49ERS ADMINISTRATION AND STAFF

SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS PRESIDENT EDWARD J. DEBARTOLO, JR., SHARES A VICTORY SMILE WITH PAUL HOFER.

Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., President

In a newspaper interview last spring, San Francisco 49ers' President Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., remarked that "having the right people in control who are competent and understanding is of paramount importance to the future success of the 49ers." Added DeBartolo, "We have those people now. And since I am an owner who does not live in the city where the team is located, then I see my role as one of support to the people who have been hired to run the team."

The 49ers' 33-year old president, who took over the San Francisco franchise in 1977, also could have explained why he and his family remain living in their hometown of Youngstown, Ohio, and thus leave 49er operations to General Manager-Coach Bill Walsh and his front office staff. Because in July of '79 DeBartolo was named President and Chief Administrative officer for the Edward J. DeBartolo Corporation, whose headquarters are in Youngstown. And that position demands all of his attention and time.

The DeBartolo Corporation, founded in 1948 by Edward J. DeBartolo, who is the father of the 49ers' president, has become one of America's great business success stories. The Corporation designs, develops, builds, owns and operates regional enclosed shopping malls throughout the United States totaling more than 50 million square feet of space.

In addition, the Corporation owns thoroughbred race tracks, including luxurious Louisiana Downs, along with a group of Sheraton Motels and Holiday Inns, industrial and executive office parks, a foreign trade zone in conjunction with a stevedoring operation, the Pittsburgh Penguins hockey franchise, and is a major stockholder in three banks.

In short, Edward Jr. is one of America's top, young executives for a major corporation. And at the same time, he is the youngest owner in the 28-team National Football League. "I think a team owner should live in the home city if possible," adds DeBartolo, "and in the not-too-distant future, say from three to seven years, I know I'll end up living in the Bay Area. But I cannot now, and thus I have entrusted my confidence in the people presently in charge of the 49ers."

Until July of '79, Ed Jr. was executive vice president of the DeBartolo Corporation, a position he was named to in 1976. He had joined the company full-time following graduation from Notre Dame in 1968, moving from department to department learning the many facets of the company which, by then, had grown into a national corporation and had become recognized as the largest shopping center firm in the United States. In 1971 he was appointed a vice president.

With his naming as executive vice president in 1976, Ed Jr. took over direction of the in-house DeBartolo staff of some 300 engineers, architects, designers, financiers, leasing agents, lawyers, management and operations teams, along with advertising, public relations and marketing personnel.

Working a demanding seven-days-a-week schedule that he has continued to today, Ed Jr. has found little time for those pursuits he still lists as hobbies — golf and football. The latter, the dominant interest in his life, would become more than just a hobby when he became the 49ers' President and General Partner. In that capacity he controls 90 percent of the club, with limited partners Jane Morabito and Franklin Mieuli, who each own five percent.

Edward Jr. gives generously of his time and influence when it comes to charitable endeavors. He is highly active in the St. Jude Childrens Research Hospital, having directed last year's Youngstown effort for national chairman Danny Thomas, an effort that netted the greatest sum of any city its size in the nation.

BILL WALSH
Head Coach-
General Manager

Bill Walsh struggled through his longest season in 21 years of coaching football in 1979, his first as the head coach and general manager of the San Francisco 49ers.

Asked to take command of pro football's youngest, most inexperienced team in January, 1979, following a successful head coaching tenure at Stanford University, Walsh accepted the task well aware of the pitfalls awaiting the coach taking over a team that had won just 31 of 86 games the previous six years.

The 49ers had managed just one winning season during that span and had fallen far from their early-1970s form under Dick Nolan when San Francisco won three consecutive NFC Western Division titles (in '70, '71 and '72) and finished just one game shy of a Super Bowl berth in '70 and '71.

The tally for Walsh's first team will show the 49ers finished 2-14, tied with Detroit for the NFL's worst '79 record. But changes were made, and there was significant progress.

Walsh added eight free agents, four players from the waiver wire, made trades for three veterans, and filled out the '79 roster with six draft choices as he and his entirely new coaching staff and front office began to carry out a commitment to build the team with young players on their way up.

The above additions included free agents Bob Bruer at tight end, linebacker Scott Hilton and defensive backs Dwight Hicks and Gerard Williams. All became starters at different times during the season, as did defensive backs Tim Gray and Charles Cornelius, who were acquired in trades, and defensive linemen Dwaine Board and Ted Vincent, who were plucked from the AFC waiver wire.

Meanwhile, rookie draft choices James Owens, Joe Montana and Phil Francis, to name three, filled key back-up roles throughout the year and provided the framework for draft preparations in 1980.

Most of the 49ers' progress a year ago was made on offense. The team went from the 13th-ranked NFC offensive team in 1978 to the third-ranked offensive unit in the NFC in '79. In fact, the 49ers were ranked sixth in the entire NFL in total offense, keeping company with Pittsburgh, Dallas, Cleveland, New Orleans and San Diego, five other clubs who along with the 49ers helped lead an offensive explosion in the National Football League in 1979.

The 49ers led the entire NFC in passing offense with 227.6 yards passing per game, and had more first downs passing (200) than any team in football. In addition, San Francisco attempted (602) and completed (361) more passes than any team in the NFL but allowed their quarterbacks to be sacked just 17 times, second-best in the league (tied with New Orleans behind Tampa Bay, although the Bucs passed 168 fewer times and the Saints 174 less).

Known as a pass master, Bill Walsh turned starting quarterback Steve DeBerg around from the 28th-ranked passer in the NFL in 1978 to the 13th-ranked passer in the league in '79. Enroute, the 49ers were breaking all-time San Francisco team passing records, while DeBerg was setting new NFL marks for most passes attempted and completed in a season.

DeBerg's dramatic improvement was no fluke. Walsh already had coached three NFL passing champions (Greg Cook and Ken Anderson, twice) in earlier years as an assistant with the Cincinnati Bengals and had tutored two NCAA passing champions in as many years at Stanford (Guy Benjamin and Steve Dils). DeBerg simply became another in a long line of Walsh pupils who could pass with the best in football over the course of a single season.

And in addition to developing passers wherever he's been, Walsh has helped make stars out of previously unheralded receivers, putting Bob Trumpy, Eric Crabtree, Chip Myers and Isaac Curtis in the Pro Bowl while with Cincinnati, doing the same with Charlie Joiner in San Diego, and making All-America receivers out of James Lofton and Ken Margerum at Stanford.

"There's no special secret to what I have learned or what I know about the passing game," explains Walsh. "I simply have spent a lot of time and put in a lot of hard work mastering techniques of the passing game, techniques that I believe in. As an assistant coach, I decided eventually that the way to succeed was to establish a reputation in one area, and I did that with the pass offense."

One of Walsh's greatest turn-around projects of the '70s, San Diego Chargers' quarterback Dan Fouts, who was Walsh's pupil when both were with the Chargers' in 1976, said the following about Walsh a year ago while Fouts was enroute to setting an all-time NFL passing yardage record for a season: "He's such a great teacher. Bill worked with me on my fundamentals. You have to have good fundamentals as your base. He not only works with you on them, but explains to you why they'll make you a better quarterback. And he's so patient. Once I had the fundamentals down, I could concentrate on the other aspects of the game, like reading defenses. He made it possible for me to eventually put my entire game together."

* * * * *

Walsh's ability to coach improvement can be traced back to his first head coaching job, at Fremont's Washington Union High School in the San Francisco East Bay in 1957. There he reversed a three year record of 1-26 football into a conference championship team with a 9-1 record by his second season.

That led to his appointment as defensive coordinator on Marv Levy's staff at the University of California in 1960. He moved across the Bay to Stanford in 1963 to become John Ralston's administrative assistant and secondary coach.

It was in 1966 when he became backfield mentor of the Al Davis-coached Oakland Raiders that Walsh's offensive genius began to manifest itself. Following a season with the Raiders, Paul Brown hired Walsh to coach his quarterbacks and receivers. Walsh remained with the Bengals eight years, calling all the plays for Cincinnati.

When Brown retired following the '75 season, Walsh became the offensive coordinator for the Chargers under Coach Tommy Prothro. It was following the '76 season in San Diego that Stanford beckoned for Walsh to return.

Walsh immediately transformed the Cardinals into an 8-3 club in 1977 and guided them to their first bowl appearance in six years, the Sun Bowl, where they defeated LSU, 24-14. Walsh was named Pacific-8 Conference Coach of the Year.

Walsh's '78 Stanford team posted an 8-4 mark and went to the Bluebonnet Bowl, where they overcame a 22-0 deficit to defeat Georgia, 25-22. It was nine days after that game that 49ers' President Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., hired Walsh as the 11th head coach of the 49ers. He was given the General Manager's title 20 days after the head coaching appointment, giving him total authority over the club.

Bill Walsh was born November 30, 1931, in Los Angeles. He left Los Angeles following his junior year in high school when his parents moved to Hayward, Calif., where Bill finished high school before enrolling at San Mateo Junior College.

He transferred to San Jose State College for his final two years, majoring in education and playing end on the football team for Coach Bob Bronzan. He obtained his master's degree in 1959 and is a U.S. Army veteran.

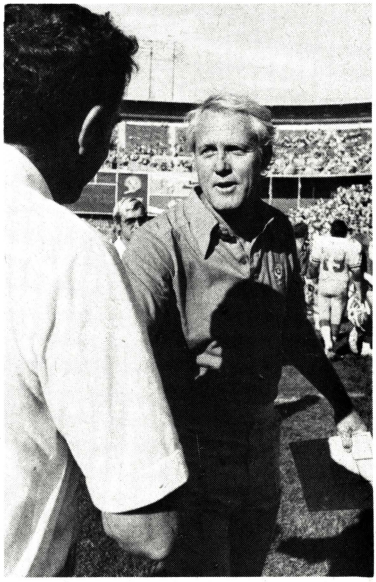

Bill and his wife Geri live near the Stanford campus in Menlo Park and have three children: Steve 23, Craig 20, and Elizabeth 9. Steve is a television writer, while Craig is a junior at Menlo College. Elizabeth is in the fourth grade.

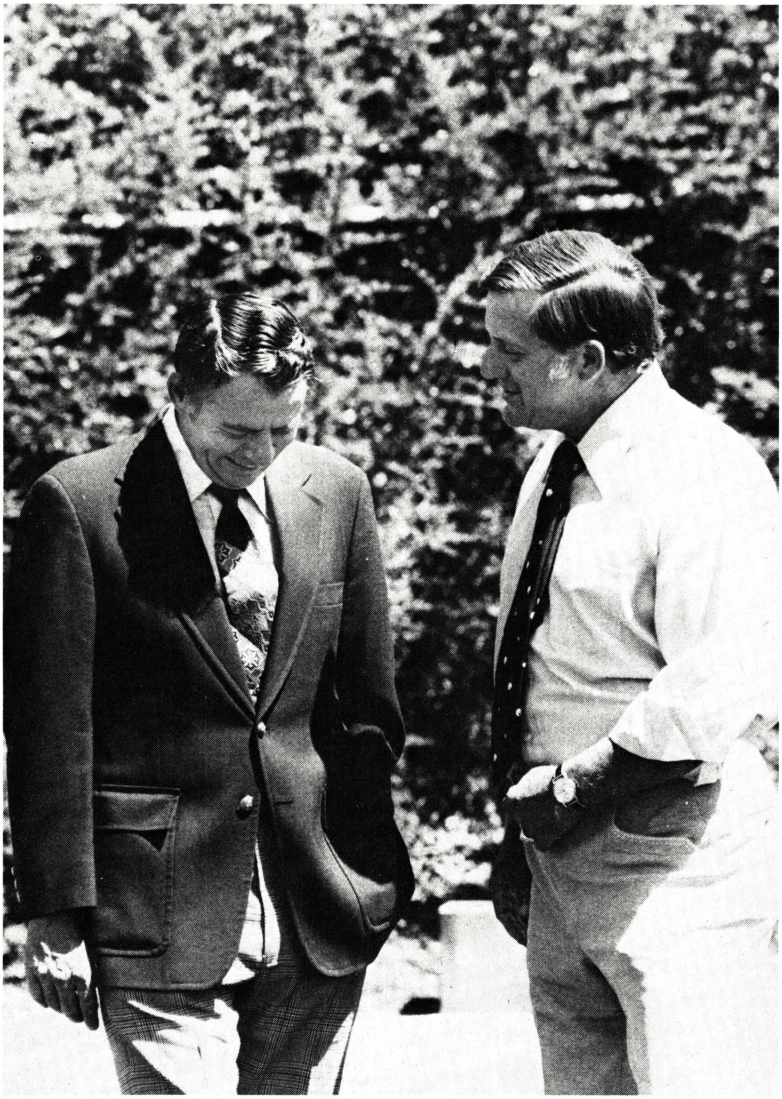

THE ADMINISTRATORS

JOHN RALSTON, Vice President for Administration

John Ralston, the San Francisco 49ers' Vice President for Administration, has been doing the same thing the past 33 years — preparing for another football season. If ever football was a person's life, so it is with John Ralston.

The 33-year sequence began with four seasons playing linebacker at the University of California following World War II. After graduation from Cal in 1951, Ralston became one of the San Francisco Bay area's top high school coaches for eight years.

He then took on floundering Utah State of the Skyline Conference in the late 1950s and built that school into a surprising power, leading the Aggies to a four-year mark of 31-11-1 and two conference co-championships.

Ralston returned to the Bay Area and Stanford University in the fall of 1963 and rebuilt football fortunes there to the tune of a 55-36-3 won-lost record during the next nine years. That included two upsets over Ohio State and Michigan in two consecutive Rose Bowl wins (1970 and '71), and eight consecutive winning seasons. Ralston also led the Cardinals to two Pac-8 championships and coached the West team in the Shrine Bowl in 1965, '66 and '69 and coached in the Hula Bowl.

From Stanford Ralston moved into professional football with one of the NFL's long dormant teams, the Denver Broncos. By his second season (1973), the Broncos were a winning club (7-5-2), just missing the AFC West title with a loss on the final Sunday of that year. Still, it was good enough to net Ralston AFC Coach of the Year honors.

While turning the Broncos into perennial contenders as coach-general manager, Ralston also led a campaign to enlarge Mile High Stadium from 51,000 seats to its current 75,000 capacity. The Broncos continue to draw sellout crowds to all their home games.

Ralston's overall Broncos' record was 34-33-3 and his final team in 1976 finished 9-5.

He joined Dick Vermeil's Philadelphia Eagles coaching staff as offensive coordinator for a season ('78) before coming to the 49ers in February of '79 as the new Vice President for Administration. At San Francisco, Ralston now works for one of his former Stanford assistants, 49ers' Coach-GM Bill Walsh. In his capacity with the 49ers, Ralston is in charge of the day-to-day front office operations of the club.

Ralston was born in Oakland on April 26, 1927, and spent most of his young life in Michigan. He served in the Marines during and after World War II prior to entering Cal, where he played in two Rose Bowl games.

In addition to coaching and administrating football teams, Ralston is one of the country's most popular public speakers, having shared the speakers' platform over the years with such renowned figures as Norman Vincent Peale, F. Lee Bailey, Douglas Edwards and Dr. Kenneth McFarland, as well as nationally-known sports personalities. He also served the Peace Corps as a member of its 21-man Athletic Committee.

John and his wife Patty live in Menlo Park and have three grown children, twin daughters Terry and Sherry and a son, Larry.

JOHN McVAY, Director of Player Personnel

John McVay enters his second season as the 49ers' Director of Player Personnel with two 49er college talent drafts under his belt. As Player Personnel Director, McVay works directly with GM-Coach Bill Walsh and Admin. Vice President John Ralston in evaluating and obtaining pro and college players. McVay also supervises the activities of the 49ers' scouting department and is the man responsible for preparing the 49ers' college draft strategy.

A former college and pro head coach himself and also a one-time college athletic director, McVay has four decades of football experience at every level to draw from. Prior to joining the 49ers in 1979, he was for two and one-half years the head coach of the New York Giants.

He originally went to the Giants in late 1975 as an assistant coach in charge of research and development but was elevated by Owner Wellington Mara to replace fired Head Coach Bill Arnsparger at the midway point of the '76 season. McVay's record with the Giants was 14-23.

