HISTORY OF THE STEELERS

In 1987 the Pittsburgh Steelers celebrate their 55th season in the National Football League. In those 55 years the Steelers have experienced the low end and the high end of the football spectrum. In 1970 the Steelers began to evolve into one of the most dominating teams in the history of the league, making the playoffs eight straight years and winning four Super Bowl championships in a span of six seasons.

One person has walked every step of the team's storied past since founding the club in 1933.

Arthur J. Rooney, Sr. made Pittsburgh an NFL city on July 8, 1933 when he founded the league's fifth franchise. Named the Pirates, the team won just 22 games and went through five head coaches in its first seven seasons. In 1940 the team was re-named the Pittsburgh Steelers in recognition of the industry upon which Pittsburgh had been built.

The 1940s brought some improvement as the Steelers managed five .500 or better campaigns, including a first-ever playoff entry in 1947 which resulted in a 21-0 loss to Philadelphia. In the decade of the 1950s the team again was .500 or better five times, but a second postseason appearance eluded them.

In 1962 the Steelers' 9-5 record propelled them into a playoff bowl game against Detroit, but they came away 17-10 losers and would experience only one more winning season in the next nine years.

What would mark the beginning of the end to the Steelers' losing ways came in 1969 when Chuck Noll was hired as the 14th head coach of the franchise. In his 18 seasons Noll has led the Steelers to four league titles, including nine division titles, 10 playoff appearances and 13 consecutive non-losing seasons.

The patriarch of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Arthur Joseph Rooney was born January 27, 1901 in Coultersville, Pennsylvania. A year and a half later he moved with his family to Pittsburgh's North Side. He grew up on the site where Three Rivers Stadium now stands, and today still lives a short distance from the stadium.

The oldest of eight children, Rooney attended St. Peter's Parochial School and Duquesne University Prep School. He pursued his college studies as well as athletics at Indiana Normal (now University of Pennsylvania), Georgetown, and Duquesne University. Rooney was an outstanding athlete, particularly in football and boxing, but his best sport was baseball. An arm injury, however, put an end to what was a promising baseball career. As a boxer he continued to excel and in 1920 was named to the United States' Olympic Boxing team, though he did not participate in the Olympics. After his boxing days ended Rooney continued as a fight promoter, his most memorable bout being the 1951 heavyweight championship of the world in which Jersey Joe Walcott upset Ezzard Charles in Pittsburgh.

In the early years of the Steelers, Rooney's team played home games at Forbes Field. Games were often taken to the fans, however, as competition from baseball and college football led Rooney to schedule home games in Johnstown, Latrobe, Youngstown, New Orleans, and Louisville in the late 1930s.

In 1939 the Steelers acquired the NFL's first big-money player when Rooney signed Colorado All-American Byron "Whizzer" White for an unheard of $15,800. White is now one of the league's most illustrious alumni as a United States Supreme Court Justice.

Under head coach Walt Kiesling and with the play of rookie Bill Dudley, who is now a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, the 1942 Steelers turned in the first winning record in the 10-year history of the franchise. The next two seasons Rooney merged his team with Philadelphia in 1943 (Phil-Pitt) and with the Chicago Cardinals in 1944 (Card-Pitt) as rosters were depleted with the nation at war.

A return to peacetime brought a renewed commitment from Rooney to establish a winning tradition in Pittsburgh. He hired former Pitt coach Jock Sutherland in 1946, and in Sutherland's second season, utilizing the single wing formation, he led the Steelers to an 8-4 finish and a tie for the Eastern Division title. The club's first-ever postseason appearance, however, ended in a 21-0 shutout. Sutherland died unexpectedly while on a scouting trip soon after and was replaced by John Michelosen, who compiled a 20-26-2 record in four seasons.

In 1952 Rooney named Joe Bach as head coach for the second time after Bach had coached the team in 1935-36, but Bach resigned in 1953 after two seasons because of health reasons. Rooney then called upon assistant coach Walt Kiesling. It was Kiesling's third stint as head coach of the Steelers as he had held the position from 1939-40 and 1941-44. He stayed three years and was succeeded in 1957 by Buddy Parker. In Parker's eight campaigns he led the team to five non-losing records, three of those with the flamboyant Bobby Layne at quarterback. In 1962, Layne's last season with the Steelers, the team captured its second-ever playoff entry before dropping a 17-10 decision to Detroit, the team for which Layne played prior to joining the Steelers. As head coach, Parker compiled a 51-47-6 record, still ranking second to Noll in the 55 years of the Steelers, before being replaced in 1965 by Mike Nixon.

Brief stints by Nixon, who was 2-12 in his one season, and Bill Austin, who was 11-28-3 from 1966-68, preceded the hiring of Chuck Noll in 1969. The 37-year old Noll was called on by Dan Rooney, the oldest of Art Rooney's five sons and now the team's president, to bring the Steelers out of their past history of losing. Noll directed his new club to an opening day win in 1969 before losing the remaining 13 contests, but a foundation was being built as Noll used sound draft selections to begin establishing a powerhouse that would dominate the NFL for a decade.

With the 1970 merger of the NFL and the American Football League, the Steelers agreed to move to the new American Football Conference of the NFL, joined by the Cleveland Browns and the Baltimore Colts. The Steelers and Browns, division rivals since 1950, remained division foes as they both became members of the AFC's Central division.

1970 also marked the team's move to a new home, Three Rivers Stadium. The Steelers had been playing their home games at Forbes Field from 1933-1957, and from 1958-1962 at both Forbes Field and Pitt Stadium. From 1963-1969 the team took up residence at Pitt Stadium until Three Rivers was opened in 1970.

Rooney's Steelers saw gradual improvement in their first three years under Noll, with records of 5-9 in 1970 and 6-8 in 1971. The team finally claimed its first division crown in 1972 with an 11-3 record, followed by a 13-7 playoff win over Oakland when Franco Harris ignited the Pittsburgh crowd with a last-second touchdown after catching a deflected pass. The Steelers fell to the undefeated Miami Dolphins the next week in the AFC Championship game, 21-17, but the team had experienced a new pinnacle of success which it would exceed in the years to come.

In 1973 Noll's troops reeled off a 10-4 record to set up a rematch with Oakland in the playoffs, but the Raiders avenged their earlier loss with a 33-14 victory. The following season the Steelers would not be denied after a 10-3-1 campaign. Playoff victories over Buffalo (32-14) and Oakland (24-13) thrust the Pittsburgh team into Super Bowl IX, in which they dominated the Minnesota Vikings 16-6 and allowed a Super Bowl record-low 119 total yards.

In 1975 the Steelers became the third team to win back-to-back Super Bowls when they downed the Dallas Cowboys 21-17 in Super Bowl X following a 12-2 regular season, including 11 straight wins, and playoff victories over Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10). A 10-4 record in 1976 was impressive after the team lost four of its first five outings and reeled off nine straight wins to reach the playoffs. The 10-4 finish preceded a 40-14 playoff victory over Baltimore, but Oakland took a 24-7 decision in the AFC Championship game to prevent a third straight Super Bowl appearance by the Steelers. The 1977 Steelers battled to a 9-5 finish but lost a first-round playoff game to Denver, 34-21.

In 1978 the Steelers regained their position as NFL Champion after closing out the regular season with the league's best record, 14-2. They breezed through playoff wins over Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5) before claiming a thrilling Super Bowl XIII win over Dallas, 35-31. With that victory the Steelers became the NFL's first team to win the Vince Lombardi trophy three times. They made football history the following season by defeating the Los Angeles Rams 31-19 in Super Bowl XIV for their fourth Super Bowl title and second pair of back-to-back wins. The fourth championship came on the heels of a 12-4 regular season finish and postseason victories over Miami (34-14) and Houston (27-13).

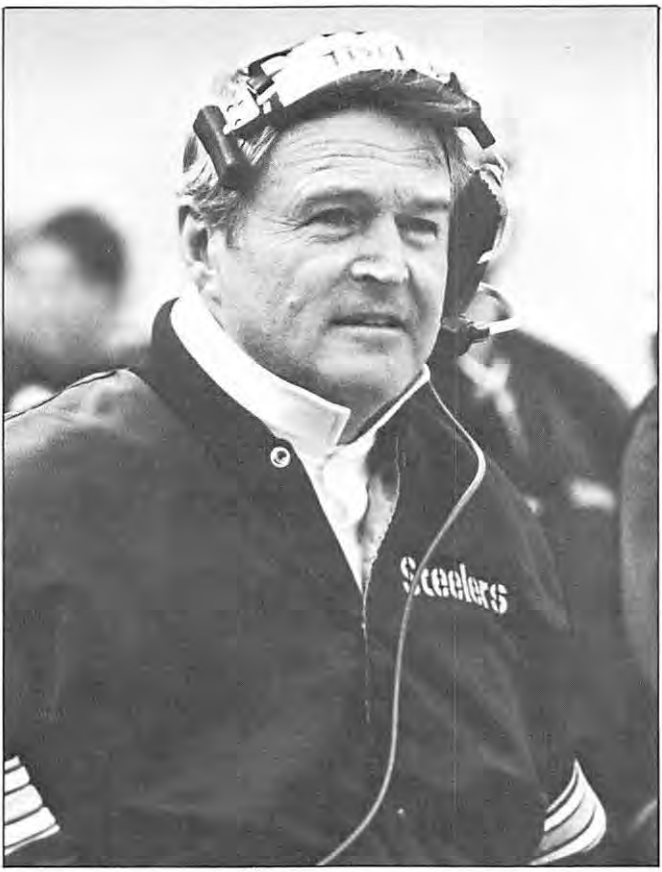

Opening a new decade, the Steelers faltered in 1980 and 1981 with 9-7 and 8-8 records to fall out of the playoffs and end an eight-year streak of post-season appearances. They marked the club's 50th anniversary season, 1982, with a return to postseason play after a 6-3 finish in the strike-shortened schedule, but the anniversary season ended in a first-round playoff loss to San Diego, 31-28. In October of 1982 an anniversary banquet commemorating the club's first 50 years was held to honor the Steelers' all-time team as selected by fan balloting. The banquet was part of a week of activities and exhibits which attracted thousands of fans to Pittsburgh.

In 1983 the Steelers again earned a playoff berth, this time with a 10-6 record, but lost to the Los Angeles Raiders 38-10 in the first round. A 9-7 mark in 1984 was good enough for the division title, and the team gained momentum with a season-ending 13-7 win over the Raiders before a spirited 24-17 upset in Denver in the playoffs. An AFC Championship game showdown in Miami proved to be the end of the road, however, as the Dolphins' powerful air attack took a 45-28 decision to prevent the Steelers' fifth Super Bowl appearance.

1984 marked the end of 13 years of non-losing records as the team fell to 7-9 in 1985 and 6-10 last season. Despite the team's worst record since 1970, the 1986 Steelers bounced back from a 1-6 start to post a 5-4 finish and get the team moving in the right direction coming into the 1987 campaign.

