AL SHERMAN: A SUCCESS STORY

AL SHERMAN

5th Year
Scarsdale, N. Y.

COACHING: Three NFL eastern division championships in four years! Thirty-five victories and 18 losses! A winning percentage of .660! This is the remarkable record compiled by Giant coach Allie Sherman since he took over the reins from Jim Lee Howell. For his efforts as a rookie coach, Sherman was named Coach of the Year in 1961 and again in 1962, making him the only NFL mentor ever to earn this distinction in successive years. Al was in the running again in 1963 when he led the Giants to their third straight divisional title with an 11-3 record. In 1964, however, it was a different story. Beset by injuries and bad luck, the Maramen slipped to a 2-10-2 record, and Sherman's amazing title-winning streak was at an end. But only a temporary end because Allie, one of the youngest men in the business, is too good a coach to stay down for long. Al's career with the Giants spans two periods. He was backfield coach under the late Steve Owen from 1949 to 1953, and one of his first jobs was the conversion of a rookie named Charlie Conerly from a single wing tailback to a T-formation quarterback. When Owen left in 1954 and Howell took over, Sherman moved to the Canadian League as head coach at Winnipeg (1954-55-56) and made the title playoffs three straight years. He returned to the NFL as a personnel scout for the Giants in 1957, and served in that capacity until replacing Vinnie Lombardi as offense coach in 1959. When Howell retired after 1960, the Giants didn't have to look far for his successor. Sherman coached in the Senior Bowl five times (1951-52-53-59-60) and in 1961, 1962 and 1963 he headed the Eastern eleven in the Pro Bowl classic. Prior to entering the pro ranks, Al coached at St. Joseph's Prep in Philadelphia (1946-47), and later helped install the T at Gettysburg College (1953). In 1948, as player coach, he led the Paterson (N. J.) Panthers to the American Association title.

PRO: Sherman was drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles in the war year of 1943, and played with Greasy Neale's club for five seasons, until 1947. Al was never more than a second-string quarterback behind Roy Zimmerman, but coach Neale credited the little lefthander with having "one of the sharpest football minds in the business." Sherman was originally brought to Philadelphia to help install the T formation.

SCHOOL: Allie attended Boy's High in New York City (1935-38) and then played four years of football under Lou Oshins at Brooklyn College. His biggest thrill came the day underdog Brooklyn rallied to whip City College, 28-21. Al passed for two touchdowns and scored the other two. In 1942, Sherman's junior year, Oshins installed the then-new T formation and put Al at quarterback. The lefthanded kid was so adept at running the Brooklyn T that Philadelphia pro scouts immediately grabbed him to operate the Eagles' T.

PERSONAL: Sherman was born on February 10, 1923. He has one sister, Miriam. He majored in psychology and economics at Brooklyn College and was graduated Cum Laude in 1942. He and his pretty wife Joan have three children, Randy, Lori and Robin. "Randy is interested in sports," smiles Al, "but somehow he always wants to be the coach instead of a player." Sherman has no particular hobby outside of looking at football films after the rest of the clan has retired for the night. "I never get tired of football," he admits.

GIANTS' ASSISTANT COACHES LINE COACH

ED KOLMAN

Temple, Bears, Giants

New Hyde Park, L. I.

COACHING: Kolman has been with the Giants since 1950, but missed three years (1957-59) when he left the coaching lines to enter private business. He returned to his first love in 1960 and has been instrumental in the winning of three NFL eastern division titles since then. In his early days with New York, Ed helped develop such all-pro linemen as Rosey Brown, Ray Wietecha and Jack Stroud. His more recent proteges have been all-pro guard Darrell Dess, center Greg Larson and guard Bookie Bolin.

PRO: A member of the powerhouse Chicago Bear teams of the early 1940's, Kolman played tackle alongside such greats as Lee Artoe and Jumbo Joe Stydahar. He took part in the Bears' ineffable 73-0 world championship win over Washington in 1940, saw full-time duty in the 37-9 win over the Giants for the 1941 title, and played in the 14-6 loss to Washington the following year. He returned to the Bears in 1946 after a military hitch and played in the 24-14 world title victory over the Giants at the Polo Grounds that year. A leg injury sidelined Kolman during 1948 and he was traded to New York, where he ended his playing career in 1949.

SCHOOL: Ed played football at Stuyvesant and Boy's High in New York and was All-Met at latter. He played varsity ball at Temple U. from 1937-1939, and twice won All-American honors.

PERSONAL: Born October 21, 1917, in Greenpoint section of Brooklyn, Ed and his wife Adele have two children, Edwina and Richard. Ed is a music lover who plays the violin; he had his own band in college. He works for the Austin-Nichols Company in the off-season in the New York area but also puts in a lot of time huddling with head coach Al Sherman. He served as a Navy lieutenant for three and a half years in World War II, and won the Bronze Star.

KEN KAVANAUGH

11th Year

LSU, Chicago Bears

Philadelphia, Pa.

COACHING: Kavanaugh joined the Giants in 1955 as an offensive end coach and has held that job ever since. The former Chicago Bear great works closely with head coach Al Sherman on end play and on the offensive passing game. Ken also acts as Sherman's press box spotter during the games, relaying information down to the sideline via telephone and Polaroid pictures. He served as an assistant coach at Villanova in 1954.

PRO: Ken was one of the most famous ends in NFL history as a member of the great Bear teams of the pre-war era. He played on the championship Chicago elevens of 1940, 1941, and 1946. He is the second highest scorer in Bear annals with 330 points and the No. 2 all-time Chicago touchdown-maker with 55. His remarkable receiving record shows one touchdown for every three passes caught. Ken is a member of the Chicago Bears' Hall of Fame and the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame.

SCHOOL: An All-American end at LSU from 1936-40, Ken also starred on the LSU baseball team, and made good as a minor leaguer before joining the Bears. His exploits at LSU won Ken a niche in the National Foundation Football Hall of Fame.

PERSONAL: Born November 23, 1916, at Little Rock, Ark., Ken operates a lumber business in Philadelphia. He and his wife Ann have two children. Kavanaugh served with the Air Force in World War II as a pilot and rose to the rank of captain. He flew 30 missions and earned the Air Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

OFFENSIVE BACKFIELD COACH

2nd Year

Great Neck, N. Y.

COACHING: Now in his second season as offensive backfield coach of the Giants, Harry Wright lends a wealth of coaching experience and football acumen to coach Allie Sherman's staff. Although he had no prior experience as a pro coach before joining the Giants, Harry is well qualified for the job. He started his career by turning out championship teams at Aquinas Institute in Rochester, N. Y. Then he coached at the U. of Portland and later moved to the U. of Georgia, serving as offensive backfield coach under Wally Butts from 1951-58. His last assignment before taking the Giant job was at the Kings Point Merchant Marine Academy, where he put football back on the map and compiled a record of 32 wins and 23 losses from 1958-63.

SCHOOL: Wright played football at Notre Dame in 1940-41-42. He started as a quarterback in his sophomore year but was switched to running guard by Frank Leahy in 1941. As a lineman, he continued to call signals for the Irish. He also starred in baseball and gymnastics at South Bend, winning three major letters. He was a durable 60-minute player who earned the name "Harry the Horse" because of his stamina.

PERSONAL: Harry was born on October 4, 1919, in New York City and has been a native son ever since. He attended Chaminade High in Mineola, L.I., before going to Notre Dame, and presently lives in Great Neck, L.I., with his wife, the former Claire Parcel, and their five children (four boys). In the off-season, Harry is employed by Broadway Maintenance Corp. During World War II, he served as a 1st Lieutenant in the Marine Corps. he is of Scotch-English descent.

DEFENSIVE COACH

FRANK (Pop) IVY ASSISTANT DEFENSIVE COACH

U. of Oklahoma, Cards Norman, Okla. 1st Year

COACHING: Pop Ivy is a veteran of head coaching assignments in three different professional leagues. In a long and distinguished career that has covered virtually every job in football, Ivy served as head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian League (1954-57), head coach of the St. Louis (nee Chicago) Cardinals (1958-61) and head coach of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League (1962-63). At Edmonton, he guided the Eskimos to three straight Grey Cup championships and a three-year record of 50-14. Incidentally, in Canada he was a coaching rival of his new boss, Allie Sherman, who was then head man at Winnipeg. Prior to his tour of duty North of the Border, Pop was an assistant to Bud Wilkinson at the U. of Oklahoma for six years. In 1964, the Giants hired Ivy as a personnel scout for the Southwest and Big Eight Conferences and, with the retirement of Andy Robustelli, Pop was offered the defensive coaching job in 1965.

PRO: After a brilliant career at Oklahoma, Ivy was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1940. Later that season he was traded to the Chicago Cardinals, the team he was to eventually coach. In 1942, Pop was the NFL's second best pass catcher behind the legendary Don Hutson. Frank caught 27 for 259 yards that year. Ivy served with the Army in Europe during World War II and then returned to the Cardinals from 1945 through 1947. In the latter part of his NFL career he put in some time as a defensive end.

SCHOOL: Ivy entered the U. of Oklahoma in 1936 following a fabulous career as a schoolboy athlete at Skiatook (Okla.) High. He played as a regular for three seasons and earned four varsity letters. He was an All-American selection in 1939, his senior year.

PERSONAL: Pop was born on January 25, 1916, in Skiatook, Okla. He and his wife, the former Inez Daniel, now live in Norman, Okla., with their two grown children, a boy and a girl. Frank received a degree in education at the U. of Oklahoma and works with industrial real estate when he's not coaching football. At the age of 49, Pop looks like he could still play a couple of fast quarters at end. He's 6-4 and a trim 220 pounds.

ASSISTANT DEFENSIVE COACH

EMLEN TUNNELL

U. of Iowa

3rd Year

Philadelphia, Pa.

COACHING: Although 1965 marks Tunnell's first season as a full-time coach, it is actually his third season as a member of the Giants' staff. In 1963 and 1964, Em combined his scouting chores with special coaching assignments in training camp. Now, as the first regular Negro coach in NFL history, the one-time all-pro defensive back will work under defensive coach Frank (Pop) Ivy on a regular basis. Naturally, Em's prime area of concern will be the secondary.