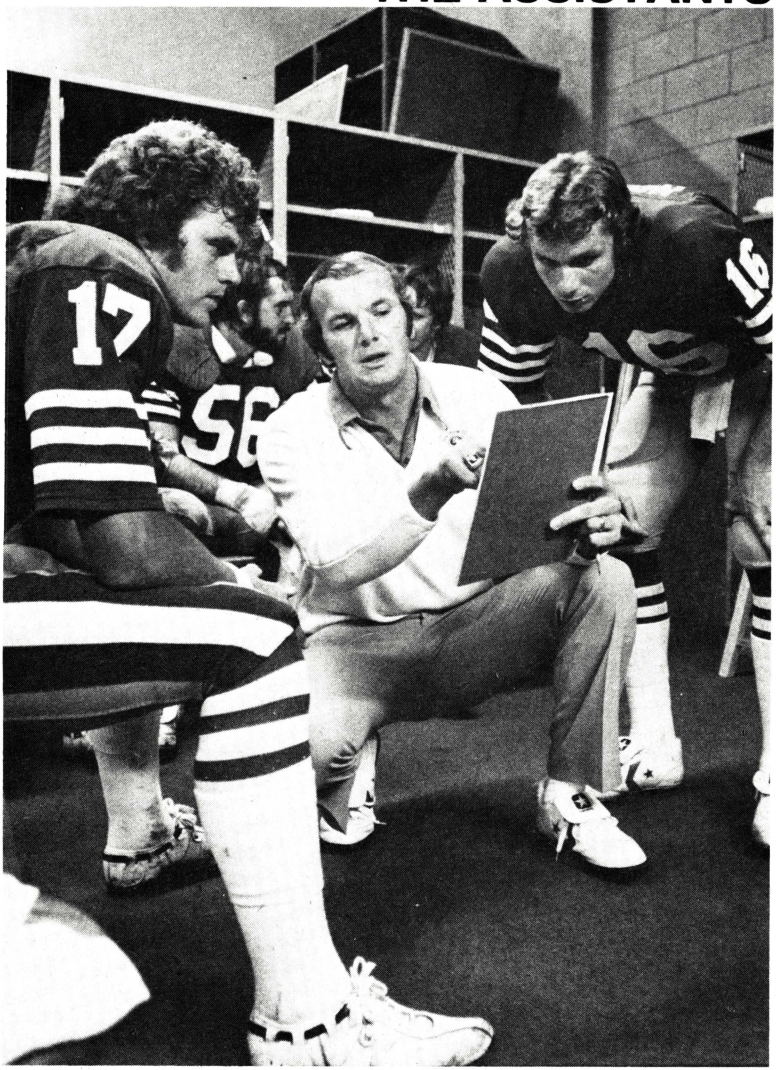

Prior to joining the Giants, he was the head coach and general manager of the Memphis Southmen in the World Football League, where his team won 24 of 31 games in the year and one-half that league existed. McVay had left the University of Dayton, where he was head football coach for nine years (1965-73) and athletic director in 1972 and '73, to join the Southmen.

An Ohio native from famed Massillon High School, McVay played collegiately at Miami of Ohio for Woody Hayes and Ara Parseghian. A three-year starter at center, he won All-Midwest and team MVP honors his final two years. He went from there to become one of Miami's 20-plus "Cradle of Coaches" alumni who are successful football coaches at the college and pro levels.

His coaching career began with a ten-year tenure (1953-62) at Canton Central Catholic High School in Ohio before he joined Duffy Daugherty's staff at Michigan State as an assistant in 1962. Following three years at MSU, McVay took over the Dayton post, and led the Flyers to their first winning season in football in ten years when they finished 8-2 in 1966.

McVay was born January 5, 1931, and is the father of three sons — John, Jim and Tim. He and his wife Lee make their home in Redwood City, Calif.

Coaching Staff

CHUCK STUDLEY, Defensive Coordinator

Chuck Studley begins his second season as the 49ers' defensive coordinator. This year, however, he will not coach the defensive line, since Bill McPherson will concentrate in that area in 1980, freeing Studley to coordinate the overall defense without having to be a position coach.

Studley is in his 12th year in the NFL after spending ten seasons with the Cincinnati Bengals, where he coached for Paul Brown and Bill Johnson.

Chuck was a successful college coach before entering the pro ranks. He won two Missouri Valley Conference championships as head coach at the University of Cincinnati (1961-68). He also coached the University of Massachusetts to a Yankee Conference title in 1960, before beginning an 18-year association in Cincinnati.

An All-America guard at Illinois, Studley was captain of the 1951 Illini Rose Bowl team that captured the Big 10 title with a 9-0-1 record. After graduation, he spent three years coaching at Alton High School in Illinois, before he joined the University of Illinois staff (1955-60).

Chuck was born in Maywood, Ill., January 17, 1929. He and his wife Peggy have six children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

NORB HECKER, Linebackers

Norb Hecker will take over the 49ers' linebackers this season, after spending 1979 as the team's secondary coach. Hecker returned to the pro ranks last year following seven years at Stanford University, the last two coaching on Bill Walsh's staff there.

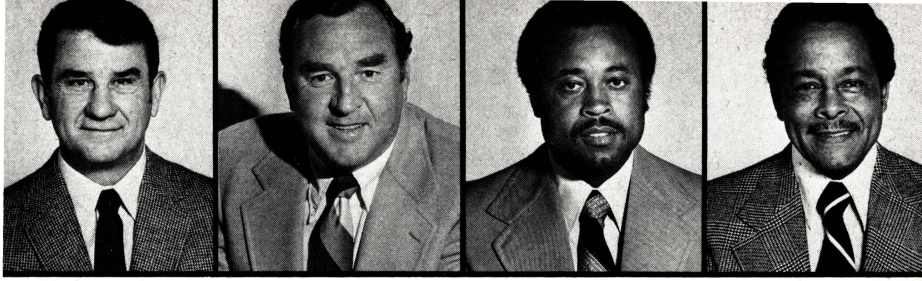

As a player, Norb was a Little All-America offensive end at Baldwin-Wallace College in northeastern Ohio. His professional career began with the Los Angeles Rams, where he played both offensive end and defensive back (1951-53). He then went to Toronto of the Canadian Football League in 1954, then to the Washington Redskins a year later.

He returned to the CFL as a player-coach in 1958 with the Hamilton Tiger Cats. In 1959, Hecker joined Vince Lombardi as an assistant coach in Green Bay. With the Packers he was part of the team's glory years in the 1960s and has three World Championship rings from his time there. He has a fourth championship ring from his Rams' playing days.

Hecker, co-founder of the NFL Players Association, left Green Bay in 1966 to become the first head coach of the Atlanta Falcons, a post he held for two and one-half years.

His final pro stint before going to Stanford in 1972 was three years (1969-71) as defensive coordinator for the New York Giants.

Norb was born in Olmsted Falls, Ohio, on May 26, 1927. He and his wife Barbara have five children and live in Palo Alto, Calif.

STUDLEY HECKER JACKSON MATTHEWS

MILT JACKSON, Special Teams — Receivers

Milt Jackson is the new 49ers' special teams-receivers coach in 1980, replacing Denny Green, who returned to Stanford last March as offensive coordinator for the Cardinals.

Jackson was a great, four-sport athlete at Sacramento's Grant High School in football, basketball, track and baseball in the 1960s. After a football-baseball collegiate career at Tulsa, he was drafted by both the 49ers (sixth round) and Philadelphia Phillies (first round) in 1967. He was a cornerback in football and a pitcher in baseball.

Jackson has spent the last five years coaching in the Pacific-10 Conference. He coached UCLA's offensive tackles and tight ends in 1979 after coming from the University of Oregon (1977-78), where he had been the defensive backfield coach.

He coached outside linebackers at the University of California (1975-76), coming to Cal from Rice University (1974), where he was the running backs coach. Prior to that, Milt was a graduate assistant coach at Oregon State University in 1973. He obtained his master's degree in education while at OSU.

Jackson is a bachelor and resides in San Mateo, Calif.

BILLIE MATTHEWS, Running Backs

Billie Matthews again will coach 49ers running backs in his second season as a pro coach. Matthews joined the 49ers' staff in 1979 after spending eight seasons at UCLA (1971-78). Included among the UCLA runners Matthews directed were five 1,000-yard rushers: Kermit Johnson, James McAlister, Wendell Tyler and Theotis Brown (twice). The '73 Bruin squad rushed to 4,403 yards in 11 games.

Billie also spent a season at Kansas (1970) where he coached current pro backs John Riggins and Delvin Williams. Previously, he had an outstanding 12-year (1958-69) prep coaching career at Kashmere High School in his hometown of Houston, Tex.

A star quarterback at Southern University in Baton Rouge, La., Matthews led his team to an 11-0 record and the National Black championship as a freshman in 1948. During his four years, Southern compiled a 37-4 record.

Matthews was born March 15, 1930, in Houston. He and his wife Gene have four children and make their home in Redwood City, Calif.

BOBB McKITTRICK, Offensive Line

Bobb McKittrick has taken complete charge of the 49ers' offensive line this year after sharing offensive line coaching duties in '79 with Mike White. White left the 49ers' staff in December to become head football coach at the University of Illinois. A year ago McKittrick and White rebuilt a 49er offensive line into a cohesive unit that finished tied with New Orleans for second-fewest quarterback sacks in the NFL in 1979.

McKittrick has been an NFL coach since 1971, nearly all of that time under Tommy Prothro. His 20-year association with Prothro began with three years (1955-57) as a Prothro-coached player at Oregon State. He joined the coaching staff at Oregon State in 1961 after three years as a Marine Corps officer, and then went to UCLA (1965-70) as an assistant coach with Prothro.

They later went on to the Los Angeles Rams (1971-72), before once again moving, this time to the San Diego Chargers.

Bobb took a sabbatical from football in 1973 to do graduate work at his alma mater before re-joining Prothro at San Diego. He also coached there under Don Coryell at the conclusion of the 1978 season.

McKittrick was born in Baker, Ore., December 29, 1935. He and his wife Teckla have two children and live in San Mateo, Calif.

BILL McPHERSON, Defensive Line

After spending last season as the 49ers' linebackers coach, Bill McPherson now will coach the 49ers' defensive line in 1980. McPherson brings a great deal of experience to the defensive line, both as a former player and as a coach.

A defensive tackle at Santa Clara in the early '50s, McPherson began coaching in 1956 at his high school alma mater, San Jose's Bellarmine Prep (1956-62), following Army service in Korea. He later was the defensive coordinator at Santa Clara (1963-74) for 12 years before moving to UCLA (1975-77). McPherson coached defensive lines at both Santa Clara and UCLA.

At UCLA, McPherson worked with Dick Vermeil. He later joined Vermeil's Philadelphia Eagles' staff as linebackers coach in 1978, before moving back to his native state of California to take over the linebackers for the 49ers last year.

Bill and his wife Elsie have five children and live in San Jose. He was born there October 31, 1931.

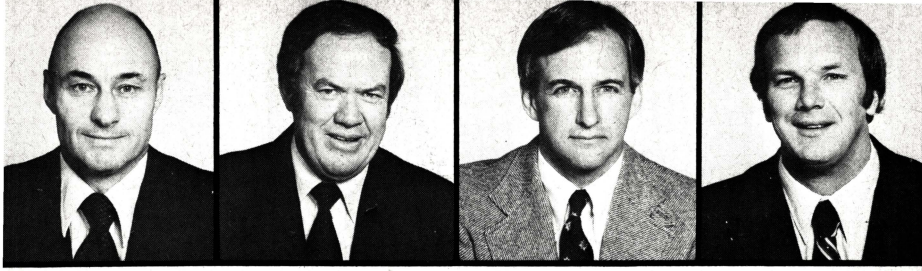

GEORGE SEIFERT, Defensive Backs

New to the 49ers' coaching staff in 1980 is secondary coach George Seifert. Seifert has been regarded among college coaches as one of the nation's top tutors of defensive backs following 15 years in the collegiate ranks, six of those years at Stanford University.

After graduation from Utah in 1963, Seifert served a six-month tour of duty with the U.S. Army before returning to Utah as a graduate assistant coach. Then, in 1965, he was named head coach at Westminster College in Salt Lake City.

He moved on to Iowa (1966), then Oregon (1967-71) as an assistant before joining the Stanford staff (1972-74) as secondary coach, transforming the defensive backfield into the Pac-8 Conference's best statistically in both '72 and '73.

Seifert left Stanford in 1975 to become head coach at Cornell University. He returned to Stanford to join Bill Walsh's coaching staff in 1977. The Cardinals were second in pass defense in the Pac-10 in both '78 and '79.

A native San Franciscan, Seifert and his wife Linda have two children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

SAM WYCHE, Quarterbacks

Sam Wyche provided ample proof of his coaching abilities in 1979, his first year as a full-time coach, by helping develop 49er quarterbacks into effective NFC passers.

Sam was a walk-on quarterback at Furman University in 1962. After college he signed and played one year for the Wheeling Ironmen of the Continental Football League in Wheeling, W. Va. The following year was spent as a graduate assistant for Paul Dietzel at the University of South Carolina, where he also obtained his master's degree in Business Administration.

Wyche then played nine years in the NFL, beginning with the expansion Cincinnati Bengals in 1968. He was traded to the Washington Redskins (1971-73), then to Detroit (1974-75). Sam played with St. Louis and Buffalo his final season in 1976.

Wyche gathered football knowledge playing for George Allen, Don Coryell, Jack Pardee, Ted Marchibroda, Paul Brown, Paul Dietzel and Raymond Berry in addition to Bill Walsh in Cincinnati.

He was born in Atlanta, January 5, 1945, and attended Atlanta's North Fulton High School. He and his wife Jane have two children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

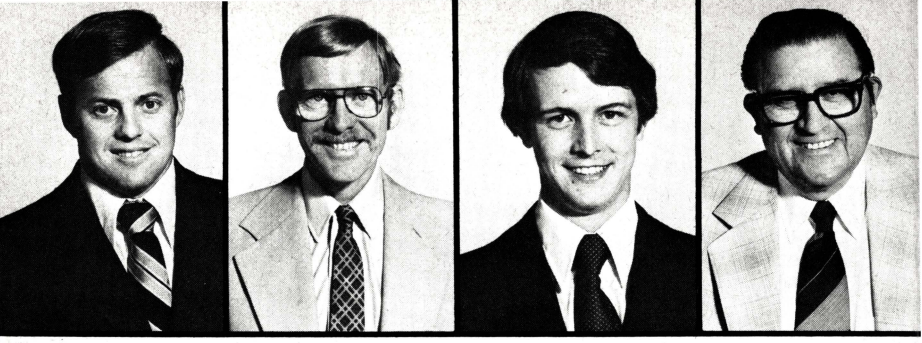

AL VERMEIL, Conditioning

The 49ers' strength and conditioning programs again will be directed by Al Vermeil.

A well-known Bay Area coach at the prep level for a number of years, Vermeil was head football coach and athletic director at Moreau High School in Hayward, Calif., for six years (1973-78). His teams won two championships and one co-championship during the period. Vermeil was named Coach of the Year in 1975 in the Catholic Athletic League, a Bay Area prep league.

Vermeil played linebacker during his collegiate days at Utah State and was captain of the Aggie team his senior year. He received his master's degree in physical education from Kansas State in 1970.

The brother of Philadelphia Eagles Coach Dick Vermeil, Al and his wife Diane have two children and live in Fremont, Calif.

VERMEIL McLEAN WYATT NORTON

LINDSY McLEAN, Co-Trainer

Lindsy McLean has been a trainer for 19 years, including 11 years as head trainer at the University of Michigan prior to joining the 49ers a year ago as co-trainer.

Before he became Michigan's trainer, McLean served three years as head trainer at San Jose State University (1965-67) and two years as head trainer at the University of California at Santa Barbara (1963-64).

A native of Nashville and a 1960 graduate of Vanderbilt, McLean received his certification in physical therapy from Herman Hospital in Houston in 1961.

McLean makes his home in Redwood City, Calif.

HAL WYATT, Co-Trainer

Hal Wyatt spent his first season as co-trainer in 1979, after serving as assistant trainer the previous two years.

Wyatt is a native Texan from San Angelo who graduated from North Texas State University with a degree in physical education in 1972. Now 29, Hal spent the next three years operating a sports medicine clinic in Dallas, where he was trainer for the Dallas Tornado soccer team in 1975. He joined the 49ers in July, '77.

He and his wife Kathy have a son, Lucas (4/12/79), and make their home in Redwood City, Calif.

CHICO NORTON, Equipment Manager

Forrest "Chico" Norton has become a virtual San Francisco 49ers institution. Chico, whose nickname comes from his hometown of Chico, Calif., begins his 26th year as 49ers' equipment manager. He has been with the organization longer than any other working member.

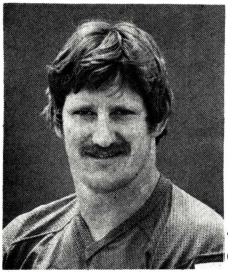

Born November 24, 1919, Norton first entered professional athletics when he went to work for the San Francisco Seals baseball team in 1948. He joined the 49ers in 1955.

He and his wife Sylvia live in San Francisco. They have seven grown children and seven grandchildren.

49ERS PROFILES

John Ayers • 68

GUARD • WEST TEXAS STATE • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 250 • BORN: 4-14-53 • (D-8 FOR '76)

PRO: After being drafted on the eighth round by the 49ers in 1976, John Ayers traveled up and down the offensive line, playing every position. That situation ended in 1979 when Ayers found permanent employment as the 49ers' starting left guard, playing every offensive down during the season and improving dramatically from week to week. The amazing thing about Ayers' development last season was that he missed the entire pre-season because of surgery in late July to remove calcium deposits from his ankle. But he returned to the lineup for the first game at Minnesota in September. Natural ability has always been the key to Ayers' versatility, and last year he also helped himself by physically building into an NFL-sized offensive lineman at 6-5, 250 pounds through weight lifting and conditioning. "One of the good, young guards in the NFL," is the way 49ers' Coach Bill Walsh describes Ayers. "John is an excellent pass blocker who needs to bring his run blocking up to the same level," adds offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick. Ayers was pleased with his own development in '79 and also with the progress of the 49ers' offensive line. "When teams know you're going to pass as much as we did, it really gives the defensive line a chance to tee off on you," he says. "It was really satisfying to have done as well as we did under those conditions." The 49ers allowed just 17 sacks of their quarterbacks last year.