The history of the Pittsburgh Steelers includes several members of the Pro Football Hall of Fame. In 1964, Art Rooney, Sr. was inducted into The Hall. By that time his oldest son, Dan, had been working full-time for the team for

CHUCK NOLL

Head Coach

In 1987 head coach Chuck Noll enters his 19th season with the Steelers, coming off a season in which many observers felt he turned in his best coaching performance to date.

Entering the 35th year of his association with professional football, Noll is tied with Paul Brown as the fifth-winningest coach in NFL history. Noll's mark of 170-114-1 (.598) places him behind George Halas (325), Don Shula (263), Tom Landry (260), and Curly Lambeau (234) in career wins. Among active coaches, Noll stands third behind Shula and Landry in victories and is one of only four current coaches, along with Chuck Knox (137), to have recorded 100 career victories.

Noll's unprecedented four Super Bowl victories make him one of just four coaches to be undefeated in at least two Super Bowl appearances, and the Steelers are the only team to ever win back-to-back Super Bowl titles twice. With a 15-7 (.682) postseason record, Noll ranks third behind Vince Lombardi (.900) and Tom Flores (.727) among the 10 coaches who have been in at least 10 postseason games.

There were humble beginnings for Noll and the Steelers in 1969 as his initial team won its first game of the season and went on to lose the next 13 games. But there was a foundation to build upon. In his first draft as head coach, prior to the 1969 season, Noll used his first pick to select defensive lineman Joe Greene out of North Texas State. This past January Greene was elected for induction into Pro Football's Hall of Fame. In his second draft (1970) Noll picked quarterback Terry Bradshaw with his first pick and, like Greene, Bradshaw is destined for the Hall of Fame. Those two players were key building blocks for the Steelers' success during the 1970s.

In Noll's second season the Steelers were 5-9, having picked up the club's most victories in a season in four years. The team's victory output continued to increase as the Steelers went 6-8 in 1971.

It was during the 40th anniversary season of the Steelers that Noll led the team to its first division crown with an 11-3 record in 1972. Noll's team advanced in the playoffs that year by upending the Oakland Raiders, 13-7, when Franco Harris scooped a deflected Bradshaw pass out of the air and scored the winning touchdown. The 1972 season ended the following week when Shula's Miami Dolphins defeated Noll's squad, 21-17, in the AFC Championship game. The Dolphins went on to capture the Super Bowl title with a 17-0 record; the only team in NFL history to accomplish that feat. Noll, however, was rewarded for his efforts when he was named UPI's AFC Coach of the Year.

In 1973, as a 10-4 wildcard entry, the Steelers traveled to Oakland and were defeated, 33-14, by the Raiders to halt a three-game Pittsburgh win streak in the series. In 1974 Noll became the first coach in the team's history to register three consecutive winning seasons. Going 10-3-1 in the regular season, the Steelers took the AFC title by defeating Buffalo (31-14) and Oakland (24-13). Those victories were followed by a 16-6 win over Minnesota in Super Bowl IX when the Steeler defense limited the Vikings to 17 yards rushing and 119 yards overall.

The 1975 Steelers did not let up, running up a 12-2 record and defeating Baltimore (28-10) and Oakland (16-10) to capture a second consecutive AFC title. By defeating Dallas, 21-17, in Super Bowl X, Noll became the third coach to win back-to-back Super Bowls.

As was the case last season, Noll turned his team around in 1976 when the Steelers opened the season with four losses in their first five games. The Steelers bounced back to reel off nine straight wins and capture the division title and then defeated Baltimore, 40-14, in the playoffs. Their bid for an unprecedented third Super Bowl title came to an end with a 24-7 loss to Oakland in the AFC Championship game. The Sporting News, citing the job Noll did in leading his club back from a 1-5 start, named Noll NFL Coach of the Year.

Noll's Steelers were 9-5 and the division champion in 1977, but the season ended with a 34-21 loss to Denver in the playoffs. With the NFL's best won-loss record in 1978, the 14-2 Steelers marched past Denver (33-10) and Houston (34-5) to set up the first rematch in Super Bowl history when the Steelers took on Dallas in Super Bowl XIII. The 35-31 victory made Noll the first coach to ever win the Vince Lombardi Trophy three times. The Steelers and Noll added to that record in 1979 when the team won consecutive Super Bowl titles for the second time. The victim this time was the Los Angeles Rams as Pittsburgh took a 31-19 decision. As a result of the four Super Bowl triumphs in six seasons, the Steelers earned the title of "Team of the Decade" for the 1970s.

The 1980s began slowly for the Steelers as they did not make the playoffs in 1980 or 1981 with 9-7 and 8-8 records, respectively, breaking an eight-year streak of postseason play. In the strike-shortened 1982 season, the Steelers went 6-3 and returned to the playoffs but lost to San Diego, 31-28, in the opening round of postseason play. In 1983 the Los Angeles Raiders put an end to Noll's 10-6 campaign with a 38-10 playoff win. The 1984 Steelers advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 24-17 victory over Denver, but the following week Miami took a 45-28 decision in the AFC Championship game to earn a trip to the Super Bowl. The Steelers have not advanced to the playoffs the past two years, having gone 7-9 in 1985 and 6-10 last year.

Last season the Steelers got off to a 1-6 start before rebounding to a 5-4 finish. The second half rally included back-to-back overtime losses on the road to Cleveland and Chicago, both division champions, and an inspired 45-24 victory over the playoff-bound New York Jets. After the stirring victory over the Jets, the Steeler players recognized Noll for his efforts by awarding him the game ball. It is the strong finish of the 1986 team that gives good reason for optimism as Noll leads his team into the 1987 season.

Noll's association with professional football began when he was a 21st round draft choice of the Cleveland Browns in 1953 following a career at Dayton, where he was a team captain. He played seven seasons (77 career games) with the Browns from 1953-59 as an offensive guard and linebacker. During Noll's career, the Browns won five Eastern Conference championships and played for three NFL titles (1953, '54, '55), winning two.

Noll's playing career ended at the age of 27 when he retired to enter the coaching profession. However, an opportunity to coach at Dayton did not materialize, and Noll made plans for a teaching career. Sid Gillman then offered him the last spot on the staff of the Los Angeles Chargers, where Noll served as a defensive assistant for six years as the Chargers won four division titles and two AFL championships.

In 1966 Noll returned to the NFL as a defensive coach on Shula's staff in Baltimore. In his three years the Colts lost just seven regular season games and won an NFL title in 1968 before losing to the AFL's New York Jets in Super Bowl III.

Shortly after the Super Bowl game against the Jets, Dan Rooney named the 36-year old Noll head coach of the Steelers, making him the 14th head coach in the organization's history.

RON BLACKLEDGE
Offensive Line Coach — Tackles/Tight Ends

Now in his 28th year of coaching, Ron Blackledge will team with guard/center coach Hal Hunter to continue building the foundation of the Pittsburgh offense.

A key reason for the Steelers' third-place conference ranking in rushing in 1986 was the play of the offensive line. Crippled by injuries at the start of the season, the line held its own with seven different starting combinations in the first eight games.

Blackledge, a 49-year old native of North Canton, Ohio, joined the Steelers on August 31, 1982, as an offensive assistant. He became the offensive line coach later that year on September 2 when Rollie Dotsch left to join the USFL.

Blackledge's coaching career includes nine years at the high school level and 14 in the college ranks. As a tight end and defensive end at Bowling Green, Blackledge starred from 1957-59 and is now a member of his alma mater's hall of fame.

He got his coaching start at the high school level in his native Canton, Ohio, at Canton South (1960-62), Canton Timken (1963-65) and Canton Glenwood (1967-68). After that Blackledge headed to the collegiate level as the offensive line coach at Ashland College (1968-69). He performed the same duties at Cincinnati (1970-72), Kentucky (1973-75), and Princeton (1976). In 1977 Blackledge became the offensive coordinator at Kent State under Steeler computer & special teams coach Dennis Fitzgerald. From 1979-81 Blackledge was the head coach at Kent State before joining Chuck Noll's staff in 1982.

Blackledge earned his bachelor's degree in physical education at Bowling Green (1960) and went on to earn a master's in guidance and physical education from Ohio University in 1967.

Blackledge and wife Linda have three children: daughters Michelle (6/13/64) and Traci (8/17/71) and son Todd (2/25/61), who is a quarterback with the Kansas City Chiefs. The Blackledge family lives in the North Hills. Ron was born April 15, 1938, in North Canton, Ohio.

TONY DUNGY
Defensive Coordinator

Entering his seventh season on Chuck Noll's staff and his fifth as defensive coordinator, Tony Dungy is considered one of the bright young minds in the NFL.

At 31 years old, he is the youngest coordinator in the NFL. Dungy's unit had one or more interceptions in 12 of 16 games last season and held the opposition to under 100 yards rushing in five of those contests. Overall, the Steeler defense finished sixth in the AFC while attaining an eighth place ranking against both the run and the pass.

Dungy joined Noll's staff in 1981, at the age of 25, as a defensive assistant. The following season he coached the secondary, and in 1983 Dungy was named the team's defensive coordinator. He is one of four Steeler assistant coaches who also played under Noll.

After a distinguished college career as a quarterback at the University of Minnesota, Dungy made the Steeler roster as a free agent safety in 1977. In his second year with the Steelers (1978) he produced six interceptions to lead the team. He was traded to the San Francisco 49ers in 1979, and his career ended with the New York Giants in 1980. After his playing career Dungy returned to his alma mater to coach the defensive backs through the 1980 season before joining the Steeler staff in 1981.

While a player at Minnesota, Dungy quarterbacked under Steeler offensive coordinator Tom Moore in 1973 and 1975-76. The Jackson, Michigan, native earned team MVP honors twice during his career and captained the Golden Gophers as a senior. At the completion of his career, he held the school's all-time records for total plays (999), pass attempts (586), completions (274), passing yards (3,577), and touchdowns (25). He played in the Japan and Hula Bowls and the East-West Shrine game in 1976.

A 1977 Minnesota graduate, Dungy holds a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Dungy and his wife Lauren live with their daughter Tiara (12/28/84) in Allison Park. Tony was born October 6, 1955, in Jackson, Michigan.

DENNIS FITZGERALD
Computer & Special Teams Coach

Now in his sixth season with the Steelers, Dennis Fitzgerald has assumed a new role. Along with Jon Kolb, Fitzgerald will coach the special teams and be responsible for the newly-installed computer system.

Fitzgerald made his mark as a defensive specialist and will continue to work in that area with the computer system.

Prior to this season, Fitzgerald coached the Steeler linebacking corps for five seasons.

