-revenue professional sports leagues in the world.

THE BUSINESSMAN

Sarver is the Executive Chairman of Western Alliance Bancorporation (NYSE: WAL), one of the country's top-performing banking companies. Western Alliance Bank ranked No. 6 on the Forbes 2020 "Best Banks in America" list and has maintained a top 10 ranking for five years in a row. Western Alliance Bank also ranked No. 1 on Bank Director's 2019 Performance Scorecard of Banks $5B-$50B and was the No. 1 top-performing public banking company according to S&P Global Market Intelligence's inaugural ranking released in 2020. Sarver has been the Executive Chairman of Western Alliance Bank since April 1, 2018, prior to which he served as Chairman and CEO beginning in December 2002. He also served as the President from December 2002 to April 2010.

Alliance Bank of Arizona, a division of Western Alliance Bank, is the largest locally-headquartered bank in Arizona. The bank is one of the most active business lenders in Arizona and, in 2017, Sarver was voted Banking CEO of the Year by International Banker magazine, a noted resource for analysis on global banking. Sarver is also the co-founder of Southwest Value Partners, a 28-year-old real estate investment fund.

In 2017 and 2018, Sarver represented the 12th District on the Federal Advisory Council, meeting multiple times a year with the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in Washington, D.C., to discuss economic and banking matters.

THE PHILANTHROPIST

Sarver's philanthropic efforts focus not simply on worthy causes but also giving back to Arizona and its local communities, both through Phoenix Suns Charities and his and his wife's own personal contributions. In 2016, Sarver was presented with the Greater Phoenix Economic Council Distinguished Service Award for his economic and philanthropic leadership and contributions to the Phoenix area.

In 2020, Sarver led the Suns' "Rise Together" campaign to award $10 million to local non-profits and city programs as part of the Suns' partnership with the City of Phoenix. This included a $2.6 million donation to fund the City of Phoenix's Head Start program, which provides comprehensive early childhood development and support services for at-risk children and families. The Suns became the first professional sports team to assist a Head Start program.

Under Sarver's leadership, Phoenix Suns Charities has granted more than $33 million to Arizona non-profits. Phoenix Suns Charities focuses on enhancing the lives of Arizona children and families in need, specifically in the areas of education, healthcare and sports. Most notably, Sarver has spearheaded a successful program called "SunsCentral," through which the team's 'adoption' of a Phoenix high school has dramatically increased the graduation rate from 68 percent to 83 percent. To celebrate the Suns' 50th season in 2017-18, Sarver and the Phoenix Suns Charities Board of Directors completed a $1 million project to renovate 50 basketball courts throughout Arizona.

Among his proudest accomplishments, Sarver helped to build the Sarver Heart Center at the University of Arizona in memory of his late father, who was among the first to undergo heart bypass surgery. The center is composed of more than 150 physicians and scientists and aims to prevent and cure cardiovascular diseases through the three pillars of research, education and patient care. Pioneering doctors at the center have spearheaded the development of the SynCardia temporary Total Artificial Heart, an award-winning project that became the world's first and only total artificial heart to win FDA approval as a bridge to human heart transplant in patients near death from heart failure.

Doctors and researchers at the center also developed a hands-only CPR method called Continuous Chest Compression CPR that more than doubles a person's chance of surviving cardiac arrest. This method was adopted by the American Heart Association and is now internationally recognized. In addition to a focus on resuscitation science, the center focuses on stroke research, heart disease in women, sudden cardiac death, minority-specific cardiovascular problems, and electrophysiology.

The Sarvers were also instrumental in helping to build the Children's Museum of Phoenix, located in downtown Phoenix. A $1 million donation from the Penny and Robert Sarver Charitable Foundation aided in the completion of the 70,000-square-foot facility.

Sarver is on the board of directors for the Weil Foundation, established by Dr. Andrew Weil, an internationally recognized leader in integrative medicine.

THE PERSON

Sarver is a 1979 graduate of Sabino High School in Tucson and a 1982 graduate of the University of Arizona. Sarver earned his bachelor's degree in business administration and became a certified public accountant in 1983.

Sarver and wife, Penny, have three sons, Max, Jake and Zach. On their first date, Robert invited Penny to watch the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament at his house. Sarver enjoys watching basketball and soccer at all levels alongside his family.

SAM GARVIN

VICE CHAIRMAN

Sam Garvin, who launched his own mail-in rebate and consumer promotions company at age 25, is in his 17th season as Vice Chairman of the Suns after purchasing interest in the club in June 2004.

The self-made entrepreneur founded Scottsdale-based Continental Promotion Group in 1989 and its business grew to over $1 billion in annual gross revenues and attracted over 500 blue-chip marketers worldwide. As chairman and chief executive officer from 1989-2005, he managed over 1,200 associates, and organized and executed consumer and trade promotions for Dell, Nestle, Henkel, Costco, BT (British Telecom), HP, Motorola, Disney and Eli Lilly on a global scale.

Garvin, who sold CPG in June 2005, took on additional responsibilities with the Suns shortly thereafter. A Suns fan since 1989, Garvin purchased single-game tickets in the upper bowl when the team played at Veterans Memorial Coliseum and has attended Suns games for the last 25 years. In July 2007, he was appointed an alternate NBA Governor to represent the organization.