COLLEGE: Ayers was an All-Missouri Valley Conference selection his senior year at West Texas State, where he started 32 consecutive games after transferring from the University of Texas.

PERSONAL: John was a standout athlete at Carrizo Springs High School in Carrizo Springs, Tex. He was all-district his junior and senior years, while making the All-Texas schoolboy team as a senior. He and his wife Laurel still make their home in Carrizo Springs during the off-season where John works on a cattle ranch. They have one son, J.T. (6/5/79).

Jean Barrett • 77

TACKLE • TULSA • 8th YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 250 • BORN: 5-24-51 • (D-2B FOR '72)

PRO: Jean Barrett is an experienced veteran whose ability to play several positions gives depth to the 49ers' offensive line. "Jean is an ideal back-up player," says offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick. "He is intelligent, and has the experience of a starter." The 49ers got by carrying just seven offensive linemen in 1979. The biggest reason the club succeeded with such a risk was because of Barrett's versatility. "Jean is able to replace either offensive tackle with little loss of productivity," says Bill Walsh. "He also could play center or guard." Barrett, a second-round draft choice in 1972 and a starter at left tackle until injured for the season in 1978, makes major contributions on the 49ers' special teams too. "You usually cannot use offensive linemen too extensively on special teams", says McKittrick, "but Barrett is such a good athlete that we are able to use him throughout the different units."

COLLEGE: Barrett started three years at the University of Tulsa, where he was an All-Missouri Valley Conference choice and played in the Blue-Gray, Coaches All-American and College All-Star games his senior year.

PERSONAL: Jean was the first athlete from W.T. White High School in Dallas ever to receive an athletic scholarship. He and his wife Jane live in Tulsa during the off-season where they own a construction company. They have two children, John (8/19/73) and Jennifer (3/18/80).

Missed 1978 season; on injured reserve.

Dwaine Board • 76

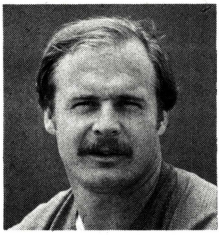

DEFENSIVE END • NORTH CAROLINA A&T • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 245 • BORN: 11-29-56 • (FA FOR '79)

PRO: Dwaine Board made a surprisingly easy adjustment from small college linebacker to NFL defensive end in 1979, earning a starting berth in the 11th game of the season and becoming the 49ers most successful rookie a year ago. Board established himself in substitute play throughout the year, then replaced Cedrick Hardman at right end against the New Orleans Saints in mid-October. He went from there to lead the team in sacks with seven, that figure accounting for one-fourth of the team's total quarterback sacks. He also accounted for 34 tackles. "I think with a year of experience behind him Dwaine can become one of the better defensive ends in the NFL," said defensive coordinator Chuck Studley. "He is fast, aggressive, and has good strength-size ratio." Board, who is called Pee-Wee ("You should see my brother"), was a fifth round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers in '79. One of the last players cut from the Steelers roster, he joined the 49ers on waivers just prior to the '79 regular season opener at Minnesota.

COLLEGE: A four-year starter at North Carolina A&T at linebacker, Board was selected to the Mutual Black Radio All-America Team three years (1975-77) and was an all-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference first team selection his final two seasons. He was voted the MEAC Defensive Player of the Year in 1977.

PERSONAL: Board makes his off-season home in his hometown of Union Hall, Va. Dwaine does a great deal of speaking at local high schools there. He also is interested in obtaining his masters degree in industrial technology.

Ed Bradley • 54

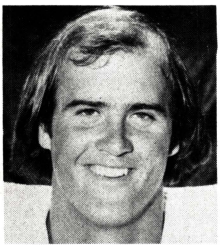

LINEBACKER • WAKE FOREST • 8th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 225 • BORN: 4-22-50 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Seattle prior to '77 for Bill Sandifer)

PRO: A broken ankle in a pre-season game at Oakland kept Ed Bradley on the injured reserve list throughout 1979. Bradley was working towards rehabilitation of the ankle at press time, hoping to challenge for a spot on the roster this fall. "It now hinges on his ability to come back from the injury and a year of inactivity," says 49er Coach Bill Walsh. A fourth-round draft choice by the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1972, he backed up Jack Lambert and was a key member of the Steelers' special teams until sent to Seattle in the 1976 expansion draft. He finally ended up with the 49ers in a trade that sent Bill Sandifer to the Seahawks. Bradley started most of the 1978 season for the Niners, filling in for injured Willie Harper that year at strongside linebacker.

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at Wake Forest, Bradley was rated one of the top college linebackers in the nation in 1972. He played in the East-West Shrine game and the Senior Bowl. That same year he set a school record in the shot put. He earned four track letters in that event.

PERSONAL: As a scholastic standout, Bradley was voted New England's top prep football player in 1967, in Bridgeport, Conn. Ed is the son of former Chicago Bears guard Ed Bradley, Sr. He and his wife Barbara make their home in Lewisville, N.C.

* Recovered one fumble, 1976 and 1978.
Missed 1979 season; on injured reserve.

Bob Bruer • 82

TIGHT END • MANKATO STATE • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 235 • BORN: 5-2-53 • (FA FOR '79)

PRO: Bob Bruer was a well-traveled player who found a home in San Francisco last year. "Bob may be the best all-around player among the tight ends we have," reports Bill Walsh. "At any rate, he's the best receiver." Bruer began his pro career as a wide receiver. He was a ninth round draft choice of the Houston Oilers in 1975, but was released prior to that season. He spent training camp the next year with the Dallas Cowboys, but again failed to make the cut, although he was picked up for the last game of the '76 season by the Chicago Bears. To begin '77, Bob sought more stability and joined the Canadian Football League, signing with the Saskatchewan Rough Riders where he played two seasons and led the team in receptions in '78 with 53. That earned him an invitation to the 49ers' camp a year ago where he landed a permanent

NFL job. "Bob has great hands and can block," adds Walsh. "He's not fast, but he is a good player." Bruer started four games last season for the 49ers and finished the year with 26 receptions for 254 yards and one touchdown.

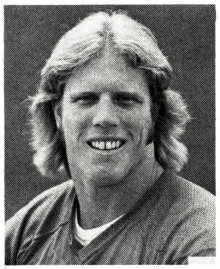

COLLEGE: Bruer was an All-Conference pick at Mankato State (Northern Inter-Collegiate Conference in Minnesota) his senior year. He caught 109 career passes for 1,611 yards and 12 TDs. He was a wide receiver his first two seasons there before moving to tight end.

PERSONAL: Bob makes his home in Edina, Minn., during the off-season with his wife Nancy. He is pursuing a law degree at the University of Minnesota.

Dan Bunz • 57

LINEBACKER • CAL STATE-LONG BEACH • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 225 • BORN: 10-7-55 • (D-1B FOR '78)

PRO: As glad as Dan Bunz was to see the 1979 season come to an end, he is equally as anxious for the 1980 season to begin. Much was expected of Bunz after being a first round draft choice by the 49ers in '78 along with Ken MacAfee. After playing as a starter at middle linebacker his rookie season, it was projected that Bunz was ready for a banner year in '79. Unfortunately, the season started off on the wrong foot when Bunz missed nearly the entire pre-season after contracting a throat infection and flu in training camp and losing 20 pounds. Bunz later lost his starting middle linebacker spot to first-year man Scott Hilton, but regained the job when Hilton was lost with a shoulder injury in the seventh game of the season. Bunz showed marked improvement the second half of the season, according to 49er coaches, and ended the year as the top tackler on the team with 74 solo tackles and 37 assists. He added a quarterback sack, one interception and four fumble recoveries to his totals. He was particularly effective in the 49ers' 23-7 win over Tampa Bay late in the season when he had seven tackles, one interception and a deflected pass.

COLLEGE: Bunz had 448 tackles in three years as a starter at Long Beach State, including 72 tackles and 99 assists as a senior. He was a consensus All-America and was voted the Most Valuable Player in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association his senior year, and played in both the East-West Shrine game and the Senior Bowl.

PERSONAL: Dan has a degree in sociology and makes his home in the Sacramento area during the off-season and works on a farm there. He worked out extensively during the off-season and trimmed his playing weight to 225 pounds in hopes of increasing his mobility. A bachelor, he filled a bit part in the movie "North Dallas Forty" following the '78 season.

Dwight Clark • 87

WIDE RECEIVER • CLEMSON • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 205 • BORN: 1-8-57 • (D-10A FOR '79)

PRO: Because of the reputation Bill Walsh has earned for developing effective passing attacks, many people took notice when the 49ers mentor drafted Dwight Clark of Clemson in the 10th round of the 1978 draft. "We saw in Dwight an all-weather receiver that most teams don't have and don't realize they need," said Walsh. "He's a guy who can catch the ball in any situation, that's why he's valuable to a team." Clark proved Walsh accurate, starting three games for the 49ers near the end of the season, and playing adequately on special teams all year. He hauled in 18 passes for 232 yards during his limited action.

COLLEGE: A member of the 11-1 Clemson team of 1978, Clark went generally unnoticed while most of the Tigers' publicity that season went to quarterback Steve Fuller, a first round choice of Kansas City, and Jerry Butler, the fifth man chosen overall in the '79 draft (by Buffalo). In three years as a varsity player, Clark caught 55 passes for 845 yards and had a 15.4 yard average per catch.

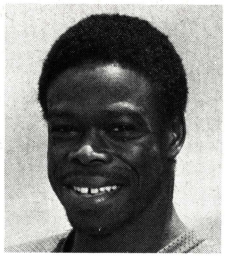

PERSONAL: Clark is a native of Charlotte, N.C. where he spent his offseason completing his degree in history at Clemson and living with former teammate Fuller. His steady girlfriend, Shawn Weatherly, was selected Miss U.S.A. in May. She too is a Clemson student.

HT: 5-9 • WT: 178 • BORN: 7-27-52 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Miami prior to '79 for a 1980 11th round draft choice)

PRO: In late August last year Charles Cornelius was in a Miami Dolphins' uniform performing against the Minnesota Vikings. Two weeks later he was to return to Bloomington, this time as a member of the 49ers' squad. A free agent with the Dolphins in 1977, Cornelius was Miami's fifth defensive back for two seasons. Naturally, he was pleased when he learned of the trade that sent him to San Francisco since a possible starting berth awaited. "I'm just glad I came to a team that needed me," said Cornelius, who eventually became a starter at left cornerback. The smallish Cornelius started 14 games and intercepted three passes. Despite his size, Cornelius is known for his intense hitting. He had 48 solo tackles a year ago. "Charles is extremely quick," says Bill Walsh, "and he's a competitor."

COLLEGE: A three-year starter at cornerback after starting five games at safety as a freshman at Bethune-Cookman, he had ten career interceptions.

PERSONAL: Charles is a native of Boynton Beach, Fla., and makes his home in Miami with his wife Joelle during the off-season. He is currently working on his master's degree in psychology.

Randy Cross • 51

GUARD • UCLA • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 255 • BORN: 4-25-54 • (D-2A FOR '76)

PRO: If the 49ers have a Pro Bowl player blossoming on the vine, it very well may be Randy Cross. The fifth-year lineman battled back from a mid-season knee injury in 1978 to make the conversion from center to guard in 1979 and start every game at right guard for the 49ers. "Randy made the switch to guard as well as any player I've seen," said offensive line Coach

Bobb McKittrick. "He should be even more effective this year after having played an entire season there." Cross had been the 49ers' starting center since 1976, when he came to the club as a second round draft pick. Says Bill Walsh, "I feel he has a Pro Bowl future. Randy is well received around the league." Adds McKittrick, "Randy is the strongest player we have on the offensive line and has excellent movement for a man with his size and strength. The only thing he really needs to work on is consistency in his pass blocking."

COLLEGE: Cross played both guard and center at UCLA. He started every game his junior and senior years, and started five games at center as a sophomore. He was named All-America as a senior by AP and UPI.

PERSONAL: In addition to being a standout football player, Cross was the California high school state champion in the shot put at Encino's Crespi High in 1970. He and his wife Patrice make their home in Redwood City during the off-season where they have a silver reclamation business.

Steve DeBerg • 17

QUARTERBACK • SAN JOSE STATE • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 205 • BORN: 1-19-54 • (FA FOR '77)

PRO: When Bill Walsh took over the 49ers in early 1979 he knew that for Steve DeBerg to improve from the 28th-ranked starting signal caller in the NFL in 1978 to one of the league's top-ranked performers in 1979, he (Walsh) would have to make a full commitment and display unyielding faith in his quarterback. Taking almost every snap from center during the '79 season, DeBerg responded by breaking Fran Tarkenton's NFL record for pass attempts and completions, set one year earlier. DeBerg completed 347 of 578 passes, for 3,652 yards, with 17 touchdowns. That effort was good enough to raise DeBerg to a fifth place ranking among passers in the NFC. "Anybody who can't see the difference Bill Walsh has made in my play is blind," says the fourth-year pro. "He has put my progression as a quarterback ahead four years." After being drafted in the 10th round by the Dallas Cowboys, DeBerg was the final player cut from the Dallas roster in 1977 and was acquired on waivers by the 49ers that year. "DeBerg made dramatic improvement in 1979. He probably was the most improved quarterback in the NFL," opinions Walsh. "But there were times last season where Steve made gross errors, and while it demonstrated itself less and less often, he must correct that." DeBerg is more aware than anyone that impressive statistics alone are not enough: "When some of those statistics begin to reflect some wins is when they'll become important."

COLLEGE: DeBerg turned the San Jose State record books upside down during his lone starting season in 1976, passing for 2,084 yards and completing 141 of 262 pass attempts while throwing 19 touchdowns. He set nine school records and was named the Pacific Coast Athletic Association's Offensive Player of the Year. DeBerg was a JC All-America at Fullerton Junior College before going to San Jose State.

Walt Downing • 62

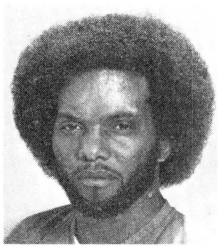

GUARD • MICHIGAN • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 254 • BORN: 6-11-56 • (D-2 FOR '78)

PRO: Walt Downing is a major reason the 49ers were able to carry just seven offensive linemen on the roster throughout 1979. Downing served as the backup for both guards and at center last year after having been named to the UPI All-Rookie team in '78 at guard. "Along with Jean Barrett, Downing's handyman ability to play several positions was of great help to us last year," says offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick. "Walt filled in for Fred Quillan at center and for guard Randy Cross several times during the year and handled himself quite well." McKittrick added that Downing's second year will help Walt's development, citing his improvement from his rookie year to last year as "dramatic". Adds Bill Walsh, "If he continues to improve, he could become a starter again. It wouldn't surprise me."

COLLEGE: Downing was a consensus All-Big Ten pick as a junior and senior while at Michigan. He served as co-captain and made first team All-America his final year.

PERSONAL: Walt and his wife Sue make their home in Mountain View, Calif., where Walt spent most of his off-season working for the Census Bureau.

Lenvil Elliott • 35

RUNNING BACK • N.E. MISSOURI STATE • 8th YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 210 • BORN: 9-2-51 • (FA FOR '79)

PRO: Lenvil Elliott originally was a 10th round draft choice of the Cincinnati Bengals in 1973. He totaled some attractive statistics as an all-purpose performer during his seven years with the Bengals, three of those seasons playing for Bill Walsh, who was a Bengals' assistant. When Cincinnati waived Elliott last summer, Walsh claimed him for the inexperienced 49ers. "Elliott is along the same lines as Paul Hofer from the standpoint that he's had a lot of minor injuries and yet he's played some excellent football," says Walsh. Elliott covered 135 yards on 33 carries for the 49ers in '79, and added another 197 yards on 23 receptions. He also returned nine kickoffs for 170 yards. "I would like to think that my versatility will again be of some help to the team," says the eight-year pro. Running backs Coach Billie Matthews adds, "Elliott is capable of making some big runs. He is the type of player who is most effective when he's being used down after down."

COLLEGE: Elliott gained nearly 3,000 yards in his college career at Northeast Missouri State. During his senior year, he rushed for 1,138 yards on 191 carries, averaging 113.8 yards per game.

PERSONAL: Lenvil and his wife Linda make their home in Fairfield, Ohio, and have a daughter, Melissa Renee (5/28/73). Elliott is a native of Richmond, Mo.

PRO: In his six years as a professional, Keith Fahnhorst has made physical play and hustle his trademark. "Keith plays with a great deal of intensity," says offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick, "yet he is intelligent enough to know how to temper it in just the right way to be effective." O.J. Simpson, who made it a habit of knowing good offensive linemen in his 11 years in the NFL, has said about Fahnhorst: "Keith has it all to be one of the top tackles in the league — size, strength, intelligence, speed and aggressiveness. He's one of the best linemen I've seen." A second round draft choice in 1974, Fahnhorst originally came to the 49ers as a tight end. He spent a brief time at that position during his first training camp before moving to tackle. Bill Walsh calls the 49ers' tandem of Fahnhorst and right guard Randy Cross "the two best players with the club." According to McKittrick, Fahnhorst spends a great deal of time watching game films in his preparation for his weekly opponent: "Keith makes it a point to know his opponent very well. That is one of the reasons he's so consistent. Very little surprises Keith once the game begins."

COLLEGE: Fahnhorst was a tight end at Minnesota for three years in the Gophers' run-oriented offense. He caught 28 passes for 416 yards and one touchdown during those varsity seasons. He was named to the All-Big Ten team his senior year. Fahnhorst also played in the East-West Shrine game and the Senior Bowl.