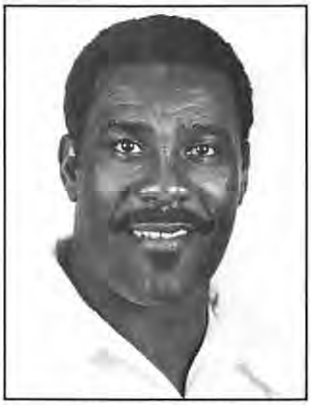

Fitzgerald came to Chuck Noll's staff in 1982 after 21 years as a college coach.

After earning five letters as a halfback and a wrestler at Michigan from 1958-60 and being named the Wolverines' football MVP as a senior, Fitzgerald became an assistant freshman coach at his alma mater from 1961-62. He was the head freshman coach from 1963-65 before joining the varsity staff as defensive line coach, a position he held from 1966-68. He moved on to Kentucky in 1969 as defensive coordinator and held the same position for the 1971-74 seasons at Kent State.

Fitzgerald succeeded Don James as the Kent State head coach in 1975 and, during his three seasons as the head man, compiled an 18-16 record. Steeler offensive line coach Ron Blackledge served as his offensive coordinator at Kent State. In 1978 Fitzgerald was named Syracuse's defensive coordinator, and in 1981 he held the same position with Tulane before coming to the Steelers.

Fitzgerald had an outstanding wrestling career as a collegian when he was NCAA semi-finalist in 1960 and 1961, an AAU finalist in 1961, and a two-time Big Ten champ in 1960 and '61. He also captained the team as a senior. He holds his bachelor's (1961) and master's (1963) degrees in physical education from Michigan.

Fitzgerald and wife Elizabeth have six children: son Timothy (11/3/64) and daughters Maureen (2/23/66), Eileen (8/10/67), Molly (8/8/68), Katherine (2/9/72), and Margaret (12/14/77). The Fitzgeralds live in the North Hills. Dennis was born March 13, 1936, in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

JOE GREENE
Defensive Line Coach

Joe Greene became the newest member of Chuck Noll's coaching staff on February 19 of this year when he was hired as the Steelers' defensive line coach. The 41-year old Greene also was enshrined into the Pro Football Hall of Fame this year, on August 8, in his first year of eligibility. Greene was joined by running back John Henry Johnson, and the event marked the first time a Steeler had been inducted since 1969.

Joe Greene's arrival as defensive line coach follows his five-year retirement after a 13-year career as a perennial all-pro defensive tackle for the Steelers. In 1969 the North Texas State product became the first draft selection of Noll's career as a head coach, and over the next 13 seasons he established himself as the most dominating defensive lineman in the game and the cornerstone of the famed "Steel Curtain Defense."

Greene earned NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year honors in 1969 and made his first trip to the Pro Bowl, the first in what would become an eight-year streak. Today Greene ranks second in team history in career quarterback sacks, with 66, and is a member of the Steelers' All-Time Team.

At the end of his college career at North Texas State, Greene was named consensus All-American. He was the fourth player selected in the 1969 draft, and is now the fourth Steeler assistant coach who was also a player under Noll.

Greene is a native of Temple, Texas, where he attended Dunbar High. He graduated from North Texas State in 1968 with a bachelor's degree in physical education, and he currently serves on the board of trustees for his alma mater. In February of this year Greene received the first annual Walter Camp Football Foundation "Alumni Award."

Greene and wife Agnes have three children: sons Charles ("Major") (7/29/68) and Edward (10/13/69) and daughter JoQuel (10/13/73). Major currently plays football at North Texas State. The Greene family lives in the North Hills. Joe was born September 24, 1946, in Temple, Texas.

DICK HOAK
Offensive Backfield Coach

Under Dick Hoak, the Steeler rushing attack was the most balanced in the NFL last season as Earnest Jackson and Walter Abercrombie carried the ball 216 and 214 times, respectively, while the Steeler running game rated third-best in the AFC.

Now in his 16th season as a Steeler coach and in his 26th as a member of the Pittsburgh organization, Hoak looks to continue building a balanced and effective rushing attack in 1987.

Hoak, 47, joined Chuck Noll's staff in 1972, and is the longest-tenured assistant on the staff and one of four coaches who was also a player under Noll. Hoak initially established himself in the Steeler organization with a brilliant 10-year career as a running back.

Hoak played for the Steelers from 1961-70, and at the end of his career was the team's second-leading all-time rusher, with 3,965 yards, behind John Henry Johnson. Franco Harris has since moved into the top spot on that chart, but Hoak's name is still prominent in the Steeler record book as the No. 2 man in career rushing attempts (1,132) while maintaining the No. 4 spot in rushing touchdowns (25). He also recorded the fourth-longest run in team history when he scored a 77-yard touchdown against New Orleans in 1968.

For his career Hoak added 145 pass receptions for another 1,152 yards and eight touchdowns.

Hoak led the Steelers in rushing in 1965, 1968 and 1969. His 858 yards in 1968 ranked fourth in the NFL and earned him a trip to the Pro Bowl. That year he was also honored as the area's Man of the Year in Sports by the Dapper Dan Club of Pittsburgh.

Prior to his pro career, Hoak was a quarterback and running back at Penn State from 1958-60, where he was team captain and MVP.

A 1961 graduate of Penn State, Hoak holds a bachelor's degree in social studies.

Hoak and wife Lynn have three children: daughters Kelly (5/18/65) and Katie (7/23/68) and son Richard (7/5/72). The Hoaks live in Greensburg. Dick was born December 12, 1939, in Jeannette, Pennsylvania.

JED HUGHES
Linebacker Coach

Entering his fourth year on the Steeler staff, Jed Hughes takes on added responsibility after serving as the outside linebackers coach for the past three seasons. As a result of changes on Chuck Noll's staff this season, Hughes now handles the inside and outside linebackers.

Under Hughes' guidance, the trio of Mike Merriweather, Bryan Hinkle and Anthony Henton excelled last season. Hinkle was named the Steelers' 1986 Most Valuable Player, while Merriweather made his third trip to the Pro Bowl. Henton, meanwhile, was named the Steelers' Rookie of the Year.

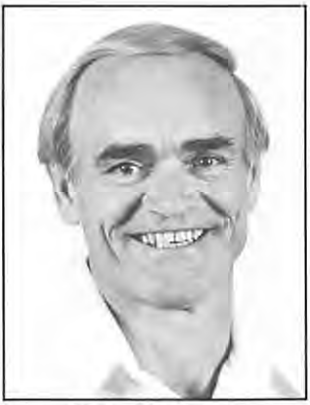

Hughes, 40, arrived in Pittsburgh in 1984 after having coached the defensive backfield for the Minnesota Vikings during the 1982 and 1983 seasons. Hughes is one of just two assistants on the Steeler staff who has coached for another NFL team.

Now entering his 18th year as a coach, Hughes' career began in 1970 on the staff at Biglerville (Pa.) High School. From there he moved to the collegiate ranks and Stanford where he coached the offensive line in 1971 and the defensive line in 1972. Hughes joined the Michigan staff in 1973 as the offensive line coach and switched responsibilities to the linebacker corps there during the next two seasons. He spent the next six seasons on UCLA's staff as the linebacker coach, defensive line coach, and finally as the defensive coordinator.

Hughes was a three-sport athlete at Springfield (Mass.) College in 1966-67 before transferring to Gettysburg College from 1968-69. While at Springfield, Hughes lettered in football as a tight end and linebacker, baseball and wrestling. At Gettysburg he played tight end and split end and was a member of the baseball team.

A member of the class of '70 of Gettysburg, Hughes holds a bachelor's degree in biology and physical education. He received his master's in education from Stanford in 1972 and a Ph.D. in education administration from Michigan in 1975.

Hughes and his wife Carol live in the North Hills. Jed was born November 14, 1947, in New York City.

HAL HUNTER
Offensive Line Coach — Guards/Centers

In his role as offensive line coach, Hal Hunter is responsible for the guards and centers. Last season veteran center Mike Webster returned from a preseason elbow injury to fulfill his customary role as anchor of the line and team leader after missing the first four games. Hunter will continue to direct the development of the interior linemen, which include Craig Wolfley, Terry Long, and John Rienstra.

Hunter came to the Steelers in February of 1985. He entered the professional ranks in 1981 when he joined Frank Kush's staff as offensive coordinator of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League. In 1982 Hunter moved to the NFL's Baltimore Colts as offensive line coach under Kush. In 1984 the Colts moved to Indianapolis and Hunter was named interim head coach for the final game of that season.

Prior to his professional coaching career, Hunter coached 23 years at the collegiate level starting as the defensive line coach at Richmond from 1958-61. He then moved to West Virginia as offensive line coach for two seasons before working at Maryland from 1964-65 and Duke from 1966-70. His final two stops as a collegiate assistant were at Kentucky as the offensive coordinator (1971-72) and Indiana (1973-76) as offensive line coach.

From 1977-80 Hunter was head coach at California State College of Pennsylvania.

Hunter was a three-year starter at linebacker and guard at Pitt from 1953-55, and the school's heavyweight wrestler from 1952-54. He placed fourth in the 1956 AAU wrestling championships, and in 1956 received his bachelor's degree in secondary education from Pitt. Hunter also holds a master's in science from West Virginia as a 1962 graduate of that program.

Hunter and wife Eileen have three children: daughters Heidi and Heather and son Hal, who is an assistant football coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania. The Hunters live in Gibsonia, Pa. Hal was born June 3, 1934, in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania.

JON KOLB
Computer & Special Teams Coach

Entering his sixth season as a Steeler assistant, Jon Kolb teams with Dennis Fitzgerald in coaching the special teams and handling the newly-installed computer system.

Kolb, an offensive tackle for the Steelers for 13 seasons, joined the coaching staff in 1982 as strength coach. Shortly thereafter he became the team's defensive line coach, continuing in that position through the 1986 season. In his new role he returns to the offensive phase in handling the offensive computerized breakdown of video tape, a development that will allow for more efficient and comprehensive evaluation of Steeler and opponent tendencies.

Last season under Kolb, the defensive line was the most improved part of the defense as it accounted for 30½ of the team's 43 sacks.

A member of the Steelers' All-Time Team, Kolb is one of four Pittsburgh assistant coaches to have played under Chuck Noll as well. A third round pick in 1969, Kolb is one of just nine Steelers to have played 13 seasons, during which he played in 177 games, the fifth-highest total ever for a Steeler. In his first 10 years in the league Kolb played in 156 of a possible 157 games. In his 13 years as a player he started 137 games, including 112 straight from 1971-79. Kolb is a member of a select group. He and Joe Greene are two members of Noll's staff to have played on all four Super Bowl champion teams.

A 1969 graduate of Oklahoma State, Kolb was a two-time All-Big Eight selection for the Cowboys. As a senior he was a consensus second-team All-America and played in all the major post-season bowl games. He played center and linebacker during his college career (1966-68). He holds a bachelor's degree in physical education from Oklahoma State. Kolb was inducted into the Western Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame last spring.