PRO: Tunnell walked into the offices of the Giants in the summer of 1948 and convinced the late T. J. Mara that he was good enough to play pro ball. Em was signed as a free agent and went on to a glorious career in the NFL. He was a great safetyman with the Giants for 11 years (1948-58) and then spent three additional seasons with Green Bay (1959-61) before retiring. Em was one of the true iron men of the sport. With the Giants he set a consecutive game record of 126, which still stands, and ran that string to 158 with the Packers. Tunnell still holds three NFL records—most career interceptions (79), most career punt returns (258) and most punt returns in a single season (38). Tunnell was a member of the Giants' celebrated "umbrella" defense but he also was a fellow who piled up lots of yardage for New York. In 1952 he gained 924 yards on interceptions and kick returns; the following year he totaled 819 yards the same way. They called him "... the offense in defense." He was a vicious head-on tackler in the secondary, a guy feared by every back who ran the ball around his side.

SCHOOL: Tunnell enrolled at Toledo University in 1942 but left shortly thereafter for a three-year Coast Guard wartime hitch that took him all over the South Pacific. After the war, he enrolled at the U. of Iowa and became a fine all-round performer in the Big Ten. He was a fine offensive back and a demon on defense. Em also earned letters in basketball.

PERSONAL: Emlen Lewis Tunnell was born on March 29, 1925, in Bryn Mawr, Pa. He was a standout athlete at Radnor High School in Wayne, Pa., and earned a scholarship to Toledo. Em served in the Coast Guard for 38 months and earned three invasion stars in World War II. He and his wife Patricia make their off-season home in Philadelphia.

KICKING COACH

KEN STRONG
N.Y.U., Giants

4th Year
Bayside, L. I.

Ken Strong, one of the truly great names in New York City football, is back for his fourth year as a member of coach Al Sherman's staff. In 1961, the former New York University All-American and one-time pro Giant star was hired as a special kicking coach and was put in charge of the project to convert punting ace Don Chandler into a placekicker to replace the departed Pat Summerall. That Strong did his tutoring job well was evidenced by Chandler's record—19 field goals in 28 attempts (best percentage in the NFL), 47 of 48 extra points, a one-season Giant scoring record of 104 points and another club record of four field goals in a single game, a feat he accomplished twice during 1962. Chandler continued his amazing kicking in 1963 as he accounted for 106 points to win the NFL scoring title. Ken Strong is indeed well qualified for the job of kicking coach. In an eight-year career with the Giants (1933-35, 1939 and 1944-47) he established himself as one of the game's greatest kickers. He also was a fine half-back, a good runner and blocker, but kicking the football was easily his forte. His punting average over the years was always near 45 yards; he booted 147 extra points, 67 in a row over one span; he kicked 36 field goals, and his talented toe was instrumental in piling up a career total of 351 points, second only to Frank Gifford's 442 in alltime Giant scoring. In 1934, Ken personally accounted for 72 points, quite a feat in an era of low scoring defensive games. Strong starred in baseball and football at N.Y.U. from 1926-28, winning All-American grid honors in his senior year when he led the nation's collegiate scorers with 162 points. After graduating, he joined the professional Staten Island Stapletons but in 1933 Tim Mara persuaded him to sign with the Giants. For the next three seasons he was a bulwark of Steve Owen's great clubs, and was a standout performer in the memorable "sneaker game" of 1934 against the Bears. After that, Ken's career led him to the N. Y. Yankees and the Jersey City Giants. He returned to the Maramen in 1939 but a broken back put him on the sidelines. In the war years, the Giants re-hired Strong as a kicking specialist, and he played from 1944 through 1947. Still trim and vigorous, Ken now lives with his family in Bayside, L. I. He works for the Mason-Burrows Wholesale Liquor House and is active in the affairs of the Touchdown Club of New York. Ken is a member of not one—but three—Halls of Fame, the Helms Foundation college and professional Halls of Fame and National Football Hall of Fame.

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

JIM LEE HOWELL

Englewood, N. J.

In a quarter of a century with the Football Giants, towering, affable and efficient Jim Lee Howell has filled a variety of posts—player, assistant coach, head coach and now director of player personnel. Jim Lee joined the Giants in 1937 after a brilliant athletic career at the U. of Arkansas (he was a member of the U.S. Olympic basketball team and was among the fine crop of rookies who led the Maramen to the world title in 1938 and eastern crowns in 1939 and 1941. He was a regular two-way Giant end for a total of nine years, 1937-42 and 1946-48, his career being interrupted for a wartime hitch with the Marines in the South Pacific. Upon the completion of his playing days, Howell served as end coach under Steve Owen from 1949-53. During the same period, he was head coach at Wagner College. He moved into the No. 1 job when Owen departed in 1953. Over a seven-year period with Howell as head coach, New York won three divisional titles (1956-58-59) and one world championship (1956). Three of Howells assistants are now head coaches in their own right—Al Sherman (Giants), Tom Landry (Dallas) and Vin Lombardi (Green Bay). And one of his former players, Harland Svare, is now head coach of the Los Angeles Rams. When Jim Lee retired from the coaching lines after the 1960 campaign, he immediately was named director of player personnel for the Giants. In this job, he supervises the club's far-flung and ever-expanding recruiting system, works in close liaison with the scouts and correlates the voluminous material compiled on college players from every section of the land. Thanks to his years in the game and a wealth of experience, Jim Lee is ideally suited for such a position. He is very popular with the college coaches and athletic directors with whom he must work to keep the talent flowing in New York's direction each year. Howell still owns a large farm in his home town of Lonoke, Ark., but spends most of his time in Englewood, N. J., with his wife Sue and their four children, Tim, Mark, Susan and James Lee, Jr.

VETERAN PLAYER BIOGRAPHIES

JOHN ADAMS	Offensive End	7th Year
Cal. St. at L.A.	27 235 6-3	Van Nuys, Calif.

PRO: Adams was the fourth draft selection of the Chicago Bears in 1959, but was traded to the Los Angeles Rams prior to the 1963 season. The Giants picked him up on waivers at the close of the 1964 campaign. As a pro, John has played five different offensive positions—fullback, left half, left end, tight end, and right end. He is expected to see action as a tight end with New York.

SCHOOL: John was one of L.A. State's first gridiron heroes. In 1958 he carried the ball 114 times for 718 yards and an average of 6.4. He also netted 326 yards on nine kickoff returns. In a game against the University of Mexico, John ran a kickoff back 103 yards, scored another touchdown on a 20-yard run, and threw one touchdown pass for a total of 393 yards.

PERSONAL: Adams was born November 28, 1937, in San Diego. He is married to the former Kaye Neilson and they have two sons. In the off-season, John is a loan consultant for the Surety Savings and Loan of Burbank.

ROGER ANDERSON	Offensive Tackle	2nd Year
Virginia Union	22 265 6-5	Arlington, Va.

PRO: Picked seventh in the 1964 player draft, Anderson was first tried as a defensive tackle, but later the big rookie was switched to the offensive where he became a regular. Roger is an aggressive lineman with size and speed, and he is being counted on this season to continue to develop as an outstanding offensive tackle.

SCHOOL: Roger earned four football letters at Virginia Union and was a three-time member of the Central Intercollegiate A.A. first team. He set a school defensive record by making 20 unassisted tackles in a single ball game.

PERSONAL: Anderson was born on November 11, 1942, in Bedford, Va., and attended high school in Oxford, N. C. He holds a B.A. degree in elementary education and hopes someday to become a physical therapist. He is married.

ERICH BARNES	Defensive Back	8th Year
Purdue University	30 198 6-3	Englewood, N. J.

PRO: Barnes was drafted No. 4 by the Chicago Bears in 1958, and came to the Giants at the start of the 1961 season as part of a three-team deal that sent Giant defensive star Lindon Crow to Los Angeles and Ram quarterback Billy Wade to Chicago. His four-season total with the Giants shows 18 interceptions for 282 yards. In 1961, his first year as a Giant, Erich grabbed seven enemy aerals and returned them 195 yards. One of these was the record-tying 102 yard interception jaunt against Dallas in the Cotton Bowl. Barnes is an ideal corner back—big, fast, rugged and a vicious tackler. Erich has appeared in four Pro Bowl games.

SCHOOL: Barnes was a standout all-around performer at Purdue University. He lettered two seasons as a halfback and then played one year at offensive end. He and quarterback Len Dawson collaborated on the longest Purdue pass-run play, 95 yards, against Northwestern in 1956. Erich also was a star ¼-miler on Purdue's track team and a regular in basketball.

PERSONAL: Born on July 4, 1935, in Elkhart, Ind. He is married to the former Doris Williams and they have two daughters. Erich says his biggest thrill as a pro, outside of his 102-yard touchdown run, was the day Coach Al Sherman put him in for one offensive play against the Philadelphia Eagles and he caught a 62-yard touchdown pass from Y. A. Tittle. In the off-season Erich is sales manager for a hosiery company.

TREVA (BOOKIE) BOLIN Guard 4th Year
U. of Mississippi 25 240 6-2 Okolona, Miss.

PRO: Bolin was drafted on the fifth round as a "future" for the 1963 season but was signed by the Giants in 1962 when the NCAA ruled him ineligible for further collegiate competition. As a rookie, he saw part-time duty at guard and was a leading member of the "suicide squads"—the kickoff and punting teams. For the past two years he has been New York's regular right guard.

SCHOOL: Bookie was a regular guard for Ole Miss in his sophomore and junior seasons. He won three varsity letters, two in football, and played in the 1961 Sugar Bowl and the 1962 Cotton Bowl. He won acclaim as one of the top linemen ever developed at Mississippi.

ROOSEVELT BROWN Offensive Tackle 13th Year
Morgan State 33 255 6-3 Teaneck, N. J.

PRO: Drafted No. 27 for the 1953 season in what is generally regarded as one of the greatest "sleeper" picks of all time, Rosey has been named to the Pro Bowl game for seven years in a row, and is a perennial All Pro selection at tackle. In 1956, when the Giants won the world title, Rosey was named Lineman of the Year by the Associated Press. He ranks with top offensive tackles in league history. Brown is big, fast, agile, and a fine downfield blocker. He is also used to reinforce the defensive forward wall on goal-line stands.