PERSONAL: Keith was a star athlete at St. Cloud High in St. Cloud, Minn. He earned all-state recognition in football, basketball and track. His college degree is in psychology. Keith and his wife Susan make their home in St. Paul, Minn., during the off-season with their daughter Tiffany Dawn (6/19/79). Keith's brother Jim is an All-America linebacker candidate this fall at Minnesota.

Bobby Ferrell • 38

FULLBACK • UCLA • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 219 • BORN: 11-13-52 • (FA FOR '76)

PRO: Wherever Bobby Ferrell has played, he has provided his team with depth and intensity. "Bobby is the type of guy you like to have around," says running backs Coach Billie Matthews. "He's a team leader, plays extremely hard when he gets the chance, and has enough ability to back up both running back positions." Ferrell is one of the mainstays of the 49ers' special teams. He served as captain of that unit in '79. Originally a pro with the California Sun of the now-defunct World Football League, Ferrell views his playing time as substantial because of his role with special teams: "When I go home people ask if I played much during the season. I have no hesitation at all in saying 'yes', because I feel like I have." Although much of special teams play is a thankless task, Ferrell enjoys the chance to contribute: "Special teams is one-third of the game, and if this is where I can contribute the most then I'm happy to be a part of those units."

COLLEGE: Ferrell did not see much backfield action at UCLA either because there he was a substitute to James McAllister and Kermit Johnson, who played ahead of Bob for the Bruins.

PERSONAL: A native of Los Angeles, Ferrell still makes his home there during the off-season. As a high school senior, he gained 2,200 yards in just nine games, while also scoring seven touchdowns in a single game.

Phil Francis • 48

FULLBACK • STANFORD • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 215 • BORN: 1-10-57 • (D-7 FOR '79)

PRO: Phil Francis was an unknown commodity when he came to the 49ers last year as a seventh round draft choice. Unknown to everyone but Coach Bill Walsh, who had been Francis' mentor for two years at Stanford. "The first time I saw Phil at Stanford I said he was the type of player who would make a good pro back," claims Walsh. "It's his style of running and blocking that fits the pros." Francis was available in the seventh round largely because of injury problems during his collegiate days. But he proved to be healthy in his first year in the pros, filling in at both running back positions without injury and rushing for 118 yards on 31 carries while adding another 198 yards on 32 receptions. "Phil is a good utility man for us." says Asst. Coach Billie Matthews. "And he proved to be a very good special teams player as well. I think Francis may vie for the starting fullback position this year. He made continuous improvement as a rookie and turned in a number of key plays."

COLLEGE: Despite missing the final four games of his senior season with an ankle injury, Francis rushed for just under 500 yards, averaging 4.5 yards per carry, and was leading the nation in pass receptions with 49 when he went out of the Stanford lineup.

PERSONAL: Francis spent most of his off-season in his hometown of Beaverton, Oregon. Phil is single and lives in Foster City, Calif., during the season.

HT: 6-1 • WT: 200 • BORN: 11-11-52 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Kansas City prior to '79 for 1980 9th round choice)

PRO: When Tim Gray was traded from the Kansas City Chiefs to the 49ers last August, he was concerned: "It is always tough to come into a situation where everyone knows everyone else and there already are friendships established." What Gray didn't know was that most of his fellow defensive backs also were new to the club. At season's end, the Niners did not have a single defensive back who played with them in '78. "Since we all were new, we had something in common," says the sixth year pro. "It also meant that there wouldn't be a single player to tie everything together. It took time for us to get used to one another. But I feel we improved as a unit." Originally a first round choice of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1975, Gray was traded to Kansas City in '76. He led the Chiefs in interceptions in '78 with six. Gray started 15 games for the 49ers last year and was the leading tackler among defensive backs with 48 solo tackles.

COLLEGE: Gray was a consensus All-Southwest Conference selection and second team All-America choice by Newspaper Enterprise Association as a senior at Texas A&M. He started two years at A&M after transferring from Navarro Junior College in Texas.

PERSONAL: Gray and his wife Beverly have two children, Monica (3/31/77)

Willie Harper • 59

LINEBACKER • NEBRASKA • 7th YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 215 • BORN: 7-30-50 • (D-2 FOR '73)

PRO: In 1979 Willie Harper started and finished all 20 games of the NFL pre and regular seasons. That in itself might explain why Harper had his best year as a pro in '79 and prompted Bill Walsh to call Harper "our best single player on defense last year." Injuries may have kept Harper from realizing his potential during his early years in the league. He missed all of the '78 season when he had to undergo surgery for a knee injury suffered during pre-season. In 1974 he missed a good part of the season with a sprained arch in his foot, and was again hampered in '77 with broken ribs, missing three games that season. In fact, various rib injuries have forced Willie to miss games throughout his pro career. "I have had my share of injuries, just like everyone else," says the seven-year pro. "If there wasn't the probability of injury, we wouldn't be wearing pads. But I've proven I can play hurt too." Playing healthy most of the '79 season, Harper was second to Dan Bunz in total tackles for the 49ers, racking up 59 solo tackles with an additional 37 assisted tackles and two quarterback sacks.

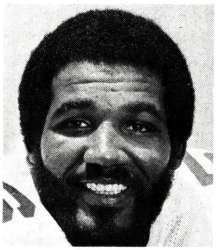

COLLEGE: At the University of Nebraska, Harper was named Lineman of the Year his sophomore year, stamping himself for collegiate greatness at a young age. He had played running back and middle guard before settling in at defensive end, where he was a consensus All-America his senior year. As a defensive end, Willie had a Nebraska career-record 178 tackles, including 90 unassisted tackles and 40 in which he threw foes for 258 yards in losses.

PERSONAL: Harper earned two letters in football, three in basketball and one in track at J.W. Scott High School in Toledo, Ohio. He and his wife Roxanne have three children — Terrell (8/30/66), Willie (10/1/72) and Qiava (12/13/75). Both Willie and Roxanne are active in real estate in the Bay Area the year around. Willie and his family represented the 49ers in the NFL United Way television commercials this fall.

* Recovered one fumble in 1973, one fumble in 1974, one fumble in 1979; intercepted one pass for six yards in 1977.

Missed 1978 season; on injured reserve.

Thomas Henderson •

LINEBACKER • LANGSTON • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 220 • BORN: 3-1-53 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Dallas prior to '80 for undisclosed 1981 draft choice)

PRO: Thomas Henderson returns to action in the National Football League this year after a shortened 1979 season with the Dallas Cowboys, a season that ended abruptly for Henderson following 12 games. When Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry informed Henderson he was going on waivers following the Dallas-Washington game (in the season's 12th week) Henderson announced his retirement from football. That enabled the Cowboys to place Henderson on the reserve/retired list, where he remained Dallas property until traded to San Francisco May 15. There were many random comments made immediately following the trade concerning whether Henderson, a Pro Bowl pick in 1978, would be able to return to top playing form for 1980 on a team not studded with Cowboys-like defensive stars to play around him. For the record, Henderson, never one not to talk ("It's my way of psyching myself up so I play better, it's that simple; besides whoever heard of Thomas Henderson before I started talking?"), told a San Francisco writer, "The 49ers are getting the best linebacker in football. I'll prove it. I'm going to be All-Pro." Added Tom Landry, "I never questioned Henderson's ability. He's a fine linebacker and very explosive. He should do an outstanding job. It's all up to Thomas. I hope he does well in San Francisco." Henderson's new coach, Bill Walsh, probably put Henderson's coming to the 49ers in proper perspective while revealing the role he wants Thomas to play: "In my coaching career I have dealt directly with individual people as individuals and have not attempted to put round pegs in square holes. And so it is my expectation that a personal relationship will work in the best interest of both Thomas and myself — and the 49ers. He has the ability athletically and from a personality standpoint to offer this team leadership. He's an outstanding player, in the prime of his career. He is dynamic, intelligent, and assertive. Now if his ability is channeled as I expect it to be, he can be a real force on this team. I expect him to be a leader." Leadership for Henderson? Thomas' reaction? "Coach Walsh wants me to lead," said Henderson. "I was not asked to be a leader with the Cowboys, there were others. I can add maturity to the team. You see, my lifestyle has changed. That's not to say Hollywood has had his last hurrah. But I'm a family man now and my lifestyle has changed. I'll be ready to play great football for them." Says

49ers quarterback Steve DeBerg, "Thomas talks a lot while he's playing, but he performs." Adds linebacker Willie Harper, "All I know is he's a great football player. He should really help." And defensive tackle Jimmy Webb said, "It will be interesting. There is no doubt he can contribute." Henderson was third on the Cowboys in sacks last year with six and also had 37 tackles and 21 assists.

COLLEGE: Although he played for tiny Langston College in Oklahoma, a school that won just one game Henderson's senior year, he was one of two first round picks by the Cowboys in '75 (Randy White was the other) and the 18th player taken in the draft that year. A defensive end, Henderson was a two-time Little All-America selection and led Langston in tackles and sacks his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL: Thomas was married May 4 and he and his wife Wyetta have a daughter, Thomesa Holly (3/8/79). At press time they were in the process of relocating their home year-'round in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Dwight Hicks • 22

SAFETY • MICHIGAN • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 189 • BORN: 4-5-56 • (FA during '79)

PRO: One year ago Dwight Hicks went from managing a health food store in October in Southfield, Mich., to starting at free safety for the San Francisco 49ers in November. Hicks was one of the last men cut by the Philadelphia Eagles in late August of '79 after playing in the Canadian Football League in 1978. He returned to Southfield to manage the local chain health food store when he received a call from the 49ers in late October. "Dwight is very intelligent and covers the field well," says 49ers defensive coordinator Chuck Studley. Adds Bill Walsh, "He could be a key factor for our 1980 team. I expect he'll start at one of the safety spots." Even though Hicks started just the last four games in '79, he accounted for one third of the 49ers' interceptions with five. Hicks was a sixth-round draft choice of the Detroit Lions in 1978. After being released in pre-season, he joined the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL.

COLLEGE: A four-year letterman at the University of Michigan, the Wolverines were 38-6-2 during Hicks' career. He appeared in two Rose Bowls and the 1976 Orange Bowl game. Dwight, a monster cornerback in college, was selected to the All-Big Ten squad for 1977 while leading Michigan in interceptions with four.

PERSONAL: Dwight returned to Ann Arbor during the off-season to finish his degree in education. Hicks is single, and is a native of Mt. Holly, N.J. He has played the piano since he was 13. He established year-around residence in the Bay Area in April.

Scott Hilton • 55

LINEBACKER • COLLEGE: NONE • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 230 • BORN: 5-28-54 • (FA FOR '79)

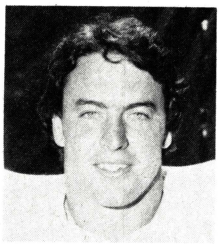

PRO: For a starting NFL linebacker, Scott Hilton is not a bad carpenter. Hilton is one of those rare NFL performers who did not play college football. After graduating from high school, Hilton opted for becoming a carpenter rather than attend college. "I was more into earning a dollar, getting a girl, and buying a car," relates Hilton. Scott did play semi-pro football for the Somerton All-Stars in Pennsylvania for five years before trying out as a tight end with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1977. He left camp after two weeks, but returned to the Eagles in '78 and made it to the final cut, this time as a linebacker. Bill McPherson, who served as Hilton's linebacker coach in Philadelphia in '78, talked him into trying out with the 49ers after McPherson joined the Niners staff in February of '79. Hilton made the team and started the first seven games of the season at either outside or middle linebacker. He played the last several games while wearing a harness for a shoulder injury, an injury that eventually forced him onto the injured reserve list when surgery was needed. Despite missing nine games, Hilton still accounted for 78 tackles and ranked fourth on the team in defensive statistics. "He's a relentless tackler, a hard hitter who has the instincts to play linebacker very well in the NFL," says Bill Walsh. "Barring injury, he has an outstanding future."

COLLEGE: Technically, Hilton does have a college background. In 1973 he enrolled at Salem College, a small school in West Virginia, and played baseball that spring. He dropped out because "I just wasn't the student type. It was a big mistake."

PERSONAL: Hilton returned to his home in Hatboro, Pa. last off-season where he continued to work as a carpenter once he mended from shoulder surgery. He is single and works for his brother, who is a home builder in the suburbs surrounding Philadelphia.

Paul Hofer • 36

RUNNING BACK • MISSISSIPPI • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 195 • BORN: 5-13-52 • (D-11 FOR '76)

PRO: One of the most productive all-purpose offensive players in the National Football League is 49ers' fifth-year running back Paul Hofer, who accumulated 1,401 all-purpose yards (rushing, receiving and kickoff returns) in 1979. He led the 49ers in both rushing (123 carries for 615 yards) and receiving (58 receptions for 662 yards). His 58 receptions ranked second among running backs in the NFC behind Minnesota's Rickey Young. No running back gained more yards via the air than Hofer. The amazing thing is that Hofer was able to do this despite missing the entire pre-season with a hamstring injury, then playing only sparingly in the 49ers' first four games after injuring his other hamstring in the regular season opener against the Minnesota Vikings. An 11th-round draft choice in '76, Hofer played second fiddle to starter O.J. Simpson until last season's ninth game when Coach Bill Walsh decided to replace Simpson with the slashing, quicker-starting Hofer. "I think if Paul could play 16 games he'd gain over 1,000 yards rushing and also catch 60 passes," says Walsh. "But projecting Paul for that type of play may be unrealistic with his history of injury problems." Running backs Coach Billie Matthews adds, "The way Paul runs and the high level of intensity in which he plays really forces him to take the big hits." In addition to Hofer's statistical credentials, he is an established team leader. He was voted last November by his teammates, for the second consecutive year, the Len Eshmont Memorial Award as the 49ers' most courageous and inspirational player. Or as Matthews puts it: "The way Paul plays, giving everything he has on every down, it tends to inspire his teammates to play to that level as well."

COLLEGE: Hofer played fullback at Mississippi and gained 1,430 yards on 296 carries, a 4.8 yard average, during a four-year career. He also led Ole Miss in kickoff returns three consecutive years.

PERSONAL: Hofer is one of seven children. He and his five sisters and one brother grew up in Memphis, Tenn. Paul serves as a regional Director of Athletic Sales for Holiday Inn during the off-season. He and his wife Penny make their home in San Carlos, Calif.

Ernie Hughes • 65

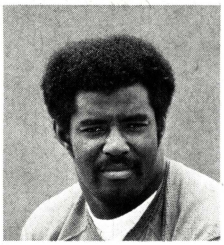

GUARD • NOTRE DAME • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 250 • BORN: 1-24-55 • (D-3 FOR '78)

PRO: After starting much of the '78 season at guard and making the UPI All-Rookie team, Ernie Hughes spent all of 1979 on the 49ers' injured reserve list with a strained knee. "It would not surprise anyone on our staff if Ernie replaces an existing lineman on the club this year," says Coach Bill Walsh. Hughes will face a stern test in training camp in his effort to regain a starting berth, but offensive line coach Bobb McKittrick was impressed with Hughes' strength, aggressiveness, and off-season dedication: "Ernie is a very intense and aggressive player. If he can learn to control his play, he could be a factor this year. He has worked hard for 12 months attempting a comeback."

COLLEGE: A starter for three years at Notre Dame, he was named to the AP and UPI's second team All-America squads as a senior. Nicknamed the "Enforcer" because of his 400-pound bench press and 4.8 speed, Hughes was a mainstay on the Notre Dame 1977 National Championship team, and received national acclaim for a sparkling Cotton Bowl performance that year against Texas Outland Trophy recipient Brad Shearer.

PERSONAL: Hughes was a prep All-America at Capital High School in Boise, Id. He played basketball, track and wrestled as well, and was named his high school's outstanding athlete his senior year. Hughes works for Stanford Scientific, Inc. during the off-season as a health systems consultant. He and his wife Maureen have two children, Jennifer (4/1/77) and Christine (5/25/78), and make their home in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Wilbur Jackson • 40

RUNNING BACK • ALABAMA • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 219 • BORN: 11-19-51 • (D-1A FOR '74)

PRO: Although Wilbur Jackson returned from a year's inactivity (knee surgery in '78) to reclaim the 49ers' fullback spot in 1979, it was both a season of highs and lows for the former No. 1 pick from Alabama. Jackson caught a career-high 53 passes in '79 for 422 yards. That placed him fourth among running backs in the NFC in receptions. "Wilbur proved to be one of the best blocking and receiving fullbacks in football last year," commented Bill Walsh after the season. "Somewhat disappointing to us, however, was Jackson's 375 yards rushing. Wilbur's running was below expectations for many reasons. We're hoping to provide a platform in 1980 for Jackson to gain 1,000 yards, because we will have a hard time winning without a 1,000-yard effort from him." One thing Jackson has continually given to the 49ers is leadership and maturity. "He has the character and commitment to the profession that we need," says Walsh. "We have so few veterans on the squad, we need people like Wilbur to hold the team together.

COLLEGE: Jackson was the first black football player at the University of Alabama, where he smashed for a three-year total of 1,537 yards on just 212 carries, a guady 7.2 yard average. For the most part, he played just a half per game, due to the heavy rotation of backs used by Bear Bryant at Alabama. But he performed well enough to be named a consensus All-America and play in the Senior Bowl.