Kolb and wife Debbie have two sons: Eric (8/28/71) and Tanner (10/26/80). The Kolbs live in the North Hills. Jon was born August 30, 1947, in Ponca City, Oklahoma.

TOM MOORE
Offensive Coordinator

Tom Moore is now in his fifth year as the Steelers' offensive coordinator and his 11th season as a member of Chuck Noll's staff.

The 1987 season brings the challenge of continuing the solid rushing performance of last season while improving the passing efficiency. In 1986 the Steelers had the No. 3 running unit in the AFC, but the completion rate for the pass offense was 48.5.

Moore's offense ignited a 5-4 finish in the last nine games as it scored 32 of the 34 times it had the ball inside the opposition's 20-yard line. Further evidence of the team's turnaround was an increase in total offense from 250.9 yards per game to 339.4 in the last nine, and a pass completion rate which jumped from 40.5% to 55.0%.

Moore, 48, joined Noll's staff in 1977 as wide receivers coach. He was elevated to his current position in 1983. Now in his 25th year of coaching, Moore came to the Steelers from the University of Minnesota where he was offensive coordinator from 1972-73 and 1975-76.

His first professional coaching position was with the New York Stars of the World Football League in 1974.

Moore's coaching career began in 1961 at Iowa, his alma mater, where he was the freshman coach for two seasons. He moved to Dayton as offensive backfield coach in 1965 and stayed there for five years before serving for one season as the offensive coordinator at Wake Forest. Before going to Minnesota in 1972, Moore was the offensive backfield coach at Georgia Tech for two years.

Moore's quarterback at Minnesota during the 1975-76 seasons was Steeler defensive coordinator Tony Dungy.

A 1961 graduate of Iowa with a bachelor's degree in history, Moore quarterbacked the Hawkeyes from 1957-60.

In addition to his bachelor's degree, Moore earned a master's degree in guidance from Minnesota in 1966.

Moore and wife Emily have two children: daughter Terry (8/31/64) and son Daniel (1/17/68). The Moores live in Upper St. Clair. Tom was born November 7, 1938, in Owatonna, Minnesota.

WALT EVANS
Conditioning and Training Coach

Pittsburgh native Walt Evans is in his fifth season with the Steelers as the team's conditioning and training coach. The 36-year old Evans, who originally joined Chuck Noll's staff in 1983 as assistant conditioning coach, is responsible for developing and monitoring individualized conditioning programs for every Steeler player.

The broad scope of Evans' work entails five key areas — strength, conditioning, flexibility, nutrition, and rehabilitation. He designs specific weight programs, plans graduated running schedules, monitors each player's progress, and re-designs routines as needed.

A vital part of Evans' job, which he performs in conjunction with trainers Ralph Berlin and Francis Feld, is the rehabilitation of injured players. Evans works one-on-one with players recovering from injuries, many of whom are returning from surgery.

When he joined the Steeler coaching staff, Evans brought with him a wealth of experience and education in the health and fitness field. From 1980-82 he served as corporate fitness consultant for the General Nutrition Corporation, where he developed fitness programs for employees of Westinghouse and H.J. Heinz.

Evans graduated from Marietta in 1974 with a degree in physical education. He earned his master's in sports physiology from Pitt in 1982, and is currently working towards a doctorate of exercise physiology at Pitt. He is also a member of the American College of Sports Medicine.

Evans is single and lives in the North Hills. He was born May 15, 1951, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

RALPH BERLIN

Trainer

Trainer Ralph Berlin celebrates his 20th season with the Steeler organization in 1987.

Berlin made his start in the sports medicine field in 1960 at Iowa State after a knee injury ended his college playing career. He worked for two years as a student trainer, and after graduating in 1962 was hired as the head trainer at DePauw University.

From 1964 through 1968 Berlin served as the trainer at Kentucky prior to joining the Steelers.

A member of the National Athletic Trainers' Association and the American College of Sports Medicine, Berlin has a bachelor's degree in physical education from Iowa State (1962) and a master's in health and safety from Indiana (1965). Ralph and his wife Dee have two children — daughter Beth (26) and son Steven (24) and live in Bethel Park.

FRANCIS FELD

Trainer

In his second year with the Steelers is 33-year old Francis Feld, a native of New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Prior to joining the Steelers Feld was the head football trainer and a clinical instructor of athletic training at Pitt. He made his start in the profession as a student trainer at Pitt from 1972-76. From 1976-78 Feld served as head trainer at Center High School in Monaca. He joined the Pitt faculty in 1978.

Feld is also an emergency medical technician for the Baldwin Borough Emergency Medical Service. He is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association and is an examiner for the NATA certification exam.

Feld graduated from Pitt in 1976 with a bachelor's degree in history, and in 1985 earned his master's degree in physical education from Pitt. Francis is single and lives in Baldwin.

TONY PARISI

Equipment Manager

Canadian-born Tony Parisi is in his 23rd year as the Steelers' equipment manager. Parisi joined the team in 1965 after five years as trainer and backup goaltender for the Pittsburgh Hornets' hockey team.

As equipment manager, Parisi is responsible for all purchasing, issuing, reconditioning, and custom fitting of the players' equipment and uniforms.

Parisi grew up playing hockey in Canada, and had a 16-year career at the professional level from 1949-65.

Tony and wife Joan have two daughters, Paula (5/12/65) and Beth (4/4/69) and live in Mount Lebanon.

RODGERS FREYVOGEL

Field Manager

The Steelers' field manager, Rodgers Freyvogel, is in his eighth year with the organization after joining the club in 1980. The 36-year old Freyvogel is responsible for preparation of the Steelers' practice fields and practice equipment at training camp and at Three Rivers Stadium. Freyvogel also assists equipment manager Tony Parisi in the issuing and reconditioning of the players' equipment and uniforms.

A native of Pittsburgh, Freyvogel attended North Catholic High on the city's North Side. Rodgers is single and lives on the North Side.

PERSONNEL DEPARTMENT

DICK HALEY
Director of Player Personnel

Former Steeler defensive back Dick Haley is in his 17th season as the team's director of player personnel. Haley oversees the Steelers' personnel department, which includes the scouting, testing, evaluating, and drafting of college players.

The Steelers strongly adhere to a philosophy of building through the draft, as they have been doing since Chuck Noll became head coach in 1969. With that philosophy the team built a dominating defense and an explosive offense in the early 1970s which would eventually claim an unequalled four Super Bowl championships and earn the title "Team of the Decade." Two of those early draft classes, in 1971 and 1974, have been cited as two of the most productive in NFL history and a standard for the draft selection process.

A native of Midway, Pennsylvania, Haley began his scouting career with the BLESTO scouting combine. He was with BLESTO as an area scout in the south for five years prior to joining the Steelers in 1971.

As a college player Haley was a standout halfback for Pitt from 1955-59 and was the team's leading rusher and leading scorer as a senior. He played in the Panthers' Sugar Bowl and Gator Bowl appearances and capped his collegiate career in the 1959 East-West Shrine game. In that game he scored a touchdown on an 86-yard punt return.

In 1959, Haley's six-year professional playing career began as a ninth-round draft choice of the Washington Redskins. He played for the Redskins two seasons before going to the expansion Minnesota Vikings through the veteran draft pool in 1961. During the 1961 season Haley returned to his home state when the Steelers acquired him. He was among the team's top interceptors in each of his five years with the Steelers from 1961-64.

Dick and his wife Carolyn have two children — daughter Callie Rene, and son Richard Todd. The Haleys live in Bridgeville.

TOM MODRAK
Director of Pro Scouting

Pittsburgh native Tom Modrak is in his ninth year with the Steelers after joining the club's personnel department in 1979 as pro talent scout. As director of pro scouting he is responsible for scouting the Steelers' upcoming opponents and personnel. Modrak is also the Steelers' personnel liaison to the other NFL teams.

Modrak first joined the Steelers in 1973 as a part-time scout before working for the BLESTO scouting combine for six years. In 1979 he returned to the Steelers on a full-time basis.

Modrak is a graduate of Indiana University of Pennsylvania, having received his bachelor's degree in geography in 1965. In 1972 he earned a master's in physical education from West Virginia.

Tom and wife Sandy have two daughters, Stephanie and Erin. The Modraks live in Pittsburgh.

PERSONNEL DEPARTMENT

TOM DONAHOE
Talent Scout — East

In his second year as the East talent scout for the Steelers is Pittsburgh native Tom Donahoe. Donahoe joined the team's personnel staff in June of last year after working as a scout for the BLESTO combine.

Prior to his scouting career, Donahoe enjoyed a successful 16-year career as a high school football and basketball coach in western Pennsylvania. At Seton-LaSalle High School, his alma mater, he coached his football team to back-to-back WPIAL championships in 1979 and 1980.

Donahoe attended Indiana University of Pennsylvania and was graduated in 1969 with a bachelor's degree in English education. Tom and his wife Mary Margaret live in Hopewell.

JESSE KAYE
Talent Scout — Midwest

Scouting the midwest region for the Steelers is Jesse Kaye, in his second year with the organization. Kaye joined the Steeler personnel staff last year after two years as a midwest area scout for the BLESTO scouting combine.

A native of South Bend, Indiana, Kaye grew up in Green Bay, Wisconsin where he was named all-Packerland quarterback for Premontre High. From there he went on to the University of Wisconsin and Tampa University, where he was a Little All-American and the team's MVP.

Kaye had a brief professional career for the Canadian Football League's Saskatchewan Roughriders and as a backup quarterback for the Miami Dolphins.

Single, Jesse lives in Antigo, Wisconsin.

BOB SCHMITZ
Talent Scout — West

Former Steeler linebacker Bob Schmitz is in this 12th year as a scout for the team. He joined the Steeler personnel staff in 1976. Schmitz began his scouting career with the BLESTO combine in 1971 prior to joining the Steelers.

As a player, Schmitz was a 14th-round Steeler draft choice in 1961 out of Montana State. His playing career with the Steelers was from 1961 through the 1966 season.

Schmitz received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Montana State in 1961.

Bob and his wife Kathryn live in Glendale, Arizona. They have four children — daughters Meghan and Amy and sons Bobby and Michael.

FRITO-LAY 'CHALLENGE FOR CHILDREN'

Since the 'Challenge For Children' program began in 1983, the Frito-Lay Corporation has donated $149,000 to youth-related charities in the Tri-State area. In 1987, for the fifth consecutive season, Frito-Lay will contribute $100 for every point the Steelers score in regular and postseason games.

Last year's total was $30,700. In 1983 the amount was $36,500, in 1984 it was $43,900 as the Steelers advanced to the AFC Championship game, and in 1985 the total was $37,900.

