Rams Executives

CARROLL ROSENBLOOM, Owner and President

Three short years ago the Rams struggled to a 6-7-1 record, their first losing season since 1965 and a third place finish in the NFC West. Their new owner, Carroll Rosenbloom, had taken the role of an observer that year, his acquisition of the club happening with the team in training camp, the playing and coaching personnel fixed and plans already in progress.

Rosenbloom had traded his Baltimore Colts for the Rams in a historic transaction. Accustomed to winning in Baltimore, Carroll was not happy with the way things turned out in 1972.

What has happened since is the obvious result of Rosenbloom's leadership, his football expertise and his ability to make apparently difficult decisions that always seem to turn out for the best. He has changed the club into a respected NFL power. In the two seasons since he became an active owner the Rams turned in consecutive NFC Western titles with 12-2 and 10-4 seasons.

In addition, the club is moving steadily toward the ultimate goal, the Super Bowl. Eliminated in the first round of the playoffs in '73, the Rams came back to whip Washington in round one last year before losing to Minnesota, 14-10, in the NFC Title Game on a day when the ball did not bounce right for Los Angeles.

The Rams sudden success is directly attributable to Rosenbloom, the perfectionist, who from the beginning had said the Rams would be Super Bowl contenders. For openers he continued his habit of finding new head coaching talent when he hired a Detroit Lions assistant named Chuck Knox.

Key decisions concerning quarterback personnel aided the Rams in their sudden turnaround. John Hadl came from San Diego to replace Philadelphia-bound Roman Gabriel at quarterback, and Hadl was the NFC's "player of the year" in '73.

Then, when the Ram offense faltered slightly early last season, Rosenbloom made his most controversial move yet, sending Hadl to Green Bay for five high draft choices, including two firsts. It may have seemed risky to many, but Rosenbloom's confidence in James Harris, Hadl's successor, was justified by another division title, a playoff victory and an MVP honor for Harris in the Pro Bowl.

The upshot of all this maneuvering is that the Rams today are set at quarterback with three young, talented players, (Ron Jaworski and Don Milan are the backups) and they are still benefiting from the deals involving Gabriel and Hadl that have netted Los Angeles receiver Harold Jackson, running back Tony Baker and eight draft choices that include four firsts, one of them runner John Cappelletti.

However, Carroll is not one to relax on his laurels. He points to his huge ring that is emblematic of Baltimore's Super Bowl title team. "I want another of these," he says. I want to be the first owner to win the Super Bowl in both conferences. Last June Carroll received the Arthur Daley Award from the New York Pro Football Writers for "long and meritorious service."

Obviously, success is nothing new to Rosenbloom whose acquisition of the Rams culminated on July 14, 1972. Carroll had revived professional football in Baltimore in 1953 after a previous franchise there had been dissolved in 1950. In his 19 years at Baltimore, Rosenbloom built teams which won the Super Bowl, three world championships before the merger and posted the best record in the NFL from 1958 on. His Colts recorded 16 consecutive winning seasons.

Why did he leave Baltimore where his Colts had compiled such an outstanding record? "The challenge," Carroll replies. "We'd gone as far as we could in Baltimore. I was hoping some of the luck I've had would rub off on the Rams."

It can't be all luck, however, when his teams win year after year. For one thing, Carroll has an uncanny ability for selecting winning coaches. In fact, head coaches discovered by Rosenbloom have won four of the last seven Super Bowls.

Carroll has great confidence in himself, his coaches and the other men he chooses to run his organization. "Los Angeles can look forward to having the kind of football team it can be proud of," he has stated. "And I want to build continuity. This team will be like my Baltimore teams, except it will be better. We will always give a good account of ourselves. Los Angeles will never have to worry about being embarrassed by its football team."

Carroll has a reputation as an interested and active owner. He is a frequent visitor at training camp and at practice sessions and makes it his pleasure to know the players as individuals.

Perhaps Los Angeles football followers will get a more knowing glimpse into his personality reading what some of his former players had to say. Tackle Jim Parker, recently named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, said: "I played for him for 11 years, and I wouldn't want to play for anyone else. He's always been a fair man. I've never met a man who worked for Carroll Rosenbloom who didn't like him. He's a straight from the shoulder man. If he didn't like something he would tell you about it. And you could do the same thing with him."

In all those successful years in Baltimore, the most famous of the Colt players was Johnny Unitas, Mr. Quarterback. Here's Unitas on Carroll Rosenbloom:

"Carroll is a man of many great talents . . . an insatiable desire and drive to be the best at every undertaking, outstanding knowledge of football and real compassion and understanding for people.

"During his tenure as the leader of the Colts, he built us into one of the greatest organizations in professional sports history. He richly deserves a place in the Professional Football Hall of Fame, which I'm sure is in the works.

"His contributions are so numerous and significant that I can't begin to mention them all. I must say that all Colt players who had the pleasure of playing for him have the highest respect for the winning tradition and the family atmosphere he created in Baltimore.

"In all relationships we had—even the disagreements and differences that you have in a family—we always walked away with a special feeling for 'The Boss'. You might say, we loved the man. And I'm sure the Rams players and fans do too."

Rosenbloom's ability to put together an organization which met with such great success was noted by another of Baltimore's former better-known players, versatile Tom Matte. When he learned of Carroll's decision, Matte said: "People in Baltimore don't know what it's like to have a loser. When was the last time the Colts had a losing team? I think it was 1956. Wasn't it?"

"Fans don't realize what an integral part of a successful ball team that management plays. We've always gone first class on the Colts and we've also had a team which had a potential to win a championship. I think it's a pretty general consensus around the league that Carroll Rosenbloom is the top owner in football. Our team will be lacking something when he goes. You could always talk with him if you had a grievance. He has always taken time out for his people's personal problems."

Besides his devotion to his own team, Carroll has always been a leader in NFL policy-making decision. For example, he lent his business acumen and negotiating skill as a key force on the NFL Executive Committee which completed the merger agreement with the former American Football League to form the present 26-team alignment.

Just as Rosenbloom was a positive force behind the success of the merger, so has he been a prime example of what excellent management can do in professional football. Perhaps the Rosenbloom success formula can best be explained by his philosophy: The man is totally dedicated to the fan. "The first objectives are to see that the fans are entertained and that they are comfortable," he said.

The best way to do the former, he feels is to play winning football. The best way to do the latter is to push for improved stadium conditions, a project that has occupied much of his time since moving to Southern California.

Carroll likes to be described as a football executive, despite the fact that he is involved in many other ventures. Carroll is an active and resident owner. He and his beautiful wife, the former Georgia Hayes, live in Bel-Air.

A Baltimore native, Carroll attended Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance. He played halfback on Penn's football team and pitched for the baseball nine. Golfing has been his game for relaxation, but since moving to the Southland he has revived an abiding interest in tennis.

DON KLOSTERMAN,

Executive Vice-President and General Manager

The name Don Klosterman and success have been companions throughout his 15 years as a professional football executive. Certainly the most recent and striking example is the Los Angeles Rams, where Klosterman is Executive Vice-President and General Manager.

Klosterman arrived back "home" in Southern California in the summer of 1972, along with owner Carroll Rosenbloom, who had traded his Baltimore Colts for the Rams. It was too late to have a part in building that team, and the two men watched the Rams go 6-7-1, the first losing season for the club since 1965.

Losing, however, is not Klosterman's style. He and Rosenbloom are not very good at it—and they set about to make some changes. Since that time key personnel decisions were made that helped the Rams win two consecutive NFC Western titles. Klosterman involved himself with many of these moves, not the least of which was the hiring of ex-Detroit assistant Chuck Knox as head coach.

Klosterman and Knox have worked closely together in forming the current Ram team. Knox on the field and Klosterman directing off-the-field personnel operations such as negotiating trades and supervising the scouting department, among the myriad of other duties that require attention of a general manager.

It is in these particular areas of trades and scouting that Klosterman has made a name for himself that is second to none in the NFL, this despite the many hours which of necessity must be devoted to the day-by-day operation of a professional football team. Don has always had an eye for talent. Throughout his career he has been renowned for his ability to sign super stars and to help teams win championships.

The former Loyola University star quarterback helped build title-winning teams in San Diego, Kansas City and Houston before joining Rosenbloom in Baltimore and later, of course, in Los Angeles.

In his 11 years away from "home" Don helped bring prosperity to each franchise he visited.

They were years that saw Don become a key, driving force in the ultimate acceptance of the young American Football League. They were years climaxed by a Super Bowl ring one year after he became General Manager for Rosenbloom in Baltimore.

Prior to pro football's merger, no man made life more difficult for the established National League than Klosterman. Since the merger, few have worked harder for the common good.

As a youngster in Compton . . . with dad, mom, nine sisters and five brothers . . . Don Klosterman had learned early about the "common good."

He had also learned a lot of football and soon took the knowledge to Loyola University where, as "The Duke of Del Rey," he led the Lions through their most successful athletic era.

The university was grateful. It retired Don's jersey (No. 10) and in 1971 honored him as its "Alumnus of the Year." Today he is a member of its Board of Regents.

In three seasons, he fashioned seven NCAA passing records, including one for career completions of 368 which lasted 13 years and another for the most completions in one season (159) which stood for 12 years. One night, against Florida, he set three records—33 completions in 63 attempts for 372 yards—and the pro scouts liked what they saw.

Don's professional career began as Cleveland's first-round draft choice. With Otto Graham the Browns' incumbent QB, Don was traded to the old Dallas Texans, then to the Rams. In 1952 with the Rams, he played third fiddle behind a pair of quarterbacks named Waterfield and Van Brocklin.

Following two years in the Air Force, Klosterman returned to football with the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian Football League and held (until recently) the CFL record for the longest pass completion—106 yards from the line of scrimmage.

Following a business stint in Beverly Hills with his former Loyola coach, Jordan Olivar, Don returned again to pro football in 1960, this time as a scout with the fledgling Los Angeles Chargers. A new career was begun. A string of successes started.

The Chargers, sparked by players scouted, courted and signed by the young exec, quickly were a dominant force in the AFL. John Hadl, Keith Lincoln and Ron Mix exceeded expectations and football men eyed Klosterman's eye for talent. One of them, Lamar Hunt, lured him away from San Diego to his Dallas Texans (now the Kansas City Chiefs). Ed Budde, Mike Garrett, Bobby Bell, Buck Buchanan, Otis Taylor and other Klosterman signees were Hunt's reward and the foundation for an eventual Chiefs' Super Bowl title was formed.

Next stop on the trail back to Los Angeles was Houston where Klosterman became General Manager in 1966. An Oilers team which finished last in 1964, 1965, and 1966 quickly shared its new boss's romance with success. In 1967 Houston won the Eastern Division title with a 9-4-1 record and never again finished lower than second under Don's leadership.

On January 6, 1970, Klosterman signed as Baltimore G.M. and today calls that move the "most important of my career because I joined Carroll Rosenbloom the very best owner in all of professional sports."

Don's active gridiron career ended in 1957 when he suffered near fatal injuries after veering during a high-speed ski run to miss a young person on the trail. Don went off a cliff at a speed of approximately 45 m.p.h. Eight operations and eighteen recuperative months later he was released from the hospital.

Doctors told Klosterman he would never walk again. "Psychologically, it was the right thing to tell me," he says now. "It meant a challenge."

Don met that challenge, and recently he was named recipient of the first annual Pro Football Hall of Fame Red Grange Award for "inspirational leadership."

Today, Don not only walks, but also swims, dances and golfs in the low 80s. He shares these activities with his children, Kurt 13, and Katie, 12.

From his birthplace in Lemars, Iowa, to his present home in Los Angeles, Don Klosterman has gained the experience of a lifetime in football and has displayed an abundance of courage, charm and character. He is Carroll Rosenbloom's type of general manager.

STEVE ROSENBLOOM, Assistant to the President

Quietly, behind the scenes, a large part of the Rams front office is now headed up by Steve Rosenbloom, a 30-year-old executive who has worked in practically every phase of a professional football operation. Probably no man his age has been more completely schooled in running a sports enterprise.

Last year Steve assumed a more active role in the Rams organization. Today he oversees the business end of the operation—the controller, the public relations department, the ticket department and most other phases that do not deal directly with player personnel.

He certainly has been groomed for the position. In fact, before coming to Los Angeles Steve served as President of the Baltimore Colts, a title he held from March of 1971 until July of '72 when his father, Carroll Rosenbloom, traded that franchise for the Rams. While Carroll came west, Steve stayed behind for a year to help with a smooth transfer to new management. Later he spent a season getting acclimated to the Rams, then was named Assistant to the President of the Rams in the spring of 1974.

Steve has spent more than half of his life working in football. At the age of 12 he was an assistant equipment manager of the Colts during training camp and on weekends. Five years later he moved his efforts to the front office where he aided the club's summer public relations office at training camp.

In the mid 1960s Steve was an undergraduate in business management at Georgetown University. During his collegiate days his Colt responsibilities increased as he worked closely with the late Don Kellett, then General Manager of the club. He obtained his degree from Georgetown in 1967 and immediately moved into the Colt organization on a full-time basis.

As the club's Business Manager, Steve handled road trip arrangements, transportation schedules, and hotel accommodations for a period of two years before moving up as Assistant to the President in 1969.

In this position, the younger Rosenbloom associated closely with the player personnel department, signing both rookies and veterans and scouting collegiate talent.

The Colts were riding high during this period, and they climaxed their 1970 season with a 16-13 triumph over Dallas in the Super Bowl.

Two months later Carroll Rosenbloom turned over the presidency of the club to Steve.

Born November 23, 1944 in Atlantic City, New Jersey, Steve has brought to the west coast an interest in community service and charity work. A former Director of the Maryland Chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation, he currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Southern California Chapter of that organization.

He and his wife, the former Renee Bauchat, operated a commercial kennel in Baldwin, Maryland before moving to their new home in Rolling Hills Estates, Calif. They are the parents of a son, James Carroll, born last March.

JACK TEELE, Administrative Assistant

The 1975 season will be the 16th on the Rams staff for Jack Teele, a former newspaper columnist whose administrative talents are widely respected around the National Football League.

It was in 1960 that Teele left the Long Beach Independent & Press-Telegram to become Public Relations Director of the Rams. In that field he was an innovative force in the league for a decade. Then, in March of 1969, Teele was elevated to Assistant to the President, a position which made him the trusted right hand of the late Dan Reeves until the former owner's death in April of 1971.

When Carroll Rosenbloom assumed ownership of the club in July of 1972 he retained Teele in a high administrative capacity.

Born June 17, 1930, in Bloomington, Illinois, Teele soon became a Californian. He is a product of the Long Beach school system, graduating from Long Beach Polytechnic High School, Long Beach City College and Long Beach State. Jack was a high school athlete, participating in basketball and golf at Poly. Later, he was a guard on Long Beach State's first-ever basketball team in 1951-52.

