KANSAS CITY CHIEFS PRESIDENT

LAMAR HUNT

As the first American Football League figure to be enshrined in pro football's Hall of Fame, Chiefs President Lamar Hunt accepted the distinguished honor with a quiet humility that has been a trademark throughout his life.

"One has to put things in the right prospective," Hunt said at his induction on the steps of the Hall of Fame building in Canton in 1972. "My selection was genuinely appreciated but I realize it was merely symbolic of all the league and club staff personnel, coaches and players who contributed to the growth of the American Football League."

Since that day in 1959 when Hunt became what his good friend Billy Sullivan of the New England Patriots called "... the architect, designer and builder of an impossible dream," Hunt has been a strong force in the leadership of pro football and has become a contributor toward the growth of two other professional sports organizations, World Championship Tennis and the North American Soccer League.

Hunt begins his 17th season as the owner and President of the Kansas City Chiefs Football Club. He also continues as President of the American Football Conference of the National Football League.

At the age of 26, the quiet Texan, already a success in the business world, formed the American Football League in 1959, became its first president in 1960 and obtained his own franchise, the Dallas Texans.

Hunt's ventures into sports began as a reserve end at Southern Methodist University. A relentless and positive attitude kept Hunt on the squad for four years, which he calls a most rewarding experience. He organized and coordinated the formation of World Championship Tennis and, through WCT, helped bring a booming fan popularity to the sport that is now the fastest growing sports recreation activity in America. He formed the Dallas Tornado soccer team and became a charter member and a respected advisor of the North American Soccer League, now in its 10th year of operation.

His love for the Kansas City area continues to show strong evidence by the fact he authorized major financial expenditures for improvements and additions to Arrowhead Stadium, the 78,000-seat home of the Chiefs, and a part of the Harry S. Truman Sports Complex publicly funded by Jackson County. He also has a major financial interest in and is chairman of the board of Mid-America Enterprises, developers of Worlds of Fun, the four-year old entertainment park that has become a welcome added attraction to the area.

Long active in community and civic affairs both in Dallas and Kansas City, Hunt continues his involvement outside of his business activities. In 1974, he was national chairman of the Victor Awards, a special benefit of the City of Hope. Hunt serves on the board of trustees of the Pro Football Hall of Fame and serves on the board of directors of National Football League Charities. He is on the national board of trustees of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and a member of the board of directors of two of Kansas City's most active companies, Great Midwest Corporation and Traders National Bank.

Hunt, born in 1932, and his wife Norma have three children, Lamar Jr., 19; Sharron, 18; and Clark, 11. They make their home in Dallas.

CHIEFS GENERAL MANAGER

JACK STEADMAN

The reorganization and new approach undertaken by the Kansas City Chiefs in 1975 continues under the direction of general manager Jack Steadman. "You win and lose in this game with people," says Steadman. "To my mind, people are the single, key ingredient to a successful organization."

And the Chiefs, over the past 16 seasons, have been among pro football's most successful franchises. Much of that is attributed to Steadman, who joined the club in November of 1960.

In December of 1974, Chiefs president Lamar Hunt delegated to Steadman the task of revamping the club's organization. The first priority was the selection of a new coach, only the second in the team's history, and following what has been described as "one of pro football's most intensive searches," Steadman, along with Hunt and assistant general manager Jim Schaaf, settled on Paul Wiggin as the team's new coach. Shortly after that, Steadman named Les Miller as the Chiefs director of player personnel.

With the reorganization complete, Steadman summarized the Chiefs new approach: "I feel extremely confident we're moving in the right direction. We have the people to get the job done."

Considered one of the top administrators in professional athletics, Steadman has acquired a long list of illustrious credentials and achievements in his 16-year association with the Chiefs and pro football.

As the Chiefs march into their fifth season in Arrowhead, much of the stadium, acclaimed nationally as one of the finest sports facilities in the world, reflects the personality of Jack Steadman. It was Steadman who conceived the idea of Kansas City building a two-stadium complex that resulted in a 78,000-seat football facility (Arrowhead) and a 42,000-seat Royals Stadium for baseball.

Steadman has been the head of the Chiefs administrative staff since November of 1960 when Hunt named him general manager of the Dallas Texans of the American Football League. He was promoted to executive vice president and general manager of the Chiefs in 1966.

Continuing with his relentless approach to "doing a better job in pro football in Kansas City," Steadman also has turned his talents to another endeavor in the area — Worlds of Fun — where he serves as president.

Despite a demanding work schedule, he remains active in numerous civic affairs. He serves as a director of the Jackson County unit of the American Cancer Society, is on the advisory board of the Salvation Army, is a member of the Civic Council of greater Kansas City, and is on the executive committee of Starlight Theatre. In addition, Steadman serves on the board of directors of the greater Kansas City YMCA, on the board of directors of Traders National Bank, as director of the American Royal Association and is a member of the Executive Committee of the board of directors of United Way.

Steadman recently was named to the board of directors of the Midwest Christian Counseling Service and the Kansas City chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He is additionally an advisory trustee of Research Medical Center and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of greater Kansas City Worlds Fair Committee.

Jack and his wife, Martha, have three children, Tom, 25; Barbara, 23; and Don, 21.

CHIEFS HEAD COACH

PAUL WIGGIN

Paul Wiggin, the Chiefs popular second-year head coach, leaves no doubt as to where he stands for 1976. "I'm ready to get on with it," he says. "You enter this business to win and that's something we have to do more of this season than last."

Wiggin's first Chiefs team finished 5-9, third in the AFC Western Division, but did so amidst a wave of injury adversity that forced constant change within the offensive platoons. It is a crutch, however, upon which Wiggin will not dwell. "We were hurt, yes, there's no question about that. But last season is in the past. We have better personnel now. Our draft will make a big difference in the team. The people we have now are better, more competitive, more able to give us a winning effort than ever before.