Prior to CPG, Garvin served in the Ronald Reagan administration as a staff assistant on the Presidential Commission for the German-American Tri-Centennial. He then went to work for Heinz U.S.A. as a sales merchandiser where he learned the marketing of packaged goods from the ground up. In 1988, he graduated from Thunderbird, one of the top business schools in the country, with a masters of international management specializing in marketing. In 2003, he was awarded a doctor of international law degree, honoris causa, from Thunderbird.

In 1998, Garvin was recognized by the Phoenix Business Journal as one of Arizona's "Top 40 under 40" most influential business leaders. In 1999, he was recognized by then Arizona Governor Jane Hull with the "Governor's Spirit of Success" award. He was twice nominated for Ernst and Young's "Entrepreneur of the Year" award.

An acknowledged philanthropic leader he has served on many non-profit Boards including: Thunderbird (AGSIM), PCDS (Phoenix Country Day School) Max in Motion, Whispering Hope Ranch, Phoenix Suns Charities and many others.
Garvin's for-profit Board service includes Engaged Media, Direct Brands, Innovative Brands, Expert Negotiator, Intelladerm LLC and many others. He is the founder of Garvin Promotion Group, an international strategic promotion marketing firm headquartered in Scottsdale with operation in Canada and the European Union. GPG's current clients include Pirelli, Sumitomo USA, Henkel USA, Seagram's and over 100 others. Garvin is active in real estate and private equity investing through Garvin Holdings, LLC. He is also an owner of Real Mallorca, a Spanish football club.

Born and raised in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Garvin completed his Bachelor of Arts degree with a dual major in political science and German studies at the University of Pittsburgh in three years. He resides in Paradise Valley with his wife, Rita, and three children.

JASON ROWLEY

PRESIDENT & CEO

Jason Rowley is in his ninth season as the Suns' President, adding Chief Executive Officer to his title in 2017. This is his 14th season overall with the team. As President and CEO, Rowley is responsible for managing all business operations of the Suns and oversees the club's interests in the management of Phoenix Suns Arena, the WNBA Phoenix Mercury, the Legends Entertainment District, and affiliated entities. Rowley previously served as the team's Chief Operating Officer, as well as its Senior Vice President and General Counsel.

Rowley began his career in 2001 with the law firm of Snell & Wilmer in Phoenix, and while there he represented the Suns' current ownership group in their acquisition of the club in 2004. At Snell, his practice included private and public mergers and acquisitions, complex real estate transactions, securities regulation, entity formation, commercial contracts and general business law.

Rowley earned his bachelor's degree in 1994 from the University of Arizona. After graduation, Rowley joined the United States Navy, an experience he considers one of the proudest and most formative of his life. He worked as an intelligence analyst with the Commander 3rd Fleet Intelligence Division until his honorable discharge in 1998. He then returned to the University of Arizona to pursue his law degree, graduating in 2001.

Rowley is involved in a number of charitable and civic organizations. He serves on Greater Phoenix Leadership, the City of Phoenix Latino Cultural Center Ad Hoc Committee, the Thunderbirds, the Board of Phoenix Suns Charities, and the Board of Downtown Phoenix Inc. He previously has also served as the 2015 American Heart Association Phoenix Heart Walk Chairman, served on the Board of Special Olympics Arizona, and was named the 2011 Phoenix Father of the Year by the Phoenix Father's Day Council.

JAMES JONES

GENERAL MANAGER

Consistently a winner as a player, James Jones now oversees all basketball operations for the Phoenix Suns in his role as general manager. Officially named to the position on April 11, 2019, Jones is in his second season as general manager and fourth season overall working in the Suns' front office. He was originally hired as vice president of basketball operations before the 2017-18 season then handled general manager duties on an interim basis for the 2018-19 season.

Since joining the Suns, Jones has led the evaluation and evolution of team operations, and helped to build a stronger connection between the front office, players and team personnel. In the summer of 2019, Jones oversaw the Suns' hire of highly-respected head coach Monty Williams, and he has since overseen a series of transactions that has yielded a deep, complementary roster striving to instill a championship culture behind Jones' organizational vision.

A three-time NBA Champion and 14-year NBA veteran as a player, Jones was one of the league's most respected players by his teammates and peers, serving several years as Secretary-Treasurer for the National Basketball Players Association prior to joining the Suns' front office.

Two of Jones' 14 NBA seasons were spent with the Suns and they were two of the most successful in franchise history as he was a member of the 2005-06 team that won 54 games and advanced to the Western Conference Finals, as well as the 2006-07 team that won 61 games and advanced to the Western Conference Semifinals. He contributed to two Pacific Division titles in his two seasons in Phoenix, averaging 7.8 points and 2.8 rebounds in 151 regular-season games with the team while shooting 38.2 percent from behind the arc.

In each of his final seven seasons as a player, Jones reached the NBA Finals to join his teammate for all seven LeBron James and six Boston Celtics Hall of Famers from the 1950s and 1960s as the only players in NBA history to do so in at least seven consecutive seasons. Nicknamed "Champ," he captured three NBA titles, winning rings with the Miami Heat in 2012 and 2013, and with the Cleveland Cavaliers in 2016.

