ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

When Alexander Gus Spanos, a self-made giant in the building industry, was offered the opportunity to purchase the San Diego Chargers, he put the decision to a vote before the board of directors of the A.G. Spanos Companies.

"The vote was 10 to two not to buy the ball club," he recalls. But the chairman used his veto power to overrule. "I told them, 'When you turn 60 you'll understand.'"

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos characteristically said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a life-long goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream."

On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality. Then 1992 brought the playoffs and the 1994 season brought the AFC Championship and the thrill of Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida.

"It was the greatest feeling I've ever had in my career," said Spanos. "What I enjoyed most was watching the fans enjoy it. The City deserved it. Our fans deserved it."

The greatest season in Chargers' history heralded a series of events which illustrate one man's unending dedication to the team and the City of San Diego.

Shortly after returning from Super Bowl XXIX, Spanos inked a new lease agreement with the city that insures San Diego will remain the home of the Chargers through the year 2020. The new agreement also provides for a new, state-of-the-art practice facility and a permanent expansion of San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium to more than 70,000 seats and an overall refurbishing of the stadium to make it one of the country's finest heading into the 21st century.

"This past season demonstrated what the Chargers mean to the City of San Diego and also how important these great fans are to the success of the team," Spanos said.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego was further made evident in a twofold announcement in May.

The Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was created and funded by Spanos to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live." Simultaneously, Spanos announced that the first project of the Foundation would be a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million capital campaign fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the City and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

In other events this offseason, Spanos was honored by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce and the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau and received their Chairman's Award for his contributions to the city and community. He also received the Golden Achievement Award from the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs, the group's highest honor for community involvement and youth-related support. California Governor Pete Wilson presented the award to Spanos.

Long before the team's fantastic Super Bowl season, Spanos' love for sports and San Diego have been paying dividends for the City.

In 1993, Spanos is widely credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego. The game, which will be played Jan. 25, 1998, in San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium, is projected to bring $200 million to the community.

He also was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the City.

In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with a $100,000 pledge and challenge to the local community. His donation led to a successful effort to complete the first phase of the Southern California facility.

He also has been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. Spanos annually has sponsored the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos High School All-Star Football Classic.

He has donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Childrens Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. In 1985, Spanos was chairman of San Diego Children's Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon. In 1987, Spanos served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County.

Throughout his ownership, Spanos has moved with strength and vision to form a solid foundation for success and build the Chargers into annual contenders for the AFC Western Division crown. The hiring of General Manager Bobby Beathard, one of the most respected football men in the National Football League, was hailed around the League. Spanos has aggressively pursued and signed some of the top players in football. In 1994, he paid more in players' signing bonuses than all but one team. He has modernized and upgraded the team's summer training camp facilities with the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California at San Diego. An Astroturf field at the Chargers' in-season practice facility at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium was installed. Spanos also completely renovated the team's locker room facilities and front office at the Stadium.

Spanos' commitment to the NFL was recognized when NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue named him to the League's Expansion and Realignment Committee in 1991. He helped develop recommendations on expansion issues which greatly affected the future of pro football. He also serves on the league's Legislative Committee.

In 1991, Spanos was invited by President George Bush to join him on a two-day goodwill trip to Greece and drew praise from the Chief Executive who singled him out as an American of Greek heritage who has achieved success in America. During an address to the Greek Parliament, Bush credited Spanos with making "a tremendous imprint in our country" and cited Spanos for his continued efforts to promote stronger ties between the two countries.

And when America needed a helping hand, Spanos was there to deliver. He spearheaded the most aggressive fundraising campaign during the Gulf War crisis and delivered the most successful fundraising event in the history of the United Service Organization. As National Chairman of the U.S.O.'s Golden Anniversary Salute Luncheon April 5, 1991, in Los Angeles, Spanos guided an effort which raised more than $4.5 million. Spanos personally arranged for and presented a check for $250,000 to the U.S.O. on behalf of the NFL through NFL Charities. The luncheon was attended by then-President Bush, former Presidents Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford, Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, General Colin Powell, and U.S.O.'s Ambassador of Goodwill, Bob Hope.

These moves demonstrate the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community has been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting as an eight-year-old in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Spanos is the founder and chairman of ten companies bearing his name, including A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Properties, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Marketing, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; the A.G. Spanos Jet Center, and the A.G. Spanos Land Company.

In the last 34 years, he single-handedly built a construction empire stretching across the nation. The A.G. Spanos Companies build, market and manage multi-housing units in 15 states. Since 1960, the companies have overseen the construction of over 60,000 apartment units and over 2.5 million square feet of commercial property. Land development and the construction of master-planned communities are also part of the Spanos Companies' expertise.

Throughout his rags-to-riches life, Spanos always has treasured family and community above all else.

Though one of the nation's most productive corporate businesses, the A.G. Spanos organization continues as a family-run operation. Eldest son Dean serves as President/Vice Chairman of the Chargers and the Spanos corporate organization as well as Vice Chairman of AGS Financial. Son Michael manages the construction and development activities in the western and southeastern divisions of the company and is the Executive Vice President of the Chargers. Together, they are the driving force behind each business venture.

A son of Greek immigrants, Spanos' hard work and determination to succeed was recognized in 1986 as he was one of a select group of 80 Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission. In a special ceremony on Ellis Island, the honorees were cited for being "outstanding American citizens who have distinguished themselves in their respective fields of endeavor, while preserving the values of their particular heritages."

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee of the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. He was awarded a Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree by the University of the Pacific on the same day he gave the commencement address to the 1984 graduating class. In 1989, Spanos received the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith's National Distinguished Community Service Award for devotion to community and concern for others.

Spanos also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fundraising "Evening of Elegance" dinners benefiting assorted children's charities including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center. Proceeds from the last "Evening of Elegance" held in 1985 topped the one-million-dollar mark.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, Spanos and Hope sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England (1980). In 1987 Spanos was inducted into the Stockton Athletic Hall of Fame.

Alex and Faye have four children — Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael — and 12 grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President/Vice Chairman

When Alex Spanos turned the day-to-day operations of the San Diego Chargers over to his eldest son, Dean, in January, 1994, he relied on Dean's determination to succeed to guide the organization. In his first year in charge, Dean surpassed all expectations and led the team through a record-breaking season and to its first Super Bowl in team history.