PERSONAL: Born in Ozark, Ala., Jackson was a standout athlete at Carroll High School, where he earned varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball. Wilbur makes his home in Ozark during the off-season.

Charles Johnson • 44

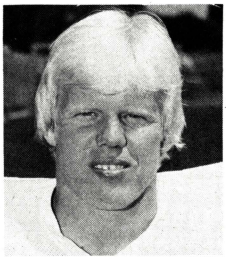

CORNERBACK • GRAMBLING • 2nd YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 180 • BORN: 5-5-56 • (FA during '79)

PRO: After being waived by the Atlanta Falcons midway through the 1979 season, Charles Johnson was quickly claimed by the 49ers. He had spent the early weeks of the season on Atlanta's injured reserve list. "We have high hopes for Charles Johnson," reports Bill Walsh. "He is extremely fast and extremely quick, and once he has a full training camp with us, he could become a starter at cornerback." Originally a fourth-round choice of the Falcons, he has been timed at 4.4 in the 40-yard dash.

COLLEGE: Johnson intercepted 11 passes his final two seasons at Grambling (seven as a junior, four as a senior). While at Grambling he earned Mutual Black Radio All-America honors and was a Sporting News honorable mention All-America selection. Johnson returned kickoffs as well, averaging 15.2 yards per return.

PERSONAL: Johnson returned to Grambling during the off-season to finish his degree in physical education. While finishing his B.S., he was selected as a counselor for the National Youth Sports Program. Charles is single and has five sisters and two brothers.

Eric Johnson • 24

SAFETY • WASHINGTON STATE • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 192 • BORN: 7-23-52 • (FA FOR '79)

PRO: After playing for the California Sun of the World Football League for two years, Eric Johnson was out of a job when that league shut down operations in 1976. Through the urging of his wife, Karen, Eric sent films of his play with the Sun to every NFL team. The Philadelphia Eagles thought enough of Johnson's play to invite him to their training camp in 1977 and Eric earned a spot on their roster. He became a valuable reserve safety and top-flight special teams performer. Johnson returned to the 49ers (he originally was signed by the 49ers in '76 but was waived) during pre-season last year and eventually earned a starting berth midway through the season. Unfortunately, in Johnson's first start of the year against Atlanta, he dislocated his shoulder while tackling on the kickoff team, an injury that sent him to injured reserve for the last eight games of the season. The injury required surgery, but Johnson was pronounced fit entering 1980 training camp.

COLLEGE: Johnson won three letters and all Pac-8 honors while at Washington State. He intercepted three passes in one game against Washington his senior year and played in the East-West Shrine game.

PERSONAL: Eric and his wife Karen have two children, Elisabeth (11/10/76) and Kelda (6/14/79). They make their home in Mission Viejo, in southern California, where they raise running quarter horses. Eric has appeared in the motion pictures "Semi-Tough," "Two-Minute Warning," and "North Dallas Forty."

* Recovered two fumbles in 1977; intercepted three passes for 34 yards in 1975.

Ken MacAfee • 81

TIGHT END • NOTRE DAME • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 245 • BORN: 1-9-56 • (D-1A FOR '78)

PRO: When one considers that Ken MacAfee in his youth already has been the son of a former pro football player, a star in his own right at one of the country's most publicized football universities (Notre Dame), a first round draft choice by the pros, and has had an academic record that is good enough to be enrolled in dental school, it's easy to conclude that he's an American "golden boy." But it's a fact that being Ken MacAfee has meant living a young adult life of pressure as he attempts to live up to the image that's been created. Now the third-year pro has the added pressure of proving he deserves to start once again in Coach Bill Walsh's pass oriented 49er offensive system. It wasn't until the sixth game of last season against Seattle that MacAfee earned a start, and he made the most of it. Until that point, he had caught just one pass. Against the Seahawks, he caught four, including a 50-yarder and a one-yard TD. "I had forgotten what it was like, it had been so long," remembers the 1978 first round draft choice of the 49ers. He caught 24 passes for 266 yards in '79 after catching 22 as a rookie in '78. A capable blocker, he faces the challenge of veteran Charle Young, an off-season acquisition, for the Niners tight end job this fall.

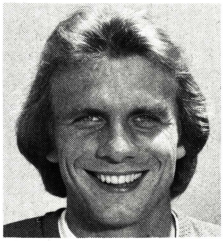

COLLEGE: A consensus All-America in 1977, MacAfee won the prestigious Walter Camp Award that year. He had 128 catches for 1,758 yards and 15 touchdowns during his career, and holds all receiving records for a tight end at Notre Dame.

PERSONAL: Ken is an accomplished pianist, artist and photographer. Enrolled in dental school at the University of Pennsylvania during the off-season, he was named one of the top athletes in the state of Massachusetts during his senior year in high school in his hometown of Brockton.

Joe Montana • 16

QUARTERBACK • NOTRE DAME • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 200 • BORN: 6-11-56 • (D-3 FOR '79)

PRO: With quarterback Joe Montana backing up starter Steve DeBerg, members of the 49ers staff believe San Francisco has one of the best duos of young signal callers in the NFL. "Because of the inexperience of both our quarterbacks last year, Joe didn't receive the opportunity he might have because we had to spend time developing Steve," said Coach Bill Walsh following the '79 season. "But his last appearance in a game was a very positive one against Tampa Bay." Montana briefly replaced a groggy DeBerg in the 23-7 win that day and completed 3 of 4 passes for 30 yards, while running the team adeptly until DeBerg returned. Montana had started at quarterback the week before in a 13-10 loss at St. Louis. Quarterback coach Sam Wyche points out that Joe will get a lot of time to improve during training camp this year. Says Wyche, "Because we were so close in so many games and Joe was not given much of a chance to perform last year, he will get the extra work in pre-season this year, which will give him a better chance to develop his skills."

COLLEGE: During his college career at Notre Dame, Montana completed 269 of 515 passes (52 pecent) for 4,121 yards and 25 touchdowns. He was named to several All-America teams in '78 after completing 54 percent of his passes (141-260) for 2,010 yards and ten touchdowns. As a junior, Montana led the Irish to the 1977 national championship.

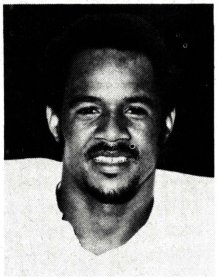

PERSONAL: Montana is a native of Monogahela, Pa. He divides time between his homes in Manhattan Beach, Calif. and Hayward, Calif. during the off-season.

Melvin Morgan • 46

CORNERBACK • MISSISSIPPI VALLEY • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 186 • BORN: 3-31-53 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Cincinnati prior to '79 for 1980 7th round draft choice)

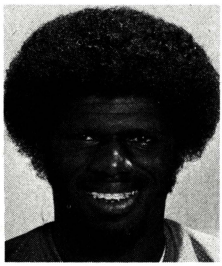

PRO: Melvin Morgan joined the 49ers in training camp a year ago after spending three seasons with the Cincinnati Bengals, where he was an 11th round draft choice in '76. "I was very excited when I came to San Francisco," related the fifth-year pro. "I started a couple of games in Cincinnati, but the idea of starting week after week sounded good to me." Morgan fit into the 49ers' defensive plans well, switching between left cornerback and strong safety. But he was lost for the season after starting seven games when a dislocated shoulder required surgery. Morgan has played all four defensive backfield spots during his career. He's expected to return to the 49ers this year at full strength and re-establish himself as a starter: "Melvin has versatility and is an outstanding hitter with good speed," says Bill Walsh. Adds defensive coordinator Chuck Studley, "Melvin will hit you, boy will he hit you."

COLLEGE: Morgan was a standout performer at Mississippi Valley (located in Itta Bena, Miss., enrollment 2,800). He was a member of the All-Southwestern Athletic Conference team in 1976.

PERSONAL: A native of Gulfport, Miss., Morgan and his wife Kathy have two daughters Amaurita (7/19/77) and Angelyca (3/21/80), and make their home in Foster City, Calif. Melvin spent most of his off-season rehabilitating his shoulder. He lists himself as an avid tennis and basketball player.

HT: 5-11 • WT: 188 • BORN: 7-5-55 • (D-2 FOR '79)

PRO: While O.J. was winding down his pro football career in San Francisco in 1979, J.O. was just beginning his. J.O. is James Owens of the 49ers, last year's top draft pick, a young athlete who much is expected from. His 41 kickoff returns for 1,002 yards, a 24.4 average, was third best in the NFC in '79. One return was 85 yards for a touchdown against the Denver Broncos. "James' potential is evident," says Coach Bill Walsh. "It's just that it may take a couple of years for his abilities to mature to the level he is capable of." The former U.S. Olympic hurdler got off to a rough start in the pros when he came down with a mild case of meningitis during pre-season. He missed two pre-season games and much playing time while attempting to make the conversion from college running back to pro wide receiver. At one point in the season — the ninth week versus Chicago — he was shifted to free safety. James finished '79 with ten receptions for 121 yards and had an additional 52 yards on eight carries. "James will begin training camp this year as a wide receiver," reported Walsh. "I don't want to close the door on his seeing some action at defensive back though. But we intend to find his best position and let him develop there. He may still be a year away as a receiver, but he has steadily improved through hard work."

COLLEGE: Owens, UCLA's co-MVP as a junior and MVP in the Fiesta Bowl as a senior, finished sixth in the Montreal Olympic Games (1976) in the 110 meter hurdles. He finished his college football career as the fourth all-time rusher in Bruins' history with 1,984 yards on 397 carries (a 5.0 average) although many said he was too small to play the position in the Pac-10. He also caught 21 passes for 200 yards, and scored a total of 14 career touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Owens was a three sport schoolboy All-America (basketball, football and track) at Norte Del Rio High School in Sacramento, Calif. He worked for the Census Bureau during the off-season and also participated in several football clinics throughout the state. James makes his home in Redwood City, Calif.

HT: 6-0 • WT: 180 • BORN: 3-11-54 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Cincinnati prior to '80 for 1981 9th round draft choice)

PRO: Scott Perry, acquired in a trade with the Cincinnati Bengals during the off-season, brings to the 49ers' defensive backfield speed, experience and a propensity for hitting. "My strengths are my speed, technique, angles and then a bit of . . . well, I'm a hitter," said the fifth-year pro, not unpleasantly. After being drafted in the fifth round in 1976 by the Bengals, Perry was inserted as a starter in the '78 season at free safety. There he earned a reputation as a hard-hitter while also returning two interceptions and one fumble for touchdowns. He statistically rated as the best defensive back on the team that year. Perry has experience at all four positions in the defensive backfield but is very aware he'll have to earn a position with the 49ers, be it cornerback or safety. "You just don't walk into this situation and say 'Hey, I'm here'," said Perry, "At least it appears to be a very comfortable atmosphere."

COLLEGE: An all-New England college all-star selection in 1975, Perry turned three turnovers into touchdowns his senior year at Williams College, located in Williamstown, Mass. Perry is the only NFL player from that school.

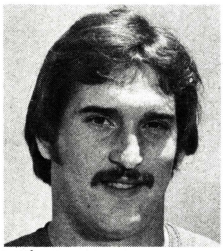

PERSONAL: Scott travels extensively during the off-season and lists Europe and Africa among his trips. His Ivy League rearing, including prepping at Kent School in Connecticut before going to Williams, is something Perry does not try to hide: "I'm a through and through New England preppy."

Fred Quillan • 56

CENTER • OREGON • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 254 • BORN: 1-27-56 • (D-7 FOR '78)

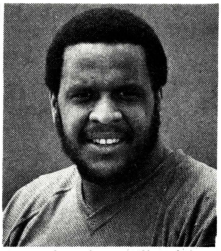

PRO: While taking over for an injured Randy Cross at center mid-way through the 1978 season, Fred Quillan proved himself capable enough to allow Cross to move to right guard for the 49ers to begin 1979. The move solidified two positions on the 49ers' offensive line. "Quillan did a very creditable job for us last year, even though he played at a minimal size for a pro center," says Bill Walsh. Quillan, a seventh round draft choice in '78, weighed 240 pounds at the beginning of the '79 season. His weight dropped from there as the season wore on. "Fred needs to develop the bulk type of weight that will stay with him throughout a season," says offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick. "The only way to do that is through a thorough weight conditioning off-season program. McKittrick points out that when Quillan is playing well, he is "very, very good," but that the inexperienced pivot let down occasionally last year. "We're looking for Fred to play up to his capabilities every week. He must to remain a consistent part of the offensive line. He has the talent to be an excellent NFL center."

QUILLAN, Cont.

COLLEGE: Because of his versatility, Quillan switched around a lot at the University of Oregon. An All-Coast center as a junior, he moved to tackle as a senior (because of injuries to teammates) and performed well at that position.

PERSONAL: A three-sport athlete at Portland's Central Catholic High, Quillan originally was recruited as a tight end. A native of Portland, Fred still makes his home there during the off-season.

Archie Reese • 78

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • CLEMSON • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 262 • BORN: 2-4-56 • (D-5A FOR '78)

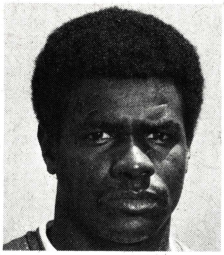

PRO: When 49ers' Coach Bill Walsh announced near the conclusion of the '79 season that Archie Reese would be moved to defensive tackle in 1980, Reese, a fifth round draft choice in '78, accepted the decision like he does everything else in life — with enthusiasm and determination. "I'm here to play football, the coach is here to coach," said the third-year lineman from Clemson. "Whatever they think it takes for us to win is okay with me." Reese's 6-3, 262-pound frame appears to be better suited for the inside of the defensive line at tackle. He started at left defensive end his first two years with the Niners. Reese had 36 solo tackles and 17 assisted tackles, along with five quarterback sacks last year. Reese sees the change this year as just another in a series of events that have come his way: "I have worked too hard not to have good things happen to me."

COLLEGE: A walk-on at Clemson, Reese had 81 tackles and 16 quarterback sacks his senior year. In addition to his tackles, Reese caused a fumble and knocked down four passes that same season.

PERSONAL: Following high school in South Carolina, Reese nearly decided to join the Army. He credits his mother with convincing him to go to college. Archie is a bachelor and spent his off-season living in Mountain View, Calif.

* Recovered one fumble in 1978.

Ray Rhodes • 33

DEFENSIVE BACK • TULSA • 7th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 185 • BORN: 10-20-50 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with New York Giants along with Jimmy Robinson prior to '80 for Mike Hogan and Tony Dungy)

PRO: A tenth-round draft selection by the New York Giants in 1974, Ray Rhodes is expected to give much needed help to the 49ers' secondary. He was acquired by the Niners from the Giants March 27. Rhodes has proven himself on offense and defense in the NFL since breaking into the league. Drafted as a wide receiver, he played there for three seasons, and even led the NFC in average-per-catch totals with a 20.7 mark on 26 receptions for 537 yards in 1975. Injuries slowed down his production somewhat in '76, before Rhodes was asked to switch from wide receiver to cornerback on defense to begin the 1977 season. He proved to be a solid hitter against the run, covered receivers well and had a pair of interceptions and two fumble recoveries. He retained his right cornerback position with the Giants again in '78 and '79 before coming to the 49ers along with Jimmy Robinson in a deal that sent Mike Hogan and Tony Dungy to New York.

COLLEGE: Ray began his collegiate career at TCU as a running back and rushed for 786 yards and a 4.9 average his sophomore year. He transferred to Tulsa and played both wide receiver and defensive back there, notching 43 receptions for five touchdowns while teaming with then QB Drew Pearson, now of the Dallas Cowboys. He also averaged 16.1 on kickoff returns. Ray earned two other varsity letters in track and field at Tulsa.

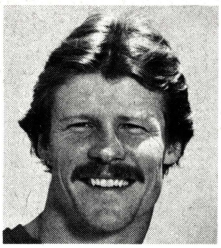

PERSONAL: A native of Mexia, Tex., Rhodes played all varsity sports at Mexia High School. He lists music as his favorite hobby, and plays several of the brass instruments, including the trumpet, trombone and french horn.

HT: 5-9 • WT: 170 • BORN: 1-3-53 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with New York Giants along with Ray Rhodes prior to '80 for Mike Hogan and Tony Dungy)

PRO: Jimmy Robinson joins the 49ers after playing four seasons with the New York Giants. A free agent with the Giants in '76, Robinson originally was a 15th round draft choice of the Atlanta Falcons in 1975. He pulled in 85 career receptions for the Giants for 1,437 yards and six touchdowns. Robinson also doubled as a return specialist in New York and is known for his intense, competitive play. In '79 he missed four games with a dislocated elbow and his effectiveness was hampered, thus lowering his reception mark to 13 for 146 yards. He had his best statistical season in '78, sharing the Giants' club lead in receptions with Johnny Perkins, with 32 catches apiece.

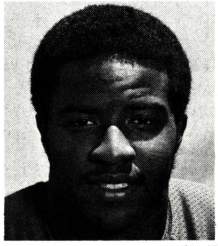

COLLEGE: Robinson lettered three seasons at Georgia Tech and was named the Bulldogs' offensive MVP in '72 and '73 and overall MVP in 1974. He also won the Georgia Tech award for highest academic honors among members of the football squad, and was an NCAA scholarship winner as well. He played in the Senior Bowl, Blue-Gray game and Coaches All-America game following his senior year.

