If one week clearly defines the direction of the Washington Redskins are heading under the stewardship of John Kent Cooke, that defining week came in late February of this year.

After signing long-term deals with the team's own top free agents (Ken Harvey, Brian Mitchell, Tré Johnson and Joe Patton), Mr Cooke turned his attention to the rebuilding of the Redskins defensive line.

On February 19 he signed unrestricted free agent defensive tackle Dana Stubblefield, the NFL's defensive player of the year in 1997, to a six-year contract worth $36,000,000 including a $8,000,000 signing bonus.

He followed up that deal with a trade with the Cincinnati Bengals for defensive tackle Dan "Big Daddy" Wilkinson. To acquire Wilkinson, the Redskins gave up their first and third round selections in this year's draft. Wilkinson's contract totals $21,000,000 for five years, including a $5,000,000 signing bonus.

In all, Mr Cooke spent over $105,000,000 in salaries and over $25,000,000 in signing bonuses.

Those moves did not go unnoticed by The Sporting News' Paul Attner... "Now, a

REDSKINS PRESIDENT JOHN KENT COOKE

$25 million investment by (John Kent Cooke), spent over only a few short days, has brought shape and sharpness to his image...In the process, he demonstrated decisiveness...when dealing with the complexities of free agency. He has sent a heads-up to the NFL, too."

Attner again had this observation... "(He) intends to be as aggressive as his father. He intends to do what he feels is necessary to get to the Super Bowl, which he realizes will be the true test of his stewardship of the franchise."

But that desire to do what it takes has been commonplace during Mr Cooke's 18-year tenure with the team.

"Since the first day I walked into Redskin Park I have been amazed at just how much John Kent Cooke does behind the scenes to ensure this organization runs smoothly," says Head Coach Norv Turner. "He knows this football team and he knows how to make a football team successful. I don't think as a coach you could ask for the kind of support John Cooke gives to the Washington Redskins."

The Skins off-the-field accomplishments since Mr Cooke assumed administration of the team in 1981 rival the eight playoff appearances, four NFC championships, five NFC East division titles, and the four Super Bowl appearances.

"John Cooke's commitment to this football team is directly responsible for our success," said General Manager Charley Casserly.

Three concrete examples of his leadership is the completion of Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in 1997 and the $25 million improvements to the stadium underway for the 1998 season and the design and construction of Redskin Park, the 159-acre training complex, which is now the model for all new training facilities.

The team's saturation of the radio and television markets in the Washington metro area is another testament to Mr Cooke's marketing and negotiating ability. An innovator in the telecasts of preseason scrimmages, the Redskins preseason television contract with WJLA ranks among the most attractive in the NFL.

In 1998, Mr Cooke negotiated a three-year radio contract with flagship station, WJFK-FM, which broadcasts games in stereo enhancing the Redskins radio network, traditionally one of the largest in the NFL with over 75 stations stretching from Maine to South Carolina.

Mr Cooke was asked by commissioner Pete Rozelle to serve on the Special Commissioner Committee selecting the current Commissioner, Paul Tagliabue. In turn, Tagliabue tabbed Mr Cooke for assistance, as a member of the Executive Committee of the Management Council, in negotiating a new player union contract. After countless hours of work, those efforts came to fruition in 1992 with an agreement between the League and the NFL Players

"Now, a $25 million investment by the son...has brought shape and sharpness to his image...(John Kent Cooke) has sent a heads-up to the NFL, too. The son intends to be as aggressive as his father. He intends to do what he feels is necessary to get to the Super Bowl."

— Paul Attner, The Sporting News

Association.

Given his varied and extensive background, Mr Cooke's management success with the Redskins is understandable. He attended Waterloo College in Canada, majoring in English and journalism. In 1959, he became a trainee director/producer with Associated Television in England, and worked in Los Angeles a year later in the production department of QM Productions, a Hollywood television production company, and subsequently American Cablevision Company, a cable television company.

In 1965, Mr Cooke became the Vice President of Advertising, Sales, and Promotions for all sports and entertainment events at the Forum in Inglewood, CA, the home of the NBA Lakers and the NHL Kings.

In 1981 Mr Cooke took over daily control of the Redskins as executive vice president and became president of the Redskins and Jack Kent Cooke Inc. upon the death of his father.

In 1996 Mr Cooke was awarded an Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters Degree by Marymount University for leadership in business and service to the Washington community.

Mr Cooke relaxes away from professional sports with his wife, Rita, sailing on the Chesapeake Bay.

Mr Cooke and Mrs Cooke have four children, John, Redskins Vice President of Marketing, Thomas and Rachel, professional photographers, Sean, a broadcast account executive and three granddaughters, Julianne, Isabel and Lily, who was born this off season.

JACK KENT COOKE STADIUM

Privately Financed Stadium

Jack Kent Cooke Stadium is the first privately financed stadium using revenues produced by the stadium since Pro Player Stadium (formerly Joe Robbie Stadium) was constructed in 1987.

Jack Kent Cooke Stadium opened September 14, 1997 when the Redskins defeated the Arizona Cardinals in overtime 19-13. Stadium construction began in March 1996 and was completed in a record 17 1/2 months.

Jack Kent Cooke Stadium is located in Rajon, Maryland, in Prince George's County inside the Washington Beltway 4.9 miles due east of RFK Stadium. The stadium is located on a 200 acre site and is the largest outdoor stadium in the NFL with 80,116 seats, including 199 luxury suites, 1,506 loge seats and 14,958 club seats.

$25 Million in Improvements

plans to further improve Jack Kent Cooke Stadium. The improvements totaled $25 million of privately financed money. Construction began on March 1 and will be completed in time for the opening of the 1998 preseason.

The Club level concourse is extended 16 feet and the Club concourse and the Suite level concourses are enclosed in glass creating an atrium around the entire stadium. Two additional escalators provide efficient access to all premium seats. The entire Club concourse area features climate controlled lounge seating with carpeting, tile and large screen televisions.

Other improvements include additional parking to the already 23,000 parking spaces and an additional interchange for north bound (outer loop) patrons on the beltway.

World Class Events

Along with Washington Redskins football, college football will be coming to Jack Kent Cooke Stadium this fall when Navy and Notre Dame play on November 14.

World class events will also be coming to Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in the future. The stadium will be one of eight sites for the 1999 FIFA Women's World Cup Soccer tournament.

Jack Kent Cooke Stadium has also proven to be a perfect site to host concerts. In 1997, the Rolling Stones played the first ever concert held at the stadium.

Jack Kent Cooke Stadium Dedication

Washington Redskins president John Kent Cooke officially dedicated the naming of Jack Kent Cooke Stadium, built in a record 17 1/2 months on Thursday, September 11, 1997. The dedication ceremonies included the unveiling of the Jack Kent Cooke Stadium sign.

September 14, 1997

The Redskins opened Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in style, with a thrilling 19-13 victory over the Arizona Cardinals in front of a Washington sports record 78,820 fans.

In their first game at their new home, the Redskins were forced to overtime when Cardinal kicker Kevin Butler connected on a 47-yard field goal to tie the score at 13 with just two seconds remaining.

The Cardinals won the toss to start overtime, but rookie defensive end Kenard Lang stripped Arizona running back Leeland McElroy of the football and Derek Smith recovered at the Cardinal 35-yard line.

Charley Casserly arrived in 1977 as an unpaid intern for former Redskins coach George Allen.

"I told them I'd work for free, breaking down film, cleaning the locker room, anything," recalls Casserly.

Since then, he has worked his way up from scout to assistant general manager and finally to general manager in 1989.

His talents are also recognized league-wide. This past offseason Commissioner Paul Tagliabue appointed Casserly to the NFL Competition Committee.

Casserly has been the guiding force in the rebuilding of the Redskins, beginning with the hiring of Norv Turner as head coach in 1994.

He also has been instrumental in bold offseason moves that brought the Redskins defensive tackles Dana Stubblefield and Dan Wilkinson this season.

Other free agent acquisitions include Pro Bowlers Ken Harvey, Terry Allen and Cris Dishman, plus middle linebacker Marcus Patton.

The rich blend of veterans like

Darrell Green and talented young players like Kenard Lang is a trademark of those long hours of hard work.

His work-ethic, dedication, and detailed preparedness are as intense today as they were 21 years ago under George Allen.

His eye for talent has long been acknowledged among his peers in the league and those at Redskin Park, but it became evident to everyone with his very first draft as general manager.

In the fifth round of the 1990 draft, Casserly saw enough to select an option quarterback from Southwest Louisiana as a running back / return specialist. That player, Brian Mitchell, joined Jim Brown and Gale Sayers as the only three NFL players to lead the league in all-purpose yardage three consecutive seasons.

The ability to find a diamond in the rough is not new to Casserly. Late round finds in recent years include Gus Frerotte (1996 Pro Bowl), Rich Owens (11 sacks in 1996) and Jamie Asher (team leading 49 receptions in 1997).

REDSKINS GM CHARLEY CASSERLY

As a scout he was responsible for uncovering two members of the original Hogs, Joe Jacoby and Jeff Bostic, as free agents.

In nine years as the Redskins general manager, Casserly has coupled that diligence with uncanny instincts to lead the Redskins to three playoff appearances and a Super Bowl crown.

Said Washington Times sports columnist Dan Daly... "Make no mistake: This is Charley's team now. In his first few years as GM, his assignment wasn't so much to build as to maintain what Bobby Beathard had left behind. And he did it very well. His cut-and-paste job with the '91 Super Bowl champs...now we're seeing he can be a creator as well as a caretaker."

His impressive scouting skills became publicly evident when he oversaw the assembly of the Redskins replacement team during the 1987 players strike. That group was undefeated, winning a memorable Monday Night game at Dallas.

Casserly was equally impressive in Plan B free agency where he earned a league wide reputation as a premier judge of talent. In a system where the stars were protected, Casserly signed eventual starters Brad Edwards, Danny Copeland, Ron Middleton, Fred Stokes, Ray Brown, and Martin Mayhew as well as adding pass rushing specialist Jumpy Geathers.

Those players made significant contributions in the Redskins winning their third Super Bowl championship in 1991.

Casserly's most critical option came in 1977 when he was a high school teacher/coach in Massachusetts working to get into college or pro coaching. When no doors opened to college ranks, Casserly wrote all 28 NFL teams, offering his services. Only two teams (Washington and New England) indicated any interest.

Redskins coach George Allen took Casserly up on his offer, providing an internship with no pay, and Casserly soon packed and moved to Alexandria where he rented a room at the YMCA for $8 a night.

When Allen left Washington for the Rams, Charley turned down an opportunity to move to Los Angeles, electing to go into scouting for the Redskins. Discovering free agents such as Jacoby and Bostic caught the eye of General Manager Bobby Beathard, who promoted Casserly to Assistant General Manager in 1982.

His determination and work ethic took him as far as college football at Springfield College, where he earned a bachelor's degree in education and a master's in guidance. He served as an assistant coach at Cathedral High School in Springfield from 1969-72 and as an assistant at Springfield College from 1973-74. He was athletic director at Cathedral (1974-75), then went to Minnechaugh High from 1975-76 as head football coach.

A native of River Edge, N.J., Casserly attended Bergen Catholic High School in Oradell, N.J. He and his wife, Bev, have a daughter, Shannon, 14, and reside in Great Falls, VA.

A 1983 inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Bobby joined the Redskins' personnel staff in 1969 following his retirement as a player. He was promoted to Director of Pro Scouting, then to Assistant to the President in 1978. He was named Assistant General Manager in 1981.

He was an eighth round draft selection by the Cleveland Browns in 1958 and shared the most valuable player trophy in the 1958 College All-Star game, catching two touchdown passes against the NFL champion Detroit Lions.

He played in four Pro Bowls (one with Cleveland and three with Washington) over his 11-year playing career.

He was traded to Washington in 1962 along with Leroy Jackson for Ernie Davis (Washington's number one draft choice in 1962). As a Brown and Redskin he posted 2,735 yards rushing on 513 attempts (5.3 avg.); 521 receptions for 7,953 yards (15.3 avg.), 69 punt returns for 699 yards (10.2 avg.), 102 kickoff returns for 2,690 yards (26.4-avg.); 91 touchdowns for 546 points; and 14,078 total yards.

A 1958 graduate of Illinois, he is a member of the University's Presidents

REDSKINS ASST. GM BOBBY MITCHELL

Council and is on the Board of Directors of the University of Illinois Foundation. He received the University of Illinois Foundation National Network Outstanding Leadership Award and is a member of the Advisory Board of the University Library.

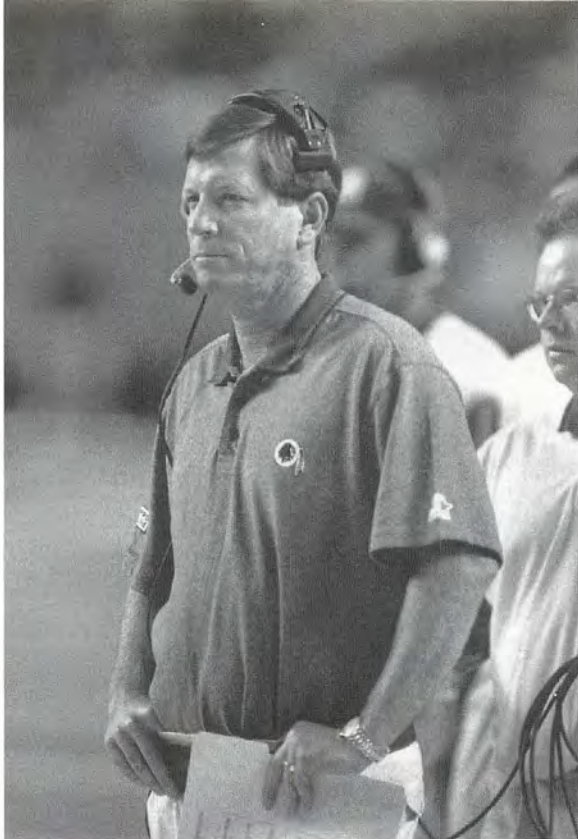

Mitchell is Chairman of the Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Area Leadership Council and is a Board Member of the American Lung Association of D.C. He has also worked with the White House Task Force on Drugs and has served on the Howard University Cancer Research Advisory Committee and the Washington Board of Trade and The Friendship House.

Mitchell sits on the NFL Alumni Executive Committee and serves on the Advisory Board of the United Negro College Fund. His Bobby Mitchell Hall of Fame Golf Classic has raised more than $1 million.

Born June 6, 1935 in Hot Springs, AR, and is a 1954 Langston High School graduate.

Bobby and his wife, Gwen, who is a Washington, D.C.

lawyer, have two children: Terri, a graduate of Illinois and Robert C. Jr, a Stanford graduate and Georgetown University Law School graduate. The Mitchells reside in Washington, D.C. and Manassas, VA.

On March 4, 1997, Jack Kent Cooke, the late owner of the Washington Redskins made certain that Norv Turner would lead the team into the 21st century.

"In my experience in professional sports," the late Mr Cooke said at the time, "I have not met a more talented coach, and motivator of men than Norv."

During this past off-season, Redskins president John Kent Cooke echoed those same sentiments. "I have great confidence in Norv and in his ability to lead this team to a Super Bowl championship. In my opinion he is the finest coach in the National Football League."

With that said, Turner was given a contract extension through the year 2001.

Turner's four years of directing the rebuilding of the Skins has been dramatic. Only three players (CB Darrell Green, TE James Jenkins and RB Brian Mitchell) remain on the club Turner inherited on February 2, 1994.

The Redskins are the only NFC Eastern team that has posted back-to-back winning records the past two seasons (9-7 in 1996 and 8-7-1 in 1997).

Still, after narrowly missing the playoffs the past two seasons, Turner and Charley Casserly focused their attention on the Redskins defensive line.

During late February the Redskins dramatically addressed those needs with the signing of Dana Stubblefield, the NFL's 1997 Defensive Player of the Year, and Dan "Big Daddy" Wilkinson, the NFL's first overall pick in 1994.

"We are a better football team than the one who finished the year last season," said Turner. "We improved ourselves defensively with the additions of Dana Stubblefield and Dan Wilkinson. Plus, our priority first was to keep our own free agents and we did that."

The rebuilding of the Redskins into a playoff contender is not unfamiliar turf for Turner. Before joining the Redskins in 1994, he was the offensive coordinator of the Dallas Cowboys.

Turner inherited the 28th ranked offense in the NFL. In just one season the Cowboys jumped to 9th in 1991 and 4th during his final two seasons. The Cowboys were 43-13 during Turner's three years; 11-37 the previous three. While the records were vastly different, players like Troy Aikman, Emmitt Smith and Michael Irvin blossomed under Turner's tutelage. The end results were back-to-back Super Bowl wins in 1992 and 1993.

Prior to joining the Cowboys, he spent six seasons (1985-90) as receivers coach with the Rams. The team advanced to postseason play in four of the six seasons while establishing the top three passing seasons in club history. Rams' quarterback Jim Everett enjoyed the best years of his career with 60 touchdown passes combined in 1988 and 1989.

Turner's personal history is just as compelling. It is the story of a driven, self-made man who beat the odds.

Norval Eugene Turner was born in LeJeune, North Carolina, on May 17, 1952. He was raised in Martinez, California, one of the five children in a single-parent household, nurtured by a loving and remarkably strong-willed mother caught in the vise of multiple sclerosis.

While the disease may have ravaged her physical strength, it could not defeat her spiritually. Reluctantly relying on welfare and public housing, Vicki Turner made the decision to remain home and care for her children.

"I am here today and we survived because my mother did an amazing job of keeping us together," says Turner. "She gave us love. She taught us right from wrong. She had a great sense of humor; always found a way to laugh about whatever was funny and try to make things as positive as she could. She taught us to treat people the way we wanted to be treated. And she never gave up."

That remarkable Turner trait was passed onto the athletic fields of Alhambra High School where Turner was a multi-sport star. The starting quarterback for the Bulldogs, one of his receivers was younger brother, Ron, now the head coach at the University of Illinois.

Off the field, Turner was just as accomplished. The Martinez, CA, City Council was impressed enough with him that the members asked him to serve on the council as a student advisor.

An all-area selection as a senior Turner went on to play at the University of Oregon, where he was recruited by a couple of assistant coaches named John Robinson and George Seifert.

For two years, Turner played behind Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts, but Turner used that time to hone the skills that would eventually land him a head coaching job in the NFL.

"Norv enjoyed the game," said Fouts, "and he enjoyed talking about the game. 'What did you see there? What's happening?' Just being into it mentally."