"We'll be sounder and younger and I can see a future with that," said the 41-year-old Wiggin, who inherited a club in great need of repair when he was named head coach of the Chiefs on January 23, 1975. "I'm not going to make any rash promises or predictions," he says, "but we will be better both offensively and defensively."

Such candor is not surprising from Wiggin. It is a trait Kansas Citians have come to expect from him ever since he became only the second head coach in the 16-year history of the franchise. The honesty of feeling, as players and fans alike discovered a year ago, manifest itself in both good times and bad. After a lacklustre performance in a 28-20 loss to San Diego, Wiggin observed, "I saw what to me was not our best effort out there today. People paid to sit out in the cold and support the Chiefs and we did not give them the performance they were entitled to." Longtime Chiefs watchers could not remember hearing anything like that before.

"We learned a lot of things last year," said Wiggin of his initial season. "Now we have to find a place for the new people who really want to do the job, who want to play for the Chiefs."

Wiggin plans to take a more active role in the coaching phase of the game this season. "I want to become less of an administrator and more of a coach. Coaching is motivation and part of our destiny as coaches rides on the ability to evaluate potential in a young man. I still believe in the motivational aspect. That was my belief coming in and it was reinforced last season.

"I probably tried to make more out of the job administratively than it really required, but there were a lot of administrative decisions to be made. I still believe in giving our coaching staff a lot of responsibility, but I want to know and be involved in everything we do from a coaching standpoint."

Wiggin graduated to the Chiefs from the staff of the San Francisco 49ers. After Dick Nolan was named 49ers coach in 1968, he added Wiggin to his staff as defensive line coach, then in 1974 increased his responsibilities to those of defensive coordinator.

Wiggin played 11 seasons as a defensive end with the Cleveland Browns, retiring after the 1967 season. During that time, he achieved Pro Bowl recognition twice (1966 and 1968) and played in three NFL title games with the Browns, including Cleveland's 1964 world championship. Drafted as a future by the Browns in 1956, he began his playing career the following season. He entered coaching immediately upon his retirement as a player.

Wiggin was a three-year starter under coach Chuck Taylor at Stanford University from 1954-56. "Chuck made a profound impression on me. I don't think I ever made a major decision in my life without talking to him first. The biggest thing I learned in life is believing in people, and I learned that from Chuck." Wiggin earned a master's degree in education and as a senior, co-captained the 1956 Stanford squad along with former San Francisco 49ers quarterback John Brodie.

Along with Taylor, Paul Brown also greatly influenced Wiggin's playing and coaching careers. Brown was his first pro coach at Cleveland and it was he who initially suggested to Wiggin he had head coaching capabilities.

"Being a head coach was the furthest thing from my mind in 1974," said Wiggin in relating the events that led to his hiring. "All I was interested in doing was making the 49ers defense the best in the league. We played Cincinnati in Candlestick Park, and the Bengals beat us that day. As I was crossing the field on my way to the dressing room, I shook hands with Paul. He looked me square in the eye and his eyes narrowed with the intensity I had seen when I played for him. He said, 'Paul Wiggin, you're ready. When the opportunity comes, don't hesitate.'

"I knew what he was talking about. I just didn't think my opportunity would come as soon as it did."

The opportunity has brought with it a responsibility. The responsibility of relating, motivating and winning. Wiggin's first year revealed him to be an honest, straightforward individual, winning him respect in all quarters. "I have a strong belief the only thing you derive from this game is the respect of the people around you," he said last season.

He is a man who has grown into his job and the job has grown on him. "I love it and my family likes it here, too," said Wiggin. "When this job was offered to me, I did a lot of soul-searching. But I knew I couldn't face Paul Brown again if I didn't take it. It's easy to look back now and laugh about the uneasiness in that decision."

The 1975 Chiefs turned a corner, of sorts. Football at Arrowhead was fun again, a quality missing the previous few seasons. A feeling of optimism, generated largely by Wiggin and his staff, returned to and within the squad. A draft rated by many as the best in the club's history has provided a new nucleus of young talent for Wiggin and the coaches to mold. Upon these foundations the Kansas City Chiefs will continue to build in 1976.

Wiggin was born November 18, 1934, at Modesto, California. He attended nearby Manteca High School in Manteca, where he earned letters in four sports. He is married to the former Carolynn Clark, and they are the parents of three daughters, Kymberly, 15; Kristyn, 13; and Kellie, 9. The Wiggins live in suburban Johnson County.

FIRST VICTORY — Paul Wiggin savors his finest moment, to date, as the Chiefs head coach following Kansas City's 42-10 rout of the Oakland Raiders last October in Arrowhead.

CHIEFS COACHING STAFF

VINCE COSTELLO, Defensive Coordinator

A trusted comrade from their playing days together, Vince Costello was the first assistant hired by Paul Wiggin, who appointed him defensive coordinator. Kansas City is Costello's third professional coaching stop. He spent 1974 with the Miami Dolphins following five years with the Cincinnati Bengals.

Costello and Wiggin were rookies with the Cleveland Browns in 1957. They played 10 seasons with each other, Costello at linebacker, Wiggin at defensive end, until Costello was traded to the New York Giants in 1967, Wiggin's final season as a player. Costello played two years in New York, then retired to join Paul Brown's Bengals staff in 1969 as linebacker coach. He left Cincinnati in 1974 to replace Bill Arnsparger on the Dolphins staff after Arnsparger was named head coach of the New York Giants.

Costello signed with the Browns as a free agent after playing three seasons of minor league baseball. A graduate of Ohio University, where he earned a Master of Arts degree in guidance counseling, Costello in 1975 was named to that school's Hall of Fame.

"Vince is the type of guy who's continually working on a way to win," says Wiggin, "and I appreciate that. You have to like what's in the man's heart."

A native of Magnolia, Ohio, Costello and his wife, Sally, have seven children, Carol, 16; Kay, 15; David, 14; Ann, 11; Susan, 9; Mary Ann, 7; and Patricia, 1. They live in Prairie Village, Kansas.

