CHIEFS OWNER

LAMAR HUNT

Because of Lamar Hunt's dedication and love for football, Kansas Citians in 1987 are celebrating the 25th anniversary of professional football in their city. His endeavors have brought a longterm sense of pride to the community, which has benefitted immensely from Hunt's, decision in 1963 to move his Dallas Texans of the American Football League to Mid-America.

It was in 1960 that Hunt made pro football history, founding and organizing the AFL, which included the Texans franchise. After three years in Dallas, the team moved to Kansas City and was renamed the Chiefs. Since that time, Kansas City has seen its Chiefs become the winningest team in the AFL's 10-year history and earn spots in two Super Bowls, including a World Championship in Super Bowl IV.

As is obvious by the success of the old AFL and subsequent American Football Conference following the merger with the NFL, Hunt is considered as one of the most influential individuals in pro football history. Indicative of his stature within the game is the fact that he was the first AFL figure to be enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. That honor was bestowed on Hunt in the summer of 1972. At the induction ceremonies in Canton, Hunt's good friend and fellow AFL owner Billy Sullivan of the Boston/New England Patriots described the Chiefs owner as the "architect, designer and builder of an impossible dream."

Hunt has since been honored by the NFL Alumni Association, winning the prestigious Leather Helmet Award in 1982 along with Dallas Cowboys head coach Tom Landry. A year later, Hunt was inducted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame. Possibly the greatest tribute of his service to professional football is that the AFC Championship Trophy is named after him.

After founding the Texans and the AFL in '60, Hunt saw his franchise achieve success quickly. In 1962, the Texans won the AFL Championship with an overtime victory over Houston, the first of three titles won by the Texans/Chiefs in the 10-year history of the league. They repeated as champions in 1966 and 1969. By winning the '66 title, the Chiefs earned the right of playing in the first Super Bowl against the NFL, a game lost to the mighty Green Bay Packers. Three years later, Hunt's Chiefs claimed Kansas City's first World Championship by defeating the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IV.

Hunt was greatly involved in the merger of the AFL and NFL in the late sixties and was one of the principal designers of the playoff format. In fact, it was Hunt who named the NFL Championship Game the "Super Bowl."

Clearly, Hunt has been a dynamic force and leader in the game for the past 27 years and continues to be respected by his peers. Few individuals, if any, have helped shape the game more than this quiet Texan. And few people have helped the city of Kansas City prosper more over the past 25 years than Hunt. In addition to bringing pro football to the area, Hunt, in 1973, developed a multi-million-dollar recreational Theme Park called "Worlds of Fun" and six years ago he opened a Water Park called "Oceans of Fun." Hunt is also a principal owner of Hunt Midwest Enterprises.

An avid sports fan, Hunt is involved in several other sports ventures besides the Chiefs. He was one of the organizers and helped develop World Championship Tennis and is one of the founding owners of the Chicago Bulls of the NBA.

In addition to his numerous business commitments, Hunt is active as a member of the Board of Directors of NFL Charities, is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Pro Football Hall of Fame and serves on the NFL Alumni Association's Board of Directors. As president of the American Football Conference, Hunt is a member of three prominent NFL committees — Finance, Long Range Planning and Hall of Fame.

Hunt was born August 2, 1932, in Dallas and graduated from SMU with a B.S. in geology in 1956. He and his wife, Norma, reside in Dallas and have four children, Lamar, Jr., Sharron, Clark and Daniel.

CHIEFS PRESIDENT

JACK STEADMAN

As the Chiefs celebrate their 25th anniversary in Kansas City, Jack Steadman, as chief executive officer during that entire quarter-century, has played a vital role in the success of the franchise and its association with the community. Combining his management of the Chiefs and Lamar Hunt's other Kansas City-based operations with his wide-spread civic involvement, few individuals have had a stronger input into Kansas City since 1963 than Steadman.

Beginning his 28th season as the top front office executive of the Chiefs, Steadman moved to Kansas City with the franchise in 1963. His football experience began in 1960 when Hunt, who had founded the American Football League and the Dallas Texans earlier that year, hired Steadman as general manager of the team at the midway point of the league's inaugural season.

Steadman has guided Hunt's football operations ever since. He has been instrumental in the success of a franchise which has produced two Super Bowl berths, including the 1970 Super Bowl Championship, and the most successful record in the 10-year history of the AFL. He was promoted from general manager to executive vice president and general manager in 1966. He then was named president of the Chiefs in 1976 and begins his 12th year in that capacity.

It was Steadman who spearheaded pro football's existence in Mid-America, coordinating the move of the Dallas Texans to Kansas City in '63. Steadman also conceived the idea of Kansas City building the dual-stadium Harry S. Truman Sports Complex which houses the 78,000-seat Arrowhead Stadium and 41,000-seat Royals Stadium, regarded by many sports enthusiasts as the finest sports complex in the nation.

While being in charge of the overall operations of the Chiefs the past quarter-century, Steadman is also chairman and chief executive officer of Hunt Midwest Enterprises, Inc. Hunt's multi-faceted corporation operates two family recreation theme parks, Worlds of Fun and Oceans of Fun, and is involved in real estate development and limestone rock-mining in Kansas City.

The multiplicity of Steadman's civic involvement in the Kansas City community has reinforced his belief that the success of a professional sports franchise literally integrates with the community. His civic commitments include the following activities: Chairman, Private Industry Council; Chairman, Full Employment Council; Board of Directors, Starlight Theatre Association; Board of Directors, Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City; Board of Directors, Civic Council; Board of Directors, American Royal Association; Advisory Trustee, Research Medical Center; Trustee, Midwest Research Institute.

He has served as the chairman, president and campaign chairman of United Way and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City. He also was president of Starlight Theatre Association and is a former member of the board of directors of Children's Mercy Hospital.

Not only has Steadman been a positive force with the Chiefs and the Kansas City community, but his creative ideas and leadership have helped shape much of the direction pro football has taken over the past 27 years. Many of his marketing and administrative developments have been duplicated throughout the NFL. As a member of the NFL executive committee, Steadman serves as the chairman of the NFL Front Office and Coaches Pension Plan Committee.

Steadman, who also is a member of the Board of Directors of Commerce Bank of Kansas City, was born September 14, 1928, in Aurora, Ill. He grew up in Warrenville, Ill., and in Dallas. He attended Baylor University and received his B.A. in business administration from Southern Methodist University. Jack and his wife, Martha, who also is involved in a number of civic organizations in Kansas City, live in Mission Hills, Kan.

CHIEFS VICE PRESIDENTS

JIM SCHAAF, General Manager/Football Operations

In a realignment of responsibilities in the Chiefs front office this past January, Jim Schaaf is now in complete charge of all football operations. The team's vice president and general manager of football operations is in full charge of every football-related area, including coaching, pro and college scouting and all player personnel developments.

Schaaf is working closely with head coach Frank Gansz in an effort to continue the Chiefs growth that resulted in the team's first playoff appearance in 15 years last season. Schaaf and Gansz share many of the same football philosophies and the cornerstone of their working relationship centers around a deep respect for each other.

Beginning his 22nd season with the franchise, Schaaf has served in virtually all areas of the club's administrative operations, including the past 11 years as general manager. He joined the Chiefs in 1966 as director of public relations. He was elevated to assistant general manager in 1968, was named vice president in 1974 and became general manager in 1976.

Schaaf's administrative sports background began in Kansas City in 1961 when he worked for the baseball Athletics under owner Charles O. Finley. He spent five years as director of public relations and promotions before moving to the Chiefs.

In addition to his long-term administrative background, Schaaf has football experience as a player. He was a three-year letterman and two-year starter as an offensive guard at Notre Dame University from 1956-58. As a prep athlete, Schaaf was a multiple-sport standout at Cathedral Preparatory School in Erie, Pa.

Schaaf was born in Erie on May 22, 1938. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics at Notre Dame. Jim and his wife, Julie, have two children, Jill and James. They reside in Overland Park, Kan.

DON STEADMAN, Administration

In charge of the day-to-day operations of the Chiefs front office, Don Steadman is the team's vice president of administration. This marks his third year in that capacity.

The son of Chiefs president Jack Steadman, Don joined the Chiefs organization in 1980 and was elevated to VP/Administration in 1985. He also serves as vice president of the Chiefs Children's Fund, a private foundation established by the football club in 1983 to benefit children's charities in the Kansas City metropolitan area.

Steadman grew up in Kansas City, graduating from Shawnee Mission South High School (Overland Park, Kan.). He then attended Baylor University and graduated in 1978. He has done graduate work at the Denver Seminary in Religion and Rockhurst College in business. Prior to joining the Chiefs organization, Steadman worked in several church-related positions and later served as manager of sales and leasing for Great Midwest Corporation. His initial involvement with the Chiefs included positions in promotions and group sales.

Steadman's community activities include the President's Club and Centurions, through the Greater Kansas City Chamber of Commerce. He has also worked with the Heart of America United Way, the American Royal and the Niles Home for Children Advisory Board. Born July 16, 1956, Don and his wife, Julie, have three children, Drew, Amy and Jordan.

CHIEFS HEAD COACH

FRANK GANSZ

With a determination to continue the tremendous success he attained as an assistant coach, Frank Gansz is in his first year as head coach of the Kansas City Chiefs in 1987.

Gansz gained his first head coaching position, the sixth in franchise history, on January 10, after playing a vital role in Kansas City's first playoff berth in 15 years during the 1986 season.

Through motivation and a relentless demand for perfection, Gansz has produced spectacular results during his 22 seasons of coaching on the professional and collegiate levels. His coaching career includes two stints as an assistant with the Chiefs. He served as special teams and tight ends coach under Marv Levy in 1981 and '82 in Kansas City, building the kicking units from among the league's worst to the No. 1 ranking before leaving for the Philadelphia Eagles. Gansz returned to the Chiefs in '86 under John Mackovic, adding various duties as assistant head coach to his special teams and tight ends responsibilities.

Gansz put together one of the most remarkable special teams seasons in the history of the game in '86. Easily the most explosive unit in the NFL, his special teams blocked or deflected an NFL best and a team-record 10 kicks and scored five touchdowns during the 16-game regular season. Plus, the highly-publicized specialty units scored one of the Chiefs two touchdowns in the AFC Wild Card Game vs. the New York Jets on a blocked punt and recovery in the end zone.

By comparison, in the three years prior to '86, before Gansz was in charge of the special teams, the Chiefs blocked a total of just three kicks in those three years and scored no touchdowns. In fact, when the Chiefs blocked the first punt opportunity of the '86 season in the opener vs. Cincinnati, it was the first blocked punt for the team since Gansz's last game with the Chiefs as an assistant, when his unit blocked a punt in the '82 season finale vs. the Jets.

"We're going to get there (Super Bowl) as fast as we can. We're going to pursue that. That's going to be our objective. That's what our players want to do and that's what I want to do. I'm not going to be content with making the playoffs. I want to go there and win."

—Frank Gansz

His special teams could take much of the credit for the Chiefs' playoff appearance in '86, not only because of the unit's play throughout the season, but because of its incredible season-ending performance at Pittsburgh. Gansz's crew scored all 24 points — touchdown returns off a blocked punt, a blocked field goal attempt and a 97-yard kickoff return, in addition to a Nick Lowery field goal — in the Chiefs' 24-19 victory that vaulted Kansas City into the playoffs for the first time since 1971.

It wasn't just his special teams magic, however, where Gansz's influence proved essential. As assistant head coach, Gansz was the main motivational force behind the 45-man squad, using a unique blend of his military discipline combined with an overwhelming enthusiasm. His motivational flair has always been a part of Gansz's coaching career and he brought that badly needed ingredient to the Chiefs in '86.

Now as head coach, Gansz doesn't want his coaching style with the players to change. Although he is responsible for the overall performance of the entire team rather than just a portion, he still wants to be involved individually with the players and continue the rapport he enjoyed last year, which was so much a part of the Chiefs' success.

"I'm still going to be a hands-on coach," said Gansz, who has developed close-knit relationships with players and yet his reputation as a demanding coach is highly respected. "I want to see the guys eyeball to eyeball. I want to talk to them, know how they feel about things. I want a good core of communication with those guys because they're going to have to level with me."

A goal-oriented man by nature, Gansz, after reaching nearly every objective possible in the kicking game area, has reached his next personal goal of being a head coach in the NFL. And now that he is head coach of the Chiefs, Gansz has very clearly stated his goal in Kansas City — he wants to win the NFL championship.

"I think the players are winners right now," Gansz says of the squad he now commands. "And I think they want to win a championship. That will clearly be our objective.

"This is a high pressure, high performance and high achievement business and our young people here understand how to be high achievers. They know how to relentlessly pursue their personal development and they know how to work to specific objectives. The success of any organization is how well it brings out the talents and energies of the people in the organization. That's exactly what we're going to try to do and that will be my responsibility — to bring out the great talents and energies of the young people of our football club and work directly in a step-by-step progression toward the championship of the National Football League."

"We have to work progressively on a daily basis to reach our goals. I want the players to enjoy getting better and feeling great about themselves, because when you feel that way, you're going to make things happen on the football field."

—Frank Gansz

Gansz embarks upon his first head coaching assignment after 22 years in the profession, the past nine in the NFL. He entered the league in 1978 as special teams coach of the San Francisco 49ers and then served as the special teams and tight ends coach at Cincinnati (1979-80), Kansas City (1981-82), Philadelphia (1983-85) and again last year with the Chiefs.

After serving in the U.S. Air Force as a jet fighter pilot for six years, Gansz began his coaching career at the Air Force Academy in 1964, when as a military officer, he served as a general assistant coach with the Falcons football team. He spent three seasons at the Air Force Academy and, after resigning his commission as a captain, flew commercial airlines for two years.

In 1968, Gansz returned to the coaching profession as the head freshman coach at Colgate. After one year there, he became an assistant coach, head freshman coach and recruiting coordinator at Navy, where he stayed for three years from 1969-72. He then moved to Oklahoma State as receivers coach in 1973, spent the next season at Army as offensive coordinator under Homer Smith, then returned to OSU again as receivers coach for another one-year term. In 1976, he joined the UCLA staff as an offensive assistant coach. He coached two years with the Bruins before making his move into the NFL in 1978.

Born November 22, 1938 in Altoona, Pa., Gansz grew up in Pittsburgh, where he attended Taylor Allderdice High School. He played center and linebacker for the Naval Academy, graduating in 1960. Gansz and his wife, Barbara, have been married 25 years and have two children. The couple's son, Frank Jr., is a graduate of the Citadel and their daughter, Jennifer Anne, is a graduate of Ohio State.

CHIEFS COACHING STAFF

ED BECKMAN, Special Teams

Known for his special teams excellence as a Chiefs player from 1977-84, Ed Beckman embarks upon his first coaching position. And he does it under former tutor Frank Gansz, who had Beckman as his special teams captain in 1981-82.

In all, Beckman served as Kansas City's special teams captain for five consecutive years. He was a tight end, but caught just 23 career passes and was noted for his dedication as the squad's top kicking teams performer. In fact, it was his hard-nosed competitive spirit on the specialty units that enabled him to make the Chiefs roster as a free agent in 1977 after playing college football at Florida State. He went on to record 79 kicking teams tackles during his eight NFL seasons with the Chiefs. He also blocked three kicks, all coming in consecutive years. He blocked a punt in 1979 and '80 and rejected a field goal attempt in '81.

As a tight end, Beckman was used mainly in short yardage blocking situations throughout his career. He caught just three passes for 24 yards during his first six years, a tribute to his extraordinary special teams contributions. He became more active in the passing offense during his final two years, catching a career-best 13 passes for 130 yards as a part-time starter in 1983 and adding seven receptions for 44 yards, including his only career touchdown, in '84.

After retiring from professional football following the 1984 season, Beckman returned to Florida and entered private business. Born January 2, 1955 in Key West, Florida, Beckman and his wife, Kim, have two sons, Jake and John.

DAVE BRAZIL, Defensive Backs

After three years as a defensive assistant in charge of quality control, Dave Brazil takes over the Chiefs respected secondary. He heads up a unit that includes two Pro Bowl safeties, Deron Cherry and Lloyd Burruss, along with cornerbacks Albert Lewis, the '86 team MVP, and Kevin Ross.

Brazil's role the past three years has included both on-field and off-field activities, with most of his time being spent evaluating the Chiefs defensive tendencies and working with advance scouting of opponents. He joined the Chiefs staff early in the 1984 season after three years as defensive coordinator at Kent State University.

Brazil coached at five different colleges and was either the defensive or offensive coordinator in all of his assignments. He began in the collegiate ranks in 1968 at Holy Cross, then moved to Tulsa in 1970 and Eastern Michigan in 1972. He returned to his native Detroit in 1974 to become defensive coordinator of the Detroit Wheel of the World Football League. After one year, he moved to the WFL's Chicago Fire. He then returned to college football in 1978 when he joined the staff at Boston College before moving on to Kent State in '80. Brazil served as defensive backs coach at Tulsa and Boston College and his unit ranked second in the nation in interceptions at both schools.

A high school coach in Michigan for 10 years before heading into the college coaching ranks, Brazil coached eight consecutive prep years without losing more than two games.

Born March 25, 1936, Brazil attended the University of Detroit, graduating in 1958 with a business administration degree. He and his wife, Bridget, have six children, Kathleen, Mary Ann, Michael, Daniel, Thomas and Patrick.

MARK HATLEY, Defensive Quality Control/Linebackers

A wide range of duties will accompany Mark Hatley's first season on the Chiefs coaching staff. He will assume quality control responsibilities for the Chiefs defense, which includes evaluating tendencies and extensive work with advance scouting. He will also assist John Paul Young in coaching the linebackers.

Hatley has already coached in previous assignments with both Young and head coach Frank Gansz. He worked two years with Young with the New Orleans Saints in 1984-85 and two years with Gansz at Oklahoma State in 1973 and '75.

Hatley also handled some advance scouting duties for the Chiefs during the 1986 season.

Hatley's first NFL experience included scouting and working with defensive quality control with the Saints in 1984 and he then became the team's defensive backs coach in '85. He moved into the pro football ranks after 11 years as an assistant coach on the collegiate level. The former Oklahoma State linebacker, following his graduation in 1972, coached three years at his alma mater, including his two seasons with Gansz. He then moved to Tulsa for one season in 1976 before spending six years, 1977-82, at Texas Christian University. He joined the Baylor staff in 1983 for a year before landing his first NFL job with the Saints. During his college coaching career, Hatley tutored defensive backs each year except one, 1982, when he coached running backs at TCU.

The native of Borger, Texas was born September 9, 1949. He and his wife, Claudia, have one daughter, Eliza.

J.D. HELM, Offensive Quality Control/Tight Ends

In his 13th season with the Chiefs and sixth as an assistant coach, J.D. Helm has been with the franchise longer than any other coach on the staff. Now under his third head coach, Helm has additional responsibilities in 1987 to his already extensive list of duties.

As he has the past four years, Helm will be in charge of the offensive quality control, but he will also coach the Chiefs tight ends under Frank Gansz. It is the second position Helm has coached in his Kansas City tenure, as he entered the pro coaching ranks in 1982 as running backs coach under Marv Levy. He was a general offensive assistant under John Mackovic with primary responsibilities being quality control. Helm's evaluation expertise comes from seven years of serving as a member of the Chiefs scouting department under Les Miller. He began those duties in 1975 as a talent scout and eventually became the assistant director of player personnel before joining the coaching staff.

Prior to joining the Chiefs, Helm spent seven years as an assistant coach at Brigham Young University. During his tenure at BYU, he coached wide receivers, quarterbacks and running backs and was instrumental in helping develop the Cougars nationally-recognized offensive attack.

A native of Marceline, Mo., Helm participated in football and track at the University of Kansas. After graduation, he coached on his alma mater's football staff as a graduate assistant. He then served as an assistant coach at Shawnee Mission East High School in suburban Kansas City before moving to BYU.

Born December 27, 1940, the longtime Midwest resident now lives in Overland Park, Kan., with his wife, Elizabeth, and four children, Heather, Lisa, Erin and Adam.

C. T. HEWGLEY, Linemen/Strength & Conditioning

Beginning his 20th season of coaching, C. T. Hewgley has brought new standards to the Chiefs weight room as coordinator of the team's strength and conditioning program. In his fifth year in Kansas City, the former war veteran also assists with on-field coaching of the offensive and defensive linemen.

In his first NFL coaching position, Hewgley joined the Chiefs in 1983 after 15 years on the collegiate level. A second team All-America offensive lineman at the University of Wyoming in the late forties and early fifties, Hewgley began his coaching career in 1968 after a long period of service in the U.S. Army. His first coaching job was as the freshman coach and recruiting coordinator at the University of Miami (Fla.). After three years there, he returned to his alma mater to coach the Cowboys offensive line from 1971-75. He then became the head coach of the University of Nebraska-Omaha in 1974. After a two-year stint as head coach, Hewgley joined the staff at Michigan State in 1976, then followed Darryl Rogers to Arizona State in 1980. His seven years with Rogers came to an end when he joined the Chiefs in '83.

Before initiating his coaching career, Hewgley put together a rather storied background outside of football. He has been a Golden Gloves champion, raced sports cars and is a decorated, retired Army veteran with combat experience in World War II, Korea and Vietnam as a green Beret commander. He has served on the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington, D.C., and retired as a Lt. Col. after 25 years in the regular Army.

A native of Nashville, Tenn., Hewgley was born August 22, 1925. He and his wife, Julia, reside in Lee's Summit, Mo.

DON LAWRENCE, Defensive Line

Beginning his second tenure in Kansas City, Don Lawrence returns to a familiar spot with the Chiefs defensive line. He coached the same position for the Chiefs in 1981-82 as part of a three-year stint with the team.

Lawrence first joined the Chiefs in 1980 as special teams coach. He then switched to the defensive line in '81 and coached Pro Bowler Art Still and Mike Bell, both of whom are still on the team, for two years. Following those three seasons, Lawrence joined the Buffalo Bills as defensive line coach in 1983 and was elevated to defensive coordinator in '84. He then moved to Tampa Bay in '85 and has been the Buccaneers defensive line coach the past two seasons.

Before his first tenure with the Chiefs, Lawrence served 16 years as a college coach, including three seasons as head coach at Virginia (1971-73). His assistantships were at Notre Dame (1962-63), Kansas State (1964-65), Cincinnati (1966), Virginia (1970), Texas Christian (1974-75) and Missouri (1976-77). He moved to the pro ranks in '78 and '79 with British Columbia of the Canadian Football League before joining Marv Levy and the Chiefs in 1980.

Lawrence played both offensive and defensive line at Notre Dame during a three-year playing career. He was drafted by the Washington Redskins in the sixth round of the 1959 draft and played three years before starting his coaching career at his alma mater.

Born June 4, 1937, Lawrence is a native of Cleveland, Ohio, where he graduated from Cathedral Latin High school. He and his wife, Barbara, have three children, Kay, Betsy and Joe.

BILLIE MATTHEWS, Running Backs

One of the highest regarded teachers of running backs in the NFL, Billie Matthews joins the Chiefs staff and brings with him eight years of experience in the league. He rejoins Frank Gansz, who he coached with for two years with the Philadelphia Eagles and for two years at UCLA.

Showing his esteem in the NFL, Matthews was voted as the league's best running backs coach in a newspaper survey of the 28 head coaches this past off-season. He first gained that respect upon entering the NFL in 1979 as running backs coach of the San Francisco 49ers, where he spent four years, including the team's 1981 Super Bowl title season. He then moved on to the Eagles for two years, also as running backs coach, on the same staff as Gansz. His past two years have been in Indianapolis, where he served as offensive coordinator and running backs coach for the Colts.

Before his entrance into the NFL, Matthews coached eight years at UCLA, including the 1976-77 seasons with Gansz. During that span, he tutored five 1,000-yard rushers, including former Chiefs running back Theotis Brown. He also coached one year, 1970, at Kansas.

Matthews starred at Southern University (Baton Rouge, La.), where he was 37-4 as a quarterback during his career. His freshman season (1948) resulted in an 11-0 record and the National Black Championship.

A native of Houston, Texas, Matthews was born March 15, 1930. He and his wife, Gene, have four children, Jackie, Kenneth, Kennette and Karen.

CARL MAUCK, Offensive Line

Carl Mauck returns for his second year in Kansas City after playing a vital role in overhauling the Chiefs offensive line in 1986. A big turnover in personnel at that position accompanied Mauck's arrival in KC and he will work to fine-tune the talented unit in 1987.

Before joining the Chiefs staff last year, Mauck spent most of his professional playing and coaching career under the direction of Bum Phillips. He spent seven of his 13 NFL playing seasons with the Houston Oilers while Phillips was the head coach. Then, following Mauck's retirement as a player after the 1981 season, he was hired by Phillips as offensive line coach with the New Orleans Saints. He spent four years in that capacity before bringing his experience and motivational techniques to Kansas City.

A durable performer, Mauck started 155 consecutive games and played in 156 straight during his NFL career as a center. A 13th-round draft selection by the Baltimore Colts in 1969, he played with the Colts, Miami Dolphins and San Diego Chargers before going to the Oilers in a 1975 trade. Mauck played both linebacker and center at Southern Illinois University, starring on defense in the collegiate ranks until excelling on offense in the NFL.

Mauck graduated with honors at Southern Illinois, earning a degree in business management in 1969. A native of McLeansboro, Ill., he was born July 7, 1947. He and his wife, Vicki, have four children, Tim, Chrissy, Teresa and Cathy.

HOMER SMITH, Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

The innovative mind behind UCLA's nationally-recognized offense the past seven years, Homer Smith begins his first NFL job after 28 years on the collegiate level. He will coordinate the Chiefs offense, trying to resurrect a unit that ranked 28th in the NFL last year, and will personally tutor the quarterbacks.

As offensive coordinator at UCLA since 1980, Smith has engineered one of the nation's most effective offenses. In four consecutive years from 1982-85, a senior quarterback guided the Bruins to a New Year's Day bowl victory. During that period, UCLA completed 61 percent of its passes for over 10,000 yards and 63 touchdowns.

Smith has coached twice previously with Frank Gansz. In fact, Gansz was the offensive coordinator under Smith at Army in 1974. The two coaches were assistants together on the Air Force staff in 1964.