PERSONAL: Jimmy is a native New Yorker, although he played high school football at Atlanta's Ridgeview High School, after transferring from Columbia High School in South Orange, N.J. Jimmy and his wife Jean have one daughter, Jamie Michelle (4/4/78), and make there home in Teaneck, N.J.

Thomas Seabron • 53

LINEBACKER • MICHIGAN • 2nd YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 215 • BORN: 5-24-57 • (D-5A FOR '79)

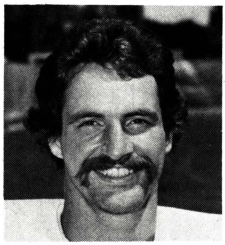

PRO: Thomas Seabron proved to be a valuable special teams performer for the 49ers in 1979, although the rookie from Michigan saw very limited action at linebacker. "Tom played a few isolated downs on defense but his effort and dedication were certainly something to take pride in,"

according to Bill Walsh. "He has good movement and is a highly intelligent young man with an excellent attitude. This training camp will tell much about his future in the NFL."

COLLEGE: Seabron made 100 tackles in his four-year career at Michigan, 52 of those tackles being unassisted. He was known as an exceptional pass rusher and earned 12 quarterback sacks his final two seasons. Seabron had a slow start in college because of a shoulder separation prior to his sophomore year, but rehabilitated it to full strength by his senior year.

PERSONAL: Thomas makes Detroit his off-season home, where he works with inner-city children. He hopes to enter law school next year at Michigan. Seabron is an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

WIDE RECEIVER • FLORIDA STATE • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 175 • BORN: 10-13-55 • (FA during '78)

PRO: Mike Shumann entered the 49ers' 1980 training camp as an established veteran, after starting all 16 games last season and pulling in 39 receptions for 492 yards and four touchdowns. To reach that level in his career, Shumann overcame many odds. He doesn't have the size (6-0, 175) or the speed ("I ran a 4.65 in college once but I haven't seen that in some time.") to make him a deep threat in the NFL, say the experts. But like fellow Florida State grad Fred Biletnikoff, he has made his mark with great hands and disciplined routes. "In a system like ours, it's very important that you run disciplined patterns," says the third-year pro. "Our system relies on everyone being where they're supposed to be, when they are supposed to be there." Originally a starter on the split side, Shumann was moved to the flanker position early last year to make better use of his route running capabilities and allow Freddie Solomon to use his speed and quickness on the often-more-open wide side. Coach Bill Walsh notes that many of Shumann's receptions were "tough catches, made in heavy traffic." Shumann joined the 49ers midway through the '78 season as a free agent, after having been signed out of college as a free agent by Miami. The Dolphins had waived Mike during the pre-season that year. "I knew he'd make it," says 49ers' Scout Neil Schmidt. "He's just one of those guys who refuses to give up — on a pass or his career."

COLLEGE: Shumann was one of the most productive receivers in Florida State history. He averaged 50 receptions a year for four years while a collegian. He appeared in the Japan and Hula Bowl all-star games after being named as an All-Independent selection his senior year.

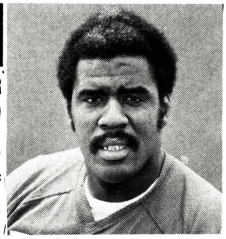

PERSONAL: Mike has two college degrees, one in art education and another in mass communications. During the off season, he worked for the Census Bureau. He makes his home in Redwood City, Calif.

Ron Singleton • 67

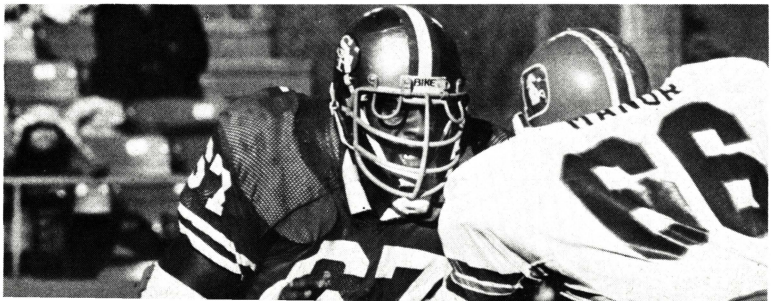

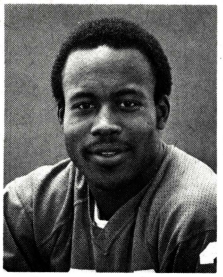

TACKLE • GRAMBLING • 4th YEAR
HT: 6-7 • WT: 267 • BORN: 4-15-52 • (FA DURING '77)

PRO: One key to the upgraded play of the 49ers' offensive line in 1979 was the individual improvement of left tackle Ron Singleton. "Ron was the most improved offensive lineman on the team," reports Coach Bill Walsh. An indication of Singleton's improvement came in the second and third games of the '79 season against Dallas and Los Angeles. Singleton all but shut down Harvey Martin of the Cowboys and Fred Dryer of the Rams. "After the Dallas game, Martin told me it had been a long time since he had somebody play that well against him," remembers Singleton. "Coming from him, that meant a lot to me." The following week Singleton held Dryer to no sacks and no tackles. Offensive line Coach Bobb McKittrick points to Singleton's preparation, both prior to and during the season, as one of Ron's strengths. "He spends a great deal of time during the season preparing for his opponents," says McKittrick. "And Ron gives the same type of effort in his off-season training. If everyone trains with the same discipline as Singleton, we will be in very good shape this year." A fourth round draft choice of the San Diego Chargers in 1976, Singleton came to the 49ers as a free agent in '77 after being released by the Chargers early in the regular season that year.

COLLEGE: Ron was a tight end at Grambling, where he was named to the All-Southwestern Athletic Conference team and the Black All-America team his senior year.

PERSONAL: Ron has a degree in special education and spends a great deal of time during the off-season working with special education schools in the Bay Area. He plans to open a private business near San Francisco this year after having moved to the Bay Area permanently last off-season. He and his wife Janice have a son, Ryan Kurt (11/16/71). They make their home in Mountain View, Calif.

Freddie Solomon • 88

WIDE RECEIVER • TAMPA • 6th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 181 • BORN: 1-11-53 •(Joined 49ers in a trade with Miami along with Vern Roberson and two draft choices prior to '78 for Delvin Williams)

PRO: "Freddie Solomon had his best professional season in 1979," according to 49ers' Coach Bill Walsh. Until a shoulder separation limited his game action the final three weeks of the '79 season, Solomon had been leading the entire National Football League in receptions with 53 after 11 games. Forced to play sparingly for two games, he fell behind his league-leading pace but still garnered 57 receptions for 807 yards and seven touchdowns, the 10th-best ranking in the NFC. Solomon proved that anything could happen once he touched the ball. An example was his six flanker reverses that netted an additional 85 yards, one a 56-yard touchdown in a 20-15 win over Atlanta. He also returned 23 punts before the shoulder injury. Solomon began his career as a second round draft choice of the Miami Dolphins in 1975. He was traded to the 49ers prior to the '78 season after having been switched by the Dolphins from college quarterback to pro wide receiver. He filled in at quarterback for the 49ers because of injuries during the 1978 finale at Detroit.

COLLEGE: Solomon played quarterback for the University of Tampa for four years (1971-74), rushing for 39 touchdowns and passing for 11. He had 17 games with more than 100 yards rushing. His career totals were 3,299 yards on 557 carries along with 188 completions in 436 passing attempts for 2,504 yards.

PERSONAL: Born and raised in Sumter, S.C., Freddie and his wife Delilah are involved in a number of private business ventures during the off-season, one being a commercial films production company. They make their home in Tampa, Fla.

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • COLORADO • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 264 • BORN: 8-5-56 • (D-6 for '79)

PRO: Ruben Vaughan's overpowering strength and power immediately grab one's attention on the football field, which is the main reason he was a sixth round pick by the 49ers a year ago. Vaughan used his 4.7 40 yard dash speed and his 475-pound bench press to earn a spot on the 49ers roster in '79, performing as a backup defensive tackle. Vaughan did start one game, the opener at Minnesota, and for the season had 12 tackles and 3 assisted tackles. "Ruben has tremendous power and ability," says Defensive Coordinator Chuck Studley. "He just needs to harness that power a little bit and know when to use it properly."

COLLEGE: Most effective against the run at the University of Colorado, Vaughan had a single-game tackling high of 17 stops against Kansas in a 1977 contest. For his career, he racked up 253 tackles, including 108 unassisted tackles. Vaughan was a two-time All-Big 8 selection, earning those honors his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL: Ruben grew up in the Watts section of Los Angeles where he often returns to work with underprivledged children. "These kids many times don't have a figure to look up to," said Vaughan. "I know how important that can be, and I just like the idea of trying to help." A one-time diving champion in high school, Ruben makes his home in Foster City, Calif.

Ted Vincent • 75

DEFENSIVE TACKLE • WICHITA STATE • 3rd YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 265 • BORN: 8-10-56 • (FA FOR '79)

PRO: Ted Vincent said he just wanted a chance to show what he could do as a starter. He received that opportunity when the 49ers acquired the young defensive tackle on waivers from Cincinnati just prior to the beginning of the '79 season. Vincent received his starting nod at defensive left tackle in the second game of the '79 season against the Dallas Cowboys. He racked up six tackles and forced a fumble in that game and his overall performance earned him a starting berth for the season. "Ted Vincent is definitely a factor in our defensive plans for the future," said Bill Walsh during the off-season. Vincent led all 49er defensive linemen in solo tackles with 47 in '79.

COLLEGE: Vincent was a starter at Wichita State for four years and led the Shockers in tackles his senior year. An All-Missouri Valley Conference selection as an offensive tackle in 1975, he was named All-Conference in 1976-77 as a defensive lineman.

PERSONAL: Vincent was a high school All-America at Fort Zumwalt High School in St. Charles, Mo. He is related to Curtis Brown, a running back with the Buffalo Bills, and makes his off-season home in his hometown of O'Fallon, Mo.

Jimmy Webb • 74

DEFENSIVE END • MISSISSIPPI STATE • 6th YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 245 • BORN: 4-13-52 • (D-1 FOR '75)

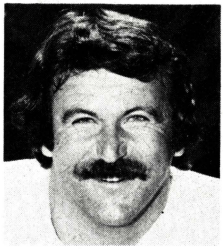

PRO: Versatility and consistency are attributes important in any field, and Jimmy Webb has made them his trademark in football. Webb has started up and down the defensive line since joining the 49ers as a first round draft choice in 1975. This year will see another change in Webb's career as he switches from tackle to end. "Webb will probably play left defensive end," reports Bill Walsh. "His quickness and relentless style of play are ideally suited for that position." Webb has been a mainstay of consistency in San Francisco. He has not missed a single game in four years. His intense on-the-field demeanor belies his otherwise gentle manner: "You have to have a certain meanness to play defensive lineman in the NFL," says the sixth-year pro. "But the biggest mistake you can make is to carry that meanness too far and be out of control." Webb displayed just enough meanness and control to accumulate 34 solo tackles, 20 assisted tackles, three quarterback sacks, and an assisted quarterback sack in '79.

COLLEGE: Webb played both defensive tackle and end while at Mississippi State. He played in the Senior Bowl and College All-Star games after earning All-America honors his senior year.

PERSONAL: Raised on a farm in Florence, Miss., Jimmy is finishing his degree in veterinary medicine at Mississippi State. He and his brother own a farm in Starkville, Miss., where he and his wife Cindy live during the off-season. They have twin boys, Joshua and Micah (11/6/77).

* Recovered two fumbles in 1975 and 1976; recovered one fumble in 1977 and 1978.

Ray Wersching • 14

PLACEKICKER • CALIFORNIA • 8th YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 210 • BORN: 8-21-50 • (FA during '77)

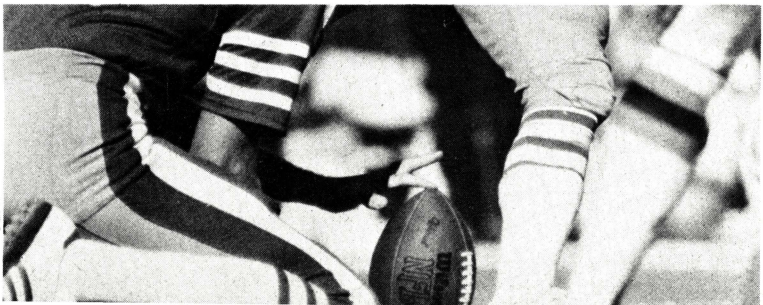

PRO: In his profession where pressure and tension go with the territory, San Francisco 49ers' placekicker Ray Wersching chooses not to capitulate to either. "There are so many factors to be considered when you're in a situation like mine," says the eight-year pro. "I have just decided I'm not going to let self-imposed pressure be one of them." Wersching was signed as a free agent by San Diego in 1973, and played four years with the Chargers before being waived out of the National Football League. With five games left in the '77 season, Ray was picked up by the 49ers, an acquisition that has proved to be an excellent move by the club. A year ago Wersching led the NFL with an 83.3 field goal accuracy percentage, converting 20 of 24 attempts. That mark set a new 49er record, formerly set by Bruce Gosset in 1973. "In addition to being a fine kicker, Wersching adds spirit and leadership to the 49ers," reports Coach Bill Walsh. "I enjoy the game and the players on the team, so I try to involve myself as much as I can," says Wersching. "If that means joking with some of the players, or helping time them in sprints after practice, then I'm happy to do what I can to help." His 92 points led the 49ers in scoring a year ago.

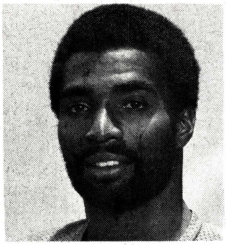

COLLEGE: Wersching had an outstanding career as a placekicker at the University of California at Berkeley. He attended Cerritos Junior College before transferring to Cal.

PERSONAL: Wersching works during the off-season as a CPA for the Price Waterhouse Company in Southern California. He and his wife Diane make their home in Leucadia, Calif.

Gerard Williams • 29

CORNERBACK • LANGSTON • 5th YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 184 • BORN: 5-25-52 • (FA FOR '79)

PRO: Gerard Williams joined the 49ers on waivers from the Washington Redskins just prior to the league opener against Minnesota last season. Within two weeks, Williams had nailed down the starting right cornerback position. He responded by notching 35 tackles for the season and pulling down four interceptions, bringing his four-year pro interceptions mark to 12. Williams' play was one highlight of the 49ers' defense in '79. "When you play in the secondary, you have to know where your help is coming from," says the fifth-year pro. "We had not played as a unit in the secondary and at times it showed. You have to know everyone's limitations, in addition to your own." Williams signed as a free agent with the Dallas Cowboys in 1974 after graduation from college, but was released. He then signed with Birmingham of the World Football League. In two seasons there, he had seven interceptions for 103 yards and led the league in 1974 with two interceptions returned for touchdowns. He joined the Redskins after the WFL folded and was a part-time starter there during his three seasons in Washington.

COLLEGE: Williams played wide receiver and defensive back for Langston University (Okla.). He set a school single season record of 204 yards in interceptions, returning one 100 yards for a score. He was an all-Oklahoma Collegiate pick in '74.

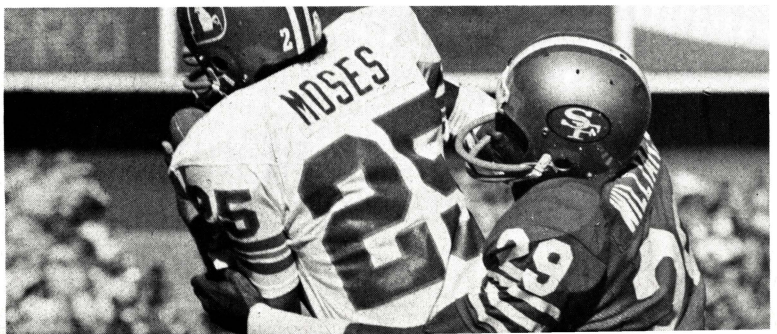

PERSONAL: Williams is a native of Oklahoma City, Okla., and makes his home in St. Louis, Mo., during the off-season where he is a real estate broker. Gerard is single.

* Recovered one fumble in 1975 and 1978; fumbled once and recovered two fumbles in 1977; recovered blocked punt in end zone for a touchdown in 1978.

Charle Young • 86

TIGHT END • USC • 8th YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 234 • BORN: 2-5-51 • (Joined 49ers in a trade with Los Angeles prior to '80 for 1983 draft choice)

PRO: "In Charle Young we added a veteran who still is young enough to again be an excellent player in exchange for a down-the-road draft pick," is how Coach Bill Walsh described the 49ers' off-season acquisition of former All-Pro tight end Charle Young. Young began his NFL career as if he would leave a storied textbook on how to play tight end in the league. An All-America at USC and the No. 1 draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles in '73, he was the NFL's Rookie of the Year that season, catching 55 passes for 854 yards and six touchdowns. He followed that sterling performance with two All-Pro seasons in 1974 and '75, catching 63 passes in '74, and 49 in '75. In 1977, Los Angeles traded the compensation rights for Ron Jaworski to Philadelphia for the compensation rights of Young. That same year free agent Terry Nelson earned the Rams' starting job, and Young subsequently spent three years as a backup, catching 5 passes in '77, 18 in '78 and 13 last fall. He added 3 catches for 39 yards in the NFC championship win at Tampa Bay in January. "I think we can rejuvenate Young's career," says Walsh.