CHET FRANKLIN, Offensive Coordinator

Chet Franklin, whose talents Paul Wiggin observed while both were on the San Francisco 49ers staff, has overall charge of the Chiefs offense.

The 41-year-old Franklin spent four seasons, 1971-74, with the 49ers, the first three as special teams coach and 1974 in charge of the defensive secondary. Prior to joining San Francisco, Franklin served 12 years in the college ranks, one at Stanford, three at Oklahoma and eight at Colorado, four as the Buffaloes offensive coordinator under Eddie Crowder.

When Franklin went to the 49ers, he took control of a kicking game that ranked 17th in the NFL. Under his direction, that phase successively ranked 12th, sixth and ninth. In 1974, he transformed the secondary from a No. 22 ranking to No. 6.

"Chet's specialty is the running game," says Wiggin, "and based on what he had to work with last year, he did a good job. His long suit, in my opinion, is trying to get the best out of everybody he works with."

Born in Ontario, Oregon, Franklin attended high school in Elko, Nevada, prior to entering the University of Utah. He played guard three seasons, and after a two-year Marine Corps hitch, joined the Stanford staff while completing work on a master's degree in secondary education.

Franklin and his wife, Ann, are the parents of a daughter, Shana Caryn, 8. They live in Overland Park, Kansas.

TOM BETTIS, Defensive Backfield Coach

A decision greeted with unanimous approval during Paul Wiggin's first year was his intention to retain Tom Bettis as defensive backfield coach.

Bettis, 42, has been a member of the Chiefs coaching staff since March of 1966. A native of Chicago, he was the number one draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 1955 and was a starter at linebacker through 1961. Playing on Vince Lombardi's first three Packer squads, Bettis earned his first world championship ring with the '61 Packers.

He was traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1962 and played one season there before concluding his career with another world champion, the 1963 Chicago Bears. He retired to enter private business in the Green Bay area, but returned to football with the Chiefs three seasons later.

"Tom's status has not changed as far as I'm concerned. I still consider him an excellent candidate for a head coaching position in the NFL," says Wiggin. "I believe he's the best secondary coach in pro football."

Bettis was a consensus All-America selection at Purdue in 1953 and 1954 and made the all-Big Ten squad three seasons. He captained the Boilermakers as a junior and senior, and co-captained the College All-Star squad that met the Cleveland Browns in 1955.

Tom and his wife, Valerie, have three daughters, Lisa, 19, a student at Arizona State University; Karen, 18; and Krista, 11. They make their home in Overland Park, Kansas.

TOM PRATT, Defensive Line Coach

Tom Pratt, the dean of Chiefs coaches, returns for his 14th season with the club. The 41-year-old native of Beloit, Wisconsin, has been in Kansas City as long as the Chiefs have, joining the team in 1963 following the move from Dallas.

Pratt is generally credited with the development of several outstanding Chiefs defensive lines. Kansas City's front fours have been a hallmark of the club over the past decade, and all have been tutored by Pratt. Perhaps his supreme achievement was the formation of tackles Buck Buchanan and Curley Culp with ends Jerry Mays and Aaron Brown that led the defensive charge in Kansas City's 1970 Super Bowl victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

"Considering the number of injuries we had in the line last year, I thought Tom did an outstanding job," said Paul Wiggin. "He probably had the most difficult assignment of all on a new staff in that he coached the same area I did. I think a new head coach might tend to look at his old area of responsibility more critically than the others, but Tom fulfilled all my expectations."

Pratt played college football from 1953-56 at Miami (Fla.). Following graduation in 1957, he became an assistant coach at his alma mater, remaining there through the 1960 season. He then spent two seasons as defensive line coach at Southern Mississippi before joining the Chiefs.

Tom and his wife, Hope, have three children, daughters Kendra, 14; and Shana, 11; and son Tyler, 5. They live in Overland Park, Kansas.

JOE SPENCER, Offensive Line Coach

Joe Spencer, who's spent 32 years in football at the collegiate and professional level, is not likely to forget his first season with the Chiefs.

"Joe was in the unfortunate position of having to shake hands with someone on Monday, then be starting him the next Sunday," says Paul Wiggin in reference to the unprecedented succession of injuries that struck the Chiefs offensive line. "He came in and did the best job he could."

Spencer, 52, is a native of Oklahoma City. He was a tackle on both offense and defense for Oklahoma State from 1942-46, then spent five years with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the All-America Football Conference. He concluded his pro career with the NFL Cleveland Browns and Green Bay Packers.

His widespread coaching experience that includes the college ranks, NFL, CFL and WFL began at Austin (Tex.) College, where he was head coach from 1952-60.

He joined the Houston Oilers staff in the AFL in 1961 as offensive line coach. He was with the Oilers through 1965, then went to the CFL Edmonton Eskimos as offensive and defensive line coach for two years, 1966-67.

Spencer returned to the U.S. in 1968 as the New York Jets offensive line coach. He coached the Jets three years, including their '69 world championship. After coaching with St. Louis in 1971, Spencer returned to the college ranks at Kansas for 1972-73. He came to the Chiefs after spending 1974 with the WFL Chicago Fire.

"Joe's a personality kind of guy," says Wiggin. "He knows what it takes from a physical technique standpoint to become a good offensive lineman."

Spencer and his wife, Betty Jo, have a son, Jeff, 28; and a daughter, Sara, 26. The Spencers live in Kansas City.

BOB SCHNELKER, Offensive Assistant

Bob Schnelker, whose coaching experience includes stints with Vince Lombardi at Green Bay and Don Shula at Miami, has responsibilities within all phases of the Chiefs offense, with emphasis on the passing game.

Schnelker, 47, begins his 14th season as an NFL assistant. He was a tight end with the New York Giants from 1954-60, playing on one world champion (1956) and three Eastern Conference title squads. He concluded his playing career in 1961 with Minnesota and Pittsburgh. With the Vikings that year, he was on the receiving end of Fran Tarkenton's first touchdown pass. Tarkenton, with 291 touchdown passes, is the NFL career leader in that category.