Smith's college coaching career began in 1958 when he served as freshman coach at Stanford while working on his MBA. After three years there, he became backfield coach at Air Force for four seasons from 1961-64. Smith's first head coaching position came in 1965 at Davidson, where he spent five seasons. He capped his first tenure by leading his team to the 1969 Tangerine Bowl. Smith then moved on to the University of Pacific, where he was head coach during the 1970 and '71 seasons. He then joined the UCLA staff for the first time, serving as offensive coordinator during 1972 and '73. He returned to the head coaching ranks by accepting the position at Army, where he spent five years from 1974-78.

Before returning to UCLA in 1980, Smith sat out of coaching in 1979 while he pursued his Master's in Theological Studies at Harvard. A three-sport star at Omaha (Neb.) Benson High, he prepped at Lawrenceville (NJ) School before attending Princeton, where he won All-Ivy League honors at fullback and graduated with honors in 1954. Born Oct. 9, 1931, he and his wife, Kathryn, have two daughters, Kimberly and Carolyn.

RICHARD WOOD, Receivers

With extensive experience in the passing game both as a player and coach, Richard Wood takes over as receivers coach for the Chiefs in 1987. He combines seven years of NFL experience as a quarterback with 11 years as an assistant coach in the league for an in-depth knowledge of the passing game.

Wood played for six different teams during his seven-year stint as a NFL quarterback. He was a 12th-round draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1959 and played behind Johnny Unitas through the '61 season. He also played for the San Diego Chargers and Denver Broncos (1962), New York Jets (1963-64), Oakland Raiders (1965) and Miami Dolphins (1966).

Following his retirement as a player, Wood moved directly into the coaching ranks, serving as an assistant at Georgia in 1967-68 before beginning his NFL coaching career with the Raiders in 1969-70. He then spent three years at Mississippi (1971-73) before returning to the NFL as offensive coordinator of the Cleveland Browns in 1974. Following a one-year absence from coaching, Wood served as quarterbacks coach in the NFL for seven years, the 1976 and '77 seasons with the New Orleans Saints and then 1978-82 with the Atlanta Falcons. He then became offensive coordinator with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1983, where he coached on the same staff as Frank Gansz. After one season with the Eagles, Wood left coaching for private business for two years. He returned to coaching last year, spending the 1986 college season as passing game coordinator for Auburn, his alma mater.

A native of Lanett, Ala., Wood was born February 29, 1936. He and his wife, Peggy, have two children, Bart and Rhonda.

JOHN PAUL YOUNG, Defensive Coordinator/Linebackers

After playing a vital role in Kansas City's superb defense in 1986, John Paul Young takes over as defensive coordinator in '87. He joined the Chiefs last year as defensive line coach and worked closely with Walt Corey in the schemes of the defense, which ranked eighth in the NFL in yardage allowed.

In addition to coordinating the entire defense, Young will tutor the Chiefs linebackers. This will be the second time of his 25-year coaching career that he has been a defensive coordinator in the NFL. He coordinated the New Orleans Saints defense the last half of the 1985 season before moving to Kansas City.

Young started his coaching career under Bum Phillips at Texas-El Paso, his alma mater, in 1962 and '63. He then spent three years as defensive coordinator at Jacksonville High School in Texas before returning to the college ranks. He joined the Southern Methodist staff in 1967 for two years, then spent the 1969 season at Oklahoma State before an eight-year stay at Texas A&M from 1970-77. Young coached linebackers at all three of those colleges and was defensive coordinator at OSU.

Young entered the NFL for the first time in 1978, coaching linebackers and special teams under Phillips with the Houston Oilers. The Oilers made three straight playoff appearances in his three years there, including two in the AFC Championship Game. He then moved with Phillips to the Saints in 1981 as linebackers coach, where he spent five years before joining the Chiefs.

A member of UTEP's All-Time Team, Young was a four-year starter and three-year All-Conference linebacker in the early sixties. As a prep player at Abilene (Tex.) High, his team won 49 consecutive games and three State 4-A Championships.

A native of Dallas, Young was born December 31, 1939. He and his wife, Dolores, have two sons, John Paul, Jr., and Jason.

FOOTBALL STAFF

JON PHILLIPS, Travel and Equipment Coordinator

In his fifth year with the Chiefs, the multi-dutied Jon Phillips carries a heavy load of responsibilities for the football staff. In addition to coordinating the team's equipment, he also is in charge of the team's travel arrangements and training camp plans.

Prior to joining the Chiefs, Phillips had been associated with college athletics for 13 years as the equipment manager at Syracuse and Michigan State University. A graduate of Syracuse, he spent 10 seasons working at his alma mater in New York.

In 1980, Phillips was selected equipment manager of the year by the Athletic Equipment Managers Association and served as the association's executive director. Phillips, 47, and his wife, Carol, live in Lee's Summit.

Phillips' assistant is Jeff Hiller, who also joined the Chiefs staff in 1983. A native of Iowa, Hiller spent four years as a student equipment manager at Arizona State University before coming to Kansas City.

DAVE KENDALL, Trainer

Just the second head trainer in Chiefs history, Dave Kendall is in his fourth season at that position after serving as the assistant trainer under Wayne Rudy for nine years.

Upon Rudy's retirement in 1984, Kendall was named to the top post. The 36-year-old Kendall served as assistant trainer at Pittsburg State (Kan.) before joining the Chiefs staff in 1975. He graduated from Pittsburg State with a degree in physical education.

A graduate of Wyandotte High School in Kansas City, Kendall is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association. Dave and his wife, Jacki, live in Lee's Summit, Mo., and have one daughter, Kristen.

Kendall's assistant is Bud Epps, who is in his fourth season with the Chiefs. Epps was an assistant trainer at the University of Missouri for eight years before moving to Kansas City.

PLAYER PERSONNEL STAFF

LES MILLER, College Personnel Director

The man in charge of the NFL's college draft for the Chiefs is Les Miller. As college personnel director, Miller heads up the team's entire college scouting operation.

In his 13th season with the Chiefs, Miller has directed the team's draft each year since 1975. Just prior to the '75 season when the Chiefs made the decision to separate its player personnel and coaching areas, the team lured Miller away from a highly-successful Miami Dolphins organization. He had been working for three years as a talent scout under Bobby Beathard, who now is general manager for the Washington Redskins.

Before moving into the professional football scouting area, Miller spent 13 years as a coach on the high school and college level, a forerunner of his expertise in player evaluation. He was the head football, basketball and baseball coach at Afton (Okla.) High School from 1958-60. He then moved to Tulsa, where he coached baseball and football at two high schools — McLain and Memorial — from 1960-64. After a brief stint in private business, Miller returned to high school coaching as the head coach at Joplin (Mo.) High School in 1967-68.

Miller entered the college ranks in 1969, coaching the offensive backs at Brigham Young University and helping Lavell Edwards with the Cougars high-powered offense for three years. He then joined the Dolphins scouting department in '72.

A native of Bernice, Okla., Miller attended Oklahoma State University and received his degree from Pittsburg State (Kan.). An outstanding football and baseball player at both colleges, Miller spent two years (1954-55) as a third baseman and outfielder in the New York Yankees farm system.

Miller, who was born September 27, 1936, and his wife, Joyce, live in Overland Park. They have four children, Mike, Debbie, Marty and Matt.

WHITEY DOVELL, Pro Personnel Director

A veteran NFL coach and talent scout, Whitey Dovell is in his first year as the Chiefs pro personnel director. Dovell, who has either coached or scouted in professional football the past 17 years, is in charge of evaluating player talent on the pro level.

Dovell's lengthy coaching career spanned 32 years — 15 in the collegiate ranks and 17 in pro football. His first 14 years of pro service were in the NFL and his final three were in the USFL. He also worked with the scouting operations during each of those years. After leaving coaching in '84, he spent the last two years with the New England Patriots in their pro and college scouting department.

Dovell began his coaching career in 1952 as head freshman coach at Maryland, where he played as an offensive and defensive lineman during his college playing career. He coached at Maryland for 15 years through the 1966 season, serving as offensive line coach, offensive coordinator or defensive coordinator for 11 years after his four-year stint as freshman coach.

He moved with Lou Saban to the Denver Broncos in 1967 as offensive line coach. After five years in Denver, Dovell held offensive coaching positions with the Chicago Bears (1972-74) and Baltimore Colts (1975-78) before returning to the Broncos for a two-term in 1979-80. He then spent three years in the USFL with the Denver Gold and Chicago Blitz.

A native of Newark, N.J., the 59-year-old Dovell has both a bachelor's degree and master's degree in education from Maryland. He also served two years in the Navy. Dovell and his wife, Clare, have three children, Audrey, Lisa and Patricia.

BOBBY GILL, Assistant Director of College Personnel

The senior member of Les Miller's college scouting staff is Bobby Gill, who begins his 13th season with the Chiefs. Gill came to Kansas City with Miller in 1975 and is the only remaining member of that original scouting staff.

Gill has served as a talent scout during his tenure with the Chiefs and earned the position of assistant director of college personnel in 1985.

Gill joined the Chiefs after spending 16 years as a college coach and one year in the now defunct World Football League. His coaching career began in 1958 at Ouachita Baptist University in Arkadelphia, Ark. After four years as an assistant at OBU, Gill coached under Bill Yeoman at the University of Houston from 1962-66. He then became offensive coordinator at Tulsa and, after two seasons there, coordinated the offense at New Mexico State from 1969-71. Gill's final coaching position before joining the Chiefs came at Texas-El Paso in 1972-73.

The 51-year-old Gill attended Baylor University in his hometown of Waco, Texas. His wife, Barbara, is a well-known junior college athletic administrator and coach.

GREG MOHNS, Coordinator of College Scouting

Greg Mohns has been connected with college or pro scouting with the Chiefs for the past four years. In 1987, he resumes the position of coordinator of college scouting, which he held in '85 before a one-year tenure as pro scouting coordinator.

Mohns joined the Chiefs scouting staff in 1983 as a college talent scout. After three years with college scouting, the last as coordinator, Mohns became in charge of evaluating pro football talent in a newly-created position on the Chiefs coaching staff. Back on the college level this year, he will primarily be responsible for the west coast college talent.

Before joining the Chiefs, Mohns spent 10 years as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at three colleges — Nevada-Las Vegas, Oklahoma State and Arizona State. He was head football coach at Ventura (Calif.) Junior College in 1980-81, guiding his team to a junior college bowl appearance both seasons while earning Coach-of-the-Year honors in the conference.

A native of Pasadena, Calif., Mohns grew up in the Kansas City area, attending Lee's Summit High School. His college playing experience as an offensive lineman came at Bradley University and Baker University.

OTIS TAYLOR, Talent Scout

For 20 years, Otis Taylor has been a valuable member of the Chiefs organization. The most famous wide receiver in franchise history, Taylor put together an incredible 11-year playing career from 1965-75. After taking several years off, he returned to the Chiefs as a talent scout and he begins his 10th year in that capacity.

Taylor finished his NFL career as the team's leading receiver of all-time, totaling 410 receptions for 7,306 yards and 60 touchdowns. Regarded as one of the finest receivers to ever play in the NFL, Taylor helped the Chiefs get to two Super Bowls. It was his 46-yard touchdown catch and run that broke open the team's Super Bowl IV victory over Minnesota following the 1969 season that gave the franchise its only World Championship.

The 44-year-old Taylor became the 12th player to be inducted into the Chiefs Hall of Fame in 1981.

CHUCK COOK, Talent Scout

In his fourth year as a talent scout for the Chiefs, Chuck Cook joined Les Miller's staff in 1984 after a four-year coaching career on both the college and professional level.

Cook came to Kansas City after serving two years as an offensive assistant with the Arizona Wranglers of the USFL. His first coaching position began in 1980 as a graduate assistant at the University of Wyoming.

A native of Andalusia, Ala., Cook was a wide receiver and defensive back at Southern Mississippi. He graduated in 1980, and after several tryouts in the NFL as a player, began his coaching career later that year. He and his wife, Lori, reside in Kansas City.

FRED SCHUBACH, Talent Scout

A 20-year NFL scouting veteran, Fred Schubach begins his second season as a talent scout for the Chiefs. His responsibilities for scouting are primarily in the eastern region of the country where he resides.

Schubach spent 10 years as the player personnel director of the Baltimore Colts. He began his tenure as head of the Colts scouting operations in 1973, staying until the franchise moved to Indianapolis. After his departure from the Colts, Schubach served as a talent scout for the Buffalo Bills from 1983-84. In '85 he established his own scouting combine and worked the east coast region for the Chicago Bears and L.A. Raiders.

BOB CEGELSKI, Talent Scout

The newest member of the Chiefs college scouting staff is Bob Cegelski, a veteran scout with 20 years of experience in the NFL.

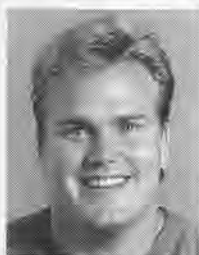

Cegelski joins the Chiefs after spending 18 years as a talent scout with the Atlanta Falcons. He joined the Falcons in 1969, just prior to the AFL-NFL merger, and was a scout for the team through the 1986 season. His first NFL position came in 1968, when he became a scout for the San Francisco 49ers. He stayed with the 49ers two years before moving to Atlanta.

A native of Green Bay, the 50-year-old Cegelski played college football at Montana State. He and his wife, Ruth, live in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Raiders in the second game of '85, gaining a career-most 69 receiving yards on a career-tying four receptions, including a career-long 38-yarder . . . The 69 yards were the most by a Chiefs tight end since Dixon's 102 vs. the Raiders in '82. 1984: Joined the Chiefs as a free agent prior to the seventh game and earned the starting tight end job by season's end . . . Started four of the final five contests and was the starter in the Chiefs three season-ending victories . . . Caught 11 passes for 95 yards in his 10 games with Chiefs . . . First touchdown came in the finale vs. San Diego . . . Caught at least one pass in all but two games . . . Caught two passes in three games and recorded a yardage high of 25 vs. his old Houston teammates . . . Played four games for the Redskins before joining the Chiefs and made no receptions. At Houston: Signed with the Oilers as a free agent in '82 after being released by the Rams . . . Played in all nine games of the shortened season and made no receptions, playing primarily on kicking teams . . . Was waived by Houston on the final roster cutdown in '83, but re-signed in September following a trade of Dave Casper to Minnesota . . . Played in 13 games that year and started one, catching 12 passes for 137 yards and one TD . . . Top outing was a three-catch, 57-yard effort vs. Cincinnati, his career best at that time . . . Was again waived by the Oilers prior to the '84 regular season. At Los Angeles: Began his NFL career in 1980 as a free agent with the Rams . . . Caught five passes for 75 yards and one touchdown as a rookie . . . Best pro year prior to 1985 was in '81, when he started nine games and made 20 receptions for 212 yards and two touchdowns . . . Played all 16 games both of those seasons and his best performance was a four-catch, 48-yard effort vs. Detroit in '82 . . . Released by the Rams prior to the '82 season.

College/Personal: A three-year letterman in football and a four-year letterman in baseball at New Mexico . . . Played first base and outfield, twice being named to the All-WAC baseball team . . . Earned college degree in University Studies . . . Attended Los Alamos (N.M.) High . . . Enjoys playing racquetball and handball . . . Does charitable work for American Diabetes Association . . . College: Wake Forest
NFL Experience: 6 (5th with Chiefs)
Birthdate: December 31, 1959
Birthplace: Camp Le Jeune, North Carolina
Residence: Massapequa, New York

Pro Career: Has been the Chiefs most-used reserve offensive lineman the past three years . . . Has started 17 games at either guard or tackle since joining the team midway through the 1983 season . . . Has played in 52 games during that span, including every contest the past two seasons. 1986: Started a career-most eight games at right tackle during mid-season . . . Replaced injured David Lutz in the second quarter the fifth week vs. the Raiders, then started the next eight contests before Lutz returned . . . Still alternated at times with Lutz the remainder of the season . . . Played in all 16 games plus the Wild Card playoff game. 1985: Started games at both guard spots and saw considerable action early in the season at both tackle spots . . . Started the final five games of '85, the last three at left guard (Brad Budde and Scott Auer injuries) and the two before that at right guard (replaced Bob Olderman) . . . Played in all 16 games and was one of few offensive linemen to remain healthy all season. 1984: Versatility began to show in '84, his first full year with the Chiefs, as he saw substantial action at both right tackle and right guard . . . Alternated with Jim Rourke the first half of the season at right tackle after Lutz was sidelined in the opener . . . Filled in some for starting right guard Tom Condon the second half of the season . . . Played in the first 14 games before missing the final two contests because of the mumps. 1983: Joined the Chiefs as a free agent at the halfway point when Condon was put on IR . . . Quickly proved his worth to the team by starting the final four contests at left tackle when Herkenhoff was injured . . . Played in six of the eight games after coming to Kansas City . . . Had been released by the Giants earlier in '83. At New York: Was a 10th round draft choice of the Giants in 1982 . . . Made the squad as a rookie and played in one of the nine games during the shortened season.

College/Personal: Won All-ACC honors as a senior at Wake Forest . . . Attended Massapequa H.S. in Long Island, N.Y., winning letters in football, basketball and track . . . Brother of Gary Baldinger, an '86 Chiefs draft choice, and Brian Baldinger, a center/guard with the Dallas Cowboys . . . Is the only current trio of brothers in the NFL . . . Graduated from WFU with a history degree . . . Full name: Richard L. Baldinger . . . Single.

Birthdate: December 1, 1963
Birthplace: Chicago, Illinois
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Pro Career: Returns as the team's deep-snapper and reserve center after a short rookie campaign . . . Earned that vital role on the club's regular season roster in '86, but sustained a broken finger on his snapping hand in the season opener . . . Spent the next 11 weeks on injured reserve before returning for the final four games and the Wild Card playoff game . . . Beat out three-year deep-snapper Adam Lingner for the job after being selected in the fourth round of the '86 draft . . . Selected with choice obtained in '85 Bob Hamm trade with Houston.

College/Personal: Started every game at center his final three years at Southern Illinois . . . Gained honorable mention All-America honors from AP as a fifth-year senior in '85 . . . Was named to first team all-league squads from two different conferences as SIU participated in both the Missouri Valley and Gateway Conference . . . In his first year as the starting center in '83, Southern Illinois claimed the Division I-AA national championship . . . As a prepster, he played five positions and earned all-conference honors at Riverside-Brookfield (Illinois) High School . . . Graduated with a degree in construction management and was named to the Dean's List . . . Enjoys fishing, hunting and country music . . . Full name: Thomas A. Baugh . . . Married, wife Jean.

MIKE BELL • 99
Defensive End Ht: 6-4 Wt: 260

How Acquired: Draft (No. 1a - 1979)
College: Colorado State
NFL Experience: 7
Birthdate: August 30, 1957
Birthplace: Wichita, Kansas
Residence: Overland Park, Kansas

Pro Career: A former Pro Bowl caliber defensive end who bids to make a comeback after over a year away from football . . . Missed the entire 1986 NFL season and the final five games of '85 on a leave of absence from the team due to non-football related matters . . . Has been one of the league's top pass rushers throughout his career, netting 41½ sacks, an average of seven per season . . . That total ranks second in Chiefs history to teammate Art Still (since individual sacks began being recorded in '73) . . . Career log reads: 77 games, 68 starts, 333 total tackles, 41½ sacks and six fumble recoveries . . . Has been a starter since midway through his rookie season of 1979, when he was a No. 1 draft choice and second player overall in his draft class next to Tom Cousineau. 1985: Started the first 11 games and was the team's top sacker until missing the final five contests . . . His six sacks still were second on the team (one behind Bill Maas), his 23 QB pressures led the team for the season and he totaled 49 tackles (33 solos) . . . Made a season-high 11 tackles vs. Pittsburgh and two sacks at Houston. 1984: Best season as a pro, despite nagging knee injury the second half of the season . . . Was voted as an alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad after recording a career-most 13½ sacks, the third-best total in Chiefs history behind Art Still's two 14½ sack seasons . . . All of his sacks came in the first 12 games . . . Ranked third in the NFL at that time, but finished in eighth place in the AFC and tied for 11th in the NFL . . . Saw very limited action in the final five games of the season and was placed on injured reserve for the finale after undergoing arthroscopic surgery to repair cartilage damage in his right knee . . . Started 14 games and played in 15 . . . Was named AFC Defensive-Player-of-the-Week for a three-sack effort vs. Anthony Munoz at Cincinnati the second week . . . Totaled 62 tackles and led the team with two fumble recoveries. 1983: Was his best season until bettering it in '84, starting all 16 games and leading the Chiefs with 10 sacks, ranking seventh in the AFC . . . Was selected as the first alternate at DE for the AFC Pro Bowl team . . . Finished fifth on the team in tackles with 75 . . . Had a three-sack day vs. Cincy and a season-best 11 tackles in OT win over Houston. 1982: Was injured throughout the strike-shortened season, missing three full games and parts of three others . . . Played in six contests that year, starting five, and finished with 27 tackles. 1981: His first of two totally healthy seasons came in '81, starting all 16 games . . . Was the team's third-leading tackler with 77 and second in sacks with five. 1980: Missed nearly the entire season as a sophomore after undergoing surgery to repair a bicep muscle in the shoulder area which he separated from the bone in the second game . . . Wasn't given an official year of NFL experience. 1979: Played in 11 games as a rookie, missing five at midseason due to a strained knee . . . Broke into the starting lineup for the final four games and finished with 35 tackles and 5½ sacks.

College/Personal: Enjoyed a brilliant four-year career at Colorado State, but knee surgery following his senior year kept him from playing in any post-season all-star games . . . Was a first team All-America selection by The Sporting News and second team by AP and UPI . . . Unanimous all-Western Athletic Conference choice his final two seasons . . . Racked up 36 career sacks at CSU . . . His twin brother, Mark, has played defensive end for several NFL teams . . . Attended Bishop Carroll High School in Wichita, where he began playing football his junior year . . . Majored in business . . . Full name: Mike J. Bell . . . Single.

TODD BLACKLEDGE • 14
Quarterback Ht: 6-3 Wt: 219

How Acquired: Draft (No. 1 - 1983)
College: Penn State
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: February 25, 1961
Birthplace: Canton, Ohio
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Pro Career: Has shared the quarterback job with Bill Kenney the past three years and will be competing for the No. 1 position again in '87 . . . Has started six or more games each of the last three seasons and opened the '86 season as the starting QB . . . After serving as a backup his entire rookie season of '83, he has started 22 games and led the Chiefs to a 12-10 record in those starts . . . Enters his fifth NFL season ranked either fifth or sixth in Chiefs record books in every passing category . . . Has completed 349 of 711 passes (fifth in both categories) for 4,356 yards (sixth), 25 touchdowns (fifth) and 31 interceptions (sixth) . . . Was the team's first round draft choice in 1983 and was the second quarterback (behind John Elway) taken in the famed "Class of 1983." 1986: Won the No. 1 quarterback job at the outset of the season and started the first seven games before relinquishing the job to Kenney . . . Started eight games overall, compiling a 5-3 record, and also started the Wild Card playoff game . . . Completed 96 of 211 passes (45.4 percent) for 1,200 yards, all the second-highest figures of his career . . . Tossed a career-most 10 touchdown passes and had just six interceptions . . . Best game of the season was in a Week 4 come-from-behind road victory at Buffalo, when he hit 17 of 27 pass attempts (career-best 63 percent) for 210 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions . . . Followed that with two sub-par performances and was replaced in second half of victory over San Diego . . . After making one brief appearance in the following six games, he replaced an injured Kenney in a Week 14 confrontation vs. Denver and led the Chiefs to a key 37-10 win that kept the playoff chances alive, completing 14 of 29 passes for 106 yards, with two TDs and no interceptions . . . Started the playoff game after Kenney reinjured his hand in the regular season finale and completed 12 of 21 passes for 80 yards and was intercepted twice before leaving the game in the fourth quarter in 35-15 loss . . . His longest pass of the season was a 70-yard TD bomb to Carlos Carson at Seattle, tying a career best . . . Gained 60 rushing yards during the season on 23 carries . . . Finished season with a 67.6 QB rating. 1985: Started the final five games after Kenney suffered numerous injuries and led the Chiefs to three wins, plus a last-minute, one-point loss to Denver in possibly the best-played game of the group . . . First start of those final five games was vs. Indianapolis and he helped the team snap a seven-game losing streak by throwing for a season-high 246 yards (16 of 31) and one touchdown and scrambled five times for 21 yards in a 20-7 Chiefs victory . . . After a loss to Seattle, he came back and beat Atlanta, 38-10, by throwing for 219 yards (11 of 19) and a career-best three touchdown passes (including career-long 70-yarder to Stephone Paige) . . . After the narrow loss at Denver, he was on his way to a career-best performance in the finale until suffering a dislocated right thumb early in the second quarter; already had thrown for 143 yards (4 of 7), including a 56-yard touchdown to Paige . . . Also started the seventh game of '85 vs. the L.A. Rams when Kenney was injured, completing 14 of 32 passes for 161 yards and throwing a team-record six interceptions in a 16-0 loss that he called the "worst athletic experience" of his career . . . Played in 14 games and started six, compiling a 3-3 record . . . Final stats were 172 attempts, 86 completions, 1,190 yards, six TDs and 14 interceptions . . . Also rushed for 97 yards on 17 carries . . . His QB rating for the season was 50.5, but it was 77.6 in his final five starts. 1984: Was the Chiefs starting quarterback for half of the '84 season and despite not compiling great statistics, led the team to a 4-4 record in his eight starts . . . After making just four token appearances as a rookie in '83, he was suddenly thrust into the limelight when Kenney broke a thumb in the final preseason game . . . Composed youngster stepped right in and led the Chiefs to back-to-back victories on the road to open the regular season . . . Adding to the pressure, his first NFL start came at Pittsburgh, where his father was an assistant coach and in the state where he gained collegiate fame at Penn State . . . Led the Chiefs to scores on each of their first three possessions, including a one-yard run by himself for the first touchdown, and completed 19 of 36 passes for 170 yards and one TD in a 37-27 victory . . . Repeat performance the next Sunday at Cincinnati resulted in a 27-22 Chiefs triumph as he connected on 18 of 35 pass attempts for 280 yards and two touchdowns . . . Two weeks later he set career highs with 48 pass attempts, 23 completions and 295 yards in a loss at Denver . . . The 48 attempts ranked as the second highest single-game total by an individual in Chiefs history (now is third) . . . Started the first seven games before Kenney returned in the second half of Week 7 vs. San Diego . . . Did not play in five of the next seven games, but replaced an injured Kenney in the second quarter at Seattle and started his eighth game the next week vs. Houston . . . Final totals were 147 completions in 294 pass attempts for 1,707 yards, six touchdowns, 11 interceptions and a QB rating of 59.2 in his 11 outings . . . Gained 102 rushing yards on 18 carries. 1983: Spent most of his rookie season learning the offensive system from the sideline, but was impressive in four playing stints . . . Accuracy and composure were apparent in his appearances, as he completed 20 of 34 pass attempts (58.8 percent) for 259 yards, three touchdowns and no interceptions . . . His QB rating was 112.0 . . . First NFL regular season action came Week Five vs. St. Louis when the Chiefs held a comfortable lead in the fourth quarter . . . Drove the Chiefs 60 yards in eight plays in his first series, completing four of five passes for 48 yards in eight plays, including a 15-yard touchdown pass to Willie Scott to cap the drive . . . His other action came vs. the New York Giants (no attempts), the Dallas Cowboys (10-19 for 95 yards and one TD) and in the finale vs. Denver (6-10 for 116 yards and one TD) . . . Combined with Kenney vs. Dallas to set the Chiefs record for team pass attempts (59), completions (33) and passing first downs (21).