COLLEGE: Young was a consensus All-America on the 1972 USC national championship team. He is the top pass-catching tight end in Trojan history and played in the Hula Bowl, Coaches All-America and College All-Star games.

PERSONAL: Born in Fresno, Ca., Young attended Edison High in that city. He and wife Colleen reside with son Charles II (12/24/75) and daughter Candace Euphrates (1/9/79) in Belmont, Calif. An ordained minister, Charle was very active in charity work in Philadelphia and Los Angeles and is continuing that pursuit in the Bay Area.

Other 49ers With Pro Experience

JERRY ALDRIDGE, the second player the 49ers selected on the fifth round a year ago, suffered a knee injury in a pre-season game at Oakland. The injury required surgery and shelved Aldridge for the '79 season. He led Angelo State (Tex.) to the NAIA Division I national championship in 1978 and a 14-0 record with 1,820 yards rushing. Aldridge had 17 consecutive games of 100-plus yards rushing during his college career. He is a 6-2, 220 pounder who will get another look at running back.

TERRY ANDERSON, a 5-10, 182 pound veteran of three NFL seasons, was signed by the 49ers as a free agent during the off-season following a year and one-half with the Miami Dolphins and another portion of a season with the Washington Redskins. Anderson hails from Boston and attended tiny Bethune-Cookman.

KEN BUNGARDA, nicknamed Tarzan, is a 6-6, 270 pound giant who was the Cincinnati Bengals' 11th round draft choice in 1979 but did not stick with the Bengals. A defensive tackle at Missouri, he will be given a look at offensive tackle by the 49ers. Bengarda originally attended Arizona Western Junior College before transferring to Missouri.

KEVIN FARRELL, a slender wide receiver from nearby Fresno State, has had two previous NFL tryouts, with Washington in 1977 and Buffalo in '78. He is a 6-foot, 178 pounder who attended high school in Anaheim and junior college at Fullerton.

JEROME HEAVENS was the No. 9 draft choice of the Bears a year ago, failed to make it in Chicago and migrated to the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League for the '79 season. A 6-0, 210 pound running back from Notre Dame, Heavens set the Irish career rushing record with 2,341 yards in four seasons. He also had ten 100 yard rushing games during his career.

CARLOS HENDERSON was a starting safety with Toronto in the Canadian Football League in 1978, then spent summer training camp last year with the Green Bay Packers before being released. Henderson is 6-2, 205 and played collegiate football at Eastern Michigan before transferring to Marquette to finish his undergraduate work.

GARY HUFF, a 6-1, 200 pound veteran NFL quarterback, was out of football last year after being released in pre-season by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Now 28, Huff spent six years in the NFL with Chicago and Tampa Bay. He was the Bears' No. 2 draft pick in 1973 following an All-America career at Florida State. His six-year pro totals include 392 completions in 788 passing attempts with 16 touchdowns. He was the Bears' starting quarterback in 1974 and '75.

FREEMAN JOHNS spent parts of two seasons with the Rams (1976 and '77), appearing in two games in '76 and five in '77. A 6-1, 175 pound wide receiver from Southern Methodist, Johns was a 10th round pick of the Rams in the '76 draft. He has yet to catch a pass in NFL regular season competition.

STEVE KNUTSON is a fifth-year pro who spent 1979 on the 49ers' injured reserve list with a neck injury. Knutson, a graduate of USC who came to the Niners from Green Bay in a 1978 trade, can play offensive tackle, guard or center. He is 6-3, 254.

BRAD KRAMER, a 5-11, 185 placekicker-punter who is a former minor league baseball player and a relative of former Green Bay Packer all-pro Jerry Kramer, has had two other NFL tests — at Seattle in 1976 and Los Angeles in '77. He's a graduate of Azusa Pacific College.

STEVE LINDQUIST, a guard-tackle from Nebraska, was a sixth round draft pick of the Miami Dolphins in '79. He was released during pre-season. A Minneapolis native, he is 6-6, 260 pounds.

FRANK LOCKETT, a 6-foot, 195 pound wide receiver from Nebraska, was a 10th round draft choice by Green Bay a year ago. A graduate of nearby DeAnza High in Richmond, Calif., Lockett attended Nebraska after starting at Contra Costa Junior College in 1975. He has been clocked in 4.56 in the 40 yard dash by 49ers coaches.

MIKE MCGRAW is a 6-2, 226 pound linebacker from Wyoming who played four games during the 1976 season with the St. Louis Cardinals after being a 10th round draft choice by the Cardinals in 1975. He also has had tryouts with New England and Detroit and is the son of former Lions' lineman Fum McGraw.

BOB NELSON is another veteran linebacker who ended up on injured reserve with the 49ers last November after starting a game at New Orleans and suffering a separated shoulder in that contest. A 6-4, 230 pounder from Nebraska, Nelson was a second round draft choice by Buffalo in 1975. He played two seasons with the Bills before signing as a free agent with Oakland for 1978. He ended up spending that year on the Raiders' injured reserve.

JOE PELLEGRINI, a 6-3, 270-pound defensive tackle from Idaho, originally signed as a free agent with the Oakland Raiders in 1978. He was acquired on waivers by the Jets in August, 1978, and played nine games in New York that season. He was a starter the first four games of last year with the Jets, but was released following the fifth game of the season. He later cleared waivers and was signed by San Francisco in May.

CALVIN PRINCE, a 5-9, 195 pound running back from Louisville, played for the Ottawa Rough Riders last year after failing two previous NFL tryouts with Cincinnati and Philadelphia. He originally attended Kansas University before transferring to Louisville.

A 6-2, 234 pound tight end from Washington State, Ramson was the St. Louis Cardinals starting tight end in 1978 and caught 15 passes for 238 yards and one touchdown that year. He originally was a 12th round draft choice by Green Bay in '78.

TOM RUSK, a 6-2, 230 pound linebacker from Iowa, was the New York Giants' ninth round draft pick a year ago. After being waived by the Giants, he tried with the Buffalo Bills but again was released. He was a three-time All Big 10 selection at Iowa, leading the Hawkeyes in tackles all three seasons.

PAUL SEAL is a six-year veteran who was traded by the 49ers to Tampa Bay on the second day of the draft last spring but was returned to San Francisco in late May. The 6-4, 227-pound Michigan grad caught just 3 passes for 34 yards for the '79 49ers.

DON SUTTON was originally signed as a free agent by Oakland following graduation from the University of Pacific in 1976. He was released by the Raiders in '77 and spent a short time with Calgary of the Canadian Football League before signing last spring with the 49ers. The 6-3, 260 pound center spent last year on injured reserve with a knee injury that required surgery.

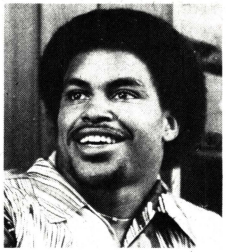

JOEY WALTERS, a 6-0, 175 pound wide receiver, went directly from Clemson University to the Sashatchewan Rough Riders in the CFL in 1978, where he has been a star receiver for two seasons. Last year he played just five games because of an injury but caught 42 passes nonetheless. Also a punt returner, Walters hails from Florence, S.C., and has 4.6 speed for the 40 yard dash.

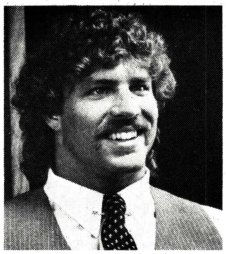

49ER FULLBACK WILBUR JACKSON SCRAMBLES DOWNFIELD. JACKSON'S 53 RECEPTIONS IN 1979 PLACED HIM SEVENTH AMONG NFL RUNNING BACKS.

49ers ROOKIES

(1980 Draftees)

EARL COOPER

JIM STUCKEY

EARL COOPER • Running Back • Rice

Ht. 6-2 • Wt: 227 • Born: 9/17/57 • D-1A

Earl Cooper was hailed on draft day as the best combination runner/receiver to come out of the NFL draft in recent years. Forty Niners Coach-GM Bill Walsh likened the Lexington, Tex., native to Chuck Muncie and Chuck Foreman, a back with size, power and speed, and one with great ability as a receiver out of the backfield.

Unheralded at Rice because of their four losing seasons while Cooper was there (Including 1-10 in 1979 and 0-8 in the Southwest Conference), Cooper comes to the 49ers with steady college statistics and glamorous vital stats.

In four years he rushed for 1,583 yards on 407 carries and caught 101 passes for 802 yards in Rice's passing game offense. His senior team-leading totals included 146 rushes for 536 yards, 47 receptions for 463 yards (which led the SWC) and seven touchdowns. He scored 21 career touchdowns, second-most in Rice football history.

The vital stats on Cooper prompted his early selection in the draft: 6-2, 227, consistent 4.58 40-yard dash time, great hands, fluid running with ball, especially in the open field, and coachable. His skills were such that he was one of those rare players asked to showcase his talents in the three major post season bowl games following his senior year — the Blue-Gray game, the East-West Shrine game and the Senior Bowl.

Rice's team captain his senior year, Cooper majored in physical education. As a high school quarterback, halfback, receiver and linebacker, he played Class A football (small school classification) at Lexington, Tex., where he also was a four-event performer in track and field and played basketball.

JIM STUCKEY • Defensive End • Clemson

Ht. 6-4 • Wt: 251 • Born: 6/21/58 • D-1B

The 49ers made All-America defensive lineman Jim Stuckey the 20th pick in the draft. The 6-4, 251 pounder was named to six All-America first teams his senior year, a season that saw him notch ten quarterback sacks, 92 total tackles and be named a finalist for the Lombardi and Outland awards.

The 49ers selected Stuckey and Earl Cooper with the picks they acquired from the New York Jets in exchange for the Niners' No. 1 choice (the No. 2 overall pick in the draft).

In four seasons at Clemson (he became a starter the eighth game of his freshman year), Stuckey racked up 267 tackles, including 146 unassisted stops and 121 assists. He had 28 tackles for losses, batted down four passes, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

Stuckey played in the 1980 Hula Bowl and Senior Bowls and was a two-time first team all-Atlantic Coast Conference selection. A product of Cayce, S.C., he majored in recreation and park administration at Clemson. He was a first team All-America pick last fall by the Sporting News, AP, UPI, NEA, Football Writers and Pro Football Weekly.

KEENA TURNER • Linebacker • Purdue

Ht. 6-2 • Wt: 219 • Born: 10/22/58 • D-2

Keena Turner, a two-time All-America and all-Big Ten pick, is expected to provide immediate help to the 49ers at linebacker. The cat-quick 219 pound Turner, who is rated as an exceptional all-around athlete by scouts, should be able to make an easy switch to pro linebacker from college defensive end.

A Boilermaker tri-captain in '79, Turner led the Purdue defense that was the Big Ten's finest against the rush last year. He had been named Purdue's most valuable player his junior season. "Keena has great agility and vision that will help him become an outside linebacker in the pros in a hurry," said Bill Walsh. "He has been Purdue's best defensive player the last two years; his coach, Jim Young, told us he will truly be a fine pro player and our scouts had him ranked with the best prospects in the country based on our team's need at linebacker."

Turner's senior season highlights included 11 tackles versus UCLA, ten tackles, two quarterback sacks and two forced fumbles against Ohio State, and 11 tackles against Illinois. He played in the Hula Bowl and Japan Bowl following the season. He totaled 57 tackles for losses totaling 345 yards during his three years as a starter.

JIM MILLER • Punter • Mississippi

Ht. 5-11 • Wt: 183 • Born: 7/5/57 • D-3A

The 49ers had Ole Miss punter Jim Miller listed as a crucial need entering the draft and could wait no longer than the 66th pick when their turn came to pick in Round 3. The consensus All-America punter in 1979, Miller, who usually punts barefoot but who also can punt with a shoe, should immediately shore up a pressing 49ers problem that has persisted since the loss of Tom Wittum.

Miller averaged an impressive 43.4 yards per punt for four seasons at Mississippi, including Southeastern Conference records for most punts in a career (266) for the most yards ever (11,549). He led the SEC in punting both his junior and senior seasons with averages of 43.2 and 44.6 yards and also averaged 45.9 yards for 66 punts his sophomore year in 1977.

Miller was named to the UPI, NEA, Football Writers, Walter Camp, Sporting News, College and Pro Football Weekly, Football News, AP and UPI All-America teams as a senior. A product of Ripley, Miss., he never had a punt blocked during his career and his average hang time, according to scouts, was 4.3 seconds.

CRAIG PUKI • Linebacker • Tennessee

Ht. 6-1 • Wt: 231 • Born: 1/18/57 • D-3B

Unheralded Craig Puki became the fifth player chosen by the 49ers in the draft and is expected to compete both at strongside and weakside linebacker for San Francisco even though he played middle linebacker at Tennessee.

The Seattle, Wash., native has 4.7 40-yard dash speed, according to reports. He racked up 87 unassisted tackles his senior year and 35 assists, recovered a funmble, intercepted a pass and had three quarterback sacks. He played four seasons for the Vols although he missed practically the entire '77 season with a knee injury that required surgery. He originally went to Tennessee as a fullback but switched to linebacker his second year there. For his career, he had 239 tackles and 119 assists. He led the team in tackles his junior and senior years and was a second team All-Southeastern Conference selection in '79.

RICKY CHURCHMAN • Strong Safety • Texas

Ht. 6-1 • Wt: 193 • Born: 3/14/58 • D-4A

Two-time all-Southwest Conference safety Ricky Churchman is expected to battle several veterans and possibly starter Tim Gray for the 49ers' strong safety job this year, according to Niners' Coach-GM Bill Walsh, who made the sure-tackling Texas defender the first defensive back taken by the 49ers in the draft.

Churchman capped an excellent college career with third team or honorable mention All-America honors on three different teams. He also was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Bowl game. He totaled 92 tackles as a senior, best among Texas defensive backs (two others from that secondary, John Johnson and Derrick Hatchett went in the first round), and finished his career with 267 tackles, 32 passes defensed and six interceptions. He was a high school quarterback in Pearland, Tex., before shifting to defense with the Longhorns.

DAVID HODGE • Linebacker • Houston

Ht. 6-2 • Wt: 221 • Born: 1/16/57 • D-4B

Houston Cougar tri-captain and twice the Cotton Bowl defensive MVP David Hodge was the third of four linebackers drafted by the 49ers. Named to the Coaches All-America first team in '79 and the AP second team All-America, Hodge led Houston in tackles his final two seasons there. He had 110 total tackles as a junior and 125 as a senior, leading his team both years with 85 solo stops in '78 and 87 tackles in '79.

In addition to being named the outstanding defender in the 1979 and '80 Cotton Bowls, Hodge was a two-time all-Southwest Conference first team choice. He hails from Clute, Tex.

KEN TIMES • Defensive Tackle • Southern

Ht. 6-2 • Wt: 246 • Born: 1/1/56 • D-5

Forty Niners officials consider Ken Times a "sleeper" only because he is generally unknown. But 49ers' Defensive Coordinator Chuck Studley was unhestitating in his pleasure over the selection of Times during the fifth round. "He is an all-out, go-getter with ability, good speed and quickness. He played his opponents in that small conference Southern is in (Southwestern Athletic) right off their feet."

A college middle guard, Times will seek to learn the nuances of defensive tackle in the pros. He briefly switched to linebacker as a junior but returned again to noseman to lead his team in tackles his final two seasons. Co-captain at Southern his senior year, Times was clocked in 4.6 in the 40-yard dash by scouts.

Times averaged more than 50 tackles and 50 assists a year during his career. He is from Deerfield Beach, Fla.

HERB WILLIAMS • Cornerback • Southern

Ht. 6-0 • Wt: 198 • Born: 8/30/58 • D-6

"Raw talent" is how 49ers scouts described Ken Times' Southern University teammate Herb Williams, the lone cornerback San Francisco selected in the draft. Williams' 40-yard dash times were consistently timed at 4.5 and the four-year Southern U. starter "will make an excellent NFL cornerback if he can adjust to pro football after playing against marginal college opposition," according to scouts.

Williams, who along with Times was a participant in last year's Black College All-Star game, led Southern defensive backs in tackles two years in a row with 44 as a junior and 47 as a senior. A native of Baton Rouge, La., he also had the highest academic average on Southern's team, 3.5. During his junior season, Williams spearheaded a Southern secondary that led all NCAA Division 1-AA teams in pass defense.

BOBBY LEOPOLD • Linebacker • Notre Dame

Ht. 6-1 • Wt: 215 • Born: 10/18/57 • D-8

Bobby Leopold of Notre Dame became the fourth linebacker the 49ers drafted this year in Bill Walsh's quest to improve 49er defensive play from a year ago. Leopold was a four-year letterman for the Irish, playing linebacker all four years and accumulating 180 career tackles, although he was moved to strong safety during spring practice prior to his senior season.

Leopold returned to inside linebacker for the regular season, however, and racked up 66 tackles and intercepted a pass. He set Notre Dame records early in his career when he picked off five interceptions as a freshman and sophomore, returning three for touchdowns. In all, Leopold had six career interceptions for 161 yards in returns. Leopold is a native of Port Arthur, Tex.

DAN HARTWIG • Quarterback • Cal Lutheran

Ht: 6-3 • Wt: 212 • Born: 11/19/57 • D-9

Dan Hartwig's selection by the 49ers may be rated as a "roll of the dice" choice although 49er Quarterback Coach Sam Wyche and Coach Bill Walsh rate the 1979 Little All-America pick as having a good chance to stick with the Niners squad.

