LEADERSHIP

ALEX G. SPANOS

Owner

Alex Spanos and his wife Faye are shining examples of how the American spirit of hard work and determination can pay off for those willing to follow their dreams.

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams. In buying the Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream," Spanos said upon purchasing the team in 1984.

In 1951 at the age of 27, Alex Spanos decided he could no longer support his growing family on $40 per week working in his father's bakery. So he borrowed $800, purchased a used catering truck and set out on his own by providing catering and support services for the migrant farm workers in California's Central Valley.

From those humble beginnings, Spanos' tireless work ethic built one of the leading real estate and development companies in the industry, and today he is the patriarch of one of the most accomplished and philanthropic families in the United States.

A.G. Spanos Companies builds multi-family housing and master planned communities and is one of the nation's largest family-owned builders. Alex Spanos' personal commitment to quality and integrity is now carried on by his family in the daily operation and management of the San Diego Chargers as well as the companies that bear his name.

Spanos made family part of his formula for business success. The A.G. Spanos organization, including the Chargers, is a family-run operation. Alex turned over the day-to-day operations of the Chargers to his oldest son, Dean, in 1994, 10 years after purchasing the team on Aug. 1, 1984. Today he enjoys retirement and watching his sons, Dean and Michael, along with grandsons A.G. and John guide the Chargers as they celebrate 32 years of the family's ownership.

Spanos' amazing journey and his passion for giving back is outlined in his autobiography, "Sharing the Wealth: My Story," a compelling first-hand account of the events and decisions in his life that became his basic fundamentals for success.

Spanos' community spirit and generosity are renowned. Few can match the benevolence and philanthropy that Alex and Faye have shown through their support of deserving institutions and community-service efforts. One of his more generous contributions resulted in the opening of the Alex G. Spanos Heart & Vascular Center in Sacramento. San Diegans have Spanos to thank for the huge economic windfall of two Super Bowls (1998 and 2003) and a Republican National Convention in San Diego. In addition to the millions of dollars donated by Spanos and the Chargers Community Foundation, which he established, the Spanos family has delivered nearly $13 million to help San Diego's youth by supporting education as well as health and fitness programs.

In 2008 the President of the Republic of Greece, Mr. Karolos Papoulias, awarded Spanos the Medal of the Commander of the Order of Honor. The honor came in recognition of his many contributions to the birthplace of his parents.

These acts of caring demonstrate the commitment of a man whose rags-to-riches story has been an inspiring example for others. Though his life has taken him places he never dreamed possible, Spanos continues to reside in his hometown of Stockton, California.

Alex and Faye are celebrating 68 years of marriage in 2016. And they will celebrate with their four children (Dean, Dea, Alexis, Michael and their spouses), 15 grandchildren, and eight great grandchildren.

Chargers Owner Alex Spanos and his wife Faye will celebrate 68 years of marriage in 2016. Spanos purchased the team in 1984.

DEAN A. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

Under the leadership of Chairman of the Board Dean Spanos, the San Diego Chargers have become one of the NFL's most respected franchises. Spanos has provided critical direction and resources while building a winning, family environment that has led to consistency and success.

During the 11 years from 2004-14, the Chargers won 113 games (playoffs included), including five AFC West championships (2004, 2006-09) and four playoff games. Only three teams won more games during that span.

Spanos handed over the reins of day-to-day leadership to sons A.G. and John in 2015. Eldest son A.G. Spanos now serves as President-Business Operations while John Spanos is President-Football Operations. Dean remains atop the organization as chairman.

That transition in leadership came soon after Spanos oversaw another key transition period in franchise history. In 2013 new leadership was added for the football team as Tom Telesco and Mike McCoy were hired to serve as the team's general manager and head coach, respectively. The moves transformed the Chargers' front office from one of the oldest to the NFL's youngest and brought new energy and optimism to the organization and its fan base.

Spanos' leadership is felt throughout the National Football League as well as all Spanos corporate entities. As a member of the Management Council Executive Committee (CEC), he played an integral role in negotiating the NFL's current labor agreement prior to the 2011 season. And through 2015, Spanos served as chairman of the NFL's Business Ventures Committee, which has oversight regarding various league commercial activities, including consumer products, sponsorship, events, marketing and new business initiatives. Spanos continues to serve on both the CEC and the League's Business Ventures Committee. His previous League committee terms include membership on the NFL's International and Legislative Committees.

Spanos had served as president of the Chargers since early in 1994, the same year the team culminated its most memorable season in team history with an appearance in Super Bowl XXIX. In addition, he also serves as President of the A.G. Spanos Companies. Dean and his brother, Michael, oversee all construction operations nationwide.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego and the team is undeniable. He has dedicated 14 years and millions of dollars to develop a plan to give San Diegans a modern Super Bowl-quality stadium and secure a long-term home for their football team. The reason for this bond: Dean's family has proudly called San Diego home for 32 years.

TRADITION OF GIVING

The Spanos family is recognized as one of pro football's most philanthropic families and one of Southern California's most active and caring contributors. Their financial and emotional support of youth sports and education in San Diego is unmatched.

The Chargers Community Foundation and the Spanos family have provided nearly $13 million to support a wide range of services and resources for programs directly affecting youth and families in San Diego County. In 1999, Spanos created the Foundation's largest ongoing program, Chargers Champions, which has provided nearly $6 million in direct assistance to San Diego County schools, teachers and students. The program provides grants to improve fitness, nutrition and athletic programs on area campuses.

In 2014 Spanos pledged $500,000 to the University of California-San Diego to upgrade and expand the existing Alex G. Spanos Training Facility, recently renamed and opened as the Alex G. Spanos Athletic Performance Center. UCSD is the Chargers' former training camp home and this gift raises the value of the family's support of the institution to more than $1.6 million.

In 2012 following the passing of former Chargers linebacker Junior Seau, Dean and his wife Susie brought a shocked team and community together when they hosted a "Celebration of Life" for Seau in Qualcomm Stadium. The event was seen and heard live by more than 150,000 San Diegans and made it possible for a grieving community to heal and pay tribute to one of San Diego's native sons.

Although such examples of Spanos' largesse are too many to count, a number stand out. In 2000, local student-athletes received a giant boost when the Spanos family and Chargers Community Foundation supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and girls volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools. The Chargers are a top supporter of the California Interscholastic Federation's (CIF) annual high school football championship games. And the Alex Spanos All-Star Classic, the longest-running high school all-star football game in California, celebrated its 25th anniversary in 2015.

This devotion to youth football led the national Pop Warner organization to name the Chargers its 2015 NFL Team of the Year. The Chargers are the first NFL team to receive the honor twice: 2007 and 2015.

When wildfires ravaged San Diego County in 2003 and again in 2007, Spanos made identical $1 million donations to aid affected families and the recovery effort.

Spanos also is a staunch supporter of San Diego's police, fire and sheriff's departments. Critical Communications Centers have been upgraded and mobile command units for the police department have been purchased while their financial support enabled local agencies to purchase wildfire fighting gear as well as other fire-fighting equipment.

Spanos has been a long-time contributor to Rady Children's Hospital, the San Diego Blood Bank, San Diego State University's Campanile Foundation, University of San Diego, STAR/PAL, the San Diego Police Foundation, the San Diego Hall of Champions and the San Diego High School Sports Association.

Dean and his father Alex Spanos secured Super Bowl XXXII (1998) and Super Bowl XXXVII (2003) for the City of San Diego, each bringing an estimated windfall of more than $300 million to the San Diego economy.

COMMUNITY HONORS

Honors for their generosity come frequently to Dean and Susie.

Most recently, the Spanos family and the Chargers received the Light of Hope Award from the Epilepsy Foundation of San Diego. San Diego's Military Advisory Council presented the family with their annual Achievement Award in 2015 for the team's outstanding annual support of the region's military. The Armed Services YMCA also recognized the team's longtime support of military families with its 2015 Vice Admiral St. George Award.

In 2014, the Spanos family received the Outstanding Community Service Award among all family-owned businesses by the San Diego Business Journal.

The Make-A-Wish Foundation presented the team with its Wish-Granting Partner of the Year Award while the California State Athletic Director's Association presented the Chargers with its President's Merit Award, both in 2012. The Rotary Club of San Diego also presented Spanos and the Chargers organization with its prestigious Heilbron Award, given to companies that "exemplify the pay it forward spirit – that give of themselves and their professional expertise to advance the well-being and success of others in the community."

They received the 2012 Herb Klein Spirit of San Diego Award from the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce at the organization's annual awards dinner. In 2011 the Salvation Army recognized Spanos and the Chargers' dedication to helping San Diego's homeless citizens during their annual Golden Bells ceremony.

In 2010, the Association of Fundraising Professionals recognized Spanos and the Chargers as San Diego's Outstanding Philanthropic Corporation, one of the most prestigious awards for community service.

The American Diabetes Association honored Spanos at its annual Fathers of the Year Dinner in 2010. In 2007, the local Salvation Army named Dean and Susie as their Most Valuable Philanthropists.

In 2006 President George W. Bush appointed Spanos as a Board of Trustees member of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. That same year he was the honored recipient of the Golden Achievement Award from the Boys & Girls Clubs of San Diego and Junior Achievement of San Diego inducted him into its Hall of Fame for his community leadership and specifically for his support of youth education initiatives.

The Warner Award, the top honor of the national Pop Warner football organization, was bestowed on him for his commitment to youth football and its Little Scholars education initiative in 2005. The San Diego Chapter of the National Football Foundation also presented Spanos with its highest honor, the Distinguished American Award. In 2004, the Police Historical Society presented him with their first Cota Award for community philanthropy and support of law enforcement. Dean and Susie received the Harold Leventhal Community Service Award in 2003, the top national award of the Huntington's Disease Society of America.

Spanos has the unique distinction of being a second-generation recipient of the renowned Ellis Island Medal of Honor, so honored in 2002, 16 years after his father was similarly honored. He was also inducted into the DeMolay International Alumni Hall of Fame in 2002. DeMolay International is an organization dedicated to preparing young men to lead successful and productive lives.

In 2001, the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum presented Dean and Susie with its Community Champions Award, the Hall's most distinguished award.

BUSINESSMAN AND FAMILY MAN

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California. He earned varsity letters in football and golf at Lincoln High School in Stockton. Dean later received Lincoln High School's Hall of Fame Award, which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Spanos continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, graduating in 1972 with a degree in business administration. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a regent at the university.

An avid golfer since his college years, Dean has been on the winning team in five Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach with partner Hubert Green. He successfully defended his title at the Hope Classic in 1991. Spanos' first win came with Green at the 1985 Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Later that year, his second win came in the 1985 Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas, where he teamed with San Diego native Billy Casper.

Susie received the prestigious Celebration of Life Award in 2011 from the American Cancer Society. She is a spokeswoman for the NFL's cancer campaign and is a breast cancer survivor. She also was honored as a "Woman of Dedication" by the Salvation Army in 2001 and has been named the Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community.

Susie works with and serves on the boards of many charitable organizations in San Diego, including the San Diego Women's Foundation. She is on the board of the Salvation Army and an advisory member of Las Patronas, one of San Diego's leading non-profit organizations. Susie has been a driving force in supporting the San Diego Blood Bank and its umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation.

Dean and Susie have two sons, A.G. and John, and one grandchild. They reside in La Jolla.

CHERI PEDERSEN
Executive Assistant to the Chairman

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Vice Chairman

Michael A. Spanos is vice chairman of the Chargers. In that capacity, he assists in financial and management matters pertaining to the team.

Michael joins his brother – Chairman of the Board Dean Spanos – in steering the direction of the organization, including the on-going effort to bring a new stadium to the San Diego region. Spanos has played an integral role in the ongoing stadium process, working tirelessly alongside Dean on many aspects, including the business model and physical design of the project.

As president of the A.G. Spanos Companies, Michael is responsible for the company's planning and development activities around the country. He monitors and oversees the office divisions in states where the company builds and develops. His responsibilities also extend to the areas of property management, land acquisition and preparation of all plans for future direction, growth and construction of the company's multi-family communities and land development activities. From the company headquarters in Stockton, Michael travels regularly across the country to monitor and manage building projects.

Born in Stockton, California, he attended Lincoln High School and graduated from the University of the Pacific, with a bachelor's degree in business administration. In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific, where he served for five years. Michael continues to contribute both his time and resources to the development and support of charitable projects involving youth sports and education. He and his wife, Helen, have five children and reside in Stockton.

A.G. SPANOS

President — Business Operations

A.G. Spanos was named president—business operations for the Chargers in May 2015. He oversees all day-to-day business operations of the organization, including marketing, sales, public relations, digital media and community relations. He also represents the organization at all NFL and ownership meetings.

Previously, Spanos served as executive vice president—chief executive officer from 2011-15, executive vice president—executive officer from 2008-10 and director of marketing programs and business development from 2003-07.

Spanos knows that the Chargers have the ability to lift the spirits of the community and his number-one goal is and always has been to make sure the Chargers enjoy success on the field. That includes helping the franchise establish an undeniable home-field advantage. Since 2003, the Chargers have posted a winning record at home nine times, including 2006 when the Chargers went undefeated at home for the first time in franchise history. Clearly, the fans have played a huge role in this success.

Spanos stresses that Season Ticket Members are the backbone of the organization. Under his direction, the Chargers have added more value and access, and they rebranded the team's most loyal fans as Season Ticket Members. Key benefits of being a Season Ticket Member have grown to include the creation of dedicated service representatives, unique opportunities for Chargers Park and stadium tours, exclusive practice sessions at both mini-camp and training camp, an upgraded and more transparent seat relocation program and much more.

In an effort to quench Chargers fans' unending thirst for information about their team, Spanos created the organization's digital media department in 2012. The department has been instrumental in providing an endless supply of unique content available only on the team's official website, Chargers.com, while expanding the Chargers' social media footprint. Recognizing the benefits of producing web and television content in-house, Spanos led the effort to construct a new television and editing studio at Chargers Park.

Spanos sits on the Chargers Champions leadership team helping select schools for the school grant program founded by his grandfather, Alex Spanos. Since its inception in 2000, Chargers Champions has provided nearly $6 million to assist San Diego schools, teachers and students. Each year the Chargers Champions School Grant Program allows public and private schools within San Diego County to apply for badly-needed funding for physical fitness, nutrition and athletic programs on their campuses. The Chargers Champions program is the cornerstone of a community relations portfolio that includes supporting hundreds of charitable organizations and causes during the year.

Outside the office, Spanos serves on the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors for the San Diego Hall of Champions. He also serves on the Board of Directors for the San Diego Regional Chamber of Commerce and is an active member of the Young Presidents Organization (YPO).

Spanos attended La Jolla Country Day School in La Jolla, Calif., lettering in football and basketball. He played football as a freshman at Tufts University in Medford, Mass., before returning to California to continue his education at the University of Southern California, earning a bachelor's degree in marketing from the Marshall School of Business.

Spanos is the grandson of Owner Alex Spanos and he is the eldest son of Chairman Dean Spanos and his wife Susie. He and his wife, Kamri, have a son, Dean II.

EXECUTIVE STAFF

YOLANDA TUCKER

JOHN SPANOS

President — Football Operations

John Spanos was named president—football operations for the Chargers in May 2015. He oversees all of the team's football operations, including player personnel, coaching, player finance and the salary cap, medical, equipment, video, player engagement and security. He also represents the team at League and Management Council meetings.

Spanos began working for the Chargers in 1995. Originally, he worked summers as an assistant in football operations, and from 1998-00 he worked under the direction of Ed McGuire, who schooled him in contract negotiations and managing the salary cap.

In 2003, Spanos began working full-time as a scout. He methodically worked his way up through the organization before his career took a giant leap forward in 2013 when he was named executive vice president of football operations. This new position afforded him the opportunity to put his first big imprint on the organization, and he did just that as he was a key member of the selection committee responsible for the hiring of General Manager Tom Telesco and Head Coach Mike McCoy. The Chargers finished 9-7 in both 2013 and 2014. In 2013, the team returned to the playoffs for the first time since 2009 and won its first playoff game since 2008.

Spanos has seen his role in the NFL Draft grow exponentially since his ascension in 2013 and the results have been overwhelmingly positive. The team's 2013 draft yielded three key starters: guard D.J. Fluker, linebacker Manti Te'o, and wide receiver and Pepsi Next NFL Rookie of the Year Keenan Allen. The 2014 draft class was headlined by cornerback Jason Verrett, who was selected to his first Pro Bowl in 2015 after leading the team in interceptions and passes defended. The 2015 NFL Draft elicited the team's leading rusher in top pick Melvin Gordon, while second-round pick, inside linebacker Denzel Perryman, came within five tackles of the first 100-tackle season by a rookie in team history. And outsiders are already buzzing about the Chargers' 2016 draft class which is headlined by two-time Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year Joey Bosa from Ohio State.

The 2016 season will mark Spanos' 21st year in the NFL and his 18th with the team.

His previous assignments within the organization include stints as a pro and college scout (2003-05), assistant director of college scouting (2006-07) and director of college scouting (2008-12).

It's no coincidence that Spanos' ascension within the organization coincided with one of the most successful eras on the field in franchise history. From 2004-09, the Chargers won 67 regular-season games, third-most in the entire league. They also won three playoff games during that stretch, giving them 70 total wins from 2004-09, which was fourth-most in the league. The Chargers reached the playoffs five times from 2004-09 and advanced to the AFC Championship Game in 2007. And since 2003, the Chargers have been to the playoffs a total of six times.

From 2001-03, Spanos served two stints in the NFL's Management Council office in New York. In 2008, he further expanded his business acumen when he was among a select list of NFL executives invited to participate in the NFL's Executive Education Program at the Stanford Business School in Palo Alto, California.

Spanos continues to work closely with McGuire. They have managed the salary cap and retained some of the team's top players. This includes negotiating multiple contract extensions for several current and former All-Pro players, including Gates, quarterback Philip Rivers and running back LaDainian Tomlinson.

Staying true to his scouting roots, Spanos serves on the board of directors for National Football Scouting. Locally, he serves on the Athletics Board at the University of California-San Diego (UCSD).

In June 2010, Spanos was named one of the "Top 40 Under 40" Greek-Americans by Greek America Magazine. The acknowledgment came in recognition of his achievements in both business and community leadership.

Spanos was born in Stockton, California. He attended The Bishop's School in La Jolla where he lettered in football as a wide receiver and defensive back. He also lettered in golf and basketball, and was a member of three CIF championship teams. After Bishop's, Spanos attended Wake Forest University, graduating with a degree in business.

John and his wife Jodie reside in La Jolla.

JEANNE M. BONK

Executive Vice President — Chief Operating Officer

One of the Chargers' longest-tenured executives and one of the highest-ranking female executives in the National Football League, Jeanne Bonk was named executive vice president—chief operating officer in May 2016.

Bonk originally joined the Chargers in 1991 as chief financial officer. In 1994, she was promoted to chief financial and administrative officer, a position she retained for seven years. In 2000, she was named vice president-chief financial officer and in 2005, Bonk was promoted to executive vice president—chief financial officer.

Bonk has successfully overseen the team's day-to-day financial operations for the last 25 years. Her expertise has been critical to the ongoing success of the organization and her leadership in many areas, including as a member of the negotiating team for the Chargers' stadium efforts, has clearly demonstrated the breadth of her knowledge of the NFL. As such, she has been a presenter at the NFL Women's Career Development Symposium.

A native of Covina, California, Bonk began her professional career in 1983 with the international accounting firm, Price Waterhouse. She worked at Price Waterhouse for eight years, leaving as a senior audit manager to join the Chargers in 1991.

Bonk attended Mater Dei High School in Santa Ana before graduating with honors from the University of San Diego in 1983 with a Bachelor's degree in business administration. She majored in accounting and is a Certified Public Accountant and a Chartered Global Management Accountant. Bonk was inducted into the Mater Dei High School Ring of Honor in 2011.

Bonk is a member of the American Institute of CPAs and the California Society of CPAs. She sits on the San Diego Humane Society's Audit Committee. Bonk previously chaired the Finance Committee of Cathedral Catholic High School for six years and was a member of the San Diego Diocesan Finance Council.

Jeanne and her husband, Jim, reside in Bonita.

ED MCGUIRE

Executive Vice President of Football Administration— Player Finance

Now in his 29th NFL season and 19th with the Chargers, Ed McGuire has enjoyed a steady ascent since joining the team in 1998. He was named executive vice president of football administration—player finance in January 2013. McGuire serves as the club's chief negotiator and manages the salary cap, while overseeing compliance of NFL and Collective Bargaining Agreement rules. He has been a member of the NFL Player Insurance Trust since 2002.

McGuire's previous roles with the Chargers include coordinator of football operations (1998-00), vice president of football operations (2000-06), executive vice president of football operations (2007) and executive vice president of football operations—assistant general manager (2008-12).

Throughout his tenure with the Chargers, McGuire has negotiated a number of long-term contracts and contract extensions. In 2004, he negotiated an eight-year contract extension for 2006 NFL MVP and two-time NFL rushing champion, LaDainian Tomlinson. At the time, the deal was the largest contract ever signed by a running back in NFL history. In 2009, McGuire negotiated Philip Rivers' six-year, $92 million contract extension, the largest player contract negotiated in team history. And more recently, McGuire has negotiated new contracts and extensions for several key players, including Rivers, Antonio Gates, Corey Liuget, King Dunlap, Brandon Flowers and Darrell Stuckey.

McGuire joined the Chargers after serving as the senior manager of labor operations for the NFL's Management Council from 1996-98. He was the league's manager of player personnel from 1991-96 and originally joined the NFL in 1987 as a player personnel analyst. McGuire also worked in the personnel department for the United States Football League from 1984-86.

During his tenure in the National Football League office, McGuire became a leading expert on the NFL's salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement, which was created in 1993 between the NFL and the NFL Players' Association.

Born in Riverhead, New York, McGuire graduated with a degree in athletic administration in 1984 from St. John's University in Jamaica, New York. He played football and baseball at Riverhead High School.

McGuire is a member of the Board of Directors for the Jacobs & Cushman San Diego Food Bank.

McGuire and his wife, Jane, have two children—son Kevin and daughter Shannon—and reside in Rancho Bernardo.

MARK FABIANI

Special Counsel

Charged with finding a new permanent home for the Chargers, Mark Fabiani is in his 15th season as the organization's special counsel. Since 2002, he has worked tirelessly to secure a state-of-the-art and Super Bowl-quality home for the franchise.

Prior to joining the Chargers, Fabiani was the deputy campaign manager for communications and strategy for former Vice President Al Gore's 2000 presidential campaign, the closest presidential election in modern history. In addition to serving as the campaign's chief spokesperson, Fabiani was responsible for coordinating the campaign's communications and media strategies and tactics, including the Vice President's post-election Florida vote count effort.

From 1994-96, Fabiani worked as President Bill Clinton's special counsel, providing legal, communications and political counsel to the President and First Lady on allegations and investigations of Whitewater and related matters. Fabiani produced and communicated the legal, legislative, and political responses to inquiries from the media, Capitol Hill and investigative agencies. He also served as the White House's principle spokesperson before the national media, appearing regularly on major news shows.

In the 1980s, Fabiani spent four years as deputy mayor of Los Angeles and chief of staff to Mayor Tom Bradley. He managed political strategy, media relations, policy analysis and an executive staff of 129 for the mayor. Fabiani directed day-to-day interaction between the mayor's office and the media, general managers of city departments, the City Council, and the city's principle private sector companies and public sector institutions.

A native of Ellwood City, Pennsylvania, Fabiani earned a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Redlands before graduating cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1982. He served in senior positions at the United States Department of Justice and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. At the Justice Department, Fabiani was responsible for policy development for the Attorney General and at HUD, he implemented the federal government's Empowerment Zone Initiative for urban revitalization.

Fabiani is currently a partner in the downtown San Diego-based firm, Mark Fabiani & Associates, which provides strategic advice and tactical execution to companies and individuals facing complex financial, marketing, communications and legal challenges.

Fabiani and his family have resided in the San Diego area since 1996.

FRED MAAS

Special Advisor

Fred Maas (pronounced mass) joined the Chargers in February 2016 as special advisor to Chargers' Chairman Dean Spanos. Maas worked closely with Spanos, Special Counsel Mark Fabiani and an established team of legal, financial and land-use advisors to develop the Citizens' Initiative, the first step toward the creation of a proposed joint-use stadium-convention center facility in downtown San Diego.

Maas is currently the executive chairman of MRV Systems LLC, a manufacturer of marine robotic vehicles for the oceanographic and defense industries.

He previously served as the Chairman and CEO of the Centre City Development Corporation (CCDC) under Mayor Jerry Sanders. CCDC was the City of San Diego's redevelopment authority which oversaw, on behalf of the city, all redevelopment activities for the 1,500 acres that comprise downtown San Diego. Maas later served as special assistant to Mayor Sanders on a sports and entertainment district, as well as a previously-proposed downtown stadium for the Chargers.

Maas was a principal and served as President and CEO of Black Mountain Ranch, a 4,660-acre property that his partnership acquired in 1988. Then undeveloped land, Black Mountain Ranch is now home to several large-scale residential communities, including Santaluz and Del Sur.

In the 1980s and '90s, Maas served as a partner at Potomac Sports Properties, the exclusive developer of the PGA TOUR Inc. Earlier, Maas represented the TOUR on marketing, regulatory, legislative and tax matters.

Maas has served in a variety of capacities in national, state and local politics over the past 35 years, including stints with Senators Bob Dole and John McCain, Jack Kemp and Governor Mitch Daniels among others.

Maas also served as a special advisor to Todd Properties of New Zealand and H.E. Stuart Beck, the late Palauan Ambassador to the United Nations.

A native of Rochester, New York, Maas graduated cum laude from Syracuse University's College of Law and Hobart College. Maas is admitted to the District of Columbia bar.

Maas has a daughter, Katherine Claire.

JEFFREY POLLACK

Special Advisor

Jeffrey Pollack joined the Chargers in December 2014 as special advisor. His role with the team includes crafting new strategies to help grow the Chargers brand, while also helping to explore new opportunities for a state-of-the-art stadium for the franchise.

In 1994, Pollack created and launched The Sports Business Daily, the first daily trade publication for the sports industry. As the founding President and Publisher, The Daily became a must-read for sports executives and gave rise to a proliferation of sports business information services. 2016 marks the 22nd consecutive year of publication for The Daily.

Pollack joined the NBA in 1998 as a strategic communications consultant during collective bargaining with the National Basketball Players Association, and he served as the League's Vice President of Marketing and Corporate Communications. In 2001, he joined NASCAR Digital Entertainment as Managing Director of Broadcasting and New Media. And from 2005-09, he served as President and Commissioner of the World Series of Poker. Under his leadership, the WSOP became a worldwide sports and entertainment phenomenon, and it crossed the $1 billion mark in total prize money awarded.

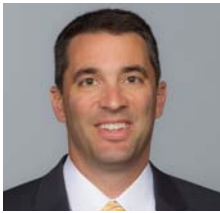

Pollack has served as a senior advisor to a number of sports and media ventures, including the Professional Bull Riders, IGN Entertainment, and the Machete Group. In 2012, he was a key member of the deal team that advised Robert Pera on his purchase of the NBA's Memphis Grizzlies, and he helped assemble one of the most dynamic ownership groups in professional sports. In 2014, Pollack led the deal team for Andrew Barroway in his purchase of controlling interest in the NHL's Arizona Coyotes. He began his career as a crisis communications strategist and political campaign manager at Winner & Associates and the affiliated firm of Winner & Mandabach Campaigns.

In addition to receiving one of the very first Primetime Emmy Awards presented for Outstanding Achievement in Interactive Television Programming, and a Sports Emmy for Outstanding Innovative Technical Achievement, Pollack received the first-ever Billboard Digital Entertainment Award for Best Interactive Television Programming. He appeared twice on The Sporting News' List of "The Top 100 Most Powerful People in Sports," and he was named by the Sports Business Journal to the inaugural list of "Forty Under Forty."

Pollack serves on the Advisory Board of Alpine AudioNow, the Board of Advisors of the Los Angeles Sports and Entertainment Commission, and the Executive Committee of the USC Sports Business Institute. He is a member of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and an Accredited Member of the Public Relations Society of America. Pollack also serves as a mentor at Amplify LA – a startup accelerator and entrepreneurial campus in Venice, California.

Pollack has a bachelor's degree from the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University, a master's degree from The Graduate School of Political Management, and a master's degree in sports management from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

TOM TELESKO

General Manager

22nd NFL Season, 4th season with Chargers

With a keen eye for acquiring talented players, Tom Telesco will serve his fourth season as general manager of the Chargers in 2016.

Telesco has infused the Chargers' roster with young players, building primarily through the draft. In 2015, all five of the Chargers draft picks made the team's opening-day roster and contributed throughout the season. First-round draft choice Melvin Gordon became the team's leading rusher and second-round pick Denzel Perryman came within five tackles of the first 100-tackle season by a rookie in team history.

Telesco also uncovered several gems in rookie free agents, including Nick Dzubnar, who became the team's leading special teams tackler, and Josh Lambo, who was the NFL's top rookie kicker.

As the calendar turned to 2016, Telesco brought some of the NFL's top veteran free agents to San Diego. They include wide receiver and kick returner Travis Benjamin, nose tackle Brandon Mebane, safety Dwight Lowery and cornerback Casey Hayward. Telesco added even more star power to the roster in April with another heralded draft class headlined by two-time Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year Joey Bosa from Ohio State.

Telesco was hired by the Chargers in January 2013. Forty-years-old at the time of his hiring, he became the youngest general manager in team history. Immediately following his hire, Telesco was part of the search committee responsible for hiring Mike McCoy as the team's head coach. Telesco then helped the Chargers return to the playoffs in 2013 with a roster that featured 25 players who joined the team prior to or during the season.

Telesco made several notable free agent acquisitions in 2013, including running back Danny Woodhead and tackle King Dunlap. His first draft with the Chargers yielded three prominent starters, including guard D.J. Fluker, inside linebacker Manti Te'o, and wide receiver and 2013 Pepsi Next NFL Rookie of the Year Keenan Allen.

Telesco's second draft class in 2014 was equally as impressive. The team's first four picks all made the opening-day roster and last season, 2014 first-round pick Jason Verrett made his first Pro Bowl after leading the team in interceptions and passes defended.

A native of Buffalo, New York, Telesco prepped at St. Francis High School in Athol Springs, N.Y. One of his teammates at St. Francis was Jacksonville Jaguars general manager David Caldwell. Days prior to Super Bowl XLVIII in January 2014, which was co-hosted by New York and New Jersey, Telesco and Caldwell were recognized for their accomplishments on the floor of the New York State Senate by Senator Timothy Kennedy.

After graduating from St. Francis, Telesco played wide receiver at John Carroll University in Ohio. He was a starter on the Blue Streaks' 1994 Ohio Athletic Conference Championship team, and two of his teammates at John Carroll were Chris and Brian Polian, sons of Bill Polian, a 2015 inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

While attending John Carroll, Telesco spent four summers (1991-94) as a training camp intern with the Buffalo Bills. At that time, the elder Polian was the Bills' general manager. Polian left Buffalo for Carolina in 1994 and after Telesco graduated from John Carroll with a degree in business management in 1995, Polian hired him to work in the Panthers' scouting department. In 1998, Telesco and Polian moved on to Indianapolis, where Telesco would spend his next 15 NFL seasons as a college scout, pro scout, director of pro scouting, director of player personnel and vice president of football operations. He worked in Indianapolis during Peyton Manning's entire career with the Colts and later part of the team that brought Andrew Luck to the Colts with the first pick of the 2012 NFL Draft. Telesco also was involved in Colts drafts that featured four-time Pro Bowl running back Edgerrin James, five-time Pro Bowl wide receiver Reggie Wayne, and Dwight Freeney, a seven-time Pro Bowler as a Colt.

Telesco's tenure in Indianapolis was one of the most successful eras in Colts history. They played in two Super Bowls, including a victory over Chicago in Super Bowl XLI. From 1998-2012, the Colts won 154 regular-season games, eight division titles and they appeared in the playoffs 12 times. Indianapolis set an NFL record with 12 or more wins in seven consecutive seasons and they won an NFL record 23 straight regular-season games during the 2008-09 seasons. Their 115 regular-season wins from 2000-09 set an NFL record for wins in a decade.

In March 2015, Telesco was invited to be a presenter at the NFL's Career Development Symposium in Arizona. The program, attended by nearly 70 coaches and front office executives, was designed to engage aspiring head coach and general manager candidates. Telesco was one of only two active general managers invited to address participants at the symposium.

Telesco and his wife, Larah, have a daughter, Elena, and two sons, Thomas and Nicholas.

Tom Telesco's Experience

1995-96 — Scouting Assistant, Carolina Panthers
1997 — Area Scout, Carolina Panthers
1998-00 — Area Scout, Indianapolis Colts
2001-03 — Pro Scout, Indianapolis Colts

2004-05 — Director of Pro Scouting, Indianapolis Colts
2006-11 — Director of Player Personnel, Indianapolis Colts
2012 — V.P. of Football Operations, Indianapolis Colts
2013-16 — General Manager, San Diego Chargers

MIKE McCOY

Head Coach

19th NFL Season, 4th season with Chargers

A former NFL quarterback who has become one of the League's most innovative coaches, Mike McCoy will lead the Chargers for a fourth season in 2016.

Hired Jan. 15, 2013 as the 15th head coach in team history, McCoy has 23 wins, including playoffs, in his first three seasons.

Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers has excelled under McCoy, producing the three highest completion percentage seasons in franchise history, including a team-record 69.5 percent mark in 2013.

McCoy led the Chargers to the playoffs in his first season in 2013. At the time of his hiring, McCoy, then 41, was the second-youngest head coach in the NFL and the second-youngest in team history. The Bolts went 9-7 and won four straight and five of their last six to close out the regular season, including a thrilling season-ending overtime win against Kansas City that vaulted the Chargers into the postseason. During that stretch, the Chargers defeated Kansas City twice, and Denver and Oakland once each to finish 4-2 in the AFC West. McCoy then led the Chargers to a Wild Card Playoff win in Cincinnati for the franchise's first playoff victory since 2008. The Chargers' playoff appearance in 2013 marked the organization's first since 2009 and McCoy joined Sid Gillman (1960), Don Coryell (1979 – Coryell's first full season), Bobby Ross (1992) and Norv Turner (2007) as the only coaches in team history to lead the Bolts to the playoffs in their first season. Then with his team's win over the Bengals, McCoy became only the third head coach (Ross and Turner) to win his first playoff game.

McCoy led the Chargers to nine wins again in 2014. The Chargers defeated the defending Super Bowl champion Seattle Seahawks, they posted a 31-0 shutout win over the New York Jets, and the team showed its resiliency late in the season, overcoming double-digit deficits to beat Baltimore and San Francisco. When the Chargers won in Baltimore in November, they became the first West Coast team to win a game in the Charm City in 11 tries.

McCoy came to the Chargers from Denver, where he spent the 2009-12 seasons as the Broncos' offensive coordinator. In 2012, the Broncos won 13 games, second-most in a season in franchise history, and captured the No. 1 overall seed in the AFC playoffs. Peyton Manning threw a then-team-record 37 touchdown passes, while Demaryius Thomas and Eric Decker combined to become the youngest receiving duo in NFL history to top 1,000 yards and 10 touchdowns.

A year earlier in 2011, McCoy had a hand in a storied season in Denver as he helped the Broncos reach the divisional playoffs after winning their first AFC West title since 2005. The Broncos upset Pittsburgh in the Wild Card Playoffs with Tim Tebow throwing an 80-yard game-winning touchdown pass to Thomas on the first play of overtime. That season, McCoy completely revamped Denver's offense into a read-option attack that meshed with Tebow's playing style. The Broncos led the NFL in 2011 with a franchise-record 2,632 yards on the ground.

McCoy started in Denver in 2009 as the Broncos' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. In his first season, Kyle Orton set career highs in every major passing category, while wide receiver Brandon Marshall and left tackle Ryan Clady were selected to the Pro Bowl. Clady was also named All-Pro.

A native of Novato, Calif., McCoy was the starting quarterback for two years at San Marin High School, along with being a standout on the basketball court and baseball field. He played quarterback at Long Beach State for the legendary George Allen, and then at the University of Utah after Allen passed and the 49ers disbanded their football program. Upon graduating from Utah, McCoy signed with the NFL's Broncos as an undrafted free agent in 1995. After being cut by Denver, he spent his rookie season on Green Bay's practice squad, followed by stops with the Amsterdam Admirals of NFL Europe, the San Francisco 49ers, Philadelphia Eagles and Seattle Seahawks. McCoy concluded his playing career in 1999 with the CFL's Calgary Stampeders, a Grey Cup finalist. In 2014, he was inducted into the Marin Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame.

McCoy transitioned into coaching in 2000, joining the Carolina Panthers as an offensive assistant. Just four weeks into his first season with the Panthers, he was elevated to quarterbacks coach after the team's position coach stepped down. McCoy would go on to spend nine seasons in Carolina, serving as wide receivers coach (2001), quarterbacks coach (2002-08) and passing game coordinator (2007-08). Led by quarterbacks Steve Beuerlein and Jake Delhomme, Carolina made three playoff appearances, won two division titles, went to two NFC Championship Games and played in Super Bowl XXXVIII (2003).

McCoy did some of his best coaching in Carolina in 2007 when the Panthers won a franchise-best 12 games and earned a first-round bye in the playoffs. Injuries forced the Panthers to start four different quarterbacks (none for more than three games in a row) and Carolina became the first NFL team in 10 years to win at least one game with four different starters at quarterback (Delhomme, David Carr, Matt Moore and Vinny Testaverde).

McCoy and his wife, Kellie, have two children: daughter Liv and son Luke.

ASSISTANT COACHES

JOHN PAGANO

Defensive Coordinator
21st NFL Season
15th season with Chargers

The longest-tenured assistant on the Chargers' coaching staff, 2016 will mark John Pagano's 15th season with the Chargers and his fifth as defensive coordinator.

In 2015, the Chargers core of young defenders showed impressive growth in Pagano's system. Jason Verrett led the team in interceptions and made his first Pro Bowl. Manti Te'o led the team with 107 tackles while rookie Denzel Perryman ranked second with 95 despite starting just over half the season. And Melvin Ingram led the team and tied for 12th in the NFL with 10.5 sacks.

The Chargers' defense was one of the NFL's best during the last month of the 2015 season. During the final five games, the Chargers allowed the fifth-fewest passing yards in the NFL (993) and the Bolts' pass defense recorded more interceptions (five) than touchdown passes allowed (four). The Chargers also surrendered only 91 points during that span, ninth-fewest in the NFL.

In 2014, the Chargers ranked ninth in the NFL in total defense and fourth in pass defense. It marked the second time in Pagano's first three years that the Bolts ranked in the top 10 in total defense, and the pass defense ranking was the unit's highest on his watch. Also in 2014, the Chargers ranked ninth in the NFL in scoring defense during the first eight games of the season, and they ranked fourth in the league in red zone defense over the last eight games.