While he was going to school in Long Beach, Teele also began working full-time in the sports department of the Independent & Press-Telegram from 1949 through 1952, the same year he graduated from college and entered the service. He was with the Army's Counter Intelligence Corps in Japan until 1954, when he returned to the newspaper as a sports writer and columnist.

It was in 1957 that he began his association with the Rams, covering the team for three years until he joined the organization.

The 45-year-old Teele was named Long Beach State's Outstanding Alumnus of the Year in 1971.

With the Rams he has performed a myriad of tasks, including director of training camp and supervisor of the coaches' offices and practice facility in Long Beach. He also handles team travel arrangements.

Jack, his wife Marilyn, and their two daughters, Dana, 19, and Lisa, 16, reside in Long Beach.

Rams Coaching Staff

CHUCK KNOX, Head Coach

In the modern history of the NFL no one has won division titles in his first two years as head coach. No one, that is, until Carroll Rosenbloom hired Chuck Knox to guide his Los Angeles Rams prior to the 1973 season.

Two years later the Rams, a 6-7-1 team in '72, are recognized as one of the powers in the NFL after consecutive division title winning seasons in 1973 and '74.

Knox broke in by going 12-2 and winning all the "coach of the year" honors. Last year the Rams again won the NFC West, this time with a 10-4 record, and advanced one step closer to the Super Bowl by defeating Washington in the first round of the playoffs, 19-10, before losing to Minnesota in the NFC Championship Game, 14-10. The win over the Redskins was the first post-season playoff victory by the Rams since their World Championship season in 1951.

So the intense former New York Jets and Detroit Lions assistant has compiled a 22-6 regular season record that includes two division titles in two trips to the post. The .786 winning percentage is the best among active NFL coaches.

It has been quite a debut for the no-nonsense Scotch-Irishman, who also guided the NFC last January to its first Pro Bowl victory in the last four years. By comparison, Vince Lombardi posted 7-5 and 8-4 records in his first two years at Green Bay and Don Shula went 8-6 and 12-2 in his initial two seasons at Baltimore.

Shula, like Knox, was a Detroit assistant who was given his chance by Rosenbloom, who rarely misses on his coaching selections. Four of the last seven Super Bowls have been won by head coaches who were discovered by Rosenbloom, the former owner of the Colts before he traded them for the Rams in 1972.

Rosenbloom's selection of Knox resulted in an instant winner. After the sparkling 1973 season the honors began to pour in for the popular, enthusiastic young coach. Anyone who voted for someone else as coach of the year wasn't paying attention. For the record, The Associated Press, The Washington D.C. Touchdown Club and Pro Football Weekly recognized Knox as Coach of the Year in the NFL while UPI, The 101 Committee, The Pro Football Writers Association and The Sporting News gave him the same honor for the NFC.

The awards were a fitting tribute to the man who thrives on hard work and enthusiasm, two traits he has exhibited during his more than two decades of coaching football at all levels, including 12 years in the pros, five in college and four in the high school ranks.

Knox's professional football coaching preparation was extensive. He was the highly regarded offensive line coach of the Detroit Lions for six years, joining the club in 1967 when Joe Schmidt was named head coach. Prior to that Chuck served four seasons in the American Football League as offensive line coach of the New York Jets. He was a member of Weeb Ewbank's first Jets staff in 1963 and remained there through 1966 when he moved to the Motor City.

In both New York and Detroit, the 43-year-old Knox was credited with improving and developing two outstanding offensive lines.

The son of an Irish steel worker, Knox was born April 27, 1932 in Sewickley, Pa. He attended little Juniata College in Huntingdon, Pa., where he was an offensive lineman and co-captain. A three-year letter winner (1951-53), Knox graduated in 1954, then spent one season as assistant coach at his alma mater before going into Pennsylvania prep coaching for four years. He was line coach at Tyrone High for one season and head coach for three years at Ellwood City High.

In 1959 Knox climbed another rung on the coaching ladder when he moved to Wake Forest as an assistant for two seasons until he took a similar job at the University of Kentucky in 1961. Chuck remained with the Wildcats for two or more years under both Blanton Collier and Charlie Bradshaw. When Ewbank asked him to join his Jets staff in 1963, he moved to New York.

Chuck, who is active in fund raising efforts for the Kidney Foundation of Southern California and the Huntington Beach Boys Club, and his wife Shirley have three daughters, Chris, 21; Kathy, 19; and Colleen, 15; and one son, Chuck, 10. They reside in Huntington Beach.

ED ALSMAN, Special Assignments Coach

Thirty-four-year-old Ed Alsmann was added to Chuck Knox's coaching staff prior to the 1974 season. As a special assignments assistant, he works with the offense and also handles statistical and computer chores.

Alsmann, who spent six seasons in the high school ranks and another as a collegiate assistant, is a native of the state of Washington. He was an assistant at Tahoma High in 1967, then became head coach at Sultan High near Seattle from 1968 through 1972. In '73 he served as a backfield assistant at San Jose State before joining Knox's Rams staff.

Born March 16, 1941, in Aberdeen, Washington, Alsmann was a running back and linebacker at Seattle's Shoreline High. He played a year at the U.S. Naval Academy before transferring to the University of Washington, where he obtained a BA degree in 1965. Later, he earned a master's degree at the University of Seattle.

Ed and his wife, Charlotte, reside in Long Beach, Ca.

LEE BENNETT, Receivers Coach

Leeman Bennett was an assistant coach with Chuck Knox at Detroit and was the only fellow assistant Knox brought from the Lions when he became the Rams' head coach. For the third straight year, Bennett will be in charge of the receivers. He handled the offensive backfield at Detroit.

Born June 20, 1938 in Puducah, Kentucky, Bennett is in his 13th year as an assistant coach in the pro and college ranks, a period interrupted by a two-year tour of duty in the U.S. Army.

The possessor of a bright young football mind, Bennett spent three previous seasons coaching for two different NFL clubs and seven earlier years coaching at four different major universities.

A quarterback and defensive back at the University of Kentucky for three seasons (1958-60), he was on the coaching staff of his alma mater three years (1961-62 and 1965).

Bennett coached at the University of Pittsburgh (1966), University of Cincinnati (1967-68) and the Naval Academy (1969) before being hired by Charley Winner with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1970. He stayed to assist Bob Hollway in 1971 and coached in 1972 under Joe Schmidt in Detroit before coming to the Rams.

Lee and his wife, Pat, have two sons, Paul, 9, and Greg, 6. They reside in Huntington Beach, Calif.

TOM CATLIN, Linebackers Coach

Forty-three-year-old Tom Catlin is in his tenth straight season as an assistant coach with the Rams, the longest continuous coaching assignment in the team's history.

A 15-year veteran of pro coaching, the former University of Oklahoma All-American has worked under three different head coaches with the Rams—George Allen, Tommy Prothro and Chuck Knox.

Catlin, who joined the Rams as a defensive specialist in 1966, will be in charge of Knox's linebacking corps for the third straight year.

He began his pro coaching career under Hank Stram with the Dallas Texans of the AFL (1960-62) and then moved with the club to Kansas City where he helped coach the Chiefs from 1963 through 1965.

Born in Ponca City, Okla., Sept. 8, 1931, Catlin was an All-American center and linebacker under Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma in 1952, the last of his three varsity seasons there.

Drafted by Baltimore in the fourth round following the end of his collegiate career, Catlin was traded to Cleveland where he became a starting linebacker midway in his rookie year. The Browns won the World Championship in 1954 with Catlin, then a second-year pro, calling the defensive signals for the club.

In March of 1955 he went into the Air Force, and later spent his final months as Plebe coach at West Point under the famed Earl "Red" Blaik in 1957.

After his release from the service, he played three more seasons of pro ball—Cleveland (1957-58) and Philadelphia (1959)—before joining the coaching ranks.

Catlin and his wife, Betty, live in Orange with their daughter, Kim, 16, and son, Tom, 15.

JACK FAULKNER, Special Assistant Coach

A former AFL Coach of the Year, Jack Faulkner has been a football coach or scout for 26 years.

In his third season under head coach Chuck Knox, Faulkner again will serve as a special assistant. It's his job to help work with the Rams' defense, to do advance game scouting and evaluate professional personnel.

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, Faulkner was a line-backer at the University of Miami from 1946 through 1948 following a tour of duty in the Marine Corps (1944-45).

He coached for six years at the University of Cincinnati (1949-54) under Sid Gillman and came West with Gillman in 1955 as a defensive backfield coach when the latter was hired by the Rams as their head coach.

Later, he coached for Gillman with the Los Angeles Chargers of the AFL (1960) and the San Diego Chargers (1961).

He was named head coach and general manager of the Denver Broncos in 1962 and led them to a 7-7 record in his first season after they went 4-9-1 in the previous year. As a result, Faulkner was selected as the AFL's Coach of the Year.

He remained at Denver until midway into the 1964 season. In 1965 he became the defensive backfield coach of the Minnesota Vikings.

In 1966, he returned to the Rams as a scout. He left to join the expansion New Orleans Saints from 1967 through 1970, serving as chief defensive coach for three years and director of player personnel the final season. He returned to the Rams as a scout in 1971-72 and then to Knox's coaching staff.

Jack, who was born April 4, 1926, and his wife, Betty, live in Palos Verdes. They have a daughter, Cathy, 23, and a son, Jon, 12.

RAY MALAVASI, Defensive Coordinator

Under defensive coordinator Ray Malavasi, the Rams have been one of the NFL's outstanding defensive clubs the last two years. The penurious Ram defense led the league in total defense (2,951 yards) and rushing defense (1,270 yards) in 1973 and in scoring defense (181 points) and rushing defense (1,302 yards) in 1974.

Malavasi, a native of Passaic, New Jersey, who was born November 8, 1930, has spent 21 years in coaching. He has experience in the NFL, the Canadian League, colleges and service teams.

He came to the Rams in 1973 after two years at Oakland where he was in charge of the Raiders' linebackers.

Malavasi's coaching career began in 1953. Although he was drafted by Philadelphia that year, he opted to become a player-coach at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, where one of his teams won a service title.

The former Army and Mississippi State lineman then served as a college assistant coach at Minnesota (1956-57), Memphis State (1958-60) and Wake Forest (1961).

He left coaching briefly in 1962 to become personnel director of the Denver Broncos and was that club's defensive line coach the following season. In 1966, Malavasi was named the Broncos' head coach, replacing Mac Speedie, who had resigned just prior to the start of the season.

In 1967 and 1968, Malavasi served as the defensive coach of Canada's Hamilton Tiger-Cats. He held the same job with the Buffalo Bills the following two years (1969 and 1970) and joined the Raiders in 1971.

Malavasi, who attended high school at Clifton, N.J., and his wife, Mary, have two daughters, Maureen, 17, and Sheila, 13; and three sons, Dennis, 18, Bill, 13, and Bryce, 11. They live in Huntington Beach, Calif.

KEN MEYER, Offensive Coordinator

Ken Meyer and Chuck Knox began a long friendship when they were assistant coaches at Wake Forest in 1959. When Knox landed the Rams' head coaching job in 1973, Meyer was his choice as offensive coordinator.

A former assistant under Dick Nolan and Weeb Ewbank, Meyer helped coach the No. 1 offense in the NFL in 1973. The Rams led the league in total yards (4,906) that year and in scoring (388 points).

Meyer, who was born July 14, 1925, in Erie, Pa., has been in the pro coaching ranks since 1968. He served as an assistant to Nolan with the San Francisco 49ers that season and then accepted a job from Ewbank with the New York Jets in 1969 where he remained for four seasons when he came to the Rams.

A quarterback at Denison College in Granville, Ohio, from 1947 through 1950, Meyer later earned a master's degree from Ohio State and coached high school football in Ohio in 1950 and 1951.

From 1952 to 1957, he coached at Denison, then moved to Wake Forest for two years (1958-59) and to Florida State where he was an assistant for three seasons (1960-62).

From 1963 through 1967, he was the head offensive coach at Alabama under Bear Bryant where he coached in five straight bowl games.

Meyer, who attended high school at Ashtabula Harbor, Ohio, resides in Los Alamitos, Calif. with wife Martha and daughter Alea, 12.

ELIJAH PITTS, Offensive Backfield & Special Teams Coach

An 11-year NFL veteran who played in Super Bowl I, Elijah Pitts replaced Dick Vermeil on the Rams staff after the latter was named head coach of UCLA's football team following the 1973 season.

Pitts, who was born February 3, 1938, at Mayflower, Ark., spent 10 of his pro seasons with the Green Bay Packers and played in four NFL championship games; 1961, 1962, 1964 and 1965. After the 1971 season, he retired to become a full-time scout with the Packers, a job he held when he was hired to fill the vacancy created by Vermeil's departure.

Pitts compiled an outstanding pro record as a running back and return man after being drafted in the 13th round by Green Bay out of Philander Smith College (Ark.).

His lifetime statistics include 1,788 rushing yards in 514 attempts, 104 receptions for 1,245 yards, 75 punt returns for 394 yards and 27 kickoff returns for 516 yards.

Pitts actually played three games with the Rams in 1970. He was traded to the Chicago Bears that season and then moved on to the Rams and New Orleans. He finished his career where he started—at Green Bay—in 1971.

Pitts and his wife, Ruth, have three children: Ronnie, 12; Kimberly, 4; and Anthony, 2. They reside in Fountain Valley, Calif.

RAY PROCHASKA, Offensive Line Coach

At 55, Ray Prochaska is in his 28th season in his chosen profession, a career which began after he played in the 1941 Rose Bowl with the Nebraska Cornhuskers and was with the Cleveland Rams for a season.

Prochaska (pronounced with a silent "c") is in his second stint of duty with the Rams. He served five years with the club from 1966 through 1970 and rejoined the Rams as their offensive line coach under Chuck Knox in 1973.

In between, he served in a similar capacity with the Cleveland Browns under Nick Skorich.

At Nebraska, Prochaska was an offensive end for three seasons. In the 1941 Rose Bowl, the Cornhuskers lost to Stanford, 21-13. After playing in the College All-Star game, he signed with the Cleveland Rams for a season before entering the Army for 4½ years.

After his discharge, he spent nine years (1946-54) as an assistant coach at Nebraska before entering pro football as an assistant to Pop Ivy with the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League from 1955 through 1957. In 1958, he joined the Chicago Cardinals as their offensive line coach, a club he stayed with after it moved to St. Louis.

In 1966, he was hired by George Allen to coach the Rams' offensive line. Born Aug. 9, 1919, Ulysses, Nebraska, Prochaska and his wife, JoAnn, have three sons and a daughter: Craig, 28; Mark, 23; Judy, 20; and Scott, 11. The Prochaska family resides in Seal Beach, Calif.

JIM WAGSTAFF, Defensive Backfield Coach

Jim Wagstaff joined the NFL coaching ranks as the Rams' defensive backfield coach in 1973 on Chuck Knox's first Ram staff.

A native of Idaho, he played in both the NFL and the AFL before coaching for seven years in high school and four seasons in college.