A product of nearby Walnut Creek, Calif. (Ygnacio Valley High in Concord), Hartwig originally attended Brigham Young where he split time with Marc Wilson backing up Gifford Nielson. When Nielson graduated to the Houston Oilers and Wilson eventually won the starting quarterback job, Hartwig transferred to Cal Luthern in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

There he had one record-breaking season, completing 132 passes in 238 attempts (a 55 percent completion rating) for 1,980 yards and 11 touchdowns in 1979. His passing figures ranked second in NAIA statistics last fall. Cal Lutheran finished 7-1-1 and averaged 220 yards passing per game.

The 49ers Historical Highlights

Here are the team's historical highlights beginning with its first year in the NFL:

1950 — The 49ers fell flat on their faces in their NFL debut, winning only three games. A rival coach described them as "not big enough or tough enough."

1951 — In an amazing reversal of form sparked by a great rookie group, the 49ers were in the race to the final day and finished only a half game off the top. Led by Hardy Brown and his famed "shoulder tackle" the club had one of the toughest defensive units in the league. Y.A. Title and Billy Wilson began their great careers.

1952 — After a blazing start, the 49ers slumped in midseason. It can't be written off as unsuccessful for Hugh (The King) McElhenny came off the University of Washington campus to become "Player of the Year" and the most feared runner in football.

1953 — The 49ers had their best NFL showing, 9-3, normally good enough for a championship. But Detroit was 10-2. Two of the San Francisco losses came with Tittle benched because of a severe facial injury. The three defeats were by a total of nine points. Joe (Jet) Perry became one of the few players in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season. Gordy Soltau was the league's top scorer for the second straight year.

1954 — Early momentum was broken by injuries to key players such as Tittle, McElhenny, and Joe Perry. Perry gained more than 1,000 yards again, the first man ever to achieve this distinction.

1955 — With McElhenny hobbled by a foot injury, the 49ers had their second worst season in history under Norman P. Strader who succeeded Shaw as a head coach.

1956 — In Albert's first year at the helm, the 49ers were bogged in last place at midseason with a 1-6 record. They won four and tied one of their last five games for a brilliant stretch drive.

1957 — This undoubtedly was the most emotional and dramatic season in 49ers history. Every game was a "Cliffhanger" and the "Alley-Oop" pass from Tittle to rookie R.C. Owens became a household byword. Emotions reached a peak when the beloved Tony Morabito collapsed and died of a heart attack at the Chicago Bears game on Oct. 27. Trailing 17-7, the 49ers fought back for their greatest victory of all time, 21-17. The magnificent Wilson caught a pass from Tittle for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Tied with Detroit at 8-4 when the season ended, the 49ers lost the playoff game, 31-27, although they held a 27-7 lead in the third quarter.

1958 — An up-and-down season which finished on a high note when Green Bay and Baltimore were defeated in the last two games. The 6-6 record, however, was blackened by the 33-3 and 56-7 lacings at the hands of Los Angeles and Albert resigned at the end of the year.

1959 — With Hickey in charge, the 49ers were in contention all the way and John Brodie came into his own at quarterback when he led the team to a 21-20 upset of Cleveland. J.D. Smith, converted from a defensive back, became the second 49ers to accumulate more than 1,000 yards rushing.

1960 — Hickey saved a seemingly hopeless season when he installed his Shotgun attack and the club captured four of the last five games to finish in a tie for second place. Third-string quarterback Bobby Waters threw the passes that upset Baltimore, 30-22, in the final two minutes.

1961 — The success of Hickey's Shotgun amazed the football world, expecially the 49-0 victory over Detroit. Quarterback Bill Kilmer, a passing-running rookie from UCLA, was made to order for the new ofense. When the Shotgun was stopped, Brodie took over again in the T and had the finest season in 49er q.b. annals. Indicating the evenness of NFL competition, the 49ers were playing for a second-place tie, plus a trip to the Runner-up Bowl at Miami, or a fifth-place position on the last day of the season. The Colts again won by three points, but 1961 must remain as one of the most exciting and interesting years in 49ers history.

1962 — For the first time since 1956, the 49ers finished the frustrating season with more defeats than victories. In so doing, the honored adage of "it's easier to win at home than on the road," proved false — the 49ers won only one of seven at home, but captured five of seven road contests.

1963 — Injuries in multitude to key personnel started the 49ers off to a disappointing 2-12 league season. One of the victories, however, was a smashing 20-14 upset of ultimate World Champion Chicago, the only league defeat suffered by the Bears all season.

1964 — Club chief executive Victory P. Morabito died of a heart attack in May. Injury to key personnel prevented the 49ers from gaining enough offensive momentum to forge a winning season although they proved to be one of the toughest defensive clubs in the league. Outstanding rookie performances by end Dave Parks, quarterback George Mira and linebacker Dave Wilcox also took some of the sting from the 4-10 overall record.

1965 — Outstanding offensive performances enabled the 49ers to jump from the bottom to fourth place in the Western Division as the team led the NFL in both scoring and total offense. John Brodie was the most productive passer in the NFL, Dave Parks led the league in receiving and rookie Ken Willard and veteran John David Crow, acquired in an off-season trade, led a strong ground game. The over-all record was 7-6-1 and the season-opening 52-24 beating of the Chicago Bears marked the largest number of points ever scored by the 49ers in NFL play.

1966 — After a somewhat slow start, the 49ers got in gear just before midway in the season and became one of only two teams to beat the eventual World Champion Green Bay Packers. After that, they rolled to a respectable 6-6-2 record and were in the battle for second place in the Western Division until the final league game. Guard John Thomas and end Dave Parks were All Pro, and they joined guard Howard Mudd, center Bruce Bosley, fullback Ken Willard and linebacker Dave Wilcox in the Pro Bowl.

1967 — An auspicious start (they were 5-1) disintegrated into disappointment for the 49ers as injuries took a heavy toll and a six-game losing streak took them out of the running. Quarterback George Mira came off the bench to lead the squad to two season-ending vitories and salvage a 7-7 record. There were bright spots however, as, with John Brodie in fine form, the 49ers were the only team to beat the power-laden Rams in a league game, guard Howard Mudd and linebacker Dave Wilcox were named to All-Pro teams, and Mudd and center Bruce Bosley played in the Pro Bowl for the second straight time.

1968— Under new coach Dick Nolan the 49ers posted a 7-6-1 record as the season turned on key wins over New York, 26-10, and Green Bay, 27-20. Brillant performances by QB John Brodie, receiver Clif McNeil and running back Ken Willard led a prolific offense, while tackle Charlie Krueger, linebacker Dave Wilcox and defensive back Kermit Alexander, sparked a revitalized defense. McNeil and guard Howard Mudd were chosen All-NFL, and joined by Wilcox, Willard and Alexander in the Pro Bowl.

1969 — Beset by injuries that nearly decimated the defensive unit, the 49ers struggled through the early part of the season, went five games before beating Baltimore, the first time they had done that in 13 previous games. It got a little better after that (final record was 4-8-2) and five players — Jim Johnson, Dave Wilcox, Elmer Collett, Ken Willard and rookie Gene Washington — were selected for the Pro Bowl. Johnson was also All-Pro and winner of the Eshmont Award.

1970 — This was the greatest year since the club became a member of the NFL in 1950. The 10-3 record was the best as an NFL club, the Western Division (NFC) championship was the first in the NFL. In a season of superlatives, John Brodie was the NFL's "Player of the Year," Bruce Taylor was NFC "Rookie of the Year," Coach Dick Nolan was a near-unanimous choice as NFC "Coach of the year." Brodie, receiver Gene Washington, linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were All-Pro and joined by tackle Len Rhode in being selected for the Pro Bowl.

1971 — The 49ers forged a 9-5-0 record and won their second consecutive NFC Western Division title, clinching the crown on the final day by beating Detroit, 31-27, the identical score by which the Lions had knocked the 49ers out of championship play in the bitterly-remembered 1957 game. The season was also the club's first in its plush new home, Candlestick Park. Center Forrest Blue, linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were All-Pro and joined in the Pro bowl by Ted Kwalick, Gene Washington, Vic Washington, Cedrick Hardman and Bruce Taylor.

1972 — Early-season inconsistency compounded by an injury to John Brodie in the fifth game of the season cast a pall on 49er propects for a third-straight NFC West title, but Steve Spurrier stepped in for Brokie and turned things around with a brilliant, poised performance. In the final quarter of the final game the recovered Brodie relieved Steve, threw two TD passes for 20-17 win over Minnesota that clinched NFC West title No. 3, but Spurrier's nine-game contribution was the key. Center Forrest Blue, defensive back Jimmy Johnson, tight end Ted Kwalick, wide receiver Gene Washington and linebacker Dave Wilcox were All-Pro selections.

1973 — In what was both a disappointing and significant year, the 49ers were 5-9 after tackling the NFL's toughest schedule and failing victim to a rash of key injuries and an unsettled quarterback situation. It also marked the end of the brilliant careers of quaraterback John Brodie and defensive tackle Charlie Krueger, both of whom retired at year's end. Center Forrest Blue andDave Wilcox were All-Pro and joined in the Pro Bowl by Ted Kwalick, Woody Peoples and Tom Wittum.

1974 — The 49ers used five different quarterbacks after an injury to starter Steve Spurrier a week before the season opened sidelined him for most of the year. After winning the first two games the club lost a team record seven straight and then closed with a rush, winning four of the last five games to finish the season at 6-8. Running back Wilbur Jackson was named SPORTING NEWS "Rookie of the Year" and was named to the NFL All-Rookie team along with quarterback Tom Owen and defensive back Mike Holmes. Center Forrest Blue and punter Tom Wittum were All-NFC and selected for the Pro Bowl along with Jimmy Johnson. A knee injury forced perennial All-Pro linbacker Dave Wilcox to retire after a brilliant 11-year career with the 49ers.

1975 — A strong defensive performance throughout the season couldn't offset an erratic offense troubled by an unsettled quarterback situation and a rebuilding offensive line. High point of the 5-9 season was a 24-23 win over Los Angeles in Los Angeles to end a 10-game losing streak to the Rams. At season's end, defensive end Cedrick Hardman was the club's only All-Pro selection and only player chosen for the Pro Bowl. Jimmy Johnson became the club's first-ever two-time Eshmont Award winner.

1976 — A turnaround year for the 49ers as the team, under coach Monte Clark, posted an 8-6 record, their first winning season since 1972. With new quarterback Jim Plunkett at the controls, the 49ers got off to their best start ever, 6-1, before hitting a mid-season four-game losing streak that knocked the club out of playoff contention. The season saw the emergence of a powerful defensive unit that led the league in quarterback sacks with 61. Delvin Williams set a 49ers single-season rushing record with his 1,203 yards on the ground. Tommy Hart was named All-Pro and played in the Pro Bowl along with Williams, Cleveland Elam, and Dave Washington. Center Randy Cross was a NFL All-Rookie team selection. Tommy Hart became a two-time winner of the Eshmont Award. Cornerback Jimmy Johnson retired after a brilliant 16-year career with the 49ers.

1977 — In the 32nd year of their existence, the 49ers began an all new era. On March 31, 1977, the club became the property of Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., and came under the guidance of Joe Thomas as general manager. The changeover was made more dramatic because the San Francisco 49ers were one of the few NFL franchises which had never previously changed ownership or location. On the field, under Coach Ken Meyer, the 49ers ran hot and cold. The club lost its first five games, then won five of the next six before dropping the final three contests for a 5-9 record overall. Strong safety Mel Phillips was named winner of the coveted Eshmont Award. Cleveland Elam was selected All-Pro and played for the NFC team in the Pro Bowl.

1978 — The 49ers suffered through their longest season as the club fell to 2-14 in '78 and three coaches were hired and fired in less than 12 months. First, Pete McCulley departed after nine games with a 1-8 record, and his replacement, Fred O'Connor, was let go at the end of the year as the team won just one of its final seven contests. Bill Walsh was hired as the new Coach and General Manager on January 9, 1979, replaceing O'Connor as coach and Joe Thomas as General Manager. Running back Paul Hofer, who replaced acclaimed O.J. Simpson when the newly-acquired star went to the sidelines for the year with a shoulder injury, was named recipient of the Len Eshmont Award. No 49ers received post-season honors in '78, as five starters — in addition to Simpson — were lost for the year with injuries.

1979 — The 49ers suffered through their second consecutive 2-14 season, but there were several indications of improvement. San Francisco went from virtually the worst ranked offensive team in the league in '78 to one of the most productive offensive units in the NFL in '79, ranking first in passing offense in the NFC and sixth in total offense in the NFL. Running back Paul Hofer again was the Len Eshmont Award recipient and individual leader, racking up 615 yards rushing and an additional 662 yards receiving on 58 catches in only seven starts. Quarterback Steve DeBerg broke Fran Tarkenton's NFL record for completions by connecting on 347 passes. Kicker Ray Wersching set a new club record 83.3 field goal percentage, also leading the league with that mark. No 49ers were named to the Pro Bowl squad. O.J. Simpson retired from the 49ers and the NFL, finishing as the second leading rusher of all time with 11,236 yards.

Stadium Information

The San Francisco 49ers begin their tenth year in Candlestick Park. Candlestick is recognized as one of the better combination football and baseball stadiums in the United States.

The "new" Candlestick was completed in 1972 (the 49ers played in the park while it was still under construction in 1971), when it was completely encircled, carpeted with Astroturf, furnished throughout with comfortable chairs (no bleachers), and surrounded by additional parking space.

The stadium seats 61,185 for football. There are three major ticket plazas and entry levels. Every seat in the stadium is a chairtype, plastic unit for comfort and durability. Completely double-decked, the park features a 7,394-seat movable section.

In the spring of 1979, the artificial turf was replaced by natural grass.

Len Eshmont Award

Paul Hofer was awarded the coveted Len Eshmont Memorial Award for the second consecutive year for his play during the 1979 season. Hofer gained 615 yards rushing on 123 attempts, a 5.0 average. He had an additional 662 yards on 58 receptions. Hofer led the squad in both categories and also led the team in touchdowns with nine. Paul becomes the fourth 49er to win the award twice and the first 49er ever to win the award two years in a row. A secret ballot by 49er players before the last home game of the season determines the winner of the award. Eshmont, a Fordham graduate, was a member of the original 49ers squad in 1946. He subsequently coached at the Naval Academy and the University of Virginia before his untimely death in May of 1957. Club founder Tony Morabito established the award that same year.

30 — Kermit Alexander vs Philadelphia, September 20, 1964

ODDITIES

On December 10, 1978 when the 49ers defeated Tampa Bay 6 to 3 (2 Field Goals to 1), it was the first time in 49ers NFL History that an entire 49ers game was played without a touchdown being scored.

On December 8, 1957, Baltimore was awarded five downs in the final sequence of plays of the first half at Kezar Stadium.

On October 4, 1959, Y.A. Tittle's pass against the Los Angeles Rams was partially blocked. Tittle caught his own pass and ran for 4 yards.

On October 25, 1964, against Minnesota, George Mira passed to Bill Kilmer who caught the ball but fumbled when hit. Jim Marshall of Minnesota picked the ball up and ran 66 yards in the wrong direction, scoring a safety for the 49ers.

1980 NFL Rule Changes

One rule adopted for 1980 places greater restrictions on contact in the area of the head, neck and face. Under the heading of Personal Foul, players have been prohibited from directly striking, swinging or clubbing on the head, neck or face whether or not the initial contact is made below the neck area. Also, it is now illegal for an opponent to strike, swing or club the passer's arm.

Other league owners' action that clarified existing rules or initiated new safety developments included:

1. The area in which a passer is to be protected by an official's quicker whistle when he is clearly in the grasp and control of any tackler is to include the entire area behind the line of scrimmage; not merely the passing pocket, usually defined as the area between the tight ends (if two were used).
2. A timeout shall not be charged to a team with an injured player if a foul committed by an opponent in the last two minutes of either half caused the injury.
3. Head coaches again have agreed not to teach the use of the help block by running backs and tight ends attacking a defensive player below the knees while that player is engaged by another offensive player. Violation of this policy by players or coaches, either in practice or in the intent or spirit of this prohibition, may be considered Unsportsmanlike Conduct by game officials and/or Conduct Detrimental by the Commissioner.
4. During an injury timeout, members of both teams may go to the sidelines to confer with coaches, but must be ready for play when the referee signals the ball in play as soon as treatment is completed or the injured player has left the field.
5. Referee will run 10 seconds off the clock in the final two minutes of either half whenever a lateral or a forward pass is thrown from beyond the line of scrimmage in a deliberate attempt to stop the clock.

Hall of Fame

Three members of San Francisco's "Million Dollar Backfield" of the mid-1950's are enshrined in Pro Football's Hall of Fame. They are Y.A. Tittle, Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny. Another member of that same team, tackle Leo Nomellini, is also a member of the Hall of Fame.

Nomellini

Former San Francisco 49er tackle Leo "The Lion" Nomellini is a member of Pro Football's Hall of Fame, but he also has another distinction. He is the only player ever to make All-Pro both on offense and defense since two-platoon all-stars have been selected. Nomellini was an All-Pro choice on offense in 1951 and 1952, then switched to defense and was an All-Pro selection in 1953, 1954, 1957 and 1959. Leo also played in 10 Pro Bowl games, two on offense, eight on defense.