There were several noteworthy performances by San Diego's defense in 2014, including a shutout victory against the New York Jets. The Chargers held three different teams to 10 points or less, their most in a season since 2010. From Sept. 14-Oct. 5, the Chargers went four games without allowing a point in the fourth quarter, the second-longest stretch in team history. And on Sept. 28 and Oct. 5, the Chargers held Jacksonville and the Jets scoreless in the second halves of both games, marking the first time the Chargers shut out consecutive opponents in the second half since 2006.

During the Chargers' run to the Divisional Playoffs in 2013, Pagano's defense turned in a number of stellar performances, highlighted by a team-record streak of 12 consecutive quarters without allowing an offensive touchdown. In the postseason, San Diego's defense got stingy, recording a season-high four takeaways against Cincinnati in the Wild Card Playoffs, and two more against Denver in the divisional round. In total, the Chargers recorded 16 takeaways in their last eight games of the year (playoffs included), more than double the team's total in the first 11 games. The Chargers won four of five in December to qualify for the playoffs. That month, the Chargers surrendered just 315.8 yards per game (sixth-fewest in the NFL) and 17.6 points per game (third-fewest in the NFL).

Pagano made an immediate impression in his first season as defensive coordinator in 2012 as the Chargers ranked ninth in total defense and sixth in run defense. The Chargers recorded 38 sacks, including a team-record-tying 11 during a Dec. road win against the New York Jets. The Bolts scored seven defensive touchdowns (five interceptions and two fumbles), second-most in the NFL and two shy of the team record of nine set in 1961.

Pagano originally joined the Chargers in 2002 as the team's quality control coach for the defense and he moved his way up the ranks. He began as an assistant linebackers coach before moving to outside linebackers and then ultimately to linebackers coach before moving into the coordinator's role in 2012. In 2010, the Chargers had the NFL's No. 1 ranked defense and the squad was second in the league in sacks. And from 2005-11 when Pagano worked with the team's linebackers, a player from that group led the team in tackles and sacks every season. One of Pagano's star pupils was three-time Pro Bowl outside linebacker Shawne Merriman, the NFL's Defensive Rookie of the Year in 2005 and the NFL's leader in sacks in 2006.

A native of Boulder, Colo., Pagano was an all-state linebacker at Fairview High School. He played at Mesa State from 1985-88, earning a degree in business marketing.

John's older brother, Chuck, is the head coach of the Indianapolis Colts. Both John and Chuck played for their father, Sam, at Fairview High. Sam spent 26 years as the head coach at Fairview, winning three state titles, and he also coached internationally in Taiwan, Germany, France and Italy.

Pagano formerly served as a co-host of the Flavors of the Gaslamp, an event that raised funds and awareness for Multiple Sclerosis.

Pagano and wife, Kimberly, have two sons: Jagger and Brody.

John Pagano's Coaching Experience

1989 — Assistant Coach, Mesa State College
 1990-91 — Grad. Assistant, University of Nevada-Las Vegas
 1992-93 — Asst. Coach, Overland High School, Aurora, Colo.
 1994 — Graduate Assistant, Louisiana Tech
 1995 — Graduate Assistant, University of Mississippi
 1996-97 — Defensive Assistant, New Orleans Saints

1998-01 — Defensive Assistant, Indianapolis Colts

 2005-06 — Asst. Linebackers-Quality Control, S.D. Chargers
 2007-08 — Outside Linebackers, San Diego Chargers
 2008-11 — Linebackers, San Diego Chargers
 2012-16 — Defensive Coordinator, San Diego Chargers

KEN WHISENHUNT

Offensive Coordinator
29th NFL Season
2nd season with Chargers

In January, the Chargers reached an agreement with veteran NFL coach Ken Whisenhunt to return to San Diego as offensive coordinator. He returns to man the post he held in 2013 when the Chargers went 9-7, defeated the Cincinnati Bengals, 27-10, on the road in the Wild Card Playoffs and advanced to the AFC's Divisional Playoff round.

After leaving San Diego, Whisenhunt was the head coach of the Tennessee Titans in 2014 and for the first eight weeks of the 2015 season.

Quarterback Philip Rivers enjoyed one of the finest seasons of his NFL career while working in tandem with Whisenhunt. Rivers was named NFL Comeback Player of the Year and selected to the Pro Bowl after completing a team-record and NFL-leading 69.5 pct. of his passes for 4,478 yards with 32 touchdowns and just 11 interceptions for a team-record-tying 105.5 passer rating. Rivers completed a then-team-record 378 passes while setting a team record with three 400-yard passing games and he became the first quarterback in team history to throw for more than 400 yards in consecutive games. Rivers passed for more than 390 yards four times, tying Dan Marino (1984) and Joe Montana (1990) for the most in a season in NFL history and he also made history, joining Brett Favre (2009) and Drew Brees (2011) as the only quarterbacks in NFL history to complete at least 20 passes and 80 percent of their pass attempts three times in a season.

A former NFL tight end and H-Back with the Atlanta Falcons, Washington Redskins and New York Jets, Whisenhunt, spent the 2007-12 seasons as the head coach of the Arizona Cardinals. He won a franchise-record 49 games during his time in Arizona and went 4-2 in the postseason, including an appearance in Super Bowl XLIII after a team-record 12-win season in 2008.

Before he became a head coach, Whisenhunt spent 10 NFL seasons as an assistant coach, including six as a tight ends coach (Baltimore 1997-98, New York Jets 2000 and Pittsburgh 2001-03), one as a special teams coach (Cleveland 1999) and three as an offensive coordinator (Pittsburgh 2004-06). At the conclusion of his second season with the Steelers (2005), Whisenhunt won a Super Bowl ring when Pittsburgh defeated Seattle, 21-10, in Super Bowl XL. The Steelers drafted quarterback Ben Roethlisberger in Whisenhunt's first season as offensive coordinator (2004) and he helped coach "Big Ben" into one of the NFL's top signal-callers.

Whisenhunt worked with another star quarterback in Arizona in Kurt Warner, who helped lead the Cardinals to their Super Bowl appearance and back-to-back NFC West titles in 2008-09. It marked the Cardinals' first division titles since 1975 and their first back-to-back division crowns since 1974-75. Whisenhunt and Warner spent three seasons together (2007-09), during which time Warner passed for 11,753 yards and 83 touchdowns, including a team-record 30 touchdowns and 4,583 yards (second in team history) in 2008. Arizona's 2008 squad scored a franchise-record 427 points, one year after their 2007 squad set a franchise mark with 32 passing touchdowns and 404 points, second-most in team history.

Whisenhunt's first three seasons in Arizona produced records of 8-8 (2007), 9-7 (2008) and 10-6 (2009) as he became the first Cardinals coach to go .500 or better in his first three seasons with the team. The Cardinals were one of the NFL's best home teams under Whisenhunt as they combined to go 33-18 at University of Phoenix Stadium, including 3-0 in the playoffs. They were .500 or better in each of his six seasons as head coach, the longest such streak in franchise history. The Cardinals won an NFL-record four games in overtime in 2011 to improve Whisenhunt's record in OT contests to 7-2.

A native of Augusta, Georgia, Whisenhunt played quarterback and tight end at Georgia Tech from 1980-84. In 1985, the Falcons drafted him in the 12th round and he played nine seasons in the NFL, including four with the Falcons (1985-88), two with the Washington Redskins (1989-90) and three with the New York Jets (1991-93). Whisenhunt played in 74 games during his career and caught 62 passes for 601 yards and six scores.

Whisenhunt earned a degree in civil engineering from Georgia Tech and entered the coaching field in 1995, spending two seasons as the special teams and tight ends coach at Vanderbilt. After two years in Nashville, he landed his first NFL coaching job with Baltimore in 1997.

Whisenhunt is an avid golfer. As a teen, he worked the 18th-hole manual scoreboard at the Masters golf tournament. He's played the course on a number of occasions, including May 2008 when he shot an even par 72 that featured an eagle two on the par-4 11th hole. Whisenhunt contemplated a career in professional golf and after retiring as a player in 1993, he spent a year away from football and played golf extensively, including competing in the '94 U.S. Mid-Amateur at the Hazeltine National Golf Club in Chaska, Minnesota. Whisenhunt's best career score is a 65 and he has made two holes in one during his lifetime. He also technically had a third, but it went for a three on his scorecard after his original tee shot went in the water for a penalty.

Whisenhunt and his wife, Alice, have a son, Kenneth, Jr., and a daughter, Mary Ashley.

CRAIG AUKERMAN

Special Teams Coordinator
7th NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

After spending three seasons as the Chargers' assistant special teams coach, Craig Aukerman was promoted to special teams coordinator in 2016. It's a role he also filled on an interim basis for seven games in 2015.

Josh Lambo was the top rookie kicker in the NFL in 2015 with 106 points. He ranked second in the League among rookies with a team-record 41 touchbacks, while fellow rookie Nick Dzubnar led the team in special teams tackles. Meanwhile, Darrell Stuckey, a Pro Bowl performer in 2014, was named Special Teams Player of the Year for the second time in three seasons after finishing second to Dzubnar in tackles.

A native of McComb, Ohio, Aukerman was a two-time NAIA All-America at the University of Findlay (Ohio) where he played defensive back and wide receiver from 1995-98, while also contributing on special teams. He graduated in 1999 with a degree in elementary education and a year later began coaching as the school's wide receivers coach.

Aukerman spent the next 10 seasons coaching collegiately before making a leap to the NFL as a defensive assistant with the Denver Broncos in 2010. He spent one year with the Broncos where he worked on the same staff as Chargers Head Coach Mike McCoy. Aukerman next spent two seasons in Jacksonville, including 2012 as assistant special teams coach when rookie punter Bryan Anger led all NFL rookies and ranked sixth in the NFL with a 47.8-yard average.

Aukerman and his wife, Summer, have two sons: Cayden and Bryce.

2016 — Special Teams Coordinator, San Diego Chargers

BOB BABICH

Linebackers
14th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

In January, the Chargers hired former Jacksonville Jaguars Defensive Coordinator Bob Babich to coach the team's linebackers.

Babich owns an impressive resume that includes 33 years of coaching experience, including the last three (2013-15) at the helm of Jacksonville's defense, during which time the Jaguars posted some impressive numbers. From 2013-15, they led the NFL with 28 sack-fumbles, including a league-leading 12 in 2014, and they tied for fifth in the NFL in total forced fumbles (31). They not only created fumbles at a record rate, but recovered them as well. During those three years, Jacksonville's defense tied for the NFL lead with five fumble recovery touchdowns and they ranked fifth in the NFL with 31 total fumble recoveries. And besides their ball-hawking, the Jaguars played outstanding run defense, ranking ninth in the NFL from 2013-15 in fewest yards per carry (3.98) while tying for fifth in tackles for loss (141).

Prior to working in Jacksonville, Babich spent nine seasons (2004-12) with the Chicago Bears, including six as linebackers coach (2004-06 and 2010-12) and three (2007-09) as defensive coordinator. During that time, the Bears won three NFC North titles. In 2006, Babich added the title of assistant head coach to his resume and the Bears reached the Super Bowl for the first time in 21 years.

During Babich's tenure in Chicago, the Bears' linebacking corps was arguably the most productive in the NFL as Lance Briggs (seven) and Brian Urlacher (four) combined to make 11 Pro Bowls. Urlacher was named the 2005 NFL Defensive Player of the Year, and in 2007 he became just the third player in franchise history to record five sacks and five interceptions in a single season. And Briggs joined Hall of Famers Mike Singletary, Dick Butkus and Bill George as the only Bears linebackers to be selected to seven straight Pro Bowls.

Babich began his NFL coaching career in 2003 as the linebackers coach in St. Louis and the Rams' defense was outstanding. The Rams led the NFL with 46 takeaways, including a league-leading 22 fumble recoveries, and ranked fourth in sacks.

Prior to entering the NFL coaching ranks, Babich spent 19 years as a college coach, including six (1997-02) as the head coach North Dakota State. Babich led NDSU to a 46-22 mark that included five winning seasons and two NCAA Division-II playoff appearances. The Bison went 9-2 in Babich's first season in 1997, and they went 12-1 in 2000, reaching the national semifinals before losing to the eventual national champion, Delta State. Babich's son, Bobby, played for his dad as a freshman at NDSU.

Babich's other collegiate stops included Tulsa, Wisconsin, Bowling Green, East Carolina and Pittsburgh.

A native of Aliquippa, Pa., Babich played two seasons at Mesa (Arizona) Community College before transferring to the University of Tulsa for his final two seasons. He and his wife, Nancy, have a son, Bobby, who is married to Lacey, a daughter, Janie, who is married to Cameron, and four grandchildren: Lainey, Bray, Charliejane and Luella.

Bob Babich's Coaching Experience

1984-87 — Graduate Assistant, University of Tulsa
1988 — Assistant Offensive Line, University of Wisconsin
1989 — Tight Ends, University of Wisconsin
1990 — Volunteer Asst./Offensive Line, University of Tulsa
1991 — Linebackers, Bowling Green State University
1992-93 — Linebackers, East Carolina University
1994-96 — Linebackers, University of Pittsburgh

1997-02 — Head Coach, North Dakota State University
2003 — Linebackers, St. Louis Rams
2004-06 — Linebackers, Chicago Bears
2007-09 — Defensive Coordinator, Chicago Bears
2010-12 — Linebackers, Chicago Bears

JEFF DAVIDSON

Offensive Line
26th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

In January, the Chargers hired Jeff Davidson to coach the offensive line.

Davidson joined the Chargers from Minnesota, where he spent the 2011-15 seasons coaching the Vikings' offensive line. In 2015, the Vikings won the NFC North with a record of 11-5 and Adrian Peterson rushed for 1,485 yards and 11 touchdowns to claim the NFL's rushing title. As a team, Minnesota rushed for 2,211 yards behind Davidson's offensive line, to rank fourth in the NFL.

During Davidson's five seasons with the Vikings, Minnesota cumulatively led the NFL in per-rush average (4.2), ranked second in yards (11,048) and third in rushing touchdowns (87).

Davidson's offensive line enjoyed its finest season in Minnesota in 2012, the year Peterson was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year. His charges helped Peterson rush for a league-leading 2,097 yards, the second-highest single-season total in NFL history. Three times in 2012, the Vikings' line earned the Madden Most Valuable Protector's award that was presented by the Hall of Fame coach to the top offensive line each week of the season. Center John Sullivan earned All-Pro honors, while Matt Kalil was a late addition to the Pro Bowl and selected as an all-rookie honoree after joining Todd Steussie (1994) as the Vikings' only rookie tackles to start every game during the 16-game era.

Davidson came to Minnesota from Carolina where he was the offensive coordinator for the Panthers from 2007-10. During his first two seasons in Carolina (2007-08), Chargers' Head Coach Mike McCoy was the Panthers' quarterbacks coach and passing-game coordinator. The Panthers reached their high-water mark in 2008 when they went 12-4 en route to capturing the NFC South title as DeAngelo Williams rushed for a franchise-record 1,515 yards and scored 18 touchdowns. In 2009, Carolina's offense featured a pair of 1,000-yard rushers in Williams and Jonathan Stewart.

Davidson is a former Ohio State offensive lineman who played in the NFL with Denver (1990-92) and New Orleans (1994) after being selected by the Broncos in the fifth-round of the 1990 NFL Draft. During the 1991-92 seasons, he started 16 games for the Broncos at left tackle and left guard, respectively, and in 1991 he helped protect John Elway's blind-side as Denver reached the AFC Championship Game. Davidson concluded his playing career in New Orleans in 1994 and jumped into coaching a year later. He started with the Saints as a volunteer assistant and offensive assistant, before being hired to coach in both New England and Cleveland.

In New England, Davidson worked under both Pete Carroll and Bill Belichick. He started his career in '97 as the Patriots' tight ends coach during a season in which Ben Coates earned a Pro Bowl nod after leading the team in receptions and from 2001-04, Davidson won three championship rings as the Patriots claimed victories in Super Bowls XXXVI, XXXVIII and XXXIX.

In Cleveland, Davidson was the Browns' offensive line coach. During his first season (2005), Reuben Droughns rushed for a team-leading 1,232 yards to become the Browns' first 1,000-yard rusher since 1985.

A native of Akron, Ohio, Davidson was an All-Big Ten choice and a team captain as a senior at Ohio State. His father, Jim, was an All-America linebacker and former team captain for the Buckeyes. The Davidsons became the first father-son team captains in school history. Jeff's brother, Jim, also played linebacker for the scarlet and gray.

Davidson and his wife, Judi, have two sons: Nick and A.J. Nick is a redshirt junior at Stanford who recently played in the Cardinal's victory over Iowa in the 2016 Rose Bowl.

DAVE DeGUGLIELMO

Assistant Offensive Line
12th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

DeGuglielmo (day-GHOUL-yell-mo) joined the Chargers in 2016 as assistant offensive line coach.

He is a veteran coach with 11 NFL seasons and two Super Bowl championships under his belt. DeGuglielmo spent the 2014-15 seasons in New England as the Patriots' offensive line coach. In 2014, the Patriots allowed just 26 sacks, tied for fourth-fewest in the NFL, as they went 12-4 and captured the AFC East title which set the stage for a victory over Seattle in Super Bowl XLIX. In 2015, the Patriots again went 12-4 and advanced to the AFC Championship Game where just two points, a 20-18 defeat, kept them from a second-straight Super Bowl appearance.

DeGuglielmo began his NFL coaching career with the New York Giants in 2004. He spent five seasons with the Giants (2004-08), three with the Miami Dolphins (2009-11) and one with the New York Jets (2012) prior to his joining the Patriots. In 2007, DeGuglielmo was an assistant offensive line coach for a Giants team that defeated New England, 17-14, in Super Bowl XLII and in 2008, the Giants rushed for a franchise-record 2,518 yards. In Miami, tackle Jake Long started three straight Pro Bowls under DeGuglielmo's guidance and in New York, the Jets boasted the NFL's 12th-ranked rushing attack.

A native of Lexington, Massachusetts, DeGuglielmo was a first-team All-New England guard and center at Boston University (1987-90) and a two-time Yankee Conference All-Academic selection. He earned both bachelor's and master's degrees from BU. DeGuglielmo began his coaching career at Boston College (1991-92), where he worked under long-time New York Giants Head Coach Tom Coughlin. From Boston College, DeGuglielmo went on to coach at Boston University (1993-96), Connecticut (1997-98) and South Carolina (1999-03). At Connecticut, the Huskies' 1998 squad became the first in school history to reach the

CHRIS HARRIS

Assistant Defensive Backs
11th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

Former NFL safety Chris Harris joined the Chargers in February as assistant secondary coach.

He most recently served as the defensive quality control coach for the Chicago Bears (2013-14), where he worked primarily with the team's safeties.

An eight-year NFL pro, Harris was a sixth-round pick by the Bears (181st overall) in 2005. He played four seasons with the Bears over two separate stints from 2005-06 and 2010-11. Harris was named second-team All-Pro by the Associated Press in 2010 and he was named one of the Bears' Brian Piccolo Award winners as a rookie in 2005. Besides Chicago, Harris also played for the Carolina Panthers (2007-09), Detroit Lions (2011) and Jacksonville Jaguars (2012), totaling 422 tackles, 16 interceptions, 13 forced fumbles, nine fumble recoveries and 37 passes defended. He appeared in 101 career games and made 88 starts. In 2007, Harris racked-up a franchise-record eight forced fumbles for the Panthers.

Harris started seven playoff games during his career, including Super Bowl XLI for the Bears. During that game, he famously intercepted Colts quarterback Peyton Manning. Harris' career postseason statistics include 48 tackles, one interception and two forced fumbles.

A native of Little Rock, Arkansas, Harris played collegiately at Louisiana-Monroe (2001-04). He still ranks fourth in school history in career tackles (383) and third in interceptions (14), including a school-record-tying seven in 2004.

Harris and his wife, Kenetria, have three sons - Jayce, Jaxon and Jett - and a daughter, Skylar.

KENT JOHNSTON

Strength & Conditioning
24th NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

Johnston joined the Chargers in 2013 after spending three seasons leading the strength and conditioning program for the Cleveland Browns.

He began his NFL career with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in 1987. Johnston later spent seven seasons in Green Bay (1992-98), during which time the Packers won three NFC Central titles, went to the playoffs six times and played in two Super Bowls, including a victory in Super Bowl XXXI.

In 1999, Johnston followed former Packers head coach

Mike Holmgren to Seattle, where he spent five seasons (1999-03), while the Seahawks made two playoff appearances. Johnston worked two years as the strength and conditioning coach at the University of Alabama (2004-05) before leaving football to work in the non-profit and business sectors. In 2010, he returned to the NFL with the Browns.

A native of Mexia, Texas, Johnston graduated from Stephen F. Austin University and he earned a master's in physical education from Alabama in 1984. He began coaching high school football in Teague, Texas in 1978 and continued to coach in high school and college, including a four-year stint at Alabama from 1983-86.

In 1997, Johnston was named the Strength and Conditioning Coach of the Year by the Professional Football Strength and Conditioning Coaches Society. In 2005, he was inducted into the Strength and Conditioning Hall of Fame in York, Pa.,

Johnston and his wife, Pam, have four sons: Kody, Kole, Clay and Cade.

BOBBY KING

Assistant Linebackers
7th NFL Season
3rd season with Chargers

King is in his third season as assistant linebackers coach.

In 2015, inside linebackers Manti Te'o and rookie Denzel Perryman finished 1-2 on the team in tackles, while outside linebacker Melvin Ingram paced the squad with and tied for 12th in the NFL with 10.5 sacks. Ingram also led the Chargers in tackles for loss, forced fumbles and quarterback hits.

King joined the Chargers after spending three seasons with the Houston Texans, including two (2012-13) as their assistant linebackers coach. In 2013, inside linebacker Darryl Sharpton led the Texans in tackles and linebackers comprised three of the team's five leading tacklers.

Bobby King's Coaching Experience

2002-03 — Student Assistant, University of Texas-El Paso
2005 — Defensive Line, West Texas A&M University
2006-07 — Graduate Assistant (Defensive Line), Baylor Univ.
2008-09 — Defensive Line, West Texas A&M University

A native of Louisville, Ky., King was a three-year letter-winner and a two-year starter on the defensive line at the University of Texas-El Paso. It's also where he made his start in coaching, serving as a student assistant working with the defensive line from 2002-03.

In 2005, King landed his first full-time job at West Texas A&M where he was part of a team that captured the Lone Star Conference championship and earned the school's first-ever NCAA Division II playoff appearance. In 2006, he moved on to Baylor for two seasons before returning to West Texas A&M in 2008. In 2009, the Buffaloes reached their first bowl game since 1967.

King secured his first NFL job with Dallas in 2010 and a year later he joined the Texans. In Houston, he was part of a defensive staff that oversaw the third-largest turnaround since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. In 2010, the Texans were 30th in the NFL in total defense (376.9 yards per game) and in 2011, King's first season, Texans improved to second in the league at 285.7 yards per game.

King and his wife, Elizabeth, have two children, son Jackson Robert and daughter Chloe Elizabeth.

RICK LYLE

Assistant Strength & Conditioning
21st NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

Lyle joined the Chargers in 2013 after four seasons as the assistant strength and conditioning coach with the Cleveland Browns. He is a former NFL player with a Super Bowl title on his resume. Lyle played with Cleveland (1994-95), Baltimore (1996), the New York Jets (1997-01) and New England (2002-03), winning a championship with the Patriots in his final season. Lyle began his coaching career in 2006 as the assistant strength and conditioning coach, and nutrition coordinator for the Jets.

Lyle was born in Monroe, La., and grew up in Kansas City, Mo. He was a football, track and wrestling standout at Hickman Mills (Mo.) High School, where he was a two-time state champion in the shot put. He also finished fifth in the state tournament as a heavyweight wrestler. Lyle went to the University of Missouri and starred along the Tigers' defensive line, tallying 18 career sacks, including a team-leading eight during his senior season. He also competed in track and field at Missouri, earning All-America honors in the shot put. Lyle graduated from Missouri with a degree in parks, recreation and tourism, and he joined the Browns in 1994 as an undrafted college free agent, spending two years with the Browns before they moved to Baltimore in 1996 and became the Ravens.

Lyle and wife, Laura, have two daughters, Haley and Audrey.

JOHN McNULTY

Tight Ends
14th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

John McNulty joined the Chargers in 2016 as the team's tight ends coach.

McNulty joined the Chargers from Tennessee, where he spent the last two seasons (2014-15) mentoring the Titans' quarterbacks. In 2015, McNulty was responsible for overseeing the development of Marcus Mariota, the second overall pick in last year's NFL Draft. Mariota was the highest rated rookie passer (91.5) in the NFL in 2015 as he completed 62.2 percent of his passes (230 of 370) for 2,818 yards with 19 touchdowns and only 10 interceptions on his way to earning All-Rookie honors.

Prior to Tennessee, McNulty worked as an assistant coach with Arizona (2009-12) and Tampa Bay (2013). He coached wide receivers for three seasons (2009-11) and quarterbacks for one (2012) with the Cardinals. Wide receiver Larry Fitzgerald was a three-time Pro Bowler, a two-time All-Pro and the NFL's leader in touchdown receptions (2010) under McNulty's watch. In Tampa Bay, McNulty was the Buccaneers' quarterbacks coach who saw Mike Glennon earn all-rookie honors after recording the season's highest passer rating among rookies while setting team rookie records for passing yards and touchdowns.

McNulty coached with Chargers offensive coordinator Ken Whisenunt in both Tennessee and Arizona.

A former safety at Penn State (1988-90) who played on two bowl teams while earning a degree in business management, McNulty began his coaching career in 1991 as a graduate assistant at Michigan. He spent four seasons with the Wolverines (1991-94) before catching on at Connecticut from 1995-97. In 1998, he moved up to the NFL as a quality control coach with the Jacksonville Jaguars. He spent five seasons in Jacksonville and in 2003, he spent a year as the wide receivers coach for the Dallas Cowboys. McNulty returned to the college ranks at Rutgers in 2004. He served in a variety of capacities for the Scarlet Knights, including offensive coordinator. Rutgers' 2007 squad set school records for total offense, points and first downs, while the unit became the first in NCAA history to feature a 3,000-yard passer (Mike Teel), a 2,000-yard rusher (Ray Rice) and two 1,000-yard receivers (Kenny Britt and Tiquan Underwood) in a single season.

McNulty is a native of Scranton, Pennsylvania. He and wife, Kim, have four daughters: Abigail, Allison, Megan and Kaitlyn.

RON MILUS

Defensive Backs
17th NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

Chargers Defensive Backs Coach Ron Milus added another Pro Bowl performer to his stable in 2015 when cornerback Jason Verrett made his first appearance in the NFL's all-star contest after leading the team in interceptions and passes defended. In total, the Bolts' defensive backs were responsible for eight of the team's 11 interceptions and 46 passes defended.

Under Milus, the Chargers ranked fourth in the NFL in pass defense in 2014. Safety Eric Weddle was voted to his second-straight Pro Bowl along with being named first-team All-Pro after leading the team with 110 tackles. It was the second year in a row that Weddle paced the squad in stops. Cornerback Brandon Flowers, a late free-agent signee, led the squad in interceptions and passes defended as the secondary combined to record 42 passes defended on the season.

During Milus' first season with the Chargers in 2013, the defense recorded 10 interceptions in their last nine games of the season, playoffs included, after intercepting just four in the season's first nine games. The unit combined to break up 44 passes on the year, including a season-high 11 in a key December win against the New York Giants and eight more in the Bolts' Wild Card win in Cincinnati.

A native of Tacoma, Wash., Milus was a cornerback and return specialist at the University of Washington in the mid-1980s. He moved into coaching in 1988, starting at Tacoma's Lincoln High School. That led to a graduate assistant's position at Washington and then ultimately a seven-year stint as the Huskies' defensive backs coach. Washington made two Rose Bowl appearances during Milus' tenure and led the nation with 22 interceptions in 1993.

Milus moved on to the NFL in 2000, joining the Denver Broncos as defensive backs coach. In his first season, the secondary racked up 21 interceptions, its highest total since 1987. A year later in 2001, cornerback Delta O'Neal made the Pro Bowl after tying for third in the NFL with nine interceptions. Milus spent three seasons in Denver before splitting time between Arizona, the New York Giants, St. Louis and Carolina. He returned to Denver for a second stint in 2011.

In 2012, the Broncos led the NFL in fewest yards allowed per pass play. They ranked second in total defense and third in pass defense en route to winning the AFC West with a 13-3 record and earning the top seed in the AFC playoffs. Cornerback Chris Harris returned two of his three interceptions for touchdowns and veteran corner Champ Bailey was selected to the Pro Bowl for the 12th time in his career.

Milus and wife, Sandra, have two sons: Ryan and Bobby.

TOMMY REES

Offensive Assistant
1st NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

Former Notre Dame quarterback Tommy Rees joined the Chargers in 2016 as an offensive assistant.

He most recently coached at Northwestern University where he started in December 2014 as an offensive graduate assistant. In 2015, the Wildcats went 10-3 and finished the year ranked No. 23 in the final Associated Press Top-25 poll.

A native of Lake Bluff, Illinois, Rees played quarterback at Notre Dame from 2010-13. Several of his former Notre Dame teammates now play for the Chargers, including centers Trevor Robinson and Chris Watt, and inside linebacker Manti Te'o. Rees and Watt were actually roommates in South Bend. Rees started for the Irish as a sophomore and a senior, throwing for 2,871 yards and 20 touchdowns as a sophomore in 2011, and 3,257 yards with 27 touchdowns as a senior. He finished his career having played in 46 career games with 31 starts and he was 23-8 as a starter. Rees completed 627 of 1048 (59.8 pct) of his pass attempts for 7,670 yards and 61 touchdowns during his Irish career.

After graduating with a degree in management consulting, Rees signed with the Washington Redskins in 2014 but was released by the team shortly thereafter.

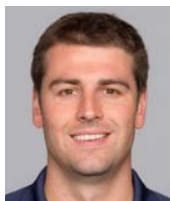

Rees' brother, Danny, was a punter and holder at UCLA. Their father, Bill, was a college quarterback at Ohio Wesleyan, who later coached at Northwestern (1976-78) and UCLA (1979-93). Bill Rees also worked in scouting and pro personnel for the Chicago Bears, Cleveland Browns, Kansas City Chiefs and San Francisco 49ers.

MARK RIDGLEY

Quality Control—Offense/
Special Assistant to the Head Coach
5th NFL Season
5th season with Chargers

After spending four seasons as a special assistant in an administrative capacity and assisting with the Chargers' running backs, Mark Ridgley was promoted to quality control coach for the offense in 2016. He will continue to work with Ollie Wilson and the team's running backs.

In 2015, Melvin Gordon led the team in rushing and Danny Woodhead paced the team in receptions, receiving yards and touchdown catches as he became the first running back in franchise history to lead the team in all three categories.

Ridgley joined the Chargers in 2012, spending two seasons as a coaching administrative assistant before being promoted to special assistant to the head coach in 2014. He will continue to work closely with Head Coach Mike McCoy in handling day-to-day responsibilities, including scheduling.

Ridgley began his career as an academic graduate assistant at the University of Pittsburgh before accepting a position as the defensive graduate assistant at Central Michigan University. Chargers safety Jahleel Addae played for the Chippewas during Ridgley's tenure on the staff.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Ridgley earned a degree in economics from the University of Pittsburgh while working as a student manager for the Panthers' football team. He also received a master's of education from Central Michigan.

Ridgley and wife, Casey, were married in 2015.

CHRIS SHULA

Quality Control—Defense
2nd NFL Season
2nd season with Chargers

Chris Shula is in his second season as the Chargers' defensive quality control coach. He assists the defensive coaching staff in many capacities, while also assisting with the defensive line.

Shula came to the Chargers from John Carroll University, where he served as the defensive coordinator in 2014. In his lone season at John Carroll, the Blue Streaks went 11-2 and reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Division III playoffs after ranking seventh in Division III in total defense and 10th in scoring defense. At the conclusion of the Blue Streaks' season, the National Football Foundation of Northeast Ohio honored Shula for the team's outstanding defensive performance.

A linebacker at Miami (Ohio) University, Shula was a member of MAC East championship teams in 2004, '05 and '07. He was named to the 2009 National Strength and Conditioning Association All-America Team. A Dean's List student with a 4.0 GPA, Shula earned his bachelor's degree from Miami in 2008 and his master's in education at the University of Oklahoma in 2010.

Shula began coaching in 2010. He spent a year at Ball State as assistant linebackers coach before spending 2011-13 as an assistant working with defensive backs at Indiana University.

Shula is the son of former NFL head coach David Shula and grandson of former Miami Dolphins and NFL Hall of Fame head coach Don Shula. The Shulas are just the second three-generation coaching family in NFL history.

NICK SIRIANNI

Wide Receivers
8th NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

After two seasons as quarterbacks coach, including a record-breaking 2015 season for quarterback Philip Rivers, Nick Sirianni will coach the Bolts' wide receivers in 2016.

A former wide receiver at the University of Mount Union, Sirianni coached wide receivers collegiately and for the Kansas City Chiefs prior to catching on with the Chargers.

Rivers posted outstanding numbers with Sirianni as the Chargers' quarterbacks coach. In 2015, he set new franchise marks for attempts and completions, while passing for 4,792 yards, 10 shy of the franchise record. Rivers set a team-record with five-straight 300-yard games in 2015, including the first 500-yard game in team history, and he threw 29 touchdown passes. In 2014, Rivers went to the Pro Bowl after completing a then-team-record 379 passes and ranking in the NFL's top 10 in completion percentage, yards, touchdown passes and third-down passer rating.

Sirianni joined the Chargers in 2013 after spending four seasons in Kansas City. From 2009-11, he was an offensive quality control coach for the Chiefs and in 2012 he coached the team's wide receivers. In 2010, Sirianni worked with the Chiefs' quarterbacks and helped Matt Cassel achieve All-Pro honors. Upon arriving in San Diego, Sirianni served as the Chargers' offensive quality control coach in 2013 and in 2014 he was promoted to quarterbacks coach.

A native of Jamestown, N.Y., Sirianni won three NCAA Division III National Championships (2000-02) as a wide receiver at the University of Mount Union in Alliance, Ohio. A three-year starter, he earned All-Ohio Athletic Conference honors as a senior after a career-high 13 touchdown catches. Sirianni spent one season (2005) playing in the Atlantic Indoor Football League with the Canton Legends before transitioning into coaching. He coached defensive backs at Mt. Union during the 2004-05 seasons and helped lead the Purple Raiders to another national title in 2005.

Sirianni's brother, Mike, is the head coach at Washington and Jefferson College in Washington, Pa. A six-time Presidents' Athletic Conference Coach of the Year, including 2012-14, Sirianni owns a .810 winning percentage (119-28), which is the highest in school history. Brother, Jay, is a former head coach at their alma mater, Southwestern Central High School in Jamestown where their father, Fran, also spent nine years as the varsity head coach. Under Jay, Southwestern Central won New York state championships in 2008 and '09. He stepped down from coaching at Southwestern Central in 2015.

Sirianni and his wife, Brett, have a son, Jacob.

GIFF SMITH

Defensive Line
6th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

Giff Smith joins the Chargers from Tennessee, where he spent the last two years (2014-15) coaching the defensive line. In 2014, Smith helped the Titans implement a 3-4 defense and defensive tackle Jurrell Casey posted a career-high 13 tackles for loss. In 2015, Tennessee's defense ranked eighth in the NFL in rush average (3.89) and their 39 defensive sacks tied for 12th in the league. The defensive line accounted for 13.5 sacks in 2015, including a team-high-tying seven by Casey, who was selected to his first career Pro Bowl.

Smith has been a coach for 23 years, including five in the NFL. He spent 2010-12 as the defensive line coach for the Buffalo Bills in his first NFL coaching assignment. During those three years, defensive tackle Kyle Williams was selected to the first two Pro Bowls of his career and defensive end Mario Williams had a 10.5 sack season.

Before making the leap to the NFL, Smith spent 19 years in the college arena. Six of these seasons (2004-09) were spent as the defensive line coach at Georgia Tech. In 2007, the Yellow Jackets led the nation in sacks (47) and ranked second in tackles for loss. One of Smith's top players at Georgia Tech was Joe Anoa'i, a first-team All-ACC pick in 2006. Anoa'i, who is now known as Roman Reigns, won World Wrestling Entertainment's (WWE) heavyweight championship in April 2016. Three additional linemen who played for Smith at Georgia Tech were still playing in the NFL in 2015. They included Cincinnati's Michael Johnson, Denver's Vance Walker and Tennessee's Derrick Morgan.

Smith launched his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Arkansas (1991-93) and Georgia (1994-95) before spending three seasons (1996-98) coaching wide receivers and the secondary at his alma mater, Georgia Southern. Smith also spent five seasons (1999-03) coaching the defensive line at Tulane.

A native of Mableton, Georgia, Smith was a three-time All-America defensive end at Georgia Southern. He was a team captain as a senior and a part of three NCAA I-AA national title teams (1986, 1989, 1990) for the Eagles. In 2000, he was inducted into Georgia Southern's Athletic Hall of Fame. Smith and his wife, Jennifer, have two children, Ava and Sam.

SHANE STEICHEN

Quarterbacks
6th NFL Season
5th season with Chargers

After five seasons as an assistant and quality control coach, Shane Steichen will coach quarterbacks for the Chargers in 2016.

The former collegiate quarterback spent the last two seasons (2014-15) as an offensive quality control coach, working primarily with the team's wide receivers.

In 2014, the Chargers were the only team in the NFL to feature four players with at least 778 yards receiving and four touchdown catches. Three of the four were wide receivers. The same four players each also finished the season with more than 50 catches, just the fourth time in franchise history that a team had four 50-catch players. In 2015, the Chargers were the only team in the NFL with seven players who each had at least 400 yards receiving and three touchdown catches. Four of the seven were again wide receivers.

A native of Sacramento, Steichen played quarterback at Oak Ridge High School in El Dorado Hills, Calif. He was named area MVP by the Sacramento Bee in 2002 after leading his squad to conference CIF sectional titles. Steichen went on to play collegiately at Nevada-Las Vegas, where he left as the school's 12th all-time leading passer. He earned a degree in journalism and media studies and after graduation, spent one season as a student assistant and two as an offensive graduate assistant at UNLV.

Steichen worked as an offensive assistant at Louisville in 2010 before spending 2011-12 as a defensive assistant with the Chargers. He then spent 2013 as an offensive quality control coach in Cleveland, working with the quarterbacks. Because of injuries, three Browns quarterbacks started multiple games that season with each passing for over 300 yards at least once. It marked the first time in franchise history and sixth time in NFL history that it had ever happened.

Steichen and wife, Nina, were married in 2012. They celebrated the birth of their first child, son Hudson, in February.

Steichen's older brother, Sean, punted at Boise State.

2013 — Quality Control–Offense, Cleveland Browns
2014-15 — Quality Control–Offense, San Diego Chargers
2016 — Quarterbacks, San Diego Chargers

MARQUICE WILLIAMS

Assistant Special Teams
1st NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

Marquice Williams joined the Chargers in 2016 as assistant special teams coach.

