BENGALS COACHING STAFF

MARVIN LEWIS — Head Coach

Marvin Lewis is in his seventh season as Bengals head coach, one year from tying Paul Brown and Sam Wyche for the franchise's longest tenure of eight seasons. In Bengals head coaching victories, he also ranks third (behind Wyche and Brown).

Lewis enters 2009 tied for fifth in the NFL for current consecutive seasons as a head coach (seven). The only coaches with longer active streaks are Jeff Fisher (15, all with Titans/Oilers), Andy Reid (11 with Philadelphia), Bill Belichick (10 with New England) and John Fox (eight with Carolina). Sharing fifth place with Lewis is Jacksonville's Jack Del Rio.

Lewis also has cracked the active top 10 for most total seasons as an NFL head coach. In this category, his seven seasons tie him with Del Rio for ninth place.

Lewis' record over his six previous campaigns is 46-49-1 in the regular season, 0-1 in postseason and 46-50-1 overall. He needs nine victories to tie Paul Brown (55-59-1) in Bengals annals and is 18 wins behind Wyche (64-68).

Lewis' Bengals log includes an AFC North Division championship in 2005, and he coached his first five years (2003-07) without experiencing a losing season, the club's longest such streak since a six-year span from 1972-77. But the Bengals need a rebound in 2009. The club slipped to a 7-9 mark in 2007, and last year scrapped to only 4-11-1, with Pro Bowl quarterback Carson Palmer missing 12 games due to an elbow injury.

But Palmer has fully recovered without surgery as the 2009 season begins, and prospects for '09 also are buoyed by the continuing improvement of the Bengals' defensive unit.

Lewis hired veteran NFL coordinator Mike Zimmer to pilot the defense last year, and playing through numerous injuries, including the loss of top draft pick Keith Rivers, the defense climbed to a No. 12 NFL ranking by season's end.

Under Lewis, the Bengals have strongly maintained popularity numbers which lead the Cincinnati charts.

The team enters 2009 with a franchise-record streak of 44 consecutive home sellouts (regular season and postseason), and for the last 68 TV ratings weeks that have included a Bengals game, the Bengals have each week been the top-rated show of all programming in Cincinnati. The sellout streak began in 2003, Lewis' first season, and the TV ratings streak began in 2004.

Lewis was named the ninth head coach in Bengals history on Jan. 14, 2003, becoming at the time the eighth African-American to become an NFL head coach. In recognition of the 8-8 Bengals being the NFL's most improved team in 2003, Lewis finished second behind Bill Belichick of Super Bowl champion New England in Associated Press voting for NFL Coach of the Year.

Lewis came to the Bengals with credentials as a record-setting NFL defensive coordinator who had earned a Super Bowl championship ring.

In 2002, the season before he joined the Bengals, Lewis led the Washington Redskins to a No. 5 NFL defensive ranking, serving as assistant head coach as well as defensive coordinator. He came to the Redskins after six seasons (1996-2001) as defensive coordinator with the Baltimore Ravens, a tenure that included a Super Bowl victory in the 2000 season.

In the 2000 regular season, Lewis' Baltimore defense set the NFL record for fewest points allowed in a 16-game campaign (165), clipping 22 points off the previous mark. The 2000 Ravens are always an entry in discussions regarding the best NFL defenses of all time.

Lewis had his first NFL assignment from 1992-95, as linebackers coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers. At Pittsburgh, he guided the careers of Pro Bowl selections Kevin Greene, Chad Brown, Levon Kirkland and Greg Lloyd. The Steelers opportunity came for Lewis after 11 years in college coaching.

Lewis began his coaching career as linebackers coach at his alma mater, Idaho State, from 1981-84. ISU's team (also nicknamed the Bengals) finished 12-1 during Lewis' first season and won the NCAA Division 1-AA championship. From 1985-86, Lewis was linebackers coach at Long Beach State, and he held the same post at New Mexico from '87-89. In 1990, he accepted a position coaching outside linebackers at the University of Pittsburgh, and he joined the Steelers and the NFL after two seasons at Pitt.

Lewis played LB at Idaho State, earning All-Big Sky Conference honors for three consecutive years (1978-80). He also saw action at quarterback and free safety during his college career. He received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Idaho State in 1981, and earned his master's in athletic administration in '82. He was inducted into Idaho State's Hall of Fame in 2001.

Born Sept. 23, 1958, Lewis attended Fort Cherry High School in McDonald, Pa. (near Pittsburgh), where he was an all-conference quarterback and safety. He also earned high school letters in wrestling and baseball. He and his wife, Peggy, have a daughter, Whitney, and a son, Marcus.

Marvin Lewis Community Fund is going strong

Head coach Marvin Lewis has reached out to strengthen the franchise's ties to the community, making more than 300 appearances in his first six years while also encouraging the players to become engaged. In 2003, he launched the highly successful Marvin Lewis Community Fund (MLCF). The Fund so far has donated nearly $5 million for support of its own programs, seven annual recipient organizations and more than 150 other proven regional non-profit organizations. The Community Fund has six signature programs that seek to empower, educate and inspire young people in the region, and it has directly impacted an estimated 250,000 individuals since its inception. In 2008, the MLCF was able to invest 89 cents of every dollar raised back into the community.

The MLCF's proudest accomplishments include awarding four-year, $20,000 college scholarships to 28 outstanding student athletes who may not have had the opportunity to further their education, due to financial constraints. Another signature MLCF venture has been collaborating with the Cincinnati Bengals and Cincinnati Public Schools to launch "Learning is Cool," an incentive program that rewards students for strong academic performance.

A partial list of organizations Coach Lewis and the MLCF have supported includes:

Cincinnati Public Schools, Youth Inc., Minorities in Mathematics, Science and Engineering, SUCCESS by 6, the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, Boys and Girls Clubs of Greater Cincinnati, Autism Society, Boys Hope Girls Hope, the Cincinnati Public Library, FreeStore/FoodBank, Over-the-Rhine Chamber of Commerce, the NAACP, the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, ProScan Pink Ribbon Center, Children's Home of Cincinnati, National Football Foundation, Project Connect and Cincinnati Children's Hospital. PAUL ALEXANDER — Assistant Head Coach/Offensive Line

Paul Alexander is in his 16th season on the Bengals coaching staff. It's his 15th straight season as offensive line coach, and Alexander is also the team's assistant head coach, promoted to that position in 2003 when Marvin Lewis took over as head coach.

"It has been important to me to have Paul as an advisor," said Lewis. "When I first came here, his knowledge of our team gave me a source for some very important direction. Since then, he has helped me in a lot of areas off and on the field. And as the record shows, he has continued to do an excellent job with our line."

Twice during the past four years, the Bengals have set new franchise records for fewest sacks allowed. Opponents managed only 17 sacks in 2007, easily topping the record low of 21 that had been established just two years before, during the team's 2005 AFC North title season.

Last season was a tough one overall for the Cincinnati offense, which struggled to recover from the loss of Pro Bowl QB Carson Palmer for 12 games due to injury. But the club rallied to finish the season on a three-game win streak, and instrumental in the strong finish was Alexander's coaching of a line that was markedly short of experience.

Due to injuries, the Bengals played their last six games with rookie Anthony Collins at LOT and first-year player Nate Livings at LG. Collins had seen action for only a handful of plays when he was called on to start, and Livings had seen no game action at all. But the Bengals averaged 167 rushing yards over the final three games while allowing only three sacks. In the season finale against Kansas City, when Cincinnati rushed for a season-high 204 yards, another player with virtually no experience was in the starting lineup, as first-year player Dennis Roland was pressed into service due to injuries at the ROT spot.

Alexander's line has helped Palmer post offensive numbers that qualify him as one of the NFL's elite quarterbacks. Over the four years 2004-07, Palmer became the fifth-fastest player in NFL history (59 games) to reach the 100 mark in TD passes. Palmer has also set, and in some cases has re-set, club season records for completions, passing yards, TD passes and passer rating.

And over 2004-06, HB Rudi Johnson's 4221 rushing yards were the most by any Bengal in a three-season span.

On Oct. 22, 2000, Alexander's Bengals line shared the glory of a 278-yard rushing game by HB Corey Dillon vs. Denver. It was an NFL record at the time, and it still stands third in league annals entering the 2009 season. The Bengals' 407 total rushing yards in that game ranks as the fifth-highest single-game total in NFL history, and as the most rushing yards in 58 years. The last team to top it was the New York Giants, who gained 423 against Baltimore in 1950.

Alexander began his NFL coaching career in 1992 as tight ends coach of the N.Y. Jets, under head coach Bruce Coslet. When Coslet moved to Cincinnati as offensive coordinator in 1994, Alexander joined him, in the role of Bengals tight ends coach.

But Alexander's first love in football was always the offensive line. He was afforded the chance to take over that job for the Bengals in 1995, and has held it ever since.

Alexander is a product of distinguished teachers. He coached under Joe Paterno at Penn State and Bo Schembechler at Michigan. He also was offensive line coach at Central Michigan, a school whose coach, Herb Deromedi, ranks with Paterno and Schembechler among the winningest coaches in NCAA Division I history.

Alexander's birth date is Feb. 12, 1960. He's a native of Rochester, N.Y., where he attended Cardinal Mooney High School. He was an Academic All-American at Cortland State (N.Y.) and holds a master's degree in exercise physiology from Penn State. Off the field, he is actively involved with the Boy Scouts, the D.A.R.E. program and high school linemen camps.

He and his wife, Kathy, have three daughters — Mary Beth, Carolyn and Emily.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY — 1979-81: Played offensive tackle at Cortland State. 1983-84: Graduate assistant, Penn State. 1985-86: Graduate assistant, Michigan. 1987-91: Assistant coach (AC), Central Michigan. 1992-93: AC, New York Jets. 1994-2002: AC, Bengals. 2003-present: Assistant head coach/offensive line coach, Bengals.

A STAT THAT MATTERS

The Bengals are 32-5-1 in regular-season play under Marvin Lewis when logging a plus in turnover differential. That's an .855 winning percentage.

With a minus differential, Cincinnati's record under Lewis is almost a mirror image at 5-31-0 (.139).

The Bengals are 9-13 under Lewis (.409) when the differential has been even.

BOB BRATKOWSKI — Offensive Coordinator

Bob Bratkowski is in his ninth year as Bengals offensive coordinator. During the era of head coach Marvin Lewis, Bratkowski has developed and directed units that have gained recognition among the NFL's most talented and explosive.

Though 2008 was a down year offensively, with Pro Bowl QB Carson Palmer playing only four games due to injury, a longer view of rankings tells the story. The Bengals have been in the NFL's top seven in passing offense in three of the last four seasons, and in the top 10 in total offense in three of the last four years. In third-down efficiency, Cincinnati's offense has been in the top 10 for four of the past six years.

Besides Palmer, six other Bengals offensive players have been selected for the Pro Bowl during Bratkowski's term as coordinator. The list includes OT Willie Anderson, HB Corey Dillon, WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh, HB Rudi Johnson, FB Lorenzo Neal and WR Chad Ochocinco.

Twice during Bratkowski's tenure, the Bengals have set franchise records for fewest sacks allowed. A record of 21 was posted during the divisional championship season of 2005, and the bar was re-set in '07 with only 17 sacks allowed.

The solid protection helped Palmer become the fifth-fastest player (59 games) in NFL history to reach the 100 mark in TD passes. Palmer knocked Brett Favre and Daunte Culpepper out of the top five in the category, and joined a group that also includes two Hall of Famers (Dan Marino and Johnny Unitas), a surefire future Hall of Famer (Peyton Manning) and a Super Bowl winner with Hall of Fame potential (Kurt Warner).

Over 2004-06, Rudi Johnson's 4221 rushing yards were the most by any Bengal in a three-season span. Earlier under Bratkowski's watch, Dillon posted a pair of 1300-yard seasons, and QB Jon Kitna saw his stock as an NFL starter revived.

Last year's team rallied to finish the season on a three-game win streak, with Bratkowski and the offensive staff getting the most from a backup quarterback and a line that was woefully short on experience due to injuries. QB Ryan Fitzpatrick posted an 83.8 passer rating over the last three games, and the line helped the Bengals average 167 rushing yards in the three contests, with only three sacks allowed .

The Bengals played their last six games of 2008 with rookie Anthony Collins at LOT and first-year player Nate Livings at LG. Collins had seen action for only a handful of plays before he was called on to start, and Livings had seen no game action at all. In the season finale against Kansas City, when Cincinnati rushed for a season-high 204 yards, another player with virtually no experience was in the starting lineup, as first-year player Dennis Roland was pressed into service due to injuries at the ROT spot.

Bratkowski (pronounced "brat-COW-skee") has been an NFL coach since 1992, and he was coordinator of the University of Miami's NCAA champion offenses in '89 and '91. He entered the NFL ranks in 1992 at Seattle, and was with the Seahawks through '98. He spent the 1999 and 2000 seasons as wide receivers coach with the Pittsburgh Steelers before joining the Bengals in '01.

At Seattle in 1997, he was coordinator for the NFL's top passing offense (247.4 yards per game). The team ranked third in the NFL in total offense. Seattle also established club season records in '97 for most yards passing (4187) and completions (359). The Seahawks were second in the NFL in first downs (331).

Prior to his 1992 hiring by Seattle, Bratkowski spent 14 years as a college coach, including offensive coordinator assignments at Weber State, Wyoming and Washington State, in addition to Miami.

As a college player, Bratkowski was a three-year letterman as a wide receiver at Washington State. His father, Zeke, played quarterback for 14 seasons in the NFL, seeing action for the Bears, Rams and Packers.

Bratkowski was born Dec. 2, 1955, in San Angelo, Texas. Bob and his wife, Rebecca, have two children — son Shane and daughter Courtney.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY — 1975-77: Played wide receiver at Washington State. 1978-80: Assistant coach (AC), Missouri. 1981-85: Offensive coordinator, Weber State. 1986: Offensive coordinator, Wyoming. 1987-88: Offensive coordinator, Washington State. 1989-91: Offensive coordinator, Miami (Fla.). 1992-94: AC, Seattle Seahawks. 1995-98: Offensive coordinator, Seattle Seahawks. 1999-2000: AC, Pittsburgh Steelers. 2001-present: Offensive coordinator, Bengals.

25 DOES THE TRICK

The Bengals are 22-1 in the last 23 games in which they've had a rusher carry 25 or more times. HB Cedric Benson added to the list in the last two weeks of 2008, rushing 38-for-171 in a 14-0 win at Cleveland and 25-for-111 in a 16-6 conquest of Kansas City.

The Bengals, however, have had only four games in the last two seasons with a 25-carry rusher.

Cincinnati's only loss in the last 23 with a 25-carry rusher was Dec. 24, 2006 at Denver, when the Broncos overcame a 30-for-129 day by Rudi Johnson in a 24-23 win.

MIKE ZIMMER — Defensive Coordinator

Mike Zimmer is back for a second season as Bengals defensive coordinator in 2009, following an '08 campaign that featured steady improvement despite numerous injuries to front-line players.

The Bengals finished the season ranked 12th in the NFL in fewest yards allowed (325.5 per game). It was the franchise's best ranking since 2001 (ninth). As the Bengals closed the season with a three-game win streak, opponents managed only 19 total points and averaged 227.3 yards per game.

The defense tied a pair of club records during the finishing stretch, holding foes scoreless for a stretch of seven consecutive quarters and allowing no touchdowns for nine consecutive quarters.

In Zimmer's 4-3 scheme, ninth-year LB Dhani Jones posted a career-high 165 tackles. LB Brandon Johnson, who had no defensive stats over 2006-07 with Arizona, blossomed into an impact defender with 112 stops. Their play helped make up for the absence of top draft pick Keith Rivers, who started promisingly but missed more than half the year due to a jaw fracture.

Zimmer also helped accelerate the development of a promising young secondary, led by former first-round draft picks Leon Hall and Johnathan Joseph at CB.

An NFL defensive coordinator for the past nine seasons, with prior assignments in Dallas and Atlanta, Zimmer called the 2008 Bengals defense one of his favorites.

"I've coached some really good defenses, but none that I respected more than these guys," Zimmer said. "They came to work every single day, they listened to me, and they didn't complain. I was on them pretty good, so I respect all of those guys."

Zimmer was Dallas defensive coordinator from 2000-06, including four years ('03-06) under head coach Bill Parcells. Zimmer moved to the Atlanta Falcons as coordinator in 2007, and with the departure of Bobby Petrino as Falcons head coach, members of his staff were freed to pursue other opportunities.

Zimmer is in his 16th season as an NFL coach. He joined the NFL with Dallas in 1994, and after six seasons working primarily as secondary coach, he was elevated to coordinator.

Zimmer led top-10 defenses for Dallas in both the 4-3 and 3-4 schemes. His 4-3 defenses finished fourth in net yards allowed (287.4) in 2001 and first in '03 (253.5) And in 2005, Zimmer installed a 3-4 scheme, marking the Cowboys' first departure from the 4-3 since the club was founded in 1960. In that transition year, Dallas finished 10th in the NFL in total defense (300.9 yards allowed per game).

Six times during Zimmer's tenure as secondary coach and coordinator, the Cowboys finished fifth or better in the NFL in scoring defense. The No. 1-ranked yardage defense that he coordinated in 2003 was No. 2 in league scoring defense (16.3). Three of those Dallas defenses led the NFL in fewest passing yards. Also during that tenure, Zimmer guided the careers of eight defensive players who made a combined total of 23 Pro Bowl appearances.

The list of defensive stars that Zimmer helped develop at Dallas includes S Roy Williams (who is now with the Bengals), CB Terence Newman and LB DeMarcus Ware. All three players have made multiple Pro Bowls.

Zimmer earned a Super Bowl ring as secondary coach with the 1995 Cowboys team that defeated Pittsburgh in Super Bowl XXX. One of Zimmer's players, unheralded CB Larry Brown, won the game MVP award with a pair of interceptions.

Zimmer coached 15 years in the college ranks before joining the Cowboys, working at Missouri, Weber State and Washington State.

The 2009 season is Zimmer's 30th in coaching, and he has been a defensive coordinator for 20 of those campaigns.

Zimmer was born on June 5, 1956, in Peoria, Ill. He played QB and later LB at Illinois State. His father, Bill, made the Illinois Hall of Fame as a prep football and wrestling coach.

JIM ANDERSON — Running Backs

Jim Anderson is in his 26th year as Bengals running backs coach. He is the only Bengal to log even as many as 20 seasons as a position coach, coordinator and/or head coach. He has coached a long line of Bengals running backs to outstanding performances, with five earning spots in the Pro Bowl, and last season he guided a notable comeback season for Cedric Benson, a high first-round draft pick who had struggled to break through in three seasons with Chicago.

Benson was out of the NFL from June of 2008 until his Sept. 30 signing with Cincinnati. He went on claim the No. 1 HB role and lead the team in rushing yards (747) and yards from scrimmage (932). Benson briefly became an unrestricted free agent this past February, but chose to re-sign with Cincinnati.

A distant second behind Anderson in Bengals coaching tenure is Dick LeBeau, whose 18 seasons included 15 as an assistant, one year split between assistant and head coach, and two years as head coach.

Among current NFL position coaches, Anderson has the most years with his team. He took over that designation in 2007, following the retirement of Dick Hoak, who spent 35 seasons as running backs coach for the Steelers.

Anderson joined the Bengals in 1984, after 13 seasons as a college coach. He has worked under five Bengals head coaches — Sam Wyche, Dave Shula, Bruce Coslet, Dick LeBeau and Marvin Lewis.

Anderson has been the coach in charge of nearly every running back listed in the Bengals record book. His roster of Pro Bowl backs includes:

- James Brooks (played 1984-91, four Pro Bowls): Amassed 6447 yards with a stellar average of 4.8 yards per carry, and he was one of the best receiving RBs in NFL history, with 297 catches for 3012 yards as a Bengal.
- Harold Green (played 1990-95, one Pro Bowl): Ranks fifth in Bengals rushing yards (3727) and made the Pro Bowl after the '92 season with 1170 yards and a 4.4 avg.
- Corey Dillon (played 1997-2003, three Pro Bowls): Leads Bengals in all-time rushing yards (8061) and held one of the NFL's glamour records when he rushed for then-league best 278 yards vs. Denver in 2000.
- Lorenzo Neal (played 2001-02): Earned the first of his now three Pro Bowl berths in '02, as a blocking FB for Corey Dillon's 1311 rushing yards.
- Rudi Johnson (played 2001-07, one Pro Bowl): Johnson posted the two top rushing seasons in Bengals history (1458 and 1454 yards), and his 4221 yards over 2004-06 are the most by any Bengal in a three-year span.

Anderson is also one of the coaches behind the NFL's top team rushing performance in the last 58 years. On Oct. 22, 2000, when Corey Dillon rushed for 278 yards vs. Denver, the team gained 407 on the ground. It's the fifth-most rushing yards in NFL history and the most since 1950, when the N.Y. Giants gained 423 against Baltimore.

In addition, Anderson coached Ickey Woods, who was a league-wide sensation as a rookie in 1988 before having his career derailed by an '89 knee injury.

Anderson's coaching excellence was recognized following the 2001 season when he was interviewed for the Stanford University head coaching job. Anderson was on the Stanford coaching staff from 1980-83.

Anderson's troops won NFL rushing titles in 1988 and '89, and won the AFC rushing crown in '86. From 1986-90, the Bengals finished 2-4-1-1-5 in league rushing. Other NFL top-10 rushing finishes by the Bengals during Anderson's tenure include eighth in 1992, ninth in '97, tied for sixth in '99 and second in 2000.

Anderson was born March 27, 1948, in Harrisburg, Pa. He graduated from Cal Western with a degree in physical education, and has a lifetime teaching certificate in California. Jim and his wife, Marcia, have a son, Derek.

SIGISMONDO CIOFFI — Assistant Defensive Backs

Sigismondo "Louie" Cioffi is in his 13th season on the Bengals coaching staff. Since 2003, he has been assistant defensive backs coach, teaming with DBs coach Kevin Coyle to work with the largest position group on the team — the cornerbacks and safeties.

Cioffi (pronounced "CHO-fee") was defensive staff assistant for his first six Bengals campaigns. He is 35 years old as he enters the 2009 season, an age at which few coaches have amassed his level of NFL experience.

Cioffi works most often with the safeties, and last season, he continued to help build the position group into one of the team's most promising.