When John LoVetere was sidelined with a knee injury, John filled in for him and did an impressive job until he in turn, suffered torn ligaments in his knee and had to undergo an operation. Contoulis is a big, fast and powerful lineman who should get even better after his busy rookie campaign.

SCHOOL: John captained the U. of Connecticut team and was a standout two-way tackle who made the Little All-American third team and was an All-New England first team selection for two seasons. PRO: Signed as a free agent prior to the 1964 campaign on the advice of backfield coach Harry Wright, Costello spent most of the season on the Giants' taxi squad but saw limited action near the end of the year when injuries depleted the New York roster. Tom impressed Allie Sherman with his hard-nosed, aggressive defensive play. He could be used as a tight end, too, a position he played in high school and college.

SCHOOL: Tom started out at the University of Miami in 1959 but transferred to Dayton the following year and was a regular with the Flyers for three seasons. He saw service as an end and as a defensive halfback but eventually outgrew the latter position.

Bobby came to the Giants prior to the 1964 season in a straight player trade for veteran defensive tackle Dick Modzelewski. With the Giants in 1964, Bob caught 12 passes for 165 yards. He can play either flanker or tight end.

SCHOOL: Bobby was an All-American halfback at Mississippi and set a Senior Bowl record with nine catches in 1960. He was a regular offensive guard for the Steelers before being acquired by the Giants in 1959 in a trade for fullback C. R. Roberts. Dess played several years as an unheralded guard but in 1963 he made just about every All-Pro team and was elected to the Pro Bowl squad. He is generally regarded "one of the top three guards in pro football."

SCHOOL: Dess won three varsity football letters at North Carolina State. He was All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in senior year and starred in 1957 Blue-Gray game. Darrell saw collegiate service as a center, guard and tackle. He won a letter in wrestling, too.

JERRY HILLEBRAND Linebacker 3rd Year
Colorado U. 25 240 6-3 Davenport, Iowa

PRO: Hillebrand was the Giants' No. 1 draft pick for the 1962 season after a sensational college career which earned him All-American honors as an end at Colorado. He was carried on the taxi squad his first season, and in 1963 he made the squad as a corner linebacker. Hillebrand was nominated to take over the middle linebacker vacancy created by the Sam Huff trade in 1964. However, a knee injury sidelined Jerry for most of the campaign and while he was out, rookie Lou Slaby won the middle job. So when Hillebrand returned, he found himself back at the corner. This season Jerry is also a candidate for the place kicking chores.

SCHOOL: Jerry was a unanimous All-American at the University of Colorado in 1961. He also earned all-conference and all-state honors in football and basketball. He holds the Colorado school record of most yards gained on pass receptions in one game—137. He also kicked a record 54-yard field goal. PERSONAL: Hillebrand was born on March 28, 1940, in Davenport, Iowa, where he still makes his off-season home. He is married to the former Judith Posatiri. Jerry spent six months in the U.S. Marine Corps prior to reporting to the Giants in 1962. He majored in physical education but is undecided as to what he wants to do in the future.

DICK JAMES Offensive Back 10th Year
Oregon 31 185 5-9 Ridgefield, Conn.

PRO: James was the Washington Redskins' No. 8 draft choice for 1956 and he developed into the most versatile back in the club's history. The first time he touched a ball as a Redskin he ran 83 yards for a touchdown against the Rams, and he kept right on going over the next nine seasons. His career totals including one season as a Giant, are: 502 rushes for 1,930 yards; 104 catches for 1,669 yards; 119 punt returns for 937 yards; 178 kickoff returns for 4,464 yards and 34 touchdowns. Against the Eagles in 1958, Dick won awards as the game's outstanding player on offense and defense, a rare accomplishment in this day and age of the one-way specialist. He holds the Redskin one-game scoring record of 24 points, and in 1961 he earned the Hecht Award as "Redskin Player of the Year." James came to the Giants along with Andy Stynchula in 1964 in the trade that sent Sam Huff to Washington.

SCHOOL: Despite his small stature, James was a fine all-around halfback at the U. of Oregon. He won three letters and demonstrated his versatility by leading the club in rushing, receiving and scoring for two years. He was chosen for the East-West Shrine game but had to withdraw when he broke both wrists in a freak driving accident.

PERSONAL: James was born on May 22, 1934, in Grants Pass, Ore. He is married to the former Jeanne Paulding of Washington, D. C., and they have five children, Randy, Eddie, Colleen, Debbie and Johnny. HOMER JONES Offensive Halfback 2nd Year
Texas Southern 24 205 6-2 Pittsburgh, Tex.

PRO: Jones was the No. 20 draft choice of the Giants for the 1963 season, even though at the time he already had signed with Houston of the American Football League. However, Homer was plagued by a knee injury at Houston and was released. He called the Giants and asked if they would be interested in giving him a trial. Coach Al Sherman replied, "Yes." Jones showed the Giants enough to warrant keeping him on the taxi squad in 1963 and part of 1964. When he was activated late in the 1964 season, Homer was used on the kicking teams and at flanker. With the retirement of Frank Gifford, Jones became a leading candidate for the vacated flanker position.

SCHOOL: Homer was a two-sport star at Texas Southern, winning three letters each in football and track. On the gridiron, he led Texas Southern in pass receiving for two years. As a dash man in track, Jones ran the hundred in 9.3 and set a Southwest Athletic Conference record of 20.7 in the 220. He won four gold medals for the U.S. track team that humbled the Russians in Moscow in 1960. He was all-conference in football.

PERSONAL: Homer Carroll Jones was born on February 18, 1941, in Pittsburg, Tex., where he still lives. He majored in industrial education in college but still has time to go for his degree.

JIM KATCAVAGEDefensive End*10th Year*U. of Dayton*30 240 6-3*Philadelphia, Pa.

PRO: Jim was drafted No. 4 in 1956, joining the Giants at the same time as such other top rookie picks as Sam Huff and Don Chandler. He immediately won a starting berth at defensive end and was a big factor in the Giants' 1956 world championship. "Kat' can play either defensive end or tackle but coach Al Sherman prefers him at end, where he won All-Pro honors in the 1961, 1962 and 1963 AP and UPI polls. Jim used to be called "one of the most under-rated players" on the defense but now he ranks with the NFL's top defensive ends. He starred in the 1963 and 1964 Pro Bowl Games.

SCHOOL: Katcavage co-captained the Dayton eleven. He played end on both offense and defense, but the latter was his specialty. He made the All-American team in 1955 and also the Catholic All-American squad. Jim played in the East-West game in 1955 and the College All-Star game the following year.

PERSONAL: Jim was born on October 28, 1934, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He is married to the former Catherine Gould. "Kat's" brother, Bob, played for the U. of Dayton eleven. Jim served six months as an Army PFC. In the off-season, Jim is in the concrete sales business in New York. At Dayton, Katcavage majored in industrial management. He is of Lithuanian descent.

GREG LARSONCenter*5th Year*Minnesota*25 250 6-3*Minneapolis, Minn.

PRO: Larson was the Giants' No. 6 draft choice for 1961. Originally the plan was to use him at center, but Greg was moved to tackle as a rookie and won the starting job despite the fact that he hadn't played that position since his high school days. In 1962, Greg was shifted to guard and again the husky youngster responded with a superb performance as the Giants won the divisional title. When Ray Wietecha retired in 1963, Larson finally made it to his chosen position—center—and was a tower of strength in the middle of the line for the eastern champs. Greg suffered torn ligaments in his knee during the 1964 season and underwent surgery.

SCHOOL: Greg was the regular center and linebacker for Minnesota's 1961 Rose Bowl team. He was an AP and UPI All-Conference selection, All-Big Ten and also made the Catholic All-American team. He played in the Rose Bowl, Senior Bowl and College All-Star games.

PERSONAL: Larson was born on November 15, 1939. He is married to the former Josephine Blegen, and they have two children. Greg works in the investments field between seasons and someday he hopes to become a stock broker. He is of Swedish descent. He is one of the most dedicated football men on the Giants squad. He spent as much as four hours a day lifting weights at home during the off-season to try and strengthen his injured knee.

FRANK LASKY Offensive Tackle 2nd Year
U. of Florida 23 265 6-2 Gainesville, Fla.

PRO: The Giants pin-pointed Lasky as a "future" on the second round in 1963. Scout Peahead Walker called him "the finest tackle in college football" after Frank's fine junior season at Florida. A serious muscle injury in training camp in 1964 put Frank on the sidelines, and he was subsequently claimed by San Francisco 49ers on "conditional" waivers. When the injury prevented him from taking full part in the 49er training camp routine, Lasky was returned to the Giants. Still convinced of Frank's potential, Coach Allie Sherman retained him on the taxi squad until his leg healed. Then, later in the season, Lasky was activated and saw considerable service at offensive tackle.

SCHOOL: Lasky ranks as one of the top linemen in University of Florida annals. He won All-Southeastern Conference honors in 1962 and was a pre-season selection on many of the 1963 All-American teams. He starred in the 1962 Gator Bowl game, and also played in the North-South Shrine game and the Senior Bowl. Prior to entering Florida, Lasky attended Northeast Oklahoma Junior College.

PERSONAL: Frank was born on October 4, 1941, in New York City, but spent most of his boyhood in Coral Gables, Fla. He is married to the former Joanne Lacaff. Lasky plans to finish work toward his degree at the University of Florida, and then enter coaching as a profession. He is of Polish descent.

JOHN LO VETERE Defensive Tackle 7th Year
Compton J.C. 29 285 6-4 Cypress, Calif.

PRO: The Giants acquired LoVetere from the Los Angeles Rams for Rosey Grier prior to the 1963 season—and it was one of the best moves the club ever made. The big guy was a pillar of strength at defensive tackle during the Maramen's drive to their third straight eastern championship. John gave the forward line another great pass rusher. LoVetere was the Rams' top defensive lineman for four years despite the fact that he was only a free agent with no major college experience. He was the club's Rookie of the Year in 1959 and earned MVP awards in 1960 and 1961. In 1960, Big John personally blocked five enemy kicks, a figure believed to be a league record. During the 1964 season, LoVetere suffered torn ligaments in his knee and underwent an operation.