He came to San Diego by way of the University of South Dakota, where he coached from 2012-15, including 2015 as the Coyotes' special teams coordinator. Williams also coached outside linebackers and the defensive line at South Dakota. In 2012, linebacker Tyler Starr, a current member of the Atlanta Falcons, was named the Missouri Valley Conference's Defensive Player of the Year and in 2013, the Coyotes led the MVC in sacks and tackles for loss.

A native of Fresno, California, Williams was a two-year starter at defensive back and an academic all-conference performer at Fresno City College before moving on to the University of Mary (N.D.), where he was named first-team all-conference and all-region. He also earned his bachelor's degree in university studies from the University of Mary.

Williams began his coaching career in 2010 at Winona State before moving on to Central Oklahoma in 2011 and South Dakota in 2012.

In 2013, Williams was invited to participate in the NFL's Bill Walsh Minority Coaching Fellowship program with the Chicago Bears and in 2014, the Bears invited him back to serve as a coaching intern. During both stints in Chicago, Williams worked closely with Special Teams Coordinator Joe DeCamillis. In 2015, Williams completed a similar internship with the Detroit Lions.

Williams and his wife, Elizabeth, have three daughters – Elliana, Aubrey and Zea.

OLLIE WILSON

Running Backs
26th NFL Season
14th season with Chargers

One of the longest-tenured assistant coaches in franchise history, Ollie Wilson continues to demonstrate why he's one of the most highly-regarded running backs coaches in the National Football League.

The 2016 season will mark Wilson's 14th in San Diego. Since 2008, the Chargers have scored 87 rushing touchdowns on the ground and averaged more than 1,621 rushing yards per season, including a high of 1,965 in 2013.

The Chargers' stable of running backs in 2015 was led by rookie Melvin Gordon and veteran Danny Woodhead. Gordon led the team in rushing yards, while Woodhead paced the team in receptions, receiving yards and touchdown catches as he became the first running back in franchise history to lead the team in all three categories. Woodhead also led all NFL running backs in receiving yards and touchdown catches, while tying for the league lead in receptions. In addition, he established career highs in total touchdowns and scrimmage yards, leading the team in both categories.

In 2014, Wilson helped Brandon Oliver, an undrafted rookie from the University of Buffalo, become the team's leading rusher and a two-time winner of the NFL's Pepsi Rookie of the Week award. Wilson also made sure that his charges protected the football and the results were outstanding as the team's running backs didn't lose a single fumble in nearly 400 carries on the season.

During the Bolts' playoff season in 2013, the Chargers rushed for 1,965 yards, the eighth-highest total in franchise history. Playing his first season with the Chargers, Woodhead set then-career highs and finished the regular season with the most touchdown catches among NFL running backs and the second-most receptions and receiving yards.

A native of Worcester, Mass., Wilson was selected for induction into the 2014-15 Class of the Worcester Public Schools Athletic Hall of Fame. He lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track at Doherty High School before moving on to Springfield College where he became an honorable mention All-America wide receiver and earned bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education.

Wilson made inroads to the NFL by participating in the league's Minority Coaching Internship Program with both the Houston Oilers and Atlanta Falcons. He began his NFL coaching career with the Falcons in 1991 and from 1991-96, he mentored three 1,000-yard rushers, including the late Craig "Ironhead" Heyward, a Pro Bowl pick in 1995.

This is Wilson's second stint with the Chargers. The final year of his first was 2001, when LaDainian Tomlinson rushed for a team rookie-record 1,236 yards and 10 touchdowns in earning all-rookie and Pro Bowl alternate honors.

Wilson returned to Atlanta in 2002 and over the next six seasons, the Falcons rushed for an NFL-best 13,994 yards and set several team rushing records, including single-season rushing yards (2,939 in 2006) and touchdowns (23 in 2002).

Wilson is married to Nadine.

Ollie Wilson's Coaching Experience

1974 — Wide Receivers, Springfield College
1975-82 — Offensive Coordinator, Northeastern University
1983-90 — Running Backs, University of California-Berkeley
1991-96 — Running Backs, Atlanta Falcons

PLAYER PERSONNEL

JoJo WOODEN

Director of Player Personnel
20th NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

Wooden joined the Chargers in 2013 and oversees the team's pro and college scouting departments.

Prior to San Diego, he spent 16 seasons with the New York Jets (1997-12), including the last six as their assistant director, player personnel. He originally joined the Jets in 1997 and served as a pro personnel assistant (1997-98), pro scout (1999-00), senior pro scout/AFC (2001-02), assistant director of pro scouting (2003) and director of pro scouting (2004-06).

A native of Hartford, Conn., Wooden started two seasons at outside linebacker at Syracuse. The Orangemen went to five bowl games during his time with the team and posted back-to-back 10-2 seasons during his junior and senior seasons, finishing both years ranked nationally in the Top-10. After graduating with a degree in sociology, he went to training camp with the Arizona Cardinals in 1993.

Wooden and wife, Sarah, have two daughters.

Wooden's older brother, Terry, played nine seasons in the NFL as a linebacker, including one each with Oakland and Kansas City, and seven with Seattle. He currently works as a college scout for the New Orleans Saints.

LOUIS CLARK

Senior Director of Pro Personnel
20th NFL Season
1st season with Chargers

In May 2016, the Chargers hired Louis Clark as senior director of pro personnel. He most recently held the same position for the Philadelphia Eagles.

Clark originally joined the Eagles in 2013 as a pro scout after previously holding the position of director of pro personnel with the Jacksonville Jaguars. He spent 16 seasons in the Jaguars' player personnel department as a college scout, assistant director of pro personnel and director of pro personnel.

Prior to beginning his scouting career, Clark served as the running backs and special teams coach of the Amsterdam Admirals of NFL Europe in 1996. He also coached with the St. Louis Rams in 1996, assisting the wide receivers during training camp.

A native of Tupelo, Mississippi, Clark graduated from Mississippi State with a degree in educational psychology. He played wide receiver in Starkville from 1983-86 and was selected by the Seattle Seahawks in the 10th round of the 1987 NFL Draft. Clark played seven seasons in the NFL, including six with the Seahawks and one with the Green Bay Packers, before retiring after the 1993 season.

Clark's brother, Dave, played 13 seasons in Major League Baseball and is currently the third base coach of the Detroit Tigers.

DENNIS ABRAHAM

Director of Pro Scouting
21st NFL Season
16th season with Chargers

Dennis Abraham coordinates the procurement of players during free agency, while also scouting and evaluating players in the NFL and Canadian Football League. During the season, in addition to his role in player personnel, Abraham handles advance scouting of upcoming Chargers opponents.

Abraham spent five years in the personnel department for the Buffalo Bills, helping prepare the defensive game analysis for the coaches. He also served as the Bills' training camp coordinator from 1998-00.

Born in Buffalo, New York, Abraham attended Akron Central (N.Y.) High School, competing in football, basketball and baseball. He then played center and tackle at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, graduating in 1993 with a degree in sports management. In 2012, Abraham was inducted onto the Wall of Fame at Akron Central.

Abraham and wife, Amy, have two sons, D.J. and Dustyn.

KEVIN KELLY

Director of College Scouting
16th NFL Season
4th season with Chargers

Kelly joined the Chargers in 2013 from the New York Jets, where he spent the 2012 season as a personnel scout. He spent three seasons (2009-11) as an area scout with the Indianapolis Colts and eight seasons as an area scout with the Cleveland Browns (2001-08).

Kelly began his collegiate career as a linebacker at the University of Miami in 1983 when the Hurricanes won the national championship. In 1984, he transferred to Indiana where he played until 1987, captaining the Hoosiers' 1987 Peach Bowl team. Kelly earned a bachelor's degree in economics and a master's in sports marketing and management.

After graduating, Kelly spent 12 seasons coaching before becoming a scout. He started as a defensive graduate assistant at Indiana (1989-92) before coaching the defensive line at Lake Forest College in 1993, linebackers at John Carroll University in 1994, defensive coordinator at Case Western University in 1995 and head coach at St. Viator High School in Illinois from 1996-00.

Kelly and his wife Allison have two sons, Ryan and Payton, and a daughter, Abigail.

RANDY MUELLER

Senior Executive
31st NFL Season
9th season with Chargers

Randy Mueller scouts top player prospects throughout the country. He has 30 years of NFL experience, including two seasons as general manager of the New Orleans Saints (2000-01) and three with Miami (2005-07). During his first season as GM of the Saints, Mueller was named NFL Executive of the Year by The Sporting News. In between the Saints and Dolphins, he worked as an analyst at ESPN (2002-04).

Mueller spent 17 years with the Seattle Seahawks (1983-99), joining the club in '83 as a pro personnel assistant. In 1990, he was named pro personnel director and in '95 he was promoted to vice president of football operations. During his tenure with the Seahawks, Mueller was one of the key decision-makers instrumental in the acquisition of three future Hall of Fame players. They include quarterback Warren Moon, defensive tackle Cortez Kennedy and offensive tackle Walter Jones.

A native of St. Maries, Idaho, Mueller played quarterback at Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon. As a senior, he led the Wildcats to the NAIA Division II National Championship and was named MVP of the title game.

Mueller and his wife, Lori, have a daughter, Riley.

REGIS ELLER

Pro Scout
10th NFL Season
9th season with Chargers

In May 2016, Eller was named a pro scout after spending five years as an area scout.

Eller originally became an area scout for the Chargers in 2011 after working from 2008-10 as an administrative assistant in the coaching department. He began as the team's Northeast regional scout and was re-assigned to the Mid-Atlantic region in 2013.

Prior to working for the Chargers, Eller was an intern linebackers coach for the Minnesota Vikings in 2005. He also coached football at Breck High School in Minneapolis, where he attended and played linebacker. He later played linebacker at Northwestern University from 1999-00.

A native of Minneapolis, Eller's father, Carl Eller, played 16 NFL seasons, all but one with the Minnesota Vikings, and was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2004.

Eller and his wife, Nicole, live in San Diego.

TOM McCONNAUGHEY

National Scout
21st NFL Season
19th season with Chargers

One of the Chargers' longest-tenured scouts, Tom McConnaughey will work his 19th season for the organization in 2016. He has spent 39 years working in football, including five as a player, 14 as a coach and 20 as a scout.

McConnaughey originally joined the Chargers in 1998 after working for National Football Scouting in 1997. He spent 1998-99 as the team's combine scout before being promoted to Southwest area scout in 2000. McConnaughey scouted the southwest for eight years before being elevated to his current post, national scout, in 2008.

A native of Amarillo, Texas, McConnaughey played wide receiver at Spokane Falls Community College, the University of Oregon and Central Arkansas. He is enshrined in the Northwest Athletic Association of Community Colleges and Spokane Community College Halls of Fame. He was an all-conference wide receiver at Spokane Falls and Central Arkansas.

McConnaughey signed with the New Orleans Saints in 1981 and the New York Jets in 1982 before landing with the USFL's New Jersey Generals where he was a starting wide receiver during the 1983-84 seasons. He also signed with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1984 and Minnesota Vikings in 1985.

BILL JOHNSTON

Director of Public Relations

Johnston is in his 27th season as the Chargers' director of public relations and his 38th year with the team. He is responsible for managing the public image and overall communications strategy for the Chargers. This includes media relations and all organizational messaging. He is the team's primary liaison with the NFL's broadcast partners as well as local and national media outlets. Johnston served on the NFL's Public Relations Staff at Super Bowls XLV-XLIX (2011-15), serving as facilities coordinator of the National Media Center.

He joined the Chargers in 1979, earned a degree in journalism from San Diego State in 1981, and was named public relations assistant that year. He served as assistant director of public relations (1984-87) and director of community relations (1988-89). Among the team's many connections with the San Diego community, Johnston oversaw the creation of the Charger Girls in 1990. In 1995, he set up the team's charitable foundation. The Alex Spanos All-Star Classic high school football game is currently the longest-running all-star game in California and the Chargers' annual shoe distribution has benefitted tens of thousands of deserving youths for the past 27 years. Both were his creation.

Johnston was born in La Mesa, California, and attended Helix High School. Bill and his daughter, Hayley, were named National Fundraisers of the Year in 2013 by the Huntington's Disease Society of America and he was also honored by the national HDSEA in October 2008 for his support of the organization. While serving as president of the HDSEA's board of directors, the San Diego Chapter was named the national HDSEA Chapter of the Year in 2005 and '07. An avid runner, Johnston has run and raised money in 15 marathons, collecting more than $800,000 to cure Huntington's disease. Johnston and his wife, Ramona, have a son, Jared, and a daughter, Hayley.

JAHLEEL ADDAE

Safety
5-10, 195
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Free Agent - '13
Central Michigan
Riverview HS
Valrico, Fla.

One of the team's hardest hitters, Jahleel Addae became the Chargers' starting strong safety in 2015 and he had one of his best seasons. His 65 tackles ranked sixth on the team.

Addae joined the Chargers as an undrafted rookie from Central Michigan in 2013. He made the team's opening-day roster and, early on, his primary role was on special teams. As the coaching staff gained more confidence in his ability, late in the year, Addae became a defensive regular. He made a number of big plays late in the season and led the secondary with 13 tackles in the playoffs. When the Chargers beat Kansas City in their regular-season finale to qualify for the playoffs for the first time since 2009, Addae made a key third-down pass breakup during the Bolts' game-winning defensive stand. In the postseason, he had a key fumble recovery in the team's AFC Wild Card Playoff win at Cincinnati and a forced fumble a week later in the divisional playoffs at Denver.

While Addae enjoyed success on the field in 2013, he faced personal adversity at home. At the same time he was trying to make inroads with the Chargers, Addae learned that his mother, Jennifer, was battling breast cancer back in their hometown of Valrico, Florida. Thankfully, today she is cancer free.

In 2014, he showed his appreciation for her courage in battling the disease by serving as an honorary chair for the 2014 & 2015 Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure.

Addae's older brother, Jahmile, was a four-year starter at West Virginia. After a brief NFL career, Jahmile transitioned into coaching and he is now coaching safeties at the University of Arizona.

Addae has long been a ferocious hitter with a nose for the football. In college, teammates nicknamed him "The Hitman."

13*KEENAN ALLEN*Wide Receiver*6-2, 211*4th NFL Season*4th with Chargers*Draft 3 – '13*California*Northern Guilford HS*Greensboro, N.C.

Heading into his fourth NFL season, Keenan Allen is well on his way to becoming one of the league's elite receivers. In June, the Chargers made sure Allen would continue to do so in San Diego when the team and he agreed to a four-year contract extension.

Allen was off to a record-breaking start in 2015 before suffering a season-ending injury on a touchdown catch in Baltimore. In seven and a half games, Allen had racked up 67 catches, tied for third in NFL history at the mid-point of a season. But on Nov. 1 against the Ravens, he suffered a kidney injury when landing hard between two defenders on a 13-yard touchdown catch late in the second quarter. He was placed on "Reserve-Injured" just a few days later.

For Allen, it was a premature end to a season that appeared to show no bounds. In the Bolts' 2015 season opener against Detroit, Allen had 15 catches, tying the franchise's single-game record. Two weeks later, he caught a dozen passes, including two touchdowns, in a game at Minnesota. And then three weeks later, he caught 14 passes at Green Bay's Lambeau Field to become the first player in NFL history with at least 12 catches in three of his team's first six games of a season.

Allen finished the season with 67 catches, 725 yards and four scores and even though he played less than half a season, teammates paid tribute to Allen by choosing him as the team's offensive player of the year.

Allen's breakthrough season in 2015 didn't come as a surprise to those close to the young wide receiver. After an inconsistent 2014, Allen made a commitment to improve his overall conditioning. He completely revised his diet and improved his training methods. Allen also likes to wear a heavy sweatshirt under his pads when he practices because when he removes it on game days, he feels lighter and faster.

SUPPORTING OUR TROOPS

In April, Allen co-hosted a two-day football camp for youth from the Kaiserslautern Military Community at Ramstein Air Base in Ramstein, Germany with Washington Redskins wide receiver Andre Roberts. It was Allen's first time visiting Europe. Allen and Roberts also visited the USO's Warrior Center, they signed autographs at Ramstein Air Base, they visited the Landstuhl Regional Medical Center, and they spent time at the USO's Deployment Center for Active Duty Troops.

A third-round draft pick in 2013, Allen took the NFL by storm that season, earning NFL Rookie of the Year and NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year honors from multiple organizations. In his second season, Allen had another outstanding year, leading the team with 77 catches, good for 783 yards and four scores.

Looking back, as unfathomable as it might sound, Allen's NFL career almost never materialized.

A projected first-round pick out of Cal-Berkeley, Allen's pre-draft stock fell as the result of a knee injury late in his senior season. The Chargers snagged Allen in the third round, but during his first few months in San Diego, the coaching staff limited his reps to make sure that he was fully recovered from the knee injury. Allen also found himself stacked behind a talented group of veteran wide receivers. At one point during training camp, he began questioning himself and his position with the team. He considered walking away to continue his education at Cal and pursue a career in his other field of dreams: music. Ultimately, some tough talk and motherly advice from his mom, Doris, convinced Allen to stick with football. Around the same time he was struggling with his future, returning starter Danario Alexander went down with a knee injury and suddenly Allen found himself receiving more reps with the offense. Then in the Chargers' second game of the season in Philadelphia, Malcom Floyd suffered a season-ending neck injury. With Floyd out, Allen's number was called. And on just his second play, Allen caught an 18-yard pass on a 3rd-and-8 play that ignited a touchdown drive and a season that would end with Allen being celebrated center stage as the Pepsi Next NFL Rookie of the Year at New York City's Radio City Music Hall.

Allen went on to lead the team and set franchise rookie receiving records with 1,046 yards and 71 catches. He led all NFL rookies in catches, yards and touchdowns (eight), topping the 1,000-yard plateau during the Bolts' regular-season finale. He was just the fifth rookie since 2000 to rack up over 1,000 yards. In three games late in the season, Allen caught five touchdown passes, the most by a Chargers wide receiver in three games since 1996. It included an impressive two-game stretch in the course of five days when he caught two touchdowns against the New York Giants on Dec. 8 and two more at Denver on Dec. 12. Twice in 2013, Allen racked up more than 100 yards in back-to-back games, a feat that hadn't been achieved by a Chargers rookie since 1960.

Allen's outstanding play continued into the post-season as he led the team with eight catches for 163 yards and two touchdowns. It included a 142-yard, two-touchdown performance in the divisional play-offs at Denver. It was the Chargers' second-most receiving yards in a playoff game and the team's first two-touchdown game in the playoffs since Jan. 1983 (Kellen Winslow). Allen's yardage total tied for the second-most by a rookie in a playoff game in NFL history (Keith Jackson, Philadelphia) and he became the league's first rookie since New England's Julian Edelman in Jan. 2010 with two touchdown catches in a postseason game.

Long before the 2013 NFL Draft, Allen was a player coveted by Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco. In 2011, Telesco attended Cal's game against USC at San Francisco's AT&T Park and he noted that Allen really stood out on a field that was loaded with great players. Allen enjoyed one of the most prolific days of his career that evening against the Trojans, catching a career-best 13 passes for 160 yards.

Allen left Cal after his junior season having caught a school-record 205 career passes. Half-brother, Zach Maynard, was his quarterback all three years at Cal. Maynard originally enrolled at the University of Buffalo, but transferred to Cal so that he and Allen could be teammates. In 2011, they combined for the longest pass play in school history, a 90-yard score against the Washington Huskies.

One of Allen's closest friends is Cincinnati Bengals' receiver Marvin Jones. They became teammates at Cal after Jones hosted Allen during his recruiting visit.

Another of Allen's passions beyond football and music is basketball. The Greensboro, North Carolina native grew up in the heart of Tobacco Road. This year, he sponsored a 13-and-under AAU team in San Diego called the Slayers.

JERRY ATTAOCHU

Outside Linebacker
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 2 - '14
Georgia Tech
Archbishop Carroll HS
Washington, D.C.

Jerry Attaochu (uh-TAU-choo) showed tremendous growth in his second NFL season in 2015.

He finished the year fifth on the team in total tackles, while ranking second in sacks, tackles for loss and quarterback hits. After being slowed by a nagging hamstring during his rookie season in 2014, Attaochu bounced back in 2015 to play in 15 games and start 12. He and fellow outside linebacker Melvin Ingram formed a potent 1-2 punch as they combined for more than half (16.5) of the Chargers' 32 sacks on the season.

MAN HE'S FAST

At his pro day at Georgia Tech in 2014, Attaochu posted a 10-yard split time in the 40-yard dash (1.55) that was one-hundredth of a second faster than what Jadeveon Clowney, the draft's No. 1 overall pick, recorded at the 2014 NFL Combine.

Attaochu was born in Ibadan, Nigeria and moved to the United States when he was eight. His father, Paul, was an exchange student in the U.S. in the 1980s, who later returned to Nigeria where he married Attaochu's mother, Comfort. When the family returned to the States, they settled in Washington, D.C. Attaochu didn't start playing football until the ninth grade and it was a bit of a fluke when he stumbled into a line for athletic physical exams, thinking they were for the soccer team, only to discover they were actually for the football team at Archbishop Carroll High in D.C.

Attaochu went ahead and parlayed that mistake into a successful collegiate career at Georgia Tech that saw him earn All-America and All-ACC accolades. One of the nation's most gifted athletes, Attaochu racked up a school-record 31.5 sacks in three seasons for the Yellow Jackets.

The Chargers selected Attaochu in the second round of the 2014 NFL Draft. He had long had his eye on becoming a Bolt. Eager to play in San Diego, he had actually approached several members of the Chargers' coaching and scouting staff at the 2014 NFL Senior Bowl to gauge the team's interest in him.

Since August 2014, Attaochu's brother, Samuel, has lived with him in San Diego. At the urging of their mother, Samuel left the master's program at Old Dominion University to move to San Diego and help his brother acclimate to life as a professional athlete. Two-and-a-half years older than Jerry, Samuel eventually was admitted to the master's program at San Diego State and he's on track to graduate with a degree in public administration in 2017.

Attaochu grew up playing soccer. He and his brother played on the same middle-school team in Nigeria. Both still follow the sport closely and Jerry's favorite national teams are the United States, Nigeria and France.

Attaochu was a science, technology and culture major at Georgia Tech. With an eye toward life after football, he spent two years interning with the Barton Executive Search Firm in Atlanta, where Tech's campus is located.

Attaochu has also entrenched himself in community endeavors both in San Diego and his hometown of Washington D.C. In February, Attaochu and teammate Josh Lambo joined forces with the San Diego District Attorney's Office, the San Diego Domestic Violence Council, and the Strong Hearted Native Women's Coalition to help fight teen domestic violence. He and Lambo were featured in public service announcements and ads as part of the new "Now is the Time" outreach campaign.

In April, Attaochu began working on Capitol Hill with the American Diabetes Association as part of their Team Tackle campaign. Attaochu joined forces with other NFL players to raise diabetes and pre-diabetes awareness.

Also in Washington D.C., Attaochu works closely with the Glory's Hope Sickle Cell Foundation, which his father founded in 2015. The foundation supports research, education and creates awareness of Sickle Cell in both Africa and the United States.

JOE BARKSDALE

Tackle
6-5, 326
6th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15
Louisiana State
Cass Tech HS
Detroit, Mich.

The Chargers' 2015 Lineman of the Year, Joe Barksdale can unpack his bags and stay awhile after signing a new four-year contract with the team in March.

Barksdale originally joined the Chargers in May 2015, agreeing to a one-year contract late in free agency. To say Barksdale exceeded expectations would be an understatement. He wound up playing 624 snaps on the season, more than any player on the roster, including quarterback Philip Rivers. And Barksdale not only played a lot, but he played on both sides of the line. Barksdale started all 16 games at right tackle, but four times during the season he was forced to switch sides to play left tackle when injuries hit.

Barksdale originally came to the NFL as a third-round pick of the Oakland Raiders in 2011. He played in all 16 games as a rookie, primarily on special teams, but Oakland waived him early during his second season. The Rams claimed him. Barksdale played sparingly in 2012, but three weeks into the 2013 season, he was inserted into the starting lineup at right tackle and he remained there for 13 of the Rams' final 14 games. In 2014, he started all 16 games at right tackle. After the year ended, instead of re-signing with the Rams, Barksdale opted to test the waters in free agency, which ultimately led to San Diego.

Barksdale plays the game with a chip on his shoulder. That's what happens when you go from a highly-touted free agent to nearly being out of the game just over a year later. As motivation, he keeps a list in his locker that features things he intends to work on each week and throughout the season at hand.

Barksdale's career has been filled with several twists and turns that helped him get to where he is today. The Detroit native spurned offers from colleges all over the country to become the first-ever

LSU football player to hail from the Wolverine State. He enrolled at LSU as a defensive tackle, but the Tigers had a defensive front loaded with All-Americans, so the coaching staff convinced him to move to the offensive line and the rest is history. Barksdale played on LSU's national championship team as a freshman in 2007, and then he started three seasons at both left and right tackle, which ultimately led to being drafted by the Raiders in the third round.

In March 2015, Barksdale married his long-time girlfriend, Brianna Blackwell. She recently earned a master's degree in public relations. They grew up in Detroit and have known each other since third grade.

Several years ago, Barksdale took up guitar and he has since become an accomplished blues musician. Barksdale wowed guests at their wedding when he knocked out a few tunes at the reception. Last November, Barksdale visited Fender Guitar's factory in Corona, Calif., and the visit was profiled on ESPN's NFL Countdown prior to the Bolts' Nov. 9 Monday Football game against the Chicago Bears. The late Jimi Hendrix has long been one of Barksdale's musical idols and the folks at Fender presented him with a brand-new Hendrix commemorative guitar that was just being released to add to his collection. In recent years, Barksdale played a number freestyle jam sessions and he's in the process of organizing his own blues-rock trio.

Last December, Barksdale hosted a special holiday shopping event for some deserving youngsters from the Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater San Diego. As part of National Day of Giving, Barksdale treated 50 children to a holiday shopping spree to purchase gifts for their families at the JCPenney store at the Fashion Valley Mall in San Diego.

TRAVIS BENJAMIN

Wide Receiver-Kick Returner
5-10, 175
5th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Cleveland) - '16
Miami
Glades Central HS
Belle Glade, Fla.

In March, the Chargers landed former Cleveland Browns big-play wide receiver and kick returner Travis Benjamin on a four-year deal. A legitimate home-run threat, Benjamin has scored 13 touchdowns during his career and the average length of his touchdowns is an astonishing 52.3 yards per score. His 12.6-yard career punt return average from when he entered the NFL in 2012 is the highest in the NFL over the last four years (2012-15).

Benjamin was the Browns' second-leading receiver in 2015 as he set career highs with 68 catches, 966 yards and five touchdown grabs. In September, he had a career game against Tennessee, catching touchdown passes of 50 and 60 yards, in addition to returning a punt 78 yards for another score. Benjamin joined Tavon Austin as the only players in NFL history with a 75-plus yard punt return touchdown and two 50-plus yard touchdown catches in a single game. Combined with a 54-yard touchdown catch in the Browns' season opener against the New York Jets, Benjamin became the first player since Hall of Famer Jim Brown (1963) with four 50-plus yard touchdowns in a season's first two games.

Benjamin's nickname is rabbit. As a youth in Florida because he used to chase rabbits that were escaping from burning cane fields. Benjamin swears that it helped him develop his speed and agility.

The Belle Glade, Florida native still returns to his hometown every offseason where he hosts a youth football camp with Deonte Thompson, who played in the NFL with Baltimore, Buffalo and Chicago from 2012-15.

Benjamin is easy to spot with his trademark long dreadlocks, which haven't been cut since he was in the eighth grade.

Benjamin is married to the former Africa Stefanos, a former on-air host at the hip-hop radio station FM Z107.9 in Cleveland.

Benjamin comes from a family with a long history in law enforcement. His mother, Cynthia Stewart, has been a sheriff's deputy in Palm Beach County, Florida for the last 12 years, and two of his aunts, Quandra and Kimberly Stewart, both work in corrections.

Breast cancer is a cause that's important to Benjamin as both is mother and grandmother are survivors.

Benjamin's cousin Alphonso Marshall played cornerback for the Chicago Bears from 2004-05. His brother, Troy Stewart, played football at Bethune-Cookman.

Benjamin's hobbies include fishing, watching track, cooking and traveling. At Miami, Benjamin set a school record in the 60 meters and he was a national finalist in the 4x100-meter relay.

ISAIAH BURSE

Wide Receiver
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15
Fresno State
Modesto Christian HS
Modesto, Calif.

Last November, the Chargers added Isaiah Burse to the practice squad. A wide receiver and kick returner, Burse played in 12 games for the Denver Broncos in 2014 after making the roster as an undrafted rookie free agent.

Burse enjoys movies, video games and playing basketball in his free time.

A natural right-hander, Burse is trying to become ambidextrous. To do so, he spends about an hour each day writing with his left hand to make it stronger.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Denver as May 10, 2014...waived Dec. 6...re-signed to Broncos' practice squad Dec. 8...re-signed Jan. 12, 2015...waived Sept. 5...signed to Pittsburgh's practice squad, Sept. 7...released Sept. 24...signed to Chargers' practice squad, Nov. 4...re-signed with Chargers, Jan. 4, 2016.

2014: NFL debut Sept. 7 vs. Indianapolis...season-high 52 punt return yards in 41-17 win Nov. 9 at Oakland...season-long 22-yard punt return helped set up touchdown in 29-16 win at Kansas City Nov. 30.

COLLEGE: Honorable mention All-Mountain West

Conference as senior after 99 catches for 1,026 yards and six TDs...school-record 5,873 career all-purpose yards...played in 52 career games with 25 starts...209 career catches for 2,503 yards and 15 touchdowns...added 126 kickoff returns for 2,835 yard, 29 punt returns for 344 yards and two touchdowns, four rushing touchdowns and one passing score...played at Fresno State from 2010-13...criminology corrections major.

PERSONAL: Born in Modesto, Calif....led Modesto Christian High to 15-0 record and CIF Small School State title as senior...passed for 6,890 yards and 87 TDs and rushed for 4,003 yards during career.

TYREEK BURWELL

Tackle
6-6, 310
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15
Cincinnati

For Tyreek Burwell, beating long odds has become a way of life.

The second-year tackle was one of only four undrafted rookies to earn a spot on the Chargers' 53-man roster coming out of training camp in 2015. He gained valuable experience playing in 11 games as a rookie.

Burwell is a raw talent. A native of Huntington Station, New York, he garnered limited attention as a prep at Walt Whitman High School, primarily because he played a number of different positions for the Wildcats. He ended up starting his college career at Division III SUNY-Cortland where he played tight end.

After two years at SUNY-Cortland, Burwell was eager to transfer to an FBS school, so he put together his own highlight tape and shipped it off to a handful of schools. Very few responded, but one that did was the University of Cincinnati, which offered Burwell an opportunity to walk on to the Bearcats' football team. The only problem was that Burwell couldn't afford the out-of-state tuition, so he took a year off from school and football and worked at a Cheesecake Factory restaurant in Long Island so he could sock away some extra cash to pay for his tuition. A year later in 2012, Burwell enrolled at Cincinnati and Bearcats coach Tommy Tuberville convinced him to shift from tight end to offensive line. Hesitant at first, Burwell obliged and added 25 pounds to his 270-pound frame. He ended up earning Scout Team Player of the Year honors in 2013 before earning playing time in 2014. That combined with an impressive Pro Day in which he repped 225 pounds on the bench press 30 times and posted a 4.97-second clocking in the 40-yard dash helped him earn an opportunity with the Chargers and now Burwell heads into his second NFL season with 11 pro games under his belt.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers May 12...waived Sept. 10...re-signed to practice squad, Sept. 12...signed to active roster, Sept. 30.

2015: NFL debut Oct. 4 in 30-27 win over Cleveland...saw action as extra tackle in goal-line offense for two plays, one of which was one-yard touchdown catch by John Phillips for 27-19 lead in fourth quarter...saw one snap at right guard on last play of third quarter Oct. 12 vs. Pittsburgh...saw first action of career at left tackle Nov. 1 at Baltimore when Chris Hairston left with injury...saw action at right tackle Dec. 6 vs. Denver for injured Joe Barksdale...took over at left tackle in OT Dec. 24 at Games Played-Started: 2015 (11-0, San Diego).

COLLEGE: Played in 11 games with four starts at tackle as senior at Cincinnati in 2014...redshirted in 2013 due to NCAA transfer rules...spent 2011-12 seasons at SUNY-Cortland as tight end, catching one pass for touchdown in 2012...communications major.

PERSONAL: Born in Hempstead, New York...prepped at Whitman High in Huntington Station, N.Y.

RYAN CARRETHERS

Nose Tackle
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 5 – '14
Arkansas State
Brentwood Academy
Nashville, Tenn.

A 2014 fifth-round choice, Ryan Carrethers has seen action in 20 games with three starts in his first two NFL seasons.

Carrethers is the first-ever Arkansas State player to be drafted by the Bolts. A two-time All-Sun Belt Conference performer, Carrethers blocked a 38-yard field goal attempt with no time remaining to secure a 23-20 victory for the Red Wolves over Ball State in the GoDaddy Bowl, his final collegiate contest.

A native of Nashville, Tenn., Carrethers attended

Brentwood Academy, the same high school as Chargers left tackle King Dunlap. As a prep, Carrethers was a two-time state champion heavyweight wrestler. He was undefeated as a senior.

Carrethers is one of the team's strongest players. At his college pro day, he bench-pressed 36 reps at 225 pounds, stopping only when the plates fell off the bar. And while playing at Arkansas State, he broke the school's squat record as a sophomore. He can squat more than 700 pounds.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fifth-round pick (165), May 10, 2014...signed four-year contract, May 14.

2015: Season-high seven tackles Nov. 1 at Baltimore.

2014: NFL debut Sept. 28 vs. Jacksonville...four tackles in first career start Nov. 16 vs. Oakland...injured elbow vs. Raiders...inactive Games 11-16.

COLLEGE: Two-time first-team All-Sun Belt Conference...Little Rock Touchdown Club's state player of year in 2013...finished career with 196 tackles, 14.5 sacks for loss and 6.5 sacks...93 tackles in 2013 were third in nation among defensive linemen...two blocked kicks as senior...Sun Belt Defensive Player of Week after career-high 16 tackles vs. Louisiana-Lafayette, most in game by defensive lineman in nation in 2013...touchdown as fullback vs. Western Kentucky...redshirted in 2009...played at Arkansas State from 2010-13...interdisciplinary studies degree.

PERSONAL: Born in Nashville, Tenn....lettered in football and wrestling at Brentwood Academy in Nashville...all-state and All-Williamson County as senior.

KELLEN CLEMENS

Quarterback
6-2, 220
11th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

UFA (St. Louis) - '14
Oregon
Burns HS
Burns, Ore.

Kellen Clemens will play his third season with the Chargers in 2016. A second-round pick of the New York Jets in 2006, Clemens' career has taken him to the Jets, Washington, Houston and the St. Louis Rams. His resume boasts 21 NFL starts. Clemens started the last nine games for the Rams in 2013, leading them to wins in four of their last seven games.

Clemens grew up in Burns, Oregon, a cowboy town located in the southeast corner of the state that was more than 100 miles removed from the nearest interstate. His biological father, Vernon Vincent, was killed in a mill accident when Kellen was just six months old and his mother remarried John Clemens a couple of years later. After remarrying, the family moved onto a 3,500-acre Black Angus beef cattle ranch that had been in the Clemens family for six generations since 1870. Located in Harney County in Ore., the family's home was actually the county's first school house before it became an actual working ranch. As a child, Clemens worked on the ranch, doing things like herding cattle, bailing hay and fixing machinery. It's also where he learned to play football and he often trained by dragging tractor tires through the hay fields. John Clemens played defensive back at Portland State in the early 1980s and his grandfather, Delmer Clemens, played at Oregon in the 1950s.

Prior to enrolling at Oregon, Kellen prepped at Burns High School where he set state records for passing yards and touchdowns. He went 31-7 as a starter and became the only player from the state to earn Parade Magazine All-America honors. He led the Hilanders to the state finals as a senior.

At Oregon, Clemens set single-season passing records and he finished his career as the Ducks' third-all-time leading passer in both yards and touchdowns. Unfortunately, his career ended prematurely when he broke his leg in the eighth game of his senior season as result of a horse-collar tackle during a game. Still enamored with his upside, the Jets drafted Clemens in the second round of the 2006 NFL Draft.

A practicing Roman Catholic, Clemens married his wife, Nicole, while playing at Oregon. She had attended the University of San Diego. The couple has three children: Kate, Grant and Scarlett. In 2008, Clemens, Nicole and young daughter, Kate, attended a mass conducted by Pope Benedict in Washington D.C., and after the mass as part of the Papal procession, the Pope walked by and blessed the couple's daughter.

Clemens has four sisters, two of whom, Maria and Jessica, played college volleyball at Portland State after winning state championships in volleyball, basketball and track at Burns High.

Christian Brothers HS

Sacramento, Calif.

The Chargers bolstered their depth at tight end when they claimed Asante Cleveland off waivers in late December 2015. A native of Sacramento, California, Cleveland has spent time with the San Francisco 49ers and New England Patriots.

A business major at the University of Miami (Fla.), Cleveland interned with the 49ers marketing department during the 2015 offseason. He shadowed different members of the team's marketing staff, learning a wide range of skills, including graphic design, youth football and stadium sales. He also took part in the 49ers marketing department's planning meetings leading up to the 2015 NFL Draft.

This offseason, Cleveland completed another internship, this time with Comcast Sportsnet in Washington D.C. as part of an NFL-sponsored program. During his stint with Comcast, Cleveland gained experience covering the NBA's Washington Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals and the University of Maryland's men's basketball team.

Cleveland was a versatile athlete growing up in Sacramento. He began playing soccer at the age of six and continued for eight years as a midfielder, until trying out for football as a freshman in high school. The baseball coaches at Christian Brothers High School tried to sway Cleveland into becoming a pitcher, but the aspiring tight end declined.

It's safe to say that Cleveland inherited some of his athletic ability from his father, Allen, a former defensive end who spent time with the Dallas Cowboys in the late 1970s and was part of their 1977 Super Bowl championship team. He later went on to work for the California Department of Corrections. Cleveland's mother, Javetta, is the deputy superintendent of the Berkeley (Calif.) School District.

Cleveland's hobbies are bowling and bow-fishing.

JEFF CUMBERLAND

Tight End
6-4, 260
7th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

Free Agent – '16
Illinois
Brookhaven HS
Columbus, Ohio

The Chargers signed former New York Jets tight end Jeff Cumberland to a one-year contract in April.

Set to play his seventh NFL season in 2016, Cumberland has caught 86 passes for 1,119 yards and 10 touchdowns during his career. He originally joined the Jets as an undrafted free agent in 2010.

Cumberland played in just one game for the Jets as a rookie and his second season in 2011 ended after just three games because of an Achilles injury. Cumberland bounced back to play in 15 games the following year (2012) and over the next four seasons, he played in 61 of 64 possible games. After the 2012 season, Cumberland's Jets teammates selected him as their winner of the Ed Block Courage Award.