Second-year pros Chinedum Ndukwe and Marvin White both had fine years despite battling injury problems. They have developed into hard hitters who can also handle coverage responsibilities. Also last year, the Bengals got high production from veteran S Chris Crocker, who signed as a free agent at midseason. Though he played significantly in only seven games, Crocker logged 48 tackles with 1.5 sacks, an interception, a forced fumble and six passes defensed. Crocker became an unrestricted free agent after the '08 season, and chose to re-sign with Cincinnati.

Cioffi's work helped the Bengals finish the season ranked 12th in the NFL in fewest yards allowed (325.5 per game). It was the franchise's best ranking since 2001 (ninth). As the Bengals closed the season with a three-game win streak, opponents managed only 19 total points and averaged 227.3 yards per game.

The defense tied a pair of club records during the finishing stretch, holding foes scoreless for a stretch of seven consecutive quarters and allowing no touchdowns for nine consecutive quarters.

Cincinnati's interception total was down a bit last year, to 12, but from 2004-07, the Bengals' 89 interceptions were the most in the NFL. And Cincinnati defensive backs snagged 72 of that total. Cincinnati's total led the NFL by eight over the four-year span.

Cioffi is an expert in computer work, and in addition to his on-field duties with players, he handles much of the preparation work for the entire defense on the upcoming week's opponent.

Cioffi took on the job of Bengals defensive staff assistant in 1997 at age 23, and during the first three seasons of his Cincinnati career, he was the youngest full-time assistant coach in the NFL.

His association with the NFL dates even farther back. In 1993, he was a 20-year-old assistant to Bruce Coslet's coaching staff on the N.Y. Jets. His responsibilities then included assembling play books and running video printers on game days. Cioffi also worked with the Jets in 1994 in a similar role.

Cioffi was wide receivers coach at C.W. Post University in Brookville, N.Y. in 1995 and '96. The 1996 team won the ECAC Division II championship.

Coslet's first full year as Bengals head coach was 1997, and he brought Cioffi to Cincinnati in a Bengals staff reorganization. Cioffi later worked under Bengals head coach Dick LeBeau, and was involved in coaching linebackers while continuing with his game preparation responsibilities.

Cioffi was born Sept. 21, 1973, in Queens, N.Y. and attended college at SUNY-Stony Brook. His wife's name is Cindy. They have a daughter, Cecilia Elle, and a son, Sigismondo Connor.

KEVIN COYLE — Defensive Backs

Kevin Coyle returns for his ninth season on the Bengals coaching staff in 2009. He is in his seventh year as defensive backs coach, directing a unit that has emerged as one of the most promising on the team.

Under Coyle's direction last year, second-year CB Leon Hall and third-year CB Johnathan Joseph continued to develop on schedule after being acquired as first-round draft choices. At safety, Coyle has gotten similarly promising results from a pair of later-round draft picks, Marvin White (fourth round in 2007) and Chinedum Ndukwe (seventh round in '07). Also last season, the Bengals got immediate positive production from S Chris Crocker, a veteran signed as a free agent in midseason.

Coyle's work helped the Bengals finish 2008 ranked 12th in the NFL in fewest yards allowed (325.5 per game). It was the franchise's best ranking since 2001 (ninth). As the Bengals closed the season with a three-game win streak, opponents managed only 19 total points and averaged 227.3 yards per game.

The defense tied a pair of club records during the finishing stretch, holding foes scoreless for a stretch of seven consecutive quarters and allowing no touchdowns for nine consecutive quarters.

Over Coyle's six seasons as DBs coach, the Bengals rank third in the NFL in interceptions (115) and second in total takeaways (194). Of the 115 interceptions, 92 have been snagged by defensive backs.

In 2005, Coyle oversaw a 10-INT season by CB Deltha O'Neal, the highest individual total in Bengals history. O'Neal was voted to the Pro Bowl, and Bengals DBs had 23 of Cincinnati's NFL-leading 31 INTs on the year.

This is Coyle's 32nd year in coaching. He spent his first two years with the Bengals (2001-02) as cornerbacks coach. He began coaching in 1978 as a graduate assistant at the University of Cincinnati. In his last 10 seasons before joining the Bengals, he was defensive coordinator and secondary coach at three Division I college programs — Syracuse, Maryland and Fresno State.

At Fresno State (1997-2000), Coyle's defenses produced three first-team All-Western Athletic Conference players in both '99 and '00, best in the league both years. In 1998, the FSU defense set a school-record low with only 23 touchdowns allowed.

At Maryland (1994-96), Coyle oversaw a dramatic improvement in the Terrapins' defense, steadily guiding a program that had struggled prior to his arrival to a final total defense ranking of No. 29 nationally in '96.

At Syracuse (1991-93), Coyle's '92 defense led the nation in interceptions (24) and set a school record for fewest rushing yards allowed (1007) in an 11-game season.

Coyle was at Holy Cross from 1982-90, first serving as outside linebackers coach before being promoted to defensive coordinator in '86. During his five years as coordinator, Holy Cross was the winningest Division I-AA team in the nation (49-5-1), with the Crusader defense ranked in the top 10 nationally in scoring defense four times. Coyle coached five All-Americans at Holy Cross.

Six players from Coyle's Fresno State defenses went on to play in the NFL, including three defensive backs. At Maryland, Coyle coached future NFL cornerbacks Chad Scott and Lewis Sanders. At Syracuse, he coached future NFL standout safety Donovin Darius.

Coyle has been active in the community, speaking to emotionally troubled patients at Cincinnati's Children's Hospital, as well as speaking at schools on behalf of the D.A.R.E. program. He also coordinates the annual Youth Coaches Clinic sponsored by the Marvin Lewis

Community Fund.

Coyle was born Jan. 14, 1956, in Staten Island, N.Y. He and his wife, Louise, have a daughter, Jenlain, age 16.

JEFF FITZGERALD — Linebackers

Jeff FitzGerald, a 16-year veteran in NFL coaching, returns for his second season on the Bengals coaching staff in 2009. In his first year, the defense improved notably and the linebackers played a key role.

The Bengals finished the season ranked 12th in the NFL in fewest yards allowed (325.5 per game). It was the franchise's best ranking since 2001 (ninth). As the Bengals closed the season with a three-game win streak, opponents managed only 19 total points and averaged 227.3 yards per game.

The defense tied a pair of club records during the finishing stretch, holding foes scoreless for a stretch of seven consecutive quarters and allowing no touchdowns for nine consecutive quarters.

Under FitzGerald's direction, ninth-year LB Dhani Jones posted a career-high 165 tackles. LB Brandon Johnson, who had no defensive stats over 2006-07 with Arizona, blossomed into an impact defender with 112 stops. And Rashad Jeanty, a third-year NFL player with pro experience in Canada, developed into a full-time starter, ranking fourth on the team with 97 tackles.

Together, the linebackers' play helped make up for the absence of top draft pick Keith Rivers, who started promisingly but missed more than half the year due to a jaw fracture. Rivers, back at full speed for 2009, ranked second on the team with 50 tackles through the seven games he played.

FitzGerald directed Baltimore's talented LB corps from 2004-07, and in 2006, he became only the second LB coach in NFL history to have four of his players named to the Pro Bowl in the same season.

The four Ravens LBs named to the Pro Bowl for the 2006 season were Ray Lewis, Bart Scott, Terrell Suggs and Adalius Thomas. The only other LBs coach to have four of his players in the same Pro Bowl was New Orleans' Vic Fangio in 1992, with LBs Ricky Jackson, Vaughan Johnson, Sam Mills and Pat Swilling. In '06, FitzGerald's linebackers contributed to No. 1 league rankings for the Ravens in both points and yards allowed per game.

FitzGerald quickly became known on the Bengals practice field for setting a fast tempo.

"I like to move around fast at practice," he says. "I like my players to move fast. I like a lot of energy."

FitzGerald's birth date is April 18, 1960. He is a native of Burbank, Calif. He played LB at Oregon State and became a college coach in 1985 as a graduate assistant at the University of Cincinnati.

He joined the University of Alabama staff as a graduate assistant in 1986, and held that position while completing his master's degree through '87. In 1988, Alabama hired him full-time as inside linebackers coach, a position he held through the '89 season. He began his NFL career with Tampa Bay in 1990, spending four seasons during which he worked with defensive backs and special teams. Also at Tampa Bay, he worked in computer and video operations, two areas in which he has become known for his expertise.

FitzGerald has also helped develop and coach the LB drills at the annual NFL Scouting Combine for the last 11 years.

A professionally trained race driver, FitzGerald enjoys spending his time off instructing new drivers throughout the country with the Richard Petty Driving Experience (RPDE). He also has traveled widely, including Korea, Hong Kong, Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Indonesia and throughout Europe.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY —1980: Played LB at Oregon State before suffering knee injury. 1981-83: Attended Cal State-Northridge (did not play football). 1981-84: Assistant coach (AC) at John Burroughs High School (1981-82) and Burbank (Calif.) High School ('83-84), while completing undergraduate studies at Cal State-Northridge. 1985: Graduate AC, Univ. of Cincinnati. 1986-87: Graduate AC, Univ. of Alabama. 1988-89: AC, Alabama. 1990-93: AC, Tampa Bay Buccaneers. 1994-97: AC, San Diego State. 1998-99: AC, Washington Redskins. 2000-03: AC, Arizona Cardinals. 2004-07: AC, Baltimore Ravens. 2008-present: AC, Bengals.

DHANI'S MARGIN IS TOPS

Bengals MLB Dhani Jones not only won the team's 2008 tackling title, he won by a wider margin in his coaches' analysis than any previous player in the Marvin Lewis era.

With 165 stops on the season, Jones finished 53 ahead of second-place Brandon Johnson (112). For a full season under Lewis, the previous largest margin had been 46, from 2005, when LB Odell Thurman had 148 tackles and LB Brian Simmons had 102 stops.

PAUL GUENTHER – Asst. Special Teams/Asst. Linebackers

Paul Guenther is in his fifth season on the Bengals coaching staff in 2009, serving for the fourth straight year as assistant special teams/assistant linebackers coach.

The 2008 season was a productive one for the linebackers as the Bengals posted a No. 12 NFL defensive yardage ranking, the team's best since 2001. MLB Dhani Jones posted a career-high 165 tackles. LB Brandon Johnson, who had no defensive stats over 2006-07 with Arizona, blossomed into an impact defender with 112 stops. And Rashad Jeanty, a third-year NFL player with pro experience in Canada, developed into a full-time starter, ranking fourth on the team with 97 tackles.

Together, the linebackers' play helped make up for the absence of top draft pick Keith Rivers, who started promisingly but missed more than half the year due to a jaw fracture. Rivers, back at full speed for 2009, ranked second on the team with 50 tackles through the seven games he played.

The defense's No. 12 ranking was based on 325.5 yards allowed per game, and as the Bengals closed the season with a three-game win streak, opponents managed only 19 total points and averaged 227.3 yards per game.

The defense tied a pair of club records during the finishing stretch, holding foes scoreless for a stretch of seven consecutive quarters and allowing no touchdowns for nine consecutive quarters.

Guenther also worked with special teams coach Darrin Simmons in 2008 to help the kickoff and punt coverage units finish in the league's top half in average yards allowed. Opponents were limited to 22.5 yards per kickoff return (ranked 13th) and 9.1 yards per punt return (ranked 14th).

Guenther (pronounced "GUN-thur") was offensive assistant on the Washington Redskins staff from 2002-03. Bengals head coach Marvin Lewis was one of his associates in 2002, serving as assistant head coach/defensive coordinator of the Redskins. Guenther's primary position assignment with the Redskins was running backs.

From 1997-2000, Guenther was head coach at Ursinus College, an NCAA Division III school in Collegeville, Pa. He was the youngest head coach in college football in '97, at age 25, and he led the team to the playoffs in '99 and 2000.

His 1999 team finished 10-2, advancing to the second round of the playoffs. The 10 wins was a school record, and the team broke nearly every offensive and defensive mark in the Ursinus record book.

Guenther began his coaching career from 1994-95 at Western Maryland. He was an assistant at Ursinus in 1996, moved to Jacksonville University as defensive coordinator in '97, and returned to Ursinus that same year.

Guenther was born Nov. 22, 1971. His hometown is Richboro, Pa. He played LB in college at Ursinus, setting a school career tackles record (355) while three times earning all-conference honors.

He received his undergraduate degree in communications from Ursinus in 1994, and a master's degree in sports administration from Western Maryland in '97.

JAY HAYES — Defensive Line

Jay Hayes, a 21-year veteran of major college and NFL coaching, is in his seventh season as Bengals defensive line coach. He helped direct the Bengals last season to a No. 12 NFL finish in fewest yards allowed — the team's best rank since 2001 — and he oversees a line group that has several players showing potential for breakout seasons.

Though triple-digit tackle totals are rare for interior linemen, DT Domata Peko logged 108 stops last year in only his third pro season. Another tackle, rookie Pat Sims, showed continuous improvement through the season and started six of the last seven games.

At defensive end, the Bengals suffered last year with starters Robert Geathers and Antwan Odom both missing significant time due to injuries. But they are expected back at full speed for 2009, and in their absence last year, fourth-year pro Jonathan Fanene had by far his best season.

The defense's No. 12 ranking was based on 325.5 yards allowed per game, and as the Bengals closed the season with a three-game win streak, opponents managed only 19 total points and averaged 227.3 yards per game.

The defense tied a pair of club records during the finishing stretch, holding foes scoreless for a stretch of seven consecutive quarters and allowing no touchdowns for nine consecutive quarters.

Hayes works with various options of line combinations, as game situations dictate.

"It's my job to pick somebody to get a spark, so we can have the chemistry and keep it running hot," Hayes says. "We want to keep getting after people and not let them find room to breathe. If we can continue doing that, we can be successful."

Hayes came to the Bengals from the Minnesota Vikings, where he was special teams coach in 2002. The '02 Vikings tied for fifth in the NFL in punt coverage.

Hayes was special teams coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1999-2001. In 1999, under Hayes' direction, Steelers rookie kicker Kris Brown set an NFL record for most consecutive field goals made to start a career (13).

Before entering the NFL coaching ranks with the Steelers, Hayes coached 11 years at the major college level — at Notre Dame, California and Wisconsin.

He began his coaching career in 1988 as a graduate assistant at Notre Dame, and for the next three seasons, he coached outside linebackers and special teams for the Irish. He moved to California as outside linebackers coach in 1992, and he also held that job in '93 before adding special teams responsibilities in '94.

Hayes' last college assignment before entering the NFL was from 1995-98 at Wisconsin, where he was outside linebackers and special teams coach. Hayes' Badgers were consistently among the top special teams units in the Big Ten.

Hayes played DE at the University of Idaho and earned all-conference honors in 1980 and '81. He spent some time in NFL camps before moving on to play in the USFL, for the Michigan Panthers in 1984 and the Memphis Showboats in '85.

Hayes' younger brother, Jonathan, is Bengals tight ends coach.

Hayes was born March 3, 1960 in Pittsburgh, and attended South Fayette High School. He and his wife have three children.

JONATHAN HAYES — Tight Ends

Jonathan Hayes, an NFL tight end for 12 seasons, returns for his seventh season as Bengals tight ends coach in 2009.

Hayes has helped work starting TE Reggie Kelly into a role as one of the most important overall performers on the Bengals' offense. Bengals QB Carson Palmer has called Kelly "the best teammate I've ever had in football."

Twice in the past four seasons, Kelly's blocking has helped Cincinnati set a club record for fewest sacks allowed. The record of 21 that was set in 2005 was re-written in '07 with 17. Kelly is also a fearsome run blocker. He has helped backs set career highs in each of the last two years (Kenny Watson with 763 yards in 2007 and Cedric Benson with 747 in '08). And over the 2004-06 campaigns, Kelly helped Rudi Johnson amass 4221 rushing yards and 36 rushing TDs, both figures standing as the most ever by a Bengal in a three-year span.

Last season, Kelly finished third on the team with 31 receptions, his high as a Bengal, and he was fourth in receiving yards (207).

In 2009, Hayes will also look to get a full season's production from Ben Utecht. A skilled receiver obtained for 2008 as a restricted free agent from Indianapolis, Utecht was limited by injuries to 10 games played and six starts.

Though Utecht offers unusual receiving potential, Hayes has worked with all his tight ends to augment a Bengals passing game which has been dominated over the years by the wide receivers. It's a formula that fits head coach Marvin Lewis' expectations.

"There is only one football," says Lewis, "and the fact is, when you see teams with big receiving numbers for their tight ends, they are probably not able to get the ball to the wideouts like we have. One reason our wideouts produce as they do is because our tight ends are out there doing their jobs in areas the fans may not see."

Prior to joining the Bengals, Hayes spent four years (1999-2002) at the University of Oklahoma as tight ends coach and special teams coordinator. He helped the Sooners to a four-year record of 44-9, including a 13-0 mark in 2000 for the NCAA championship.

Under Hayes' tutelage, tight end Trent Smith finished his Oklahoma career in 2002 as the school's No. 2 all-time receiver, with 148 catches. Also in 2002, Sooners special teams blocked seven kicks and had three punt returns for TDs.

Hayes began his NFL playing career in 1985 as a second-round draft pick out of Iowa with the Kansas City Chiefs. He played for the Chiefs through 1993, serving as a team captain, and closed his NFL career with three seasons in Pittsburgh ('94-96). He had 153 career receptions for 1718 yards with 13 TDs.

Hayes saw action in 184 NFL games with 122 starts, and he played all 16 games in each of his final six seasons. He played in three AFC Championship games and a Super Bowl (for Pittsburgh vs. Dallas in SB XXX).

At the University of Iowa, he earned first-team All-America honors as a senior TE and was a team captain. In 1986, he completed work at Iowa on a degree in general studies.

Hayes' older brother, Jay, is Bengals defensive line coach.

Hayes' hometown is South Fayette, Pa. He attended South Fayette High School. He and his wife have four children.

CHIP MORTON — Strength & Conditioning

Chip Morton is in his seventh season as Bengals strength and conditioning coach, following six seasons during which his program has been considered a cornerstone in the physical development of the team.

Morton and his staff are responsible for the design and implementation of a comprehensive and progressive year-round training program. Each year, they evaluate their program, make adjustments and introduce new ideas and technology into the training plan for the team. The core of the program is a solid foundation of traditional training principles, with an emphasis on effort and accountability.

"Under Chip's direction, our strength and conditioning program remains on the cutting edge of training techniques and philosophy," says head coach Marvin Lewis. "I am very pleased with the outcome, using this program to both improve our players' football performances and to increase their resistance to injuries."

Morton was a coaching colleague of Lewis with the Baltimore Ravens from 1999-2001, serving as Ravens assistant strength and conditioning coach, and he was with Lewis in '02 at Washington, serving as head strength and conditioning coach for the Redskins.

Morton is in his 18th NFL season, having also served as strength and conditioning assistant at San Diego from 1992-94 and as head strength and conditioning coach at Carolina from '95-98.

Morton has coached with two Super Bowl teams, the 1994 Chargers and the 2000 World Champion Ravens. He started his career in the collegiate ranks, serving as assistant strength coach at Ohio State (1985-86) while completing his master's degree in physical education. He moved to Penn State in 1987 as the first-ever full-time strength and conditioning assistant for the Nittany Lions football team. He also worked with 14 other men's and women's sports during his five years (1987-91) at Penn State.

Morton's hometown is Hamden, Conn. He graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1985 with a degree in zoology, and he earned a varsity letter in swimming.

Continuing education has always been a hallmark of Morton's coaching career. He has been a Certified Strength & Conditioning Specialist (C.S.C.S.) through the National Strength & Conditioning Association since 1990. In 2006, he became the first NFL strength coach to receive his Russian Kettlebell Instructor's Certification (RKC), and in '08, he and Bengals associate strength and conditioning coach Ray Oliver were certified as Level I coaches in the Battling Ropes training system.

Chip is married, and he and his wife have seven children.

RAY OLIVER — Associate Strength & Conditioning

Ray Oliver is in his sixth season on the Bengals coaching staff, and 2009 marks his 25th year of professional involvement in pro and college sports.

In 2004, Oliver became an integral part of a program that has been considered a major factor in the team's improved performance during the head coaching tenure of Marvin Lewis. The program has provided a noticeable upgrade in structure and technology for Bengals players, including an offseason regimen that is considerably more detailed than it was in previous years.

"Ray has brought a wealth of knowledge to our efforts," says Chip Morton, Bengals head strength and conditioning coach. "He's a great asset as we continue to develop and improve what we're doing."

A Cincinnati native, the 47-year-old Oliver adds a longtime passion for the Bengals to his expertise in his field.

"I grew up from age seven living and dying with the Bengals every Sunday," he says. "To come back and be a part of this team is something I couldn't be happier about."

Oliver came to the Bengals after three years as Director of Performance Enhancement for the University of Memphis basketball program. His resume includes prior experience as a strength and conditioning coach in the NFL (Tampa Bay, 1992) and in the NBA (New Jersey Nets, '96-97), and he was aided in gaining his Bengals assignment by his participation in 2002-03 with the Carolina Panthers in the NFL's minority intern coaching program.

He attended Withrow and Taft high schools in Cincinnati, and went on to play football at Ohio State (defensive back in 1980-81). He transferred to the University of Cincinnati in 1982, and while sitting out the '82 season under transfer rules, he became interested in strength training under UC head football coach Mike Gottfried.

When Gottfried moved to Kansas University in 1983, Oliver decided to end his football playing career. He followed Gottfried to KU as a transfer student and volunteer coach, and earned his bachelor's degree from Kansas in 1986.

Oliver worked in strength and conditioning at the University of Pittsburgh in the mid-1980s, and during that time he also worked a Bengals training camp and several Bengals minicamps as a volunteer strength and conditioning assistant.

Oliver has a long association with University of Kentucky basketball coach John Calipari, having worked with Calipari previously at the University of Memphis, the University of Kansas, the University of Pittsburgh and with the New Jersey Nets. Oliver also worked under coach Rick Pitino at the University of Kentucky from 1989-92. During that period, he was also the strength and conditioning coach for the United States Ski Jump team.

Oliver spent his 1992 NFL season at Tampa Bay under head coach Sam Wyche, the former Bengals head coach.

Oliver's work with NFL athletes also includes the years 1997-99, when he was involved in programs for 35 NFL players while working for the Synergy company in Columbia, S.C.

Ray is married. He and his wife have two children.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY — 1980-81: Played defensive back at Ohio State. 1983-84: Student assistant strength coach, Univ. of Kansas. 1985: Assistant strength and conditioning (S/C) coach, Univ. of Pittsburgh basketball. 1986-88: Head basketball strength coach and head football conditioning coach, Univ. of Pittsburgh. 1988-91: Head S/C coach, Univ. of Kentucky basketball. 1992: Head S/C coach, Tampa Bay Buccaneers. 1993-95: Head S/C coach, Univ. of South Carolina. 1996-97: Head S/C coach, New Jersey Nets (NBA). 2001-03: Director of performance enhancement, Univ. of Memphis basketball. 2004-2007: Assistant S/C coach, Bengals. 2008-present: Associate S/C coach, Bengals.