Overall, the 2011 Three-Point Shootout winner at NBA All-Star averaged 5.2 points and 1.8 rebounds in 15.7 minutes while shooting 40.1 percent from three-point range in 709 career regular-season games over 14 seasons with five NBA teams. Jones never played for a team that finished below .500 and only once missed the playoffs as he appeared in 148 career playoff games. In addition to his two seasons with the Suns, Jones played two seasons with the Indiana Pacers (2003-2005), one season with the Portland Trail Blazers (2007-08), six seasons with the Heat (2008-2014) and three seasons with the Cavaliers (2014-2017).

A native of Miami, Jones is a member of the University of Miami Sports Hall of Fame as he starred collegiately for the Hurricanes and graduated with a degree in finance before being selected by the Pacers with the 49th overall pick in the 2003 NBA Draft.

In 2009, Jones and his wife, Destiny, founded the James Jones Legacy Foundation with a mission to make a difference in the lives of children who do not have access to positive role models. He and Destiny have one son, James Dylan ("J.D."), and two daughters, Jadynn and Jodie.

JEFF BOWER

SVP, BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

A veteran executive with over 30 years of basketball experience at the NBA and collegiate levels, Jeff Bower is in his second season with the Phoenix Suns as senior vice president of basketball operations. Bower brings to the Suns a wealth of knowledge in every facet of basketball operations.

Prior to joining the Suns, Bower was most recently general manager of the Detroit Pistons from 2014-2018. During his time with the Pistons he revamped the team's roster, leading to a breakthrough season in 2015-16 when the Pistons went 44-38 (their first time finishing over .500 since 2007-08) and qualified for the 2016 NBA Playoffs (their first postseason appearance since 2009). As Detroit's general manager, Bower made a series of transactions including trades to acquire Tobias Harris and Reggie Jackson, the team's two leading scorers in 2015-16's return to the postseason. Bower later dealt a package centered on Harris to acquire Blake Griffin, who returned to playing at an All-Star level while helping the Pistons return to the playoffs.

Bower had previously served two terms as general manager of the Charlotte/New Orleans Hornets from 2001-2003 and 2005-2010. The Hornets made five postseason appearances during his time as general manager, highlighted by a franchise record 56 regular-season wins in 2007-08 and the first division title in team history before pushing the defending champion San Antonio Spurs to seven games in the Western Conference Semifinals. Following that season Bower finished third in voting for NBA Executive of the Year. During his tenures as general manager with the Hornets, Bower drafted two future NBA All-Stars in David West (18th in 2003) and Chris Paul (4th in 2005), and the team also drafted two future NBA All-Stars while he was director of scouting or assistant general manager with the team in Baron Davis (3rd in 1999) and Jamaal Magloire (19th in 2000).

He began his NBA career with the Hornets organization in 1995 as an advance scout then was promoted to director of scouting/assistant coach after two years. Bower was the team's assistant general manager for the 2000-01 season before serving as general manager from 2001-2003. He was an assistant coach for the Hornets in 2003-04 and director of player personnel in 2004-05 before taking over as general manager again in 2005. In 2009-10, Bower served as New Orleans' head coach for the final 73 games of the season, posting a 34-39 record.

In addition to his NBA experience, Bower spent the 2013-14 season as head coach of Marist College where he had previously served as an assistant coach (1986-1990) and, later, associate head coach (1990-1995). He helped the Red Foxes to an NCAA tournament berth in 1987 when he coached Rik Smits, the second overall pick in the 1988 NBA Draft. Bower began his collegiate coaching career as an assistant coach at Penn State University from 1983-1986.

A native of Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, Bower and his wife, Lisa, have one daughter. Bower is a graduate of St. Francis College.

TREVOR BUKSTEIN

ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

Trevor Bukstein is in his eighth season as assistant general manager, a role in which he combines his knowledge in the interpretation and application of the league's Collective Bargaining Agreement, salary cap management and trade and contract negotiations with his scouting proficiency as a talent evaluator.

During the 2018-19 season, Bukstein handled general manager duties on an interim basis alongside the club's current General Manager James Jones.

Prior to becoming assistant general manager, Bukstein spent the previous three seasons as the Suns' director of basketball administration. Bukstein joined the Suns after six years as an athlete representation specialist at Williams and Connolly, LLP, where he assisted the sports law practice with its NBA, WNBA and MLB clients.

A Madison, Wisconsin native, Bukstein earned his law degree from the Georgetown University Law Center following his undergraduate work at the University of Michigan. Bukstein has three brothers, including a twin who is a professor at the University of Central Florida.

COACHES

MONTY WILLIAMS

HEAD COACH

Monty Williams is in his second season as Phoenix Suns head coach following a breakthrough first season in which the team totaled 15 more wins than the previous season despite playing nine fewer games. Williams' first season as Suns head coach was punctuated by a perfect 8-0 run in the "NBA Bubble" in Orlando, resulting in his being named NBA Coach of the Seeding Games.

An experienced NBA coach highly-respected throughout the league for his coaching pedigree, his leadership and his commitment to the community, the Phoenix Suns initially agreed to terms with Williams to become the team's new head coach on May 3, 2019.