Cumberland went to school at the University of Illinois where one of his teammates was Chargers defensive tackle Corey Liuget. Cumberland majored in sport management at Illinois and during the 2011 season when he missed 13 games with the Achilles injury, he took advantage of the time by performing an internship in the Jets' sales department. Still looking to further his education, Cumberland was accepted into the University of Miami's Master of Business Administration for Artists and Athletes Program in January 2016.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, Cumberland had the values of hard work, dedication, faith and community instilled in him by the woman who raised him, grandmother Rosline Cumberland. He still maintains close ties to his hometown where he oversees the Jeff Cumberland Foundation, which hosts several annual events, including a youth football camp, a holiday toy giveaway and a Thanksgiving turkey giveaway. One of the frequent beneficiaries of Cumberland's benevolence is the Boys and Girls Clubs. In December 2014, the NFL Players Association named Cumberland as its Community MVP.

Cumberland is also a staunch supporter of the U.S. military and is deeply concerned about critical causes such as cancer awareness.

KING DUNLAP

Tackle
6-9, 330
9th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

UFA (Philadelphia) - '13
Auburn
Brentwood Academy
Nashville, Tenn.

King Dunlap is looking forward to a healthy season in 2016 after injuries sidelined him for the better part of 2015.

It was a frustrating year for the Bolts' 6-9 left tackle who had just signed a new four-year contract in February. Dunlap started just seven games in 2015 and he was only able to finish two, missing time primarily due to a concussion and an ailing ankle. Dunlap started the season on a high note as he was selected as an alternate team captain for a suspended Antonio Gates during the year's first four games.

Dunlap came into the 2015 season on the heels of a stellar 2014 campaign in which he started all 16 games for the first time in his career. According to Stats, Inc., Dunlap allowed just 3.5 sacks in 2014, tied for seventh-fewest in the NFL in 2014 among tackles who started all 16 games. He capped off the season by being selected as the team's Lineman of the Year.

A 2008 seventh-round pick of the Philadelphia Eagles, Dunlap joined the Chargers in 2013 after five seasons in the "City of Brotherly Love." In his first season with the Chargers, Dunlap started 11 games and Rivers was sacked just 30 times, tied for fourth-fewest in the league. The offensive line cleared the way for the team to rush for 1,965 yards.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Seventh-round pick (230) by Philadelphia, April 27, 2008...signed June 17...contract expired March 13, 2012...re-signed April 4...contract expired March 12, 2013...signed with Chargers, March 14, 2013...re-signed four-year contract with Chargers, Feb. 27, 2015.

2015: Helped Chargers pass for 404 yards in 33-28 win over Detroit in Sept. 13 as line allowed just two sacks in 44 dropbacks...left Minnesota game Sept. 27 in fourth quarter with concussion...inactive Oct. 4 vs. Cleveland, Oct. 12 vs. Pittsburgh and Oct. 18 at Green Bay (concussion)...left Baltimore game Nov. 1 on second play with ankle injury and did not return...inactive Nov. 9 vs. Chicago (ankle)...returned to starting lineup Nov. 22 vs. Kansas City but left game in third quarter with ankle injury...inactive Nov. 29 at Jacksonville and Dec. 6 vs. Denver (ankle)...returned Dec. 13 at Kansas City but left game in first quarter after re-aggravating ankle...inactive Dec. 20 vs. Miami, Dec. 24 at Oakland and Jan. 3 at Kansas City. 2014: Chargers Lineman of Year...helped block for season-high 162 rush yards in 31-0 win over New York Jets Oct. 5...Bolts rushed for 116 yards and passed for 313 while line allowed just one sack in 35 pass plays in 31-28 win at Oakland Oct.

Dunlap missed three games late in the season with a neck injury, but he returned in time to help the Bolts win their final four games and reach the playoffs for the first time since 2009.

Dunlap's father, King Dunlap IV, is a former defensive tackle who played college football at Tennessee State before the Baltimore Colts picked him in the fifth round of the 1969 NFL Draft. His mother, Robin, is a former track star who also competed at Tennessee State, while his younger sister, Victoria, spent time in the WNBA playing for the Washington Mystics and the Seattle Storm. Victoria played collegiately at Kentucky where she was an All-America and the SEC Player of the Year who also competed in the high jump for the Wildcats' track and field team.

Dunlap loves roller coasters but a downside to being 6-9 is that he's too tall to ride most of them. He hit his big growth spurt in the eighth grade, going from 5-11 to 6-5. Dunlap played middle linebacker as a youth before shifting to the defensive line and ultimately to the offensive line.

Dunlap's full name, King David Dunlap V, was derived from the Bible's King David. He has two sons, King VI and Jaylen, and a daughter, Kayla.

12...Team Captain Oct. 19 vs. Kansas City...pass protected with line for 383 yards and three TDs in 34-33 win at Baltimore Nov. 30, including game-winning eight-play, 80-yard, 1:44 drive that started with 2:22 left in contest...part of line that allowed just two sacks in 56 passing plays during 38-35 overtime win Dec. 20 at San Francisco...line also helped Ronnie Brown rush six straight times for 22 yards to San Francisco's 22 on game-winning field goal drive in overtime that capped 21-point comeback, tied for greatest in franchise history, including overcoming 14-point deficit midway through fourth quarter. 2013: USA Today All-Joe...started Weeks 1-3 at left tackle...inactive Weeks 4-5 vs. Dallas and Atlanta after concussion Sept. 22 at Tennessee...started next four games but missed Miami (Nov. 17), Kansas City (Nov. 24) and Cincinnati (Dec. 1) games with neck injury...returned to starting lineup Dec. 8 and played final four games and both playoff games as Bolts went 5-1. 2012: Started Games 1-2, 7-8 and 10-16 at left tackle...hamstring injury Sept. 16 vs. Baltimore...inactive vs. Arizona (Sept. 23) and N.Y. NICK DZUBNAR

Inside Linebacker
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15
Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo
Mission Viejo HS
Mission Viejo, Calif.

One of the pleasant surprises of the 2015 season was the emergence of rookie linebacker Nick Dzubnar (duh-ZOOB-nar). Undrafted out of Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, Dzubnar was one of just four undrafted rookies to make the active roster out of training camp. He played in all 16 games and led the team with 13 special teams tackles. He made a solid impression on coaches during the preseason when he recorded 25 tackles, second in the NFL among all rookies.

A Southern California native from Mission Viejo, Dzubnar grew up surfing, wrestling and playing hockey. The skills he acquired from those three sports helped prepare him for football. At Cal Poly, he became the second-leading tackler in school history with 414 career stops, including a single-season school-record 167 as a senior in 2014.

Dzubnar takes an old-school approach when playing, doing so without gloves or elbow pads.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers May 12, 2015.

2015: Tied team high with two special teams stops Oct. 18 at Green Bay...two tackles in first regular-season action at linebacker Oct. 25 vs. Oakland.

COLLEGE: All-America, first-team All-Big Sky and team MVP as senior in 2014 after setting school record with 167 tackles...sixth in voting for Buck Buchanan Award as FCS' top defensive player in FCS...third-team All-Big Sky as junior and honorable mention as sophomore...finished career with 414 tackles, 24 tackles for loss, four sacks, seven forced fumbles, five interceptions and 15 passes defended...redshirted in 2010...played at Cal Poly from 2011-14...construction management degree.

PERSONAL: Born in Anaheim, California...All-Orange County and All-CIF at Mission Viejo (Calif.) High School...team captain, first-team all-league and league defensive MVP...wrestled at 215 pounds and helped school to first league title since 1972...senior class president and four-year ASB member.

KYLE EMANUEL

Outside Linebacker
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 5 - '15
North Dakota State
Schuyler Central HS
Schuyler, Neb.

Kyle Emanuel made an immediate impact, rare among rookie fifth-round picks.

Emanuel played in 15 games and started three. He was a regular in the team's outside linebacker rotation and he had the second-most (tied) special teams tackles on the squad. And in his very first regular-season game in the Bolts' 2015 opener versus Detroit, Emanuel recorded an interception, a pressure that led to another, a 13-yard sack, and two tackles for loss.

Emanuel came from North Dakota State, where he won the 2014 Buck Buchanan Award as the Football Championship Subdivision's top defensive player. He led the FCS with 19.5 sacks and 32.5 tackles for loss.

The Schuyler, Nebraska native enrolled at NDSU after being overlooked by his home state's schools despite an all-state prep career. It was a fortuitous move as the Bison went 58-3 during his career in the process of capturing four conference titles and four NCAA championships.

This year, Emanuel will be joined in the linebackers meeting room at Chargers Park by a fellow Bison. New linebackers coach Bob Babich spent six seasons (1997-02) as the head coach at North Dakota State.

Shortly after being drafted by the Chargers last May, Emanuel gained notoriety when he sent a tweet seeking congratulations from Hollywood starlet Julianne Hough, who wasted little time in obliging the request from the Chargers' newest linebacker.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fifth-round pick (153) by Chargers, May 2, 2015.

2015: NFL debut Sept. 9 vs. Detroit and racked up interception, 13-yard sack, pressure that led to interception by Patrick Robinson and two tackles for loss...on play just prior to Robinson interception, had three-yard tackle for loss to set up 3rd-and-14...touchdown on ensuing possession brought Chargers to within 21-20...sack came on third-down play early in second quarter to cap three-and-out...two early special teams tackles Dec. 20 vs. Miami before leaving game late in first quarter with concussion.

CHARGERS CHAMPIONS

In February, Emanuel participated in the grand opening of the new "Neuronasium" at Gage Elementary School in San Diego that was built with a grant awarded by Chargers Champions.

Part of the Chargers Community Foundation designed to improve physical fitness in San Diego County Schools, the Spanos Family through Chargers Champions has donated close to $5.5 million to San Diego's schools and students. The program provides greater financial support for San Diego-area schools than any other private company in San Diego County. To date, the program has benefited more than 100 local schools.

BRANDON FLOWERS

Cornerback
5-9, 187
9th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

UFA (Kansas City) – '14
Virginia Tech
Atlantic HS
Delray Beach, Fla.

In June 2014, the Chargers signed former Kansas City Chiefs Pro Bowl cornerback Brandon Flowers to a one-year contract. Less than a year later, after leading the team in interceptions and passes defended, the Bolts made sure he wasn't going to get away. San Diego signed him to a new four-year contract.

A native of Delray Beach, Florida, Flowers enjoys spending time with his large extended family in the Sunshine State. Though no longer married, his father Willie and mother Patricia have both been tremendous influences in his life. Willie is a former Florida State free safety who can count on one hand the number of Flowers' games that he's missed since he was just seven years old. It includes travel up and down the East Coast when Flowers played at Virginia Tech, and even further when he played for the Chiefs. A couple of years ago, Flowers bought his dad a new Range Rover for his 58th birthday to help ease the travel burden. Flowers' mother raised him and his sister Brittany, often working two jobs to provide for her children. Brittany graduated from Florida State in only three years with a degree in communications and has worked for Fox Sports.

Another role model for Flowers is former NFL cornerback Patrick Surtain. In high school, one of Flowers' cousins dated and later married Surtain's brother. At the time, Surtain played for the Dolphins and Flowers was fortunate enough to spend quite a bit of time with Surtain. Years later, it proved to be quite a coincidence when Flowers was drafted by the Chiefs and ended up starting opposite Surtain.

Beyond football and spending time with family, Flowers is a movie buff and a gym rat. He enjoys playing pickup football and basketball games at local parks with kids in his hometown. Flowers also is an active cyclist, believing that it helps him with his stamina and endurance.

Flowers has a personal chef and he maintains a strict diet. He has his blood levels measured and eats foods that metabolize most efficiently in his body. It's not easy to do when your favorite meal is mom's oxtail and gravy, or when you come from a family full of great cooks, including his dad's steaks and his aunt's seafood gumbo.

Flowers originally came into the NFL as a second-round pick of the Chiefs. Just seven games into his rookie season, he intercepted the first two passes of his career against the New York Jets and future Hall of Fame quarterback Brett Favre. Flowers returned one of the picks 91 yards for his first NFL touchdown and he became one of just four NFL rookies in 2008 to record multiple interceptions in a game. Flowers played six seasons in Kansas City and went to his first Pro Bowl after the 2013 season when the Chiefs went 11-5 and made their first playoff appearance since 2010. Flowers enjoyed his top statistical season with the Chiefs in 2009 when he led the squad and set career highs with five interceptions and 28 passes defended.

Flowers' has a daughter, Brynn Tylar.

D.J. FLUKER

Guard-Tackle
6-5, 339
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '13
Alabama
Foley HS
Foley, Ala.

2015 was a season of change for D.J. Fluker.

A first-round draft pick in 2013, Fluker was the Chargers' starting right tackle in 2013-14. In 2015, the Bolts coaching staff made the decision to move Fluker inside to right guard. It was definitely an adjustment for the 6-5, 339-pound Foley, Alabama native, but Fluker performed admirably at his new position. According to STATS, LLC., he surrendered only one sack the entire season.

Fluker is one of the team's most tenacious and durable players, no matter where he lines up. In his first three seasons, including playoffs, he's started 45 of a possible 50 games.

Many athletes overcome personal adversity to reach the pinnacle of their sport, but few experienced the hardships endured by the 25-year-old Fluker.

Fluker, whose initials stand for Danny Lee Jesus, was born in New Orleans and spent the majority of his childhood in the Bayou city living in the Lower Ninth Ward. That was until Hurricane Katrina struck in 2005 and started Fluker's life spinning. When the hurricane hit, the family fled to nearby Biloxi, Mississippi. When Katrina passed and they returned home, all that remained was a concrete slab. With their home demolished, Fluker's mother, Annice, scraped together what little money she could and the family headed to Mobile, Alabama. It was a rough time for the family. Fluker, then just 14 and weighing close to 400 pounds, along with his mom and siblings struggled to find shelter. Sometimes it was a church, other times a homeless shelter. When all else failed, they would sleep in their mom's Ford station wagon. They also foraged for food wherever they could, even if it meant ravaging the dumpsters of fast food restaurants.

The tide finally began to turn when Fluker enrolled at McGill-Toolen Catholic High School and met Head Coach Steve Savarese. Savarese would occasionally let Fluker sleep at his house in a spare bedroom that had become available after Savarese's daughter moved away to college. It meant a lot to Fluker, now aged 15, because it was the first time he'd ever had a bed to himself. With a small sense of stability, Fluker became a star defensive tackle on the football field, but he continued to work hard off the field, taking nothing for granted. Fluker did odd jobs to help his mom financially. He cut grass, power-washed houses, built cabinets and piers, worked in retail stores and cleaned trailers. He also became one of the most popular and well-liked students at McGill-Toolen and people went out of their way to help the Flukers. Students even held a fund drive to assist a family in need and they chose the Flukers.

Then just as quickly as he found firm footing, Fluker had to go through more change. Prior to his junior year of high school, personal issues forced Fluker's mom to move the family back to Biloxi. Shortly after settling, the family's temporary home — a trailer — was burned down by kids playing with matches. The Flukers decided on a return to Alabama, this time settling in Foley for Fluker's senior year. It was at Foley High School that Fluker moved from defensive tackle to offensive tackle and it ultimately started him down the path that led him first to the University of Alabama and later to the San Diego Chargers.

At Alabama, Fluker was a cornerstone at right tackle and a three-time BCS champion. He started all 27 games during the 2011-12 seasons, earning second-team All-America and first-team All-SEC honors. With his family struggling to make ends meet, Fluker decided it was time to take matters into his own hands and made himself available for the 2013 NFL Draft. That year, Fluker graded out at 98.6% on his blocking assignments, he surrendered just four sacks, and was flagged just twice as the Crimson Tide finished the year 13-1 and 7-1 in the SEC. All the while, Fluker earned a degree in health studies in just 3 1/2 years and by doing so, he received an invitation to the Senior Bowl, which helped bolster his draft stock.

The Chargers picked Fluker 11th in the 2013 NFL Draft. His first contract included a seven-figure signing bonus. The first thing he did was purchase a new home for his mom, younger brother and two younger sisters in Mobile, and the second thing he did was pay tuition so that his younger brother, Leon, could attend college.

Knowing his family was secure allowed Fluker to flourish on the football field as a rookie with the Chargers. Besides earning all-rookie honors, his teammates chose him as the team's Most Inspirational Player. So impressive was the young Fluker that late in the year, he walked into Head Coach Mike McCoy's office and asked for permission to address the team at a time when he felt like some of his teammates weren't giving maximum effort. It was a momentum-changing experience for the whole team, which rallied around Fluker as the Bolts won their last four games of the regular season and advanced to the playoffs for the first time since 2009.

In June 2015, Fluker returned to Alabama to host a golf tournament and youth football camp. Proceeds from that camp helped support McGill-Toolen Catholic High School.

Fluker also dedicates himself to helping others in need in San Diego. One group he's particularly supportive of is at-risk youth. Fluker makes regular visits to Juvenile Hall and other facilities that treat at-risk youth. He speaks to them about the hardships and realities of life, and helps provide the children with the tools to overcome them. In July 2015, the San Diego Juvenile Justice Commission honored Fluker at its annual awards banquet. The event pays tribute to members of the law enforcement community who go above and beyond the call of duty to help incarcerated minors in the San Diego community.

When Fluker was a rookie in 2013, he and second-round draft pick Manti Te'o developed a unique bond while taking part in the NFL's Rookie Symposium in Ohio. During a break from the sessions, Fluker was sitting outside while the former Notre Dame linebacker was swimming laps in the hotel pool. As a child, Fluker nearly drowned in a swimming pool and was deathly afraid of the water. Still, Fluker showed an interest while watching Te'o swim laps, so the linebacker volunteered to hold the 340-pound lineman's midsection while he learned to kick and stroke. After a few short tries, Fluker picked it up and was able to swim a short distance, thanks to Te'o's help.

Besides swimming, Fluker has also taken to boxing while playing for the Chargers. Fluker trains at a local boxing gym and the workouts have helped him drastically improve his speed, footwork and hand placement.

ORLANDO FRANKLIN

Guard
6-6, 315
6th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

UFA (Denver) – '15
Miami
Atlantic HS
Delray Beach, Fla.

A native of Kingston, Jamaica, Franklin joined the Chargers as an unrestricted free agent in 2015. Standing 6-7 and weighing 320 pounds, he is an imposing figure on the interior of the Bolts' offensive line.

Franklin was one of the NFL's most sought-after free agents in 2015. During his first four seasons with the Broncos, the former second-round pick started 70 of 71 possible games, playoffs included. In 2013, he gave up just two sacks as the starting right tackle for a Broncos team that reached Super Bowl XLVIII. In 2014, he surrendered just one sack and eight pressures for the league's fourth-ranked offense in his first season lining up at left guard.

In the NFL, few players have an easy path to reach stardom. In Franklin's case, his path was filled with potholes.

When he was three years old, Franklin's mother, Sylvia, decided to relocate Orlando and his brother, Kingsley, from Jamaica to Toronto, Canada in search of a better life. She was a single mother who married a Canadian man so she could live in the country legally. She took a job working six days a week in an auto garage to make ends meet. After several years, the marriage deteriorated and Sylvia made the difficult decision to leave with the boys. With little money and few personal effects, Sylvia, Kingsley and Orlando moved into a homeless shelter.

When the Franklins moved out of the shelter, they relocated into a community housing project in Victoria Park. It was there that Orlando first started playing football after coming into contact with a gentleman named Roberto Allen, better known as "Coach Bubba." While football provided a positive escape for Franklin, he also had a difficult time steering clear of the wrong crowd. At the age of nine after seeing his brother get arrested, Franklin asked his mom to move him into a group home where he lived for the next 18 months. But while living in the group home, Franklin wasn't living a trouble-free life.

Over the next three years, Franklin continued to find trouble both with the law and in school. He was kicked out of school after being suspended too many times to count. It was a low point for the future NFL star. Franklin's mother once made him suffer through the indignity of incarceration. He ended up spending a couple months behind bars and when he finally returned home, his mom gave him an ultimatum: either turn his life around or the next time he got arrested, he was staying in jail. His mom even went so far as to draw up a contract that Orlando signed promising to keep on the straight and narrow.

Franklin managed to keep his troubled past in the rear-view mirror at the same time he was growing and blossoming into a promising football talent. Knowing that his football options were severely limited in Canada, Franklin convinced his mom to relocate to the United States so he could pursue the opportunity to earn a scholarship and play Division I football. They settled on Delray Beach, Florida and Franklin enrolled at Atlantic High School. He played just one season for the Eagles, but Franklin did so without allowing a sack and more than 70 scholarship offers poured in. He ended up selecting the University of Miami so he could be close to his mom. It was a prophetic choice as Franklin became one of the most decorated offensive linemen in school history. He became the first freshman in school history to start every game and by the end of his college career, Franklin had played in a total of 51 games while twice earning All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors.

All of the lows that Franklin endured as a youth have shaped him into not only a successful professional athlete, but a role model for kids in both Canada and the United States. A kid who at one time appeared destined for a life behind bars, Franklin earned a psychology degree from Miami and he created the Orlando Franklin Foundation, whose mission is to reach out to at-risk youth. Ironically, one of the men who helps him run the foundation is a Toronto police sergeant. And while Franklin has become a success in the NFL, Sylvia now runs a successful clothing business back in Jamaica and Kingsley has found success working in the construction industry in Canada.

Free Agent – '15
Stanford
Homestead HS
Mequon, Wis.

In Nov. 2015, the Chargers signed former Dallas Cowboys seventh-round pick Ben Gardner to the practice squad.

A first-team all-state selection and a conference defensive player of the year at Homestead High School in Mequon, Wisconsin, Gardner received only one scholarship offer – from FCS school Northern Iowa – after an outstanding prep career. He was overlooked by the University of Wisconsin and his collegiate options appeared bleak. But as luck would have it, legendary college coach Jack Harbaugh, the father of former Chargers quarterback and then-Stanford Head Coach Jim Harbaugh, lived in Mequon. One day, the elder Harbaugh paid a visit to the coaches at Homestead High School and Gardner made a point to introduce himself. Gardner arranged to get a copy of his highlight tape into Harbaugh's hands and he passed it on to his son at Stanford. The Cardinal showed some interest in Gardner but they were low on available scholarships. However, er, about a week before national signing day in 2009, one last scholarship became available and the Cardinal extended an offer to Gardner. It proved to be a fortuitous move as Gardner would go on to become a three-time All-Pac-12 performer at Stanford. He also earned some personal redemption when the Cardinal capped his junior season with a 20-14 win over Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl.

Gardner, with 20.5 career sacks during his college career, was being projected as a third-round pick in the 2014 NFL Draft. However, late in his senior year during a game against Oregon State, he tore a pectoral muscle while attempting to sack Beavers' quarterback Sean Mannion. The injury caused him to slide to the seventh round where he was picked by the Cowboys. Gardner then injured his shoulder during his first training camp and he spent his rookie season on the "Reserve-Injured" list. The following September he was cut by Dallas and in November he signed with the Chargers.

ANTONIO GATES

Tight End

6-4, 255

14th NFL Season

14th with Chargers

Free Agent - '03

Kent State

Central HS

Detroit, Mich.

Antonio Gates went from college basketball standout to unknown free agent tight end to an unprecedented record-breaking playing career. Undoubtedly the Pro Football Hall of Fame will be the final stop for the soft-spoken, humble athlete from Detroit.

However the Hall of Fame must wait as he continues to be a dominant force for the Chargers who enters his 14th NFL season with a new two-year contract.

Gates has been elected to eight Pro Bowls and five Associated Press All-Pro teams. He's a member of the NFL's All-Decade Team (2000-09), one of the 50 Greatest Chargers of All-Time, a four-time Chargers Offensive Player of the Year, and a four-time Team Captain.

He enters the 2016 season holding franchise records for career receptions (844), receiving yards (10,644) and touchdown catches (104). All-time he ranks 27th in NFL history for receptions (third among tight ends), 38th in receiving yards (third among tight ends) and seventh in touchdown catches (second among tight ends). He needs just eight more touchdown catches to pass Tony Gonzalez for most by a tight end in League history.

Gates' 104 touchdown catches since he came into the NFL in 2003 are the most in the NFL over the last 12-plus years (2003-current). He has 21-career multi-touchdown games during that stretch, most by a tight end in NFL history. One of the most clutch receivers the NFL has ever seen, Gates' 37 touchdown catches on third-down plays are fourth in NFL history and most among tight ends. And his four seasons with 10 or more touchdowns are second-most in NFL history among tight ends.

Eight times in 13 seasons, Gates has led the team in receiving touchdowns. He's also led the team in catches eight times and in yards five times. Gates has 21 career 100-yard games, sixth-most in team history.

Gates missed the first four games of the 2015 NFL season due to a League suspension, but he returned to play in 11 of the Chargers' final 12 games and he still ended the year as the team's third-leading receiver with 56 catches good for 630 yards and five scores.

The adversity that Gates faced and overcame in 2015 was slight compared to the personal heartache he dealt with just a year earlier. In July 2014, his younger sister, Pamela, died after a three-year battle with Lupus. Gates missed the entire offseason program so that he could remain in his hometown of Detroit, close to his family. Gates and his sister were extremely close and her illness hit him hard. With his football home halfway across the country from his hometown, Gates even pondered retirement. The Chargers remained supportive and Gates stayed by Pamela's bedside even as she lie in a coma for weeks prior to her passing. She died the day he ultimately returned to San Diego to join his teammates for the start of training camp. Gates made his peace with Pamela's illness before returning to Southern California and it provided both inspiration and a springboard for what lie ahead. Gates started the season on a tear. He caught nine touchdown passes in the team's first eight games, tying the team record for touchdowns in the first half of a season, and he ended the season with 12, tied for most in the NFL among tight ends and his best tally since 2004. Gates turned 34 two months before the 2014 season started and he became only the fourth 34-year-old player in NFL history with a 12-touchdown season, joining Cris Carter, Marvin Harrison and Terrell Owens.

Gates' route to the NFL has been well-chronicled. When he signed with the Chargers as an undrafted rookie in 2003, he had not played football since his senior season at Detroit's Central High School. He began his collegiate career at Michigan State under the assumption that he could play both football and basketball, but when football coach Nick Saban relented, Gates chose to focus on hoops and decided it was best to leave the East Lansing campus. An up-and-down start to his basketball career sent him to three different schools before he finally found a home at Kent State. He played there two seasons and helped lead the Golden Flashes to back-to-back Mid-American Conference championships and the Elite Eight of the 2002 NCAA Tournament. Gates ended his career as the sixth-leading scorer in school history and in Feb. 2010, he returned to the Kent, Ohio, campus to have his No. 44 jersey retired by the school.

With football as his platform, Gates has become a prominent community figure. When the NFL sought out spokespeople to appear in their "No More" campaign to stop domestic violence in 2014, Gates was among a select group of players asked to appear in a series of television public service announcements. Locally, he's hosted the Shop with a Charger event that became one of the most popular holiday events in San Diego, as Gates hosted homeless, neglected and abused children to a special night that included a Christmas shopping spree. He also has been a staunch supporter of the Huntington's Disease Society of America, serving for a number of years as the honorary chairman for the Shoot to Cure HD, which raises much-needed research funds for the HDSEA. And Gates works closely with Promises2Kids, an organization that offers support to San Diego's foster youth community.

In his hometown of Detroit, Gates is involved in boxing as the owner of AG Promotions. He has a stable of young fighters and regularly stages fight cards in and around Detroit. Gates' paternal grandfather, Henry Hank, was a professional boxer in the 1950s and '60s who went 62-31-4 with 40 wins by knockout as a middleweight and light heavyweight. Hank's 1962 fight against Joey Giardello was voted the Fight of the Year by Ring Magazine. Old photos show a striking resemblance between Gates and his grandfather. Gates now works with his cousin, Tony Harrison, who is one of boxing's top young middleweights. Harrison is off to a 23-1-0 record with 19 wins by knockout to start his career.

Gates' wife, Sasha, is an aspiring R&B musician who is due to release her first album in 2016. Besides being a mother to the couple's two children, Sasha stars on the E! reality show WAGS. She also helps run the Dolling Foundation, which inspires women to maintain a strong sense of self by enhancing their natural beauty that was compromised by hair loss due to catastrophic illness or tragedy.

CHARGERS IN POWER BLUES

The Chargers' "Power Blue" / powder blue jerseys first reappeared in 1994 during the NFL's 75th Anniversary Season. Since then, the Chargers have worn their alternate jersey 30 times, posting a 15-15 record in those games. The team redesigned its uniform in 2007, introducing a new version of the powder blue alternate jersey, and the team is 10-10 in the most current version. From 1994-06, Chargers wore their "Throwback" jerseys, modeled after uniforms worn by 1963 AFL Championship squad, 10 times and posted a 5-5 record.

MELVIN GORDON

Running Back
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 1 - '15
Wisconsin
Bradford HS
Kenosha, Wis.

The San Diego Chargers kicked off the 2015 NFL Draft by selecting running back Melvin Gordon from the University of Wisconsin in the first round. Winner of the 2014 Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back, Gordon led the Chargers in rushing as a rookie with 641 yards.

At Wisconsin, Gordon rushed for 4,915 yards and scored 49 total touchdowns, both third in school history. In addition to his Doak Walker Award, Gordon was the runner-up for the 2014 Heisman Trophy. He also took home the Grange-Griffin Award as the Big Ten Running Back of the Year and the Ameche-Dayne Big Ten Running Back of the Year Award.

Gordon enrolled at Wisconsin in 2011 and a year later he began to garner national attention. He came onto the radar of Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco when he rushed for 216 yards and a touchdown on just nine carries in the 2012 Big Ten Championship Game against Nebraska.

Gordon's redshirt junior season in 2014 showed America that he was ready for the NFL. He rushed for 2,587 yards, a Big Ten record and second-most in FBS history. His 184.8 yards per game average was the most by an FBS player since former Chargers great LaDainian Tomlinson averaged 196.2 yards per game for TCU in 2000. Gordon became just the third player in FBS history to rush for at least 2,000 yards and score 30 touchdowns, joining the likes of Barry Sanders and Central Florida's Kevin Smith.

A native of Kenosha, Wisconsin, and an only child, both of Gordon's parents played an instrumental role in his upbringing. His mother, Carmen, a nurse, has never missed one of his games. Before enrolling at Wisconsin, she often shuttled Melvin to and from football camps and combines as far away as Tennessee and Alabama to help his football career. She also stayed after him to maintain good grades and the life science communications major was named to a host of all-academic teams during his college career at Wisconsin. Melvin wore No. 25 for the Badgers because it was his mother's age when he was born.

Gordon's father, Melvin, Sr., has also played an instrumental role. He taught his son the importance of strength and conditioning. The family had a weight room in the basement of their Kenosha home and Melvin, Sr., was a regular fixture in the weight room at Bradford High School. Gordon continued his intense training regimen at Wisconsin where he once ran every step in Camp Randall Stadium while wearing a weighted vest. The elder Gordon also made sure that his son had an appreciation for the NFL's great running backs who had helped pave the way. Melvin, Sr., who had once played semi-pro football, used to show his son tapes of great running backs like Barry Sanders and Walter Payton.

CHRIS HAIRSTON

Guard-Tackle
6-6, 330
5th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Clemson
Carver HS
Winston-Salem, N.C.

The versatile Chris Hairston originally joined the Chargers on a one-year contract in 2015 and he became one of the team's most valuable performers on the offensive line. He played in all 16 games and started 11. As injuries wreaked havoc on San Diego's offensive line, Hairston saw time everywhere on the offensive line except center. He started nine games at left tackle, one at left guard, one at right guard, and also saw time at right tackle.

Hairston proved to be equal parts tough and versatile. He played through a myriad of injuries to appear in every game, but none was more impressive than his performance against Green Bay on Oct. 18. Six days after suffering a severe ankle injury during a Monday Night Football game against the Pittsburgh Steelers, Hairston defied the odds and started the following Sunday in Green Bay, where he played a season-high 92 snaps as Philip Rivers set franchise records for attempts, completions and yards. His gritty performance caused an emotional Rivers to tear up after the game.

In March, the Chargers agreed to a new two-year contract with Hairston.

Hairston has a son, Chris Jr., and a daughter, Chloe. He is engaged to Carmen Baldwin. The couple plans to wed in July 2017.

Hairston's second cousin is Baylor University guard-forward Ishmail Wainright, who started all 34 games for the Bears as a junior in 2015-16.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fourth-round pick (122) by Buffalo, April 30, 2011...signed July 29...re-signed with Buffalo, April 22, 2014...contract expired March 10, 2015...signed with Chargers, April 20...re-signed two-year contract with Chargers March 24, 2016.

2015: Saw reserve action at both right guard and right tackle in second half of 33-28 Sept. 13 win over Detroit...replaced D.J. Fluker at right guard and then took over at right tackle later when Joe Barksdale left game for brief period...in second quarter vs. Lions, came into game as extra tackle for one play and threw key block to open hole for Danny Woodhead on nine-yard touchdown run...started Sept. 20 at right guard for injured Fluker...saw action at left guard Sept. 27 at Minnesota for injured Orlando Franklin...started at left tackle Oct. 4 for injured King Dunlap in 30-27 win over Cleveland Oct. 4 as Bolts passed for 358 yards and three touchdowns, while line surrendered just two sacks in game...team won contest on 34-yard field goal with no time left on clock...started at left tackle Oct. 12 vs. Pittsburgh but left game in second quarter with ankle injury and did not return...played entire game at left tackle Oct. 18 at Green Bay as Philip Rivers set franchise records for attempts, completions and yards...saw action briefly at left tackle Oct. 25 vs. Oakland...took over at left tackle in first quarter Nov. 1 at Baltimore for injured Dunlap...briefly left game with knee injury but returned to finish contest...team captain Nov. 9 vs. Chicago...took over at left tackle in third quarter Nov. 22 vs. Kansas City for Dunlap...started for Dunlap at left tackle during 31-25 win

Nov. 29 at Jacksonville... played all 71 snaps as line allowed just two sacks in 45 total dropbacks while Rivers passed for 300 yards and four touchdowns...took over for Dunlap at left tackle in first quarter Dec. 13 at Kansas City...started for Dunlap at left tackle Dec. 20 vs. Miami and helped team rush for season-high 140 yards, while line allowed just one sack in 37 passing plays as Rivers threw for 311 yards and three touchdowns...left Oakland game Dec. 24 at halftime with abdominal injury...returned as starting left tackle for Dunlap Jan. 3 at Denver but left game on first offensive series after re-aggravating abdominal injury. 2014: Saw action in every game, seeing time on both line and special teams. 2013: Spent season on "Reserve-Non-Football Injury" list. 2012: Took over at left tackle for injured Cordy Glenn Sept. 30 vs. New England...starting left tackle Oct. 7 at San Francisco, Oct. 14 at Arizona and Oct. 21 vs. Tennessee...started at right tackle Nov. 4 at Houston, Nov. 11 at Patriots, Nov. 15 vs. Miami, Nov. 25 at Indianapolis and Dec. 2 vs. Jacksonville...helped Bills rush for season-high 232

Games Played-Started: 2011 (13-7, Buffalo); 2012 (12-8, Buffalo); 2013 (Reserve-Non-Football Injury); 2014 (16-0, Buffalo); 2015 (16-11, San Diego); Total (57-26).

CASEY HAYWARD

Cornerback
5-11, 192
5th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Green Bay) - '16
Vanderbilt
Perry HS
Perry, Ga.

The Chargers signed former Green Bay Packers cornerback Casey Hayward to a three-year contract in March.

Hayward has nine career interceptions. In 2014, he tied for the Packers' team lead in interceptions, while tying for seventh in the NFL in total takeaways and ranking eighth in interception return yards. As a rookie in 2012, Hayward led the team and tied for fifth in the NFL with six picks, while also pacing the squad with 25 passes defended. His six interceptions led all NFL rookies and they were the most by a Packers rookie since 1999.

Hayward just missed out on his 10th career interception during a game against the Chargers last October as a false start penalty against the Bolts negated Hayward's would-be pick.

Hayward and his mother, Tish, oversee the Hayward's Hands Foundation, which annually hosts a Thanksgiving Drive, a Christmas Toy Drive and a youth football camp in his native Perry, Georgia. Tish, who is a breast cancer survivor, was honored by NFL Mothers and Paradigm 360 in 2015 for her work with Casey and the Foundation.

Hayward hopes to take advantage of business classes he took at Vanderbilt to own a couple of Chick-fil-A restaurants after he hangs up his football cleats.

Hayward's hobbies include watching movies and bowling.

Hayward's cousin, Chris Duncan, serves in the Army.

JAVONTEE HERNDON

Wide Receiver—Kick Returner
2nd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '14
Arkansas
The Bolles School
Jacksonville, Fla.

After a year and a half on the practice squad, Javontee Herndon earned a promotion to the active roster midway through the 2015 season and gained valuable experience as both a wide receiver and a kickoff and punt returner.

The highlight of Herndon's season came during the Chargers' late-November trip to his hometown of Jacksonville. The day before the game, the team held its walk-through practice at Herndon's alma mater, The Bolles School, where he played on state championship teams in 2008 and 2009. Then a day later he had two long punt returns that helped contribute to 10 Chargers points in a 31-25 win over the Jaguars.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers May 13...waived Aug. 30...re-signed to practice squad, Sept. 1...re-signed Dec. 29.

2015: Regular-season debut Nov. 9 vs. Chicago and first NFL catch for 12 yards in fourth quarter. 2014: Spent full season on Chargers' practice squad.

COLLEGE: Played in 49 career games with 14 starts and finished career with 62 catches for 910 yards and seven touchdowns...as senior, returned nine punts for 7.4 average...SEC Academic Honor Roll and Athletic Director's List in 2012...played at Arkansas from 2010-13...communications major.

PERSONAL: Born in Jacksonville, Florida...played on state title team at The Bolles School in Jacksonville in 2009...brother, Tray, played wide receiver at University of Minnesota in 2007 and Vanderbilt from 2008-10.

READ ACROSS AMERICA

In March, Herndon participated in a Read Across America celebration at Walker Elementary School in San Diego. Read Across America is an annual reading motivation and awareness program that was created in honor of children's author Dr. Seuss.

MELVIN INGRAM

Outside Linebacker
6-2, 247
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '12
South Carolina
Richmond County HS
Rockingham, N.C.

Melvin Ingram blossomed in 2015 as the former first-round pick led the team with 10.5 sacks, 19 tackles for loss, four forced fumbles and 29 quarterback hits. He became the first Chargers' player to record a double-digit sack season since 2011 and he tied for 12th in the NFL in sacks. Ingram closed out the year by recording a sack in five straight games and had nine in the Bolts' last nine games.

The 2015 season, the first in which he started all 16 games, was particularly satisfying for Ingram. His two previous seasons (2013-14) were cut short by injuries — first a knee, then a hip. To stave off the injury bug, Ingram worked with a private trainer in Miami who completely revamped his diet and oversaw an intense workout program that included heavy cardio and boxing. Ingram learned to replace fatty meats, starches and carbohydrates with proteins and vegetables and as a result, he reported to camp 20 pounds lighter than he'd been in previous seasons, along with a body-fat count that dropped to eight percent.