Dean Spanos was 'the man behind the scenes' for the San Diego Chargers until he took over the duties of Chief Executive Officer in early 1994. He oversees the day-to-day management and administration of personnel and fiscal matters of the Chargers. He also plays a prominent role in League affairs as he attends all League meetings and serves on the NFL Films Committee.

"The guy that makes it all work for us is Deno," said General Manager Bobby Beathard.

"For the organization to be successful, I believe you have to have stability among your personnel and give them the confidence they need to get the job done right," said Spanos.

With the stability and security of the Chargers as his main concern, Dean immediately delivered both.

On May 2, 1995, the stability of the football team was assured when Dean signed General Manager Bobby Beathard and Head Coach Bobby Ross to new contracts extending through the 1999 season.

"Not only is it important for the team to know that Bobby Beathard and Bobby Ross will be in charge for the next five years," said Spanos, "but it's just as important to the City of San Diego. The team and the City can rest at ease knowing the team is in good hands."

Dean also secured the future of the Chargers in San Diego. He showed the Spanos family's commitment to San Diego by negotiating a new lease between the team and the City of San Diego which provides for a win-win relationship for the next 25 years through the year 2020. The agreement also calls for plans to permanently expand the seating capacity of San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium to accommodate more than 70,000 fans and modernize the 28-year-old stadium to make it one of the country's state-of-the-art facilities heading into the 21st century. Also as part of the new deal, Spanos is overseeing the plans and construction of the team's new offices and practice facility which are expected to be among the finest in the National Football League. The new facility is expected to be completed by July, 1996, and the stadium expansion and refurbishing is due for completion by the start of the '97 season.

"This insures that both the Chargers and San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium will always be the pride of our community," Dean said.

He brought broad business and financial expertise to the Chargers when he moved to La Jolla, California, in 1984 after his father, Alex Spanos, purchased majority interest in the team.

In addition to his role with the Chargers, he doubles as President of all Spanos corporate entities and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation from his office in San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium. He is responsible for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization. For the past 24 years, Dean has been working alongside his father in apartment construction and land development.

Dean attended the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, from which he received a degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a Regent at the University.

Dean's busy career in business and the National Football League hasn't hampered his status as one of the nation's most successful amateur golfers. An avid golfer since his college years, he has been on the winning team in four Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach where he teamed with partner Hubert Green. He also was on the winning team at the Hope Classic again in 1991. Spanos and Green won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach in 1985 where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Also in 1985, he was on the winning team in the Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas with Billy Casper.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born May 26, 1950, in Stockton. He was an outstanding member of the Lincoln High School golf team in Stockton before continuing his golfing career at the University of the Pacific. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics.

Dean has become an integral part of the local community since moving to San Diego. He is on the board of directors of the newly-formed San Diego International Sports Council, an elite group of San Diego business executives whose purpose is to promote and enhance sports of all kinds in San Diego. He has been a major contributor and supporter of the American Cancer Society in San Diego and the United Ways' Alexis de Tocqueville Society. Dean also was co-chairman of the US WEST Cellular/San Diego Chargers Charity Classic benefitting Childrens Hospital in 1993. He now resides in La Jolla, California, with his wife, Susan, and sons, Alexander Gus and John Dean. A.G. is a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School. John competes in basketball, football and volleyball at The Bishops High School.

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael Spanos, the youngest son of Chargers' Chairman of the Board Alex Spanos, extended his role as Executive Vice President of all the A.G. Spanos Corporate entities and assumed the same position in the Chargers' management team this year.

Michael, 36, will assist Chargers President/Vice Chairman Dean Spanos in financial matters related to the ball club and relevant issues pertaining to the National Football League, which includes representing the Chargers at annual league meetings.

Michael has been an executive in the Spanos corporate organization for 16 years. He is responsible for all activities in construction, property management and land acquisition in the Southeast United States and Northern California.

Michael Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California, on January 24, 1959. He attended Lincoln High School in Stockton before moving on to the University of the Pacific where he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration. He served as a Regent at the University for five years. Michael also served as a trustee on the Board of Dameron Hospital and is very active in the Greek Orthodox Church. He contributes both his time and resources to the church and many other charitable causes in his hometown of Stockton.

Michael and his wife, Helen, live in Stockton with their three sons: Michael, Christopher and Andreas.

BOBBY BEATHARD

General Manager

33rd NFL Season

6th Season with Chargers

Chalk up another championship for Bobby Beathard. He brought a sparkling reputation and a history of building champions to San Diego in 1990 and, after just five years on the job, this Beathard-built team won San Diego's first-ever AFC Championship and played in the Super Bowl. When the 1994 San Diego Chargers earned a trip to Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida, it marked the seventh time a Beathard team has journeyed to the World Championship. Four times his team has produced a Super Bowl victory.

Beathard's seven trips to the Super Bowl are the most in NFL history for a NFL general manager and talent evaluator. The 1966 Kansas City Chiefs... the 1972 and '73 Miami Dolphins... the 1982, '83 and '87 Washington Redskins... and the 1994 San Diego Chargers were all products of Beathard's handiwork. Though success has followed him through every step of his NFL career, Beathard remains one of the League's most low-key and well-liked personalities. Representative of his modesty is the fact he now owns seven championship or Super Bowl rings, yet never wears or displays one.

When Alex Spanos named Bobby Beathard general manager of the San Diego Chargers January 3, 1990, it brought hope to a city thirsting for a winner. He turned the NFL's oldest team of the 70's — the Washington Redskins — into one of the most successful organizations of the 80's. In just his third season in San Diego he handed the organization its first AFC Western Division championship in more than a decade and, after five years, its first Super Bowl berth.

With a proven plan to follow, he immediately set out in 1990 to bring top athletes with a winning attitude to San Diego. A tireless and aggressive approach to the NFL draft is a Beathard trademark. Acting with the same vitality and decisiveness that highlights his 33 years as a NFL talent evaluator, his judgement was on the mark in 1990 when seven players from his first draft in San Diego ended up in the starting lineup, including perennial NFL Defensive Player of the Year Junior Seau. Beathard made more strong moves in 1991 which allowed him to draft 14 players, including 12 who completed their rookie season with the Chargers and eight who saw regular-season action. Eleven of his 13 selections in 1992 finished the season with the team, including seven who appeared on the active roster. All nine of the team's 1993 draftees returned in 1994 and six of the nine draft choices from '94 are still with the team.