SCHOOL: LoVetere attended Compton Junior College for two seasons but did not play varsity football. But he was scouted by the Rams while playing for Ft. Campbell in Kentucky and was signed immediately after being discharged from the Army.

PERSONAL: Born on May 31, 1936, in Boston, Mass., John is the oldest of eight brothers. He and his wife Evelyn have two children and live in Cypress, Calif. His favorite pastimes are hunting and weight-lifting. He used to spend a lot of time at the Los Angeles Athletic Club working out with shot-putting champion Dallas Long, another weight-lifting bug. LoVetere attended Paramount High in Los Angeles and once ran the hundred in 9.8. John is of French descent.

DICK LYNCH	Defensive Back	8th Year
Notre Dame	29 198 6-1	Douglaston, N. Y.

PRO: Lynch was drafted No. 6 by the Washington Redskins in 1958 and was a regular defensive halfback most of his rookie season. The Giants acquired him in a spring trade in 1959, giving up a fourth draft choice for the ex-Notre Dame star. With New York, Dick has blossomed into one of the finest defensive backs in the N.F.L. He was the league interception champion in 1961 with nine steals, and repeated as champion in 1963 with an equal number. He ran back three of his 1963 interceptions for touchdowns, however, which set a league record. Dick is one of the hardest tacklers in the business and a tough man to beat in any situation. Lynch's interceptions in 1964 fell off to four when an ankle injury sidelined him for the second half of the season.

SCHOOL: Dick won three football letters at Notre Dame and was Irish ground-gaining leader and top defensive back. He is best remembered as the back who scored the touchdown in memorable 7-0 win over Oklahoma which snapped Sooner's 47-game winning streak. He won All-midwest honors and played in 1958 All-Star Game and North-South classic.

PERSONAL: Lynch was born April 29, 1936, in Oceanside, L.I. He has five brothers and two sisters. He attended St. Philip and St. James High in New Jersey. He lives on Long Island and works as sales-promotion man for the Weyerhaeuser Co., Shorewood Division, a printing company.

JAMES MORAN Defensive Tackle 2nd Year
U. of Idaho 23 270 6-5 Spokane, Wash.

PRO: Moran was the No. 10 draft choice of the Giants for the 1964 season, and is regarded as one of the most promising linemen to join the club in recent years. Jim's progress in training camp was interrupted by an ankle injury he suffered while practicing with the College All-Stars. He was placed on the taxi squad early in the season and was activated later on when he turned in several impressive performances at defensive tackle.

SCHOOL: At Idaho, Jim earned Lineman of the Week honors on several occasions and was a tower of strength as a defensive tackle in his senior year. Coach Dee Andros said of him, "Jim is the kind of lineman who makes your linebackers look great." Moran was the first Vandal to be named to the Senior Bowl since Jerry Kramer (Green Bay). Jim also was on the College All-Star roster for 1964.

PERSONAL: James Harry Moran was born on May 4, 1942, in Spokane, Wash., where he still makes his home. He was graduated from Gonzaga Prep in 1960. He and his wife, the former Eleanor Hagenbarth, who were married before they left high school, are the parents of five children. Jim majored in physical education at Idaho and finished work toward his degree at Gonzaga University. He hopes to teach and coach.

JOE MORRISON Offensive Halfback 7th Year
Cincinnati 28 212 6-1 Lima, O.

PRO: Morrison was the No. 3 draft selection for the 1959 season, and developed into one of the finest rookie finds in Giant annals. Joe gained 747 yards by rushing, receiving and running back kicks as a freshman in the NFL. He played both halfback spots when Gifford and Webster were injured. Morrison is not overly fast, but runs with power and nifty change of pace. He was the club's second best ground-gainer in 1960 with 346 yards, and also caught 29 passes for another 367 yards. In 1961, when injuries hit the Giants' secondary, Morrison was switched to defense and finished up as the regular left safety. He intercepted two passes, one of which set up the Giants' only TD in the division-clinching 7-7 tie with Cleveland. As an all-purpose back in 1962, Joe carried 35 times for 146 yards and caught six passes for 107 yards. Morrison had his best rushing year in 1963 with 568 yards on 119 carries. Joe was the Giants' starting halfback in 1964 and had 45 carries for 138 yards. When an ulcer attack forced Del Shofner out of the lineup, Morrison switched to Del's split end position and finished as the second highest Giant receiver with 40 catches for 505 yards.

SCHOOL: Joe was one of Cincinnati's all-time greats. He set a school career scoring record of 128 points, and tied another individual mark at 21 touchdowns in three varsity seasons. Morrison was a standout quarterback in soph and junior seasons but was switched to halfback in 1958. He led Missouri Valley Conference scorers in 1959 with 56 points and caught 27 passes for 303 yards. Joe gained 467 yards rushing for a 4.7 yard average and also starred on defense.

DAVE O'BRIEN Offensive Tackle 3rd Year
Boston College 24 247 6-3 Watertown, Mass.

PRO: O'Brien was drafted No. 13 by the Minnesota Vikings for the 1963 season. He saw service as a reserve guard and tackle on offense as a rookie and also played on the "suicide" teams. The Giants obtained Dave from the Vikings in May of 1965 in a straight player trade for defensive end Bob Taylor. Coach Allie Sherman plans to use O'Brien at offensive tackle.

SCHOOL: Dave turned down scholarship offers from Tufts, Colby and Brandeis to attend Boston College because "... they had a new approach to mathematics that interested me." He won two letters as a regular tackle at B.C. and was all-Yankee Conference and all-New England. O'Brien also earned letters in track as a shotputter and hammer throw man.

PERSONAL: O'Brien was born on June 13, 1941, in Cam-

PRO: Owens was the San Francisco 49ers' 14th draft choice as a future in 1956, and he first played in the NFL in 1957 when he made famous his "Alley Oop" touchdown catches. In his five years with 'Frisco, Owens caught 176 passes for 2,296 yards and 120 points. After playing out his option with San Francisco in 1962, he was signed as a free agent by the Baltimore Colts. DICK PESONEN	Defensive Back	6th Year
Minnesota (Duluth)	27 190 6-0	New York City

PRO: Pesonen was signed as a free agent by the Green Bay Packers in 1960 and was acquired by Minnesota the following year when Green Bay put him in the players' pool to help stock the new Viking franchise. The Giants obtained Dick in a 1962 trade for veteran linebacker Cliff Livingston and a high draft choice. He filled in capably at defensive halfback that first year, and in 1963 he won a starting berth at safety. Dick was one of the many Giants who fell prey to the injury jinx in 1964 and consequently he saw very little action.

SCHOOL: Dick attended the University of Minnesota for one year and then transferred to the U. of Minnesota Duluth branch, where he won all-conference honors at halfback in 1959 and set six school records. He captained the Duluth eleven and gained Little All-American honorable mention in 1959. Pesonen also won two letters in basketball. As an offensive halfback, Dick twice scored four TDs and rushed for 190 yards during the 1959 season.

PERSONAL: Pesonen was born on June 10, 1938, in Grand Rapids, Minn. He is married to the former Barbara Anderson, and they reside in New York City. Dick is an avid golfer and holds the competitive record at the Proctor, Minn., course. He also spends a lot of time fishing and hunting. Pesonen is in the printing business in the off-season. He is of Finnish descent.

HENRY SCHICHTLE Quarterback 2nd Year
U. of Wichita 23 190 6-2 Wichita, Kan.

PRO: Schichtle was the Giants' sixth-round draft choice for the 1964 season. He made the squad as the No. 3 quarterback behind Y. A. Tittle and Gary Wood. Although Henry saw no action last season, he is regarded as a solid NFL prospect.

SCHOOL: There aren't many records at the U. of Wichita that Henry Schichtle doesn't hold. In 1963, his senior year, he was seventh among major college scorers with 68 points, finished ninth in total offense with 1,609 yards on 222 plays and personally was responsible for 142 points. Schichtle set school records by completing 90 passes in 159 attempts. Twelve of these aerials went for touchdowns, another Wichita record, and Henry set yet another mark by averaging 178.9 yards per game on offense. He also kicked three field goals, one a 42-yarder, and added 17 extra points. His best day came against Louisville. He passed for 335 yards and three TD's, scored two other touchdowns running and kicked five straight conversions. Schichtle's exploits earned him All-Missouri Valley Conference honors and All-American honorable mention. Before going to Wichita, he attended Coffeyville (Kan.) J.C. and the University of Hawaii. He won college letters in baseball and golf.

PERSONAL: Schichtle was born on October 13, 1941, in Tulsa, Okla., but grew up in Coffeyville, Kan. He is single, and he has not yet decided what he wants to do when his football days are over. His boyhood idol was Billy Vessels of Oklahoma. He is of German descent.

TOM SCOTT Linebacker 13th Year
Virginia 35 220 6-2 New Canaan, Conn.

PRO: Scott was obtained from the Philadelphia Eagles prior to the 1959 season and has been a bulwark for the Giants' defensive unit ever since. The veteran linebacker won a regular corner spot in 1960 and is still there. The Eagles originally obtained Scotty from the Los Angeles Rams. Tom was a long-time member of the Eagles' famed "Suicide Seven" defensive squad. He plays either end or linebacker and is regarded as one of the toughest guys on the New York team.

SCHOOL: Tom earned All-American honors in two sports at Virginia—football and lacrosse, one of the few men ever to achieve this "double". He captained the Cavalier football team and won All-South laurels two straight years (1951-52). He also won letters in baseball and basketball. Tom played in the East-West game in 1952 and the College All-Star game in 1953.

PERSONAL: Scott was born on September 3, 1930, in Baltimore, Md. He is married to the former Joan Davis and they have five children—Tom, David, Sandy, Mike and Pat. He is of English-German descent.

DEL SHOFNER	Offensive End	9th Year
Baylor University	30 190 6-3	San Marino, Calif.