Williams, 49, spent five seasons as head coach of the New Orleans Hornets/Pelicans from 2010-2015, leading the team to two postseason appearances. In his first season, the Hornets won 46 games and Williams was the Western Conference Coach of the Month for January 2011 as he led New Orleans' return to the playoffs after missing them the season before his arrival. Following the departure of All-NBA guard Chris Paul prior to the 2011-12 season, Williams oversaw the growth and development of one of the league's youngest rosters, increasing the team's win total in three straight seasons culminating in 45 wins in 2014-15 to lead New Orleans back to the playoffs.

In addition to his six seasons as an NBA head coach, Williams has totaled seven seasons as an assistant coach, two seasons in a front office role, one season as a coaching intern and nine seasons as a player, giving him 25 years of NBA experience since first being drafted in 1994. He completed his first season as an assistant coach with the Philadelphia 76ers in 2018-19, helping the team to a 51-31 record and a berth in the Eastern Conference Semifinals. Williams served as associate head coach for the Oklahoma City Thunder in 2015-16, contributing to the Thunder's trip to the Western Conference Finals, and spent five seasons as an assistant coach with the Portland Trail Blazers from 2005-2010, a stint that included two playoff appearances. He got his start in coaching as a coaching intern with the San Antonio Spurs for the 2004-05 season when the team won an NBA Championship. Before returning to the bench last season, Williams spent two seasons in the Spurs' front office as vice president of basketball operations from 2016-2018.

Williams also served as one of three assistant coaches for the USA Basketball Men's National Team from 2013-2016. As a member of Mike Krzyzewski's staff, Williams assisted the USA to a perfect overall record of 26-0, including gold-medal finishes at the 2014 FIBA World Cup in Spain and the 2016 Olympic Games in Brazil.

Williams was a nine-year NBA veteran as a player, averaging 6.3 points in 456 career games with New York, San Antonio, Denver, Orlando and Philadelphia. His best season came with the Spurs in 1996-97 when he averaged a career-high 9.0 points plus 3.2 rebounds and 1.4 assists. Of the seven head coaches he appeared in a game under throughout his NBA career, six won the NBA Coach of the Year Award at least once at some point in their careers (Pat Riley, Don Nelson, Gregg Popovich, Mike D'Antoni, Doc Rivers, Larry Brown) and three have been enshrined in the Basketball Hall of Fame (Riley, Nelson, Brown).

The 24th overall pick in the first round of the 1994 NBA Draft by the Knicks, Williams' NBA career began after he earned honorable mention All-America honors at the University of Notre Dame for his senior season in 1993-94 when he averaged 22.4 points and 8.4 rebounds. Williams began his career in South Bend playing for Digger Phelps and played his final two seasons for John MacLeod, a member of the Suns Ring of Honor and the winningest coach in Suns history. Born in Fredericksburg, Virginia, Williams starred at Potomac High School in Oxon Hill, Maryland before heading to Notre Dame where he earned a degree in the school's College of Arts and Letters, majoring in communications and theatre.

Recognized as a revered friend and role model to many in the basketball community and beyond, at the 2017 NBA Awards, Williams was the recipient of the inaugural Sager Strong Award, an honor named for iconic Turner Sports sideline reporter Craig Sager presented annually to an individual who has been a trailblazer while exemplifying courage, faith, compassion and grace.

BREAKTHROUGH

The Valley witnessed a transformation of the Phoenix Suns franchise over the past 15 months. From the culture shift starting with their new Head Coach Monty Williams and General Manager James Jones, the recognition of their newest All-Star and the overall emergence of one of the NBA's most talented young cores, the Suns had a breakthrough season and the league is taking notice.

Breakthrough provided a review of the Suns' momentous 2019-20 season through a six-part series will featuring exclusive, never-before-seen interviews from the Suns players as they highlighted key moments throughout the season, reflect on their personal performance and growth, and gave a behind-the-scenes perspective into the comradery and leadership that led them to their success.

The 2019-20 season proved to be a rebound for the franchise - generating their best results in the past five years and showcasing that success is on the horizon for the youngest team in the NBA. Even when all odds were stacked against them, the Suns rallied together around their young, but mature roster to capture the imagination of the Valley throughout their improbable 8-0 Bubble run.

Each of the six episodes of Breakthrough emphasized a critical building block for the Suns future that James Jones is architecting - from their coach to their individual position groups. Visit the Phoenix Suns YouTube channel to re-watch Breakthrough.

DON'T SLEEP ON BASKETBALL

When we think about the NBA in early June each year, most of us immediately picture a champion etching their names into the record books while hoisting the Larry O'Brien Trophy after a tightly contested NBA Finals. Not this time.

The year 2020 gave us COVID-19, and it took Kobe. We've experienced more innocent lives murdered at the hands of bigotry, and yet 2020 is seeing a powerful societal shift demanding change.

"Social distancing" replaced the handshake as a form of respect; the mask became the functional accessory; voices from every walk of life rose up in unity for black lives; and all while the country hurtled toward a November election that proved itself to be unparalleled.