A two-time Pro Bowl participant, Schnelker first coached for the Los Angeles Rams from 1963-65, then Lombardi named him to his Green Bay staff in 1966. During his stay with the Packers which ended in 1971, Schnelker was a part of Green Bay's three consecutive NFL champions and two Super Bowl winners.

In 1972, Schnelker rejoined Harland Svare, whom he had assisted with the Rams, as offensive coordinator of the San Diego Chargers. He spent one season, 1974, with Shula at Miami before coming to Kansas City.

"Bob Schnelker has a brilliant football mind. From a standpoint of putting together offensive planning, he does it as quickly and sufficiently as anyone," says Paul Wiggin.

Born in Galion, Ohio, Schnelker attended Bowling Green and was graduated in 1953. He was originally drafted by the Cleveland Browns, but his playing rights were transferred to the Giants in time for the '54 season.

Schnelker and his wife, B.J., have three children, Mindy, 21; Jeff, 18; and Tina, 9. They make their home in Kansas City.

STEVE ORTMAYER, Special Teams Coach

Steve Ortmayer, at 32 the youngest of Paul Wiggin's assistants, has a variety of responsibilities with the Chiefs. He directs the special teams, including the kicking game, is in charge of the team's computer analyzation program and this year has taken on additional duties in the area of pro scouting.

Ortmayer came to the Chiefs from Pepper Rodgers's Georgia Tech coaching staff, where he spent 1974 as an offensive assistant. He began his coaching career in 1967 at Colorado, his first year as a graduate assistant, then the following six as both an offensive and defensive assistant. He also directed Colorado's recruiting program three seasons.

"Steve is going to be a premier coach because he's the kind of guy who gets the job done," says Paul Wiggin. "He's done such a good job in pro scouting that several of the moves we've made already have been as a result of his efforts in this field. I know our players on the special teams liked to get together and talk to him about that phase of the game. That's unusual."

Ortmayer is a native of Painesville, Ohio. He attended Highland Park High School in Dallas and then spent one year at Vanderbilt before transferring to LaVerne (Calif.) College. He was graduated with bachelor's degrees in English and physical education.

Steve and his wife, Merylee, make their home in Kansas City.

WAYNE RUDY, Head Trainer

Wayne Rudy, the Chiefs popular head trainer, has been with the team ever since the formation of the American Football League in 1960. Recognized nationally as one of the foremost in his field, Wayne begins his 17th season with the Texans/Chiefs.

Rudy has served athletic teams over the past 31 years. A graduate of Bowling Green University, he was inducted into his alma mater's Hall of Fame in 1975. He also holds a master's degree from Southern Methodist University. Rudy was the SMU trainer for 13 years from 1947 through 1959 before signing on with the Dallas Texans. One of the athletes he served while at SMU was a seldom-used end named Lamar Hunt, who brought Rudy into pro football upon formation of his new team and league.

Wayne was one of the founders of the Southwest Athletic Trainers Association and has twice been a national director of the National Athletic Trainers Association. He has received numerous awards in the training field and in 1974 was named to the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame.

Wayne and his wife, Joan, have two sons and the family resides in Overland Park, Kansas.

BOBBY YARBOROUGH, Equipment Manager and Assistant Trainer

Bobby Yarborough has been the Chiefs equipment manager for 16 years. He attended the University of Texas where as student trainer his interest in behind-the-scenes athletics was spurred by his association with veteran Longhorn trainer Frank Medina.

Yarborough also serves as the director of the Chiefs off-season basketball team. This team has helped raise over a half million dollars for charity throughout the Midwest.

Bobby is a member of the board of directors and a member of the organizing committee of the newly formed Athletic Equipment Managers Association.

The Yarborough family, which includes wife Joyce and six sons, lives in Kansas City.

PLAYER PERSONNEL STAFF

LES MILLER

The 1976 Chiefs draft, considered by some to be the best in the club's 16-year history, was the responsibility of Les Miller, the club's director of player personnel. Miller came to the Chiefs after serving three seasons under Bobby Beathard on the Miami Dolphins scouting staff. Miller has three full-time talent scouts under his direction and also has information from the BLESTO scouting combine, which the Chiefs joined in 1975.

The 39-year-old Miller is a native of Bernice, Oklahoma. He attended Oklahoma State University, then graduated from Kansas State College at Pittsburg with an education degree in 1958. For the next 13 years, Les coached at the high school and college level. He was the head football, basketball and baseball coach at Afton (Okla.) High School from 1958-60 and then coached baseball and football at two Tulsa high schools before accepting a position in private business.

Miller returned to coaching in 1967 as head football coach at Joplin (Mo.) High School. After two seasons he was named an assistant coach at Brigham Young University in charge of offensive backs until the Dolphins named him to their scouting staff in 1972.

An avid baseball fan, Miller spent two seasons, 1954-55, as a third baseman and outfielder in the New York Yankees farm system.

Miller and his wife, Joyce, have four children, Mike, 20; Debbie, 18; Marty, 7; and Matt, 4. They make their home in Overland Park, Kansas.

TOMMY O'BOYLE

J. D. HELM

BOBBY GILL

Tommy O'Boyle, J. D. Helm and Bobby Gill, all of whom contributed immensely to the Chiefs 1976 draft, return for their second season in the recently-revamped scouting department.

O'Boyle has been with the Chiefs since 1966. He served on Hank Stram's staff as both an assistant coach and head talent scout through 1974, then returned to the club at the behest of Les Miller. O'Boyle was the Chicago Bears first round draft choice in 1940 following two All-America seasons at guard for Tulane. He was named Tulane's head coach in 1962 and held that position until he resigned after the 1965 season.

Helm, 35, graduated from Kansas in 1966. He coached two years at Shawnee Mission East High School (1966-67) before moving to Brigham Young as offensive backfield coach in 1968. He remained at BYU through 1974.