When Knox hired him, Wagstaff was at Boise State where he had coached since 1969, serving as defensive coordinator and coaching the linebackers and defensive backs.

After his pro playing career ended in 1962, the former defensive back of the Chicago Cardinals and Buffalo Bills returned to his home state where he was head coach at South Fremont High School in 1962, head coach at Pocatello High from 1963 through 1965 and head coach at Idaho Falls High from 1966 through 1968.

Born June 12, 1936, in American Falls, Idaho, Wagstaff attended high school in that city and later enrolled at Idaho State where he was a running back and cornerback from 1954 through 1958.

Although he was drafted by Detroit, he did not play with the Lions. He joined the Cardinals as a defensive back in 1959 and played with the Bills in 1960 and 1961.

Wagstaff and his wife, Nancy reside in Huntington Beach, Calif. with their two daughters, Cary, 18, and Geniel, 17; and one son, Jim, 17.

Sewell, an offensive guard who played at 6 ft. 1 in., 230 lbs., a size that would be considered small today, was rated an outstanding competitor. He was Detroit's number one draft choice in 1953 after an exceptional collegiate career at the University of Texas where he was a consensus All-American as a defensive specialist. Sewell played in four Pro Bowl games as a Lion and was a member of two NFL title teams. Ram Veterans

Baker, Tony
Height: 5-11

Running Back
Weight: 215 Born: 2-16-45

Iowa State
Eighth Year

PRO: The thing Tony Baker does best is synonymous with the name of the game—he scores touchdowns; that's his specialty. In '73 he scored seven, most of any Ram rusher. In '74 he scored five and was tied by QB James Harris. Many teams have kick return specialists, speedsters who break loose on occasion for the long gain.

The Rams have their own specialist, a short-yardage pile-driver—Baker. Baker was so successful at his forte in '73 that on 41 occasions with four yards or less to make, he converted 28 of them into first downs. Numerically he wasn't as productive in '74, but his very presence in the backfield forced the opposition to recognize him and defense accordingly. Baker came to the Rams from Philadelphia in the trade of Roman Gabriel that also brought Harold Jackson along with first draft choices in 1974 (John Cappelletti) and in 1975 (Dennis Harrah) and a third in '75 (Dan Nugent). Last year Baker garnered 135 of the toughest kind of yards in 53 carries. The 2.5 average belied his contributions. He also caught five key passes for 71 yards, a 14.2 avg., and a 42-yarder, longest reception for any back. Baker's seven-season totals are 494 rushes for 1,782 yards, a 3.5 career avg. and 14 touchdowns. He has caught 77 passes for 664 yards and two scores. New Orleans signed Baker as a free agent in 1968. In 1969 Baker responded by leading the NFL with a 4.8 avg. off 134 carries for 642 yards, an effort which earned him a spot in the 1970 Pro Bowl game. In October, 1971, the Saints dealt him to Philadelphia for a draft choice. He spent 1½ years as an occasional Eagle starter before coming to Los Angeles. Baker's most productive game as a Ram was against New Orleans in 1973 when he gained 82 yards on 12 carries, including one TD. Last year his top performance was a 71-yard effort against Buffalo when he carried 24 times. He caught four passes in that game for 65 yards.

COLLEGE: After earning three letters at Iowa State as a fullback, Baker played for the Des Moines Warriors in 1967 and led the Professional Football League of America in so doing.

PERSONAL: Baker was born at Ft. Madison, Iowa. He attended high school in Burlington, Iowa, and now lives in Long Beach, Ca. where he and his wife, Bernadette, are in the hair styling business.

Bertelsen, JimRunning Back*Texas*Height: 5-11*Weight: 205*Born: 2-26-50*Fourth Year

PRO: Besides Lawrence McCutcheon himself, the man most responsible for McCutcheon gaining more than 1,000 yards in each of the last two seasons may be Jim Bertelsen. Bertelsen has done much of the blocking. He has also found time to average 4.1 as a ball carrier, catch passes and return punts. In short, he has been living up to advance notices accorded him when his college coach, Darrell Royal, once observed that Bertelsen was "the finest football player I have ever coached." His rushing totals in 1974—419 yards—were not quite as impressive as his first two seasons, but Jim got off to a slow start because of a knee injury suffered during the pre-season. Nevertheless, Bertelsen was considered a valuable cog on a team that won the NFC West for the second consecutive year. He and McCutcheon again formed the starting backfield until coach Chuck Knox rested the former Texas star in the regular season finale against Buffalo. Bertelsen, however, was back in the lineup for the two post-season games, the win over Washington and the loss to Minnesota. In addition to his rushing and blocking, Jim caught 20 passes in '74 for 175 yards and returned 11 punts for a 12.0 average. His best year was '73 when he rushed for 854 yards and was named to the Pro Bowl squad. In '72 Jim was picked by Ye Old Rams as "Rookie of the Year," and he also made the NFL All-Rookie teams as chosen by UPI and Pro Football Weekly. A second round selection in 1972, Bertelsen was picked on a choice acquired from San Diego in the trade that sent David Jones to the Chargers.

COLLEGE: In his three-year career at Texas Bertelsen gained 2,510 yards, averaging 6.0 per carry and scoring 33 touchdowns. As a senior he picked up 879 yards in 160 carries for a 5.5 average and seven scores, winning first team All-Southwest Conference recognition from AP and UPI. He was also a participant in the Senior Bowl and College All-Star games.

PERSONAL: Bertelsen was born in St. Paul, Minnesota, and attended high school in Hudson, Wisconsin. He and wife Laura spent last off-season at the University of Texas, where Jim owns a restaurant.

Brooks, Larry Defensive Tackle Virginia State (Petersburg)
Height: 6-3 Weight: 255 Born: 6-10-50 Fourth Year

PRO: Merlin Olsen, Jack Youngblood and Fred Dryer have all received a share of all-pro recognition, but the fact remains that the fourth player on the Rams' defensive line, Larry Brooks, is the underrated member of the group. Brooks did not make any of the all-league or all-conference teams last year. All he did in 1974 was perform. While the ends are more flamboyant, Brooks plays steady, aggressive football at right tackle, and last season recorded ten tackles and two assists on opposing passers. Thus, he was a key member of a platoon that recorded 44 "sacks" overall, best in the NFC. The Rams were also the NFL leader in rushing defense and in scoring defense, and second in the conference in total defense. A 14th round draft choice out of little Virginia State at Petersburg in 1972, Brooks became a starter midway through his rookie season and he has been a fixture there since. As a rookie Brooks earned a spot on the club's ready reserve squad through the first six games.

COLLEGE: Brooks was a standout in the small college situation. As a senior he was named to AP's first team Little All-American. An all-conference performer as well, he also earned Virginia Small College Lineman of the Year honors.

PERSONAL: Born in Prince George, Va., Brooks attended high school in that city where he was a football and track star. He resides in Huntington Beach, Ca, with wife Colleen and a five-year-old son, Larry Jr. Last off-season he worked for Union Bank.

Bryant, Cullen Running Back Colorado
Height: 6-1 Weight: 225 Born: 5-20-51 Third Year

PRO: Cullen Bryant has a most unusual talent—it's called running back kickoffs for touchdowns. Cullen returned one 93 yards for a TD against San Francisco in 1973, a run which turned the game around by putting the Rams ahead to stay. Last year, in the opener against Denver, Bryant, probably at home in the mile-high altitude because of his college sojourn at Boulder, bounced a kick-off back 84 yards for the margin of victory in a 17-10 contest. Bryant returned punts as well in '74, 17 for 171 yards, a 10.1 avg. He took one 60 yards to an apparent touchdown in the Minnesota league game, only to have a clipping penalty erase the effort. Bryant's 23 kick-off returns for 617 yards and a 26.8 avg. were fourth best in the NFC and sixth in the NFL. At 225 Bryant is the largest Ram running back, among the swiftest and certainly the strongest. He spends much time, off-season and on, with the weights, at which he is a most proficient performer. He began his career at free safety for much of the 1973 pre-season, then played behind Steve Preece during the regular schedule. He missed the finale, as well as the Dallas playoff game that year because of a bruised thigh. In 1974 Bryant was moved to running back, and in his debut—a pre-season game against Kansas City, he gained 117 yards in 11 carries. During the regular season he carried 10 times for 24 yards and caught two passes for eight yards as his talents were utilized primarily on special teams. He was the Rams top choice in 1973, named on the second round on a choice from San Diego.

COLLEGE: Cullen's Colorado career was climaxed with All-American honors from UPI, Coaches and The Sporting News. AP and UPI polls named him All-Big Eight and he performed in the Senior Bowl and College All-Star games.

PERSONAL: Bryant was born in Ft. Sill, Okla. He attended Mitchell High in Colorado Springs. At Colorado he majored in recreation and psychology and during the off-season he continued to work for a master's degree at his alma mater. He's single.

Burke, Mike
Height: 5-10

Punter Miami (Fla.)
Weight: 188 Born: 7-28-50 Second Year

PRO: Burke spent the 1974 pre-season with the Rams and then was released, repeating what he'd done in 1973 with the Miami Dolphins. There, however, the story changes. After six games the regular Ram punter, Dave Chapple, was waived and Burke, then working in a meat-packing plant at San Leandro, was activated and played the final eight NFL games, plus the two playoffs for the Rams. He averaged 37 yards in 46 league punts, but the figures do not reveal his true value. Burke, an all-around athlete who was a high school quarterback and running back, a swimming record-holder at the U. of Miami and a weight-lifter surprisingly strong for his size, possesses the ability to kick out of bounds when need be. For example, in the 20-17 win over Minnesota in the league season, Burke banged five punts out of bounds inside the 11-yard line, as follows: 7, 11, 4, 8 and 6. His longest was a 51-yarder and none of his tries were blocked.

COLLEGE: Burke attended Oregon State as a freshman, then spent a year at Chabot JC before transferring to Miami for his final two years. In addition to setting punting marks there, Mike established a school record for the 100-yard breaststroke. Against the U. of Houston he punted six times for a 50.6 avg., kicked two 35-yd. field goals plus six straight points after touchdown.

PERSONAL: Burke was born at Sacramento, Ca. and attended Amador Valley High. During the off-season Burke is employed by a meat-packing plant. He and his wife, Frances, live in Pleasanton, Ca.

Cappelletti, John Running Back Penn State
Height: 6-1 Weight: 217 Born: 8-9-52 Second Year

PRO: John Cappelletti, the Heisman Trophy winner in 1973 and the Rams' number one draft choice in 1974, arrived with the fanfare normally accorded a player with those impressive credentials. The poised Penn Stater impressed everyone with his ability to take his honors and fame in stride and turn to the task at hand, namely to win a spot on the Ram football team. At the conclusion of the six-game pre-season schedule, there was no doubt the Rams had chosen wisely. Cappelletti played more than normal for a rookie, partly because of extenuating circumstances. He led all rushers with 282 yards in 56 carries, a 5.0-yd. avg. He tied for top receiving honors with nine receptions for 97 yards and one touchdown. During the regular season he was brought along slowly, as befits a team with six veteran running backs, but he nonetheless played in all 14 games. He was the team's third best rusher, carrying 55 for 198 yds., a 3.6 avg., and the seventh receiver, six for 35. His blocking improved with every game, and he was voted "Rookie of the Year" by Ye Old Rams. At 217, Cappelletti is one of the heftiest backs in the Ram stable, and, at 23, is the youngest of the vets.

COLLEGE: As a Penn State senior Cappelletti was named to every major All-American team, including UPI, AP, Football Writers Association and Coaches Association. As the Rams' top choice in '74, he was the 11th player picked overall. In 1973 he ran 286 times for 1,522 yards, a 6.3 average and 17 touchdowns. Versatile, he was a runner as a freshman and as a sophomore a defensive back who returned punts and kickoffs. He played quarterback at Monsignor Bonner High at Upper Darby, Pa.

PERSONAL: He was born in Philadelphia, Pa., and made his bachelor home in Upper Darby, Pa., where he was a high school quarterback. In the off-season John busied himself with self-improvement courses, namely speed-reading, guitar playing and speech making. He recently purchased a home in Huntington Beach, Ca.

Clark, Al Cornerback Eastern Michigan
Height: 6-0 Weight: 185 Born: 2-20-48 Fifth Year

PRO: Patience and persistence paid off in 1974 for Al Clark, who had spent the better part of three seasons in Los Angeles as a reserve cornerback. First he played behind Clarence Williams on the left side in 1972, moving in late in the season when Williams became injured. The following year Clark was the No. 1 candidate for the left corner job, but a pre-season injury cost him the position to veteran Charlie Stukes. Clark hung in there, however, and in '74 he regained his starting role for the final four games of the regular season, and two playoff games, this time on the right side in place of Eddie McMillan. A third-round draft choice of Detroit in 1971, Clark also worked both sides of the field for the Lions, starting in six games and logging more time than any other Detroit rookie. He was traded to the Rams prior to the 1972 season in exchange for a draft choice. His career totals are two interceptions for 23 yards, and he has also been used as a kickoff returner.

COLLEGE: A stop at Grambling and later at Northern Arizona preceded Clark's transfer to Eastern Michigan, where he intercepted four passes his senior year.

PERSONAL: Born in Bogalusa, La., Clark attended Hammond, La., High and was a boyhood friend of Rams linebacker Isiah Robertson. Still single, Clark spent last off-season attending Eastern Michigan University.

Cowan, Charlie

Tackle

New Mexico Highlands

Height: 6-4

Weight: 265

Born: 6-19-38

Fifteenth Year

PRO: If all goes well Charlie Cowan will become the first Ram to play in 200 regular season games some time around mid-season, 1975. Cowan closed out 1974 by participating in his 193rd, just five more than teammate Joe Scibelli, who shares the distinction with Cowan of becoming the first 15-year veterans in the club's history. Stationed at his familiar left tackle spot, Cowan in '74 again exhibited the toughness and durability that have characterized each of his Ram seasons. Despite elbow, knee and foot injuries, in recent years, the remarkable Cowan seems to get better than ever, Charlie, who has missed but three games in his previous 14 years of service, has also been a versatile performer, breaking in at guard and later playing both right and left tackle. Cowan was so effective in 1974 that Ye Old Rams voted him the club's "Outstanding Offensive Lineman," an honor he also earned in 1966. He has received league-wide awards as well, such as second team All-NFL by Pro Football Weekly in '73; The Sporting News' All-NFC first team in '71; and he participated in the Pro Bowl following the 1967, '68, '69 and '70 seasons. Charlie was a fourth round draft choice in 1961.

COLLEGE: Cowan played practically every position but offensive lineman at New Mexico Highlands. He was a fullback and end on offense and tackle on defense. In a single wing offense, he led his team in rushing, receiving and passing. He also played basketball.

PERSONAL: Born in Braeholm, West Va., Cowan now resides with his family in Fullerton, Calif. He and his wife, Irene, have three daughters, Nathalie Ann, 13; Cecilia Ann, 12; and Allyson Ruth, 10. Cowan works for Woodman Accidental Life Insurance Co. of Santa Ana in the off-season.