In 2020, the Phoenix Suns and Phoenix Mercury introduced Don't Sleep on Basketball, a content series dedicated to documenting the historic times we are living in through the unexpected aperture of the game, right up to the first Suns game with fans in the stands. Basketball sits at the unique intersection of culture, entertainment, and sport; a perfect position for the Suns/Mercury organization to serve as participant, voyeur and storyteller.

THE BUBBLE

The Phoenix Suns were the youngest team to enter the bubble, but you would never be able to tell by their dominating run against the league's premiere competition under the bright lights in Orlando. Despite all of the odds stacked against them, the Suns shocked the basketball world with an undefeated 8-0 record while leaving every last ounce of sweat and effort on the hardwood.

The Suns locker room heard all the chatter, or lack thereof, when entering the bubble. Instead of allowing these voices to get them down, the Suns used that negativity and 'impossible' odds as motivation to show that they belonged.

Finishing as the only undefeated team throughout the seeding games, there became a complete shift in their narrative. From virtually no mention besides the occasional, 'Why are they invited?' to becoming the leading story in the bubble, the Suns carved their place in underdog history joining the likes of the 1976 'Sunderella' Suns, the 2004 Detroit Pistons and the 2007 'We Believe' Warriors.

The Suns have taken tremendous strides throughout Williams' inaugural coaching season with the franchise. His impact on the court and in the locker room have inspired the Suns to unite together, grow together and shine together. But despite all the accomplishments the team has reached along the way, Williams knows this is not the end goal.

The Suns have gained the respect from their NBA peers, the media and fans of all teams across the league, providing a heart-warming story of resiliency. Their success on the court has proven that not only did the Suns belong in the bubble, but they have the ability to compete with anyone. The future is clearly bright in Phoenix. This opportunity gave the Suns a platform to prove themselves across the NBA as well as provide the team will invaluable playoff-like experience that can translate into next season and for years to come.

NEW THREADS & COURT

From ranch life to city life, horses to horsepower and cowboys to Valley Boyz, the Suns' home continues to evolve by bringing a fresh look to a classic scene. With the support of the entire Valley behind them, the Suns have proven they hold the fire to duel any competition that stands in their way.

This season, the Suns debuted their new Nike City Edition uniform, matching Valley court and apparel line that proudly embraces the swagger embodied by the fans and their everlasting passion for their team, their community and their culture. The design is inspired by The Valley's breathtaking scenery, using stark colors and abstract lines to provide a modern twist.

As the sun sets on the franchise's first 52 seasons, a new age of Suns basketball rises on the horizon.

ARENA TRANSFORMATION

For more than a quarter-century, our downtown arena has been vital to the growth and development of our city's urban core. The transformation of Phoenix Suns Arena places us as among the top sports and entertainment destinations in the country and makes Downtown Phoenix a true 24-hour city. The reimagined arena features state-of-the-art improvements that will allow us to deliver a world-class guest experience to all who step inside the doors for years to come.

Fans attending games will be able to enjoy some of Phoenix Suns Arena's exciting new offerings, including: the Valley's largest sports bar surrounded by more than 7,000 square feet of high resolution LED walls in the reimagined arena pavilion; new concourse concessions and Grab-Go's concession stands stocked with individually wrapped snacks, drinks and pre-packaged goods.

Once seated, fans will enjoy an enhanced gameday experience headlined by a new center hung scoreboard that is six times larger and clearer than its predecessor, two new LED ribbon boards that ring the lower and upper bowls, an upgraded sound system for crystal-clear audio and Musco lighting that gives our players' main stage theatre illumination. Lastly, every fan will be welcomed to a new, cushioned seat, as every seat was replaced during the arena transformation.

The transformed home of the Phoenix Suns and Phoenix Mercury also includes multiple new spaces for every fan.

REIMAGINED PAVILION

Welcoming fans upon entry will be a new main entry and grand lobby that has been significantly opened, allowing guests to see straight through into the bowl with sights of the new center hung scoreboard. Anchoring the reimagined Pavilion is Arizona's largest sports bar, which stretches 60 feet long and is surrounded by more than 7,000 square feet of high-resolution LED video walls that will feature dynamic content for game days, concerts and events. To feed off the energy of the fans, the FOX Sports Arizona broadcast stage now resides in this new heart of the arena and brings the Suns Live! pregame, halftime and postgame shows closer to the fans.

ANNEXUS SOCIAL CLUB

Rising from the original footprint of the Phoenix Suns and Mercury training practice facility, the Annexus Social Club is the embodiment of a traditional Social Club, offering premium, bespoke services. - The premium club is anchored by a large marble bar sits at what used to be center court in the practice facility. A custom gold chandelier hangs in the center of the room, flanked by a 635 square foot floor-to-ceiling LED video wall that stands nearly 20 feet tall and 34 feet wide, for fans to catch every second of game action. Members will enjoy valet parking and a private entrance upon arrival to Phoenix Suns Arena, akin to a prohibition-era speakeasy.

ULTRA CLUB & CLUB GILA RIVER

Flanking the length of each side of the court are Ultra Club and Club Gila River, two exclusive courtside clubs available. Fans entering the more than 4,000 square foot clubs will be greeted with a luxurious atmosphere, all-inclusive food from chef-attended stations, hand-crafted cocktails and beverages and made-to-order pizza – all a few steps from their seats.