Charities which have been a part of this program are Children's Hospital, Ronald McDonald House, American Diabetes Youth Research, Cystic Fibrosis, Sickle Cell Society, National Autistic Society, the Abraxas Foundation, Boys Clubs of Western Pennsylvania, Spina Bifida, and the Parental Stress Center. Grants will be provided to the Western Pennsylvania School for Blind Children, March of Dimes, Pittsburgh Rehabilitation Institute, and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome in 1987.

Got late start in training camp after bout with asceptic meningitis which held him out of practice and first preseason game . . . Gradually regained strength and in game four vs. Houston (9/28) tallied winning TD on three-yard run in overtime to secure Steelers' first win of season . . . Totalled 21 carries for 73 yards and four receptions for 48 yards in that contest . . . Was aided by arrival of Jackson as running game became more productive with both backs complementing each other . . . Had season highs in rushes (22) and yards (109) vs. Cincinnati (10/26) along with five receptions for 32 yards to earn game ball in helping offense begin resurgence for final nine contests . . . Was also named by Sports Illustrated as Co-Offensive Player of the Week with Jackson for performance vs. Cincinnati . . . Increased production coincided with team's return to form as offense found overall improvement . . . Made 31 of his 47 receptions in final nine weeks . . . Tallied six TDs in last six games including three vs. New York Jets (12/13) . . . Scored eight TDs overall during year (6 rush, 2 rec.) to lead team in TDs and finish second in scoring . . . In 1985 made great strides with 851 rushing yards in 16 starts, his first full season . . . Recorded nine TDs to rank third on team in scoring . . . Completed campaign ranked 11th among AFC rushers after holding top-12 spot for final 12 weeks . . . Was held to 38-yards per game rushing in first four contests before breaking loose for 91 yards vs. Miami (10/6) . . . Had 32-yard carry in that game and scored second-quarter TD to begin streak of TDs in six of seven games . . . Followed with season-high 53 yards receiving vs. Dallas (10/13) and added score on one-yard plunge . . . Averaged 18 carries and 60 yards per game over next four weeks . . . Vs. St. Louis (10/20) turned in 50 yards on 17 carries, but streak of 31 games without a fumble ended on 16th carry of that game . . . Had handled ball 327 times without fumbling . . . Fumbled twice the next week vs. Cincinnati (10/27) marking first fumble lost in 32 consecutive games . . . Exploded in game 11 vs. Houston (11/17), recording season-high 107 yards rushing on 23 carries to complement Frank Pollard's 123 yards, also on 23 rushes . . . Both backs earned game balls for their efforts, which marked first time since December 11, 1976 that two Steeler backs gained 100 yards in same contest . . . Caught two TD passes three weeks later at San Diego (12/5) along with 20 rushes for 73 yards . . . In 1984 suffered knee injury in second game vs. New York Jets (9/6) and missed next two contests . . . Was replaced in starting lineup by Rich Erenberg until 12th game at New Orleans (11/19) . . . Started last five games and produced first two 100-yard outings of career vs. San Diego (11/25) and L.A. Raiders (12/16) . . . Vs. Raiders broke screen pass 59 yards to set up winning TD and insure playoff berth . . . Was starter for first 13 games in 1983 and scored four TDs in first five weeks before being hampered by injuries . . . Finished with 446 rushing yards to rank fourth on team and added 26 receptions with at least one catch in every game played . . . Broke career-best 50-yard run vs. Houston (9/18) and caught 51-yard TD pass from Cliff Stoudt two weeks later vs. Houston (10/2) for winning score . . . Was limited to six games in rookie year (1982) after suffering strained knee ligaments in second preseason game . . . Was primarily backup to Pollard and handled kickoff returns in first year . . . As team's top draft pick in 1982 was fourth running back selected and 12th player overall . . . Third running back, along with Franco Harris and former Baylor teammate Greg Hawthorne, to be selected by Chuck Noll in first round . . . Was teammate with Pollard at Baylor . . . Ranks 13th among current AFC rushers with 2,884 career rushing yards.

COLLEGE: Four-year starter who completed career as school's all-time rushing leader with 3,665 yards . . . PRO: Ranks as NFL's all-time most accurate field goal kicker with career mark of 115/149 (77.2%) . . . Holder of eight team records including most points scored single season (139, 1985), most field goals single season (33, 1985), most field goals one game (5, 11-10-85 vs. Kansas City), longest field goal (55 yds., 11-25-84 vs. San Diego), highest FG percentage for career (77.2%) and single season (87.0%, 1983), most consecutive FGs made (18, 1985), and most consecutive PATs made (153, 1983-present) . . . PAT streak of 153 is longest current streak in NFL . . . Entering 1987 is third-leading scorer in team history with 522 points, needing 79 points to move ahead of Franco Harris (600) into second place behind Roy Gerela (731) . . . Also needs 32 field goals to break Gerela's career mark of 146 . . . A threat to score once Steelers cross midfield, he has booted the three longest field goals in team history — 55, 53, and 52 yards . . . Particularly effective vs. AFC Central division opponents, having established 84% success rate with 41 FGs on 49 attempts including 20/24 at home and 21/25 on the road . . . Possesses powerful leg and consistently puts kickoffs near opponent's goal line . . . Had few opportunities early in 1986 season as offense struggled, resulting in his lowest point total since rookie year after three consecutive seasons as AFC scoring leader . . . Was first AFC player to win three straight scoring crowns since Gino Cappelletti won four from 1963-66 . . . In 1986 converted 21 of 32 FG attempts, adding 32/32 PATs for 95 points . . . Had just two opportunities in first three weeks last season, but made good on three of four chances week four vs. Houston (9/28), including 45-yard effort, to spark first win of season . . . Hit another 45-yarder the following week vs. Cleveland (10/5) after missing from 42 yards . . . In the next game qualified as NFL's all-time FG accuracy leader on second attempt with 24-yard kick vs. Cincinnati (10/13) to mark 100th career FG, finishing 2 of 3 on the day . . . Perfect 3/3 outing two weeks later in Cincinnati rematch (10/26), which resulted in 30-9 victory, was one of only two perfect games of season . . . Made 2 of 3 the next week vs. Green Bay (11/2), but had no FG attempts again until three weeks later when he went 1 of 2 vs. Cleveland . . . Missed 45-yard try in that game, but came back to hit from 40 yards to tie game at 31-31 with seven seconds remaining, forcing game into overtime . . . Struggled through final five weeks with just 9 FGs on 15 attempts . . . Vs. Detroit (12/7) connected on 26- and 28-yard tries, but missed long attempts of 50, 41, and 44 yards . . . Finished out campaign with 4 of 5 outing in finale vs. Kansas City (12/21) for season-high 13 points . . . Had 19-yard attempt blocked in that game, marking first time he had a FG blocked in 45 games, last time being 9/6/84 vs. New York Jets . . . In 1985 broke four team records and won third straight conference scoring title and second trip to Pro Bowl . . . Records included 139 points, 33 FGs, five FGs in one game, and 18 consecutive FGs . . . Got off to slow start, making 11 of 19 attempts in first half of season, but bounced back to convert 22 of 23 attempts in final eight weeks . . . Second-half rally began week nine with 25-yard FG with nine seconds remaining to clinch 10-9 win over Cleveland (11/3) . . . Followed with team-record 5/5 day vs. Kansas City (11/10) to earn game ball in scoring personal-best 18 points . . . Was perfect 3 of 3 in each of next four games, running streak to 18 straight FG conversions over a six-game stretch . . . Streak ended vs. Buffalo (12/15) with miss on first attempt of 41 yards, but came back to hit next three attempts before closing out season with 26-yarder on only attempt in finale vs. New York Giants (12/21) . . .

PRO: Big-play receiver and team's deep threat who suffered through disappointing season in third year after earning two Pro Bowl appearances and MVP honors in first two seasons . . . Was victim of series of injuries which held him out of three games and reduced effectiveness through first half of 1986 season . . . Owns or shares seven team records including most TDs in a season (15, 1985), most TD receptions in a season (12, 1985), most punt returns in a season (53, 1984), most punt return yards in a season (656, 1984), and most TDs on punt returns for career (3), season (2, 1985), and game (1, three times) . . . Remarkably strong for wide receiver, combined with exceptional speed and quickness . . . Is first Steeler since Franco Harris to be elected to two Pro Bowls in first two years in league . . . Enters 1987 ranked 15th in team history in receiving with 142 catches for 2,584 yards and 24 TDs, 19th in scoring with 174 points . . . 12.1-yard career punt return average is highest among active AFC players, tied for second in NFL . . . Last year got off to slow start after suffering hamstring injury in training camp . . . Did not catch a pass in opener, ending 23-game streak of receptions, but latched on to six passes for 70 yards week two vs. Denver (9/15) . . . Suffered toe injury the next week and sat out fourth game, beginning eight-week stretch in which he and John Stallworth were not in starting lineup together . . . Returned to start next four contests and had just eight receptions in that span with recurrence of hamstring problems . . . Suffered hip and back injury vs. Cincinnati (10/26) and was out of action for two weeks before returning as backup vs. Houston (11/16) . . . Was joined by Stallworth in starting lineup for final five games as both receivers overcame injuries and regained effectiveness . . . Made four receptions for 85 yards vs. Cleveland (11/23) followed by two catches vs. Chicago (11/30) before suffering concussion in second quarter . . . Came back the next week to catch season-high eight passes for 150 yards, two TDs vs. Detroit (12/7), earning game ball . . . Capped campaign with six receptions for 92 yards vs. Kansas City (12/21) to finish with 38 receptions, ranking second behind Walter Abercrombie . . . Was coming off outstanding 1985 season in which he was named team's MVP, first team All-NFL by NEA, PFWA, USA Today, and earned starting role in second Pro Bowl trip . . . Broke Harris' single season TD record with AFC-high 15 and tied Buddy Dial's 24-year old TD reception record with 12 . . . Ranked fourth in AFC, seventh in NFL with 1,134 receiving yards, and averaged 19.2 yards per catch . . . Averaged 12.1 yards per punt return to finish second in AFC, third in NFL, and scored 90 points to tie as NFL's second-highest scoring non-kicker . . . Was league's only player to score TDs three different ways in 1984 and 1985 — receiving, rushing, and on punt returns . . . Began 1985 with nine receptions and three TDs, both career highs, for 154 yards vs. Indianapolis (9/8) . . . Scored two TDs for second time in career vs. Houston (9/22) on six receptions for 98 yards including both TDs and three catches for 51 yards in first half . . . Had second 100-yard outing of season week four vs. Cincinnati (9/30) with five catches for 100 yards . . . Had 155 all-purpose yards vs. Cincinnati (10/27) with 62-yard punt return for TD and 49-yard TD reception to finish with 86 receiving yards, 69 on punt returns . . . Tied two club records vs. Kansas City (11/10) with second punt return for TD of season and third of career . . . 71-yard return marked second-longest of career . . . Produced third 100-yard receiving day vs. Washington (11/24) with five catches for 121 yards . . . Had 140 all-purpose yards vs. Denver (12/1) followed by 130 vs. San Diego (12/8) . . . Earned game ball vs. Buffalo (12/15) with 166 yards on four receptions, one TD in come-from-behind win . . . As top draft choice in 1984 wasted no time in making impression, finishing rookie campaign as consensus NFL rookie of the year, Steelers' rookie of the year, and Pro Bowler . . . Also named AP's NFL offensive rookie of the year, all-NFL punt returner by AP, PFWA, NEA, and Pro Football Weekly, and NFL all-rookie team by UPI, PFWA, Pro Football Weekly, and Football Digest . . . Led all AFC rookies in receptions and yards and broke team's rookie record for receptions with 45 for 860 yards . . . Also established NFL rookie record with 656 yards on punt returns, was tops among NFL rookies with 1,587 all-purpose yards, and scored 11 TDs to lead all rookies and tie Harris' team rookie record . . . Began with a bang in opener vs. Kansas City (9/2) with six receptions for 183 yards, two TDs including 80-yard TD reception from David Woodley . . . Started next four games and added 14 receptions before missing two games with ankle injury . . . Returned as backup for five games before starting vs. San Diego (11/25) and responding with season-high seven receptions for 118 yards, one TD . . . Made four TD receptions in final five weeks and scored on 76-yard punt return vs. New Orleans (11/19) to mark NFL's longest punt return of the year and first returned for TD by a Steeler since Lynn Swann in 1974 . . . Finished that game with career-high 128 yards on four punt returns (32.0 avg.) . . . Caught team-leading eight passes in playoffs including five vs. Denver (12/30) for 85 yards, one TD . . . Proved himself as triple threat with TD on 36-yard run vs. Cincinnati (11/11), totaling 71 yards rushing on three reverses in rookie year . . . Had 12 punt returns of 20 yards or longer . . . Entering 1987 needs 22 receptions to move into team's all-time top 10, 49 points to rank in top 10 in scoring, and 151 punt return yards to break Theo Bell's team record . . . Third wide receiver drafted in 1984, 23rd player overall . . . Is only offensive first-round draft choice from 1984 to reach Pro Bowl.