PRO: The Los Angeles Rams had two first-round draft picks in 1956—their own, of course, and one they had received from the Giants in exchange for defensive end Andy Robustelli. The Rams chose Jon Arnett and then, using the Giants' No. 1 selection, they drafted Del Shofner. As a rookie in 1957, Shofner played defensive halfback for the Rams. In 1958, however, he was moved to offensive end and immediately became a sensation by catching 51 passes for a league high of 1,097 yards. Del had another good year in 1959 with 47 receptions but injuries slowed him down the following season and, prior to the 1961 campaign, he was traded to the Giants for a No. 1 draft choice. Del responded by catching 68 passes for 1,125 yards, tops in the NFL, as New York won the eastern title. In 1962 he again finished high on the league receiving list with 53 for 1,133 yards and 12 touchdowns. His third year with the Giants (1963) was also a brilliant one—64 catches for 1,181 yards. Stomach ulcers, an old nemesis, put Shofner on the sidelines for the second half of the 1964 season, and his pass reception total was a mere 22 catches for 323 yards. In his NFL career, Del has won All Pro designation five times (twice with the Rams and three times with New York) and has appeared in five Pro Bowl games. Shofner was a punter with the Rams and owns a career average of 43 yards per kick.

SCHOOL: Del entered Baylor College in Waco, Tex., in September, 1953, and graduated in 1957 after one of the most brilliant football, track and basketball careers in the school's history. All told, he won seven varsity letters—three in football, two in baseball and two in track. In 1956 he led Baylor in rushing, scoring, receiving, punting, pass interceptions, punt and kickoff returns—every department except passing. In addition, his 60 points and 40.7 punting average led the Southwest Conference in these categories. As a running half-back, Del averaged 6.1 yards per carry during his three varsity seasons. A 9.8 sprinter, he ran the anchor leg on the Baylor half-mile relay team which won that event at the Drake, Texas and Kansas relays, and on the 440-yard relay team which tied the world record at 40.2. In basketball, the 6-3 stringbean was regular forward for three years. Del played in the 1957 Sugar Bowl against Tennessee and was named the MVP. He also played in the 1954 Gator Bowl, the Senior Bowl and the College All Star game. All this was accomplished despite the fact that Shofner suffered severely from anemia and ulcers all during his career at Baylor.

PERSONAL: Shofner was born on December 11, 1934, in Center, Tex., and he was an all-round athletic star at Center High before winning a scholarship to Baylor. Del comes from a family of seven children, two boys and five girls, and he is of German-English descent. He majored in math at Baylor and was an above-average student. He is married to the former Carol Seley and they have a daughter. Shofner plays golf as often as he can when he isn't working in sales on the West Coast. Del spent six months as a Pfc. in the Army reserve.

Came to Giants

LOU SLABY Middle Linebacker 2nd Year
U. of Pittsburgh 23 235 6-3 Salem, Ohio

PRO: Slaby was drafted on the fifth round by the Giants for the 1963 season and after an impressive showing in training camp, was retained on the taxi squad that year. The trade of Sam Huff and an injury to Huff's heir-apparent, Jerry Hillebrand, in 1964 gave Lou the chance he had been waiting for. He stepped into the middle linebacking spot and did such a convincing job that Hillebrand was kept at corner linebacker when he came off the injured list. Lou played every minute on defense and was a fine middle linebacker when his rookie season ended.

SCHOOL: Lou was listed as a fullback with Pittsburgh but spent most of his playing time as a corner man on defense. He was a keen diagnostician and was regarded as the most aggressive tackler on the Panther squad. He won three football letters and also played basketball. Lou took part in the 1962 All-American Bowl game and the 1963 Crusader Bowl.

PERSONAL: Slaby was born on December 13, 1941, in Cleveland O., and now lives in Salem, O. A bachelor, Lou received his degree in mechanical engineering at Pittsburgh last spring. He hopes to enter the field of industrial management some day. Lou is a quiet fellow who spends his leisure hours reading or listening to music. He is of Slovak descent.

ANDY STYNCHULA	Defensive End	6th Year
Penn State	26 250 6-3	Fairfax, Va.

PRO: Stynchula was the No. 3 draft pick of the Washington Redskins for the 1960 season and won the starting right end job on defense in his very first scrimmage. He played in 36 consecutive games until an injury forced him to miss his first contest. He came to the Giants in 1964 along with Dick James in the trade that sent Sam Huff to Washington. Andy can play either tackle or end but coach Allie Sherman plans to use him at the latter position this year.

SCHOOL: Andy earned three letters at Penn State, playing both end and tackle for the Nittany Lions. He played in the 1959 Liberty Bowl, the 1959 Blue-Gray game and in the Senior Bowl and College All-Star games in 1960.

PERSONAL: Stynchula was born on January 7, 1939, in Greenwald, Pa. His family later moved to Latrobe, Pa., where he was a three-sport star in high school. He is married to the former Theresa Koss of Beaver, Pa., and they have two children, Andy Michael 4, and Tammy Ann, 2. He has a degree in business administration.

AARON THOMAS	Offensive End	5th Year
Oregon State	27 210 6-3	Portland, Ore.

PRO: Thomas was the fourth round draft pick of the San Francisco 49ers in 1961 and came into the NFL with the reputation of being one of the brightest young receiving stars in many years. The Giants acquired Aaron at the start of the 1962 season in a straight player deal for halfback Bobby Gaiters. Thomas saw only limited action, catching four passes for 80 yards, but in 1963 he played tight end, flanker and split end and caught 22 passes for 469 yards and three touchdowns, easily fulfilling his earlier promise as a receiver. He led the club with an average of 21.3 yards per catch. Aaron became the leading Giant receiver in 1964 with 43 catches for 624 yards and 6 touchdowns.

SCHOOL: At Oregon State, coach Tommy Prothro called Thomas "the best end I've ever coached." An injury sidelined Aaron most of his senior year but still he was highly regarded enough to be named the starting end on the West Shrine squad. As a sophomore at Oregon State, he caught 11 aerials for 180 yards, and as a junior end he snared 13 for 165 yards. Aaron captained the Oregon State eleven as a senior and earned three major letters. He played in the Senior Bowl, and the College All-Star game.

PERSONAL: Thomas was born on November 7, 1937, in Dierks, Ark. He was a fabulous athlete at Weed High School in California before going on to Oregon State. Aaron is married to the former Jeanie Cairney and they have two young sons. He hopes to enter school administration after his football days.

STEVE THURLOW	Offensive Halfback	2nd Year
Stanford U.	22 220 6-3	New York City

PRO: Drafted on the second round by the Giants for the 1964 season, Thurlow is one of the finest young backs to join the club in a long time. Steve, who can run and pass, was hampered by injuries and played only briefly as a rookie but showed enough to hold out promise for the future. He carried 64 times for 210 yards and completed three of five option passes for another 65 yards. Steve is the kind of back who can crack inside the tackles or turn the ends.

SCHOOL: Thurlow played quarterback for Stanford during the 1962 season but was switched over to halfback in 1963 because of his running ability. The switch was a profitable one for both Thurlow and Stanford. Steve ran the ball 92 times and gained 595 yards, scoring four touchdowns and averaging well over five yards a carry. He also completed eight of 19 passes for 176 yards and two TDs and caught six for 53 yards and one touchdown. Thurlow was sidelined most of his sophomore year with mononucleosis but had a spectacular career nevertheless: 210 rushes for 795 yards, 78 completions in 168 attempts for 844 yards and nine touchdowns, and a total of 46 points scored. Steve won three letters in football, and one each in baseball and rugby.

PERSONAL: Steve was born on April 25, 1942, in Long Beach, Calif., and later became a three-sport star at Escondido, Calif., Union High. He has a brother, Toby, who plays football at USC and another brother, Nick, who is baseball regular at the U. of California. A bachelor, Steve has a degree in political science and hopes to enter either the law profession or international relations. He is of English descent.

MICKY WALKER

Center

Michigan State 25 235 6-0 Mt. Clemen, Mich.

PRO: Mickey was signed as a free agent in 1961. He came to camp as a linebacking candidate but failed to make the grade at that position and was subsequently shifted to guard. He filled in at guard behind Darrell Dess and Jack Stroud in his rookie season. In 1962 coach Sherman, impressed by Walker's hard hitting and aggressiveness, switched him back to linebacker. He played there in 1963 and also worked as a reserve center behind Greg Larson. Again in 1964, Mickey understudied Larson, and finished the season as the regular center when Greg was injured.

SCHOOL: Walker was a top guard and part-time linebacker at Michigan State. He won two varsity letters with the Spartans and played in the Blue-Gray game in 1960.

PERSONAL: Mickey was born on October 14, 1939, in Petoskey, Mich., of Irish parents. The family later moved to East Detroit, Mich., where Mickey, whose real name is George, became an all-around sports star in high school. He is married to the former Colleen Brestle and they have two children. When he isn't playing football, Mickey teaches school in Mt. Clemen. He hopes someday to become a high school coach.

ALLAN WEBB

Defensive Back

5th Year

Arnold College 31 180 5-10 Highland Park, N. J.

PRO: Webb was signed as a free agent in 1961 off the sandlots of Connecticut on the advice of Andy Robustelli and became one of the biggest success stories in Giant history. Held on the inactive list for most of his rookie year, Allan was activated when injuries hit the club in mid-season and played offensive and defensive halfback down the torrid eastern division stretch drive. In 1962, he came back and won a regular safety job alongside Jim Patton and was a consistent, aggressive performer during another title season. He shared the safety spot with Dick Pesonen, in 1963 and intercepted three passes. After playing the safety position all of his pro career, Webb had to switch to defensive halfback in 1964 when an injury sidelined Dick Lynch.

SCHOOL: Allan played offensive halfback and safety at Arnold College, which is now defunct. He won all-state honors and Little All-American honorable mention. He also won letters in baseball and track. Al enjoyed his top day against Adelphi College when he gained 151 yards of the 175 yards rolled up by Arnold.

PERSONAL: Webb was born on January 22, 1934, in Washington, D. C. He is married to the former Olga Rojas and they have a daughter, Lisa. Allan served two years in the U.S. Navy. His hobby is collecting pop records.

ERNIE WHEELWRIGHT	Fullback	2nd Year
Southern Illinois	25 240 6-3	Fort Lee, N. J.

PRO: Wheelwright was signed as an unknown free agent on the suggestion of his football coach at Fort Campbell, and was a mild sensation as a rookie fullback in the NFL. Ernie took over the bulk of the Giants' ball-carrying in 1964 and finished the season as the team's top rusher with 402 yards on 100 carries for a 4.0 average. He also demonstrated his all-around abilities by catching 14 passes for 204 yards and three touchdowns. His blocking, according to coach Allie Sherman, was excellent.