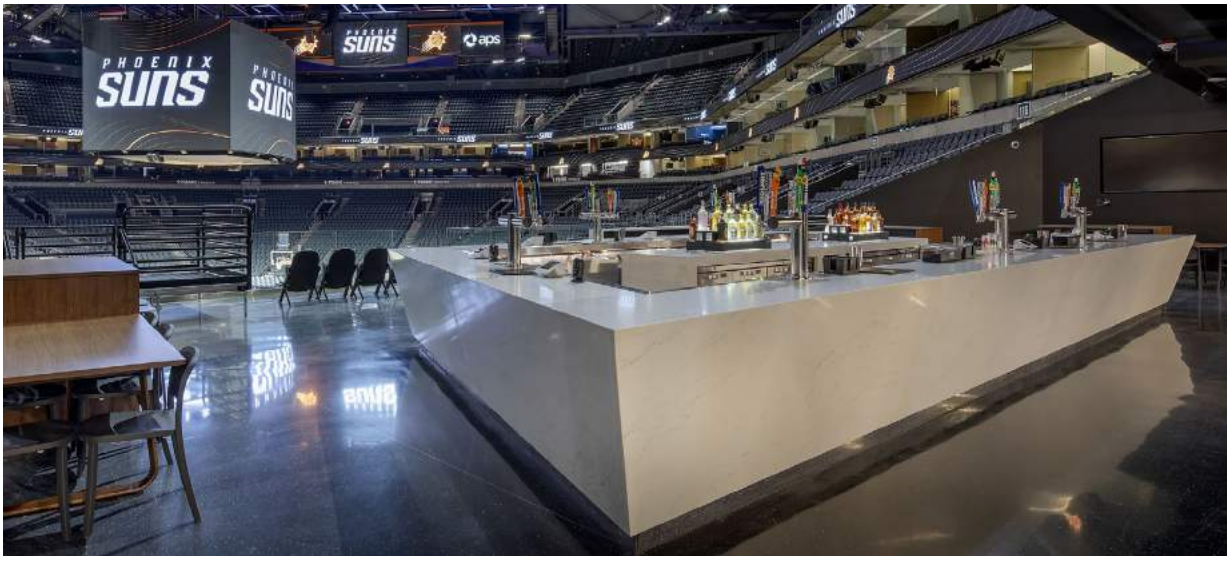

JIM BEAM BARREL BAR

Representing the Valley's Wild-West roots, the Jim Beam Barrel Bar features a rustic aesthetic complete with saddle seats and accentuated by an expansive wall of aged bourbon barrels originally sourced from Kentucky, the home of Jim Beam. Located on the second level and accessible to all ticketed fans, the Jim Beam Barrel Bar features three expansive bars serving beer, wine and hand-crafted cocktails from the Beam Suntory portfolio including multiple varieties of Jim Beam Bourbon, Makers Mark and Maker's 46 and Knob Creek. The unique Western setting features lounge seating and cocktail tables with excellent views onto the court and seating bowl.

CORNER BARS

One of the most striking changes to Phoenix Suns Arena is the creation of the Hornito's Tequila Bar, one of two new corner bars on the main concourse that will provide fans an exceptional area to socialize while taking in a game or concert. Located on the northwest corner and accessible to all ticketed fans, the Hornito's Tequila Bar provides a new vantage point to the action and features a menu full of hand-crafted cocktails, beer and wine surrounded by multiple large flatscreen televisions to keep spectators close to the action on the court and around the NBA.

PERFORMANCE CENTER

PHOENIX SUNS TRADING UP

New Verizon 5G Performance Center places Suns and Verizon at forefront of sports technology

In 2012, the Phoenix Suns became the first NBA team to integrate wireless technology into their basketball operations by using tablets powered by Verizon on the team's bench, a breakthrough collaboration at the time.

Fast-forward eight years, and the Suns and Verizon are again taking sports tech to revolutionary levels with the debut of the world-class Verizon 5G Performance Center located at 44th and Camelback in Phoenix – a massive trade up from the practice facility that was in the basement of the Suns' and Mercury's downtown Phoenix arena for the past 27 years.

THE 5G LAB

The 53,000 square foot basketball oasis is purposefully designed and laden with performance analytics and biometric innovation, bringing Suns general manager James Jones' vision to life.

"This facility was designed with focus and intention," Jones said. "My hope is to bring necessary analysis of biometric movement and basketball performance together in real-time so that our coaches and trainers can make critical evaluations in practice, during games and throughout the development of our players like never before. In short, I want us to be smarter and more efficient."

Jones, who won three NBA championships and made seven consecutive Finals during his 14-year playing career, actively sought out the resources required to improve athletic output by holistically addressing the physical, emotional and mental needs of the player.

Thanks to the integral partnership with Verizon and the application of Verizon 5G Ultra Wideband throughout the facility, more than 150 cameras and sensors, along with 3D force plates, will fuse computer vision and motion analysis, player and ball tracking and ShotTracker - three industry-standard systems that typically operate independently. Combined, these elements form the 5G Lab within the 5G Performance Center.