Leveraging tomorrow to help today also is a Beathard trademark. Since coming to San Diego in 1990, he has traded a future number-one draft choice to make a selection that year three times in six drafts and he has struck gold each time. In 1991, Bobby traded San Diego's 1992 first-round choice to Washington for the forty-seventh pick in the '91 draft and selected guard Eric Moten. In 1993, he traded the team's first-round pick in 1994 along with a second-round choice in '93 to San Francisco for the 49ers' second, third, fourth and fifth-round choices and he selected running back Natrone Means with the forty-first choice. And this year he traded 1995's first-round pick to Detroit and selected running back Terrell Fletcher with the fifty-first choice in the draft.

Beathard also has been one of the NFL's most active and successful participants in signing veteran free agent talent. He landed immediate help for the Chargers when he arrived by signing Plan B free agent running back Ronnie Harmon and Pro Bowl kicker John Carney in 1990 and starting left tackle Harry Swayne in 1991.

Beathard struck quickly in 1994 with the signings of strong veterans to fill key areas of need. While other teams moved with uncertainty through this new era of free agency, Beathard landed such prominent performers as defensive tackle Reuben Davis, cornerback Dwayne Harper and linebackers Dennis Gibson and the late David Griggs.

This year Beathard landed two experienced veterans to fill a void at safety in Shaun Gayle and Bo Orlando.

Beathard's golden touch was clearly evident in the 1994 AFC Champions. Only two players remained on the 53-man active roster who were with the team prior to Beathard's arrival: center Courtney Hall and defensive end Leslie O'Neal. Of the 63 players who finished the season with the team, 61 were acquired by Bobby since 1990. Twenty-five of the players were Beathard draft choices, 22 were free agents, 10 were Plan B or Unrestricted free agents, three were acquired by trade and three were claimed on waivers.

Beathard has demonstrated a keen eye for talent since becoming a part-time scout with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1963. He left the Chiefs briefly to scout for the American Football League and returned to Kansas City full-time after the AFL-NFL merger in 1966 and earned his first championship ring as a member of the 1966 Chiefs' organization. Beathard then served as a scout for the Falcons, 1968-71.

In 1972, Beathard was named director of player personnel for the Miami Dolphins. The Dolphins won the following two Super Bowls. Then on February 24, 1978, the Redskins made Bobby their general manager and he ultimately showed the League that first-round draft picks were weapons to be used in trades. In his 11 years at Washington, the Redskins had only three first-round picks. They went to the Super Bowl three times and won twice.

Beathard's handiwork was apparent on all three Super Bowl teams, including the World Champion Redskins of 1982 whose roster included an astounding 27 free agents signed by Bobby since he joined the team in 1978. The 1983 squad, which finished 14-2, also made it to the Super Bowl. The Super Bowl XXII team that defeated Denver, 42-10, in San Diego, was led by players acquired through Beathard's respected eye for talent, including MVP quarterback Doug Williams and record-setting running back Timmy Smith.

Beathard left the Redskins to serve as a commentator for the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) on it's weekly "NFL '89" show during the 1989 season.

Bobby serves on two NFL committees: the College Relations Committee and he's a member of the working group on World League football operations.

When Beathard joined the Chargers, he returned to the Southern California lifestyle in which he was raised. Born in Zanesville, Ohio, January 24, 1937, Robert Beathard, Jr., grew up in the Los Angeles area and attended El Segundo High. He moved on to Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo where he played quarterback, 1956-58, and led the 1957 and '58 teams to consecutive 9-1 records.

Bobby signed to play for the Redskins in 1959. He played in six preseason games for the Los Angeles Chargers in 1960 as a defensive back and was in the 1962 training camp of the Minnesota Vikings.

Bobby and his wife, Christine, reside in Encinitas, California. Beathard is an avid runner, surfer and cyclist. He has run in dozens of marathons, including several Boston Marathons. He has four children — Kurt (Jan. 4, 1963), currently an assistant coach at University of the Pacific; Jeff (June 9, 1964), a twelfth-round choice of the Rams in 1988 who currently scouts for the Chargers; Casey (Dec. 2, 1965), and Jaime (Sept. 25, 1968) — and six grandchildren.

8th NFL Season

4th Season with Chargers

In his three-year tenure as head coach of the San Diego Chargers, Bobby Ross has produced three of the most exciting and promising seasons in team history. From 1992-94, Ross has a regular-season record of 30-18 as a NFL head coach and a winning percentage of .625 which ranks fourth among active coaches behind San Francisco's George Seifert (.781), Miami's Don Shula (.679) and Pittsburgh's Bill Cowher (.667). Ross has a 3-2 postseason record. Thirty regular-season victories are the most by the Chargers in a three-year span since 1979-81 and the third most-productive span in team history. The team won 33 games in 1979-81 and 32 games from 1978-80. Only San Francisco (37), Dallas (37) and Pittsburgh (32) have won more regular-season games over the last three years than San Diego. Buffalo, Kansas City and Miami also have won 30 games.

Also during Ross' tenure, the Chargers have lost fewer fumbles than any other team, losing just 26. The team's turnover ratio over three seasons is +24, the third-best mark over that period behind Kansas City (+39) and Pittsburgh (+34).

Ross' hard-charging leadership was never more apparent than in the 1994 San Diego Chargers. He took a team that was 8-8 the year before and was given little hope of escaping the AFC West cellar and proved that hard work, team unity and a never-say-die spirit are more than just coach-speak. After surviving an unforgiving five-game preseason schedule that included road trips to Canton, Ohio; San Antonio, Texas, and Berlin, Germany, the Chargers opened the regular season with six straight wins and the best record in the NFL. With the team slumping slightly under the pressure from its unexpected success and a bundle of injuries to key positions, Ross kept the squad together and focused for the playoff run. The Chargers bounced back with two victories to finish the regular season with an 11-5 record and San Diego's second AFC West title in three seasons under Ross. Ross' relentless coaching style drove the team to postseason victories over Miami, 22-21, and Pittsburgh in the AFC Championship Game, 17-13, before Ross and the Chargers found themselves in the first Super Bowl in franchise history.

As he had done so many times in his career, Ross has supplied the leadership and experience which has molded the Chargers into perennial playoff contenders.

Expectations for 1993 were at an all-time high following the miraculous '92 season which saw the Chargers earn their first division title in 12 years. Perhaps expectations were too high for this young, up-and-coming team. But Ross' squad battled through a host of injuries and held their own against the NFL's second-toughest schedule — including the toughest division in football, the AFC West — to win four of their final six games and finish with an 8-8 record.