SCHOOL: Ernie put in a two-year hitch as a paratrooper at Fort Campbell after graduating from high school, spent one season at Southern Illinois and then re-enlisted in the army for another three years. He was Southern Illinois' leading rusher as a 230-pound freshman fullback but left school over a scholarship dispute. In the service, Ernie was an All-Army selection. He played in the U.S. Army Missile Bowl (being named MVP in that one), the Airborne Bowl and the Mid-State Army Bowl. He was a teammate of Giant defensive tackle John LoVetere at Fort Campbell.

PERSONAL: Wheelwright, whose nickname is The Wheel, was born on November 28, 1939, in Columbus, O. He is married to the former Peggy Ware and they have a nine-year-old son, Ernie, Jr. Wheelwright now makes Fort Lee, N. J. his permanent home. He is employed by the Ward Baking Co.

total offense (1,616 yards in 192); single season rushing (813 yards in 1962), and single game total offense (387 yards vs. Penn in 1962). As a senior, Gary led the nation in kickoff returns (618 yards on 19 returns) and was eighth in rushing with 818 yards. He made the Associated Press All-East team and was a three-time member of the All-Ivy League squad. As a junior, he was third in the country in total offense (1,779 yards) and fourth in rushing (889 yards). He pitched and played the infield for the Big Red baseball team in 1962 but did not play in 1963. Gary earned four letters.

PERSONAL: Gary was born on February 5, 1942, in Taylor, N. Y. He was a star athlete at Cortland (N. Y.) High and received numerous scholarship offers. He chose Cornell because he liked its school of hotel administration. He and his wife Jill live in New York City and Gary works for the Westchester Country Club in the off-season.

ROOKIE BIOGRAPHIES

ED ADAMCHIK	Guard	Rookie
U. of Pittsburgh	23 230 6-2	Johnston, Pa.

PRO: Ed was the Giants' No. 12 draft choice as a "future" in 1963. He joined the club in 1964 but a serious muscle injury in his leg knocked him out of the running for a regular berth and he spent the entire season on the inactive squad. Line coach Ed Kolman rates him a "terrific guard prospect with great lateral agility."

SCHOOL: Adamchik is typical of the rough and ready linemen turned out by the U. of Pittsburgh. Ed made the UPI All-East first team as a senior, and also was named to the NEA All-American second team, the All-Pennsylvania second team and received honorable mention on the UPI All-American. He won three football letters but did not participate in any other sport.

PERSONAL: Ed was born on November 2, 1941, in Johnstown, Pa., where the Adamchik family still resides. He is a bachelor and has not yet decided on his future. He majored in business administration at Pitt. He is of Slovak descent.

MICKEY BITSKO	Linebacker	Rookie
U. of Dayton	22 235 6-1	Van Voorhis, Pa.

PRO: Bitsko was drafted on the ninth round in 1963 as a "future" and comes to the pro ranks highly recommended as a tough, aggressive linebacker. Mickey also played some fullback in college and had a punting average of close to 42 yards, but defense is his specialty.

SCHOOL: Mickey entered Notre Dame in 1960 as a fullback and guard but dropped out of school a year later when he ran into academic trouble. Stan Zajdel, onetime Dayton coach, learned that Bitsko was out of Notre Dame and he persuaded Dayton officials to take the boy in on probation. Mickey not only made good scholastically but also became a defensive standout for Dayton. One NFL scout called him "... the best linebacker in the midwest for the past two years." Mickey earned three varsity letters and appeared in the East-West game and in the Hula Bowl.

PERSONAL: Bitsko, one of nine children, was born on December 15, 1942, in Van Voorhis, Pa., which is still his home. He is a full brother to Myron Pottios, Pittsburgh Steeler linebacker, but Mickey was raised by an aunt and uses her family name, Bitsko. Mickey, who has a semester to go for his degree, is married to the former Susan Schmidt. He is of Ukranian descent.

LOUIS BURY	Center	Rookie
U. of Maryland	22 230 6-2	Baltimore, Md.

PRO: Signed as a free agent, Bury is a versatile athlete who can play either center or linebacker. The Giants, however, plan on using him only at center.

SCHOOL: Bury played every position at the U. of Maryland with the exception of quarterback. As a senior, he was an outstanding linebacker who spearheaded the Terrapin defense. He once made 15 unassisted tackles in a game against the U. of Miami. Lou earned three letters at Maryland, all in football.

PERSONAL: Lou was born on June 9, 1942, in Baltimore, Md., where he now lives with his wife, the former Elizabeth Jane Mellendick. He was a soccer star at Calvert Hall College H.S. in Baltimore but was persuaded to try football when he went to Maryland. Lou majored in public relations and has 12 credits to go toward his degree. His hobbies are reading and hunting. He is of Irish-Welch descent.

HENRY CARR	Defensive Halfback	Rookie
Arizona State	22 190 6-3	Detroit, Mich.

PRO: Carr, the world and Olympic 220 and 200-meter recordholder, was the fourth-round draft pick of the Giants for the 1965 season despite the fact that he was better known for his track exploits than as a football player. Enough is known about Henry, however, to justify his selection so high on the list. A gifted athlete with size, speed and aggressiveness, Carr will be tried as a defensive back or maybe a flanker back by the Maramen.

SCHOOL: At Arizona State, Carr played only one real season of football (1962) but averaged eight yards a carry as a running back and was a fine receiver at flanker. He played on the same Arizona State team as Charley Taylor (Redskins) and Tony Lorick (Colts). Injuries held Carr out of action in 1963 and last year he gave up football to concentrate on making the Olympic team. This he did, winning the 200 meters and anchoring the victorious 1,600-meter relay team at Tokyo. He set an Olympic mark of 20.3 in the 200 meters to go with his world 220-yard record of 20.2. He has run the 100-yard dash in 9.2, second fastest time in history. Henry earned four major letters at Arizona State, one in football and three in track.

PERSONAL: Henry Carr was born on November 27, 1942, in Detroit, Mich., which he still calls home. He comes from a large family—eight boys and five girls. Prior to entering Arizona State, Henry went to Burlington (Iowa) Junior College and before that he was a three-sport star at Detroit's Northwestern High, where he once scored seven touchdowns in a single game, none of them on runs of less than 30 yards. Carr is married to the former Glenda Mixon. He still has a semester to go for his degree in physical education.

JIM CARROLL

Linebacker

Rookie

U. of Notre Dame

22 225 6-1

Atlanta, Ga.

PRO: Carroll was the Giants' No. 12 draft pick for 1964. He played both guard and linebacker at Notre Dame but is regarded strictly as a linebacker by the Maramen. He is an aggressive tackler with real defensive instinct.

SCHOOL: Called by coach Ara Parseghian "... a great ball-player and leader," Carroll was captain of the 1964 Notre Dame team and also its Most Valuable Player. He led the Irish defense—one of the best units in South Bend annals—with 140 individual tackles, a record, from his inside linebacker spot. He was named to the Time and Sporting News All America first teams, and won designation to the second team UPI and AP All-Americans. Jim was the only Notre Dame player to ever win the Hering Award two years in a row for consistency of play in spring practice. He played in the East-West game and the Coaches' All-American game.

TUCKER FREDERICKSONHalfback*Rookie*Auburn University 22 220 6-3 Hollywood, Fla.

PRO: A unanimous selection on every All-American team, Frederickson was the Giants' No. 1 choice for 1965, the first player chosen in the National Football League draft. He probably could make it as a defensive back in the pro ranks but the Giants picked him for his ball-carrying ability—and that's where he'll play.

SCHOOL: "The greatest college football player in America!" That's what they called Frederickson last year. The 6-3 220-pound athlete was named to the AP, Look Magazine, Football Writers' Association, Sporting News, Helms Foundation and NEA All-American teams. He was also selected as Player of the Year in the South by UPI, and as Player of the Year in the Southeastern Conference. His coach Shug Jordan called him ". . . the most complete football player I ever coached." At Auburn, Tucker did just about everything. He led the Tigers in rushing with 580 yards on 129 carries, in receiving with 14 for 101 yards, in scoring with six touchdowns, in kickoff returns with seven for 179 yards, and was tops in most defensive categories as well. He twice won the Jacobs Trophy, awarded annually to the best blocker in the Southeastern Conference. The Atlanta Touchdown Club and the Birmingham Quarterback Club named him Player of the Year for 1964 and he was selected as the outstanding athlete in the state of Florida. After the close of Auburn's season, Tucker starred in both the North-South Shrine game and the Senior Bowl. All told, Frederickson won four letters at Auburn, three in football and one for shot putting on the track squad.

PERSONAL: Ivan Charles Frederickson (Tucker is only a nickname) was born on January 12, 1943, in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., the only boy in a family that includes three girls. Shortly thereafter the Frederickson clan moved down the road to Hollywood, Fla., where Tucker's dad, Ivan Sr., a Canadian by birth, opened a veterinarian shop. Tucker starred at South Broward H.S. and chose Auburn over other colleges because it offered a good pre-veterinarian course. He received a degree in biological science and made Who's Who in American Colleges as an honor student. A bachelor, Frederickson is of Scandinavian descent.

JOHN FRICKDefensive End*Rookie*Ohio University 22 220 6-2 Cincinnati, O.

PRO: Drafted No. 9 for the 1965 season, Frick comes to the pro ranks highly regarded as a defensive line prospect. Although not big by NFL standards, John is an aggressive player who somehow manages to be around the ball at all times.

SCHOOL: Frick was voted Ohio University's Most Valuable Player in 1964 and was called by Bowling Green coach Doyt Perry " . . . the best defensive lineman in the entire Middle Atlantic Conference." He played guard as a sophomore but spent his next two years at tackle. He was an All-Middle Atlantic Conference choice in 1964 and also was selected to play in the East-West Shrine game and in the Senior Bowl.

PERSONAL: John was born on April 18, 1943, in Cincinnati, O., which he still calls home. A campus leader at Ohio U., he was an honorary cadet colonel in the ROTC, a B average student and a member of four scholastic honorary societies. He majored in physical education (with a minor in math) and is considering a military career after football. Frick never played on a losing team at Wyoming (O.) High under Bob Lewis and Al Christopher. He played in 35 games, winning 33 and tying two. John, who is single, likes to read and water ski.