Curran, Pat
Height: 6-3

Tight End
Weight: 238 Born: 9-21-45

Lakeland
Seventh Year

PRO: For six years Pat Curran has been a key member of the Rams, although his contributions have come from being a member of the special teams and a back-up tight end. However, Curran points with pride to the day he was a starter. That was at Buffalo, Sept. 27, 1970, when injuries caused a re-vamping of the lineup and resulted in Curran starting at fullback despite his not having played running back since his college days at Lakeland. All Pat did was carry 22 times for 78 yards, a 3.5 avg., and catch three passes for 25 yards while the Rams scored a 19-0 win. In addition to that ball-carrying stint, Pat has been considered for center or linebacker, but tight end has always been where he's started the seasons. All told he's carried 25 times for 92 yards, caught nine passes for 83 yards, returned short kickoffs for 175 yards and scored three touchdowns, two on receptions and another on the recovery in the end zone of a punt he had blocked. Curran and starting tight end, Bob Klein, are usually in the game together on short-yardage situations.

COLLEGE: Curran played both fullback and halfback at Lakeland where he was All-Gateway Intercollegiate Athletic Conference. He once scored six touchdowns in a half.

PERSONAL: Pat teaches in the Milwaukee Public School System in the off-season. He was born in Milwaukee and attended Juneau High School there. He and his wife, Sandra reside in Milwaukee with son Christopher, six.

Dempsey, Tom
Height: 6-1

Place Kicker
Weight: 255 Born: 1-12-47

Palomar (Ca.) JC
Seventh Year

PRO: Tom Dempsey joined Los Angeles prior to the 1975 season when the Rams traded a draft choice to Philadelphia for the former All-Conference defensive end from Palomar JC. Possessed with a strong leg, Dempsey kicked the longest field goal in NFL history with a 63-yard boot for New Orleans against Detroit in 1970. In 1974 Dempsey finished with 56 points with ten three-pointers of 16 attempts and 26 of 30 points after. He was signed by the Eagles as a free agent in 1971 after having been released by New Orleans.

Dempsey played with Lowell of the Atlantic Coast Football League in 1967 and signed as a free agent with San Diego in 1968. After spending the 1968 season on the Charger ready reserve squad, Dempsey was released and signed by New Orleans Aug. 5, 1969. He played in the Pro Bowl game following the 1969 season and also holds the Eagle club distance record by virtue of a 54-yard effort against St. Louis in 1971.

COLLEGE: Dempsey was an All-Conference defensive end at Palomar J.C.

PERSONAL: Dempsey was born in Milwaukee, but raised in Encinitas, Ca. He was given the Philadelphia Sportswriters Most Courageous Athlete Award in 1971. He and his wife, Carlene, along with son Toby make their home in Woodbury, N.J.

Drake, Bill
Height: 6-1

Safety
Weight: 195 Born: 5-22-50

Oregon
Third Year

PRO: Ill luck has been dogging Bill Drake during his association with the Rams. Last year Drake (coincidentally enough a Webfoot from Oregon), was having himself an excellent year, mostly as a special teamer, when he suffered a right knee injury which resulted in a cartilage operation, forcing him to miss the last six games. In 1973 Drake spent time in the Dallas camp before being released late in the pre-season when the Rams claimed him, then put him on the inactive list before the regular season began. He was activated four times that year, alternating between strong safety and wide receiver. In his "original" rookie year, after being signed as a free agent in the spring of 1972, Drake reported to training camp but was sent home almost immediately when the physical examination disclosed he was suffering from hepatitis.

COLLEGE: Drake earned three letters at Oregon along with honors in 1971 as first team AP All-Coast and first team All-Pac Eight as voted by the coaches.

PERSONAL: Drake was born in Portland, Ore. and attended Jefferson High there. He has been attending the University of Oregon while residing at Springfield. He's single.

Dryer, Fred
Height: 6-6

Defensive End
Weight: 240 Born: 7-6-46

San Diego State
Seventh Year

PRO: If you are a quarterback in the NFL, you probably have been visited by Fred Dryer, the Rams' free spirit who enjoys dropping in on opposing passers. Last year, in fact, Dryer contributed a team high 14 solo "sacks" and two assists as the Rams led the NFC in that department with 44. He was the regular right defensive end on a unit that led the NFL in rushing and scoring defense and was second in the conference in total defense. The club's other defensive end, Jack Youngblood, received his share of all-pro acclaim, and so did Dryer, who was named first team All-NFL by the Newspaper Enterprise Association, second team All-NFL by the Associated Press, first team All-NFC by Pro Football Weekly and second team All-NFC by United Press International. In addition, Ye Old Rams named Dryer the club's "Outstanding Defensive Lineman." It was the second consecutive brilliant season for the man who turned in a NFL record two safeties in one game when he dumped Green Bay passers twice in the end zone on Oct. 21, 1973. Fred came to the Rams in an off-season trade prior to 1972. Until then he had labored for the New York Giants for three seasons, participating in the Pro Bowl following 1970. He played his option year in '71, then was traded on draft day to New England for three draft picks—a first, a second and a sixth. The Patriots then dealt him to the Rams two months later for a first draft choice and defensive lineman Rick Cash. Dryer, a first round selection of the Giants in 1969, split the playing time at left end with Youngblood in '72, then moved back over to his more familiar right side in '73 as Coy Bacon was traded to San Diego.

COLLEGE: A junior college All-American at El Camino, Dryer moved on to San Diego State where he had an outstanding senior season, earning All-American acclaim and participating in the East-West and Hula Bowl games.

PERSONAL: The full name is John Frederick Dryer, but he prefers Fred. Born in Hawthorne, Calif., a suburb of Los Angeles, Dryer lives in nearby Long Beach. A bachelor, he attended Lawndale High. Dryer is an outdoorsman whose off-season hobbies range from surfing to reading to traveling around the country in his Volkswagen bus.

Elmendorf, Dave
Height: 6-1

Safety
Weight: 195 Born: 6-20-49

Texas A&M
Fifth Year

PRO: When the Rams selected Dave Elmendorf on the third round of the 1971 NFL player draft, they felt he would become a star. Of course, the first order of business was to out-bid Major League Baseball of his services, for Elmendorf was a fine center fielder on his collegiate team. Luckily for the Rams, Dave chose football, but in 1974 he looked a lot like an outfielder too, roaming the secondary to pick off seven passes. That amount tied he and teammate Charlie Stukes for second place among the NFC's pass interceptors, and Elmendorf's 186 yards included touchdown runbacks of 57 against Atlanta and 52 against San Francisco.

Dave more than doubled his previous career total, which now stands at 13 for 263 yards, a 20.2 average and two scores. He has also returned 42 punts for 377 yards and a 9.0 average after a 1974 season in which he ran back 17 for 134 yards and a 7.9 average. For his heroics last year, Elmendorf was named All-NFC first team by the Associated Press and Pro Football Writers Association, and earned Ye Old Rams "Outstanding Defensive Back" honors for the second straight season. Previously, Dave had made UPI's All-Rookie team in 1971 and second team All-NFC in '72. He was a free safety his first year with the club, but has been the regular strong safety ever since.

COLLEGE: An excellent all-around athlete, Elmendorf made both AP and Coaches' All American in his final season at Texas A&M after turning down a pro baseball bonus offer from the Boston Red Sox. He was also one of 13 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes with a 3.84 average out of a possible 4.0.

PERSONAL: Born in San Antonio, Texas, Elmendorf attended Westbury High in Houston. He and wife, Denise, reside in Huntington Beach, California and Dave spends the off-season working for BankAmericard.

Fink, Mike

Cornerback

Missouri

Height: 5-11

Weight: 185

Born: 12-24-50

Second Year

PRO: The Rams signed Mike Fink as a free agent last off-season after he had been released by the New Orleans Saints prior to the 1974 regular season. Fink, a ninth round draft choice by the Saints in '73, played in 13 games for New Orleans that year, mostly on special teams and as a kickoff return man where he brought back five for 81 yards. He also worked in relief at both corner spots for the Saints.

COLLEGE: Fink was primarily a receiver at Missouri, and he was also an accomplished kickoff return man, running back 21 for a 28.3 average as a junior. Altogether he had touchdown KO returns of 101, 100 and 91 yards. He played in the Orange Bowl, Fiesta Bowl and Hula Bowl.

PERSONAL: Born in Kansas City, Mo., Fink attended Park Hill High in that city. He and wife Candace reside in Metairie, La. during the off-season when Mike works in commercial real estate.

Geddes, Ken
Height: 6-3

Linebacker
Weight: 235 Born: 9-27-47

Nebraska
Fifth Year

PRO: One of the biggest victories of the 1974 regular season for the Rams was on November 24 when they came from behind to beat the Vikings, 20-17. There were many clutch plays turned in that day, and none was more important than the one made by Ken Geddes, an interception in the final minute that preserved the win. It was the second theft of the season for Geddes, who was completing his second year as a starter at left linebacker on a team that had recorded two straight NFC Western titles and had won 22 of 28 regular season games. The climb to NFL starter status has not been easy for Geddes who suffered a broken arm and a broken leg in '72, missing all but two games. However, it's been a different story the last two seasons as he, Isiah Robertson and Jack Reynolds have developed into a formidable linebacking unit. The former Nebraska star was a seventh round draft choice by Detroit in 1970 and was the last player released by the Lions that year. He was signed by the Rams as a free agent prior to the 1971 training camp.

COLLEGE: A unanimous All-Big Eight selection in his junior and senior years, Geddes played both linebacker and middle guard at Nebraska. He participated in the Senior Bowl and Coaches' All-American games.

PERSONAL: Geddes was born in Jacksonville, Fla., and attended high school at Boystown, Nebraska, where he participated in football, track and basketball. Still single, he was employed last off-season by the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

Guthrie, Grant
Height: 6-1

Place Kicker
Weight: 225 Born: 2-9-48

Florida State
Third Year

PRO: The Rams signed Grant Guthrie as a free agent last April after the former Buffalo Bills place kicker had an exceptional season kicking field goals for Jacksonville of the World Football League in 1974. Guthrie booted 18 of 23 three-pointers for the Sharks last season, including a 52-yarder. He also converted on five of his seven tries over 40 yards. Selected by Buffalo on the sixth round of the 1970 NFL draft, Guthrie played for the Bills in '70 and '71 before being waived. Although he had a brief tryout with the Jets in '72, Guthrie did not play football again until his tour with Jacksonville last year. At Buffalo in 1970 he led the team in scoring with 54 points on 10 of 19 field goal tries and 24 of 25 PATs. His 52-yard field goal that year still ties him for the club record.

COLLEGE: Guthrie set all Florida State kicking records, including a 54-yard field goal. He played in the North-South game in 1969 and was named AP All-American.

PERSONAL: Born in Waynesboro, Pa., Guthrie attended high school in Claymont, Dela. where he was state shot put champion and was voted Delaware's Athlete of the Year by Wilmington writers and broadcasters. He and wife Leslie reside in Jacksonville, Fla. where he is a district sales manager for Scott Paper Co.

Harris, James

Height: 6-4

Quarterback

Weight: 210

Born: 7-20-47

Grambling

Sixth Year

PRO: James Harris began the 1974 season as the Rams' reserve quarterback. He ended it as the Most Valuable Player in the Pro Bowl. In between he threw enough perfect spirals to lead the Rams to the NFC Western title and a first round playoff win before the team lost the conference championship game. For Harris, it was a rewarding experience of a man who just two years earlier had been waived out of the NFL and who was apparently through with football. The former Grambling star, an eighth round draft choice by Buffalo in 1969, had started just three games for the Bills from '69 through '71 before being released early in 1972. At mid-season the Rams, who needed a third quarterback, signed him to their reserve squad. In 1973 Harris was elevated to second team behind the NFC's MVP, John Hadl, and last season began with James in a similar role. Although he had thrown only 11 passes the year before, Harris had impressed Ram management and coaches with his work in the pre-season and in practice. Thus, when the club started slowly with a 3-2 record, Harris moved in as the starting quarterback on the sixth week of the season, directing the Rams to a 37-14 victory over the 49ers by completing 12 of 15 for 276 yards and three touchdowns. When Hadl was traded to Green Bay the following week, James knew the job was his, and he responded by leading the team to seven wins in the final nine games. The most memorable performance came in a crucial game against Minnesota as Harris completed his last ten passes to help the Rams to two touchdowns in the final six minutes and a 20-17 triumph over the Super Bowl-bound Vikings. Named the club's MVP by Ye Old Rams, Harris finished as the NFC's No. 2 rated passer by completing 106 of 198 attempts for 1,544 yards, 11 touchdowns and six interceptions. It ran his five-year career totals to 203 completions in 398 attempts for 2,732 yards, 16 touchdowns and 17 interceptions. Selected to the Pro Bowl for the first time, Harris paced the NFC to a 17-10 victory, throwing two fourth quarter TD passes and winning honors as "player of the game."

COLLEGE: Grambling's MVP in both 1967 and '68, Harris had a brilliant career in college. He quarterbacked Grambling to Southwestern Athletic Conference championships both of those years and was the MVP in the '67 Orange Blossom Classic.

PERSONAL: Born in Monroe, La., Harris attended Carroll High in that city. Harris lives in Inglewood, Ca., and during the off-season he works for the U. S. Commerce Department's Office of Minority Business Enterprise.

Jackson, Harold

Height: 5-10

Wide Receiver

Weight: 175

Born: 1-6-46

Jackson State

Eighth Year

PRO: In his two seasons since returning to Los Angeles Harold Jackson has added excitement to a passing attack that has helped the Rams to 22 wins in 28 games and a pair of NFC Western titles. During that time the diminutive former Philadelphia Eagle has caught 70 passes and has scored 18 touchdowns, leading the club in TD receptions both years. Double-teamed for most of last year, his receiving figures fell off slightly from 1973 when he celebrated his third all-pro season by snagging 40 for 874 yards, a league-leading 21.9 average and 13 touchdowns. In '74 Jackson caught 30 for 514 yards and five TDs. His seven-year totals are now 285 receptions for 4,881 yards, an excellent 17.1 average and 39 scores. He is the 10th leading active receiver in the NFC. Originally drafted by the Rams on the 12th round in 1968, Jackson was used only briefly that year before he was sent to Philadelphia in return for running back Israel Lang and defensive end John Zook. Harold's four years with the Eagles were productive. He was an all-pro in 1969 and 1972, leading the NFL in receiving yards both seasons. His figures were 65 for 1,116 and nine TDs in '69 and 62 for 1,048 and four TDs in '72. Those totals impressed the Rams, who traded quarterback Roman Gabriel to the Eagles in spring of 1973 for Jackson, running back Tony Baker and first choices in 1974 (John Cappelletti) and 1975 (Dennis Harrah), as well as a third in '75 (Dan Nugent). Jackson's '73 campaign was brilliant, and he was named first team All-NFL by NEA, AP, Pro Football Writers Association and Pro Football Weekly, and All-NFC by UPI and the Sporting News. To round out the honors for '73 Jackson was also picked as the "Outstanding Receiver" by Ye Old Rams, as well as being selected to play in the Pro Bowl, a distinction also bestowed upon him after the 1969 and 1972 seasons. Harold's biggest day as a Ram came on Oct. 14, 1973. That's the date he caught four first-half touchdown passes measuring 63, 16, 67 and 36 yards to beat the Dallas Cowboys, 37-31. In all that afternoon Jackson caught seven for 238 yards, the second biggest yardage production in a game by a Ram, and the four TDs equalled a club mark. Jackson's best days as a Ram: seven catches, 238 yds., four TDs, vs. Dallas, 1973; six catches for 102 yds, vs. New England, 1974; and four catches, 117 yds., three TDs, vs. San Francisco, 1973.