Gill, 40, attended Baylor University in his hometown of Waco, Texas. He began his coaching career at Ouachita Baptist in 1958, then moved to Houston in 1962. He became offensive coordinator at Tulsa in 1967 and went on to similar responsibilities at New Mexico State (1969-71) and Texas El Paso (1972-73).

The Chiefs acquired Beisler from the 49ers prior to the opening of the regular season and installed him at left guard behind Ed Budde . . . By the second week, he was the starter, Budde having been sidelined by a knee injury in the opener . . . But misfortune struck Beisler in Kansas City's third game, ironically a contest against San Francisco . . . The Chiefs also obtained a third draft choice from the 49ers in addition to Beisler for Nate Allen . . . He suffered cartilage damage to his right knee in the season opener at Denver and was placed on injured reserve for the rest of the year . . . Ironic twist was the fact Budde most likely could have played in six weeks after the surgery, but the team's current and future injury situation precluded that possibility . . . The surgery was successful, and Budde is fit and 100% ready as 1976 approaches . . . He'd been coming off a fine 1974 campaign, one of his best ever . . . Despite a severe muscle pull that limited his effectiveness and, in the opinion of some, hurt his chances to make the team during training camp, Craig nonetheless was on the 43-man roster that opened the season at Denver . . . His greatest assets are speed and dependable hands, both of which he put to use on the special teams . . . After seven years in the shadows, Livingston in 1975 emerged as the team's starting quarterback . . . Injuries, however, limited Livingston's activity to only seven games . . . He started the season opener at Denver, completing 13 passes in 27 attempts for 221 yards and two touchdowns . . . Nott began the 1975 training period as the seventh — and last — quarterback in the Chiefs camp, but several good outings in scrimmages warranted a further look at his abilities . . . He was particularly impressive in an early game-type intra-squad workout, which led to a game appearance in the Chiefs third preseason contest at Detroit . . . Entering the game in the fourth quarter, his first pass was a screen attempt which the receiver batted into the air and a Detroit linebacker picked it off for a touchdown . . . On the next series, Nott threw a 50-yard touchdown pass that pulled the Chiefs to within three points of the eventually-victorious Lions . . . He saw further action in the Chiefs exhibition win over Green Bay, but suffered a strained arm on a fumble . . . He was held out the rest of the preseason, and placed on injured reserve prior to the opening of the regular season . . . Chiefs coaches believe he has outstanding potential, but simply lacks experience . . . Nott played sparingly in three years at Santa Clara, completing 54 of 113 passes for 798 yards and three touchdowns . . . His most active year was as a junior, when he was 31-of-64 for 393 yards and a touchdown . . . The Broncos switched to a wishbone offense when he was a senior, thus Nott was used infrequently and was not drafted . . . A dropback quarterback with a strong arm, he needs experience in reading pro defenses . . . He is expected to make a strong challenge for regular duty in competition with Mike Livingston and Tony Adams . . . Played in 1972-73-74 at Santa Clara after redshirting in '71 . . . Majored in sociology . . . Single.

Versatility, craftiness and an ability to hang on to the football have made Pearson a valuable asset over the past two seasons . . . The Chiefs sent an eighth round 1975 draft choice to the Steelers for his services just prior to the opening of the 1974 season and the deal paid immediate dividends as Pearson finished second on the club in receiving that year behind Ed Podolak . . . Podolak, one of the most proficient rushers and receivers in pro football, continues to move up among active AFC players in both categories . . . His 37 receptions in 1975 led the club for the second year in a row and he now has 243 for his career . . . That's good for seventh place and just in front of him are Haven Moses (252) and Bob Trumpy (259), both of whom have played one more season than Podolak . . . He has rushed for 3,530 yards on 936 carries and that is good for ninth place on the AFC list, just behind teammate MacArthur Lane . . . As a punt returner, he is 14th with an 8.6 average . . . Podolak's 37 catches last year ranked 17th in the AFC; in 1974 he also led the club in receiving with 43 and trailed only Baltimore's Lydell Mitchell and Oakland's Cliff Branch . . . The Chiefs leading rusher from 1970-73, Podolak has finished second to Woody Green the past two years, though his primary achievements have come in the receiving area . . . Podolak has had six 100-yard plus rushing games; the most recent was in 1973 on Monday night television against Chicago, 134 yards on 28 carries . . . The latter figure set a team record, since broken by Green's 30 against the New York Giants in 1974 . . . Podolak's best performance of his career, one that enhanced a national reputation, was in the Chiefs 1971 playoff loss to Miami . . . He had 350 total yards, 85 rushing, 110 receiving and 155 on returns . . . With less than a minute to play in that game's regulation time, Podolak returned a Miami kickoff 78 yards, forced out of bounds by the last available Dolphin tackler on the play . . . He scored the Chiefs longest play from scrimmage in 1970 with a 65-yard touchdown run vs. Denver that is also the longest scoring run of his career . . . Podolak also had a 54-yard punt return against the Broncos in 1974, the longest by anyone on the club that season, and the best in his career . . . His longest pass reception was a 59-yard effort from Len Dawson that helped beat Cincinnati in 1970 . . . Podolak was employed mostly on special teams his rookie year after missing half the season due to a pulled hamstring . . . He assumed regular duties in '70 and accounted for 1,715 yards in combined rushing, receiving and return totals . . . Podolak played quarterback his first two years at Iowa, then switched to tailback in the fourth game of his senior season . . . He finished second in Big Ten rushing that year (1968) and set an Iowa single season rushing record of 937 yards . . . Played in the East-West and Hula Bowl all-star games . . . Podolak holds a degree in finance and insurance . . . Attends to several banking, insurance and real estate interests in the Kansas City area . . . By the second week of the 1975 season, Reardon had moved into a starting position — his first ever — at left cornerback, a distinction he held until a pulled hamstring at Dallas forced him to miss the rest of the year . . . Although Thomas did not have the statistical figures in 1975 that he had a year earlier, last season was nonetheless one of his best . . . He intercepted six passes to lead the Chiefs in that category for the second straight year and for the third time in the last five . . . On another occasion, he finished in a first place tie with three other players . . . His 53 thefts are the most of any active AFC player, seven more than runner-up Willie Brown of Oakland . . . Thomas led the NFL in interceptions in 1974 with 12 . . . No one else had more than nine . . . He began 1975 in fine style, picking off three passes in his first four games, a 30-yard steal at Denver, a 21-yard effort against the New York Jets at Arrowhead and his longest of the year, a 36-yard theft against Oakland at Arrowhead . . . Also had interceptions versus Denver, Pittsburgh and San Diego, the latter a 32-yard return . . . He's scored five touchdowns on returns, two during the 1974 season on the first and last days of the campaign . . . Against the Jets, Thomas's 38-yard steal capped a Chiefs victory . . . In the finale against Minnesota, he picked off a Fran Tarkenton pass on the last play of the first half and ran virtually untouched to a 73-yard score, the longest interception return in the league that year and also the longest of Thomas's 10-year career . . . Thomas led the AFL in interceptions with nine in 1969 and added three more in postseason competition, one against New York, one against Oakland and one against Minnesota in Super Bowl IV . . . His interception against the Raiders covered 62 yards and set up a field goal . . . He's been the Chiefs regular cornerback the last eight years . . . The 12 interceptions in '74 were only two away from the NFL record, 14, by Dick (Night Train) Lane with Los Angeles in 1952 . . . Thomas also established a new Chiefs interception record, breaking the old single-season mark of 10 shared by Johnny Robinson and Bobby Hunt . . . Thomas's 53 career interceptions are only four shy of the Chiefs record 57 held by Robinson . . . In overall NFL figures, Thomas is the second-best active interceptor . . . He's topped only by Paul Krause of Minnesota, who has 74 . . . Interests include golf and tennis . . . During the off-season, Thomas worked with the Business Management Fellowship Program in Kansas City, designed to find jobs for students while they complete their education . . . Married, wife Dianne, two children.