On January 2, 1992, San Diego Chargers general manager Bobby Beathard announced the selection of former Georgia Tech head coach Bobby Ross to become the ninth head coach in team history. Ross, whose ability to turn around college programs was well-documented, would be put to the test as he tried to reverse the fortunes of the Chargers who were coming off a last-place, 4-12 finish in 1991. Despite losing the first four games of the season, Ross' squad won 11 of the final 12 regular-season games and won the AFC Western Division title. It marked San Diego's first AFC West title since 1981 and playoff appearance since 1982. His squad continued its winning ways with a 17-0 playoff victory over Kansas City.

After two years on the job in 1992-93, Ross had led the team to 19 regular-season victories, the most by the Chargers in a two-year span since the 1980-81 teams won 21 games.

Ross' first season in 1992 had an ominous beginning as starting quarterback John Friesz suffered a season-ending knee injury in the opening game of the preseason. Quick maneuvering landed quarterback Stan Humphries, but critics predicted trouble for the team.

which featured a new head coach, a new coaching staff and a roster made up of nearly one-third new faces, including a new quarterback.

The Chargers struggled early, but Ross kept a firm hand on the helm and continued to guide the Chargers without deviating from his original course. After four losses, Ross' motto of "perfect practices make perfect" began to take hold. Slowly a team whose confidence had been eroded by years of losing began to believe in itself.

Under Ross, the Chargers caught fire and quickly became the Cinderella story of 1992. The team won 11 of its final 12 regular-season games, its finest winning streak since 1961, and won the AFC Western Division title. Ross' squad continued its winning ways by shutting out Kansas City, 17-0, at home in the AFC Wild Card game.

San Diego improved immeasurably under the guidance of the NFL rookie head coach. The offense ranked sixth in the NFL in 1992, up from thirteenth in 1991, and made huge strides in the passing game which improved from twenty-fourth to seventh in the League. The defense jumped from nineteenth to fourth in the NFL, led by the AFC's top-ranked rushing defense. The team allowed 101 fewer points throughout the regular season.

Ross and the Chargers earned their niche in NFL history by doing something 132 teams previously could not do: start a season with four losses and have a winning record, yet make the playoffs. San Diego was only the third team in NFL history to lose its first four games and win its next four games.

The Chargers' accomplishments under Ross did not go unnoticed, earning the head coach a host of postseason honors. He was named NFL Coach of the Year by United Press International, Pro Football Weekly, Football News, Football Digest, Maxwell Football Club, Kansas City 101 Banquet and the Pro Football Writers Association.

Ross has coached college or pro football for 29 years. He was a college head coach 15 of 19 years prior to coming to San Diego, interrupted only by four seasons as an assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs (1978-81). Ross' overall 15-year record as a head coach at The Citadel, Maryland and Georgia Tech was 94-76-2 (.552).

Before reversing the fortunes of the Chargers, the 58-year-old Richmond, Virginia, native turned around the Georgia Tech program and carried it into the national spotlight. He inherited a down-trodden program which struggled through a 5-20 mark before Ross' teams won 18 of their next 20 games and a share of the national championship in 1990 with an 11-0-1 mark. It was the football program's first-ever national championship and conference title, and Ross was a consensus choice nationally for coach of the year. He culminated his career at Georgia Tech with a 31-26-1 record, including a 26-6-1 record over his final 33 games. He finished his five-year stint with an 8-5 record in 1991 and a big 18-17 come-from-behind victory over Stanford in the Aloha Bowl on Christmas Day.

In 1990, Ross directed Georgia Tech to the United Press International national championship as the nation's only unbeaten team at 11-0-1 following a convincing 45-21 win over Nebraska in the Florida Citrus Bowl. It was Tech's first appearance in a New Year's Day bowl game since 1966. Ross collected one of the biggest wins of his coaching career when Tech knocked off then-top-ranked Virginia, 41-38, in a nationally-televised thriller. The Yellow Jackets won their first Atlantic Coast Conference title in school history and their first national and conference championship of any kind since 1952. A consensus national Coach of the Year and the ACC Coach of the Year, Ross led Tech to a number-one ranking by UPI, The Sporting News and Scripps Howard Publishing.

The success of 1990 was earmarked by the strong finish of the 1989 campaign. Tech won seven of its last eight games to post a 7-4 record, the Yellow Jackets' first winning season in four years. Georgia Tech dominated its foes down the stretch, out-scoring the opposition, 123-55, in its last four games. The team finished the 1989 season ranked thirty-first nationally by The Sporting News.

The turnaround of Tech's football fortunes was really foreshadowed by Ross' 1988 squad that, despite a 3-8 record, ranked fifteenth nationally in total defense and seventh in pass defense. The 1988 squad lost six games by a total of 32 points.

Ross coached five successful seasons at the University of Maryland (1982-86) where his Terrapin teams were known for their explosive offenses that resulted in the unprecedented success in College Park. During that time, his Maryland teams compiled a sparkling 39-19-1 mark (.670) against what annually was one of the toughest schedules in Division I football. He guided Maryland to three ACC titles and four postseason bowl games. Ross left Maryland to become only the eighth full-time head football coach in Georgia Tech history.

With an imaginative offense as its major characteristic, Ross' Maryland squads averaged 28.1 points per outing in his 59 games at the school. His 1982 team averaged 32.1 points a game, the highest scoring team in the conference since 1972 and the third-highest scoring team in league history.

In his first season at College Park, Ross was named ACC Coach of the Year and District III Coach of the Year after the 1982 campaign that saw Maryland post an 8-4 record and earn a trip to the Aloha Bowl. That year he was also named National Coach of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club.

His second Maryland squad in 1983 also recorded an 8-4 record and was chosen for the Florida Citrus Bowl. His 1984 squad posted a 9-3 mark, including a win over Tennessee in the Sun Bowl, and Ross' 1985 team also managed a 9-3 mark with a win over Syracuse in the Cherry Bowl.

During his time in College Park, Maryland's attendance showed a marked increase, increasing by 8,225 fans in his first season and climbing over 20,000 per game to a school-record average of 51,546 in 1985.

Perhaps if there is any one game indicative of his all-out, never-say-die coaching style, it might be Maryland's thrilling, 42-40 win over nationally-ranked Miami in 1984. Making the greatest comeback in Division I history, Ross coached the Terps from a 31-0 halftime deficit to a last-second win over the Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl.