COLLEGE: Jackson was an All-Southwest Athletic Conference end while setting a Jackson State pass catching record his senior year. He also ran a 9.5 100 on the track team.

PERSONAL: Born in Hattiesburg, Miss., Jackson attended Ronon High in that city and still lives there during the off-season where he operates a clothing store. He is still a bachelor.

PRO: Obviously the Rams showed they had confidence in the ability of James Harris when they traded John Hadl to Green Bay near mid-season in 1974. Almost as obvious was the esteem Ram management holds for Ron Jaworski, who became the No. 1 backup quarterback to Harris when Hadl departed. A second round draft choice by the Rams in 1973, Jaworski, who played in five games last year, completed 10 of 24 for 144 yards with one interception. He impressed in the pre-season with 20 completions in 38 attempts for 246 yards, one touchdown and three interceptions. COLLEGE: Jaworski's four-year totals at Youngstown were 325 completions in 658 attempts for 4,612 yards and 32 touchdowns. In his senior year he was 139 of 259 for 2,123 yards and 18 scores. Operating out of the "side-saddle T," Jaworski finished fifth in NCAA small college passing his final year and played in the Senior Bowl Game.

PERSONAL: Born in Lackawanna, New York, Ron attended high school in that city. He and his wife, Liz, reside in Lackawanna, where Ron spends the off-season working out and making personal appearances.

Jones, Cody

Defensive Tackle

San Jose State

Height: 6-5

Weight: 240

Born: 5-3-51

Second Year

PRO: A member of the Rams ready reserve squad during the 1973 season, Jones became a backup defensive lineman for the club in '74. As a substitute on a unit that led the NFC in tackling opposing passers, Jones did not see much action except on the special teams. However, late in the season when the Rams had already wrapped up the title, Jones started and played the entire game for the club at right tackle, spelling Larry Brooks, who was given a day's rest. A fifth round draft choice in '73, Jones participated in 12 regular season games last year.

COLLEGE: Jones played at Trinidad State JC before transferring to San Jose State, where he became an all-conference defensive tackle and also played basketball. He participated in the East-West Shrine Game following his senior season.

PERSONAL: Born in San Francisco, Jones attended Mission High in that city. Last off-season he continued his education by attending Long Beach City College. Still single, he is a resident of Long Beach.

Josephson, Les

Running Back

Augustana (S.D.)

Height: 6-0

Weight: 207

Born: 7-29-42

Eleventh Year

PRO: As he enters the 1975 season, Les Josephson needs just 87 rushing yards to become the second most productive runner in Ram history. After ten years of ball carrying, Josey's figures are 797 carries for 3,407 yards, a 4.27 average and 17 touchdowns. He is third on the team's all-time rushing list behind Dick Bass (5,417) and Dan Towler (3,493) and is the 13th leading active rusher in the NFC. He was signed in 1964 as a free agent out of little Augustana College in South Dakota by the Dallas Cowboys, who traded him to Los Angeles before the regular season began for offensive tackle Jim Boeke. In the next decade, Josey went from free agent to the Ram record book. The last two years he has been used in reserve, and also on the special teams, where he excels unselfishly. In addition to his third place on the club's all-time rushing list, Josey enters 1975 as the seventh most productive receiver with 194 catches in 1,970 yards and 11 touchdowns. He has played much of his career under adversity. After his best-ever season of 1967 when he led the division in rushing with 800 yards and played in the Pro Bowl, Josephson suffered a torn Achilles tendon which kept him out for all of 1968. A broken jaw and a shoulder injury that required surgery have plagued him since then, but through it all he continues to perform in the same solid, dependable manner. Josephson has been named winner of the Ye Old Rams award as the club's "Outstanding Offensive Back" on four different occasions, in 1964, '67, '69 and '70.

COLLEGE: Josephson was signed as a free agent by Dallas for 1964 after he gained 850 yards in his senior year at Augustana College in South Dakota.

PERSONAL: Josephson was born on a farm near Minneota, Minn., and attended Minneota High. He and wife Pam currently reside in Los Angeles where he is also co-owner of Huffer Distributing Corp., a firm dealing in various recreational products.

Kay, Rick

Linebacker

Colorado

Height: 6-4

Weight: 235

Born: 11-10-49

Second Year

PRO: Just when he was pressing for a starting job, fate stepped in and knocked Rick Kay out of the 1974 football season. A free agent who impressed the coaching staff in his rookie year, Kay was showing marked progress when he suffered a knee injury in the fifth week of the pre-season against San Diego. He was forced to undergo surgery for torn ligaments and missed the entire season. In 1973, Kay was active in every game, however, serving primarily on the special teams where he was especially effective in kickoff coverage.

COLLEGE: Kay was a three-year letter winner and team captain at Colorado and an alternate for the Hula Bowl game. While at Colorado this versatile performer played split end, tight end, flanker, defensive end and middle guard.

PERSONAL: Kay was born in Henderson, Nev., but attended Pacific High in San Bernardino, Ca., and now makes his home in Seal Beach, Ca., with his wife, Sandra, and their one-year-old son, Eric. During the off-season Kay works for Cab Lex, a cable and wiring company.

Klein, Bob
Height: 6-5

Tight End
Weight: 245
Born: 7-27-47

USC
Seventh Year

PRO: Bob Klein made some key catches for the Rams in 1974, but as in the past, he may have been most effective as a blocker on running plays. When he wasn't neutralizing opposing defensive ends and linebackers, Klein found time to snag 24 passes for 336 yards and four touchdowns. His 14.0 average per catch was the highest of his pro career, which spans six years going into the 1975 season. In that time the former USC All-American has caught 92 passes for 1,140 yards, a 12.39 average and 12 scores. In addition to his four regular season TDs in '74, he also scored one against Washington to get the Rams going on their way to a 19-10 first round playoff victory. His biggest day receiving last year came against New Orleans when he caught five for 55 yards and a touchdown. He was a first round draft choice in 1969, one of three for Los Angeles that year. Highlight of his rookie year was a touchdown pass he snagged against Minnesota in the Western Conference title game. For his first two years he played behind Billy Truax and caught but two passes in each of those years. His presence was felt, then as now, as a blocker in running situations on third downs and short yardage. Klein became a starter when Truax was traded to Dallas prior to 1971. Klein's versatility is apparent by his presence on many of the special teams.

COLLEGE: Klein was named second team All-American by the Sporting News and first team All-Coast by AP and UPI his senior year. A Rose Bowl performer for three consecutive years, Klein also played in the Hula Bowl following his senior season.

PERSONAL: A native Californian, Klein was born in South Gate and attended St. Monica's High in Santa Monica. The owner of a master's degree in business administration from USC, Klein has worked in investment banking in the off-season. He lives in Pacific Palisades with wife Jo Ann, and their two children: a daughter, Kristin, 5; and a son, James, 4.

Mack; Tom

Guard

Michigan

Height: 6-3

Weight: 250

Born: 11-1-43

Tenth Year

PRO: One of the finest first round draft selections ever made by the Rams has to be guard Tom Mack, the former Michigan All-American who was picked in 1966. To say that Mack was worthy of the early billing is putting it mildly. He has been a brilliant performer, a leader and a dependable, durable player. The honors continue to pour in. Last January he participated in his eighth Pro Bowl Game in nine seasons. It followed a year in which he was selected All-NFL first team by the Pro Football Writers

Association, Pro Football Weekly and the Football News and second team by the Associated Press. The AP also picked Tom as first team All-NFC, as did United Press International, the Pro Football Writers and The Sporting News. Since 1968 Mack has been receiving some kind of All-Pro recognition, including being first team All-NFC by at least one of the major wire service polls for the last four years. The youngest of the Rams' offensive linemen until John Williams joined the club in '72, Mack has never missed a Ram game, a streak that reached 126 going into the 1975 season. A starter at left guard since midway through his first year, Tom was voted Rookie of the Year that season (1966) by Ye Old Rams, the same group that named him the club's "Outstanding Interior Offensive Lineman" in 1970.

COLLEGE: As a junior Mack was a starter on the 1964 Michigan team which topped Oregon State in the Rose Bowl. In his senior year he was UPI and NEA All-American, as well as All-Big Ten. He was a member of the East-West, Hula Bowl and College All-Star teams.

PERSONAL: Mack, born in Cleveland, Ohio, attended Cleveland Heights High where he played football and baseball and established swimming records. His father, the late Ray Mack, played major league baseball with the Cleveland Indians. Tom, wife Anne and daughters Kristan, 6, and Kathryn, 4, live in San Marino. In the off-season Mack is employed as an engineer by Bechtel Corp., and last March he toured military bases overseas as part of a USO-NFL sponsored program.

McCutcheon, Lawrence

Running Back

Colorado State

Height: 6-1

Weight: 205

Born: 6-2-50

Third Year

PRO: If form holds true, Lawrence McCutcheon will break his Ram rushing record in 1975. That is something he has accomplished in each of his two NFL seasons, thus establishing himself as one of the young stars of pro football. In 1974 his rushing total was 1,109 yards, a figure that bettered his club record of 1,097 set the year before. It was also good enough to give him the NFC rushing title and place him fourth among all NFL runners. And he keeps improving. For the record, he is already the NFC's 20th leading active career rusher with two-year totals of 2,206 yards in 446 carries for a 4.9 average and five touchdowns. He has also been a valuable receiver for the Rams with 69 catches in two seasons, including a team high of 39 for 408 yards in '74. He has now caught passes in 21 straight games. The honors continue to pile up for the former Colorado State star who has exceeded 100 yards rushing nine times in his short career. He was named first team All-NFL by the Newspaper Enterprise Association and the Football News, and second team by the Associated Press. In addition, the following organizations called him first team All-NFC: AP, United Press International, The Sporting News, the Pro Football Writers Association of American and Pro Football Weekly. McCutcheon also received the Daniel F. Reeves Memorial Award from Adohr Farms as the club's most Valuable Player as voted by the Southern California Football Writers Association. A participant in the Pro Bowl for the second consecutive year, McCutcheon also earned Ye Old Rams Outstanding Offensive Back honors for the second straight season. Leg injuries hampered Lawrence's first training camp after he had been drafted third by the Rams in 1972. He began that year on the reserve squad and was activated at mid-season for three games when he performed on the special teams. The following season was a different story, however, as McCutcheon showed his class immediately by gaining 120 yards in the opener against Kansas City. He went on to make UPI's All-Rookie team. In addition, the NEA and Pro Football Weekly placed McCutcheon on their All-NFL second teams and UPI voted him All-NFC second team.

COLLEGE: In his sophomore year at Colorado State, McCutcheon was the WAC's "outstanding back," but ensuing seasons were even more productive. He finished with career totals of 649 carries for 2,917 yards, a 4.5 per carry average and 22 touchdowns. Twice he gained more than one thousand yards in a season; 1,008 in 1970 and 1,112 in '71.

PERSONAL: McCutcheon was born in Plainview, Texas, and went to high school in that city. Still a bachelor, he lives in Long Beach, Ca. Last off-season he finished fifth in the Superstars competition in Florida.

McGee, Willie
Height: 5-11

Wide Receiver
Weight: 178 Born: 5-14-50

Alcorn A&M
Third Year

PRO: In a 1974 pre-season game Willie McGee played against the Rams as a member of the San Diego Chargers. A week later he was a Ram after his new club gave up a draft choice for his services. Those services mostly included returning kickoffs, of which McGee compiled statistics of 12 returns for 288 yards and a 24.0 average. A year earlier with the Chargers he had brought back 20 kickoffs for a 21.2 average. A fifth round draft choice by San Diego in 1973, McGee was used as a reserve cornerback and wide receiver by both the Chargers and Rams.

COLLEGE: McGee was a receiver at Alcorn A&M and was named to the NAIA All-American team following his senior year. A sprinter in the spring, McGee tied the world record in the 60 yard dash with a 6.0 clocking and ran a 9.1 100 and a 20.3 220.

PERSONAL: Born in New Orleans, McGee grew up in Hattiesburg, Miss., where he attended Rowan High. During the off-season he and wife Elaine reside in Centerville, Miss.

McMillan, Eddie
Height: 6-0

Cornerback
Weight: 190 Born: 11-25-51

Florida State
Third Year

PRO: The Rams are hoping that Eddie McMillan in 1975 can return to the form that he exhibited in '73 when he was named on NFL All-Rookie teams picked by United Press International and Pro Football Weekly. As the youngest starter that season on a Ram defense that led the league in fewest yards allowed, McMillan was picked as the club's "Rookie of the Year" by Ye Old Rams. He was a regular in all 14 games that year, intercepting four passes from his right corner position. However, in '74 he was bothered by minor knee problems that required off-season surgery for torn cartilage. Still, McMillan was the starting right corner until Al Clark took over the position during the 11th week of the season. McMillan came to the Rams as a fourth round draft choice in 1973.

COLLEGE: McMillan climaxed his collegiate career by participating in the North-South and American Bowl games. He was also a sprinter on the Seminole track team, running the 100 in 9.6.

PERSONAL: Born in Tampa, Fla., McMillan attended Blake High in that city. A resident of Carson, Calif., Eddie is a bachelor who spent last off-season rehabilitating the knee.

Milan: Don
Height: 6-3

Quarterback
Weight: 200 Born: 1-12-49

Cal Poly (SLO)
Second Year

PRO: Milan came to Los Angeles as a free agent before the seventh game in 1974 following the trade of QB John Hadl to Green Bay. Although he did not see action, he was on the roster for the season's remainder. Milan was signed by the Oakland Raiders as a free agent in 1971 and released just prior to the start of the regular season. He was re-acquired through a trade with Kansas City in late July, 1972, but was not activated during the 1972-73 seasons.

COLLEGE: Milan (pronounced Mill an') set a single season and career passing records while guiding his Cal Poly team to an 8-2 mark in 1970. He passed for 1,236 yards and 11 touchdowns, plus rushing for 479 yards. The total offense was a record 1,715 yards established during the 1968-70 period. Milan once rushed for three touchdowns in one game. He was the Back of the Year and Most Valuable Player for the California Collegiate Athletic Association in 1970.