After starting two years for Oregon, Turner became a graduate assistant for the Ducks in 1975. A year later, Robinson, who had moved on to the University of Southern California, hired him as an assistant. Turner oversaw the receivers (1976-79), defensive backs (1980), and quarterbacks (1981-83), before he was named offensive coordinator for the Trojans in 1984.

Robinson then came calling again, this time from the Rams where he had gone as head coach in 1983. The Rams had not passed for 3,500 yards in a season since 1950. After Turner arrived as the Rams' receiving coach, they did it in each of his last three seasons there, finishing third, fourth and third in the league in 1988, 1989 and 1990. The year before his arrival, the Rams were 27th in the NFL in passing yards and completed 30 fewer passes than any other NFL club.

It was under Turner that Henry Ellard and Flipper Anderson each went over 1,000 yards in 1989 and 1990.

In 1991, Cowboys head coach Jimmy Johnson named him as offensive coordinator. No one benefitted more from Turner's presence in Dallas than quarterback Troy Aikman. In his three years working with Turner spanning 42 games, Aikman completed 810 of 1,228 passes (69%), including 49 touchdowns and 30 interceptions while averaging 221 yards per game. His quarterback rating was 91.7. Prior to Turner's arrival, Aikman, in 26 NFL games, his rating was 62.1.

"You can talk about myself...or any number of people that have been in this (Dallas) organization," says Aikman. "Norv Turner had as much to do with our success as anybody who's ever been here."

Emmitt Smith said in his auto-biography, "I owe my career to Norv Turner."

"Ultimately you have to make the playoffs. We looked at every possibility this offseason and have improved our football team. We'll have great competition at most positions and a great urgency as a football team this season."

Norv Turner

The Turner family - Norv and his wife, Nancy, who was John Robinson's secretary at USC when the two met, have three children: Scott, 16; a sophomore quarterback at Oakton (VA) High School; Stephanie, 14; and Drew, 8. They reside in Oakton, VA.

"Because I coach football doesn't mean - it shouldn't mean - anything more to my children than if I was doing anything else," said Turner to Roxanne Roberts of the Washington Post.

And this observation by Roberts..."Norv

Turner works, very, very hard at being an ordinary guy who happens to have an extraordinary job in an extraordinary business. Until his face was on every sportscast on every channel, you could have passed Turner at the mall and never noticed him... He's the pleasant, friendly-looking guy in the slightly wrinkled golf shirt, chasing down his kids, checking out videos of his favorite old movies, just like a thousand other guys who work hard during the week and like to barbecue on the weekends."

And this by Sports Illustrated's Peter King..."I respect coaches who are decent men, who treat players fairly. I respect coaches who aren't tape-watching automations, who instead take an old friend - Troy Aikman, in this case - to see the Vietnam Veterans Memorial. I respect coaches who have a sense of history. (Norv Turner) is the type of coach I root for."

MIKE NOLAN

Def. Coordinator
12th NFL Season
Oregon

COACHING: Mike Nolan enters his second season as the Redskins defensive coordinator.

In his first season with the Redskins, the defense yielded the eighth fewest points in the league and finished third overall in pass defense. Nolan came to the Redskins after four successful years (1993-96) as the defensive coordinator for the New York Giants. He came to New York in 1993 after six seasons in Denver (1987-92), the last four as linebackers coach. He was the Broncos special teams coach for two seasons (1987-88) and assisted the defensive coaching staff in 1988 before taking over linebackers in 1989. Nolan came to Denver after serving as linebackers coach at LSU in 1986. He was secondary coach at Rice for two years in 1984 and 1985 and spent two years at Stanford, coaching the secondary in 1982 and the linebackers in 1983.

former NFL head coach and former New York Giants defensive back, Dick Nolan. Born March 7, 1959 in Baltimore, MD, he attended Woodside High School in Woodside, CA. Nolan and his wife, Kathy, have four children, Michael, Laura, Jennifer and Christopher. They reside in Sterling, VA.

RUSS GRIMM

Offensive Line
7th NFL Season
Pittsburgh

COACHING: Beginning his seventh season on the Redskins coaching staff, Russ Grimm enters his second year instructing the offensive line. Before taking on the offensive line responsibilities, Grimm spent five seasons as tight ends coach. His first year as an offensive line coach proved challenging. The Redskins used six different offensive line combos and had only one lineman, Joe Patton, start all 16 games.

PERSONAL: One of the greatest guards in NFL history, Grimm was selected to four consecutive Pro Bowls from 1983-86 and was named to the 1980s NFL all-Decade team as a first team choice. During his 11 seasons with the Redskins, he was the cornerstone of a Redskins offensive line known as the "Hogs" and helped make "Counter-trey" and "Counter-gap" household words. He helped the Redskins to four Super Bowl appearances and three Super Bowl championships. Grimm was an all-American center at the University of Pittsburgh and was selected in the third round by the Redskins in the 1981 draft. His brother, Don, was a starting linebacker on Notre Dame's 1988 national championship team. Born May 2, 1959, in Scottsdale, PA, he attended Southmoreland (PA) High School. He and his wife, Karen, have four children: Chad, 13, Cody, 11, and 8-year old twins, daughter Devin and son Dylan. They reside in Herndon, VA.

Despite starting six different line combinations in 1997, the Redskins offense yielded the sixth fewest sacks in the league.

TOM HAYES

Defensive Backs
4th NFL Season
Iowa

COACHING: The smooth cohesion adding cornerback Cris Dishman and strong safety Jesse Cambell to the Redskins secondary last season goes in large measure to the steady teaching approach of secondary coach Tom Hayes. Not only did Dishman earn a Pro Bowl slot, but fellow cornerback Darrell Green was selected for his seventh Pro Bowl. As a college coach, Hayes produced results developing future NFL Pro Bowlers Eric Turner and Carnell Lake, along with James Washington and Cowboys cornerback Kevin Smith. Hayes joined the Redskins staff after spending the four previous seasons (1991-94) as the defensive coordinator at Oklahoma. Before joining the Sooners staff, Hayes was assistant head coach at Texas A&M (1989-90). His previous coaching experiences included nine seasons at UCLA (1980-88), the last seven as defensive coordinator, where the Bruins won four Pac 10 championships. Other stops included one year as defensive coordinator at Cal State-Fullerton (1979), where his defense was ranked first in the conference after finishing dead last the year before. A two-season stay as the secondary coach at Iowa (1977-78) followed three years as a high school head coach at Kuemper (IA) High School (1974-76) and one year as the secondary coach at Coe (IA) College.

PERSONAL: Hayes was a three-year starter as a defensive back for the Iowa Hawkeyes and was signed as a

He came to Washington after a two-year stint with the Arizona Cardinals. Before moving to the desert, he was the running backs coach for the San Diego Chargers for five seasons (1987-91). Prior to his tenure in San Diego,

Jackson spent four years (1983-86) in Atlanta coaching the Falcons' H-backs and tight ends in 1986 and linebackers from 1983-85. Jackson brought to the NFL impressive college credentials. He coached linebackers and defensive ends at Florida State from 1965-69 before taking over the running backs at Kansas State during the 1970-72 seasons. In the 1973-74 campaigns, Jackson coached the linebackers and was the defensive coordinator at Kansas State before moving on to Louisville as defensive coordinator for two years (1975-76). From there, he moved to Tennessee where he spent six seasons (1977-82) on the Volunteers' coaching staff. From 1977-79 he coached the

Defensive Line
23rd NFL Season

COACHING: With the free agent acquisitions of NFL Defensive Player of the Year Dana Stubblefield and

Dan Wilkinson, Earl Leggett enters his second year with the Redskins with a healthy outlook. Last season, Leggett used six different defensive line combinations and did not have one lineman start every game. Leggett came to the Redskins after spending the previous four with the New York Giants (1993-96). His impressive coaching credentials include two Super Bowl championships and the development of eight-time Pro Bowler and future Hall of Famer Howie Long. Leggett has spent the majority of his 21-year NFL career with the Raiders. He was on the Raiders staff from 1980-88 and again from 1991-92. He spent two seasons in Denver from 1989-90. Prior to his first stint with the Raiders, he coached the defensive line for the San Francisco 49ers in 1978. Before his one year stay in San Francisco, Leggett was with the Seattle Seahawks in 1976 and 1977. He began his coaching career at Nicholls State in 1971 before moving to Texas Christian in 1972-73. His first professional coaching experience was with the Southern California Sun of the World Football League in 1974 and 1975.

Leggett has been a part to the Rams in 1966 and later taken in the 1967 veteran allocation draft by the New Orleans Saints (1967-68). Born March 5, 1935 in Jacksonville, FL, he attended Robert E. Lee High School, before moving and finishing at Raymond (MS) High School. He and his wife Bobbi, have two sons and two daughters and reside in Sterling, VA.

GETTING DEFENSIVE

The Redskins defense took major strikes in 1997 under new defensive coordinator Mike Nolan. Under Nolan's guidance the Redskins defense improved from 28th overall in the league in 1996 to 16th overall in 1997. With the additions of Cris Dishman and Jesse Campbell to the secondary, the Redskins improved from 20th in the league against the pass in 1996 to the NFL's third best pass defense in 1997. This despite the absence of defensive tackle Sean Gilbert.

director of the Redskins "Fitness Laboratory." His past includes helping the Redskins to four Super Bowls and three Super Bowl championships. JASON ARAPOFF

Conditioning Director
7th NFL Season
Springfield College

COACHING: Whether its barking out instructions during stretching before every practice, or putting the players through their daily strength program, Jason Arapoff has earned the respect of all Redskin players. Hail to the Redskins “Hail to the Redskins!

Hail Victory!
Braves on the Warpath, Fight for old D.C.!”

Run or Pass and score
we want a lot more!
Beat ‘em Swamp ‘em Touchdown
let the points soar!

Fight on, Fight on Til you have won,
Sons of Wash-ing-ton!”

On August 17, 1938, “Hail to the Redskins” made its debut as the official fight song of the Washington Redskins. The song was written by renowned band leader Barnee Breeskin and the lyrics were penned by Hollywood movie star Corinne Griffith, the wife of team founder and owner, George Preston Marshall. 1997 SEASON: Coming off the first Pro Bowl selection of his career, Terry Allen battled through an injury plagued season in which he started only 10 games and participated in roughly half of the offensive plays. And the Redskins were definitely more effective with their top running back in the game, posting a 6-3-1 record in games in which Allen played. During the off-season, Terry enjoys fishing and attending auto shows. He has also taken up the game of softball.

Quarterback Gus Frerotte explained, "Terry is a guy who is so tough. And it just makes things easier when we're running. You get the play-action passes. Things tend to open up a little more." Allen started the season out with a bang, gaining 141 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries in the opener against the Carolina Panthers, helping to hand the Panthers their first loss ever at Ericsson Stadium. caused him to miss the next game at Pittsburgh and began his "in and out of the lineup" shuffle for the rest of the season. Terry's other big performances came in Week 4 vs the Jaguars when he carried the ball 36 times for 122 yards. His 36 rushes in that game were a new personal best for him. Allen returned to action in Week 9 vs the Bears after missing a couple of games and promptly rattled off 125 rushing yards on 20 attempts. He had a long run of 34 yards in that game, the longest by a Redskin last season. He came back the very next game in Week 10 vs the Lions to put up 31 carries for 94 yards and one TD in the Redskin win. As the Redskins began to make their late season push for the playoffs, Allen was injured in Week 13 in a home loss to the Rams and was inactive for the remainder of the season. Allen's absences from the lineup last year only reiterated what the Redskins already knew: As Terry Allen goes, so go the Redskins.

Terry's three 100 yard games all resulted in Redskin wins. (During his career, his team is 16-3 when he rushes for at least 100 yards).

PRO CAREER: 1996: Allen's 1,353 rushing yards set a Redskins single season rushing record, eclipsing Hall of Famer John Riggins' mark of 1,347 yards set in 1983. Allen's 21 touchdowns led the NFL and his 126 points were tops in the league among non-kickers and fifth overall.

Allen recorded rushing touchdowns in 11 games, including four two-touchdown performances and three three-touchdown games. In addition, he produced a career-high five 100-yard rushing games last season. Terry was selected as a NFC starter in the Pro Bowl, which marked Allen's first trip to Honolulu. In addition, Terry earned first team all-NFC honors from Football News and UPI. He earned all-pro second team honors from the Associated Press and Football Digest, and was chosen NFC Player of the Month for October. His season high rushing performance came in Week 3 against the Giants, when he rumbled for 146 yards on 27 carries. His other 100-yard games came against:

Philadelphia in Week 1 (111), the Jets in

Week 5 (101), the Colts in Week 8

(124), and the Cardinals in Week 10 (124).

1995: Allen produced the second-best ground

effort in Redskins

history gaining

1,309 yards. His 338 carries were the second most in team history, while his 1,541 total yards from scrimmage were the third most in team history and the most since Larry Brown's team leading 1,689 total yards in 1972. He finished third in the NFC and fifth in the NFL in rushing. In week 5, the first of the Redskins' two wins over Dallas, Terry ran for 121 yards (30 carries) and one touchdown and was named NFC

Offensive Player of the Week. 1994: Terry, who missed all of 1993 following reconstructive surgery on his right knee, rushed for 1,031 yards, 4th in the NFC and 8th best in the NFL. He finished second in the NFC in rushing touchdowns (8, behind Emmitt Smith). He had 25 runs of 10 yards or more. Only Smith and Barry Sanders had more. 1993: Terry ruptured the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee during training camp on July 22 and missed the entire season. 1992: Terry set the Vikings single season rushing record with 1,201 yards breaking the old mark of 1,155 held by Chuck Foreman (1976). In doing so, Terry became only the third Viking to crack the 1,000 rushing yard mark, first since Ted Brown in 1981. He finished third in the NFC in rushing and second in total yards from scrimmage (1,679). His 13 rushing touchdowns tied the club record. He finished with 15 total touchdowns, second in the NFL behind Thurman Thomas' 19. Twice he scored a career-best three touchdowns in a game: vs. Cincinnati on September 27 and the Rams on November 29, in a game he churned out a career-best 198 yards rushing. Terry also tied a Vikings record for most rushing attempts in a game with 33 against Pittsburgh on December 20. 1991: Terry finished second on the team in rushing (563) behind Herschel Walker (825). He was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week for his efforts against Tampa Bay on November 3 when he rushed for 127 yards and two touchdowns on 14 carries. His 9.1 yard average that game tied him for second on the Vikings all-time single game list. 1990: Terry missed the entire regular season when he injured his left knee in preseason. He underwent reconstructive surgery in August.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Terry finished his career as Clemson's number two all-time rusher with 2,778 yards, just 137 shy of the school's all-time record held by Kenny Flowers. He received honorable mention all-America recognition in 1989 despite missing three games and parts of four others with a knee injury. Still, he rushed for 613 yards, scored 10 touchdowns and was a two-time ACC player-of-the-week. He earned first team All-ACC honors in 1988, after rushing for 1,139 yards and 10 TDs. He was also runner-up in the conference player of the year voting. In 1987, Terry became the first freshman in Clemson history to earn all-conference and was the first freshman in 10 years to lead the ACC in rushing when he ran for 973 yards and eight touchdowns. Jamie Asher

4th Season

Ht: 6-3 Wt: 245

Louisville

Born: Oct. 31, 1972

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- With 49 receptions for 474 yards in 1997, Jamie became the first Redskin tight end since Jean Fugett in 1977 to lead the Redskins in receiving.
- Led NFL tight ends with 21 third-down catches in 1997.
- Caught a career-best two TDs vs the Eagles (11/17/96).

- Led the Redskins with four touchdown catches in 1996.
- Caught a career-high five passes against the Eagles in week 11 and at Tampa Bay week 14 of 1996.

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in the 5th round of 1995 draft (137th overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1998.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 39/27 – 1995 (7/2); 1996 (16/12); 1997 (16/13).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 832 out of 1,028 (81%) offensive plays and 87 out of 431 (20%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Jamie Asher continued to improve as he played in all 16 games in his 3rd season out of Louisville. With 49 receptions for 474 yards, Jamie became the first Redskin tight end to lead the Redskins in receiving since Jean Fugett did it in 1977. His 49 receptions set a career high, surpassing the 42 balls he snared in '96. His play also garnered him recognition from around the league, as he was named a first alternate to the Pro Bowl. Jamie started in 13 out of the 16 games played, due in large part to his improvement as a blocker and development as an all-around player. "My blocking is getting better. (Tight Ends) Coach (Michael) Pope has some different techniques. I have not been getting blown around as much. I feel I have a little more power, which could be from more time in the weight room or being more experienced," explained Asher. And while blocking did make him a more complete player, it was still his penchant for catching footballs in Norv Turner's offense that made him more valuable to the team. Asher had seven games where he caught at least four passes and 10 games when he caught at least three passes. His best performance of the season came in Week 2 vs the Steelers when he hauled in six passes for 48 yards. Other highlights from his season included the five catches for 52 yards against the Ravens in Week 8 and his Week 4 performance against the Jaguars when he scored his lone touchdown of the season with two catches for 22 yards. And it seemed like Asher's receptions came in key spots. Of his 49 receptions, 21 came on third down, the most by any tight end in the NFL. Jamie's third down prolifcs were one reason why the Redskins were one of the NFL's best teams in 1997 in converting third downs, finishing second in the NFC and fourth overall in the league with a 42.3 third down conversion percentage. But even after leading the team in receptions and being a key target of quarterback Gus Frerotte on third downs, Asher is determined to continue to improve. "I set my goal at 60 catches before last season, and I didn't reach that," Asher said. "To be the best I can be, my goal is to be in the Pro Bowl someday. Whether it is this year or five years from now, I am going to keep shooting for it. Really, it comes back to winning. I'd rather catch one ball in a win than nine in a loss. It's what you can do to help the team win."

PRO CAREER: 1996: Jamie led the Redskins with four touchdown receptions. His 42 receptions were second on the team, and his 481 yards ranked third. Jamie caught five passes for 48 yards and two touchdowns in week 11 at Philadelphia. It was the first two-touchdown game of his career. 1995: Jamie tore a hamstring on the second day of training camp and didn't return to active duty until Week 5. Even then, he was on the team's inactive list until Week 10 at Kansas City where he made his NFL debut leading the Skins with three receptions for 42 yards. His top receiving day came against the Giants in Week 14 when he led the team with four catches for 50 yards.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: A first-team UPI all-America, Jamie was college football's top receiving tight end as a senior with 70 catches for 794 yards (11.3 avg.) and one touchdown. He finished his career as the University of Louisville's all-time leading pass catcher with 151 receptions. He finished his career second behind former Dolphin Mark Clayton (2,005 yards) on the Cardinals' all-time list with 1,741 receiving yards. He opened his senior year in 1994 by setting a Louisville single-game reception mark grabbing 12 passes for 107 yards vs. arch-rival Kentucky. He also set a Louisville first by recording three 100-yard receiving games in a single season. He also led the Cardinals in receiving as a junior catching 52 passes for 658 yards (12.7 avg.) and three scores.