College/Personal: Capped a brilliant collegiate career by leading Penn State to its first-ever national championship and finishing sixth in balloting for the Heisman Trophy . . . Established 28 Penn State records during his three years as quarterback: six career, 11 season, 10 game and one bowl mark . . . Technically had one year of eligibility remaining when he was drafted because of being redshirted his first year with a broken hand . . . Three-year career totals included 341 completions, 658 attempts, 4,812 yards, 41 touchdowns and 41 interceptions . . . Also completed 32 of 58 passes for 520 yards in three bowl games . . . Sensational senior campaign vaulted him to the top of his draft class, connecting on 161 of 292 passes for 2,218 yards, 22 TD's and 14 thefts, leading Penn state to an 11-1 record and national title by defeating Georgia in the Sugar Bowl . . . Was named MVP in that game by throwing for a school bowl record 228 yards . . . Nittany Lions were 29-4 in games Blackledge started . . . Was winner of distinguished Davey O'Brien National Quarterback Award in 1982 for academic, athletic and leadership qualities . . . Won second team All-America honors from College and Pro Football Newsweekly and honorable mention from AP, UPI and The Sporting News as a senior, plus was selected to AP's All-East first team and was a COSIDA first team Academic All-America . . . Graduated Phi Beta Kappa in speech communications . . . Was a Rhodes Scholar candidate . . . His father, Ron, is in his sixth year as offensive line coach for the Steelers and formerly was the head coach at Kent State . . . Attended Hoover High School in Canton, Ohio . . . Interests include golf, swimming, basketball and church-related activities . . . Full name: Todd Alan Blackledge . . . Single.

BRAD BUDDE • 71*Guard Ht: 6-4 Wt: 280*How Acquired: Draft (No. 1 - 1980)College: Southern CaliforniaNFL Experience: 8Birthdate: May 9, 1958Birthplace: Detroit, MichiganResidence: Overland Park, Kansas

Pro Career: Is the elderstatesman of the Chiefs offensive line as he enters his eighth year with the team . . . Has been the starting left guard since midway through his rookie season . . . Has played in 92 career NFL games with the Chiefs and has started 77 since being drafted No. 1 in 1980 . . . His only missed games were because of injuries in '83 (four games) and '85 (nine games). 1986: Started all 16 regular season games and the Wild Card playoff game at left guard . . . Was one of three offensive linemen to start every game of the season, joining LT Irv Eatman and C Rick Donnalley . . . Was a steady influence on an offensive line that had three new starters (Eatman, Donnalley and RG Mark Adickes). 1985: Started the first seven games in his usual spot until a strained shoulder sidelined him for the remainder of the season . . . Injured the shoulder against the L.A Rams and when he didn't start the next Sunday, it broke a 23-game streak of games started. 1984: Started all 16 games and played more downs than any other lineman . . . Helped the Chiefs attain the lowest sack ratio in team history and fourth-best in the NFL that year. 1983: Made a smooth transition to the team's new pass-oriented offense, then suffered the first injury of his pro career . . . Sprained his left knee vs. Dallas and spent the final four games on injured reserve, but surgery wasn't required . . . That broke a streak of 38 consecutive games in which he had started . . . Showed versatility that year by starting the N.Y. Giants game at left tackle because of injuries to two Chiefs tackles. 1981-82: Showed great improvement during his second and third seasons and started every game both years. 1980: Came to Kansas City with much fanfare, not only because he was the club's No. 1 draft choice and the top collegiate lineman in the country, but also because his father, Ed, had been an All-Pro guard for the Chiefs during his career from 1963-76 . . . It marked the first time in pro football history that a father and son had been drafted in the first round by the same team . . . Played all 16 games his rookie year . . . First start of his career came in the fifth game, then he broke into the lineup for good in the next-to-last game of that season.

College/Personal: Enjoyed a tremendous four-year career at USC, capping it by winning the Lombardi Award as the top collegiate lineman of the year . . . Became just the second offensive lineman to win the award . . . Was a consensus first team All-America selection and was named UPI's offensive lineman of the year . . . A three-time All-Pacific 10 selection before becoming the 11th player chosen in the '80 draft . . . Was a high school All-America at Rockhurst H.S. in Kansas City . . . Was a water boy as a youngster at the Chiefs training camp in Liberty, Mo. . . . Graduated from USC with a degree in public administration and has earned a master's degree in sports psychology . . . Has done charity work with abused children . . . Full name: Brad Edward Budde . . . Married, wife Nicky, six-year-old daughter Sasha, two-year-old son Beau.

LLOYD BURRUSS • 34*Safety Ht: 6-0 Wt: 209*How Acquired: Draft (No. 3c - 1981)College: MarylandNFL Experience: 7Birthdate: October 31, 1957Birthplace: Charlottesville, VirginiaResidence: Palmyra, Virginia

Pro Career: Reached Pro Bowl status in his sixth NFL season and has finally become recognized as one of the league's best strong safeties . . . Had already sold his own teammates of his worth, having won the team's Mack Lee Hill Award as a rookie in '81 and the team MVP honor in '85

. . . Has been the team's starting strong safety since early in his rookie season, but had been overshadowed a bit by having at least one of his defensive back teammates reaching the Pro Bowl each of his first five years . . . Has made 17 career interceptions and is just three away from entering the Chiefs top ten list in that category . . . Has scored four touchdowns on interception returns, fourth-most in team history (behind Bobby Bell's six and Emmitt Thomas and Jim Kearney's five) . . . Has recorded 403 career tackles (280 unassisted) and five fumble recoveries . . . Has played in 83 of a possible 89 games with the Chiefs and has started 78. 1986: Earned his first Pro Bowl berth after a spectacular campaign that ranks as one of the most intriguing performances by a defensive back in NFL history . . . Made a career-high five interceptions and he returned three of those for touchdowns, one shy of the team and NFL record (KC's Jim Kearney had four in '72 and Houston's Ken Houston had four in '71) . . . Scored a fourth touchdown by returning a blocked field goal 78 yards in the regular season finale that became the winning score vs. Pittsburgh in a playoff-clinching battle . . . Totaled a career-high 193 interception return yards, third-best seasonal total in team history . . . Enjoyed a once-in-a-lifetime game in the first meeting vs. San Diego, intercepting three passes and returning two for touchdowns, sparking KC to a 42-41 victory . . . His two TD returns tied an NFL record shared by 15 other players and his three interceptions were just one short of tying the team and NFL record held by 16 players . . . His 121 interception return yards in that game broke a 24-year-old Chiefs record (Bobby Ply, 108 yards vs. San Diego in '62) . . . Amazingly, all three thefts came in the second quarter off Dan Fouts; he returned the first 12 yards, the second 44 yards for a TD and the third 56 yards for his second TD . . . Also made a season-high 12 tackles in that game and was named AFC Defensive Player of the Week . . . His fourth interception of the season again came vs. the Chargers (in San Diego) . . . His fifth theft and third touchdown came vs. Denver the 14th week and he returned it 72 yards, a career long and the team's longest runback since Gary Barbaro's NFL record 102-yard return in '77 . . . Notched 76 total tackles for the season (49 unassisted), second most of his career . . . Recovered a Buffalo fumble at the KC one-yard line in a big play of 20-17 Chiefs triumph . . . Started 13 games and played in 15, missing some action early in the year due to a pulled hamstring . . . Was named to All-AFC First Team by UPI and All-Pro Honorable Mention by AP. 1985: Was voted by his teammates as the Chiefs MVP for '85, a result of his respected leadership as much as his performance on the field . . . Made one interception and posted 70 tackles (49 solos), including two sacks . . . His theft came in a Week 15, one-point loss at Denver in a nationally-televised contest . . . Probably his best overall game was a Thursday night, national TV victory over the Raiders the second week, when he led the Chiefs with 10 tackles and forced a fumble . . . Started 14 games and played in 15 . . . A bruised thigh sustained in the fourth contest caused him to miss most of the next two weeks. 1984: Started all 16 games, finishing with a career-high 92 tackles (65 solos) and intercepting two passes . . . First theft led to a go-ahead touchdown in a 22-20 loss to the Raiders and his second came the following week at Denver . . . Top tackling effort came vs. the N.Y. Giants, when he registered a career single-game best of 13 total stops . . . Recovered a fumble in a 16-13 win Week 14 over Denver. 1983: Intercepted four passes despite missing four games because of a pulled hamstring . . . The injury kept him from being completely healthy the final 10 games and he didn't play in the final three contests . . . Played and started 12 games, but had a 29-game starting streak snapped vs. Houston . . . Made two interceptions in the final two minutes of the season-opening win over Seattle . . . CARLOS CARSON • 88
Wide Receiver Ht: 5-11 Wt: 180

How Acquired: Draft (No. 5a - 1980)
College: Louisiana State
NFL Experience: 8
Birthdate: December 28, 1958
Birthplace: Lake Worth, Florida
Residence: Grandview, Missouri

Pro Career: Was one of the NFL's most productive receivers from 1983-85, but missed nearly half of the '86 season with various injuries . . . Was the top weapon on the Chiefs high-powered passing offense those three years, gaining 3,272 pass receiving yards, more than all but five NFL receivers during that period . . . That included the Chiefs first back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons in '83 and '84 . . . Is one of just four players in Chiefs history to gain over 4,000 career receiving yards, as his 4,510 ranks fourth behind Otis Taylor (7,306), Henry Marshall (5,767) and Chris Burford (5,525) . . . Ranks fifth in career receptions with 244, behind Taylor (410), Marshall (406), Burford (391) and Ed Podolak (288) . . . Set the team record for single-season receptions (80) and receiving yards (1,351) in 1983 . . . Has recorded 13 games with 100 or more receiving yards, ranking second on club charts next to Taylor's 21 . . . All but one came during his three-year streak . . . Was the team's leader in either receiving yards ('83 and '84) or receptions ('85) each of those three seasons . . . His three-year totals from 1983-85 were 184 receptions, 3,272 yards and 15 touchdowns . . . Career average per reception is 18.5 yards . . . Has been a starter since 1982 . . . Has four or more TD receptions in each of the last four years. 1986: Missed six full games and parts of three others with ankle and foot injuries, but still ranked fourth in receptions with 21 and fifth in yardage with 497 for a team-leading 23.7-yard average . . . First sustained the injury vs. the Raiders Week 5 and he was in and out of the lineup the rest of the season until finally going on injured reserve the final four weeks . . . Led the team and ranked fifth in the AFC with 238 receiving yards on nine receptions and two touchdowns after the first three games before his injuries . . . That included 4-60 in the opener vs. Cincinnati, 2-80 including a career-long 70-yard TD catch at Seattle and 3-98 vs. Houston . . . Didn't post any 100-yard games in '86, but had three games over 90 yards: 3-98 vs. Houston, 4-90 at San Diego and 4-97 at Denver . . . Played in 10 games and started seven. 1985: Led the team in receptions with 47 and finished second to Stephone Paige in yardage with 843, despite missing most of three games . . . Was off to the best start of his career until a minor knee injury in the third game limited his playing time for three weeks . . . Led the NFL in receiving yardage after two games with 291 yards on 13 receptions . . . Opened the campaign with the best game of his career, snatching eight passes for 173 yards, including touchdown receptions of 37 and 19 yards . . . The 173 yards set a personal best while the eight catches and two TDs tied career bests . . . Against the Raiders four nights later in a prime time victory, he grabbed five passes for 118 yards and one touchdown . . . That marked the third time of his career that he produced consecutive 100-yard games, the first Chiefs player to do so (Taylor had two) . . . Injury came the next week at Miami and his 44-game catch streak was snapped . . . Streak of 46 straight starts was broken the following Sunday . . . Averaged 3.1 receptions and 56.2 yards in his 15 games (started 14). 1984: Became the first player in Chiefs history to gain over 1,000 receiving yards in consecutive seasons . . . Led the team with 1,078 yards, which ranked fourth in team records for a single season, behind his record '83 total and two Taylor years . . . Ranked seventh in the AFC in '84 and 11th in the NFL . . . Yardage came on 57 receptions, second to Marshall's 62 . . . Gained 100 or more yards in four games, third-most in team annals for a season, behind his six in '83 and Taylor's six in '66 . . . All came in the final 10 games: 7-165 vs. San Diego, 7-131 vs. Tampa Bay, 5-153 at N.Y. Giants and 7-126 the next week vs. Denver . . . Scored four touchdowns, three coming in the final four games . . . Averaged 3.6 receptions and 67.4 yards per game and 19.9 yards per catch while starting all 16 contests . . . Caught at least one pass in every game . . . Compiled more receiving yardage in '84 and '83 than any other AFC player (2,429). 1983: Established himself among the NFL's receiving elite, recording the most productive receiving season in Chiefs history and being voted as a starter for the AFC Pro Bowl squad . . . Set Chiefs season records for receptions and receiving yardage: his 80 catches shattered a 21-year-old record of 68 receptions by Chris Burford in '62 and his 1,351 yards broke Taylor's '66 club mark of 1,297 yards . . . His 1,351 yards were most in the AFC in '83, second-best in the NFL next to Mike Quick, and was the 13th best performance in league history . . . His 80 receptions were fifth in the NFL and second among wide receivers, behind Tim Smith . . . Caught passes for over 100 yards in six games that year, tying Quick for most in the league and tying Taylor's club record of six from '66 . . . His century-mark games were: 7-165 at San Diego, 7-149 at Seattle, 7-135 at Dallas, 5-103 vs. Raiders, 6-109 at Washington and 7-104 vs. Seattle . . . Caught a career-high eight passes at Houston . . . Caught seven TD passes, the most by a Chiefs wide receiver at that time since Taylor's seven in '71 . . . Threw a 48-yard TD pass to Marshall in a Monday night game vs. San Diego for a go-ahead score late in the game . . . Averaged five catches and 84.4 yards per game for the season. 1982: Entered starting lineup for the first time in his career, opening in six of the nine games of the shortened season . . . Was the Chiefs second-leading receiver with 27 receptions for 494 yards, a team-leading 18.3 average and two touchdowns . . . Top yardage game was a 100-yard effort on three catches vs. Denver. 1981: Was off to a good start as a reserve before breaking his left leg in the third game . . . Caught four passes for 101 yards in the first three games, including a 53-yard touchdown that helped the Chiefs upset the Steelers in the opener . . . Missed the next 11 games before returning for the final two contests . . . First NFL start came in the finale . . . Returned 10 kickoffs for a 22.7 average. 1980: Served primarily as a kick return specialist and finished fifth in the AFC with a 22.9 average on 40 returns . . . That was only one shy of the Chiefs record for most returns in a season held by Noland Smith (1967) . . . His 917 yardage total was second in team history behind Smith's 1967 total of 1,148 yards . . . Also caught five passes for 68 yards as a rookie . . . Was the Chiefs fifth round draft choice in '80 on a choice obtained from the Colts.

College/Personal: Made 89 receptions in three years at LSU . . . Set NCAA record in '77 by catching six consecutive passes for touchdowns, including five in one game . . . Majored in physical education . . . Attended Leonard H.S. in Lake Worth, Fla. . . . Enjoys fishing . . . Full name: Carlos A. Carson . . . Married, wife Wilma, five-year-old daughter Brooke and two-year-old son Maurio.

How Acquired: Free Agent (1981)
College: Rutgers
NFL Experience: 7
Birthdate: September 12, 1959
Birthplace: Palmyra, New Jersey
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Pro Career: Has become recognized as one of the most successful free agents in NFL history after four consecutive Pro Bowl seasons . . . Entered the pro ranks as a free agent punter in 1981, switched to defensive back and has become the most productive interceptor in the league since gaining a starting job in '83 . . . Has picked off seven or more passes and made over 100 tackles in each of the last four seasons, each year ending with Pro Bowl acclaim, three as the AFC's starting free safety . . . His 30 interceptions over the last four years are more than any other player in the NFL during that span . . . Only four other players in the history of the game have made more interceptions in a four-year period than Cherry . . . With 31 career thefts, he ranks tied for eighth on the AFC's active interception list and tied for 15th among all active NFL defenders . . . Ranks fifth in Chiefs history with 31 interceptions and 481 interception return yards . . . Has started all 64 games the past four seasons, giving him the team's longest current streak of consecutive games started . . . Has been the Chiefs top tackler in that four-year period with 480 . . . Played as a reserve for two years before assuming a starting role in '83 and gaining instant stardom . . . Six-year career totals are 84 games, 64 starts, 31 interceptions, three touchdowns (two on kicking teams) and 490 tackles (314 unassisted). 1986: Won the AFC interception title with a career-high nine, just one short of NFL leader Ronnie Lott . . . As if that wasn't enough to earn his fourth straight Pro Bowl appearance, he also finished second to Dino Hackett with 108 total tackles (74 solos) and scored two touchdowns on special teams by recovering blocked punts in the end zone (season opener and finale) . . . Was named AFC Defensive Player of the Year by The Committee of 101, the first Chiefs player to win a "101" award since Willie Lanier in '71 . . . Was named NFL Defensive Back of the Year by the NFL Alumni Association . . . Made All-NFL first teams from AP and Sporting News, All-AFC first teams from UPI and Pro Football Weekly and All-NFL second team from NEA . . . Was selected AFC Defensive Player of the Month by the league office for September . . . His nine interceptions were the most by a Chiefs player for a single season since Gary Barbaro's 10 in 1980 and ranked tied for sixth-most in team annals . . . His 150 return yards were a career high . . . Made interceptions in each of the first two games, then made the key play in a Week 4, 20-17 win at Buffalo, picking off a Jim Kelly pass in the final minutes at the Bills 47 to set up the winning field goal . . . His fourth came vs. Tampa Bay, then he made five thefts in a four-game stretch Weeks 12-15 . . . That included two vs. the Raiders in LA (third was called back by penalty) in important Week 15 triumph and he was named AFC Defensive Player of the Week . . . Single-game tackling best was 13 vs. Pittsburgh in the regular season finale. 1985: Posted his third consecutive seven-interception season and Pro Bowl berth . . . Also led the Chiefs in tackles by recording 85 solo stops and 134 total stops, both career bests . . . Tied a club and NFL record by intercepting four passes vs. Seattle in a Week 4 win . . . That matched 15 other players in league history, including former Chiefs Bobby Hunt (vs. Houston in '64) and Bobby Ply (vs. San Diego in '62) . . . Scored his first NFL touchdown vs. Pittsburgh when he picked off a David Woodley pass and returned it 47 yards, the longest return by a Chiefs defender in '85 . . . His other thefts were in the opener vs. New Orleans and in the Week 13 rematch vs. Seattle . . . Five of his seven interceptions came against the Seahawks . . . His seven interceptions tied for third in the AFC (Albert Lewis and Eugene Daniel had eight) and for fourth in the NFL (Everson Walls had nine) . . . Posted 10 or more tackles in five games, including four in a row, with a high of 13 in the home Denver game . . . In addition to Pro Bowl honors, he was named to AFC first teams by UPI and Football News and to All-NFL second teams by AP and NEA. 1984: Proved that his spectacular '83 season wasn't a fluke, earning his second trip to the Pro Bowl after another seven-interception season . . . The seven thefts tied him for third in the AFC (Kenny Easley had 10 and Dave Brown had 8) and for fourth in the NFL (Tom Flynn had 9) . . . Had 140 return yards, most in his career at that time . . . Also finished as the Chiefs second-leading tackler with 128 (78 solos), three behind Art Still . . . Picked off two passes in a game for the second time of his career, vs. the Raiders the third week . . . Other thefts came vs. Cleveland (a game-saver in the final minute that he returned a career-long 67 yards), at Pittsburgh, vs. San Diego, at N.Y. Giants and vs. Seattle . . . Made a career-most 15 tackles (11 solos) vs. the Giants . . . Was named to the All-NFL first team by AP and College and Pro Football Newsweekly, the All-AFC first team by UPI and the All-NFL second team by NEA. 1983: Vaulted from a backup defensive back to one of league's best safeties in '83 and capped that brilliant season by being voted as the AFC's starting free safety in the Pro Bowl . . . Won the Chiefs starting free safety job in training camp when All-Pro Gary Barbaro was an unsigned free agent . . . Took full advantage of the opportunity, starting all 16 games and leading the league in interceptions most of the season . . . Finished with seven, which ranked third in the AFC (Ken Riley and Vann McElroy had eight) and sixth in the NFL . . . Also had three thefts called back because of penalties . . . Picked off two passes vs. St. Louis, the first double-interception game of his career . . . Was the Chiefs second-leading tackler with 110 (71 solos), behind Jerry Blanton's 136 . . . Recovered two fumbles, forced two others and had 1½ sacks . . . Blocked a field goal attempt in a Chiefs victory over St. Louis . . . Named to the College and Pro Football Newsweekly All-Pro Team, the All-AFC first team by UPI, and Pro Football Weekly and the AP All-Pro second team. 1982: Served as the Chiefs nickel back . . . Missed parts of four games due to a sprained ankle early in the season and a separated shoulder late in the year . . . Played in seven games and made four tackles and no interceptions. 1981: Signed with the Chiefs as a free agent and punter in the summer of '81 . . . When it became apparent he wouldn't beat out incumbent Bob Grupp, he switched to the secondary during preseason . . . Was released on the final cutdown, but rejoined the club on Sept. 23 when the Chiefs made several roster moves due to injuries

. . . Played in 13 games and made the first interception of his pro career in a victory over the Raiders . . . Was credited with six tackles.

College/Personal: Was a strong safety and punter at Rutgers, earning AP All-East honors in 1979-80 . . . Attended Palmyra H.S. in New Jersey, where he was a quarterback and played basketball and baseball . . . Is a member of the Chiefs Academic Corps, a group of players that work with inner city high school students . . . Donates money to Cystic Fibrosis for each tackle he makes . . . College: Elizabeth City State (NC)
NFL Experience: 2
Birthdate: May 18, 1963
Birthplace: Murfreesboro, North Carolina
Residence: Kansas City, Missouri

Pro Career: An aggressive and physically-awesome specimen who was the team's most effective blitzer as a rookie free agent in 1986 . . . Combines 245 pounds of body weight with 4.5-second speed in the 40-yard dash to create horror for opposing quarterbacks . . . Went undrafted out of tiny Elizabeth City State, but quickly made his presence felt in the Chiefs training camp and earned a starting spot at right outside linebacker by the second preseason game . . . Went on to start all 15 regular season games which he played, leading all linebackers with five sacks and leading the entire team with four forced fumbles . . . Knocked three quarterbacks out of games — Buffalo's Jim Kelly, Raiders Marc Wilson and San Diego's Dan Fouts — in a span of four weeks . . . Was a big-play performer throughout the entire season, starting with the opener when he sacked Cincy's Boomer Esiason at midfield and forced a fumble with five minutes left in the game to set up KC's game-clinching field goal in a 24-14 win . . . In the Chiefs season-ending three-game win streak, he was named NBC Player of the Game vs. Denver for constant pressure on John Elway, recovered a fumble the next week at the KC 29 late in the game to preserve a 20-17 win over the Raiders, then pressured Pittsburgh's Mark Malone on the final interception that saved the playoff-clinching game in the finale

. . . Finished the season with 66 total tackles (44 solos), including a season-high of nine at St. Louis . . . Missed the Tampa Bay game due to a sprained left knee . . . Was a hard-hitting special teams performer who notched 15 tackles . . . Was the only rookie free agent to make the team's final 45-man roster.

College/Personal: Played outside linebacker at Elizabeth City State, a Division II school with an enrollment of 1,500 students . . . Was recruited out of high school by some major universities, but he elected ECS because it was close to his hometown . . . Was an All-Central Intercollegiate Athletic Association selection his final two years . . . As a senior, he registered 76 tackles, six sacks and one interception . . . Attended Murfreesboro High (NC), where he played linebacker and running back . . . Majored in criminal justice . . . Full name: Tim Lee Cofield . . . Single.