Based on what he'd accomplished in 2013, the Chargers were keenly aware of Ingram's limitless potential. That year, Ingram tore the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee during an early offseason practice. A medical marvel, Ingram returned to the field in early December, just five months removed from the injury, and he helped boost the Chargers into the playoffs for the first time since 2009. The Bolts went 4-0 down the stretch with Ingram back on the field and they won their first playoff game since 2008. In that playoff victory, a wild card win in Cincinnati, Ingram was outstanding as he collected his first NFL interception and he led the team with four quarterback pressures.

Off the field, Ingram is an aspiring rap musician who in 2015 released a full-length mixtape entitled "From Nothing to Something." His favorite song on the tape is called "Pops," which is a tribute to his late father, George Melvin Ingram, Jr., who died of a massive heart attack in 1998. It was Ingram's father who many years ago predicted that his infant son would one day play in the NFL.

Following his father's passing, Ingram's mother, Nancy raised him and his two older sisters as a single mom. At Richmond County High School in his native Rockingham, North Carolina, Ingram became a football star and three-year starter at point guard for the school's basketball team where he earned the nickname "SupaMelvin." So gifted was Ingram that he once walked out of a high school math class so he could go to the school's gym to break the hang-clean record in his school clothes. After a brief warmup, he did so with a lift of 380 pounds, five more than the previous school record. And prior to the 2006 Shrine Bowl All-Star Game featuring the top high school seniors from North and South Carolina, Ingram threw the fastest pass during a pregame carnival, posting the fastest throws with both his left and right hands. Ingram can also perform a standing back-flip, spin a football in his hand and dunk it over a crossbar, dunk a basketball with ease and throw a football more than 70 yards without taking a step.

In 2015, Ingram launched the nonprofit foundation, "Mission Possible." Its purpose is to provide inner-city and low-income children with additional educational opportunities and resources. A celebrity waiter event is the foundation's signature event. Also in 2015, Ingram joined professional skateboarder Tony Hawk, BMX Champion Alise Post and County government officials in a public service announcement designed to combat domestic violence. The spots aired on local cable channels throughout San Diego.

DONTRELLE INMAN

Wide Receiver
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent – '14
Virginia
Batesburg-Leesville HS
Batesburg, S.C.

One player to keep an eye on in 2016 is wide receiver Dontrelle Inman. A former import from the Canadian Football League's Toronto Argonauts, Inman more than tripled his production from 2014 to 2015. His 13.9 yards per catch average in 2015 was the highest on the team and 29th-highest in the NFL among players with at least 35 catches.

Inman enjoyed a number of memorable moments in 2015. Among them, he caught his first NFL touchdown pass in historic Lambeau Field. He was on the receiving end of the pass that put Philip Rivers over 40,000 yards for his career. And during a Christmas Eve game in Oakland, the wide receiver had to play free safety in overtime after injuries had decimated the Bolts' secondary.

Inman originally came to the NFL in 2011. He signed with Jacksonville, but due to the NFL Lockout, there was no offseason program and Inman went to training camp far behind the team's veterans. After being released, Inman caught on with the Argonauts, where he played two seasons (2012-13) and won a Grey Cup championship in 2012. In Toronto, Inman was coached by former NFL quarterback Scott Milanovich, who was a good friend of former Chargers Offensive Coordinator Frank Reich. Looking to return to the NFL, Milanovich gave Reich a glowing recommendation and Inman joined the Chargers in 2014.

Inman earned a spot on the 2014 opening day roster after a preseason that included a 100-yard game against Dallas, highlighted by a 70-yard over-the-shoulder touchdown catch. Once the regular season rolled around however, his playing time was sporadic. Then during a late December game in San Francisco with the team's postseason hopes on the line, Inman was inserted into the lineup early in the second half of a game the Chargers trailed by 21 points. He made a fingertip catch on the first ball thrown his way and finished the night with seven catches for 79 yards. It included a 17-yard catch on a fourth-down play late in the fourth quarter that was part of a game-tying touchdown drive. The Chargers rallied to defeat the 49ers in overtime, 38-35, matching the greatest comeback in franchise history.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Jacksonville, July 28, 2011...waived Sept. 3...signed with Chargers, Feb. 3, 2014...re-signed March 12, 2016.

2015: Took over at wide receiver for injured Malcolm Floyd Oct. 4 vs. Cleveland and racked up season-high 88 yards on three catches...included season-long 68-yard catch-and-run to Browns' one on 3rd-and-5 play that set up touchdown for 27-19 lead in eventual 30-27 victory...first NFL touchdown catch, floating one-yarder on 4th-and-goal on final play of first half Oct. 18 at Green Bay's Lambeau Field...two-yard touchdown catch on 3rd-and-goal for Bolts' first points of game in 31-25 win at Jacksonville Nov. 29...during second-quarter touchdown drive that gave Bolts 14-9 lead, had 17-yard catch on 3rd-and-4 followed by 23-yard catch that put Philip Rivers over 40,000 yards for his career...suffered neck injury at end of 15-yard catch on 3rd-and-14 play early Dec. 6 vs. Denver and did not return...inactive Dec. 13 at Kansas City...three catches for 78 yards (26.0 avg.), all on scoring drives, Dec. 20 vs. Miami...seven-yard touchdown reception among season-high eight catches for 82 yards Dec. 24 at Oakland...in overtime, pressed into duty as free safety after injuries left Chargers without enough defensive backs. 2014: NFL debut Sept. 14 vs. Seattle...helped Chargers to 38-35 overtime win vs. San Francisco in Dec. 20 nationally-televised night game at Levi's Stadium...inserted into lineup in third quarter and responded with seven catches and 79 yards on nine targets...17-yard 4th-and-10 catch with 54 seconds left during late fourth-quarter game-tying touchdown drive...paced team with five catches, good for 79 yards, Dec. 28 at Kansas City.

CFL: Fifty catches for 803 yards (16.1 avg.) and five touchdowns for Grey Cup champions as rookie in 2012...50 catches for 739 yards and six TDs in 2013.

COLLEGE: As senior, posted second-best receiving game in school history with 239 yards against Duke...played in 45 career games, totaling 78 catches for 1,098 yards and three touchdowns...played at Virginia from 2007-10...digital art major.

THE GIVING KEYS

Inman is one of several Chargers players who have strengthened the bond inside the locker room with "The Giving Keys," specially engraved keys that are passed from teammate to teammate in times of need. Worn as necklaces, The Giving Keys are meant to inspire others through their pay-it-forward movement. Last season, Inman presented one engraved with "Strength" to running back Melvin Gordon when the rookie was going through a difficult stretch of the season.

STEVIE JOHNSON

Wide Receiver
6-2, 207
9th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Kentucky
Rodriguez HS
Fairfield, Calif.

A seventh-round pick of the Buffalo Bills in 2008, Stevie Johnson spent six seasons in Buffalo (2008-13) and a seventh (2014) with the San Francisco 49ers before joining the Chargers in 2015. The three-time 1,000-yard receiver fought through hamstring and groin injuries during his first year in San Diego that limited him to just 10 games and eight starts. Johnson finished fourth on the team with 45 receptions for 497 yards and three scores in his first year working with quarterback Phillip Rivers.

In Buffalo, Johnson became the first player in Bills history to record three-straight 1,000-yard seasons.

Johnson spent many of his formative years living in the Bayview-Hunters Point neighborhood in San Francisco. It was an area rife with gangs, drugs and an extremely high homicide rate. His mother Rhonda and stepfather Andre "Herm" Lewis kept Johnson active in sports and it helped him to steer clear of trouble. When Johnson was a teenager, the family left the city and moved to nearby Fairfield where he attended Rodriguez High School, the same school that produced Jason Verrett, the Chargers' first-round pick in the 2014 NFL Draft. When Johnson attended Rodriguez, however, the school didn't have a football team and it didn't field one until his junior year in 2003. Undeterred, Johnson began playing immediately and as one of the team's best athletes, he played all over the field. One position he didn't play though was wide receiver. Then late during his senior year, Johnson attended a football camp at Stanford University and coaches placed him in a group with defensive backs. Johnson felt over-matched against the wide receiver, so he quietly switched sides and began working out with them instead of against them. Coaches were impressed by his talents as a wide receiver and it gave Johnson a ticket first to Chabot College in Hayward, Calif., and then to the University of Kentucky, which plays in the ultra-competitive SEC.

Johnson has long considered himself to be unique and he's done many things throughout his life that some might consider unconventional.

In high school, he showed up at the senior prom with an LED panel attached to his tuxedo that flashed his nickname "Stevie Styles" in bright lights. His date that night was a woman he went on to marry in 2006, wife Britney.

When Johnson arrived at the University of Kentucky, most of the Wildcats' wide receivers wore numbers in the 80s, Johnson selected 13. He wore the number as well early in his NFL career, reasoning that if you connected the 1 and the 3 it would form a B, his affectionate nickname for his wife.

Johnson's body is covered in tattoos, all with significant meaning. The most significant one is a tribute to his mom, who died in her sleep in December 2014.

Johnson supports of PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals). Among his many tattoos are several supporting the organization's "Ink Not Mink" anti-fur platform.

Johnson's father, Steve, Sr., and his stepfather both played an important role in his life. His stepfather is now an executive in the music industry, but he didn't always walk the straight-and-narrow path. Lewis spent time locked up earlier in his adolescence, but he turned his life around and became a community activist in addition to his career as a rap producer. Johnson's cousin is rapper Ya Boy and Johnson himself has dabbled in the music game, recording a rap song himself with rap artist The Game.

Johnson and Britney have two daughters, Miyah and Mia Bella, and a son, Armani.

Johnson's second cousin is two-time NBA Defensive Player of the Year, Kawhi Leonard of the San Antonio Spurs. Leonard played collegiately at San Diego State and he was the MVP of the 2014 NBA Finals.

JOSH LAMBO

Kicker
6-0, 215
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Texas A&M
Middleton HS
Middleton, Wis.

The Chargers took a calculated gamble with their placekicking duties in 2015, but that risk paid huge dividends as Josh Lambo became one of the NFL's top kickers.

In August, the Chargers cut ties with veteran Nick Novak, the second-most accurate kicker in franchise history, and they handed the job to Lambo, a 24-year-old undrafted rookie from Texas A&M. Lambo's leg strength wowed the Chargers brass, as did a 53-yard field goal in the preseason and later a 47-yarder as time expired to give the Chargers a 22-19 preseason win.

From there, Lambo simply went on to become the top rookie kicker in the NFL and an All-Rookie selection in 2015. He scored a rookie-leading 106 points, making 26 of 32 field goals (81.3 pct.) and 28 of 32 PATs (87.5). He made 19 of his last 23 field goal attempts to close out the season and went 15 of 22 on the season from beyond 40 yards, with a long of 54. Lambo's only misses last season were from 42, 47, 48 (three times) and 60 yards. He made seven of his eight field goal attempts in the fourth quarter, including a 54-yarder for a 20-17 lead over Pittsburgh with 2:56 left on Oct. 12, a game-tying 49-yarder to tie the game at 26-26 with 2:27 remaining on Nov. 1 in Baltimore, and a game-tying 47-yarder with 1:00 left in the fourth quarter Dec. 24 at Oakland.

Lambo's 106 points tied for second in franchise history by a rookie and he recorded a team-record 41 touchbacks on 73 kickoffs, second in the NFL in 2015 among rookies.

Lambo wasn't like most of the other undrafted rookies when he originally signed with the team in May. Even though he'd come to the Chargers from Texas A&M, Lambo had been a professional international soccer player in his late teens. At the age of 14, Lambo was one of the United States' top young goalkeeping prospects. He was invited to leave home and train with the U.S. National Team in Bradenton, Florida. Within a year, Lambo had joined Everton

FC of European soccer's Premier League as a trialist where he trained alongside long-time U.S. Soccer star Tim Howard. That experience helped Lambo land a spot on the United States' Under-17 and later Under-20 Teams that would both play for the World Cup.

In 2008, Lambo was the No. 8 overall pick in Major League Soccer's (MLS) draft by FC Dallas. As fate would have it, that would be the beginning of the end of Lambo's career on the pitch. Over the course of the next four years, Lambo dealt with a broken jaw, minimal playing time and several coaching changes that all but ended his future in both the MLS and with Team U.S. Soccer.

After being waived by the MLS in 2012, Lambo returned to Wisconsin to ponder his future. Encouraged by his mom, Irene, who suggested he finish college and try his hand at placekicking, Lambo sought assistance from former University of Wisconsin kicker Tyler Mehlhaff, who also had kicked for the NFL's New Orleans Saints. Lambo's older brother, Zack, had played soccer at Wisconsin at the same time Mehlhaff kicked for the Badgers and he helped put them in touch. Mehlhaff helped Lambo refine his kicking swing and within a matter of months, Lambo enrolled at Texas A&M where he walked onto the football team.

Lambo played sparingly for the Aggies in 2012, but he won the placekicking job in College Station in 2013 and over the course of the 2013-14 seasons, he hit kicks at an astonishing rate, converting 21 of 25 field goals with a long of 50 and 109 of 110 point after tries. One of those made field goals was a 33-yarder as time expired to give Texas A&M a 41-38 win over Mississippi in 2013 for the Aggies' first walk-off victory in more than two decades.

Lambo and Mehlhaff have remained friends and the two still train together when Lambo finds himself back home in Wisconsin.

SEAN LISSEMORE

Nose Tackle
6-3, 303
7th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Trade (Dallas) – '13
William & Mary, Va.
Dumont HS
Dumont, N.J.

Lissemore has been a solid contributor for the Chargers since coming over from Dallas in a trade in September 2013. As a nose tackle in the team's 3-4 defense, Lissemore is often tasked with occupying multiple blockers across the line of scrimmage, freeing up those around him to make game-changing plays.

A native of Dumont, New Jersey, Lissemore grew up a fan of the New York Giants. Lawrence Taylor was his favorite player and Lissemore wore Taylor's No. 56 through junior high and high school. A state medalist as a 215-pound wrestler, Lissemore also was one of the area's top throwers and sprinters, and he played saxophone in the school band. Lissemore could have attended college on a wrestling scholarship, but he decided to pursue his dream of playing in the NFL and attended William & Mary.

Lissemore still maintains close ties to his hometown. For the last several years, he's returned home to host a free football camp for kids 6-and-older in Dumont. A number of athletes and coaches volunteer their time, including former Indianapolis Colts and Giants' safety David Caldwell, who played with Lissemore at William & Mary.

There is a long history of military and civil service in Lissemore's family. Both of his grandfathers served in the Army and fought in World War II. His maternal grandfather fought in France, while his paternal grandfather, who also served in the Korean War, fought in the Pacific theater. Lissemore coincidentally was born on Sept. 11 and his dad, William Lissemore, a telecommunications specialist, happened to be working in Manhattan on the day of the 9-11 terrorist attacks in 2001. Inspired, like many Americans were after that fateful day, the elder Lissemore offered his services to help the military set up their telecommunications at "Ground Zero," and he later became a volunteer fireman with the Dumont Fire Department.

Besides serving his country, Lissemore's grandfather on his mother's side played semi-pro basketball in Pennsylvania.

In April 2015, Lissemore was invited to participate in the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the San Francisco campus of the Wharton School from the University of Pennsylvania. A total of 32 current and former NFL players were invited to participate in the program, which covered topics including financing, operations and business development.

In July 2015, Lissemore tied the knot with the former Chelsea Niles, his longtime girlfriend from college. The couple wed on July 4 in Williamsburg, Virginia.

Lissemore's hobbies include boating, fishing and drag racing. He grew up watching drag racing with his father at Raceway Park in Englishtown, New Jersey. This April, Lissemore and Chelsea were invited to the 2016 Denso Spark Plugs NHRA Nationals at the Las Vegas Motor Speedway, where they had an opportunity to spend some time in the racing pits and meet some of NHRA's top drivers.

COREY LIUGET

Defensive Tackle
6-2, 300
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Draft 1 – '11
Illinois
Hialeah HS
Miami, Fla.

Defensive tackle Corey Liuget is anxious to return to the field after an injury-shortened 2015 campaign.

One of the NFL's top interior linemen, Liuget signed a multi-year contract extension through 2020 in June 2015. A couple months later, teammates voted him a team captain for the first time in his career. The accolades followed a 2014 campaign in which Liuget led the defensive line in tackles, while leading the team in sacks, tackles for loss and quarterback pressures. He also tied for the team lead in forced fumbles, ranked second in quarterback hits, and scored his first touchdown during a December game in San Francisco.

In 2015, Liuget started the first eight games before he was slowed by a foot injury that hit during an early-Nov. game in Baltimore. Liuget missed a game, then returned to start three more, but on Dec. 12 the Chargers opted to place him on the "Reserve-Injured" list, giving him a head start on being ready for 2016.

The Chargers' first-round pick in 2011, Liuget was San Diego's Defensive Player of the Year in 2012. In 2013, he led the team in sacks, tackles for loss, quarterback pressures and quarterback hits. He played some of his best football down the stretch in helping the Chargers reach the playoffs for the first time since 2009. He collected six of his team-leading 10 tackles for loss in the last six games and in the Chargers' Wild Card Playoff win in Cincinnati, he led the line in tackles, while also contributing a sack, a tackle for loss, a pass defended and a quarterback hit.

Liuget's rise on the field is impressive when considering the obstacles he faced early in his career. After being drafted in 2011, the NFL lockout wiped out what would have been Liuget's first offseason with the team. After the lockout ended and the season rolled around, injuries took a toll on the Chargers' defensive line and Liuget was pressed into immediate duty. He played in 15 games and made 13 starts. However by season's end, his weight had ballooned to more than 325 pounds, due in large part to an extended visit from his mom, Lorene, and her home cooking. Rather than continuing to pack on pounds, Liuget made a decision to travel back to Florida where he could train at his alma mater, Miami's Hialeah High School. The move paid dividends as Liuget lowered his weight to 300 pounds and it set the wheels in motion for a breakthrough 2012 season in which he led San Diego's defensive line in sacks, tackles, tackles for loss and passes defended.

Work ethic is one trait that was drilled into Liuget at an early age. His father, DeJa, was killed while visiting Corey's grandmother in Haiti in 1993. It left Lorene to raise Corey and his four older brothers and sisters as a single parent in Miami's Liberty Square housing projects, also known as the Pork 'n' Beans

THE GRADUATE

In May 2016, Liuget received his degree in sociology from the University of Illinois. Despite leaving school early to enter the 2011 NFL Draft, Liuget followed through on a promise he'd made to his mom, Lorene, and he attended classes at Illinois each offseason to rack up the credits necessary to earn his diploma. On May 15, 2016, Liuget walked with classmates at the Fighting Illini's graduation ceremonies and received his diploma.

public housing projects. When her kids were young, Lorene enlisted their help to make ends meet. She would boil peanuts, and make candy apples, conch fritters and sweet potato pies, which Corey and his brothers and sisters would sell. It taught all of the Liuget kids about work ethic and discipline.

Liuget had a standout prep career as a 6-2, 220-pound quarterback at Hialeah High School. He ran a 4.6-second 40-yard dash and was highly recruited by a number of colleges. Despite hailing from a close-knit family that tops 100 in number and a strong recruiting push from the big in-state schools, Liuget opted to chart his own path and enroll at the University of Illinois. After two years in Champaign, Ill., Liuget grew homesick and contemplated returning home after his sophomore season. Some tough love from his mom persuaded him to stick it out and, instead of moping over the situation, he used it as motivation. Liuget lost 25 pounds between his sophomore and junior seasons, and feeling re-invigorated, had a career year for the Fighting Illini in 2010. Liuget chose to leave school a year early and apply for the 2011 NFL Draft. The Chargers loved the toughness, tenacity and relentless approach to the game that he showed and made him their first-ever first-round pick from Illinois.

Liuget appreciates living in a city with a strong military presence as his sisters — Ideire and Latronika — both serve in the Army.

Liuget enjoys traveling. In 2013, he vacationed in the Dominican Republic, where he learned to surf and scuba dive. In 2014, Liuget and his fiancée, Faven, visited Ethiopia, Dubai, Costa Rica and the Bahamas. And in 2015, the couple visited Egypt and Aruba, while also returning to the Dominican Republic.

Liuget has a son — Corey, Jr. — and two daughters — Eden and Eva. When Corey, Jr. was an infant, he had surgery to correct a heart defect. To show his appreciation, Liuget lends his time to support the American Heart Association at a number of community events.

One of Liuget's hobbies is fishing. He often goes deep-sea fishing with his cousins when home in Miami. Liuget has also hosted fishing trips in San Diego for children from area nonprofit agencies. One of the beneficiaries of Liuget's love of the water is F3G (Fish, Food, Feel Good), an organization that collects fish from sport fishermen and distributes it free of charge to local charities.

In June, Liuget hosted the third-annual "2 Liuget 2 Quit Youth Football Clinic and 7-on-7 Tournament" in Miami in with the Little Haiti Optimist Club.

In 2015, Liuget was a nominee for the NFLPA's Byron "Whizzer" White Award for outstanding community service.

DWIGHT LOWERY

Safety
5-11, 212
9th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Indianapolis) – '16
San Jose State
Soquel HS
Soquel, Calif.

In March, the Chargers fortified their secondary when they signed veteran free safety Dwight Lowery to a three-year contract.

Over an eight-year career that includes stints with the New York Jets, Jacksonville Jaguars, Atlanta Falcons and Indianapolis Colts, Lowery has logged 383 tackles, 16 interceptions, 58 passes defended, seven forced fumbles and he's returned three interceptions for touchdowns. Over the last two seasons (2014-15) with the Falcons and Colts, Lowery played in all 32 games with 31 starts, while posting his top two tackle seasons – 85 in 2014 and 83 in 2015 – and recording six interceptions. Lowery was one of only seven Colts players to start all 16 games in 2015.

Four of Lowery's 16 career interceptions, including a 69-yard return for a touchdown in 2015, have come against Tennessee. The Chargers will face the Titans in San Diego in 2016.

Of Lowery's 16 career interceptions, perhaps the most memorable was the one that he returned 26 yards for a score off the right arm of Brett Favre to give the New York Jets their final points late in the fourth quarter in a 29-20 win over the Minnesota Vikings on Monday Night Football in 2010.

Early in his football career, there was evidence that Lowery had a bright future. As a prep at Soquel (Calif.) High School, Lowery had seven touchdowns in a game. Several years later as a junior at San Jose State, he snagged a school-record nine interceptions in a single season. And as a rookie with the New York Jets in 2008, Lowery forced five fumbles, tied for fifth in the NFL.

Off the field, Lowery has dedicated himself to using his platform as an NFL player to mentor youth in his native Santa Cruz (CA) County. He has spent time with kids from his alma mater, Soquel High School, as well as Cabrillo College, where he played prior to attending San Jose State. In 2015, Lowery hosted a youth football camp at Cabrillo.

Lowery's hobbies include spending time with family and friends, hosting barbeques, playing soccer, hanging out at the beach and watching MMA. Lowery is also an avid Star Wars fan who has seen every movie in the series. He has a significant collection of Star Wars comic books and his favorite character is Darth Vader.

Lowery and his wife, Ashley, have a daughter, Amani, and he is extremely close to his younger sister, Aujanae, who survived open-heart surgery as an infant to correct a heart defect.

Lowery's wife survived a kidnapping attempt in Portland, Oregon in March 2010. She and a girlfriend were on their way home from a concert when a man who claimed he worked for the Portland Police Bureau offered them a ride home. The women accepted the stranger's offer and once in the car, he pulled a knife and took them to a deserted road off Interstate 5 where he tried to assault them. Thankfully the women were able to fight off their kidnapper and escape. The case became a national story as it was featured on the TV show America's Most Wanted.

CRAIG MAGER

Cornerback
5-11, 200
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 3 - '15
Texas State
Luling HS
Luling, Tex.

Seeing action in 10 games, including two late-season starts, 2015 third-round pick Craig Mager garnered valuable game experience in his rookie season with the Chargers.

The 2015 season wasn't without its frustrations. After starting all four years at Texas State without missing a start, Mager missed six games early in the year due to a lingering hamstring injury. Once he was healthy, he bounced back and played in the Bolts' final eight contests.

Many players overcome adversity to play in the NFL, but Mager has been forced to endure more than most. He grew up without a father-figure in his life and in 2007, his mom, Cathy, died suddenly, leaving Mager and his three younger sisters without a parent. The kids moved in with their maternal grandmother and Mager became the proverbial man-of-the-house. At the time, he was just 15 years old.

Mager continued to lose mentors close to him. He attended Luling High School in tiny Luling, Texas. Just over a year after his mother died, Luling's Head Football Coach, Robert Dean, died suddenly of pneumonia early during his sophomore season. In January 2013, his former track coach at Luling High, William "Darrell" Jones died in a traffic accident in Gonzales County, Texas. And then in March 2014, Mager's grandmother, the woman who took in him and his siblings after their mother died, passed away too.

All of these tests of faith have made Mager a much stronger person, and it was part of the reason the team had no trepidation about taking the former Texas State cornerback in the third round of the 2015 NFL draft.

SEAN McGRATH

Tight End
6-5, 259
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Free Agent - '15
Henderson State, Ark.
Carmel Catholic HS
Mundelein, Ill.

In November 2015, the Chargers signed former Seattle Seahawks, Kansas City Chiefs and Indianapolis Colts tight end Sean McGrath to the practice squad.

He spent 2015 getting his football legs back after voluntarily walking away from the game in 2014.

McGrath originally came into the NFL as an undrafted rookie with the Seahawks in 2012. He earned a spot on the practice squad and late that year, he was elevated to the active roster as the Seahawks advanced to the NFC Divisional Playoffs.

The following September, after being waived by Seattle, McGrath was claimed by the Chiefs and he blossomed in Kansas City. He played in all 16 games in 2013 and started nine, catching 26 passes for 302 yards and a pair of scores.

Fast forward to 2014 and McGrath's demeanor as he reported to the Chiefs' training camp at Missouri Western had changed dramatically. Instead of checking into the dorms and joining his Chiefs teammates, McGrath instead met with Head Coach Andy Reid and General Manager John Dorsey and informed them that he had decided to retire from the NFL. A studio art major in college, McGrath decided that he was going to hang up his cleats and return to Henderson State to finish his master's degree. And with that, McGrath spent the 2014 year out of football.

The itch to play returned and McGrath signed with the Indianapolis Colts in 2015. He earned a spot on Indianapolis' practice squad at the start of the season and after being released, he signed with the Chargers. McGrath spent five weeks on the Bolts' practice squad before being elevated to the active roster for the 2015 season finale.

McGrath, who keeps one of the neatest lockers at Chargers Park, lists disc golf and yoga among his hobbies. He is known around the NFL for his trademark beard. When he played in Kansas City, teammates simply referred to him as "The Beard." McGrath's beard even has its own twitter handle @Beard_O_McGrath.

BRANDON MEBANE

Nose Tackle
6-1, 311
10th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

UFA (Seattle) - '16
California
Crenshaw HS
Los Angeles, Calif.

The Chargers signed nose tackle Brandon Mebane, a former Super Bowl champion with the Seattle Seahawks, to a three-year deal in March.

A Los Angeles native, Mebane returns to Southern California after spending his first nine NFL seasons in Seattle where he played in 142 games with 134 starts, including 11 postseason games and nine starts. His career totals (postseason included) are 386 tackles, 15.5 sacks and a pair of forced fumbles. He was named All-Pro by Sports Illustrated in 2013.

Mebane comes from a very close-knit and athletic family. His father, Walter, Jr., played basketball at Norfolk State (Va.). His mother, Joyce, is an outstanding bowler and softball player who also has a history in roller derby. Mebane's grandfather, Walter, Sr., was a 6-8, 320-pound defensive tackle who played at Hampton (Va.) University. And his older brother, Walter III, played middle linebacker at Temple.

Mebane's father later served in the Air Force and his mother spent 40-plus years working as an aerospace engineer for Northrup Grumman. Several of Mebanes uncles also served in the armed forces.

Mebane's wife, Amana, is a lawyer and the couple has two children – Makai and Mahailey.

Mebane's hobbies include listening to music with his kids and watching HGTV and the DIY Networks.

ZACH METTENBERGER

Quarterback
3rd NFL Season
1st with Chargers

Waivers (Tennessee) - '16
Oconee County HS
Watkinsville, Ga.

The Chargers added an experienced quarterback when they claimed former sixth-round draft pick Zach Mettenberger off waivers from Tennessee in May.

Mettenberger spent two seasons with the Titans, appearing in 14 games with 10 starts. His head coach in Tennessee was Chargers Offensive Coordinator Ken Whisenhunt and his quarterbacks coach with the Titans was Chargers tight ends coach John McNulty. From 2014-15, Mettenberger completed 208 of 345 (60.3 pct) for 2,347 yards with 12 touchdowns and 14 interceptions.

A native of Watkinsville, Georgia, Mettenberger played collegiately at Louisiana State where one of his teammates was Stephen Rivers, brother of Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers. At LSU, Mettenberger went 19-6 as a starter and he became the first quarterback in school history to record back-to-back 2,500-yard seasons.

Mettenberger is an avid kayaker. He also enjoys watching ESPN Classic and sporting events from the 1970s and 80s.

BRANDEN OLIVERRunning Back*5-8, 208*3rd NFL Season*3rd with Chargers*Free Agent — '14*Buffalo*Southridge HS*Miami, Fla.

Fully healed from a toe injury that ended his 2015 season after only eight games, jack-of-all trades running back Branden Oliver is back for his third season with the Chargers.

One of the fun stories of the 2014 NFL season was the emergence of Oliver, an undrafted rookie from the University of Buffalo. Compactly built at 5-foot-8 and wearing No. 43 with an exciting running style, Oliver had fans waxing nostalgic about the similarities to former Chargers running back Darren Sproles.

Oliver ended 2014 as the Chargers' leading rusher. Along the way, he delivered a couple of memorable performances, twice being named Pepsi NFL Rookie of the Week. Oliver earned his first honor after a 31-0 win over the New York Jets. During the victory, he became the first Charger with a 50-yard catch and a 50-yard run in the same game since Lionel "Little Train" James in 1985, and he became the NFL's first rookie to do so since Clinton Portis in 2002. New York came into the game with the NFL's top-ranked rushing defense, allowing just 63.3 yards per game and Oliver gouged them for 114 yards. And his 6.0 yards-per-carry average was double the 3.0 average the Jets had allowed coming into the contest. A week after his showing against New York, Oliver earned his second Pepsi award after rushing for 101 yards in Oakland and scoring the winning touchdown late in the fourth quarter of a 31-28 victory over the Raiders.

These were impressive accomplishments for a young player who wasn't even drafted in May's NFL Draft, despite leaving Buffalo as the school's all-time leading rusher. After a tryout in Indianapolis, Oliver ended up signing with the Chargers. He made the opening day roster after an impressive preseason in which he rushed for 161 yards and a touchdown on just 35 carries for a 4.6-yard per carry average. Oliver really caught the coaches' attention during the Bolts' preseason opener against the Dallas Cowboys when he rushed seven times for 64 yards and had a 16-yard touchdown run and a 27-yard run during the game.

After wrapping up his rookie season, Oliver returned to the University of Buffalo and completed the last two classes he needed to earn his degree in sociology. He plans to use his education and life experience to help others by building orphanages and homeless shelters.

One of Oliver's closest friends is Raiders linebacker Khalil Mack. The two were teammates and roommates at Buffalo. Oliver's cousin is former NFL wide receiver Roscoe Parrish.

TENNY PALEPOI

Defensive Tackle
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '14
Utah
Skyline HS
Salt Lake City, Utah

A pleasant surprise who played in all 16 games as an undrafted rookie in 2014, Tenny Palepoi is looking to make a comeback after suffering a season-ending foot injury on the opening day of training camp in 2015.

Palepoi was one of only three undrafted rookies to make the Chargers' opening day roster in 2014. He had a leg up in knowing what to expect in the NFL as his older brother, Anton, spent five years as a defensive end in the League with Seattle, Denver and Arizona. Also, their father, Tony, played professional rugby for Samoa's National Team.

While Palepoi experienced the highs of playing in the NFL in 2014, he also endured a personal low. Just days before Thanksgiving, his older brother, Francis, passed away at the age of 42. Palepoi left the Chargers to attend his brother's funeral during a time that is normally reserved for celebration. Shortly after the funeral, Palepoi rejoined his Chargers teammates and matched his season high with three tackles in a 34-33 road win over the Baltimore Ravens.

Palepoi and his wife, Delaney, have two children — daughter Taytum and son Liam.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers May 13, 2014.

2015: Spent season on "Reserve-Injured" with foot injury. 2014: Season-high two tackles for loss Oct.

DENZEL PERRYMAN

Inside Linebacker

5-11, 240

2nd NFL Season

2nd with Chargers

Draft 2 - '15

Miami (Fla.)

Coral Gables HS

Coral Gables, Fla.

San Diego's defense is in good hands at inside linebacker with Denzel Perryman and Manti Te'o forming a potent 1-2 punch.

Last season, Te'o took the rookie Perryman under his wing and opposing offenses had no choice but to take notice. Te'o led the Chargers with 107 tackles with Perryman not far behind with 95. Perryman racked up 79 tackles in the team's last seven games and he fell just five tackles shy of becoming the first rookie in team history to record a 100-tackle season.

Off the field, Perryman and Te'o are nearly inseparable. The two spend countless hours together whether it's in meetings, out for a bite to eat, watching movies, or squaring off in one of their many heated video game battles.

Perryman comes from a family of football players. His father, Desmond, Sr., played linebacker and fullback at Perryman's alma mater, Coral Gables High School. Perryman's two older brothers, Quintero and Desmond, Jr., both played at Coral Gables as well before playing at Rutgers and North Carolina Methodist, respectively. And Perryman's younger brother, Derrius, is currently playing at Coral Gables.

Perryman has two daughters — Ella and Evee.

MORE CHARGERS CHAMPIONS

In March, Perryman joined Chargers President A.G. Spanos and Head Coach Mike McCoy at the ribbon-cutting ceremony for a brand-new weight room at Sweetwater High School. The weight room was built with a $63,000 grant awarded in 2015 by Chargers Champions. Along with the weight room, the grant helped with the purchase of much-needed football equipment.

Perryman flew cross-country from Miami on his own dime to take part in the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

DARIUS PHILON

Defensive End
6-1, 300
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Draft 6 - '15
Arkansas
Vigor HS
Mobile, Ala.

The youngest player on the Chargers' roster at the end of the 2015 season, Darius Philon showed toughness and resiliency.

A little more than a month into his rookie season, a hip injury put the youngster on the "Reserve-Injured" list with a designation for return. Philon missed eight games, but he returned to play in the Bolts' last four games.

Philon went to school at Arkansas where he redshirted for a year before playing two seasons (2013-14) for the Razorbacks. With a young son, Darius, Jr. – who was born last August – on the way, Philon decided he needed to provide for his family and tossed his hat into the NFL ring after his redshirt sophomore season. Philon rolled the dice by leaving school after just three years, but the Chargers' sixth-round pick played well as a rookie and showed he made the right decision.

At Arkansas, it didn't take long to see that Philon had NFL potential. His first collegiate start came as a redshirt freshman in 2013 against the No. 1 team in the nation, Alabama. That afternoon, Philon racked up a career-high eight tackles against the Crimson Tide.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Sixth-round pick (192) by Chargers, May 2, 2015.

2015: Tackle for loss near goal line Sept. 20 at Cincinnati...inactive Oct. 12 vs. Pittsburgh (hip)...placed on "Reserve-Injured" with designation to return Oct. 17...returned to active roster Dec. 12 and returned to game action Dec. 13 at Kansas City...five-yard sack late in first quarter vs. Chiefs negated by penalty away from play...lone stop was five-yard tackle for loss Jan. 3 at Denver.

COLLEGE: Second-team All-SEC in 2014...92 tackles, 20.5 tackles for loss, 7.5 sacks and three forced fumbles during career...SEC Defensive Lineman of Week after Ole Miss game in 2014...redshirted in 2012...played at Arkansas from 2013-14...enrolled in college of arts and science.

PHILIP RIVERS

Quarterback
6-5, 228
13th NFL Season
13th with Chargers

Trade (New York Giants) - '04
North Carolina State
Athens HS
Decatur, Ala.

One of the NFL's most accurate and prolific passers over more than a decade, Philip Rivers' statistics will one day merit Pro Football Hall of Fame consideration.

Less than a month before the start of the 2015 season, Rivers signed a four-year contract extension that will keep him in Lightning Bolts through the 2019 season. It will also in all likelihood allow him to end his career in the same place in which he started it in 2004.

There was no letup in Rivers' game in 2015 as he led the NFL and set new franchise marks for single-season completions (437) and attempts (661). The team's Most Valuable Player for the seventh time in his career and a Pro Bowl alternate, Rivers also finished the 2015 season with 4,792 passing yards, second-most in the NFL and the second in a season in team history. He fell just 10 yards shy of matching Dan Fouts' 1981 franchise record of 4,802 yards.

Along the way, Rivers had a number of outstanding performances in 2015.

- Sept. 13 against Detroit, he passed for 404 yards, most by a Chargers' quarterback in a season opener. He threw two touchdowns against the Lions to raise his career total to 254, tying Fouts for most in franchise history. And he closed out the Lions' game by completing a team-record 20-straight passes. The following week in Cincinnati, Rivers completed his first two passes, extending his completion streak to 22. That tied Joe Montana, Mark Brunell, David Carr and Matt Ryan for the third-longest streak in NFL history.

- Oct. 18 at Green Bay, Rivers registered the first 500-yard game in franchise history and set team single-game marks for attempts (65), completions (43) and yards (503).
- Nov. 1 at Baltimore, he recorded his fifth-straight 300-yard game, a new team record. He would go on to finish the year with eight 300-yard games, tying Fouts (1980) for the most in a season in team history.
- And Nov. 29 in Jacksonville, he became the 17th quarterback in NFL history to eclipse 40,000 passing yards, doing so in the fourth-fewest games (159).

Rivers heads into 2016 as the franchise's all-time leader in regular-season wins (92), consecutive starts (160), completions (3,462), completion percentage (64.8), touchdown passes (281), passer rating (95.5), 400-yard games (eight) and three-touchdown games (44). This season he'll most likely also take over the franchise's all-time marks for pass attempts, passing yards and 300-yard games. He's currently second in all three categories with 5,339 attempts, 41,219 yards and 45 300-yard games. He'll need just 266 completions, 1,594 yards and seven 300-yard games to overtake Fouts in all three categories.

In addition to his superior standing in the Chargers' record books, Rivers will embark on the 2016 season ranked in the NFL's top 20 in every major passing category. This includes ranking 18th in attempts (5,339), 14th in completions (3,462), seventh in completion percentage (64.8), 14th in yards (41,447), 11th in touchdown passes (281) and eighth in passer rating (95.5).

On his way up the touchdown and passing yardage charts in 2015, Rivers passed some of the NFL's all-time greats. On the touchdowns list, the quarterbacks he passed included Fouts, Sonny Jurgensen, Dave Krieg, Joe Montana and Vinny Testaverde. On the yardage list, he moved past Donovan McNabb, Boomer Esiason, Krieg, Montana and Kerry Collins.