He became only the fourth player in Louisville history to record 50-or-more receptions in a season. Jamie was a three-year starter in football, basketball and baseball at Warren Central High School in Indianapolis, IN, before finishing the second semester of his senior year at Clay County High School in Clay,

KY. He started out as a quarterback and defensive back before winding up at wide receiver and linebacker. He even went on to earn all-state honors in baseball as a senior. Jamie's other passions are fishing and hunting. He and his father, Bob, who drives a semi truck for a living and is nicknamed "Daniel," as in Boone, have killed 80 to 100 deer together and have teamed up to win a couple of bass fishing tournaments. He killed his first buck with a bow and arrow at the age of 12. An economics major at Louisville, he and his wife, Diann, are expecting their first child: James if a boy or Jesse if a girl. They reside in Reston, VA.

Brad Badger

Guard
#74

2nd Season
Ht: 6-4 Wt: 298
Stanford
Born: Jan. 11, 1975

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Brad started his first NFL game in the Redskins 1997 season opening win at Carolina.

How Acquired: Selected in 5th round of 1997 draft (162nd overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1999.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 12/1 - 1997 (12/1).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 129 out of 1,028 (13%) offensive plays and 97 out of 431 (23%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Brad played in 12 of 16 games in his rookie campaign from Stanford. In fact, he was thrown into the fire early on as injuries forced him into the starting lineup for the season opener against Carolina. In that game he started at right guard and was instrumental in assisting a running game that amassed 198 rushing yards. Not bad for a guy whom the Redskins selected with their last pick in the fifth round. "I really wasn't expecting to start when I came here. I thought that the starting five was pretty solid," explained Badger. "But when Tre (Johnson) got injured, I knew starting that game (Carolina) would be a really good opportunity for me." After the Week 1 victory, some of the injuries along the offensive line healed and Brad returned to his backup role, where he was relegated to spot duty on offense and as a blocker on the kickoff return unit. However, he ended the season like he started it, taking over for an injured Joe Patton on the third play from scrimmage in Week 16 vs the Eagles and playing the remainder of the game, a total of 44 offensive snaps. With one year under his belt and another offseason in the Redskins weight room, the future appears bright for the former Cardinal. "He's getting better," offensive line coach Russ Grimm said. "He's real good with the mental stuff. He needs to work on the physical end as far as the run blocking is concerned. He studies hard and works hard. Now, it's just a point of getting the techniques down. He'll get bigger and stronger. He can play."

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: He was named all-Pac 10 first team as a senior, starting every game at right guard. Brad started 34 of 35 games dating back to his sophomore year. Started every game for the Cardinal as a sophomore, and earned second-team all-Pac 10 honors. Badger moved from tight end to center midseason as a freshman and then shifted to offensive guard in spring drills before his sophomore year. Brad was an All-American selection and was rated Oregon's best prospect by Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report, at Corvallis High School.

In six games as a senior tight end, he caught 12 passes for 260 yards and three touchdowns. As a junior, Brad earned honorable mention All-State honors, catching 18 passes for 252 yards and a score.

Brad also lettered in baseball and basketball. He averaged 20 points and 13 rebounds, and was named honorable mention all-State as a junior. While at Stanford, Brad majored in political science.

Brad was a three sport athlete in high school, lettering in baseball, basketball, and, of course, football. He also enjoys computers and reading.

He had his best game of the year in the Week 8 loss to the Ravens when he had eight tackles, one for a loss, and forced a fumble. Week 3 vs the Cardinals also was a big game for Boutte when he had six total tackles, four of them solo (one for a loss) and batted three balls down at the line of scrimmage. Marc recorded the second interception of his career in a Week 4 victory vs the Jaguars. And his Week 9 effort vs the Bears was no slouch either, when he had five tackles, a quarterback hurry and a sack. On a unit that underwent constant lineup changes, Boutte tried to serve as a stabilizing factor. Although nicknamed "The Run-Stopper" by his teammates, he proved he was far from being a situational player as he contributed a quarterback hurry or sack in seven games. And he added at least two tackles in 13 of the games this season. Coach Turner added this, "With the holdout of Sean (Gilbert), we were forced to depend a lot more on Marc. And he really responded and played at a consistent level for most of the year." With the additions of Dana Stubblefield and Dan Wilkinson, Boutte can expect to be a part of one of the most effective defensive tackle rotations in team history. "I know I can play in this league at a high level, and I try to make the most of it," he said. "I'm just trying to do well so when you leave the game people can say you did some good things."

PRO CAREER: 1996: Although his season was curtailed by knee injuries, Marc recorded 35 tackles, including two tackles for loss, four passes defended, and his first career interception. Marc's best two games came against Philadelphia. In Week 1, he recorded four tackles and two quarterback hurries, and in Week 11 he had six tackles. 1995: Marc had a career-best 70 tackles, which was tops among Redskin defensive linemen. Marc notched five tackles Week 15 at St. Louis and ended the season with four tackles and one QB hurry against Carolina in Week 16. 1994: With a surplus of defensive linemen in the Rams camp, Marc was waived when rosters were trimmed to their 53-man limit. Signed by the Redskins the next day, Marc started the final three games of the season and recorded 11 tackles. He started his first game as a Redskin in week 14 at Arizona. He notched two solo stops and an assist, while logging one quarterback hurry and one pass defended. He followed that performance with a season-best five tackles the next week against the Buccaneers. 1993: Marc started all 16 games for the Rams and totaled a career-high 39 tackles, including a career-high six tackles (four solos) against Cleveland in week 15. He also picked up a QB sack against the Redskins in week 10 and recovered his first career fumble vs. Pittsburgh in week two. 1992: Marc finished his rookie season with a team-leading four forced fumbles and led all defensive linemen with six passes defended for the Rams. His top day came against the Cardinals in week nine, registering a season-best five tackles and his first career sack. He also had two forced fumbles against the Vikings in week 12.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: A four-year starter at LSU, Marc tallied 236 career tackles, 12 sacks and 25 tackles for losses. As a senior he finished with 83 tackles, including six tackles for losses. He posted a career-best six sacks as a junior while totaling 68 tackles (10 for losses). Marc was an all-state AAA selection as a senior at William Oscar Boston High School in Lake Charles, LA. It is the same high school that former all-pro wide receiver Charlie Joiner attended. He and his wife, Tananjaly, reside in Lake Charles, LA.

UP FRONT

The Redskins used six different offensive line combinations in 1997 and six different defensive line combinations. Only one offensive lineman, Joe Patton, started all 16 games, but because of injuries, he was forced to play both left tackle and left guard and he played just two downs of the season finale against the Eagles before suffering a sprained ankle that sidelined him for the remainder of the game. Meanwhile, no defensive lineman was able to start every game. In fact, using the Redskins projected starting offensive line from the beginning of training camp, the Redskins started only 47 of a potential 90 (16 games x 5 positions) games with each respective player in their original position. In other words, the Redskins had their offensive linemen in their projected starting position from training camp for only 52% of the time and their defensive line with only 40 of 90 position starts (44%) last season.

Born: March 21, 1973

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Rushed for a career-high 23 yards against Philadelphia in the season finale last season.
- Caught a career-best four passes at Chicago (11/2) and vs. St. Louis (11/30) last season.
- Posted career-best 34 yards receiving vs. the Rams (11/30).
- Scored first career touchdown came on a five-yard run at Chicago (11/2) last season.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on May 1, 1996.

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 2001.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 18/13 – 1996 (3/0); 1997 (15/13)

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played in 517 out of 1,028 (50%) offensive plays and 76 out of 431 (18%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Larry had a breakthrough season in 1997. The lead blocker for many of Terry Allen's gallops, he played in 15 games and started 13 of those while participating in 517 of 1,028 offensive plays. Bowie played so well in the offseason and preseason that Redskin coaches had no problem moving the inexperienced Bowie in front of veteran Marc Logan. That's because he had spent much of the offseason in the weight room, the class room or the playing field, working untold hours on the different and complicated facets of Norv Turner's offense. And he had no ego at all, which was perfect for the glamourless position of fullback. Larry knew his role and that was to create openings for his Pro Bowl running back to get through, and he was a big reason why Allen led the Redskins in rushing for a third consecutive season. Along the way, Bowie did show a knack for catching the football and upon season's end, was the fourth leading receiver on the team with a total of 34 receptions for 388 yards and two touchdowns. He even led the Redskins in receiving in the Week 9 game vs the Bears where he snared four balls for 53 yards. In fact, Larry caught at least one pass in 14 out of 15 games and there were 11 games when he hauled in at least 2 passes. His first career touchdown reception came in Week 13 vs the Rams when he took a Gus Frerotte screen pass down the sidelines 39 yards on the team's opening possession. And his second career touchdown reception came the very next game in Week 14 against the Cardinals on a three yard toss from Jeff Hostetler in the second quarter. Larry also finished the '97 campaign as the team's fourth leading rusher with totals of 28 carries for 100 yards and two touchdowns. His first career touchdown came on a five yard run against the Bears in Week 9. And his top rushing game came in the season finale against the Eagles in Week 16 when he carried three times for 23 yards and added another touchdown. Coach Turner is using Larry Bowie in much the same role as he used Darryl Johnston in

offseason, Larry

game has been 150.

RFK STADIUM (1961-1996)

The Redskins finished 173-101-3 all-time at RFK Stadium, including 11-1 in postseason. The Skins played their first game at D.C. Stadium (re-named RFK Stadium in 1970) on October 1, 1961. A crowd of 36,767 filled the new $24 million facility as the Redskins lost to the Giants, 21-21, despite leading 21-7 after the first quarter. A pair of veteran QBs, 40-year old Charley Conerly and 35-year old Y.A. Title led the Giants offense. Title connected on 23 of 41 passes for 315 yards and one TD and scored the game-winner in the 4th quarter on a 1-yard run. Redskin Jim Kerr fumbled the opening kickoff and Pat Summerall, who later in the game would kick the first field goal at D.C. Stadium, recovered the loose ball for the Giants. Conerly then threw a 17-yard scoring pass to Kyle Rote for the first points in stadium history. The Redskins first points came when rookie QB Norm Snead passed three yards to Don Bosseler. Later in the quarter, Skins DB Dale Hackbart intercepted a pass from Conerly and returned it 48 yards for a touchdown. The Giants defense held Washington to 145 total offense. The Redskins dropped their first six games at the stadium until they defeated the Cowboys, 34-24 in the 1961 season finale ending a 23-game winless streak. Dick James scored a team record four TDs. On December 22, 1996 the Redskins played their final game at RFK defeating the Dallas Cowboys 37-10. Quarterback Gus Frerotte passed for a career-high 346 yards and running back Terry Allen added three rushing touchdowns as the Redskins said goodbye to RFK Stadium.

1997 SEASON: With Terry Allen in and out of the lineup with nagging injuries, Stephen Davis saw increased playing time over his rookie season and in the process, set career highs of 567 yards and three touchdowns on 141 carries. He also served as a receiving threat out of the backfield, snaring 18 passes for 134 yards. Stephen got his first start in the NFL in Week 2 vs the Steelers due to Terry Allen's thumb injury suffered in a Week 1 victory at Carolina. Davis had very respectable numbers in the loss, putting up 17 carries for 66 yards and catching 2 passes for 20 yards. Stephen's big moment came in the Week 6 showdown with the Cowboys which just happened to be on "Monday Night Football." Terry Allen was injured early in the game and stepped Davis. He carried 22

He also started in Week 15 vs the Giants (10 carries for 41 yards) and in the season finale against the Eagles (12 rushes for 65 yards and one touchdown). However, he knows that when Allen is healthy there is no question as to who will line up in the Redskins backfield. "If Terry is playing well, I wouldn't take him out either," Davis said. "He's a great runner. But if he gets tired, I'm going to be there. When I get a chance, I'm going to make the best of it."

PRO CAREER: 1996: Although he played behind Pro-Bowler Terry Allen, Stephen showed glimpses of brilliance. Totalling only 23 carries for the season, he racked up 139 yards, which is a whopping 6.04 yard per carry average. shut down two of the league's hottest receivers in Jimmy Smith and Keenan McCardell and allowed the Skins to win their second straight game in their new home. And for his effort, Dishman was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week. Cris got his second interception of the season in a crucial Week 9 victory at Chicago. His third and fourth interceptions of the season came in Week 14 vs the Cardinals. One of those he returned 29 yards for a touchdown and helped the Skins to defeat the Cardinals on the road for the first time since 1991. It was only the second time in his career that he had returned an interception for a score. The play of Dishman in his first year in the NFC made opponents stand up and take notice. "Cris is one of the better cover guys in the league. He is physical and he is smart. But he is not a dirty player. He doesn't talk much on the field, but he's like Darrell Green in playing with intensity," said Eagles Pro Bowl receiver Irving Fryar. And with Darrell Green on the other side, Dishman often found opposing teams going after him. For the first time in his eleven year career he was a No. 2 corner but he seemed to understand. "The big guy on the right side is a well-proven veteran and they know him, so of course they have to test me to see what I can do. They should. I would," exclaimed Dishman.

PRO CAREER: 1996: Cris finished the '96 season with 57 tackles, including 42 solo stops. He added one interception, two fumble recoveries, and 14 passes defended. 1995: Cris had his 62 consecutive game streak snapped when an ankle injury forced him out of the season finale. He still finished tied for fifth with 58 tackles. He recorded his first multi-interception game of his career with two against the Buccaneers and was named AFC Defensive Player of the Week. 1994: Cris led the Oilers with 22 passes defended and was second with four interceptions. Against the Cardinals, Cris' 36-yard interception return for a touchdown was his fourth career score, and his first by interception. 1993: He recorded 78 tackles and tied a career-best six interceptions. Cris also posted career-bests in both forced fumbles, with four, and passes defended, with 26. During one stretch of the season Cris had interceptions in four straight games, leaving him one shy of the team record. He also posted a career-high nine solo tackles vs. the Jets. Cris was named AFC Defensive Player of the Month for December. 1992: Cris missed the first regular season game because of a contract holdout. He still finished the year tied for second in interceptions with three and had 21 passes defended. 1991: Cris earned a spot on the AFC Pro Bowl team and was named a first team all-pro by AP, Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest. He also earned all-AFC first team honors from UPI, Pro Football

Weekly and Football News. He led the team and tied for second in the NFL with six interceptions. He also led the Oilers in passes defended with 23, tied for the team lead in fumble recoveries with three and forced fumbles with two. He posted a career-high 10 tackles at New England, plus recording an interception and three passes defended. Cris returned a fumble 19 yards for a touchdown against Denver and recovered a fumble in the end zone against Miami to save a win. He also had four consecutive games with an interception. He was named AFC Defensive Player of the Month for October. 1990: He became a full-time starter and tied for second on the team with four interceptions and 16 passes defended. 1989: Used as a backup all season, Cris still managed to finish second on the club for interceptions with four, and third in passes defended with 11. Cris had noteworthy efforts on special teams: he returned a blocked punt seven yards for a touchdown against Chicago; and he blocked a field goal attempt at Kansas City. 1988: As a rookie, he started two games with his first career start on Sept. 11 against the Raiders. He had a blocked punt against Pittsburgh recovered on the two yard line that led to an Oiler score.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: A three-year starter for the Boilermakers, he totaled 169 tackles, nine interceptions, 30 passes defended, two forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. After sitting out his junior year, Cris led the secondary with 67 tackles and also had career bests with four interceptions and 13 passes defended as a senior. His sophomore season produced 54 tackles, three interceptions and eight passes defended. Cris made an immediate impact on the Purdue campus starting every game as a freshman. He registered 48 total tackles and a pair of interceptions. He also participated in track at Purdue and finished second in the 60 meters and third in the 300 meters at the Big Ten Indoor Meet. Voted the top prep player in Kentucky as a senior, Cris was a three-sport standout at DeSales High School in Louisville. He was enshrined into the DeSales' Hall of Honor in 1993. Cris also donates extensive time to Big Brothers/Big Sisters Foundation. He and his wife Karen, have two sons, Cris, 3, and Coy, born this past offseason, and reside in Houston.

and he saw spot duty for most of the season, playing in about 1/3 of the defensive snaps. He did see extended action in Week 7 against the Oilers and responded with four tackles, one solo and two quarterback hurries. In his first action against his former team the Giants in Week 12, Duff had one of his best games, recording one sack, one tackle, and forcing a fumble. However, his best performance of the season came in Week 14 vs the Cardinals when he had one sack, two quarterback hurries and two total tackles. Jamal is still a young football player and should be considered a work in progress. But he knows he has a lot to learn and will continue to strive to improve. Coach Norv Turner added, "He did a nice job for us last year, and I think he can be a good football player. We've had guys on this team who were released by other teams and were good players for us. Sometimes, that helps a guy get started again."

- Named to the NFC Pro Bowl team in 1996.

- Named NFC Offensive Player of the Week after his first NFL game in 1994 in which he led the Redskins to a 41-27 win at Indianapolis (10/23/94). His 17 completions and 226 yards that game were the most ever by a Redskin rookie in his first game.
- Was the 10th rookie to start a game at quarterback for the Redskins; the first to win his debut since Jack Scarbath in 1953.
- His 61.3 quarterback rating in 1994 was the second highest ever by a Redskin rookie behind Eddie LeBaron's 65.2 mark in 1952.
- When he threw for 345 yards against the Giants (10/29/95), 24-year old Gus became the 4th youngest in club history to throw for 300 yards in a game behind Norm Snead (22 years), Ed Rubbert (22 years) and Sammy Baugh (23 years).

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in the seventh round of 1994 draft (197th overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 2000.