College: Carson-Newman
NFL Experience: 5 (2nd with Chiefs)
Birthdate: June 24, 1960
Birthplace: Beaufort, South Carolina
Residence: Jefferson City, Tennessee

Pro Career: Revived his NFL career in Kansas City in 1986, finishing his first year with the Chiefs as the starting halfback . . . Joined the Chiefs in a draft-day trade for a seventh round draft choice after a strange three-year tenure with the Cleveland Browns . . . Was one of the NFL's top young running backs during his first two years, rushing for a combined 1,170 yards, but sat the bench in '85 and didn't carry the ball once . . . Only two players in Browns history had rushed for more yards in their first two years . . . Started 12 games those two seasons and gained over 100 rushing yards four times . . . Quickly helped the Chiefs offense as a rusher, receiver and kick returner . . . Career totals include 58 games and 19 starts, 396 rushes for 1,487 yards, 56 receptions for 428 yards, and nine touchdowns (six rushing, two receiving and one kick returning) . . . Also has 29 kickoff returns for 624 yards (21.5 avg.). 1986: Was the team's starting halfback the second half of the season, finishing with 314 rushing yards on 90 carries to rank second behind Mike Pruitt . . . Caught 19 passes for 137 yards, second-most among Chiefs RB's behind Jeff Smith . . . Also returned 10 kickoffs, averaging a team-high 25.4 yards per return . . . That included a 97-yard runback for a touchdown in the playoff-clinching victory over Pittsburgh in the finale, which was the third-longest KOR in Chiefs history, the longest since 1967 and the first KOR for touchdown since '69 . . . His three rushing touchdowns tied for the team lead and his total of four TDs tied for third . . . Top rushing game was 52 yards on nine carries at Buffalo, including a season-long 27-yard sprint that was the key play in a game-tying drive . . . Gained 51 yards on 10 carries in the first half vs. the Raiders (Week 15) before leaving the game with a knee injury . . . Played in all 16 games and started seven . . . Finished the season with 705 all-purpose yards . . . Playoff game stats were 8-15 rushing and 5-7 receiving. 1985: Didn't have any offensive statistics as a result of getting caught behind the NFL's hottest rushing tandem, Kevin Mack and Earnest Byner, who both gained over 1,000 yards . . . Played in 13 games but only three on offense . . . Returned two kickoffs for 20 yards in the season's final game. 1984: Was the Browns leading rusher with 673 yards on 202 carries . . . Moved into a starting role after Pruitt injured a knee the eighth week . . . Started the last eight games, rushing for 580 yards on 154 attempts . . . Ranked 11th among AFC backs, but ranked fifth over the second half of the season . . . Gained a career-high 156 rushing yards on 29 carries in rain-soaked Buffalo and that total was the most by an opposing back in Rich Stadium history . . . Two weeks later at Atlanta, his career-high 30 attempts helped him over the century mark for the fourth time in his career, 121 yards . . . Finished season with 12 receptions for 124 yards . . . Played in all 16 games and started 10. 1983: Beat the odds as an 11th round draftee and concluded an amazing rookie campaign by rushing for 497 yards and rolling up over 1,000 all-purpose yards . . . Finished fourth among NFL rookies in rushing in '83, behind first-rounders Eric Dickerson and Curt Warner and second-rounder Roger Craig . . . Among AFC running backs with 100 carries, his 4.8-yard average per carry was bettered only by Mosi Tatupu . . . Accounted for 1,014 all-purpose yards (497 rushing, 167 receiving, 350 kickoff returns) . . . In his first NFL start (Week 7 at Pittsburgh for injured Pruitt), he recorded the highest total ever by a Browns rookie in initial regular season start by gaining 137 yards on 28 carries . . . Also scored two touchdowns and caught a career-high five passes in that game . . . Topped the century mark vs. Houston by running for a 20-yard, game-winning TD in overtime; had a career-most 239 all-purpose yards, including 107 rushing (all in second half), 40 receiving and 92 on KO returns . . . Played in the final 13 games and started twice . . . Good chance to make the team came when Charles White broke an ankle in the second preseason game . . . Entered that game and on his second carry of NFL career, he scooted 71 yards for a touchdown, and finished with 117 yards on six carries and two TDs.

College/Personal: Gained 2,353 career yards, averaged six yards per carry and scored 23 touchdowns in college career at Carson-Newman . . . How Acquired: Free Agent (1986)
College: Stanford
NFL Experience: 2
Birthdate: April 5, 1963
Birthplace: Fountain Valley, California
Residence: Blue Springs, Missouri

Pro Career: Added a multi-purpose offensive weapon to the Chiefs lineup upon joining the regular season roster last September in his first NFL season . . . Became the team's fourth wide receiver when Anthony Hancock suffered a season-ending knee injury in the fourth game of the campaign; he also was one of three main kickoff return men and returned punts when Jeff Smith was injured . . . Played in 12 games and recorded nine pass receptions for 211 yards and one touchdown, six kickoff returns for a 19.2-yard average and six punt returns for a 3.3 average . . . His 23.4-yard average per catch was just behind Carlos Carson for the team lead . . . First emerged as an important ingredient in the Chiefs offense at San Diego (his fifth week with team) when he made two key receptions for 52 yards in a come-from-behind victory . . . First catch in that game was his first NFL touchdown, a five-yarder from Bill Kenney and the second was a 47-yarder that set up another TD . . . Capped his rookie season with two catches for a team-leading 74 yards, including a season-long 53-yarder, in the playoff-clinching finale at Pittsburgh . . . All nine of his catches were either for a first down or a touchdown . . . Most active kick return day was in his NFL debut, three runbacks for 49 yards vs. the Raiders . . . Most active punt return day was vs. Seattle, returning five for 13 yards and fair catching five others . . . Joined the Chiefs as a first-year free agent in '86 and was the fifth wide receiver on the roster before being waived on the final cut when an extra lineman was needed due to injuries . . . Was a fourth round draft choice of the Atlanta Falcons in 1985 and appeared to have the team made until a trade for veteran WR

Charlie Brown the week prior to the regular season opener . . . Suffered a separated shoulder while diving for a catch in the team's Phoenix mini-camp this past March and may be limited early in the '87 preseason.

College/Personal: Ranks third on Stanford's all-time receiving yardage charts, behind Ken Margerum and Darrin Nelson, with 2,270 career yards . . . Led the PAC-10 in receiving yardage as a junior with 829 yards . . . Played with John Elway his first two seasons . . . Was second team Academic All-America with a 3.3 GPA in computer science . . . HERMAN HEARD • 44 Running Back Ht: 5-10 Wt: 182

College: Southern Colorado
NFL Experience: 4
Birthdate: November 24, 1961
Birthplace: Denver, Colorado
Residence: Aurora, Colorado

Pro Career: Has been the Chiefs most productive rusher the past three seasons and he enters the '87 season trying to regain the starting halfback position . . . Led the team in rushing each of his first two NFL campaigns, only the fourth player in team history to do so (Abner Haynes 1960-61, Mike Garrett 1969-70, and Woody Green 1974-75), but saw his totals drop last year after losing his starting job at mid-season . . . In just three years, he already ranks ninth on the Chiefs all-time rushing charts with 1,574 yards on 400 carries (3.9 per carry) . . . Has yet to record a 100-yard rushing game, but has gained over 50 yards in 14 contests (13 coming his first two years), with a best of 84 yards set three times . . . Was the team's leading rusher in 21 of his first 35 pro games . . . Also has been used frequently as a receiver out of the backfield, making 73 receptions for 563 yards . . . Has scored 12 touchdowns (10 rushing and two receiving) . . . Compiled 1,759 combined yards (rushing and receiving) his first two years . . . Has gained over 100 yards in combined yardage four times, all as a rookie in '83. 1986: Compiled a career-best 4.2-yard average per carry, but was handed the ball just 71 times for 295 yards and two touchdowns . . . Assumed his starting role the first half of the season and led the team in rushing in each of the first three games, but was replaced at mid-season by Boyce Green . . . His top game was in the season-opening win over Cincinnati, gaining 62 yards on 10 carries including a spectacular 40-yard sprint that set up a touchdown . . . His 62-yard rushing effort was the Chiefs best of the season and his 40-yard run was the team's longest, but he never reached double figures in carries the remainder of the year . . . Averaged 5.0 yards per carry in the first three contests . . . Sustained a bruised thigh at Buffalo and missed 1½ games . . . Played in 15 games and started seven . . . Both his rushing totals and receiving totals (17-83) were career lows . . . Ranked third on the team in rushing behind Mike Pruitt and Green. 1985: Was the starting halfback the entire season and nearly matched his rookie season totals in all categories . . . Led the team in rushing with 595 yards on 164 carries and ranked third in receiving (first among running backs) with a career-most 31 receptions for 257 yards . . . Best rushing games were 66 yards vs. the Raiders in a national TV

GREG HILL • 23

How Acquired: Waivers (1984 - Houston)
College: Oklahoma State
NFL Experience: 5 (4th with Chiefs)
Birthdate: February 12, 1961
Birthplace: Orange, Texas
Residence: Overland Park, Kansas

Pro Career: Has played in nickel and dime defensive schemes the past three years and has made more interceptions than any other Chiefs reserve defensive back during that time . . . Has picked off eight passes during that span and returned one for a touchdown . . . Has totaled 69 tackles those three seasons (61 solos) while playing in 44 games and starting three . . . Joined the Chiefs on waivers prior to the '84 season opener after a season with Houston. 1986: Tied his career high of three interceptions despite spending the final three games on injured reserve with a sprained wrist . . . The three thefts came in consecutive games and he returned them a career-high 64 yards . . . Scored his first NFL touchdown vs. Houston, swiping a Warren Moon pass and racing 26 yards for KC's final score in a 27-13 win vs. his former teammates . . . His second interception of the season came the following week at Buffalo on the last play of a 20-17 victory . . . Picked off a Marc Wilson pass the next week vs. the Raiders . . . Made his third career start at Cleveland for the injured Albert Lewis . . . Totaled 15 tackles (14 unassisted) while playing in 13 games. 1985: In addition to collecting three interceptions for the first time in his pro career, he also posted a career-best 34 tackles (29 solos) while playing in all 16 games . . . First interception of the season came vs. Seattle, which he returned a career-long 37 yards . . . Other two interceptions came vs. Houston and at Denver . . . Made a career-high six solo tackles in the Houston game . . . Started vs. Indianapolis at right corner when Kevin Ross missed practice that week due to a family death. 1984: Earned his spot as the fifth d-back the fourth week of the season after recovering from a pulled hamstring muscle . . . Went on to make two interceptions and made the first start of his NFL career in the season-ending victory over San Diego when Lewis was injured . . . First NFL interception came in a Week 7 victory over San Diego . . . His second came in a win over Tampa Bay, although he fumbled on the return . . . Registered 20 tackles (18 solos) during the season . . . Played in 15 games, missing the home opener because of his hamstring injury. At Houston: Was the Oilers fourth round draft choice in '83 and played in 14 games for Houston as a rookie . . . Most of his action was on kicking teams.

College/Personal: Became an immediate starter at Oklahoma State, opening 11 games as a freshman . . . Was a reserve as a sophomore, then regained starting spot at left cornerback his final two years . . . Made two interceptions both his freshman and senior seasons . . . Recorded 164 career tackles and recovered two fumbles, one which he returned a school-record 97 yards for a touchdown in '81 . . . Attended Orange (Texas) H.S. . . . Won the state prep title in the 330 intermediate hurdles with a 36.4 clocking . . . Enjoys jazz music and drawing . . . Full name: Greg Hill . . . Married, wife Myra.

Pro Career: A valuable member of the Chiefs respected defensive line the past three years, playing both end and nose tackle . . . Primarily backs up Bill Maas in the middle and plays in some dime defensive sets . . . Has played in all 48 games (and started six) since being drafted by the Chiefs in the fifth round of '84 . . . Has totaled 59 tackles (36 unassisted) and two sacks in his three NFL seasons. 1986: Was held to a career-low six tackles (four solos), but still contributed in all 16 games . . . His first tackle of the season was a seven-yard sack of Raiders QB Marc Wilson . . . Most extensive playing action came in a 27-20 triumph over Tampa Bay when he played the final three quarters in place of Maas, who had a bad case of flu. 1985: Started the final five games of the season when a re-alignment of the defensive line moved Maas to left end . . . Made 17 of his season's 24 tackles in those five starts, including tying a career-high with six stops at Seattle . . . Also shared a sack, was credited with two quarterback pressures and batted down a pass during that five-game stint . . . Played in all 16 games, but made just seven tackles in the first 11 contests while playing in nickel and dime sets . . . Season totals were 24 tackles (15 solos), ½ sack, four pressures and two pass deflections (second among lineman, behind Art Still's four). 1984: Was particularly valuable during the second half of his rookie season when Maas and DE Mike Bell were limited by injuries . . . Recorded 29 tackles during the season and 24 came in the final 10 games . . . First extended action came Week 7 vs. San Diego when he played most of the game at nose tackle due to an injury to Maas and made a career-high six tackles . . . Made his first NFL start the following week at New York vs. the Jets . . . Logged his first fumble recovery Week 12 vs. the Raiders and assisted in his first sack two weeks later in a victory over Denver.

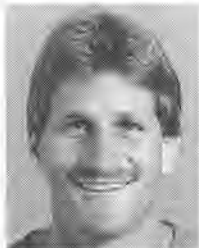

College/Personal: Was a consistent performer as a defensive end during his career at Texas in which he compiled 222 total tackles, including 18 sacks and 27 additional stops for losses . . . Tabbed for All-Southwest Conference and honorable mention All-America honors as a senior . . . Recorded a career-high 92 tackles and a team-high 42 QB pressures that year . . . BILL KENNEY • 9

How Acquired: Free Agent (1979)
College: Northern Colorado
NFL Experience: 9
Birthdate: January 20, 1955
Birthplace: San Francisco, California
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Pro Career: Has been the Chiefs leading passer the past six years, earning Pro Bowl status and producing a NFL Top Twenty all-time passing rating in the process . . . A former free agent, he enters his ninth pro season ranked 17th on the NFL's all-time passing charts, based on the NFL's rating system, and is seventh among active quarterbacks with a career 77.5 rating (see chart below) . . . A Pro Bowl season in 1983, his first year as the full-time starter, saw him become one of only a handful of quarterbacks in the history of the league to pass for more than 4,000 yards . . . Rewrote the Chiefs single-season passing record book that year and recorded one of the best years in NFL annals . . . Rags-to-riches NFL story began as the next to last player selected in the '78 draft by Miami . . . Was traded to Washington during that preseason, but was released and he sat out the entire '78 season before signing with the Chiefs as a free agent in '79 . . . Didn't play a down in '79, then split time with Steve Fuller in '80, '81 and '82 before winning the No. 1 job in '83 . . . Ranks second to Len Dawson in Chiefs history in nearly every passing category: 14,621 career passing yards, 2,043 attempts, 1,118 completions and 90 touchdowns . . . His 72 interceptions are third-most . . . Has completed nearly 55 percent of his career passes . . . Has thrown for 300 or more yards in 13 games, more than any other Chiefs player, and 11 came during three-year span of 1983-85 . . . Has been the team's leading passer in each of the last six years and only Dawson has led the team more seasons . . . Has started 64 games and owns a 31-33 record in those starts. 1986: Started the '86 season in a backup role but regained his starting job at mid-season and helped lead the Chiefs to their first playoff appearance in 15 years . . . Threw for 1,922 yards, completing 52 percent of his passes (161-308), with 13 touchdowns and 11 interceptions . . . Started eight games and compiled a 5-3 record . . . Came off the bench Week 7 vs. San Diego in the second half, hit Stephone Paige for a 16-yard touchdown on his first pass attempt, and went on to lead the Chiefs to a 42-41 victory . . . Made his first start of '86 the next Sunday and led the team to three straight wins, going 58 of 102 for 773 yards and six TDs during that three-game streak . . . Chiefs then lost next three contests, although he accumulated season highs vs. Buffalo with 50 pass attempts (second-most of career), 25 completions (tie for fourth-most) for 286 yards . . . Bruised his throwing hand late in that game and didn't play the next week vs. Denver . . . Started the final two games, victories over the Raiders and Steelers, but re-injured the hand and wasn't able to start the playoff game . . . Played in the fourth quarter of the Wild Card Game, his first career playoff action, and connected on eight of 16 passes for 97 yards . . .

Threw at least one touchdown pass in every start until the finale and had two-or-more in four straight games . . . KC's offense averaged 298 yards per game in his eight starts compared to 230 yards in the other eight contests. 1985: Was on his way to another highly-productive season until various injuries knocked him out of the lineup for the final five games . . . Started 10 of the first 11 games, but a rash of bruises — mainly knee and shoulder — curtailed his effectiveness after a great start to '85 . . . Was on another 4,000-yard passing pace prior to his initial injuries . . . Despite playing QB in just 12 games, he finished with 181 completions in 338 attempts (53.6 percent) for 2,536 yards and 17 touchdowns, all ranking as the second-best figures of his career next to '83 . . . His 83.6 rating ranked sixth in the NFL (fifth in AFC) . . . Finished the year with 143 straight passes without a theft, excluding two "Hail Mary" passes that ended a half or a game . . . Opened the season in grand fashion by throwing for 397 yards, more than any other QB on opening day, in a lopsided win over New Orleans . . . The 397 yards were the second-most of his career and he completed 22 of 34 passes and tossed three TD balls . . . His other 300-yard game in '85 and 13th of his career was a 304-yard effort at San Diego (24 of 36 . . . Threw career-long 84-yard TD pass after replacing Blackledge in the finale and that ranked tied for sixth-longest in team history . . . Chiefs were 3-7 in his 10 starts . . . Played in all 16 games, but three as strictly a holder on placement kicks. 1984: Missed the first seven games after breaking his passing thumb in the final preseason game, but made the most of his half-season . . . Made a grand entry in his first outing (Week 7 vs. San Diego), entering the game midway through the third quarter and completing 13 of 22 passes for 238 yards and two touchdowns to spark the Chiefs to a 31-13 win . . . Was named the NFL offensive player of the week by Sports Illustrated for his performance . . . His presence made an immediate impact on a sluggish passing attack and he went on to complete 151 of 282 pass attempts for 2,098 yards, 15 touchdowns and 10 interceptions in his nine games . . . Finished sixth in the AFC with an 80.7 QB rating . . . Rolled up his best totals of the season in his second start, connecting on 26 of 46 passes for 332 yards and two TDs in a gutty performance (knee and shoulder injuries and cut his injured thumb) in a victory over Tampa Bay . . . Was forced to leave the next week's game at Seattle due to knee, shoulder and elbow injuries and did not play the next Sunday vs. Houston . . . Came back to start the final five games and played superbly, leading the Chiefs to victory in the final three games . . . Passed for 312 yards in the Seattle game, his second 300-yard outing of the season . . . In the finale, he completed 17 of 23 passes for 245 yards and three TDs in just over a half and surpassed the 10,000-yard career passing yardage plateau. 1983: Recorded one of the top single-season passing performances in NFL history en route to breaking nearly every Chiefs passing record and earning a Pro Bowl berth . . . His 4,348 yards were the fourth-most ever attained, behind two Dan Fouts seasons and Steve DeBerg (there have been four 4,000-yard performances since then) . . . Threw for over 300 yards in seven games, which tied for second in league history (Fouts in '81 and behind Fouts' eight games in '80) . . . Had a streak of four consecutive 300-yard games, which also tied for second with Fouts' 1979 season and behind Joe Montana's five in 1982 . . . Kenney's '83 totals completely shattered previous Chiefs season records: his 4,348 yards easily surpassed Dawson's 1974 record of 2,879 yards, his 603 attempts outdistanced Cotton Davidson's 1960 mark of 379, and his 346 completions buried Dawson's 1967 record of 206 completions . . . Also broke Dawson's 1962 total offense record of 3,011 yards, gaining 4,407 yards (4,348 passing and 59 rushing) . . . Best game of his season and career came Week 15 at San Diego, when he threaded the Chargers defense for 411 yards by completing 31 of 41 attempts and threw four TD passes . . . The 31 completions set the Chiefs single-game record, the 411 yards were a personal best and ranked second in Chiefs history behind a 435-yard Dawson performance and the four touchdowns tied a personal best he set twice earlier in '83 . . . Another top game was at Denver, when he attempted a Chiefs record 52 passes and completed 27 for 365 yards . . . At Dallas, he was 23-40 for 337 yards and combined with Blackledge for team record 59 attempts and 33 completions . . . Tied Dawson's record of 15 consecutive pass completions early in the season (final 13 vs. San Diego and first two at Washington) . . . Attempted 40 or more passes in eight games and completed 20 or more passes in 12 contests . . . Threw 24 touchdown passes in '83, which tied for fourth in Chiefs history, and threw 18 interceptions, third-most on the club's list . . . Ranked seventh in the AFC with a QB rating of 80.8 . . . Ranked first in the NFL in attempts and completions and second in yards behind Dickey . . . Was named the Chiefs MVP by his teammates . . . Was voted as an alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl team, then played in the game when Marino couldn't go because of an injury . . . Set a Pro Bowl record by attempting 32 passes. 1982: Started the first three and final three contests of the shortened season . . . Was replaced by Steve Fuller during mid-season, but won back the job with his first relief appearance as a pro vs. the Raiders . . . Completed 95 of 169 passes for 1,192 yards and seven TDs, ranking seventh in the AFC with a QB rating of 77.0 . . . Best game was in the season finale against the N.Y. Jets, when he threw for 223 yards and completed 18 of 27 passes, including 11 in a row, and three touchdowns. 1981: Started the first 13 games and completed 147 of 274 passes for 1,983 yards and nine TDs before being replaced by Fuller in the final three games . . . Best game that season was vs. San Diego, when he connected on 22 of 41 attempts for 303 yards. 1980: First regular season action of his NFL career came in '80 when he replaced Fuller in the final three games . . . Leading the Chiefs to victory in two of the three, he passed for 542 yards, including 316 in the finale vs. the Colts.

College/Personal: Began his collegiate career at Arizona State under Frank Kush, but transferred to Saddleback (Calif.) Junior College and then on to Northern Colorado . . . At UNC, he played tight end as a junior, catching 17 passes, then subbed at quarterback in two games and completed 18 of 40 passes . . . Played QB full time as a senior, completing 97 of 226 passes for 1,264 yards and seven touchdowns . . . Attended San Clemente (Calif.) H.S. . . . Earned a degree in Business Administration . . . His father, Charles, was a guard for the San Francisco 49ers in 1947 . . . Hobbies include fishing and hunting . . . Active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes and works with inner-city families in Kansas City . . . Full name: William Patrick Kenney . . . Married, wife Sandi, six-year-old daughter Kristin and four-year-old son Billy.

PETE KOCH • 74

Defensive End Ht: 6-6 Wt: 265

How Acquired: Waivers (1985 - Cincinnati)

College: Maryland

NFL Experience: 4 (3rd with Chiefs)

Birthdate: January 23, 1962

Birthplace: Manhasset, New York

Residence: Kansas City, Missouri

Pro Career: Made huge strides as an NFL defensive end in 1986, becoming a starter for the first time in his pro career . . . A former No. 1 draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals, he joined the Chiefs on waivers in 1985 and played in a reserve capacity before entering the starting lineup last year. 1986: Was possibly the most pleasant surprise on the Chiefs team in '86, claiming the starting job left vacant by Mike Bell's absence . . . Played a key role on the team's respected defense in his second year in Kansas city, registering 81 tackles (fifth on team), 5½ sacks (third on team) and five pass deflections (second on team) . . . Started all 16 games after beating out several candidates during preseason . . . Notched a career-most 10 total tackles (seven solos) to lead the team at Denver . . . Made five tackles, 1½ sacks and two deflections in the second Denver game and produced season-best two sacks vs. the Raiders . . . Also was a force on kicking teams, tipping a 52-yard field goal attempt at Buffalo and blocking a PAT attempt vs. Houston in consecutive weeks. 1985: Claimed by the Chiefs on waivers prior to the regular season opener and played primarily in four-lineman situations throughout the year . . . Despite only several practices, he made two sacks, three QB pressures and three solo tackles in the opener, his best game of the year . . . Finished the season with 23 tackles (16 unassisted), two sacks and eight pressures . . . Made three tackles in five different games . . . Played in all 16 games. At Cincinnati: As a rookie with the Bengals in 1984, he played in all 16 games and made six tackles . . . Was waived on Cincy's final roster cutdown in '85 . . . Was the 16th player chosen in the '84 draft and the fourth defensive lineman (Bill Maas was the first).

College/Personal: Was an All-Atlantic Coast Conference honoree as a senior and earned honorable mention All-America status from AP . . . Bench pressed 465 pounds at Maryland to become the school's strongest man ever . . . Played defensive line, offensive line and tight end at New Hyde Park Memorial H.S. in New York . . . Also played basketball (center) and baseball (first baseman) . . . Brother, Larry, was a pitcher in the St. Louis Cardinals organization in 1967-68 and 1970-71 . . . Has prospering acting career during off-seasons and has played roles in "Heartbreak Ridge" with Clint Eastwood, "Heat" with Burt Reynolds and "Johnny Be Good" with Anthony Michael Hall within the last year . . . Has also appeared in several television shows . . . Full name: Peter Alan Koch . . . Single.

KIT LATHROP • 70
Defensive End Ht: 6-5 Wt: 261

How Acquired: Free Agent (1986)

College: Arizona State

NFL Experience: 4

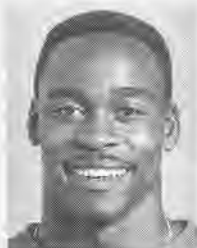

Birthdate: August 10, 1956

Birthplace: San Jose, California

Residence: Chandler, Arizona

Pro Career: Is in his second NFL stint after an outstanding USFL career and brief coaching career . . . First broke into the NFL in 1979 and spent two seasons with the Denver Broncos and Green Bay Packers; after being waived he began a coaching career on the collegiate level under Greg Mohns, who now works in the Chiefs scouting department . . . After two years of coaching, he joined the USFL for three years, winning Lineman of the Year honors twice . . . Chose the Chiefs over a number of interested NFL teams in 1986 after becoming a free agent from the USFL. 1986: Joined the Chiefs between the first and second preseason games, but an inflamed knee sidelined him until the final preseason contest . . . Played in certain four-lineman defensive situations and finished the season with seven tackles and one forced fumble . . . Saw action in all 16 games and the playoff game. USFL: Voted as the league's Lineman of the Year twice, 1983 and 1984, while playing for the Chicago Blitz and then Arizona Wranglers/Outlaws . . . Notched 210 tackles and 22 sacks in those two seasons while starting every game as a defensive tackle in a 4-3 defense . . . Played about one-half of the '85 season after sustaining a knee injury, but still managed eight sacks. 1978-80: Was cut by the Philadelphia Eagles and Detroit Lions as a rookie free agent in 1978 before landing a job with the Broncos in '79 . . . Played in nine games for the Broncos, then was waived at mid-season and was picked up later in the year by the Packers . . . Played in two games that year for the Pack, then in 15 games in '80. 1981-82: After being released in '81 by Green Bay, he was hired by Mohns as an assistant coach (defensive line and strength) at Ventura (Ca.) Junior College . . . Moved with Mohns in '82 to UNLV and served in a similar capacity.

College/Personal: Played two years (1977-78) at Arizona State after transferring from West Valley (Ca.) Junior College . . . Lettered both years at ASU and was honorable mention All-Western Athletic Conference as a senior . . . Was named the team's Outstanding Lineman his senior season . . . At WVC, he won Most Valuable Lineman and All-Golden Gate Conference honors . . . Attended Leigh High School in San Jose, Ca., where he earned three letters each in football, wrestling and track . . . Earned degree at ASU in Parks & Recreation . . . Enjoys water skiing, racquetball and horseback riding . . . Full name: Kit Douglas Lathrop . . . Married, wife Becki, two daughters, Renee (3) and Leah (1).