Rivers is 92-68 (.575) as a starter during his career. He's led the Chargers to four AFC West titles and taken the team to the playoffs five times. His win-loss ledger includes a 53-27 (.663) mark at home and 36-24 (.600) in AFC West games.

One of the NFL's fiercest competitors on the field, Rivers is one of the League's kindest souls off the field. While wife Tiffany and the couple's eight children come first in his life, Rivers has a large community presence, especially when it comes to foster children and those suffering from life-threatening illnesses. More often than not, Rivers dotes on these youngsters away from the glare of the camera. One such example took place the day before the Chargers faced the Baltimore Ravens last October when he visited Baltimore's Children's Hospital and sur-

MILESTONES

In passing for 4,792 yards in 2015, Rivers extended several milestones:

- He went over 3,000 yards passing for the 10th-consecutive season. It's the fifth-longest streak in NFL history behind Brett Favre (18, 1992-09), Peyton Manning (13, 1998-10), Drew Brees (12, 2004-15) and Eli Manning (11, 2005-15).
- He went over 4,000 yards for the seventh time in his career, fourth-most in NFL history. The only players with more are Peyton Manning (14), Drew Brees (10, including 2015) and Tom Brady (8, including 2015).
- And he surpassed 4,500 passing yards for the third time in his career, most in team history. Rivers' three 4,500-yard seasons are tied with Matt Ryan and Matthew Stafford for fourth in NFL history behind Drew Brees (7, including 2015), Peyton Manning (6) and Tom Brady (4, including 2015).

In throwing 29 touchdown passes in 2015, Rivers extended several additional milestones:

- He posted his eighth-straight 25-touchdown season, becoming one of only three quarterbacks in NFL history with at least that many consecutive 25-touchdown seasons, joining Peyton Manning (13, 1998-2010) and Drew Brees (10, 2006-15).
- He finished 2015 one touchdown shy of a fifth-career 30-touchdown season. Rivers is tied with Dan Marino and Tony Romo for the sixth-most 30-touchdown seasons in NFL history (four). The only players with more 30-touchdown seasons than Rivers and company are Brett Favre and Peyton Manning (9), Drew Brees (8, including 2015), Tom Brady (6, including 2015) and Aaron Rodgers (5, including 2015).

Rivers ended 2015 having started 160 straight regular-season games, the NFL's second-longest active streak behind Eli Manning's 183. Rivers has started every game since 2006. He, Manning, Brett Favre and Peyton Manning are the only quarterbacks in NFL history to start at least 150 consecutive games.

prised a young man named Grant Shouse, who was battling a rare form of blood cancer. A month later, the day before the Chargers faced the Jacksonville Jaguars, Rivers spoke to a group of juvenile offenders in the Florida city.

Rivers was one of three finalists for the 2011 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award for his work with the Rivers of Hope Foundation, an endeavor he and Tiffany oversaw from 2010-12. The Foundation helped unwanted, abandoned and orphaned children, and raised more than $1,000,000 for the cause through football camps, a 5K Fun Run and personal contributions. The Foundation also supported the San Pasqual Academy, a residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens. In 2014, Rivers lent his support to another cause called "Passing it On," where he helped raise more than $112,000 for San Diego's Ronald McDonald House.

Rivers is a devout Catholic. In May 2014, he was invited to deliver the commencement speech to graduating seniors at Catholic University in Washington, D.C. The University also presented him with an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree. It was the second time he was asked to deliver a commencement speech. In May 2012, he returned to North Carolina State University, to speak at his alma mater's graduation ceremonies.

Rivers and his wife, Tiffany, grew up together in Alabama. They were married after his freshman season at NC State. The couple has eight children - six girls and two boys. A common sight is to peer down on the field at Qualcomm Stadium after games and see Rivers on the field playing catch with his kids.

Rivers' brother, Stephen, played college football as a quarterback at LSU and Vanderbilt before finishing his career at Northwestern State, La., in 2015.

IMPRESSIVE NUMBERS

- Philip Rivers has thrown three or more touchdown passes in a game a team-record 44 times in his career. The Chargers are 33-11 in those games.
- Rivers has posted a passer rating of 120 or higher 39 times in his career. The Chargers are 35-4 (.897) in those games. He's also posted a rating of 130.0 or higher 21 times and the Bolts are 21-0 in those games.
- Rivers passed for more than 300 yards in a game 46 times in his career. The Bolts are 26-20 in games when No. 17 passes for more than 300 yards.
- Rivers is 36-24 (.600) as a starter in regular-season AFC West games. In 60 games, he's completed 1,211 of 1,925 (62.9 pct.) for 14,703 yards with 92 touchdowns and 55 interceptions for a 90.4 passer rating.
- Rivers is one of the NFL's top late-season quarterbacks. Since taking over as the Bolts' starting quarterback in 2006, he has guided the Chargers to a record of 35-13 (.729) in regular-season games played in December and January.
- Rivers is not only great in December and January, but in the second half of the season overall. Throughout his career, Rivers is 56-32 (.636) as a starter in games played after Nov. 1 and his 94.0 career passer rating in Games 9-16 of the regular season ranks ninth all-time.

Rivers grew up in Decatur, Alabama. His dad, Steve, a former linebacker at Mississippi State, was the head football coach at Decatur High School and Philip was a water boy for the team. Rivers found his passion for the game by watching his dad up close and from backyard games in which the future Chargers signal-caller would mark out a field using chalk and pylons borrowed from the equipment room at Decatur High.

Shortly before Philip was set to enroll at Decatur, Steve took the head coaching job at nearby Athens High School and Philip followed. He played linebacker as a sophomore and moved to quarterback as a junior. After graduation, he enrolled at North Carolina State where he led the Wolfpack to four bowl games and a 34-17 record, including 3-1 in bowl games. A five-time MVP in Bowl games, including the 2004 Senior Bowl, Rivers is still the Wolfpack's all-time leader for career passing yards (13,484), attempts (1,710), completions (1,087), touchdowns (95), completion percentage (63.6%), and 300 (19) and 400-yard games (seven). His passing yardage total still ranks seventh all-time among Division-I quarterbacks.

This April, Rivers returned to the N.C. State campus in Raleigh for alumni weekend and while he was there, Rivers delivered a fiery pep-talk to the Wolfpack prior to their annual Kay Yow Spring Game.

Rivers originally came to the Chargers in 2004 in a blockbuster trade with the New York Giants. Less than an hour after the Bolts selected Eli Manning with the No. 1 pick in the '04 NFL Draft, Manning was on his way to the Big Apple in exchange for Rivers and a slew of draft picks.

Rivers spent most of his first two years on the bench behind Drew Brees before taking the reins in 2006. That season, Rivers was voted to the Pro Bowl after leading the Chargers to a team-record 14 wins, including 10-straight to close out the season. The Chargers finished undefeated at home for the first time in team history and scored a team-record 492 points. That November, Rivers became the first quarterback in NFL history to rally a team from 17-point deficits in consecutive weeks and he led 19 straight scoring drives that ended in touchdowns, a team record and the fifth-longest streak in NFL history.

Rivers led the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game in 2007. Rivers' toughness, both mental and physical, was put on full display in the final weeks of the regular season and the playoffs. During a December victory in Tennessee, he had to leave the game briefly after spraining his knee in the first half. He returned in the second half and led the Chargers to a come-from-behind victory in overtime. Rivers continued to play the final month of the season in severe pain. Things got worse five weeks later when Rivers suffered a torn ACL during the Bolts' Divisional Playoff game in Indianapolis. Backup Billy Volek replaced Rivers and led the Chargers to an improbable win over the Colts. Rivers, meanwhile, had arthroscopic surgery to repair a torn ACL the day after the win over Indianapolis, and just six days later he started and took every snap on a frigid day in the AFC Championship Game at New England.

In 2008, Rivers threw a team record 34 touchdown passes, tied for most in the NFL. He recorded his first 4,000-yard season and led the league with a team-record passer rating of 105.5. Rivers threw an NFL-best 15 touchdown passes on third down and helped the Chargers score an NFL-leading 152 points in the fourth quarter. He logged six 300-yard games, the most by a Chargers quarterback since 1985 and he became the first Bolts quarterback since 1991 to do so in consecutive games. Rivers capped off 2008 with a sensational December, leading the Chargers to the playoffs with a 4-0 mark to improve his career record in December to 14-0.

In 2009, Rivers was selected to the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team. He was one of five quarterbacks that season to pass for over 4,000 yards, throw 25 or more touchdowns and record a season passer rating above 100.0. Four times — tied with Brett Favre for most in the NFL — Rivers posted a single-game passer rating of 130.0 or better. During an 11-game win streak to close out the regular season, Rivers threw 21 touchdown strikes and completed 69.0 percent of his passes. His cumulative passer rating during those 11 weeks (112.0) was tops in the NFL. By the end of 2009, Rivers had thrown 105 touchdown passes to only 44 interceptions, the best-ever touchdown-to-interception ratio by an NFL quarterback in his first four years as a starter.

In 2010, Rivers threw for a career-high and NFL-leading 4,710 yards. It was the 10th-most yards in a season in NFL history and the third-most in team history. Rivers had a career-high six 300-yard games, including a team-record 455 yards against Seattle. His third 4,000-yard season tied Fouts for most in team history. At the midpoint of the season, Rivers had thrown for 2,649 yards, an NFL record for the first eight games of a season, breaking yet another mark which Fouts (2,580) had set (1982). Rivers led the NFL with 66 completions 20 yards or longer, including 12 that went for touchdowns. Those were the second-most in the NFL. Rivers completed a team-record 66 percent of his passes and ranked second in the NFL in passer rating (101.8). It capped a 2008-10 stretch in which he was the only quarter-

RIVERS & McCOY — A WINNING COMBINATION

Since Mike McCoy arrived in San Diego in 2013, Philip Rivers has posted the three highest single-season completion percentage marks in team history. In 2013, he completed a team-record 69.5 percent of his passes followed by marks of 66.2 in 2014 and 66.1 in 2015.

Among quarterbacks who played in every game of the 2013-15 seasons, Rivers' has the highest completion percentage (67.3), the second-highest passer rating (97.4), and the second-most yards (13,556) and touchdown passes (92), and the fourth-fewest interceptions (42).

back in the league to post a season passer rating over 100.0 each season. Rivers joined Steve Young and Peyton Manning as the only passers ever to post a rating of 100.0 or higher three straight years. Rivers threw 30 touchdown passes in 2010 and became the first quarterback in team history with 25 or more in three-straight seasons. It included a team-record stretch of 23 straight games with a touchdown pass, breaking Fouts' mark of 20 straight (1979-80). During the streak, Rivers joined Fouts (1985) and Brees (2004) as the only Chargers' quarterbacks with back-to-back four-touchdown games.

Rivers completed a then-team-record 366 passes and threw for 4,624 yards in 2011, joining Dan Marino (1980-81), Warren Moon (1990-91), Manning (2009-10) and Brees (2010-11) as the only players in NFL history with back-to-back 4,500-yard seasons. Rivers also joined Manning (1999-04 and 2006-10) and Brees (2006-11) as the only quarterbacks with at least four-straight 4,000-yard seasons.

In 2012, Rivers passed for 3,606 yards, ending a run of four straight 4,000-yard seasons. He threw 26 touchdown passes extending his streak of 25-touchdown seasons to five.

Rivers was named NFL Comeback Player of the Year after leading the Chargers to a 9-7 mark in 2013. He was selected to the Pro Bowl and named team MVP, both for the fifth time in his career. Rivers completed a team-record and NFL-leading 69.5 pct. of his passes for 4,478 yards with 32 touchdowns and just 11 interceptions for a team-record-tying 105.5 passer rating. He completed a team-record 378 passes. Rivers set a team record with three 400-yard passing games, he became the first quarterback to throw for more than 400 yards in consecutive games, and he passed for more than 390 yards four times, tying Marino (1984) and Joe Montana (1990) for the most in a season in NFL history. Rivers also made history joining Favre (2009) and Brees (2011) as the only quarterbacks in NFL history to complete at least 20 passes and 80 percent of their pass attempts three times in a season.

Rivers performed at an all-star level again in 2014. He led the Chargers to nine wins, including an early-season victory over the defending Super Bowl champion Seattle Seahawks. That win over the Seahawks launched an NFL-record run of five straight games where Rivers posted a passer rating above 120, besting the previous mark of four games set by Johnny Unitas (1965) and Kurt Warner (2009). A Pro Bowl second-alternate, Rivers was named the team's most valuable player for the sixth time in his career after passing for 4,286 yards and 31 touchdowns. Along the way, he moved into 16th place on the NFL's all-time list for touchdown passes (252) and 20th place on the league's all-time list for career passing yards (36,655). In 2014 alone, Rivers moved past some notable greats on both lists, including Steve Young, George Blanda, Jim Kelly and Len Dawson.

TREVOR ROBINSON

Center
6-5, 300
5th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent - '14
Notre Dame
Elkhorn HS
Elkhorn, Neb.

If there's one word to describe Trevor Robinson's tenure with the Chargers, it would have to be "clutch."

Robinson originally joined the Chargers in October 2014 when he was signed from Cincinnati's practice squad. He didn't appear in a game until Nov. 30, when he took over at center for an injured Chris Watt late in the third quarter at Baltimore. Robinson wound up playing a key role in an emotional 34-33 win over the Ravens as he helped anchor an offensive line that aided the offense in producing 21 fourth-quarter points, including a game-winning eight-play, 80-yard drive in the final minutes.

It was déjà vu three weeks later when Robinson was again needed in relief and helped San Diego tie the greatest comeback in franchise history. It happened on Dec. 20 in a game at San Francisco. Robinson replaced an injured Watt once again, taking over at center late in the first quarter. Down 21 points on the road to the 49ers at the start of the second half, the Bolts rallied for a 38-35 overtime win. Robinson played a pivotal role keeping Philip Rivers upright, as the offensive line allowed only two sacks in 56 passing plays against the 49ers' defense. He also helped pave the way as Ronnie Brown rushed six straight times for 22 yards to set up the game-winning field goal in the extra period.

The following week, Robinson started the Chargers' 2014 season finale at Kansas City. He was the fifth different center to start a game for the Bolts in 2015. It was the most players to start at center in a season by any NFL team since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970.

It was much the same for Robinson in 2015. He began the season as the backup to Watt, but three games into the season, Watt suffered a shoulder injury that would ultimately end his season after just eight games. With Watt slowed by the injury, Robinson was slotted into the starting lineup at center in Week 4 and he remained there for the Chargers' final 13 games.

In a small twist of irony, Robinson and Watt were actually college teammates at Notre Dame during the 2010-11 seasons. Both were guards for the Fighting Irish.

MATT SLAUSON

Center-Guard
6-5, 315
8th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

Free Agent - '16
Nebraska
Air Force Prep HS
Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Chargers added an experienced and reliable leader to the offensive line in May when the team agreed to a two-year contract with former Chicago Bears center and guard Matt Slauson.

Originally a sixth-round pick of the New York Jets in 2009, Slauson spent four years with the Jets and the last three with the Bears. He was a popular figure on the field and inside the locker room in Chicago where he received the 2015 Good Guy Award, presented by members of the Windy City media.

From 2010-13, Slauson started 67 straight games, including three playoff starts. He missed 11 games due to pectoral and ankle injuries in 2014, but bounced back to start all 16 for the Bears again in 2015.

Slauson is one of the NFL's strongest players. He can squat nearly 700 pounds and in Chicago, he set the Bears' team record with a 397-pound clean and jerk.

Slauson comes from an extremely tight-knit family. His older brother, Chris, graduated from the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs and now flies C-17  as a Major in the Air Force. When Slauson was in high school, the family relocated from Sweet Home, Oregon to Colorado Springs so they could be closer together. Slauson has supported the military throughout his NFL career and in 2015, the Bears nominated him for the NFL's Salute to Service Award for his commitment to helping military members and their families.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Sixth-round pick by New York Jets (193rd overall), April 26, 2009...signed May 19...re-signed with Jets, Aug. 1, 2012...contract expired, COLLEGE: Played in 48 career games, starting 40, primarily at guard...started every game as junior and senior...played at Notre Dame from 2008-11...started three games as freshman to become only fifth-ever freshman to start game on Irish offensive line...management/consulting major.

PERSONAL: Born in Elkhorn, Nebraska...first-team All-America as senior at Elkhorn High...first-team all-state as junior and senior.

Slauson comes from a family of swimmers. His mother, Nancy, has battled Multiple Sclerosis for the last 20 years, but a strict regimen inside the pool has helped her stave off the effects of the disease. All of the Slauson kids swam as youths, including older twin brother, Nick, who won multiple state championships and gold medals in swimming, despite challenges he faced growing up due to a prenatal brain injury.

Slauson overcame his own challenges as well. He has battled a stuttering impediment his whole life and he didn't learn to read until age 10. Often bullied as a youth because of the stuttering and his larger-than-average size, Slauson has become a spokesperson for anti-bullying efforts as an adult.

Slauson spent his early years growing up in Oregon where his family owned a small farm. Slauson and his wife, Cami, his college sweetheart from Nebraska, recently bought a home and small farm not far from the Lincoln, Nebraska campus. The Slausons have two children – sons Montgomery and Winston – and a third child due in July.

Slauson enjoys riding motorcycles, fishing and farming in his free time. He owns a couple of Harley-Davidson bikes and has considered going to trade school to learn to become a motorcycle mechanic after his football-playing days come to an end.

March 12, 2013...signed with Chicago, April 2...re-signed with Bears, Jan. 2, 2014...released May 2, 2016...signed two-year contract with Chargers, 16, 2016.

2015: Started Games 1-6 and 10-15 at left guard...took over at center for Will Montgomery Oct. 4 vs. Oakland...started Games 7-9 and 16 at center. 2014: Ed Block Courage Award...inactive Weeks 2-4 (ankle)...pectoral injury Oct. 26 at New England...placed on "Reserve-Injured" Nov. 8. 2013: USA Today All-Joe...started all 16 games at left guard for offense that set franchise records for net yards and first downs...offensive line allowed Bears' lowest sack percentage since 1982. 2012: Started all 16 games and did not allow sack while playing 100 percent of team's offensive snaps. 2011: Recovered fumble in end zone for touchdown Nov. 17 at Denver. 2010: Started all 16 games as Jets rushed for 2,374 yards, fourth-most in NFL, and allowed eighth-fewest sacks...started all three postseason games. 2009: NFL debut Dec. 3 at Buffalo.

DARRELL STUCKEY

Safety
5-11, 212
7th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Draft 4 - '10
Kansas
Washington HS
Kansas City, Kan.

The San Diego Chargers' 2015 Walter Payton Man of the Year and Special Teams Player of the Year, Darrell Stuckey does as much to improve people's lives off the field as he does wreaking havoc when he's on it.

On the field, Stuckey was a fourth-alternate to the Pro Bowl in 2015 after ranking second on the team in special teams tackles. Over the past five seasons, he's recorded 59 special teams tackles while regularly facing double and triple-teams. In 2012, Stuckey led the NFL with six punts downed inside the 20.

A two-time Special Teams Player of the Year (2013 & 2015), a four-time Team Captain (2012-15) and a Pro Bowl specialist in 2015, one of Stuckey's main devotions is the fight against human trafficking. In each of the last two years, he donated one of his NFL game checks to the nonprofit Not For Sale. Their primary fundraising program, "Throwdown," helps protect women and children from trafficking and slavery.

Stuckey is one of the Chargers' most-active players in the community. Since 2013, he has hosted a football camp at Bishop Ward High School in Kansas City and since 2014, he's hosted a similar camp at San Diego's Westview High. In 2014, he hosted a free football youth clinic at Free State High School in Lawrence, Kansas, and he sponsors the K.C. United Pop Warner Football League in conjunction with USA Football.

In 2015, the Kansas City, Kansas School District presented Stuckey with the Reason to Believe Award, which is given to alumni who have made a positive impact in the community.

Stuckey is an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. For the last two years, he's hosted their annual golf tournament in San Diego.

Stuckey's community presence is in high demand. This year, he served as a celebrity judge for programs in California that raised awareness for mental illness and suicide prevention. And last year, he was asked to be the featured guest speaker at the Marine Aviation Summit in San Diego, and he was asked to speak on a panel at another event about race in sports.

A native of Kansas City, Kansas, Stuckey was raised by a single mother, Michele Foulks. Stuckey has three brothers and three sisters. His younger sister, Denae, played basketball at Iowa State.

Stuckey and wife, Lacie, have a son, Jayton James, and a daughter, Kinsley Ann.

MANTI TE'O

Inside Linebacker

6-1, 241

4th NFL Season

4th with Chargers

Draft 2 – '13

Notre Dame

Punahou HS

Laie, Hawaii

Manti Te'o put his best foot forward in 2015.

After back-to-back seasons of dealing with broken bones in both of his feet – first his right, then his left – Te'o had no foot issues and blossomed in 2015. Te'o led the Chargers with 107 tackles for his first 100-tackle season in the NFL. He set a great example for some of the team's younger players, especially fellow inside linebacker Denzel Perryman, with whom he has formed an extremely close bond. Late in the season, Chargers Head Coach Mike McCoy recognized Te'o's leadership by naming him a team captain for the final four games after defensive tackle Corey Liuget was placed on the "Reserve-Injured" list.

The Chargers had reason to expect big things from Te'o in 2015 due to the way he finished the 2014 season. In the final month of the Bolts' 2014 campaign, Te'o recorded 42 tackles, including 29 in the last two games versus San Francisco and Kansas City. He also collected the first interception and first sack of his career. He finished the season with 68 tackles, tied for fourth on the team.

Te'o joined the Chargers in 2013 after the team made a trade with Arizona, moving up seven spots in the second round, to select him with the 38th overall pick. Te'o was the runner-up to former Texas A&M quarterback Johnny Manziel in voting for the 2012 Heisman Trophy. At Notre Dame, Te'o captured a host of national awards after leading the Irish to an undefeated 2011 regular season and a meeting with Alabama in the BCS National Championship Game. Te'o led the Irish in tackles and he was third in the nation with seven interceptions. His award haul included the Walter Camp Player of the Year Award, the Maxwell Award, the Lombardi Trophy, the Bednarik Award, the Nagurski Award, the Butkus Award, the Lott Trophy and the Notre Dame Monogram Club MVP Award. A team captain, Te'o was also a consensus All-America on the football field and inside the classroom.

A native of Laie, Hawaii on the island of Oahu, Te'o burst onto the national scene in 2010 when he led the Irish with 133 tackles as a sophomore. Awards began to pour in a year later after a team-leading 128-tackle junior season that included a career-high five sacks. Te'o's seven interceptions in 2012 set a Notre Dame record for linebackers and they were the most by a linebacker in the NCAA since 2000.

Te'o was invited back to South Bend in April, 2016 to give a speech to the school's senior class about the Notre Dame tradition. While there, he also visited his old dormitory and threw out the first pitch for the housing unit's annual Whiffle Ball World Series.

Te'o comes from a family with a lengthy history in NCAA football. His maternal grandfather, Louis Santiago, played at BYU. Three of his maternal uncles, Louis, Walter and Lane Santiago, all played at the University of Hawaii. And Te'o's father, Brian, played as a prep at Kahuku High School in Oahu.

Te'o has four younger sisters and a younger brother. Three of his sisters are in college at BYU-Hawaii.

Both of his parents worked in the education field – his father in early childhood development and his mother, Ottilia, as a high school guidance counselor.

Away from football, Te'o is an Eagle Scout and enjoys fishing while free diving at Clissold's Beach in his native Laie where he can patrol the beach's reef for octopus.

JASON VERRETT

Cornerback
5-10, 188
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 1 – '14
Texas Christian
Rodriguez HS
Fairfield, Calif.

After experiencing personal development and success in 2015, Jason Verrett is hungry for more.

Verrett was selected to his first Pro Bowl and named Chargers Defensive Player of the Year for the first time in his career in 2015 after pacing the squad in interceptions and passes defended. The opportunity to finish the season in Hawaii is an experience that Verrett will never forget and it will serve as added motivation for the former first-round pick in 2016.

Verrett also scored his first NFL touchdown in 2015 when he returned a Jay Cutler pass 68 yards for a touchdown during an ESPN Monday Night Football game at Qualcomm Stadium.

Verrett typically was called upon to face the opponent's top receiver and he delivered. With him leading the way, San Diego's pass defense was one of the NFL's best the last month of the 2015 season. From Dec. 1 on (five games), the Chargers allowed the fifth-fewest passing yards in the NFL (993) and the Bolts' pass defense recorded more interceptions (five) than touchdown passes allowed (four). Another of Verrett's interceptions came on Dec. 13 in a game against Kansas City at Arrowhead Stadium. When Verrett picked off the Chiefs' Alex Smith, it marked Smith's first interception in 313 pass attempts (10 games), which had been the second-longest streak in NFL history.

That Verrett is even playing football is a small miracle. Back in 2010 during his freshman season at Santa Rosa Junior College, Verrett suffered a hamstring injury. Trainers told him to go home and ice the leg. What they didn't tell him to do was fall asleep with the ice on his leg. Verrett did just that and he slept a full night with the ice on his injured hamstring. He suffered a third-degree burn because of it. Fortunately his mom insisted he go to the hospital where doctors told him had he waited any longer to seek treatment, his leg very well could have become infected and if it had, doctors most likely would have had to amputate it.

After earning all-state and all-conference honors in his lone season at Santa Rosa, Verrett transferred to Texas Christian for the 2011 season. In his first ever game for the Horned Frogs, they faced a Baylor team that was led by quarterback Robert Griffin III "RG3" and future NFL wide receiver Kendall Wright. It was a rough introduction for Verrett as Griffin threw for 359 yards and five touchdowns, while Wright, whom Verrett spent most of the day covering, caught 12 passes for 189 yards and two scores. So distraught was Verrett after the miserable performance to begin his TCU career, he actually contemplated quitting school and returning home. Two phone calls quickly made it clear that that was not going to be an option. The first was to his brother Tre' and the second was to Lenny Wagner, his freshman coach at Santa Rosa. Neither man was going to stand by and let Verrett quit. And little did Verrett know as he would come to find out later, the man who drafted him, Chargers General Manager, Tom Telesco, was at the TCU-Baylor game that day, scouting for the Indianapolis Colts.

Verrett ultimately settled down and improved each week. Six games into the season, coaches moved him into the starting lineup and the results were dramatic. Over the Horned Frogs' first six games, the defense was surrendering 267.7 passing yards and 410.0 total yards per game, but then over the last seven games with Verrett in the starting 11, the defense improved significantly, yielding just 194.7 passing yards and 310.0 total yards per game. By the end of the year, Verrett had shown enough to earn honorable mention All-Mountain West Conference honors.

Verrett went on to start three seasons at TCU and as a senior in 2013, he was named the Big 12 Conference's co-Defensive Player of the Year, a consensus second-team All-America and a first-team All-Big 12 pick. One of the nation's top cover corners that season, opposing quarterbacks only threw 52 passes in his direction and only 17 were completed. Already touted as a likely first-round pick, Verrett's stock went up after he clocked a 4.38 in the 40-yard-dash at the 2014 NFL Scouting Combine, the second-fastest time among the cornerbacks.

Verrett is a native of Fairfield in Northern California. It's home to the Jelly Belly candy factory. Verrett's entire family, including his father, Warren, grew up Raiders fans. Brother Tre even works for the Raiders as a client services representative. Verrett joked after his introductory press conference that as soon as he was drafted by the Chargers, the entire family would be converting their allegiance to the Chargers.

NEW FRIEND

In March, Chargers fan and UCSD Student Wyatt Proctor took a flier on Twitter and invited Verrett to join him at a Padres game. Verrett graciously accepted Proctor's invitation and on April 5, he and Proctor sat front row at Petco Park to watch the Padres battle the Los Angeles Dodgers.

For the last two years (2015-16), Verrett has served as Race Ambassador for the Kaiser Permanente Bolt to the Q, an annual race from Chargers Park to Qualcomm Stadium that helps support the Boys and Girls Clubs of San Diego.

Verrett was a sports broadcasting major at TCU. ESPN SportsCenter anchor, Stan Verrett, is a distant cousin.

CHRIS WATT

Center-Guard
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Draft 3 – '14
Notre Dame
Glenbard West HS
Glen Ellyn, Ill.

After an injury-shortened second season with the Chargers, former third-round pick Chris Watt is ready to put 2015 in the rear-view mirror.

The Chargers' starting center in 2015, Watt was in the opening lineup for the team's first three games, but early in the Bolts' third game of the season in Minnesota, a groin injury landed him in the training room. Watt returned to action two weeks later but was felled by a concussion during a Monday Night Football game against Pittsburgh. Watt missed two more games, only to return against Baltimore two weeks later and be hit with a shoulder injury. It was a frustrating turn of events for the Glen Ellyn, Illinois native, who was placed on the "Reserve-Injured" list after the shoulder injury, but he is feeling healthy once again and ready for the Bolts' 2016 campaign.

As a senior at Notre Dame, Watt was part of an offensive line that allowed just eight sacks, tied for second-fewest in the nation. At the end of the season, he received the school's Pietrosante Award, which is given to Notre Dame football student-athletes who best exemplify the courage, loyalty, teamwork, dedication and pride of the late Irish All-American fullback. Pietrosante was Notre Dame's leading rusher in 1957 and '58 and he went on to become a number-one draft pick and a two-time All-Pro selection with the Detroit Lions. Pietrosante died of cancer on Feb. 6, 1988. The recipient of the Pietrosante Award is determined by a vote of the players. Past winners have included former NFL players Tom Zbikowski, Jeff Faine, Harrison Smith, Aaron Taylor and Chris Zorich.

As a junior, Watt started all 13 games as Notre Dame went 12-1 and played Alabama in the National Championship game. Two of Watts' teammates at Notre Dame were Chargers linebacker Manti Te'o and offensive lineman Trevor Robinson.

Watt hails from a family with a significant lineage in college football. His older brother, Kevin, played defensive end at Northwestern from 2007-11. His father, Rich, played at Division II Hillsdale College in Michigan. His uncle, Bobby Watt, played at Brown University, while his grandfather, William Watt, and his great uncle, Dan Hurley, both played at Harvard.

One of Watt's hobbies is collecting baseball cards. His most prized card is one that was autographed by Hall of Fame strikeout king Nolan Ryan.

KENNY WIGGINS

Guard-Tackle
6-6, 314
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15
Fresno State
Elk Grove HS
Elk Grove, Calif.

In 2015, Kenny Wiggins proved to be one of the biggest surprises as he became one of the most valuable performers on the Chargers' offensive line.

Wiggins came to the NFL in 2011 and he spent his first two seasons on the practice squad — 2011 in Baltimore and 2012 in San Francisco. In 2013, he spent nine weeks on the Chargers' practice squad and the remainder of the season on the active roster, but the former Fresno State Bulldog never made it into a game. With his practice squad time used up, Wiggins was waived in 2014 and spent most of the year out of football. When injuries depleted the Bolts' offensive line late in 2014, the Chargers brought Wiggins back and signed him to the active roster for their season finale in Kansas City. Doing so also opened the door for Wiggins to try and earn a roster spot again in 2015.

Wiggins was waived at the end of the 2015 training camp. At the time, his football future appeared bleak. As fate would have it, the injury bug struck in San Diego once again and 10 days after being waived, the Chargers re-signed Wiggins. Five days later he saw action in a game on special teams and 12 days later in Minnesota, Wiggins saw his first regular-season game action on the offensive line.

Wiggins ended up playing in the Chargers' final 15 games of 2015 and he started eight. He started games at left and right guard, while also seeing action at right tackle. Wiggins ended up playing a total of 401 snaps in 2015, fifth among the team's offensive linemen. It was impressive stuff for a player who months earlier thought his football career might very well have come to an end. And at the end of the year, when the NFL awarded performance-based pay bonuses for players who outplayed their adjusted regular-season salaries, Wiggins was the Chargers' top earner and ranked 21st league-wide.

Off the field, Wiggins is an aspiring businessman who collaborated with one of his best friends from childhood, Andrew Gardner, to launch the Gafton clothing line. The name was taken from the street the two grew up on in Elk Grove, California, a suburb of Sacramento. Gafton currently offers clothing for both men and women with a wide range of styles. The brand has already taken off both in the United States and abroad.

Wiggins and his wife, Jennifer, enjoyed a dream vacation to Bora Bora in March. Jennifer is a former member of the dance team at Fresno State. The couple wed in April 2014 in Saratoga, Calif.

Aside from his clothing line, Wiggins also has aspirations of a post-football career in broadcasting. A former communications major at Fresno State, Wiggins is a frequent guest on the "Rush Hour" show on ESPN Radio's affiliate in Fresno.

Wiggins enjoys playing basketball and fishing when he's not playing football or training with the Chargers. Before he became an all-league hoopster at Elk Grove (Calif.) High School, Wiggins played on an AAU team in 2004 that was coached by rapper and entertainer Master P. The team played games around the country and featured Master P's son, rapper and actor, Lil Romeo, as well as DeMar DeRozan, a shooting guard for the NBA's Toronto Raptors. Had Wiggins not opted for a career in football, he received several overtures to play Division I college basketball. Wiggins' brother, Josh, played baseball at Mt. Mercy University, a NAIA school in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

STEVE WILLIAMS

Cornerback
5-10, 185
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 5 – '13
California
Skyline HS
Dallas, Tex.

If the end of the 2015 season is any indication of what to expect from cornerback Steve Williams this season, the Chargers will be forcing a lot of turnovers in 2016.

Williams took a giant leap forward in 2015, ranking second on the team in interceptions. He recorded the first of his career off Minnesota's Teddy Bridgewater during a game in September in the Twin Cities. And later in the Chargers' 2015 season finale in Denver, Williams was responsible for turnovers on three straight possessions, including an interception off Brock Osweiler, a sack and forced fumble against Osweiler, and a forced fumble and fumble recovery during a play in which he chased down wide receiver Emanuel Sanders six yards from the endzone.

A former fifth-round pick, Williams now heads into his fourth season with the Chargers. He spent his lost center Trevor Robinson and J.D. Walton went from left guard to center...starting left guard Jan. 3 at Denver for Franklin...in fourth quarter vs. Broncos, shifted to right tackle for injured Barksdale. 2014: NFL debut on special teams Dec. 28 at Kansas City. 2013: Spent Weeks 1-9 on Chargers' practice squad...elevated to active roster for final nine weeks, including playoffs, but did not appear in any games. 2012: Spent entire season on San Francisco's practice squad. 2011: Signed to Baltimore's practice squad Nov. 28 and remained there for balance of season.

COLLEGE: First-team All-Western Athletic Conference as senior in 2010...second-team All-WAC as junior...helped block for 1,808-yard, 19-touchdown season by Ryan Mathews in 2009...played in 42 career games...redshirted in 2006...played at Fresno State from 2007-10...communications major.

rookie season on injured-reserve as result of a pre-season pectoral injury, but has returned to play in 26 games over the last two seasons. Williams tossed his hat into the NFL ring after only three seasons at Cal, including a 2012 junior campaign in which he earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 and team MVP honors.

Williams originally caught the eye of Chargers General Manager Tom Telesco in 2011, when the former Colts director of player personnel had ventured to Palo Alto to attend "The Big Game" and scout Stanford quarterback Andrew Luck. Early in the game, Williams jumped an out route thrown by Luck, picking off the pass and returning it 45 yards to the Stanford four-yard line. Even though he was just a sophomore, that play stuck in the back of Telesco's mind and two years later, Williams was drafted by the Chargers.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fifth-round pick (145), April 27, 2013...signed May 13.

TOUREK WILLIAMS

Outside Linebacker
6-4, 262
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Draft 6 – '13
Florida International
Norland HS
Miami, Fla.

The Chargers' sixth-round pick in the 2013 NFL Draft, Tourek Williams was in the running to start at strongside linebacker in 2015. Williams had a strong offseason, but in the Bolts' 2015 preseason opener against Dallas, he suffered a broken foot. The Chargers were optimistic that Williams would be able to return during the season, but on Nov. 3 the team placed him on the season-ending "Reserve-Injured" list.

During his first two seasons, Williams was a contributor at both outside linebacker and on special teams. In 2014, he was fifth on the squad with 14 special teams stops. And as a rookie, Williams recorded his first NFL sack and forced fumble against Peyton Manning.

Williams underwent a rather drastic change in 2015, cutting his dreadlocks, which hadn't been cut since he was in the third grade. Even though Williams played well his first two seasons, he felt like he needed to change his approach to the game, so besides revising his offseason training regimen, he decided it was also time for a new look.

Williams is a strong swimmer and a former lifeguard, who played water polo at Miami's Norland High School. The water polo program had been dormant for some time before Williams and some of his football teammates joined the team as seniors and turned the program around, helping end a winless drought that had extended for 10 seasons prior to their joining.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Sixth-round pick by Chargers (179), April 27, 2013...signed May 13.

TYRELL WILLIAMS

Wide Receiver

6-4, 205

2nd NFL Season

2nd with Chargers

Free Agent – '15

Western Oregon

Cascade HS

Salem, Ore.

Tyrell Williams waited patiently for his turn in 2015 and when his number was finally called, the former undrafted rookie from Western Oregon didn't disappoint.

Williams was one of only four undrafted rookies to earn a spot on the active roster out of training camp. He saw early action on special teams and then spent two months on the practice squad before returning to the active roster for the final seven games. For the most part, his playing time was limited to special teams, but in the Bolts 2015 regular-season finale at Denver, Williams was called upon to play wide receiver and he caught his first NFL pass for an 80-yard touchdown on Jan. 3 at Sports Authority Field. It tied for the 11th-longest catch in franchise history and it was the longest first catch by a player in franchise history. It was also the longest first catch by any player in the NFL since 2008.

Williams is the first player from Western Oregon, located in Monmouth, Oregon, to play for the Chargers. In fact Western Oregon was so small that Williams actually had to hold his pre-draft Pro Day at Oregon State University's campus in Corvallis, some 20-plus miles from Monmouth. Williams was a three-time first-team All-Great Northwest Athletic Conference at WOU and he finished his career as the school's all-time leader with 165 catches, good for 2,792 yards and 21 touchdowns. Williams was also the 200-meter champion at the GNAC's 2014 Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Williams' brother, R.J., also played at Western Oregon. He and Tyrell were teammates though R.J. played cornerback for the Wolves. He now works for Nike in their social media department. The boys' father, Raymond, played football at the Oregon Institute of Technology. And younger sister, Peighton, attends Cascade High School where she competes in basketball, volleyball and track.

Both of Williams' parents work for the corrections department in Oregon. His father works in youth corrections, while his mother, Vicky, works at the state's maximum security prison in Salem.

Williams' hobbies include basketball, spending time at the beach, badminton and pickleball.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Chargers May 15...waived Sept. 19...re-signed to Chargers' practice squad, Sept. 22...re-signed to active roster, Nov. 21.

2015: First NFL catch went for 80-yard touchdown Jan. 3 at Denver...tied for 11th-longest catch in franchise history...longest first catch by player in franchise history and longest first catch by any player in NFL since 2008.