PERSONAL: Milan was born in Glendale, Calif., and now makes his home with his wife, Nancy, at Alameda, Calif. He prepped at Santa Ynes High. He majored in speech and physical education, likes flying and plays the trombone. Don spent the off-season taking aviation classes at Alameda College and playing basketball.

Nelson, Bill
Height: 6-7

Defensive Tackle
Weight: 270 Born: 3-9-48

Oregon State
Fifth Year

PRO: Big Bill Nelson had the unenviable job of playing back-up defensive tackle behind two of the finest starters in football, Merlin Olsen and Larry Brooks, so his playing time during the last two seasons was limited mostly to the special teams. Nelson was drafted on the seventh round in 1970 and spent that season on the ready reserve. In 1971 he opened a fight for the starting position and apparently had it won at the start of the year. He continued to improve until a back ailment sidelined him. He underwent an operation for a disc problem and missed the remainder of the season. In 1972 he was a back-up for the first half, and the last half he spent on the ready reserve unit.

COLLEGE: Nelson lettered three years at Oregon State as a defensive lineman, and following his senior season he participated in the All-American Bowl game.

PERSONAL: Born in Berkeley, Calif., Nelson attended high school at nearby El Cerrito. He and wife Susan reside in El Toro, Calif., and Bill spends the off-season organizing fishing trips and playing tennis.

Nelson, Terry Tight End Arkansas AM&N
Height: 6-2 Weight: 230 Born: 5-20-51 Second Year

PRO: The Rams were well off at tight end in 1974, so young Terry Nelson was relegated to playing behind veterans Bob Klein and Pat Curran, as well as seeing some duty on the special teams. A fourth round draft choice in '73, Nelson was member of the ready reserve that season, although he did play on the special units for one game. Last year he appeared in ten games, carried the ball once on an end-around for a three-yard gain. During the pre-season he caught three passes for 58 yards.

COLLEGE: Nelson was a three-year letterman and in his senior year captain of the team at Arkansas AM&N and a Pittsburgh Courier All-American.

PERSONAL: Born in Arkadelphia, Ark., Nelson attended Peake High in that city and was a star in football and basketball. During the off-season he returns to Arkadelphia and continues his education at Arkansas AM&N.

Olsen, Merlin Defensive Tackle Utah State
Height: 6-5 Weight: 270 Born: 9-15-40 Fourteenth Year

PRO: Merlin Olsen thought about retirement, but then last February decided to play another year. Rams fans cheered. Offensive linemen around the NFL were not as happy. Olsen has been giving the latter fits for years, including 1974 when he was named pro football's "player of the year" by Philadelphia's Maxwell Club. In the Rams' biggest victory of the 1974 season, Olsen made the kind of crucial plays that have been his trademark during an illustrious 13-year career with the club. In the 19-10 playoff game win over Washington, Olsen forced two fumbles and then the clinching interception to get the Rams into the NFC Championship Game. That type of performance has been the reason for Merlin's remarkable Pro Bowl longevity record. In all of his 13 previous years, Olsen has been chosen to play in the post-season classic, although a knee injury forced him out of the 1971 Pro Bowl. Olsen in 1974 was a steadying influence on a defensive line that led the NFC in sacking opposing quarterbacks with 44. A Rams co-captain, Olsen was voted to UPI's All-NFC second team. Merlin has been receiving all-star recognition for more than a decade. He was a first round draft choice in 1962, and the following year, UPI, AP and NEA made him second team All-NFL. Thereafter, he was named to various all-pro teams each season, and from 1966 through 1970 he was a unanimous All-NFL performer. Ye Old Rams twice named him the Club's Most Valuable Player (1971-72) and four times the team's Outstanding Defensive Lineman (1967-70). The Daniel F. Reeves Award, emblematic of the club's MVP, also went to Olsen twice (1971-72). He has also been a Co-Athlete of the Year in Southern California by Citizens Savings/Helms Athletic Foundation (1972) and Southland Athlete of the Month from the same organization (Nov., 1970). One of the most prestigious awards came in 1970 when Olsen was picked to the all-time Rams team in conjunction with the Memorial Coliseum's Golden Anniversary. An iron man since his rookie year when he missed a couple of weeks late in the season, Olsen has started 170 consecutive league games for the Rams going into the 1975 campaign, highest in club history. Olsen's 180 games played ranks third on the all-time list.

COLLEGE: Olsen was named to every All-American team for his line play at Utah State. He was "Lineman of the Game" in the Hula Bowl and also took part in the East-West, All American and College All-Star games.

PERSONAL: Merlin was born in Logan, Utah, one of a family of nine children, and was an all-round athlete at Logan High. He and wife, Susan, reside in San Marino, Calif. with their two daughters, Kelly Lynn, 10; and Jill, 7; and son, Nathan, 2. Olsen's business ventures are wide and varied in Southern California. He is, for example, a partner in a Porsche and a Volkswagen dealership. In the past years he has appeared in motion pictures and co-hosted his own television show. He has also been involved in motivational film work. Last year he won Hospital Charity Fund's Red Rose Award for outstanding community service.

Peterson, Jim

Linebacker

San Diego State

Height: 6-5

Weight: 240

Born: 1-20-50

Second Year

PRO: Jim Peterson was a special teams performer in 1974 and his eventual goal is a starting linebacking position. He saw much time at outside linebacker during the pre-season and impressed the coaches with his abilities. Peterson, a sixth-round choice in 1973, suffered an injury in training camp and spent the rookie year on the injured reserve.

COLLEGE: Peterson was a JC All-American at San Diego Mesa although he had never played high school football. At San Diego State he was a defensive lineman.

PERSONAL: Peterson was born at San Diego and attended Crawford High School there. He is continuing his education at San Diego State where he majored in physical education. Jim is single.

Preece, Steve

Safety

Oregon State

Height: 6-1

Weight: 195

Born: 2-15-47

Seventh Year

PRO: Steve Preece has two kinds of ability, (1) football ability, and (2) the ability to land on his feet. Preece was not claimed in the 1969 draft, but became a member of the New Orleans Saints after signing as a free agent. Released by the Saints in 1970, free agent Preece signed with and played for two years with Philadelphia. Released once again, he surfaced as a free agent at Denver and started nine games in '72. Waived by the Broncos in the summer of '73, Preece was claimed by the Rams and, after placing his worn valise on the dressing room floor, proceeded to become the starting free safety on a club that went 12-2 and topped the NFL in total defense. In his two years with Los Angeles he has intercepted five passes for a career total of nine. He held for placements and in 1973 turned a bad snap into an 11-yard TD against Kansas City. Steve started ten games last year before being supplanted by rookie Bill Simpson.

COLLEGE: An All-Pac Eight quarterback, Preece was the captain at Oregon State his senior year when he won the last of his three football letters.

PERSONAL: A native of Boise, Ida., Preece attended high school there before heading for Corvallis. He and wife Sue live at Lake Oswego, Ore., between seasons where Steve is employed by Gilley Real Estate, specializing in commercial property.

Ray, David

Height: 6-0

Place Kicker

Weight: 195

Born: 9-19-44

Alabama

Seventh Year

PRO: As he enters the 1975 season David Ray is just a field goal away from becoming only the third player in Ram history to score 500 points. His 497 in five years as the Los Angeles place kicker puts him behind Bob Waterfield (573) and Bruce Gossett (571) on the club's all-time list. Ray's overall field goal record is 110 of 178 for a percentage of 61.8. With the goal posts moved back in 1974 David was asked to kick only 16 times, and he converted on nine of them. This is contrasted to the previous season when he booted a league high 30 field goals in 47 attempts and scored an NFL-leading 130 points. Both the 30 FGs and the 130 points are club records as Ray won the Golden Toe award administered by Pro Football weekly. Ray, who has kicked four field goals three different times in his NFL career, has a personal long of 49 yards, accomplished against the 49ers in 1971. The Bear Bryant-coached youngster was drafted 16th by Cleveland in 1966, then traded to the Rams that year for a draft choice. After spending that season on the reserve squad, as a wide receiver, he was waived in '67 and claimed by Atlanta. After a year as an Atlanta reserve squadder, he headed for Canada in 1968 and, at Montreal, he clicked on 11 of 18 field goal tries, including the 54-yarder which tied a Canadian League record. He signed with Los Angeles before the '69 season and was activated near the year's end. When the Rams traded Gossett to the 49ers for Kermit Alexander prior to the 1970 season, Ray became the place-kicker. He has filled in on occasion as wide receiver, his college spot.

COLLEGE: In 1964 Ray was named AP's Specialist of the Year as well as

All-Southeast Conference when he led the NCAA kickers in scoring with 59 points. He was also used as a flanker and defensive back at Alabama.

PERSONAL: Born in Phenix City, Alabama, Ray attended high school in that city where he was a four-sport athlete. He and wife Becky have a five-year-old daughter, Brandi Leigh. They live in Huntington Beach, Calif.

Rentzel, Lance

Height: 6-2

Wide Receiver

Weight: 202

Born: 10-14-43

Oklahoma

Tenth Year

PRO: He was not listed in the starting lineup in 1974, but for most of the season Lance Rentzel played nearly as much as if he had been a starter. Rentzel, who returned to football after sitting out the 1973 campaign, alternated with Jack Snow in messengering the plays from the Ram bench to the huddle. In addition, many of his 18 catches for 396 yards were key ones in the club's second consecutive NFC Western championship. His nine-year NFL totals are now 268 receptions for 4,826 yards, an 18.0 average and 38 touchdowns. He is the 13th leading active receiver in the NFC. A two-year starter with Los Angeles in 1971-72, Rentzel joined the Rams prior to the 1971 season in a trade that sent tight end Billy Truax and wide receiver Wendell Tucker to Dallas. With the Cowboys, Rentzel led the club in receptions three times, including a career high of 58 catches in 1967. He still holds the Cowboys single game record of 13 catches for 223 yards. Rentzel went to Dallas from Minnesota in 1967 for a third draft choice after spending two seasons with the Vikings, primarily on special teams. The Vikings drafted him on the second round in 1965.

COLLEGE: Rentzel was an All-Big Eight Conference halfback at Oklahoma. His first college football game was in the Cotton Bowl against Texas as a sophomore. He came off the injured list too late to go with the team, so he hitchhiked to the game and then caught two long passes. He caught a TD pass against Cleveland in the College All-Star game.

PERSONAL: Rentzel was born in Flushing, N.Y., but grew up in Casady, Oklahoma where he was an All-American in high school. An accomplished pianist and organist, he has played professionally. He has done considerable writing, including completion of one book, and stories for Sport and Los Angeles Magazines. He resides in Los Angeles.

Reynolds, Jack

Height: 6-1

Linebacker

Weight: 232

Born: 11-22-47

Tennessee

Sixth Year

PRO: Jack Reynolds had another outstanding season in 1974, thereby convincing the coaching staff that he has one of the most difficult traits to measure in a professional athlete, consistency. Jack had a terrific year in '73 and was one of the leaders on a unit which led the NFL in total defense. To prove his contributions were not accidental, Reynolds came right back in '74 and was a key man as his mates led the NFL in rushing defense, scoring defense and were second in the NFC in total defense. As the middle linebacker Reynolds has the responsibility of calling the shots. Reynolds, blessed with quickness and a nose for the ball, was a first round draftee in 1970, a year he spent behind Myron Pottios. He played second fiddle to Marlin McKeever in 1971-72, sitting out much of '71 with a knee injury. Once he was given a starting opportunity, he did everything expected of him. In '73 he intercepted two passes, one of which he returned 49 yards against Kansas City. He also had an interception in last year's important play-off victory over Washington.

COLLEGE: After being selected on the All-Southeast Conference team as a Tennessee representative, Reynolds played in the College All-Star game.

PERSONAL: Reynolds attended Western Hills High in the city of his birth, Cincinnati. Jack and wife Pat spent the off-season in Tennessee. During the season they live at Huntington Beach, Ca.

Robertson, Isiah

Linebacker

Southern U.

Height: 6-3

Weight: 225

Born: 8-17-49

Fifth Year

PRO: Flamboyant and spectacular are the ways to describe the performance of veteran linebacker Isiah Robertson, and his most eye-catching play of 1974 was also his most important of the season. It came in the fourth quarter of the Rams' playoff game against Washington, and it was a brilliant, broken field 59-yard return of an interception that changed a tight 13-10 game into a 19-10 victory for the Rams. It capped another fine season for the former Southern U. star who was drafted on the first round by the Rams in 1971 as the 10th player picked in that selection meeting on a choice obtained from the Redskins. In '74 Robertson again received all-star recognition for his play at right linebacker. He was named second team All-Pro by AP and the NEA, and second team All-NFC by UPI. Robertson also participated in last January's Pro Bowl, an honor also accorded him following the 1971 and 1973 seasons. Called "Butch" by his teammates, Robertson intercepted two passes during the regular season, running his career total to nine for 100 yards and one touchdown. A starter since his rookie year, Robertson was an immediate sensation. In his first year, for example, he was first team All-NFC by the Sporting News, NFL Defensive "Rookie of the Year" by both AP and Pro Football Weekly, UPI All-Rookie, "Rookie of the Year" by Ye Old Rams and second team all-conference by several other polls. Isiah also was named to three All-NFL teams following the 1973 season.

COLLEGE: Robertson intercepted 11 passes in three years at Southern U. and in his senior year was named All-American by the Sporting News and Time Magazine, as well as Small College All-American by AP and UPI.

PERSONAL: Born in New Orleans, La., Robertson was a star athlete at Pine View High in Covington, La. Still single, he resides in Fountain Valley, Ca. He is co-owner of Vista Auto Leasing in Woodland Hills, and also spends considerable time working with youth groups and charity projects such as Cerebral Palsy drives.

Saul, Rich
Height: 6-3

Center-Guard
Weight: 235

Born: 2-5-48

Michigan State
Sixth Year

PRO: In his first five seasons with the Rams Rich Saul has been a reserve, but the fact alone does not begin to indicate the worth of this versatile athlete from Michigan State. For one thing, the cohesiveness of the club's offensive line has made it unusually difficult for a newcomer to crack the starting lineup. Four of the five starters up front have been together since 1966, although starting center Ken Iman was traded last Spring. In a reserve role, Saul has been versatile and tough, and his value also lies on the special teams. During his pro career he has played center, guard, tackle, tight end and has been considered for linebacker, a position he was familiar with from his college days. He was an eighth round draft choice of the club in 1970, a season in which he was named the team's Rookie of the Year by Ye Old Rams.

COLLEGE: Despite a knee injury that plagued him his senior year, Saul still made All-Big Ten and Academic All-American as a defensive end and linebacker.

PERSONAL: Saul was born in Butler, Pa., and attended high school in that city. Twin brother, Ron, plays with the Houston Oilers and an older brother, Bill, is a retired NFL player. Rich and wife Eileen live in Westminster, Calif., where Rich works for Red Carpet Realty in the off-season.