ALBERT LEWIS • 29
Cornerback Ht: 6-2 Wt: 192

How Acquired: Draft (No. 3 - 1983)
College: Grambling
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: October 6, 1960
Birthplace: Mansfield, Louisiana
Residence: Fairway, Kansas

Pro Career: One of the premier cornerbacks in the NFL who, doubling as a potent special teams weapon, has the ability to dominate football games . . . As a defensive back, his 20 interceptions in his four pro seasons are surpassed by only six players, and as a special teams performer, he created havoc on opposing punters with a record-breaking season in '86 . . . Has been the team's starting cornerback the last three years after spending most of his rookie season as the nickel back . . . Already ranks tied for tenth in team history for career interceptions with 20, an average of five per year, topped by an AFC-leading eight in '85 . . . Has at least four thefts every season . . . Has registered 245 tackles (216 solos) in his four years . . . Has played in 62 games (missing just two) and started 47 . . . Played right corner as a rookie, then switched to the left side in '84 when Gary Green was traded. 1986: Was equally sensational on defense and special teams and was voted by his teammates as the Chiefs Most Valuable Player for '86 . . . Defensively, he intercepted four passes, led the unit in deflected passes and had two fumble recoveries . . . On special teams, he blocked a team-record four punts during the regular season and tackled another punter before the kick . . . Plus, he blocked a punt and recovered it for a touchdown in the playoff game vs. the Jets . . . Made dramatic impact on several games, including the playoff-clinching win at Pittsburgh in the finale, when he intercepted a pass to kill late Steeler drive, recovered a fumble, and blocked a punt that was recovered in the end zone for a touchdown . . . In a Week 9 come-from-behind win at San Diego, he forced turnovers on three consecutive Charger possessions in the 4th-quarter comeback . . . That included two interceptions, which was the fourth multiple-interception game of his career, and a forced fumble . . . Made his first theft of the season vs. San Diego in a game that he netted a season-high 13 tackles (10 solos) . . . Recorded 69 tackles for the season, including 61 unassisted stops . . . Didn't play vs. Cleveland due to a strained quad muscle which had bothered him for several weeks . . . Blocked punts came vs. San Diego, both Denver games and Pittsburgh, and each one either set up a touchdown or was recovered for TD. 1985: A torrid season-ending surge gave him a share of the AFC interception title with eight, tying Eugene Daniel of the Colts for the AFC lead, one behind NFL leader Everson Walls of Dallas . . . Six of those thefts came in the final three games of the season . . . Began that flurry by picking off three passes vs. Atlanta, a personal best and just one shy of matching the club and NFL record of four in a single game . . . A week later he intercepted two passes at Denver, then finished the season with one vs. San Diego in the finale . . . Also had one interception in each of the first two games of '85 . . . Compiled 65 solo tackles to rank third on the team and 74 total tackles which tied for sixth . . . Also had 1½ sacks . . . Put together a masterful performance in a Thursday night game vs. the Raiders the second week, making a season-high eight solo tackles, one interception, forced a fumble and recovered a Jim Plunkett fumble in the end zone for his first NFL touchdown, the Chiefs last score in a 36-20 win . . . Started all 16 games. 1984: Stepped forward as a leading performer on the Chiefs defense in his first year as a starter . . . Made four interceptions and recorded 66 tackles (60 solos) . . . His four thefts came in a five-week span, beginning Week 10 at Seattle, then after none vs. Houston, he picked off one in each of the next three games vs. the Raiders, Giants and Broncos . . . After starting the first 15 games, he missed the season finale after straining his right knee the previous week vs. Seattle. 1983: Spent most of his rookie year as the team's nickel back until winning the starting job in the finale . . . Made four interceptions and recorded 36 total tackles while playing in all 16 games . . . First NFL theft came off Jim Hart vs. St. Louis, then he picked off two Plunkett passes in the first quarter the following week vs. the Raiders . . . Final interception came at Seattle, which he returned a career-long 34 yards . . . On special teams, he compiled a team-leading 27 tackles and recovered a fumbled punt return vs. the Giants that set up a Chiefs TD . . . Was the Chiefs third round draft choice in '83.

College/Personal: Was a first team All-Southwestern Athletic Conference selection his final two years at Grambling . . . Intercepted 11 passes in those two seasons, including a SWAC-leading seven as a junior . . . Attended DeSoto H.S. in Mansfield, La., where he was a two-year All-District defensive back . . . Won nine letters in football (3), basketball (3), and track (3) . . . Earned a degree in political science and is now studying law . . . Is a member of the Chiefs Academic Corps, which works with inner city high school students in Kansas City . . . Hobbies include riding horses, biking, hunting and fishing . . . Full name: Albert Ray Lewis . . . Married, wife Phyllis.

NICK LOWERY • 8
Placekicker Ht: 6-4 Wt: 189

How Acquired: Free Agent (1980)

College: Dartmouth

NFL Experience: 8

Birthdate: May 27, 1956

Birthplace: Munich, Germany

Residence: Fairway, Kansas

Pro Career: Ranks second on the NFL's all-time field goal accuracy charts after holding the top spot for two years . . . Moved into the No. 1 spot in league history in mid-1984, but has been surpassed by Pittsburgh's Gary Anderson, who qualified for the list last season . . . Has connected on 155 of 203 field goal attempts in his seven-plus NFL seasons for a 76.4 percentage . . . Not only is he the second-ranked accuracy kicker of all-time, he also has kicked more field goals (155) and scored more points (713) over the past seven years (since joining the Chiefs as a free agent in '80) than any other kicker . . . Possibly the truest statistic is average length of field goals made and missed, which Lowery leads all kickers during those seven years with a 36.3-yard average per field goal made and a 44.9-yard average for missed attempts . . . His 12 kicks of 50 yards or more ties him with three other players for second place in NFL history behind Jan Stenerud (17) . . . Has made 84 percent (124 of 147) of his attempts inside the 50-yard line . . . Ranks second on the Chiefs all-time charts in scoring (713 points), field goals made (155) and PAT's (248), behind record totals by the legendary Stenerud, who he surprisingly beat out in '80 . . . Adding a short two-game stint at New England prior to coming to Kansas City, his career totals are 720 points, 155 of 203 field goals, and 255 of 257 PAT's . . . Played in one Pro Bowl Game (following the '81 season) and has been an alternate twice . . . Has scored 100 or more points in five seasons, including the last four in a row . . . Has broken the team single-season record for field goal completion percentage three times ('82, '83 and '85) . . . Holds the team record for longest field goal, 58 (twice), which ties as the fourth-longest in NFL history . . . Enters '87 with a string of 123 consecutive regular season PAT's made, second-longest current streak in the league next to Gary Anderson . . . Has played in 105 consecutive games for the Chiefs, the longest streak on the team.

1986: Ranked fifth in the AFC with 100 points, but his 19 field goals and 26 attempts were career lows for a 16-game season . . . Clutch performer kicked two game-winning field goals during the year: at San Diego he nailed a 37-yarder with seven seconds left for a dramatic 24-23 comeback victory; at Buffalo he kicked a 46-yard game-winner with 1:07 left to give the Chiefs a 20-17 win . . . Posted one three-field goal game, hitting 30-, 45- and 44-yarders vs. Denver . . . Scored season-most 13 points in that game . . . Missed first-ever kick from less than 30 yards when a 29-yarder was blocked at San Diego . . . Made seven straight field goals early in the season and finished the campaign by making six of his last seven . . . Was named All-AFC Second Team by UPI and All-Pro Honorable Mention by AP. 1985: Broke his own record for single-season completion percentage by making 24 of 27 field goal attempts for 88.9 percent . . . It was the third-best season in NFL history, behind Mark Moseley (20-21 in 1982) and Stenerud (22-24 in 1981) . . . Remarkable season won him the honor as placekicker on the All-NFL team, thanks to first team votes from AP and NEA . . . Also was named to the All-AFC second team by UPI . . . Was voted as first alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl team, behind Gary Anderson . . . Scored 107 points, third-most in his career and ranking sixth in the AFC and 10th in the NFL . . . His 24 field goals tied for third in the AFC and seventh in the NFL . . . His uncanny accuracy included making 22 of 23 attempts inside the 50-yard line . . . Kicked nine field goals (9-9) and scored 35 points in the first two games, the best two-game start in Chiefs history . . . Was 4-4 in a season-opening 47-27 win at New Orleans, including two 52-yarders that tied the NFL record (which he had already matched in '80) for most field goals over 50 yards in a single game . . . Four nights later in a nationally televised game vs. the Raiders, he produced the best performance of his career by making all five field goal attempts in a 36-20 Chiefs win . . . The five field goals were a personal best, tied the team record set by Stenerud and was just one shy of the NFL record for most field goals in a game with no misses . . . That included a 58-yarder, which tied his personal best as the fourth-longest in NFL history . . . His season-ending streak of 11 consecutive field goals made covered a span of eight games (last miss was Week 9). 1984: Connected on 23 of 33 field goal attempts and was selected as the second alternate for the AFC Pro Bowl . . . His 23 field goals ranked third in the AFC and tied for eighth in the NFL, his 33 attempts were the most in the AFC and tied for fourth-most in the NFL and his 104 points ranked fourth in the AFC and ninth in the NFL . . . Began the '84 campaign by making his first seven field goal attempts . . . Kicked three fourth-quarter field goals Week 14 vs. Denver, including a 42-yard game-winner with 1:56 remaining, in a 16-13 victory. 1983: Set the team record for field goal completion percentage for the second straight season (which he broke again in '85) by making 24 of 30 attempts for 80.0 percent . . . Only misses were from 52, 51, 48, 47, 43 and 42 yards out . . . Set a personal best with 116 points, the third-best mark in Chiefs history behind two Stenerud seasons . . . His 116 points ranked second in the AFC and sixth in the NFL . . . Boomed his first 58-yarder at Washington, the team record and third-longest in NFL annals at that time . . . Later that year, he kicked a 54-yarder vs. the Raiders. 1982: His statistics from the nine-game season almost seemed to reflect a normal 16-game schedule . . . Broke the Chiefs field goal accuracy record for the first time by converting 19 of 24 attempts for 79.2 percent, bettering Stenerud's '69 mark of 77.1 percent . . . His 19 field goals were tops in the AFC for the second straight year and second in the NFL next to Moseley's 20 . . . His 74 points were second in the conference and third in the NFL . . . Made 19 of 21 attempts inside the 50-yard line and was perfect inside the 40-yard line . . . Earned second team AFC honors from UPI. 1981: Capped a brilliant 1981 season by being voted as the placekicker for the AFC Pro Bowl team . . . Proceeded to win the Pro Bowl Game by kicking a 23-yard field goal with three seconds remaining . . . Connected on 26 of 36 attempts that year, including 25 of 29 inside midfield, and scored 115 points . . . The 26 field goals were the most in the AFC and the 115 points tied him with Jim Breech for most in the conference . . . Selected to the All-NFL team by NEA and to the UPI All-AFC first team. 1980: After beating out Stenerud, he quickly rebutted the skeptics with superb kicking . . . In the second game of the season vs. Seattle, he boomed a 57-yard field goal, which broke the club record at that time of 55 yards set by Stenerud in '70 . . . Made good on 20 of 26 field goal attempts that year including 16 of 19 inside midfield . . . His four kicks of 50 yards or more tied for second in NFL history, one behind the all-time record set by Denver's Fred Steinfort that year . . . Finished his rookie campaign with 97 points. Pre-Chiefs: Before winning a spot with the Chiefs, he had tried unsuccessfully with eight other NFL teams . . . After not being drafted out of Dartmouth, he had a tryout with the N.Y. Jets in '78, but was cut during training camp . . . Then signed with New England during mid-season and appeared in two games, connecting on all seven PAT's and missing his only field goal attempt before being released . . . Failed in tryouts with Cincinnati, Washington, Baltimore, New Orleans, Tampa Bay and San Diego in '79.

College/Personal: Spent his entire collegiate career at Dartmouth . . . Has worked parts of five summers in Washington, D.C., as an assistant in different legislative areas of the U.S. Government . . . Pro Career: Is one of just two offensive linemen to remain in the team's starting lineup the past four years . . . The starter since his first pro game, he has anchored the right side of the Chiefs line at tackle while the guard position has undergone changes . . . Has played in 48 games and started 46, including every game in '83 and '85. 1986: Missed seven games at mid-season after sustaining a strained right knee vs. the Raiders the fourth week . . . It was the second injury of his career . . . Came back vs. Buffalo at Arrowhead and started the final three games . . . Played in nine games and started eight . . . He and Brad Budde were the only returning starters on the offensive line. 1985: Played more downs than any other offensive lineman while starting all 16 games at right tackle . . . His only missed action was the final three quarters of a Week 5 game at L.A. vs. the Raiders due to a bruised calf . . . Was one of just three offensive players for the Chiefs to start every game in '85 . . . Was a stabilizing force in a line that saw the same group never start more than three games in a row due to various injured players. 1984: Missed the first half of the season after suffering ligament damage in his right knee in the season opener at Pittsburgh . . . Underwent arthroscopic surgery and spent nine weeks on the injured reserve list . . . Returned to action Week 11 vs. Houston, then started the final five games . . . Season totals were seven games played and six starts . . . Selected by his teammates as the Chiefs nominee for the Ed Block Memorial Courage Award for '84 in recognition of personal courage exemplified in pursuit of professional excellence on the football field. 1983: Stepped into the starting lineup at right tackle during the preseason and went on to become Kansas City's only offensive lineman to start all 16 games that year . . . Was chosen by his veteran teammates as the 1983 winner of the Mack Lee Hill Award, an annual award given to the Chiefs outstanding rookie . . . Also was named to the 1983 NFL All-Rookie Team by Football Digest . . . Became the first Chiefs rookie to start the season-opening game since DE Art Still and Sylvester Hicks in '78 . . . Beat out 10-year veteran Charlie Getty, who was traded to the Green Bay Packers, for the right tackle job.

College/Personal: Was a four-year starter at Georgia Tech in a pro-style offense . . . Started 44 consecutive games after being redshirted in '78 and didn't miss an offensive snap his final two seasons . . . Earned honorable mention All-America recognition from AP as a senior and from the Sporting News his final two years . . . Attended Bowman H.S. in Peachland, N.C., where he lettered three years in football and one year in wrestling . . . Majored in Industrial Management . . . Interests include fishing, hunting and camping . . . Full name: David Graham Lutz . . . Married, wife Marsha, daughter Summer born this past off-season.

BILL MAAS • 63*Nose Tackle Ht: 6-5 Wt: 268*How Acquired: Draft (No. 1 - 1984)College: PittsburghNFL Experience: 4Birthdate: March 2, 1962Birthplace: Philadelphia, PennsylvaniaResidence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Pro Career: Has distinguished himself as the AFC's best nose tackle in just three seasons, capping his third pro campaign as the conference's starter at that position in the Pro Bowl . . . Using a relentless style that attracts consistent double-team efforts, he is the key man in the middle of the Chiefs talented defensive line that boasts four No. 1 draft choices . . . Stepped in immediately as the starting nose tackle after being the team's No. 1 draft pick in '84, the first defensive lineman taken that year and fifth player overall . . . Has started all 46 games that he's played in three years, including the last 29 straight (missed two games in rookie year) . . . Has totaled 181 tackles (130 solos) and 19 sacks. 1986: Earned his first Pro Bowl berth with a spectacular season in which he ranked third or better in nearly every category on the Chiefs dominating defense . . . Recorded seven sacks (tied career high, second on team), two fumble recoveries (tied for team lead), two forced fumbles (second on team), two pass deflections (third on team) and 53 tackles (40 solos) . . . Also played a major role on KC's record-breaking special teams, blocking two field goals . . . First was in a 24-23 win at San Diego and his second was in the finale at Pittsburgh, which was returned for the winning touchdown that boosted the Chiefs into the playoffs . . . Ability to dominate a game was especially noticeable vs. Houston, when he made two sacks, recovered a fumble to set up field goal and forced another fumble in 27-13 win over Oilers; also in 27-7 triumph over Seattle when he caused so many problems that the Seahawks changed centers at halftime . . . Started all 16 games for the second straight year . . . Also had six tackles and one sack in the playoff game vs. the Jets . . . In addition to Pro Bowl honors, he was named to the All-NFL First Team by Pro Football Weekly and to the All-Pro Second Team by AP. 1985: Started at two different positions, the first 11 games at nose tackle and the final five contests at left end . . . Was the team's top sacker, dumping opposing quarterbacks seven times . . . Recorded 74 total tackles (fifth-most on team and most among defensive linemen), including 61 solo stops (fourth), 16 QB pressures (second), one pass deflection and one fumble recovery . . . Earned honorable mention All-NFL honors from AP . . . Notched season-high eight tackles in three games, although several other games stood out . . . At San Diego, he tied a personal best by making three sacks in a seven-tackle effort the sixth week . . . In a Thursday night national TV win over the Raiders the second week, he netted two sacks and the second hit forced a Jim Plunkett fumble that was recovered on the L.A. six-yard line, setting up a Chiefs touchdown. 1984: Had major impact on the Chiefs improved defense as one of the NFL's top rookies in '84 . . . Stepped in as the starting nose tackle from day one and was a big reason why the Chiefs mounted the best pass rush in franchise history (50 sacks) . . . Was named the NFL Defensive Rookie by the Year by AP despite being limited the second half of the season by a leg injury (fractured fibula) suffered the seventh week . . . Came back quickly, missing just two complete games, but was in and out of the lineup the remainder of the season whenever the leg got hit . . . Finished with five sacks (third on team), and 43 total tackles (29 unassisted) . . . Made his NFL debut at Pittsburgh, the town where he gained collegiate fame, and played opposite All-Pro center Mike Webster . . . Made his first NFL sack in that game . . . Best game as a rookie came in a Week 5 victory over Cleveland, when he posted three sacks (leading to team-record 11 sacks, second-best in NFL history) . . . Started all 14 games in which he played . . . Was named to NFL All-Rookie teams by UPI, Pro Football Writers, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest.

College/Personal: An All-America performer at Pitt, where he totaled 203 tackles and 22½ sacks, plus an additional 28 tackles for losses in his career . . . Played in 36 consecutive games for Pitt after earning the starting berth at right defensive tackle in 1981 as a sophomore . . . Gained honorable mention All-America honors from AP and UPI and first team All-East honors from AP as a senior . . . Named to the first team All-America squad by The Sporting News as a junior . . . Played in four bowl games as a collegian: Gator Bowl in '80, Sugar Bowl in '81, Cotton Bowl in '82 and Fiesta Bowl in '83 . . . Attended Marple Newtown H.S. in Newton Square, Pa., where he was an All-State football player . . . Also was All-State in baseball and lettered in wrestling . . . Earned degree in administrative justice . . . Leisure activities include skiing and socializing . . . Full name: William Thomas Maas . . . Single.

HENRY MARSHALL • 89

Wide Receiver Ht: 6-2 Wt: 216

How Acquired: Draft (No. 3d - 1976)

College: Missouri

NFL Experience: 12

Birthdate: August 9, 1954

Birthplace: Broxton, Georgia

Residence: Kansas City, Missouri

Pro Career: Enters his 12th NFL season just five pass receptions away from becoming the No. 1 receiver in Chiefs history . . . Has collected 406 catches in his fabulous career, just four shy of Otis Taylor's record 410 receptions . . . Also ranks second in career receiving yardage with 6,419 yards, behind Taylor's record 7,306 yards . . . Has been a starting wide receiver since entering the league as a third round draft choice by Chiefs in 1976 and is now the team's elder statesman . . . Has played in 153 Chiefs games (of a possible 165) and has started 134, more in both categories than any other player on the current roster . . . His 11 years of NFL experience is most on the squad, ties Taylor for most among wide receivers in team history and only 12 players have enjoyed longer tenures in Kansas City . . . Durability has been amazing, missing games in just three seasons with a most of five misses in '85 . . . A model of consistency, he has compiled at least 20 receptions and 300 receiving yards each season and now has five years of 40 or more catches and 10 years of 400 yards or more . . . Season highs were 62 receptions and 912 yards in 1984 and six touchdowns in '80 and '83 . . . Has led the team in receptions three years ('80, '82, '84) and in receiving yardage twice ('80 and '82) . . . Has averaged 2.7 catches and 42.0 yards per game in his career . . . Has registered eight games of 100 or more receiving yards, which ranks third in team history behind Taylor (21) and Carlos Carson (13) . . . Has caught at least one pass in 129 games . . . Has scored 33 receiving touchdowns and two rushing for a total of 35, fifth-most in team annals . . . Has carried the ball on the reverse 24 career times for 257 yards, but none since '82.

1986: Began the season in a non-starting role for the first time of his career, but he ended up starting nine contests and ranking second on the team with 46 receptions for 652 yards and one touchdown . . . Was the Chiefs top receiver the second half of the campaign, making 43 catches for 619 yards in the final 10 games . . . Caught four or more passes in eight straight games until the finale and had over 50 yards in seven straight games during that same period . . . Had just three catches for 33 yards in the first six outings, including none in the first three games . . . Enjoyed best games on consecutive Sundays, 5-91 vs. Tampa Bay and 7-90 vs. San Diego, both Chiefs win . . . Led all receivers in the Wild Card Game with six catches for 72 yards, the first playoff appearance of his pro career.

1985: Because of a separated shoulder that caused him to miss five games, he compiled his lowest season totals since 1979 . . . Made 25 receptions for 446 yards and didn't catch a touchdown pass for the first season in his career . . . Led the team in receptions the first half of the season until sustaining his injury Week 9 at Houston . . . Missed the next five games and returned for the final two . . . Most of his catches came in a four-game stretch (Weeks 3-6), when he caught 18 passes for 293 yards . . . Season bests were 90 yards vs. the Raiders and six catches at San Diego . . . Caught at least one pass in each game he played until the season finale, which broke a 20-game catch streak . . . Played in 11 games and started the first nine.

1984: Put together the best season of his career by leading the team with a career-high 62 receptions and notching a career-high 912 yards, second to Carson's 1,078 . . . His 62 catches tied for the fifth-best single-season total in Chiefs history and ranked 14th in the AFC, while his 912 yards were the seventh-best ever and ranked 11th in the conference . . . Started all 16 games and caught four or more passes in 10 games and at least one pass in all but one contest (vs. N.Y. Jets) . . . Had two games with over 100 receiving yards: 8-148 the fourth week at Denver, the second-best figures of his career until topping it with 8-166 the 15th week vs. Seattle . . . The latter marked the best receiving game of '85 for the Chiefs . . . Was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week by the league office for that performance.

1983: This marked his first season in a pass-oriented offense and he responded with 50 catches (best of career at the time) for 788 yards (second-best at time) and six touchdowns (tied best), despite missing three games . . . Missed one game with a broken nose and the final two contests with a broken arm . . . Had two 100-yard receiving games, 8-115 vs. Dallas 7-131 vs. the N.Y. Giants . . . Caught at least one pass in all but one game (at Miami) and that snapped a 22-game catch streak . . . Started nine of the 13 games he played that year. 1982: Was on a record-setting pace in '82, but the shortened season hindered him from setting personal highs . . . Made 40 receptions for 549 yards in just nine games, an average of 4.4 catches and 61.0 yards per outing . . . Caught at least three passes in every game and ranked seventh in the AFC and 10th in the NFL with his 40 receptions . . . Yardage high was 98 yards on five catches vs. Pittsburgh. 1981: Missed the final four games with a sprained knee, but still managed to latch onto 38 passes for 620 yards in 12 games . . . Top outing was a six-catch, 110-yard effort vs. the Raiders. 1980: Came into his own in this, his fifth season, catching 47 passes for 799 yards and six touchdowns . . . Gained over 100 yards in three contests, including a career-best nine catches for 176 yards in the season finale vs. the Colts . . . The 176 yards still rank as the sixth-most receiving yardage in a single game in Chiefs history and he also snatched a career-long 75-yard pass in that game. 1976-79: Stepped in as a starter immediately as a rookie and posted similar stats in each of his first four seasons, catching between 20-30 passes each year . . . Was the Chiefs fourth pick of the third round in the 1976 draft on a choice obtained from Houston in a deal involving Curly Culp.

College/Personal: Capped his collegiate career at Missouri with a superb senior season, catching 44 passes for 945 yards and nine touchdowns . . . Year was highlighted by his Big Eight record 207-yard receiving performance vs. Oklahoma State . . . A tremendous athlete, he played varsity baseball and basketball as a freshman at Hillcrest H.S. in Dalzell, S.C. . . . Football career didn't begin until he was a junior in high school . . . Became an immediate blue-chipper in football, plus he hit .450 in baseball, long-jumped 24-10½ and ran a 46.0 quarter on a relay team . . . Majored in economics . . . Full name: Henry H. Marshall . . . Single.

KEN McALISTER • 94
Linebacker Ht: 6-5 Wt: 230

How Acquired: Free Agent (1984)
College: San Francisco
NFL Experience: 5 (3rd with Chiefs)
Birthdate: April 15, 1960
Birthplace: Oakland, California
Residence: Kansas City, Missouri

Pro Career: Is trying to come back from major knee surgery for the second time in his NFL career . . . A converted defensive back, he showed flashes of greatness at linebacker in his first year with the Chiefs in '84, but has spent all but three games the past two seasons on injured reserve . . . Missed all of '85 after surgery on his left knee and the final 13 games last year after surgery on his right knee . . . Also had arthroscopic surgery on his left knee in the '84 preseason . . . Has been the team's best pass coverage linebacker when healthy . . . Spent his first two NFL seasons with the Seattle Seahawks and San Francisco 49ers as a defensive back before joining the Chiefs as a free agent in '84. 1986: Regained his starting outside linebacker job after spending a year of rehabilitation, but lasted just over two games . . . Tore ligaments in his right knee in the second quarter vs. Houston . . . Made 13 tackles, one sack and two pass deflections in his three games before the injury. 1985: Went down in the first preseason game of '85 at Cincinnati with torn left knee ligaments and missed the entire season. 1984: After signing with the Chiefs in January of '84, he put on some 20 pounds of body weight and became the starting left outside linebacker despite missing the entire preseason due to his training camp knee injury . . . Missed the season opener and played only in spot situations the next three weeks before making his first NFL start the fifth week vs. Cleveland . . . Stole the show in that debut, compiling a career-high 14 total tackles, 2½ sacks (first of his career and helped Chiefs to team-record 11 sacks) and making his first NFL interception . . . Named the NFL Defensive Player of the Week by Sports Illustrated and Pro Football Weekly for his performance in that 10-6 Chiefs victory . . . Went on to record 72 tackles (48 solos), four sacks, two interceptions, five pass deflections and two forced fumbles during the season . . . Started nine games and played in 15. Pre-Chiefs: Began his NFL career with Seattle as a free agent in '82 and played in all nine games as a reserve safety and kicking teams player his rookie year . . . Remained with the Seahawks through the first two games in '83 before being placed on waivers . . . Signed with the 49ers in November that year and played in the final four regular season contests . . . Was waived prior to San Francisco's first-round playoff game.