1997 SEASON: Gus Frerotte's season was cut short with a broken hip suffered against the Rams in Week 13 that placed him on injured reserve for the remainder of the season. He finished the season completing 270 of 470 pass attempts for 3,453 yards, 12 touchdowns and a quarterback rating of 79.3. Also, Gus proved he played best when the pressure was on as the Redskins offense was one of the NFL's best teams in converting third downs into first downs. In fact, the Redskins finished second in the NFC and fourth overall in the league with a 42.3 third down conversion percentage. The Redskins tied for the NFL lead in first down receptions on third and long (third and seven or more) with 31 in 1997. The Redskins offense has also converted 66 of 158 (41.8%) first down pass attempts, which ranks first in the NFC and third overall in the NFL. Frerotte ranked fourth in the NFC in third down passing with an 86.1 quarterback rating, and he was fifth in the NFL in first downs per pass attempt, converting 142 first downs on 402 (35.3%) total pass attempts. Frerotte opened the season nicely in Week 1 vs the Panthers, tossing a touchdown pass and throwing for 147 yards in the Redskin victory. He had another good game in Week 3 vs the Cardinals, completing 19 of 36 passes for 265 yards and one touchdown. His 40 yard pass in overtime to Michael Westbrook was the game winner in the first game ever at Jack Kent Cooke Stadium. Gus came back the very next game in Week 4 vs the Jaguars and threw for 244 yards and three touchdowns on 16 for 24 passing and helped hand the Jaguars their first loss of the season. In Week 9 vs the Bears with the Redskins needing a victory to snap their two game losing streak, Gus led the Redskin offense to scores on their first three drives and the Redskins walloped the Bears, 30-8. In that game he was 14-20 for 192 yards and two touchdowns and he rushed for another. In the Week 12 showdown with the Giants for first place in the NFC East, Gus had a solid first half, completing 9 of 19 passes for 104 yards and rushing for the Redskins only score. However, he injured himself celebrating the touchdown and missed the entire second half. And in Week 13 vs the Rams, he completed 20 of 45 passes for 258 yards and one touchdown and was the team's leading rusher with 3 carries for 26 yards. The Redskins wound up losing that game to the Rams but Gus had a heroic performance, playing the entire fourth quarter with a fractured hip. In fact, he led a game tying drive with less than two minutes to go in the game that included two fourth down completions, only to see the Rams kick a field goal with seconds left to win the game. He was placed on injured reserve later that week. The 1997 season was the first season in which Gus did not have to compete with someone to be the starting quarterback for the Washington Redskins. The job was his. And the job will remain his. "Gus is going to go into the season as the starting quarterback," said Head Coach Norv Turner. "I think he went into the season last year as the starting quarterback coming off a real strong year. People want to talk about the quarterback situation and you know Gus went to the Pro Bowl a year ago as an alternate and ended up playing when someone got hurt. He had an outstanding year a year ago, but he did not play at the same level this year. So he goes into the season as the starting quarterback, but I'm sure there is going to be a real urgency on his part and on my part to make sure he plays well and is successful."

PRO CAREER: 1996: He set career highs in virtually every statistical category: passing yards (3,453), pass attempts (470), pass completions (270), completion percentage (57.3), quarterback rating (79.3), and fewest interceptions (11). Gus missed only one snap the entire season, having to watch one play from the sideline in Week 12 against the 49ers, while he caught his

Gus' 3,453 yards passing rank seventh in Redskins history, and his 270 completions place him eighth. Gus' quarterback rating jumped 9.1 points to 79.3 in '96, which was the third highest increase in the NFL, behind Drew Bledsoe and Kerry Collins. Gus set a single game career high with 346 yards passing against the Cowboys in the finale at RFK, as he completed 22 of 31 passes. Perhaps Gus' best performance came in Week 6 against the eventual AFC Champion Patriots. He completed 18 of 33 passes for 280 yards and two touchdowns. 1995: Gus came off the bench in the season opener and threw two TD passes to cement the 27-7 opening day win. He started the next 10 games in place of the injured Shuler. Gus led the NFL in passing yards with 1,276 during the month of October. Highlights of that month included 192 yards and two touchdowns in the win over Dallas at RFK Stadium. He closed out the month with a career-high 345 yards against the Giants. He started the final game of the year against Carolina, passing for 185 yards in the Redskins season-ending victory. 1994: The Redskins seventh round draft choice in 1994, Gus stood behind veteran John

Friesz and fellow rookie Heath Shuler through the first seven games of the regular season. After Shuler went down with an ankle sprain against Arizona on October 16, Gus got his chance and in a span of seven days went from never having taken a snap in an NFL regular season game, to NFC offensive player of the week. His debut came at Indianapolis on October 23, and with several hundred relatives and friends watching the game on TV back home in the Ford Cliff firehouse, Gus completed 17 of 32 passes for 226 yards and two touchdowns as the Skins won 41-27, snapping a five-game losing streak. He became only the fourth NFL rookie quarterback to be named NFC offensive player of the week, joining Bernie Kosar (11th game in 1985); Rodney Peete (2nd game in 1989) and Rick Mirer (5th game in 1993). Frerotte's second start came the following week against the Eagles as he became the first Redskin rookie to throw three touchdown passes in a game since Al Dorow threw four in 1954.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Gus finished his college career at Tulsa as the Golden Hurricanes' second leading all-time passer behind T.J. Rubley (Rams, 1993-94). He and Rubley were teammates for two years, 1991-92. He passed for 5,480 yards and 32 touchdowns while completing 432 of 860 attempts. As a senior in 1993, he completed 214 of 383 passes (55.9) for 21 touchdowns and 2,871 yards, the most by a Tulsa quarterback in 28 years. Gus had the biggest day of his career as a senior against East Carolina when he completed 26 of 40 passes for 358 yards, six touchdowns and no interceptions. In 11 games as a senior, Gus passed for 300 or more yards five times and 200 or more nine times. Gus sat out the '89 season as a redshirt freshman, but in 1990 he started eight games at quarterback after Rubley suffered a season-ending injury in the third week of the season. Frerotte made his first collegiate start in front of 70,325 at Oklahoma and threw a 55-yard scoring pass in a losing cause. As a sophomore he backed up Rubley and was Tulsa's punter, averaging 35.5 yards per punt. As a freshman at Ford City High School he suffered a football injury that left him with a crushed vertebra in his neck. He spent nine weeks in a neck brace but returned the next season, and two seasons later, led Ford City to the district final for the first time in school history. Gus earned four letters in baseball and three in football and basketball. He pitched and played third base for Ford City's state championship team in 1987. A recreation major at Tulsa, Gus spent his last semester as a corporate fitness consultant to the Pittsburgh Pirates. His cousin, Mitch, played guard for the Bills (1987, 1990-92) and spent two seasons on the Seahawks (1993-94) injured reserve list. Gus is an active host of The Gus Frerotte Celebrity Golf Tournament in Reston, VA, to benefit the American Heart Association. He made a hole-in-one in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho last year. He and his wife, Ann, have a daughter, Abigail, 3, and a son Gunnar, and they reside in Great Falls, VA.

1997 SEASON: Darrell Green continued to defy all laws of aging, earning his seventh Pro Bowl appearance in his 15th NFL season. Against the Giants in Week 15, he passed Monte Coleman in the Redskins record book for most games played which will stand at 218 games entering the 1998 season. He is also working on a streak of 85 consecutive games started. "He still runs around at practice like a rookie," Redskins Coach Norv Turner said. "I know our guys get tired of hearing me talk about him, but our young players are awfully lucky to have an opportunity to see how a guy like Darrell Green prepares and plays the game." 1998 will mark Darrell's 16th season with the Redskins, tying the team mark shared by Monte Coleman and Sammy Baugh for the most seasons played by a Redskin. Darrell celebrated his new record of games played by a Redskin at Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in the season finale against the Eagles with an interception of a Bobby Hoying pass that he returned 83 yards for a touchdown. The interception return for a touchdown also helped Darrell earn NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors for the fourth time in his career. The 83 yard return was the longest of his career and fourth longest in Redskin history. It also marked the fourth consecutive season he has returned an interception for a touchdown. And it made him the oldest player to return an interception for a touchdown in NFL history, at the young age of just 37 years, ten months and six days old. In addition, his six career interceptions returned for touchdowns is a Redskin record. For the season, Darrell finished seventh on the team with 80 total tackles, including 49 solo stops and one tackle for loss. He also led the Redskins in passes defended with 29 in 1997. His seven Pro Bowl appearances are tied with Ken Houston for the third most in team history behind Chris Hanburger (9) and Charley Taylor (8). In December, he was named a recipient of the "USA Today 5th Annual Most Caring Athlete Award" for his work in the community including the creation of the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation and Learning Center. "If you had looked at me when I came in," said the 5-foot-8, 184 pound Green, "you would have never thought this little bitty guy could last this long in a big man's game. I am proud that I have the record (most games played as a Redskin) and proud that I've started all but two of those games. And because of the way the game has changed with free agency and the salary cap, it's a record that is probably not going to be broken again. When they look back 50 years from now, they'll think the record was probably held by a kicker or some big lineman. Then they'll see who it was and say, 'This guy?'"

PRO CAREER: 1996: Darrell put together one of his finest seasons in 1996 while earning his sixth trip to the Pro Bowl. The Redskins all-time leader in career interceptions, Darrell added three to his total. He also contributed 78 total tackles, including 52 solo stops and three tackles for loss and started all 16 games, while playing 1,141 of the team's 1,181 defensive snaps (96%). 1995: Darrell produced his second best tackle effort over the past 11 years and added three more interceptions. Against Detroit in Week 8, Darrell returned an interception seven yards for the game-winning touchdown in overtime, while also contributing a season-high 12 tackles.

1994: Darrell played in 1,116 of a possible 1,160 defensive snaps (96%) and led the team with 20 passes defended. His highlight came in Week 7 vs. the Cardinals when he had a pair of interceptions, including a 27-yarder for a touchdown. The interceptions were the 36th and 37th of his career, which moved Darrell past Brig Owens as the all-time leader in Redskins history. 1993: His 90 tackles were his best mark since his rookie season. He led the team with 13 passes defended, and he was second on the team with four interceptions. Darrell also sprinted 78 yards with a fumble recovery for a touchdown against the Colts in Week 12, which is the longest in team history. In addition, he was the only player in the NFC with two interceptions in a game in 1993, and he did it twice. He picked off a pair against the Eagles in Week 3 and at Tampa Bay in Week 12.

1992: It was a broken right forearm that sidelined Darrell from weeks 3 through 10 which left him off the Pro Bowl roster for the first time since 1989. His top performance came against the Cowboys in Week 14 with nine tackles, three passes defended and a key forced fumble on Michael Irvin in the fourth quarter. But it was a fracture of the radius midway up his right forearm, suffered with 4:15 left in the game against the Falcons, that took a big chunk out of Darrell's season. He did miss the Redskins playoff win with a bruised heel, but bounced back to see action in nickel coverage the following week at San Francisco. 1991: He was chosen to his fifth Pro Bowl (his second straight as a starter) and was an unanimous all-Pro. Darrell tied for the team lead with five interceptions (his best output since 1986) and a team-best 21 passes defended. Twice Darrell came up with two interceptions in the same game vs Detroit in Week 1 and Philadelphia in Week 5. It was Darrell's pivotal interception in overtime against the Oilers in Week 9 that led to the game winning field goal. And in the postseason, Darrell again was superb with two interceptions. Darrell's regular season best included a season-high 10 tackles vs. Dallas in week 12. His postseason honors included: Pro Bowl, AP all-Pro, UPI all-NFC, all-Madden, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL all-Pro, Sports Illustrated all-Pro, Football News all-NFL, PFWA all-Pro, NEA all-Pro, The Sporting News all-Pro, Pro Football Weekly all-NFL. 1990: Darrell was named a Pro Bowl starter - his fourth appearance; a first-team on the all-NFC team by UPI, Football News and Pro Football Weekly and a second-team all-NFL choice by AP. Darrell opened the year with interceptions the first three weeks of the season (a career first). In Week 3 vs. Dallas, Darrell had seven tackles, two pass deflections and capped the Redskin win with an 18-yard interception return for a touchdown. He posted a season-best 10 tackles against the 49ers and also came up with an interception. He also had interceptions against Phoenix and New Orleans to finish with four (the most since his five thefts in 1986). He also had an interception in the playoff win over Philadelphia. 1989: A fractured wrist in Week 7 against Tampa Bay prematurely ended his season. Against Phoenix, Darrell had two first quarter interceptions as the Redskins jumped to an early lead. Despite missing the final nine games, his five pass deflections were third on the squad. 1988: Darrell's worth was again evident in his absence. A broken hand in the first quarter of the Week 15 contest versus Dallas opened the door to three Cowboy touchdown passes in a 24-17 loss. He led the Skins in pass deflections with 14 and also provided a spark on special teams with several timely punt returns. Returns of 13 and 18 yards against the Steelers set up a field goal and touchdown in a 30-29 victory. The best was a 32-yard fourth quarter return versus the Giants. 1987: In the NFC championship game, Darrell made the last-second hit on the goal line that helped jar the football out of the hands of running back Darrin Nelson, preventing the Vikings from forcing overtime. The performance came despite torn rib cartilage that kept his playing status in question throughout the week. Green had suffered the injury the previous week during his 52-yard punt return for a touchdown in the first round playoff game against the Bears. The return gave the Redskins a 21-14 lead and provided the winning margin. The highlight of his regular season came against Detroit with a career-high three interceptions. The last came on the Lions final possession and preserved a 20-13 victory. His overall performance resulted in a third Pro Bowl appearance. 1986: A succession of big plays led Darrell to his second Pro Bowl. In week two, Darrell's interception in the end zone with 30 seconds remaining sealed a 10-6 victory against the Raiders. He was slowed in Week 12 against Dallas when a bruised shoulder forced Darrell from the lineup for the first time in his career. His five interceptions were a team high. In the playoffs, Darrell intercepted a pass to set up the go-ahead touchdown in a 27-13 upset of the Bears. 1985: Lady Luck did not smile on Darrell when punt returns of 99 yards and 73 yards were nullified on successive weeks. Nevertheless, his 13.4-yard average on 16 punt returns was the highest by a Redskin since Eddie Brown's 13.5 in 1976. 1984: There was no sophomore slump for Darrell, who earned a starting Pro Bowl spot in his second season. He had five interceptions, 37 tackles, and a team-high 14 deflections, but cemented his all-star berth with one dramatic performance. With the Skins trailing Dallas 21-6 at halftime, Green turned the game around with a 32-yard pass interception for a touchdown. Later he stopped a Cowboy drive with an interception in the end zone, and the Redskins rallied for a 30-28 come-from-behind victory. 1983: Darrell set the tone for his NFL career the first time he touched the football with a 61-yard punt return in a preseason game against Atlanta. A contract dispute by Jeris White thrust him into the starting lineup against the Cowboys, and Darrell left his calling card when he pulled Tony Dorsett down from behind. He completed the year as the team's fourth best tackler with 109, including a team-high 79 solo stops. His regular season play earned him a runner-up spot as AP NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year, and he was named to Football Digest and AP all-rookie teams. However, he saved his best for the postseason when he ran back an interception 72 yards for a touchdown against the Rams.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Darrell is legendary at Texas A&I, where he was named to the Football Coaches all-American Division II team with 56 tackles and four interceptions in 1982. The Lone Star Conference Defensive Player of the Year, Darrell was also selected as an AP 1st-team Little all-America. He returned two punts for touchdowns as a senior (76 and 96 yards). However, football was only half the story. A 10.08 100-meter clocking was second behind Carl Lewis as a senior. Showing no preference, Darrell was all-state in track and all-city in football at Jones High School in Houston. He has won the "NFL Fastest Man" competition four times, winning the 60-yard event over such notable track stars as Willie Gault, Ron Brown and Herschel Walker. Darrell added the title "World's Fastest Athlete," in 1991, winning a competition that included several events. On the personal side, Darrell is very active in local youth groups. He founded the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation which provides financial and moral support for DC youth and their families. The centerpiece is his Learning Center, at the Franklin Commons Housing Complex on Franklin Street in Northeast, which he hopes will be a model educational program for youth nationwide. Besides computers donated by IBM, the facility is equipped with up-to-date education programs such as the Reader Rabbit system, which teaches spelling and word selection. Participants in the program must attend for 10 hours each week, open a savings account, get a library card and, for those older than 18, get a voter registration card. He serves as a local VP of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He also devoted charity time to the Big Brothers of America in the DC area, the homeless, and has worked in several anti-drug campaigns. He has an annual golf tournament to benefit Hope Springs Farm which provides care for orphans, foster children and underprivileged children. Darrell's foundation also helps distribute Thanksgiving dinner with the help of the Good Samaritan Foundation. The foundation hosts two benefits every year - Christmas with the Redskins, an event for at-risk children, and Christian Youth Day at Adventure World, where 200 children get free tickets to the theme park. Darrell has also testified at a Senate Judiciary Panel for drug prevention as well as appeared as the Redskins representative in the league sponsored United Way commercial. A native of Houston, he attended Jesse Jones High School. Darrell and his wife, Jewell, have three children Jarrel, 12, Jared, 9, and Joi, 7, and reside in Ashburn, VA.

After being waived by the Chargers, Trent had a tryout with the Steelers but wasn't signed and missed the entire 1994 regular season. 1993: San Diego's eighth round draft selection from Indiana, Trent landed a spot on the Chargers roster as the team's third quarterback. He suited up but was inactive for all 16 games as the Chargers's third quarterback.

Against Auburn in the Peach Bowl as a sophomore, Trent rushed for three scores. He was a three-time all-conference and all-district choice during his three-year prep career at Vianney High in St. Louis and added all-state and all-metro honors after completing 114 of 228 passes for 1,458 yards and 14 touchdowns as a senior. He also was twice named his team's MVP in basketball. He enjoys spending his spare time playing basketball, golfing, hunting and fishing. shoulder injury that he had been nursing for much of the season caused him to miss his first game as a Redskin in Week 9 vs the Bears. He had a monster game in Week 12 against the Giants when he had 14 tackles and tied a Redskins team record with four sacks. His performance in that game earned him NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors. In Week 14 vs the Cardinals, the normally soft spoken Harvey gave his teammates a tongue lashing at halftime over what he perceived to be a lackluster effort. Then he came out, was credited with one and a half sacks and inspired the Redskins to their first victory over the Cardinals in Arizona since 1991. Ken added another sack in the Week 15 contest vs the Giants and in the season finale, he recorded two more sacks. All in all, he blistered opposing teams with eight and a half sacks in the last five games of the season. Talk about stepping up at crunch time. "Ken Harvey is a guy who all of our younger players should try to emulate whether it's on the field, in the weight room, in the classroom or in the community," according to Coach Norv Turner. "He is the epitome of what a consummate professional is all about."