MIKE SHEPPARD — Wide Receivers

Mike Sheppard, a 16-year veteran in NFL coaching, is in his third season as Bengals wide receivers coach. His resume includes two head coaching positions in college (Long Beach State and New Mexico), as well as NFL offensive coordinator's duties at San Diego (1997-98), Buffalo (2001) and New Orleans ('05).

"Mike brings us a wealth of experience as a position coach over wide receivers and quarterbacks, as well as his experience as a coordinator," says Bengals head coach Marvin Lewis. "I've coached alongside Mike in the NFL, and I coached under him in college. We know each other very well and it has been great to be back together with him."

Sheppard will bring his expertise to a new set of challenges in 2009. T.J. Houshmandzadeh ranked third in the NFL in catches (204) over Sheppard's first two seasons, but Houshmandzadeh has left the team in free agency, replaced by free agent signee Laveranues Coles. Meanwhile, Chad Ochocinco will be looking for a comeback year in '09. He dipped from a club-record 1440 receiving yards in 2007 to 540 in '08, a season in which he played with an injured shoulder and mostly without Pro Bowl QB Carson Palmer.

Also in '09, Sheppard will work for breakout years from Jerome Simpson and Andre Caldwell, Bengals' second and third-round draft choices in 2008.

Sheppard was with the New Orleans Saints for his last four seasons in the NFL (2002-05) before joining the Bengals. As quarterbacks coach his first three years with the Saints, he worked to develop Aaron Brooks, who threw for 72 touchdowns and only 39 interceptions during those three seasons. Sheppard was promoted to offensive coordinator for 2005, the last season for head coach Jim Haslett.

Sheppard and Lewis were coaching colleagues in 1996 with the Baltimore Ravens. Sheppard was WRs coach and Lewis was defensive coordinator. Sheppard had his first NFL experience as a play-caller that season, as he was given the duty by head coach Ted Marchibroda, and the Ravens offense finished third in the NFL in net yards, as well as second in passing yards.

The Lewis-Sheppard association dates back more than 20 years. In 1985, Sheppard was head coach at Long Beach State and hired Lewis as linebackers coach. Lewis moved with Sheppard to New Mexico in 1987, and Lewis stayed through '89 before leaving for the University of Pittsburgh.

Sheppard entered the NFL in 1993 as tight ends coach with the Cleveland Browns, and was Browns wide receivers coach in 1994-95. After his 1996 season in Baltimore, he was offensive coordinator for San Diego (1997-98), QBs coach for Seattle (1999-2000) and offensive coordinator for Buffalo (2001). Sheppard was former Bengal QB Jon Kitna's position coach in 1999, when Kitna led the Seahawks to the AFC West title.

A native of Tulsa, Okla., Sheppard played WR at Cal Lutheran (1969-72), and he began a 19-year stint in college coaching at Cal Lutheran in '74. He holds a bachelor's degree from Cal Lutheran and a master's degree from Brigham Young.

Sheppard's birth date is Oct. 29, 1951. He and his wife, Cathie, have four children — Chrissi, Brian, Shelby and Macall — and two grandchildren, Christian and Samantha.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY — 1969-72: Played wide receiver at Cal Lutheran. 1974-76: Assistant coach (AC), Cal Lutheran. 1977-78: Graduate assistant, Brigham Young. 1979: Offensive coordinator, U.S. International. 1980-81: AC, Idaho State. 1982: AC, Long Beach State. 1983: Offensive coordinator, Kansas. 1984-86: Head coach, Long Beach State. 1987-91: Head coach, New Mexico. 1992: Offensive coordinator, California. 1993-95: AC, Cleveland Browns. 1996: AC, Baltimore Ravens. 1997-98: Offensive coordinator, San Diego Chargers. 1999-2000: AC, Seattle Seahawks. 2001: Offensive coordinator, Buffalo Bills. 2002-04: AC, New Orleans Saints. 2005: Offensive coordinator, New Orleans Saints. 2007-present: AC, Bengals.

DARRIN SIMMONS — Special Teams

Darrin Simmons is in his seventh season as Bengals special teams coach. He has coached the full Bengals career of record-setting place kicker Shayne Graham and directed consistently effective kick coverage teams.

Simmons has been on the job for all six of kicker Graham's Bengals seasons. During that span, Graham has raised his career FG accuracy to 85.64 percent, fourth-best all-time in the NFL. Graham saw brief NFL action for Buffalo and Carolina before joining the Bengals, and his Cincinnati-only FG percentage is a club-record 87.50, nearly two points higher than his league career mark.

Graham holds numerous other Bengals records, including season FG percentage (91.2), points (131) and field goals (31) in a season, field goals in a game (seven) and consecutive FGs made (21).

Simmons' kick coverage units both ranked in the NFL's top half last season. Opponents were limited to 22.5 yards per kickoff return (ranked 13th) and 9.1 yards per punt return (ranked 14th). In 2006, Simmons added an NFL statistics title to his resume when the Bengals led the league in punt coverage, allowing only 5.6 yards per return.

Simmons' Bengals special teams have also shown a nose for the ball, forcing 17 fumbles in his previous six seasons. That's nearly three times the total (six) for the six seasons prior to his tenure.

Simmons works extensively in the punting game to avoid touchbacks and pin the opposition deep in its territory. He has a new talent to work with in 2009, as the Bengals invested a fifth-round draft choice in former University of Cincinnati standout Kevin Huber. Last season, Bengals punter Kyle Larson had only three touchbacks while launching 28 punts that forced opponents to start possession inside their 20-yard line. Larson's plus-25 differential (28-3) tied for second in the NFL and tied for first in the AFC. For his Bengals career, Larson had a differential of plus-77 (109 inside-20s and 32 touchbacks).

Simmons entered the NFL in 1998 on the same Baltimore Ravens staff as Bengals head coach Marvin Lewis, who was Ravens defensive coordinator at the time. Simmons was assistant special teams coach and assistant strength and conditioning coach for the Ravens, and he held that same role for the Carolina Panthers from 1999-2002. He joined the Bengals in 2003.

A former college punter himself, Simmons played an integral role at Carolina in the development of Todd Sauerbrun as one of the NFL's top punters of the time. Simmons coached his first league-leading coverage unit in '02, as the Panthers held foes to an NFL-best 18.5 yards per KOR.

Simmons began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Kansas University in 1996. He moved to the University of Minnesota in 1997.

Simmons punted in college for Kansas from 1993-95, earning All-Big Eight honors his final year. As a senior, he helped the Jayhawks to a top-10 national ranking and to an Aloha Bowl victory over UCLA. Also as a Kansas senior, he won honors as an academic All-American.

Prior to playing for Kansas, Simmons was a punter and QB for Dodge City (Kan.) Community College. In 1992 at Dodge City, he led the nation's junior colleges in punting and was a first-team JUCO All-American.

Simmons earned a degree in sports management from Kansas in 1996.

Born April 9, 1973, in Elkhart, Kan., he graduated from Elkhart High School. He and his wife, Rhonda, have a daughter and two sons.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY — 1991-92: Played quarterback and punter at Dodge City (Kan.) Community College. 1993-95: Punter, University of Kansas. 1996: Graduate assistant coach, Kansas. 1997: Assistant coach (AC), University of Minnesota. 1998: AC, Baltimore Ravens. 1999-2002: AC, Carolina Panthers. 2003-present: AC, Bengals.

BOB SURACE — Assistant Offensive Line

Bob Surace is in his eighth season on the Bengals coaching staff, and in his sixth year as assistant offensive line coach.

Surace (pronounced "suh-RACE") was offensive staff assistant in his first two Bengals seasons, and in addition to his work with the line, he continues to play a key role in the entire offensive staff's game preparation.

Working closely with assistant head coach/offensive line coach Paul Alexander, Surace has helped mold a line that has led the way in rewriting the franchise record for fewest sacks allowed in two of the last four years.

The Bengals set a record low of 21 in 2005, during the team's AFC North title run, and two years later the bar was re-set at 17. The total led the AFC and ranked second in the NFL.

Last season was a tough one overall for the Cincinnati offense, which struggled to recover from the loss of Pro Bowl QB Carson Palmer for 12 games due to injury. But the club rallied to finish the season on a three-game win streak, and instrumental in the strong finish was the coaching staff's work with a line that was markedly short of experience.

Due to injuries, the Bengals played their last six games with rookie Anthony Collins at LOT and first-year player Nate Livings at LG. Collins had seen action for only a handful of plays when he was called on to start, and Livings had seen no game action at all. But the Bengals averaged 167 rushing yards over the final three games while allowing only three sacks. In the season finale against Kansas City, when Cincinnati rushed for a season-high 204 yards, another player with virtually no experience was in the starting lineup, as first-year player Dennis Roland was pressed into service due to injuries at the ROT spot.

Prior to joining the Bengals, Surace was a championship-level head coach in the NCAA Division III ranks. At Western Connecticut State University in 2000-01, his teams posted an 18-3 overall record. In 2001, WCSU advanced to the second round of the NCAA Division III Championships and won the Freedom Football Conference title. In 2000, the Colonials won the Northeast Championship ECAC playoff game. In both of Surace's seasons, the team ranked in the top 25 nationally in the American Football Coaches Association poll.

Surace grew up in a coaching family. His father, Tony, was head coach for his high school football and baseball teams in Millville, N.J. Surace went on to earn All-Ivy League football honors as a center at Princeton University.

Surace began his coaching career in 1990 as running backs coach at Springfield (Mass.) College, where he also earned a master's degree in sports management in 1992.

In 1994, when the Canadian Football League fielded teams in the U.S., Surace was with the Shreveport Pirates. He was the assistant to head coach and general manager Forrest Gregg, the former Bengals coach who guided Cincinnati to Super Bowl XVI.

Surace was born April 25, 1968 in Harrisburg, Pa. His wife, Lisa, holds a Ph.D. in psychology and practices in Cincinnati. They have a daughter, Alison, and a son, A.J.

PLAYING AND COACHING HISTORY — 1987-89: Played center at Princeton. 1990-91: Assistant coach (AC), Springfield (Mass.) College. 1992-93: AC, Maine Maritime Academy. 1994: AC, Shreveport Pirates (CFL). 1995: AC, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. 1996-99: AC, Western Connecticut State. 2000-01: Head coach, Western Connecticut State. 2002-present: AC, Bengals.

KEN ZAMPESE — Quarterbacks

Ken Zampese is in his seventh season as Bengals quarterbacks coach. He has guided the development of Carson Palmer into one of the NFL's elite passers and team leaders.

Palmer's 2008 season was a virtual washout, as he missed 12 games with an elbow injury, but he is fully recovered as the team heads for '09 training camp. Palmer reset two of his own Bengals season records in 2007, and his premier statistical accomplishment that season was joining the list of the five NFL passers to have reached 100 TD throws most quickly. Palmer notched his 100th TD pass in only his 59th game, on Dec. 15, 2007 at San Francisco.

The top four passes in this category would make a good start on a passer's hall of fame. They are Dan Marino (44 games), Kurt Warner (50), Johnny Unitas (53) and Peyton Manning (56). Palmer took the "fifth-fastest" designation from Brett Favre and Daunte Culpepper, who each threw for 100 touchdowns in their first 62 games.

Meanwhile under Zampese's direction, Palmer has claimed numerous Bengals records, including career passer rating (88.9) and season marks for completions (373), yards (4131) and touchdown passes (32).

Zampese and his star pupil overcame a significant challenge in 2006, as Palmer had to come back from a serious knee injury that had ended his 2005 season during the playoffs. Palmer succeeded fully, earning his second straight Pro Bowl berth. He won Most Valuable Player honors in the Pro Bowl, leading a 31-28 AFC victory.

In 2003, his first season with the Bengals, Zampese had success with a veteran starting quarterback in Jon Kitna. The '03 campaign saw Kitna post career highs — at that point — in completions (324), passing yards (3591), TD passes (26), completion percentage (62.3) and rating (87.4).

Zampese (pronounced "zam-PEE-zee") came to the Bengals following three seasons (2000-02) in St. Louis, in which he had an expanding role with a passing offense that ranked among the NFL's most prolific.

Zampese joined the Rams in 2000 as an offensive assistant. He was promoted to wide receivers coach in 2001, and the Rams led the league in passing yards for a second straight year, averaging 291.4. In 2002, he added the title of passing game coach, and the Rams finished second in the league at 259.6 yards per game.

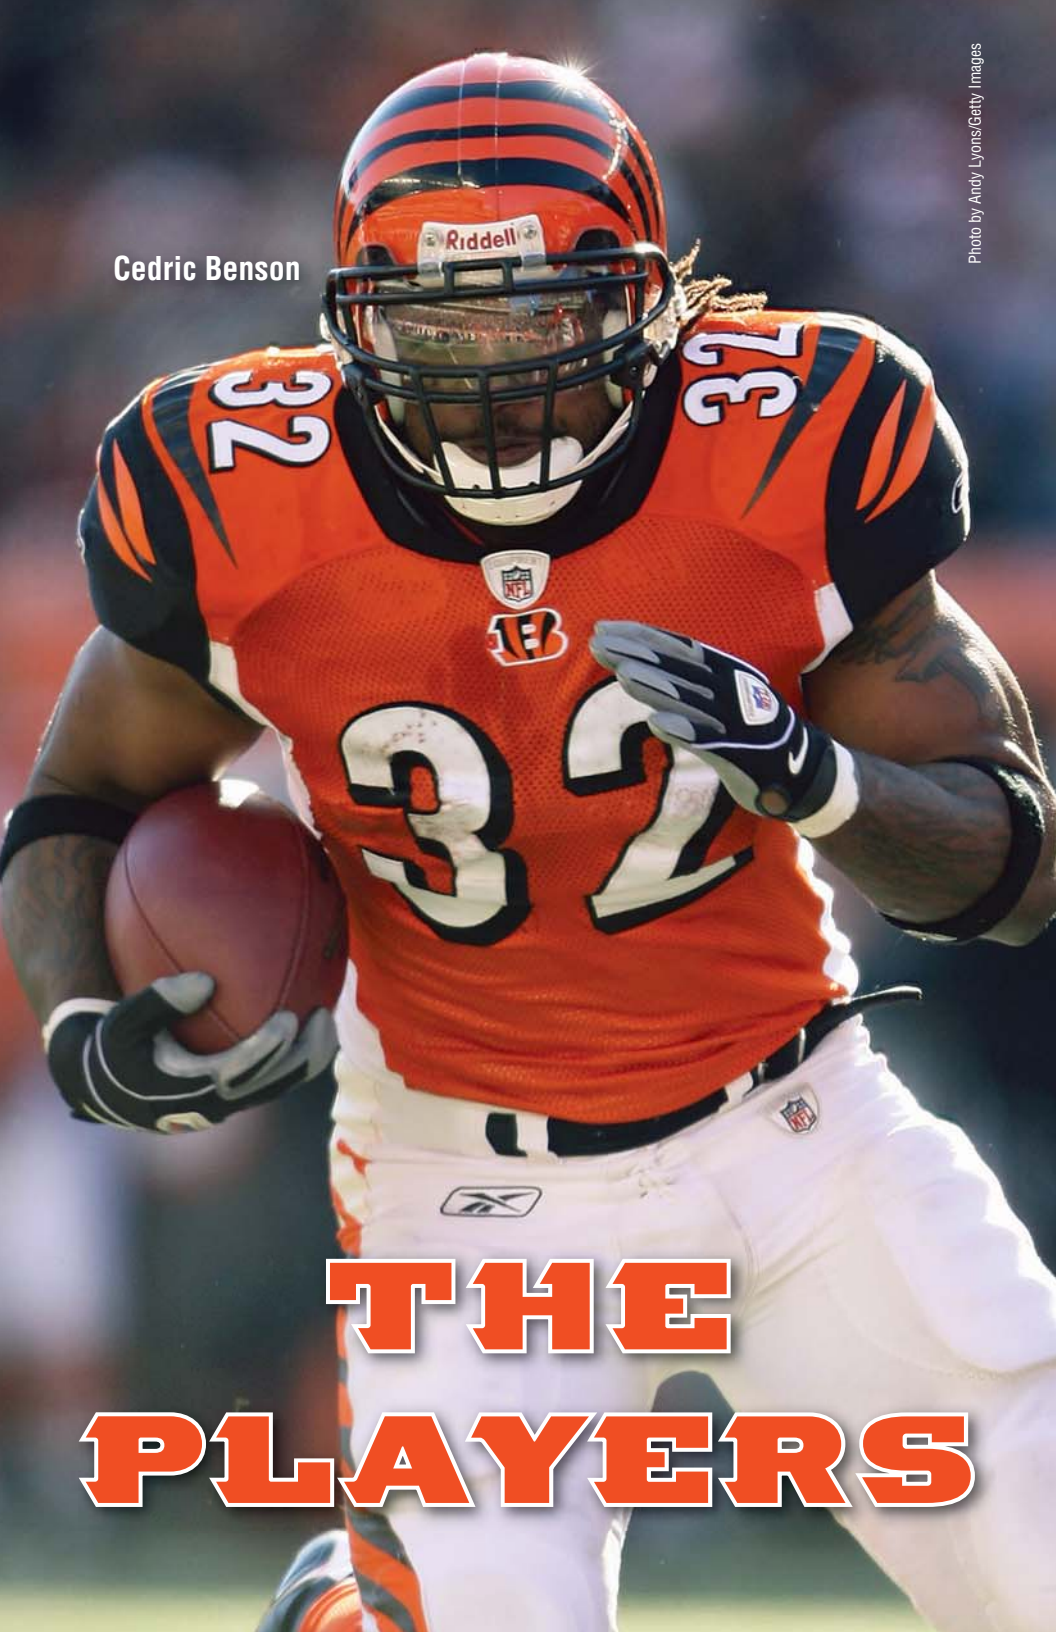

Zampese began his NFL career in 1998 as an offensive assistant with the Philadelphia Eagles under head coach Ray Rhodes. He moved with Rhodes to Green Bay in 1999 before beginning his stint with the Rams.

Prior to entering the NFL, Zampese coached for nine years in college. He had one Cincinnati-area assignment, as passing game coordinator and quarterbacks coach in 1996-97 at Miami (Ohio). In 1997, Miami averaged 37.4 points per game.

Zampese played wide receiver and kick returner at the University of San Diego from 1985-88. He was Special Teams Player of the Year as a senior. He earned an undergraduate degree in business from San Diego, and later received a master's degree in adult education from Southern California.

Zampese was born July 19, 1967, in Santa Maria, Calif. He and his wife have two children. Ken's father, Ernie Zampese, was a longtime NFL offensive coordinator who coached on a Super Bowl winner with the 1995 Cowboys, and also coached for the Chargers, Rams and Patriots.

BENGALS FEATURED ON HBO'S 'HARD KNOCKS'

During the 2009 preseason, the Bengals will team with HBO Sports and NFL Films for an all-access look at what it takes to make it in the National Football League.

"Hard Knocks: Training Camp with the Cincinnati Bengals" will be a five-episode series on HBO. It will cover not just training camp, at Georgetown (Ky.) College, but the majority of the Bengals preseason. NFL Films cameras will be allowed special access to follow the team, beginning with the start of training camp, and the access will continue after the team returns to Cincinnati to complete the preseason at Paul Brown Stadium.

This is the fifth season for "Hard Knocks," which has previously chronicled the preseasons of the Dallas Cowboys (twice), Baltimore Ravens and Kansas City Chiefs. The first sports-based reality series — and one of the fastest-turnaround reality series — kicks off its fifth season Wed., Aug. 12 at 10 p.m. ET. New hour-long episodes air subsequent Wednesdays at the same time, culminating in the Sept. 9 series finale, with regular encore plays on Thursdays.

The cinema verité series will focus on the daily lives and routines of players and coaches as the Bengals prepare for the 2009 season.

"'Hard Knocks' will give Bengals fans a tremendous opportunity for an inside look at their team," said Bengals coach Marvin Lewis, "and for NFL fans across the country, it will provide another expertly produced program on how an NFL team operates behind the scenes. As for our players and coaches, the presence of HBO and NFL Films on a daily basis during the preseason will bring a heightened sense of excitement and intensity to the jobs we are all doing."

A 24-person NFL Films crew will live at the Bengals' training camp at Georgetown College in Georgetown, Ky., shooting more than 1000 hours of video over the course of the series. Camera and sound crews will be given unencumbered access to the players' and coaches' meeting rooms, training rooms, dormitories and practice fields.

TALENT ISN'T EVERYTHING

The 1989 Bengals were a talented team, but never could put it all together on a weekly basis. They outscored opponents 404-285, but finished only 8-8. Not since the 1950 Philadelphia Eagles had a break-even team outscored its foes by such a large point margin (7.4) per game.

10 WINS, NO PLAYOFFS

The best Bengals team to miss out on postseason play was coach Bill Johnson's 1976 club, which went 10-4 but lost a tiebreaker to Pittsburgh for the AFC Central title. Only one Wild Card team made the playoffs from each conference at that time, and the berth went to an 11-3 New England club that lost a tiebreaker in the AFC East. One other Bengals team — the 1986 club — won 10 games (10-6) and failed to make the playoffs.

NO-WIN SITUATIONS

In the Bengals' first 41 seasons (1968-2008), two games have resulted in ties — one in 60 minutes of action and the other in a 75-minute contest.

On Nov. 9, 1969, at the Astrodome in Houston, Cincinnati kicker Horst Muhlmann's 18-yard field goal with 22 seconds left in the fourth quarter enabled the Bengals to tie the Oilers at 31-31. That effectively ended the game as regular-season overtime was not in the rules at the time (OT was added in 1974).

The only other tie game in Bengals history came last season — on Nov. 16 at Paul Brown Stadium. The Bengals and Philadelphia Eagles battled to a 13-13 overtime deadlock for the NFL's first tie since 2002.

Bengals' all-time leader in receptions (612) and receiving yards (8905), Ochocinco looks for a comeback year in 2009 … Limited to 13 games with 10 starts last season, and missed selection for Pro Bowl for the first time in six years … Had 53 catches for 540 yards (10.2 avg.) and tied for team TD lead (four) … Has active team-record streak of 105 regular-season games played with at least one catch … In the five seasons from 2003-07, he posted the five highest season receiving yards totals in Bengals history, making the Pro Bowl each year … Is the only Bengal ever to lead NFL in receiving yards for a season (1369 yards in '06).