READ ACROSS AMERICA

In March, Williams participated in a Read Across America celebration at Walker Elementary School in San Diego. Read Across America is an annual reading motivation and awareness program that was created in honor of children's author Dr. Seuss.

COLLEGE: Four-time All-Great Northwest Athletic Conference, second-team in 2011 and first-team 2012-14...Don Hansen D-II All-Super Region Three as senior...school's all time leader with 165 catches, good for 2,792 yards and 21 TDs...two-time GNAC Player of Week...played at Western Oregon from 2011-14...200-meter GNAC Outdoor Track and Field champion in 2014...exercise science major.

Free Agent — '10

Cincinnati

Elder HS

Cincinnati, Ohio

Mike Windt is one of the NFL's most accurate long snappers. He also excels in special teams coverage.

Windt has also been durable, appearing in every game the last three seasons, 50 consecutive games including playoffs, as he heads into 2016.

Windt can credit his father, Joe, for helping him fulfill his potential as a long snapper. Joe is a former bowler and softball pitcher who never played football, but he noted that Windt had the unique ability of launching a football between his legs faster and more accurately than he could throw it overhand, so he convinced his son to give long snapping a try. Windt put his talents to work at Elder High School in Cincinnati and ended up playing on back-to-back state championship teams in 2002 and '03.

Windt is married to the former Kate Fredrikson, a pediatric oncology nurse at Rady Children's Hospital in San Diego. In 2015, she was the recipient of a Nurse of Excellence Award. The couple wed in April 2014 in Encinitas, California.

Windt's hobbies include golf, stand-up paddle-boarding and spending time with his English Bulldog, Hemingway. He also has a taste for fine wines and music. Two of his favorite musicians are Michael Buble' and Frank Sinatra.

DANNY WOODHEAD

Running Back
5-8, 200
8th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

UFA (New England) – '13
Chadron State, Neb.
North Platte HS
North Platte, Neb.

A healthy Danny Woodhead returned to form in 2015 and reminded Chargers fans that he's one of the NFL's most dynamic players.

Woodhead played in only three games in 2014 due to a broken left ankle suffered during a game in Buffalo, but he returned to the field in 2015 and played in all 16 games. Not only did he play, but he led the Chargers in receptions, receiving yards and touchdown catches as he became the first running back in franchise history to lead the team in all three categories. His 80 catches tied for most in the NFL among running backs with Detroit's Theo Riddick, while his receiving yards (755) and touchdown catches (six) were both tops in the League at his position. Also, his receptions and receiving yards were both career highs while his receiving touchdowns tied his career high. Woodhead tallied 336 rushing yards on the season to finish the year with a career-high and team-leading 1,091 yards from scrimmage. Lastly his nine total touchdowns also led the team and were a career high.

Woodhead's top performance of the season came on Dec. 20 against Miami when he scored a career-high four touchdowns, the first four-touchdown game by a Chargers player since 2007.

Woodhead joined the Chargers in 2013 and made an immediate impact, setting career highs for catches, receiving yards, touchdown catches, scrimmage yards and all-purpose yards. He finished the regular season with the most touchdown catches among all NFL running backs and the second-most receptions and receiving yards.

A native of North Platte, Neb. (pop. 25,000), Woodhead is one of the most popular athletes ever to come out of the Cornhusker state. He first came onto the national scene at Chadron State College after a record-setting career at North Platte High. Nebraska's 2003 Player of the Year, Woodhead was overlooked by the state's biggest schools, including the University of Nebraska, so he followed his older brother, Ben, to Chadron State where he became the first athlete in school history to receive a full-ride scholarship. Despite his diminutive 5-8, 200-pound frame, Woodhead set a number of records for the Eagles and he became a two-time winner of the Harlon Hill Award, Division II's equivalent of the Heisman Trophy. Woodhead left Chadron as the NCAA's all-time leading rusher (7,962 yards) and he tied the national mark with 109 touchdowns. Though Chadron State never won a national championship during Woodhead's career, the Eagles went 35-11 during his tenure, including back-to-back undefeated seasons and Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference titles his junior and senior years. Their only loss each of those two seasons came in the NCAA Division II quarterfinals where both times they were defeated by Northwest Missouri State. In 2013, Woodhead was named to the Division II 40th-Anniversary Tribute Team.

Despite a record-breaking college career, Woodhead did not receive an invitation to participate at the 2008 NFL Combine. Instead he took part in a pro day on the University of Nebraska campus and posted a 40-yard dash time that would've been among the fastest at the Combine. Still, when the 2008 NFL Draft rolled around, all seven rounds came and went without Woodhead hearing his name called and he ended up signing a free agent contract with the New York Jets. Woodhead suffered a knee injury in training camp and spent his entire rookie year on the "Reserve-Injured" list. He returned in 2009 and played sparingly for the Jets, but in 2010 he was released after the first game of the season. It didn't take long for the rival New England Patriots to scoop up the Nebraska native and his career quickly hit an upswing. Woodhead played in 14 games for the Patriots and averaged a team-record 5.64 yards per carry for a squad that reached the AFC Divisional Playoffs. A year later, Woodhead helped the Patriots to a 13-3 regular season that culminated with a date with the New York Giants in Super Bowl XLVI. And in 2012, he helped New England to a 12-4 mark and a trip to the AFC Championship Game.

Woodhead seemed destined to play football from early on. As a child, he drew numbers on the backs of his cowboys and Indians and he held make-believe games in his bedroom. Looking for a bigger field, he once drew a football field in the middle of the family's living room with a green marker. And by the fourth grade, he was working as a ball boy at North Platte High School, where his dad, Mark, was an assistant coach.

The Woodhead family is extremely close. Danny was home-schooled until the ninth grade and his parents still live in North Platte, where Mark is now a school teacher and high school girls basketball coach. Both of his parents attended Chadron State.

PENALTY FREE

Woodhead has a rather incredible streak going. In 101 career games played and more than 3,700 career snaps, including playoffs, Woodhead has never had a penalty called against him.

Mark played wide receiver for the Eagles in the late 1970s. Danny and Ben roomed together at Chadron and they later served as the best men in each other's weddings. All of the men in the Woodhead family go by the nickname "Woody," except for Mark, who goes by "Big Woody." They all enjoy playing golf and Danny, a scratch player, is the family's best. Mom, Annette, is extremely devout and to this day she still sends Danny scriptures prior to each of his games.

JOEY BOSA

Defensive End
6-5, 280
Rookie

Draft 1 - '16
Ohio State
St. Thomas Aquinas HS
Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The San Diego Chargers selected college football's most decorated defensive player in the first round with the third overall selection, defensive end Joey Bosa from Ohio State University.

A 6-5, 280-pound native of Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, Bosa threw his hat into the NFL ring after three seasons in Columbus. He left Ohio State with career totals that include 150 tackles, 50.5 tackles for loss that resulted in minus 247 yards, 26 sacks, 24 quarterback hurries and five forced fumbles.

Bosa was a two-time Big Ten Defensive Lineman of the Year, two-time first-team All-America and 2014 National Champion. As a junior in 2015, he garnered All-America accolades from Sports Illustrated.com, ESPN.com, Walter Camp, the American Football Coaches Association of America and CBS Sports.

Bosa had the best statistical season of his Buckeyes career in 2014 when he helped lead the team to a 14-1 record and the first-ever College Football Playoff National Championship. Bosa racked up 55 tackles, 21 tackles for loss (14th nationally) and a Big Ten-leading 13.5 sacks (10th nationally) in 2014. He was a unanimous first-team All-America and the winner of the Big Ten's Nagurski-Woodson Defensive Player of the Year and its Smith-Brown Defensive Lineman of the Year awards. The signature play of his sophomore season was a fourth-down sack against Penn State's Christian Hackenberg that sealed a 31-24 double-overtime win over the Nittany Lions.

A second-generation NFL player, Bosa's father, John, was a first-round pick by the Miami Dolphins in 1987 after playing collegiately at Boston College. Bosa's mother, Cheryl, is an Ohio State grad. And Bosa's uncle, Eric Kumerow, was a four-year letterman as a linebacker for the Buckeyes and a team captain as a senior in 1987. Kumerow too was selected in the NFL Draft by the Dolphins, going a year after John Bosa in 1988 and coincidentally he too went at pick No. 16. The Bosas are the fifth father-son duo to be first-round picks in the NFL in the last 10 years.

Several other members of the Bosa family played football in college and the NFL. Joey's grandfather, Palmer Pyle Jr., played on the offensive line at Michigan State before being drafted by the Baltimore Colts. He played six years in Baltimore. His brother, Mike Pyle, played nine seasons at center with the Chicago Bears. Joey's cousin, Jake Kumerow, played collegiately at D-III Wisconsin-Whitewater before spending the 2015 season on the Cincinnati Bengals' practice squad. And Joey's brother, Nick, is part of a heralded recruiting class set to begin play for the Buckeyes in 2016.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: First-round pick by Chargers (3rd overall), April 28, 2016.

COLLEGE: First-team All-America by Sports Illustrated.com, ESPN.com, Walter Camp, AFCA and CBS Sports as junior...also first-team All-Big Ten and Big Ten Defensive Lineman of Year...Nagurski-Woodson Big Ten Defensive Player of Year and Defensive Lineman of Year as sophomore in 2014 as well as unanimous All-America selection...Big Ten and Athlon Magazine Defensive Player of Week after 2014 win over Penn State...2013 Freshman All-America by Sporting News and College Football News and honorable mention All-Big Ten...Big Ten Freshman of Week after two sacks and fumble recovery in end zone for touchdown on last play of 40-30 win over Northwestern.

PERSONAL: Born in Miami, Florida...All-America, two-time Associated Press first-team all-state and two-time state champion at St. Thomas Aquinas High School in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

HUNTER HENRY

Tight End
6-5, 253
Rookie

Draft 2 - '16
Arkansas
Pulaski Academy
Little Rock, Ark.

The Chargers drafted the winner of the 2015 John Mackey Award as the nation's top collegiate tight end when they landed former University of Arkansas

All-America Hunter Henry in the second round of the 2016 NFL Draft.

Besides winning the Mackey Award as a true junior in 2015, Henry was a consensus first-team All-America, including honors from the Associated Press, USA Today, ESPN.com and The Sporting News. He also was a consensus first-team All-SEC choice after catching 51 passes for 739 yards and three scores in 2015. His yardage total was tops in the nation among all tight ends and even more impressively, Henry did not drop a single pass thrown in his direction during the entire 2015 season. Henry is also a capable blocker. In 2015, he did not allow a sack or quarterback hurry and he played a key role in the Razorbacks running game which rushed for more than 200 yards in an SEC-best six conference games.

A native of Little Rock, Arkansas, Henry finished his Razorbacks career with 116 catches for 1,661 yards and nine touchdowns. In three seasons, he started 30 games and played in 38.

Henry's father, Mark, also played at Arkansas (1988-91) and he was a team captain as a senior.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Second-round pick by Chargers (35th overall), April 29, 2016...signed four-year contract, June 3.

COLLEGE: 2015 John Mackey Award as nation's top tight end...consensus first-team All-America, including Associated Press, USA Today, Sporting News and ESPN.com as junior in 2015...also second-team All-America by Sports Illustrated and consensus first-team All-SEC...116 career catches for 1,661 yards (second in school history) and nine touchdowns...eighth SEC tight end all-time with 100 receptions and one of only four with 1,500 yards...93 of 116 career receptions (80 percent) resulted in first downs...led FBS tight ends in receiving yards (739), first-down catches (36) and plays of 15-plus yards (21) in 2015...

MAX TUERK

Center
6-5, 298
Rookie

Draft 3 - '16
Southern California
Santa Margarita HS
Rancho Santa Margarita, Calif.

In the third round of the 2016 NFL Draft, the San Diego Chargers selected three-time All-Pac-12 center Max Tuerk (pronounced Turk) from the University of Southern California.

A career starter for the Trojans, Tuerk also was a team captain as a junior and senior. Standing 6-5, 298 pounds, Tuerk was an All-America candidate as a senior, but his year was cut short by a knee injury in the Trojans' fifth game of the season against Washington. He is a versatile player who started 38 career games in three-plus seasons at USC, including 18 starts at center, 14 at left guard, five at left tackle and one at right tackle. As a junior he captured USC's Offensive Lineman of the Year Award.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Third-round pick by Chargers (66th overall), April 29, 2016.

COLLEGE: Consensus first-team All-Pac-12 center as junior in 2014, as well as team's offensive lineman of year...honorable mention All-America and all-conference as sophomore in 2013 after starting 13 games at left guard and one at right tackle...in 2012 at Arizona, became first-ever USC true freshman to start at left tackle en route to earning Freshman All-America and honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors...played at USC from 2012-15...policy, planning and development major.

JOSHUA PERRY

Inside Linebacker
6-4, 253
Rookie

Draft 4 - '16
Ohio State
Olentangy HS
Lewis Center, Ohio

In the fourth round of the 2016 NFL Draft, the San Diego Chargers selected two-time All-Big Ten linebacker Joshua Perry from Ohio State.

A 6-4, 253 pound first-team All-Big Ten selection as a senior at Ohio State, Perry is expected to contribute at inside linebacker and on special teams. He was a teammate of Chargers first-round pick defensive end Joey Bosa and a member of the Buckeyes' 2014 College Football Playoff National Championship team. Perry played as a true freshman in 2012 and finished his career with 298 tackles, 7.5 sacks and 18 tackles for loss.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fourth-round pick by Chargers (102nd overall), April 30, 2016...signed four-year contract, May 10.

DREW KASER

Punter
6-2, 206
Rookie

Draft 6 - '16
Texas A&M
Walsh Jesuit HS
Stow, Ohio

In the sixth round of the 2016 NFL Draft, the San Diego Chargers selected first-team All-SEC punter Drew Kaser from Texas A&M.

Kaser finished his Aggies career with the second-highest punt average (46.2) in NCAA history. A first-team All-SEC pick and a first-team All-America by CBSSports.com as a senior in 2015, Kaser punted 168 times for 7,761 yards with a long of 76 and 60 inside the 20 in four seasons with the Aggies. As a senior, he set a school record with 26 punts over 50 yards. As a sophomore in 2013, Kaser set a then-school record with a 47.4-yard average that earned him a host of honors, including All-America recognition from the Associated Press and Sporting News, and first-team All-SEC accolades. He also was tabbed as a finalist for the Ray Guy Award as the nation's top punter.

Kaser always wears a cluster of wristbands, each representing something near and dear to his heart. One represents his mother Kelly's fight with brain cancer, while another represents the love for one of his best friends back home whose father died of a heart attack. There's one for his grade-school football coach who died of cancer, one for "players curing kids cancer," one for "Charlie's Angels" (in honor of a Houston child who survived cancer), and one in his grandfather's memory.

2015 GAME SUMMARIES

WEEK 1 RECAP – CHARGERS 33, DETROIT 28

The Chargers overcame an early 18-point deficit and rallied to defeat the Detroit Lions, 33-28, in their 2015 season opener at Qualcomm Stadium. It tied for the second-largest deficit overcome in franchise history.

The Lions jumped out to a 21-3 lead midway through the second quarter with two offensive touchdowns and a 31-yard interception return for a touchdown by safety Grover Quinn before the Chargers started chipping away. Danny Woodhead, playing in his first regular-season game since last September, started the comeback with a nine-yard touchdown run midway through the second quarter to bring the Bolts within 21-10.

The Chargers got the ball to start the third quarter and scored on a Josh Lambo field goal to get within 21-13. The teams traded turnovers on the next three possessions, including a diving interception by rookie outside linebacker Kyle Emanuel and another by cornerback Patrick Robinson. Robinson's pick helped set up a 12-yard touchdown catch by Stevie Johnson, his first as a Charger, and it brought the Bolts to within a point, 21-20. On the ensuing possession, the Bolts' defense came away with a three-and-out as Manti Te'o and Cordaro Law combined for a key third-down stop to force a Lions punt. The Chargers then drove 70 yards in seven plays and took their first lead of the afternoon when Ladarius Green caught a 13-yard scoring pass from Philip Rivers, just one play after catching a 21-yarder on the Lions' 13.

Up 26-21, the Chargers' defense came up with another big stop before the offense marched 11 plays and 86 yards for the backbreaking touchdown drive. Keenan Allen, who tied a franchise record with 15 catches against the Lions, had five catches on the drive, including a 20-yarder on a 3rd-and-19. Johnson also continued his large afternoon, hauling in a 34 yarder early in the drive before snatching a 14 yarder to the one on a 3rd-and-3 that set up Woodhead's second touchdown of the game for a 33-21 lead. Detroit scored a late touchdown to snap a 30-0 Chargers run and get back within 33-28, but the Lions failed to recover the onside kick attempt and the Bolts ran out the clock for the win.

WEEK 2 RECAP — CINCINNATI 24, CHARGERS 19

The Chargers let a game slip away due to costly mistakes, including turnovers and penalties, in falling to the Cincinnati Bengals, 24-19, at Paul Brown Stadium.

The Bolts opened the game with a strong three-and-out by the defense, but a muffed punt gave the ball right back to the Bengals. Two plays later, Andy Dalton threw a 16-yard touchdown pass to A.J. Green and the Bengals took an early 7-0 lead. It was one of two first-half turnovers that allowed Cincinnati to jump out to a 14-6 lead at the end of the half. The Bengals' other score came courtesy of a 45-yard scoring strike from Dalton to Marvin Jones. Late in the first half the Chargers appeared to score a touchdown that would have brought them to within 14-12 on a 36-yard return by Jerry Attaochu after a sack-fumble forced by Manti Te'o, but replay officials ruled that Dalton's arm was moving forward on the play and instead it went as nothing more than an incomplete pass.

For the second straight week, the Chargers came out of the locker room at halftime and scored on the first possession of the third quarter, this time on a 10-yard touchdown pass from Philip Rivers to Stevie Johnson. That score brought the Bolts to within one at 14-13. On the Bengals' next possession, running back Jeremy Hill fumbled for the second time in the game, but the Chargers failed to take advantage as a 47-yard field goal attempt sailed wide left. Instead, the Bengals countered with a field goal of their own to stretch the lead to 17-13. Three consecutive punts followed before Cincinnati jumped out to an 11-point lead on a nine-yard touchdown catch by Tyler Eifert. The Chargers answered right back though, as Malcom Floyd got loose down the right sideline and hauled in a 40-yard over-the-shoulder touchdown catch to get the Chargers back within five, 24-19, with 4:20 remaining.

After the Floyd touchdown, San Diego's defense stopped the Bengals and forced a punt, but only 1:09 remained when the Chargers got the ball back one final time from their own 20. The Bolts completed a quick pass to the 31 but on the very next play, Rivers was intercepted by Vincent Rey and the Bengals ran out the clock for the win.

WEEK 3 RECAP — MINNESOTA 31, CHARGERS 14

The Chargers suffered their second straight defeat, falling to the Minnesota Vikings, 31-14, at TCF Bank Stadium on the campus of the University of Minnesota. Injuries were a major factor in the game as the Chargers were hit hard along the offensive line and in the secondary.

The game was close in the first half. Minnesota jumped out to a 10-0 lead midway through the second quarter, but a 34-yard touchdown catch by Keenan Allen just before halftime sent the Chargers to the locker room down by just three at the break, 10-7.

Minnesota scored 14 third-quarter points, including a 43-yard touchdown run by Adrian Peterson, who rushed for 126 yards in the game. Early in the fourth quarter, down 24-7, the Chargers were driving for a potential score when a thirddown pass was tipped and picked off by Vikings linebacker Chad Greenway, who returned it 91 yards for a touchdown and a 31-7 lead. Kellen Clemens replaced Philip Rivers at quarterback late in the game and led the Bolts on a touchdown drive, with Allen hauling in his second score of the game – a 19-yarder. Allen hauled in 12 passes for 133 yards and the two scores on the day.

From an injury standpoint, center Chris Watt saw limited action due to a groin injury and the team lost both guard Orlando Franklin (ankle) and left tackle King Dunlap (concussion). In the secondary, the Bolts were without starting cornerback Brandon Flowers (knee) and safety Jahleel Addae (ankle), while fellow starting cornerback Jason Verrett (foot) was unable to finish the game.

WEEK 4 RECAP — CHARGERS 30, CLEVELAND 27

The Chargers snapped a two-game losing streak in dramatic fashion, defeating the Cleveland Browns, 30-27, on a 34-yard Josh Lambo field goal as time expired.

The game was a back-and-forth affair that featured five lead changes. The teams combined for seven field goals, four from Cleveland's Travis Coons (36, 28, 33 and 40) and three from Lambo (46, 45, 34). Both quarterbacks also threw for more than 300 yards in the game. Cleveland's Josh McCown passed for 356 yards and two touchdowns, while Philip Rivers threw for 358 yards and three scores for the Bolts.

The teams played to a 13-13 tie after the first 30 minutes. The Chargers touchdown came courtesy of a 28-yard scoring strike from Rivers to Keenan Allen, his third scoring catch in the last two games, while the Browns' came on a 34-yard pass from McCown to Duke Johnson.

In the second half, the Chargers jumped out to a 27-19 lead midway through the fourth quarter on two more Rivers' touchdown passes, a 19-yarder to tight end Ladarius Green and a one-yarder to fellow tight end John Phillips. The Browns tied the game 27-27 late in the fourth quarter when McCown tossed a one-yard touchdown pass to tight end Gary Barnidge and then added the two-point conversion on a pass to Taylor Gabriel. The Chargers then ate up the final 2:09, driving 57 yards in eight plays, highlighted by a 17-yard catch by Green and a 19-yard run by Danny Woodhead. Lambo's original game-winning attempt from 39 yards missed wide right, but the Browns were flagged for being offside and his subsequent attempt from 34 yards split the uprights.

WEEK 5 RECAP – PITTSBURGH 24, CHARGERS 20

The Chargers dropped a heartbreaker to the Pittsburgh Steelers, 24-20, on ESPN's Monday Night Football at Qualcomm Stadium. Le'Veon Bell won the game for Pittsburgh with a one-yard run as time expired in the fourth quarter.

The game was close throughout and a defensive struggle for much of the night. The teams scored just 10 points in the first half with San Diego taking a 7-3 lead into the locker room at the break. The Bolts' points came on a 12-yard touchdown catch by Antonio Gates on their opening drive of the game.

The back-and-forth continued until late in the third quarter when Pittsburgh took its first lead of the game on a 70-yard interception return for a touchdown by cornerback Antwon Blake. That gave the Steelers a 10-7 lead. The Chargers bounced back on their next series and drove for a 40-yard field goal that tied the game at 10-10. After Pittsburgh went three-and-out on its next possession, the Chargers jumped out to a seven-point lead when Philip Rivers and Gates connected once again, this time from 11 yards out, and the Bolts led 17-10. The lead didn't last long, however, as on the first play of their next series, Pittsburgh's Mike Vick and Markus Wheaton hooked up on a 72-yard catch-and-run and the game was tied again, 17-17. San Diego bounced back yet again, re-claiming the lead on its next possession as Josh Lambo capped off a 12-play drive with a 54-yard field goal that gave the Chargers a 20-17 lead with 2:56 remaining. Pittsburgh got the ball one last time and Vick moved the Steelers 80 yards downfield in 12 plays, capped by Bell's one-yard touchdown run on a direct snap as time expired.

WEEK 7 RECAP – OAKLAND 37, CHARGERS 29

The Chargers lost their third straight game, falling to the Oakland Raiders, 37-29, at Qualcomm Stadium. The Bolts found themselves down 37-6 early in the third quarter, but the team fought to the finish and scored the game's final 23 points.

Philip Rivers passed for 336 yards and he tossed three touchdown passes in the fourth quarter, including a 31-yarder to Ladarius Green and two to Danny Woodhead (eight and six yards). Green also caught a pair of two-point conversions following both of Woodhead's touchdowns.

WEEK 8 RECAP — BALTIMORE 29, CHARGERS 26

The Chargers' losing streak stretched to four games as Baltimore kicked a 39-yard game-winning field goal with no time on the clock at M&T Bank Stadium to give the Ravens a 29-26 win. It was a disappointing loss for the Chargers, who just moments before had driven 49 yards in eight plays for a game-tying 49-yard field goal.

The game was a see-saw battle that featured six lead changes and nearly identical statistical lines for both teams. The first half ended with the Chargers taking a 16-13 lead on a 13-yard touchdown catch by Keenan Allen with just nine seconds remaining in the second quarter. Philip Rivers was sensational in the first half, completing 19 of 22 for 157 yards with two touchdowns and no interceptions. His other touchdown pass was a nine yarder to Malcom Floyd early in the second quarter.

Baltimore tied the game (16-16) with a 48-yard Justin Tucker field goal on the opening drive of the third quarter and then after an exchange of punts, the Chargers took a 23-16 lead when Floyd caught a perfectly thrown ball from Rivers on a post pattern and raced a career-long 70 yards for a touchdown. The Ravens would go on to score the game's next 10 points to take a 26-23 lead before Josh Lambo tied it with his 49-yard field goal with 2:27 left in the game. The Ravens came right back with a nine-play, 59-yard drive of their own and with no time left on the clock, Tucker hit from 39 yards out to give Baltimore the 29-26 win.

WEEK 9 RECAP – CHICAGO 22, CHARGERS 19

The Chargers' losing streak stretched to five games as the Bolts fell to the Chicago Bears, 22-19, in a Monday Night Football game at Qualcomm Stadium.

The Chargers scored the game's first 13 points and led 16-7 at halftime, but Chicago came back with 15 points in the fourth quarter to overtake the Bolts. San Diego's first 13 points came on a 14-yard touchdown catch by Danny Woodhead on the game's opening possession and a 68-yard interception return by Jason Verrett in the second quarter. The Bolts missed the extra point after the Verrett touchdown but added a late second-quarter field goal to take the 16-7 halftime lead.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Chicago cut their deficit to 16-14 on a one-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter. The Chargers answered with a field goal drive of their own to stretch their lead to 19-14, but Bears' tight end Zach Miller came back with a 25-yard one-handed touchdown catch, followed by a two-point conversion, and Chicago claimed a 22-19 lead. The Chargers had the ball back one final time and drove into Bears' territory, but back-to-back sacks by Lamar Houston stalled the drive and the Bolts ended up turning the ball over on downs, allowing Chicago to run out the clock for the victory.

WEEK 12 RECAP — CHARGERS 31, JACKSONVILLE 25

The Chargers picked up their third win of the season in Jacksonville as they knocked off the Jaguars, 31-25. Philip Rivers tied his career high with four touchdown passes as part of a 300-yard game, while San Diego's defense played outstanding in the red zone, holding the Jaguars to just one touchdown in four trips inside the Bolts' 20.

The Jaguars scored the game's first six points on a pair of field goals before the Chargers exploded for 21 points in the second quarter, highlighted by two Antonio Gates touchdown catches just 65 seconds apart. Dontrelle Inman caught the quarter's first touchdown on a two-yard pass from Rivers. Late in the second quarter, Gates capped off a 13-play, 85-yard drive with a nine-yard touchdown catch. Then on the third play of the Jaguars' next drive, Manti Te'o intercepted Blake Bortles and the Bolts had the ball at Jacksonville's 22. Three plays later, Gates caught his second touchdown from 12 yards out and the Chargers led 21-9 at the half.

The teams exchanged field goals in the third quarter as San Diego held onto a 12-point lead (24-12), but the Jaguars cut it to five early in the fourth when Julius Thomas caught a 21-yard scoring pass from Bortles. The Chargers answered back with a 14-play, 80-yard drive capped off with a five-yard Stevie Johnson touchdown catch and the Bolts' pushed their lead back to 12 at 31-19. Allen Robinson caught an eight-yard touchdown pass with 1:21 remaining as the Jaguars climbed back to within six to finalize the scoring, 31-25.

WEEK 13 RECAP — DENVER 17, CHARGERS 3

The Chargers record slipped to 3-9 on the season after the Bolts fell to the Denver Broncos, 17-3, at Qualcomm Stadium.

All of the game's scoring took place in the first two quarters. Denver scored a touchdown on the opening series of the game for a 7-0 lead and late in the first quarter, the lead grew to 14-0 when linebacker Danny Trevathan returned an interception 25 yards for a score. The teams traded field goals in the second quarter, including a 51-yarder by the Bolts' Josh Lambo.

San Diego's defense played well, holding Denver to just 10 points on the afternoon, while allowing the Broncos just 293 total yards. Melvin Ingram recorded the team's only sack and Jason Verrett intercepted Brock Osweiler in the end zone for the Bolts' lone takeaway.

WEEK 14 RECAP – KANSAS CITY 10, CHARGERS 3

The Kansas City Chiefs defeated the Chargers, 10-3, in Week 14 at Arrowhead Stadium on a day in which heavy rain fell throughout the afternoon.

Defense was the story of the game as the Bolts held the Chiefs to 329 total net yards, while San Diego's defense collected an interception and a fumble to go along with two sacks of quarterback Alex Smith. Kansas City, meanwhile, held the Bolts to just 280 yards and the Chiefs' defense sacked Chargers' quarterback Philip Rivers five times in the game.

The Chiefs scored all 10 of their points in the first half on a 44-yard touchdown catch by Albert Wilson and a 40-yard field goal following an interception just before halftime. The Bolts kicked a field goal midway through the third quarter to climb within 10-3. Late in the fourth quarter, the Chargers drove to the Chiefs' one-yard line but they were unable to finish the drive with a touchdown and Kansas City held on for the victory.

WEEK 15 RECAP — CHARGERS 30, MIAMI 14

On an emotion-filled day in front of 66,676 fans at Qualcomm Stadium, the Chargers defeated the Miami Dolphins, 30-14, behind a four-touchdown day from Danny Woodhead, a 311-yard three-touchdown outing from Phillip Rivers and a stifling effort by the Bolts' defense, led by Melvin Ingram's 2.5 sacks.

The Bolts scored on their opening possession of the game and took a 23-0 lead at halftime behind the first three of Woodhead's touchdowns. The Chargers scored on four of their five first-half possessions as Woodhead scored on catches of 20 and 9 yards sandwiched around a two-yard touchdown run. The Chargers completely dominated the first half defensively, holding Miami to just four first downs and 77 total yards while registering four three-and-outs.

The Chargers continued their strong defensive effort in the third quarter, producing two more three-and-outs while holding the Dolphins off the score-board until 1:30 remained in that period. The teams both scored touchdowns in the fourth quarter, including Woodhead's fourth of the game, and the Chargers closed out the victory over the Dolphins, 30-14.

WEEK 16 RECAP — OAKLAND 23, CHARGERS 20 (OT)

In Week 16 on Christmas Eve, the Chargers fell to the Oakland Raiders, 23-20 in overtime, in an NFL Network Thursday Night Football game at the O.co Coliseum. The national television audience that tuned in on the NFL Network was treated to an exciting game that took nearly four hours to complete. The Chargers were again hit hard by injuries as the team lost three offensive linemen and four members of the secondary to injuries and in overtime, the team was forced to use wide receiver Dontrelle Inman at free safety against Oakland's spread offense.

The Chargers scored the game's first points and led 17-10 at halftime on a one-yard touchdown run by Donald Brown and a seven-yard touchdown catch by Inman. Brown's touchdown was set up by an interception by defensive end Kendall Reyes, while Inman's touchdown was one of a season-high eight catches and a team-leading 82 yards.

The third quarter was a punt-fest, with the team's trading six punts — including four three-and-outs — before Oakland got to within 17-12 after sacking Philip Rivers in the end zone for a safety.

The score remained 17-12 until late in the fourth quarter when the Raiders got a key turnover as tight end David Johnson was stripped following a catch and Benson Mayowa of the Raiders returned the loose ball to the Chargers' three. Oakland then grabbed a 20-12 lead on the next play courtesy of a three-yard touchdown catch by Michael Crabtree that was followed by a two-point conversion catch by Seth Roberts. The Chargers came right back, however, on their next series with an 11-play drive keyed by a 23-yard catch from Malcom Floyd and a 15-yard pass interference penalty and they tied the game, 20-20, on a 45-yard Josh Lambo field goal.

From there, the game went to overtime and Oakland won the coin toss and elected to receive. The Raiders put together a 15-play, 67-yard field goal drive in which they overcame a 2nd-and-29 and converted three third-downs before Sebastian Janikowski put a 31-yard try through the uprights. The Bolts got the ball back with a chance to win or tie the game, but their drive ended on downs and the Raiders held on for the 23-20 victory.

POSTSEASON HISTORY

2013 AFC Divisional Playoffs

Denver Broncos 24, San Diego Chargers 17

Sunday, Jan. 12, 2014 - Sports Authority Field (Denver, CO)

The Chargers' storybook season came to an end on Jan. 12 in the AFC Divisional Playoffs at Denver's Sports Authority Field as the Broncos defeated the Bolts, 24-17, to eliminate San Diego from the AFC Playoffs. Weather was a factor early in the game as winds at kickoff were blowing across the field at 17 mph with gusts up to 27 mph. Despite the unfavorable conditions, the Chargers didn't go down without a fight, rallying from a 17-point deficit to get within seven points late in the fourth quarter. Down 24-7 with 8:12 left in the fourth quarter, the Chargers scored a touchdown, recovered an onside kick and kicked a field goal to get within seven points at 24-17. That would be as close as the Chargers would get, however, as Denver took possession with 3:53 remaining in the game and converted two first downs, including a 3rd-and-17, to run out the clock and advance to the AFC Championship Game.

2013 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 27, Cincinnati Bengals 10

Sunday, Jan. 5, 2014 - Paul Brown Stadium (Cincinnati, OH)

The Chargers defeated the Cincinnati Bengals, 27-10, in the AFC Wild Card Playoffs at Paul Brown Stadium for their first postseason victory since Jan. 2009. It was the Chargers' first-ever playoff win over the Bengals. In earning the victory, the Chargers outperformed the Bengals in two key areas.

The Bolts racked up a season-high four takeaways with two interceptions and two fumble recoveries, and they rushed for a season-high 196 yards. Cincinnati led at the half, 10-7, but the Chargers completely dominated the game on defense in the second half, pitching a shutout as the Bolts outscored the Bengals 20-0. Cincinnati's first six drives of the second half ended with a punt after a third-down sack, a fumble, two interceptions and two drives that ended on downs. A seventh ended with the clock reaching 0:00. And in addition to the four takeaways, the Chargers' defense recorded three sacks, five tackles for loss and eight passes defensed.

2009 AFC Divisional Playoffs New York Jets 17, San Diego Chargers 14 Sunday, Jan. 17, 2010 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The No. 5 seed New York Jets upset No. 2 seed Chargers. San Diego's defense opened game with four straight three-and-outs, not allowing Jets first down until 8:11 remained in second quarter. Stephen Cooper set up Chargers' first touchdown of game, forcing three-and-out with four-yard tackle for loss on 3rd-and-4. On ensuing drive, Kris Wilson caught 13-yard touchdown pass for 7-0 lead. Antonio Gates helped set TD with brilliant one-handed 23-yard reception to 16. Quentin Jammer had solid afternoon, breaking up third-down pass in second quarter to force punt and intercepting another in third quarter. Paul Oliver provided pressure and hit on Jets' quarterback Mark Sanchez on interception and Steve Gregory, in coverage, tipped pass that Jammer picked off. Jacob Hester got his hand on late fourth-quarter punt by Jets, contributing to just 26-yard punt. On ensuing possession, Philip Rivers scored TD on one-yard sneak with 2:20 left. Vincent Jackson, who had game-high 111 yards receiving, set up Rivers TD with 12-yard catch on one 3rd-and-7.

2008 AFC Divisional Playoffs Pittsburgh Steelers 35, San Diego Chargers 24 Sunday, Jan. 11, 2009 - Heinz Field (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers' run through AFC Playoffs came to abrupt end in Pittsburgh as Steelers dealt Chargers 35-24 setback on cold and snowy day in Steel City. Chargers staked out to early lead on long touchdown catch by Vincent Jackson and led or were tied for most of first half, but game's momentum changed right before and after halftime. Down 10-7, Pittsburgh drove 66 yards for touchdown just before halftime, giving them their first lead of night at 14-10. Steelers got ball first coming out of locker room and drove 77 yards for another score that extended lead to 21-10. Darren Sproles' 63-yard kickoff return gave ball to Chargers at Pittsburgh's 23-yard line, but Philip Rivers' first-down pass was tipped and intercepted by Steelers. Though replays showed ball appeared to hit ground, play withstood instant replay challenge and Pittsburgh maintained possession. Chargers' defense held and forced punt, but punt inadvertently hit unknown Eric Weddle and Steelers recovered and took over at Chargers' 23. Again Chargers defense would hold, stopping Pittsburgh on downs at one, but with Bolts offense unable to get out of shadow of its own goal line. Steelers got ball again in San Diego territory and 49 yards later, Steelers scored to take 28-10 lead. San Diego managed pair of late touchdowns, including 62-yarder by Sproles, who finished game with 274 all-purpose yards, but Pittsburgh held Bolts at bay and held on for win.

2008 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 23, Indianapolis Colts 17 (OT)

Saturday, Jan. 3, 2009 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The San Diego Chargers' miracle season of 2008 stayed alive as Bolts rallied from 17-14 fourth quarter deficit behind outstanding defensive effort and legs of Darren Sproles to defeat Indianapolis Colts, 23-17, in overtime on Saturday night home playoff game at Qualcomm Stadium. After trailing 7-0 and 10-7, Chargers rallied and led 14-10 at half. In third quarter, Colts caught Chargers off-guard while substituting defenders and made them pay with 72-yard TD pass from Peyton Manning to Reggie Wayne. San Diego's defense settled down though and did not allow Colts any more points, key defensive stand late in fourth quarter, fueled by Tim Dobbins' sack of Manning at Colts' one-yard line, allowed offense time for one final drive in regulation. Philip Rivers drove Bolts to Colts' eight-yard line and Nate Kaeding's field goal from 26 yards out tied game with 31 seconds left. San Diego won coin toss in overtime and Rivers led offense on 11-play, 75-yard march that ended with 22-yard touchdown run by Sproles to win game in overtime. Sproles finished night with 328 all-purpose yards, third-most ever by player in NFL Playoff game. Dobbins' sack that enabled Bolts to begin comeback was first of his career.

2007 AFC Championship Game

New England Patriots 21, San Diego Chargers 12

Sunday, Jan. 20, 2008 - Gillette Stadium (Foxborough, MA)

Despite playing with torn ACL in his right knee, Philip Rivers started and played entire game. Contest was played in sub-freezing weather with kickoff temperature of 23 degrees and wind-chill factor of nine degrees. Chargers were doomed by their inability to score touchdowns inside red zone, instead settling for four Nate Kaeding field goals. NFL rushing champion LaDainian Tomlinson, who was suffering from strained MCL in his left knee, tried to go, but was unable to complete game. Chargers struck first following Tom Brady interception. Chargers were also hurt by turnovers as second-quarter interception thrown by Rivers resulted in TD and 14-6 lead for Pats. Chargers made another run at Patriots in third quarter, intercepting Brady on opening drive. It would lead to one of game's most critical plays. After turnover, Chargers drove to New England's four, but on 3rd-and-1, Michael Turner was tackled for two-yard loss by former Bol Junior Seau and Chargers had to settle for another field goal. New England made Chargers pay three series later as Wes Welker caught six-yard pass from Brady and Patriots extended their lead to 21-12. After San Diego punt, New England took ball with 9:13 to play in fourth quarter and killed entire clock, overcoming 2nd-and-18 early in drive. With win, Patriots advanced to Super Bowl XLII to face New York Giants.