COLLEGE: Two-year starter and four-year letterman who completed career with 91 receptions for 1,477 yards, adding 78 punt returns for 827 yards (10.6 avg.), to rank second in school history . . . CAREER TOTALS: 62-35

PRO: Anchor at right defensive end position whose versatility makes him a key to defensive schemes . . . Has played every position in the line, but home is at right end slot . . . Able to move inside to defensive tackle in 4-3 alignment, and has also started six career games at nose tackle . . . 16 career sacks ties him for sixth among active Steelers . . . In 1986 regained health to start all 16 games at right end . . . Finished year second among defensive linemen with 37 tackles, fourth on team in sacks with five . . . Also recovered team-high two fumbles, forced another . . . Opened campaign with seven tackles in first three games before outstanding effort at Houston (9/28) which produced three sacks, nine tackles in team's first win of season . . . Was only Steeler to record three sacks in a single game . . . Was held to just two more sacks in remaining games, vs. New England (10/19) and at New York Jets (12/13), but played consistently solid defense throughout season . . . In 1985 was hampered by calf injury which limited him in first six games of season before being placed on injured reserve November 15 . . . Opened at defensive end vs. Indianapolis (9/8) before moving to start at nose tackle for injured Gary Dunn the following week . . . Returned to end in game three to start four straight, but suffered calf injury at Dallas (10/13) . . . Sat out next four games before reinjuring calf in practice and spending remainder of season on injured reserve . . . In 1984 played all defensive line positions with five starts coming at right end, one at nose tackle . . . Finished season second on team in sacks with seven, second among linemen in tackles with 41 . . . Both figures were career highs, as was 32 solo tackles . . . In postseason play led linemen with nine tackles including eight unassisted . . . Started five games in 1983 — four at nose tackle, one at left end . . . Led team with 28 solo tackles, totalled 38 stops, and made three sacks to share team lead . . . In rookie year (1982) started final two games of regular season at 247 pounds, and got starting call at right end in playoff loss to San Diego (1/9/83) . . . Drafted with extra seventh-round selection, obtained from Washington for QB Mike Kruczek, in 1982.

COLLEGE: Four-year starter and team's tackle leader as senior with 112 total, 63 solos, three sacks, six tackles for loss . . . Named Outstanding Senior Player and received "Cliff Hare Award," school's highest athletic honor for leadership, courage, and integrity . . . Was also recipient of "Shug Jordan Award" . . . Graduated with degree in personnel management and industrial relations.

CAREER TOTALS: 188-148

PRO: Defensive captain whose 50 career interceptions distinguish him as only strong safety in NFL history to intercept 50 passes . . . Last season became 21st player overall to reach that plateau . . . Maintains share of lead for active players, tied last season by Seattle's Dave Brown . . . Ranks third in team history, needing three thefts to pass Jack Butler (52), eight to establish new mark ahead of Mel Blount (57) . . . Also ranks third in career games played (188), behind Blount (200) and Mike Webster (189), entering 1987 season . . . Has missed only five games in career and is entering 10th season as regular starter . . . Leads current Steelers in fumble recoveries with 18, is second to Jack Ham (21) all-time . . . Last year was leading tackler in secondary for sixth straight year, and shared interception lead with three . . . Added 11 passes defensed, one forced fumble . . . Averaged three tackles per game in first three weeks before six-tackle performance vs. Houston (9/28) . . . First interception of season came two weeks later vs. Cincinnati (10/13), followed by 49th career theft the next week vs. New England (10/19) . . . Suffered hamstring injury and missed Cincinnati game the following week, marking first game missed since 1981 . . . Returned to start remainder of season, and made NFL history on December 7 vs. Detroit with 50th career interception in third quarter . . . In 1985 recorded four interceptions and was only member of secondary who did not miss a game . . . Grabbed first theft week three vs. Houston (9/22) to set up Steeler touchdown and recovered fumble on own four-yard line to thwart Oiler threat . . . Made 11 tackles vs. Cincinnati (9/30) and vs. Dallas (10/13) . . . Had remaining inteceptions vs. Cincinnati (10/27), Kansas City (11/10), and Buffalo (12/15) . . . Had seven interceptions in 1984 to lead team for fourth time in five years and equal previous career-high . . . Made two interceptions in three different games — vs. Cincinnati (10/1), Cleveland (12/9), and L.A. Raiders (12/16) . . . Scored first touchdown of career on 52-yard interception return vs. Cincinnati (10/1) . . . Five interceptions in season's final three weeks helped lead team into playoffs, and added interception in AFC Championship game vs. Miami (1/6/85) . . . In 1983 earned fifth consecutive trip to Pro Bowl after sharing team interception lead with Rick Woods (five) . . . Also had five interceptions in strike-shortened 1982 campaign to share team lead with MVP Dwayne Woodruff . . . In 1981 became first Steeler since 1973 to have three interceptions in one game, recording three vs. Cleveland's Brian Sipe (11/22) . . . Named team's MVP in 1980 and made second Pro Bowl appearance after turning in five interceptions in 1979 on Super Bowl Champion team to earn first Pro Bowl berth . . . In 1977 became full-time starter in replacing former Pro Bowler Glen Edwards . . . Was named special teams captain in 1976 and is currently co-defensive captain with NT Gary Dunn . . . In 1974 was one of nine free agents to make roster . . . Is one of three remaining players from Steelers' four Super Bowl teams . . . NFL's oldest starting safety and third-oldest player on Steeler roster . . . One of 18 active NFL players who was not drafted but has played in Pro Bowl, and one of 16 current un-drafted players who has been in NFL for at least eight years . . . 24 of 50 career interceptions have been vs. AFC Central teams . . . Has intercepted at least one pass against all but seven NFL teams, and has at least one interception in all 13 seasons played.

COLLEGE: Two-time team MVP and All-Mid-Eastern Conference player . . . Named to Kodak and Pittsburgh Courier All-America teams as senior . . . Recorded eight interceptions in career . . . Graduated with degree in health and physical education, and has master's degree in guidance and counseling.

SHELL ONLY STRONG SAFETY WITH 50 INTERCEPTIONS

14-year veteran Donnie Shell made the 50th interception of his career last season on December 7, in the Steelers' 27-17 victory against the Detroit Lions. The milestone made him the only strong safety in NFL history to have collected 50 interceptions, surpassing Ken Houston's previous record of 49.

Entering 1987, Shell shares the lead among active NFL players with Seattle's Dave Brown. Shell is also closing in on the Steelers' career interception record, currently ranking third behind Mel Blount (57) and Jack Butler (52).

ONLY THREE REMAIN

SS Donnie Shell, WR John Stallworth, and C Mike Webster are the only remaining players from all four Steeler Super Bowl champion teams (1974, 1975, 1978, 1979).

Five other current players have played in at least one Super Bowl with the Steelers — LB Robin Cole (2), NT Gary Dunn (2), LB Dennis Winston (2), OT Ray Pinney (1), and CB Dwayne Woodruff (1).

PRO: Former top draft choice whose playing time has increased after slow start in rookie campaign two years ago . . . Has played in every game since joining team in 1985, and was used more frequently as situation player in second season . . . Return of healthy starters along defensive line limited his opportunities in 1986, but gained experience at several positions . . . Lined up at end and tackle in 4-3 defense . . . Vs. New England, played both defensive end positions and right tackle slot in 4-3 alignment during course of game . . . Had QB sack and blocked pass on successive plays vs. Buffalo (11/9) . . . In rookie year played mostly on special teams and in passing situations . . . Recorded 11 tackles with one sack, one pass defensed, one forced fumble . . . Played extensively at Houston (11/17), when injuries reduced line corps to three players . . . Contributed four tackles and first sack of career while playing right defensive end through three quarters of that game . . . Got off to slow start in rookie training camp after having surgery for infected fingers . . . 20th player selected overall in 1985 and fourth defensive lineman ever drafted in first round by Chuck Noll.

COLLEGE: Named first team All-Big Ten as senior and defensive player of the game in Japan Bowl . . . Recorded second-highest number of tackles for loss in school history with 30 . . . Totalled 185 tackles in career including 133 solos . . . Forced to miss 1983 season with academic difficulties after breaking school record the previous year with 20 tackles for loss, highlighted by six vs. Northwestern . . . As freshman, played nose guard behind Tim Krumrie (Cincinnati Bengals) prior to moving to defensive tackle . . . Majored in communications.