PRO CAREER:

1996: Ken made his third straight trip to the Pro Bowl since joining the Redskins in 1994. He finished second on the team in sacks with nine, second in quarterback hurries with 15, first in tackles for loss with eight, and third in total tackles with 122, including 75 solo stops. He also added his first career interception Week 4 in St. Louis. Over a four-week span from Week 11 to Week 14, he recorded 38 tackles, five sacks and two fumble recoveries. 1995: Ken led the Redskins in sacks (7.5), QB hurries (17) and tackles for loss (16), while finishing third with 132 total tackles. Ken had a huge game in week 13 vs. Philadelphia with three sacks, three tackles for loss and eight total tackles. He also had a big game in the Week 5 win over Dallas. He totaled 15 tackles, 1/2 sack, forced a fumble, made one tackle for loss and recorded a QB hurry. Ken also had double-digit tackle efforts Week 1 against the Cardinals (10); Week 7 at Arizona (14) and Week 10 at Kansas City (10). Once again, voters wasted no time sending Ken back to Hawaii for a repeat Pro Bowl starting appearance. 1994: Ken led the NFC (tied with Minnesota's John Randle) and finished second in the NFL with a career-high 13.5 sacks. Despite the constant double-teams, Ken produced nine sacks in the final 10 games of the season and led the Redskins with 20 quarterback hurries (the next closest player on the team had eight).

He also led the team with four forced fumbles and tied for the team lead with nine tackles for losses. A model of consistency all season long, he recorded at least a sack or a QB hurry in 13 of 16 games. Ken posted four multiple sack games getting two sacks week 4 vs. Atlanta, Week 7 vs. the Cardinals, Week 8 at Indianapolis and Week 10 vs. the 49ers. 1993: Ken racked up a club-high 9.5 sacks and no team felt his presence more than the Redskins, against whom he recorded four sacks and forced two fumbles in two games. On September 12, at RFK Stadium, he tied his career high (third time) with three sacks and forced a fumble in the Cards' 17-10 win. 1992: Ken suffered a torn ACL in his right knee at Atlanta in Week 10. The injury occurred in the first quarter, but Ken finished the game while registering five tackles and a sack. Three days later he underwent reconstructive knee surgery. The previous two weeks before the injury, Harvey had his two biggest games of the season. He sacked 49ers quarterback Steve Young twice (11/1), and stripped Young of the ball on a third-and-one from the Phoenix one-yard line setting the tone for the Cards' 24-14 win. In the fourth quarter the next week at Los Angeles, Harvey forced a fumble on the Cards' 27-yard line. Cornerback Aeneas Williams recovered and returned it 39 yards setting up Phoenix's winning score. 1991: Ken finished eighth in the NFC with a career-high 10 sacks. On November 3, Ken matched his career-high with three sacks of Troy Aikman, all in the first half of the Cards' 27-7 loss. 1990: During the open date in the Cards' schedule midway through the season, Phoenix shifted from a 4-3 defense to a 3-4 to take advantage of Ken's outstanding athletic ability. The first week it was employed, the Cards held Dallas to 100 total yards of offense in a 20-3 win. In a December 9, 24-13 win over Atlanta, Ken racked up a career-high three sacks. 1989: Ken assumed the starting left linebacker spot after the departure of veteran E.J. Junior. He rolled up seven or more tackles in 9 games including a career-best 15 tackles against Denver on December 16. 1988: His rookie season was the only campaign in which he didn't lead the Cardinals in sacks, finishing with six, second to Freddie Joe Nunn's 14.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Harvey was an all-Pac

10 selection with nine sacks as a senior at California. He went on to win defensive player of the game honors at the 1988 East-West Shrine game and was the most valuable player at the Senior Bowl. California head coach Joe Kapp nicknamed him "EF Harvey" because when he goes into the weight room everybody stops and watches. Ken set a weight lifting record at Cal with a combined lift of 1,885 pounds (425 bench, 525 squat, 600 dead and 335 clean). He transferred to California from Laney (Oakland, CA) Community College where he was honorable mention all-America. He now endows a $10,000 scholarship annually to the school. Prior to his senior year at Lanier High School in Austin, TX, he dropped out of school and worked in a McDonald's franchise as a line cook. He returned to school but didn't play football as a senior, earning his high school equivalency degree while working 14 hours a day at two jobs (lumber yard and International House of Pancakes) to support himself and to pay for his tuition at Laney. While at Cal, he spent a night on the streets to see what it was like to be homeless. His hobbies include bowling, martial arts, comic books (Thor, Spiderman), drawing, jazz and New Age music, and watching TV reruns of "The Twilight Zone." An acting career may be a post-career option. His lone theatrical role to this point was the lead in "Romeo and Juliet" for a charity play in Phoenix. Ken also has written a children's book that he hopes to get published. Ken is a favorite among children at local elementary schools, especially for his card tricks. At the Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts gala, Ken was invited to dance on stage by Diana Ross. Ken is one of seven children. He and his wife, Janice, have two sons, Anthony, 6, and Marcus, 4, and suffered the devastating loss of another son, Nathaniel, to AIDS. They reside in Great Falls, VA.

NFL ACQUISITION: Selected in 3rd round of 1984 draft (59h overall) by NY Giants.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as an unrestricted free agent on June 18, 1997.

1997 SEASON: Jeff served as the backup to Gus Frerotte until a season ending injury to Frerotte allowed Jeff to start the last three games of the season. In all, Jeff saw action in parts of six games and completed 79 of 144 passes for 899 yards, five touchdowns and ten interceptions. Jeff subbed in for two plays in Week 1 at Carolina for a shaken Gus Frerotte and saw action again in Week 2 vs the Steelers when Frerotte had a contact poked out of his eye. In that game, he completed both pass attempts for a total of 15 yards and one first down. Jeff did not see the field again until Week 12 vs the Giants. Hostetler ended up playing the entire second half of that game when Gus Frerotte was injured at the end of the first half during an end zone celebration. Showing the effects of a long layoff, Jeff completed 19 of 41 passes for 213 yards and three interceptions as the Redskins finished deadlocked with the Giants to a score of 7-7, the first time the Redskins had finished in a tie since 1971. Frerotte would return for the next game against the Rams but broke his hip in the fourth quarter, an injury that was not discovered until after the game. Gus was immediately placed on injured reserve and Hostetler was handed the starting reins for the final three games of the season. In his first start of the season in Week 14 vs the Cardinals, he earned a game ball for his performance. He was 18 for 34 for 226 yards and three touchdowns. He also ran seven times for 17 yards which made him the team's second leading rusher on the day. In Week 15 vs the Giants with first place in the NFC East on the line, Jeff completed 23 of 42 passes for 288 yards, one touchdown and four interceptions as the Redskins fell behind early and struggled in vain to get back in the game. But "Hoss" ended the year on a strong note, completing 16 of 23 passes for 160 yards and one touchdown as the Redskins defeated the Eagles in the season finale and briefly kept alive their playoff hopes. Jeff Hostetler's records and accolades speak for themselves. Super Bowl winning quarterback. 49-31 record as a starter in the NFL. 82.1 career quarterback rating. But he knows that for now anyway, Gus Frerotte is the starting quarterback of the Redskins. "I've been in all kinds of different situations as a quarterback," he said. One of the things that I've always told myself is that no matter what position I'm in, I'm going to be positive toward whoever is there. I'm going to help any way I can help. If the roles were reversed, that's what I'd want. That's not always been the case with other guys and myself. "I've always wanted to handle it that way and I think that I've done that."

PRO CAREER: 1996: In his final year with the Raiders, Jeff's 83.2 quarterback ranked sixth in the AFC while throwing for 2,548 yards. His 23 touchdown passes ranked fourth in the AFC. His top game came against Detroit completing a season-high 27 passes for 295 yards and four touchdowns. 1995: Jeff started 11 games before injuries curtailed his season. He still posted an 82.2 QB rating and 12 touchdowns while throwing for 1,998 yards. He tossed a season-high four touchdowns against the Jets and completed a season-high 22 of 29 passes against the Redskins. Jeff also threw an 80-yard touchdown pass against Seattle. 1994: Jeff's 3,334 yards was the second-highest single season total in Raider history. His 263 of 454 passes with 20 touchdowns were all career highs. Against Denver, Jeff passed for 338 yards and four touchdowns. He also had a big day against the Chargers passing for 319 yards on 22 of 29 completions and two touchdowns, including a 76 yarder. Jeff's season-long was a 77-yard TD toss at Seattle. 1993: Jeff became only the third quarterback in Raider history to pass for over 3,000 yards. He also set a Raider single-season record for rushing touchdowns by a quarterback with five. Jeff had touchdown tosses of 74 yards at Denver,

The 1952 Washington Redskins will be taking a step back in time this season when they travel by train to play the New York Giants on September 6 and the Philadelphia Eagles on October 11. Above is an original travel itinerary of the 1952 Redskins from their training camp at Occidental College to Chicago by rail. The Skins opened the season against the Cardinals and Packers in back-to-back games on Sept. 28 and Oct. 5, 1952.

71 yards vs. San Diego and 65 yards at home against the Broncos. He also set a Raider single-game record with a career-high 424 yards passing against the Chargers. In the season finale vs. the Broncos, Jeff was named AFC Player of the Week passing for 310 yards and three touchdowns, including a four-yard TD toss in the closing seconds to send the game into overtime. 1992: Jeff led the NFL and set a Giant record with a 1.6 interception percentage. HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on April 25, 1991.

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1998.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 88/24 [5/1] - 1991 (4/0) [3/0]; 1992 (5/1) [2/1]; 1993 (15/5); 1994 (16/3); 1995 (16/5); 1996 (16/5); 1997 (16/5).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 393 out of 1,028 offensive plays (38%) and 359 out of 431 (83%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Although he is mostly known as a blocking tight end,

James proved he could catch the football too as he caught four balls for 43 yards. And three of those catches went for touchdowns. Also, Jenkins has made a career out of helping out wherever needed and that is why he is regarded as one of the Skins best special teams players. He played on 83% of the special teams plays, finished the season with eight tackles and was second on the team with 37 blocks.

Jenkins' first catch of the season did not come until Week 6 vs the Cowboys when he hauled in a 13-yard touchdown pass from Gus Frerotte in the second quarter. His next catch came in Week 9 vs the Bears on a nine-yard scoring toss from Frerotte on the Redskins opening drive. That play set the tone for the day as the Redskins had one of their best offensive days of the season in scoring 30 points. He continued his perfect catch to touchdown ratio with his third catch and third touchdown of the season with a one-yard grab in the second quarter of the Week 10 victory vs the Lions. And in Week 12 vs the Giants, he caught his fourth and final ball of the year with a 20-yard reception but he fell short of his fourth touchdown when he was pushed out of bounds at the two yard line. Not bad for

PRO CAREER: 1996: A mainstay on special teams, he played in a total of 287 of the team's 442 (65%) special teams plays and totaled ten tackles and 41 blocks. James was an extension of an offensive line that led the NFC in rushing and allowed the third fewest sacks in the league (22). 1995: James led the Skins special teams unit with 40 blocks and added seven tackles. His only reception was a two-yard catch against the Cardinals in Week 7. 1994: James became a scoring threat with half of his career-high eight pass receptions resulting in touchdowns. He continued to be one of the Redskins top special teamers finishing fourth on the squad with 11 tackles, including two inside the 20-yard line. James' top day came in Week 8 at Indianapolis, catching TD scores of five yards and one yard. He followed that up with another TD grab a week later against the Eagles at RFK. 1993: He led the Redskins with 16 special teams tackles and was third with 87 total hits. A shoulder injury in Week 15 at Dallas sidelined him on injured reserve for the final game of the season. 1992: Troubled by a back injury, James was forced to sit on the sidelines for 11 weeks. In the remaining five games, he posted 17 total special teams hits, including a season-best six hits against the Giants. He also was tabbed for his first NFL start against the Giants in Week 13. 1991: James cleared waivers after the final 47-player roster was set and was brought back and placed on the practice squad. He was activated Nov. 30 when Ron Middleton was injured. James played as a backup H-back and on special teams the final four weeks of the season and into the postseason. He posted 11 total special teams hits with a season-best five hits vs. the Eagles in week 16.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: James was named the MVP at Rutgers after catching a team-high 31 passes for 325 yards as a senior. A back-up tight end as a freshman and sophomore, he started four games at linebacker as a junior before making the switch back to tight end as a senior. James was a championship-caliber chess player while growing up on Staten Island. He played in tournaments until high school and now plays just for fun. He studied criminal justice while at Rutgers and plans to enter graduate school and work toward a master's degree in forensics. A third-year bowling kegler with a 196 league average and a perfect game to his credit, James tapes Pro Bowlers Association tour events and studies them. A pro bowling career is something he would consider once his football career is over. His best tournament game was a 268 after bowling eight straight strikes, and he once bowled a 644 series. He attended Curtis High School Staten Island, NY, where he was a high school teammate of Tampa Bay's Vernon Turner. A single parent, James raises his three children, James, 10, Brittany, 9 and Justin, 7 and they reside in Sterling, VA.

WITHOUT PENALTY

The Redskins once again proved to be among the NFL's best in fewest penalties and fewest penalty yards in 1997. The Redskins finished with one more penalty than Tampa Bay in 1997, but their 639 yards penalized led the NFL. The Redskins have now led the NFL in fewest yards penalized in 10 seasons (in 1935, 52-54-56-57-58-70-85-95-97) and have accomplished the feat twice in Norv Turner's four seasons. The 639 yards penalized is the fourth fewest yards penalized by a Redskin team in a 14 or 16 game season. The Redskins set the team mark for a 14 or 16 game season at 563 yards penalized under Turner in 1995. Since Turner took over in 1994, the Redskin have been ranked in the NFL's top 10 for fewest penalties and fewest yards penalized. In fact, in the four seasons under Turner, the Redskins average of 85 penalties for 668 yards per season is the best in the NFL.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Selected a Pro Bowl alternate in 1996.
- Selected to the all-Madden team in 1995.
- First NFL start came Week 7 (10/16) against the Cardinals at left tackle in 1994.

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in 2nd round of 1994 draft (31st overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 2001.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 50/36 – 1994 (14/1); 1995 (10/9); 1996 (15/15); 1997 (11/11).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 715 out of 1,028 (70%) offensive plays and 44 out of 431 (10%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Tré started 11 of 16 games last year. He was inactive for the first three games of the regular season due to offseason shoulder surgery, but returned to the lineup in the Week 4 victory vs the Jaguars when he helped pave the way for Terry Allen's 122 yards. Johnson showed his versatility in Week 9 vs the Bears when he was asked to switch from his normal right guard position to play left guard. He responded by igniting a rushing attack that amassed 203 yards. Tré would play left guard the remainder of the season until he was made inactive for the last two games with a shoulder injury. The self-proclaimed "Banga" is a major cog in the Redskin offensive arsenal and with a full off-season to recuperate, Tré and the Redskins will be looking to return to their running days of old.

PRO CAREER: 1996: Named a first team alternate at guard for the Pro Bowl, Tré played on 917 of 999 (92%) total offensive plays. Tré and the offensive lineman opened the way for Terry Allen's first Pro Bowl, a team record 1,353 yards and a NFL leading 21 touchdowns. In their nine victories, the Redskins rushed for an average of 140 yards and two rushing touchdowns. 1995: The Redskins were 5-2 in games that Tré played at least half of the plays and 1-8 when he did not. In those seven games, the Redskins averaged 148 yards rushing. A sprained ankle and a sprained MCL in his right knee forced Tré to miss six games.

1994: Tré was primarily used on special teams and filled in at both tackle spots for Jim Lachey and Ed Simmons. He made his first NFL start in Week 7 against the Cardinals at RFK replacing an injured Jim Lachey. He also saw extensive action in the Cardinals rematch in Week 14 when Lachey was felled with a deep laceration to his leg. Tré took 29 snaps in that contest before spraining his right foot. The injury kept him out of the final two regular season games.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: "I'm a real Hog. It's a lineman's dream to come to an organization like this," said Tré on draft day in 1994. A second-team all-America as a senior, Tré was also a first-team all-Big East selection. He registered 75 knockdown blocks while more than 80% of the Owls' 1,257 rushing yards came over his territory. Tré played in every game as a sophomore and was named a second-team all-Big East choice after posting 55 knockdowns. As a freshman, Tré started nine games at left tackle and had 47 knockdown blocks, including 38 in his last six games. Tré was redshirted as a freshman. He graduated from Temple with both a bachelor's degree in social administration and a master's Tré was an all-league, all-county and all-section choice as an offensive lineman at Peekskill (NY) High School. He also earned those same honors while handling shot put and discus duties for the track team. He agreed to record master recordings of at least one composition for Gridiron Records for inclusion in the album tentatively entitled "NFL Jams" this past spring. Born Edward Stanton Johnson III, he was nicknamed "Tré" by his mother because he is the third to bear that family name. He resides in Arlington, VA.

NFL career came in Week 7 vs the Oilers when he made four tackles. Week 8 against the Ravens he recorded two quarterback pressures. His first NFL start came in the Week 9 contest against the Bears and he made the most of his opportunity, accounting for five tackles, including two for loss, and he batted a ball down at the line of scrimmage. "You have to love the enthusiasm that he plays with," said defensive line coach Earl Leggett. "He is still so raw and inexperienced but sometimes he was able to make the play simply by hustling to the ball. The thing that he has to remember is that he is young and new to this level of play and that it is going to take some time before he gets to where he is supposed to be."

mater until the Redskins called him September 9th. Poor performance and injuries along the line prompted Redskin coaches to come calling upon Ryan, who had been one of the final cuts in training camp. Ryan made the most of his opportunity as he went on to play in twelve games and start five. In his second career start, against the Lions, Ryan certainly made his presence known. He stopped Barry Sanders for a two yard loss, and batted Frank Reich's pass at the line which led to Jesse Campbell's interception. After that performance, Coach Turner said, "It's been nice to have Ryan in there. He's a great competitor. He does exactly what he's asked to do, and he's making plays. Some guys, when they get an opportunity, they just keep grinding, grinding, grinding, and make the most of it." Ryan finished the season with 19 total tackles, including ten solos and two tackles for loss. He also contributed three batted passes and five quarterback hurries. His top tackle performances came in Week 11 at the Cowboys and Week 16 against the Eagles. He had six tackles in each of those games.

- Fumble recovery vs the Giants (11/23/97) set up Redskins TD in 7-7 tie.
- Had career-best day at Arizona (12/7/97) with five tackles, five QB hits, two batted passes and half a sack. He also recovered Jake Plummer's fumble in 4th quarter which led to Redskins final touchdown.

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in 1st round of 1997 draft (17th overall).

1997 SEASON: At the start of the '97 season,

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Forced a fumble by the Cardinals Leeland McElroy in overtime to set up the Redskins winning score in the inaugural game (9/14/97) at Jack Kent Cooke Stadium.