Arizona

The Chiefs project Anderson as both a challenger to incumbent punter Jerrel Wilson and as a secondary candidate . . . He led Arizona in interceptions with seven in 1974 then followed up with four last season . . . One of those was an 83-yard touchdown return against Northwestern . . . He also ran from punt formation four times for 94 yards and one touchdown against New Mexico . . . Punted two of his three varsity seasons, relinquishing chores for part of '73 and all of '74 to Mitch Hoopes, who now punts for Dallas . . . Anderson played quarterback and halfback at San Diego's Lincoln High School and also lettered in baseball . . . Born August 2, 1953, 23 years old.

101 AWARDS

Kansas City's annual salute to professional football — the 101 Banquet — was founded to honor outstanding achievements in the sport. The event is sponsored by the Committee of One-Hundred-One as an activity of the Chiefs Club, official booster organization of the Kansas City Chiefs.

Each year the Chiefs Club invites one hundred one civic-minded sports-loving Kansas Citians to participate in sponsorship. It is their dedication that makes possible the 101 Trophy, the 101 Banquet and the annual awards ceremony.

The selection committee for the 101 Awards is comprised of a select group of 101 sportswriters and broadcasters from throughout the nation who cover the pro football scene. CHIEFS CHAMPIONSHIP REVIEW

1962 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME DALLAS at HOUSTON December 23, 1962

A contest that moved the infant American Football League into the national consciousness proved to be the first of three AFL titles for Hank Stram's Texans/Chiefs.

Following second place finishes in each of the league's first two seasons, the Texans ran away with the AFL West championship in 1962. Dallas finished 11-3, a full four games in front, and was matched with the Houston Oilers, also 11-3, who had won the AFL title in 1960 and '61 over the Los Angeles, then San Diego Chargers.

The Texans, paced by a pair of touchdowns from Abner Haynes, took a 17-0 halftime advantage. Haynes scored first on a 28-yard pass from Len Dawson and then on a two-yard run after Tommy Brooker had given Dallas a 3-0 first-quarter advantage with a 16-yard field goal.

But the momentum quickly shifted to the Oilers in the second half. George Blanda, then a "young" 35-year-old, passed 15 yards to Willard Dewveall for a touchdown and kicked a 31-yard field goal before Charley Tolar burst over from the one to tie the game at 17-17 in the fourth quarter.

The two teams then went into the first sudden death overtime in AFL annals. The Texans won the toss and Stram elected to kick off, maintaining his defense could hold the Oilers long enough for Dawson to get the ball in good field position. Herein came the famous "kick to the clock" episode in which Texans captain Haynes inadvertently elected for his team to kick into the wind instead of having it as the consolation for not receiving the football.

Neither club mounted a serious challenge in the early stages of overtime, but as the fifth quarter was drawing to a close, Dallas defensive end Bill Hull intercepted a Blanda pass and returned to midfield. Dawson then passed to Jack Spikes for 10 yards, Spikes, the game's most valuable player, ran for 19 and the Texans were in field goal range. At the 2:54 mark of the sixth quarter, Brooker kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the Texans a 20-17 victory and the American Football League championship. The game lasted 77 minutes and 54 seconds and would be the longest in pro football history until the Chiefs and Miami Dolphins played over 82 minutes nearly a decade later in 1971.

1966 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME
KANSAS CITY at BUFFALO
January 1, 1967

With a berth in Super Bowl I as the prize, the Chiefs visited ancient War Memorial Stadium for a New Year's Day clash with the defending AFL champion Buffalo Bills.

The game, played in frigid, subzero temperatures, produced its first break on the opening kickoff. Jerrel Wilson recovered a Bills fumble on the Buffalo 31-yard line. Three plays later, Len Dawson passed 29 yards to Fred Arbanas for the first touchdown and a 7-0 Kansas City lead.

Buffalo, though, tied the game near the end of the opening period when Jack Kemp hit Elbert Dubenion on a 69-yard pass play. Few thought it would be the Bills final score of the day.