PRO: 18th-leading receiver in NFL history who is on verge of 500th career reception . . . Ranks sixth among current NFL receivers with 496 receptions for 8,202 yards and 61 TDs, and is sixth-highest scoring non-kicker among active AFC players with 372 points . . . Holder of six all-time team records including most receptions for career (496) and season (80, 1984), most receiving yards for career (8,202) and season (1,395, 1984), most TD receptions for career (61), and most consecutive games with a reception (67, 1977-82) . . . Has had four of team's top five seasons in receptions, three of top five in receiving yardage, and has produced 24 100-yard games . . . Last year struggled through disappointing campaign as knee injury held him out for five weeks . . . Got off to good start with 14 catches in first three games before injuring knee in first quarter vs. Houston (9/28) . . . Went on injured reserve October 3 for five weeks, being activated November 7 . . . Played backup role in first two games back and returned to starting lineup week 12 vs. Cleveland (11/23) . . . Caught 20 passes in final five games including four each vs. Cleveland, Chicago (11/30), and Kansas City (12/21) . . . Top outing came in game 15 vs. New York Jets (12/13) with five receptions for 94 yards and only TD of season, a 40-yard aerial from Mark Malone . . . Third catch of that game was 490th of career and put him among NFL's all-time top 20 . . . In 1985 caught 75 passes to lead team for fourth time in career and rank sixth in AFC, eighth in NFL . . . Teamed with Louis Lipps as AFC's top WR duo with 134 combined receptions . . . Equalled career-high with eight receptions week two vs. Cleveland (9/16) for 93 yards, including one TD and 400th career catch on final reception . . . Topped that outing two weeks later with 11 receptions for 151 yards vs. Cincinnati (9/30) to mark 23rd 100-yard game . . . Had second 100-yard performance of year vs. Kansas City (11/10) with seven catches for 126 yards, one TD, and season-best 41-yard juggling catch . . . In 1984 was named team's MVP for second time after sensational campaign with 80 receptions for 1,395 yards, both team records, and 11 TDs . . . Also named NFL comeback player of the year and earned third Pro Bowl appearance . . . Yardage figure led AFC and was second in league behind Roy Green's 1,555 to rank third in NFL since 1970 merger . . . Led league with career-high seven 100-yard games, beginning on opening day vs. Kansas City (9/2) with eight catches for 167 yards, one TD . . . Broke Lynn Swann's record for career receiving yards (5,462) in that game, topped reception record (336) vs. Miami (10/7), and TD record (51) vs. San Diego (11/25) . . . Had first two three-TD outings of career vs. Houston (11/4) and San Diego (11/25) . . . In playoffs was held without a TD catch vs. Denver (12/30) for first time in eight straight postseason games, but scored two TDs in AFC Championship game vs. Miami (1/6/85) the next week with 111 yards on four receptions . . . In 1983 played in just four games as injuries plagued him, failing to score TD for first time in career . . . Caught eight passes but spent four weeks on injured reserve with hamstring injury and missed final six games with ankle injury . . . In 1982 made second Pro Bowl trip after catching 27 passes for 441 yards with seven TDs in nine-game season . . . Caught career-best 74-yard TD pass vs. Kansas City (12/5), but the following week had streak of 67 games with a reception end vs. Buffalo (12/12), a streak which had begun October 9, 1977 vs. Houston . . . Had productive year in 1981 with 63 receptions after shortened 1980 season in which leg injuries limited him to three games . . . In 1979 broke then-team records with 70 catches for 1,183 yards to be named to first Pro Bowl . . . Had set earlier team records in 1978 with 10 receptions for 150 yards vs. Denver (12/16) and in Super Bowl XIII caught 75-yard TD pass to finish with three catches for 115 yards . . . Became starter in 1975 and has started in all but three games played in since 1976 . . . Offensive captain along with Mike Webster, and is one of three remaining players from Steelers' four Super Bowl teams . . . Still owns two Super Bowl records for career average per catch (24.4) and single game average (40.3), and shares records for TD receptions for career (3) and single game (2) . . . Also holds NFL records with 12 postseason TD receptions and five 100-yard games . . . Has been major contributor to development of Lipps, and has become possession receiver to counter Lipps' deep threat . . . Drafted in 1974 with extra selection obtained from New England for DB Ralph Anderson . . . Second-oldest player on Steeler roster and earliest-drafted active player as fourth-round choice in 1974 . . . Was 82nd player selected in 1974 draft.

COLLEGE: Two-time All-Southern Intercollegiate Conference player with 103 receptions in career . . . As senior caught 48 passes for 925 yards and seven TDs and played in Senior Bowl . . . SEATTLE 30, STEELERS 0

September 7 at Seattle, 61,461

The Steelers were shut out for the first time in 54 years in an opening game and did not score for the first time in 56 games (12-12-82 vs. Buffalo). Their nine first downs tied for the third fewest and their 146 yards were the fifth lowest in Chuck Noll's 18 seasons. The defense kept Pittsburgh in the game for almost three quarters. In spite of four first half Steeler turnovers, Seattle was held to one TD while the Steeler offense generated just 57 yards in the first half when the defense had two interceptions and three QB sacks. An interception and blocked punt accounted for two of Seattle's three second half TDs. The Steelers crossed midfield just twice, once on their first possession of the game and again midway through the final quarter. Mark Malone had his poorest game of his career. Five Steelers made their first NFL starts, three in the offensive line, and they gained 101 yards on punt returns.

DENVER 21, STEELERS 10

September 15 at Pittsburgh, 57,305

After six quarters, the Steelers ended their scoring drought but their comeback fell short when they turned the ball over on their final three possessions. The first of these turnovers, a David Hughes' fumble, on a third and one play at the Denver 35-yard line came on the series after the Steelers had cut the lead to 14-10. Mark Malone's opening game problems continued through the first half when he completed six of 22 passes for 53 yards. However, he started the third quarter with five straight completions and was 16 for 26 in a strong second half. The Steelers' 30 yards rushing was their third lowest total in Chuck Noll's tenure and the 15 rushes were the lowest in this period. The defeat spoiled another strong defensive effort. The Broncos did not score their final TD until there were less than two minutes to play in the game and this followed Malone's first interception.

MINNESOTA 31, STEELERS 7

September 21 at Minneapolis, 56,795

For the third straight week, the Pittsburgh offense struggled and for the first time in 1986 the defense played poorly as the Steelers lost their first three games for the first time since 1970. The Vikings outgained the Steelers, 412-235, and doubled their rushing total, 162-81. Both teams scored on their initial possession with long, impressive drives. However, the Steelers got past the Minnesota 43-yard line just once after that and on that series the Steelers lost their last chance for a win. With Minnesota leading, 17-7, midway through the third quarter, the Steelers had a first down on the Vikings' 15-yard line. Keith Millard deflected and intercepted Mark Malone's pass and returned it to his own 42-yard line. From there, the Vikings moved 58 yards, scoring a touchdown on a 12-yard run on a third and goal play after the Steelers declined a penalty that would have forced a field goal attempt. Malone's three interceptions were converted into 17 points.

STEELERS 22, HOUSTON 16

September 28 at Houston, 42,001

Rick Woods' 41-yard punt return to the 15-yard line led to the winning TD in overtime as the Steelers won their first game of the season. In a contest that was tied four times, the Pittsburgh offensive and defensive units improved considerably over their play in the first three games. The Steelers played without Louis Lipps and Frank Pollard and lost two more offensive starters, John Stallworth and Dan Turk, early in the first quarter. Newcomer Earnest Jackson and Calvin Sweeney more than picked up the slack. Mark Malone had runs of 45 and 11 yards to set up 10 points while Woods' third quarter interception paved the way to a field goal and the Steelers' first lead of the season. Edmund Nelson led a strong pass rush with three of the team's six sacks and recovered a fumble. Before Houston tied the game to send it into overtime, the Steelers stopped the Oilers for three downs from the 6-yard line. Then after the overtime kickoff, the defense held the Oilers without a first down and forced the punt.

CLEVELAND 27, STEELERS 24

October 5 at Pittsburgh, 57,327

In a game in which turnovers preceded seven of the nine scores, the Browns won for the first time in Three Rivers after 16 straight losses. Poor play by Pittsburgh's special teams cost the Steelers the victory as their offensive and defensive units had an edge on their Cleveland counterparts. The Steelers lost fumbles twice in the fourth quarter. The first one led to Cleveland's winning TD. The second ended a promising Steeler drive at the Browns' 35 with less than two minutes to play. The Steelers scored two TDs in less than three minutes to overcome a 10-0 deficit but Gerald McNeil matched the stadium record with a 100-yard kickoff return to put the Browns in front at halftime. Louis Lipps' first TD of the season gave the Steelers the lead again. After the teams traded field goals, the Steelers seemed to be in control until Rick Woods fumbled while returning a punt. The Steelers held but a roughing the kicker penalty on a missed field goal gave the Browns another series of plays and they capitalized.

CINCINNATI 22, STEELERS 20

October 13 at Cincinnati, 54,283

Bubby Brister made his regular season NFL debut when he started for Mark Malone who had a sprained right thumb. Brister was the first rookie to start a game at quarterback for the Steelers since 1976. With the Steelers leading, 19-14, in the third quarter, Jeff Hayes ran 61 yards on a fourth and 12 play on a fake punt to put the Bengals ahead to stay. After an erratic first half in which he completed 3 of 14 passes, Brister settled down and led the Steelers to 10 third quarter points by completing six of eight passes. After a short punt led to a Cincinnati field goal, the Steelers got as far as the Bengals' 27-yard line before settling for a Gary Anderson field goal with two and a half minutes to play. An on-side kick by the Steelers failed and after they regained possession on their 8-yard line, they could not get a first down. Gary Anderson became the NFL's all-time field goal accuracy leader when he made his 100th career three-pointer in the second quarter.

NEW ENGLAND 34, STEELERS 0

October 19 at Pittsburgh, 54,743

For the first time since Three Rivers opened in 1970, the Steelers lost three games in a row at home in the same season. In suffering their worst home loss ever under Chuck Noll, the Steelers were completely dominated by New England. The Patriots outgained the Steelers in the first quarter 141 yards to minus 18 yards and had an 8-0 edge in first downs. The Steelers failed to get a first down on their initial five possessions. Their first first down came with less than two minutes to play in the first half. The Steeler pass defense was bombed for 234 yards in the first two quarters as Steve Grogan completed 17 of 22 passes. Rookie Bubby Brister was able to throw just eight passes in the first half because of the Patriots' dominance. He had two straight intercepted. The first one late in the first quarter led to New England's first touchdown and the second was returned 37 yards for the second TD. Brister also lost a fumble at the Steeler 1-yard line which was converted into the final Patriot score.

STEELERS 30, CINCINNATI 9

October 26 at Pittsburgh, 50,815

Mark Malone returned to the lineup after missing two weeks with a thumb injury and directed the Steelers to a season-high for points and rushing as they broke a three game losing streak. Earnest Jackson and Walter Abercrombie both rushed for 100 yards which was only the third time in team history two players have accomplished the feat in the same game. It was the first time in 1986 the Pittsburgh offensive line that was intended to begin the season played as a unit. The defense was excellent. The Bengals were inside the Steeler 20-yard line six times but could not score a touchdown.