Redskins defensive line coach Earl Leggett described Kenard Lang's abilities and potential: "Right now, he's going to be a solid player with a chance to be something better than that." General Manager Charley Casserly agreed whole-heartedly. "He's a good player now and he's going to get better and better for a long time," Casserly stated. "He's got pass rush ability, but he's been especially effective against the run. He's a great hustle guy. He plays hard all the time." And Kenard started off just as expected, with signs of even better things to come. By the third game of the season, with two solid performances under his belt, Kenard first showed the ability to make the big play that rising stars possess. The opening game at Jack Kent Cooke Stadium had gone into overtime, and the Cardinals had won the toss. On the second play of Arizona's first drive in overtime, Kenard reached in and stripped the ball from the Cardinals Leeland McElroy, and fellow rookie Derek Smith recovered it. Two plays later Gus Frerotte connected with Michael Westbrook for a 40-yard touchdown and the victory. Kenard not only helped salvage a victory for the team, but contributed to one of the Redskins more thrilling victories in recent memory, providing the perfect christening to the great stadium. Unfortunately, Kenard would miss the next five weeks with a severe inner ear infection, that required surgery and a lengthy hospital stay. When Kenard returned to the starting lineup in Week 9 against the Bears, he had lost some strength and conditioning due to the hospitalization. However, in only a few weeks, Kenard was back in top form and was again making big plays to help his team win. In the Week 12 tie with the Giants, Kenard had eight tackles, including four solo, four quarterback hurries, one batted pass, and one fumble recovery. The fumble recovery led to the Redskins only touchdown. Two weeks later in Arizona, he was at it again. He had five total tackles, five quarterback hurries, two batted passes, and a half a sack. In the fourth quarter, he recovered Jake Plummer's fumble which led to the Redskins final touchdown to seal the victory. Kenard followed up his performance in Arizona with two

Brian registered his second 200-yard all-purpose game against Dallas in Week 11 gaining 229 yards (180 kick return, 32 punt return, 11 receiving, 6 rushing). In Week 4 vs. Atlanta, Brian caught six passes for 57 yards. He had three catches for a career-high 65 yards against the Cardinals in Week 7, including a 46-yard TD. Against the Eagles in Week 9, Brian rushed for a season-best 85 yards and posted the Redskins longest run from scrimmage with a 33 yarder. HONORS: Week 2 NFC Special Teams Player of the Week; AP all-Pro 2nd team (kick returner); Football News all-NFC team (punt returner); Pro Football Weekly/PFWA all-Pro team (punt returner). 1993: In the season opening Monday Night win over Dallas, Brian recorded a career-high 116 yards rushing, including a 29-yard TD run that put the finishing touches on the victory. Brian finished the year with 246 yards Against the Giants in Week 5, Brian not only netted a career-high seven receptions, he also carried a kickoff return 68 yards and threw a 50-yard pass to Ricky Sanders that turned out to be the Redskins second longest pass completion of the season. 1992: In no game were his many talents showcased more than the Vikings playoff game. He returned a punt 54 yards. He ran 38 yards on a fake punt that eventually set up his own eight-yard touchdown run. He completed a lateral pass on a kickoff. He rushed for 109 yards on 16 carries. He caught three passes for 16 yards. In all, Brian gained 209 total yards. In Week 2 vs. the Falcons, not only did Brian return one kickoff for 33 yards, he returned punts for 22 and 14 yards and threw a perfect cross field lateral to Desmond Howard on a punt return that resulted in a 55-yard TD run. As a returner, Brian finished sixth in the NFC in punt returns with a 9.3-yard average and eighth in kickoff returns with a 21.4-yard average. In week three he broke a 70-yarder vs Phoenix for a score, but it was called back because of a penalty. The following week he broke a 66-yarder for a touchdown vs Cincinnati. Brian finished the year second in the NFL in punt returns with a 13.3-yard average (third highest in team history and the best since Eddie Brown in 1976). His 600 yards in punt returns led the NFL and was the second most in club history. Brian finished eighth in the NFC in kickoff returns with a 20.1-yard average and was named to the AP all-Pro second team, College and Pro Football Newsweekly NFL all-Pro first team and Football News all-NFC. 1990: The first time Brian touched the ball as a pro, he returned the opening kickoff of preseason 92 yards for a touchdown against Atlanta. At various times during his rookie season, Brian played running back, quarterback and returned both kicks and punts. He also finished second on the club with 26 special teams tackles and led the team with a 20.3-yard kick return average. When both Jeff Rutledge and Stan Humphries went down with injuries against Philadelphia on Monday Night, Brian took over the signal caller duties. In his only series, he directed the Skins to a touchdown, completing three passes for 40 yards and had two rushes for 11 yards, including a one-yard touchdown keeper. In his most extensive duty at running back, he rushed a season-high seven times for 36 yards against the Dolphins in Week 12.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Brian became the first player in NCAA history to pass for over 5,000 yards (5,447) and run over 3,000 yards (3,335) during his career. Brian also held the NCAA record for rushing touchdowns by a quarterback with 47. As a senior, he rushed for 1,311 yards and passed for 1,966 yards. He totaled 25 touchdowns (six passing, 19 rushing) and 3,277 yards in offense. As a junior, Brian was chosen the state's outstanding collegiate football player, when he totaled 2,550 yards in offense (1,397 passing, 743 rushing). Brian also rushed for 15 touchdowns and tossed nine TD passes. He was named to the all-America Fight Against Drugs Team by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia. Besides a football scholarship, he was offered a chemical engineering scholarship. He won a Dow Chemical grant at SW Louisiana and scored 28 out of a possible 35 on his ACT college board test. Brian completed an outstanding prep career at Plaquemine (LA) High School, leading the team to the state title, and being selected the state's offensive player of the year. He majored in management at SW Louisiana. He founded the "Brian Mitchell Returning to Your Roots Program" geared toward supporting the adolescent members of Brian's hometown of Plaquemine, LA. His efforts will help to provide children with academic scholarships, after-school athletic programs and holiday dinners. He is helping fund a new basketball floor at Plaquemine High School. His former high school English teacher, Carolyn Brown, was named the 1995 NFL Teacher of the Year. She received a $5,000 grant from the NFL, and a $10,000 scholarship was presented to Plaquemine High School. Brian generously donates his time to charity events and speaking engagements throughout the Washington, D.C. metro area. He sponsored the "Sports, Math 'N' Science program for the Metropolitan Police Boys and Girls Clubs, a non-profit youth organization serving 12,000 children, ages 6-18 who are residents of the District of Columbia. In addition to contributing substantial money for the program, Brian made a contribution to the youngsters of more than $7,000 worth of athletic shoes. Rich Owens

Defensive End

#96

4th Season

Ht: 6-6 Wt: 281

Lehigh

Born: May 22, 1972

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Led the Redskins with 11 sacks and three forced fumbles in 1996.
- Recorded his first career sack against his hometown Philadelphia Eagles in week 12 of 1995.
- First career start came against the Giants in week 14 at New York in 1995.
- Compared to Dexter Manley, the Redskins all-time sack leader, Rich totaled 14 sacks in his first 26 games who had 12.5 sacks in his first 25 games.

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in 5th round of 1993 draft (101st overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1998.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 42/34 — 1995 (10/3); 1996 (16/16); 1997 (16/15).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 746 out of 1,059 (70%) defensive plays and 46 out of 431 (11%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Rich finished the season with 3.5 sacks, 17 quarterback hurries, nine passes batted down, one forced fumble and one fumble recovered. He also totaled 61 tackles, including four tackles for loss, while starting 15 of 16 games last season. Rich had his best performance of the season in Week 4 vs Jacksonville as he tallied two sacks of Mark Brunell and added six tackles, one quarterback hurry and one batted pass. He picked up another sack in Week 5 vs the Eagles and recovered a fumble in Week 6 against Dallas that led to the winning touchdown. In Rich's only game that he did not start last year (due to recurring back spasms) in Week 9 vs

Chicago, he still had a productive game with an assisted tackle, two batted balls and three quarterback hurries. Rich had three quarterback hits against the Lions in Week 10, and he was credited with a half sack against the Eagles in Week 16. Although the sack numbers were down from 1996, defensive line coach Earl Leggett called Rich Owens the bedrock of the defensive line. "I didn't put any pressure on Rich to get sacks because I don't really worry about them," Leggett said. "I'm more concerned with pressures and hits. I'd much rather see lots of pressures and hits over the course of a game than to have Rich get two sacks and that's it. He is getting lower against the run and he's become more aggressive."

Rich, along with teammates Trevor Matich and Tré Johnson, has hosted a weekly Redskin television show on Home Team Sports the past two seasons.

PRO CAREER: 1996: His team leading 11 sacks were the most by a Redskins defensive lineman since Charles Mann recorded 11 in 1991. He started all 16 games at right defensive end and finished the season with 73 total tackles, including 36 solo stops and four tackles for loss. In addition, he recorded four quarterback hurries, three forced fumbles, and two passes defended. 1995: Despite being slowed with a fractured arm in the second preseason game against Houston, and not playing until Week 7 against the Cardinals. Rich had a solid rookie season. He recorded his first sack of the season in Week 12 against the Eagles and added a forced fumble and a quarterback hurry. His first NFL start came in Week 14 against the Giants for the injured Sterling Palmer, and Rich made the most of it, with a sack and eight tackles.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Rich saw limited playing time his first three years but blossomed into an NFL-caliber defensive lineman during his senior year. He recorded 36 tackles (22 solos), five sacks and 10 tackles for loss. Naggng injuries, along with maintaining his academic work load, curtailed his junior season. As a sophomore, Rich was used sparingly, recording one assisted tackle. He was a two-year letterwinner at defensive end and tight end at Lincoln High School in Philadelphia, PA. A co-captain his senior year, he also ran track and wrestled in high school. One of the most community minded young players on the team, Rich devotes countless hours speaking at elementary and middle schools throughout the metropolitan area. An architecture major, Rich would like to run his own graphic arts design firm some day. He resides in Ashburn, VA.

Joe Patton
Tackle/Guard
#68
 5th Season
 Ht: 6-5 Wt: 306
 Alabama A&M
 Born: Jan. 5, 1972

1997 SEASON: Joe was the only Redskin offensive lineman to start all 16 games. He started 10 games at left guard and six games at left tackle, showing the versatility that has kept him in the starting lineup for much of his career. Patton was at left guard in the season opener against Carolina when the Redskins rushing attack accounted for 198 yards. He stayed at left guard for the next seven games until injuries along the offensive line forced him to play left tackle in the Week 9 contest at Chicago. The move seemed to work because the Redskins offense had over 203 yards rushing. Joe remained at left tackle for five more games until a shoulder injury to Tré Johnson forced Patton to left guard, where he would finish the season.

Joe was offered a partial college basketball scholarship to Wake Forest but turned it down, hoping for a full scholarship in football.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Was the only Redskin offensive lineman to start all 16 games last season. He started 10 games at left guard and six games at left tackle in 1997.
- Stepped in for the injured Jim Lachey in week 4 at Tampa Bay in 1996 and started for the remainder of the season.

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in 3rd round of 1994 draft (97th overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 2002.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 50/44 – 1994 (2/0); 1995 (16/13); 1996 (16/15); 1997 (16/16).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 962 out of 1,028 (94%) offensive plays and 59 out of 431 (14%) special teams plays.

PRO CAREER: 1996: Joe played in all 16 games with 15 starts. In Week 8 against the Colts, Joe stepped in at left guard for an injured Tré Johnson and the Redskins rushed for 215 yards in victory. He returned to left tackle the following week until injuries sidelined Bob Dahl for the season finale. Joe stepped in at right guard for Dahl and the Redskins cruised to victory over Dallas in the last game ever at RFK Stadium. 1995: Joe started the final 13 games of the season at left tackle, replacing Jim Lachey, who was lost for the season with a knee injury. 1994: Joe was on the Redskins inactive list for the first 14 weeks before being activated for the final two games of the season.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: A three-year starter at guard, Joe capped off his brilliant career at Alabama A&M with another selection to the all-Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference first team. Joe was the only Bulldog honored on the all-SIAC offensive team. Joe emerged as one of the top offensive players in the SIAC earning first team honors as a junior and was the only Bulldog named to the conference's first team. After not seeing action as a freshman, Joe joined the starting lineup as a sophomore and gave a preview of what to expect during his career. He started every game and by the end of the season he was considered one of the finest young offensive linemen in the SIAC. Joe's route to Alabama A&M took some interesting turns. After not receiving any scholarship offers, Joe decided to join the Navy and was all set to go. But just a few days before he was to leave for basic training, a friend who was an alumnus of Alabama A&M talked the school into offering Joe a scholarship. Although a walk-on on the football program originally, it didn't take long for them to offer Joe a full scholarship. He majored in electrical engineering at Alabama A&M. His hobbies include playing basketball, and despite his size, he enjoys playing tennis. Single, Joe resides in Fairfax, VA.

- Including postseason, he started 75 of the last 79 games since the middle of the 1992 season.

NFL ACQUISITION: Selected in 8th round of the 1990 draft (208th overall) by Buffalo.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as an unrestricted free agent on February 22, 1995.

CONTRACT STATUS: Signed through 1998.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 128/77 [11/6] - BUFF 1990 (16/0) [1/0]; 1991 (16/2) [3/0]; 1992 (16/5) [4/3]; 1993 (16/16) [3/3]; 1994 (16/16); WASH 1995 (16/16); 1996

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 1,059 out of 1,059 (100%) defensive plays and 68 out of 431 (16%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Although overlooked in the Pro Bowl voting, linebacker Marvкус Patton quietly put together another All-Pro caliber season for the Redskins in 1997. Patton was named the Redskins Miller Lite Player of the Year and earned the NFLPA's Unsung Hero Award for his performance last year. Patton moved inside to middle linebacker prior to the start of the 1997 season and the move proved fruitful for both Patton and the Redskins. He finished second on the team in total tackles with 175, which included a team-and career-high 129 solo stops and three tackles for loss. He also tied for second on the team in sacks with a career-high four and added 13 quarterback hurries. For the fifth consecutive season, Patton recorded two interceptions and added four passes defended. He also led the team in forced fumbles with four and recovered one. Since joining the Redskins in 1995, Marvкус has given his all every single play on defense, literally, playing every defensive snap (3,357) for three consecutive seasons. Marvкус made his first career start at middle linebacker Week 1 vs the Panthers and recorded a team high 12 total tackles. He had a monster game Week 3 vs Arizona, when he accounted for a career high 19 total tackles, including 15 solo stops, three assisted tackles and one tackle for loss. He also contributed a quarterback hurry. And in the Week 14 rematch with the Cardinals, he had a key sack of Cardinals quarterback Jake Plummer and forced him to fumble, which allowed the Redskins to hang on for the important victory. By season's end, Marvкус had racked up twelve double digit tackle games and had found a permanent home in the middle. More importantly, he was helping to provide stability and leadership to a unit that had been craving it the last couple of seasons. Said Coach Norv Turner, "He's really taken it upon himself to become the quarterback of the defense. He's getting people in the huddle, getting them lined up. I don't think we had leadership as consistently in the past. If you are not playing as well, it's hard to provide that type of leadership. But Marvкус has played so well that it's easy for people to look to him. He sets an example by his work habits."

PRO CAREER: 1996: He finished 1996 as the Skins leading tackler for the second straight season with 181 total stops. His 99 solo tackles also led the club, and he contributed two sacks, four quarterback hurries, six tackles for loss, six passes defended, two interceptions, two forced fumbles, and one fumble recovery. He recorded a season-high in tackles against his former team in Week 9, with 18 tackles, including 10 solo stops in Buffalo. Marvкус opened the season against the Eagles with 17 total tackles. In all, he recorded 10 or more tackles in a game eight times last year. 1995: Marcus was the only defensive player to play every down (1,117) of the 1995 season and was the team leader in total tackles (161) and solo stops (103). He was involved in seven turnovers, with two interceptions, a team-leading four forced fumbles and one fumble recovery. His season-high performance came against the Rams in Week 15 with 17 total tackles, 12 solo stops, and two forced fumbles, including one that was recovered by defensive end Tony Woods for a touchdown that secured the victory. 1994: For the second straight season, Marcus was Buffalo's second leading tackler with 101. In his second season as a full-time starter, Marcus helped the Bills improve from 21st in the NFL against the run in 1993 to eighth in 1994. He totaled a career-high 14 tackles in Week 7 against Indianapolis. Patton intercepted a Dan Marino pass at the goal line in the fourth quarter to help preserve the Bills' 42-31 win over the Dolphins in Week 13. 1993: Marcus was moved from outside to inside linebacker, a position he had never before played, after the Bills lost veterans Carlton Bailey and Shane Conlan to free agency. He came up big for the Bills in the turnover department with two interceptions, two forced fumbles, and three fumble recoveries. On October 3, Marcus intercepted a Phil Simms pass, the first of his career, as the Bills beat the Giants, 17-13. He also had 13 tackles that day. 1992: Marcus started five of the last eight regular season games and three of the Bills' four postseason games at left outside linebacker. He had seven solo tackles in the Bills' Super Bowl loss to Dallas. 1991: Marcus made his first start on September 8 against Pittsburgh at left outside linebacker when the Bills went to an unusual 2-5 alignment. He also started the next week against the Jets. Marcus was credited with one tackle in the Bills' loss to the Skins in Super Bowl XXVI. 1990: Patton was named to Pro Football Weekly's All-Rookie team. He was a key member of the Bills' kick coverage team which ranked first in the NFL. Marcus broke his lower leg on the opening kickoff of the Bills' first round playoff game against Miami.

Marvкус' roots in football can be traced back to an unlikely source. His mother was a member of the Los Angeles Dandelions of the now defunct Womens National Football League.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Named a second-team all-America and all-Pac 10 Conference first-team pick by The Poor Man's Guide, Marcus was recruited by Cal-State Fullerton and San Diego State, but after being accepted at UCLA, he made the team as a walk-on. Redskins secondary coach Tom Hayes was the defensive coordinator at UCLA at the time. He became a full-time starter as a senior and led the team with 11 sacks. He was a Sporting News honorable mention all-America and a second team All-Pac 10 his final season. He was also a Pac-10 All-Academic honorable mention three times. Marcus played at Leuzinger High School in Lawndale, CA. He was born in Los Angeles. His full name is Marcus Raymond Patton. He received the name Marcus from his late father, Ray.

a Los Angeles police officer killed in the line of duty when Marcus was nine. Marcus on his name: "My father liked Marcus, but he wanted me to be a little different, so he put the 'v' in there. I guess it worked, I'm the only Marcus I know." Marcus has a degree in political science and hopes to become a lawyer one day. Last year he was selected as having the NFL's third best physique by Muscle and Fitness Magazine. His body-fat count is 4%. His mother, Barbara, who played at 5-4, 130 pounds, in the National Football Women's League, once split another woman's helmet while making a tackle. She works for the government's General Services Administration and attends most of Marcus' games. Marcus and his wife, Brigitte, reside in Sterling, VA.

defense and recovered a muffed punt. And he also downed a punt on the Bears one yard line. In Week 10 vs the Lions, Pounds earned his second straight game ball with a huge clutch performance. With Cris Dishman temporarily sidelined with a bruised sternum, Darryl intercepted Frank Reich on his first play in as a replacement. Then later in the fourth quarter, he sealed the victory with a 22-yard interception return for a touchdown. Darryl also had two passes defended and two total tackles. Although Darryl's playing time did increase this past season, he has yet to start an NFL game at cornerback and with two Pro Bowl corners in Green and Dishman doesn't figure to anytime soon. "Everybody wants to play more, but I'm not frustrated at all playing behind Darrell and Cris," said Pounds. "You just take things in stride and try to learn from the guys in front of you. I'm glad the coaches have confidence in me to let me play the nickel back, but I know I have to keep playing well to keep the job. The only thing written in stone is that Darrell and Cris are the starting corners. It's only my second year at corner, so I can be patient."