The Chiefs defense stiffened and Dawson led the offense to 10 second-quarter points. Otis Taylor caught a 29-yard touchdown pass and Mike Mercer added a 32-yard field goal, aided by a 72-yard pass interception by Johnny Robinson.

Mike Garrett then applied the coup de grace for the Chiefs by scoring on runs of one and 18 yards. Kansas City won its second AFL title in four years and awaited the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl I.

SUPER BOWL I
KANSAS CITY vs GREEN BAY
January 15, 1967

Representing themselves and the American Football League in the first championship match with the National Football League, the Chiefs played well for one half before bowing to the supremacy of the Green Bay Packers.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, one of the great pro football teams of all time, won Super Bowl I by a 35-10 score. But the Packers held a slim 14-10 advantage at the half before the game turned on one play in the third quarter.

Green Bay opened the scoring when Bart Starr passed 37 yards to Max McGee, McGee making a remarkable one-handed catch for the touchdown. Len Dawson tied the game for the Chiefs when he passed to Curtis McClinton for a second period touchdown. The Packers then went back on top, 14-7, before Mike Mercer kicked a 31-yard field goal just before the half ended.

The Chiefs momentum carried over into the third quarter as Kansas City moved to a first down on its initial possession. But then the game's key play, one that doomed the underdog Chiefs, unfolded when Willie Wood intercepted a Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas at midfield. Wood returned all the way to the Chiefs 5-yard line, where Elijah Pitts ran for a third Green Bay touchdown and an insurmountable 21-10 lead.

1969 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME KANSAS CITY at OAKLAND January 4, 1970

On the day the American Football League played the final game of its 10-year history, the Kansas City Chiefs became the only three-time AFL champion. The Chiefs, through a curious playoff system, played their Western Division rivals, the Oakland Raiders, for the league's last title. Oakland, which had won the AFL West and held a pair of regular season wins over the Chiefs, went down to a 17-7 defeat, the first of several AFL/AFC title game defeats that have bedeviled the Raiders during the past decade.

Ironically, Kansas City's win in the Oakland Coliseum was its last to date. And the Raiders have fared little better in the confines of Municipal and then Arrowhead Stadium.

The contest, unlike other Raiders-Chiefs matchups, was marked by turnovers. The two clubs managed one first-half touchdown apiece, Oakland's on a three-yard run by Charlie Smith, Kansas City responding with a one-yard plunge by Wendell Hayes after Len Dawson had hit on passes of 14 yards to Otis Taylor and 41 yards to Frank Pitts.

In the third quarter, George Blanda twice missed field goal attempts that would have moved Oakland in front. Midway through the period, Kansas City mounted a drive from its own 2-yard line, the field position a result of a fumble which luckily was recovered before it bounded into the end zone. Dawson and Taylor pulled Kansas City out of the hole with a 35-yard pass and run play. Robert Holmes added 23 more on a flare pass in the left flat and then scored the go-ahead touchdown five plays later.

At this point, the game became a defensive struggle. Led by defensive charges from the entire front four of Aaron Brown, Buck Buchanan, Curley Culp and Jerry Mays, the Chiefs continually harassed Raiders quarterback Daryle Lamonica. But the turnovers which would plague both teams were only beginning.

In the fourth quarter, turnovers gave Oakland the football three times in Kansas City territory. Three times the Chiefs responded with interceptions, one each by Jim Marsalis, Jim Kearney and Emmitt Thomas. Thomas's steal was his second of the day and covered 62 yards to the Oakland 18-yard line. Jan Stenerud's field goal provided a 17-7 lead and a return to the Super Bowl.

SUPER BOWL IV

KANSAS CITY vs MINNESOTA

January 11, 1970

Kansas City's finest sports hour concluded at 5:20 in the afternoon of Sunday, January 11, 1970, when the Chiefs defeated the Minnesota Vikings, 23-7, for the world championship of pro football.

The Chiefs, who finished 11-3 on the season and defeated the New York Jets and Oakland in the playoffs, closed out their first decade as the outstanding team in the American Football League which, with Super Bowl IV, came to an end. Beginning in 1970, the two leagues merged, with the AFL becoming the American Football Conference of the NFL.

Minnesota, a prohibitive favorite, was 12-2 during the regular season and at one point had won 12 games in succession.

The Chiefs took an early lead when Jan Stenerud kicked a 48-yard first quarter field goal. Stenerud's kick remains a Super Bowl record. He then followed with field goals of 32 and 25 yards for a 9-0 lead.

Kansas City received the first break in the game when the Vikings Charlie West fumbled a kickoff and Remi Prudhomme recovered at the Minnesota 19-yard line. After an eight-yard loss, Len Dawson handed off to Wendell Hayes, who rambled for 13 yards up the middle on a draw play. A 10-yard pass to Otis Taylor gave the Chiefs a first down at the 4. Three plays later Mike Garrett burst off-tackle for five yards and a touchdown. The Chiefs held a 16-0 halftime lead, stunning the Vikings and a nationwide television audience.

Minnesota mounted a mild third-quarter comeback when Dave Osborn scored from four yards out to cut the margin to 16-7. But any hopes the Vikings had of getting closer were dashed by Otis Taylor, who lived up to his big-play reputation repeatedly through that season.

Dawson hit Taylor on a short hitch pattern, but when Earsell Mackbee missed the initial tackle, Taylor was loose down the right sideline, highstepping his way to a 46-yard touchdown. After three quarters, the Chiefs again held a 16-point lead.

As was so often the case in 1969, the defense came to the fore. Minnesota had the ball three times in the final period and, as in the Oakland game the previous week, the Chiefs snuffed out all three chances with interceptions. Middle linebacker Willie Lanier picked off a Joe Kapp pass to halt a rally at the Chiefs 34-yard line. Later on, Johnny Robinson, playing with what turned out to be three broken ribs, grabbed another errant Kapp throw. In the game's closing minutes, Emmitt Thomas intercepted his third pass of the playoffs. The Chiefs then ran out the clock to capture the AFL's second consecutive Super Bowl triumph.