MIKE GIERS

Guard

Rookie

Southern California 23 235 6-0 Long Beach, Calif.

PRO: Giers was the Giants No. 15 draft selection for 1965 after being highly recommended by former Giant great Mel Hein, now an assistant coach at U.S.C. Although he stood out as a linebacker for the Trojans, Mike will be tried at guard by New York. He is expected to fill out to around 240 pounds.

SCHOOL: Mike won a scholarship to Southern Cal after a brilliant football career at Long Beach City College, a junior college. He was a junior college All-American and led Long Beach to the Junior Rose Bowl title in 1960. At U.S.C., he played guard and linebacker. During the 1964 season, he made 67 unassisted tackles for the Trojans, a school record, and was in on 41 other tackles. In Southern Cal's dramatic upset of unbeaten Notre Dame in the final game of 1964, Giers was a tiger on defense, making 17 tackles and twice stopping Irish backs on crucial third-and-one situations.

PERSONAL: Mike was born on March 29, 1942, in Whittier, Calif., and began his football at Long Beach Poly H.S., where he was an all-state tackle. He majored in public administration at U.S.C. and hopes to enter juvenile work. Mike is married to the former Carol Shier and they make their off-season home in Long Beach. He is of German-English descent. They call him "Spanky" because as a youngster he resembled Spanky in the Our Gang movies.

LARRY GILL Offensive Halfback Rookie

South Carolina 23 202 5-11 Fairfield, Conn.

PRO: Gill was signed as a free agent for 1965 after approaching the Giants and requesting a trial. Scouting reports indicate that he is a heavy-duty running back with fine speed.

SCHOOL: Larry was a three-year regular for South Carolina as an offensive halfback and a defensive corner back. He also starred in track, running the hundred in 10 seconds. His biggest day in football came against Duke in 1964. He was South Carolina's leading rusher, he caught seven passes, and he scored once.

PERSONAL: Gill was born on September 16, 1942, in Bridgeport, Conn. He now lives in Fairfield, only a stone's throw from the Giants' training base at Fairfield University. A bachelor, Larry majored in business administration at Purdue. He is of Polish-Russian-Irish descent.

DAVE HOPPMAN Offensive Halfback Rookie

Iowa State 24 205 6-1 Madison, Wis.

PRO: Hoppman was drafted No. 7 by the Giants for the 1963 season but passed up the NFL to play with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian League. He played running back for Montreal in 1963 but was released in 1964. The Giants signed him to a contract and he spent the rest of the year as a member of the New York taxi squad.

SCHOOL: At Iowa State, Dave was an outstanding ball-carrier. He led the nation's major colleges in ground-gaining in 1961 and once gained 300 yards by himself against the University of Detroit. He was an All-American selection as a senior (1962) and earned all-conference honors three times. Dave played in the Blue-Gray game, the Senior Bowl and the All-American Bowl, all after the 1962 season.

PERSONAL: Hoppman was born on September 5, 1940, in Madison, Wis., where he still lives. He is married to the former Arlene Crossen. They have no children. Dave has a semester to go for his degree in physical education at Iowa State. He is undecided as to his future in business. He is of German-Norwegian descent.

ERNIE KOYHalfback*Rookie*U. of Texas*22 225 6-3*Bellville, Tex.

PRO: Koy is another of the big and aggressive running backs drafted by the Giants for 1965. Selected on the 11th round, Ernie shows promise of developing into a top-flight NFL ball-carrier. He's big enough to crack inside the tackles and fast enough to turn the end. Additionally, he is an excellent option passer, a good receiver, a solid blocker and a strong punter.

SCHOOL: Although hampered by injuries during his first two years at the U. of Texas, Koy catapulted into national prominence in 1964 as the Longhorns rolled to a 9-1 record and then knocked off favored Alabama in the Orange Bowl. That score was 21-17 and Ernie sewed it up with a brilliant 79-yard touchdown run, an Orange Bowl record. He also scored a second TD against Alabama. Koy was a tower of strength for Texas all year. He carried 154 times for 574 yards, averaging four yards a try. He completed five of 11 option passes, caught nine aeriels for 146 yards and averaged 39 yards on 51 punts. As a promising sophomore, Ernie was sidelined in 1962 with torn knee ligaments. As a junior, a shoulder separation put him out for eight games. But his performance as a senior made everyone especially the pro scouts, forget all about the first two years. Koy won four letters at Texas, three in football and one in track. He played in the Cotton Bowl twice, in the Orange Bowl and in the Hula Bowl.

PERSONAL: Ernie was born on October 22, 1942, in Bellville, Tex., where his father, Ernie Sr., still owns a large ranch. Ernie Sr. was a legend in the Southwest in the early 1930s, an All-American in baseball and football. He later played major league ball with the Brooklyn Dodgers (1938-39), St. Louis, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. Although Ernie Sr. was known as The Chief, he says there isn't a single drop of Indian blood in the Koy family. Young Ernie was the third draft choice of Houston but says he chose the Giants because ". . . the NFL plays the best football and besides, my daddy told me so much about New York City that I want to see it for myself." Ernie majored in history at Texas and plans to take his Masters degree between seasons. He is single, and his favorite past-time is hunting mountain lions in the wilds of Mexico with U. of Texas teammates.

FRANK LAMBERTPunter*Rookie*U. of Mississippi*22 210 6-3*Hattiesburg, Miss.

PRO: Lambert, a No. 5 draft choice, comes to the Giants as the fellow most likely to succeed Don Chandler, now with Green Bay, as the team's punting specialist. Frank is a tall, rangy punting specialist who boots 'em high and far—and consistently!

SCHOOL: Although listed as an end on the U. of Mississippi roster, Lambert was strictly a punter during his three varsity seasons. In 1964, his senior year, Frank led the nation's major college punters with a sparkling 44.1 yard average. He kicked 50 times, his longest being a 75-yarder. Against Tennessee in 1964, Lambert punted five times. Four of these punts went out of bounds inside the Vols' 10-yard line and two of them led directly to Ole Miss touchdowns. Frank earned four varsity letters at Mississippi, three in football and one as a regular on the baseball team. He played in two Sugar Bowl games.

PERSONAL: Frank was born on April 17, 1943, in Hattiesburg, Miss., where he still lives. He married the former Beth Ewing prior to reporting to the Giant's training camp. Both he and his wife plan to continue their studies at Newark of Rutgers while Frank plays pro ball. He is a finance major and was a member of several honor societies at Mississippi. Frank's hobbies include movies, musical concerts and golf. His boyhood football idol was none other than Charlie Conerly, all-time Giant great. Frank is of Scotch-Irish descent.

ABBOTT LAWRENCE

Offensive Tackle

Rookie

Yale University

22 245 6-2½

Beaverton, Ore.

PRO: Although Lawrence was generally overlooked in the 1965 NFL player draft, the Giants feel the big free agent from Yale could be a real sleeper. Ab is ticketed for offensive tackle duty but might get a trial on defense, too.

SCHOOL: Lawrence captained the 1964 Yale football team and was given honorable mention on several All-American squads. He was a two-time all-Ivy League tackle and also won All-East honors. Ab didn't confine his activities to the gridiron. He was a heavyweight varsity boxer and won a letter in handball.

PERSONAL: Lawrence was born on June 25, 1943, in Portland, Ore. He was an all-round athletic star at Beaverton, Ore., H.S. A fine student, Ab received a B.A. degree in history and was a member of the College Council at Yale. He is married to the former Helen Snyder and they have an infant son. Lawrence is aiming for a career in marine transportation. He is of English-Scotch descent.

CARL LOCKHARTDefensive Back*Rookie*N. Texas State*22 175 6-2*Dallas, Tex.

PRO: Lockhart was drafted No. 13 for 1965 on the strong recommendation of Giant defensive coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, who personally scouted him during his senior year. Carl will be a candidate for a defensive backfield berth. He's an excellent tackler and a real ball-hawk.

SCHOOL: Carl was a three-year letterman for North Texas State, playing both defensive halfback and flanker back despite the two-platoon system. His career totals show 60 carries for 237 yards rushing, 32 pass receptions for 384 yards and four touchdowns, 95 punts for a 39.5 average and 10 pass interceptions. In 1963 and 1964 he led the Missouri Valley Conference in punting. Lockhart was a perennial MVC all-conference selection and also received honorable mention on several All-American teams. An all around athlete, Lockhart also played basketball at North Texas State and was a hurdler on the track team.

PERSONAL: Carl was born on April 6, 1943, in Dallas, Tex., into a family of seven children. He is married to the former Erma Jean Havis and they live in Dallas. He majored in physical education at North Texas with a minor in biology. His hobbies include swimming and bowling. His goal is to become a football coach.

BILL MARCELLINOGuard*Rookie*Holy Cross*23 250 6-1*Milton, Mass.

PRO: Marcellino was signed as a free agent for 1965. He has the ideal qualifications for a pro squad—size and speed.

SCHOOL: Bill was a three-sport star at Holy Cross, winning letters in football, track and rugby. He played guard on offense and linebacker on defense. He had his best college day against Syracuse in 1964 and his worst against Villanova when he missed the ball completely while trying to kick off at the start of the game.

PERSONAL: Marcellino was born on May 1, 1942, in Hartford, Conn., to Italian-Irish parents. He comes from a real football family, too. His three brothers, Jack, Dick and James, all played college ball. Bill, who is single, majored in English at Holy Cross and likes to write in his spare time. Marcellino is a member of the Air Force Reserve. He intends to enter the insurance field.

Yale U.

Winnetka, Ill.

PRO: Mercein was the second choice of the Giants for the 1965 season although he was picked on the third round of the draft. The Giants had traded away their own second-round pick but got Mercein with a No. 3 choice obtained from Pittsburgh in the trade of Phil King. The Yale star was regarded as one of the hardest runners in Ivy League history. Scouts say he has all the equipment to make the grade as a pro ball-carrier.