2008 PARTICIPATION: Played in Games 1-10 and 12-14 … Inactive for Game 11, Nov. 20 at Pittsburgh, due to team rules violation, halting streak of 113 consecutive games played (seventh in team history) … Inactive Games 15-16 with hamstring injury … Opened regular season in lineup despite missing last two preseason games with shoulder injury suffered Aug. 17 vs. Detroit … Leads current roster in total Bengals starts (106) … Second on current roster in total Bengals games played (121).

NAME CHANGE: Ochocinco played as "Chad Johnson" for the first seven years of his Bengals career. He changed his last name to Ochocinco prior to the 2008 season. The Bengals now use the name Ochocinco for all references to him, including notations of statistics and records he posted prior to the change.

CHAD'S RECORD FILE: Following is a list of Bengals records held by Ochocinco:

- Receptions/career: 612.
- Receiving yards/career: 8905.
- Receiving yards/game: 260 on Nov. 12, 2006 vs. San Diego.
- Receiving yards/season: 1440 in 2007 (Ochocinco has the top five seasons in club history).
- Receiving yards/consecutive games: 450, vs. San Diego and at New Orleans in 2006 (also an NFL record).
- 100-yard receiving games/career: 26.
- 90+ receptions seasons: Four.
- 100-yard receiving games/season: Five (shared).
- Receiving TDs/game: Three (shared).

NOBODY BUT CHAD: Ochocinco is the only NFL player to lead his conference (AFC or NFC) in receiving yards for four consecutive seasons. He turned the trick from 2003 through '06. Only two other players, Tim Brown of Oakland and Jerry Rice of San Francisco, have been conference leaders for even three consecutive seasons. They both did three straight from 1993-95, Brown in the AFC and Rice in the NFC.

BACK-TO-BACK BONANZA: Ochocinco set a Bengals single-game record for receiving yards (260) on Nov. 12, 2006 vs. San Diego, snapping an Eddie Brown mark of 216 that had stood since '88. And when Ochocinco added 190 yards the following week at New Orleans, he established an NFL record for receiving yards in two consecutive games (450). He broke the two-game receiving yards mark of 448 set by San Francisco's John Taylor in '89.

DUAL LEADS ARE DAZZLING: Ochocinco is the only Bengal to have led the AFC in both receiving yards and receptions in a season. He has won four AFC yards crowns (2003-06) and one receptions title (2005). Isaac Curtis (1973) and Eddie Brown ('88) each led the AFC in receiving yards once, but neither won a catches title. Carl Pickens (1995 and '96) and T.J. Houshmandzadeh (2007) won AFC receptions crowns but no conference receiving yards titles.

MORE FROM PREVIOUS SEASONS: 2001— Drafted by Cincinnati in second round (36th overall) … Entered draft after his junior season at Oregon State … Signed July 18 … Finished third on team in receiving yards (329), despite missing four games with fractured left clavicle he suffered Oct. 14 vs. Cleveland … Made

College: Southern California
2008 Games-Starts: 4-4
Career Games-Starts: 65-65

Acquired: D1'03 (1st overall)
Born: 12-27-79

Bengals' offensive leader, holder of numerous club passing records, seeks an injury-free '09 after being limited by elbow injury to four games last season … Injury healed without surgery by season's end, and he was cleared for all '09 workout and camp activity … His 2008 statistics included 75 completions in 129 attempts (58.1 percent) for 673 yards, with three TDs and four INTs (passer rating of 69.0) … Was the only NFL QB to take every offensive snap for his team in 2007, and he reset two of his own club records with 373 completions and 4131 passing yards … Also in '07, became fifth-fastest passer in NFL history to reach 100-TD mark.

2008 PARTICIPATION: Started in Games 1-3 … Suffered elbow injury in Game 3, Sept. 21 at N.Y. Giants, and though he finished the game, he was inactive due to the injury on Sept. 28 vs. Cleveland … Returned to action and played all the way on Oct. 5 at Dallas, but elbow soreness recurred, and he was a game-day inactive for Games 6-16 … Was able to return to practice participation in season's final week.

2008 HIGHLIGHTS: Had a streak of 51 consecutive starts before missing Sept. 28 vs. Browns … Held to 99 passing yards, third-lowest of his career, on Sept. 7 at Baltimore, completing 10-of-25 with no TDs and one INT … Passed 16-for-27 Sept. 14 vs. Tennessee, for 134-0-2 … Hit stride Sept. 21 at N.Y. Houshmandzadeh, covering 18 yards in third quarter and 10 yards in fourth quarter.

FIFTH FASTEST: Palmer threw his 100th career TD pass on Dec. 15, 2007 at San Francisco, reaching the century mark in his 59th NFL game. Based on games played, he is the fifth-fastest passer in NFL history to reach 100 TDs. The only four passers to reach 100 faster would make a good start on an aerial hall of fame. They are Dan Marino (44 games), Kurt Warner (50), Johnny Unitas (53) and Peyton Manning (56). Palmer nudged Brett Favre and Daunte Culpepper (each at 62 games) out of the top five.

FOURTH-QUARTER RALLIES: Palmer has seven career wins in which the team has trailed in the final period, and four additional wins in games where the score was tied in the fourth quarter.

PALMER'S BENGALS RECORDS CHECK: Entering his seventh Bengals season, Palmer holds the following club records:

CAREER—completion percentage (63.7), passer rating (88.9) and TD/INT ratio (1.6/1).

SEASON—completions (373 in '07), passing yards (4131 in '07), TD passes (32 in '05) and passer rating (101.1 in '05); Palmer is also tied for most 300-yard passing games in a season (five in '07).

CARSON AND ARCHIE: Palmer was the second Heisman Trophy winner drafted by the Bengals. The first was Ohio State RB Archie Griffin, a two-time Heisman winner. IN THE BEGINNING

The Bengals' inaugural season was 1968, when they began play in the American Football League (which merged with the NFL in 1970).

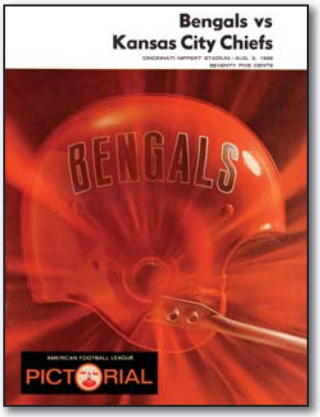

Pictured below are the cover from the team's first media guide — then known as the Press-Radio-TV Guide — and the cover of the game program from the first-ever Bengals game, a preseason matchup vs. Kansas City on Aug. 3, 1968 at the University of Cincinnati's Nippert Stadium.

That first Bengals team had a seven-man coaching staff (in contrast to the 2009 club's 17-man staff).

Head coach Paul Brown was joined by Bill Johnson (offensive line coach), Rick Forzano (offensive backfield), Jack Donaldson (defensive line), Tom Bass (defensive backfield), Bill Walsh (offensive ends) and Frank Smouse (linebackers).

The first player acquired by the Bengals was quarterback John Stofa, obtained from the Miami Dolphins in a trade for two draft choices. The Bengals' first draft choice was center Bob Johnson, from the University of Tennessee.

White had a second straight productive pro season in 2008 before being sidelined by a serious late-November knee injury … Limited in team's '09 offseason work, but projected as fully ready for start of training camp … Despite missed time last season, ranked sixth on team and second among DBs in tackles (81) … Also had his first pro INT and four total passes defensed … Helped seal 21-19 win Nov. 2 vs. Jacksonville with break-up of two-point conversion pass late in fourth quarter.

2008 PARTICIPATION: Played in Games 1-12, with starts at FS in Games 1-6 and 9-12 … Suffered two torn right knee ligaments (ACL, MCL) in Game 12, Nov. 30 vs. Baltimore, and placed Dec. 2 on Reserve/Injured list.

ONE TOUGH GUY: When White took a blow to his right knee early in the second quarter on 11-30-08 vs. Baltimore, he didn't think much of it. Or tell anyone about it. "It hurt a little bit, but nothing like I hadn't felt before," he said. What he didn't know until reporting to trainers after the game was that he had played nearly three quarters with two torn ligaments, an injury that would end his season. His 76 snaps played vs. Baltimore was the most on the defense for the day, and he led the secondary with 10 tackles.

2007: Drafted by Bengals in fourth round (114th overall) … Inactive (coaches' decision) for Game 1, and played in the last 15 games … Came on strong late in year, lending a physical presence as he started three games (all victories) at FS … Eighteen of his season-total 19 tackles came in those three games (vs. St. Louis, vs. Cleveland and at Miami), as he replaced injured starter Madieu Williams … On special teams, had a fumble recovery and a forced fumble, along with eight tackles … On Nov. 11 at Baltimore, recovered Cory Ross' muffed kickoff return at Ravens' 11 in fourth quarter, setting up Bengals FG for 18-0 lead … Led secondary with eight tackles Dec. 30 at Miami, ranking second on team, and had key pass defensed in second quarter, forcing a punt.

COLLEGE: Played two seasons (2005-06) at TCU after playing in JC ranks in 2003-04 at Kilgore (Texas) JC … Earned first-team All-Mountain West Conference honors in '06, starting all 13 TCU games and leading team in tackles (86) and INTs (four) … In a three-game span in '06, he earned two MWC Defensive Player of the Week Awards (vs. Baylor and Texas Tech) … In his TCU debut, he contributed seven tackles in an upset victory at Oklahoma.

PERSONAL: Hometown is Port Barre, La. … Attended Port Barre High School, where he helped bring home the school's first state championship as a senior in 2002 … Also was all-state in high school in basketball, and earned 14 total varsity letters covering four sports (football, basketball, baseball, track) … Education major at TCU.

TV STREAK AT 68

In each of the last 68 TV ratings weeks that have included a Bengals regular-season or postseason game, the Bengals have been the top-rated show among all programming in the Cincinnati market.

The streak began on Dec. 5, 2004, when a wild Bengals win at Baltimore outpolled all other programs for the week. It hit 68 with Cincinnati rankings for the week of Dec. 22-28, 2008. The Dec. 28 Bengals-Chiefs game drew a 23.5 rating, easily outpolling the second-place program, which was also an NFL game — Dolphins vs. Jets at 12.5. The Bengals' rating more than doubled the top non-sports program, "Two and a Half Men," which scored 10.4.

The rating number indicates the percentage of market households tuned to the game — including those not watching TV at the time. The highest Bengals rating during the streak has been 45.5 for the Pittsburgh playoff game on Jan. 8, 2006.

The high rating of Bengals games has occurred despite the fact that most games are played in the afternoon, when overall TV viewership is not as high as it is during the evening.

Draft Round: 1st
Overall Selection: 6th
College: Alabama

Height: 6-4
Weight: 335
Born: 1-25-87

Winner of the 2008 Outland Trophy, Smith brings the Bengals a rare blend of power and agility … Has excellent quickness as a pass blocker, and he became known as one of the most devastating run-blockers in Southeastern Conference history … Started 38 games at LOT over three seasons for an elite program, and entered the draft after his junior campaign … A consensus All-American last season, he was credited with 18 TD-producing blocks, most in the SEC … Scored a TD as a freshman, after taking lateral from QB John Parker Wilson in Independence Bowl vs. Oklahoma State.

COACH PAUL ALEXANDER SAYS: "Andre is a very powerful man. He can knock 'em back better than anyone in the draft, and this was a very good year for offensive linemen."

OUTLAND TROPHY: Smith is the fifth Bengal whose college resume has included the Outland Trophy, given annually by the Football Writers Association of America. The award currently goes to the nation's best offensive or interior defensive lineman, but in earlier years defensive ends were also eligible. Other Outland winners who went on to play for the Bengals are DT Mike Reid (1969 winner, Penn State), DE Ross Browner (1976, Notre Dame), C Dave Rimington (1981 and 1982, Nebraska) and DE Jason Buck (1986, Brigham Young). All five of the Bengals' Outland winners were first-round draft choices by Cincinnati.

COACH MARVIN LEWIS SAYS: "Andre's physical ability is no secret, but our coaches really became sold when they got a chance to talk with him about football. We watched him light up talking about protections, where the point was and all those things that can go unnoticed at times. And when we'd watch game tapes where he really dominated, he might say, 'Well, but last year we lost to them, Coach.' This guy wants to be very, very good."

COACH MARVIN LEWIS SAYS: "You could see by the smiles on draft day that we were very excited to have picked Rey. He has made a lot of plays at the highest level and has a great nose for the ball. He's an excellent blitzer, has played in space, and he can run with the skilled positions."

COLLEGE HIGHLIGHTS: CAREER—Played 50 games with 34 starts over four seasons (2005-08) at USC … Named a freshman All-American in '05, and was first-team All-Pac 10 in his final three seasons, topped by consensus All-America honors as a senior… Posted 273 career tackles, with nine sacks and 22.5 tackles-for-loss. 2008—Played and started 12 games at MLB, missing Game 4 vs. Oregon due to knee sprain … Led team in tackles (79), matching his total of the previous year … Named Pac-10 Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts against Ohio State and UCLA, and his Ohio State performance included 48-yard INT return for a TD. 2007—Earned All-America honorable mention as Trojans went 11-2, leading team with 79 tackles … Logged 10.5 tackles-for-loss and six sacks … Named game's Defensive MVP in Rose Bowl win over Illinois, contributing three sacks and a 19-yard INT. 2006—Played 13 games with 10 starts as a sophomore, posting 78 tackles to rank second on team … Consensus All-Pac 10 first-team choice … Semifinalist for Butkus Award (nation's top LB). 2005—Played as a reserve MLB behind Oscar Lua, but was a Freshman All-America first-team selection by Football Writers Association … Won USC's John McKay Award, given to the Trojan showing the most competitive spirit … Helped lead Trojans to 12-0 record before loss to Texas in national championship game … Forced two fumbles that set up touchdowns in win over archrival UCLA.

WHEN HE HITS 'EM … : Asked to describe a great hit, Maualuga says: "It's hitting a guy and having him get up slowly, looking at who hit him. For a guy you hit and he gets right back up, that's not a hit. That's just a regular arm tackle. When a guy gets up slowly, looks at you and says, 'I don't want to get hit like that again,' that's a hit."

TWO VIEWS: Cincinnati Enquirer sports columnist Paul Daugherty has written: "Five minutes on YouTube, watching Maualuga play, you're checking your own dental work." Steve Dilbeck of the Los Angeles Daily News wrote: "(Maualuga) can be a sledgehammer or a ballerina. Dazzle with power or agility. Play with fury and control."

CINCINNATI ALL THE WAY: Huber is only the second player drafted by the Bengals who has grown up and attended high school in Cincinnati and has also played in college in the Queen City. Huber attended McNicholas High before enrolling at Cincinnati. The first such player was RB Clem Turner, a fourth-round Bengals draftee in 1969 who went to Woodward High, then to UC. MORGAN TRENT

Cornerback

Draft Round: 6th
Overall Selection: 179th
College: Michigan

Height: 6-1
Weight: 195
Born: 12-14-85

An excellent coverage player at Michigan, Trent has the size and strength to develop into an effective bump-and-run player in Bengals scheme … A three-year Wolverine starter, he posted 31 career passes defended (interceptions plus break-ups), fifth in school history … Switched from RCB to LCB in 2007, taking over the spot vacated by former Wolverine and current Bengal Leon Hall.

COACH KEVIN COYLE SAYS: "I remember when we were evaluating Leon Hall a few years ago, there was this No. 14 who kept catching your eye on the tape. And at the Michigan workout that year, I remember meeting (Trent) and saying, 'Maybe in a couple years, I could be back here talking to you.' It's funny how it ended up panning out. Morgan is a good-sized player, and he ran sub-4.5 at the Combine. He fits the style of defense we are playing now."

COLLEGE HIGHLIGHTS: CAREER—Played four seasons (2005-08) at Michigan, seeing action in 48 games with 41 starts … Did not play as a redshirt in 2004 … Totaled 149 tackles, with seven INTs and 24 additional passes defended. 2008—Started all 12 games at LCB and served as one of four team captains … Named to Watch List for '08 Thorpe Award (nation's top DB) … Had two INTs on Sept. 13 at Notre Dame. 2007—Started all 13 games at LCB as Michigan finished 9-4, with Capital One Bowl victory over Florida … Had two INTs and a career-high 10 passes broken up … Shared team's Outstanding Defensive Contributor award with LB Shawn Crable … Used his speed to make a notable touchdown-saving tackle in each of the last two games, bringing down Ohio State RB Beanie Wells and Florida WR Percy Harvin. 2006—Started 11 games at RCB as a sophomore for Michigan club that went 11-0 before losing its final two, at Ohio State and vs. Southern Cal in Rose Bowl … Had career-best 45 tackles. 2005—Played in 11 games with five starts as a redshirt freshman, earning Sporting News freshman All-America honorable mention and freshman all-Big Ten first team … Missed Alamo Bowl season finale vs. Nebraska due to injury. 2004—Played on scout team as a redshirt.

TOUGH SWITCH: Trent was a star wide receiver in high school and was recruited at that position, but he was switched to DB during his 2004 redshirt year at Michigan. "Coach (Lloyd) Carr thought it would be a good move for me, and I wanted to be on the field, so I was willing," Trent says. "It's a much harder position than playing receiver. You're out there by yourself. You have to be mentally tough."

HIGH SCHOOL: Attended St. Mary's HS in Orchard Lake, Mich. … Earned most of his notice at WR, where he caught 84 passes for 1533 yards and 16 TDs, but he also set a school record as a DB with 23 INTs … Also a track star, he set indoor state records in the 60-yard dash (6.83) and 200-meter run (21.79) while also posting a 10.7 in the 100 meters.

PERSONAL: Hometown is San Diego, Calif. … Sociology major at University of Michigan … Father, Phillip, played football at Nebraska.

UNIFORM WATCH: 9-1 IN ORANGE

The Bengals won both their 2008 games in which they wore their orange jerseys, running their five-year record in orange to 9-1.

The orange jerseys have been worn only at home, and can be used just twice a year, as they are designated by the NFL as a "specialty" jersey. In 2008, the Bengals wore orange in victories of 21-19 over Jacksonville and 16-6 over Kansas City. The only Bengals loss in orange jerseys was a 38-13 setback in 2006 to New England.

The Bengals had never worn orange jerseys prior to 2004, when a uniform redesign made a number of different color options available. Below is the team record since 2004 in the different combinations of jerseys and pants:

JERSEY	PANTS	W-L	PCT.
Orange	Black	3-0-0	1.000
Orange	White	6-1-0	.857

2008 BENGALS GAME SUMMARIES

Game 1 Ravens 17, Bengals 10

Sunday, Sept. 7, at M&T Bank Stadium

Ending a streak of three straight opening-day victories, the Bengals could not muster an offensive TD and were held to 154 net yards, their lowest total since Game 3 of 2000. That contest was also at Baltimore, when Bengals head coach Marvin Lewis was Ravens defensive coordinator. The Ravens burned the Bengals for two long TDs — a 42-yard double reverse (WR Mark Clayton scoring) and an unscripted 38-yard run by QB Joe Flacco. Trailing 17-3 in the fourth quarter, the Bengals made a game of it on CB Johnathan Joseph's 65-yard return of a fumble forced by LB Rashad Jeanty. The Bengals lost for only the second time in their last eight games against Baltimore.

Game 2 Titans 24, Bengals 7

Sunday, Sept. 14, at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals' struggling offense scored its first TD of the season, tying the score at 7-7 on Chris Perry's 13-yard run in the second quarter. Overall, however, it was a second straight game of offensive frustration for Cincinnati as the teams played in exceptionally windy conditions (sustained winds of over 70 mph). The Titans used a 51-yard rushing gain by Chris Johnson to help set up a 14-7 lead at halftime, and the only TD of the second half came when Tennessee's Keith Bulluck blocked and recovered a Kyle Larson punt in the end zone. Bengals QB Carson Palmer suffered two INTs with no TD passes, while Tennessee veteran QB Kerry Collins, subbing for injured Vince Young, battled the wind conditions for a TD pass and no INTs. The Bengals fell to 0-2 — their first 0-2 start since 2003 — and the Titans improved to 2-0.

Game 3 Giants 26, Bengals 23 (OT)

Sunday, Sept. 21, at Giants Stadium

In a game with no turnovers or other sudden field position changes, the Bengals offense played stride-for-stride with the defending world champions in mounting methodical drives during regulation time. But the Giants had the clincher, a 62-yard march for a FG on their second OT possession. The Bengals took a 20-16 lead with 4:39 to play on a T.J. Houshmandzadeh TD catch, fell behind 23-20 at the 1:50 mark, and then sent the game into overtime with a 71-yard drive to a 21-yard Shayne Graham FG at the fourth-quarter gun. Cincinnati forced a Giants punt to start OT, but could not muster a first down on its ensuing possession. The Giants then drove in seven plays to set up K John Carney's game-winning 22-yard FG. The Bengals fell to 0-3 on the season, and the Giants improved to 3-0.

Game 4 Browns 20, Bengals 12

Sunday, Sept. 28, at Paul Brown Stadium

Playing without QB Carson Palmer for the first time in 52 games, the Bengals took a 6-3 lead into the fourth quarter against the Browns. But Cincinnati saw the game get away on two Browns TDs within a span of just under two minutes early in the fourth quarter. After Cleveland completed an 80-yard drive to move ahead 10-6 with 13:05 remaining, the Bengals lost a Chris Perry fumble at their 24. The Browns then moved 24 yards in four plays, going ahead 17-6 at the 11:06 mark. Backup QB Ryan Fitzpatrick played for Palmer, who was rested after developing elbow soreness during the practice week. Fitzpatrick had a four-yard TD pass to WR Chad Ochocinco with 7:46 to play, but Fitzpatrick also suffered three INTs. The Bengals managed just 211 net yards while holding the Browns to 261. Cincinnati fell to 0-4, and the Browns improved to 1-3.

Game 5 Cowboys 31, Bengals 22

Sunday, Oct. 5, at Texas Stadium

Bengals fans were contemplating a tie for the team's second-biggest road comeback win ever when LB Rashad Jeanty covered an onside kick at the Bengals' 48 with 14:02 still remaining. After trailing 17-0, the Bengals had scored 16 unanswered points. But the Cowboys turned matters back in their favor on the next play, recovering a fumble by HB Chris Perry. Dallas scored in two plays for a 24-16 lead, and though the Bengals rebounded to within 24-22 on WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh's second TD catch of the day, Cincinnati failed on a two-point conversion try. Dallas then drove for a clinching TD, getting the score on a 15-yard pass from QB Tony Romo to WR Patrick Crayton. The Bengals fell to 0-5 on the season, and the Cowboys improved to 4-1.