PRO CAREER: 1996: Darryl was also a key component of the Redskins special teams, with seven tackles and three blocks in 1996. He started his only game of the season at strong safety against the New York Jets in Week 5. Darryl recorded a career-high two interceptions in Week 10 against the Cardinals. 1995: Darryl's rookie season didn't get started until Week 8 due to a bulging disk in his back during training camp that placed him on the Physically Unable to Perform List for the first half of the season. Once he returned, Darryl finished the season with seven total tackles, including three solo stops and made his first career interception in Week 12 against the Eagles.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Only the third player in Southland Conference history to be named a four-time, first-team all-SLC selection, Darryl was named a first-team AP all-America after leading the Nicholls State secondary with 77 total tackles. He finished his outstanding college career ranked third in school history with 14 career interceptions, 321 career tackles (ninth in school history) and is the Nicholls State's all-time leading kick returner averaging 21.9 yards on 71 returns. As a senior, he returned 25 kicks for 565 yards (22.6 avg.). He had a season-high 15 tackles against Troy State and 11 tackles vs Stephen F. Austin. As a junior, Darryl led the Colonels in tackles with 99, including 74 solos while forcing a team-high four fumbles. He continued his outstanding role as a kickoff returner, finishing ninth in the conference (29th nationally) with a 23.3 yard average returning 25 kicks for 583 yards. He opened the year with 11 tackles at Livingston, including an interception, a forced fumble and a 45-yard kickoff return which earned him Southland Conference Defensive Player of the Week. Despite a hamstring injury suffered early in his sophomore season, Darryl finished with 66 tackles (third highest on team) and four interceptions. Three of those four interceptions came in one game against Central Florida. In his first season, Darryl was named second-team all-America selection by the Associated Press and the Southland Conference's Freshman of the Year. He led the conference with eight interceptions (fourth in the nation), including pickoffs in his first three career games. - Was named to the CFL all-star team in 1994 and 1995.

NFL ACQUISITION: Signed as a free agent by Cleveland in 1993.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on March 20, 1995.

The former CFL standout opened the season as the team's starting left tackle and assisted an offense that amassed 198 total rushing yards. Pourdanesh would start at left tackle until injuries along the offensive line forced him to move to right tackle beginning in Week 9 vs the Bears. In that game he made the transition nicely and helped the Redskins ground game gain 203 yards. Shar continued to play right tackle until more injuries forced another offensive shuffle and he was moved back to his original position of left tackle. Shar Pourdanesh will likely be a major factor in Washington's offense for some time to come. "Shar's more confident, and he's more experienced," Coach Norv Turner said. "He's proven he can play left tackle, and he could move over and play right tackle. He did it a year ago when Ed Simmons was hurt. When you have everyone healthy, it gives you some real flexibility."

PRO CAREER: 1996: Shar provided the Redskins depth and versatility at the tackle position, playing all 16 games with eight starts, including three at left tackle and five at right tackle. 1995: Shar earned a repeat spot on the CFL all-star team as a member of the Baltimore Stallions. 1994: Shar was named CFL Lineman of the Year in 1994. We look forward to having him healthy for 16 games.” In all, Cory played 263 of 999 total offensive plays (26%) last season.

PRO CAREER: 1996: It was a frustrating season for Cory, as injuries sidelined him for most of his second NFL season. He started the first five games of the season, playing on 100% of the snaps, until he injured his knee in Week 5 against the New York Jets. Cory worked himself back into playing shape, appearing for three plays against the Colts in Week 8. Two days after the Colts game, Cory was returning from a fishing trip on his day off and suffered season-ending injuries in a serious automobile accident. Cory suffered a bruised kidney, a fractured vertebra and a badly sprained left shoulder, after his vehicle turned over as he attempted to avoid colliding with another car that had crossed into his path. 1995: Cory’s rookie season got off to a slow start when he suffered a broken ankle in a scrimmage against the Steelers his first week of training camp. Despite not playing a single down in the NFL, Cory made his first NFL start against Seattle in Week 11 and played the entire game.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Cory was regarded as the premier center in college football, earning first-team all-America honors from the Associated Press, American Football Coaches Association, UPI and the Walter Camp Foundation as a senior. A consensus all-American, he was honored by the Big 10 with a first-team selection to their all-conference squad. In his first season as a full-time starter, Cory was in the starting lineup for every game earning all-Big 10 Conference honorable mention. Cory opened his freshman year as a backup at center after moving to the offensive line from defensive tackle. teacher in Chicago who would bring her students to the Badger games. Cory would escort the young visitors around the Wisconsin locker room after the game. 1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 1,059 out of 1,059 (100%) defensive plays and 260 out of 431 (60%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Stanley Richard's success on the field in 1997 can be attributed to one major factor: comfort. Stanley was finally able to be comfortable in the system and with his safety partner, and that allowed him to simply play football. Stanley found an authentic five-pointed tin sheriff's star in an Austin store. On the field, he began "laying down the law" in the Longhorns' secondary and a nickname was born. Having Jesse Campbell entrenched alongside him for 16 games provided Stanley with a consistency that was not there in years past. "These past two years, I played with four or five different safeties," he explains.

"I never knew where the other guys would be. I had young guys coming in and I was trying to help coach them." Campbell's steady presence has alleviated those problems for Stanley and now he says, "I know my help is going to be there. I can concentrate on just doing what I normally do—going to the football." Stanley got to the ball, and more specifically, the ballcarrier, a whole lot in 1997. He led the team with a whopping 181 tackles, which was a career high for him. He finished tied for the team lead with four interceptions and was third with 12 passes defensed. Stanley's top tackle performance came against the Eagles in Week 5, when he racked up an astounding 21 tackles. He followed that up with 18 tackles against the Oilers in Week 7, and then 19 tackles Week 12 at the Giants. Not only was Stanley hitting opponents quite frequently, he was hitting them quite hard as well. Eddie George, the Oilers Pro Bowl running back said that Stanley hit him harder than anyone ever had. In all, Stanley had nine games in which he totaled double digits in tackles. Twice in 1997, Stanley accounted for two turnovers in a game. He had a fumble recovery and an interception against the Bears in Week 9 and had two interceptions at New York in Week 15. His other interception came against Jacksonville in Week 4 in one of Stanley's best all-around performances of the season. He returned that interception 23 yards to set up the Redskins go-ahead touchdown. He also had eight tackles and two hurries of Mark Brunell. Redskins coaches have nothing but compliments for Richard. Defensive Coordinator Mike Nolan said at the end of last season, "This year, he's been outstanding. He's not had a bad game." Defensive backs coach Tom Hayes explains Stanley's improvement as a player: "From our standpoint, he's improved every year he's been here. He's progressing as a professional. He's got the instincts, he studies relentlessly, and he always has. He also has great range, and he can cover one-on-one too." With stability around him in the form of veteran players and a stable system, the Sheriff is thriving, and expects to be laying down the law in the Redskins secondary for years to come. "My best football is coming. I still haven't peaked yet. I think I have six or seven more years."

PRO CAREER: 1996: Stanley set a career-high with 120 total tackles last season, including 70 solo stops. He also added three interceptions and two forced fumbles. In the season opener, he intercepted a John Elway pass and returned it 99 yards for a touchdown in the Chargers' 37-34 win at Denver. It was the longest in the NFL in 1994 and fourth longest in Chargers' history. 1993: He started all 16 games at free safety for the Chargers and recorded his first two sacks: At Seattle on October 3 and at Kansas City on December 19. He played part of the season with a fractured ring finger on his right hand. His lone interception came in the Chargers' 31-0 win over the Colts on "Monday Night Football." 1992: Stanley led all Chargers' defensive backs and was second on the team with 79 tackles. He had three interceptions, all in Chargers' wins. He had a career-high 11 tackles in the Chargers' 27-21 win at Phoenix. He was out for Weeks 14 and 15 with a hip flexor injury suffered in practice, but two weeks later he forced one fumble and recovered another in 17-0 playoff win over Kansas City on January 2. 1991: Stanley was the ninth player selected in the college draft, but was a holdout and missed the first several weeks of training camp. He returned with three weeks to go before the season opener and was in the starting lineup at free safety for the season opener. He intercepted his first pass on September 29 off Kansas City's Steve DeBerg. Stanley suffered a shoulder injury on November 17 versus New Orleans and didn't play the following week. He returned as a starter for the final three games of the season and intercepted his second pass - this one thrown by Miami's Dan Marino in San Diego's 38-30 win on December 15.

His 13 career interceptions are second in school history. He had a career-high 18 tackles in Texas' 14-13 win over Oklahoma in 1990. Stanley made nine starts as a junior and started every game as a sophomore. He also played in every game as a freshman in 1987 including five games at cornerback. Richard played in two games in 1986, but suffered a sprained ankle and received a medical redshirt for the remainder of the season. He was rated one of the top three safeties in the state of Texas as a senior at Hawkins High School, where he was also a National Honor Society student. He also excelled in track, winning the state intermediate hurdles title while finishing second in the high hurdles. He enjoys riding horses and his newest hobby is jet skiing. He is one semester shy of earning a degree in social work. His minor was in criminal justice. Single, he resides in Sterling, VA.

HEATING UP THE RED ZONE

The Redskins have been among the NFL's best teams the past two seasons in red zone touchdown percentage, with a 57.6 red zone TD percentage over that span. No NFC team has been better over the past two years and only Cincinnati (65.2) and Kansas City (59.2) have been better overall in putting the ball in the end zone once inside an opponent's 20-yard line. 1997 SEASON: Leslie's hard work each offseason of his four-year NFL career has resulted in the development of a big-play wide receiver. Despite the Redskins deep and talented corps of wide receivers, Leslie earned himself a starting role early in the 1997 season and was on his way to a career season before an injury to his wrist and elbow placed him on the injured reserve list for the final five weeks of the season. For the season, Leslie set career-highs in receiving yards (562) and touchdown receptions (5). A big-play wide receiver, he caught 29 receptions for a 19.4 per catch average. "Leslie has progressed every year he has been with us. He's obviously a playmaker," said head coach Norv Turner. "He plays a very physical style of football. He's asked to catch the ball in the middle a great deal and because of that it's been hard for him to play 16 games. But he works hard on his conditioning and to prepare himself for the season." Against the Panthers in the season opener, Leslie caught two passes for 48 yards including a fourth quarter touchdown to clinch the victory for the Redskins. The following week in Pittsburgh, he caught a season-high five passes for 87 yards. Against the Jaguars in Week 4, Leslie led the Redskins to victory with two touchdown receptions.

A home-grown product of nearby Forestville (MD) High School, Leslie wore leg braces as a child. His mother, a local track star, would race him to build up the strength in his legs.

His season-long reception of 43 yards came against the Dallas Cowboys on Monday Night Football, when he set up the Redskins first touchdown of the game. He also caught a key third down pass for 12 yards in the game's final minutes that allowed the Redskins to run out the clock for the victory. Leslie produced touchdown receptions in consecutive weeks with a 15-yard scoring grab against the Ravens in week 8 and a 39-yard TD catch in the Skins win at Chicago in week 9. Leslie's season was cut short at Dallas in week 11 when he was hit following an incompletion that caused injuries to both his elbow and wrist. He was placed on injured reserve the following week.

PRO CAREER: 1996: Leslie battled through injuries and finished the season with 23 receptions for 344 yards and three touchdowns and recorded the team's longest catch of the season with a 52-yard grab against the NY Jets in week 5. Always a threat to score, Leslie also produced on the ground, rushing six times on reverses for 96 yards (16-yard average) and two touchdowns. He missed the final three weeks of the season with an ankle injury. 1995: Working behind Henry Ellard and Michael Westbrook as the Redskins' third receiver most of the year, Leslie caught 29 passes for 486 yards and two touchdowns and added seven rushes for 63 yards and a touchdown. He had a 73-yard touchdown catch against Arizona in the season opener. It turned out to be the Redskins' longest pass completion of the year. 1994: Waived by Pittsburgh at the final roster cutdown, Leslie was signed by the Redskins and assigned to the Skins' practice squad. He was activated for the Redskins week 2 contest in New Orleans but did not play. Waived Sept. 16th, he was re-signed the next day and remained on the practice squad until week 13 at Tampa Bay. Inactive the following week at Arizona, Leslie saw reserve duty the final two games of the year.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Temple's top deep threat and receiver, Leslie led the Owls in receiving as a senior with 26 receptions for 436 yards (16.8 avg.) and four touchdowns. He completed his career with 45 catches for 629 yards (14.0 avg.) and five touchdowns. He also doubled as Temple's kick return specialist. Born in Washington, D.C., Leslie graduated from Forestville (MD) High School, where he earned all-state, all-county and all-metro honors. He was rated as the number one receiver in the nation by Parade Magazine following his senior year. He and his wife, Monica, have two children, Khalek, 6, and Chaudlier, 3, and they reside in Ashburn, VA.

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 781 out of 1,059 (74%) defensive plays and 225 out of 431 (52%) special teams plays.

1997 SEASON: Normally the best a rookie can hope for is to make enough of an impression by training camp on the coaching staff that he has an opportunity to compete for a starting position. In the case of Derek Smith, it wasn't long after draft day 1997, when the Redskins selected him in the third round, that the Redskin coaching staff realized the starting right outside linebacker position was his to lose. Derek claimed that starting position in training camp and never relinquished it in 1997, becoming the first Redskin rookie since Andre Collins in 1990 to start all 16 games. "Derek jumped out the first day here," said linebackers coach Dale Lindsey. "The first three practices he had three interceptions. He's got good instincts." In his first game, the season opener on national television at Carolina, Derek showed the pose of a veteran, recording nine tackles, including seven solo stops in the Redskins victory. The following week Derek recorded his first sack of the season in Pittsburgh and in week 3 against the Cardinals in the opening of Jack Kent Cooke Stadium. Derek figured directly in the outcome.

In that game he recorded 10 total stops, including one tackle for loss, but it was his play in overtime that helped secure the Redskins' first victory in their new stadium. In fact, it was a pair of rookies that helped the Redskins to their win against Arizona, with defensive end Kenard Lang forcing a fumble on the opening possession of overtime and Derek recovering it to set up the Redskins' winning touchdown. Derek recorded a season and career-high in tackles against the Giants in week 15 with 15 stops. For the season, he totaled 128 total tackles, including four tackles for loss. Derek also had two sacks, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and one pass defended in his rookie season.

"He's a young guy working hard to get better," said Lindsey. "All he cares about is getting better and you see that every day. He showed us he can respond to a challenge."

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Derek started every game for the Sun Devils in 1996, garnering honorable mention All-Pac 10 honors. He finished fourth on the team with 55 tackles, and had four sacks on the year. Against intra-state rival Arizona, he had nine tackles, a sack, and a forced fumble. Derek picked off a pass late in the game to preserve ASU's victory over Oregon. Derek started all 11 games for the Sun Devils after transferring from Snow College. He finished the year with 33 tackles, and one interception. He made an immediate impact, recording nine tackles in his first game against Washington. Derek earned honorable mention all-America honors, as well as all-region and first-team all-WSFL Conference, while playing inside linebacker for Snow College. Derek was nominated for the Pac 10 all-academic squad with a 3.53 GPA in finance.

1997 SEASON: When the Redskins began their list of offseason goals, upgrading their defensive line was second only to maintaining their own key free agents. Before the free agent signing period was even two weeks old, the Redskins had already accomplished both of their goals. On February 23, 1998 the Redskins added last season's best defensive tackle in the NFL, announcing the signing of Dana Stubblefield, the NFL's 1997 Defensive Player of the Year to a six-year contract. "There is no question in anyone's mind that Dana Stubblefield is one of the premier defensive linemen in this league," said general manager Charley Casserly. "Our intention this offseason was to keep our football team together by signing our own players and to improve our defense. We have been successful on both fronts." The Redskins defense improved in 1997 under the guidance of first-year defensive coordinator Mike Nolan. Built around the coverage skills of Pro Bowl cornerbacks Darrell Green and Cris Dishman, the Redskins improved to 16th overall defensively last season and third overall against the pass. But the Redskins' achilles heel defensively was run defense which ranked 28th overall in the league. "Certainly to go out and sign a player of the caliber of Dana Stubblefield only happens because of our commitment to win by John Kent Cooke," said head coach Norv Turner. "Stopping the run is our first priority on defense and Dana is going to have a significant impact on our football team." The addition of Dana and Dan "Big Daddy" Wilkinson, along with the return of Marc Bouette to the defensive line should bolster the Redskins' rushing defense significantly in 1998. But Dana is far more than just a run stopper, having finished second in the NFL with 15 sacks last season with the San Francisco 49ers. In addition, Dana recorded 65 total tackles, including 46 solo stops and started all 16 games for the 49ers to earn his first start in the Pro Bowl and his third overall honor (also in 1994 and 1995). He became the first player in NFC history to be named NFC Actively involved in Defensive Player of the Week in back-to-back weeks, earning Special Olympics. the first award against Dana pledges $200 Dallas on Nov. 2 with to Special Olympics a two sack, three for every tackle performance and recording a four tackle/sack he gets sack, five tackle performance against during the season. Philadelphia in an encore performance on Nov. 10. He also had four passes defensed against the Eagles in that game. Two weeks later against the Chargers, Dana recorded two more sacks. His performance in November earned him NFC Defensive Player of the Month honors. His season-high in tackles came against the Falcons in week 4, when he recorded eight total stops, including seven solo and added one sack and a fumble recovery. He recorded six tackles and one sack against St. Louis in week 2 and also forced and recovered a fumble against the Rams. Besides earning his third trip to the Pro Bowl in five seasons, Dana also earned NFL Defensive Player of the Year honors from the Associated Press, Football Digest, and College and Pro Football Weekly. He also received the NFL Defensive Most Valuable Player from Pro Football Weekly, and the George Halas Award from the NEA. In addition, Dana also earned first-team all-NFL honors from AP, Sports Illustrated, Pro Football Weekly, College & Pro Football Weekly, The Sporting News, Football News, Football Digest, and USA Today. In his five-year career, Dana has played 77 games with 76 starts and totaled 247 tackles and 39.5 sacks. He has also started 10 playoff games, including the 49ers victory over the San Diego Chargers in Super Bowl XXIX.