The American Football League's 10-year history had come to an end with the Kansas City Chiefs its most successful team. The 1970s would usher in a new era for the Chiefs, an era that would produce noted changes as the club sought to regain its position as world champion.

CHIEFS SPECIAL GROUPS

Chiefs Official Booster Organization

RAY EVANS

The Chiefs Club is the official booster organization for the Kansas City Chiefs and has long been regarded as one of the most active support groups in the National Football League.

With its official membership approaching the 3,000 mark, the Chiefs Club, under president Ray Evans, made some organizational changes in 1975 designed to make its members even more active.

The first step in the reorganization was to combine the Chiefs Club Board and Red Coat Committee into one board of directors and then add to the board new members and new assignments. With that task completed the Chiefs Club was revitalized and now represents a year-around booster organization that not only is involved in Chiefs activities but takes an active part in community and civic projects as well.

The Chiefs Club was formed by a group of civic-minded citizens with one goal in mind:

"Making Kansas City the strongest franchise in professional football and the best professional sports city in the United States."

The organization got its start when Lamar Hunt moved his AFL team from Dallas to Kansas City in 1963. Under the direction of Evans since its inception, the Chiefs Club has grown considerably since those early years. In addition to being active in season ticket drives and booster trips for Chiefs away games, the Chiefs Club has initiated dinner meetings and functions with Chiefs coaches and players and each year sponsors the "101 Banquet", Kansas City's annual salute to the outstanding individuals in professional football. Chiefs Club activities for this year include a summer golf tournament, a barbecue to meet the Chiefs players, a family locker room night for Chiefs newcomers and rookies, the annual Kickoff Luncheon prior to the regular season opener charter trips and a series of in-season dinner meetings with Chiefs head coach Paul Wiggin.

Evans, a former All-America football star at the University of Kansas and a member of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, again heads up the Chiefs Club as president with Jim Pendleton and Jack Wheeler the new first and second vice presidents, respectively. Evans has twice headed up the Chiefs season ticket drive. He led the ticket drive that was responsible for initiating the Chiefs move to Kansas City. It was largely through the efforts of this group that the Chiefs season ticket sale increased from 9,500 in 1965 to an NFL-best 67,962 for the 1973 season. He again was the chairman for the Chiefs 1976 season ticket drive, which produced some 3,000 new season ticket holders and helped boost the Chiefs Club Red Coat member list to nearly 500. A Chiefs Club red coater earns his coat by selling 25 new season tickets. The Chiefs welcomed 40 new Red Coaters following the recent ticket drive.

CHIEFS PAGEANTRY

Pregame and halftime pageantry is a prominent part of Chiefs football on Arrowhead game days. The parade of talent that provides a full day's entertainment for Chiefs fans includes the Chiefettes, a precision drill team; Warpaint, the Chiefs official mascot; Tony DiPardo and his Chiefs band, who keep the spirit going along with the Chiefs cheerleaders; plus a host of area and regional high school, collegiate and special group marching bands and drill units, who provide most of the halftime ceremony that makes Arrowhead one of the finest entertainment stadiums in the National Football League.

The Chiefs "Mr. Music" is Tony DiPardo, the popular Kansas City bandleader who has been known to take a victory ride on Warpaint or direct a special cheer in spiriting the festivities. The Chiefettes, who made their first appearance in 1967 and have since become a regular part of the game day pageantry, are under the direction of Shirley Marley of the Miller-Marley Dance Studio. Warpaint, a permanent fixture on game day, first at Municipal Stadium and now at Arrowhead, is ridden by Bob Johnson. Warpaint is stabled at Benjamin Stables in Kansas City. The Chiefs cheerleaders are directed by Mrs. Margaret Smith. Chiefs director of promotion Russ Cline has overall responsibility for the team's pregame and halftime festivities.

NOTES

Mack Lee Hill Award

WALTER WHITE

Walter White, whom the chiefs obtained from the Pittsburgh Steelers shortly before the opening of the regular season, was voted the winner of the 1975 Mack Lee Hill Award.

White, who along with Billy Masters brought solidarity to the tight end position for the first time since the retirement of Fred Arbanas, caught 23 passes for 559 yards and three touchdowns. He made his presence felt almost immediately. In the season opener at Denver, on the first pass he caught as a professional, White hooked up with Mike Livingston for a 69-yard touchdown, the longest of the season for Kansas City. All three of White's scores covered at least 40 yards. He caught a 60-yard pass from Livingston for the winning points at San Diego while a 48-yarder at Arrowhead helped lead a 42-10 thrashing of the Oakland Raiders.

White reported to the Chiefs the day after the 43-man roster had been reached. He was the third round draft choice of the Steelers who elected to go with two more experienced tight ends. Two other clubs had prior call on his services before the Chiefs, but as soon as he became available, Paul Wiggin put in the waiver claim, certainly one of the more fortunate waiver acquisitions in the club's history.

Playing two seasons at Maryland as both a tight end and wide receiver, White finished as the third leading receiver in school history with 61 catches for 1,036 yards, a 17.0 average and nine touchdowns. He holds the Terrapins single-game school record of 144 yards receiving vs. Penn State in 1974.

Each year since 1966, the Chiefs players select a recipient for the Mack Lee Hill Award. It is a tribute to the late Mack Lee Hill, an outstanding running back who played for the Chiefs in 1964 and 1965 and was described as a man who played as much with his heart as he did with his driving legs in the early days of the American Football League.

In memory and tribute to Mack Lee Hill, the award is given annually to the Chiefs rookie who, as the inscription on the trophy reads — "best exemplifies the spirit of the late Mack Lee Hill . . . the man with the giant heart and quiet way." In selecting the recipient, the Chiefs players look for a rookie who has displayed the attitude and the spirit of the late Mack Lee Hill.