Robert Joseph Ross was born Dec. 23, 1936, in Richmond, Virginia, and was a three-sport letterman at Virginia Military Institute in football, basketball and baseball. He started at quarterback and defensive back for two seasons and served as captain of the team as a senior. Ross graduated from the Lexington, Virginia, school in 1959 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and History.

He credits his coach at VMI, John McKenna, with being the major influence on his coaching career. The retired coach and former Georgia Tech assistant athletic director knows Ross well.

"If all of the coaches in the country could be pooled for a draft," said McKenna on the day Ross was hired at Tech, "any school would do well to look at Bobby Ross closely and carefully. He's the best.

"You're talking about someone who went to a school where you could not lie, cheat or steal, and he lettered in three sports. He served in the military and he recruited and coached at very tough academic schools. He's an astute student of the game and he knows how to win, as a player and a coach. There's nobody better."

After a tour of duty in the U.S. Army as a First Lieutenant (1960-62) and four seasons of coaching on the prep level, he started his collegiate coaching at VMI in 1965. Ross then spent four seasons as an assistant at William and Mary (1967-70), one year at Rice (1971), and one year at Maryland (1972) before beginning his head coaching career at The Citadel in 1973.

Ross spent five seasons at The Citadel (1973-77) before leaving to become an assistant coach in the NFL under Marv Levy with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1978. He coached special teams and defense two seasons and offensive backs his final two seasons with the Chiefs. After four seasons (1978-81) with the Chiefs, Ross returned to the collegiate ranks as head coach at Maryland in 1982.

Ross' Maryland teams produced a number of outstanding all-America talents, including quarterbacks Boomer Esiason, Frank Reich and Stan Gelbaugh. He developed the school's two greatest all-time passers in Esiason and Gelbaugh.

Standouts from Georgia Tech include linebacker Marco Coleman, safety Ken Swilling, and quarterback Shawn Jones.

Ross is known for sharing a uniquely personal relationship with his players. During practice he's involved in all facets of the game. He enjoys teaching and usually can be found in the huddle with his team.

"I always take the approach with my players that I want to treat them with the same respect that I would give to my (five) children,"

Ross said when he joined the Chargers. "I'm straight-forward. I know how to look a player in the eye, eyeball-to-eyeball, and say what's on my mind. And I would expect the same from our players."

"I consider myself demanding of everyone," he continued, "starting with myself. That doesn't mean I holler and scream and make players run extra laps. If discipline is detail and doing things right, then we're going to have a lot of that because that's what I believe in. If we don't do something right in practice, then we're going to repeat it. That doesn't mean we're going to have four-hour practices. Practice doesn't make perfect. Perfect practices make perfect."

Ross and his wife, Alice, have five children — sons Chris, Kevin and Robbie and daughters Mary and Teresa — and seven grandchildren. Chris (Air Force Academy - '84), Mary (Maryland - '85), Teresa (Loyola of Baltimore - '87), and Kevin (Naval Academy - '88) are college graduates while Robbie is attending Georgia Tech. Both Bobby and Alice are very involved with the Child Abuse Prevention Foundation in San Diego. They reside in the Scripps Ranch district of San Diego.

"There are so many things that led us to Bobby Ross. You never hear anything bad (about him). You talk to players around the NFL who played for him and they loved playing for the guy. He's a tough, demanding coach, but at the same time, a fair guy. He's not going to ask them to do anything he wouldn't do himself. There's nothing selfish about him. There's no ego involved in Bobby Ross. People seem to respond to his kind of coaching. He's going to win by getting absolutely the most out of his players. He's very decisive. He knows what he wants. He's a head football coach and he's a coaching football coach. Things are going to get done the right way. Bobby's mission is to win. He's just been a winner wherever he's gone. He's gone into tough situations and turned them around. He's taken programs that were floundering and made them champions."

COACHING STAFF

DAVE ADOLPH

Defensive Coordinator

17th NFL Season

2nd Season with Chargers

Dave Adolph brought 32 years of coaching experience to the Chargers' defense when he was named the team's defensive coordinator on February 5, 1995.

Adolph, 58, has coached the past 16 seasons in the National Football League and has been a defensive coordinator in the American Football Conference for the last 11 campaigns. He spent the last three years as the defensive coordinator of the Kansas City Chiefs from 1992-94. Prior to joining the Chiefs, he spent three seasons as the defensive coordinator of the Los Angeles Raiders from 1989-91. He coordinated the defense of the Cleveland Browns in 1984 and 1986-89.

This is Adolph's second stint with the Chargers. In 1985 he came to San Diego as a defensive assistant and was elevated to defensive coordinator during the season after the departure of Tom Bass.

Under Adolph's direction, the Chiefs' defense ranked third in the AFC in 1992, fourth in 1993 and fifth in 1994. Kansas City's defense forced a league-high 26 fumbles in 1994, five more than any other team, and its 38 takeaways were second in the NFL. The unit also had 38 takeaways in 1993. While coming up with big turnover, Kansas City also was stingy on the goal line. It ranked third in the AFC in the most-important category, fewest points allowed, allowing just 18.6 points a game.

In the past eight seasons, Adolph's defenses have permitted just 17.8 points per game and ranked among the NFL's top 10 in total defense and passing defense five times. His groups have averaged more than two takeaways a game over the past eight seasons.

Adolph's first became a defensive coordinator on the professional level with the Cleveland Browns mid-way through the 1984 season when Marty Schottenheimer was promoted to head coach. Originally picked as the Browns' defensive line coach in 1979, he took over the club's linebackers in 1981.

Before entering the professional coaching ranks, Adolph spent 16 years as a college assistant at several high-profile programs. He spent two years as the offensive line coach at Akron University in 1963-64. He became an assistant coach at the University of Connecticut in 1965 before moving onto the University of Kentucky where he was defensive coordinator from 1969-72. Following his four-year stint with the Wildcats, he became linebacker coach at Illinois in 1973, where he also stayed for four years. In 1977-78, he worked with the legendary Woody Hayes at Ohio State.

His first coaching opportunity came at Cleveland's Shaw High School in 1962.

Dave George Adolph was born June 6, 1937, in Akron, Ohio. He attended Magadore High in Akron before going to Akron University where he played guard and linebacker for the Zips and was selected as the Ohio Conference's top lineman in 1958. Adolph then served three years of Air Force duty (1959-61) as a commissioned officer before joining the coaching ranks. Dave and wife Betty, have two children, Shane (May 8, 1974) and Heather (April 2, 1976). Dave also has three sons: Michael (Dec. 6, 1962); Mark (Aug. 27, 1964), and Thomas (July 30, 1969). The Adolphs reside in Escondido.

RALPH FRIEDGEN

Offensive Coordinator

4th NFL Season

4th Season with Chargers

Bobby Ross named Friedgen the Chargers' first offensive coordinator since 1991 on January 28, 1994.

In Friedgen's first season as the team's offensive coordinator last year, the Chargers were second in the American Football Conference with 381 points scored behind Miami's 389. San Diego's 381 points scored was 59 more than the team's 1993 total of 322. In 1994, the Chargers' offense ranked eleventh overall in the National Football League by averaging 326.3 total yards per game, up from 310.4 yards per game and a ranking of fourteenth in 1993. The Chargers' rushing attack produced nine 100-yard rushed games in 1994 and San Diego had a 7-2 record in those games. Since 1992 the Chargers have exceeded 100-yards rushing 27 times and have a 22-5 record in those games.

Friedgen (pronounced "FREE-gin") brought 23 years of collegiate coaching experience to the Chargers when he joined the team Jan. 11, 1992. He spent the the 1992-93 seasons as coordinator of the running game and coached the tight ends and H-backs. This is his nineteenth season in which he has coached alongside Ross, including five seasons each at The Citadel (1973-77), Maryland (1982-86) and Georgia Tech (1987-91).

While at Georgia Tech, Friedgen served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach and was in complete charge of the offense, including play-calling. In 1990, he directed a Tech offense that was the highest scoring team in school history during the modern era, averaging over 30 points and almost 400 yards per game. Five of Tech's offensive players earned all-Atlantic Coast Conference recognition, including quarterback Shawn Jones, who is among Tech's all-time passing leaders after just two seasons.

Friedgen, 47, also was the offensive coordinator and line coach under Ross at Maryland. Friedgen has been credited with much of the Terrapins' offensive firepower which produced more than 28 points per game and helped Maryland win three Atlantic Coast Conference titles and play in four bowl games.

He spent the first three seasons at The Citadel as defensive line coach under Ross before becoming the offensive coordinator and line coach.

When Ross jumped to the NFL in 1978, Friedgen stayed at The Citadel through the 1979 season before going to William & Mary (1980), where he also was offensive coordinator, and then on to Murray State (1981), where he was the team's assistant head coach. He rejoined Ross in 1982 at Maryland.

Ralph Harry Friedgen was born April 4, 1947, in Harrison, New York. He played quarterback and linebacker for Harrison High Huskies in Harrison. He is a 1969 graduate of Maryland and was named academic all-ACC in 1967-68 as a guard. Ralph graduated with a degree in Physical Education. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant under Roy Lester at Maryland in 1969 while earning a Master's degree in Psychology of Sports. Ralph and his wife, Gloria, have three children, Kelley (April 10, 1977), and Kristina (March 19, 1986), and Katharine (Feb. 21, 1988). The Friedgen's reside in Poway.

GREG BROWN

Secondary

5th NFL Season

1st Season with Chargers

Brown joined the Chargers as secondary coach Feb. 24, 1995. He spent the 1994 season coaching the secondary for the Atlanta Falcons. Under Brown, the Falcons' secondary was tied for second in the NFL with 23 interceptions in 1994.

Prior to joining the Falcons, Brown was the secondary coach at the University of Colorado for three years (1991-93). While at Colorado, he helped tutor two players, Deon Figures and Chris Hudson, who went on to win the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. Figures, who won the award in 1992, was a first-round choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1993, and Hudson, who won the award in 1994, was a third-round choice of the Jacksonville Jaguars in 1995.

This is Brown's second coaching stint in the National Football League. His first tour of duty began in Tampa Bay in 1984 when he was the defensive assistant to the Buccaneers' secondary. He was Tampa's offensive quality control and assistant quarterbacks coach in 1985 and the Buccaneers' tight ends coach in 1986. His first job in the professional ranks was as the defensive backs coach for the Denver Gold of the United States Football League (1983-84).

Gregory Edward Brown was born October 10, 1957, in Denver, Colorado. He graduated with a degree in history and physical education in 1980 from Texas-El Paso. Brown lettered twice as a defensive back for UTEP after transferring from Glendale Community College in Glendale, Arizona. Brown starred in both football and track for the Arvada High Redskins in Arvada, Colorado.

Brown is single and resides in San Diego.

SYLVESTER CROOM

Offensive Backs

9th NFL Season

4th Season with Chargers

Croom is in his ninth season of coaching NFL running backs. He joined the Chargers Jan. 7, 1992, after serving as running backs coach of the Indianapolis Colts in 1991. He coached the same position four seasons, 1987-90, for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Under Croom's tutelage, second-year running back Natrone Means set club records for rushing yards in a season with 1,350 in 1994. Means also set a club record with five consecutive 100-yard rushing games last season, and his 12 rushing touchdowns in 1994 were the most by a Chargers' back since 1981. Another of Croom's charges, Ronnie Harmon, was tied for the team lead with 58 receptions last year. In 1993, Croom's runners made a league-low two fumbles while finishing third in the AFC with a 4.0-yard average.

Before joining the Bucs, "Sly" spent 10 seasons with the University of Alabama where he served as linebackers coach. He coached both outside linebackers, 1977-81 and 1984-86, and inside linebackers, 1982-83. Alabama won back-to-back national titles in 1978-79. He tutored four players who were NFL first-round draft choices — E.J. Junior (1981), Mike Pitts (1983), Cornelius Bennett (1987) and Derrick Thomas (1989). During Croom's tenure, Alabama led the Southeastern Conference in total defense two seasons, 1979-80. He began with the Crimson Tide as a graduate assistant in 1975-76.

As a 6-0, 235-pound center, Croom helped lead the Crimson Tide to three consecutive SEC Championships. A three-year letterman for Paul "Bear" Bryant, Croom was named Kodak all-America and first-team all-SEC as a senior in 1974. He also earned the Jacobs Award as the best down lineman in the conference. Alabama compiled a 32-4 record during Croom's three years as a starter and was named national champion in 1973 by UPI. He began his career at Alabama as a linebacker, then switched to tight end and tackle and finally to center.

He continued his playing career one season in the NFL when he signed as a free agent in 1975 with the New Orleans Saints.

Croom received a bachelor's degree in history with a minor in biology from Alabama in 1975. He earned his Master's degree in educational administration two years later at Alabama.

Sylvester Croom Jr. was born on September 25, 1954, in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. He played linebacker and tight end for the Tuscaloosa High Black Bears. Sly and his wife, Jeri, have a daughter, Jennifer (Dec. 13, 1972), who's attending the University of Alabama. The Crooms reside in the Rancho Bernardo area of San Diego.

FRANK FALKS

Tight Ends/H-Backs

2nd NFL Season

2nd Season with Chargers

Falks joined the Chargers staff Feb. 2, 1994, to coach tight ends and H-backs after two years as running backs coach at Ohio State.

In 1994, tight end Duane Young and H-back Al Pupunu had the finest seasons of their professional careers in their first year under Falks. Falks' tight ends and H-backs also helped supply the blocks for the NFL's seventh-ranked rushing attack as the Chargers averaged 115.8-yards on the ground per game.

In 1993, Ohio State's senior rusher Raymont Harris gained 1,369 yards and averaged 112 yards a game. Three of Falks' running backs were selected in the 1994 draft (Jeff Cothran, third round; Raymont Harris, fourth; By'not'e Butler, seventh) and Robert Smith was the twenty-first player selected in the 1993 draft.

Falks began his coaching career as offensive coordinator for his alma mater Parsons College in 1968-69. He moved to Kansas State from 1970-72. Falks joined Arkansas as defensive ends coach, 1973-77. From 1978-79 Falks coached at Wyoming before taking a

San Diego 24, at Seattle 10

Sunday, Sept. 18

San Diego improved its record to 3-0, its best start since 1981, with a 24-10 win over the Seahawks in Husky Stadium. The Seahawks took a 3-0 lead early in the second period after intercepting a Tony Martin pass off of a reverse. San Diego came right back and tied the game. San Diego tied the game at halftime after going 51 yards in 11 plays to set up a one-yard Natrone Means touchdown run. In the second half, Stanley Richard put the Chargers up 17-3 when he returned an interception 73 yards for a touchdown. It was Richard's second interception for a score in '94 and the eleventh longest in team history. The defense stopped the Seahawks' offense and handed the ball to the Chargers on their own 10-yard line. After Stan Humphries was sacked for the first time in 1994, Humphries threw a perfect strike to Martin who took it 99 yards for the Chargers' final score. It was the longest play from scrimmage in team history and seventh time in NFL history a pass has been taken 99 yards. San Diego outgained Seattle in total offense, 346 yards to 187 yards, despite tying a team record with 14 penalties for 105 yards. Martin had the best day of his career with six catches for 152 yards. Leslie O'Neal recorded three of the team's six sacks.

GAME 4

Sunday, Sept. 25

The Chargers took sole possession of first place in the AFC West after defeating the Raiders in Los Angeles. It's the first time the team has started a season 4-0 since 1980. It also was San Diego's fourth straight win in the Coliseum. After the Raiders were held on their first possession, Darrien Gordon returned the punt 90 yards for a touchdown. It was the second-longest punt return in team history and Gordon's first of his career. The defense held tough through the first half, allowing only three points, while San Diego added two John Carney field goals and a Natrone Means touchdown run to lead, 20-3, at halftime. Carney hit another field goal to open the second half, but the Raiders tightened the game by scoring touchdowns on their first two possessions. After trading turnovers, Los Angeles returned a deflected Stan Humphries pass 31 yards for the go-ahead, 24-23, score. Humphries sustained a sprained left knee on the play, but returned to lead the team's next series which went 65 yards in 14 plays to set up a Carney game-winning field goal with :02 remaining. Humphries was intercepted twice, his first interceptions of 1994. Junior Seau led the team in tackles for the fourth week in a row and added two sacks.

San Diego 14, at Kansas City 13

Sunday, Nov. 13

The Chargers improved to 8-2 and took a two-game lead in the AFC West by coming from behind and defeating the Kansas City Chiefs 14-13 at Arrowhead Stadium. The Chargers trailed 13-0 at halftime before Stan Humphries threw touchdown passes of 52 yards to Shawn Jefferson and five yards to Duane Young. The Chargers put themselves in a hole early with four first-half turnovers. Three of the five drives led to all of the Chiefs points. The Chargers scored the only points of the second half. Humphries 52-yard strike to Jefferson culminated an 87-yard drive. Then a Darren Carrington interception gave San Diego the ball on the Chiefs' eight-yard line midway through the fourth quarter and Humphries hit Young on a five-yard scoring pass to give San Diego the lead for good. Both defenses dominated the action. San Diego's defense forced Kansas City to punt 11 times while the Chargers punted a season-high 10 times. The Chiefs slightly outgained the Chargers in total yardage — 249 yards to 235. San Diego was held to a season-low 48 yards rushing. GAME 17

AFC Divisional Playoff

at San Diego 22, Miami 21

Sunday, Jan. 8, 1995

The Chargers advanced to the AFC Championship Game with a 22-21 victory over the Miami Dolphins in front of a San Diego-record home crowd of 63,381 fans. The win moved the Chargers to the AFC title round for only the third time in their history and the first time since Jan., 1982. Miami jumped on top early by taking their third possession of the game and marching 79 yards in nine plays and Keith Jackson caught an eight-yard scoring pass from Dan Marino. San Diego responded on its next possession, going 72 yards in 15 plays before settling for a John Carney 20-yard field goal. Marino hit Jackson again for a nine-yard score to move the Dolphins ahead, 14-3. Once again, San Diego responded with a field goal. Marino finished the half by hitting Mike Williams on a 16-yard scoring pass. In the half, San Diego accumulated 123 yards rushing and 84 yards passing while the Dolphins gained 200 of their 224 yards through the air. San Diego's offense dominated the third quarter. The Chargers took the opening drive of the second half and marched 15 plays to the Dolphins' one-yard line before losing the ball on downs. But on Miami's first play from scrimmage, Reuben Davis stopped Bernie Parmalee in the end zone for a safety to make the score 21-8. San Diego took the following kick and Natrone Means finished a 54-yard drive with a 24-yard scoring run, breaking several tackles along the way. San Diego kept Marino and the Miami offense on the sideline for all but four plays in the quarter. The teams traded possessions through the fourth quarter before Stan Humphries drove the team 61 yards in 10 plays and hit Mark Seay on the game-winning, eight-yard scoring pass. Up 22-21 with :35 left in game, Marino moved the Dolphins to San Diego's 30-yard line and positioned Pete Stoyanovich for a 48-yard field goal attempt which sailed wide right to end the game. San Diego dominated the game's time of possession, controlling the ball 39:20 compared to Miami's 20:40. The main factor for the ball control was the running game which rolled up 202 of the team's 466 total yards. It was the most yards rushing by San Diego since it gained 220 yards versus Miami in Game 15 of last year and the most total yards and first downs (28) in a game this season. Means rushed for a personal-best 139 yards on 24 carries and scored one touchdown. Humphries completed 28 of 43 passes for 276 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. He completed 20 of 26 attempts in the second half. Seven Chargers' players caught two or more passes led by Ronnie Harmon's seven catches. San Diego is only the second team in NFL history to suffer more turnovers (three) than its opponent (none) and still win the game.

The Chargers finally found the scoreboard when John Carney hit a 20-yard field goal with 3:41 left in the first half. Stan Humphries moved the Chargers to Pittsburgh's 43-yard line and hit Al Pupunu on a 43-yard touchdown strike. Trailing, 13-10, San Diego took possession with 9:57 left in the game on their own 20-yard line. Behind the running of Natrone Means and the throwing of Humphries, the Chargers moved slowly down the field before scoring the final touchdown of the game on a 43-yard pass from Humphries to Tony Martin to give San Diego a 17-13 lead. Pittsburgh took the following kickoff and drove down to the Chargers' nine-yard line with two minutes left in the game. GAME 19

Super Bowl XXIX

San Francisco 49, San Diego 26

at Joe Robbie Stadium, Miami, Florida

Sunday, Jan. 29, 1995

The Chargers were no match for the high-powered San Francisco offense as the 49ers scored early and often to hand San Diego a 49-26 defeat. San Francisco quarterback Steve Young passed for four first-half touchdowns, including two to Ricky Walters and one each to Jerry Rice and William Floyd as the 49ers jumped out to a 28-10 lead at half time. The 49ers scored touchdowns on four of their first five possessions. The barrage continued in the second half as Young connected with Rice for two more scores and Watters added a nine-yard touchdown run. Young finished with 325 yards and six touchdown passes while completing 24 of 36 attempts, and Rice caught 10 passes for 149 yards and three touchdowns. Young also added 49 yards on five rushes and was named the game's MVP. The Chargers' offense was forced to play catch-up most of the game, and as a result quarterback Stan Humphries passed 49 times, completing 24 for 275 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. The 49ers outgained the Chargers in total yards 455 to 354, and first downs, 28 to 20. Running back Natrone Means became the youngest player in Super Bowl history to score a touchdown when the 22-year-old dived over the 49ers' defense for a one-yard scoring plunge in the first quarter. Chargers' rookie Andre Coleman tied a Super Bowl record for the longest kickoff return when he went 98-yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Following the kickoff return, Stan Humphries passed to Mark Seay for the first two-point conversion in Super Bowl history. Following a 30-yard Humphries to Tony Martin touchdown pass late in the fourth quarter, Humphries passed for his second two-point conversion of the game, this time to Alfred Pupunu. Linebackers Dennis Gibson and Junior Seau led the Chargers with 11 tackles apiece, and Seau added one sack. Defensive end Raylee Johnson paced the Chargers with two sacks.

Junior's Achievements Don't End on the Field

Alofa: A Samoan word for love. It also describes a sense of caring, a willingness to give freely of oneself.

Junior Seau has a lot of alofa.

Widely known for his bone-jarring hits, the San Diego Chargers' All-Pro linebacker is equally respected for his involvement in good causes. That's why a blue-ribbon panel of judges selected Seau as the 1994 True Value/NFL Man of the Year.

As a child, Seau moved with his family from American Samoa to Oceanside, Calif. As a Charger, he has tackled social problems in nearby San Diego County head-on. The Junior Seau Foundation works to combat child abuse and delinquency and to steer kids away from alcohol and drugs. The organization also provides scholarships for higher education.

Each fall, the foundation sponsors a "Sacks for San Diego" program. Individuals and businesses pledge $1 to $100 for each sack by the Chargers' defense. The money supports a variety of anti-drug, anti-violence and anti-gang efforts, including a team in San Diego's midnight basketball league.

Membership fees to Seau's fan club, Team Seau, also support the three-year-old foundation. To be part of Seau's team, fans must pledge to be good citizens.

"When I was growing up, my family didn't have a lot of money, but we did have a lot of love, and I had my dreams," said Seau, 26, while accepting the True Value/NFL Man of the Year Award. Seau received the award in South Florida as the Chargers were preparing to play San Francisco in Super Bowl XXIX.

"The Junior Seau Foundation was created to help empower and educate young people so they can achieve their dreams. I hope young people see that dreams really do come true."

The Man of the Year award honors players like Seau, who exemplify excellence on the field and service to the community. In its first year as title sponsor, True Value donated $25,000 to the Seau Foundation.

The selection process for the 1995 award begins in August, when each of the 30 NFL teams will nominate three candidates. In September, the 6,000 True Value store owners will choose the Man of the Year for the team in their region.

After the ballots are tallied in October, a panel of football luminaries will pick the True Value/NFL Man of the Year from among the 30 team winners. The panel will announce its decision on ESPN on Jan. 21, 1996—the Sunday before Super Bowl XXX.

He promotes family values. He creates programs to prevent drug and alcohol abuse. He fosters ideals that are anti-gang, pro-success. That's just off the field.

Truth is, when San Diego Chargers' Junior Seau won the True Value Hardware NFL Man of the Year™ award, everyone in the country became a winner. Winning the kind of role model that speaks to our children best; the kind of leader that can nurture American youth into productive adult lives—full of dreams, full of hope, full of promise.

ONE MAN, ONE AWARD AND A NATION FULL OF WINNERS.

We feel lucky to make our living helping people take care of their most valued possessions—their homes. We feel good about our relationships in almost 6,000 neighborhoods in America. And we're proud to sponsor an award that honors contribution to the community. Join us in congratulating Junior, in paying tribute to all the previous True Value NFL Man of the Year™ winners. Join us in the on-going commitment to help each other along the way.