PRO CAREER: 1996: Dana started 15 games for the 49ers, missing only a week 13 contest against the Falcons with a sore back and ribs. He finished the season with 39 total tackles, along with one sack, one interception and three passes defended. Against the Redskins in week 12, Dana assisted on tackle to hold Terry Allen out of the end zone in the third quarter, in a game he would later leave with a rib injury that sidelined him the following week. He recorded a season-high five tackles twice, including once against the Bengals in week 7 and again in week 9 against the Saints. In week 6 at Green Bay, Dana recorded two tackles, an interception and two passes defended. He recorded a sack, four tackles and a forced fumble against the Falcons in week 4. 1995: Dana earned his second consecutive Pro Bowl honor and earned second-team all-Pro honors by the Associated Press. He started all 16 games and led 49ers lineman with 40 total stops. He also recorded 4.5 sacks, four passes defended and one interception. Three of his sacks came against the NFL's best quarterbacks that are known for their quick releases (Marino, Aikman and Favre). He recorded his first career interception against the Rams on Oct. 22, intercepting a Chris Miller pass and returning 12 yards to set up a 49ers touchdown drive. Dana set a postseason career-high with 10 total tackles, all solo, and added one sack against Green Bay in the NFC Divisional Playoffs. 1994: Dana earned his first selection to the Pro Bowl in a season that culminated with a victory over San Diego in Super Bowl XXIX. He started all 14 regular season games and finished with 39 tackles, a team-high 8.5 sacks, four passes defended and two recovered fumbles. He missed the final two weeks of the season with a strained left knee, but returned to start all three of the 49ers postseason contests. He recorded four tackles against the Cowboys in the NFC Championship game and made two solo stops and one sack against the Chargers in Super Bowl XXIX. During the regular season, Dana recorded a sack in three consecutive games against Washington (11/6), Dallas (11/13), and L.A. Rams (11/20). Recorded two sacks and added a forced fumble against Atlanta in week 7. 1993: Dana earned NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year after leading the 49ers in sacks with 10.5. Selected in the first round (26th overall) of the 1994 NFL draft from Kansas, Dana added 64 total tackles, including 55 solo stops, while playing in all 16 games with 15 starts in his rookie season. He recorded five tackles and two sacks in his NFL debut against Pittsburgh. For the season, Dana had three multi-sack games. He made five tackles and two sacks against Dallas (10/17), and had 1.5 sacks against Tampa Bay (11-14). He posted a career-high nine tackles against Atlanta and added two sacks and a forced fumble against the Falcons. He also had four tackles and two sacks against the Giants in an NFC Divisional Playoff game.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Dana earned all-America and all-Big Eight Conference honors following his senior season at Kansas, where he tied for second on the Jayhawks with 11 tackles for loss and was selected MVP of the Aloha Bowl with four sacks on BYU quarterback Tom Young. As a junior, Dana recorded a career-high 77 tackles, including 10 quarterback sacks and earned all-

Conference honors. He twice earned Big Eight Player of the Week during his career. Dana earned all-Cincinnati honors as a senior at Taylor High School in his hometown of Cleves, OH. He registered 52 solo tackles his senior year of high school despite playing in just five games and was selected to play in the Ohio North-South All-Star game. He played both fullback and defensive tackle in his three-year high school career.

Dana was selected Western Metro League Wrestler of the Year. In 1994, "Stubblefield of Dreams" was created to benefit the Santa Clara Special Olympics. Dana personally pledged $200 for every tackle and sack. He donated $10,000 after the 1995 season and $8,000 after the 1996 season to the Special Olympics. Dana and his wife, Kim, have a two-year old daughter, Kayla.

1997 SEASON: Chris earned a spot on the roster for his stellar play on special teams, but when injuries plagued the Redskins wide receiver corps, Chris stepped in and proved himself as an asset to the offense as well. "Chris is an excellent special teams player," said head coach Norv Turner. "He played extremely well for us on special teams and when asked to step in at wide receiver he proved he was ready and able with some big catches." Waived following training camp, Chris was brought back in week 4 (Sept. 22) for his cover skills on special teams. His impact on special teams was immediate, recording two solo tackles, one assisted tackle and five blocks in his first game against the Jaguars. He saw his first action on offense in week 11 against the Cowboys, when injuries forced him into emergency action. Despite the lack of practice, he caught two big third down receptions totaling 23 yards against Pro Bowl cornerback Deion Sanders that kept the Redskins first scoring drive alive. The following week against the Giants, Chris managed two convert two more third downs into first downs with two grabs for 22 total yards. In fact, of Chris' 11 receptions in 1997 eight converted third downs into first downs for the Redskins offense. For the season, he finished with 11 receptions for 93 yards. 1997 SEASON: As an undrafted rookie free agent from Missouri Southern on a NFL roster loaded with talented wide receivers, James knew he needed to make a statement in preseason to earn a spot on the team. It didn't take long for James to make that statement and he made it loud and clear. The rookie from Missouri Southern returned two kickoffs for touchdowns in the

What James did was open the preseason with a 91-yard touchdown return against Tampa Bay and followed that with an encore performance which included a 96-yard kickoff return for a touchdown against the Oilers in the Redskins second preseason game. 1997 SEASON: After 13 seasons in the NFL with three different teams, Dan Turk has had a long and enjoyable career by anyone's standards. Dan Turk signed with the Redskins on July 10, 1997 and then proceeded to negotiate the contract of his brother, Pro Bowl punter Matt Turk in the ensuing weeks.

The two became the first long snapper-punter brother combination in the NFL and it was a successful union for all parties involved. Dan handled all his duties flawlessly last season and contributed one tackle and five blocks on special teams, while brother Matt earned his second consecutive Pro Bowl as the NFC's punter. In April, Dan and his brother Matt opened their first hot dog stand, "Dog Depot", in Sterling, VA.

A two-year letterman at Drake, Dan played in the Japan Bowl. He was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin and was a three-sport star at James Madison High School in Milwaukee. All-League center in football as a senior, Dan also played defensive end. He also was all-State as a wrestler and participated in track and field in discus and shot put. line, eventually caught up with the veteran in week 14. Jeff took over at center in the middle of the 1996 season and started the final 11 games of that season. He continued his streak of consecutive starts to 24 games before a knee injury limited him to a reserve role in week 14 and sidelined him for the final two weeks of the season. Offseason surgery on the knee is expected to bring Jeff back to full strength in 1998.

“Jeff’s a smart guy, he’s a tough guy and he has a lot of experience,” said offensive line coach Russ Grimm. “He’s a blue collar guy. I trust him to make all the right calls. He’s a true professional and a leader on our line.”

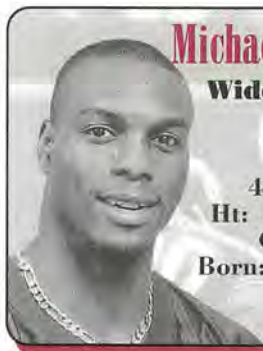

Jeff, while playing with the Dolphins, made an appearance in the comedy smash “Ace Ventura: Pet Detective” starring Jim Carey.

PRO CAREER: 1996: The Redskins signed Jeff prior to the season as a backup to the young Cory Rayment, but injuries plagued the second-year centers season and Jeff went on to play in 12 games and start 11. He was activated at the end of training camp and was on Miami's inactive list for the first three regular season games. He made his starting debut at center Monday Night against the Redskins. Played through week 8 until a sustaining ligament damage in his knee at the Jets sidelined him for the remainder of the year. 1992: Jeff started 13 games, but an assortment of knee and ankle sprains forced him to miss three games. 1991: Jeff did not sign a contract until Sept. 3 causing him to miss the season opener. He saw action as a reserve from weeks 3-6 and then started at center in each of the final 10 games. 1990: Started all 16 games, plus Jeff did duty as long snapper on field goals and extra points. 1989: Jeff became the first Miami rookie to start at center. He also served as a long snapper on punts for 10 games while the regular snapper was sidelined with a thumb injury.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Jeff was a four-year starter at center and guard for the Buckeyes. He made the switch to offense after spending a redshirt freshman year as a defensive tackle. Jeff was an AP honorable mention all-America and all-Big 10 choice as a senior. He was also named to the all-conference team as a junior at center and at guard as a sophomore. Jeff lettered in football, basketball and baseball at Newark (OH) Catholic High School. He was named Ohio Class A Lineman of the Year as a senior. His high school teams won the state title in 1982 and was runner up in 1981 and 1983. Jeff holds his degree in hotel management from Ohio State. HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in 1st round of 1995 draft (4th overall).

CONTRACT STATUS: Unsigned.

GAMES PLAYED/STARTED: 24/16 – 1995 (11/9); 1996 (13/7).

1997 PLAYING TIME: Played 659 out of 1,028 (64%) offensive plays.

1997 SEASON: Despite having his season interrupted with a knee injury, Michael caught 34 passes for 559 yards and three touchdowns in 1997. It was the third consecutive season that Michael has caught 34 passes. "Obviously Michael has displayed his talent and potential over the course of the season," said Norv Turner. "What we have to do is find a way for him to produce on a consistent basis and for him to stay healthy for an entire season."

Michael helped open Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in style in week 3 against the Cardinals, when he burned Arizona's Pro Bowl cornerback Aeneas Williams' for two touchdowns. Both touchdown receptions will forever be etched in the Redskins' history books. The first was a seven-yard grab in the first quarter to mark the first-ever touchdown at the Redskins new home. The second came in overtime, a 40-yard leaping grab in the end zone that provided the Redskins the winning score to make the inaugural game a resounding success. He started his first game of the season in the Redskins victory over the Jaguars in week 4. After starting the week 6 game against the Cowboys on Monday Night Football with two first quarter catches, Michael suffered a knee injury that would sideline him for the remainder of the game and the next three weeks. He would return in week 10 against the Lions to grab four passes for 93 yards in the career highs with nine receptions and 125 yards in week 12 against the Giants. He also provided what proved to be the winning score against the Eagles in the season finale with a seven-yard grab from Jeff Hostetler in the fourth quarter. Throughout his career Michael has drawn comparisons to Cowboys five-time Pro Bowl wide receiver Michael Irvin because of his size, speed and strength. Although the Redskins' Michael has not earned the Pro Bowl accolades of the Cowboys' Michael, he is ahead of Irvin in most statistical

One of the added amenities in Michael's house is a full size movie theatre. He is a huge movie buff who never misses a flick.

There were five runs of 30+ yards by wide receivers in the NFL last season — Michael had two of them: a 58-yarder vs. the Cardinals in week 1 and a 33-yarder to set up a touchdown in the season finale win over Carolina. He set a career high with 91 yards receiving against Denver in Week 3 on three catches, including a 45-yard grab that set up a late first half touchdown. Michael recorded his first career touchdown reception in Week 11 against the Seahawks with a five-yard scoring catch late in the game.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: Colorado's all-time leading receiver with 167 career receptions for 2,548 yards and 19 touchdowns. Michael earned first-team all-America honors from the American Football Coaches Association, Walter Camp Foundation and The Sporting News as a senior. He also was named to the first-team NCAA Consensus all-America Football Team and a first-team all-Big Eight selection after catching 36 passes for 689 yards (19.1 yards per catch) and four touchdowns. Michael's brightest day came against Michigan catching seven passes for 157 yards and a pair of touchdowns, including his leaping TD catch in the end zone for a 64-yard score with just :06 seconds left in the game in the Buffaloes 27-26 win over the Wolverines in Ann Arbor. He also had a big day against Kansas catching six passes for 117 yards. He wrapped up his college career winning the East-West Shrine game with a late touchdown catch. He finished the game with four catches for 60 yards, two touchdowns and was named the game's MVP. As a junior, Michael caught 33 passes for 490 yards and two touchdowns as Colorado switched to an option style offense. Although the Buffaloes were throwing less, Michael was still one of the Big Eight's most explosive offensive threats. He had a season-high six catches for 132 yards, including a 72-yard TD in Colorado's 31-14 win over Oklahoma. with the Cincinnati Bengals that brought Dan to Washington in exchange for the Skins 1993 first and third round draft picks. "One of our priorities this offseason was to improve our defensive line and we have accomplished that by getting Dan," said head coach Norv Turner. "He will certainly have a significant impact on our football team." After starting his first three NFL seasons at left defensive tackle, Dan moved to an unfamiliar position of right defensive end as the Bengals converted to a 3-4 defense last season. He totaled 34 total tackles and his five sacks led the Bengals defensive line for a second consecutive season. His first sack came in week 3 on a third down play in the first quarter that forced a Ravens punt. In week 5 against Jacksonville, Dan recorded two sacks on the Jaguars Mark Brunell. Against the Colts in week 10, Dan recorded a sack of Kelly Holcomb and forced two holding penalties. The Redskins used a ground attack led by Pro Bowl running back Terry Allen to end Carolina's home unbeaten mark at Ericsen Stadium, 24-10.

The Panthers entered the 1997 season with a perfect 9-0 mark at their new stadium, including a playoff win last January. But the Redskins forced four turnovers and scored 17 of their 24 points off turnovers to hand the Panthers their first defeat.

Terry Allen was the leader for the Redskins, rushing for 141 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries. It was Terry's second highest rushing total as a Redskin and fourth highest total of his career. The two touchdowns marked the 11th time he has rushed for multiple touchdowns in a game since joining the Skins in 1995 and gave him 33 touchdowns in 33 games since coming to Washington.

Defensively, Cris Dishman intercepted his first pass as a Redskin and Darryl Pounds added his fourth career theft. Newcomers Jesse Campbell and Chris Mims also contributed with a fumble recovery and sack respectively.

Six turnovers made for a long afternoon for the Redskins, as they fell 30-10 to the New York Giants in front of 77,571 fans at Giants Stadium.

The Giants jumped out to a 17-0 first quarter lead and led 20-3 at halftime. The Giants got a field goal to open the scoring following a Redskin fumble and then a botched punt set up the Giants first touchdown, as they built a 10-0 lead in the opening five minutes of the game.

Quarterback Jeff Hostetler attempted a comeback with a 41-yard third quarter touchdown pass to rookie Albert Connell, but the Redskins couldn't overcome their turnovers and the Giants clinched the NFC East title.

The victory gave the Redskins an 8-7-1 mark on the season and temporarily provided life to their playoff hopes, but a Detroit victory later in the day officially ended the Redskins' season.

On a day in which veteran cornerback Darrell Green was honored in a pre-game ceremony for setting the Redskin record for most games played, which now stands under Green's name at 218, the 15-year veteran fittingly intercepted his only pass of the season and returned it 83-yards for a touchdown in the first quarter.

point underdogs in the rematch at Texas Stadium but came up with a 24-17 win. It was the biggest upset win in the NFL since 1980.

Linebacker Ken Harvey earned his second straight starting assignment in the Pro Bowl, while kick/punt returner Brian Mitchell was honored with his first selection to the Pro Bowl. Mitchell led the NFC in kickoff returns with a 25.6-yard average and was second in the NFL in punt returns with a 12.6 avg.

Redskins owner Jack Kent Cooke, Maryland Gov. Parris N. Glendening and Prince George's County Executive Wayne Curry signed a contract paving the way for the immediate start of construction for the new home of the Redskins in Prince George's County.

Terry Allen rushed past John Riggins' single-season rushing record gaining 1,353 yards. Allen also led the NFL in touchdowns with 21TDs.

The Redskins sent their largest amount of representatives to the Pro Bowls since the 1991 season, when running back Terry Allen, quarterback Gus Frerotte, cornerback Darrell Green, linebacker Ken Harvey and punter Matt Turk made the trip to Hawaii.

The Redskins played their final home game at Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium against the Dallas Cowboys. With Redskin greats from the past on hand, the Skins defeated the Cowboys 37-10. The Redskins finished 173-102-3 at RFK, including 11-1 in the playoffs.

Jack Kent Cooke, only the second owner in Redskins history, dies of congestive heart failure at the age of 84. At his memorial service, John Kent Cooke, Sr. announces the new stadium will be called Jack Kent Cooke Stadium.

The Redskins christen Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in style with a 19-13 overtime win over the Arizona Cardinals. In overtime, rookie Kenard Lang forces a fumble and that is recovered by rookie linebacker Derrick Smith at the Cardinals 35-yard line. Two plays later Gus Frerotte throws a 40-yard scoring strike to a leaping Michael Westbrook in the end zone.

Cornerback Darrell Green plays in his 217th career game as a Redskin breaking Monte Coleman's team record for games played.

Darrell Green earns his seventh Pro Bowl selection in his 15th season. He is also joined by fellow cornerback Cris Dishman, while linebacker Ken Harvey is selected for the fourth straight year and punter Matt Turk makes his second straight appearances. 1991 season, when running back Terry Allen, quarterback Gus Frerotte, cornerback Darrell Green, linebacker Ken Harvey and punter Matt Turk made the trip to Hawaii.

FIRST DC STADIUM WIN

It didn't come easy, but on December 17, 1961, the Redskins finally got their first DC Stadium (now RFK Stadium) win in the '61 season finale against Dallas. Dickie James scored four touchdowns, a Redskin single-game record (Larry Brown tied it in 1973), to lead the Redskins to a 34-24 win. The win ended a 23-game winless streak for the Redskins dating back to the 1960 season.

CRADLE OF COACHES

Nine members of the 1972 NFL champion Washington Redskins have held the title of NFL head coach, including George Allen. On Allen's coaching staff were former NFL head coaches: Charlie Waller (San Diego, 1969-70) and Charley Winner (St. Louis, 1966-70), while three other assistants later became NFL head coaches: Mary Levy (Kansas City, 1978-82, Buffalo 1986-97), Ted Marchibroda (Baltimore, 1975-79, Indianapolis, 1992-95, Baltimore 1996-present) and Mike McCormack (Philadelphia, 1973-75, Baltimore, 1980-81). Allen also had three players who would later become head coaches: Richie Petitbon (Washington, 1993), Jack Pardee (Chicago, 1975-77, Washington, 1978-80, Houston, 1990-94) and Sam Wyche (Cincinnati, 1981-91, Tampa Bay 1992-95).