College/Personal: Didn't play collegiate football, but was a four-year letterman in basketball at the University of San Francisco . . . Averaged 8.5 points, 3.2 rebounds and 2.5 assists per game as a guard and helped USF to the NCAA playoffs all four years . . . Attended Oakland (Calif.) H.S., where he was a football All-America . . . Earned a degree in sociology . . . Interests include horseback riding, camping and traveling . . . Full name: Ken H. McAlister . . . Married, wife Joanna.

LARRY MORIARTY • 32
Running Back Ht: 6-1 Wt: 237

How Acquired: Trade (Houston - 1986)
College: Notre Dame
NFL Experience: 5 (2nd with Chiefs)
Birthdate: April 24, 1958
Birthplace: San Luis Obispo, California
Residence: Santa Barbara, California

Pro Career: A power fullback who begins his first full season in Kansas City after being acquired from Houston on the NFL's trading deadline last year . . . Is battling for the starting job after playing primarily in a backup role during his half-season in '86 . . . Had been the Oilers starting fullback for most of his three-plus seasons in Houston . . . In 50 career games with the Oilers, he gained 1,624 rushing yards on 415 carries (3.9/att.) for 13 touchdowns and had caught 54 passes for 366 yards for one TD . . . Started 32 of those games . . . Has three games over 100 rushing yards, all in '84, his best pro season. 1986: Gained 115 yards in 10 games with the Chiefs and 137 in five games with the Oilers for a total of 252 yards . . . Came to KC on Oct. 14 in exchange for a future draft choice and played behind Mike Pruitt most of the season . . . In the two games where he saw extensive action, he led the team in rushing both times, 43 yards on 11 carries vs. Seattle and 47 yards on 10 carries in his only start vs. Denver, both Chiefs wins . . . Carried the ball no more than three times in any of the other games . . . Also caught seven passes for 51 yards with the Chiefs and two for 16 at Houston . . . Returned four kickoffs for 80 yards for the Chiefs . . . Began the season as the Oilers starting fullback, but a separated shoulder vs. the Chiefs the third week took him out of the lineup for most of two weeks. 1985: Finished third among Oiler RB's with 381 yards on 106 carries and three touchdowns while playing in 15 games and starting 12 . . . Also ranked second among backs on the receiving list with 17 receptions for 112 yards . . . Top rushing game was 51 yards on 13 carries vs. Dallas . . . Recorded a pair of eight-catch receiving days, both vs. the Steelers . . . Picked up 46 yards, including a season-long 18-yarder, in a November win over the Chiefs. 1984: Emerged as the Oilers leading rusher after they traded Earl Campbell on Oct. 9 . . . Compiled 785 yards on 189 carries and six touchdowns, ranking eighth in the AFC in yardage . . . Led all Houston backs with 31 pass receptions for 206 yards . . . All of his rushing and receiving stats are career single-season bests . . . STEPHONE PAIGE • 83

Wide Receiver Ht: 6-2 Wt: 185

How Acquired: Free Agent (1983)
College: Fresno State
NFL Experience: 5
Birthdate: October 15, 1961
Birthplace: Slidell, Louisiana
Residence: Fresno, California

Pro Career: Has become one of the NFL's brightest young offensive stars as a hard-working wide receiver who continually marvels crowds with spectacular catches . . . His amazing story began in 1983 when he made the Chiefs squad as a rookie free agent . . . At the end of his third year — his first three seasons were spent as a productive third-down receiver — he exploded for an NFL record-breaking 309-yard receiving performance vs. San Diego in the '85 finale . . . Went on to earn a starting spot in '86 and is now the catalyst of the team's talented receiving crew . . . His 21 touchdown receptions the past two years are more than any other player in the NFL . . . In just four seasons, he already ranks sixth on the Chiefs all-time receiving yardage charts with 2,841 yards and he's 11th in career receptions with 155 . . . His 155 catches are more than any other wide receiver who entered the league in 1983 and his 2,841 yards are second only to Chicago's Willie Gault (2,945) . . . Has caught 31 TD passes and has compiled an 18.3-yard per catch average . . . Has six double-TD games . . . Has played in all 64 games since joining the Chiefs and started 24 . . . Enters the '87 campaign with a streak of 22 consecutive games with a reception, dating back to '85. 1986: Was his first year as a fulltime starter and he finished as the team's leading receiver with a career-most 52 receptions for 829 yards and a career-high 11 touchdowns . . . His 11 TD catches tied Otis Taylor for second-most in Chiefs history, one shy of Chris Burford's record 12 in '62 . . . Tied Mark Duper for third in NFL touchdown receptions behind Jerry Rice (15) and Wesley Walker (12) . . . Caught at least one TD pass in eight of the final 11 games, including two double-TD games (San Diego and St. Louis) . . . Caught a career-most nine passes vs. Buffalo and recorded the team's only 100-yard receiving performance of the season with 119 yards . . . That was the second time over the century mark in his career, next to his record 309-yard day . . . His other top game was five catches for 93 yards in the opener vs. Cincinnati . . . Longest catch was a 51-yarder at Buffalo. 1985: Put his name with some legends by recording the best receiving day in NFL history in the season finale, an amazing 309 yards on eight receptions . . . The old record of 303 yards had been set by Jim Benton of the Cleveland Rams in 1945 . . . Surpassed the Chiefs record of 213 yards (Curtis McClinton in 1965) in the second quarter and had 258 yards by halftime . . . Had first-half catches of 56 (TD), 51, 30, 17, 84 (TD) and 20 and second-half catches of 39 and the record-breaking 12-yarder . . . His 84-yard TD catch was his career long and tied for sixth-longest in Chiefs history . . . Thanks to his season-ending record total, he finished the year as the Chiefs leader in receiving yardage with 943 (ninth in AFC and 15th in NFL) and second in receptions with 43 (next to Carlos Carson's 47) . . . His 21.9-yard average per catch ranked first in the NFL among qualifying receivers . . . His 10 touchdown receptions were third-most in Chiefs history . . . Started eight games when injuries sidelined either Carson or Marshall. 1984: Matched his rookie season total of 30 receptions and upped his receiving yardage to 541 . . . Top yardage game again came in the season finale vs. San Diego, 84 yards on just two catches, one being a 65-yard TD reception that ranked as the team's longest of the year . . . Caught at least one pass in all but one game and that was at Denver when he caught two passes in the end zone that were ruled out of bounds . . . Made his first NFL start in a Week 14 win over Denver when the Chiefs opened offensively in a three wide receiver set . . . Also served as the primary kickoff return man in '84, compiling a 20.1 average on a team-high 27 returns. 1983: Posted one of the top rookie performances in the NFL in '83 . . . Saw limited action early in the season but came on strong in the second half and finished with 30 receptions for 528 yards, a team-leading 17.6 average, and six touchdowns . . . Only two other rookie wide receivers in the NFL caught more passes than Paige's 30 that year — Gault and Detroit's Jeff Chadwick, both with 40 . . . The 30 catches were the most by a Chiefs rookie WR since Burford's 46 in 1960 . . . First NFL reception came the fifth game vs. St. Louis, then he quickly came into his own . . . Finished the season strongly, making 17 receptions for 326 yards and five touchdowns in the final five games . . . Top game was at San Diego, when he caught five passes for 84 yards and two TDs . . . Caught at least one pass in each of the final 12 games.

College/Personal: Despite a productive two-year collegiate career at Fresno State, he was overshadowed by WR Henry Ellard, who was drafted in the second round in '83 by the L.A. Rams . . . Transferred from Saddleback (Calif.) Junior College, where he spent his first two years . . . Attended Long Beach Poly H.S. in Calif., where he played football, basketball and baseball . . . Majored in Radio-TV . . . Enjoys reading and working in the yard . . . Full name: Stephone Paige . . . Married, wife Paula, two children, Stephone II and E'Lon.

How Acquired: Draft (No. 2 - 1984)
College: Penn State
NFL Experience: 4
Birthdate: June 14, 1962
Birthplace: Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania
Residence: Lee's Summit, Missouri

Pro Career: Has been a starter at inside linebacker for most of the last two seasons . . . Started in 29 consecutive games in '85 and '86 before playing in a reserve role the final three games last year . . . Has played in all 48 games since being drafted by the Chiefs in the second round of the '84 draft out of Penn State, a school tradition-rich at linebacker . . . Has recorded 194 tackles (120 unassisted), including four sacks, in his three seasons . . . Also has made four interceptions, more than any other Chiefs linebacker during those three years, and recovered two fumbles. 1986: Started the first 13 games at RILB before playing behind Gary Spani in the final three contests . . . Totaled 57 tackles (32 solos), one sack, one interception and one fumble recovery . . . In a 27-20 win over Tampa Bay, he recovered a fumble to stop a Tampa Bay drive at the KC-7 and recorded his only sack of the year . . . Made his interception that set up a Chiefs field goal vs. Denver in his first non-starting assignment after 29 straight starts . . . Season high in tackles was seven vs. San Diego. 1985: Compiled the best totals among Chiefs linebackers in his first year as a starter . . . Was the third-leading tackler on the team, tying Gary Spani, with a total of 88 . . . His 58 solo stops were fifth on the squad and most among linebackers . . . Topped team LB's with three sacks, all coming in the final four games . . . Was the only Chiefs linebacker to intercept a pass, aiding in win over Indianapolis . . . Led the team in tackles in three games, including a career-high 13 vs. Pittsburgh . . . Made the first fumble recovery of his career at San Francisco . . . Started all 16 games. 1984: Contributed from the beginning of his rookie season and finished with 49 tackles (30 solos) and two interceptions . . . Played in all 16 games and started two contests when Spani was injured . . . Made first NFL start the second week at Cincinnati and his second start came Week 15 vs. Seattle, both Chiefs wins . . . Compiled a season-high nine tackles in both of those games . . . In addition to being the team's leading tackler in the Seattle game, he also scored his first NFL touchdown by picking off a Dave Krieg pass and returning it 19 yards, which sparked the Chiefs to a 34-7 victory . . . First career theft came Week 4 at Denver, when he tipped a John Elway pass, then grabbed it and raced 35 yards.

College/Personal: Led Penn State in tackles as a junior and senior, gaining consecutive All-America votes . . . Career totals included 183 tackles, three sacks, six interceptions and four fumble recoveries . . . Joined teammate Todd Blackledge on the COSIDA Academic All-America first team . . . Attended Brentwood H.S. in Pittsburgh, where he starred in football, basketball and track . . . Was MVP of basketball team and placed in three events in state track and field championships . . . How Acquired: Draft (No. 4 - 1984)
College: Penn State
NFL Experience: 4
Birthdate: September 13, 1962
Birthplace: Washington, D.C.
Residence: Overland Park, Kansas

Pro Career: A valuable member of the team's respected secondary who is a vital cog in most pass-defense schemes . . . Despite playing in a non-starting role for most of his first three NFL seasons, he has proven himself as one of the Chiefs' hardest hitting players . . . Has played in 36 games and started four, recording one interception and 77 tackles (60 solos). 1986: Put together some career-best totals despite missing seven games at mid-season due to a severely bruised thigh . . . Notched 43 tackles (30 solos), more than his first two seasons combined . . . Ranked third on the team with 39 tackles at the time of his injury (sixth game) and had started three of the previous four games at strong safety in place of the injured Lloyd Burruss . . . Posted a career-most 12 tackles (eight solos) vs. the Raiders . . . Excelled on KC's record-breaking special teams, blocking a punt in the opening win vs. Cincinnati on the first series of the game . . . Totaled 17 special teams tackles, fourth on the squad. 1985: Played in the final 11 games after missing the first five because of a sprained ankle he sustained during the preseason . . . Started the first game of his NFL career in his first game back from the injury, replacing the injured Burruss vs. San Diego . . . Responded with nine tackles (career-best at the time), shared a sack and had two QB pressures . . . Totaled 25 tackles (18 solos) for the season and his two sacks tied Burruss for the team lead among defensive backs . . . Made his first NFL interception in the season finale vs. San Diego . . . Picked off a Mark Herrmann pass late in the first half and returned it 20 yards to the Charger 26-yard line, setting up what turned out to be the winning touchdown in a 38-34 Chiefs victory . . . Recovered a fumble at Seattle. 1984: Played in all 16 games, seeing more and more action as his rookie season progressed . . . Registered 16 tackles, including 12 unassisted . . . Eight of those came in the final three games, all Chiefs victories . . . Was the second-leading tackler on kicking teams with 22 . . . Was drafted by the Chiefs in the fourth round of '84.

College/Personal: Was a first team All-America defensive back at Penn State as a junior, but a broken ankle midway through his senior year ended his season, enabling the Chiefs to draft him in the fourth round . . . Finished four-year career with nine interceptions and 180 total tackles . . . Made two interceptions, three pass deflections and nine tackles in Penn State's national championship victory over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl as a junior . . . Joined current teammates Todd Blackledge and Scott Radevic on that team . . . Led John F. Kennedy H.S. to the state championship as a junior as an offensive and defensive back . . . Earned a finance degree at Penn State and is now working on his MBA at Rockhurst College in Kansas City . . . Works with inner city high school students through the Chiefs Academic Corps . . . Interests include golf, fishing, tennis, basketball and reading . . . Full name: Mark Leon Robinson . . . Married, wife Melinda.

KEVIN ROSS • 31
Cornerback Ht: 5-9 Wt: 182

How Acquired: Draft (No. 7 - 1984)
College: Temple
NFL Experience: 3
Birthdate: January 16, 1962
Birthplace: Camden, New Jersey
Residence: Mickleton, New Jersey

Pro Career: Has been the Chiefs' starting right cornerback since his first NFL game, despite arriving as a seventh-round draft choice in '84 . . . Has been an extremely productive player in his three seasons, both on defense and special teams . . . Has made 13 interceptions and 302 tackles (234 unassisted), an average of over four thefts and 100 tackles per year . . . Only Deron Cherry has made more tackles in those three seasons (370) and only Cherry (23) and Albert Lewis (16) have made more interceptions . . . Also has recovered five fumbles, tying Art Still for most on the team during that span . . . Has scored two touchdowns, one on an interception return and another on a fumble return during a kickoff . . . Has 36 special teams tackles . . . Has played in all 48 pro games and has started all but one, which came after missing an entire week's practice due to a family death . . . His ferocious hits have become a trademark — possibly the hardest hitter for his size in the league — and although just 5-9, he owns the speed that makes him a solid cover man. 1986: Produced another all-around performance that included four interceptions, a team-leading three fumble recoveries and 93 tackles . . . His special teams contributions included a deflected punt, tackling a punter before the kick, returning a fumbled kickoff return 21 yards for a touchdown in a 42-41 win vs. San Diego and 16 specialty tackles . . . Tied a career best by making two interceptions Week 15 at L.A. in a key 20-17 win over the Raiders, including the game-clincher in the final two minutes . . . His other thefts came at Cleveland and vs. Seattle and his other fumble recoveries were in consecutive weeks against St. Louis and Buffalo . . . His 93 tackles led NFL cornerbacks, ranked fourth on the team and his 76 solo stops were second on the squad . . . Led Chiefs defensive backs with two sacks . . . Posted a career-best 12 tackles at Seattle and had 11 in finale at Pittsburgh . . . Started all 16 games and the playoff contest. 1985: All three of his '85 interceptions came in the first three games, including the first double-theft effort of his pro career in a season-opening romp at New Orleans . . . Finished second to Cherry in tackles with a career-most 111 total stops, including 81 unassisted . . . Had at least three tackles in every game and recorded three games of 10-or-more stops . . . Recovered a fumble in a Thursday night national TV victory over the Raiders . . . Played in all 16 games and started 15. 1984: Put together one of the most incredible rookie success stories in franchise history . . . Showed his competitive nature from the start of training camp and earned the starting RCB job by the regular season opener . . . Went on to make six interceptions and 98 tackles . . . Had a rocky beginning, having several long plays made against him by Pittsburgh wide receivers in the opener . . . Proved his determination a week later by turning in a sterling performance at Cincinnati, making 10 tackles, forcing a fumble to set up a field goal and recovering a fumble deep in KC territory in the final minute to preserve a 27-22 Chiefs win . . . From then on, he was a key performer on the vastly-improved defense and was voted winner of the Mack Lee Hill Award . . . His six interceptions tied him for third in Chiefs history for thefts by a rookie (Bobby Hunt, eight in '62, Eric Harris, seven in '80 and David Webster, six in '60) . . . Ranked second to Cherry (7) for the team lead and tied for fifth in the AFC and 11th in the NFL . . . Returned his first NFL interception 71 yards for a touchdown in the home opener against the Raiders . . . His 98 total tackles were the most by a Chiefs rookie since Gary Spani (144) and Art Still (120) in 1978 . . . Of his 98 tackles, which ranked fourth on the team, 77 were unassisted . . . Had two 10-tackle games . . . Started all 16 games.

College/Personal: At Temple, he recorded 13 career interceptions and 249 tackles in four years . . . Picked off three passes as a senior and a career-most five (in seven games) as a junior . . . Attended Paulsboro H.S. in New Jersey, earning All-State honors as a linebacker and running back . . . Led Paulsboro to the state championship as a senior . . . Also competed in basketball and wrestling . . . Business major . . . Enjoys traveling and meeting people . . . Full name: Kevin Lesley Ross . . . Married, wife Sheila, three-year-old daughter Celia.

FRANK SEURER • 10
Quarterback Ht: 6-1 Wt: 195

How Acquired: Free Agent (1986)
College: Kansas
NFL Experience: 2
Birthdate: August 16, 1962
Birthplace: Huntington Beach, California
Residence: Blue Springs, Missouri

Pro Career: Has been given an equal chance to battle Bill Kenney and Todd Blackledge for the team's starting quarterback job in 1987 . . . Injuries sustained in a May 17 automobile accident, however, may jeopardize those chances to lead the Kansas City offense, at least during the early portion of the season . . . Underwent surgery to repair severe ligament damage to his left ankle and he also dislocated his right hip . . . Served as the third-team quarterback during his rookie '86 campaign, but didn't take one snap the entire regular season . . . Made his NFL debut as a wide receiver vs. Buffalo in several third-down passing situations because the Chiefs were down to three wideouts on the roster . . . Also practiced at defensive back throughout the year and could have seen action at that position if necessary . . . Persuaded the Chiefs to keep three QB's on the 45-man roster with a superb preseason showing . . . Moved the offense well in three preseason games, completing nine of 20 passes for 107 yards and scrambling five times for 82 yards . . . That included the team's longest runs in each of the first two outings, a 32-yard sprint in the preseason opener and a 35-yard jaunt in the second game . . . Displayed a strong arm in addition to his tremendous mobility in his brief action . . . Joined the Chiefs as a free agent in April of '86 . . . First NFL tryout was with Seattle in 1985, but he was released before the regular season as the Seahawks elected to keep just two quarterbacks (Dave Krieg and Gale Gilbert) . . . Played in one preseason game for Seattle, completing 10 of 19 passes for 112 yards in one half of action . . . Spent the 1984 and 1985 spring seasons in the USFL with the Los Angeles Express, splitting duties with Steve Young . . . Pro Career: Has been the most productive all-purpose offensive player for the Chiefs during his first two seasons . . . Combining rushing, receiving and kick returning, he has rolled up 2,199 yards, more than any other player . . . The breakdown includes 356 rushing yards on 84 carries, 51 receptions for 387 yards, 62 kickoff returns for 2,199 yards and 29 punt returns for 245 yards . . . Has scored eight touchdowns (three rushing, five receiving) . . . His 2,199 all-purpose yards average 78.5 per game played, including eight times over 100 yards . . . Has compiled the best average per carry among Chiefs running backs during his two years and has caught more passes than any KC back . . . His 62 kickoff returns already rank fourth in Chiefs history and his 1,211 KOR yards are sixth-most in team annals. 1986: Compiled a team-high 1,270 all-purpose yards despite seeing limited action in four games due to injuries . . . Produced over 100 all-purpose yards in six games with a high of 140 in a 42-41 win over San Diego . . . Scored six touchdowns (three rushing, three receiving) to rank second to Stephone Paige on the team . . . As a rusher, he led Chiefs RBs with a 4.4-yard average per carry, doubling his rookie season totals with 238 yards (fourth on team) on 54 totes . . . Led the team in rushing twice, 10-41 vs. San Diego and 3-42 vs. Tampa Bay, both Chiefs wins . . . In Bucs game, he raced 32 yards for the game-winning touchdown (first carry in three games), his longest career run and the team's longest TD run of '86 . . . As a receiver, he led Chiefs RBs and ranked third on the team with 33 receptions and was fourth in yards with 230 . . . Set his career high with six receptions (29 yards) in first meeting vs. Denver and had yardage best of 51 in first Raiders game . . . As the team's primary return specialist, he ranked eighth in AFC punt returning with an 8.4-yard average on 29 runbacks and he compiled a 19.2 kickoff return average on 29 attempts . . . Best KOR days were 4-88 at Cleveland, including a season-long 29-yarder and 5-99 at Seattle . . . Top PR day was 2-60 vs. San Diego, including career-long 48-yarder that set up a touchdown . . . In the Wild Card playoff game, he scored the Chiefs only offensive touchdown on a one-yard dive and totaled a team-most 79 all-purpose yards . . . Played in 15 games. 1985: Voted by his teammates as winner of the Mack Lee Hill Award after posting 929 all-purpose yards in 13 games . . . The team's primary kickoff return man as a rookie, he was also assuming an integral role in the offense until a severely sprained ankle sidelined him for the final three games of the season . . . Still finished third in team history with 33 kickoff returns and seventh in KOR yards . . . As a running back, his main contributions began Week 10 vs. Pittsburgh when he scored two touchdowns on pass receptions, finishing with five catches for a career-high 82 yards . . . That included a dazzling 45-yard TD romp, the longest reception by a Chiefs running back in '85 . . . Again caught five passes for 21 yards the next week at San Francisco and had a season-long 25-yard run . . . Best rushing day came the following Sunday, when starter Herman Heard was injured in the second quarter and Smith gained 55 yards on 17 carries in a victory over Indianapolis . . . Made his first NFL start the next week at Seattle, but suffered his ankle injury in the second quarter, ending his season . . . Year totals on offense were 118 rushing yards on 30 carries and 18 receptions for 157 yards . . . Averaged 19.8 yards per kick return, topped by a 28.3 average on three returns vs. Houston that included a career-long 39-yarder on the opening kickoff . . . Best kick return yardage game was 4-104 vs. Indy (his two TD reception game) and combined with Garcia Lane to break team KOR yardage mark with 236 . . . That game was his career best all-purpose yardage performance, 186 . . . A 10th-round draft choice, he made the team with superb kick returning during the preseason, averaging 37.3 yards per return . . . First time he touched the ball in the NFL, he returned the opening kickoff in preseason opener 98 yards, then had a 62-yarder later in that contest.

College/Personal: Was an all-purpose performer at Nebraska, compiling the following career totals: 315 rushes for 1,992 yards and 19 touchdowns, 12 receptions for 247 yards and two TDs, 45 punt returns for 665 yards (14.7 avg.) and two TDs, and 17 kickoff returns for 335 yards (19.7 avg.) . . . Was the nation's leading rusher and punt returner early in his senior year before a nagging ankle injury slowed his pace . . . Finished with 935 rushing yards on 177 carries and a 15.0 punt return average, gaining honorable mention All-America honors from AP and UPI . . . Pro Career: His next tackle will make him one of very few players in NFL history to reach the 1,000-tackle plateau . . . Enters the 10th year of his pro football career with 999 tackles . . . Back surgery during this past off-season may delay that milestone depending on his rehabilitation . . . A starter since his rookie season of 1978, he has been the Chiefs leading tackler over those nine years . . . Few NFL linebackers have matched his productivity, as he has averaged 8.1 tackles per game played in his career . . . That includes five seasons of over 100 tackles . . . During his first four campaigns, he averaged just over 150 tackles per year and was the Chiefs leader each season . . . Has played in all but 13 games in his nine years . . . Impressive career statistics include 124 games, 108 starts, 999 total tackles, 669 unassisted, 9½ sacks, nine fumble recoveries, two interceptions and two touchdowns. 1986: Began the year in a non-starting role for the first time of his pro career, but he regained his spot the final three weeks . . . Finished the season with 47 tackles (31 solos), his lowest total ever . . . Posted 18 tackles in his three starts . . . Made the second interception of his career vs. Denver in his first start, setting up a fourth-quarter touchdown in a 37-10 win . . . Season high tackle total was nine solo stops at San Diego in 24-23 victory . . . Was big contributor on special teams with 12 unassisted tackles . . . Played in all 16 games . . . Notched five tackles in his first career playoff game. 1985: Posted 88 tackles (54 solos) to tie for third on the team, despite being limited the second half of the season because of a pulled hamstring . . . Started the first 10 games before sustaining the injury vs. Pittsburgh . . . Named AFC's Defensive Player of the Week after an eight-tackle performance in a nationally televised Thursday night win over the Raiders the second week . . . Had a season-high 11 tackles vs. Seattle . . . Led the team in tackling in four games . . . Played in 14 games and started 13. 1984: Registered his fifth 100-tackle season, totaling 107 stops (68 solos) . . . Compiled those figures, which ranked third on the team, despite missing two full games and parts of three others due to injuries . . . Started all 14 games he played . . . Made at least six tackles in every full game he played and had four games of 10 or more tackles, including a season-high 14 at the N.Y. Jets . . . Was voted as the second alternate at ILB for the AFC Pro Bowl team. 1983: Spent the first six games on injured reserve after suffering the first major injury of his career, strained knee ligaments in the final preseason contest . . . Played in the final 10 games and started nine . . . Still managed 90 total tackles to rank fourth on the team and made a career-high three sacks. 1982: Finished second to Art Still with 64 tackles while playing in eight of the nine games of the shortened season . . . Missed the finale due to a neck injury, breaking a streak of 60 consecutive games started. 1981: Led the team for the fourth straight year with 153 tackles and was an UPI All-AFC honorable mention selection . . . Made at least six tackles in every game and contributed 10 or more seven times, including a 16-tackle effort in a season-opening win at Pittsburgh . . . Iced a come-from-behind victory over the Raiders with a 91-yard fumble return (10th-longest in NFL history) for a touchdown in the final minute. 1980: Team-leading totals included 149 tackles, a team-most four fumble recoveries and the first interception of his career . . . Returned that theft 47 yads for a touchdown in a one-point win over Houston. 1979: Recorded the most tackles of any season in his career with team-high 157, including a career-most 115 solo stops. 1978: Stepped in immediately as a starter his rookie season and was the team's top tackler, compiling 144 tackles and recovering a fumble . . . Was the Chiefs third round draft choice after defensive linemen Still and Sylvester Hicks.