A blocked field goal and a sack which resulted in a fumble stopped two of the drives and a great goal-line stand on the 2-yard line forced the Bengals to kick a field goal on a third deep penetration. It was the first time in the season the Steelers did not have a turnover.

STEELERS 27, GREEN BAY 3

November 2 at Pittsburgh, 52,831

Pittsburgh closed its longest home stand since 1979. The Packers fumbled on their first two series and the Steelers quickly converted the miscues into 10 points. The Steelers scored on three of their first four possessions while the Packers crossed midfield only three times with two of those drives coming late in each half. For the second straight game, Mark Malone did not have an interception and Weegie Thompson, playing for the injured Louis Lipps, had career highs for receptions, yards and TDs. The defense made several big plays — two interceptions, two fumble recoveries and three QB sacks — while turning in season lows for yards rushing and first downs. The defense extended its streak to nine quarters without allowing a TD.

BUFFALO 16, STEELERS 12

November 9 at Buffalo, 77,040

The Steelers lost their last realistic chance for the division title and fell four games behind first place Cleveland. On a day when 20-40 MPH winds made passing with accuracy a serious problem, the Bills did a much better job of running the football. By taking advantage of the wind, Buffalo got an early jump. A short punt set up the first Buffalo TD. The second came against the wind and was accomplished without the benefit of a pass. The Steelers gained just 27 yards and had one first down in the first half. Two big breaks at the start of the second half got them back in the game. Mike Merriweather recovered a fumble on the kickoff and the Steelers scored on the next play. After a 5-yard punt, they scored their second TD on the next series. Wind-blown snaps aborted both extra point attempts. The Buffalo field goal followed another short punt. The Steelers threatened on their final possession but an interception on the last play of the game ended the 51-yard drive. Fifteen penalties, their most since 1977, cost the Steelers 100 yards and four first downs.

STEELERS 21, HOUSTON 10

November 16 at Pittsburgh, 49,724

The Steelers scored on their first three possessions as they won for the third time in four games. Harvey Clayton intercepted a pass on the third play of the game to set up an early score. The Oilers tied it when Warren Moon beat a third down blitz with a pass to Ernest Givins, who had eight catches for 156 yards. The Steelers took the kickoff and, with the aid of a 35-yard interference penalty, went on top to stay. A partially blocked punt travelled four yards and set up the Oilers' field goal which closed out the scoring. Penalties early in the third quarter nullified a touchdown and field goal on the same Houston series, and another one negated a 63-yard TD pass. Early in the fourth quarter, the Steelers stopped the Oilers four times from the 1-yard line, ending the last serious scoring threat of the game. Keith Willis had two of the Steelers' five QB sacks.

CLEVELAND 37, STEELERS 31

November 23 at Cleveland, 76,452

The Steelers were mathematically eliminated from the division race at the earliest point in the season since 1969 which was the last time the Browns swept the season series. It was Cleveland's first overtime victory in three tries against the Steelers. Bernie Kosar consistently beat the Steeler blitz on third down as the Pittsburgh defense surrendered all-time-highs for total yards, yards passing and first downs. For the first time all season, the Steeler defense failed to record a sack. The defensive collapse ruined the Steelers' best offensive performance of the season. They came from behind four times to tie the score with Gary Anderson's 40-yard field goal creating the last deadlock with seven seconds left in the fourth quarter. The Browns scored on their second possession of the extra period. Both teams failed to get a first down on their first chance of the overtime.

CHICAGO 13, STEELERS 10

November 30 at Chicago, 61,425

After the Steelers failed to get a first down and punted to midfield, the Bears moved 27 yards on their first possession of the overtime to set up a field goal and hand the Steelers their second straight sudden-death loss. The Bears clinched their third straight division title. The Steelers turned the ball over on their first two possessions of the game but the Bears had to settle for three points. The Steelers matched that in the final minute of the first half following a Bryan Hinkle interception. The Steelers' only touchdown came on their first series of the second half and resulted from an aborted field goal attempt. Holder Harry Newsome alertly completed his first NFL pass for Preston Gothard's first career TD. The turning point came late in the third quarter when the Steelers had a first down on the Chicago 10-yard line and a 10-3 lead. A tipped pass resulted in Mike Singletary's interception from where the Bears started their long tying drive. Kevin Butler missed a 28-yard field goal attempt in the final minute of the fourth quarter.

December 7 at Pittsburgh, 45,042

Louis Lipps and Earnest Jackson had their best games of the season as the Steelers won their fourth straight home game. Eric Williams and Rick Woods had first quarter interceptions which led to 10 points. After the second Steeler score, Garry James broke several tackles on his spectacular TD run. Lipps' fumble on his own 19-yard line set up the tying field goal. The Lions stopped the Steelers on a fourth and one play at the Detroit 45 on the first series of the third quarter. On the next play, Joe Ferguson and Pete Mandley connected on a 51-yard pass which was the big play that gave the Lions their only lead of the game, 17-10. On the next series, a 48-yard pass to Lipps was the key in the drive that tied the game. On the winning TD, Lipps caught a slant pass and fought the last 15 yards into the end zone. The Steelers had season highs for yards, first downs and plays. Donnie Shell became the 22nd player in NFL history to intercept 50 passes.

STEELERS 45, NEW YORK JETS 24

December 13 at New York, 58,044

The Steelers exploded for a team-record 28 points in the fourth quarter to win their second road game of the season. Two interceptions, a punt return and a kickoff return led to the four TDs which broke a 17-17 tie. Lupe Sanchez's two interceptions accounted for 14 points. Rick Woods' 40-yard punt return led to another score and Mike Merriweather's 27-yard return of an onside kickoff set up the final TD. Woods played a key role in the first Steeler TD with an interception and 23-yard return. Mark Malone completed 9 of 12 passes on the three first half scoring drives. Earnest Jackson topped 100 yards rushing for the second straight game. John Stallworth moved into the Top Twenty of all-time with his 492nd reception. Chuck Noll tied Paul Brown for fifth place with his 170th victory.

KANSAS CITY 24, STEELERS 19

December 21 at Pittsburgh, 47,150

The Steelers completed their worst season since 1970 with a 6-10 record. The Pittsburgh offense set season highs in yards, first downs and plays while the defense established lows in the same three categories but the Chiefs special teams accounted for all three of their TDs and they earned a playoff berth. The first score, a blocked punt, followed a KC punt which was downed on the Steeler 1-yard line. The next score followed a 53-yard pass on a third-and-15 play. The kickoff return came after the Steeler field goal. The blocked field goal for a TD resulted when the Steelers failed to score from the 3-yard line where they had a first down. After cutting the KC margin to 24-13 midway through the third quarter, the Steelers drove to the Chiefs' 13 and nine yard lines on their next two possessions but had to settle for field goals. They moved into KC territory on their final two series but could not make the big play.

Today, the 55-year old Noll is only the fourth coach in league history to ad the same team for 19 consecutive seasons. Curly Lambeau (31), Tom andry (28), and Steve Owen (23) are the other coaches who share that dis- inction.

Marking his continued contributions to professional football, Noll was named 1984 by Commissioner Pete Rozelle to the league's competition committe. In that capacity, Noll was involved in the governing of league rules, player nd fan safety, game conduct, and player personnel procedures.

Noll and his wife Marianne have one son, Chris (29), who teaches at Proctor cademy in Andover, New Hampshire. Charles Henry Noll was born Janu- ry 5, 1932, in Cleveland, Ohio, where he attended Holy Trinity School and enedictine High. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in education om Dayton in 1953. The Nolls live in Upper St. Clair.

decade. In 1975 Daniel M. Rooney was named president of the Steelers, nd today he is one of the most active executives in the National Football eague.

Dan Rooney was graduated from Pittsburgh's North Catholic High School 1950 and from there went on to earn his bachelor's degree in accounting om Duquesne in 1955. He immediately went to work for the Steelers, and ver the next 20 years developed a background in every facet of the opera- on which prepared him for his appointment as president. Rooney has been central figure in NFL operations, including membership on the board of irectors for NFL Properties, the NFL Trust Fund, and NFL Films, as well s being a member of the scheduling committee and the ring committee. 1973 he was named chairman of the expansion committee, which consid- red new franchise locations and directed the addition of Tampa and Seattle s expansion cities in 1976. That year Rooney was named chairman of the egotiating committee, and in 1982 he contributed to the negotiations for the ollective Bargaining Agreement for the NFL owners and the Players' As- ociation. Today Rooney serves on the six-person Council Executive Com- ittee.

In addition to his many league-wide activities, Dan Rooney is one of the ost active executives in Pittsburgh civic affairs. He currently serves as vice resident for the United Way, and is an officer and board member for The merican Diabetes Association, the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foun- ation, Duquesne University, and The American Ireland Fund.

Now in his 33rd year with the Steelers, the 55-year-old Rooney was born uly 20, 1932 on Pittsburgh's North Side. Dan and his wife Patricia have nine hildren and live in the Pittsburgh suburb of Mount Lebanon.

ACTIVE STEELERS IN THE PRO BOWL

Eight active Steelers, led by center Mike Webster's eight appearances, have played in the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl. Mike Merriweather and Earnest Jackson were the only two representatives in this year's game, but Merriweather's selection marked the 17th straight year in which a Steeler linebacker played in the game.

The active Steelers with Pro Bowl experience are: Webster (8), SS Donnie Shell (6), Merriweather (3), WR John Stallworth (3), Jackson (2), WR Louis Lipps (2), PK Gary Anderson (2), and LB Robin Cole (1).

TEELERS IN HALL OF FAME

JOE GREENE

JOHN HENRY JOHNSON

The induction of Joe Greene and John Henry Johnson into the Pro Football Hall Fame this year marked the first time since 1969 that a Steeler has been inducted o The Hall. It is expected to be the beginning of a parade of former Steelers, wever, as several players from the Super Bowl teams of the 1970s become eligi- e in the next few years.

Joe Greene's selection came in his first year of eligibility. The 10-time Pro Bowl rformer was one of the game's most dominating players throughout his 13-year reer after becoming Chuck Noll's first draft selection in 1969. Greene retired er the 1981 season, and in February of this year returned to the Steelers as the am's defensive line coach.

John Henry Johnson played for four teams - San Francisco, Detroit, Pittsburgh, d Houston - in his 13-year career, but the highlight years were 1960-65 when was with the Steelers and led the team in rushing for four straight seasons. In 62 Johnson earned a Pro Bowl berth after becoming the first Steeler ever to sh for 1,000 yards in a single season. Today he ranks second to Franco Harris the Steelers' all-time rushing chart.