Game 6 Jets 26, Bengals 14

Sunday, Oct. 12, at The Meadowlands

The Bengals scored just 1:24 into the game when S Chinedum Ndukwe ran 15 yards with a Brett Favre fumble forced by DE Antwan Odom, and Cincinnati's defense allowed only 252 yards. But the struggling Bengals offense could muster only 171 yards, and Jets RB Thomas Jones provided all the points his team needed by scoring three TDs. He found the end zone on a two-yard reception in the first quarter, a seven-yard run in the second quarter and a one-yard run in the fourth quarter. Ryan Fitzpatrick started at QB for Cincinnati, subbing for the second time in three games for injured the Carson Palmer (elbow). Fitzpatrick led a 14-play, 66-yard drive that brought the Bengals to within 17-14 at halftime, but the Bengals did not again reach Jets territory until their final possession of the game. Jets QB Brett Favre ran his career record against Cincinnati to 4-1 (first four games with Green Bay), and the Bengals fell to 0-10 all-time at the Meadowlands/Giants Stadium. The Bengals fell to 0-6 on the season, while the Jets improved to 3-2.

Game 7 Steelers 38, Bengals 10

Sunday, Oct. 19, at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals trailed the division-leading Steelers by only 17-10 entering the fourth quarter, and with 12:28 remaining in the final period they were driving for a potential tying TD, with a first down at the Pittsburgh 37. But the Steelers turned Cincinnati away, forcing a punt, and Pittsburgh scored TDs on its final three possessions to win by a four-TD margin. It was Pittsburgh's eighth straight win at Paul Brown Stadium, including a 2005 season playoff game. Ben Roethlisberger threw a pair of TD passes for Pittsburgh and finished the day with a 108.6 passer rating, and RB Mewelde Moore rushed for 120 yards with a pair of scores. LB Keith Rivers, the Bengals' first-round 2008 draft pick, suffered a broken jaw early in the first quarter and was lost for the remainder of the season. The Bengals fell to 0-7 on the year while Pittsburgh improved to 5-1.

Game 8 Texans 35, Bengals 6

Sunday, Oct. 26, at Reliant Stadium

The Bengals fell to 0-8 for the first time since 1994 and suffered their first loss to the Texans in four all-time meetings. Cincinnati trailed by a seemingly manageable 14-6 at halftime, but had been forced to settle for a FG just before the half despite having reached a second-and-two situation at the Texans' 14-yard line. Houston put the game away early in the second half, opening the third quarter with an 84-yard TD drive and following with a 53-yard TD drive on its second possession. Texans QB Matt Schaub finished the contest with a near-perfect 144.0 passer rating, completing 24 of 28 throws for 280 yards, three TDs and no INTs. Bengals WR Chad Ochocinco had five receptions, catching at least one pass for the 100th straight game, extending his Bengals record in the category. The Texans improved to 3-4 on the season, posting the first three-game win streak in franchise history.

Game 9 Bengals 21, Jaguars 19

Sunday, Nov. 2, at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals broke through at home to claim their first victory of the season, holding on in the fourth quarter after mounting a 21-3 lead through three periods. The victory still seemed easily in hand after the Jaguars closed the gap to 21-6 with a field goal early in the fourth quarter, but matters suddenly became very competitive when Jacksonville forced a Glenn Holt fumble on the ensuing kickoff, with Montell Owens returning 18 yards for a TD. Later in the fourth period, the Jaguars drove 73 yards for a Maurice Jones-Drew TD, and the score was 21-19 with 1:17 to play. But the Bengals foiled a two-point conversion try, with DBs Johnathan Joseph and Marvin White breaking up a David Garrard pass intended for WR Jerry Porter. The Bengals played their fifth game of the year without No. 1 QB Carson Palmer, and backup Ryan Fitzpatrick got his first NFL win as a starter. Fitzpatrick led drives of 84 and 88 yards on the Bengals' first two possessions of the game, ending each with a TD pass to WR Chad Ochocinco. The Bengals improved to 1-8 on the season, and Jacksonville fell to 3-5.

Game 10 Bengals 13, Eagles 13 (OT)

Sunday, Nov. 16, at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals and Eagles battled 75 minutes to the first NFL tie since 2002. It was only the second tie in Bengals history, joining a 31-31 deadlock at Houston in 1969, and it was the first Cincinnati tie since overtime was added to the NFL regular season (1974). The Bengals had the best of things in OT field position and had a chance to win with seven seconds remaining in the extra period, but Shayne Graham's 47-yard field goal try sailed wide right. The Bengals led 13-3 when Graham kicked a 41-yard FG early in the third quarter, but the Eagles immediately struck back with a two-play TD drive, and Philadelphia tied the score at 13-13 on David Akers' 27-yard FG with 5:18 left in the fourth quarter. The Bengals had a plus-three edge in turnover differential, but were outgained 391-282 on the day. The Bengals defense held the Eagles to three-for-18 on third downs, and the Eagles limited the Bengals to four-for-20 on third downs. Bengals WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh tied his career high with 12 catches, including one for a TD, and gained 149 yards. The Bengals' record moved to 1-8-1, and the Eagles headed home at 5-4-1.

Game 11 Steelers 27, Bengals 10

Thursday night, Nov. 20, at Heinz Field

Playing with a lineup severely depleted by injuries, the Bengals hung with the Steelers for nearly three quarters before being worn down. Cincinnati took a 7-0 first-quarter lead on a 10-yard pass from QB Ryan Fitzpatrick to WR Glenn Holt, and the Bengals trailed by only 13-7 until late in the third quarter, when the Steelers completed a 64-yard drive for a 20-7 lead. While struggling early on offense, the Steelers kept the Bengals at bay with a strong rushing defense. Cincinnati finished the game with just 43 rushing yards on 20 carries. Pittsburgh outgained Cincinnati 364-208, as the struggling Cincinnati offense finished under 225 net yards for the sixth time in 11 games. The Steelers maintained the AFC North Division lead by improving to 8-3, and the Bengals fell to 1-9-1 on the year.

Game 12 Ravens 34, Bengals 3

Sunday, Nov. 30, at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals' struggling offense found no relief against Baltimore's No. 2-ranked NFL defense. Cincinnati set a season low in possession time (21:02), tied its season low in points, tied the team record for fewest first downs (six) and settled for its second-lowest net yardage total (155) of the season. The Bengals defense didn't do much better than the offense against the Ravens, yielding a season-high 451 yards. The Ravens' passing game, which included a TD throw by WR Mark Clayton, finished with a 134.3 rating. The Bengals fell to 1-10-1 on the season, and Baltimore improved to 8-4.

Game 13 Colts 35, Bengals 3

Sunday, Dec. 7, at Lucas Oil Stadium

The Bengals trailed only 7-3 late in the first half, and had the ball with just over one minute remaining. But DB Kelvin Hayden's INT of a QB Ryan Fitzpatrick pass set up the Colts for a score that put them up 14-3 at halftime, and the Colts sewed things up with two more TDs in the third quarter. The Bengals lost for the fifth straight time in Indianapolis. It was Cincinnati's first regular-season game at Indy's Lucas Oil Stadium. Colts QB Peyton Manning posted a 134.0 passer rating for the game, completing 26 of 32 (81.3 percent) for 277 yards, with three TDs and no INTs. In the fourth quarter, Colts DB Hayden snagged a second INT, and his 85-yard return (for a TD) was the second-longest regular-season opponent's INT return in Bengals history. The margin of defeat was the team's second-worst under head coach Marvin Lewis, behind only a 34-point (37-3) defeat in 2005 in Kansas City during which the Bengals were resting their starters for the playoffs. The Bengals fell to 1-11-1 on the season, while the Colts improved to 9-4.

Game 14 Bengals 20, Redskins 13

Sunday, Dec. 14, at Paul Brown Stadium

Held without a TD for their previous 11 quarters of play, the Bengals struck for a pair of TDs in the first quarter and held on to beat Washington with the help of a dramatic goal-line stand. Having cut a 17-0 Cincinnati lead to 17-10, the Redskins had a first down at the Cincinnati one-yard line in the third quarter. After an incomplete pass, the Redskins got an apparent tying TD on a run by FB Mike Sellers. But Bengals coach Marvin Lewis challenged the call, and it was ruled Sellers was down less than a half-yard from the goal. On the next play (third-and-goal), Sellers was stoned at the line but not tackled, and as he tried to reach the ball over the goal line, Bengals LB Corey Mays stripped the ball from him and recovered in the end zone for a touchback. The Bengals increased their lead to 20-10 on Shayne Graham's 45-yard fourth-quarter FG. They held the Redskins to a FG after Washington returned the ensuing kickoff to the Cincinnati 13, and the game was iced when Washington failed to recover an onside kick. The Bengals ran their home record against NFC teams over the last 13 games to 10-2-1. Cincinnati improved to 2-11-1 and dealt Washington (7-7) a big blow to its playoff hopes.

Game 15 Bengals 14, Browns 0

Sunday, Dec. 21, at Cleveland Browns Stadium

The Bengals posted the ninth shutout win in franchise history and their second shutout win at Cleveland in the last three seasons. Cincinnati had four INTs, including a club-record tying three by CB Leon Hall, and allowed a season-low 182 yards. Hall scored the game's first TD with a 50-yard INT in the first quarter. Offensively, on a cold and windy day (18 degrees, zero wind chill), the Bengals attempted only nine passes, the club's fewest since 1974. But HB Cedric Benson rushed for a career-high 171 yards, most by a Bengal since Rudi Johnson's 202 vs. Cleveland in 2004, and QB Ryan Fitzpatrick capped a 15-play, 89-yard drive for the game's only offensive TD with a 20-yard scoring pass to WR Chris Henry. The Bengals regained the lead (36-35) in the "Battle of Ohio" series against the Browns and improved to 3-11-1 on the season. Cleveland fell to 4-10.

Game 16 Bengals 16, Chiefs 6

Sunday, Dec. 28, at Paul Brown Stadium

The Bengals jumped on Kansas City early, building a 13-0 halftime lead. The Chiefs were held to 50 net yards and two first downs in the first half. Bengals HB Cedric Benson had his second straight 100-yard rushing game, gaining 111 on 25 carries, and his two-yard TD run gave Cincinnati a 10-0 lead early in the second quarter, capping an 87-yard drive. The Chiefs scored with just 2:20 to play, halting a Bengals streak of seven straight quarters without allowing a point. The Bengals had also gone nine quarters without allowing a TD. The Bengals allowed just 31 rushing yards (on 15 carries), their lowest rushing yield in 78 games, since holding Miami to 20-for-25 on Sept. 19, 2004. The Bengals finished the year with a three-game winning streak and a 4-11-1 record. Kansas City fell to 2-14.

A RARE RUNNER

The only Bengals quarterback ever to rush for 100 yards in a game was Virgil Carter, who gained 110 on nine carries against Cleveland on Nov. 15, 1970.

The game was the first Bengals-Browns match in Riverfront Stadium (later renamed Cinergy Field), and marked Cincinnati's first victory (14-10) over its Ohio rival.

GET THE POINT?

Only three times in the Bengals' first 41 seasons has a non-kicker led the team in scoring. In 1979, FB Pete Johnson was the team's leading scorer with 90 points (15 TDs). FB Ickey Woods led the 1988 Bengals with 90 points (15 TDs), and in 2001, HB Corey Dillon scored a team-high 78 points (13 TDs).

The Bengals' single-season scoring record was set in 2005 by K Shayne Graham, who scored 131 points (28 FGs, 47 PATs). He broke the previous mark of 122 points that he set in 2004.

RECORD SELLOUT STREAK

The entire 2008 Bengals home season was sold out in advance, and the Dec. 28 season finale vs. Kansas City officially brought the club's sellout streak to 44 (regular and postseason games).

That's a club record, surpassing a 43-game streak set at Riverfront Stadium from the 1988 opener through the '92 finale.

The current streak began against Kansas City on Nov. 16, 2003.

Total home attendance for the 2008 regular season was 516,663, ranked fifth in club history. The top five seasons have been recorded in the last five years. The club record, from 2006, is 527,870.

FOND FAREWELL

The Bengals played their final game at Cinergy Field (previously known as Riverfront Stadium) on Dec. 12, 1999, and they made the finale a memorable one.

Before a sellout crowd of 59,972, the Bengals defeated Cleveland, 44-28, as the Cincinnati defense set a team record by allowing only 11 net rushing yards (on 11 carries). The Browns' long rushing gain of the day was three yards. The previous low by a Bengals opponent had been 18 yards on 17 carries by Seattle in an AFC Divisional playoff game on Dec. 31, 1988 at Riverfront Stadium. The previous low in a regular-season game was 26 yards on 17 carries by Pittsburgh on Sept. 19, 1982 at Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh.

Offensively, the last game at Cinergy saw the Bengals roll for 279 rushing yards (on 53 carries) — at the time the second-most rushing yards in team history and the most ever in a home game (now the fourth-best in club history and the third-highest figure for a home game). The team record for rushing yards in a game is 407, set on Oct. 22, 2000 vs. Denver at Paul Brown Stadium.

THE LONGEST SHOTS

The latest-drafted player ever to make the Bengals roster for a regular-season game was K-P Dave Green of Ohio University. Green was the 418th selection in the 1972 draft, taken in the 17th round. He didn't make the roster in 1972, and had a brief stint (no games played) with Houston in '73 before being re-acquired by Cincinnati. Green played for the Bengals from 1974-75, scoring 70 points and averaging 40.1 yards on 134 punts. He was acquired by Tampa Bay in 1976, and stayed in the NFL through '79.

The latest-drafted player ever to make the Bengals roster in the same season of his selection was LB Larry Ely of Iowa. Ely was the 397th selection in 1970, a 16th-round pick. He played for Cincinnati in 1970 and '71.

BENGALS TAP THE BUCKEYE PIPELINE

Ohio State is the top supplier of college talent to the Bengals, with 22 former Buckeyes having qualified for the team's official all-time roster.

The list is headlined by former Pro Bowl FB Pete Johnson (1977-83), the No. 4 rusher in Bengals history, as well as by RB Archie Griffin (1976-83), CB Ray Griffin (1978-84), OT Rufus Mayes (1970-78) and DT Dan Wilkinson (1994-97).

The University of Florida is in second place with 16 Bengals alumni. Michigan is third with 15, followed by the University of Cincinnati, Penn State and West Virginia all tied for fourth place with 14 each.

BENGALS ALL-TIME ROSTER

To be eligible for the all-time roster, a player must have been in uniform for at least one regular-season or postseason game, or spent a minimum of four games on the roster (including inactive status). A player who qualifies under these guidelines will also be credited for seasons in which he was on a reserve list but did not play or dress for a game. Players who spend time on a reserve list but have never played or dressed for a game do not qualify for the all-time roster. The Practice Squad does not qualify.

BENGALS ALL-TIME UNIFORM NUMBERS

This all-time uniform numbers list is organized in chronological order for each number.

Generally, this list credits a player for having ownership of a uniform number for an entire season, even if he was with the team for only part of that season. However, game-by-game breakdowns within seasons are provided if (1) a player changed his uniform number during a season, or (2) more than one player wore the same number in the same season.

Numbers in parentheses behind players' names denote other uniform numbers worn by those players during their careers with the Bengals.

BENGALS TOUGH IN OVERTIME

The 2008 season marked the 25th year of overtime for regular season games in the NFL. The current system was put in place in 1974, and under it, the Bengals have played 26 overtime games.

Cincinnati has a winning record in the contests at 14-11-1 (.558 winning percentage).

More Bengals overtime notes:

- Last season saw the first Cincinnati game to last a full five periods, as the Bengals and Eagles battled through a scoreless overtime on Nov. 16. The 13-13 game was only the second tie in Bengals history (Cincinnati had one tie in the pre-overtime era), and it was the first tie in the NFL since 2002.
- Twenty of Cincinnati's overtime games have ended with field goals, and five with touchdowns. The Bengals have posted a 13-7 record in the games determined by field goals and are 1-4 in the games decided by touchdowns.
- The Bengals' only overtime win with a touchdown was Sept. 13, 1998 at Detroit, when CB Corey Sawyer's 58-yard INT return against QB Scott Mitchell gave Cincinnati a 34-28 win.
- The quickest result in Bengals overtime history, the only one with less than a minute elapsed, was a victory on Sept. 14, 1986 vs. Buffalo. LB Carl Zander intercepted a Jim Kelly pass on the first scrimmage play. He returned to the Buffalo 17, and Jim Breech kicked a 23-yard field goal with 14:04 still to play.
- The longest Bengals overtime game not to end in a tie was on Sept. 23, 1979 vs. Houston. The Oilers won, 30-27, on a 29-yard Toni Fritsch field goal with 0:32 remaining in the extra period.
- The Bengals' most significant overtime win was 20-17 vs. Washington on Dec. 17, 1988. The victory clinched the AFC Central title and AFC home field playoff advantage for the Bengals, who went on to reach Super Bowl XXIII.
- Former Bengal Jim Breech kicked nine winning field goals in overtime, never missing one in an extra period. He shares the NFL record for most game-winning kicks in OT with Steve Christie and Jason Elam.

9/21/08 — N.Y. GIANTS 26, Cincinnati 23. Giants win toss. Each team forced to punt on its first possession. On their second possession, Giants drive 62 yards in seven plays, setting up John Carney's 22-yard field goal with 8:39 remaining.

11/16/08 — CINCINNATI 13, Philadelphia 13. The Bengals and Eagles played the full overtime without a score, posting the first NFL tie since 2002. It was only the second tie in Bengals history, joining a 31-31 deadlock in 1969 at Houston that went only four quarters. (Overtime was not added to the regular season schedule until 1974.) The Eagles advanced no farther than their 42-yard line during the extra period. The Bengals moved to the Philadelphia 29 with :07 remaining, but Shayne Graham was wide right with a 47-yard field goal try.

Paul Brown, who left the Cleveland Browns following the 1962 season with an NFL record of 115-49-6, seven conference titles, and three NFL championships, had the urge to get back into football. His son Mike did a study on pro football expansion and recommended Cincinnati as a potential site. In 1965, Brown met with Ohio Governor James Rhodes and the two agreed the state could accommodate a second pro football team.

1966 Fearful the Reds baseball team would leave town and feeling pressure from local businessmen pushing for a pro football franchise, Cincinnati's city council approved the construction of Riverfront Stadium.

1967 Brown's group was awarded an AFL expansion franchise. Brown called the team the Bengals, the name of Cincinnati's pro teams in the old AFL of the late 1930s. The Bengals acquired their first player late in the year when they traded two draft picks to Miami for QB John Stofa.

1968 The Bengals were awarded 40 veteran players in the allocation draft. In the college draft, they selected Tennessee center Bob Johnson as their first pick. The Bengals lost their first preseason game, 38-14, to Kansas City, before 21,682 fans at Nippert Stadium. The Bengals upset Denver, 24-10, and Buffalo, 34-23, in their first two regular-season home games. Paul Robinson led the AFL in rushing with 1,023 yards and he was named Rookie of the Year.

1969 Brown drafted quarterback Greg Cook of the Univ. of Cincinnati in the first round. The same draft also produced linebacker Bill Bergey. The Bengals jumped out to a 3-0 record, but finished 4-9-1. Brown was named AFL Coach of the Year. Bergey was honored as the AFL Defensive Rookie of the Year, and Cook won the AFL passing title.

1970 The NFL-AFL merger took place before the season, and the Bengals made their first NFL campaign a memorable one. After losing 6 of their first 7 games, they rallied to finish 8-6 and win the new AFC Central Division. In their first playoff game, they lost, 17-0, to eventual Super Bowl champion Baltimore. QB Greg Cook was forced to the Injured Reserve list in training camp with a shoulder injury that would end his career, and Virgil Carter took over as the starter.

1971 The Bengals drafted QB Ken Anderson in the third round. Anderson would go on to play 16 seasons for the club and set numerous team passing records.

1972 Anderson unseated Carter as the starting QB and the Bengals won three of the last four games to finish 8-6. DT Mike Reid and WR Chip Myers were selected for the Pro Bowl.

1973 The Bengals split their first eight games, then swept their last six and won their second AFC Central Division title. Cincinnati lost to Miami, 34-16, in the AFC playoffs. Rookie Boobie Clark, who finished the year with 988 yards rushing and 45 pass receptions, was named AFC Rookie of the Year. Essex Johnson led Cincinnati with a career-high 997 yards rushing and rookie Isaac Curtis caught 45 passes.

1974 Cincinnati traded Bill Bergey to Philadelphia for two first-round draft choices and a third-round pick in 1977. Jim LeClair replaced Bergey at middle linebacker. Anderson won the NFL passing championship and completed a club-record 64.9 percent of his attempts. Cornerback Lemar Parrish led the NFL in punt returns.

1975 The Bengals opened with six straight wins and went on to post an 11-3 record, their best regular-season mark. The Bengals qualified as the AFC wild card team for the playoffs, but they lost to Oakland, 31-28, in the playoffs. Anderson won his second NFL passing championship. A serious blow was the loss of defensive tackle Mike Reid, who retired at age 26 to pursue a career in music.

1976 Brown announced his retirement after 41 seasons of coaching and named Bill Johnson, his long-time assistant, as the successor. Brown continued to serve as the club's general manager and vice president. The Bengals acquired defensive end Coy Bacon in a trade with San Diego and drafted halfback Archie Griffin, the two-time Heisman Trophy winner from Ohio State. The Bengals won nine of their first 11 games and finished 10-4, but did not make the playoffs. Cornerback Ken Riley led the AFC with nine interceptions.

1977 A loss to Houston in the final game cost the Bengals a spot in the playoffs. The team finished with an 8-6 record.

1978 QB Ken Anderson missed the first four games with a broken bone in his right hand, and Homer Rice replaced Bill Johnson as head coach after the Bengals started 0-5. The team dipped to marks of 0-8 and 1-12 before rebounding under Rice to win the last three games. In the season finale, the Bengals blasted Cleveland, 48-16, setting series records for points and victory margin.

1979 Fullback Pete Johnson powered his way to 15 touchdowns, but the Bengals struggled to their second straight 4-12 record. After the season, former Cleveland coach Forrest Gregg was named to replace Homer Rice as Bengals head coach.

1980 The Bengals went 6-10 and managed only 244 points, lowest in the AFC. They did upset defending Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh twice. First-round draft choice Anthony Muñoz began his Hall of Fame career.