College/Personal: Was a three-time All-Big Eight linebacker at Kansas State and was named to the conference all-decade team in 1979 . . . Amassed 545 tackles in four varsity seasons and became the Wildcats' only consensus All-America . . . Majored in personal management . . . Attended Manhattan (Kan.) H.S. . . . How Acquired: Draft (No. 1 - 1978)
College: Kentucky
NFL Experience: 10
Birthdate: December 5, 1955
Birthplace: Camden, New Jersey
Residence: Liberty, Missouri

Pro Career: A four-time Pro Bowl performer who continues to mount season after season of dominating defensive play . . . Has been the cornerstone of the Chiefs defense since 1978 when he was the second player taken in that draft behind Earl Campbell . . . Earned consecutive Pro Bowl berths in 1980-82 and returned again in '84 . . . Holds the Chiefs record for career quarterback sacks with 67 (since individual sacks began being recorded in 1973) . . . Has led the team in sacks six seasons, including a record 14½ twice . . . Has been the leading tackler three years . . . Career totals are 124 games, 121 starts, 912 total tackles, 639 solo tackles, 67 sacks and 11 fumble recoveries (at least one every year) . . . Is averaging 101 tackles per season and 7.4 per game in nine years . . . Is just 61 tackles away from the rarely-attained 1,000-tackle plateau. 1986: Was in line for his fifth Pro Bowl appearance after one of his best seasons ever, but surprisingly was voted only as an alternate . . . Played every defensive down for the Chiefs in '86 and produced in every area, finishing with 95 tackles (65 solos), 10½ sacks, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble and seven pass deflections . . . His 10½ sacks led the team and ranked 12th in the AFC; it was his third season with 10 or more sacks . . . His 95 tackles were third on the squad, his two FR's tied for team lead and his seven deflections ranked first . . . Was named AFC Defensive Player of the Month for December by NFL office and won the weekly award twice . . . Was Sports Illustrated NFL Defensive Player of the Week for his performance vs. Houston, when he made nine tackles, two sacks, forced a fumble that set up a field goal and deflected a pass in 27-13 win . . . Top game was in 27-20 triumph over Tampa Bay when he recorded three sacks (tying second-most of career) and a season-most 12 total tackles . . . Made six tackles and knocked down two passes in the first playoff game of his career . . . Started every game. 1985: Spent the final seven weeks on injured reserve after straining his left knee . . . As usual, he was very productive in his nine games, totaling 57 tackles (38 solos), four sacks, 12 QB pressures, four pass deflections (led team), two fumble recoveries (tied for team lead) and one forced fumble . . . Nailed down a season-high 11 tackles in consecutive games against the L.A. Rams and Denver . . . Possibly his best all-around performance of '85 came in a Thursday night victory over the Raiders (Week 2), when he had seven tackles and iced the win by sacking Jim Plunkett with a hit that jarred the ball loose and was recovered in the end zone for a 36-14 lead in the fourth quarter. 1984: Returned to Pro Bowl form, leading the Chiefs in tackles and sacks and he was voted by his teammates as the team's MVP for '84 . . . His 107 solo tackles tied a career best and his 131 total stops were his second-most ever . . . His 14½ sacks tied the Chiefs record he set in 1980 and tied him for fourth in the AFC and for sixth in the NFL . . . Spearheaded a fierce pass rush that set a team record of 50 sacks . . . Made 11 or more tackles in four games with a high of 14 vs. Houston . . . Led the team with five forced fumbles and he recovered one . . . Started all 16 games . . . Sparked the AFC to a 22-14 Pro Bowl victory by returning a fumble 83 yards for a touchdown with his team trailing, 14-12, in the fourth quarter . . . Marked the only TD on a fumble recovery in Pro Bowl history and was the longest fumble return in the game's existence. 1983: Was hampered by a contusion to his left ankle during the second half of the season and broke his Pro Bowl streak . . . Even so, he compiled 96 tackles (61 solos), third on the squad, and three sacks . . . Played in 15 games and started 12, marking the first time in his pro career he played in a game without starting. 1982: Earned his third straight Pro Bowl berth after leading the Chiefs with 68 tackles (44 solos), 3½ sacks and 13 pressures while starting all nine games of the shortened season . . . Also was named to the All-AFC second team by UPI. 1981: Was chosen to the Pro Bowl despite missing five games during mid-season after straining ligaments in his right knee vs. San Diego . . . Concluded the season with 68 tackles (41 solos) and two sacks. 1980: Put together the best season of his career, earning his first trip to the Pro Bowl and team MVP honors . . . Collected a career-most 140 tackles, 107 unassisted stops and 14½ sacks . . . Led the team in the latter two categories and finished second to Gary Spani in total tackles . . . Was selected to every All-NFL team in addition to starting the Pro Bowl. 1979: Registered 137 tackles (94 solos) and 8½ sacks in his second pro season . . . Led the team in sacks and was second to Spani in tackles . . . Posted an incredible 20 tackles in the season finale vs. Tampa Bay . . . Was named to the Sports Illustrated All-Pro Team. 1978: Won the starting left defensive end job at the beginning of his rookie year . . . Made the transition look easy by recording 120 tackles (82 solos), second-most on the team to Spani, and a team-leading 6½ sacks . . . Was named to the UPI All-Rookie Team . . . Was the highest-drafted Chiefs defensive lineman since Buck Buchanan in 1963.

College/Personal: Was a four-year starter at Kentucky, where he was a consensus All-America his senior season and was named the Southeastern Conference player of the year by UPI . . . Led the Wildcats to a 10-1 record, but they couldn't play in a bowl game because of a NCAA probation . . . Earned degree in criminology . . . Comes from a family of 10 children and his parents now live in Kansas City . . . Full name: Arthur Barry Still . . . Married, wife Liz, four children, Afa (3), Niko (2), Aquina (1) and Meleana (1)

PAUL PALMER

Running Back Ht: 5-9 Wt: 184

Round: 1

College: Temple

Birthdate: October 16, 1964

Birthplace: Bethesda, Maryland

Residence: Potomac, Maryland

College Career: A speedy running back and kick return specialist who was the nation's leading rusher and all-purpose runner in 1986, finishing as the Heisman Trophy runner-up . . . His four-year totals at Temple rank sixth on NCAA's all-time career rushing charts with 4,895 yards and fourth in all-purpose yardage with 6,613 . . . Gained over 1,500 rushing yards each of his last two years and compiled over 1,000 all-purpose yards all four seasons while breaking or tying 23 school records and five NCAA marks . . . That included an NCAA record 2,633 all-purpose yards as a senior, which broke Marcus Allen's single-season mark (2,559) set in '81 . . . His average of 239.4 all-purpose yards per game in '86 fell just short of one of NCAA's oldest records, held by Byron "Whizzer" White (246.3) . . . His 417 all-purpose yards vs. East Carolina last year tied an NCAA record and his 349 rushing yards in that game were just eight shy of another NCAA record . . . Followed that game by setting NCAA records for rushing yards in two consecutive games (588), three consecutive (775) and four consecutive (987) games . . . Career records at Temple include rushing yards (4,895), rushing attempts (944), 100-yard games (22), 200-yard games (6), rushing TDs (39), total TDs (41), scoring (240) and all-purpose yards (6,613) . . . Season records, all in '86 unless indicated, include rushing yards (1,866), all-purpose yards (2,633), rushing attempts (346), 100-yard games (9 in '85), 200-yard games (4), rushing TDs (15), total TDs (15) and kickoff return yards (657) . . . Single game records include rushing yards (349 vs. East Carolina), all-purpose yards (417 vs. East Carolina), rushing attempts (43 vs. East Carolina), kickoff return yards (139 vs. Penn State) and KOR average (34.8 vs. Penn State) . . . Three-year starter finished career with 100 yards rushing in 20 of the last 23 games he played . . . Earned unanimous All-America honors by virtually every newspaper and wire service in the country . . . Finished second to QB Vinny Testaverde in the Heisman balloting . . . Also impressed NFL scouts with superb showings in post-season bowl action . . . Is the second running back in three years to be chosen in the draft's first round by the Chiefs and he's the sixth RB overall to be taken in Kansas City's opening round . . . Was fourth running back taken in the '86 draft and the 19th player overall. 1986: Led nation in rushing and all-purpose yardage as a senior . . . Gained 1,866 rushing yards on 346 carries (5.4 avg.) and 15 touchdowns, caught 12 passes for 110 yards, threw a 33-yard touchdown pass and returned 28 kickoffs for 657 yards (23.5 avg.) . . . His 2,633 all-purpose yards were most ever for single season in NCAA history and his 1,866 rushing yards were ninth-best total ever . . . Also led Temple with 90 points . . . Most incredible stretch was his four-game record, starting with 417 yards in 45-28 win over East Carolina that included 349 rushing yards on 43 carries, three touchdowns and 68 yards on three kickoff returns . . . Followed with 239 rushing yards and 254 total yards vs. Virginia Tech, then 239 all-purpose yards the next week vs. Syracuse that included 187 rushing yards on 39 carries and two TDs . . . Completed the record month-long streak with 333 total yards vs. Boston College that included 212 rushing yards on 38 carries and two TDs . . . Also had huge game vs. eventual national champion Penn State, gaining 268 all-purpose yards — 24 carries for 96 yards and a TD, three catches for 33 yards and four kickoff returns for 139 yards . . . Other big rushing efforts included 202 yards vs. Florida A&M, 175 yards and 3 TDs vs. Western Michigan and 145 yards vs. Alabama . . . Capped his brilliant senior campaign by being named Offensive Player of the Game for the Blue squad in the Blue-Gray Classic, rushing for 166 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown and making two receptions for 11 yards . . . Gained 71 yards on 16 carries for East in Hula Bowl . . . Unanimous All-America first team selection. 1985: Finished his junior season as second-ranked rusher in nation in per game rushing yards (168.4) and all-purpose yardage (193.7) . . . Both of those figures were better than that year's Heisman winner, Bo Jackson . . . Gained 1,516 rushing yards on 275 carries (5.5 avg.) for nine touchdowns and totaled 1,743 all-purpose yards . . . Ankle injury kept him out of final two games, the only misses of his college career . . . Set 15 school records and approached several others while upping his consecutive 100-yard rushing games to 12 . . . Earned second team UPI All-America and honorable mention AP All-America honors . . . Was co-recipient of ECAC Player of the Year Award . . . First set school record with 281 rushing yards vs. William & Mary . . . Also had impressive outing vs. Penn State, gaining 206 rushing yards, third-highest total ever against a Lions team. 1984: Became starting halfback and netted 885 yards as a sophomore on 182 carries (4.9 avg.) and nine touchdowns . . . Caught 29 passes for 197 yards and one TD for an all-purpose total of 1,213 yards . . . Also completed three passes, one for a touchdown . . . Outstanding in final three games, with 128 rushing yards and four scores, throwing for another vs. Cincinnati, then gaining 123 yards on 23 carries, two TDs, five receptions for 47 yards vs. West Virginia, and completing the season with 148 yards and one TD vs. Toledo . . . Named to AP All-East team. 1983: Earned ECAC Rookie of the Year and AP first team All-East selection as a freshman . . . His 628 yards rushing established Temple freshman record . . . Played in 11 games, carrying ball 141 times and scored six touchdowns . . . Most active season as receiver, catching 32 passes for 271 yards and two TDs, plus a two-point conversion . . . His eight touchdowns and 50 points were tops on team . . . Finished with 1,024 all-purpose yards . . . Best game of season came vs. Delaware when he gained 142 yards and scored three third-quarter touchdowns to lead Owls to comeback victory. High School: Rushed for 1,920 yards, gained over 3,000 all-purpose yards and scored 27 touchdowns as prep senior at Winston Churchill High (Potomac, Md.) . . . Earned All-America honors by USA Today in addition to consensus All-Metro, All-Conference and All-County teams. Personal: Majored in marketing . . . Nicknamed "Boo Boo" after cartoon pal of Yogi Bear . . . Full name: Paul W. Palmer . . . Single.

Running Back Ht: 6-2 Wt: 253

Round: 2
College: Azusa Pacific
Birthdate: August 16, 1961
Birthplace: Enugu, Nigeria
Residence: Azusa, California

College Career: A Nigerian-born athlete who has made great strides in just three years of organized football, capped by a record-breaking performance in the Senior Bowl all-star game following his senior season . . . Gained school-record 3,569 rushing yards in his three years at Azusa Pacific, including an NCAA Division II-leading 1,680 yards last year as a senior . . . Compiled over 200 yards in six games his final two years, including the last four contests of his career . . . Averaged 6.8 yards per carry during his career and scored 34 touchdowns . . . Born and raised in Enugu, Nigeria and came to the United State in the fall of '82 to compete for Azusa Pacific's national championship track and field program . . . Won record 15 NAIA All-America honors in four years on Cougar track team and Azusa coaches say he could have broke world discus record had he stayed with the sport . . . Became interested in football after seeing game for first time in his life and went out for team in '84 . . . Incredible size/speed ratio, weighing in at 6-1/2 and 253 pounds and was timed by Chiefs scouts at 4.46 in 40-yard dash . . . Called a "world class athlete" by head coach Frank Gansz, Okoye played primarily as a fullback, but was Azusa's main ball carrier . . . Has overcome fumble-prone problem from his first year of football and lost the ball just nine times in 235 carries last season . . . Azusa Pacific was 19-3-3 with Okoye in starting lineup . . . Set school career rushing records with 535 carries, 3,569 yards, 6.8-yard average per carry, 34 touchdowns and 94-yard run . . . Ended his collegiate career by setting a Senior Bowl record with four touchdown runs in the annual all-star classic, including six-yard run with 1:06 remaining to lead South to 42-38 victory . . . Gained 47 yards on 13 carries in that game despite sore ankle . . . Chiefs traded up 11 spots in draft's second round, swapping second-round positions with Houston and giving Oilers this year's fourth-round pick to take Okoye . . . Was eighth running back selected in '87 draft. 1986: Led Division II runners with 1,680 yards on 235 carries for amazing 7.2-yards per carry average and scored 21 touchdowns in nine games . . . That's a per-game average of 186.7 yards, highest figure in collegiate football in '86 . . . Gained over 100 yards in each of final eight games, including over 200 yards in final four . . . Season-ending string started with 243 yards on 24 carries and two touchdowns vs. Redlands, followed by 225 yards on 34 carries and three TDs vs. San Francisco State, 218 yards on 40 carries and two TDs vs. UC-Santa Clara, and closed out his career with a personal-best 248 yards on 28 carries and three TDs vs. Cal-Lutheran . . . A 210-yard effort vs. Whittier earlier in year gave him five 200-yard games in senior season . . . Scored at least one touchdown in every game and two-or-more in final eight contests . . . Among his 21 touchdowns were runs of 94, 73, 72, 60, 59, 47, 29 and 24 yards as senior. 1985: Earned NAIA first team All-America honors by rushing for 1,355 yards on 205 carries (6.6 avg.) and 10 touchdowns . . . Gained over 100 yards in eight of nine games . . . Reported late for fall drills as he was competing in track as discus thrower at University Games in Japan, qualifying for World Cup Meet in Australia, but had to decline invitation because of commitment to football . . . Despite late arrival, he opened season by rushing for season-high 206 yards on just 17 carries (12.1 avg.) and scoring school-record four touchdowns, although he was pulled in third quarter of 37-14 victory over Whittier . . . After a 55-yard game, his only sub-100-yard effort of year, he followed with contests of 147, 190, 168, 138, 156, 156 and 139 yards. 1984: Worked out during summer with All-America RB Joe Schuller as Okoye attempted to compete in football for first time in his life . . . Started slowly, but gained 108 yards on 21 carries vs. Redlands in just his fifth game . . . Followed next week with 169 yards on only eight carries (21.1 avg.) with touchdown runs of 86 and 50 yards vs. UC-Santa Barbara . . . Finished inaugural season with 354 yards on 88 carries (6.1 avg.) and three touchdowns. Track: Qualified for Nigerian team in '84 Summer Olympics in discus . . . 15-time NAIA All-America in track and field, winning honors in discus, hammer, shot put and 35-pound weight . . . Holds African record in discus and is current champ . . . School's track team won NAIA Track & Field National Championship all four of Okoye's years. Personal: Competed in track and soccer during high school in Nigeria . . . CHIEFS 1986 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK ONE — CHIEFS 24, BENGALS 14 at Arrowhead (43,430)

Just 1:42 into the '86 season, the Chiefs scored their first touchdown of the year and were on the way to their fourth straight season-opening victory. From that early play — a blocked punt by Mark Robinson that was recovered in the end zone for a touchdown by Deron Cherry — throughout the remainder of the game, it was a defensive charge against an explosive Cincinnati Bengals offense that resulted in a 24-14 Chiefs triumph. The assaulting Chiefs defense forced three turnovers while shutting down the Cincy running game (60 net yards) and applying constant pressure on QB Boomer Esiason (three sacks). Despite the quick start, the game was tied 7-7 at halftime before the Chiefs offense scored two third-quarter touchdowns. The first was a 15-yard pass from QB Todd Blackledge to RB Jeff Smith. The score followed a spectacular 40-yard run by RB Herman Heard, who hit a pile at the line of scrimmage, spun away, broke two tackles and sprinted to the 15-yard line. The next TD came on a 7-play, 40-yard drive, with TE Walt Arnold falling on a loose ball in the end zone after Heard had fumbled at the one. The Chiefs iced the game on an 18-yard Nick Lowery field goal in the final minute. It was set up when LB Tim Cofield sacked Esiason, forcing a fumble at midfield, and the offense promptly ran down the clock with eight running plays to the one-yard line.

WEEK TWO — SEAHAWKS 23, CHIEFS 17 at Seattle (61,068)

The unfriendly Kingdome once again caused problems for the Chiefs, who lost their fourth straight game in Seattle's noisy confines. The Chiefs battled the Seahawks to the end, however, dropping a 23-17 decision. Three costly turnovers — two setting up a touchdown and field goal — destroyed the Chiefs chances at a third consecutive 2-0 start to a season. Trailing 13-3 at halftime, the Chiefs struck quickly on their first possession of the second half when Todd Blackledge hit Carlos Carson on a deep post pattern for a 70-yard touchdown pass. The Seahawks came back with a field goal and then, in the big play of the game, Blackledge had a pass intercepted by Kenny Easley, who returned it 24 yards to the KC five-yard line. Curt Warner scored three plays later, making it 23-10 heading into the final quarter. The Chiefs added a touchdown in the final seconds of the game. Jeff Smith scoring on a one-yard dive, capping a 12-play, 66-yard drive.

WEEK THREE — CHIEFS 27, OILERS 13 at Arrowhead (43,699)

Yet another sterling defensive performance sparked the Chiefs to a 27-13 victory over the much-improved Oilers on an Arrowhead Stadium turf that registered 124 degrees at game time. The Chiefs stormed to a 27-0 third-quarter lead, then held off the pesky Oilers for the 14-point win. Two Nick Lowery field goals (47 and 45) and a 29-yard Todd Blackledge-to-Carlos Carson touchdown pass gave the Chiefs a 13-0 halftime lead. Two interceptions keyed 14 more points in the early stages of the third quarter. Sherman Cocroft picked off the first one to set up Herman Heard's 11-yard TD run. Then former Oiler Greg Hill intercepted a pass at the Houston 26-yard line and returned it for a touchdown. Houston's first score came when it recovered a Blackledge fumble on a sack in the end zone. The Oilers scored in the fourth quarter on a six-play, 46-yard drive, making it 27-13 before DE Pete Koch blocked the PAT. The Chiefs defense held the remainder of the game, including two goal line stands, despite good field position for Houston.

WEEK FOUR — CHIEFS 20, BILLS 17 at Buffalo (67,555)

It had been a while since the Chiefs had won a game on the road. It had been even longer since the Chiefs came from behind in the fourth quarter to win a game. Kansas City took care of both of those skids at Rich Stadium, scoring 10 points in the final period to capture a 20-17 triumph over the Bills. Trailing by a 17-10 count heading into the final quarter, the Chiefs put together a 13-play, 72-yard drive that resulted in a one-yard touchdown pass from Todd Blackledge to TE Paul Coffman with 4:18 left in the game. Nick Lowery's PAT conversion tied the score. On the first play following the ensuing kickoff, Deron Cherry intercepted a Jim Kelly pass at the Bills 45-yard line. Six plays later, Lowery nailed a game-winning, 46-yard field goal with 1:07 remaining. The defense held the Bills in the final minute and CB Greg Hill ended the game by intercepting another Kelly pass. A key play in the first half came when the Bills fumbled at the KC one-yard line and Chiefs SS Lloyd Burruss recovered. Kansas City played the entire second half without WR's Carlos Carson and Anthony Hancock, RB Herman Heard and DB's Burruss and Albert Lewis, all of whom suffered first-half injuries.

WEEK FIVE — RAIDERS 24, CHIEFS 17 at Arrowhead (74,430)

There have been many classic Chiefs-Raiders battles down through the years, but this slugfest between the two old rivals could match any of 'em. The intensity was fierce, from the primed soldout stadium crowd (first locally televised game since '79) to the on-field brawls on consecutive plays that lasted about 15 minutes late in the first half. Early in the game, it appeared the Chiefs were going to breeze to their best start since 1971, blasting to a 17-0 lead in the second quarter. But the raiders dominated the remainder of the game for a 24-17 verdict. The comeback began with a controversial touchdown play in the second quarter when the NFL's instant replay official ruled that Dokie Williams had just one foot in bounds on a pass from Marc Wilson, but a breakdown in communication to the on-field umpire resulted in the play not being nullified. That made the score 17-7. Another key play came right before halftime when Todd Blackledge threw an interception in the Chiefs end zone as they tried to extend their lead. Then came the disastrous third quarter, when the Raiders scored two touchdowns and the Chiefs netted minus one yard total offense. Jim Plunkett did most of the damage for the Raiders after Wilson was sidelined with an injured wrist. Bill Kenney replaced Blackledge in the fourth quarter, seeing his first action of the year, but couldn't generate a score in his two possessions. The Raiders played the game without All-Pro RB Marcus Allen and the Chiefs were without RB Herman Heard and SS Lloyd Burruss. WR Carlos Carson and T David Lutz left the game in the first half with injuries.

WEEK SIX — BROWNS 20, CHIEFS 7 at Cleveland (71,278)

This was not a pretty "homecoming" for Chiefs Coach John Mackovic, who hails from nearby Barberton, and several Chiefs players with Ohio or Browns connections. Once again, the Chiefs jumped out to a 7-0 lead, but saw the Browns dominate the remainder of the game for a 20-7 defeat.

The Kansas City offense hit a season low, mustering just 126 total net yards. And the once-powerful passing game stalled for the second straight week, producing 83 net yards. The Chiefs first score came on the first play of the second quarter when WR Stephone Paige made one of his famous acrobatic catches in double coverage in the end zone. On Cleveland's next possession, the Browns marched 65 yards in 10 plays with RB Earnest Byner going 16 yards on a flair-out pass from QB Bernie Kosar, a play that worked all day long. The 7-7 score remained until the third quarter, when the game quickly turned around on a Jeff Smith fumbled punt return at midfield. Kosar connected with WR Reggie Langhorne for a 44-yard gain on the next play, then hit TE Ozzie Newsome for a six-yard TD pass. The Chiefs didn't threaten the rest of the game and the Browns added two Matt Bahr field goals for the 20-7 final.

WEEK SEVEN — CHIEFS 42, CHARGERS 41 at Arrowhead (55,767)

Even by Chiefs-Chargers standards, this was a wild one. It included three NFL records being broken or tied, numerous other team records by both clubs, 13 scoring plays that included four touchdowns by returns, quarterback changes by both teams, and a bevy of long plays. But it all came down to a 35-yard field goal attempt by San Diego's Rolf Benirschke with 28 seconds left in the game. The Chiefs put on a heavy rush and he pulled it left, leaving the Chiefs 42-41 winners in an exhausting, 3-hour-and-39-minute melee. The Chiefs were dominated statistically — 512 total yards to 222, 39:17 possession time to 20:43. But three touchdown returns in the second quarter ignited the victory. Two came from Lloyd Burruss, who tied an NFL record by returning two interceptions for touchdowns (had three thefts in game). Kevin Ross returned a fumbled kickoff return 21 yards for another score. The Chargers pulled to within four at halftime when DE Leslie O'Neil intercepted a Todd Blackledge pass at the five-yard line and walked in for a TD with :56 left in the half. That prompted John Mackovic to start Bill Kenney at the outset of the second half. Kenney led the Chiefs to two touchdowns, including a 16-yard toss to Stephone Paige, who continued his mastery over the Chargers with two TD receptions. San Diego's offensive explosion was led by Gary Anderson, who compiled 239 all-purpose yards and scored three touchdowns. Mark Herrmann played the second half in place of Dan Fouts, who suffered a slight concussion.