2007 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 28, Indianapolis Colts 24

Sunday, Jan. 13, 2008 - RCA Dome (Indianapolis, IN)

The Chargers advanced to AFC Championship game in New England with 28-24 win in final-ever game at RCA Dome. contest included multiple lead changes that were sparked by handful of reserves who were forced into action after key starters were sidelined with injuries. Down 7-0, Philip Rivers threw interception and Colts drove to Chargers' 17-yard line, but Antonio Cromartie forced fumble by Marvin Harrison to end threat. Chargers capitalized, tying game on touchdown pass from Rivers to Vincent Jackson. Late in second quarter, Cromartie snagged his second takeaway when slightly overhauled Peyton Manning pass went off Reggie Wayne's fingertips. Cromartie returned interception 89 yards for what appeared to be go-ahead score, but holding call during return brought play back to midfield and teams went to locker room with Indy up 10-7. Chargers scored on their opening possession of second half and took their first lead at 14-10. Indianapolis then drove to Chargers' four, but rookie safety Eric Weddle intercepted pass intended for Kention Keith. On last play of third quarter, Rivers tossed his third touchdown pass of day, short screen that Darren Sproles took 56 yards to house, but euphoria of 21-17 lead was temporarily dampened as Rivers left game with sprained right knee suffered on play. With Rivers out, LaDainian Tomlinson also battling sore knee and Colts retaking lead 24-21, backups Billy Volek and Michael Turner were called on to carry load. And they delivered with Volek giving Chargers lead one final time on one-yard quarterback sneak with 4:54 remaining. Colts had two late tries to reclaim lead, but Bolts defense buckled down with two stops on downs, including one at Chargers' seven yard line and another that started far down field thanks to 66-yard punt by Mike Scifres as Chargers held on for victory.

2007 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 17, Tennessee Titans 6

Sunday, Jan. 6, 2008 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers won their first playoff game since 1995 on cool day with intermittent rain showers before capacity crowd at Qualcomm Stadium. Bolts overcame slow start and 6-0 deficit at half to rally and outscore Titans 17-0 in third and fourth quarters to win game, 17-6. Chris Chambers and Vincent Jackson became first pair of Chargers to each record more than 100 yards receiving in playoff game since 1983 as Chambers went for 121, while Jackson tallied career-high 114, including touchdown catch that proved to be eventual game winner. Nate Kaeding field goal to open third quarter made score 6-3 and after defensive stop, Philip Rivers tossed 25-yard TD pass to Jackson for 10-6 lead. Tennessee drove deep into San Diego territory on their next drive, but Rob Bironas pushed 38-yard field goal wide to left and Chargers made them pay. Rivers engineered 12-play, 72-yard drive and LaDainian Tomlinson scored from one yard out on fourth-and-one play to put game away. Chambers 39-yard catch on third-and-10 play set up score. Late in game Tennessee was stymied in its comeback effort by three-and-out and Drayton Florence interception. Titans finished their year 10-7, while Chargers advanced to face Indianapolis in AFC Divisional Playoff round.

2006 AFC Divisional Playoffs

New England Patriots 24, San Diego Chargers 21

Sunday, Jan. 14, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' record-breaking season came to an end in heart-breaking fashion when New England Patriots overcame eight point deficit in fourth quarter to defeat Chargers, 24-21, in AFC Divisional Playoff game before record crowd of 68,810 in San Diego. After sluggish start by both teams, San Diego took 14-3 lead in second quarter on touchdown runs by LaDainian Tomlinson and Michael Turner, but Bolts defense gave up late score and Patriots trailed only 14-10 at half. New England added field goal in third quarter to climb within point, but Chargers drove 83 yards in nine plays early in fourth and took 21-13 lead when Tomlinson scored from three yards out, game appeared to be all but over when Marlon McCree intercepted Tom Brady on following drive, but Patriots' Troy Brown stripped McCree during runback and Patriots recovered. Five plays later, Reche Caldwell caught four-yard touchdown pass and Pats tied it up on successful two-point conversion. Chargers got ball back with chance to reclaim lead but instead went three-and-out and New England took 24-21 lead on 31-yard field goal with 1:10 left in quarter. Chargers rallied one last time, but Nate Kaeding's 54-yard field goal attempt with just few seconds left came up short and Patriots escaped with win.

2004 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

New York Jets 20, San Diego Chargers 17 (OT)

Saturday, Jan. 8, 2005 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' 2004 postseason came to an early end as in 20-17 overtime loss to New York Jets in Wild Card Playoff Game at Qualcomm Stadium. sellout crowd of 67,536 braved elements as Drew Brees led furious fourth quarter comeback during which Chargers outscored New York 10-0 to send game into overtime. Given new life by roughing-the-passer penalty on what appeared to be San Diego's last play of game, Brees found Antonio Gates in end zone for one-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left to send game to extra period. It was only second overtime playoff game in team history. Both teams traded possessions in extra period before Nate Kaeding's game-winning attempt from 40 yards sailed wide right, opening door for New York to drive down and kick game winner with five seconds left in overtime. Keenan McCardell scored game's first touchdown on 26-yard catch. He was initially ruled out of bounds, but San Diego challenged call and ruling was reversed. It was McCardell's sixth-career touchdown catch in post-season. Brees opened game by completing his first eight passes and on McCardell touchdown drive, he was 5 of 5 for 61 yards and touchdown. He finished night 31 of 42 (738), setting team playoff record for completion percentage.

Super Bowl XXIX San Francisco 49ers 49, San Diego Chargers 26 Sunday, Jan. 29, 1995 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers were no match for high-powered San Francisco offense as 49ers scored early and often en route to handing San Diego 49-26 defeat. Steve Young passed for four first-half touchdowns as 49ers jumped out to 28-10 lead at halftime. barrage continued in second half and Young finished night with 325 yards and six touchdown passes. Chargers' offense was forced to play catch-up most of game, and as result, quarterback Stan Humphries passed 49 times, completing 24 for 275 yards with one touchdown, but two interceptions proved costly. Natrone Means became youngest player in Super Bowl history to score touchdown when 22-year-old dived over 49ers' defense for a one-yard scoring plunge in first quarter. Chargers rookie Andre Coleman tied Super Bowl record for longest kickoff return when he went 98 yards for touchdown in third quarter. Following kickoff return, Humphries passed to Mark Sey for first two-point conversion in Super Bowl history. Later, after 30-yard Humphries to Tony Martin touchdown pass late in fourth quarter, Humphries completed his second two-point conversion of game, this time to Alfred Pupunu. Linebackers Dennis Gibson and Junior Seau led Chargers with 11 tackles apiece, while Seau added sack. Raylee Johnson paced Chargers with two sacks.

1994 AFC Championship Game

San Diego Chargers 17, Pittsburgh Steelers 13

Sunday, Jan. 15, 1995 - Three Rivers Stadium (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers advanced to Super Bowl for first time in franchise history with stunning 17-13 upset victory over heavily-favored Pittsburgh Steelers in Three Rivers Stadium. San Diego started game slowly and Pittsburgh led Bolts 10-3 at end of first half, while outgaining San Diego in total yardage, 229 to 46. Steelers opened second half with field goal to extend lead to 13-3. Later in quarter, Stan Humphries connected with Al Pupunu on 43-yard touchdown strike to close gap to 13-10. score remained as such until late in fourth quarter when Humphries threw another 43-yard touchdown pass, this one to Tony Martin, and Bolts claimed their first lead of game at 17-13. Pittsburgh took ensuing kickoff and drove to Chargers' nine-yard line with two minutes left in game, but San Diego's defense stood Steeler on downs, including dramatic pass defense on fourth down by linebacker Dennis Gibson that sealed victory and silenced Three Rivers crowd.

1994 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 22, Miami Dolphins 21

Sunday, Jan. 8, 1995 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers advanced to AFC Championship Game with 22-21 victory over Miami Dolphins in front of San Diego-record home crowd of 63,381 fans. win moved Chargers to AFC title round for only third time in team history and first time since 1982. Dan Marino threw three first-half touchdown passes and Dolphins led 21-6 at half. San Diego's offense came alive and dominated third quarter. Chargers took opening drive of second half and marched 15 plays to Dolphins' one-yard line before losing ball on downs. But on Miami's first play from scrimmage, Reuben Davis stopped Bernie Parmelee in end zone for safety to make score 21-8. San Diego took ensuing kick and Natrone Means finished 54-yard drive with 24-yard scoring run, breaking several tackles along way and Dolphin lead was trimmed to 21-15. teams traded possessions through fourth quarter before Stan Humphries hit Mark Seay for what would prove to be game-winning touchdown. But before that could happen, Marino moved Dolphins to San Diego's 30-yard line with 35 seconds left and positioned Pete Stoyanovich for 48-yard field goal attempt, but kick sailed wide right. San Diego dominated game's time of possession, controlling ball 39:20 compared to Miami's 20:40. Another factor was San Diego's running game, which rolled up 202 of team's 466 total yards. Means rushed for personal best 139 yards and Humphries completed 20 of 26 attempts in second half.

1992 AFC Divisional Playoffs

Miami Dolphins 31, San Diego Chargers 0

Sunday, Jan. 10, 1993 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers history-making season ended with 31-0 loss to Miami Dolphins in Joe Robbie Stadium. Intermittent downpours and soggy field slowed both teams early as each squad was forced to punt on their first four series. Second quarter proved disastrous for San Diego. Stan Humphries intercepted three times with each leading to Dolphins touchdown and 21-0 halftime lead for Miami. San Diego also suffered fumbled snap on punt attempt in period. Chargers could not get on track in second half either, as Miami chalked up 10 more points and forced two more San Diego turnovers. Chargers' defense was in field most of game (37:08). Junior Seau recorded personal-best 19 tackles. Dolphins special teams punt Chargers in poor field position on several occasions, including punts, which pinned San Diego's offense back on its own five, six, four and 15-yard lines.

1992 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 17, Kansas City Chiefs 0

Saturday, Jan. 2, 1993 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

San Diego defeated Kansas City Chiefs, 17-0, in AFC Wild Card playoffs in San Diego's Jack Murphy Stadium. It marked first shutout in history of Wild Card games. It was also first shutout by Chargers over Kansas City and first time Chiefs were shut out in non-strike game since 1985. Two defensive powerhouses battled to scoreless first half. Chargers gained 130 total yards to Chiefs' 122 yards in half, but were sacked four times for 47 yards in losses. San Diego scored first when Marion Butts dashed up middle career-long 54 yards for touchdown. On Chiefs' first play of their next possession, tipped pass by Blaise Winter was intercepted by Leslie O'Neal to set up field goal. Up 10-0 in fourth quarter, Chargers put together 11-play, 91-yard drive and culminated series with five-yard scoring plunge by SteveHendrickson. Chargers gained 192 yards on ground, their second-most productive effort of season. Defense harassed Chiefs passing game causing two interceptions and sacking Dave Krieg seven times to tie season high. But Grossman had two-and-a-half sacks and O'Neal and Shawn Lee each had two.

1982 AFC Wild Card Playoffs

Sunday, Jan. 9, 1983 - Three Rivers Stadium (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers, fifth-seeded AFC team in Super Bowl Tournament, played opening round of playoffs on road for first time, facing AFC's fourth-seeded team, Pittsburgh. After falling behind 14-3 in first quarter, Chargers took 17-14 lead at halftime on 18-yard James Brooks touchdown run and 10-yard scoring pass from Dan Fouts to Eric Sievers. With 14:10 remaining in game, Fouts threw eight-yard touchdown strike on fourth down to Kellen Winslow to move San Diego within four points at 28-24. And with 3:59 left to play, San Diego mounted its game-winning drive and Fouts hit Winslow on screen pass that he carried 12 yards for touchdown and victory. Workhorse of Chargers' offense was Chuck Muncie, who gained 126 yards on 25 attempts. It was Muncie's third-straight 100 yard performance and second-straight against league's number one rated run defense. Fouts threw for 333 yards against Steelers, his fifth career 300-yard effort in playoffs.

1981 AFC Championship Game

Cincinnati Bengals 27, San Diego Chargers 7

Sunday, Jan. 10, 1982 - Riverfront Stadium (Cincinnati, OH)

The Chargers lost to Cincinnati in AFC Championship game on coldest day in NFL history. Temperature in Cincinnati dipped to nine-degrees-below-zero with wind chill factor measuring 59-below zero. Cincinnati won coin toss and elected to kick off, forcing San Diego to go into wind in first quarter. Bengals moved ahead 10-0 before teams switched directions in second period and Chargers scored on their first possession on 33-yard screen pass from Dan Fouts to Kellen Winslow and Cincinnati led 17-7 at halftime. Chargers were statistical leaders in first half, but three turnovers inside Bengals' 33-yard line proved costly. San Diego turned ball over to start third quarter leading to another Cincinnati score, and three-yard touchdown pass from Ken Anderson to Don Bass culminated 8:08 drive in final period to pinch Bengals victory. Wes Chandler led all receivers with six catches for 79 yards and Chuck Muncie led all rushers with 23 carries and 94 yards.

1981 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 41, Miami Dolphins 38 (OT)

Saturday, Jan. 2, 1982 - Orange Bowl (Miami, FL)

The Chargers traveled to Miami's Orange Bowl to face AFC East Division champion Miami and won epic struggle, 41-38, on 29-yard Rolf Benirschke field goal at 13:52 mark of first overtime period. San Diego jumped out to early 24-0 lead, only to have Dolphins close gap under direction of substitute quarterback Don Strock. Score was 24-17 at halftime and in second half Dolphins knotted score at 24 and again at 31 before assuming their first lead, 38-31, on 12-yard run by Tony Nathan. But late in fourth quarter after Dolphin turnover, Dan Fouts threw eight-yard TD pass to James Brooks with 58 seconds left in regulation to tie game, 38-38. With four seconds left Dolphins had chance to win it but Miami's 43-yard field goal try was blocked by Kellen Winslow, sending game into overtime. In OT Benirschke missed 27-yard attempt and Uwe Von Schamann had another attempt blocked, this time by Leroy Jones. Ultimately, Chargers' game-winning drive was highlighted by receptions of 20 and 29 yards by Wes Chandler and Charlie Joiner, respectively. Fouts set division playoff passing records for completions, attempts and yards, as did Winslow with 13 catches. Chandler had 56-yard punt return for touchdown for Chargers, first-ever punt return for touchdown in AFC divisional playoff game. Chargers broke total 15 divisional playoff team records and tied two others.

1980 AFC Championship Game

Oakland Raiders 34, San Diego Chargers 27

Sunday, Jan. 11, 1981 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Oakland took 28-7 lead in first half and then held off late San Diego bid to beat Chargers for American Football Conference championship. On third play from scrimmage, Raiders quarterback Jim Plunkett had pass bounce off hands of his intended receiver Kenny King and into grasp of Raymond Chester, who took pass in for 65-yard score. San Diego's initial drive was halted when John Jefferson slipped on wet turf and Dan Fouts' pass zipped into hands of defender Lester Hayes. Chargers tied score minutes later on 48-yard pass from Fouts to Charlie Joiner but Oakland retaliated with 76-yard scoring drive, aided by Plunkett pass to Cliff Branch for 48 yards and pass interference penalty. By end of the first quarter, Oakland led 21-7, and two quarterbacks had combined for 314 yards passing. Oakland later scored on three-yard run by Mark Van Eeghen, making score 28-7. San Diego scored near end of first half on eight-yard pass from Fouts to Joiner. In third quarter, Rolf Benirschke kicked field goal and Chuck Muncie scored from six yards to narrow Raiders' lead to 28-24. Oakland then marched 68 and 37 yards to set up two Chris Bahr field goals while running 10:38 off clock. Trailing 34-24, Chargers drove for field goal from Benirschke that left them one touchdown behind with 6:52 to play, but Oakland controlled ball for final 6:52 and held on for victory.

1980 AFC Divisional Playoffs

San Diego Chargers 20, Buffalo Bills 14

Saturday, Jan. 3, 1981 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Quarterback Dan Fouts connected with Ron Smith on 50-yard touchdown pass with 2:08 remaining in fourth quarter for game-winning score. Fouts completed pass on 3rd-and-10 with Chargers trailing 14-13. With win Chargers advanced to American Football Conference Championship Game against Oakland. Fouts completed 22 of 37 passes for 314 yards and two touchdowns. 20th 300-yard game of his career. San Diego's defense held Buffalo to 97 yards rushing. 50-yard, game-winning touchdown catch was longest of Smith's career. Down 14-3 at half, momentum changed in third quarter with Chargers going 70 yards in four plays for touchdown on first series. Chuck Muncie ran for 18 yards, then Charlie Joiner caught 45-yard pass and two plays later, Joiner capped off drive with nine-yard scoring reception, making score 14-10. Down 14-13 after field goal, Chargers started their final drive at Buffalo 31-yard line with 3:59 to play. Passes to Mike Thomas and John Jefferson put ball at midfield, setting stage for Fouts' game-winner to Smith.

1979 AFC Divisional Playoffs

Houston Oilers 17, San Diego Chargers 14

Saturday, Dec. 29, 1979 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers 1979 season, featuring one of the best teams in franchise history, ended in disappointment as Bolts fell to Houston Oilers, 17-14, in Divisional Playoff game at San Diego Stadium. Chargers were rolling early and took 7-0 lead on Clarence Williams' one-yard touchdown on Bolts first offensive possession of game. But Houston scored 10 unanswered points in second quarter and led at half, 10-7. On opening drive of third quarter, San Diego reclaimed lead when Lydell Mitchell scored on eight-yard run for 14-10 lead. Houston came back later in quarter as Mike Renfro caught 47-yard touchdown pass from Gifford Nielsen and Oilers jumped back out to 17-14 lead. Chargers tried to fight back in fourth quarter, but two Dan Fouts interceptions proved costly and Houston upset Chargers and eliminated them from playoffs.

1965 AFL Championship Game

Buffalo Bills 23, San Diego Chargers 0

Sunday, Dec. 26, 1965 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

It was same two teams that met in 1964 Championship game with scene shifting from East to West Coast. But there obviously was no hometown advantage for San Diego Chargers. Coach Lou Saban's Buffalo Bills found 59-degree weather much to their liking in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, rolling to 23-0 victory before 30,361 downhearted fans. San Diego's offensive unit was unable to generate any type of serious attack after first quarter and Jack Kemp-led Bills broke loose in second period. Kemp teamed with end Ernie Warlick for initial score, 18-yard pass capping 60-yard drive. Just 2:20 later, Bills struck again on 74-yard punt return by Butch Byrd and at halftime, Buffalo was ahead 14-0. In second half, Chargers were able to contain Buffalo's ground game and Kemp's passing, but couldn't stop talented toe of placekicker Pete Gogolak. His soccer-style kicks connected twice in third quarter from 11 and 39 yards and once more in final period from 32 yards.

1964 AFL Championship Game

Sunday, Dec. 26, 1964 - War Memorial Stadium (Buffalo, NY)

Lou Saban sent his Buffalo Bills out for post-Christmas gift after three lean years and one near miss in American Football League. Bills found what they were looking for and wrapped up defending champion San Diego Chargers, 20-7, for AFL Championship before 40,242 howling hometown fans. Chargers started out as if they meant to repeat their 51-10 conquest of Boston Patriots in 1963 title game. They boomed from their own 20 in four plays with payoff 26-yard strike from retiring quarterback Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek. Keith Lincoln's PAT at 2:16 of first period was last time San Diego got on scoreboard. Disaster soon struck visitors when Lincoln was forced out of action with broken rib on "the tackle heard around world" by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton. Coupled with absence of Lance Alworth, injury to Lincoln left Chargers offense impotent. Buffalo forged to 13-7 halftime lead on field goals from 12 and 17 yards by rookie ace Pete Gogolak and four-yard touchdown run by halfback Wray Carlton. Bills tallied again in final quarter on sneak by quarterback Jack Kemp.

1963 AFL Championship Game

San Diego Chargers 51, Boston Patriots 10

Sunday, Jan. 5, 1964 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium and 30 million more on national television, Keith Lincoln ran, caught and passed like no other athlete ever has in professional title match as Californians crumbled Boston Patriots, 51-10. Chargers' offense produced 610 yards. Lincoln accounted for 349 of them in virtuoso performance that included touchdown sprint of 67 yards, touchdown reception of 25 yards, 206 yards gained rushing, 123 gained pass receiving and 20 gained passing. Lincoln's heroics were mightily abated by others on San Diego team that played with brilliance. It was powerhouse show by team that had failed in two previous tries to win AFL title. But Patriots, with league's proudest defensive outfit, were no match for San Diego. Splendidly prepared by Sid Gilman to combat Boston's almost constantly rushing linebackers, Chargers scored on their fourth scrimmage play, as well as their sixth and 10th. Patriots' ground attack suffered after fullback Larry Garrison incurred head injury midway through second period. Garrison later returned to game but remained in it only briefly.

1961 AFL Championship Game Houston Oilers 10, San Diego Chargers 3 Sunday, Dec. 24, 1961 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The 1961 American Football League Championship game in San Diego's Balboa Stadium was carbon copy of previous season's title game in that Houston Oilers beat San Diego Chargers 10-3. On Jan. 1, 1961, Oilers edged Chargers, 24-16, in Houston's Jeppesen Stadium, live audience of 29,556 fans and nationwide television audience estimated in vicinity of 40 million viewers witnessed monument to defensive football at its best. crowd at stadium was limited because game was played on Christmas Eve and game was telecast into Los Angeles area and many San Diegans received LA's ABC affiliate, Channel 7. Oilers scored on 46-yard field goal by George Blanda midway through second quarter and added clincher, 35-yard touchdown pass by Blanda to Billy Cannon, late in third quarter. Chargers only scoring game on 12-yard field goal early in final period. Indication of evenness of ballgame is that both clubs had total net offense of 256 yards.

1960 AFL Championship Game Houston Oilers 24, Los Angeles Chargers 16 Sunday, Jan. 1, 1961 - Jeppesen Stadium (Houston, TX)

The American Football League's first championship game took place Jan. 1, 1961 between Eastern Division champion Houston Oilers and Western Division champion Los Angeles Chargers in Jeppesen Stadium, home of Eastern tilts. outcome: Houston 24, Los Angeles 16. In 50 degree weather with 70 percent humidity due to week-long rains, Chargers took on Oilers before live crowd of 32,183 and television audience of approximately 45 million viewers. Ben Agajanian kicked field goals of 38 and 22 yards to give Chargers 6-0 first quarter lead. In second quarter, Houston's George Blanda hit Dave Smith on 17-yard touchdown pass, added conversion and kicked 18-yard field goal. Agajanian kicked 27-yard field goal with five seconds left in half to make score Houston 10, Los Angeles 9 at half. In third quarter, Blanda completed seven-yard touchdown pass to Bill Groman and kicked conversion. Chargers responded when Paul Lowe slanted over from two-yard line and with Agajanian's conversion score was Houston 17, Los Angeles 16, at end of three quarters. In fourth quarter, Blanda and Billy Cannon teamed up on 88-yard pass-run touchdown play to conclude scoring. Player of game honors went to Cannon, with Blanda and Lowe deadlocked vote behind. Lowe's total yardage on day was 271 yards compared to Cannon's 259. inability of Chargers to take ball in for touchdowns early in game, settling for three first-half field goals on each occasion, and several bad breaks late in game proved to be difference.

HISTORY OF CHARGERS UNIFORM

Helmet was white with gray facemask. It had dark blue bolt and black numbers outlined in gold. Home jersey was Collegiate blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold. White strip on each shoulder had dark blue bolt outlined in gold. Road jersey was white with Collegiate blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in gold and white lightning bolts on sleeves outlined in gold. Was also Collegiate blue strip on each shoulder with white bolt outlined in gold. Pants were white with dark blue lightning bolt outlined in gold running down each leg. Owner Barron Hilton chose lightning bolts because he associated "Charge" of lightning with lightning bolt. He also liked bolts that were on helmets of Air Force Academy football team, but wanted something slightly different, so had "Chargers Bolt" designed to be different and placed on uniforms.

1961-65

Bolt on helmet, shoulders and pants is changed to gold. On home jersey, helmet and pants, bolt is outlined in blue. On road jersey, it is outlined in white.

1966

Bolt on helmet is changed to dark blue. Pants are changed to gold with solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in blue. Stripe replaces lightning bolt.

1967

Gold bolt is placed back on helmet with blue outline. Home jersey is darker shade of blue and has white numbers on front, back and sleeves, and white strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Road jersey had darker blue numbers also on front, back and sleeves and blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt. Lightning bolt is placed back on pants, dark blue and outlined in white.

1968-71

Home jersey is changed to Powder blue with white numbers on front, back and sleeves with white strip on each shoulder and gold lightning bolt outlined in blue. Road jersey is still white with Powder blue numbers on front, back and sleeves, and Powder blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in white.

1972

Lightning bolt on pants is again replaced by solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in Powder blue.

1973-78

Numbers on home uniform are changed to gold outlined in white. Numbers on road uniform remain Powder blue outlined in gold.

1979-83

Helmet is changed to Navy blue with gold facemask and gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Primary jersey is white with Royal blue numbers outlined in white and gold. Secondary jersey is Royal blue and features gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in blue and white. Lightning bolt is brought back to pants. It is white with Royal blue outline.

1984

White lightning bolt on pants is placed inside blue strip. Patch is worn on front of jersey celebrating Silver Anniversary of Chargers being original AFL franchise.

1985

Home jersey is changed to Navy blue with gold numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in Navy blue and white. There was white strip on each shoulder that had gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue. Road jersey is white with Navy blue numbers on front, back and sleeves outlined in white and gold, and Navy blue strip on each shoulder with gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. Strip on pants is changed to Navy blue. Lightning bolt on pants is gold with Navy blue and white outline.

1986-87

Number on front, back and sleeves of home jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline.

1988-89

Lightning bolt on helmet is changed from gold to white and features Navy blue and gold outline. Facemask on helmet is changed from gold to Navy blue. White strip on Navy blue home jersey is removed, leaving white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold. Lightning bolt on shoulders of road jersey is changed to white with Navy blue and gold outline and remains on Navy blue strip. Lightning bolt on pants is removed and replaced with Navy blue strip outlined in white and gold.

1990-91

Road pants are changed to Navy blue with white stripe down each pant leg outlined in Navy blue and gold.

1992-06

White lightning bolt returns to pants. On home white pants, it is outlined in Navy blue and gold and is in blue strip down each pant leg. On road Navy blue pants, there is just white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold down each pant leg. There is no strip on road pants.

2007-11

Uniforms feature Navy blue jerseys and white pants for most home games, white jerseys and Navy pants for road games, and Powder blue jerseys with white pants for designated home games. On all jerseys, bolt has been moved down sleeve, below shoulder. Bolt is Gold and outlined in both powder blue and Navy. On Navy and Powder blue jerseys, bolt is in white strip, and on white jerseys, bolt is in Navy blue strip. Numbers are now on shoulder above bolt. Front of all jerseys have Chargers scripted across front above numbers and below NFL shield. Team name, numbers and player's names all feature new font. Home white pants feature strip down side of each pant leg with curved bolt in Navy strip to be worn with Navy jerseys and Powder blue strip to be worn with Powder blue jerseys. Navy pants feature same bolt inside of white strip down each pant leg. Helmet is changed to metallic-white and features Gold bolt outlined in Powder blue and Navy.

2012

In 2012, Nike became the official uniform provider for the NFL. The Chargers' color scheme did not change. The only changes to the uniform were a thin white flap that previously followed the V-neck line now stops just below the shoulder numbers, and Nike's emblematic swoosh appears on the left hip of the pants as well as on the right shoulder pad. Nike's uniform technology is hailed as less restrictive with greater ventilation.

2013-16

The Chargers made some slight modifications to the team's jerseys for 2013. The home jersey (Navy blue) now has a blue collar that is the same color as the jersey. The nameplate has changed to two colors. The white road jerseys now feature a Navy blue nameplate outlined with gold. The Navy blue home jerseys feature a gold font on the nameplate outlined in powder blue and the "Power Blue" alternate jerseys are white outlined in Navy blue. Socks feature a gold stripe. The helmets and pants remain the same.

QUALCOMM STADIUM

Qualcomm Stadium, the Chargers' home since 1967, underwent an expansion in 1997 that included the addition of 11,500 seats, a club level, 37 new suites and a new west-end Jumbotron screen.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium was the Club level. Chargers season ticket members who purchase seats on the Club level enjoy amenities exclusive to Club members. The 7,800 Club seats are wider and padded, and come equipped with an attached drink holder. Club members enjoy wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties, as well as the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after games. Restrooms on the Club level also are upgraded.

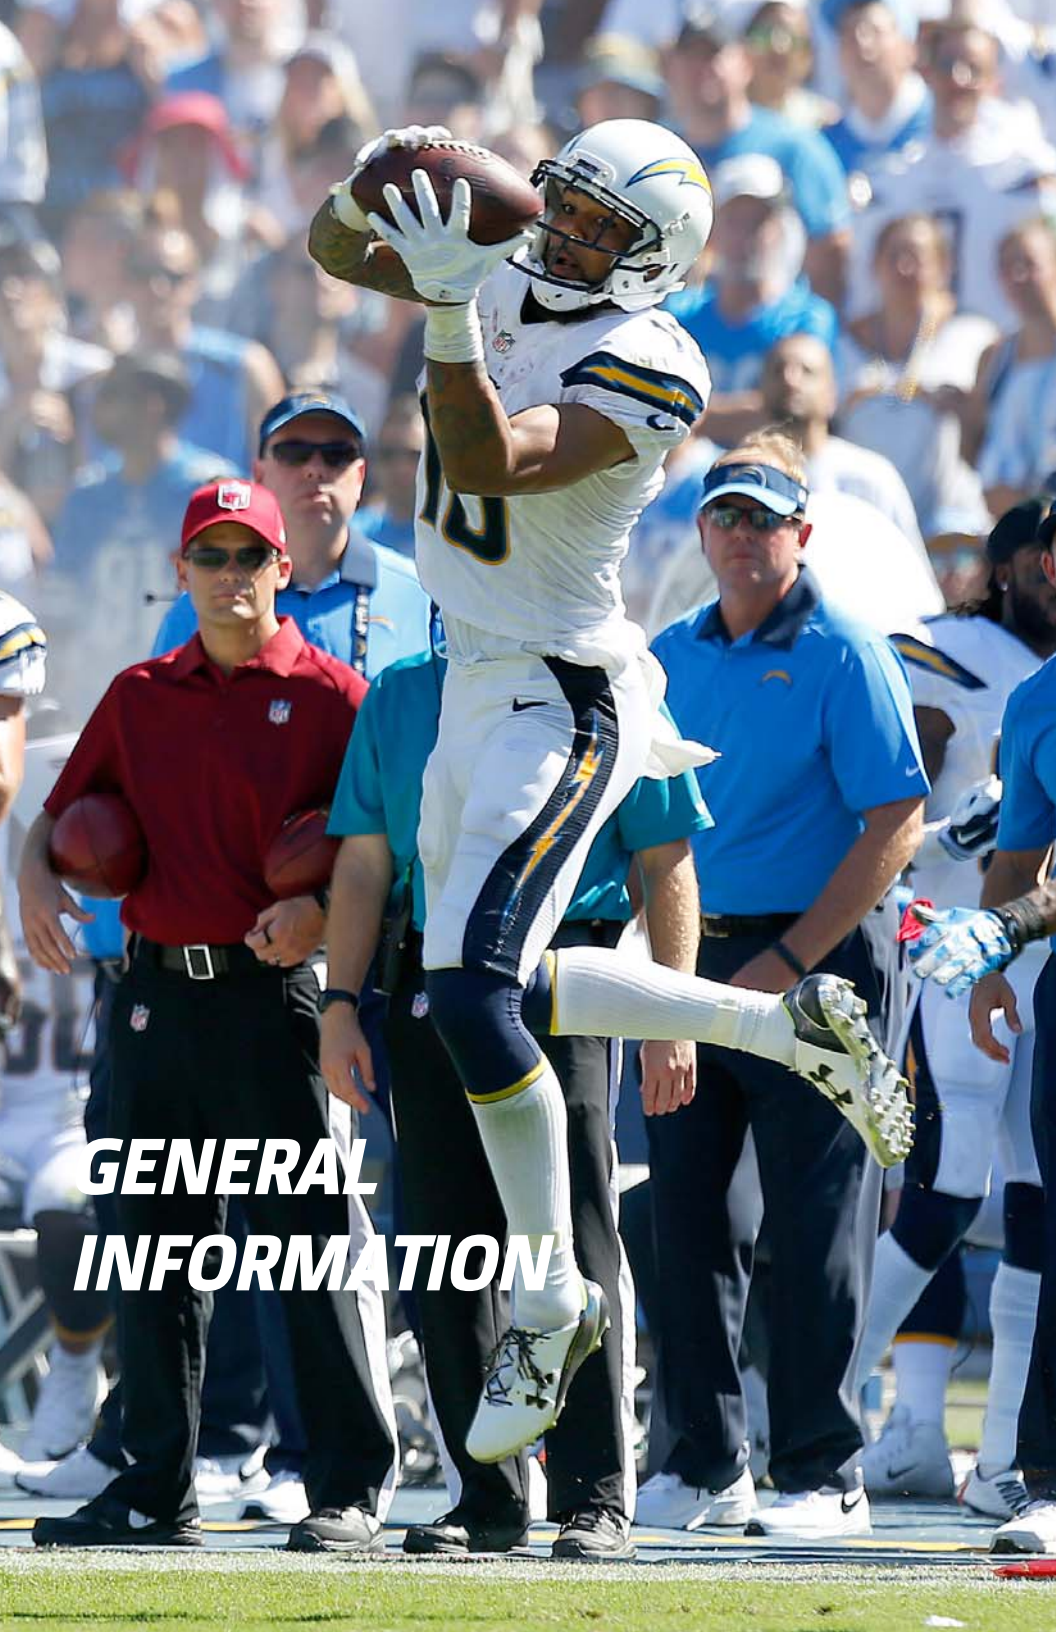

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was renamed Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to approximately 70,000.

The team played before its first-ever sellout crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders.

CHARGERS RADIO NETWORK

Rock 105.3 FM and XTRA Sports 1360 AM (iHeartRadio) are the flagship stations for all San Diego Chargers games, including preseason, regular season and postseason. Josh Lewin calls the play-by-play and former Chargers center Nick Hardwick handles the game analysis.

Fans outside of San Diego can tune into the Chargers Radio Network, which includes AM570 KLAC in Los Angeles and Orange County; KATY 101.3 FM in Temecula and the Inland Empire; KNWH 1250 AM in the Yucca Valley; KNWZ 94.3 FM in Palm Springs; KAVL 610 AM in Palmdale and Lancaster; KRAK 910 AM in Victorville and Hesperia; KRLV 1340 AM in Las Vegas, and KXO 107.5 FM in the Imperial Valley and Yuma, Arizona. Network stations are subject to change.

JOSH LEWIN

Play-by-Play

Lewin became the radio play-by-play voice of the Chargers in July 2005. He has an extensive broadcast history that includes 22 seasons as a Major League Baseball play-by-play announcer. Since 2012, he's handled play-by-play for the New York Mets' radio broadcasts on WFAN and WOR. Lewin has broadcast regular and postseason baseball, NFL football and NHL games for FOX Sports from 1996-2010 and from 2002-10, he was the play-by-play announcer for the Texas Rangers. Lewin also called Baltimore Orioles on radio from 1995-96, Chicago Cubs games on WGN-TV in 1997 and Detroit Tigers' games on Fox Sports Net Detroit from 1998-01. His NFL experience also includes play-by-play on SportsUSA Radio. Lewin's other broadcast experience includes Conference USA Football, CCHA Hockey, Southern Methodist and Michigan State basketball, and the Big 12 Basketball Tournament. Lewin began his broadcasting career at the age of 16 with the Rochester Red Wings, the Baltimore Orioles' AAA affiliate in the International League. In 1994, he was the sports director at WBAL, the Orioles' flagship station. Lewin graduated from Northwestern in 1990 and has written three books, "Ballgame," "Getting in the Game" and "You Never Forget Your First." Lewin has two children, daughter, Kelsey, and son, Coby.

NICK HARDWICK

Analyst

Former Chargers center Nick Hardwick is in his first season as the Chargers color analyst after spending the 2015 season as a sideline reporter.

Hardwick retired in January 2015, capping off a career that spanned 146 games as the Chargers' starting center, including 10 postseason contests.

A third-round pick (66th overall) in 2004, Hardwick was voted to the Pro Bowl in 2006 and four times in subsequent seasons he was named an alternate for the league's all-star game. He was a three-time pick as the team's Lineman of the Year (2011-13), named Most Inspirational twice (2010 and 2013), and was selected to the Chargers' 50th Anniversary All-Time Team in 2009.

A native of Indianapolis, Indiana, Hardwick played collegiately at Purdue University where he earned All-Big Ten honors.

CHARGERS EN ESPANOL

The Uniradio Group hold the Chargers' Spanish Radio broadcast rights. Pulsar 107.3 FM XHFG is the flagship station for all Chargers games in Spanish. Jorge Villanueva calls the play-by-play while Tony Alvarez provides game analysis.

JORGE VILLANUEVA

Play-by-Play

Villanueva is in his 23rd season as the Spanish voice of the Chargers. He hosts and produces "En Contacto con los Chargers," the official Spanish TV show of the team, which is seen in San Diego, Los Angeles and Baja California. Villanueva previously worked as a sports director and anchor for KBNT-TV (Channel 17) Univision in San Diego, as well as for Televisa Baja California from 1989-94. He has 30 years of experience in sports journalism, and his play-by-play experience includes soccer, baseball and boxing. Villanueva handles the Spanish play-by-play for the Holiday Bowl and the NCAA's Bowl Championship Series. He spent the 2001-03 seasons as the football play-by-play voice for the USC Trojans and the 1994-96 seasons with the San Diego State Aztecs. In 2004, Villanueva received an invitation to join the American Sportscasters Association.

TONY ÁLVAREZ

Analyst

Tony Álvarez (Antonio de Jesús Álvarez Ramírez) is in his first season as the color analyst for San Diego Chargers radio broadcasts in Spanish.

A native of Tijuana, Baja, California, Álvarez currently serves as a sports anchor and reporter for Síntesis-TV in Tijuana. Álvarez's live broadcast experience includes stints with soccer's Tijuana Xolos handling color commentary and baseball's Tijuana Truenos as their lead play-by-play voice.

Álvarez graduated from the Autonomous University of Baja California Campus Tijuana in 2011 with a degree in communications. He has a wealth of television and radio broadcast experience, including work with ESPN Mexico, Multimédios Deportes, La Afición of Milenio, TV Tijuana, Milenio Radio Tijuana, TJSports.Net and Uniradio TV.