Scibelli, Joe
Height: 6-0

Guard
Weight: 255

Born: 4-19-39

Notre Dame
Fifteenth Year

PRO: Fifteen years is a long time to hold any job, and that's especially true if it happens to be that of a pro football player. For Joe Scibelli, however, 1975 marks his fifteenth season with the Rams, matching teammate Charlie Cowan's longevity record. The club's co-captain for the last nine of those seasons, Scibelli ranks second to Cowan in number of games played for the Rams. Going into the '75 campaign, Cowan had participated in 193 and Scibelli in 188. Along the way, Joe has had his share of honors, including being named All-Pro in 1973 by the Newspaper Enterprise Association's player-conducted poll. A fixture at right guard since being drafted by the Rams on the 10th round in 1961, Scibelli has been named the club's Outstanding Interior Offensive Lineman by Ye Old Rams five times (1967, '68, '71, '72 and '73). A starter on a team that won the NFC Western title for the second straight season, Scibelli had never missed a game until midway through the 1969 season when a knee injury forced him out of action. He was also sidelined for a game in '72 with a groin pull. Often looked upon as the spokesman for the Ram offense, the popular Scibelli participated in the Pro Bowl following the 1968 season.

COLLEGE: Scibelli showed great promise as a sophomore tackle at Notre Dame, but didn't return for his junior year, finishing his college work at American International College in Massachusetts.

PERSONAL: Scibelli was born in Springfield, Mass., and went to Cathedral

High in that city where he was a football and hockey star. He and his wife Louise have one son, Chris, 13. They reside in Long Beach, Calif. During the off-season Scibelli works as a sales representative for Cab Lex, a cable and wire company.

Scribner, Rob

Height: 6-0

Weight: 200

Running Back

Born: 4-9-51

UCLA

Third Year

PRO: The Rams were deep at running back in 1974. Testimony to that was the fact that Rob Scribner was asked to carry the ball only nine times after performing creditably in the pre-season. Still the versatile athlete from UCLA was a valuable man on the special teams, just as he was the previous year when he signed with the club as a free agent. Scribner was used on both punt and kickoff returns as a rookie, and on punt returns in '74. His two year punt return totals are 11 for 102 yards and a 9.3 average. Last pre-season he was the team's second leading rusher with 58 carries for 254 yards, a 4.4 average and four touchdowns, including a 50-yard jaunt that was the longest run from scrimmage all year by a Ram in either the regular, post or pre-season. He scored his first regular season touchdown in the 1974 finale against Buffalo on a 14-yard pass from James Harris.

COLLEGE: Scribner played quarterback as a UCLA freshman, linebacker as a sophomore, defensive back as a junior and as a wishbone quarterback his senior year. The Van Nuys (Ca.) High grad was UCLA's third top rusher his senior year with 65 carries for 498 yards, a 7.7 average and four touchdowns. He was also an excellent rugby player.

PERSONAL: Scribner was born in Dallas, Tex., the son of a medical doctor. He and his wife, the former Jennifer Louise Ray, live in Westwood, Ca. In the off-season Rob works for the Massachusetts Mutual Insurance Co.

Simpson, Bill

Height: 6-1

Safety

Weight: 180

Born: 12-5-51

Michigan State

Second Year

PRO: The Rams brought Bill Simpson along slowly in his first professional season, but when they finally inserted him into the starting lineup on the 11th week of the campaign, the former Michigan State star performed like a veteran. A second round draft choice in '74, Simpson took over as the regular free safety during the Rams' big victory over Minnesota in late November. He picked off his first pro interception the following week against Atlanta, and got another one later in the club's first round playoff win over Washington. Until then Bill had performed capably on the Rams' special teams, and at season's end was named All-Rookie by the Pro Football Writers Association.

COLLEGE: Simpson was All-Big Ten his last two years at Michigan State, and was a Sporting News All-American following his senior season. He intercepted 12 passes in his Spartan career, and later played in the East-West Shrine and Hula Bowl games. In '72 he also led the Big Ten in punt returns (13.6 avg.) and punting (40.5 avg.).

PERSONAL: Born in Detroit, Simpson attended Royal Oak Shrine High in that city. Still single, he returned to East Lansing last off-season to work on obtaining a teaching credential.

Snow, Jack

Wide Receiver

Notre Dame

Height: 6-2

Weight: 190

Born: 1-25-43

Eleventh Year

PRO: In the history of the Rams, few performers have been as consistent as Jack Snow. Going into the 1975 season, for example, Snow has been the starting wide receiver in all of the 140 games he has been with the club. Now in his 11th year, Jack's name appears prominently in the team record book among the Rams' many all-time great receivers. He is third in number of passes caught with 336, just seven behind Elroy Hirsch (343) and 64 behind leader Tom Fears (400). In yards gained catching passes, Snow is second with 5,926 which means he could set a club record in '75 by exceeding Hirsch's 6,289. In touchdown receptions Snow's 44 is second to Hirsch's 53. He is the seventh leading active receiver in the NFC. He was a first round draft choice of Minnesota, but the Rams dealt Red Phillips and defensive tackle Gary Larson to the Vikings for the negotiation rights. They certainly have not been disappointed for Snow's career has been a productive one in which he has averaged 17.63 yards per catch and has rarely been caught from behind in an open field. His best season was 1970 when he caught 51 for 859 yards and seven TDs. Last year, alternating as a play messenger with Lance Rentzel, his totals were 24 catches for 397 yards and three scores, including the winning touchdown with a minute to play in an important 20-17 victory over Minnesota. Snow's accomplishments have not gone unnoticed by Ye Old Rams, who named him the club's Rookie of the Year in 1965, the Offensive Lineman of the Year in '67 and the Outstanding Receiver in 1971 and 1972. Jack also made the West Pro Bowl squad following the '67 season, but was unable to play due to an ankle injury.

COLLEGE: Snow was named to every All-American team after breaking most of the pass receiving records at Notre Dame. Most of his marks have been broken, however. In 1964 he caught 60 for 1,114 yards and nine touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Snow was born in Rocky Springs, Wyo., but went to high school at St. Anthony in Long Beach, Calif., where he was named All-City Lineman of the Year in 1960. He and wife Merry Carole, live in Seal Beach with their three children, Michelle, 9; Jack, Jr., 7; and Stephanie, 6. During the off-season Snow works for Cramer Electronics of Irvine as a sales executive.

Stein, Bob
Height: 6-3

Linebacker
Weight: 235 Born: 1-22-48

Minnesota
Seventh Year

PRO: Every team of championship caliber must possess a half-dozen or so rugged, go-for-broke, versatile, fearless players who have both a specialty and the desire and ability to play on the special teams. Such a one is Bob Stein, who learned his trade with the Kansas City Chiefs and continued to practice it for the Rams the past two years. Stein, a middle linebacker behind Willie Lanier with Kansas City, joined Los Angeles on '73's draft day in a trade for runner Willie Ellison and quarterback Pete Beathard, along with Kansas City's second and fourth round choices. Stein was a fifth round pick by the Chiefs in 1969 and one of the three rookies to become a member of the Super Bowl champs that year. He intercepted his lone NFL pass in '73.

COLLEGE: Stein was an All-Big Ten selection three straight years at Minnesota as a defensive end. He also kicked field goals, including a school record breaking 40 yards. He was the first player in the school's history to win the NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship Award.

PERSONAL: Born in Minneapolis, Stein attended St. Louis Park High in that city. He has earned a law degree from the University of Missouri at Kansas City, and recently became a member of the California State Bar. He is single.

Stokes, Tim
Height: 6-5

Weight: 252

Tackle
Born: 3-16-50

Oregon
Second Year

PRO: Stokes, a third round selection in '73, spent that year on the injured reserve with wrist and ankle injuries. Last season he responded to opportunity and saw action in six games, mostly at left tackle where Charlie Cowan has toiled for fourteen years.

COLLEGE: Stokes was a second-team All-Coast selection and a competitor in the Blue-Gray and Hula Bowl games following his senior year at Oregon.

PERSONAL: Stokes was born at Oakland, Ca. He attended San Leandro (Ca.) High where he earned three letters in three sports, football, basketball and track. Stokes is single and spent the off-season continuing his studies and assisting the coaching staff at his alma mater.

Stowe, Otto
Height: 6-2

Wide Receiver
Weight: 188 Born: 2-25-49

Iowa State
Fifth Year

PRO: Free agent Otto Stowe joined the Rams last May after playing out his option with the Denver Broncos, who, in turn, sent the Rams a 1977 draft choice as compensation and signed defensive lineman Phil Olsen, who had played out his option in Los Angeles. As a second round draft choice in 1971 by the Miami Dolphins, Stowe played two seasons behind Paul Warfield before being traded to Dallas, along with a second draft pick for wide receiver Ron Sellers. It appeared a good deal for the Cowboys, for Stowe began 1973 with a flurry. He had a team-leading 23 catches for 389 yards and six touchdowns at mid-season when a broken ankle forced him to the sidelines. Just prior to the '74 season, the Cowboys sent Stowe to Denver for an undisclosed draft choice. Used in eight games last year, Otto caught two passes for nine yards a one touchdown.

COLLEGE: Stowe set school pass receiving marks at Iowa State with 132 career receptions for 1,751 yards and ten touchdowns.

PERSONAL: Born in Chicago, Stowe attended Feitshans High in Springfield, Ill., where he was a three-sport athlete—football, basketball and track. He is single.

Stukes, Charlie Cornerback Maryland Eastern Shore
Height: 6-3 Weight: 212 Born: 9-13-43 Ninth Year

PRO: Quarterbacks do not like Charlie Stukes very much. He intercepts too many of their passes, a habit of his that dates all the way back to 1967 when he was a fourth round draft choice by Baltimore. Since then he has turned in 32 interceptions for 440 yards, a 13.8 average and one touchdown. Last year Stukes and teammate Dave Elmerdorf shared second place in the NFC with seven interceptions apiece. Charlie came on strong to reach that total by swiping five in the last five games, including two against Atlanta. What's more, he picked off another one in the NFC Championship Game against Minnesota. His performance marked the fourth straight season he had either won or tied for the club lead in interceptions. His five for 104 yards paced the Rams in 1973 and he did the same thing in Baltimore with eight in 1971 and five in '72. A starter on the Colts' 1971 Super Bowl Champions, Stukes was traded to Minnesota in July of '73 for a draft choice, and the Rams obtained his services from the Vikings for the same price a month later. Charlie joined the team during the pre-season and moved right in as the starting left cornerback after an injury to Al Clark.

COLLEGE: A quarterback at Maryland Eastern Shore, Stukes was also a basketball and baseball star.

PERSONAL: Born in Chesapeake, Va., Stukes attended Crestwood, Va., High School. He and wife Gloria have two daughters, Syreatha, 6; and Sheri, 3. They reside in Virginia where Charlie works in social services.

Walker, Donnie Safety Central State (Ohio)
Height: 6-2 Weight: 180 Born: 12-26-50 Third Year

PRO: When the Rams obtained Donnie Walker in a trade with Buffalo on a draft day of 1975 for a draft choice, they got one of the most prolific punt return men in the NFL. During his first two seasons of pro football Walker returned a total of 68 punts, 43 of them coming last year to set a new Bills record and tie for the third most in league history. In '74 Walker returned them 384 yards for an 8.9 average. His 594 yards returning punts over a two-year span represents a Bills career mark. A fourth round draft choice of Buffalo in 1973, Walker has also been used as a reserve defensive back, although he became the starting free safety at the end of last season.

COLLEGE: Used both as a defensive back and a receiver at Central State.

Walker was a Pittsburgh Courier All-American choice and was also second team All-NAIA. he was named the outstanding defensive player for the West All-Stars in the Ohio Shrine Bowl.

PERSONAL: Walker was born in Bronx, N.Y. and attended Lindenhurst (N.Y.) High School where he was a football and track star. Single, Walker is a musician who plays the trombone and the piano. He resides in Los Angeles.

Williams, John

Height: 6-3

Weight: 256

Tackle

Born: 10-27-45

Minnesota

Eighth Year

PRO: Perhaps the least known in Los Angeles of the Rams starting offensive linemen has been John Williams. Not that his contributions have been any less than the others. To the contrary, Williams has been steady and efficient since taking over the starting right tackle spot at the beginning of the 1973 season. It is just that three of the other four interior linemen (tackle Charlie Cowan, guard Joe Scibelli and center Ken Iman) played their 14th NFL seasons in 1974 and the other, guard Tom Mack, is a many times All-Pro. Williams, however, has fit in nicely with this group, justifying the first draft choice the Rams gave Baltimore for him prior to the 1972 season. A two-year starter for the Colts, including their Super Bowl championship team of 1970, Williams is a versatile player who spent a year in Baltimore as a defensive end in 1969, later moved to guard, and, of course, was switched to tackle in Los Angeles. He was a first draft choice of the Colts in 1968.

COLLEGE: Williams was an All-Big Ten tackle at Minnesota, where he also played some at fullback and defensive end. He participated in the College All-Star and Coaches All-American games following his senior season.

PERSONAL: Born in Jackson, Miss., Williams attended Libbey High in Toledo, Ohio. Last off-season John took preliminary courses to enter the University of Minnesota's dental school. He and wife Colleen have two sons, Jay, 5; and Justin, 3.

Defensive End

Born: 1-26-50

Florida

Fifth Year

PRO: Four years after he was drafted on the first round in 1971, Jack Youngblood has very definitely arrived. Just ask the pollsters. Following the 1974 season Youngblood was accorded first team All-NFL honors from the Associated Press and the Pro Football Writers Association. The Football News called him second team All-Pro and AP, the Pro Football Writers, Pro Football Weekly and the Sporting News all named him first team All-NFC. The conference's coaches agreed, giving the former Florida star a berth on the NFC's Pro Bowl squad for the second straight year. On a team that led the conference in dumping opposing quarterbacks with 44, Youngblood had 13 "sacks" and four assists. An understudy to Deacon Jones as a rookie in '71, Jack shared the left end position with Fred Dryer the following season before Dryer moved over to his more familiar right end spot in '73. It was then that Youngblood began to blossom, making second team All-NFL by AP and second team All-NFC by both UPI and Pro Football Weekly, as well as Ye Old Rams "Outstanding Defensive Lineman." Last year Jack was a key member of a unit that led the NFL in rushing defense, scoring defense and was second in the conference in total defense.

COLLEGE: Each year was better than the preceding one in the college career of Youngblood, who won first team All-American honors as a senior at Florida from the Sporting News and the Football Writers Association. He was named second team by AP, and he participated in the College All-Star and Senior Bowl games. He was also named the Most Valuable Defensive Lineman in the Southeast Conference in 1970.

PERSONAL: Youngblood was born in Jacksonville, Florida, and went to Jefferson County High School in Montecello, Florida. In the off-season he and wife Diane live in Westminster, Calif., and Jack works for BankAmericard in a public relations capacity.