1981 The Bengals unveiled new uniforms with tiger-striped helmets, jerseys and pants. They had at least a share of the AFC Central lead the entire season and, on Dec. 13, Anderson threw two touchdown passes as the Bengals clinched the division with a 17-10 win over the Steelers. Anderson led the NFL in passing with a 98.5 rating. On Jan. 3, the Bengals beat Buffalo, 28-21, in an AFC Divisional Playoff game. A week later, playing in their first AFC Championship Game, the Bengals defeated San Diego, 27-7, at Riverfront Stadium in a temperature of nine degrees below zero with a wind-chill factor of minus-59. In Super Bowl XVI on Jan. 24 in Pontiac, Mich., the Bengals trailed 20-0 at halftime and lost to San Francisco, 26-21.

1982 The Bengals posted a 7-2 record in a strike-shortened season to earn a postseason berth, but lost to the Jets in the first round of the playoffs, 44-17. Anderson led the AFC in passing for the fourth time as the Bengals boasted the second-best offense in the NFL.

1983 The Bengals started the season by losing six of their first seven games and finished 7-9. Despite the losing record, the Bengals claimed the top overall defense in the NFL. In the offseason, Gregg resigned as head coach and Sam Wyche was named as his replacement.

1984 Pete Johnson was traded to San Diego for running back James Brooks. The Bengals lost their first five games, then bounced back to win eight of the last 11 and force the AFC Central Division championship race into the final week of the season, only to fall a game short of Pittsburgh. Cincinnati finished 8-8.

1985 Wide receiver Isaac Curtis, a premier Bengal for 12 years, retired shortly before training camp opened. Second-year QB Boomer Esiason replaced Ken Anderson. The Bengals set a club scoring record with 441 points.

1986 Boomer Esiason passed for a team-record 3959 yards and James Brooks rushed for 1087 yards as the Bengals went 10-6, narrowly missing a playoff berth. Linebacker Reggie Williams was selected NFL Man of the Year for his efforts with charity and the community.

1987 The Bengals posted a 4-11 record in a strike-interrupted season. Individual bright spots included Jim Breech leading the AFC in scoring with 97 points, Anthony Muñoz being voted to his seventh straight Pro Bowl, and nose tackle Tim Krumrie making his first Pro Bowl.

1988 The Bengals brought about one of the biggest turnarounds in NFL history by rising from their 4-11 finish of 1987 to a 12-4 regular-season record. They won the AFC Central Division title, and defeated Buffalo, 21-10, for the AFC Championship on Jan. 8 (1989). On Jan. 22 (1989), they appeared in their second Super Bowl and lost, 20-16, to San Francisco when the 49ers scored a touchdown with 34 seconds remaining in the game. Coach Sam Wyche's team posted a 14-5 mark in regular and postseason play, best in the NFL. Wyche received numerous honors for his brilliant coaching and nine Bengals were selected for the Pro Bowl — QB Boomer Esiason, NT Tim Krumrie, OT Anthony Muñoz, G Max Montoya, TE Rodney Holman, WR Eddie Brown, RB James Brooks, S David Fulcher and CB Eric Thomas. Esiason was voted the NFL's Most Valuable Player. In January of '88, LB Reggie Williams received the "Sportsman of the Year" award from Sports Illustrated. Rookie "Ickey" Woods led the Bengals in rushing with 1,066 yards.

1989 The Bengals traded their first round draft choice to Atlanta for three later selections. Hit hard by injuries throughout the season, the Bengals went 8-8 and narrowly missed a spot in the playoffs, despite outscoring the opposition 404-285.

1990 The Bengals posted a 9-7 regular-season record to win the AFC Central Division and move into the playoffs, where they defeated the Houston Oilers, 41-14, before losing to the Los Angeles Raiders, 20-10, in the second round.

1991 Paul Brown, founder of the Bengals and a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, died Aug. 5. The Bengals had a 3-13 season record. Dave Shula replaced Sam Wyche as head coach following the season.

1992 The Bengals had a 5-11 record, but Harold Green rushed for 1,170 yards and was selected to play in the Pro Bowl. All-Pro OT Anthony Muñoz played his final game.

1993 Quarterback Boomer Esiason was traded to the New York Jets for a third-round draft choice. The young Bengals lost their first 10 games before defeating the Raiders. Cincinnati then had wins over the Rams and Falcons in the final weeks of the season to finish 3-13.

1994 The Bengals lost their first eight games of the season. With quarterbacks David Klingler and Erik Wilhelm sidelined with injuries, third-string QB Jeff Blake started in Game 8 against two-time defending Super Bowl champion Dallas and nearly pulled off an upset before losing, 23-20. Blake kept his starting role for the rest of the season, passing for 2154 yards and 14 TDs. The Bengals finished 3-13.

1995 The Bengals traded up in the draft's first round for the first time, and selected Penn State RB Ki-Jana Carter with the No. 1 overall pick, obtained from Carolina. Carter suffered a knee injury in the third preseason game and missed his entire rookie season. Nonetheless, the Bengals made a dramatic improvement over the previous four years, going 7-9 with five losses by just three points each. QB Jeff Blake, WR Carl Pickens and PK Doug Pelfrey posted record Bengal seasons, and Blake and Pickens went on to start in the Pro Bowl.

1996 On March 19, Hamilton County voters approved a half-cent sales tax increase to fund two new stadiums, taking a major step to ensure the Bengals' future in Cincinnati. The team lost six of its first seven games, but Cincinnati's fortunes took a U-turn after offensive coordinator Bruce Coslet was promoted to head coach Oct. 21, replacing Dave Shula. Coslet directed the team to a 7-2 finish, including a 5-0 mark at Cinergy Field, and the final 8-8 record was Cincinnati's first .500-or-better season since 1990. The defense set a team record with 34 interceptions, and CB Ashley Ambrose was named a Pro Bowl starter along with WR Carl Pickens, who caught 100 passes to break his own team receptions record.

1997 The Bengals and Hamilton County officials reached agreement on a western riverfront site for a new football stadium and, on May 29, team president Mike Brown signed a lease committing the team through 2026. The team and the county declined to sell naming rights, christening the facility Paul Brown Stadium in honor of the Bengals' founder. The team held training camp in a new complex at Georgetown (Ky.) College, ending its 29-year arrangement at Wilmington (Ohio) College. On the field, the team suffered a 1-7 start but rallied to go 6-2 in the second half and finish 7-9. Rookie HB Corey Dillon rushed for 1129 yards, third-most in club history, and his 246-yard effort vs. Tennessee on Dec. 4 broke Jim Brown's 40-year-old NFL single-game rookie record. Boomer Esiason started the last five games at QB and posted a 106.9 passer rating for the season.

1998 Demolition work for Paul Brown Stadium began early in the year, and official groundbreaking for the new facility was held April 25. HB Corey Dillon rushed for 1130 yards, third-most in team history, and became the first Bengal to top the 1000-yard rushing mark in each of his first two seasons.

1999 Throughout the year, work continued on Paul Brown Stadium, the team's new, state-of-the-art home on the Cincinnati riverfront. But the final season at Cinergy Field was not a success, as the team endured a 1-10 start before rallying to win three of its last five for a 4-12 finish. Corey Dillon rushed his way to the Pro Bowl with 1200 yards, second-most in team history. Kickoff returner Tremain Mack also made the Pro Bowl, leading the AFC with a club-record average of 27.1 yards per return.

2000 The Paul Brown Stadium era began on Aug. 19, as the Bengals christened Cincinnati's new football showplace with a 24-20 preseason win over the Chicago Bears. WR Peter Warrick scored the first Bengals points in PBS on a 14-yard end-around run in the first quarter. In the stadium's Grand Opening regular-season game Sept. 10 vs. Cleveland, a Cincinnati sports record crowd of 64,006 turned out, but the Browns won the game, 24-7. Rookie WR Ron Dugans scored the first Bengals regular-season points in PBS on a four-yard TD pass from Akili Smith. The Bengals drew four other crowds which exceeded the pre-PBS record for a sports crowd in Cincinnati, but the Browns game stood as the new record. On Sept. 25, following an 0-3 start to the season, Bruce Coslet resigned as head coach and was replaced by assistant head coach/defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau. The team finished 4-9 under LeBeau, including 4-6 in the final 10 games and a 2-2 mark in the final four. On Dec. 20, LeBeau signed a multi-year contract to begin in 2001. LeBeau's first victory, on Oct. 22 vs. Denver, featured an NFL-record 278 rushing yards by Corey Dillon, who went on to set a Bengals record of 1435 yards for the season, earning his second straight trip to the Pro Bowl.

2001 In his first full season as Bengals head coach, Dick LeBeau fashioned a two-game improvement over the previous season with a 6-10 record. It was the Bengals' most wins since 1997. The team displayed a foundation for the future in a young defense that ranked No. 9 in the NFL, the club's highest rank since 1989. HB Corey Dillon led the offense with 1315 rushing yards, second-most in team history — behind his own 1435 total of the year before — and Dillon moved to within 238 yards of James Brooks for the all-time team rushing lead. Security procedures at Paul Brown Stadium were significantly increased in response to the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks, but the full home schedule was played without incident. On Oct. 14, the Bengals re-set their own record for the largest crowd ever at a Cincinnati sports event, as 64,217 fans watched Cincinnati defeat Cleveland, 24-14. Due to the terrorist attacks, the Bengals' Sept. 16 game at Tennessee was postponed, and the season was extended a week to allow postponed games to be played the weekend of Jan. 6 (2002).

2002 The Bengals entered the season with high hopes after an encouraging 2001 finish. But despite some noteworthy individual performances, the team sunk to the worst record (2-14) in franchise history. The team was hit hard by injuries, losing the league's second-highest number of games by starters. The offense got off to a very slow start with free agent signee Gus Frerotte at QB, and Cincinnati was outscored

119-23 in the first four games. The offense perked up noticeably after 2001 starter, Jon Kitna, returned to the No. 1 QB role. For the first time since 1989, Cincinnati had a 3000-yard passer (Kitna), a 1000-yard rusher (Corey Dillon) and a 1000-yard receiver (Chad Ochocinco). The Bengals set a team record for pass completions (350). But the team was 0-7 before getting a win at Houston. The defense was inconsistent, and with nine touchdowns allowed on special teams or by the offense, the Bengals as a team allowed the second-most points (456) in club history. On Dec. 30, it was announced that head coach Dick LeBeau would not be retained for 2003.

2003 The Bengals launched a new era on Jan. 14, when Marvin Lewis was hired as the ninth head coach in franchise history. The results wound up being nationally noted, as the club drew a then-record regular-season attendance of 479,488 to watch Lewis' first team finish 8-8, six games better than the 2-14 Bengals of 2002. Architect of the Baltimore Ravens' record-setting Super Bowl defense in 2000, Lewis received a broad mandate from ownership to implement his program. Though the Bengals missed the playoffs — eliminated on the final weekend of the season — their six-game improvement was the biggest of any NFL team from '02 to '03. It was also the second-biggest one-year improvement in Bengals history. Lewis finished second to Bill Belichick, coach of the World Champion New England Patriots, in Associated Press voting for NFL Coach of the Year. The season included the four largest pro sports crowds in Cincinnati history (to that time), topped by 65,362 on Dec. 28 vs. Cleveland, and the highlight game was a 24-19 win on Nov. 16 over an unbeaten (9-0) Kansas City team. WR Chad Ochocinco led the AFC with 1355 receiving yards, and LOT Willie Anderson joined Johnson in the Pro Bowl. Prior to the season, the Bengals had the No. 1 overall pick in the NFL Draft for the third time in team history, and chose Southern California QB Carson Palmer. Palmer did not play as a rookie, as veteran Jon Kitna was the only NFL QB to play every offensive snap for his team.

2004 In their second season under head coach Marvin Lewis, the Bengals attracted record home attendance. All eight regular-season games at Paul Brown Stadium were sellouts — the first sold-out regular season since 1992 at Riverfront Stadium — and the total regular-season attendance of 524,248 put the team over the half-million mark for the first time. A record home crowd of 65,806 (later topped) saw the Bengals host Denver on Monday night, Oct. 25. The team finished 8-8 on the field, a creditable performance given that injuries were severe (18 players were placed on season-ending medical reserve lists) and that QB Carson Palmer was seeing his first NFL playing time. HB Rudi Johnson rushed for a club-record 1454 yards (since broken), and the team had four players named to the Pro Bowl, its highest total since 1990. The Pro Bowl quartet was HB Rudi Johnson, WR Chad Ochocinco, OT Willie Anderson and CB Tory James. K Shayne Graham set a club record with 122 points (a mark he later broke). Home games were played on a new, synthetic FieldTurf surface, on which installation was complete in early July. The team also made its first significant uniform change since 1981. The signature striped helmet was not changed, but the jersey design was modernized, black pants were added as a regular option to white pants, and a special-occasion orange jersey was added for up to two games per year.

2005 In head coach Marvin Lewis' third season, the Bengals returned to the playoffs, winning the AFC North Division title with an 11-5 record. Cincinnati lost 31-17 to Pittsburgh in a Wild Card round playoff game at Paul Brown Stadium, losing QB Carson Palmer to a serious knee injury on the club's second offensive snap. Palmer was among five Bengals voted to the Pro Bowl, the largest Bengals contingent since the 1989 team placed six. The other 2005 season Pro Bowlers were OT Willie Anderson, K Shayne Graham, WR Chad Ochocinco and CB Deltha O'Neal. On Dec. 29, just before the end of the regular season, Palmer signed a new agreement with the club, extending his contract through 2014. A number of club individual single-season records were set, including 32 TD passes by Palmer; 1432 receiving yards by Chad Ochocinco (since broken); 1458 rushing yards by Rudi Johnson; 10 INTs by O'Neal; and 131 points by Graham. The club posted a record regular-season attendance of 526,469 (later surpassed), and another sellout for the playoff game vs. Pittsburgh pushed to 20 the team's streak of consecutive regular and postseason home sellouts. The season's home crowds included the top four attendance figures in franchise history (to that time), headed by 66,104 for the Bengals-Steelers game on Oct. 23.

2006 For the first time since 1992, the Bengals sold out all games before the season began, and a waiting list was established for new season ticket buyers. The regular-season attendance mark was 527,870, as the club set a record for the third straight year. It was also announced prior to the season that head coach Marvin Lewis signed a contract extension through 2010. Lewis completed his fourth season by joining Paul Brown as the only Bengals head coaches to go four straight seasons without a losing record, but though the team remained in contention until the final weekend, it missed the playoffs with an 8-8 mark. QB Carson Palmer set a club record with 4035 passing yards (since surpassed), and he boldfaced his status as the cornerstone of the roster by winning the Most Valuable Player Award in the Pro Bowl on Feb. 10, 2007. He was the first Bengal to win the award. Other individual Bengals achievements in '06 included an NFL receiving yards title for Chad Ochocinco (1369), the first such crown in Bengals history, and Johnson also became the first NFL player to lead the AFC or NFC in receiving yards for a fourth consecutive season. Palmer, Johnson and OT Willie Anderson each were named to the Pro Bowl.

2007 In a Harris Interactive survey released in February, Paul Brown Stadium was the only football stadium to make a list of "America's favorite 150 buildings and structures." PBS ranked 101st on the list, whose range included all manner of major structures (the Empire State Building ranking first). Among all sports venues, only Wrigley Field (31) and Yankee Stadium (84) ranked higher than PBS. For the second straight season, the Bengals sold out all games before the season began, and the team ran to 36 its streak of consecutive home sellouts (regular and postseason). The team entered the season with high expectations, with its first two home games selected for ESPN Monday Night Football. But the season's first half ended with a disappointing 2-6 record, and a second-half rally lifted the club only to 7-9, the first losing season for head coach Marvin Lewis. WR T.J. Houshmandzadeh tied for the league receptions title (112) — becoming the first Bengal ever to lead or share the league lead. Other notable statistical accomplishments included Chad Ochocinco breaking his own team record with 1440 receiving yards, Carson Palmer re-setting two of his own marks with 4131 passing yards and 373 completions, and Shayne Graham kicking a club-record 31 field goals while re-setting his own mark for season field goal accuracy (91.2 percent). Houshmandzadeh and Chad Ochocinco earned trips to the Pro Bowl.

2008 With a club-record 23 players sent to the Reserve/Injured list, the Bengals struggled to a 4-11-1 finish. That list of 23 did not include the biggest missing name, QB Carson Palmer, who stayed on the roster all season but played in only four games due to an elbow injury. Ryan Fitzpatrick replaced Palmer at QB. The team partly salvaged the season, going 4-3-1 in the campaign's second half, but that was after an 0-8 start. Though the offense was near record lows in many statistical categories, the defense was promising under new coordinator Mike Zimmer, rising to a No. 12 NFL yardage ranking, the team's best since 2001. All home games were declared sold out beore the season began, and at season's end, the team's sellout streak (regular and postseason) was extended to a franchise-record 44, breaking a mark of 43 that had been set over the course of 1988-92. The Bengals' 13-13 tie on Nov. 16 vs. Philadelphia was the NFL's first deadlock since 2002.

Anthony Muñoz puts Bengals stamp on Pro Football Hall of Fame

Anthony Muñoz, who defined the art of playing offensive tackle in the National Football League, is the only player who performed primarily for the Bengals to gain entry to the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Muñoz was inducted, along with four other players, on Aug. 1, 1998, at the Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio.

Muñoz chose his son, Michael, as his presenter for the Hall of Fame induction ceremony. Muñoz and his wife, DeDe, also have a daughter, Michelle.

1998 was the first year of Hall eligibility for Muñoz, whose final NFL season was 1992 with the Bengals. Including the 2008 class, only 26 percent of Hall inductees have had the honor of first-ballot election (66 of 253).

"Anthony's induction was very gratifying to our organization and to all of our fans," said Mike Brown, Bengals president. "It was particularly so because the selectors recognized Anthony as a truly special player and person who deserved election on his first try. During his playing days, no one in the NFL was better. It's justifiable to consider him as the best offensive lineman ever, and he has conducted his personal and family life in a way that is a great credit to the Bengals and the NFL."

Peter Brouillet/NFL Photos

Muñoz' off-field efforts earned him the NFL's prestigious Man of the Year Award in 1991.

Muñoz was a consensus All-American at the University of Southern California, and the Bengals claimed him with the third overall pick in the 1980 draft, despite the fact some teams considered him damaged goods due to past knee surgery. The move turned out as the best draft gamble in franchise history, as Muñoz went on to play 13 Bengals seasons (1980-92), including 11 seasons (1981-91) in which he was chosen for the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl game. At the time of his retirement (1992), that was the most selections of any player in NFL history. He earned All-Pro honors every season from 1981-91.

Muñoz played for the Bengals in each of their Super Bowl appearances, as a second-year player in Super Bowl XVI and as a ninth-year veteran in Super Bowl XXIII.

In 1994, he was one of three offensive tackles named to the NFL's official 75th Anniversary Team. He joined his fellow tackles from that 75th Anniversary Team — Forrest Gregg and Roosevelt Brown — in the Hall of Fame.

Muñoz' exceptional agility and athleticism is reflected by his entry line in the Bengals' all-time pass receiving statistics. He caught seven passes, playing as a tackle-eligible, and four of those catches were for touchdowns.

In six of his 13 Bengals seasons, Muñoz earned at least one major award as NFL Offensive Lineman of the Year. One award citation, issued by NFL Alumni, reads: "The NFL has three levels of offensive linemen. The bottom rung is for players aspiring to make the Pro Bowl. The next step is for those who have earned all-star status. Then there's Anthony Muñoz. He's alone at the top, a sure Hall of Famer."

Though there are Hall of Fame members with some Hispanic ancestry, Muñoz is generally considered the first player of primarily Hispanic background to gain entry to the Hall. Muñoz was born in Ontario, Calif. His parents also are native Californians, and his grandparents were born in Chihuahua, Mexico.

One other Hall of Fame player, wide receiver Charlie Joiner, has a Bengals connection. But Joiner played the majority of his NFL career with the San Diego Chargers. Paul Brown, founder of the Bengals and the Cleveland Browns, also is in the Hall of Fame, but was inducted before the Bengals' first season.

The other 1998 Hall of Fame inductees were defensive back Paul Krause, wide receiver Tommy McDonald, center Dwight Stephenson and linebacker Mike Singletary.

WHAT THEY'VE SAID ABOUT ANTHONY MUÑOZ

- Ritter Collett, Dayton Daily News columnist: "Anthony Muñoz is one of those rare athletes you wish could go on playing forever. Not just because he may be as fine a tackle as ever played in the NFL. Tackles come and go. Quality human beings who put more back into society than they take out are something else."
- Former Bengals head coach Forrest Gregg, recalling a pre-draft workout in 1980: "I was pass-rushing him. I put a couple of moves on him and thought I had him set up. But he just jammed me with that big right paw, and I landed right on my rear. I didn't need any more. Right then, I knew we would take him in the draft if he was available. He apologized for knocking me down, but I said, 'Son, don't worry. It was a great move.' "
- Jim McNally, Bengals offensive line coach, 1980-94: "The key word is 'athlete.' In the offensive line, you see a lot of guys who are big and strong and fine players, but they're not great athletes. Anthony is a great athlete."
- Joe Walter, Bengals OT, 1985-97: "Anthony played great every Sunday for 13 years. Every Monday, I was in the film room, watching him. It was awesome."

BENGALS IN SUPER BOWL XVI

San Francisco 26, Bengals 21

Jan. 24, 1982, at Pontiac Silverdome (Pontiac, Mich.)

Cincinnati outgained San Francisco by 81 yards (356-275), marking the first time in Super Bowl history the losing team led in scrimmage yardage. Bengals QB Ken Anderson set Super Bowl records (since surpassed) for completions (25) and completion percentage (73.5), and his 300 passing yards nearly doubled the 157 by 49ers QB Joe Montana, the game's MVP. But Cincinnati suffered four turnovers to San Francisco's one, and three of those giveaways led to 17 first-half points for the 49ers, who led 20-0 at intermission.

Leading 20-7, San Francisco staged a memorable goal-line stand late in the third quarter, stopping Cincinnati for no gain on three straight plays from the one-yard line. The Bengals still closed the gap to 20-14 with a four-yard TD pass from Anderson to TE Dan Ross with 10:06 left, but the 49ers added FGs of 40 and 23 yards by K Ray Wersching to pull away. Cincinnati crept to within 26-21 with 16 seconds left on a second Anderson-to-Ross TD pass, but San Francisco recovered the Bengals' ensuing onside kick to seal the victory. Wersching's four FGs tied a Super Bowl record (still tied) and Ross' 11 receptions set a Super Bowl record (since tied).

San Francisco 20, Bengals 16

Jan. 22, 1989, at Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, Fla.)