"While our partnership with Verizon is not new, the genuine collaboration between our two brands to set a new bar for sports tech innovation is truly unprecedented," added Dan Costello, Chief Revenue Officer for the Suns and Mercury.

The final product: a laboratory that will provide coaches and trainers with more information about their athletes' biomechanics and basketball development, faster than ever before. Jones and his staff believe these tools, combined with a process-driven approach, will shape results in a way that no other NBA team can.

On the court, the data acquired could immediately help the Suns "win the margins," as Jones puts it, by helping to cut down on missed shots, sharpen passes and utilize highly functional lineups. The extensive information will also allow coaches and staff to create personalized training regimens that maximize team and player performance. Every day, the gathered material will assist the training staff in preventing player injuries, and/or in shortening the return-to-play time.

Ultimately, the data will be integrated into every part of basketball operations' team-building process, optimizing short- and long-term strategic decisions.

"The 5G Lab keeps the Suns and Mercury on the cutting edge," Jones said. "Verizon's powerful 5G technology is seamlessly incorporated throughout our facility in a way that is unprecedented in the NBA and American professional sports today. That cohesion provides our staff with unparalleled opportunities to efficiently unlock each athlete's fullest potential."

THESE TECHNOLOGY ELEMENTS COMPRISE THE 5G LAB WITHIN THE OVERALL FACILITY:

- Computer Vision & Motion analysis: the solution analyzes individual player movement both in the weight room and on the court, full lineup movement and how movements change with certain variables. The system can measure elements such as player limb sizes, joint reactions and how knees buckle when jumping, and can perform full-body kinematics analyses for player health and fatigue.
- 3D Force Plates offer advanced capabilities to measure and analyze a wide range of biometrics and movement patterns of athletes – including impact force, balance, acceleration/deceleration and launch and landing angles – on a three-dimensional plane. Professional training facilities typically utilize 2D force plates or motion cameras. Verizon 5G-powered technology enables harmony all under one roof.
- Player & Ball Tracking sensors for coaches to monitor current games and practices, along with previous performance history. This will make practice analysis more effective and efficient. Verizon and ShotTracker worked together to develop an entirely new, smaller sensor to fit in the ceiling of the facility.
- ShotTracker offers analysis on every shot made or missed measuring the shot arc, flight path and rim entry using a 100% optical system and provides real-time feedback as well as automated daily and weekly report for the players to improve their shooting technique.

"Working with the Phoenix Suns and Mercury to build the Verizon 5G Performance Center, a first of its kind 5G innovation lab dedicated to athlete performance, has tremendous implications for the sports industry overall," said Brian Mecum, Vice President of Device Technology for Verizon. "With this partnership, we have created a pipeline of innovation to develop use cases around performance, training, health and wellness that will help us continue to push the boundaries of what is possible with Verizon 5G Ultra Wideband."

A BASKETBALL OASIS

Complementing this advanced technology are two side-by-side NBA/WNBA regulation basketball courts and a vast training area, featuring nearly a dozen bespoke strength and conditioning equipment pieces custom-designed by Suns Senior Director of Health and Performance Brady Howe and head strength and conditioning coach Cory Schlesinger.

Large bay doors provide easy access to an outdoor agility yard, allowing players and staff to take advantage of the Valley's more than 300 days of sunshine per year and particularly desirable weather during the typical NBA season. A custom Hydroworx underwater treadmill, adjacent to hot and cold tubs, uses hydraulics to lower or raise the floor to adjust to a player's height.

The locker room features a massive high-resolution LED screen to review film embedded in a black glass marker wall; white lettering on a black surface has been proven to be more appealing to the eye than black on white. The German-built lockers have a ventilation system to pull the odors from hours of sweating completely out of the building, as well as drawers large enough to accommodate up to 16 pairs of sneakers as large as Deandre Ayton's size 18's. The locker room setup is identical to the Suns' newly transformed arena locker room.

The Mercury have their own dedicated locker room and training rooms on the opposite side of the facility.

Suns Managing Partner Robert Sarver, who privately funded the Verizon 5G Performance Center's $45 million design and construction, worked directly with DFDG Architecture (facility design/structure), ZGF Architects (interior design) and Suns players to create an environment that would be supportive of and responsive to day-to-day needs and preferences.

"We've thought through every detail of this building to give our players a state-of-the-art facility where they can work on their craft but also spend quality time together," said Sarver, who even directed the location of the 5G Performance Center to be in close proximity to players' homes. "Enabling that time together will help form a tightknit unit, which is integral to the culture of success that James and Monty (Williams) have created."

While basketball is the facility's primary focus, a multitude of sophisticated player amenities create a one-stop-shop for training, recovery and connection located in the convenient area near the iconic Camelback Mountain.

The spacious player lounge is a hub for relaxation and entertainment, highlighted by televisions with video-game systems, a barber chair and a full-service kitchen with an on-site executive chef. There are several active and quiet areas throughout the facility, including a sensory deprivation chamber and outdoor hot tub, to foster rejuvenation and longevity. Players can access the facility 24/7, allowing for flexible and unlimited usage while generating organic opportunities to build team camaraderie.

Every aspect of the sleekly designed building is intentional. Nearly all offices or indoor vantage points offer views of the courts. Sarver commissioned an extensive sun study to determine optimal natural lighting, especially while on the courts. Players and staff will go through a "touchless journey" with few doors and handles once inside the building, promoting simplicity and health.