SCHOOL: Counting football and track (he was a shot-putter), Mercein won nine varsity letters during a brilliant athletic career at Yale. A big, aggressive runner, Chuck had a three-year rushing total of 1,210 yards on 240 carries for a solid five-yard average. As a senior in 1964, he was 17th nationally in rushing with 737 yards on 141 tries for a 5.2 average. Additionally, he did duty at linebacker on defense. Mercein's contributions to Yale were not limited to carrying the ball. He also is a fine place kicker who holds the Ivy record of nine field goals and the Yale mark of 11. Against Cornell in 1964, he booted field goals of 48, 46 and 30 yards; the 48-yarder was the longest ever by an Ivy League kicker. Chuck's two biggest days as a runner also occurred in 1964 when he gained 168 yards rushing against Brown and 164 yards against Connecticut. Mercein was All-East, All-Ivy League and received honorable mention on both the UPI and AP All-American teams. He was selected to play in the Chicago All-Star game along with fellow Giant rookies Bob Timberlake, Tucker Frederickson and Frank Lambert. In track, Chuck was consistently over 58 feet in the shot. He was the Heptagonal indoor champ.

PERSONAL: Charles Schley Mercein was born on April 9, 1943, in Milwaukee, Wis., and attended New Trier High School in Winnetka, Ill. His father, Thomas Royce Mercein, is a well-known radio announcer in the New York area, and his younger brother Randy is a football player at Penn State. Chuck was a history major at Yale and received his B.A. degree in June. He hopes for a career in business investments or public relations. He is married to the former Marilyn Mason. He is of Italian-French descent.

RAY POPPLinebacker*Rookie*U. of Pittsburgh*22 230 6-1*Finnleyville, Pa.

PRO: A sturdy defensive specialist with all the qualifications to make the grade as a pro linebacker, Popp was drafted No. 8 by the Giants as a "future" in 1963. He's an aggressive tackler and has keen defensive instinct. He will be tried as a corner linebacker.

SCHOOL: Ray captained the U. of Pittsburgh eleven in 1964, his last varsity season, and was named to the All East team. He also was nominated to several All-American squads and was picked on the All-Opponent teams by Notre Dame, Syracuse and West Virginia. Popp played primarily as a corner linebacker and saw no action on offense for the Panthers. He won four varsity grid letters.

PERSONAL: Popp was born on January 24, 1943, in Brad-dock, Pa., but grew up in Monongahela, Pa., where his high school exploits as a fullback earned him a ticket to the U. of Pittsburgh. He is married to the former Nancy Jane Nemish. Ray has a degree in marketing and advertising and is employed by the metallurgy division of U.S. Steel. As an under-graduate at Pitt, he spent his summers working as a high steel construction man for the American Bridge Co. Ray is of German descent.

DAVE POWLESSOffensive Tackle*Rookie*U. of Illinois*22 235 6-2*Rock Island, Ill.

PRO: Powless was spotted in a television game by Giants' line coach Ed Kolman, who recommended him as a solid pro prospect. Dave, a No. 17 draft selection, played guard at Illinois but is seen as a tackle candidate with the Maramen. He should play at 235 or 240.

COLLEGE: Dave entered the U. of Oklahoma in 1961 but a year later he transferred to Illinois, losing a season's eligibility in the process. He was the leading member of the Illini special teams as a junior and then became a regular at offensive guard in his senior campaign. He earned two varsity letters and played on the 1963 Rose Bowl team.

PERSONAL: Powless was born on May 29, 1943, in Ottawa, Ill. His father, Merville, is a full-blooded Oneida-Iroquois Indian, and his grandfather was a tribal chief. Dave comes from a real football family. His dad played at Haskell Institute, an Indian college in Kansas. His brother Ron played at Indiana University and another brother, Lloyd, played at sisters. He was a liberal arts major in junior college and hopes to finish his education and enter the real estate field. Currently he is employed by Community Progress, Inc., a social agency under the auspices of the Ford Foundation. Maurice is married to the former Carolyn Thompson and they have three children, Maurice Jr., 5; Michale, 4, and Troy, 3. He served one year in the Army before receiving a hardship discharge. His hobbies are modern art and jazz.

BOB TIMBERLAKE

U. of Michigan

Quarterback

21 220 6-4

Rookie

Franklin, Ohio

PRO Timberlake was selected on third round of the 1965 NFL draft after a brilliant career at the U. of Michigan. A big, strong fellow who can throw the ball and run with it equally well, he has all the earmarks of a fine NFL quarterback. Bob could also make the pros as a halfback or a tight end but coach Sherman says he will be used "only as a quarterback."

SCHOOL: There weren't many honors Timberlake missed during his playing days at Michigan. He was named to several All-American teams in 1964, was a two-time All-Big Ten choice, was the Big Ten's most valuable player in 1964, was twice named to the Big Ten Academic team and was Back of the Year in 1963. Enroute to the Rose Bowl last year, Bob led Michigan's ball-carriers with 574 yards on 144 tries, was the No. 1 passer with 63 of 127 for 807 yards and topped all scorers with 80 points, a total which won him the conference point championship. He also kicked 20 extra points and four field goals. His total yardage of 1,381 represented a Michigan single-season record. His career passing totals show 126 completions in 259 attempts for 1,579 yards—not bad considering that Michigan is basically a ground attack team. Bob earned three varsity letters, all in football, at Ann Arbor.

PERSONAL: Timberlake was born on October 18, 1943, in Middletown, O. at Franklin (O.) High, he captained the football, basketball and golf teams. His academic honors at Michigan included the Robert L. Drake Scholarship Award, the Myron Steinberg Scholarship Award, the John Maulbetsch Award and the Michigauma Honor Society. Bob had a 3.05 grade average as a sociology major and plans to enter ministerial school at Princeton U. while playing for New York. During his college days, Bob played football on Saturday and taught Sunday school the next morning. He is single and spends as much time as possible on the golf course. He is of Welsh descent.

JIM TOONDefensive End*Rookie*N. Carolina A&T*26 245 6-2*Bronx, N. Y.

PRO: Toon was signed as a free agent for the 1965 season on the advice of Giant scouts who had seen him perform at defensive end for the Jersey City team of the Atlantic Coast League. Jim had previously played with the Edmondton Eskimos of the Canadian League.

SCHOOL: Jim was a four-year varsity regular at North Carolina A&T College in Greensboro, N. C. He played end and fullback but was better known for his ability as a defensive lineman.

PERSONAL: Toon was born in Dunn, N. C., on October 12, 1939. A bachelor, he is employed by the Department of Welfare in New York City. He was a physical education major in college.

JOHN TOROKQuarterback*Rookie*Arizona State*22 205 6-2*Gardena, Calif.

PRO: Torok was the Giants' No. 20 draft pick for 1965—and he easily might be one of the biggest bargain buys in the club's history. He is a big, strong-armed quarterback who can throw every pass in the book. Pop Ivy, who scouted John, recommended him as a boy with "... excellent potential and a fine attitude."

SCHOOL: Torok captained the Arizona State team in 1964 and, despite missing four games early in the season, finished the campaign as the nation's second-best total offense player behind Tulsa's Jerry Rhome. John gained 2,226 yards on 288 plays for an average of 7.7 yards every time he got his hands on the football. His passing figures were even more impressive: 139 completions in 251 tries for 2,356 yards, 20 touchdowns and a completion mark of .554. Torok was at his best against Colorado State when he threw four TD passes, completed 23 of 35 aerials and totalled 364 yards, a school record. As a junior against Colorado State, he completed the first two passes he threw and they were good for 136 yards and a pair of scores! Torok's performance in 1964 won him a berth on the Western Athletic Conference "all" team. He also won letters in baseball at Arizona State. John attended El Camino Junior College for one season.

PERSONAL Torok was born on August 20, 1943, in Los Angeles, Calif. His father, Albert, is a native of Budapest, Hungary. John holds a degree in physical education and day occurred against Colby in 1964 when he made a dozen unassisted tackles, broke up two pass plays and then caught the winning touchdown pass with 28 seconds left in the game.

PERSONAL: Weickel was born on July 9, 1943, in Queens, N. Y., and starred at South Huntington High School. As a youngster he was an avid Giant fan. His idols were Frank Gifford and Charlie Conerly. He received a B.S. degree in physical education from Springfield and hopes to become a coach. He is of German descent.

WILLIE WILLIAMS Defensive Halfback Rookie
Grambling College 24 190 6-1 Atlanta, Ga.

PRO: Williams was New York's No. 8 draft choice for 1965 and is regarded as one of the finest defensive halfback candidates to join the club in many years. He is a big, strong speedster built along the lines of veteran Erich Barnes.

SCHOOL: At Grambling, Williams was a two-way star—the team's top pass receiver at flanker back and a tough, aggressive corner back on defense. He won All-Southwestern Athletic Conference honors in 1964 and wound up his career by excelling in the Sugar Cup Classic and the Orange Blossom game. Willie earned five major letters, four in football and one in track. He was a 9.7 man in the hundred.

PERSONAL: Williams was born on December 29, 1941, in Atlanta, Ga., where he still lives. He is married to the former Mary Anne Williams. Willie, an honor student at Grambling, has a degree in physical education and recreation and plans to become a high school coach. When that day comes, says Willie, he'll teach his players how to run the right way with the ball. He once grabbed a fumble for Grambling and raced 60 yards the wrong way for a touchdown.

JIN WINSTON Offensive End Rookie
U. of Iowa 25 220 6-4 Morristown, N. J.

PRO: The Giants signed Winston as a free agent on the advice of several area scouts who had seen him perform as a split end for the Jersey City Giants of the Atlantic Coast League in 1964. He has the speed and size to make a strong bid for one of the receiving positions.

SCHOOL: Winston entered the U. of Iowa in 1959 and played two varsity campaigns as an offensive end. His biggest day in college occurred in 1960 when his receiving played a major role in Iowa's upset of favored Wisconsin. In the Atlantic Coast League, Jim caught the eye of NFL scouts by catching 53 passes for 965 yards and scoring 72 points. Against Hartford, he hauled in TD passes of 79 and 88 yards. PERSONAL: Winston was born on May 16, 1940, in Oxford, N. C., but grew up in Morristown, N. J., where his athletic feats in high school earned him a scholarship to Iowa. He majored in physical education but still has time to go for his degree. Jim is married to the former Mildred Collins. They have no children.