WEEK EIGHT — CHIEFS 27, BUCS 20 at Arrowhead (36,230)

Bill Kenney's 1986 debut as the starting quarterback perked up the offense enough to lead the Chiefs to a 27-20 victory over Tampa Bay. It was a hard-fought win and one that gave the Chiefs their best record (5-3) at the halfway point of a season since 1981. Kenney led the 28th-ranked offense to 355 total yards and 222 passing yards, both season highs to date. But once again, big plays by Kansas City's defense and kicking teams played a big role in the game. With the score tied 13-13 midway through the third quarter, Albert Lewis tackled Bucs punter Frank Garcia at the TB 15-yard line. Seven plays later, Stephone Paige came up with another one of his nearly-impossible catches in the corner of the end zone, a three-yard TD pass from Kenney. The pesky Buccaneers, however, tied the game again in the fourth quarter, 20-20, by marching 80 yards in 13 plays, with bruising RB James Wilder bulling his way over on a three-yard rush. But the Chiefs came back. They took the kickoff, and after three plays — two were passes to Henry Marshall for 33 yards — Jeff Smith found an opening around left end and rambled 32 yards for the game-winning touchdown. It was his first carry in three games. The rest was up to the Chiefs defense, which didn't allow Tampa past its own 39 in the final three possessions.

WEEK NINE — CHIEFS 24, CHARGERS 23 at San Diego (44,518)

An incredible two-minute finish saw the Chiefs come back not once, but twice, and pull out another one-point victory over the Chargers, 24-23. And again, like two weeks earlier at Arrowhead, it came down to a last-second field goal, with Nick Lowery connecting from 37 yards out with seven seconds remaining. The Chiefs posted their third straight win despite a horrible first half, which put Kansas City at a 16-0 deficit. But 21 second-half points, including 17 on their final three possessions, gave the Chiefs the thrilling win over a San Diego team that had changed coaches earlier in the week (Al Saunders replacing Don Coryell) and was playing with third-team QB Tom Flick instead of injured Dan Fouts and Mark Herrmann. The Chiefs fourth-quarter comeback started when, trailing 16-7, WR Emile Harry caught his first NFL touchdown pass, a five-yarder from Bill Kenney, with 7:43 left in the game. The Chargers were forced to punt on their next series and the Chiefs promptly drove 67 yards in 7 plays with Mike Pruitt scoring on a one-yard run with 1:46 remaining, giving KC its first lead at 21-16. But on the ensuing kickoff, San Diego's Gary Anderson returned the kick 35 yards and a 15-yard personal foul against Kit Lathrop moved the ball to the KC-37. Six plays later, Flick scored on a one-yard bootleg, giving the Chargers a 23-21 lead with 1:02 left. But the Chiefs came back again, Kenney completing four passes in a 50-yard drive that took the ball to the SD-19, setting up the game-winning field goal. The win put KC in sole possession of second place in the AFC West at 6-3.

WEEK TEN — CHIEFS 27, SEAHAWKS 7 at Arrowhead (53,268)

The Chiefs offense and defense both put its best game of the year together on the same afternoon, resulting in the team's fourth straight win, an impressive 27-7 rout over the Seahawks. The offense, in its third game under Bill Kenney, rolled up 375 yards and the defense stuffed Curt Warner and the Seattle offense, limiting the 'Hawks to just 133 total yards. And that included just 25 rushing yards, with the AFC rushing leader mustering 16 yards on 11 carries. The game started on shaky ground for the Chiefs, who turned the ball over three times in the game's first seven minutes, twice in KC territory. But the defense not only allowed no scoring on those three subsequent Seattle possessions, but also gave up no first downs and only 11 total yards. Sparked by that spectacular defensive stand, Kenney and the Chiefs offense proceeded to thread Seattle's respected defense. Kenney threw three touchdown passes, one each to Walt Arnold and Stephone Paige in the first half and a third-quarter strike to Carlos Carson. Along with two Nick Lowery field goals, that gave the Chiefs a 27-0 lead in the fourth period. The only play that prevented Kansas City from recording its first shutout since 1981 was a TD catch by Steve Largent on a deflected pass in the end zone.

WEEK ELEVEN — BRONCOS 38, CHIEFS 17 at Denver (75,745)

So much for the hoopla surrounding this game that could have tied the Chiefs with the Broncos for first place in the AFC West. Denver quickly put the issue to rest, scoring three touchdowns on Chiefs miscues in the first 9:15 of the game. The Broncos went on to a 31-0 lead by the second quarter and, despite a credible Chiefs comeback in the third period, defeated the Kansas Citians, 38-17. The first score came when punter Chris Norman spotted CB Steve Wilson uncovered in punt formation and threw a 43-yard scoring strike on Denver's first possession. The Chiefs next two possessions both resulted in Bill Kenney being hit by ferocious sacks, coughing up the ball near the end zone, good for two TDs. Early in the second quarter, Gerald Willhite scored one of his three TDs on a 70-yard punt return, giving the Broncos a 28-0 lead. The Chiefs comeback started late in the first half when Kenney hit Henry Marshall for a 15-yard scoring pass, making it 31-7 at halftime. In the third quarter, a blocked punt by Albert Lewis set up a Kenney-to-Carson TD pass, and a fumble recovery by Louis Cooper on a punt return set up a Nick Lowery field goal. But the Broncos held off the Chiefs the rest of the way. KC actually out-distanced Denver in total yardage, 297-265.

WEEK TWELVE — CARDINALS 23, CHIEFS 14 at St. Louis (29,680)

Comebacks had become common, almost expected, from the Chiefs in '86, but this time it was too little, too late. The Chiefs fell behind, 23-0, in this intra-state battle before mounting their comeback bid. Two Bill Kenney-to-Stephone Paige touchdown passes in the final eight minutes put Kansas City in contention, but the Chiefs could get no closer in this 23-14 loss to St. Louis. After closing the gap to nine points with 4:26 remaining, the Chiefs were denied on their final two possessions, one ending on a missed fourth-down conversion and the last on an interception. It was a game the Chiefs needed to win to stay even with the competition in the AFC playoff race. But the Cardinals, who entered the game at 2-9, outplayed the Chiefs most of the game. And it was a former Chief, WR J. T. Smith, who inflicted much of the damage, catching two touchdown passes to spark St. Louis to the 23-0 lead. QB Neil Lomax, who had regained his starting job after a two-week stay on the Card bench, threw touchdown passes. All three of St. Louis' TD drives were 70 yards or longer, a rarity against the Chiefs defense.

WEEK THIRTEEN — BILLS 17, CHIEFS 14 at Arrowhead (31,492)

For the second straight week, Kansas City's comeback magic disappeared. This time, normally-reliable Nick Lowery missed a 44-yard field goal attempt with 19 seconds remaining that could have tied the game. His kick sailed wide left into a swirling wind, his second miss of the day (41-yarder in second quarter). The 17-14 loss, the team's third straight setback, came against former coach Marv Levy, who was in his fourth game with Buffalo. Although the Chiefs jumped out to an early 7-0 lead, penalties in critical situations (10-77) and three Bill Kenney interceptions, two in the end zone, put them behind most of the game. The offense marched 83 yards in 12 plays on the first drive that resulted in a 12-yard Kenney-to-Stephone Paige touchdown pass. The Bills scored the next 17 points, a 47-yard field goal by Scott Norwood and two touchdown passes from Jim Kelly to WR Andre Reed. Then, midway through the fourth period, the Chiefs began their comeback bid. Herman Heard scored on a one-yard run, capping an 8-play, 80-yard drive. In their final drive, Kenney threw eight of his season-high 50 passes and moved the Chiefs from their own 34 to the Buffalo 26, but Lowery's wind-blown field goal went awry and the Chiefs dropped to 7-6.

WEEK FOURTEEN — CHIEFS 37, BRONCOS 10 at Arrowhead (47,019)

With their backs against the wall in the chase for a playoff berth, the Chiefs responded by pounding the division-leading Broncos, 37-10, in the Arrowhead finale. The victory snapped a three-game losing skid for Kansas City and improved the team's record to 8-6. The Chiefs revival was led by an incredible defensive showing, with five interceptions leading to 24 points, and by reserve QB Todd Blackledge, who replaced the injured Bill Kenney and tossed two touchdown passes. The combined result handed Denver its worst loss since '84. The two teams battled to a 10-10 tie by halftime, but the Chiefs totally dominated the second half, scoring 27 unanswered points, including 20 in the fourth quarter. The go-ahead touchdown came on a 17-yard pass from Blackledge to Jeff Smith on KC's first possession of the second half. Then in the final period, interceptions set up a one-yard Boyce Green run and a 45-yard Nick Lowery field goal. A 45-yard kick by Lowery, his third of the game, and a 72-yard interception return by Lloyd Burruss completed Kansas City's assault. The Chiefs gained just 169 total offensive yards, but each scoring drive started at midfield or in Denver territory.

WEEK FIFTEEN — CHIEFS 20, RAIDERS 17 at Los Angeles (60,952)

The stage was set for another Chiefs-Raiders showdown. Both teams were tied with 8-6 records, the winner had a shot at the playoffs while the loser would stay home, and it was the much-publicized rematch of the controversial game played earlier in the season in Kansas City. To prepare, the Chiefs moved camp to Palm Springs to practice in the warmer California climate. The inspired Chiefs proceeded to burst to a 17-0 lead in the Coliseum, where they had never won, and held off the Raiders in the second half for a 20-17 victory, one of the franchise's biggest wins since their last playoff era. Once again, the KC defense proved the difference by intercepting four passes and recovering three fumbles. Bill Kenney returned at quarterback and led the error-free offense to two touchdowns and two field goals, including two 78-yard drives in the second quarter as the Chiefs took control of the game. The first 10 Chiefs points were set up by turnovers and Stephone Paige caught his 11th TD pass to make it 10-0. Jeff Smith's two-yard run increased the lead to 17-0, the same lead the Chiefs enjoyed in KC before losing to the Raiders 24-17. Ten LA points reduced the margin to 20-10 at halftime. Deron Cherry's two second-half interceptions kept the Raiders from getting any closer than 20-17 and Kevin Ross' second theft (he also recovered fumble) iced the game in the final two minutes.

WEEK SIXTEEN — CHIEFS 24, STEELERS 10 at Pittsburgh 6:11 (ET, 10:00)

It was "do-or-die" time for the Chiefs and for the special teams. All 24 of Kansas City's points were scored by the specialty units, as the Chiefs held off a red-hot Pittsburgh Steelers team to gain the franchise's first playoff berth in 15 years. It was the Chiefs third straight victory, capping a spectacular season-ending drive that earned the team an AFC Wild Card spot. The way the Chiefs won their biggest game in over a decade was nothing short of incredible. The special teams scored three touchdowns while the Steelers outgained the Chiefs in offensive yardage, 515 to 171. The first Chiefs score came when Albert Lewis blocked his fourth punt of the year and Deron Cherry recovered in the end zone for a 7-0 KC lead. After a 47-yard Nick Lowery field goal gave the Chiefs three more points, Boyce Green returned a kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown, making it 17-3. The final score, which became the game's winning points, came late in the second quarter when Bill Maas blocked a field goal and Lloyd Burruss scooped it up and raced 78 yards for his fourth TD of the season. That 10-point swing gave the Chiefs a 24-6 halftime lead instead of possibly leading just 17-9. Despite the special team's heroics, the Steelers came back in the second half and scored 13 straight points to close the gap to 24-19. The Chiefs defense, despite allowing the most yardage of the season, limited Pittsburgh to field goals four times and held off the Steelers twice in the final seven minutes to preserve the five-point win. And the win instigated a KC celebration that hadn't occurred in 15 years.

AFC WILD CARD PLAYOFF GAME — JETS 35, CHIEFS 15 at New York (69,307)

The Chiefs long-awaited trek to the playoffs came to an abrupt halt in this first round game against the rejuvenated Jets. Although the Chiefs burst to a quick 6-0 lead, the Jets dominated the remainder of the game and rolled up a 35-15 triumph over Kansas City's first playoff team since 1971. The Jets, one of the NFL's top teams throughout most of the '86 campaign until losing their final five games, returned to their early season form. A Jets offense led by the running of Freeman McNeil and the passing of backup quarterback Pat Ryan, chosen earlier in the week to replace Ken O'Brien as the starter, and a defense that throttled the Chiefs struggling offense, combined for the 20-point victory. In the early stages, however, the Chiefs looked as if they would continue their winning streak. The defense stopped the Jets in three plays on the game-opening series, then Todd Blackledge, starting in place of injured Bill Kenney, led the offense on a nine-play, 67-yard drive. Jeff Smith dove over from the one-yard line, and after a failed PAT, the Chiefs held a 6-0 lead. But the Jets scored three touchdowns in their next four possessions, two on runs by McNeil and a third on a Ryan-to-Al Toon pass, taking a 21-6 halftime advantage. The big play of the game came on the first play of the second half, when Blackledge's sideline pass intended for Jonathan Hayes was picked off by

Jets LB Kevin McArthur, who raced 21 yards untouched for a back-breaking Jets a 28-6 lead and forced the Chiefs into a shotgun team a glimmer of hope early in the fourth quarter when Albert Lewis blocked a punt and recovered the ball in the end zone, narrowing the margin to 28-13. After another Jets touchdown, the Chiefs last gasp was taken away when they failed to score on fourth-and-goal from the two.
 The final scoring in the game came when Jets punter Dave Jennings voluntarily stepped out of the end zone instead of punting, giving the Chiefs a two-point safety and a 35-15 final.

CHIEFS RADIO NETWORK

The Chiefs are celebrating their 25th season in Kansas City in 1987 and for each of those years, 81/KCMO Radio has been the anchor station for play-by-play coverage. The station now handles the Chiefs Radio Network, a 50-plus station network that covers the five-state Midwest region of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Oklahoma. The network's broadcast team consists of Kevin Harlan, Len Dawson and Bill Grigsby. Harlan is in his third year as the Chiefs play-by-play voice and is joined by Dawson, the Chiefs all-time passing leader who enters the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1987, and Grigsby, who has been with Chiefs broadcasts since the team's first year in Kansas City.

CHIEFS CHAMPIONSHIP REVIEW

1962 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME DALLAS at HOUSTON December 23, 1962

A contest that moved the infant American Football League into the national consciousness proved to be the first of three AFL titles for Hank Stram's Texans/Chiefs.

Following second place finishes in each of the league's first two seasons, the Texans ran away with the AFL West championship in 1962. Dallas finished 11-3, a full four games in front, and was matched with the Houston Oilers, also 11-3, who had won the AFL title in 1960 and '61 over the Los Angeles, then San Diego Chargers.

The Texans, paced by a pair of touchdowns from Abner Haynes, took a 17-0 halftime advantage. Haynes scored first on a 28-yard pass from Len Dawson and then on a two-yard run after Tommy Brooker had given Dallas a 3-0 first-quarter advantage with a 16-yard field goal.

But the momentum quickly shifted to the Oilers in the second half. George Blanda, then a "young" 35-year-old, passed 15 yards to Willard Dewveall for a touchdown and kicked a 31-yard field goal before Charley Tolar burst over from the one to tie the game at 17-17 in the fourth quarter.

The two teams then went into the first sudden death overtime in AFL annals. The Texans won the toss and Stram elected to kick off, maintaining his defense could hold the Oilers long enough for Dawson to get the ball in good field position. Herein came the famous "kick to the clock" episode in which Texans captain Haynes inadvertently elected for his team to kick into the wind instead of having it as the consolation for not receiving the football.

Neither club mounted a serious challenge in the early stages of overtime, but as the fifth quarter was drawing to a close, Dallas defensive end Bill Hull intercepted a Blanda pass and returned to midfield. Dawson then passed to Jack Spikes for 10 yards. Spikes, the game's most valuable player, ran for 19 and the Texans were in field goal range. At the 2:54 mark of the sixth quarter, Brooker kicked a 25-yard field goal to give the Texans a 20-17 victory and the American Football League championship. The game lasted 77 minutes and 54 seconds and would be the longest in pro football history until the Chiefs and Miami Dolphins played over 82 minutes nearly a decade later in 1971.

1966 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

KANSAS CITY at BUFFALO

January 1, 1967

With a berth in Super Bowl I as the prize, the Chiefs visited ancient War Memorial Stadium for a New Year's Day clash with the defending AFL champion Buffalo Bills.

The game, played in frigid, sub-zero temperatures, produced its first break on the opening kickoff. Jerrel Wilson recovered a Bills fumble on the Buffalo 31-yard line. Three plays later, Len Dawson passed 29 yards to Fred Arbanas for the first touchdown and a 7-0 Kansas City lead.

Buffalo, though, tied the game near the end of the opening period when Jack Kemp hit Elbert Dubenion on a 69-yard pass play. Few thought it would be the Bills final score of the day.

The Chiefs defense stiffened and Dawson led the offense to 10 second-quarter points. Otis Taylor caught a 29-yard touchdown pass and Mike Mercer added a 32-yard field goal, aided by a 72-yard pass interception by Johnny Robinson.

Mike Garrett then applied the coup de grace for the Chiefs by scoring on runs of one and 18 yards. Kansas City won its second AFL title in four years and awaited the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl I.

SUPER BOWL I

KANSAS CITY vs. GREEN BAY

January 15, 1967

Representing themselves and the American Football League in the first championship match with the National Football League, the Chiefs played well for one half before bowing to the supremacy of the Green Bay Packers.

Vince Lombardi's Packers, one of the great pro football teams of all time, won Super Bowl I by a 35-10 score. But the Packers held a slim 14-10 advantage at the half before the game turned on one play in the third quarter.

Green Bay opened the scoring when Bart Starr passed 37 yards to Max McGee, McGee making a remarkable one-handed catch for the touchdown. Len Dawson tied the game for the Chiefs when he passed to Curtis McClinton for a second period touchdown. The Packers then went back on top, 14-7, before Mike Mercer kicked a 31-yard field goal just before the half ended.

The Chiefs momentum carried over into the third quarter as Kansas City moved to a first down on its initial possession. But then the game's key play, one that doomed the underdog Chiefs, unfolded when Willie Wood intercepted a Dawson pass intended for Fred Arbanas at midfield. Wood returned all the way to the Chiefs 5-yard line, where Elijah Pitts ran for a third Green Bay touchdown and an insurmountable 21-10 lead.

1969 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME KANSAS CITY at OAKLAND January 4, 1970

On the day the American Football League played the final game of its 10-year history, the Kansas Chiefs became the only three-time AFL champion. The Chiefs, through a curious playoff system, played their Western Division rivals, the Oakland Raiders, for the league's last title. Oakland, which had won the AFL West and held a pair of regular season wins over the Chiefs, went down to a 17-7 defeat.

The contest, unlike other Raiders-Chiefs matchups, was marked by turnovers. The two clubs managed one first-half touchdown apiece. Oakland's came on a three-yard run by Charlie Smith, Kansas City responding with a one-yard plunge by Wendell Hayes after Len Dawson had hit on passes of 14 yards to Otis Taylor and 41 yards to Frank Pitts.

In the third quarter, George Blanda twice missed field goal attempts that would have moved Oakland in front. Midway through the period, Kansas City mounted a drive from its own 2-yard line, the field position a result of a fumble which luckily was recovered before it bounded into the end zone. Dawson and Taylor pulled Kansas City out of the hole with a 35-yard pass and run play. Robert Holmes added 23 more on a flare pass in the left flat and then scored the go-ahead touchdown five plays later.

At this point the game became a defensive struggle. Led by defensive charges from the entire front four of Aaron Brown, Buck Buchanan, Curley Culp and Jerry Mays, the Chiefs continually harassed Raiders quarterback Daryle Lamonica. But the turnovers which would plague both teams were only beginning.

In the fourth quarter, turnovers gave Oakland the football three times in Kansas City territory. Three times the Chiefs responded with interceptions, one each by Jim Marsalis, Jim Kearney and Emmitt Thomas. Thomas' steal was his second of the day and covered 62 yards to the Oakland 18-yard line. Jan Stenerud's field goal provided a 17-7 lead and a return to the Super Bowl.

SUPER BOWL IV

KANSAS CITY vs. MINNESOTA

January 11, 1970

Kansas City's finest sports hour concluded at 5:20 in the afternoon of Sunday, January 11, 1970, when the Chiefs defeated the Minnesota Vikings, 23-7, for the world championship of pro football.

The Chiefs, who finished 11-3 on the season and defeated the New York Jets and Oakland in the playoffs, closed out their first decade as the outstanding team in the American Football League which, with Super Bowl IV, came to an end. Beginning in 1970, the two leagues merged, with the AFL becoming the American Football Conference of the NFL.

Minnesota, a prohibitive favorite, was 12-2 during the regular season and at one point had won 12 games in succession.

The Chiefs took an early lead when Jan Stenerud kicked a 48-yard first quarter field goal. Stenerud's kick remains a Super Bowl record. He then followed with field goals of 32 and 25 yards for a 9-0 lead.

Kansas City received the first break in the game when the Vikings Charlie West fumbled a kickoff and Remi Prudhomme recovered at the Minnesota 19-yard line. After an eight-yard loss, Len Dawson handed off to Wendell Hayes, who rambled for 13 yards up the middle on a draw play. A 10-yard pass to Otis Taylor gave the Chiefs a first down at the four. Three plays later, Mike Garrett burst off-tackle for the touchdown. The Chiefs held a 16-0 halftime lead, stunning the Vikings and a nationwide television audience.

Minnesota mounted a mild third-quarter comeback when Dave Osborn scored from four yards out to cut the margin to 16-7. But any hopes the Vikings had of getting closer were dashed by Otis Taylor, who lived up to his big-play reputation repeatedly through that season.

Dawson hit Taylor on a short hitch pattern, but when Earsell Mackbee missed the initial tackle, Taylor was loose down the right sideline, highstepping his way to a 46-yard touchdown. After three quarters, the Chiefs again held a 16-point lead.

As was so often the case in 1969, the defense came to the fore. Minnesota had the ball three times in the final period and, as in the Oakland game the previous week, the Chiefs snuffed out all three chances with interceptions. Middle linebacker Willie Lanier picked off a Joe Kapp pass to halt a rally at the Chiefs 34-yard line. Later on, Johnny Robinson, playing with what turned out to be three broken ribs, grabbed another errant Kapp throw. In the game's closing minutes, Emmitt Thomas intercepted his third pass of the playoffs. The Chiefs then ran out the clock to capture the AFL's second consecutive Super Bowl triumph.

CHIEFS HALL OF FAME

In tribute to those who have made outstanding contributions to the success of the Kansas City Chiefs Football Club, the team has established a Hall of Fame. New inductees are selected by a three-man committee, representing the Chiefs Booster Club, the area media and the Chiefs organization. The award is presented annually at the "101 Banquet."

PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The prestige of being inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame is a distinction reserved for only the elite personalities of pro football history. Four people who have played vital roles in the proud history of the Chiefs have been enshrined along with the other prominent football names. Team owner Lamar Hunt became the first AFL figure to be inducted into the Hall in 1972 and three Chiefs players have been added to the fabled list in the last five years. Linebackers Bobby Bell (1983) and Willie Lanier (1985) have been joined by the latest inductee, quarterback Len Dawson, who joins pro football immortals in this year's Class of 1987.

Dawson was the heart and soul of the Chiefs/Texans franchise during his illustrious career from 1962-75. During his tenure as the team's field general, Dawson helped make the Chiefs one of pro football's premier teams and he wound up among the elite passers in AFL and NFL history. Under Dawson's guidance, the Chiefs were perennial contenders and won AFL championships in 1962, 1966 and 1969. He led the team to two Super Bowls and was MVP of Super Bowl IV, the franchise's only World Championship. He won AFL individual passing titles in 1962, '64, '66 and '68. For many years, he was ranked as the No. 1 forward passer in history and with an 82.6 career rating, he still ranks eighth on the all-time list. Perhaps most of all, Dawson's playing career is remembered not only for his tremendous production, but also for his poise, firm leadership, intelligence and his classy demeanor. His place in Chiefs history went a long way in forming the franchise's rich tradition.

A year ago, Lanier became the second Chiefs player to be inducted when he was part of the Hall's Class of 1986. The Chiefs starting middle linebacker for 11 years, Lanier possessed a ferocious tackling style that made him a feared run-stopper, plus the speed and agility that helped him make 27 career interceptions. A second round draft choice in 1967, Lanier missed just five games during his 11 seasons. He played in two AFL All-Star games, five Pro Bowl games and helped the Chiefs to their only World Championship, a Super Bowl IV victory over Minnesota.

Bell became the first Chiefs player to be enshrined in the Hall when he was chosen with the Class of 1983. Possibly the best outside linebacker to ever play the game, Bell was a superb athlete and actually began his pro career at defensive end because the Chiefs needed help at that position when he was drafted in the seventh round in 1963. By the time he retired in '74, Bell had earned All-AFL or All-AFC designation for eight consecutive years. During that span, he starred on two AFL Championship teams, played in Super Bowls I and IV, and was named to the all-decade team in '69.

Hunt, who founded the American Football League in 1960 with his Dallas Texans franchise, became the first AFLer to be voted into the Hall in 1972. Described during his induction ceremonies as the "architect, designer and builder of an impossible dream," Hunt has been and still is considered one of the most prominent figures in professional football. He serves as the president of the American Football Conference and, since 1984, the conference championship game trophy has carried his name.

Quarterback great Len Dawson joins the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1987.

MACK LEE HILL AWARD

DINO HACKETT

Each year since 1966, the Chiefs veteran players have selected a recipient for the Mack Lee Hill Award. It is a tribute to the late Mack Lee Hill, an outstanding running back who played for the Chiefs in 1964 and 1965. He was described as a man who played as much with his heart as he did with his driving legs in the early days of the American Football League.

In memory and tribute to Hill, the award is presented annually to the Chiefs rookie, who, as the inscription on the trophy reads — “best exemplifies the spirit of the late Mack Lee Hill . . . the man with the giant heart and quiet way.”

In selecting the recipient, the Chiefs veterans look for a first-year player who has displayed the spirit and attitude of Mack Lee Hill.

The 1986 winner of the award was linebacker Dino Hackett. The team's second-round draft choice in '86 out of Appalachian State, Hackett owned a starting spot at inside linebacker from his first day in training camp and went on to lead the Chiefs in tackles with 140. The aggressive and hard-hitting Hackett was a leading candidate for NFL Rookie Defensive Player of the Year, finishing in the top three spots in most polls. He became the first linebacker to win the annual Mack Lee Hill Award.

Running back Mack Lee Hill bursts forward for yardage against the Raiders during his memorable two-year pro career with the Chiefs.