The Verizon 5G Performance Center embodies the Suns' commitment to driving innovation in sports technology and investing in the whole athlete. The result is a highly efficient, world-class facility designed to develop powerhouse teams for years to come.

PHOENIX SUNS CHARITIES

SEASON OF GIVING

Despite the pandemic and quick turnaround for the start of the 2020-21 season, the Phoenix Suns spent the holiday season giving back to the community that has supported them for the past 52 years.

Through a variety of holiday-season initiatives, the team that led the NBA in assists per game last season collaborated with local charities and organizations to make this time of year a little brighter for Valley residents.

Devin Booker surprised five Special Olympics athletes with an autographed basketball from Devin Booker and fresh apparel from Finish Line along with a virtual visit from the Suns All Star himself.

Deandre Ayton teamed up with PUMA once again to surprise 40 children from the Christown YMCA with shoes, socks, basketballs and Suns swag and bring some holiday cheer to kids in the greater Phoenix area.

In lieu of the annual visit to Phoenix Children's Hospital, the entire Phoenix Suns roster spent the afternoon following practice visiting patients virtually, answering questions and connecting with children and their families. In addition to the time spent with the members of the team, each child received the first autographed basketballs by the entire 2020-21 Suns roster.

Finally, Suns Charities, guard Cameron Payne and United Phoenix Firefighters Charities teamed up to assist a Valley family that was evicted from their apartment over Thanksgiving. They helped the Cisneroz family secure a new place to live, including funding two months of rent, and provided Christmas presents for Bobby's and Rosa's nine children.

MASK UP AZ

Phoenix Suns Charities, APS & Rex Chapman Pledge a Combined $100,000 to Provide 25,000 Masks For Local Children.

In the tough times that 2020 and the COVID-19 pandemic have bestowed upon so many, it is more important than ever for people to come together and assist in picking each other up.

Former Sun and Twitter personality Rex Chapman is teaming up with APS and Phoenix Suns Charities to donate 25,000 face masks to children in schools throughout Arizona, including Beaver Creek, Casa Grande, Cottonwood, Keams Canyon, Parker, Phoenix, Yuma and Winkelman, who may be struggling to purchase masks, which are required to be worn for in-person school.

In collaboration with the Office of the Maricopa County School Superintendent Steve Watson, Phoenix Suns Charities distributed a total of 25,000 masks to underserved children throughout the Valley and the state.

Together, Phoenix Suns Charities, APS and Rex Chapman contributed $100,000 toward the design and manufacturing of these unique, one-of-a-kind masks. Each face covering will be cut and sewn from a surplus of unused Suns warmups, jerseys and other uniforms throughout the years, similar to the ones once worn by Chapman himself.

LOCAL LOVE

Philanthropy is woven into the fabric of the Phoenix Suns organization. After all, Phoenix Suns Charities was established as the very first NBA foundation in 1988 and has always given back to the community the Suns proudly represent. But now more than ever, our community is in need.

When the coronavirus reached pandemic status and the NBA season was postponed on March 11, the Suns went on a full-court press to provide resources and relief throughout the community, thanks in large part to an assist from Suns All-Star guard Devin Booker, who pledged $100,000 and tipped off a COVID-19 relief fundraising campaign on Twitch. Suns Charities and its partners have provided meals for frontline healthcare workers, funded antibody test kits for local first responders and donated thousands of pounds of food and other supplies for children and families.

The Suns once again strived to help those in need but this time, lent a hand to a different kind of teammate – local downtown Phoenix businesses that have been hit especially hard during this difficult time.

According to Local First Arizona, a nonprofit organization that celebrates independent businesses throughout Arizona, downtown businesses saw anywhere from an 80 to 100 percent decrease in profits over the summer of 2020. Recognizing the need, Suns Charities huddled up with Local First and Devin Booker and committed to supporting downtown Phoenix-area restaurants and food vendors with $100,000 in funding that will go towards helping feed the hungry in our community.

Extending the reach of that initial impact, Suns Charities worked with 15 additional downtown Phoenix restaurants and awarded $5,000 to each participating business for meals to feed community groups in need. The restaurants will receive much needed revenue, while the food itself will be distributed to local nonprofits. The cumulative impact generated over 10,000 meals for the hungry.

SOCIAL JUSTICE

The Suns embraced the opportunity to speak out against the social injustice throughout society and the entire roster elected to wear a powerful message on the back of their jersey during the season restart in Orlando. Each player on the Suns roster took the time to thoroughly decipher through the options of approved statements and choose the one they felt most impacted by as the fight for justice continues outside of the bubble.

2021 NBA ALL-STAR

The Suns entered the 2021 All-Star break with the NBA's second-best record and for the first time since 2010 the Suns had multiple All-Star selections. Chris Paul became the 25th different Suns player to be named an All-Star while Devin Booker became the first Suns player to be named an All-Star in consecutive seasons since Amar'e Stoudemire in 2009. Paul had 16 assists in Atlanta to pass Magic Johnson for the most career assists in NBA All-Star Game history. Booker did not play in Atlanta due to injury.