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle termed it the most exciting of the first 23 games in Super Bowl history, and the result regained some respect for the AFC, which had lost the last four contests by an average of more than 27 points. But the dominant emotion of the day still was heartbreak for head coach Sam Wyche's underdog Bengals, who took a 16-13 lead with 3:20 to play on Jim Breech's 40-yard FG before succumbing to a 92-yard, 11-play TD drive led by San Francisco QB Joe Montana. WR John Taylor's game-winning 10-yard TD catch from Montana came with just 34 seconds remaining. Never before had a Super Bowl been won on a TD so late in the game.

Cincinnati played without FB Stanley Wilson, who was suspended for a substance abuse violation that occurred the night before the game. In addition, the Bengals played almost the entire contest without All-Pro NT Tim Krumrie, who suffered a severe broken leg early in the first quarter.

The teams were tied 3-3 at halftime, tied again at 6-6 late in the third quarter, and then swapped TDs in quick succession. A 93-yard kickoff return by Cincinnati's Stanford Jennings was countered by a four-play San Francisco TD drive. The third of Breech's three FGs gave Cincinnati its third lead of the day before Montana's final heroics saved the day for the 49ers. San Francisco WR Jerry Rice tied a Super Bowl record with 11 receptions (still tied; originally set by Bengals TE Dan Ross in Super Bowl XVI) for 215 yards and one TD, earning the game's MVP award. Montana completed 23 of 36 passes for 357 yards, two TDs and no INTs. The victory made San Francisco the first NFC team to win three Super Bowls.

CINCINNATI PRO FOOTBALL HISTORY

Cincinnati was home to two other football teams in the National Football League prior to the present-day Bengals.

One of the teams, known as the Cincinnati Celts, was a member of the NFL — then known as the American Professional Football Association — in the league's second season in 1921. That team finished with a 1-3-0 record in its only season.

In 1933, the NFL granted the city another franchise, this time called the Cincinnati Reds. They competed in the league for two seasons before folding. The Reds finished with a 3-6-1 record and fourth place in the league's Western Division in 1933. In 1934, they lost their first eight games before suspending operations. The St. Louis Gunners, an independent team, joined the NFL by buying the Cincinnati franchise and went 1-2 the last three weeks of the season.

It was a third team, however — one which was not a member of the NFL — that eventually proved to be the closest link to today's modern-era team.

In 1937, a team called the Cincinnati Bengals was formed as a member of the rival American Football League. It was that team's nickname which was later adopted by today's NFL franchise.

The 1937 Bengals finished with a 2-4-2 record in their first year, but the AFL folded after the season. The Bengals continued as an independent team in 1938, playing three NFL teams that year. They beat the Chicago Bears, 17-13, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, 38-0, and tied the Chicago Cardinals, 7-7.

In 1939, the Bengals joined a new AFL, finishing in second place with a 6-2 record. But again, the league folded after the season.

Once again in 1940, another new AFL emerged, and again the Bengals joined. They recorded 1-7-0 and 1-5-2 marks in 1940 and '41, respectively. That AFL suffered the fate of the two AFLs before it, folding after the 1941 season as the United States entered World War II. Only this time, the Bengals folded along with it.

Pro football returned to Cincinnati 26 years later, in 1967, when Paul Brown headed an ownership group which landed an expansion franchise in the modern-era American Football League. Brown, a Pro Football Hall of Famer who founded and coached the Cleveland Browns from 1946-62, picked the name Bengals for the new team "to give it a link with past professional football in Cincinnati."

Hundreds of names were suggested by fans in an effort to name the new Cincinnati team, the most popular being Buckeyes. It was rejected to avoid confusion with the Ohio State Buckeyes.

The Bengals began play in the AFL in 1968. The AFL merged with the NFL in 1970.

DOUBLING UP

Twice in Bengals history, a Cincinnati player has managed 100-plus yards both rushing and receiving on the same day. HB Essex Johnson was the first, rushing for 121 yards on 21 carries and getting 116 yards on two receptions on Sept. 30, 1973 at San Diego. He stood alone in the category until Dec. 7, 1986, when HB James Brooks burned the Patriots at New England for 163 yards on 18 rushes and 101 yards on six receptions. Cincinnati won both games.

Bengals opponents have managed double 100-yard performances twice, and Cincinnati lost both of those games. On Nov. 23, 1975, Cleveland HB Greg Pruitt had 121 yards on 17 rushes and 106 yards on seven receptions vs. Cincinnati at Cleveland Stadium. On Sept. 22, 1985, San Diego RB Lionel James became the only NFL player to record dual 100s at Riverfront Stadium (later renamed Cinergy Field). James had 127 yards on 12 rushes and 118 yards on five receptions.

BENGALS UNIFORMS — THEN & NOW

1968-79 — THE ORIGINAL

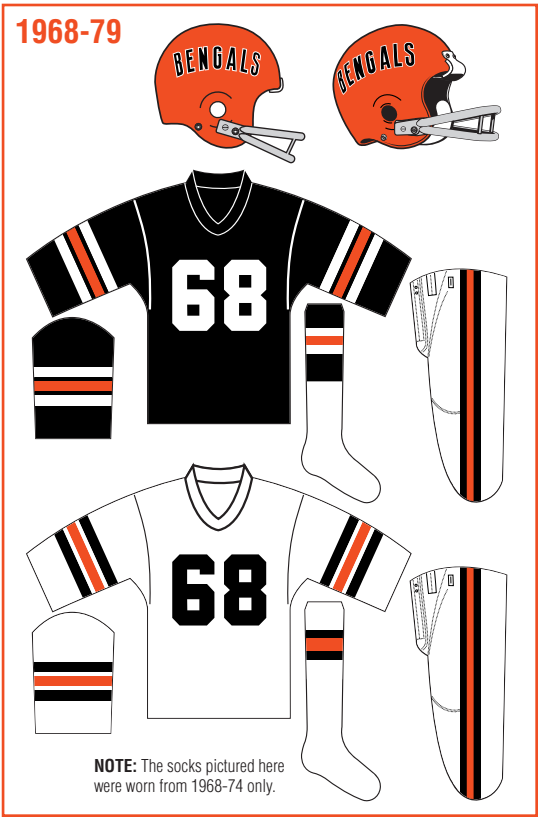

The original Bengals uniform pictured here debuted when the team began play in the modern-era American Football League in 1968, and it defined the team's appearance well beyond the AFL's merger with the National Football League in 1970. Except for its socks and shoes, this uniform remained unchanged for 12 seasons through 1979.

The helmet was orange with a gray facemask. Simple in design, it had "Bengals" arched across both sides in block letters. The letters were black with a thin white outline.

This original uniform had both a black jersey and a white jersey. The black jersey had one orange stripe surrounded by two white stripes on each sleeve. Its uniform numbers were white block numerals, appearing on both the front and back. Likewise, its nameplate had white block letters. The white jersey had an orange stripe surrounded by black stripes on each sleeve, its uniform numbers were black block numerals on the front and back, and it had black block letters on the nameplate.

The team wore the same white pants with both the black and white jerseys of this uniform. The pants had one orange stripe surrounded by two black stripes on the side of each leg. The stripes ran the full length of the legs.

For its first seven seasons, the team wore two sock designs, based on whether it was wearing a black or a white jersey. With black jerseys, the team wore black-topped socks — white socks with a black top from the rim to the bottom of the calf. In the middle of the black top appeared one orange stripe surrounded by two white stripes, matching the striping pattern on the black jersey's sleeves. With white jerseys, the team wore white socks with mid-calf striping that matched the pants and the white jersey's sleeves — one orange stripe surrounded by two black stripes.

The team wore the socks pictured here through 1974. In 1975, the team began wearing only one sock design, regardless of whether it was wearing a black or a white jersey. That sock, pictured with the 1980 uniform illustration on the following page, was white, and at its mid-calf had one black stripe surrounded by two orange stripes.

The team primarily wore black shoes through 1973, and white shoes in 1974 and thereafter.

Interesting facts from this uniform era:

• Black shoes were in — then out of — style, and now they're back again: During this time period, neither the AFL nor the NFL had rules requiring players on the same teams to wear shoes of the same color. In the franchise's first six seasons through 1973, most Bengals players chose to wear black shoes. In 1974, the team's dominant shoe color shifted to white. Not until 1990 did the NFL begin to regulate shoe colors. To help standardize uniforms, the league required each team to select a primary shoe color. The Bengals chose white, since that was still the players' color of choice at the time. The white shoes continued to remain in place through 2003. At the players' request, the team switched back to black shoes with its 2004 uniform redesign.

• Incorrect stripes were placed on cold-weather jersey: For the entire run of this uniform, the stripes on the sleeves of the official Bengals jersey were slightly separated, while the stripes on the sides of the legs and around the calves of the socks were joined together. However, in wintry conditions throughout this time period, the team often wore special cold-weather versions of its jersey that had long sleeves extending to mid-forearm. Due to an oversight in the designing process at the manufacturer, the stripes on the cold-weather jersey were joined, just like the striping on the pants and the socks. The discrepancy was never corrected. The cold-weather jersey was worn as needed through the late-1970s. When the uniform was changed in 1980 — and again in '81 — the team chose not to create another cold-weather jersey. In wintry conditions from that point on, players instead wore jerseys with normal-length sleeves on top of long-sleeve undershirts.

1980 — THE CHANGE BEFORE THE STRIPES

While the overall original appearance remained intact, the Bengals' uniform underwent four alterations in 1980 to constitute a subtle — yet noticeable — uniform change.

On the helmet, the team made two alterations — it switched facemask colors from gray to black, and added black uniform numbers on the back. On the jersey, the team added uniform numbers to the sides of the sleeves, just above the existing stripes. And on the pants, the orange stripe was widened to about twice its original thickness, though the width of the surrounding black stripes remained the same.

NOTE: The socks pictured here were worn from 1975-80.

The socks pictured here — white, with one black stripe surrounded by two orange stripes at its mid-calf — had actually been the team's lone sock design since 1975.

Interesting facts from this uniform era:

•Television changed football, including the uniforms: The popularity of professional football grew immensely from the 1960s through the '80s, and much of the NFL's progress throughout that era was attributed to significant television exposure. Television changed the game in many ways, both substantially and minutely. When the Bengals added uniform numbers to the sides of their jersey sleeves in 1980, they were following a slow, evolving uniform design trend that started in the mid-1960s as a result of the league's desire to become more viewer-friendly on television. In fact, uniform numbers that were added to sleeves or shoulders were referred to as "TV numbers," since their placement was intended to aid broadcast announcers and viewers in quickly identifying players from various camera angles. The league did not have a rule requiring teams to place TV numbers on uniforms until 1991, though by that time nearly all uniforms already had them. Also in 1980, the Bengals added uniform numbers to the team's helmet. Those numbers, however, were affixed for the purpose of quickly identifying which player a helmet belonged to if it was taken off and set down during a game. There still is no league rule requiring teams to place uniform numbers on helmets.

• The new pants were official in 1980, but debuted in '79: While the Bengals did not officially add the pants with the widened orange stripe to their uniform until 1980, that design actually appeared on a limited trial basis in 1979. The 1979 trials were not team-wide, with only a few players wearing the new design during select games that season.

1981-96 — THE STRIPES

In 1981, the Bengals introduced a bold new uniform which was dramatically different than the relatively conservative designs the team had used since 1968.

Perhaps the most eye-catching distinction of the complete makeover was the team's new helmet. The helmet remained orange and retained its black facemask, but replacing the block-letter "Bengals" logotype were the team's new signature tiger stripes. Six black tiger stripes were placed on the helmet, extending from one side to the other.

Paul Brown, the team's founder who then held the title of Vice President and General Manager, said the team wanted a helmet that would be instantly identifiable with the Cincinnati franchise, something akin to the Baltimore Colts' horseshoe helmet and the San Diego Chargers' lightning bolt helmet.

"You couldn't read 'Bengals' on our helmet from a distance," Brown said at the time. "When you were far away, it looked like Cleveland's helmet."

The black jersey, the white jersey and the white pants of the new uniform featured a black tiger-stripe pattern on top of a wide orange stripe. On the jerseys, the pattern appeared on the shoulders. On the pants, it extended straight down the full length of each leg.

In addition, the uniform numbers on the front and back, as well as those on sides of the sleeves, were given orange outlines. The letters on the players' nameplates, however, remained solid color — white on the black jersey, and black on the white jersey — and were not given outlines.

The new uniform was assigned orange-topped socks — white socks with an orange top from the rim to the bottom of the calf. The team's primary shoe color remained white.

Interesting facts from this uniform era:

• Sleeves became shorter over time: From when the Bengals began play in 1968 through the mid-'80s, the sleeve length of the jersey was somewhat long by today's standards, reaching to just above the elbow. In the mid-'80s, sleeves began shortening over time to the current-day length, reaching only to the lower shoulder or upper biceps. By 1991, all of the team's jerseys were made with the shorter sleeves, and the original elbow-length sleeves were never produced again.

• NFL marks were added in 1991: Not pictured here, small NFL shield logos were added to the Bengals' helmets, jerseys and pants in 1991. All NFL teams added the logos as part of a minor league-wide alteration. On the helmets, the shields appeared in the rear left area. On the jerseys, it appeared on the front center of the collar. And on the pants, it was placed on the front left area just below the waist. In 2002, the NFL Equipment logo replaced the shield logos on the jerseys and the pants, though the shield remained on the helmet. Though they are not included on these 1981-96 uniform illustrations, the shield and equipment logos are incorporated into the 1997-2003 and '04-present illustrations on the following two pages, respectively.

• The stripes did not remain entirely the same: The black tiger-stripe patterns on the shoulders of the jersey and the legs of the pants during this era did not always perfectly match those on the illustrations pictured here. Though hardly noticeable, the patterns differed slightly from one uniform manufacturer to the next. In most cases, the stripes were less wide and more numerous. At the time, minor variations of this nature were considered acceptable as long as they were negligible and did not change the overall appearance of the uniform design.

1997-2003 — THE UPDATED STRIPES

In 1997, the Bengals introduced alterations to their uniform which were termed "evolutionary, not revolutionary." While the helmet remained unchanged and the general look of the uniform remained intact, several modifications were made on the jerseys, pants and socks.

Perhaps the most notable of the changes was the addition of the team's new leaping tiger logo on the sleeves of the jersey. Because the new logo was placed where uniform numbers previously had been, the numbers on the sleeves were moved to the tops of the shoulders.

Also on the jersey, the black tiger-stripe patterns on the shoulders were simplified with wider stripes. The white jersey was altered further to include black trim on the sleeves and collar. And the letters on the nameplates of both the black jersey and white jersey were given orange outlines to match the jersey numbers, which had been given orange outlines in the uniform's 1981 redesign.

On the pants, the black tiger-stripe patterns on the sides of the legs were simplified with wider stripes to match the new jersey stripes. And, the orange-topped socks the team had been wearing since 1981 were replaced by black-topped socks.

Interesting facts from this uniform era:

• Another not so noticeable change was made in 1997: There was another alteration made with this Bengals uniform change — not in design, but in makeup. All of the jersey numbers and the letters of the nameplates were converted from printed images to stitched fabric. The stitched fabric process — called "tackle twill" — produced more vivid colors, and the result was much more durable. With the nameplate letters and the jersey numerals altered to tackle twill, the black tiger-stripe pattern on the shoulders and pants were the only remaining printed items. The tiger stripes were not changed because the additional stitching required for tackle twill would have significantly reduced the elasticity of the ends of the shoulders and the sides of the pants. And, since those were considered high-stretch areas, the print process remained the better choice for the tiger stripes.

1997-2003

NOTE: These black pants were worn in two games in 2003 only (see 2004-present interesting fact on the following page).

• Incorrect stripes were placed on 1999 pants: Two years after the Bengals made the 1997 alterations, a new manufacturer of the uniforms mistakenly produced pants with the previous tiger-stripe pattern that was used from 1981-96. The discrepancy was considered minor, since most of the 1997 alterations had occurred on the jersey. In fact, the mistake wasn't even noticed until after the 1999 season had started. Thus, the team wore the incorrectly-striped pants for the rest of the season, and the error was corrected for the following year.

2004-PRESENT — THE NEW STRIPES

For the first time in 23 years and just the second time in team history, the Bengals' uniform underwent a complete redesign in 2004.

The team's signature tiger-striped helmet, widely considered among the most distinctive in football since its introduction in 1981, was not altered. The changes to the rest of the new uniform, however, were numerous.

The most noticeable differences from the previous design were the additions of a third jersey, a second pant and a second sock. To supplement its regular black and white jerseys, the team added a special-occasion orange jersey which could be worn in up to two games per year. Black pants were added to the lineup, marking the first time in team history that pants of a color other than white were officially part of the team's uniform. And, the orange-topped sock — worn in the 1981-96 uniform era — returned to the lineup as a mix-and-match option, joining the black-topped sock introduced in '97.

All three jerseys displayed a new tiger-stripe pattern on the shoulders. The black jersey featured orange sleeves, and orange trim on the sleeves and collar. The white and orange jerseys had black sleeves, with black sleeve and collar trim. The sleeves of all three jerseys were given white undersides. On the black and orange jerseys, the white undersides on the sleeves continued as wide stripes down the sides.

Modern, more rounded numerals replaced the block-letter uniform numbers that had adorned Bengals jerseys of the past, and the orange outline on the new numbers was given a shadow effect. In addition, the leaping tiger logo was removed from the sleeve, while the team's new striped "B" logo was placed in the center of the chest area, just below the neckline.

Both pants featured a new tiger-stripe pattern on the sides of the legs. However, unlike the old stripes, the new stripes did not extend straight down the full length of the legs. Instead, the new stripes curved slightly forward to a point just above the knees.

Lastly, the team chose to revert its shoe color from white to black, which had been the primary shoe color from 1968-73.

Interesting fact from this uniform era:

• 2004 black pants were the first to be official, but not the first to be worn: The Bengals' uniform officially included black pants for the first time in team history in 2004. However, 2004 did not mark the first time the team had worn black pants in a game. A year before, in 2003, the team was granted by the NFL the option to use black pants in two games as part of the redesign process that resulted in the new 2004 uniform. The team exercised that option, wearing black pants on a temporary trial basis for both their 2003 regular-season opener and finale. Those 2003 black pants, however, possessed the team's older tiger-stripe pattern of that era (see 1997-2003 illustrations on previous page), and were never worn again. The black pants that were permanently added to the lineup in 2004 were updated with the new tiger-stripe pattern.

BENGALS LOGOS — THEN & NOW

1967-69 — RUNNING TIGER

The Cincinnati Bengals franchise was founded in 1967, a year before it began play in the modern-era American Football League. For its first logo, the team chose a caricature of a tiger, running with a football under its right arm. Flying off the tiger's head was a white helmet with another tiger's head painted on its side.

The team used this logo while they were members of the AFL through the 1969 season, though the logo never appeared on the team's uniform.

1970-80 — BLOCK-LETTERED HELMET

When the AFL merged with the NFL in 1970 — the same year the Bengals began play in the new Riverfront Stadium (later renamed Cinergy Field) — the team's logo shifted from the running tiger to a representation of the helmet the players had been wearing since the team began play in 1968.

The helmet representation, which like the real helmet was orange with "Bengals" arched across both sides in block letters, remained the team's logo through the 1980 season. The helmet logo, however, used much larger letters for "Bengals" than what actually appeared on the real helmets.

1981-96 — STRIPED HELMET

Prior to the Bengals' 1981 season — the season of their first Super Bowl appearance — the team introduced a bold new uniform that featured a distinctive, eye-catching new helmet that was orange with six black tiger stripes extending from one side to the other. With the uniform redesign, the team's logo changed from a representation of the block-lettered helmet to a representation of the new striped helmet.

When it was first introduced, the striped helmet logo was a two-dimensional side view with a two-barred face mask. By the end of the 1980s, the logo evolved into the image pictured here — a three-dimensional angled view with a multi-barred face mask. As a result of the angled view, only five of the six stripes are visible in this striped helmet logo.

1997-2003 — LEAPING TIGER

In 1997, the Bengals made subtle alterations to their uniforms. With the alterations, the team unveiled a new logo of a leaping tiger which adorned the sleeves of the uniform's new jersey. That new leaping tiger replaced the striped helmet as the team's primary logo.

The leaping tiger logo, pictured here with the team's logotype of that era, was an illustration of an aggressive-looking orange tiger with black stripes that matched those on the team's helmet and white facial accents. The leaping tiger's head by itself was the team's secondary logo. In addition, the striped helmet logo also was still commonly used.

2004-PRESENT — STRIPED "B"

The Bengals' uniform underwent a complete redesign in 2004. As part of the change, the team introduced a new striped "B" logo and created a new team font. Simple in design, the logo was the new font's letter B, colored orange with three black tiger stripes.

The striped B was placed in the center of the team's new jersey, just below the neckline, while the Bengals font was used to create the team's new logotype. The striped B replaced the leaping tiger as the team's primary mark, though the leaping tiger and the leaping tiger's head were kept as secondary marks and are still used frequently.

P.B. AND THE HALL OF FAME

Paul Brown, founder of the Cincinnati Bengals, was enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1967, and numerous other Hall of Fame members played and/or coached under Brown.

The most recent addition to P.B.'s disciples in the Hall of Fame was Bengals tackle Anthony Muñoz, considered by many to be the greatest offensive lineman in NFL history. Muñoz, a 1998 inductee, played his entire 13-year pro career (1980-92) with the Bengals. Some analysts thought he was too risky a prospect for an early first-round draft selection because he had experienced knee injuries in college. But Brown, as Bengals general manager in 1980, selected Muñoz with the No. 3 overall pick.

The 1997 Hall of Fame class included Don Shula, winningest coach in NFL history, who played defensive back in the NFL and was a rookie on Brown's defending NFL champion Cleveland Browns in 1951.

WR Charlie Joiner, who played for the Bengals under Brown from 1972-75, was elected to the Hall of Fame in the 1996 class of inductees. Also, 15 other players Brown coached for the Cleveland Browns are in the Hall of Fame. These players, and the years Brown coached them in Cleveland, are: Doug Atkins, DE, 1953-54; Jim Brown, FB, 1957-62; Willie Davis, DE, 1958-59; Len Dawson, QB, 1960-61; Len Ford, WR, 1950-57; Frank Gatski, C, 1946-56; Otto Graham, QB, 1946-55; Lou Groza, T/PK, 1946-59, 1961-62; Gene Hickerson, G (1958-60, 1962); Henry Jordan, DT, 1957-58; Dante Lavelli, WR, 1946-56; Mike McCormack, T, 1954-62; Bobby Mitchell, RB/WR, 1958-61; Marion Motley, FB/LB, 1946-53; and Bill Willis, G, 1946-53.