Youngblood, Jim Linebacker Tennessee Tech
Height: 6-3 Weight: 239 Born: 2-23-50 Third Year

PRO: For two consecutive years Jim Youngblood has been a reserve middle linebacker, but during both those seasons the highly regarded former Tennessee Tech star has picked up valuable experience and knowledge that will soon make him an NFL starter. A second round draft choice by the Rams in 1973, Youngblood has been a backup to Jack Reynolds, who has had two fine seasons at middle linebacker. Youngblood, however, has seen extensive duty on the special teams and last year was used often as a fourth linebacker. Jim, who is not related to Ram defensive end Jack Youngblood, has intercepted one pass in his NFL career, returning it 15 yards.

COLLEGE: Twice named Little All-American by AP and the Football Coaches Association, Youngblood was the Ohio Valley Conference's Defensive Player of the Year in both 1971 and 1972. He played in the Hula Bowl and College All-Star games following his senior season.

PERSONAL: Born in Union, S.C., Youngblood attended high school at Jonesville, S.C. Last off-season he attended Tennessee Tech to complete work on a bachelor's degree. He and wife, Mary, have a daughter, Tara, 4.

The Ram Story 1937-1975

1937 On February 13th, the National Football League grants a Cleveland franchise to Homer Marshman and associates, a prominent group of local businessmen. Hugo Bezdek is named head coach. As the league's rookie franchise, Rams finish with a 1-10-0 record. Bob Kelley is named radio play-by-play announcer at start of season.

1938 Assistant coach Art Lewis takes over team after three losses and Rams win three of remaining seven games.

1939 Earl "Dutch" Clark becomes head coach and Lewis remains as assistant. Rams hit .500 mark for first time with 5-5-1 record. Parker Hall joins team as rookie tailback. Hall is not named on official NFL all-league first team, but wins Joe Carr Trophy as NFL's official Most Valuable Player.

1940 Team drops back to 4-6-1 record. Johnny Drake, powerful Ram fullback, is named to first team all-NFL.

1941 Daniel F. Reeves and Fred Levy, Jr. purchase Rams in June and hire, as general manager, Billy Evans, former sports columnist, American League umpire and Cleveland Indians general manager. Team wins first two games but drops next nine to finish in cellar.

1942 Evans resigns before 1942 season. Charles "Chile" Walsh replaces Art Lewis as assistant coach. Lt. Reeves and Major Levy depart to enter armed forces. Bob Kelley is named club secretary. Team finishes 5-6-0.

1943 Clark resigns. Chile Walsh is named head coach, but NFL grants Rams permission to suspend operations for one season because of wartime difficulties. Reeves buys out Levy.

1944 Chile Walsh becomes general manager and appoints Buff Donelli as head coach. Pick-up team finishes 4-6-0.

1945 Donelli joins military service. Walsh names his brother, Adam Walsh, as head coach, with George Trafton and Bob Snyder as assistants. Third round draft choice (a future) Bob Waterfield from UCLA joins team as T-formation quarterback and leads Rams to 9-1-0 season for first divisional title in team's history. On icy field, Rams defeat Washington Redskins, 15-14, at Cleveland for world title. Waterfield becomes first player to receive unanimous vote for official NFL Most Valuable Player award. Walsh is named coach of the year. Eddie Kotal joins team as chief scout and Bill John begins 29-year tenure as business manager.

1946 Reeves moves franchise to Los Angeles early in the year. After disappointing 6-4-1 season, both Walshes resign.

1947 Reeves assumes duties of general manager. Bob Snyder is named head coach with Joe Stydahar as new assistant. Team is talent-heavy but injury-ridden in 6-6-0 season. Reeves sells part interests to former partner Levy and to Edwin and Harold Pauley and Hal Seley.

1948 Clark Shaughnessy joins staff as advisory coach. On September 3rd Snyder resigns and Shaughnessy becomes head coach. Team wins four of last five to post 6-5-1 mark.

1949 Team wins first six games, then hangs on to win first divisional title since moving west. Heavy rain holds down L.A. crowd as Philadelphia Eagles skid to 14-0 win over Rams in NFL title game. Rookie Norm Van Brocklin joins team and gives Rams top-notch one-two quarterback punch. Elroy Hirsch has fine rookie year.

1950 NFL absorbs AAC, leaving Rams as lone pro team in Los Angeles after four years of two-league existence. In February, Stydahar becomes head coach, replacing Shaughnessy, and appoints Hamp Pool, Mel Hein and Red Hickey as assistants. Club opens new offices on Beverly Boulevard. Bill Granholm begins 18-year tenure as equipment manager. Team sets 22 league records in rolling to divisional title tie. Waterfield and end Tom Fears lead play-off win over Bears, 24-14, but following week in Cleveland, Lou Groza's late field goal stops Rams' title hopes, 30-28.

1951 Hein resigns to take USC post. He is replaced by Ray Richards. Rams win third straight divisional title on final day of season, then defeat Cleveland at the Coliseum, 24-17, on 73-yard pass, Van Brocklin to Fears, for first world title since moving to L.A.

1952 After team loses three straight pre-season games and drops league opener by big score, Stydahar resigns. He is replaced as head coach by Hamp Pool. Team loses two of next three, but wins last eight to tie for divisional title. Rams lose playoff in Detroit. Rams trade 11 players to Dallas for rookie Les Richter, who then enters army for two years. Waterfield retires.

1953 Richards resigns to accept Baltimore coaching assignment. Pool names John Sauer and Bill Battles as new assistants. Club co-owner Harold Pauley passes away. Team compiles 8-3-1 record, losing three games by total of eight points, to finish third in division. Rams defeat world champ Lions in both games.

1954 Pool adds Dick Voris and Ralph Weaver to staff. Bonus choice Bill Wade and tradee Les Richter both join Rams as rookies two years after going from college into military service. Team has disappointing 6-5-1 mark. All assistant coaches resign. Pool soon follows suit.

1955 On January 26th, Rams hire Sid Gillman, head coach at University of Cincinnati, to replace Pool. Gillman names Joe Madro, Jack Faulkner, Lowell Storm and Joe Thomas as assistants. Fine defensive year and clutch field goal kicking by Richter give team hard-fought 8-3-1 record for divisional title. Cleveland wins title game at Coliseum by one-sided score.

1956 In form reversal, team loses five consecutive early-season games and finishes in cellar tie with 4-8 record.

1957 Ram owners sign five year operational pact and name former Ram publicist Pete Rozelle as general manager. George Allen is added to coaching staff. Team loses squeakers on road to 49ers and Lions, finishing 6-6-0, but only two games behind divisional leaders.

1958 Gillman's revamped coaching staff includes Madro and Faulkner, and addition of Bob Waterfield, Bill Swiacki and Lou Rymkus. In pre-season trade, Van Brocklin goes to Eagles. Bill Wade sets many Ram passing marks en route to 8-4-0 year.

1959 Team has general letdown and many injuries for worst season since 1937, finishing 2-10-0. Ollie Matson, acquired in big trade, is workhorse at fullback. On last day of season, Gillman and staff resign.

1960 Following death of Bert Bell, Pete Rozelle is named NFL commissioner. Elroy Hirsch replaces Rozelle as Ram general manager. Bob Waterfield is named Ram head coach, and hires Hamp Pool, Don Paul, Jim David, Tom Fears and Vic Lindskog as assistants. Team shows slight improvement over previous year with 4-7-1 record.

1961 Rams trade Bill Wade, Del Shofner, John Guzik for Zeke Bratkowski, Lindon Crow and 1962 first draft choice, which makes it possible to draft both Roman Gabriel and Merlin Olsen. Revamped Rams finish strongly after slow start, but still show 4-10-0 deficit.

1962 Harland Svare replaces Don Paul as defensive line coach. Rams lose four of first five games by narrow margins, then show only occasional surges of success en route to 1-12-1 year. Waterfield resigns after eighth game. Svare named interim head coach, with Pool, Lindskog, and player-coach Richter and Crow as his staff. On December 27, in closed auction, Reeves reacquires control of Rams, purchasing full interests of co-owners Pauley, Levy, Seley and Bob Hope.

1963 Reeves sells 49% interest in Rams to Gene Autry, Bob Reynolds, Leonard Firestone, Paul A. O'Bryan, Robert Lehman, J.D. Stetson Coleman and Joseph A. Thomas. Svare is retained, and he names to his staff Don Heinrich, Ray Wietecha, Bob Schnelker, Jack Patera and player-coach Crow. Les Richter retires before season. After 0-5 record, Gabriel is reinstated as starting QB and plays last nine games without relief, guiding team to 5-4 mark and season record of 5-9-0.

1964 Rams sign ten-year pact to play in "new look" Coliseum's "stadium-within-a-stadium." Fourteen rookies make the season squad. Club finishes fifth with 5-7-2 record.

1965 Harland Svare's new lineup of staff coaches includes Vic Schwenk, Bill Austin, Bob Schnelker, Jack Patera and Don Doll. After winning only one of first ten, Rams take three of last four against top two teams in each division, but Svare is dismissed.

1966 After a court fight, George Allen is released by George Halas from his assistant coaching duties with the Chicago Bears to become head coach of the Rams. Allen selects staff which includes Jack Patera, Ted Marchibroda, Ray Prochaska, Howard Schnellenger, Tom Callin and Joe Sullivan. NFL and AFL merge in spring. Bob Kelley, "Voice of the Rams" since the club's beginning in 1937, dies in September. Rams, practicing at new facilities in Long Beach, have a chance to finish second in West until final game, which they lose to World Champion Packers. Thus, the team finishes 8-6, the best record since 1958.

1967 Jack Patera accepts job with New York Giants and Marion Campbell moves from Minnesota Vikings to assume defensive line coaching duties. After 17 years on Beverly Boulevard, club moves front offices to new building on Pico. Training camp is also moved to California State College at Fullerton after five years at Chapman College in Orange. Equipment manager Bill Granholm leaves club after 18 years to take position in league office. Rams record first unbeaten pre-season in history with six wins, including victories over first-ever AFL opponents, San Diego and Kansas City. Team completes finest win-loss season ever with 11-1-2 league record to win Coastal Division Championship, the first title of any kind since 1955, then loses to Green Bay in Western Conference Championship Game. Club sets new team record in attendance by playing before 1,230,059 fans and also establishes new club mark for 14 games in attendance: 848,090.

1968 After Playoff Bowl win over Cleveland in January, team finishes regular 1968 season with 10-3-1 record, second in Coastal Division to Baltimore's 13-1 mark. Attendance is over one million for second straight year and Ram defense sets new 14-game NFL record for fewest yards allowed. On Dec. 26, Allen is dismissed as head coach, but is re-hired two weeks later.

1969 Marion Campbell leaves to become defensive coach at Atlanta. He is replaced by LaVern Torgeson, from the Pittsburgh staff, as defensive line coach. Dick Vermeil is also added to coaching staff. After 20 years with the Rams as a player, general manager and assistant to the president, Elroy Hirsch leaves club to become athletic director at the University of Wisconsin. He is replaced by Public Relations Director Jack Teele, and John Sanders becomes Assistant General Manager. Team wins its first 11 games—to win Coastal Division with 11-3 record before losing to Minnesota in Western Conference title game, 23-20. New Ram attendance records are set for the year (1,307,989 for all 22 games) and the regular season (866,160 in 14 games). Quarterback Roman Gabriel is unanimous choice as the NFL's Most Valuable Player.

1970 Playoff Bowl victory over Dallas in January heads Rams toward their 25th year in Southern California. Two coaching changes are made: Marv Levy replaces Dick Vermeil, who leaves for UCLA, and Boyd Dowler takes over for Howard Schnellenberger, who moves to Miami Dolphin staff. With the completion of the merger of the NFL and AFL, the Rams join San Francisco, Atlanta and New Orleans in the Western Division of the National Conference of the new 26-team National Football League. Rams finish second to 49ers with 9-4-1 record and set a new league 14-game attendance mark of 904,979. George Allen's contract is not renewed.

1971 On April 15, owner Daniel F. Reeves dies of cancer in New York. His longtime friend and business associate, William A. Barnes, becomes President and General Manager. Tommy Prothro, successful head coach at UCLA, replaces Allen and hires staff consisting of Bobb McKittrick, Larrye Weaver, Dick Vermeil, Earnel Durden and Rich Brooks from his Bruin staff; Tom Catlin from previous Ram staff; Leon McLaughlin, former Ram great who was head coach at Valley State College; and Sid Hall from the Oakland staff. Playing the toughest schedule in the NFL, the Rams finish with an 8-5-1 record, second to 49ers in the NFC West.

1972 In a history-making move, Baltimore Colts owner Carroll Rosenbloom trades the Baltimore franchise to Robert Irsay in exchange for the Rams. Irsay, a Chicago-based industrialist, had purchased the Rams from the estate of the late Dan Reeves. The transaction was completed and announced on July 14. Rosenbloom, the most successful owner in the NFL over the last two decades, brings with him to Los Angeles Don Klosterman, former Loyola University star quarterback who had been Rosenbloom's general manager in Baltimore. Klosterman assumes title of Executive Vice-President and General Manager. After five years at Cal State Fullerton, Rams move training camp site to Cal State Long Beach. After 6-7-1 season, all coaches are dismissed.

1973 An observer in '72, Rosenbloom begins to make changes early in 1973, and they pay off quickly. His choice for head coach, former Detroit assistant Chuck Knox, leads team to 12-2 season, winningest in Rams history, and Knox becomes "Coach of the Year." Roman Gabriel is traded to Philadelphia and the new quarterback, former San Diego Charger John Hadl, is NFC "Player of the Year." Rams win NFC West title, but lose in first round of playoffs to Dallas. Other changes introduced by Rosenbloom include return to blue and gold uniforms. Knox's coaching staff consists of Tom Catlin and Dick Vermeil from previous Rams staff; Leeman Bennett from the Lions; Ken Meyer from the Jets; Ray Prochaska from the Browns; Ray Malavasi from Oakland; Jim Wagstaff from Boise State and Jack Faulkner from the Rams scouting department. Club returns to Cal State Fullerton for summer training.

1974 Carroll Rosenbloom's son, Steve, takes over as Assistant to the President. Formerly, he had learned the pro football business in Baltimore, and had worked his way up to President of the Colts. Dick Vermeil leaves staff to take head coaching post at UCLA, and he is replaced by Elijah Pitts, former Packer running back. Ex-San Jose State aide Ed Alzman is also added to coaching staff. After 3-2 start, Rams trade John Hadl to Green Bay for five draft choices in bold move that stuns the football world. Hadl's backup, James Harris, becomes starter and leads team to 10-4 record, its second straight NFC Western title and its first playoff victory since 1951 (a 19-10 win over Washington) before the Rams bow to Minnesota, 14-10, in the conference championship game.

1975 Led by the Rams staff, the NFC tops the AFC in the Pro Bowl, 17-10, and James Harris throws two touchdown passes to become game's Most Valuable Player. Armed with three first round draft choices as a result of previous trades, the Rams pick defensive lineman Mike Fanning of Notre Dame, guard-tackle Dennis Harrah of Miami (Fla.) and tackle Doug France of Ohio State. Knox' staff remains the same.
