ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

In 1951, at the age of 27, Alex Spanos worked night and day, seven days a week in his father's bakery. His growing family was struggling to make ends meet on $40 a week. The time came for Spanos to make the single toughest business decision of his life - whether to stay in the family business or strike out on his own.

Fifty years later, Alex G. Spanos has transformed an $800 loan into a corporate giant ranked at the top of the national construction industry. As the founder and chairman of A.G. Spanos Companies, the nation's largest family-owned construction company, his commitment to excellence, quality and integrity are imprinted in the daily operation and management of the eight companies that are wholly owned and managed by the Spanos family.

The success of the A.G. Spanos Companies allowed him to realize many dreams in his lifetime, including owning a National Football League team.

In 1984 when Spanos was offered the opportunity to purchase the Chargers, he put the decision to a vote before the companies' board of directors.

"The vote was 10 to two not to buy the ball club," he recalls. But the chairman used his veto power to overrule. "I told them, 'When you turn 60 you'll understand.'

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos characteristically said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a lifelong goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream." On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality.

Spanos' commitment and value to the NFL was recognized when NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue named him to the League's Expansion and Realignment Committee in 1991. He currently serves on the League's Legislative and NFL Properties Executive Committees.

Prior to the 1994 season, Spanos turned over the day-to-day management of the organization to his son, Dean, but remains active in all business matters related to the team. This new role enables him to fully enjoy being the number-one fan of the Chargers and San Diego.

Throughout his storied life, Spanos has remained centered in his belief in family values and giving back to the community.

Though one of the nation's most productive corporate businesses, the A.G. Spanos organization continues as a family-run operation. The family works as a unit with trust and confidence in each other to guide the direction and actions of the company. Eldest son Dean serves as President-Chief Executive Officer of the Chargers and President-Vice Chairman of the Spanos corporate organization. Son Michael manages the construction and development activities of the company and is the Executive Vice President of the Chargers. Together, they are the driving force behind each business venture.

Spanos' belief in giving back to the community has paid countless dividends to San Diego. Most recently Alex led the effort to bring Super Bowl XXXVII to San Diego in January, 2003. This marks the second time in five years that Spanos has delivered the Super Bowl and focused the world's attention on San Diego.

His dedication to the team and the City of San Diego has been evident throughout his ownership.

During the 1998 offseason, Spanos announced the creation of the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund in honor of retiring quarterback Stan Humphries and a six-figure contribution to San Diego Children's Hospital in Brooke's name. Stan's daughter Brooke underwent major surgery to correct a heart birth defect.

Spanos is widely credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego, which was played Jan. 25, 1998. The game brought close to $300 million to the community. Spanos and his family kicked off Super Bowl week by chairing the Children's Hospital Super Ball and leading the effort with a major contribution. During the festivities he contributed the same amount to the national Christmas in April program.

In 1995, the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was created and funded by Spanos to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live." Simultaneously, Spanos announced that the first project of the Foundation would be a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum, for which he serves on the advisory board. With a focus on youth and education, Spanos and the Foundation have contributed millions of dollars to support San Diego charities and organizations. The foundation was renamed San Diego Chargers Charities and maintains the same mission to benefit San Diego.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

In 1995, Spanos' financial support led to the development of a multi-use sports facility for the Pacific Beach community and the students of Kate Sessions Elementary and The Bishops School. The Alex G. Spanos Sports Fields were dedicated in 1997.

His leadership was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the city. In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with another six-figure pledge and challenge to the local community.

Spanos has been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. He annually sponsors the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos All-Star Football Classic in 1993.

Spanos built the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California-San Diego where the Chargers hold summer training camp.

He has been a leading contributor to Children's Hospital in San Diego, and served as chairman of their first Miracle Network Telethon. He also has served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and the Loaned Executive campaign drive for United Way/CHAD.

Spanos' philanthropy extends across the globe.

In 1998, Spanos' generosity paid off with separate $1 million donations to three different institutions in California. His support of his alma mater, The University of the Pacific, improved the stadium, athletic facilities and residence halls for the entire student population and lured the San Francisco 49ers training camp to the school. A similar contribution to Sacramento State University's athletic facilities enabled the university to host the 2000 Olympic track and field trials. The same support also went to rebuild the Samuel N. Hancock Christian School, a private school in an urban area of Stockton. In 1997 he gave $1 million to the American Red Cross to help flood victims in Northern California and promised to help raise an additional $1 million.

Many individuals have felt Spanos' kindness over the years. Whether supplying his personal jet to transport those in need to distant countries such as Cambodia or Argentina; or help furnish a young paralyzed high school athlete with a specially equipped van, Spanos is renown for his generosity.

Spanos spearheaded the top fund-raising campaign during the Gulf War crisis and delivered the most successful fund-raising event in the history of the United Service Organization. In 1991, he chaired the U.S.O.'s Golden Anniversary Salute Luncheon that raised more than $4.5 million.

Spanos also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fund-raising Evening of Elegance dinners benefiting assorted children's charities including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center. Proceeds from the last Evening of Elegance held in 1985 topped $1 million.

Organizations in San Diego and across the country have honored Spanos often for his generosity. He has received the top awards given in San Diego by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce, the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau, and the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs.

Nationally, such organizations as Volunteers of America, Pop Warner Youth Football, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and the American Cinema Awards Foundation have honored Spanos with their top awards. Former President Gerald Ford and his wife, Betty, presented the Gloria Swanson Humanitarian Award from the American Cinema Awards Foundation for "his numerous contributions to the arts and educational institutions as well as civic and athletic organizations."

A son of Greek immigrants, Spanos' hard work and determination to succeed were recognized in 1986 when he was one of a select group of 80 Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission.

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee of the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. The University of the Pacific awarded him an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree on the same day he gave the commencement address to the 1984 graduating class.

This long list of accomplishments and awards demonstrates the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community have been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting at age eight in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Spanos is the founder and chairman of eight companies: A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; A. G. Spanos Securities Corporation; and The Spanos Corporation.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, they sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England (1980).

Alex and his wife, Faye, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Aug. 22, 1998. The couple has four children, Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael, and 15 grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President - Chief Executive Officer

As the president of A.G. Spanos Companies, the nation's leading family-owned apartment builder, Dean Spanos is accustomed to turning plans into successful projects. Stealing a page from his construction background where detailed building plans are essential, Spanos entered the 2001 off-season with his own four-step plan to re-tool the Chargers.

Step 1: Hire the best general manager with a proven track record. Step 2: Land an experienced, successful offensive coordinator. Step 3: Revamp the team's roster. Step 4: Take full advantage of having the top position in the draft.

Spanos set his plan in motion quickly and decisively in January when he introduced John Butler as the team's Executive Vice President-General Manager.

"John Butler knows what it takes to win in this league," said Spanos upon Butler's hiring. "He's had success in the draft and has been responsible for building championship teams. His record speaks for itself."

With his general manager and head coach in place, Spanos and company moved on to Step 2 and landed one of the best offensive coaches in the NFL when they lured former Washington Redskins head coach Norv Turner to San Diego.

Butler and Riley then took on the task of putting the best possible team on the field, and knew they had the complete backing of Spanos.

"I knew when I looked into Dean's eyes," said Butler, "that the commitment to win was so strong. Dean doesn't just want to win ... he expects to win. His support is always there for everything this team needs, and that's all you can ask from ownership."

Spanos' support has been felt throughout the organization and the San Diego community since the day his family moved to La Jolla, California in 1984.

He has been overseeing the business and football operations of the San Diego Chargers since he took over as President-CEO in 1994. Dean is responsible for the management and administration of personnel and all fiscal matters of the Chargers. He also plays a prominent role in league affairs and represents the team at all league meetings.

After his father, Alex Spanos, purchased majority interest in the team on Aug. 1, 1984, Dean was the man behind the scenes for the Chargers while serving as President of all Spanos corporate entities and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation. For 29 years, Dean has been working alongside his father in apartment construction and land development. He is responsible for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization.

In addition to his role in the Spanos Corporation, Dean was handed the day-to-day operations of the Chargers in January 1994 and now carries the full burden of running both organizations.

The Chargers didn't wait long to enjoy the benefits of Dean's guidance. Less than a year later, in January 1995, the Chargers were playing in Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida.

In addition to running the football organization, he has continued the long-standing tradition of community support by the Spanos family and the Chargers. In March, 2000, Dean announced a huge five-year program entitled "Chargers Champions" that encompasses the team's on-going support of youth, education, high school sports as well as its long-standing community service programs.

Chargers Champions primarily benefits students, schools and educators that are "Making the Difference" for San Diego's future. In each of the past two offseasons at the annual Chargers Champions All-Star Gala, 22 outstanding high school juniors were awarded $7,500 scholarships and lap top computers. Beginning in 2001, the Chargers Champions program awarded 11 grants to schools as well as 11 grants to San Diego's most-deserving educators.

Local students received a giant boost when the Spanos family and Chargers Champions supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools in 2000. This major public-private partnership provides more than 1,000 extra-curricular opportunities annually for students, opportunities that have proven to enhance academic achievement, self-discipline, self-esteem and school attendance.

San Diego County schools have also benefited financially from the Chargers' generosity. In 1998 the Chargers created the Touchdowns for Youth program to reward students with outstanding attendance. By using Chargers tickets as incentives for outstanding attendance, schools in San Diego County have realized an increase in state funding (which is based on "average daily attendance") of nearly $10 million.

Another huge economic benefit to the community came in 1998 when Dean and his father secured Super Bowl XXXVII (January 2003) for the City of San Diego. It will be the second time in five years that the City of San Diego enjoys the huge financial windfall that comes from hosting a Super Bowl.

Dean is a major contributor throughout the San Diego business and civic community. He is on the board of directors of the San Diego International Sports Council, an elite group of San Diego business executives whose purpose is to promote and enhance economic development through sports of all kinds in San Diego. Dean also served on the boards of the San Diego Economic Development Corporation, the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce as well as the San Diego Inner-City Games. He also has been a major contributor and supporter of Children's Hospital, American Cancer Society, Huntington's Disease Society of America and the United Way.

The San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum named Dean and Susie Spanos their Community Champions for 2001.

Dean's busy career in business and the National Football League hasn't hampered his status as one of the nation's most successful amateur golfers. An avid golfer since his college years, he has been on the winning team in four Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he teamed with Hubert Green. He was on the winning team at the Hope Classic again in 1991. Spanos and Green won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach in 1985, where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Also in 1985, he was on the winning team in the Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas with Billy Casper.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born May 26, 1950, in Stockton. He earned varsity letters as a member of the Lincoln High School football and golf teams in Stockton. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Dean continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, from which he received a degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a Regent at the university.

Dean and his wife, Susie, reside in La Jolla, California. Susie was named the 1999 Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community. She is active in and on the board of many charitable organizations in San Diego. She has been a driving force in support of the San Diego Blood Bank and its umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation. Son Alexander Gus (July 2, 1978) is a graduate of the business school at the University of Southern California and currently works in the marketing department of NFL Europe in London. As a freshman, A.G. attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. He received six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School. Son John Dean (Nov. 7, 1979) is a senior at Wake Forest University majoring in business. He recently completed a summer internship in the NFL office in New York. He is in his seventh year working in the Chargers' organization, mostly in the player personnel department. While at The Bishops School in La Jolla, he earned nine varsity letters in a variety of sports, including football, basketball and golf, and played on three championship teams.

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael Spanos, the youngest son of Alex Spanos and Executive Vice President of all the A.G. Spanos companies, assumed the same position in the Chargers' management team in 1995.

Michael, 42, assists Chargers President-

Chief Executive Officer Dean Spanos in financial and management matters and other related areas pertaining to the ball club and the National Football League.

Michael has been an executive in the Spanos corporate organization for 18 years. He is responsible for all activities in construction, property management and land acquisition for the company. Born in Stockton, California, in 1959, he attended Lincoln High School and then the University of the Pacific, where he earned a bachelor's degree in business administration.

In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific where he served for five years. He also served as a trustee on the Board of Dameron Hospital and is very active in the Greek Orthodox Church. He contributes both his time and resources to the church and many other charitable causes in his hometown of Stockton.

Michael and his wife, Helen, live with their children in Stockton.

JOHN BUTLER

Executive Vice President - General Manager

17th NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers (1st as G.M.)

President Dean Spanos solidified the leadership and direction of the San Diego Chargers when he named John Butler the Chargers executive vice president-general manager on January 5, 2001.

"John Butler knows what it takes to win in this league," said Spanos. "He's had success in the draft and has been responsible for building championship teams. His record in Buffalo speaks for itself.

"This is a critical time for this franchise," Spanos continued, "and we feel that John Butler is the best man to lead us back to the playoffs."

"I'm excited at the opportunity that Dean and Mr. Alex Spanos have given me," said Butler. "My job is to help this team get back in the playoffs and back to the Super Bowl.

"I couldn't be happier. I had a chance to sit down with Dean (Spanos) and I could tell the commitment to win was so strong."

Butler is a veteran of 16 NFL seasons, including the past 14 with the Buffalo Bills (1987-2000). He originally entered the NFL with the Chargers in 1985 as a staff scout, a position he held through the 1986 season. In 1987, Butler became Buffalo's Director of College Scouting and was elevated to Director of Player Personnel in 1989 where he oversaw the entire Buffalo scouting operation. In 1993, Butler was named the Bills executive vice president and general manager, serving in that capacity through the 2000 season.

The pervasive theme of Butler's resume is winning. During his tenure in Buffalo, the Bills went to the playoffs 10 times and had an astounding 140-83 (.628) record during his 14 seasons with the team, second only to San Francisco's 156-67 (.699) record during that period. Buffalo's 10 playoff appearances are one shy of the 11 appearances by Minnesota, San Francisco and Denver. The Bills went to the playoffs following five of his eight seasons as general manager (1993-2000) and had a 74-54 (.578) record, ninth overall in the NFL. Only Minnesota, San Francisco, Miami and Green Bay went to the playoffs more times (six) than the Bills during that stretch.

During Butler's time with the Bills, he gained a reputation as one of the finest talent evaluators in the NFL. Whether through the draft or via free agency, Butler and his staff consistently assembled one of the league's most-talented rosters. Eighteen of the Bills' 23 draft picks from the past three years were still on the roster after the 2000 season and 30 of the 53 players on the active roster were Buffalo draft choices.

"It's not only me," said Butler when asked about his past success with the draft. "I've had a lot of great people surround me and go to work with me. It's just not one person that does something. It's an organization. It's your people. It's your scouts. It's working together, and it's coaches. I've been very fortunate over the years to have those type of people that believe in the philosophy I believe in...how we want to approach things...how we want to get it done. I don't want to take credit for that. We have a philosophy and that philosophy is what I use."

Under Butler's guidance, the Bills excelled through the draft during the '90s. Seven of Buffalo's top nine selections from 1991-99 started for the Bills, while the eighth, cornerback Jeff Burris, left via free agency to become a starter for Indianapolis, and the ninth, cornerback Thomas Smith, also left through free agency and is starting for Chicago.

Butler's first-ever selection for Buffalo and his top choice in 1988 was running back Thurman Thomas, who was chosen in the second round after 27 other teams had passed on him. Buffalo's top choice in 1989 wasn't until the third round when the Bills selected wide receiver Don Beebe, who went on to perform on six Super Bowl teams. Butler then looked to his alma mater, the University of Illinois, for the Bills' number one choice in 1991 - a cornerback-turned-safety named Henry Jones. Jones earned Pro Bowl honors in 1993, his first season as a starter. It also took John Fina, Buffalo's top choice in 1992, just one season to become a starter at left tackle. In 1993, Butler and his staff looked to the Atlantic Coast Conference to select cornerback Thomas Smith from the University of North Carolina. Cornerback Jeff Burris from Notre Dame was Buffalo's top selection in 1994 and set a Bills' record for most punt return yards in his rookie season.

Butler and his staff found outstanding players in the last six NFL drafts (1995-2000) despite not selecting higher than 14th. Offensive lineman Ruben Brown from the University of Pittsburgh lived up to his 1995 first-round selection (14th overall) by being voted to the Pro Bowl in each of the past five seasons (1996-2000). In 1996, Butler selected wide receiver Eric Moulds with the 24th overall selection. Recognized as one of the top receivers in the league, Moulds earned Pro Bowl honors in 1998 after setting a franchise single-season record and leading the AFC with 1,368 receiving yards. Moulds once again earned Pro Bowl honors after ranking fourth in the AFC with 1,326 receiving yards.

Running back Antowain Smith, the team's top selection in 1997, finished his rookie year as the NFL's third-leading rookie rusher. Marcellus Wiley, the team's second-round selection in 1997, took over the Bills starting defensive end spot for the departed Bruce Smith in 2000 and finished with 65 tackles and a team-high 10.5 sacks. Linebacker Sam Cowart was the Bills top selection in 1998 and led the team in tackles in 1999 and 2000. Cowart was named to his first Pro Bowl following the 2000 season after recording 130 tackles, 5.5 sacks and two interceptions.

Cornerback Antoine Winfield, Buffalo's top selection in 1999, has recorded 98 tackles and three interceptions over the past two seasons (1999-2000). After choosing Winfield in the first round of the 1999 draft, the Bills selected wide receiver Peerless Price from the University of Tennessee in the second round. Over the past two years, Price has caught 83 passes for 1,155 yards and six touchdowns. Buffalo's first-round pick in 2000, defensive end Erik Flowers, finished his rookie season with 20 tackles, two sacks and one interception.

Butler has also gained recognition for his ability to take advantage of free agency.

Butler brought in wide receiver Billy Brooks in 1993, who caught a team record 11 touchdown passes in 1995. The 1995 signing of linebacker Bryce Paup, the NFL's 1995 Defensive Most Valuable Player, and nose tackle Ted Washington, who went to two Pro Bowls, were particularly notable. In 1996, Butler acquired linebacker Chris Spielman from the Detroit Lions. In just his first year with the Bills, Spielman set a new team record with 206 tackles. During the 1998 offseason, Butler signed Canadian Football League MVP Doug Flutie and then negotiated a trade with Jacksonville to acquire Rob Johnson, giving the Bills one of the best quarterback tandems in the league. Also during the 1998 offseason, Butler bolstered Buffalo's roster by signing fullback Sam Gash, who earned two Pro Bowl berths, and offensive lineman Joe Panos from the Philadelphia Eagles.

Prior to entering the NFL, Butler was a member of the United States Football League's Chicago Blitz staff, serving in a number of capacities, including Director of College Scouting for three years. He also coached the tight ends and offensive line at various times, serving under head coaches George Allen and Marv Levy during his tenure with the Blitz. In fact, Butler has the unique distinction of serving with three head coaches who have each posted over 100 NFL career victories - Allen, Levy and Don Coryell.

"He knows personnel, he works hard, he builds morale, he gets the best out of everybody in the organization," said Levy. "He's a unique individual and, believe me, I don't respond this way very often. I think the world of the man."

Before his time in the USFL, Butler coached collegiately for three seasons (1979-81) under Randy Rodgers at the University of Evansville, Indiana.

John Robert Butler was born August 13, 1946 in Chicago, Illinois and graduated from Urbana High School. He served in the Marine Corps for four years before enrolling at San Bernardino Junior College, where he played football for two seasons. He transferred to the University of Illinois where he played for one year before having his career cut short by a knee injury. John and his wife, Alice, have a daughter, Andrea (Jan. 26, 1985).

A.J. SMITH

Assistant General Manager - Director of Pro Personnel

17th NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers (1st as Asst. G.M.)

The San Diego Chargers filled a key position in the team's player personnel department when General Manager John Butler named A.J. Smith the team's assistant general manager and director of pro personnel on January 18, 2001.

Smith spent the past 14 seasons working for the Buffalo Bills. He originally joined the Bills as an area scout in 1987 and was named assistant director of collegiate scouting in 1989. In 1993, Smith was elevated to director of pro personnel.

Smith's duties with the Chargers include advance scouting of opponents, monitoring NFL transactions, evaluating pro talent, handling tryouts, free agent contracts and assisting Butler.

This is Smith's second stint with San Diego. Before joining the Bills, he served as the Chargers pro personnel director from 1985-86. Smith also held scouting positions with the USFL's Chicago Blitz (1982-83) and Pittsburgh Maulers (1984). He began his NFL career in 1977 as an unpaid, volunteer, part-time scout for the New York Giants under the direction of Jim Trimble. From there he moved on to become a part-time scout for the New England Patriots (1978-80) and Houston Oilers (1981).

Smith made his start in football as an assistant coach at Cranston West High School in Cranston, Rhode Island from 1971-76. He was the head coach of the Rhode Island Kings of the Eastern Football League in 1976 and an assistant coach at the University of Rhode Island in 1978.

Albert John Smith was born February 28, 1949. He is a graduate of Bishop Hendricken High School in Warwick, Rhode Island. He earned a degree in health and physical education from Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1971.

Smith played semi-pro football as a wide receiver with the Attleboro (Mass.) Kings of the Eastern Football League from 1972-74 and had a tryout with the Washington Redskins in 1974. Smith was inducted into the Minor/Semi-Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. He also taught health and physical education in the Providence (R.I.) junior high school system from 1971-85.

Smith and his wife, Susan, have two children, daughter, Andrea (Sept. 3, 1982) and son, Kyle (Oct. 15, 1984).

ED MCGUIRE

Vice President of Football Operations

14th NFL Season,
4th with Chargers

After two seasons as the Chargers' Coordinator of Football Operations, Ed McGuire was promoted by team President Dean Spanos to Vice President of Football Operations during the 2000 offseason.

McGuire is in charge of all football operations for the Chargers. He oversees all player contract negotiations as well as the day-to-day business and administrative operations of the scouting department, coaching department, equipment and video departments, training staff, and strength and conditioning staff.

McGuire originally joined the Chargers in 1998 as Coordinator of Football Operations where he oversaw the day-to-day operations of the player personnel department and handled player contract negotiations. He also monitored the players' payroll in regards to the NFL's salary cap.

McGuire served as the senior manager of labor operations for the NFL's Management Council from 1996-98. Prior to that, he was the league's manager of player personnel from 1991-96. He originally joined the NFL in 1987 as a player personnel analyst. Before coming to the NFL, McGuire worked in the personnel department for the United States Football League from 1984-86.

During his tenure with the National Football League office, McGuire became a leading expert on the NFL's salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement, created in 1993 between the NFL and the NFL Players' Association.

"Ed's low-key personality belies one of the NFL's bright young minds," said NFL Executive Vice President of Labor Relations Harold Henderson. "He helped develop and administer the intricate details of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and the salary cap. The Chargers are fortunate to have Ed."

Born January 18, 1962, in Riverhead, New York, McGuire graduated with a degree in athletic administration in 1984 from St. John's University in Jamaica, New York. He played football and baseball at Riverhead High School.

McGuire and his wife, Jane, have two children, son Kevin (Aug. 8, 1993) and daughter, Shannon (May 9, 1997) and reside in Rancho Bernardo, California.

MIKE RILEY

Head Coach

3rd NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers

When Mike Riley was named the 12th head coach in Chargers history on January 10, 1999, his resume had one dominant theme: winning.

Canadian Football League: three Grey Cup championships, including two as a head coach. College: two national championships, including one as a player at Alabama and one as a coach at Linfield College, and three major bowl victories, including the Rose, Cotton and Freedom Bowls during his tenure as an assistant coach at the University of Southern California. High school: state championships in football, basketball and baseball as a senior quarterback, forward and center fielder, respectively.

In his first season in San Diego, Riley continued his winning ways by leading the Chargers to a record of 5-3 in the AFC West, the best intra-division mark in the West. The Chargers enjoyed wins over each of their AFC Western Division rivals in 1999, including a sweep of the two-game series with eventual division winner Seattle and splits with Denver, Kansas City and Oakland. San Diego's 5-3 mark in the division came on the heels of back to back 1-7 marks in the AFC West, and the Chargers' third-place finish was their best ranking in the division since 1996.

Riley guided the Chargers to an overall record of 8-8 in 1999. When the Chargers won their '99 season opener in Cincinnati, Riley became the first San Diego head coach to win his debut in a season opener since Sid Gillman led the Chargers to victory in his first game in 1960, the inaugural year of the franchise. The Chargers had a record of 3-3 against teams that would eventually make the playoffs in 1999, including two wins over Seattle and one at Detroit, compared to losses to Indianapolis, at Minnesota and at Miami.

"One thing that Mike brings to the San Diego Chargers is great communication," said Chargers Chairman of the Board Alex Spanos. "Communication not only with owners, coaches, but with players. He relates to them so well.

"The players believe in him, and that's big. If you believe in an individual, no matter who he is, you'll do whatever it takes to win for that person."

"The players see a lot of truth and honesty in Mike," said Chargers President-CEO Dean Spanos. "He's very straight-forward. The players see that in him immediately. There's a natural bond that's created there, and that's why the players call him a players' coach."

His ability to communicate with the players and make them believe in him were crucial in 1999. After opening the season with a record of 4-1, the Chargers suffered through a six-game midseason losing streak before rebounding with four wins in the final five games of the year.

In Riley's second season as head coach, the Chargers suffered several close defeats, including six in the final minutes of the game. The team finished the year with a record of 1-15. During the 2000 season, San Diego's opponents had an overall record of 145-111 for a .566 winning percentage. Only the Chicago Bears, whose opponents finished with a record of 149-107 (.582) faced a tougher set of opponents than the Chargers.

Riley has 26 years of coaching experience. He has spent 10 seasons as a head coach, including two in the NFL (1999-2000), two on the collegiate level (Oregon State, 1997-98), four in the Canadian Football League (Winnipeg, 1987-90) and two in the World League (San Antonio, 1991-92).

Before joining the Chargers, Riley spent two seasons as head coach at Oregon State where he helped resurrect one of college football's most downtrodden programs.

In 1998, he guided the Beavers to the school's best record in 27 years with a mark of 5-6. The '98 season was highlighted by an exciting 44-41 overtime victory over in-state rival Oregon in the annual "Civil War." The Beavers were competitive throughout the season against some of the country's most talented teams. Oregon State nearly upset several of its tough Pac-10 opponents, including a last-second 41-34 defeat to conference champions UCLA, a 20-19 loss to California and a hard-fought 35-34 defeat to the Huskies in Washington.

In his first season as head coach of the Beavers in 1997, Riley's teams earned a record of 3-8.

Prior to his stint at Oregon State, Riley served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at the University of Southern California from 1993-96. During that time, the Trojans won three bowl games, including the Rose, Cotton and Freedom bowls, finished first in the Pac-10 in 1995, tied for the conference title in 1993 and were second in the conference in 1994.

It was at USC that Riley solidified his reputation as a superior coaching strategist and as a teacher who is able to get the most out of his pupils.

"I love that guy," said Tampa Bay Buccaneers wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson, the first player chosen in the 1996 NFL Draft who studied under Riley at USC. "When I first got to play for him, I was just someone running around the field in high school and junior college. But he taught me how to read coverages, understand what quarterbacks are doing, why players do different things. He helped me become the No. 1 pick."

"He's the man. He's probably the coolest coach under pressure I've ever seen," said Buffalo Bills quarterback Rob Johnson, who like Keyshawn was tutored by Riley at USC. "He doesn't have an ego, first of all, besides being a great coach. He's a good man."

Under Riley, the Trojans topped the Pac-10 in total offense and ranked second in passing offense in 1995. USC ranked 25th in the nation in passing (248.7 yards per game) in 1996 and also defeated Notre Dame for the first time in 14 years.

While playing for Riley, Rob Johnson set 20 NCAA, Pac-10 and USC records and became the Trojans' all-time passing leader. Another of Riley's charges, wide receiver Johnnie Morton, became USC's and the Pac-10's career receiving leader with 201 catches for 3,201 yards. After Morton, Keyshawn Johnson picked up the torch by setting school records for passes caught in a single season with 102 in 1995 and for most 100-yard games in a season with nine in 1994. Keyshawn ranks second in school history in receptions (176) and receiving yards (2,940) after playing for Riley and the Trojans for two seasons. All three players earned first-team All-Pac-10 honors before becoming first-round draft picks and moving onto successful NFL careers.

"I like being around teams," explained Riley. "I like the fact that teams are made up of all sorts of individuals, different kinds of guys. That's one of the great things about sports, building a group of guys that become a team."

"Another thing I like about coaching football is the strategy of the game. I've always spent a lot of time trying to tweak things, look at things that might help a little bit. That's been a big, big part of my career is the research of what we are doing and how we can make it better."

In addition to his growing renown as a winner, outstanding football technician and developer of players, Riley has garnered an even more prevalent reputation: a genuine nice guy.

The saying, "Nice guys finish last," doesn't apply to Mike Riley.

"If you go to heaven and you look around and Mike Riley isn't there, you'll know you're not in heaven," said University of Nevada-Las Vegas coach John Robinson, who was the head coach at Southern California while Riley was there. "I challenge you to find one guy that says one bad thing about him. I wish I was as good a man as Mike Riley."

"He's a gentleman," said former NFL and CFL quarterback and current ESPN football analyst Sean Salisbury who played for Riley in Winnipeg. "He's ten times a better man than he is a football coach, and he's a heck of a football coach. Mike Riley is one of those guys that if he had to bench somebody, he could bench him and the guy would still love him. He will handle any situation that comes up. Look no further than (Buccaneers coach) Tony Dungy to find out the kind of demeanor he has, and Tony has no problem getting people to react to him. He treats you with respect and just asks that you do the same. As a player, that's all that you can ask."

Before helping the USC program flourish, Riley served as the head coach of the San Antonio Riders of the World League of American Football from 1991-92. Riley led the Riders to a record of 11-9 over two seasons, including 4-6 in 1991 and 7-3 in 1992.

Riley spent the 1987-90 seasons as the head coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he earned a record of 40-32 and two Grey Cup Championships. Riley was named the CFL Coach of the Year following the 1988 and '90 seasons after each of his team's Grey Cup victories.

In 1986, he returned to the United States as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Northern Colorado University.

Riley initially worked in the CFL as the secondary coach of the Blue Bombers for three years (1983-85) under head coach Cal Murphy. The Blue Bombers amassed a record of 32-15-1, including the 1984 Grey Cup championship, during Riley's three years as the secondary coach.

From 1977-82 Riley was the defensive coordinator, secondary coach and assistant athletic director at perennial small-college powerhouse Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon. It was his first full-time coaching position and it gave him a chance to work for Ad Rutschman, a coach Mike says is "the best teacher of football I have ever been around."

Linfield had a record of 52-7-1 during Riley's six-year stint, including a perfect 12-0 record in 1982 to win the NAIA National Championship. Linfield produced records of 8-1, 9-1, 6-3-1, 9-1, 8-2 and 12-0 during his six years as defensive coordinator. Linfield was the conference champion in five of Riley's six years at the school.

Riley's experiences at Linfield left a deep impression.

"Coaching at Linfield was truly a great experience," said Riley. "It's a program that has the longest consecutive streak for winning seasons in college football. I still use a lot of the things that I learned there."

In 1976 Riley served as a graduate assistant on defense while completing his master's degree at Whitworth College in Spokane, Washington. At Whitworth, he worked under another coaching legend in the Northwest, Hugh Campbell.

Riley's first stop on his climb up the coaching ladder was at the University of California under head coach Mike White as a defensive graduate assistant in 1975. The Golden Bears were co-champions of the Pac-10 with a record of 8-3 that year.

Riley's path to coaching started at an early age.

"As a little, little, little kid, Mike would cut a basket out of cardboard. We'd hang it on a door inside the house and he'd shoot a ball into it," said his father, Bud, a former coach who is now retired. "But he wouldn't start playing until his mom (Mary) sang the national anthem."

While growing up in Corvallis, Mike and his buddies always had something to do.

"We were all like-minded, all gym rats," said Riley. "We practiced all week, met on weekends and played all day. We could always find a place to play. Kids talk about having nothing to do in Corvallis, but for us, it was full of what we wanted to do."

In addition to a love of sports, coaching was in his blood. His father, Bud, served as an assistant coach and defensive coordinator under Dee Andros at Oregon State from 1965-72 while Mike was growing up. Bud later became a head coach in the Canadian Football League, first at Winnipeg and then at Hamilton and Calgary.

Mike's first taste of a championship was as a senior at Corvallis High School when he quarterbacked the Spartans to the 1970 state football championship.

In the course of a single year, Corvallis High won Oregon's largest school championships in football, basketball and baseball. Riley was the starting point guard and center fielder.

Nine of the 15 players on that Corvallis High state championship basketball team, three decades ago, are now coaching.

Following his graduation from Corvallis High School, Mike was recruited by the University of Alabama, where he played defensive back under Paul "Bear" Bryant for four years (1971-74). During that period, the Crimson Tide won the 1973 national crown and four Southeastern Conference (SEC) titles. He graduated from Alabama in 1975 with a bachelor's degree in social science.

Part of the reason Riley went to Alabama was to follow in the footsteps of one of his football idols: quarterback Joe Namath, whose career Riley had followed since Namath was a quarterback for the Tide.

"I think if I could be one player in any sport at a given time it would be Joe Namath in Super Bowl III," said Riley. "He had the Fu Manchu mustache, the white shoes, and I'm not into this type of thing, but when he made that prediction, that was really exciting. I was probably the only guy in my school who was rooting for the Jets in that game."

It was at Alabama that Mike would also meet his future wife, Dee.

Michael Joe Riley was born July 6, 1953 in Wallace, Idaho. Mike and Dee have a son, Matthew (July 31, 1984), and a daughter, Kate (Feb. 6, 1988).

Portions of Mike Riley's bio were taken from an article written by Chris Jenkins that appeared in the San Diego Union-Tribune on January 17, 1999.

ASSISTANT COACHES

PASCALE

Defensive Coordinator

16th NFL Season,
5th with Chargers

Joe Pascale, a veteran of 34 years of coaching, is in his fifth season as San Diego's defensive coordinator.

Pascale's years of coaching experience include 15 in the National Football League, two in the United States Football League, four in the Canadian Football League and 13 years in the collegiate ranks. During his career, he has coached every position on defense and has been a defensive coordinator in the NFL, CFL and in college.

Over the past three seasons, Pascale and his staff have guided the NFL's stingiest defense against the run. Last year, the Chargers allowed opponents just 3.0 yards per carry, ranking second in the league. In the two previous years, the Chargers led the NFL in that category. Also, the Chargers ranked fourth overall in the NFL in rushing yards allowed per game, holding opponents to an average of 88.9 yards.

In 1998, Pascale was the architect of the NFL's number one ranked defense. San Diego's defense led the league in several defensive categories, including total yards allowed (4,208), total rushing yards allowed (1,140), yards allowed per game (263.0), rushing yards allowed per game (71.3), opponent yards per carry (2.7), opponent yards per play (4.2) and average yards allowed on first down (3.84).

Perhaps the most impressive statistic from the 1998 season was that the Chargers' defense held opponents to just 2.7 yards per rushing attempt, the lowest total by any NFL team since 1951. In 1998, San Diego's defense led the NFL by allowing just 1,140 total rushing yards, which was the fourth-best total since 1978.

In addition to leading the NFL in several defensive categories in 1998, Pascale's defense also ranked in the top three in other areas, including opponent completion percentage (.511, second in NFL), rushing first downs allowed (72, third), total first downs allowed (256, third) and opponents success rate on third down (30%, second).

The Chargers' defense did not allow a 100-yard rusher in 1998, having faced several of the NFL's top rushers. Terrell Davis, who led the NFL with 2,008 yards, was held to 69 and 74 yards in two meetings against the Chargers. The Chargers also faced seven 1,000-yard rushers, and none rushed for more than 74 yards against the Bolts, including Marshall Faulk, Eddie George, Ricky Watters, Antowain Smith, Duce Staley, Gary Brown and Adrian Murrell.

San Diego's success against the run was coupled with the team's improved pass defense. Only Miami (.500) allowed a lower completion percentage by its opponents than San Diego (.511). The Chargers' defense notched 39 sacks in 1998, up from 27 in 1997, and the team's most since recording 43 in 1994.

Pascale was originally named the Chargers' defensive coordinator on January 27, 1997. Before joining the Chargers, he spent three seasons (1994-96) as the linebackers coach of the Cincinnati Bengals. In 1996, the Bengals' defense led the NFL in take-aways with 44, including a league-high 34 interceptions.

Before joining the Bengals, Pascale spent eight seasons (1986-93) on the defensive staff of the Phoenix Cardinals.

Before his stint with the Cardinals, Pascale coached two seasons (1984-85) for the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League. Pascale spent four seasons coaching in the Canadian Football League, including two each with the Ottawa Rough Riders (1982-83) and Montreal Alouettes (1980-81). In each of his six seasons in the USFL and CFL, Pascale's teams made playoff appearances.

Pascale's coaching career began as an assistant coach at the University of Connecticut (1967-69). He then spent four seasons (1970-73) as an assistant at Rhode Island before working as an assistant at Idaho State for two seasons (1974-75). In 1976, he was the head coach at Idaho State. He spent his last three seasons (1977-79) in the collegiate ranks as an assistant coach at Princeton.

Pascale played linebacker, nose tackle and offensive guard at Connecticut for four seasons (1963-66). He also played defense on the school's lacrosse team. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees in education and completed an advanced graduate curriculum in education administration at Connecticut.

Joseph Vincent Pascale was born April 17, 1946 in New York City. He played two years of football both at Cardinal Hayes High School in the Bronx, New York, and Lakeland High School in Peekskill, N.Y.

Joe and his wife, Lucille, have a son, Joseph (March 22, 1977), and reside in Coronado, California.

NORV TURNER

Offensive Coordinator

17th NFL Season,
1st with Chargers

Head Coach Mike Riley named former Washington Redskins Head Coach Norv Turner the team's new offensive coordinator on January 9, 2001. Turner, 48, will call the plays for the Chargers, a responsibility he also handled during his tenure in Washington.

"Norv is one of the best in the business," said Riley. "I've known Norv for a long time. This is a great hire for me personally, and an even better move for the Chargers. I'm excited and proud to have him here."

Turner's resume features a long list of postseason competition. During 16 NFL seasons with the Redskins, Cowboys and Rams, Turner helped lead his teams to the playoffs eight times. Most recently, the 1999 Redskins won the NFC Eastern Division title and defeated the Detroit Lions, 27-13, in the Wild Card round before losing to Tampa Bay, 14-13, in the Divisional playoffs.

Turner posted a regular-season record of 49-59-1 in seven seasons (1994-2000) as the Redskins head coach, including 7-6 in 2000. Under Turner's direction, running back Stephen Davis finished the 2000 NFL season ranked third in the NFC with 1,318 rushing yards while his 11 rushing touchdowns was second in the conference. Davis' 1,631 yards from scrimmage ranked seventh overall in the NFC in 2000. Also under Turner, Larry Centers led the Redskins with 80 receptions in 2000 and is now the NFL's all-time leader among running backs with 685 career receptions.

In 1999, Turner guided the NFL's second-ranked offense that averaged 372.8 total yards per game, second only to the eventual Super Bowl Champion St. Louis Rams (400.8 yards per game). The Redskins' offense featured three Pro Bowlers in 1999, including Davis, quarterback Brad Johnson and guard Tre Johnson, while Centers and tight end Stephen Alexander were named alternates to the NFL's all-star game. Davis' 1,405 rushing yards in 1999 was a team record and led the NFC. That year he led the NFL with an average of 4.8 yards per carry and points scored for a non-kicker with 104.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Turner had a successful three-year run as offensive coordinator of the Dallas Cowboys from 1991-93. Turner helped turn around a team that finished 7-9 and ranked 28th offensively in 1990, guiding the Cowboys' offense to a ranking of ninth in 1991 and an 11-5 record. His offense continued to produce in Dallas, ranking fourth overall in the 1992 and '93 seasons while capturing back-to-back Super Bowl trophies.

"You can talk about me, or any number of people that have been in this (Dallas) organization," said former Cowboys quarterback Troy Aikman. "Norv Turner had as much to do with our success as anybody who's ever been here."

Turner broke into the NFL in 1985 as the receivers coach of the Los Angeles Rams. The Rams advanced to the playoffs following four of Turner's six seasons. In his final three seasons in Los Angeles, the Rams' offense ranked third, fourth and third, respectively, from 1988-90. Under Turner, Henry Ellard and Flipper Anderson each went over 1,000 yards receiving in 1989 and '90, while quarterback Jim Everett enjoyed the best years of his career, throwing 60 touchdown passes from 1989-90. The highlight was an NFL-record 336-yard receiving effort by Anderson against New Orleans on Nov. 26, 1989, a mark that still stands.

Norval Eugene Turner was born in Le Jeune, North Carolina on May 17, 1952. He was raised in Martinez, California, where he was a multi-sport star for the Alhambra High School Bulldogs. Norv was the starting quarterback on the football team, while his younger brother, Ron, now the head coach at the University of Illinois, was one of Norv's wide receivers.

Turner was recruited to the University of Oregon by a pair of assistant coaches named John Robinson and George Seifert. For two years, Turner played behind San Diego Chargers and NFL Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts.

"Norv's a good guy," said Fouts. "He listens to people. He takes very little credit and is incredibly humble. The main thing about Norv is that he's extremely aggressive as a play caller and in his approach to the game. He's always looking for ways to score and ways to win."

After starting for two years for Oregon, Turner began his coaching career with the Ducks as a graduate assistant in 1975. The following year, Robinson hired Turner as an assistant at the University of Southern California. Turner oversaw the receivers (1976-79), defensive backs (1980), and quarterbacks (1981-83), before being named the Trojans' offensive coordinator in 1984. Robinson, who left USC in 1983 to become the head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, hired Turner into the NFL in 1985.

Norv and his wife, Nancy, have three children, Scott (Aug. 7, 1982), Stephanie (July 22, 1984) and Drew (Oct. 26, 1989).

MARK BANKER

Defensive Corners

3rd NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers

Mark Banker is in his third season as the Chargers defensive corners coach.

Prior to joining the Chargers, he spent two seasons (1997-98) as the secondary coach on Mike Riley's staff at Oregon State.

"Mark is a very knowledgeable coach who spent 14 years as a defensive coordinator with an excellent football program at Cal State-Northridge," said Riley. "He has worked primarily as a defensive coach throughout his career and is a perfect fit with Joe Pascale's outstanding defensive staff."

In addition to serving as Oregon State's secondary coach, Banker was the Beavers' recruiting coordinator in 1998.

Before joining Riley's staff at Oregon State in 1997, Banker spent the 1996 season working with the defensive line and linebackers as a defensive assistant at the University of Southern California. In 1995, Banker coached the outside linebackers and was the special teams coordinator at the University of Hawaii.

Banker spent 14 seasons (1981-94) as the defensive coordinator at Cal State-Northridge. He started his coaching career in 1978 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Springfield College in Springfield, Massachusetts. He coached Springfield's tight ends in 1978 and the quarterbacks and running backs from 1979-80.

Banker was born January 15, 1956 in Plymouth, Massachusetts. He was a three-sport star in football, ice hockey and baseball at Plymouth-Carver High School. He earned 11 varsity letters in high school, including four in football, four in hockey and three in baseball. He was the captain of the hockey and baseball teams as a senior. He lettered for three seasons (1975-77) as a running back at Springfield, where he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1978 and a master's degree in educational administration in 1981.

Mark and his wife, Debbie, have three children, Chris (March 14, 1985), Jayme (March 21, 1987) and Kelsey (Feb. 24, 1989) and reside in Santee, California.

JOE BUGEL

Offensive Line

26th NFL Season,
4th with Chargers

Joe Bugel, a veteran of 36 years of coaching, including 25 in the National Football League, is in his fourth season as San Diego's offensive line coach.

"I'm so excited that Joe Bugel is a part of our coaching staff," said Chargers Head Coach Mike Riley. "His experience, leadership and knowledge of the NFL are so important to this team. His enthusiasm is incredibly contagious. I can see why guys love playing for him."

This season Bugel will be asked to fuse the Chargers' proven veteran offensive linemen with the team's talented youngsters. Veteran tackle Vaughn Parker, who is making the switch from right to left tackle and center Roman Fortin are the only returning starters on the offensive line. They will be joined by guards DeMingo Graham and Kendyl Jacox, and right tackle Ed Ellis, who have 25 combined NFL starts. Raleigh Roundtree, the Chargers most versatile lineman who has played every position on the line except center, also figures to see plenty of action in 2001.

Before joining the Chargers in 1998, Bugel spent three seasons (1995-97) with Oakland, serving as assistant head coach/offense from 1995-96 before being elevated to head coach for the 1997 season. Prior to working in Oakland, Bugel was the head coach for the Arizona Cardinals for four seasons (1990-93).

In his 19 seasons as an NFL assistant, Bugel's teams have posted a record of 165-125 (.569 winning percentage), including 13 winning seasons and eight playoff appearances. Bugel has participated in three Super Bowls, six conference championship games and 21 playoff contests.

From 1981-89, Bugel was in charge of the offensive line for the Washington Redskins where he developed the famous "Hogs" offensive line. He began as the Redskins' offensive coordinator in 1981 and was promoted to assistant head coach in charge of the offensive line in 1983. Under Bugel's direction, the Redskins scored a then NFL-record 541 points (1983), had four 1,000-yard rushers, one 4,000-yard passer and nine 1,000-yard receivers.

Washington won two Super Bowls while Bugel was with the team following the 1982 and 1987 seasons.

From 1977-80, Bugel was the offensive line coach for the Houston Oilers, during which time the team set records in rushing and passing.

Bugel entered the professional coaching ranks as the offensive line coach for the Detroit Lions from 1975-76.

He also worked at Ohio State (1974) under Woody Hayes, Iowa State (1973), Navy (1969-72) and his alma mater, Western Kentucky (1964-68).

Born March 10, 1940 in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Bugel was a two-way star in football at Munhall High School. He attended Western Kentucky University and was an all-conference guard and linebacker from 1960-63.

Bugel earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1963 and a master's degree in counseling in 1964, both from Western Kentucky.

Bugel and his wife, Brenda, have three daughters, Angie (Jan. 22, 1970), Holly (Aug. 16, 1972) and Jennifer (Oct. 13, 1976).

The Bugels live in Coronado.

PAUL CHRYST

Tight Ends

3rd NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers

Paul Chryst is in his third year as the Chargers tight end coach. He originally came to San Diego prior to the 1999 season after spending the previous two years (1997-98) as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for Mike Riley's Oregon State squad.

"I was fortunate to bring Paul with me to San Diego," said Riley. "He has a deep understanding of offensive football, and his ability to share that with our tight ends is crucial to our offensive success, both in passing and running the ball."

Chryst has been instrumental in the development of Freddie Jones into one of the NFL's top tight ends. Last season, under Chryst's guidance, Jones set new career highs while leading the team in receptions, tying for the team lead in touchdown catches and ranking second on the squad in receiving yards. Furthermore, Jones ranked second among AFC tight ends in receptions and third in receiving yards.

Prior to joining Riley's staff at Oregon State, Chryst spent the 1996 season as the offensive coordinator for the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League.

In 1995, Chryst served as the offensive coordinator at Illinois State. In 1994, he was with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the CFL. In 1993, he was the offensive coordinator at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

From 1991-92, Chryst was on Mike Riley's staff with the San Antonio Riders of the World League. In 1991, he was an assistant assigned to wide receivers and tight ends. In 1992, he coached the running backs and tight ends. Chryst started his coaching career as a graduate assistant at West Virginia.

Chryst was born November 17, 1965 in Madison, Wisconsin. He earned letters in football, basketball, baseball and track at Platteville High School and was an all-state quarterback in 1983 when Platteville won the state football championship. Chryst continued his education and athletic career at the University of Wisconsin, where he earned a bachelor's degree in political science in 1988. He also earned three letters in football for the Badgers. Chryst also earned a master's degree in educational administration from West Virginia in 1990.

Chryst comes from a very athletic family. His father, George, was a successful football coach at Wisconsin-Platteville from 1980-92. George was instrumental in the formation of the "Cheese League," the annual influx of NFL training camps at Wisconsin colleges. He enticed the Chicago Bears to begin training at the Platteville campus in 1984. Paul's brother Geep was the Chargers offensive coordinator from 1999-2000 before taking a similar position with the Arizona Cardinals in 2001. Their other brother, Rick, is commissioner of the Mid American Conference. Paul's sisters, Cathy and Dolly, were track stars in college.

Paul and his wife, Robin, have two daughters, Katryn (Nov. 9, 1993) and Mikayla (Feb. 9, 1995), and one son, Danny (April 28, 1997), and reside in the Carmel Mountain Ranch area of San Diego.

MIKE JOHNSON

Quarterbacks

2nd NFL Season,
2nd with Chargers

Johnson joined the Chargers during the 2000 offseason as quarterbacks coach after spending the previous three seasons coaching the wide receivers (1997-98) and quarterbacks (1999) at Oregon State.

Johnson spent four seasons (1993-96) as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Baldwin Park High School in Baldwin Park, California. He was the boys basketball head coach from 1994-96 and the girls basketball head coach during the 1993-94 seasons.

Johnson was born May 2, 1967 in Los Angeles, California. He earned 11 athletic letters at Baldwin Park High School, including three each in football, basketball, and baseball and two in track and field. As a junior and senior, he was named first-team All-CIF and first-team All-San Gabriel Valley in football (quarterback), basketball (forward) and baseball (first baseman/center fielder). He was drafted by the Seattle Mariners in the sixth round of the Major League Baseball draft as a senior.

Johnson attended Arizona State University from 1985-87. He was a member of the ASU football team as a redshirt freshman in 1985 and lettered as a backup quarterback in 1986. He transferred to Mesa Community College where he played quarterback for one season (1987) and was named first-team Junior College All-America by JC Gridwire. He then transferred to the University of Akron, where he played quarterback for two years (1988-89). He was named Akron's Athlete of the Year in 1990.

After graduating from the University of Akron in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in communications, Johnson was on the Arizona Cardinals' practice squad in 1990. He joined the San Antonio Riders of the World League in 1991 and was Riley's starting quarterback for the Riders during the 1991 and '92 seasons. Following the 1992 World League season, Johnson moved to the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League for the 1992 season and part of the 1993 campaign and quarterbacked the Shreveport Pirates in 1994-95.

Mike is the President and driving force behind the First and Ten Foundation, a nationwide program dedicated to the development of high school student-athletes. He and his wife, Louan, have daughter, Taylor (May 22, 1998) and son, Michael Jr. (Nov. 30, 1999), and reside in Chula Vista.

WAYNE NUNNELY

Defensive Line

7th NFL Season,
5th with Chargers

Wayne Nunnely, considered one of the top defensive line coaches in the NFL, has helped the Chargers rank as one of the top run defenses over the past three seasons. He is in his fifth season as the defensive line coach with the Chargers and his seventh NFL season.

Last season, Nunnely's defensive line helped the Chargers rank second in the NFL by allowing opponents to rush for just 3.0 yards per carry. In the two previous seasons (1998-99), San Diego led the NFL in that category.

Under Nunnely's guidance, defensive tackles John Parrella and Jamal Williams

have flourished. In 2000, both had career seasons as Parrella collected a career-high seven sacks and Williams racked up a career-high 53 tackles. The line should be even better in 2001 with the healthy return of defensive end Raylee Johnson, who led the Chargers with a career-high 10.5 sacks in 1999 and the addition of free agent Marcellus Wiley, who had 10.5 sacks last season for the Buffalo Bills.

In 1998, San Diego's defense was the best in the league at stopping the run. The Chargers led the NFL in rushing yards allowed per game (71.3) and opponent yards per carry (2.7) in 1998. Holding opponents to just 2.7 yards per rushing attempt was particularly impressive. It was the lowest total allowed in the NFL since 1951.

San Diego's defense did not allow a 100-yard rusher in 1998, despite facing several of the NFL's top running backs, including 2,000-yard rusher Terrell Davis (69 and 74 yards) and 1,000-yard rushers Marshall Faulk, Eddie George, Ricky Watters, Antowain Smith, Duce Staley, Gary Brown and Adrian Murrell. In fact, none of the players listed rushed for more than 75 yards in a single game against the Chargers in 1998.

Before joining the Chargers as defensive line coach prior to the 1997 season, Nunnely spent two seasons (1995-96) in the same capacity with the New Orleans Saints. In his two years with New Orleans, the Saints' defense ranked in the top five in the NFL in sacks and sacks per play. He first worked for the Saints in their training camp in 1994 as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program.

Prior to joining New Orleans full-time, Nunnely spent nearly 20 years as an assistant coach, head coach and administrator on the collegiate level. He spent two seasons (1993-94) as the defensive line coach at UCLA where he helped the Bruins win the 1993 Pac-10 championship and earn a Rose Bowl appearance. He also spent two seasons (1991-92) as the running backs coach at USC.

Nunnely's first job as a coach was at Valley High School in Las Vegas, Nevada, in 1975. He began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, in 1976. His initial full-time job came at California Polytechnic University-Pomona, where he coached the running backs in 1977 and the defensive line in 1978. He moved to California State-Fullerton for one season (1979) where he coached the defensive line. He then went on to the University of the Pacific (1980-81), coaching running backs, before returning to UNLV (1982-85), where he served as running backs coach and helped the Rebels win their first PCAA and California Bowl championship in 1984.

In 1986, Nunnely was named head coach at UNLV, a post he manned for four seasons. At the time of his appointment, he was only the fifth African-American to be named head coach at the NCAA Division 1A level.

Nunnely played fullback and also lettered in track at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas for two seasons (1972-73), where he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education. The school's faculty named him Most Outstanding Male Physical Educator.

Wayne Benjamin Nunnely was born March 29, 1952 in Los Angeles, California. He played football, basketball and track at Monrovia High School in Monrovia, California. He and wife, Velda, have sons, Channing (July 10, 1973) and Aaron (Oct. 27, 1986), and daughter, Amber (July 30, 1983). Wayne is the co-founder of "The Snapper," a device used by defensive line coaches to simulate the center snapping the ball.

ROD PERRY

Secondary

24th NFL Season,
5th with Chargers

Rod Perry, who has 23 years of experience in the National Football League as a player and coach, is in his fifth season as the Chargers defensive backs coach.

Perry has been crucial in the development of Rodney Harrison into one of the NFL's top safeties. In his second season under Perry in 1998, Harrison earned his first Pro Bowl bid after ranking second on the Chargers with 114 tackles and adding four sacks, three interceptions and 10 passes defended.

"Coach Perry helped me become a complete student of the game," said Harrison. "He taught me that there is more to football than just running around on your God-given talent. You have to study your opponents and know what their tendencies are. Rod has helped me learn how to do that and how to reach my full potential."

In addition to helping San Diego's defense rank first in the league in 1998, Perry's secondary held San Diego's opponents to a completion percentage of .511, which ranked second in the NFL behind Miami's .500.

Perry has 12 years of NFL coaching experience. He spent the 1995-96 seasons as Houston's defensive backs coach. Under Perry's direction, former Chargers cornerback Darryll Lewis and safety Blaine Bishop made their first trips to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Oilers, Perry spent three seasons (1992-94) as the secondary coach of the Los Angeles Rams. He also served three seasons (1989-91) as the secondary coach with the Seattle Seahawks.

Perry joined Seattle after coaching four years at the collegiate level, including two years at Fresno State (1987-88) and one year each at Fresno City College (1986) and Columbia University (1985).

As a player, Perry was an All-Big Eight selection as a senior defensive back at the University of Colorado. He was selected by the Los Angeles Rams in the fourth round of the 1975 NFL Draft. He twice earned Pro Bowl honors (1978, 1980) and finished his eight-year stint (1975-82) with the Rams with 28 interceptions. He is a member of the Rams' 40th Anniversary All-Time Team. Perry concluded his playing career with the Cleveland Browns from 1983-84.

Rodney Perry was born September 11, 1953 in Fresno, California. He lettered in football, basketball and track at Hoover High in Fresno, California. Rod and his wife, Patrice, have three children, sons, Rodney (Feb. 1, 1979) and Ryan (Oct. 23, 1985), and daughter, Miranda (Oct. 26, 1994). Rod's oldest son, Rodney, was drafted by the Philadelphia Phillies in the 12th round of the 2001 Major League Baseball Draft. After a successful football and baseball career for the Nittany Lions, he graduated this spring with a degree in telecommunications. Rodney was a member of the University of Southern California Trojans' 1998 NCAA Champion baseball team before transferring to Penn State.

BRUCE READ

Special Teams

3rd NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers

Bruce Read, whose specialty units have set numerous records at each stop in his coaching career, was named by Head Coach Mike Riley as San Diego's special teams coach on January 25, 1999.

"Bruce has an enthusiasm and love for football that spreads to the players and other coaches," said Riley. "He's an exciting guy whose teams have had tremendous success blocking and returning kicks. Nothing turns a game around like big plays on special teams, and Bruce's units thrive on that."

Last season, under Read's watchful eye, Darren Bennett led the NFL with a 46.2-yard punting average and was named to his second career Pro Bowl squad. Furthermore, Read's coverage units helped Bennett lead the NFL with a net punt average of 38.7 in 1999.

In 1999, Read's first season guiding San Diego's special teams, his units continued their big-play trend by blocking three punts, including one that was recovered for a touchdown against Indianapolis.

According to statistics combined annually by the Dallas Morning News, the Chargers special teams units showed the greatest improvement in the NFL in 1999, Read's first year as San Diego's special teams coach. After an overall ranking of 21st in the NFL in 19 combined special teams categories in 1998, the Chargers jumped 15 spots to sixth under Read in 1999.

Read has spent the past 14 seasons coaching special teams. Before joining the Chargers, he spent the previous two seasons (1997-98) as the special teams coach for Riley's Oregon State Beavers. Under Read's direction, Oregon State's special teams were responsible for 15 blocked kicks, including seven punts and eight field goals or PATs. Oregon State's special teams also returned two kickoffs and one punt for touchdowns.

Read coached at the University of Montana for 12 seasons (1985-96), including 10 seasons as special teams coach. He also worked with the defensive secondary in 1996. He originally joined the Montana staff as a part-time assistant for his father, Don Read, in 1985.

During Read's tenure as special teams coach at Montana, the Grizzlies broke 20 special teams records as a team and 11 individual special teams marks. His Montana teams blocked 27 punts and 22 PATs or field goals. Montana had at least one blocked punt in each of his 10 seasons. Montana won three Big Sky championships (1993, 1995 and 1996) and won the NCAA Division 1-AA National Championship in 1995. Montana had a record of 96-36 in Read's last 10 seasons.

Before going to Montana, Read spent four seasons (1981-84) at Portland State, where he was a part-time assistant from 1983-84 and a graduate assistant from 1981-82. From 1980-81, Read served as a volunteer coach at the Oregon Institute of Technology.

Read was born January 26, 1962 in Santa Rosa, California. He earned three letters and garnered honorable mention all-state honors as a punter and wide receiver at Henley High School in Klamath Falls, Oregon. As a senior, he had the best punting average in the state.

Read attended the Oregon Institute of Technology where he joined his father's coaching staff as a volunteer assistant during his freshman year. He studied at O.I.T. from 1981-82 before finishing his college education at Portland State. He earned a bachelor's degree in social science from Portland State in 1986.

Bruce and his wife, Christina, have two sons, Justin (July 12, 1986) and Joshua (Aug. 2, 1992), and reside in the Carmel Mountain Ranch area of San Diego.

MIKE SANFORD

Wide Receivers

3rd NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers

Head Coach Mike Riley added 21 years of passing-game experience to his staff when he named Mike Sanford San Diego's receivers coach on February 4, 1999.

"Mike and I sat in the same office and worked together for four years at Southern California. I really have a comfort level with him," said Riley. "I have a great respect for his ability to get the most out of players."

During the past two seasons, wide receiver Jeff Graham has benefited from playing under Sanford. Graham has emerged as the team's top receiver. Two seasons ago he led the team with 968 receiving yards and last season again led the squad with 907 yards.

Before joining the Chargers in 1999, Sanford spent the previous two seasons (1997-98) as quarterbacks coach at Notre Dame.

Sanford spent eight seasons (1989-96) as receivers coach at the University of Southern California, where he worked closely with Riley. Together, Sanford and Riley helped develop first team All-America receivers Keyshawn Johnson and Johnnie Morton. In addition, Sanford helped mold Chargers wide receiver Curtis Conway in 1993 before Riley joined Southern California's staff. Conway, Morton and Johnson all became first-round NFL draft picks in 1993, 1994 and 1996, respectively.

During Sanford's eight seasons at USC, the Trojans played in six bowl games with victories in the 1989 and '95 Rose Bowls, the '93 Freedom Bowl and the '94 Cotton Bowl. When John Robinson was hired as USC's head coach prior to the 1993 season, Sanford was the only full-time assistant retained from the previous staff.

Sanford spent two seasons (1987-88) as quarterbacks and receivers coach at Purdue. Prior to that, he spent four seasons (1983-86) at Long Beach State, originally working with the quarterbacks and wide receivers before adding the duties of offensive coordinator for two seasons (1985-86).

Sanford also spent two seasons (1981-82) coordinating the passing game and coaching the quarterbacks, wide receivers and tight ends at Virginia Military Institute and two years (1979-80) as wide receivers and tight ends coach at Army.

Sanford started his coaching career as a graduate assistant under Robinson at USC in 1977 before moving to San Diego City College as defensive coordinator in 1978.

Born April 20, 1955, Sanford was an All-Northern California pick as a high school senior quarterback at Los Altos High in Los Altos. After graduating, Sanford spent four seasons (1973-76) as a reserve quarterback and safety at Southern California where he played on Trojan teams that qualified for the Rose Bowl in three of his four seasons. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from USC in 1978.

Mike and his wife, Melinda, have two children, daughter Lindsay (Aug. 10, 1979) and son Michael (Feb. 4, 1982), and reside in Carlsbad.

JIM VECHIARELLA

Linebackers

21st NFL Season,
5th with Chargers

Jim Vechiarella, a 36-year coaching veteran, including 20 years (1981-2000) in the National Football League, is in his fifth season as San Diego's linebackers coach.

Last year, Vechiarella's linebacking corps was instrumental in San Diego's continuing dominance against the run. After leading the league for two seasons (1998-99), the Chargers ranked second in the NFL, allowing 3.0 yards per carry.

In 1998, Vechiarella was part of a defensive staff that helped design the NFL's number one ranked defense in both total yards and rushing yards allowed. In addition to San Diego's success against the run, the linebackers and coverage units held opponents to a completion percentage of just .511, which ranked second in the league behind Miami's .500.

Vechiarella originally joined the Chargers prior to the 1997 season after spending two seasons (1995-96) as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach of the New York Jets. Before his stint with the Jets, Vechiarella was the linebackers coach for the Philadelphia Eagles for four seasons (1991-94).

In 1990, Vechiarella was the defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns under then-head coach Bud Carson. Prior to working for the Browns, Vechiarella spent four seasons (1986-89) as the linebackers coach for the New York Jets. He was the linebackers coach at Kansas City for three seasons (1983-85), after beginning his NFL coaching career with the Los Angeles Rams (1981-82).

Vechiarella's 16-year collegiate coaching career started as the defensive coordinator at Youngstown State for 11 seasons (1964-74). He spent one season (1975) as the defensive line coach for the World Football League's Charlotte franchise before returning to the collegiate ranks as the defensive coordinator at Southern Illinois for two seasons (1976-77) and Tulane for two seasons (1978-80).

James Anthony Vechiarella was born February 20, 1937, in Youngstown, Ohio, and played linebacker and center at Youngstown State University. He attended Rayen High School in Youngstown where he played football and was on the track team. He and his wife, Lucille, have two sons, Jim (March 20, 1961) and Bill (June 14, 1963), and one daughter, Lisa (Nov. 16, 1965).

OLLIE WILSON

Running Backs

11th NFL Season,
5th with Chargers

Ollie Wilson is in his fifth season guiding San Diego's running backs. A veteran of 10 seasons as a running backs coach in the NFL, Wilson has been coaching since 1975, a span of 26 years.

Wilson is looking forward to developing running back LaDainian Tomlinson, the Chargers top pick in the 2001 NFL Draft. Tomlinson finished his collegiate career at Texas Christian University as only the second player in NCAA history to rush for more than 2,000 yards in a season and over 5,000 yards in a career. Tomlinson's final career totals included 5,263 rushing yards, the sixth-highest total in NCAA history.

Wilson originally joined the Chargers prior to the 1997 season after spending six seasons (1991-96) as Atlanta's running backs coach. Under Wilson's direction, three Falcons running backs rushed for 1,000 yards or more, including Jamal Anderson (1,055 in 1996), Craig Heyward (1,083 in 1995) and Erric Pegram (1,185 in 1993). In 1995, Heyward became the first Atlanta running back to be voted to the Pro Bowl since 1988.

Wilson began his stint with the Falcons in 1990 while working as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program in a position similar to the one he had held with the Houston Oilers in 1990.

Wilson spent eight seasons (1983-90) coaching several different positions at the University of California-Berkeley, including running backs, wide receivers and defensive backs. Prior to his stint at California, Wilson was the offensive coordinator at Northeastern University for eight seasons (1976-82). His first coaching job was wide receivers coach at his alma mater, John Hastings is in his fifth season as San Diego's strength and conditioning coach. He was elevated to the position on January 31, 1997, after spending two seasons (1995-96) as the team's assistant strength and conditioning coach.

Hastings has been with the Chargers since 1990. He originally worked with the team as an intern in the team's strength and conditioning program for five seasons (1990-94).

Prior to joining the Chargers, Hastings was the owner of his own fitness company, "The Future is Fitness," in San Diego.

John Scott Hastings was born July 5, 1964 in Newport News, Virginia. He graduated with a degree in psychology and physical therapy from Ohio University in 1987. John and his wife, Lori, have son Alexander Scott (Dec. 30, 1995), and daughter Taylor Marie (May 12, 1998), and reside in San Marcos, California.

CRAIG DICKENSON

Offense & Special Teams Assistant-
Quality Control

2nd NFL Season,
2nd with Chargers

Craig Dickenson is in his second season as the Chargers' offense and special teams assistant-quality control. He joined Mike Riley's staff in September, 2000.

Dickenson joined the Chargers from Utah State University where he was the running backs and kickers coach from January, 2000 until moving to San Diego.

From 1993-99, he held the same post at his alma mater, the University of Montana. During his tenure at Montana, the Grizzlies captured the NCAA Division I-AA National Championship in 1995.

At Montana, Dickenson oversaw the development of running back Josh Branan, who finished his career as the school's third-leading rusher, and kicker Andy Larson, the second-leading scorer in school history.

Dickenson lettered at Montana as a place kicker and punter in 1991 and '92. He earned All-Big Sky Conference academic honors in both seasons and graduated from the school in 1995 with a degree in history. He later earned a master's degree in educational leadership in 1997. Prior to attending Montana, Dickenson spent one season as a wide receiver, place kicker and punter at Concordia College.

Craig Dickenson was born September 4, 1971 in Great Falls, Montana. His brother, Dave, is a former Canadian Football League quarterback who joined the Chargers as a free agent prior to the 2001 season.

ANDREW McCLAVE

Defensive Assistant-
Quality Control

2nd NFL Season,
2nd with Chargers

Head Coach Mike Riley named former Oregon State graduate assistant Andrew McClave as the Chargers defensive assistant-quality control on February 7, 2000.

McClave joined the Chargers after spending the previous three seasons (1997-99) as a graduate assistant at Oregon State. He worked one season each with the defensive line (1999), defensive backs (1998) and linebackers (1997). He also assisted the Beavers' special teams coordinator over the three seasons.

McClave began his coaching career in 1996 at his alma mater, Jesuit High School in Portland, Oregon, directing the tight ends and linebackers.

From 1990-95, he attended UCLA, earning three letters (1991, '92, '93) while playing linebacker. During his playing career at UCLA, McClave was a member of the 1993 Pac-10 Champion Bruins team that played in the 1994 Rose Bowl. McClave was also a teammate of Chargers offensive tackle Vaughn Parker while at UCLA. McClave earned a bachelor's degree in history from UCLA in 1995.

McClave was born November 1, 1971 in Evanston, Illinois. Andrew and his wife, Melanie, have a daughter, Cali (Dec. 27, 2000), and reside in San Diego.

corporate, business, educational and charitable relationships. She oversees the Chargers Champions community initiative that benefits San Diego's youth and education while continuing the team's ongoing community outreach efforts.

The San Diego native worked in state and local government for 12 years prior to joining the Chargers, first entering the political arena in 1988 when she went to work for State Assemblywoman Lucy Killea. She became Chief of Staff for Killea in 1989, a position she retained until 1995. In 1993, Layton took a brief leave of absence and entered the race for the open 3rd District City Council seat. In 1995, Layton was appointed Assistant Director for the Department of Intergovernmental Relations for the City of San Diego and in 1996 she was appointed as director of the department.

Kimberley Briggs Layton was born July 30, 1963 in San Diego. She is a graduate of San Diego High School and earned a degree in education at the University of California at Irvine. Kim and her husband, Farrell, reside in Santee.

JERRY McBURNAY

Director of Ticket Sales & Services

McBurney is in his fifth season with the Chargers. He originally joined the team in January, 1997, as Gold Club sales manager and was named director of premium seating and ticket sales in May, 1998. McBurney is responsible for the development and implementation of all season ticket, group sales, club seat and executive suite programs.

Prior to joining the Chargers, McBurney served as sales manager for Pro Player Stadium (formerly Joe Robbie Stadium) from 1994-96, where he was responsible for the sale of club seats and executive suites for the Miami Dolphins and Florida Marlins. McBurney also was a sales representative for the Dolphins (1992-94) and a ticket representative for the Marlins (1992).

Jerry Allen McBurney was born December 19, 1967 in Bloomington, Illinois, and attended Normal Community High School in Normal, Illinois. He graduated with honors from Illinois State University with a bache-

Sean O'Connor is in his 14th season with the Chargers. As marketing director, his responsibilities include sponsorship fulfillment, advertising and overseeing the production of the team's weekly television shows. In addition to his role as marketing director, O'Connor is responsible for managing the Chargers' game presentation, including game entertainment, stadium Jumbotron, audio and matrix board operations and fan interactive areas. He also is responsible for the production of all special events. His previous positions with the Chargers include sky box suites manager (1995-96), ticket marketing manager (1990-95) and ticket sales executive (1989-90).

O'Connor was the director of sales (1986-89) and an account executive (1985-86) with the San Diego Sockers of the Major Indoor Soccer League.

Sean Vincent O'Connor was born July 19, 1960 in Buffalo, New York, and attended St. Joseph's Collegiate Institute in Buffalo.

He graduated with a degree in business administration from the University of San Diego in 1982. Sean and his wife, Meghann, reside in San Diego with their sons, Liam (April 20, 1998) and Quintin (Dec. 14, 1999).

MARSHA WELLS

Controller

Wells joined the Chargers on April 22, 1996, as controller after working 16 years for the A.G. Spanos organization. She joined the Spanos organization in 1980 in Las Vegas, Nevada, and relocated to the San Diego office in 1987 where she assumed the duties of chief financial officer/property management. She obtained three years (1976-79) of public accounting experience with the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., in Decatur, Illinois.

Wells graduated with a degree in accountancy from Northern Illinois University in Dekalb, Illinois, in 1976 and is a Certified Public Accountant. She obtained a master's degree in business administration from the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, in 1982.

Marsha Winifred Downs was born January 2, 1954 in Beardstown, Illinois, and attended Rushville High School in Illinois. Wells is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. She is single and resides in Coronado.

Chargers in the Community

Local Youth Score with Chargers Champions

Alex and Dean Spanos realized a dream in 2000 when they announced the creation of Chargers Champions, an initiative designed to benefit youth, education and sports in San Diego County.

With a $3 million commitment county-wide, the primary focus of Chargers Champions is to identify and honor those "making the difference" in their communities and in people's lives. Chargers Champions also encompasses the team's ongoing support of youth and high school football, as well as its long-standing community service programs, such as the annual blood drive.

The Chargers Champions "Class of 2001," featuring 22 high school juniors, 11 educators and 11 schools, was honored on May 16 at the second annual All-Star Gala at the Hotel del Coronado.

Mike Nowak

Alex and Dean Spanos are joined by NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue at the Chargers Champions All-Star Gala.

The students who were honored demonstrated leadership, service, citizenship and commitment to their schools and communities. Each student received a college tuition scholarship of $7,500, as well as a new laptop computer. These future leaders of San Diego also will have opportunities for working internships. All of these Chargers Champions will be recognized at Chargers games during the 2001 season and on the team's radio and television broadcasts.

The 11 educators who were honored as Chargers Champions have made a difference in student's lives through innovation, creativity and risk-taking in an effort to better develop students and prepare them for the future. These educators each received $2,500 literacy grants and state-of-the-art laptop computers for their classrooms.

Finally, the Chargers honored 11 outstanding San Diego County schools for their role in developing future leaders for San Diego. Each Chargers Champions school received an $11,000 grant to be used for books and leadership development. In addition, the Chargers will host "Chargers Days" in the schools and provide leadership speakers for the students.

"This is a great opportunity to recognize some real champions and reward them for their hard work both in the classroom and in their communities," said Chargers President Dean Spanos. "There are a lot of terrific schools, teachers and bright, young students out there, and it's exciting for us to recognize them."

The Chargers Champions were selected by a team of local business representatives, civic leaders and educators, including Chargers president Dean Spanos; County Superintendent of Schools, Rudy Castruita; President of the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce, Jesse Knight and Marilyn Creson, the Chief Financial Officer for the San Diego Union-Tribune.

Chargers Champions Supports Youth Sports

Mike Nowak

Through the support of the Alex Spanos All-Star Classic, the Chargers provide San Diego County's top high school players with lasting memories.

Under the auspices of Chargers Champions, the San Diego Chargers have continued to recognize and support youth and high school football in an effort to promote the sport and develop leadership, sportsmanship and character in San Diego County's youth. Chargers Champions was responsible for the creation of freshman football and girls volleyball for 14 San Diego City high schools, which began play last fall.

"I salute the Chargers for their commitment to youth and education by providing students a chance for greater participation in athletics," said Alan Bersin, Superintendent of San Diego City Schools. "The Chargers are demonstrating, both with their backing of ninth-grade sports and their Chargers Champions scholarships, the benefits that come to our community when public and private entities work together for our common good."

Along with the support of freshman sports, the Chargers are proud to be the sponsor of the CIF Championship football games played at Qualcomm stadium each December. But it doesn't stop there.

Few people in California realize that the Alex Spanos All-Star Classic is the longest standing high school all-star game in the state. Created over 15 years ago, the Alex Spanos All-Star Classic gives San Diego's premier senior high-school football players a final football experience in their own "Super Bowl."

The High School Sports Association of San Diego annually gathers the county's best senior football players for a match-up between North and South schools.

In addition to making the game possible through his contribution, Spanos donates a scholarship in the names of the game's most valuable offensive and defensive players to each school's respective athletic departments.

Youth Pop Warner football players also have benefited from the Chargers support. In addition to support given through various fund-raisers each year, thousands of Pop Warner players, cheerleaders and their parents have enjoyed the thrill of playing an exhibition game before a game or at half-time of a Chargers' game in Qualcomm Stadium.

Community Quarterback Award

Continuing the tradition of honoring those making a difference in their community, Chargers Champions also presented $25,000 in grants to community volunteers through the Community Quarterback Award program. This recognition program was created by the Chargers and the NFL to reward volunteers who demonstrated leadership, dedication and a commitment to bettering the community in which they live.

The Chargers Champions Leadership

Team selected 10 finalists from among hundreds of nominations. These ten finalists each received a $1,000 donation to their charitable organization: Nancy Rosenberger (Voices for Children, Inc.), Fire Captain Arnell Garcia (Burn Institute), Katherine Willette (Youth Tennis San Diego), Al Abelson (Copley Family YMCA), Josephine Cooper (San Diego Food Bank), Paul Hartley (Hoover High School), Gary Jacobs (Lawrence Family Jewish Community Center), Orrin (Denny) Joiner (San Diego Center for the Blind), Harmony Lee (Mama's Kitchen) and Issadora Sagteng (Arthritis Foundation).

From the 10 finalists, Nancy Rosenberger was named the 2000 Community Quarterback and received an additional $10,000 from the Chargers for Voices for Children. Arnell Garcia and Katherine Willette were selected runners-ups and each received an additional $2,500 for the Burn Institute and Youth Tennis San Diego, respectively.

Chargers Blood Drive Continues to Set Records

Chargers Champions also encompasses long-standing community service programs, such as the Blood Drive.

The Blood Drive is an annual partnership with the San Diego Blood Bank, which helps keep an adequate blood supply in San Diego County during the holiday season. For 23 years, the team has hosted the largest single-location blood drive in the nation and collected more than 36,000 pints for the community.

Under the direction of Susie Spanos, the Chargers' Blood Drive also helps to support the Cord Blood Donor Program. This program encourages pregnant women to donate their umbilical cord upon delivery and the blood in the cord is used to save lives.

The Chargers' Blood Drive began as a call to help illness-stricken Rolf Benirschke, a former placekicker for the team. Rolf required more than 50 pints of blood during surgery for ulcerative colitis. The enthusiastic response to that blood drive was the genesis of the program. Benirschke returns to the blood drive each year, along with current Chargers players, to greet and assist the donors, while their wives and girlfriends host and star in an annual fashion show held on the evening of the blood drive.

Chargers Honor High School Coach of the Week

Through the High School Coach of the Week program, the Chargers honor local high school coaches for their outstanding work with kids in our community. Each week during the football season, one coach is named coach of the week. Every coach of the week receives a $500 stipend for their school's football program, a coach of the week certificate signed by Chargers Head Coach Mike Riley and NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, a coach of the week hat and T-shirts for the entire team. At the end of the year, one coach is selected as the Coach of the Year and receives an additional $1,000 donation to the school's football program. All of the winners are invited to attend a Chargers game where they are introduced to the crowd in a pregame ceremony.

The 2000 High School Coach of the Year, Fallbrook High's Randy Blankenship, is honored before the Chargers game against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Children's Hospital and the Chargers

Since he first arrived in San Diego, Alex Spanos and the San Diego Chargers have nurtured a relationship with Children's Hospital and Health Center.

From the creation of the Brooke Humphries Fund three years ago, to the introduction of the Toss for Tots program in 1999, Children's Hospital remains a top recipient of the team's annual support.

The Brooke Humphries Fund was created by the Spanos family to honor Stan Humphries, his daughter Brooke and his family for their contributions to the San Diego community. A sizeable contribution was given to establish the "Brooke Humphries Field of Champions" area, a specially designed area where more than 25,000 orthopedic outpatients are seen annually. The room is located on the first floor of the Children's Way

The fund continues to support various programs and specialized technology so that Children's Hospital and Health Center can continue providing San Diego's children the medical care they deserve.

In 1999, the Chargers and Children's Hospital and Health Center partnered to create "Toss for Tots." Toss for Tots members make a donation for each Chargers' touchdown during the 16 regular season games. There is also a "Toss for Tots" Passing Challenge Booth, located near Gate K at all Chargers home games. For more information, please call Children's Hospital Foundation at (858) 576-5988.

John Parrella and Raylee Johnson participate each year in Kids Newsday with Children's Hospital. The October event features celebrities selling a special Kids Newsday Edition of the San Diego Union-Tribune all around town. All of the money raised from the sale of the special edition is donated to Children's Hospital for research to provide better care for the patients at the hospital.

Teddy Bears Travel Miles and Bring Smiles

Each December San Diego Chargers long snapper David Binn and President Dean Spanos head up the "Teddy Bear Drive to Children's Hospital." The event entails leading a caravan of more than 75 cars filled with teddy bears and toys that are delivered to patients at Children's Hospital. The Chargers Bolt Patrol van leads the caravan from the Coronado Police Department to the hospital.

Spanos and Binn each donated $2,000 to the Coronado Police Officer's Association to help with the purchase of the gifts. The Teddy Bear Drive began 10 years ago and approximately 5,000 bears and toys were donated last year.

Players in the Community

Throughout the year San Diego Chargers players find ways to help out the community. In addition to a host of programs sponsored by the team, Chargers players can often be seen visiting schools and libraries to read to children, mentoring San Diego's youth in after-school programs, and visiting hospitals and convalescent homes to spend time with the sick and elderly. These men selflessly give their time to make a positive impact on others lives. Here are some of the programs that are supported by the Chargers.

Each October the Chargers pair up with Payless Shoe Source to distribute shoes to needy youngsters. More than 1,000 pairs of shoes are handed out each year to children in grades K-6. The most deserving youth are selected throughout San Diego County by their schools and are teamed with individual players on the day of the event to pick out a new pair of shoes.

In November the Chargers purchase gift baskets of food for 150 families to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner. The Spanos family and the players purchase the food and distribute it to the deserving families, who come from all over the county.

Every Thursday evening Chargers players, coaches and staff head downtown to deliver hot soup and sandwiches to San Diego's homeless population. The group also delivers blankets and clothing to the city's less fortunate.

Each spring the team joins the staff at St. Vincent de Paul Village and serves an Easter meal to the homeless. More than 1,000 people come for the meal and are served by Chargers players and staff. Some players stay after and play an informal game of football in the courtyard with the children who live at St. Vincent de Paul.

In May several players deliver Mother's Day meals to homebound senior citizens. The players deliver a complete turkey dinner along with place settings and flowers.

Chargers Community Corner

For the past four seasons, San Diego Chargers' President Dean Spanos and more than 30 players have teamed up with area non-profit agencies to send local youth to Chargers games. The tickets are part of the "Chargers Community Corner." The Community Corner consists of over 200 season tickets on the field level at Qualcomm Stadium that are given to various youth organizations throughout San Diego. Each child who attends a game in the Community Corner receives a T-shirt and a coupon for a free hot dog and soda. Thanks to the generosity of Dean Spanos and the Charger players, thousands of San Diego's children have been able to experience the thrill of Chargers football firsthand.

The Junior Seau Foundation

Established in 1992, the Junior Seau Foundation raises money and resources for programs that inspire young people to face life's challenges with enthusiasm, hope and dignity. The mission of the foundation is to educate and empower young people through the support of child abuse prevention, drug and alcohol awareness, and anti-juvenile delinquency programs.

The Foundation awards scholarships to college-bound students who have demonstrated an aspiration to reach their dreams through higher education. The Foundation also maintains its commitment to the Boys and Girls Club of Oceanside and the Club 55 Teen Center, Steak 'n' Burger, San Diego Junior Theatre, High Five America's Midnight Basketball, Vista Hill Foundation's Family Recovery Center and the Child Abuse Prevention Foundation.

Throughout the year the Foundation hosts several annual fund-raisers, the largest of which is the Junior Seau Foundation TEAM Seau Dinner & Celebrity Golf Classic at the world famous La Costa

Ten-time Pro Bowl linebacker Junior Seau visits with one of the beneficiaries of his annual "Shop with a Jock" program. The Junior Seau Foundation sponsors 150 underprivileged children to shop with Junior's teammates for Christmas presents at Mervyn's each year. The children each receive $100 to buy gifts for family members.

Resort and Spa. Prior to the tournament, sponsors and their NFL counterparts celebrate the team efforts of helping to educate and empower San Diego youth at the Leg- end's party.

Each fall the Foundation kicks off its SACKS for San Diego program to help raise money for anti-juvenile delinquency efforts and drug and alcohol awareness programs. In December, the Foundation enables 200 underprivileged children to buy holiday gifts for their loved ones in the Annual Shop with a Jock program.

Through a team effort by Junior Seau, the San Diego community and caring individuals, the Junior Seau Foundation is helping to make a real difference in the lives of young people in San Diego.

QUALCOMM STADIUM

August 2, 1997, marked the beginning of a new era in San Diego sports history. The Chargers played their first-ever football game in QUALCOMM Stadium, the city's newly-remodeled 70,000-seat stadium. The stadium that the Chargers have called home since 1967 underwent a major facelift that included the addition of 11,500 new seats, a state-of-the-art Gold Club level, 37 new luxury suites, a new west-end Jumbotron screen and a host of other changes.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium is the Chargers Gold Club. Chargers season ticket holders who purchase seats on the former loge level of the stadium enjoy special amenities exclusive to Gold Club members. The 7,800 Gold Club seats are wider, padded and come equipped with an attached drink holder. To enhance the Gold Club experience, members have wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties. Members also enjoy the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after the game. Restrooms on the Gold Club level also have been upgraded and are staffed with full-time attendants.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was re-named Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 hand-capped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to 70,000.

The team played before its first-ever sell-out crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders. In 1999, the Chargers played in front of the largest home crowd in team history when 68,274 fans were in attendance for a game versus the Green Bay Packers on Oct. 24, 1999.

Qualcomm Stadium was expanded in 1997 to a capacity of 70,000. The stadium will be the site of Super Bowl XXXVII on January 26, 2003.

2DARREN BENNETT*Punter*6-5, 235*8th NFL Season*8th with Chargers*No College*DOB: 1/9/65*Acquired: Free Agent - '94*Hometown: Perth, Australia

San Diego's import from "the land down under," Darren Bennett firmly established himself as one of the NFL's all-time premier punters when he was named to his second career Pro Bowl following the 2000 season.

A former star in Australian Rules Football, Bennett has re-written the Chargers' record book in every season he's played in San Diego. Last season, he led the NFL and shattered his previous team record when he rung up an average of 46.2 yards per punt. He also holds team records for career punting average (44.8 yards), single-game punting average (59.5), single-season punts (95), career punting yards (23,492) and season punting yards (4,248).

Last season, Bennett garnered a host of honors in addition to his Pro Bowl selection. He was named the Chargers Special Teams Player of the Year, selected to the Chargers 40th Anniversary All-Time Team and named to the NFL's All-Decade Team for the 1990s.

Bennett is one of the NFL's most amazing success stories. While in Australia, he won two round-trip plane tickets in a long-ball kicking contest. He used the two tickets for he and his wife, Rosemary, to spend their honeymoon in Los Angeles. It was during their trip that the Bennetts traveled to San Diego and convinced General Manager Bobby Beathard to give him a tryout. Incredibly, the first snap Bennett saw from long snapper Sam Anno hit him square in the nose. But Bennett regrouped and by the end of the audition, the Chargers had seen enough to make him an offer.

It didn't take long for the Chargers to see a return on their investment. Bennett set a team record with a 44.7-yard average in his rookie season and was rewarded with his first trip to the Pro Bowl.

Now, six seasons later, Bennett has posted a resume which includes 524 punts for 23,492 yards for an average of 44.8 yards per kick. Even more impressive is the fact that he's suffered only one blocked punt during his entire career.

2000: Earned second-career Pro Bowl berth and was voted by teammates Chargers Special Teams Player of Year after leading NFL with team-record 46.2-yards per punt average...also set team record with 4,248 punting yards...selected to Chargers 40th Anniversary All-Time Team...punted 92 times, second most in team history...season totals included 92 punts for 4,248 yards, 46.2 average, 36.2 net, 10 touchbacks, 23 punts inside 20-yard line and long of 66 yards...added one tackle on special teams...averaged season-high 57.0 yards on six punts at Kansas City Sept. 17...tied career record with 66-yard punt against Denver Oct. 8...punted season-high nine times at Carolina Dec. 17...closed out year with season best 410 punting yards on eight punts (51.3 average) versus Pittsburgh Dec. 24. 1999: Led NFL with 38.7 net punting average...season totals included 89 punts for 3,910 yards, 43.9 average, 38.7 net, six touchbacks, 32 punts inside 20-yard line and long of 60 yards...his 32 punts inside 20-yard line set personal best and set team record...earned NFL All-Pro honors from Sports Illustrated and All-AFC Team recognition from Football News ...added one tackle on special teams...punted season-high nine times twice, including versus Kansas City Oct. 3 and at Miami Dec. 19...tied career high with four punts inside 20-yard line at Miami Dec. 19...averaged season-best 52.5-yards on four punts versus Oakland Dec. 26...had season-long 60-yard punt in season opener at Cincinnati Sept. 19. 1998: Set team records for punts in single season (95) and punting yards (4,174)...finished season with 43.9 average, 36.8 net, eight touchbacks, 27 punts inside 20-yard line and long of 65 yards...also had career-high four tackles on special teams ...set team record with 522 yards punting on team record-tying 11 punts at Oakland Oct. 11. 1997: Broke his own team records for punts in single season (89) and punting

DAVID BINN

Long Snapper

6-3, 250

8th NFL Season

8th with Chargers

California

DOB: 2/6/72

Acquired: Free Agent - '94

Hometown: San Mateo, Calif.

Heading into his eighth NFL season, David Binn has earned a reputation as being one of the top long snappers in the league. His pinpoint accuracy on snaps has helped punter Darren Bennett earn two trips to the Pro Bowl. As a reward for his last selection following the 2000 season, Bennett paid for Binn and his girlfriend, Tamar, to accompany the Bennetts to Honolulu for the NFL's All-Star Game.

During his NFL career, Binn has been one of the Chargers most active players in the community. In 1998, he started the David Binn Foundation to support environmental education and scholarship programs. The foundation supports many worthy causes, including the annual "Teddy Bear Drive to Children's Hospital" in which Binn joins forces with the Coronado Police Department to deliver stuffed holiday gifts to hospital patients. To raise funds for his foundation, Binn has hosted an annual billiards tournament. Proceeds from the tournament provide college scholarships for local high-school students.

2000: Handled snapping duties on all punts, field goals and extra points for all 16 games, marking second-consecutive season and six out of seven NFL seasons Binn has played in every game...finished season with three tackles on special teams. 1999: Saw action in all 16 games as Chargers deep snapper on all punts, field goals and extra points...recorded two tackles on special teams. 1998: Handled all snapping duties in 15 regular-season games...finished season with three tackles on special teams...missed only game of NFL career at Seattle Dec. 13 with shoulder injury suffered at Washington previous week. 1997: Handled snapping duties in all 16 regular-season games...finished season with two tackles on special teams. 1996: Handled snaps in 16 regular-season games...suffered groin injury at Denver Oct. 6 and missed second half of game. 1995: San Diego's long snapper on punts and field goals in 16 regular-season and one postseason contest ...totaled three tackles on special teams. 1994: Handled all snapping chores as rookie in 16 regular-season and three playoff games...posted ten special teams tackles in regular season.

COLLEGE: Superb snapper on punts ...team had only one blocked kick during his career...regarded as one of nation's top deep snappers coming out college...played in 42 career games...earned degree in ecology and social system.

PERSONAL: Born David Aaron Binn February 6, 1972, in San Mateo, California...grew up in Foster City, California...earned All-Peninsula Athletic League honors as junior and senior at San Mateo High School...lettered in football, basketball, and golf ...instructs high-school athletes from San Diego County on long snapping at annual A.B.C.D. charity kicking and punting camp...single and resides in Pacific Beach, California.

24 FAKHIR BROWN

Cornerback
5-11, 192
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Grambling
DOB: 9/21/77

Acquired: Free Agent - '99
Hometown: Mansfield, La.

The Chargers are happy to have a healthy Fakhir Brown back in the fold for the 2001 season after a shoulder injury sidelined him for a good portion of the 2000 season.

Brown missed the first half of last year after injuring his shoulder in a freak auto accident. One evening, Brown was on his way to the team hotel in Mission Valley when his car was sideswiped and forced off the road. The car went up and over a curb, became airborne, and landed in the parking lot of The San Diego Union-Tribune. Thankfully, he was not injured severely, and he returned to start the final eight games of the season.

This offseason, Brown returned to his hometown of Mansfield, Louisiana, where he is part owner of a music studio called Superb Records. His partner in the venture is recording artist "Crystal," who has released three albums featuring a mix of blues and gospel tracks. The two have been friends since they sang together in the choir at Mansfield High School.

2000: Finished season with 35 tackles and one interception...ranked third on squad with 10 passes defended...had one tackle on special teams...missed first seven games of season with shoulder injury...returned to action Week 8 and started final eight games at left cornerback...recorded first-career interception Nov. 19 at Denver...racked-up season-high seven tackles in Chargers lone win of season, Nov. 26 versus Kansas City.

1999: Played in nine games during rookie campaign and collected 31 tackles, two passes defended and one forced fumble...had one stop on special teams...started three games for Bolts...spent first three weeks of season on practice squad before playing in first-career game Oct. 10 at Detroit...made first-career NFL start versus Cleveland Dec. 5 and had six tackles in 23-10 win...had career-best 10 tackles in season finale 12-6 win at Denver. 1998: Spent 1998 season with Toronto Argonauts of Canadian Football League...played in six games and recorded 13 tackles, one interception and four stops on special teams.

COLLEGE: Played two seasons at Grambling State University...led team and earned defensive player of year honors with five interceptions in 1997...returned 17 punts for 6.2-yard average...finished collegiate career with 68 tackles, six interceptions and 11 pass break-ups...majored in drafting and design.

PERSONAL: Born Fakhir Hamin Brown September 21, 1977 in Detroit, Michigan...enjoyed outstanding career at Mansfield High School in Mansfield, Louisiana...played in same defensive backfield in college with Gary Johnson Jr., son of Chargers Hall of Fame defensive tackle Gary "Big Hands" Johnson...single and resides in Mansfield, Louisiana.

Defensive Tackle
6-2, 285
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Auburn
DOB: 2/11/77
Acquired: Draft 4B - '00
Hometown: Mobile, Ala.

The Chargers are hopeful that defensive tackle Leonardo Carson will bounce back from a shoulder injury and provide depth in the team's defensive line rotation. A fourth-round draft pick last season, Carson played in four games as a rookie and should be ready to take on a bigger role in his second NFL campaign.

2000: Saw action in four games...recorded two tackles on season...suffered torn right rotator cuff at Seattle Nov. 5...placed on "Reserve-Injured" list Nov. 17...drafted in fourth round with 113th overall selection.

COLLEGE: Two-time All-Southeastern Conference selection...finished collegiate career with 224 total tackles, 18 sacks, 21 tackles for loss, 54 quarterback pressures, two interceptions, four passes defended, four forced fumbles and four fumble recov-eries...twice named team's Defensive Most Valuable Player as sophomore and junior ...named most improved lineman as sophomore...public administration major.

80 CURTIS CONWAY

Wide Receiver
6-1, 196
9th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Southern California
DOB: 3/13/71
Acquired: UFA (Chicago) - '00
Hometown: Torrance, Calif.

Curtis Conway, a Southern California native, finished his first season in San Diego tied for the team lead in touchdown catches. Conway, who was hampered for much of the early part of the season with a hamstring injury, finished the year strong and is looking to carry that momentum into the 2001 campaign.

After joining the Chargers, Conway spoke to Junior Seau about his workout regimen. Seau told Conway that he needed to improve his workout habits, so Conway joined the "Breakfast Club," a group of players who lift weights five days a week at 6:45 a.m. throughout the season. Conway feels it will help raise his level of play this season.

Conway has amassed some impressive career totals, including 382 catches for 5,210 yards and 36 touchdowns. He also has 14 career 100-yard receiving games, a figure Conway would certainly like to see increase this year.

When Conway joined the Chargers prior to the 2000 season, he was reunited with wide receiver Jeff Graham, his former teammate in Chicago. It was with Chicago in 1995 that Con-

3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Washington
DOB: 9/3/76
Acquired: Free Agent - '99
Hometown: Long Beach, Calif.

Reggie Davis moves into his third NFL season looking to assume a larger role in the Bolts' offense. After catching 12 passes for 137 yards and a touchdown as a rookie, Davis' playing time was limited primarily to special teams last season.

Davis is one of the team's hardest working players both on and off the field. He has given both time and energy in the community on numerous projects, including a youth football camp which he hosted at the Jackie Robinson YMCA. For the past two years, he has also participated in the Children's Hospital "Celebration of Champions," an annual event that raises money for the hospital's cancer care center.

2000: Saw action in 10 games, primarily on special teams...finished season with four tackles on coverage units...caught lone pass of season, good for eight yards, in season opener at Oakland Sept. 3. 1999: Earned NFL All-Rookie honors from Football News...finished season with 12 catches for 137 yards and one touchdown...first NFL catch went for career-long 46 yards versus Indianapolis Sept. 26...saw action in all 16 games with three starts at H-Back ...set career high with six catches for 26 yards, including first-career touchdown catch versus Chicago Nov. 21...originally joined Chargers as rookie free agent.

during collegiate career for Washington Huskies...caught 23 passes for 275 yards and three touchdowns over final two seasons...began career as linebacker at Washington...co-recipient of Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Player award following senior season...president of school's Student-Athlete Advisory Council...graduated with degree in sociology.

PERSONAL: Born Reginald DeSean Davis September 3, 1976 in Long Beach, California...highly decorated safety and quarterback for Brethren Christian High School in Long Beach...earned all-league honors in basketball and lettered in track...Reggie and his wife, Jennifer, reside in San Diego.

90 ADRIAN DINGLE

Defensive End6-3, 272*3rd NFL Season*3rd with Chargers*Clemson*DOB: 6/25/77*Acquired: Draft 5A - '99*Hometown: Holly Hill, S.C.

A fifth-round draft pick in 1999, Dingle is hoping the injury bug doesn't bite again as he heads into his third season. After missing the majority of his rookie season with a right knee injury, he returned in 2000 only to have the season cut short by a left knee injury. Dingle, though, has mended and impressed coaches with his work habits during the offseason.

Defensive line coach Wayne Nunnely believes that Dingle, who had 2.5 sacks last year, has the pass rushing skills necessary to become a productive defensive end.

2000: Finished season with 16 tackles, 2.5 sacks and two passes defended...played in 14 games and had one start...collected first-career sack in season opener at Oakland...also had sack against Denver Oct. 8...suffered torn ACL in left knee Game 14 at Baltimore and missed final two games.

1999: Spent first nine games on "Physically Unable to Perform" list due to right knee injury suffered in mini camp...signed to active roster Nov. 17...dressed, but did not play in games against Cleveland Dec. 5 and Denver on Jan. 2, 2000...Chargers fifth-round pick and 139th player chosen overall in 1999 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Broke single-season school record with 10.5 sacks...his 23 career sacks ranks third-best in school history...ranks sixth on school's career charts with 45 tackles for loss...played outside linebacker first two years before switching to defensive end before junior season...career totals include 180 tackles, 45 tackles for loss, 23 sacks, 62 quarterback pressures, four forced fumbles and four fumble recoveries...majored in parks, recreation and tourism.

PERSONAL: Born Adrian Kennell Dingle June 25, 1977 in Holly Hill, South Carolina ...started four years at outside linebacker at Holly Hill Roberts High School...chosen defensive Most Valuable Player of North-South All-Star Game...three-time All-Region 7AAA selection...two-time all-area selection by Orangeburg Times-Democrat ...two-time all-county selection by Charleston Post and Courier...also played baseball and basketball...single and resides in Holly Hill, South Carolina.

Linebacker
6-3, 250
10th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

South Carolina
DOB: 6/20/69
Acquired: UFA (Cincinnati) - '98
Hometown: Rock Hill, S.C.

It is no surprise to those who know Gerald Dixon that the Chargers' starting linebacker, who is about to embark on his 10th NFL season, has gotten better with age. He's coming off a 2000 season in which he collected 62 tackles and five sacks, the second-highest single-season totals of his career. Add the fact that he started all 16 games for the first time in his career, and you can certainly tell that his skills are continuing to improve.

Though Dixon has been successful in his NFL career, his success has hardly come without a price. Dixon spent the majority of his childhood growing up with his grandparents in Rock Hill, South Carolina. For years, Dixon's father battled problems with alcohol and the two did not spend much time together. Four years ago, Dixon's father lost his life after a long bout with alcoholism. As if the tragedy of losing his father was not hard enough, the following day, Dixon's older brother, Wendell, was tragically killed in an automobile accident.

Many men would have a tough time dealing with such tragedies, and you can be sure that Dixon did, but it also gave him a sense of purpose and a desire to work harder at what he loved most, football. He has earned a reputation as one of the hardest-working players on the team, a credit to his upbringing and the people who supported him as a youth. As an adult Dixon now shows his appreciation for folks in his hometown by returning to Rock Hill every offseason to host a three-day football clinic for the city's youth. He also hosts a dinner every fall for the football team at Rock Hill HS and this spring, Dixon donated 30 computers, which were distributed to schools and youth centers throughout Rock Hill.

2000: Finished season with 62 tackles and five sacks, second highest single-season totals of his career...also had one interception for touchdown, one fumble recovery and six passes defended...started all 16 games for first time in his career...led all linebackers and ranked fourth on team in sacks...ranked sixth on squad in tackles...scored third career touchdown and second on interception return when he picked off Jeff Lewis pass and rambled 36 yards for score at Carolina Dec. 17...had season-high eight tackles against Buffalo Oct. 15. 1999: Finished year with 33 tackles, four sacks, three passes defended, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery...led linebackers and ranked fourth on team in sacks...added four tackles on special teams...lone start of season came versus Cleveland Dec. 5. 1998: Collected 34 tackles, 2.5 sacks and one pass defended...tied for third on team with seven tackles on special teams...started at outside linebacker for final six games of season after Lew Bush was lost with sprained MCL in his right knee...had season-high six tackles versus Kansas City Nov. 22. 1997: Racked up career-high eight sacks in final season with Bengals...final season tally included 50 tackles, one forced fumble and two passes defended...added 22 tackles on special teams...would have played in all 16 games for fourth-consecutive season if not for sudden death of brother that caused him to miss Game 4 versus New York Jets...had two sacks versus San Diego Nov. 2...earned AFC Defensive Player of Week honors with 11 tackles and three sacks in season finale victory over Baltimore Dec. 21. 1996: Recorded 31 tackles and one interception...added 13 tackles on special teams...had season-high five tackles at Buffalo Nov. 17...lone interception of season sealed victory that put Bengals at .500 with interception of Jim Harbaugh pass at Cincinnati's 10-yard line on final play of season finale Dec. 22 versus Indianapolis. 1995: Delivered career-high 79 tackles, along with two interceptions and four passes defended...turned in eight tackles on special teams...scored touchdown on 18-yard interception return in victory over Kansas City Sept. 24...had 30-yard interception return in 29-26 overtime victory at Cincinnati Oct. 29...had 13 tackles at San Diego Dec. 3 and versus Green Bay Nov. 19...made first NFL start in season opener versus New England Sept. 3. 1994: Saw action in all 16 regular-season games for Browns...finished season with five tackles and one sack on defense...had 19 tackles on special teams as well as blocked punt and onside kick recovery...blocked punt came against Bengals' Lee Johnson in third quarter of victory versus Cincinnati Oct. 23 and was recovered by Travis Hill in end zone for Browns touchdown...had first NFL sack in win versus Houston Nov. 27. 1993: Had 11 tackles on special teams...made regular-season NFL debut Sept. 26 at Indianapolis...had season-high three special teams tackles versus Houston Nov. 21. 1992: Spent entire rookie season on "Reserve-Injured" list with ankle injury...Cleveland's third-round draft pick and 78th player chosen overall.

COLLEGE: Transferred to South Carolina after twice earning All-America Honors at Garden City Community College in Garden City, Kansas...named team's Defensive Player of Year in 1990...majored in retail management.

PERSONAL: Born Gerald Scott Dixon June 20, 1969 in Charlotte, North Carolina...lettered in football, basketball and track at Rock Hill High School...has made habit of returning home during bye week to host dinner for Rock Hill football team...has four children, including daughter Laqueisha T., and sons Gerald, Jr., Gerald G., and Xavier S., and resides in Charlotte, North Carolina.

85*TIM DWIGHT*Wide Receiver/Kick Returner*Iowa*5-9, 180*DOB: 7/13/75*4th NFL Season*Acquired: Trade (Atlanta) - '01*1st with Chargers*Hometown: Iowa City, Iowa

When the Chargers obtained wide receiver and kick returner Tim Dwight in a trade with the Atlanta Falcons on the eve of the 2001 NFL Draft, the Bolts got more than just one of the top return men in the league. They got a player who's not afraid of living on the edge and who certainly dares to go places where others wouldn't even think of going.

In three seasons with the Falcons, Dwight left his mark on the team's record charts. He left Atlanta tied with Deion Sanders for the club record with two punt returns for touchdowns, while also holding the team's career marks for combined return yards (3,389) and kickoff return yards (2,597). He ranks second on the team's punt return yardage list with 792 career punt return yards. Dwight is also a dangerous wide receiver who caught 62 passes for 1,075 yards and 11 touchdowns during his three seasons with the Falcons. He will be a valuable addition to the Chargers' receiving corps.

As intense of a player as Dwight is on the field, he is equal to the task off of it. Among his many extreme sports interests, Dwight enjoys wakeboarding, bungee jumping, riding jet skis and motorcycles, and whitewater rafting.

2000: Led Falcons with 15.6 yards per catch average...caught 26 passes for 406 yards and three touchdowns...returned 33 punts for 309 yards and one score and 32 kickoffs for 680 yards...added eight rushing yards for total of 1,403 all-purpose yards...missed two games at Carolina (Sept. 17) and vs. St. Louis (Sept. 24) with appendicitis that required laparoscopic surgery...in first game back in action after surgery tied career long with 70-yard punt return for touchdown at Philadelphia Oct. 1...caught 52-yard touchdown pass against New Orleans Oct. 22, Falcons longest scoring pass play of season...amassed career-high 264 all-purpose yards at Denver Sept. 10 with six kickoff returns for 149 yards, three punt returns for 50 yards, two catches for 60 yards and two rushes for five yards...made only start of season against New York Giants Oct. 8. 1999: Registered career-best 32 receptions for 669 yards and team-leading seven touchdowns...average of 20.9 yards per catch was second-highest single-season total in team history...also had punt return touchdown and rushing touchdown for team-leading nine scores...accounted for two 100-yard receiving games and two two-touchdown performances...tallied 44 kickoff returns for 944 yards and 20 punt returns for 220 yards...caught 45-yard TD pass at Dallas Sept. 20...started first-career game at Pitts-

69*ED ELLIS*Offensive Tackle*6-7, 325*5th NFL Season*1st with Chargers*Buffalo*DOB: 10/13/75*Acquired: UFA (Washington) - '01*Hometown: Hamden, Conn.

The Chargers filled one of the vacancies on their offensive line this offseason by signing free agent offensive tackle Ed Ellis to a three-year deal on March 29, 2001.

Ellis, who is expected to compete for a starting spot this season at right tackle, began his career with the New England Patriots. Last season he played for the Washington Redskins where he caught the eye of offensive coordinator Norv Turner.

Ellis likes to take exotic vacations to foreign countries when he's not playing football. He has visited Spain, Germany and England and has plans to visit Egypt and the rest of Africa in the near future.

As a youth growing up in Hamden, Connecticut, he sang in his church's gospel choir. Ed's brother, Randy, is a professional saxophonist who has toured with several gospel recording artists including Fred Hammond, T.D. Jakes and Kirk Franklin.

2000: Played in 12 games for Washington Redskins...played exclusively on special teams on kickoff return and field goal protection units. 1999: Started only game played at right tackle against Indianapolis Sept. 19...was on inactive list for eight games and was active but did not play in seven others. 1998: Played in seven games as reserve offensive tackle. 1997: Saw action in one game as reserve Oct. 12 against Buffalo.

COLLEGE: Three-year starter at Buffalo...teammate of Chargers assistant special teams coach Mike Schleelein...earned All-America honors from Gridiron Report as senior...early childhood education major.

PERSONAL: Born Edward Key Ellis Oct. 13, 1975 in New Haven, Connecticut...led Hamden High School to three district titles in football...single and resides in Walpole, Massachusetts.

35*JERMAINE FAZANDE*Running Back*6-2, 255*3rd NFL Season*3rd with Chargers*Oklahoma*DOB: 1/14/75*Acquired: Draft 2 - '99*Hometown: Marrero, La.

The Chargers' second-leading rusher of a year ago, Jermaine Fazande moves into his third NFL season looking to take his game to another level and show the fans of San Diego the athletic ability that made him a second-round pick in 1999. His punishing running style often reminds fans of a former Bolt who also wore number 35, running back Marion Butts, who ranks second in team history with 4,297 career rushing yards.

After delivering a break-out game with 183 yards and a touchdown against Denver in the 1999 season finale, much was expected of Fazande coming into the 2000 season. However, a preseason ankle injury sidelined him for the early part of the season and the year that he envisioned never materialized. Still, Fazande managed to rush for 368 yards and a pair of touchdowns, good enough to rank second on the team.

This year, Fazande has been an integral part of the team's offseason program and will go to training camp in outstanding shape.

When Fazande is not hard at work running the football, among his favorite hobbies are basketball, riding jet skis and fishing. While playing basketball and riding jet skis helps keep him in shape, fishing helps put his mind at ease. As a youngster growing up in Louisiana, Fazande and his father spent many hours fishing for bass and catfish down in the Bayou.

Ironically, Fazande only played football his final two years of high school when he was a teammate of Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Kordell Stewart. Coming out of high school, Fazande was rated as the top running back in Louisiana and was recruited by the best football schools in the country. He grew tired of all the phone calls and letters from prospective schools, so he decided to let his mother pick a college for him. Eager to see her son attend a school out of state, she chose Oklahoma where Fazande's high school coach had an uncle who was the Sooners' offensive line and tight ends coach. Asked where he would have gone if he made the choice, Fazande believes he would have stayed home and attended LSU.

2000: Ranked second on team with 368 rushing yards...tied for second with two touchdowns...carried 119 times...set career highs with 16 catches and 104 receiving yards...inactive Weeks 1-3 while recovering from ankle sprain...had first rushing touchdown of season at St. Louis Oct. 1...scored second touchdown of season Oct. 15 at Buffalo...had season highs in rushing yards (74), attempts (22), receiving yards (37) and catches (five) at Seattle Nov. 5 in game played in steady rain. 1999: Led team with 365 rushing yards...recorded 91 carries and two touchdowns...had breakout game in season finale, rushing 30 times for 183 yards and one touchdown, including season-long 54-yard carry, in 12-6 win at Denver Jan. 2, 2000...his 183 yards tied for fourth-best single-game effort in Chargers history and second-most rushing yards by rookie to Brad Hubbert's 189 versus New York Jets on Dec. 24, 1967...it also was second-most rushing yards by opposing running back in history of Mile High Stadium to Detroit's Billy Sims' 185 yards on Oct. 11, 1981...played in first-career game at Oakland Nov. 14 and rushed for 29 yards on 13 carries...started first-career game versus Chicago Nov. 21, rushing 18 times for 50 yards...scored first career touchdown versus Cleveland Dec. 5...selected 60th overall in 1999 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Played in 39 games in four years at University of Oklahoma with 13 career starts...final collegiate totals include 187 carries for 807 yards (4.3 avg.) and eight touchdowns...majored in African-American studies.

PERSONAL: Born Jermaine Keith Fazande January 14, 1975 in Marrero, Louisiana...starter at fullback and tailback at John Ehret High School in Marrero, Louisiana...led squad to Class 5A state finals as senior...named most valuable running back in state...worked with students at Lincoln High School in San Diego during 2000 and 2001 offseasons as part of NFL's Youth Football Internship Program...every Thursday, Fazande and teammates take to streets to deliver sandwiches and hot soup to San Diego's homeless...enjoys reading to youth at local libraries and visiting senior citizens in area convalescent homes...resides in San Diego.

41 TERRELL FLETCHER

Running Back
5-8, 196
7th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Wisconsin
DOB: 9/14/73
Acquired: Draft 2B - '95
Hometown: Hazelwood, Mo.

The Chargers' most complete all-around player, running back Terrell Fletcher gives the Bolts a double-threat as a runner and receiver out of the backfield.

After being used primarily as a third-down back during the early stages of his career, Fletcher became the team's every-down back midway through the 2000 season and finished the year as San Diego's leading rusher and fourth-leading receiver.

In six NFL seasons, Fletcher has assembled an impressive resume featuring 1,636 rushing and 1,697 receiving yards. With 226 career receptions, he is the team's second-leading receiver among running backs, trailing only Ronnie Harmon, who amassed 376 receptions during his Chargers career. An unselfish player, Fletcher also plays on almost every coverage unit and has recorded 38 career special teams tackles.

As versatile a player as Fletcher is on the field, he is equally dedicated off of it. One of the team's most active players in the community, Fletcher made several visits to San Diego's Santana High School in the wake of the March 5 shooting, which resulted in the death of two students. In a similar effort, Fletcher also visited Littleton, Colorado's Columbine High School in 1999 following the much-publicized on-campus shooting.

Aside from his work with the schools, Fletcher works closely with the American Lung Association's Asthma Awareness Program. Fletcher suffered from asthma as a child. For every Chargers' home game, he donates 10 tickets to the children from Camp Scamp, a summer camp designed specifically for kids who suffer from asthma.

Fletcher, along with director of security Dick Lewis, also helped start a program where Chargers players serve sandwiches and hot soup to San Diego's homeless every Thursday.

Quarterback

5-10, 180

8th NFL Season

1st with Chargers

Boston College

DOB: 10/23/62

Acquired: UFA (Buffalo) - '01

Hometown: Natick, Mass.

Doug Flutie became the Chargers' starting quarterback after signing a six-year contract on March 9, 2001. Flutie arrived in San Diego after spending three seasons with the Buffalo Bills where he shared the quarterback reigns with Rob Johnson. In coming to San Diego, Flutie will head into the season as the team's uncontested starting signal caller.

Before resuming his NFL career in Buffalo, Flutie spent eight seasons in the Canadian Football League where he won three Grey Cup Championships and was named the league's Most Outstanding Player an unprecedented six times.

The Canadian league's passing champion five times, Flutie has passed for 53,249 yards during his professional career, including 41,335 yards in the CFL. Flutie is one of just five players in professional football history to record 50,000 career passing yards, joining a list that includes Warren Moon (70,325 yards), Dan Marino (61,361), John Elway (51,475) and the CFL's Ron Lancaster (50,535).

Heading into the 2001 season, Flutie's NFL credentials are impressive. His totals include 764 completions of 1,404 attempts (54.4 pct.), 9,785 passing yards, 61 touchdowns and 46 interceptions. He also has 241 career rushing attempts for 1,230 yards and five touchdowns. He has earned a record of 30-14 as a starting quarterback, including a mark of 18-3 in home games.

Flutie is an energetic person who enjoys participating in a wide variety of sports. Baseball has always been one of his favorite sports and on May 9, he was invited to take batting practice with the San Diego Padres and throw out the ceremonial first pitch at their game against the Atlanta Braves. He has also taken batting practice with the Boston Red Sox and skated with the NHL's Boston Bruins. A basketball fanatic as well, Flutie can often be seen at a local gym in search of a pick-up hoops contest.

Doug is also an accomplished drummer. He and his brother Darren, a CFL wide receiver who played with the Chargers in 1988, formed a rock band called "The Flutie Brothers." Doug has been invited to play drums on stage with several rock 'n' roll bands during his career, including the Dave Matthews Band, Aerosmith, Bon Jovi and Lynrd Skynrd.

95 AL FONTENOT

Defensive End

6-4, 287

9th NFL Season

3rd with Chargers

Baylor

DOB: 9/17/70

Acquired: UFA (Indianapolis) - '99

Hometown: Houston, Tex.

The Chargers' starting defensive end for each of the past two seasons, Al Fontenot begins the 2001 season with career totals that include 323 tackles and 26.5 sacks. Fontenot and defensive tackle John Parrella are San Diego's most-experienced defensive linemen, with each heading into their ninth NFL seasons.

This year, Fontenot will be asked to contribute in the Bolts' defensive line rotation. With the return of a healthy Raylee Johnson and the acquisition of free agent Marcellus Wiley from the Buffalo Bills, the Chargers will benefit from the pass rushing skills of Fontenot as he provides depth off the end. It is a role which should suit Fontenot well, given the fact that he has collected nine sacks in his two seasons with the Chargers.

Fontenot, a self-proclaimed "gearhead" since he was a youth growing up around race-tracks in his hometown of Baytown, Texas, has an interesting hobby which he enjoys during the offseason. He is a driver and part owner for the Brooks, Emerson and Fontenot Drag Racing Team in Houston, Texas. Fontenot, along with his uncle, George Emerson, and long-time family friend, "Speedy" Brooks, race their cars on the NHRA's Super-10 Circuit. The team currently owns three cars, a 1997 Oldsmobile Cutlass, a 1969 Chevy Camaro and a 1967 Chevy Nova. The racing team has its own Web site where you can check out their cars at www.BEFRacing.com.

67 ROMAN FORTIN

Center
6-5, 297
12th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

San Diego State
DOB: 2/26/67
Acquired: UFA (Atlanta) - '98
Hometown: Ventura, Calif.

Roman Fortin has found a home at center with the Chargers as he enters his fourth season with the Bolts in 2001. Since joining the team as a free agent in 1998, Fortin has been an unstoppable force, starting every one of a possible 48 games. This season, Fortin will continue to build upon an impressive resume which features 147 games played with 102 starts.

With the Chargers, Fortin returned to the stadium where he played as a collegian for the San Diego State Aztecs. He finished his college career weighing 270 pounds and has since bulked up to nearly 300 pounds through a rigorous weight training program. Fortin maintains his training program during the offseason in Atlanta, where he and wife Kathleen make their offseason home and own a "World Gym" franchise.

Miami, Ohio
DOB: 11/3/77
Acquired: Draft 4A - '00
Hometown: Hazelwood, Mo.

The Chargers' fourth-round draft choice in 2000, Trevor Gaylor had an up-and-down rookie year with the Bolts. Gaylor impressed the coaches with his athleticism and acrobatic catches in preseason workouts and began his rookie season on the team's active roster.

By the end of his first NFL campaign, Gaylor had played in 14 games with two starts. His season totals included 13 catches for 182 yards and a touchdown. He has again impressed the coaches with his athletic ability during offseason workouts, and with a year's experience under his belt this year could prove to be a breakout season for Gaylor.

Guard
6-3, 310
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Hofstra
DOB: 9/10/73
Acquired: Free Agent - '98
Hometown: Newark, N.J.

DeMingo Graham moves into his fourth NFL season slotted to compete for the Chargers' starting guard position. In just three seasons, Graham has gone from an undrafted rookie free agent to a key component of the team's offensive line.

He has continued to get better each season and has been a valuable contributor on special teams, playing on the kickoff return and field goal protection units. During his three seasons with the Chargers, Graham has earned a reputation as a tough, athletic lineman who has benefited from the tutelage of offensive line coach Joe Bugel.

2000: Saw action in 14 games with one start...lone start of season came at right guard at Baltimore Dec. 10...saw action primarily on special teams on field goal protection units. 1999: Saw action in all 16 games with 10 starts at right guard...started first NFL game at right guard at Detroit Oct. 10...returned to starting lineup Game 10 versus Chicago Nov. 21 and started final seven games of season at right guard. 1998: Spent 1998 season on active roster but was placed on inactive list for all 16 regular-season games...joined team as rookie free agent.

COLLEGE: Four-year starter at Hofstra University...led Hofstra to 9-3 record and to Division I-AA playoffs as senior...anchored front line that averaged 453.9 yards per game...allowed just one sack in 415 regular-season passing attempts...majored in business administration.

PERSONAL: Born DeMingo Graham, September 10, 1973 in Newark, New Jersey...lettered in wrestling, football and track at Central High School...earned all-county, all-city and all-state honors for football...single and resides in Newark.

DOB: 2/14/69

Jeff Graham is looking forward to a big year in 2001, his third season as the featured receiver in the Chargers' offensive scheme. He's coming off a solid 2000 season in which he caught 55 passes for 907 yards and four touchdowns. He had four 100-yard games last season and now has 26 for his career.

Graham, who signed a three-year contract on Feb. 21, 2000, has caught 490 passes for 7,361 yards (25.0 avg.) and 25 touchdowns during his career. He has a unique distinction of having caught at least one pass against each of the NFL's 31 teams. A model of consistency, Graham has caught at least three passes in 91 of 146 career regular-season games.

Before every game, Graham pays tribute to his brother Walter by writing the initials "WG" on his game cleats. Walter died in 1994 after a lengthy battle with brain cancer.

When he's not perfecting his trade on the football field, Graham is heavily involved in the day-to-day operations of Golden Graham, Inc., a construction management and trucking company he owns and operates with his father, Walter, in Dayton, Ohio.

2000: Led team for second-consecutive season with 907 yards...ranked second on squad with 55 catches and third with four touchdown catches...had Chargers two longest offensive plays from scrimmage, including 83-yard touchdown catch at Denver Nov. 19 and 71-yard touchdown reception in season finale versus Pittsburgh Dec. 24...his other two touchdown receptions covered 52 and 45 yards, giving him average of 62.8 yards per touchdown catch...had four 100-yard receiving games...had seven catches for 107 yards at St. Louis Oct. 1...collected team and season-high nine catches for 113 yards, including 52-yard touchdown reception from Jim Harbaugh at Buffalo Oct. 15...had four catches for season-high 144 yards at Denver, including touchdown receptions of 83 and 45 yards...closed out season with five catches for 113 yards, including 71-yard touchdown reception versus Pittsburgh. 1999: Earned Rodney Culver Memorial Award as Chargers Offensive Player of Year after leading team with 57 catches for 968 yards and two touchdowns...started 11 of 16 games played...had four games with 100-plus yards receiving...opened season by scoring first touchdown with Chargers on 29-yard toss from Jim Harbaugh at Cincinnati Sept. 19...caught six passes for season and team-high 141 yards at Minnesota Nov. 28...141 yards marked sixth-highest single-game total of his career...tied his career high with nine catches for 114 yards at Seattle Dec. 12...racked up 113 yards and one touchdown on just three catches versus Oakland Dec. 26...closed out season with six catches for 102 yards at Denver Jan. 2, 2000. 1998: Finished season as Philadelphia's team leader with 600 receiving yards...ranked third on team with 47 receptions and added two touchdowns...had season-high six catches twice, including at Green Bay Nov. 29 and at Dallas Dec. 20...had team and season-high two touchdown catches versus Packers...marked third multiple-touchdown game of Graham's career...had season-high 79 yards receiving on five catches versus Kansas City Sept. 27. 1997: Started 15 of 16 games played for New York Jets...finished season third on team with 42 catches for 542 yards and two scores...opened season with three catches for 100 yards and two touchdowns at Seattle Aug. 31...played in his 100th NFL game versus Tampa Bay Dec. 14. 1996: Had career single-season high six touchdown catches in first year with New York Jets...had career-long 78-yard touchdown reception at Miami Sept. 15...recorded single-game best three touchdowns and tied career single-game high with nine receptions at Indianapolis Nov. 17...season totals included 50 receptions for 788 yards...had three 100-yard receiving games, including Sept. 15 at Miami (5-136, one touchdown), Nov. 17 at Indianapolis (9-

37 RODNEY HARRISON

Safety
6-1, 218
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Western Illinois
DOB: 12/15/72
Acquired: Draft 5B - '94
Hometown: Chicago, Ill.

It is no fluke that many NFL receivers fear going over the middle when facing the Chargers' defense and strong safety Rodney Harrison. Regarded by many as the league's hardest-hitting safety since Ronnie Lott, Harrison has returned to the level which earned him a Pro Bowl assignment in 1998.

After a disappointing injury-plagued season in 1999, Harrison earned the team's David Griggs Memorial Award as the Defensive Player of the Year in 2000. It marked the third time in his career that he has been named Defensive Player of the Year. He earned the honor after leading the team with 127 tackles, six interceptions and 17 passes defended. He also contributing a career-high six sacks, the most by any defensive back in the league.

Harrison, who was named to the Chargers' 40th Anniversary All-Time Team last season, has racked up 22 interceptions, 16 sacks and 563 tackles during his career.

Many people don't know this, but Harrison made NFL history in 1997 when he became the first player to score touchdowns on a fumble return, interception return and kickoff return in the same season.

Rodney returns home to Chicago every offseason to be close to his best friend and mother, Barbara. When Harrison signed his first pro contract in 1994, one of the first things he did was purchase a washer & dryer and a refrigerator for his mom. Then he took it one step further in 1997, purchasing a brand new house for his mother in Markham, Illinois.

When he's not home with family, Harrison's hobbies include playing golf and billiards, working out and cruising the waters around San Diego in his 33-foot Sea Ray speedboat.

2000: Led Chargers in tackles (127), interceptions (six, career-high) and passes defended (17, career-high)...teammates voted him recipient of David Griggs Memorial Award as Defensive Player of Year, honor he also earned in 1996 and '97...ranks sixth on Chargers all-time list with 22 interceptions...marked fourth time in seven years that Harrison has surpassed season 100-tackle mark...his six sacks led all NFL defensive backs and ranked second on team...led team or was tied for team lead in tackles in eight of 16 games...had season-high 12 tackles twice, including Game 3 at Kansas City Sept. 17 and Game 7 at Buffalo Oct. 15...had season-high two sacks Game 12 versus Kansas City Nov. 26...tied personal single-game best with two interceptions at Baltimore Dec. 10 and against Pittsburgh Dec. 24...had 63-yard return for touchdown against Steelers, his second-career INT return for score...Harrison's four interceptions in month of December was tied for NFL lead with Oakland cornerback Eric Allen. 1999: San Diego's leading tackler through first four games...suffered deep bruise to left shoulder in

83 STEVE HEIDEN

Tight End
6-5, 270
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

South Dakota State
DOB: 9/21/76
Acquired: Draft 3 - '99
Hometown: Rushford, Minn.

Steve Heiden enters his third NFL season looking to become a key component of coach Norv Turner's offensive scheme. After playing almost exclusively on special teams as a rookie, Heiden caught six passes for 32 yards and a touchdown last year.

Heiden had corrective eye surgery prior to the 2000 season, which he believes improved his play by allowing him to see the field better without wearing contact lenses.

Heiden is an avid golfer who carries a seven handicap.

2000: Caught six passes for 32 yards and one touchdown...also contributed seven tackles, one blocked punt and one fumble recovery on special teams...played in 15 games with three starts...caught first career touchdown pass at Carolina Dec. 17...also blocked first career punt versus Panthers.
1999: Saw action in 11 games...contributed two tackles on special teams...saw first NFL action on special teams versus Seattle Oct. 17...entered NFL as San Diego's third-round selection and 69th player chosen overall in 1999 draft.

COLLEGE: Collegiate career totals include 112 receptions for 1,499 yards (13.4 avg.) and eight touchdowns...earned first team All-North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference honors in 1998...also earned first team all-conference academic honors ...voted second team All-America by Sports Network and third team Division II All-America by Football Gazette...selected to Daktronics All-Midwest Region second team...honorable mention all-conference choice as junior and sophomore...majored in early childhood education.

PERSONAL: Born Steve Allen Heiden September 21, 1976 in Rushford, Minnesota...lettered in football and basketball at Rushford-Peterson High School...honorable mention all-state selection by Minneapolis Star Tribune as senior...earned all-area honors from Rochester Post Bulletin and Winona Daily News...single and resides in Rushford, Minnesota.

64 KENDYL JACOX

Center-Guard
6-2, 330
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Kansas State
DOB: 6/10/75
Acquired: Free Agent - '98
Hometown: Dallas, Tex.

Kendyl Jacox begins his fourth season with the Chargers looking to find a permanent starting spot along the offensive line. He is a versatile player who has started at both guard positions and H-back during his three seasons in San Diego. Jacox also shows his versatility on special teams, lining up on kickoff returns and field goal protection.

Jacox got engaged this past summer to Alyssa Burrell of Houston, Texas and the couple plans to be wed in March, 2002. It won't be a surprise if Kendyl's father, Russell Fuller, who doubles as a full-time minister and the deputy fire chief for the Dallas Fire Department conducts the ceremony when the two exchange their vows.

Beyond football and family, Jacox's interests are simple. He still enjoys going out for a few games of bowling with his teammates and he finds peace in playing his favorite instrument, the violin. A violin player since he was in the high school orchestra, Jacox returns to his alma mater, Carter High School in Dallas, to teach a music class during the offseason.

2000: Played in all 16 games with three starts...saw action primarily on special teams Games 1-6...started at H-Back Game 7 at Buffalo Oct. 15...returned to role on special teams Games 8-14...entered starting lineup at right guard Game 15 at Carolina Dec. 17...switched over to start at left guard in season finale versus Pittsburgh Dec. 24. 1999: Saw action in 11 games with five starts in second NFL season...inactive for season opener at Cincinnati Sept. 19 while recovering from preseason knee injury...saw action in reserve role Games 2-4, including versus Indianapolis Sept. 26, against Kansas City Oct. 3 and at Detroit Oct. 10...started at left guard Game 5 versus Seattle Oct. 17...played but did not start Game 6 vs. Green Bay Oct. 24...started at right guard Games 7-9 at Kansas City Oct. 31, versus Denver Nov. 7 and at Oakland Nov. 14...played but did not start Game 10 versus Chicago Nov. 21...started at left guard Game 11 at Minnesota Nov. 28...placed on "Reserve-Injured" list Dec. 4 after season-ending arthroscopic knee surgery. 1998: Started six of 16 games played as rookie in 1998...all six starts came at right guard...saw action mainly on special teams in first six games...moved into starting right guard position Game 7 versus Philadelphia Oct. 18...also recovered one kickoff for no yards in first NFL start versus Eagles...stayed in starting lineup Games 7-12, including versus Seattle Oct. 25, at Denver Nov. 8, against Baltimore Nov. 15, versus Kansas City Nov. 22 and against Denver Nov. 29...saw action as reserve lineman and on special teams Games 13-16...originally joined Chargers as rookie free agent.

COLLEGE: Started in 1997 Fiesta Bowl for Wildcats...second on team with 24 "Dominant" blocks...behind Kansas State's offensive line, Wildcats rushed for 2,422 yards during Jacox's senior campaign...anchored front line that allowed just 18 sacks during entire senior season...earned first-team All-Big 12 honors in Big-12 coaches poll...selected to play in 1998 East-West Shrine All-Star game.

PERSONAL: Born Kendyl LaMarc Jacox on June 10, 1975 in Dallas, Texas...two-time first-team all-district center at Carter High School in Dallas...honorable mention All-State pick during senior season for Cowboys...social science major...has daughter, Kristyn Alicia Cain (January 8, 1998) and resides in Dallas, Texas.

28RONNEY JENKINS

Running Back/Kick Returner
5-11, 188
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Northern Arizona
DOB: 5/25/77
Acquired: Free Agent - '00
Hometown: Oxnard, Calif.

Ronney Jenkins burst onto the NFL scene as a rookie, rewriting the team's records for kickoff return yards and total returns. He was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week after just his second career game when he scored a touchdown on a 93-yard kickoff return against the Saints.

A longshot to make the team as an undrafted free agent, Jenkins finished the season with a record-setting 67 kickoff returns for 1,531 yards and a touchdown.

As a prep, Jenkins set a national high-school record, rushing for 619 yards and seven touchdowns in a game for Point Hueneme High School in Oxnard, California.

An interesting medical fact about Jenkins is that he lives and plays football despite having only one kidney, the result of a bicycle accident when he was six years old.

2000: Racked-up 1,531 kickoff return yards, breaking Andre Coleman's team record of 1,411 yards set in 1995...returned 67 kick-offs, breaking Coleman's record of 62, also set in 1995...ranked 10th in AFC and third among rookies with 22.9-yard kickoff return average...tied Coleman's team record with eight kickoff returns Week 5 at St. Louis and Week 13 against San Francisco...earned AFC Special Teams Player of Week honors after scoring first-career touchdown on 93-yard kickoff return in Week 2 versus New Orleans Saints...saw limited action at running back, recording eight carries for six yards and one catch for one yard.

all-purpose yards...tied for team-high with 67 catches while ranking second with 716 receiving yards and 10 scores...his 10 touchdown catches set school record for running backs...first Lumberjacks running back to record 100 rushing and receiving yards in same game...played at Brigham Young University in 1997 and 1998...second team All-WAC pick in 1998 after rushing for 1,307 yards and 12 touchdowns...ranks sixth on BYU career charts with 2,040 rushing yards and 174 points scored...named WAC Freshman of Year in 1997 after rushing for 733 yards and 11 touchdowns...parks and recreation major.

COLLEGE: Second team All-Big Sky Conference performer in 1999 after rushing for 1,051 yards and seven touchdowns...only eighth running back in school history to rush for over 1,000 yards...ranks fourth on school's single-season charts with 1,767

PERSONAL: Born Ronney Gene Jenkins May 25, 1977 in Los Angeles, California... All-CIF and all-county selection at Hueneme High School in Oxnard, California...lettered in football, basketball and track...single and lives in San Diego.

99 RAYLEE JOHNSON

Defensive End
6-3, 272
9th NFL Season
9th with Chargers

Arkansas
DOB: 6/1/70
Acquired: Draft 4A - '93
Hometown: Fordyce, Ark.

The Chargers are eagerly anticipating the return of a healthy Raylee Johnson in 2001 after he missed the 2000 season as a result of a devastating knee injury. Johnson, the team's Co-Lineman of the Year in 1999, was coming off a season in which he led the team with a career-high 10.5 sacks and five forced fumbles. He was injured in the team's third preseason game at Atlanta and spent the duration of the 2000 season on the "Reserve-Injured" list.

Nowhere was Johnson's absence felt more than in the Chargers' locker room where he is a favorite among teammates. Prior to the injury, he hadn't missed a game in five seasons and had assembled an impressive resume which includes 127 tackles, 26 sacks and seven forced fumbles.

Johnson is one of just six players remaining from the squad that played in the Super Bowl following the 1994 season.

Johnson, who comes from a large family that includes five brothers and three sisters, has five daughters of his own. Prior to the injury, Johnson took his family on a vacation to Steamboat Springs, Colorado where the 6-foot-3 defensive end learned how to snowboard. Johnson plans to resume his snowboarding career once doctors assure him that his knee is completely healed.

2000: Just as Johnson was set to embark on possibly his best pro season, his year was ended due to knee injury suffered in preseason game at Atlanta on Aug. 18 ...suffered torn ACL in his right knee while returning fumble against Falcons...placed on "Reserve-Injured" list on Aug. 22 and missed entire 2000 regular season. 1999: Had best NFL season, starting all 16 games at right defensive end and earning Chargers Co-Lineman of Year honors with defensive tackle Norman Hand...Johnson set career highs in tackles (41), sacks (10.5) and forced fumbles (five)...also recovered one fumble...Johnson's 10.5 sacks led team, was tied for sixth in AFC and was most by Chargers defender since Leslie O'Neal had 12.5 in 1986...had one sack in eight games...set career high with three sacks and tied season high with five tackles while forcing one fumble versus Cleveland Dec. 5...tied season high with five tackles while adding one sack Game 13 at Seattle Dec. 12. 1998: Recorded 5.5 sacks and 27 tackles while playing in 16 games with three starts...also added one pass defended and one forced fumble ...ranked second on team in sacks. ...tied single-game career high with two sacks in 13-10 win over Philadelphia Oct. 18...also recorded one sack each at Denver Nov. 8, versus Baltimore Nov. 15 and at Washington Dec. 6...had season-high five tackles versus Seattle Oct. 25. 1997: Recorded 19 tackles, 2.5 sacks and one pass defended...set career regular-season single-game high with two sacks in Chargers 25-10 win at Oakland Oct. 5...had season-high four tackles in victory over Indianapolis Oct. 26. 1996: Recorded 18 tackles and three sacks...tallied first sack in Week 8 at Seattle...notched four tackles and one sack in Week 9 victory at Indianapolis...made only start of season versus Denver in season finale and tied season highs with four stops and one sack. 1995: Finished season with 15 tackles and three sacks despite playing majority of second-half of season with sore ankle...also had one forced fumble and one pass defended...made first career start at left defensive end against Arizona Dec. 9...had career-high eight tackles in season-finale victory at New York Giants Dec. 23. 1994: Finished regular season with six tackles and 1.5 sacks...added three tackles and team-high two sacks in postseason... played in 15 regular-season and three postseason games...recorded season-high four tackles and one-half sack versus Cincinnati Sept. 11...had two tackles and led Chargers with two sacks in Super Bowl XXIX. 1993: Played in nine games...finished season with one defensive tackle and one on special teams...played in first NFL game at Denver Sept. 12 on special teams...saw first action on defense versus Houston Sept. 19...first of two fourth-round draft choices by Chargers and 95th selection overall in 1993 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: First-team all-conference selection by NFL Draft Report as senior in 1992 after recording 11 sacks and 17 tackles for loss...business education major.

PERSONAL: Born Raylee Terrell Johnson June 1, 1970 in Chicago, Illinois...all-state, all-county and all-district selection for Fordyce High in Fordyce, Arkansas ...league most valuable player as senior in 1988...also lettered in basketball...Johnson has donated time to Neighborhood House, local nonprofit center, to help San Diego homeless...has five daughters: Brooke (Oct. 8, 1991), Breccena (June 15, 1994), Brandy (April 26, 1995), Bryce (Nov. 16, 1996) and Breionni (Feb. 14, 2001), and resides with wife, Diann, in La Jolla.

Beginning his fifth season of professional football, Freddie Jones is already drawing comparisons to Hall of Fame tight end Kellen Winslow. Jones, who earned the Chargers' Rodney Culver Award as the team's Offensive Player of the Year in 2000, is coming off a season in which he set career highs in receptions, receiving yards and touchdowns.

In four seasons, Jones has racked up 225 career catches, putting him in second place on the Chargers' all-time receptions list for tight ends. Winslow is the team's all-time leader among tight ends with 541 career catches. In the last three seasons, Jones has caught 184 passes, the most by a Chargers tight end in a three-year span since Winslow collected 197 passes between 1982-84.

Jones, who was named a second alternate to the AFC squad for the 2000 Pro Bowl, is one of only two offensive players (center Roman Fortin) to start every game over the past three seasons (1988-2000) for the Chargers.

In February, 2001, Jones married Miesha McKelvey, a former track standout at San Diego State University. McKelvey, who still competes in track, was a semi-finalist in qualifying for the 100 meters for the 2000 Summer Olympics in Sydney, Australia.

2000: Recipient of team's Rodney Culver Memorial Award as Offensive Player of Year...led squad with career-high 71 receptions and tied for team-high with five touchdown catches...Jones' 71 receptions ranked second in AFC among tight ends behind only Kansas City's Tony Gonzalez (93 receptions)...Jones ranked second on team and third in AFC among tight ends with 766 receiving yards...trailed only Gonzalez (1,203 yards) and Baltimore's Shannon Sharpe (810)...set personal single-game highs with 10 catches for 111 yards and two touchdowns versus Oakland Oct. 29...also caught two touchdown passes versus Kansas City Nov. 26...started all 16 games for third straight season...had season long 44-yard catch Week 9 at Seattle. 1999: Finished season ranked second on team in receptions (56) and receiving yards (670)...tied for team lead with two touchdown receptions...one of just two offensive players to start every game...had season-high seven catches for 87 yards versus Green Bay...caught first touchdown of season Game 8 versus Denver...caught second touchdown pass of season Week 9 at Oakland. 1998: Finished season as San Diego's team leader with 57 receptions...most by San Diego tight end since Kellen Winslow caught 64 passes in 1986...tied for team lead with three touchdown catches

...ranked third on team with 602 yards receiving...his 57 receptions ranked fifth in AFC among tight ends...one of just three offensive players to start all 16 games...ended season strong, catching 42 passes in last nine games after hauling in 15 in first seven contests...recorded season-high six catches for 81 yards Game 8 versus Seattle...had first touchdown catch of season at Denver Nov. 8...caught 25-yard touchdown pass during 21-point fourth quarter rally in come-from-behind 38-37 win over Kansas City Nov. 22...caught Terrell Fletcher's first-career pass attempt for 23-yard touchdown at Washington Dec. 6 on halfback option. 1997: Finished season ranked second on team with 41 receptions and third with 505 yards...his 41 catches tied Charlie Jones (41, 1996) for most receptions by Chargers rookie since John Jefferson caught 56 passes in 1978...added two touchdowns...played in 13 games with eight starts...opened season with four catches for 73 yards including spectacular one-handed catch of Stan Humphries' pass on way to 44-yard touchdown Game 1 at New England Aug. 31...caught second touchdown of season Game 2 at New Orleans on 21-yard pass from Jim Everett to help clinch San Diego's 20-6 win over Saints...set season-high with five catches Game 4 at Seattle...had season-long 62-yard catch Week 7 at Kansas City...tied season high with five catches at Cincinnati Nov. 2...San Diego's first pick of 1997 draft...second-round pick and 45th player chosen overall in draft.

Reggie Jones is an exciting football player who has persevered through several setbacks during his NFL quest before demonstrating last year that he's here to stay. Jones had a breakout year in 2000 for the Chargers, catching 22 passes for 253 yards while playing in 11 games.

Jones went to college at perennial football powerhouse LSU, but did not play football for the Tigers because he was an All-America selection in track and field, excelling in the sprints and long jump.

On the day when NFL scouts visited the LSU campus to work out the senior football players, Jones attended the workout and pretended to be one of the football players, even though he never played football. Scouts from the Washington Redskins were impressed enough with his speed and athleticism that they signed Jones as a rookie free agent beginning his NFL odyssey.

2000: Saw action in 11 games with two starts...recorded 22 catches for 253 yards (11.5 avg.)...returned nine punts for 53 yards and one kickoff for 11 yards...saw first game action with Chargers Week 3 at Kansas City...caught first NFL regular-season pass, good for 15 yards, Game 4 at

Seattle Sept. 24. 1999: Went to training camp with Kansas City but released on final roster cut on Aug. 30, 1999 and did not play in 1999. 1998: Spent entire 1998 NFL season on Kansas City's practice squad...also played in NFL Europe in 1998, finishing season as league's leader with seven Entering his third season with the Chargers, fullback Fred McCrary has asserted himself into the role as one of the team's leaders both on and off the field. McCrary, who's character has made him a favorite among teammates in the locker room, has revitalized his football career after sitting out the entire 1998 season.

Unable to hook on with another NFL team after being released by the Saints in 1998, McCrary needed to find work. He accepted a job as a corrections officer at the Orleans Parish Prison, located outside New Orleans. It was a maximum security prison and McCrary worked the night shift, 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. in a ward filled with some of the toughest inmates in the Louisiana prison system. He was well known among many inmates from his days with the Saints and given the nickname "Sarge." McCrary spent nearly a year working at the prison until he got the call from the Chargers to resume his NFL career.

In his first full season with the Bolts in 1999, McCrary was named Special Teams Player of the Year after leading the team in tackles. He has proved to be an adept pass catcher out of the backfield, recording 55 catches for 342 yards and three touchdowns for the Chargers.

So far both sides are happy with the results. McCrary has traveled some tough roads back to the NFL, but he has persevered and appears to be here to stay.

2000: Caught 18 passes for 141 yards (7.8 avg.) and two scores...also rushed seven times for eight yards, his first carries with San Diego...despite being team's starting fullback, McCrary also ranked second on team with 11 tackles on special teams...started 12 games and played in 15...caught first touchdown pass of season at St. Louis Oct. 1...caught second touchdown pass of season, from eight yards out, versus Miami Nov. 12...tied personal career single-game high with five carries Game 4 versus Seattle Sept. 24, his first time rushing ball for Chargers...only other carries of 2000 season came Game 8 versus Oakland on Oct. 29. 1999: Earned Emil Karas Memorial Award as Chargers Special Teams Player of Year...led team with 15 tackles on special teams according to press box statistics...started 14 of 16 games played and set career receiving bests with 37 catches for 201 yards (5.4 avg.), long of 38 yards and first-career receiving touchdown...his 37 receptions ranked fifth on team and second among running backs behind Terrell Fletcher's 45...scored first-career receiving touchdown on 18-yard pass from Jim Harbaugh against Oakland Dec. 26...had career-long 38 yards reception in season finale at Denver Jan. 2, 2000. 1998: Released by New Orleans prior to season...did not play in 1998. 1997: Saw action in seven games with Saints...had eight carries for 15 yards and four receptions for 17 yards...first action with Saints came at Oakland Nov. 9...best rushing game was at Atlanta Nov. 23 when he had 13 yards on five carries...had best receiving day versus Falcons, catching two passes for 20 yards...returned two kickoffs for 26 yards on season, one for 15 yards versus St. Louis Dec. 7 and one for 11 yards at Kansas City...finished season tied for fifth on team with eight tackles on special teams...signed by New Orleans as free agent March 5, 1997. 1996: Released by Philadelphia on final roster cutdown August 25, 1996, and spent season out of football. 1995: Started four of 13 games played as rookie in 1995...finished season with three carries and one rushing touchdown, and nine receptions for 60 yards...all four starts came in place of injured Kevin Turner...had first-career touchdown run at Arizona Sept. 10...was inactive Games 14-16...also inactive for NFC Wild Card contest versus Detroit Dec. 30...did not play in playoff game at Dallas Jan. 7, 1996...finished regular season with six tackles on special teams...originally entered NFL as Philadelphia's sixth-round pick and 208th player chosen overall in 1995 NFL Draft.

DOB: 10/4/70

Acquired: UFA (Dallas) - '01

Hometown: Ft. Pierce, Fla.

The Chargers landed a veteran cornerback, who is expected to start when they signed Ryan McNeil to a five-year contract on March 3, 2001. McNeil, in his ninth NFL season, has racked up 589 tackles and 22 interceptions during his career. He had a career year in 1997 when he led the NFL with nine interceptions.

He joins the Chargers after spending the 2000 season with the Dallas Cowboys where he enjoyed one of the most productive seasons of his career. He started 16 games for the Cowboys last season and collected a career-high 101 tackles. Since his arrival in the NFL as a second-round pick draft of the Detroit Lions in 1993, McNeil has been one of the league's most durable players, playing in 103 consecutive games dating back to the 1994 season.

Off the field, McNeil has equally impressive credentials. McNeil is the founder and president of McNeil Management, a consulting firm that helps both current and former professional athletes prepare for life after the game. With offices in San Diego, Houston, Miami and Kansas City, McNeil hopes to develop a nationwide business network where his clients can get any information they need to maintain a successful business.

McNeil learned the importance of giving back to the community from his parents. With the help of his mother, Rose Haywood, McNeil oversees two charitable foundations based in his hometown of Ft. Pierce, Florida. The private Ryan D. McNeil Foundation annually awards five $1,000 college scholarships to deserving students in Florida. His public foundation, "The 47 Club," assists with a host of projects in and around his hometown, including a football camp he hosts over the Memorial Day Weekend at his alma matter, Ft. Pierce Westwood High School, and the purchase of a new hardwood basketball floor for the school's gymnasium. In addition, McNeil sponsors field trips for area youth to visit colleges and historical sites around the country.

25 ALEX MOLDEN

Cornerback

Oregon

5-10, 190

DOB: 8/4/73

6th NFL Season

Acquired: UFA (New Orleans) - '01

1st with Chargers

Hometown: Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Chargers added a proven starter at cornerback when the team signed Alex Molden to a six-year contract on March 7, 2001. Molden spent the first five years of his career with the New Orleans Saints, where he helped lead a resurgence, which saw the Saints make the playoffs last year, their first postseason appearance since 1992. He hopes his good fortune carries over to San Diego.

Molden, the Saints' first-round pick in 1996, has an impressive resume which includes 206 tackles, eight interceptions, six sacks and 47 passes defended. He was the first-ever defensive back selected by New Orleans in the first round of the NFL draft.

He is looking to build on a solid 2000 season in which he set a career high with three interceptions, including one which sealed the Saints 28-27 win over the Chargers in Week 2 of the regular season.

Molden enjoys bowling, reading and playing chess in his free time. A staunch supporter of the Boys and Girls Clubs, Molden donated $5,000 to clubs in New Orleans and his hometown of Colorado Springs, Colorado. This season, Molden will donate $1,000 to the Boys and Girls Clubs of San Diego County for every interception he records.

2000: Recorded career-high three interceptions while helping lead Saints to playoffs for first time since 1992...had 40 tackles and 10 passes defended...played in 15 games with six starts and started both playoff games...interception with 15 seconds remaining sealed 28-27 Saints victory at San Diego Sept. 10...his 24-yard return equaled career-long...had second interception of season at Seattle Sept. 17...set season high with nine tackles at St. Louis on Nov. 26...made career-high third interception of season Dec. 17 versus Atlanta.

1999: Saw action in 13 games with New Orleans...collected 15 tackles, one interception (two yards) and six passes defended...posted one interception for two yards versus Tennessee Oct. 17. 1998: Posted 62 tackles and two interceptions...his five passes defended led Saints...also forced two fumbles...posted season-high eight tackles versus San Francisco Oct. 11 and Atlanta Dec. 13...recorded career-best five passes defended versus Tampa Bay on Oct. 25...posted first interception of season versus New England Oct. 4 and second interception versus St. Louis Nov. 15. 1997: Started 15 games at left cornerback...fourth on team with 69 tackles...led all NFC cornerbacks with four sacks...led Saints with 13 passes defended...also forced three fumbles and recovered two others, which was tied for first on team...had sack and career-high 10 tackles at Oakland Nov. 9. 1996: Tied for third on team with two interceptions, most by Saints rookie since 1991...was credited with 21 total tackles...recorded two sacks and three passes defended...also recorded two tackles on special teams...at Atlanta Nov. 17, registered first interception of his career...at St. Louis Dec. 21, registered his only two sacks of year...originally entered NFL as New Orleans' first-round choice and 11th player chosen overall in 1996 draft...was first defensive back selected in 1996 draft...also was first time in 31-year history of Saints that New Orleans selected defensive back in first round.

COLLEGE: Registered 44 tackles, three interceptions and nine passes defended as senior...named first-team All-Pac 10 and second-team All-America...played in East-West Shrine Game...started 42 of 44 games in four-year career...first-team all-conference pick as junior...was freshman All-America selection in 1992...earned degree in psychology.

PERSONAL: Born Alex M. Molden on August 4, 1973 in Detroit, Michigan...was All-State Class 5A first-team pick at Sierra High School in Colorado Springs, Colorado

...in addition to playing defensive back, also saw action at tailback and as punt returner
 ...hobbies include reading, bowling and

70*VAUGHN PARKER

Tackle
6-3, 300
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

UCLA
DOB: 6/5/71
Acquired: Draft 2B - '94
Hometown: Buffalo, N.Y.

Heading into his eighth season in the NFL, Vaughn Parker is one of the league's most consistent offensive tackles. A second round pick in the 1994 draft, Parker has been a steady figure in the starting lineup since midway through the 1995 season. He is a versatile player who has played both tackle positions and is expected to be the starting left tackle this season.

Parker is a terrific athlete with good balance and quick feet. He missed 10 games in 1998 after suffering a hairline fracture to the tibia of his left leg, but has bounced back and started 31 of a possible 32 games over the past two seasons.

2000: Started all 16 games at right tackle in seventh season with Chargers...marked third time in NFL career that Parker started all 16 games...one of four San Diego offensive players to start all 16 games in 2000, joining left tackle Ben Coleman, center Roman Fortin and tight end Freddie Jones. 1999: Started 15 of 15 games at right tackle for Chargers in 1999...started Games 1-5...active but did not play Game 6 versus Green Bay Oct. 24 while recovering from minor injury...returned to starting lineup Game 7 at Kansas City Oct. 31 and started every game for rest of season. 1998: Started first six games at right tackle for Chargers in 1998...suffered hairline fracture to the tibia of his left leg Game 6 at Oakland Oct. 11...inactive Games 7-13 before being placed on "Reserve-Injured" list Dec. 12 for remainder of season. 1997: One of just 10 players, including five each on offense and defense, to start all 16 games for Chargers in 1997...all 16 starts came at left tackle...it marked second-consecutive season that Parker started every game for Chargers. 1996: Started at right tackle for Games 1-3 before switching to left tackle for Games 4-16...suffered a broken bone in his left hand during Indianapolis game Nov. 3 yet did not miss any starts. 1995: Started seven of 15 games played in second NFL season for Chargers in 1995...saw action on special teams and as backup right tackle in San Diego's first eight games...started first career game at right tackle versus Miami Nov. 5...started next four games at right tackle...inactive versus Arizona Dec. 9 with mild knee injury...returned to starting lineup for final two regular-season games at Indianapolis Dec. 17 and at New York Giants

Dec. 23...also started Wild Card playoff game versus Indianapolis Dec. 31. 1994: Played in six regular-season games as middle-wedge blocker on kickoff return team for Chargers in 1994...recovered squib kickoff in Chargers 14-13 win over Chiefs in Kansas City Nov. 13...saw action on special teams in San Diego's three postseason games, including in AFC Divisional Playoff game versus Miami Jan. 8, 1995, at Pittsburgh in AFC Championship Game Jan. 15 and versus San Francisco in Super Bowl XXIX Jan. 29...second of two second-round draft choices by Chargers and 63rd player chosen overall in 1994 NFL Draft.

COLLEGE: Only second offensive player in UCLA history to earn all-conference honors three times, joining quarterback Gary Beban (1965-67)...All-America first-team choice by Collegians Pro Football News Weekly, adding second-team honors from Football News and third-team accolades from Associated Press as senior in 1993...also was All-Pac-10 Conference first-team pick...All-America second-team choice by College and Pro Football Newsweekly, adding third-team honors from Football News as junior in 1992...All-Pac-10 Conference first-team pick and Bruins' Most Valuable Offensive Player...as sophomore in 1991, was named All-America honorable mention by Football News...All-Pac-10 Conference first-team choice...redshirted as true freshman in 1989.

PERSONAL: Born Vaughn Antoine Parker June 5, 1971 in Buffalo, New York...team captain and most valuable player during three-year career as center, guard and tackle for St. Joseph's Collegiate High Marauders in Buffalo...earned All-State, All-Northeastern USA, All-Western New York and All-Catholic selection as senior...lettered twice in baseball as outfielder and first baseman...participated in "Operation Love Box" with World Emergency Relief to help collect goods for refugees during 1999 crisis in Kosovo...Vaughn and wife, Kimberly, have daughter, Madison (June 27, 2001), and reside in Poway.

97 JOHN PARRELLA

Defensive Tackle

6-3, 300

9th NFL Season

8th with Chargers

Nebraska

DOB: 11/22/69

Acquired: Free Agent - '94

Hometown: Grand Island, Neb.

It came as no surprise to anyone close to the Chargers' organization when John Parrella was named the team's Most Inspirational Player in 2000. Parrella had a career year in which he set career highs in sacks, tackles and passes defended and he was named a third-alternate to the Pro Bowl.

Aside from being named Most Inspirational Player, he was also named the Chargers' Lineman of the Year and the team's honoree for the Ed Block Courage Award.

This offseason, just like every one in years past, Parrella returned to Grand Island to be close to family. In his spare time, Parrella is an ardent gym rat who loves to lift weights while rocking away to the tunes of his favorite band, Metallica. He is also the owner of two Harley-Davidson Motorcycles, an Ultra and a Road King Classic, which he rides for peace of mind.

During the offseason, Parrella digs deep to give back to the community that gave so much to him. Every summer, he hosts a two-day football camp to benefit the Grand Island YMCA; he is regularly invited to schools to speak to students about the importance of education and the dangers of drugs and alcohol, while also serving as a local spokesperson for the Grand Island chapter of United Way.

2000: Only player to start all 64 games for Chargers over past four seasons (1997-2000)...has started 73 straight games...led team with career-high seven sacks...ranked fifth on squad and led defensive linemen with career-high 65 tackles...earned team's Lineman of Year award as well as Emil Karas Memorial Award as Most Inspirational Player...also had career-high six passes defended...tied career high with two sacks versus Seattle Sept. 24 ...combined with defensive end Al Fontenot for sack in end zone and safety of Panthers quarterback Steve Beuerlein at Carolina Dec. 17...had season-high seven tackles to go along with one sack in season finale versus Pittsburgh Dec. 24. 1999: One of just two Chargers defenders to start all 16 games in 1999 (Raylee Johnson)...solid season included 53 tackles, 5.5 sacks and three forced fumbles...ranked second on team in sacks and fourth in tackles...established career single-game high with team-leading eight tackles and added one sack at Kansas City Oct. 31...set career high with team-best two sacks versus Denver Nov. 7...had strong outing Game 9 at Oakland Nov. 14 with seven tackles and one sack. 1998: Helped Chargers rank first in NFL in yards allowed per game (263.0), yards allowed per game rushing (71.3) and yards per carry (2.7)...2.7 yards per rush was lowest total allowed by any NFL defense since 1951...finished season with 37 tackles, 1.5 sacks, one fumble recovery and three passes defended...had six tackles at Indianapolis Oct. 4 and four tackles and one sack in 13-10 win over Philadelphia Oct. 18...had four tackles and one-half sack in 13-7 win at Tennessee Sept. 13...one of only four

31 JASON PERRY

Safety

6-0, 200

3rd NFL Season

3rd with Chargers

North Carolina State

DOB: 8/1/76

Acquired: Draft 4 - '99

Hometown: Paterson, N.J.

One of the Chargers' most-promising young players, Jason Perry missed most of the 2000 season after suffering a freak season-ending knee injury. Perry, who was injured in a practice collision, has gone through a full year of rehab and is ready to vie for a position in the starting lineup in 2001.

The Chargers' fourth-round pick in the 1999 NFL Draft, Perry had an immediate impact by starting five games and playing special teams in all 16 two years ago. He finished his rookie campaign with 26 tackles and appeared ready for a breakout year in 2000 before the injury.

In his free time, Perry and several of his teammates enjoy riding jet skis along the San Diego coast. A fan of the club scene and hip-hop music, Perry made an appearance as a background actor in the popular music video "What Chu Like?" by female hip-hop artist Da Brat that also featured male rhythm and blues singer, Tyrese.

2000: Had second NFL season cut short after suffering torn ACL in practice prior to Week 2 game against New Orleans...saw action in dime package and on special teams in Week 1 against Oakland...placed on "Reserve-Injured" list Sept. 26. 1999: Earned All-Rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly after recording 26 tackles and one fumble recovery...also added three tackles on special teams...played in all 16 games with five starts...started first-career NFL game versus Chicago Nov. 21...set personal best with seven solo tackles Week 11 at Minnesota.

COLLEGE: Outstanding athlete in both track and football...final collegiate totals include 231 tackles, seven tackles for loss, six interceptions, 12 passes defended, two fumbles caused and one fumble recovery...earned honorable mention All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors after leading team with 125 tackles as senior...marked best single-season total at N.C. State since 1994...superior track athlete posted second-fastest time (13.75) in Atlantic Coast Conference for 110-meter hurdles in 1997...second in hurdles at ACC Championships and third at Penn Relays.

North Carolina

DOB: 5/22/76

Acquired: Free Agent - '00

Hometown: Linden, N.J.

The Chargers are hoping to get big returns in 2001 from defensive end Mike Pringley, a capable third-year player who joined the squad late last season. Pringley suffered a broken ankle in the team's April mini-camp and is not expected to be fully healed until midway through the 2001 training camp.

Pringley, who began his career with the Detroit Lions, was out of football for the majority of the 2000 season until the Chargers signed him on Dec. 12. He was a promising collegian out of the University of North Carolina and was drafted by Detroit in the seventh-round of the 1999 NFL Draft.

2000: Signed as free agent Dec. 12...saw action at defensive end in final two games...opened season on Detroit's active roster...released by Lions Sept. 19, 2000.

1999: Saw limited action with eight tackles and 1.5 sacks...played in nine of first 11 games...had career-best four tackles versus Kansas City Sept. 26 and first NFL sack Oct. 17 against Minnesota.

COLLEGE: Three-year starter at Chapel Hill finished collegiate career with 186 tackles, 14.5 sacks and 29 tackles for loss...sacked Syracuse QB Donovan McNabb on first snap as collegian ...majored in exercise and sports science.

PERSONAL: Born Michael Charles Pringley on May 22, 1976 in Linden, New Jersey...all-state and all-county selection at Linden High School in Linden, New Jersey...set school career sack record (30) ...named Union County Scholar-Athlete of Year in 1993...selected to play in New Jersey North-South All Star Game in football and basketball...single and resides in Linden, New Jersey.

Louisiana State

DOB: 5/19/76

Acquired: RFA (San Francisco) - '01

Hometown: Lafayette, La.

In the Chargers' quest to reach the playoffs this season and beyond, no acquisition may prove to be more beneficial than the signing of restricted free agent kicker Wade Richey from the San Francisco 49ers. Richey arrives in San Diego with a booming leg capable of reaching the end zone on kickoffs and a .750 career field goal percentage.

Richey, who once shaved the big toe on his kicking foot in high school because he thought it would make his foot lighter, converted 15 of 22 field-goal attempts for San Francisco last season and led the team with 88 points.

One of the key reasons the team sought out Richey in the offseason was his ability to put the ball in the end zone on kickoffs. During his three years in the NFL, he has racked up an impressive 57 touchbacks, including 13 last season, a figure which ranked second in the NFC and fourth in the entire league.

Richey has lately taken up the hobby of woodworking and enjoys making small pieces of furniture. He learned the trade from his aunt and uncle who own their own furniture business in Richey's hometown of Lafayette, Louisiana. He also enjoys fishing and can often be found trolling for catfish among the many ponds of Sportsman's Paradise down in the Bayou.

2000: Connected on 15 of 22 (.682) field goals and 43 of 45 (.955) extra points...ranked second in NFC and fourth in NFL with 13 touchbacks...hit field goals from 38 and season-long 47 yards at Dallas Sept. 24...was two for two from 33 and 29 against Arizona Oct. 1...drilled all three field goal attempts from 32, 30 and 26 yards against Atlanta Nov. 19...also converted three of three attempts from 22, 28 and 38 at San Diego Dec. 3...drilled 44 yarder in season finale at Denver Dec. 23. 1999: Led NFL in field-goal accuracy, connecting on 21 of 23 (.913) field goals and 30 of 31 (.967) PATs...put together streak of 16-consecutive field goals made, second longest in team history...team leader with 93 points...hit 42-yard FG at Jacksonville Sept. 12...delivered field goals of 42 and 43 yards at St. Louis Oct. 10...perfect three for three on FGs of 38, 34 and 40 yards against Carolina Oct. 17...also went three for three (22, 31 & 26) at Minnesota Oct. 24...nailed career-long 52-yard kick at New Orleans Nov. 14...added 47 yarder at Cincinnati Dec. 5...replaced injured punter Chad Stanley (concussion) and averaged 36.5 yards on four punts with long of 45 against Atlanta Dec. 12. 1998: Led team with 103 points...hit 18 of 27 (.667) field goals and 49 of 51 (.960) PATs...ranked second in NFC and third in NFL with 27 touchbacks on kickoffs...claimed off waivers by San Francisco after being released by Seattle during preseason...connected on three of four field goals, including 43 yarder, at New Orleans Oct. 11...hit first career game-winning kick from 24 yards out and five seconds left versus Indianapolis Oct. 18...drilled season-long 46-yard FG for second career game-winning kick against Carolina Nov. 8...added 45-yard effort in New Orleans contest Nov. 22...posted 23-yard post-season career long and team record 48-yard field goal in Wild Card playoff victory over Green Bay...hit all three attempts against Packers and was named NFC Special Teams Player of Week for playoff week-end.

COLLEGE: Four-year letterman at Louisiana State converted eight of 25 field goals and 77 of 79 PATs...hit career long and school record 54-yard field goal against Kentucky...earned degree in engineering and construction at LSU.

PERSONAL: Born Wade Edward Richey May 19, 1976 in Lafayette, Louisiana...earned USA Today All-America and all-state honors at Carencro High School in Lafayette, Louisiana...married, Felicia, and resides in Lafayette.

6-3, 245

8th NFL Season

1st with Chargers

Colorado

DOB: 5/30/70

Acquired: UFA (Buffalo) - '01

Hometown: Pontiac, Mich.

The Chargers made one final dip into the NFL's free agency pool and could not have come away happier after bolstering an already imposing defense with the signing of former Buffalo Bills starting outside linebacker Sam Rogers.

In Rogers, the Chargers locked up a player who has been a fixture on Buffalo's defense since moving into the starting lineup in 1995. His resume includes 500 career tackles and 21.5 sacks. He's also intercepted a pair of passes and forced six fumbles.

Rogers has dedicated his football career to the memory of his niece, Najja, who died of a rare blood disease in March, 1998.

2000: Had outstanding season in Buffalo, compiling career-high five sacks and 74 tackles...had one interception, three forced fumbles and one recovery...had season-high 13 tackles against San Diego Oct. 15...also set up touchdown with fumble recovery...had lone interception of season and second of career at Minnesota Oct.

22...had outstanding span of four games in which he racked up five sacks and 33 tackles between Oct. 29 and Nov. 19...became first Bill to record sacks in four consecutive games since Bruce Smith's six-game streak in 1997...sack versus Chicago Nov. 12 resulted in fumble which Bills returned for touchdown...played in 100th career game at Kansas City Nov. 19 and tied career high with two sacks...has three career multi-sack games...inactive final four games with groin injury...also inactive Week 3 at New York Jets with shoulder injury. 1999: Set new career high and ranked fourth on defense with 112 tackles...started all 16 games for first time in career...added interception, three sacks and two fumble recoveries...did not surrender touchdown to opposing team's tight end all season...collected career-high 14 tackles on ABC's Monday Night Football at Miami Oct. 4...had first-career interception at Pittsburgh Oct. 10...set up Bills game-winning touchdown after recovering Tony Banks' fumble at Baltimore Oct. 31...tied career high with two sacks in 13-10 overtime win at New England Dec. 26. 1998: Posted then-career high with 4.5 sacks...added 96 total tackles while starting 15 games...recorded sacks at San Diego Sept. 6, versus St. Louis Sept. 20, at Cincinnati Dec. 6 and against Oakland Dec. 13...had season-high 13 tackles in Raiders contest...missed only game of season at Miami Nov. 1...started Wild Card playoff game at Miami. 1997: Had 66 tackles and 3.5 sacks as starting outside linebacker...started 15 games but missed Indianapolis game Sept. 21 with hamstring injury...had season-high seven tackles in three games at New York

Jets Sept. 7, at Tennessee Nov. 23 and at Green Bay Dec. 20. 1996: Had top season to date with 88 tackles and 3.5 sacks...both were career bests at time...opened season as starter for first time in career...inactive for games against Miami Oct. 13 and at New York Jets Oct. 20 with ankle injury...posted season-high 10 tackles at New England Oct. 27. 1995: Finished season with 64 tackles and two sacks...started first-career game and had first-career sack against New York Jets Oct. 8. 1994: Earned all-rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly and Pro Football Writers of America...ranked third on team with 22 tackles on special teams.

COLLEGE: Finished collegiate career with 38 sacks and 316 tackles...added 14 forced fumbles and seven recoveries...majored in psychology at Colorado.

South Carolina State
DOB: 8/31/75
Acquired: Draft 4 - '97
Hometown: Augusta, Ga.

Raleigh Roundtree heads into his fifth NFL season having played in 46 career games with 25 starts. He is one of the team's most versatile players, having started at four different positions along the offensive line.

Last season, Roundtree found a home at left guard, where he started 15 games, but this season, he will be switched back to the right side of the line where he will compete for a starting spot at right guard.

Roundtree enjoys bowling and playing tennis in his free time. He bowls in a league in his hometown of Augusta, Georgia and carries a 160 average. The best game he has ever rolled was a 239. On June 23, 2001, Roundtree became engaged to his college sweetheart, Sondra Way. The couple has plans to be wed on February 16, 2002.

2000: Moved into starting lineup at left guard...started Games 1-15 at left guard...did not start but saw action on special teams Game 16 versus Pittsburgh.
1999: Started five of 15 games played...made starts at three different positions, including three starts at right guard and one start at left and right tackle...started Weeks 1-3 at right guard...started Game 4 at Detroit at left tackle in place of ailing John Jackson...returned to starting lineup at right tackle for Vaughn Parker, Game 6 versus Green Bay.
1998: Played in 15 games with five starts...saw action as reserve and on special teams in first eight games...started first NFL game at left guard versus Kansas City Nov. 22...starting right guard at Washington Dec. 6 and at Seattle Dec. 13...started at right tackle against Oakland Dec. 20 and at Arizona Dec. 27.

1997: Spent season on active roster, but was inactive for all 16 games...selected by Chargers in fourth round with 109th pick of 1997 NFL Draft.

Furman
DOB: 9/28/76
Acquired: Free Agent - '99
Hometown: Winnsboro, S.C.

With a little bit of luck and a lot of hard work, Orlando Ruff is well on his way to becoming one of the league's top young middle linebackers. The third-year player from Furman University in South Carolina made the most of his opportunity as the team's starting middle linebacker last season. When a season-ending neck injury sidelined incumbent starter Eric Hill, Ruff stepped in and the defense hardly skipped a beat. He responded with a career-high 68 tackles and helped the Chargers rank fourth in the NFL against the run.

At the age of 24, Ruff has become a seasoned world traveller. His father, Larry, is a retired Master Sergeant in the Air Force and when Orlando was a child, the family lived in Japan for four years while his father was stationed at the Misawa Air Force Base. As an adult, Ruff has continued his world travels, visiting Italy, Haiti and Puerto Rico.

Ruff has also developed a passion for the theater and estimates that he has seen 40-50 plays. While on a trip to New York last Christmas, he had the opportunity to see the Broadway production of "Scrooge." Speaking of New York, Ruff's cousin is New York Giants wide receiver Amani Toomer.

2000: Established career high and ranked fourth on squad with 68 tackles...added one interception, one fumble recovery, five passes defended and three special teams tackles...started 14 games and played in all 16 contests...had seven tackles and first-career interception versus New Orleans Sept. 10...led team with season and career-high 10 tackles versus Oakland Oct. 29.

1999: Finished rookie season ranked third on team with 12 special teams tackles...added seven tackles and one pass defended as reserve linebacker...saw action in 14 games...delivered season-high three defensive tackles against Denver Nov. 7...tallied team-high four tackles on special teams in season finale at Denver Jan. 2, 2000.

COLLEGE: Earned All-America honors from American Football Coaches Association and All-Southern Conference honors...named Greenville Touchdown Club's 1998 South Carolina Player of Year...recipient of Furman University's President's Award for all-around achievement and community service...ranks fourth in school history with 488 career tackles...played in Hula Bowl and Blue-Gray All Star Classic as senior...received Blue-Gray Community Service Award...political science major.

55 JUNIOR SEAU

Linebacker
6-3, 255
12th NFL Season
12th with Chargers

Southern California
DOB: 1/19/69
Acquired: Draft 1 - '90
Hometown: Oceanside, Calif.

An incredible combination of speed, strength and desire, Junior Seau is considered by many as the best linebacker in football today and one of the best in NFL history. He's coming off an outstanding 2000 season in which he was voted to a team-record 10th-consecutive Pro Bowl as well as being named the Chargers' Most Valuable Player for the fourth-consecutive season. In addition to being named to the Chargers' 40th Anniversary All-Time Team, the Pro Football Hall of Fame's All-Decade Team and the Associated Press All-Pro Team, he was recognized by the NFL Alumni Association as the NFL Linebacker of the Year.

Throughout his career, Seau has managed to post some incredible statistics. While playing in 171 games during his 11-year career he has racked up 1,300 tackles, 44.5 sacks and 13 interceptions. He's been the team leader in tackles in eight of his 11 seasons, averaging 118 tackles a year. The Chargers' top pick and the fifth player selected overall in the 1990 NFL Draft, Seau has led the team in tackles in 81 of the 171 career games he's played in and has recorded 10 or more tackles in a game 46 times.

As great a player as Seau is on the field, he is equal to the task off the field. Seau is a loving father, an astute businessman and a community leader. When he's not hard at work behind the scenes at SEAU's the Restaurant in Mission Valley, he enjoys spending time with his three children, Sydney, Jake and Hunter.

Junior also oversees the efforts of the Junior Seau Foundation, an organization which he established in 1992. Through his work with the foundation, Seau has awarded more than 200 scholarships to college-bound students, and every December, he leads the holiday charge, taking more than 200 underprivileged kids on a shopping spree to buy gifts for friends and family through the "Shop with a Jock" program.

In his free time, Junior is a gym rat and golf enthusiast. He is one of the founding fathers of the team's "Breakfast Club," a group of players who wake up early and work out five days a week at 6:45 a.m. at the team's training facility throughout the season. He is also a member of the La Jolla Country Club where he's a 13-handicap. This past offseason, Seau had the rare distinction of scoring an Albatross, a double eagle on the club's par-5 15th hole.

2000: Capped off outstanding season by being voted to team-record 10th-consecutive Pro Bowl...named team's most valuable player for fourth-consecutive year...earned Associated Press All-Pro and NFL Alumni Association Linebacker of Year honors...named to NFL's All-Decade Team for 1990s and Chargers 40th Anniversary All-Time Team...started all 16 games and ranked second on team in tackles (122), passes defended (11) and interceptions (two)...ranked sixth on team with 3.5 sacks...racked up season-high 16 tackles in Week 14 at Baltimore...collected 15 tackles Game 2 versus New Orleans. 1999: Earned his ninth-consecutive Pro Bowl berth after leading team with 99 tackles...recognized as team's most valuable player for third straight year and captured Defensive Player of Year (David Griggs

5th NFL Season

1st with Chargers

Columbia

DOB: 11/30/74

Acquired: UFA (Buffalo) - '01

Hometown: Los Angeles, Calif.

The Chargers made one of the biggest splashes in the 2001 NFL free agency pool when they landed former Buffalo Bills defensive end Marcellus Wiley.

In Wiley, the Chargers secured one of the NFL's top young defensive ends. He's coming off a career season in which he led the Bills with 10.5 sacks and his 104 tackles were fourth-highest on the squad.

It was no surprise when John Butler took over as general manager of the Chargers, he made it a priority to sign Wiley, a player whom he had drafted when he was with the Bills. Butler believes Wiley has "untapped potential" after spending four seasons learning the position from future Hall of Famer Bruce Smith.

Coming out of high school in Los Angeles, Wiley surprised people when he decided to attend the Ivy League's Columbia University in New York, spurning interest from Pac-10 schools UCLA and Cal-Berkeley. Wiley helped deliver a winner to a school that suffered through a 44-game losing streak in the mid-1980s. In his senior season, he led the Lions to an 8-2 record, the school's best since 1945.

Wiley, who was one of the Bills most active participants in the community, is a big fan of the musical group OutKast. He recently told a national magazine writer that when he retires from the NFL, one of his dreams is to buy a Winnebago, get a leather jacket with sketches of the band's members airbrushed on the back and follow the musicians around the country.

2000: Led Bills with career-high 10.5 sacks and ranked fourth on team with career-best 104 tackles...became fourth Buffalo player in team history to record more than 10 sacks in one season, joining Bruce Smith (12 times), Bryce Paup (once) and Phil Hansen (once)...added 23 quarterback pressures, three forced fumbles and one fumble recovery...started 15 games while playing in all 16...recorded two sacks at San Diego Oct. 15...delivered two sacks at Kansas City Nov. 19, added two more at Tampa Bay Nov. 26 and 1.5 versus Miami Dec. 3, becoming first Buffalo player with three consecutive multi-sack games since Bruce Smith in 1996...racked up career-high 17 tackles against New England Dec. 17. 1999: Played in all 16 games and earned one start...notched 43 tackles, five sacks, first career interception and 22 quarterback pressures...collected season-high seven tackles at Seattle Oct. 24...had his biggest play of season versus New York Giants Dec. 12 when he picked off deflected Kerry Collins pass and returned it 52 yards to set up Bills touchdown early in fourth quarter...earned lone start of season Jan. 2, 2000, replacing injured Phil Hansen against Indianapolis. 1998: Enjoyed solid campaign with 45 tackles and four sacks...ranked second on team with 27 quarterback pressures...played in all 16 contests with three starts...started season opener at San Diego in place of injured Bruce Smith and recorded then-career high 10 tackles...registered first career sack against San Francisco's Steve Young Oct. 4...recorded second and third career sacks against New England Nov. 29 and Cincinnati Dec. 6...started in place of Phil Hansen in regular season finale at New Orleans Dec. 27 and recorded one sack...made first career playoff appearance, again starting for Hansen in Wild Card contest at Miami Jan. 2, 1999, responding with postseason career-high 11 tackles and one sack. 1997: Saw action in all 16 games as reserve defensive lineman and on special teams...finished season with 24 tackles...had season-high five tackles twice against Patriots, at New England Oct. 12 and versus New England Nov. 9...had kickoff return for 12 yards on short kick at Miami Nov. 17...forced first career fumble with hit on Curtis Martin versus New England Nov. 9...had fumble recovery in season finale at Green Bay Dec. 20 and returned it 40 yards to set up touchdown...entered NFL as Bills second-round pick and was 52nd player chosen overall in 1997 draft.

COLLEGE: Outstanding defensive end and tailback at Columbia University...helped team that went 2-8 in his freshman year finish 8-2 in his senior season...first-team All-America and All-Ivy League pick...sat out entire 1995 season on leave of absence, during which time he concentrated on his studies and worked in center for homeless and troubled youth...first team all-conference pick in 1994...named Sports Illustrated's National Defensive Player of Week for performance in 1994 win over Cornell...earned degree in sociology PERSONAL: Born Marcellus Vernon Wiley on Nov. 30, 1974 in Compton, California... all-conference selection at Saint Monica High in Los Angeles...also competed in track...has daughter Morocca Alise (Feb. 24, 1998) and resides in Cardiff, California.

1 LaDAINIAN TOMLINSON

Running Back
5-10, 221
Draft 1 - '01

Texas Christian
DOB: 6/23/79
5th overall choice
Hometown: Waco, Tex.

The San Diego Chargers got the player they coveted most in the 2001 NFL Draft when they landed running back LaDainian Tomlinson of Texas Christian University. In Tomlinson, the Chargers secured a player who they expect to be an immediate contributor on offense.

A finalist for the Heisman Trophy as a senior, Tomlinson joined the New Orleans Saints running back Ricky Williams as the only players in college football history to rush for more than 2,000 yards in a season and 5,000 yards for a career. He racked up an unbelievable 5,263 rushing yards during his career at TCU, a figure which ranks sixth in NCAA Division I-A history. He's just the ninth player in I-A history to rush for more than 5,000 career yards.

In his final two seasons as the featured running back at TCU, he ran for a combined 4,008 yards and he led the nation in rushing both years. He was the third player to lead the nation in rushing in back-to-back years. His 2,158 yards as a senior were fourth-best in NCAA history and that came after a 1,850-yard junior season, which included a Division I-A single-game record 406-yard performance against Texas-El Paso.

Tomlinson also had a real knack for finding the end zone during his collegiate days, scoring a school-record 54 touchdowns, the eighth-highest figure in NCAA history. Among the other school records he eclipsed during his career in Fort Worth, Tomlinson is the Horned Frogs all-time leader in 100-yard rushing games (21), all purpose yards (6,337) and longest run from scrimmage (89t).

Tomlinson, who understands the value of a good education, filmed a five-minute video this year entitled "Teachers are the Real Heroes," which was distributed to 300 Dallas-Fort Worth-area schools. He always knew he wanted to be a football player and when he was a child he went to sleep every night with a football wrapped tightly in his arms.

2 DREW BREES

Quarterback
6-0, 213
Draft 2 - '01

Purdue
DOB: 1/15/79
32nd overall choice
Hometown: Austin, Tex.

The Chargers landed a quarterback for the future when they secured Purdue's Drew Brees in the second round of the 2001 NFL Draft. Brees, whom Chargers coach Mike Riley has dubbed "a classic gym rat," will benefit from studying the quarterback position under veteran starter Doug Flutie.

A three-year starter at Purdue and a Heisman Trophy finalist in 2000, Brees shattered virtually every school passing record, while also making a sizeable dent in the Big Ten Conference and NCAA Division I-A passing charts. He left the West Lafayette, Indiana campus as the Big Ten's and school's all-time leader in passing yards (11,792), touchdown passes (90), total offensive yards (12,693), completion percentage (.611), completions (1,026) and attempts (1,678). He ranks fourth in the NCAA record books for total offense, completions and attempts.

Brees is a big-game player, who led his team to its first Rose Bowl since 1967 as a senior. He is the only player in conference history to throw for more than 500 yards in a game twice in his career. He also added seven 400-yard passing games and 16 300-yard efforts. With those statistics it wasn't hard to figure out how he matched former Wisconsin Badger Ron Dayne's conference record of eight Big Ten Player of the Week awards.

Known for being cool under pressure, Brees earned the nicknames "Cool Brees" and "Hurricane Drew" during his years with the Boilermakers. A solid student at Purdue, where he earned academic All-America honors, Brees spent a lot of his free time helping out in the community. He was actively involved in the University's Gentle Giants program, working with elementary school students in the classroom and he teamed with the American Lung Association in their anti-smoking campaign entitled "Enjoy the Brees, Don't Smoke."

Brees was a member of Purdue's Sigma Chi Fraternity, a house whose alumni include Hall of Fame quarterback Bob Griese and former Chargers quarterback Jim Everett.

2000: Led nation in total offense, averaging 349 yards per game...finalist for Heisman Trophy and Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award...semifinalist for Davey O'Brien Award as nation's top quarterback...became first Purdue player since quarterback Mark Hermann (1980) to receive coveted Chicago Tribune's Silver Football given to Big Ten's Most Valuable Player...conference player of year and first team all-conference selection...final season totals include 309 completions of 512 attempts (60.4 pct.) for 3,668 yards and 26 touchdowns...rushed 95 times for 521 yards and five touchdowns...earned conference player of week honors four times...named Academic All-America Player of Year, first Boilermaker since Bruce Brineman (1989) to earn national academic honors...also earned All-Big Ten and All-District V academic honors...team most valuable player and recipient of Leonard Wilson Award for unselfishness and dedication...earned All-America recognition from Gannett News and Football News...threw for 415 yards (32 of 46) with two passing scores and two rushing scores against Kent State...passed for 409 yards (33 of 49) and two touchdowns versus Minnesota...racked up season-high five touchdown passes against Northwestern...completed 39 of 65 passes for 455 yards and three touchdowns in 31-27 win over Ohio State...65 pass attempts were second-highest single-game total in school history...started Rose Bowl versus Washington and passed for 275 yards (23 of 39) and two scores. 1999: Runner-up for Davey O'Brien Award and Maxwell Award given to nation's top player...finished fourth in Heisman Trophy balloting...first team all-conference selection...led conference and ranked second on Purdue's single-season charts in attempts (554), completions (337), passing yards (3,909) and touchdowns (25)...led conference with 326 passing yards per game...season completion percentage of 60.8 ranked fourth in school history...led Big Ten and ranked third in nation in total offense (341 ypg)...quarterback rating of 130.7 ranked sixth in Big Ten and 37th in nation...carried 79 times for 177 yards and four touchdowns...had two pass receptions for 13 yards and one score...other honors included second team All-America by Football News, second team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America, Academic All-District V and Academic All-Big Ten...was first recipient of Socrates Award recognizing nation's finest athlete in terms of academics, athletics and community service...selected Purdue's Male Athlete of Year and chosen for school's Mortar Board...tossed career-long and school-record 99-yard touchdown pass in 31-23 win over Northwestern...became first Big Ten player to throw for more than 500 yards in game twice in career with 509 yards (40 of 57) and five touchdowns against Michigan State...started Outback Bowl against Georgia and completed 36 of 60 for 378 yards and four scores. 1998: Big Ten Conference Offensive Player of Year selected by media...second-team all-conference choice...set school and conference records for touchdowns (39), passing yards (3,983), total offense (4,176), completions (361) and attempts (569)...set Big Ten single-game records for completions (55) and attempts (83)...completed 63.4 percent of pass attempts and registered 137.83 passer rating...scored three rushing touchdowns while amassing 193 yards on 69 carries...also caught two passes...earned Academic All-Big Ten honors...set school single-game records with 522 passing yards (31 of 36), 524 yards of total offense and six touchdowns against Minnesota...set NCAA single-game mark for attempts (83) and tied mark for completions (55) while passing for 494 yards and two touchdowns

TAY CODY

Cornerback
5-9, 180
Draft 3 - '01

Florida State
DOB: 10/6/77
67th overall choice
Hometown: Blakely, Ga.

With their lone selection in the third round, the Chargers selected playmaking cornerback Tay Cody from Florida State. Cody, who played in one of the country's premier collegiate programs, was a four-year starter for the Seminoles and ended his career ranked sixth on the school's all-time list with 12 interceptions.

Florida State coaches called Cody the best run defender of any cornerback during the Bobby Bowden era. A three-time All-ACC selection, Cody's final college totals include 192 tackles and 29 passes defended.

2000: Runaway team leader with six interceptions and 12 passes defended...accounted for 200 interception return yards, most by Seminole since Terrell Buckley set school single-season record with 238 yards in 1991...ranks seventh on school's single-season interceptions list...did not allow opposing wide receivers single reception in six of 12 games...starting right cornerback finished fifth on team with 82 tackles...named first team All-Atlantic Coast Conference...earned All-America honors

CARLOS POLK

Linebacker
6-2, 251
Draft 4 - '01

Nebraska
DOB: 2/22/77
112th overall choice
Hometown: Rockford, Ill.

The Chargers added welcome depth at linebacker by selecting Nebraska's Carlos Polk in the fourth round of the 2001 NFL Draft. Polk, the first Cornhusker drafted by the Chargers since Jeff Mills in 1990, was a first team All-America choice who finished his collegiate career with 226 tackles, 9.5 quarterback sacks and 23 tackles for loss.

Polk is a brash linebacker who was a two-year starter at Nebraska. He is a vocal player and not afraid to let opponents know he's on the field. His talkative style was not always well received by coaches at Nebraska, who often made him run stairs at Memorial Stadium for getting into scums with the Cornhuskers' offensive linemen. Nonetheless, Polk will be a solid addition for the Bolts in 2001, both on defense and special teams.

2000: First team All-America selection by Associated Press, American Football Coaches Association and College Football News...led team with career-high 89 tackles...added one sack, eight tackles for loss, one interception, 13 quarterback hurries, five passes defended and one blocked kick...semifinalist for Dick Butkus Award as nation's top linebacker...earned Big 12 Player of Week honors after posting 12 tackles against Notre Dame...racked up career-high 16 stops against Kansas State...returned interception 39 yards for touchdown against Colorado. 1999: Earned first team all-conference honors in first season as starter...ranked second on squad with 83 stops on unit which led nation allowing only 77-rush yards per game...also second on team with career-high 6.5 sacks and 12 tackles for loss...defensive leader with 21 quarterback hurries...tied season high with 10 tackles against Texas A&M and Colorado...had season-high 1.5 sacks versus Kansas State. 1998: Finished season with 22 tackles, five tackles for loss, one sack and one interception...saw action as reserve linebacker and on special teams...recorded 16-yard interception return against California...had lone sack against Kansas State. 1997: Named to Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll...had 32 tackles, one sack and six tackles for loss...collected first career sack versus Texas Tech. 1996: Redshirted as true freshman...graduated in December, 2000 with sociology degree...member of school's Unity Council.

5A ELLIOT SILVERS

Offensive Tackle
6-7, 348
Draft 5A - '01

Washington
DOB: 2/19/78
132nd overall choice
Hometown: Agoura, Calif.

The Chargers were very pleased to land Elliot Silvers in the fifth round of the 2001 NFL Draft. Silvers is a player the coaches feel has the size and strength to be a mainstay along the offensive line for years.

An All-Pac-10 selection, Silvers started for three years at the University of Washington and helped anchor an offensive line which allowed the Huskies to rank among the nation's leaders in rushing during each of the past two seasons.

2000: All-Pac-10 first team selection...recipient of John P. Angel Club Outstanding Offensive Lineman Award...started all year at left tackle on offense which ranked 16th in nation in rushing with average of 211.7 yards per game...shared player of game honors with guard Chad Ward after recording eight knockdown blocks as offense amassed 471 yards against Arizona...also shared player of game honors following 35-28 win over UCLA...had key block on game-winning eight-yard touchdown run in Rose Bowl victory over Purdue. 1999: One of three offensive linemen to start every game, lining up at left tackle...helped Huskies finish 21st in nation and second in Pac-10 in rushing with average of 189.7 yards per game...allowed only three quarterback sacks. 1998: Started all but one game at left tackle...key figure along offensive line which only allowed 19 quarterback sacks, lowest total in Pac-10...was also big factor in Huskies averaging 356 yards of total offense per game. 1997: Played behind Tony Coats at left tackle...appeared in team's first four games while also playing in Aloha Bowl versus Michigan State. 1996: Redshirted as true freshman...political science major.

PERSONAL: Born Elliot Eric Silvers February 19, 1978 in Agoura, California...most valuable offensive lineman of Marmonte League and All-CIF selection as senior at Agoura High School...single and resides in Shoreline, Washington.

5B ZEKE MORENO

Linebacker
6-2, 246
Draft 5B - '01

Southern California
DOB: 10/10/78
139th overall choice
Hometown: Chula Vista, Calif.

The Chargers picked up a versatile linebacker with the ability to play both inside and outside linebacker when they selected Southern California's Zeke Moreno in the fifth round of the 2001 NFL Draft. Moreno was also the Trojans emergency long snapper and is expected to be a valuable contributor on special teams for the Bolts.

Zeke's brother, Moses, was a reserve quarterback for the Chargers from 1999-2000. Zeke was an all-conference pick at USC who finished his career with 285 tackles, nine sacks and 31 tackles for loss. An opportunistic player, Moreno recovered four fumbles during his career, returning three for touchdowns.

Moreno grew up in Chula Vista, California, south of San Diego. He and Moses were both prep standouts at Castle Park High School.

2000: Earned All-Pac-10 honors as senior after leading team with 103 tackles...had four sacks and 15 tackles for loss...added three passes defended, forced fumble and two fumble recoveries...received All-America recognition from Football News...Trojans Most Valuable Player and team captain ...had 80-yard fumble return for touchdown along with two sacks and three tackles for loss against Oregon State...scored touchdown on 56-yard fumble return in matchup with Washington State. 1999: Garnered honorable mention all-conference honors after leading squad with career-best 108 stops...delivered four sacks and seven tackles behind line of scrimmage...added five passes defended and three interceptions, including one return for touchdown...Pac-10 leader with forced fumbles...earned Pac-10 Defensive Player of Week and Football News/Bronko Nagurski Award Player of the Week honors after Oregon State game when he returned interception 71 yards for touchdown, fumble recovery 17 yards for another score, made 13 tackles and one sack. 1998: Started all but one game at outside linebacker and ranked fourth on team with 66 tackles...also accounted for one sack, 10 tackles for loss and one interception...had lone sack of season and three tackles for loss in Stanford contest...intercepted pass against UCLA. 1997: Played in final 10 games as reserve linebacker and on special teams...finished year with eight stops and one sack...registered season-high five tackles and lone sack of year against Stanford...had 19-yard interception return versus Oregon State...majored in education at USC.

PERSONAL: Born Ezekiel Aaron Moreno on October 10, 1978 in Chula Vista, California...All-CIF San Diego Section Defensive MVP and San Diego Tribune All-San Diego Defensive MVP as senior...helped lead Castle Park High School to 13-0 record and CIF Championship as senior in 1996...also lettered in baseball...earned degree in general studies at Southern Cal...mother, Arcinia Arenas, played fullback and linebacker with Mighty Mommas in San Diego women's tackle football league for one season when Zeke was young...Moreno is part American Indian...likes to write poetry.

7A BRANDON GORIN

Offensive Tackle
6-6, 302
Draft 7A - '01

Purdue
DOB: 7/17/78
201st overall choice
Hometown: Muncie, Ind.

With an assist from quarterback Drew Brees, the Chargers used their first pick in the seventh round of the 2001 NFL Draft to select Purdue offensive tackle Brandon Gorin.

With Brees, the Chargers' second-round draft pick, in the "War Room" on day two of the draft, general manager John Butler quizzed the quarterback about his thoughts on Gorin before making the selection. Brees, who was in San Diego for a press conference, gave his blessing and his assertion that Gorin may have been the most athletic of the Boilermakers offensive linemen. With that, the Chargers snatched the six-foot-six, 300-pound tackle off the draft board.

Gorin was a three-year starter at Purdue where he anchored an offensive line, which helped the Boilermakers win a Big Ten Championship last season and reach their first Rose Bowl since 1967.

2000: Started all 12 games at right tackle...starting right tackle in 2001 Rose Bowl game versus Washington. 1999: Started all 12 games at right tackle...part of offensive line which only allowed 15 sacks all season. 1998: Started all 13 games at right tackle...key component on offensive line which only surrendered 16 quarterback sacks. 1997: Earned All-Big Ten Conference Academic honors...shifted to offensive tackle after beginning career on defensive line ...played in all 12 games with two starts. 1996: Redshirted as true freshman...industrial engineering major.

PERSONAL: Born Brandon Michael Gorin July 17, 1978 in Muncie, Indiana...earned first team all-state honors at Southside High School in Muncie...also played on nationally-ranked baseball team and competed in track and field as discus thrower...earned academic all-state honors ...named Muncie-Delaware County's 1996 Scholar Athlete of Year...ranked second in graduating class with 3.8 GPA.

7B ROBERT CARSWELL

Safety
6-0, 216
Draft 7B - '01

Clemson
DOB: 10/26/78
244th overall choice
Hometown: Lithonia, Ga.

The Chargers capped off one of the team's best drafts in recent memory when they secured Clemson safety Robert Carswell in the seventh round. A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference pick, Carswell wrapped up his Tigers career with 374 tackles, shattering the school record for tackles by a defensive back, while adding eight interceptions. He is the only defensive back in school history to have two 100-tackle seasons during his career.

Carswell was a mainstay in the Tigers' secondary since midway through his freshman year and finished his career with 41 starts, one shy of James Lott's school record of 42 starts by a defensive back.

Carswell was also a mainstay in the community, and this past season, he was honored by the American Football Coaches Association Good Works Team for outstanding community service.

2000 GAME BY GAME

at Oakland 9, San Diego 6 (Sunday, Sept. 3)

The Chargers opened the 2000 regular season with a hard-fought 9-6 loss to the Raiders in Oakland. The game was a defensive battle, with each team being held to less than 260 yards of total offense (San Diego 255, Oakland 233). Four turnovers by San Diego, including three interceptions and one fumble in field goal range proved to be too much for the Chargers to overcome. Oakland got on the board first in the third quarter when defensive lineman Darrell Russell tackled Chargers running back Robert Chancey in the end zone for a safety. San Diego took its only lead in the fourth quarter when Ryan Leaf, who was seeing his first regular season game action since December 13, 1998, engineered a 15-play, 80-yard drive, which Chancey capped with a three-yard run. The Chargers led 6-2 after the two-point attempt failed. Three series later, Raiders quarterback Rich Gannon led the Raiders on an eight play, 53-yard drive, resulting in a 10-yard scoring toss to Andre Rison. San Diego got the ball back on its own 20 with 2:37 left, but linebacker William Thomas sealed the win for the Raiders by intercepting a Leaf pass on fourth and short. San Diego's outstanding defensive effort was led by safety Rodney Harrison's eight tackles and one sack and linebacker Junior Seau's seven tackles, one sack and one pass defended. Offensively, Chancey set personal bests with 74 yards and one touchdown on 23 carries.

San Diego	0	0	0	6	—	6
Oakland	0	0	2	7	—	9

- Oak — Chancey tackled in end zone by Russell for a safety
 SD — Chancey 3 yd run (2 pt att pass failed)
 Oak — Rison 10-yd pass from Gannon (Janikowski kick)

New Orleans 28, at San Diego 27 (Sunday, Sept. 10)

The Chargers suffered their second-consecutive defeat, 28-27, to the visiting New Orleans Saints. San Diego led 24-13 at halftime, but a 15-point second-half rally secured the win for the Saints. New Orleans quarterback Jeff Blake completed 33 of 46 passes for 259 yards and three touchdowns, including two to Joe Horn and one to San Diego native Ricky Williams, his first career touchdown reception. In addition to the two touchdown receptions, Horn finished the day with 12 catches for 116 yards, both career highs. New Orleans outmatched the Chargers in several major categories, including first downs (28-15), total yards (323-188), passing yards (259-116) and time of possession (36:06 to 23:54). The Saints' defense also recorded five sacks of Chargers quarterback Ryan Leaf while San Diego's defense failed to sack Blake. Leaf finished with 12 completions on 24 attempts for 134 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. It was Leaf's first touchdown pass since Oct. 25, 1998, Rookie Ronney Jenkins collected 221 yards on six kickoff returns for the Chargers, including a 93-yarder for a score for his first career touchdown. Kicker John Carney scored his 1,004th career point in a Chargers uniform, becoming the first player in team history to reach the 1,000-point plateau. Linebacker Junior Seau paced the defense with 15 tackles, all solo.

at Kansas City 42, San Diego 10 (Sunday, Sept. 17)

San Diego saw its record fall to 0-3 with a 42-10 defeat to the AFC West rival Chiefs in Kansas City's Arrowhead Stadium. San Diego jumped out to an early 10-0 lead after a 56-yard interception return for a score by free safety Michael Dumas and a 54-yard field goal by John Carney in the first quarter. The lead didn't last long. In the second quarter, Chiefs quarterback Elvis Grbac threw two of his five touchdown passes, a 36-yarder to Sylvester Morris and a one-yard pass to fullback Tony Richardson, and the Chiefs took a 14-10 lead into the locker room at halftime. After a three-and-out on their first possession of the second half, Kansas City scored touchdowns on each of its next four possessions, including three more touchdown passes by Grbac, two to Morris (nine and 20 yards) and one to tight end Troy Drayton (two yards). Fullback Frank Moreau capped the scoring with a one-yard touchdown plunge to account for the Chiefs final points of the game. Quarterback Moses Moreno made his first career start with the Chargers and completed 11 of 22 pass attempts for 107 yards before leaving the game in the third quarter with a strained right shoulder. Ryan Leaf came on in relief of the injured Moreno and completed six of 13 passes for 62 yards and one interception. Strong safety Rodney Harrison paced the Bolts' defense with 12 total tackles, while Junior Seau racked up eight solo stops. Dumas finished the game with eight tackles, two pass break-ups and the interception return for a touchdown.

Seattle 20, at San Diego 12 (Sunday, Sept. 24)

San Diego dropped to 0-4 with a 20-12 loss to the Seattle Seahawks in Qualcomm Stadium. John Carney supplied all of San Diego's points, connecting on all four field goal attempts from 41, 28, 24 and 45 yards. Seattle scored its 20 points behind a 68-yard touchdown pass from Jon Kitna to Darrell Jackson, two Kris Heppner field goals from 25 and 26 yards, and a 69-yard interception return for a touchdown by Willie Williams, which sealed the Seahawks victory. Kitna paced the Seahawks' offense with an efficient 11 of 21 effort, good for 196 yards and one touchdown. He did not throw any interceptions. Ricky Watters led the Seattle ground attack, collecting 67 yards on 16 carries. Ryan Leaf started the game at quarterback for the Chargers and completed 16 of 26 pass attempts for 153 yards and one interception, which was returned 69 yards for a touchdown by Williams. During the return, Leaf was hit by Seattle linebacker Anthony Simmons and left the game with a sprained right wrist. Jim Harbaugh finished the game under center and completed eight of 14 passes for 67 yards with one interception. Tight end Freddie Jones set a career high with eight catches on the afternoon, good for a team-high 82 yards. Running back Jermaine Fazande saw his first action of the season, rushing 11 times for 36 yards, while full-back Fred McCrary registered his first-ever rushing attempts in a Chargers uniform, matching his career high with five carries.

at St. Louis 57, San Diego 31 (Sunday, Oct. 1)

The San Diego Chargers saw their record fall to 0-5 following a 57-31 loss at the hands of the World Champion St. Louis Rams. The Rams quickly jumped out to a 17-0 lead and never looked back. Quarterback Kurt Warner completed 80 percent (24 of 30) of his pass attempts while throwing for 390 yards and four touchdowns. Jeff Wilkins added five field goals for the host team as the Rams accounted for the most points ever scored against the Chargers (previous high: 52 points allowed at Pittsburgh Nov. 25, 1984) in a regular season game. The Rams also racked up 614 yards of total offense against San Diego, surpassing the previous high of 537 total yards by the Kansas City Chiefs on Dec. 11, 1983. Despite the loss, there were several bright spots for the Lightning Bolts. Quarterback Jim Harbaugh passed for 348 yards (27 of 40, two touchdowns, one interception) against the Rams' defense and in the process became the 43rd quarterback in NFL history to eclipse 25,000 career passing yards. Harbaugh entered the game with 24,939 career yards and passed the 25,000-yard milestone on an eight-yard completion to tight end Freddie Jones in the second quarter. Harbaugh passed for over 300 yards in a game for the seventh time in his career. The 348 yards also marked the second-most prolific passing day of his career, behind his 404-yard effort at Minnesota on Nov. 28, 1999. Wide receiver Jeff Graham also had a productive afternoon for the Chargers, collecting seven catches for a team-high 107 yards. It marked the 22nd time in the 10-year veteran's career that he accounted for more than 100 receiving yards in a regular season game. Freddie Jones caught seven passes and rookie wide receiver Trevor Gaylor scored his first career touchdown on a 62-yard pass from Harbaugh in the fourth quarter. Reggie Jones made his first career start at wide receiver in place of the injured Curtis Conway and caught five passes for 67 yards.

Denver 21, at San Diego 7 (Sunday, Oct. 8)

San Diego dropped to 0-6 with a 21-7 loss to Denver in Qualcomm Stadium. Fourteen of Denver's 21 points came after turnovers gave the Broncos excellent field position. Broncos quarterback Brian Griese passed for all three of Denver's touchdowns, including two to wide receiver Ed McCaffrey, who had a career-high 10 catches in the game, and one to tight end Dwayne Carswell. Denver opened the scoring with a first quarter scoring toss from Griese to McCaffrey from two yards out. The score was tied at 7-7 at halftime after the Chargers went on a nine-play, 88-yard drive which was capped by a 26-yard scoring toss from Jim Harbaugh to tight end Freddie Jones. Denver did all the second half scoring, as Griese and McCaffrey connected again in the third quarter from the five-yard line before Carswell's 14-yard catch from Griese in the fourth quarter sealed the victory. Linebacker Junior Seau led the Chargers' defense with nine tackles and three passes defensed. Seau was playing in his 161st career game, which moved him into sixth place on the Chargers' all-time list.

at Buffalo 27, San Diego 24 (Overtime) (Sunday, Oct. 15)

The Chargers lost a hard-fought battle in Buffalo in overtime to drop to 0-7 on the season. San Diego led 24-14 going into the fourth quarter, but surrendered 10 points in the final period of regulation and a field goal in overtime to lose, 27-24. San Diego's passing offense came alive in the game against the tough Buffalo defense, with quarterback Jim Harbaugh completing 21 of 33 passes for 287 yards and a pair of scores. Wide receivers Jeff Graham and Curtis Conway had big days for the Chargers, with Graham hauling in a team-high nine passes for 113 yards and a 52-yard touchdown and Conway nabbing seven passes for 143 yards and a 60-yard touchdown. But two Harbaugh interceptions, including one in overtime that led to the Bills' final field goal, and two fumbles by quarterback Moses Moreno in the second quarter, which led to 14 Buffalo points, cost the Chargers. In all, the Bills scored 17 points off Chargers turnovers, including the final three points in overtime. For the Bills, quarterback Rob Johnson completed 29 of 47 passes for 321 yards, one touchdown and one interception. Johnson suffered an injured throwing shoulder and was replaced by Doug Flutie, who led the Bills to their game-winning field goal by completing two of three passes for 30 yards in overtime. Buffalo receiver Eric Moulds finished with 11 catches for 170 yards. San Diego's defense forced two Bills turnovers, one which stopped a Buffalo scoring threat when strong safety Rodney Harrison intercepted a Johnson pass in the end zone, and another on a forced fumble by Harrison that led to a Chargers touchdown. Harrison and linebacker Junior Seau finished the game with 12 tackles and one pass defended each, with Harrison adding the interception and forced fumble.

GAME 8

Oakland 15, at San Diego 13 (Sunday, Oct. 29)

The Chargers fell to 0-8 for the 2000 season with a 15-13 loss to the AFC West leading Oakland Raiders in San Diego on ESPN's Sunday Night Football. The game was a defensive struggle, with all of Oakland's scoring coming on Sebastian Janikowski field goals, including the game winner with 13 seconds left in regulation. Janikowski provided all the first half scoring, giving Oakland a 12-0 lead into the third quarter. The Chargers bounced back to take a 13-12 lead with two touchdown passes from Jim Harbaugh to tight end Freddie Jones, the second coming with 5:58 left in regulation. The Raiders, led by quarterback Rich Gannon, took the ensuing possession 58 yards in 13 plays while chewing 5:45 off the clock before sealing the victory with a 24-yard Janikowski field goal. Harbaugh completed 71 percent of his passes (25 of 35) for 222 yards and two scores with his only interception coming on a Hail Mary on the final play of the game. Freddie Jones had a big night, catching 10 passes for 111 yards and two scores, all career highs. San Diego's defense held the Raiders to 228 total yards, including 83 rushing and 145 passing.

at Seattle 17, San Diego 15 (Sunday, Nov. 5)

San Diego dropped its ninth straight game with a 17-15 loss to the Seahawks in Seattle's Husky Stadium. San Diego outgained Seattle in every major statistical category including total yards (398-128), rushing yards (116 to 50), passing yards (282 to 78), time of possession (39:51 to 20:09) and first downs (22-9), but turnovers proved costly for the Bolts. Seattle scored 14 of its 17 points following two first half fumbles that gave the Seahawks the ball on San Diego's 21 and 33-yard lines. Quarterback Jon Kitna capitalized on the San Diego turnovers with a pair of 10-yard touchdown passes to wide receiver Sean Dawkins and tight end Christian Fauria. Trailing 14-0, San Diego responded by scoring the next 15 points, with John Carney supplying two field goals (19 and 41 yards) before quarterback Jim Harbaugh connected with wide receiver Curtis Conway on a 10-yard touchdown pass late in the third quarter. Carney gave the Chargers their first lead of the game with 5:36 to play in the fourth quarter with a 28-yard field goal that put San Diego up 15-14. Seattle took the ensuing possession 36 yards in 16 plays and secured the win with a 48-yard Rian Lindell field goal. In all, Seattle traveled just 90 yards on its three scoring drives, including drives of 21, 33 and 36 yards.

Miami 17, at San Diego 7 (Sunday, Nov. 12)

San Diego saw its record fall to 0-10 following a 17-7 loss to Miami. The Dolphins jumped out to an early 14-0 lead on the strength of two Lamar Smith touchdown runs covering two and six yards. Quarterback Jay Fiedler completed his first nine passes en route to a 13 of 20 effort for 160 yards with no touchdowns or interceptions. The Dolphins got off to a fast start. On their first play from scrimmage, Fiedler completed a 61-yard pass to Oronde Gadsden and two plays later, Smith scored his first touchdown. He scored his second touchdown of the game in the second quarter and Olindo Mare added a 35-yard field goal for the Dolphins in the third quarter. Moses Moreno started at quarterback for the Chargers and completed nine of 21 passes for 67 yards and two interceptions before leaving the game in the third quarter with a sprained left knee. Ryan Leaf took over for Moreno and also completed nine of 21 passes for 92 yards with a touchdown and an interception. Leaf would also be forced from the game with a strained hamstring and was replaced by Jim Harbaugh, who entered the game late in the fourth quarter and completed two of five passes for 19 yards and one interception. Fullback Fred McCrary scored the Chargers touchdown on an eight-yard pass from Leaf. Defensively, safety Rodney Harrison led San Diego with 10 tackles.

GAME 11

at Denver 38, San Diego 37 (Sunday, Nov. 19)

The Chargers made their final visit to Denver's Mile High Stadium and saw their record fall to 0-11 after a disappointing 38-37 loss to the Broncos. San Diego got a career performance from quarterback Ryan Leaf, who completed 13 of 27 pass attempts for a career-high 311 yards and three touchdowns. Leaf threw two touchdown passes to Jeff Graham (45 and 83 yards) and one to Curtis Conway (68 yards) while finishing the game with a career-high rating of 111.8. The Chargers took a 24-10 lead into the locker room at halftime, which included a 75-yard interception return for a touchdown by cornerback Scott Turner, one of four Chargers interceptions on the day. Entering the fourth quarter, the Chargers had stretched the lead to 17 points, 34-17, but Broncos quarterback Gus Frolotte engineered one of the greatest comebacks in Broncos history, leading them to three touchdowns in the final stanza and a 38-37 lead with just over a minute remaining in the game. San Diego had one last chance to win the game, but four-plays-and-out on the final series ended the Chargers chances of earning their first win of the season.

at San Diego 17, Kansas City 16 (Sunday, Nov. 26)

The Chargers snapped an 11-game losing streak with a 17-16 win over the Kansas City Chiefs at Qualcomm Stadium. John Carney's 52-yard field goal with just over two minutes remaining in the game proved to be the difference as the Chargers earned their first win of the season. San Diego took a 14-6 lead into the locker room at halftime on the right arm of quarterback Ryan Leaf. Leaf threw two touchdown passes to tight end Freddie Jones (20 and 7 yards), while completing 10 of 13 passes for 121 yards in the first half. The Chiefs rallied in the second half and took a 16-14 lead following a 24-yard interception return for a touchdown by linebacker Marcus Patton and Todd Peterson's third field goal of the game, a 30-yarder, late in the third quarter. The Chargers' defense did not allow a score in the fourth quarter and a 35-yard punt return by Nate Jacquet set up Carney's game-winning kick. The defense was solid throughout the afternoon, producing five sacks of quarterback Warren Moon, including a team-high two by safety Rodney Harrison. Junior Seau had a key interception deep in Chargers territory late in the third quarter which prevented another score. The Chargers' defense, which allowed 349 yards and 42 points in their last meeting with the Chiefs in Week 3 at Kansas City, held the visitors to 161 yards of total offense and did not allow a touchdown in the win.

San Francisco 45, at San Diego 17 (Sunday, Dec. 3)

The Chargers saw their record fall to 1-12 following a 45-17 loss to the San Francisco 49ers. Ryan Leaf started at quarterback for the Chargers and completed 24 of 47 passes for 266 yards, one touchdown and four interceptions. San Diego grabbed an early 7-0 lead on a seven-yard touchdown run by Terrell Fletcher. San Francisco then answered with a Wade Richey 22-yard field goal, a one-yard touchdown run by Fred Beasley and a one-yard touchdown pass from Jeff Garcia to Jerry Rice to take a 17-7 lead. The Chargers added a 34-yard John Carney field goal late in the second quarter and trailed 17-10 at the half. With the score 20-10 in the third quarter, San Francisco recovered a Freddie Jones fumble deep in Chargers territory and five plays later converted it into a four-yard touchdown run by Charlie Garner that gave San Francisco a 27-10 lead. Curtis Conway got the Chargers back within 10 points at 27-17 following a 17-yard touchdown catch from Leaf. Leaf struggled late in the game, throwing four fourth-quarter interceptions, and San Francisco tacked on 18 points in the final stanza to earn the 45-17 win. Garcia's final stats included 18 of 32 pass completions for 323 yards and two touchdowns, both to Rice. Conway led the Chargers with seven catches for 88 yards. Defensively, Rodney Harrison collected a team-high eight tackles.

at Baltimore 24, San Diego 3 (Sunday, Dec. 10)

San Diego set a franchise record for losses in a season with a 24-3 defeat at the hands of the eventual Super Bowl Champion Ravens in Baltimore. It was the Chargers' 13th loss of the season, and once again turnovers proved to be the deciding factor. The Ravens scored 21 of their 24 points off three of San Diego's five giveaways that included one interception, three fumbles and a muffed punt. The Ravens traveled just 66 total yards on their three touchdown drives after getting the ball at San Diego's 46-, three- and 17-yard lines following Chargers turnovers. San Diego set or tied season lows for points scored (three), fumbles lost (four including the muffed punt), net passing yards (64), total yards (128) and time of possession (22:24) against the NFL's number-one ranked defensive unit. Linebacker Junior Seau and strong safety Rodney Harrison provided the highlights for the Chargers' defense. Seau amassed 16 tackles and one pass defensed, while Harrison supplied 11 tackles, two passes defensed and two interceptions, tying his single-game career high. Defensive linemen Al Fontenot, Darren Mickell and John Parrella each recorded sacks while holding the Ravens to just 2.8 yards per rush. Offensively, the Chargers managed 64 yards passing and 64 yards rushing while tying a season-low for total plays with 51.

at Carolina 30, San Diego 22 (Sunday, Dec. 17)

San Diego increased its record for losses in a season to 14 after falling to the Carolina Panthers, 30-22, on a chilly afternoon at Charlotte's Ericsson Stadium. The Chargers dominated the Panthers in total offense, outgaining the host team, 358 yards to 169, but breakdowns on special teams prevented the Bolts from winning their second game of the season. San Diego jumped out to a 16-7 halftime lead with a safety by defensive end Al Fontenot, a 25-yard touchdown catch by Terrell Fletcher and a 36-yard interception return for a touchdown by linebacker Gerald Dixon. The teams traded touchdowns early in the third quarter, with the Panthers scoring on a 34-yard touchdown pass from Steve Beuerlein to Isaac Byrd and the Chargers on a four-yard pass from Ryan Leaf to Steve Heiden, his first career touchdown. After a missed two-point conversion attempt, San Diego held onto a 22-14 lead. Late in the third quarter, Carolina's Iheanyi Uwaezuoke broke loose on a 64-yard punt return and cut the Chargers lead to 22-20. On San Diego's next series, a Leaf pass intended for Freddie Jones was tipped in the air and intercepted by Lee Woodall. Five plays later, Joe Nedney kicked an 18-yard field goal and Carolina took a 23-22 lead early in the fourth quarter. On the ensuing possession, Leaf drove the Bolts to the Carolina 19-yard line, but John Carney's 37-yard field goal attempt was blocked. Cornerback Doug Evans scooped up the football and raced 54 yards for a touchdown and a 30-22 Carolina advantage. San Diego had one last chance to tie the game and force overtime late in the fourth quarter, but a fumble and two penalties deep in Panthers' territory proved costly and San Diego fell, 30-22.

Pittsburgh 34, at San Diego 21 (Sunday, Dec. 24)

The Chargers finished the 2000 regular season with a 34-21 defeat at the hands of the visiting Pittsburgh Steelers. The loss gave San Diego a mark of 1-15, the worst record in franchise history. The game was loaded with first-half fireworks. The Chargers scored on their first play from scrimmage when Jeff Graham hauled in a Ryan Leaf pass and romped 71 yards for a touchdown. Pittsburgh struck back on the ensuing kickoff with former San Diego State Aztec Will Blackwell returning the kick 98 yards to knot the score at 7-7. San Diego safety Rodney Harrison joined the scoring frenzy by intercepting a Kordell Stewart pass and scampering 63 yards for a touchdown late in the first quarter to put the Chargers ahead 14-7. Second quarter scoring belonged to the Steelers, including a five-yard pass from Stewart to Courtney Hawkins, a 32-yard Kris Brown field goal and a 19-yard Stewart run, giving Pittsburgh a 24-14 lead. Chargers running back Terrell Fletcher pulled the Bolts to within three points with a one-yard run in the third quarter, making the score 24-21, but two fourth-quarter Steelers scores, including a one-yard run by Stewart and a 28-yard Brown field goal, gave Pittsburgh a 34-21 win and the Chargers their 15th loss of the 2000 season. Harrison had an outstanding game for the Bolts, leading the team in tackles (10), interceptions (two) and passes defended (three). John Parrella set a career high by grabbing his seventh sack of the season, along with seven tackles and one forced fumble.

CHARGERS SPANISH RADIO BROADCASTERS

All San Diego Chargers games can be heard in Spanish on XEXX 1420 AM. XEXX covers all of San Diego County and northern Baja California.

JORGE VILLANUEVA

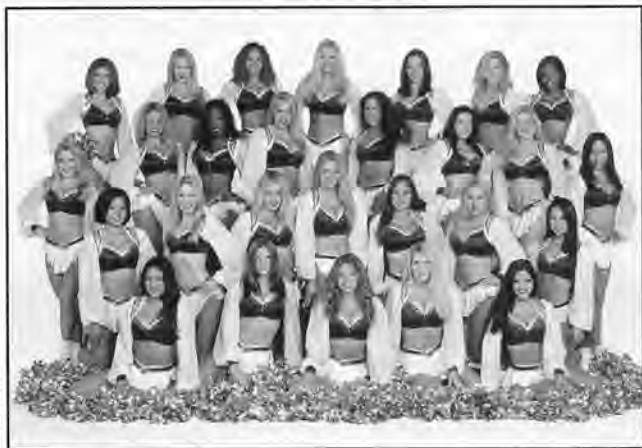

Jorge is in his ninth season as the Spanish voice of the Chargers. He has handled play-by-play since the Chargers went to their first Super Bowl following the 1994 season. He also hosts the sports segment on the daily newscast on KBNT 19 Univision, a Spanish-speaking TV station based in San Diego. Villanueva has 19 years of experience in sports journalism. In addition to football, his play-by-play experience includes soccer, baseball and boxing. For the past two years, Villanueva has handled play-by-play for the Holiday Bowl and in 1995 he called San Diego State football in Spanish.

EFREN DOMINGUEZ

Dominguez is in his 11th season as color analyst for the Spanish broadcasts of Chargers games. Since 1994, Dominguez has worked with Villanueva on the Chargers Spanish radio team. Dominguez also anchors the Halftime and Postgame Shows, with live interviews with players and coaches. He also served with Villanueva as a color analyst for the past two Holiday Bowls and as an announcer for the San Diego State Aztecs Football Spanish radio broadcasts in 1995.

CHARGERS ON KFMB

All of the Chargers' preseason, regular season and postseason games are broadcast on 760 KFMB-AM, while all of the team's preseason games are televised by KFMB-TV, Channel 8. KFMB-TV also is the home of the Chargers' regular-season games because CBS Sports purchased the rights to televise the NFL's American Football Conference games beginning in 1998 and extending through 2005.

KFMB-TV Sports Director Ted Leitner handles the play-by-play on the Chargers' radio broadcasts. Former Chargers player and coach and current Channel 8 sportscaster Hank Bauer is the color commentator.

In addition to the preseason telecasts, KFMB-TV produces programming to promote the Chargers, the players and the team's extensive community activities.

TED LEITNER

Outspoken, outrageous, always willing to go out on a limb, Ted Leitner's reports on KFMB-TV News 8 at 5:00 and 6:30 p.m. are must-see TV for San Diego sports fans. After 23 years, he is still shaking up San Diego with his unique brand of sports reporting and unabashed opinion. He also sends shockwaves through the airwaves as a talk show host on KFMB-AM on weekday mornings from 6:00 to 10 a.m., and as play-by-play announcer for the Chargers and Padres. This is his second stint as play-by-play announcer for the Chargers, having handled the duties previously from 1985-86. He has served as News 8's Sports Director since 1978 and was recognized as the nation's "most popular sportscaster" in the top 50 markets in a national survey.

HANK BAUER

A former running back, special teams captain and coach for the Chargers, Bauer handles the color commentary on the team's radio broadcasts. These days, Hank is tackling sports on News 8 weeknights at 5:00, 6:30 and 11 p.m. For five years, he was a running back for the Chargers as well as one of the team's all-time top performers on special teams. He set a single-season record with 52 tackles in 1982, the year he was named team captain. He also scored 21 touchdowns in his career. In 1983, a broken neck forced Hank off the field. After coaching for the Chargers for four years, he made his move to broadcasting and eventually became a sports reporter at News 8 in 1987.