Former assistant coaches under Paul Brown who are in the Hall of Fame are Weeb Ewbank and Bill Walsh. Also in the Hall of Fame is Forrest Gregg, hired by Brown as Bengals head coach in 1980.

Bengals mark 10th season in Paul Brown Stadium

Paul Brown Stadium, home of the Bengals on Cincinnati's downtown riverfront, plays host to its 10th NFL season in 2009. PBS, as it's known for short, has won numerous honors and has helped keep Cincinnati in the national sports spotlight.

Long acknowledged for its innovative design and fan amenities, PBS has hosted sellouts for a franchise-record 44 consecutive Bengals games (regular and postseason). The previous record was 43, at Riverfront Stadium from 1988-92.

A FieldTurf playing surface was installed at PBS for 2004, with resounding success. Besides assuring optimum field conditions for all games, the new surface gave the team a new practice site option during inclement weather, supplementing the team's grass practice fields.

Named for the Pro Football Hall of Fame legend who founded both the Cleveland Browns and Bengals franchises, Paul Brown Stadium includes 132 suites and 7600 club seats.

Though hailed for its futuristic design, the stadium's primary purpose is to serve as a premier venue for watching football. Almost 70 percent of the seats are along the sidelines, positioned for superior sight lines to the field.

Additional facts and figures on Paul Brown Stadium:

LOCATION: The stadium site is on the western side of Cincinnati's downtown riverfront. It is bordered by Elm Street on the east, Central Avenue on the west, Pete Rose Way on the north and Mehring Way on the south. The southern border of the stadium is one block from the Ohio River, and plans call for it to be connected to the riverfront with a city park.

SEATING CAPACITY: 65,515.

DIMENSIONS: The stadium site covers approximately 22 acres, and Paul Brown Stadium itself reaches a height of 157 feet.

PLAYING SURFACE: FieldTurf.

SUITES: Each of the 132 suites features retractable glass windows, allowing fans the option to watch in climate-controlled comfort or to bring in the outdoor experience. Size options range from 12 to 30 seats in player suites, private suites or party suites.

CLUB SEATING: Club patrons at

PAUL BROWN

Paul Brown Stadium honors not only the founder and first coach of the Bengals, but a man who was also one of the great innovators in pro football history.

"Whether they know it or not, nearly everyone in football has been affected by Paul Brown," former NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said in 1991. "His wealth of ideas changed the game."

Elected in 1967 to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Brown also was founder and first coach of the Cleveland Browns, whom he guided to seven league championships in their first 12 seasons. He posted a .665 winning percentage over 25 years of pro coaching (222-112-9, including playoffs). Earlier in his career, he created an Ohio dynasty at Massillon High School and coached Ohio State University to a national championship (1942).

Brown pioneered coaching as a year-round profession, invented the draw play, introduced the use of face masks on helmets, initiated film study and classroom instruction of players, and was the first coach to call plays from the sidelines. He also broke the color barrier in modern American pro sports, as his Cleveland team featured black stars Marion Motley and Bill Willis in 1946, a year before Jackie Robinson's debut in Major League Baseball.

Born in Norwalk, Ohio, and reared in Massillon, Brown was Bengals coach and general manager from 1968-75. He stepped down as coach following an 11-3 season in 1975, and continued in the GM's role until his death at age 82 on Aug. 5, 1991.

Paul Brown Stadium enjoy the comfort of extra-wide, padded seats at the prime football viewing level, with in-seat food and beverage service. Patrons also have access to the Club Level Lounges, featuring fine dining as well as prime views of the downtown skyline or riverfront.

Survey rates PBS nation's favorite football venue

Paul Brown Stadium has won numerous national honors, with the latest and perhaps most notable coming in February 2007. At that time, PBS was the only football stadium to make a list of "America's favorite 150 buildings and structures," according to a Harris Interactive survey.

PBS ranked 101st on the list, whose range included all manner of major structures — skyscrapers, museums, churches, hotels, bridges, national memorials and more. No other football stadium was voted among the top 150, and among all sports venues, only two historic baseball parks — Wrigley Field and the old Yankee Stadium — ranked higher than PBS. Wrigley ranked 31st and Yankee Stadium 84th.

The survey was commissioned by the American Institute of Architects and was published by The Wall Street Journal. Results came from a scientifically selected panel of 2000 Americans, who were asked to choose their favorites from photos of 247 "finalist" buildings, which had been selected by a panel of 2500 architects.

Paul Brown Stadium features a futuristic, open design that incorporates views of the Ohio River and the historic Suspension Bridge to the south, and downtown Cincinnati to the north.

PAUL BROWN STADIUM

"For a seven-year-old facility to rank this high is a remarkable tribute," said Troy Blackburn, Bengals vice president, at the time the survey was released. "We're excited and gratified to see our city nationally recognized in this way."

The Empire State Building was rated America's favorite piece of architecture overall. Reflecting the diversity of candidates, other structures in the overall top 10 included The White House (2), the Golden Gate Bridge (5) and the Vietnam Veterans Memorial (10).

Though PBS opened in 2000, it remained very much in the news well past its inaugural Bengals game, a preseason clash with Chicago on Aug. 19 of that year.

In 2002, in an industry rarity, the stadium was singled out by both of the nation's premier architecture magazines. In Architectural Record and in Architecture, PBS was able to push sports stadiums onto pages usually reserved for office buildings, museums and universities. Both magazines emphasized the skill with which NBBJ, the stadium's Los Angeles-based architecture firm, was able to integrate the open-air stadium design with the city.

The two stories came on the heels of PBS receiving the 2001 Merit Award from the American Institute of Architects (California Council). It marked the first time an NFL stadium received the award from the prestigious AIA.

And in May of 1998, well before its completion, studies of the stadium's design led to it being among 15 winners from a field of more than 300 projects for an American Architecture Award.

TRAINING CAMP
GEORGETOWN COLLEGE

Bengals players report July 30 to training camp at Georgetown (Ky.) College, with the first practice scheduled July 31.

The training camp facility, officially known as the East Campus Athletic Complex, is one of the finest in use by an NFL team. Athletic Management, a national sports management magazine, has recognized the complex with its "Excellence in Outdoor Facilities" award.

The Bengals moved their training camp to Georgetown in 1997 after 29 seasons of training at Wilmington (Ohio) College. Georgetown's commitment to meet state-of-the-art standards has brought unprecedented media attention to training camp and has helped the Bengals develop their Central Kentucky fan base.

The centerpiece of the complex is Toyota Stadium, which offers permanent stands for 5,000 and is built in a bowl shape that can accommodate seating for up to 20,000 fans. The stadium is designed to provide fans with a festival-like atmosphere, concessions, merchandise, interactive pavilion areas and promotional activities developed by corporate sponsors. For the team, it features locker rooms and showers, weight and aerobic rooms, training facilities, a press box and guest booths, as well as a field with a natural grass playing surface.

The facility, an hour's drive south of downtown Cincinnati, also includes a conference center used for coaches' classroom instruction and meals, two additional full-size practice fields, apartment-style resident quads for player housing and executive guest townhouses. The complex joins the college's already existing tennis courts, soccer field and baseball field.

For the seventh straight year, the Bengals will have a two-day format for training camp's major fan events. The full-contact scrimmage will be on Friday night, Aug. 7. On Saturday afternoon Aug. 8, the team will stage the Orange-Black Mock Game, which coach Marvin Lewis has described as "essentially a live game, but without tackling."

Training camp admission is free. There is a charge for on-campus parking.

Free autograph sessions for fans are scheduled periodically throughout the camp.

Founded in 1787, Georgetown College is a four-year, private, residential, liberal arts institution that is among America's Colleges of Distinction, and is the only school in Kentucky to be named both one of America's 100 Best College Buys and one of America's Best Christian Colleges. The 104-acre campus is five miles north of the Kentucky Horse Park, its academic partner and site of the upcoming Alltech FEI World Equestrian Games 2010. The campus is five miles west of Toyota Motor Manufacturing-Kentucky. Dr. William H. Crouch Jr. is the 23rd president of the College, which has an enrollment of nearly 1,900 undergraduate and graduate students.

TRAINING CAMP DATES: July 30 - Aug. 18*

INSTANT REPLAY RULES

The NFL utilizes a system of Referee Replay Review to aid officiating. Prior to the two-minute warning of each half, a Coaches' Challenge System will be in effect. After the two-minute warning, and throughout any overtime period, a Referee Review will be initiated by a Replay Assistant from a Replay Booth.

The following procedures will be used:

REVIEWS BY REFEREE: All Replay Reviews will be conducted by the Referee on a field-level monitor after consultation with the other covering official(s), prior to review. A decision will be reversed only when the Referee has indisputable visual evidence available to him that warrants the change.

COACHES' CHALLENGE: In each game, a team will be permitted two challenges that will initiate Referee Replay reviews. Each challenge will require the use of a team time out. If a challenge is upheld, the time out will be restored to the challenging team. If both challenges are upheld, a third challenge will be awarded to the challenging team. No challenges will be recognized from a team that has exhausted its time outs.

REPLAY ASSISTANT'S REQUEST FOR REVIEW: After the two-minute warning of each half, and throughout any overtime period, any review will be initiated by a Replay Assistant. There is no limit to the number of reviews that may be initiated by the Replay Assistant. His ability to initiate a review will be unrelated to the number of time outs that either team has remaining, and no time out will be charged for any review initiated by the Replay Assistant.

TIME LIMIT: Each review will be a maximum of 60 seconds in length, timed from when the Referee begins his review of the replay at the field-level monitor.

REVIEWABLE PLAYS: The Replay System will cover the following play situations only:

A) PLAYS GOVERNED BY SIDELINE, GOAL LINE, END ZONE, END LINE AND GOAL POSTS:
1. Scoring plays, including a runner breaking the plane of the goal line.
2. Pass complete/incomplete/intercepted at sideline, goal line, end zone, and end line.
3. Runner/receiver in or out of bounds.
4. Recovery of loose ball in or out of bounds.

B) PASSING PLAYS:
1. Pass ruled complete/incomplete/intercepted in the field of play.
2. Touching of a forward pass by an ineligible receiver.
3. Touching of a forward pass by a defensive player.
4. Quarterback (passer) forward pass or fumble.
5. Illegal forward pass beyond line of scrimmage.
6. Illegal forward pass after change of possession.
7. Forward or backward pass thrown from behind line of scrimmage.

C) OTHER REVIEWABLE PLAYS:
1. Runner ruled not down by defensive contact.
2. Runner ruled down by defensive contact and there is a recovery by the defense.
3. Forward progress with respect to first down.
4. Touching of a kick.
5. Number of players on the field.
6. Recovery of loose ball in the field of play, including those ruled to have hit the sideline.
7. Illegal forward handoff.

LEWIS MASTERS THE RED FLAG

Bengals head coach Marvin Lewis was right at the top among NFL coaches in 2008 in effective use of the replay challenge.

Lewis led the league in percentage of successful challenges, with six-of-seven for 85.7 percent. Pittsburgh's Mike Tomlin was second, with four-of-five for 80.0 percent, and the N.Y. Giants' Tom Coughlin was third at seven-of-nine for 77.8 percent.

Lewis was tied for third in most total plays reversed, with six, just one off the league lead. The Giants and Raiders tied for first at seven.

As a group, NFL coaches managed only a 40.3 percent success rate (110-of-273) on their 2008 challenges. The league's replay booth, which supplants the coaches in late-game situations, produced only a 35.2 percent reversal rate (37-of-105).

The combined reversal rate for the season was 38.9 percent (147-of-378).

Bengals in the community

Reaching out to help others

The Bengals organization is committed to improving lives in Greater Cincinnati and the surrounding region.

Bengals players, coaches and staff acknowledge their unique public role and are devoted to working with non-profit organizations, schools and civic groups to make positive contributions and change. The club promotes an understanding of how team involvement can bring a voice to critical issues. The Bengals welcome the opportunity to give back to a community that has unconditionally supported the team for more than 40 years.

Non-profit organizations throughout Greater Cincinnati and the surrounding region look to the Bengals for assistance. Beneficiaries may receive money, food, toys, clothing, autographed items, tours, training camp visits, or something as simple as a smile brought about by a visit from a player or coach.

Community involvement takes many forms. The Bengals sponsor fund-raising events, make donations to many charitable organizations, make personal appearances, and provide vital community information on the team's Web site (bengals.com). Staff, players and coaches also serve on various community boards and commissions.

The Bengals provide support to the annual United Way of Greater Cincinnati campaign through both corporate and individual gifts by coaches, players and administrative employees.

Head coach Marvin Lewis continues to use his voice, doing public service announcements for a range of non-profit organizations in the region.

Running backs coach Jim Anderson has been a member on the steering committee of United Way's African-American Leadership Initiative — The Herbert R. Brown Society. Assistant head coach Paul Alexander and defensive backs coach Kevin Coyle have both worked for the D.A.R.E. drug resistance program in schools. Alexander gives time to the Boy Scouts, and Coyle has spoken to emotionally troubled youth at Cincinnati's Children's Hospital while also volunteering with the Leon Hall Football Camp, benefiting the Boys & Girls Club.

Tight ends coach Jonathan Hayes is a board member of the Greater Cincinnati chapter of the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, and Jeff Berding — Bengals director of sales and public affairs — has graduated from his leadership service with the United Way to join Cincinnati City Council, elected in 2005 and re-elected in '07.

Today's children face an endless array of challenges and decisions, which makes community role models and leaders more important than ever. With this in mind, Marvin and Peggy Lewis launched the Marvin Lewis Community Fund in 2003 with an initial $10,000 donation from the Bengals. The mission of the MLCF is to empower, educate and inspire individuals in the region.

Jeremy McDaniel/McDaniel's Photography

Since its inception, the MLCF has donated more than $5 million, impacted an estimated 250,000 individuals and is proud to have invested 88 cents of every dollar donated back into the community. More than just using Coach Lewis' celebrity voice to raise awareness and contribute to proven area non-profits, the MLCF hosts a number of programs aimed at enriching the Tri-State. To learn more, visit www.marvinlewis.org.

The MLCF hosts two particularly recognizable events as part of its fundraising efforts: The Marvin Lewis Golf Classic (MLGC) each May, and Football 101 each year on the Thursday night of the Bengals' bye week. This year's golf classic raised more than $300,000 and enabled the awarding of $20,000 college scholarships to three deserving high school seniors. It brought the MLCF scholarship recipient total to 28. Football 101 sells out every year and brings 450 women to Paul Brown Stadium to teach them about football in a relaxed and entertaining atmosphere. The event typically raises more than $100,000, with all the proceeds coming directly to the MLCF. At the event, the annual Pink Football Award is given to a breast cancer survivor for her strength, courage and perseverance.

Jamie DeLong

Money raised from the events supports the Marvin Lewis Scholarship Fund, Marvin Lewis USA Football Coaching Clinic, Marvin Lewis Football Camp, Marvin Lewis Coach of the Year Award, Hometown Huddle, Cruisin' for a Cure and the MLCF's newest initiative, "Learning is Cool." The Coaching Clinic features the Bengals coaching staff instructing nearly 250 youth, middle school and high school football coaches. The curriculum includes seven essential areas needed to properly train coaches in teaching the game to young people while running a successful and safe program in a positive learning environment.

The Coach of the Year Award is presented to the top high school football coach in the Tri-State. More than 200 area schools are eligible to nominate a coach for this award. The winner is chosen based on teaching skills, sportsmanship, dedication to players, and commitment to education. The Marvin Lewis Scholarship Fund was created to recognize and honor outstanding male and female student athletes from our region on an annual basis. Candidates are evaluated based on a 1000-word essay, a minimum 2.75 grade point average, a proven commitment to the community, need, and a varsity letter.

Marissa Beck

The MLCF's newest program, "Learning is Cool," is an educational incentive program that rewards students for strong academic performance and is part of a partnership with the Cincinnati Public Schools. This program is designed to encourage the nearly 20,000 first-to-eighth grade students in Cincinnati Public Schools to make the "A" honor roll each quarter. Students who make the "A" honor roll two quarters of the year are invited to the Academic Achievement Party at Paul Brown Stadium. Spokesmen for the program include Marvin Lewis, Robert Geathers, Domata Peko, Johnathan Joseph and Laveranues Coles.

Coach Lewis has been a tireless community activist and youth advocate, making hundreds of community appearances and using his celebrity to bring a voice to many area needs.

He has strengthened the franchise's ties to the community. A partial list of organizations benefitting includes: Wellness Community, Big Brothers Big Sisters, Children's Home, Cancer Family Care, Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center, Council on Child Abuse, Down Syndrome Association, FreeStore/FoodBank, Hamilton County Special Olympics, Drug Free Cincinnati, Leukemia/Lymphoma Society, One City Foundation, Cincinnati Reds Community Fund, Richard E. Lindner YMCA, Salvation Army, Tri-State Adoption Coalition, University of Cincinnati, and Project Connect.

Scott Beseler

In recent years, Bengals players have continued to increase their level of involvement in the community. Last season, the Bengals made more than 150 community appearances to schools, youth groups and teams and charity events.

Many Bengals players have their own foundations or sponsor charitable fund-raising activities dedicated to improving the community. Those players include Darryl Blackstock, Shayne Graham, Leon Hall, Chad Ochocinco, Carson Palmer, Brad St. Louis, Andrew Whitworth and Roy Williams.

Other team programs include:

NFL GRASSROOTS GRANT PROGRAM: The Bengals and the NFL have teamed up to support youth sports by contributing to local efforts to improve football fields throughout the region. More than $800,000 has been contributed in the last few years to Withrow, Oak Hills, Lockland and Clinton-Massie high schools to install state-of-the-art synthetic playing fields. In addition to boosting football programs, these multi-use fields serve as valuable assets for the entire community.

HOMETOWN HUDDLE: Annually, the Bengals form a large delegation of players and staff and join with recruited volunteers to accomplish a community project. In 2008, the Bengals and the MLCF worked in collaboration with the United Way and interested area companies to construct a playground and a basketball court at College Hill Park in Cincinnati.

COACH OF THE WEEK: A league-wide program that is designed to give the recognition that high school football coaches deserve for molding the lives of young adults. Each winner's school receives a $1000 donation to the school's football program.

PLAY IT SMART: A program designed to use football as a tool for enhancing personal and academic development for youth at economically disadvantaged high schools. Team representatives visit the chosen schools to coach, teach and mentor student-athletes to help individuals reach their full potential.

CINCINNATI BENGALS TASTE OF THE NFL: Bengals players, coaches and alumni join with benefactors of the FreeStore/FoodBank of Cincinnati while dining on samples from Cincinnati's finest restaurants. The Bengals Taste of the NFL has been held in June each year since 2003. The 2008 event netted record proceeds of $180,000, and since its inception, Taste of the NFL has enabled the FreeStore/FoodBank to provide more than 300,000 meals annually for hungry people in the Tri-State. The Bengals also team up with the FreeStore/FoodBank to collect canned goods and other non-perishable foods for the Annual Holiday Canned Food Drive.

HOXWORTH BLOOD DRIVE: Bengals players, alumni, cheerleaders and staff are present annually at Paul Brown Stadium to help the Hoxworth Blood Center collect donations before the busy holiday season. In 2005, the drive collected 401 pints of blood and earned the Bengals a Special Recognition Award from America's Blood Centers, an organization based in Washington, D.C. The drive has kept growing, and in three of the past four years, a new record has been set for the largest single-day blood drive in Greater Cincinnati.

CANNED FOOD DRIVE: For more than a decade, the Bengals have conducted a canned food drive to benefit Cincinnati's FreeStore/FoodBank. More than 85,000 pounds of food and $68,000 in donations have been secured.

TOYS FOR TOTS: The Bengals and the U.S. Marine Corps annually team up at Paul Brown Stadium to collect Christmas toys for disadvantaged local youth. More than 36,000 new toys and $200,000 have been donated.

— BENGALS PRESEASON TELEVISION —

Paul Keels and Anthony Munoz team up again in the broadcast booth for this season's games on the Bengals Preseason TV Network. Keels does play-by-play, with Munoz as the analyst. Mike Valpredo returns for his fifth season as sideline reporter.

For the 21st time in the past 22 years, Cincinnati's WKRC-TV (Ch. 12) is the flagship station of the network. Also on the network are WKEF-TV (Ch. 22) and WRGT-TV (Ch. 45) in Dayton, Ohio; WSYX-TV (Ch. 6) and WTTE-TV (Ch. 28) in Columbus, Ohio; and WDRB-TV (Ch. 41) in Louisville, Ky.

Keels, a Cincinnati native, is also currently the voice of the Ohio State Buckeyes for football and basketball. He was the University of Cincinnati's primary football and basketball broadcaster over a period from 1989-98, and was the Bengals' play-by-play voice on radio in '96. Munoz, Bengals' Hall of Fame offensive tackle, is in his 12th season as preseason analyst. Valpredo has worked as a sports anchor in Columbus, Ohio, and is currently an anchor and reporter for the TVG Network in Los Angeles.

— BENGALS WEEKLY TV SHOW —

The Bengals produce a weekly television show — Bengals Weekly with Marvin Lewis — that will air every Sunday morning during the 2009 NFL regular season at 11:30 A.M. on WKRC-TV (Ch. 12) in Cincinnati and WRGT-TV (Ch. 45) in Dayton. The show will also air (on an alternate schedule) in Dayton on WKEF-TV (Ch. 22) and in Columbus on WTTE-TV (Ch. 28).

— BENGALS RADIO NETWORK —

Bengals games will be aired this season on three Clear Channel flagship radio stations in the Cincinnati market. All games will be carried by 1530 Homer The Sports Animal (WCKY-AM) and 102.7 FM WEBN. Also, once the Major League Baseball season is over, games will also be aired on 700 WLW-AM. The Bengals Radio Network includes stations across Ohio as well as in Kentucky and West Virginia.

Brad Johansen, former play-by-play voice on Bengals preseason television, returns for his 10th season on radio play-by-play. Johansen is sports anchor for Cincinnati's WKRC-TV (CBS/Ch. 12).

Dave Lapham, a Bengals offensive lineman from 1974-83, is in his 24th consecutive season as the analyst on Bengals radio broadcasts. He also is an analyst for Big 12 college games on TV's FOX Sports Net, as well as working on FOX Sports Ohio's Cincinnati area high school games of the week. In past years, he broadcast NFL games for NBC and FOX and worked the NFL Europe League's World Bowl game for Sporting News Radio.

As of July 5, the Bengals Radio Network included 28 stations:
