DANIEL M. SNYDER
REDSKINS OWNER

Since assuming ownership of the Washington Redskins in 1999, Daniel M. Snyder has instilled a renewed sense of urgency and purpose to the storied franchise.

In his first year with the team, he helped guide the team to its first NFC Eastern Conference Championship since 1991 and Sport magazine named him the 1999 NFL "Owner of the Year."

Snyder, with Coach Norv Turner and Director of Player Personnel Vinny Cerrato, had an active offseason. The defensive coaching staff was re-shaped with the additions of Ray Rhodes, Foge Fazio, Ron Meeks and Mike Trgovac. Veteran free agents including Mark Carrier, Tyronne Drakeford, Deion Sanders, and Bruce Smith were brought in to shore up the defense. Offensively, Adrian Murrell and Jeff George were added to provide extra punch to an offense which last year ranked second in the NFL. To maintain stability, the trio successfully re-signed key veterans Marco Coleman and Darrell Green.

In the 2000 NFL draft, Snyder and Cerrato orchestrated a trade that resulted in Washington having both the second and third picks. With those choices, they selected Penn State linebacker extraordinaire LaVar Arrington and Alabama's star offensive tackle, Chris Samuels.

"During the 1999 season we continuously evaluated our strengths and weaknesses and planned to enhance the former while eliminating the latter," Snyder said. "We think we made the moves required for a potential championship."

Off the field, Snyder and his business team took further steps to enhance Redskins' relationship with their fans.

Training camp was moved to Redskins Park at Ashburn, VA, allowing fans to follow preparations for the season and interact with players in ways never before possible. Millions of dollars of enhancements continued at FedExField, including installation of escalators to the upper levels, construction of a wind screen around the upper perimeter of the stadium, installation of new general admission seating, and construction of the Owner's Club luxury suite area.

Outside of the Redskins, Snyder continued his involvement with numerous business ventures. Snyder Communications, Inc., the marketing company he founded more than a dozen years ago, was sold to Havas - a French company - in the largest transaction ever in the marketing/advertising industry. Snyder continues as the largest individual shareholder of Havas.

Snyder is chairman of the board of Ventiv Health, Inc., and maintains significant and active roles with numerous other companies.

This year, Snyder also founded the Washington Redskins Leadership Council, an innovative charitable partnership between the team and prominent Washington-area business leaders. The Council will use the significant presence and leverage of the Redskins organization to fund and further community projects.

For example, in June the Leadership Council launched "Redskins Rookies Read," a youth summer reading program at libraries throughout Redskins territory. The team's newly drafted players worked individually and as a group to spur summer reading projects with posters, bookmarks and personal appearances. The Council also kicked off the "Redskins All Stars" community improvement projects, in which the Redskins organization and players support activities ranging from playing field improvements to park cleanups.

"The Redskins belong to the community," Snyder said, "and we've embraced that responsibility wholeheartedly with these programs. Over coming seasons the team will be more and more involved with projects that help spread a positive influence to fans everywhere."

Involvement in the community has always been a priority for Snyder. He is on the board of directors of Children's Hospital National Medical Center, where his endowment allowed construction of a new wing. Likewise, his contributions to the Washington, DC-based Center for Missing and Exploited Children enabled construction of the Snyder Family Communications Center at the national headquarters. Snyder is also an active member of the Washington Board of Trade.

Michele Snyder

In the early days of Daniel M. Snyder's business career, at Snyder Communications in Bethesda, Maryland, three individuals were among his closest advisors and supporters. Throughout his business career, and extending into his ownership of the Washington Redskins, they remain key advisors.

Long time business partner Fred Drasner and family members Michele Snyder and Gerry Snyder are the key individuals Daniel Snyder turns to before launching a business initiative or making a critical business decision. They are partners, advisors, and confidants, each performing a distinctive role.

Drasner was the first in the business world to recognize the potential of Daniel Snyder when he arranged the initial financing of Snyder Communications. The two have since engaged in several other joint business ventures.

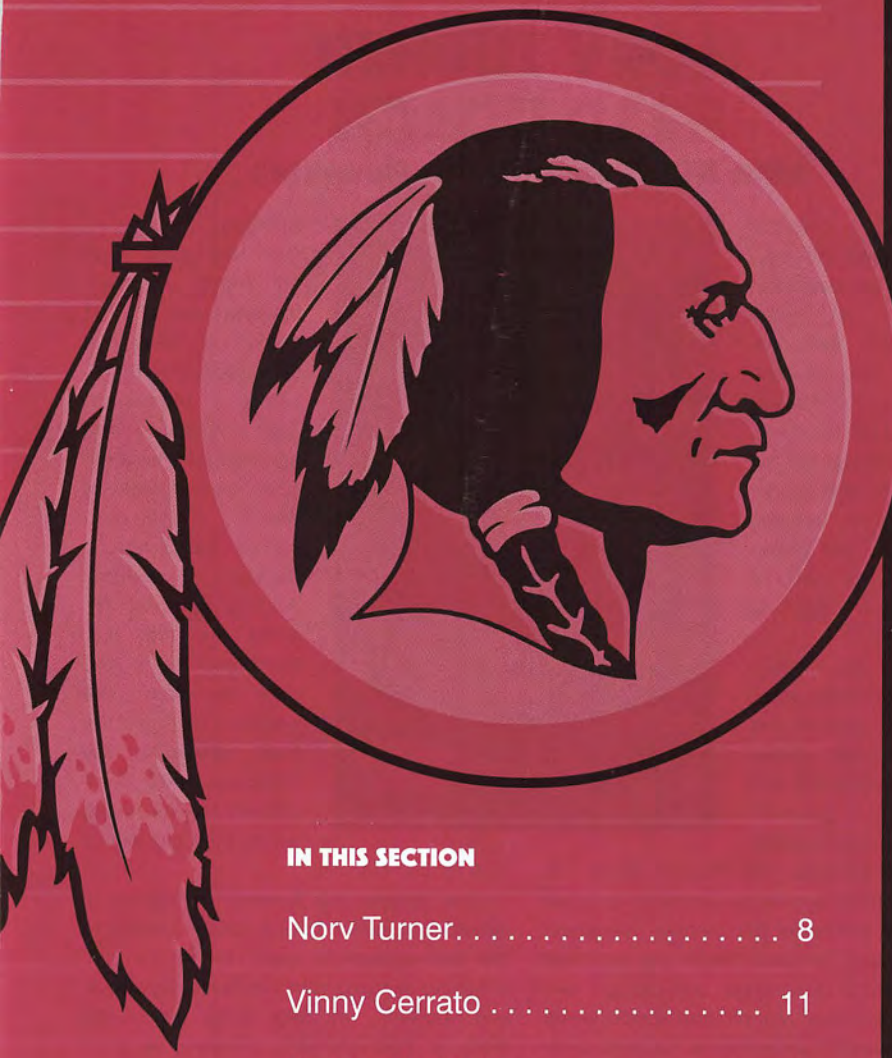

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Drasner is a self-made man with tremendous drive and ambition. In the latter two qualities, as well as in his business vision, he has found a great affinity with the Redskins owner. Drasner also directs several businesses including Applied Graphics Technologies, Applied Printing Technologies, U.S. News & World Report, the New York Daily News, and Fast Company magazine, with combined revenues of over $1.3 billion.

Daniel Snyder's sister Michele, a founder of Snyder Communications, shares his ambitious spirit. Her creativity, operational skills, and business instincts have played an instrumental role in the success of Team Snyder over the past 15 years.

A calm and steadying influence has been the contribution of Gerry Snyder, father of the Redskins' owner. In fact, from his father Daniel Snyder has inherited his love of the Redskins. The elder Snyder has been one of the Redskins' most avid fans for over three decades. He frequently attended games at RFK and took Daniel to his first Redskin game in 1971.

A long-time journalist and author with many books to his credit, Gerry Snyder was Editor-in-Chief of Snyder Communications during the early years of Daniel Snyder's phenomenal business career.

NORV TURNER
HEAD COACH

16th NFL Season / 6th Redskins

Norv Turner enters his seventh season in charge of the Washington Redskins. His 43 victories rank fourth in the 68-year history of the franchise. In 1999, Turner led the team to a 10-6 regular season mark, bringing the NFC East crown back to the nation's capital for the first time since 1991.

Turner has reason to be optimistic about the 2000 season. His 1999 offense ranked second in the NFL and returns all 11 starters - a group that includes three Pro Bowlers (RB Stephen Davis, QB Brad Johnson and G Tre Johnson) and two Pro Bowl alternates (TE Stephen Alexander and RB Larry Centers). Depth was improved in the form of quarterback Jeff George, running back Adrian Murrell, and rookie tackle Chris Samuels from Alabama - the third overall pick in the draft.

Defensively, the 1999 unit surrendered 402 yards/game in the first half of the season, but improved and allowed just 310 yards over the last eight games - well below the NFL average of 319 yards/game. Turner's first move this off-season was to bring in coaches Ray Rhodes and Foge Fazio - a pair of experienced and successful NFL teachers. Personnel was significantly upgraded this off-season in the form of eventual Hall of Famers Bruce Smith and Deion Sanders and three-time Pro Bowl safety Mark Carrier. The Redskins also used the second pick of the draft to select Penn State linebacker LaVar Arrington.

Over the past year-and-a-half, Turner's team has won 17 of 27 games - a victory total surpassed only by St. Louis, Tennessee, Jacksonville, and Minnesota. After a difficult start in 1998 in which Washington played four eventual division winners, Turner's Redskins finished the year 6-3, fourth-best in the NFL over the final nine weeks. During the 1999 off-season, the Redskins were committed to improving which they did with a 10-6 regular season.

The 48-year old Turner is a veteran of playoff competition having coached teams to the post-season for eight of his 15 NFL coaching seasons with the Rams, Cowboys, and Redskins. In 1999, Turner guided the Skins to their first NFC Division title since 1991. Washington defeated the Lions 27-13 in the Wild Card Round of the playoffs before narrowly falling to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, 14-13. In 1996 and 1997, the Skins were in the playoff hunt until the final day of the season - winning both games but being eliminated by other teams' victories.

Turner was named the Redskins' 22nd coach on February 2, 1994, inheriting a team that won just four games in 1993. The rebuilding has been difficult and significant. Only two players - cornerback Darrell Green and free agent tight end James Jenkins - remain from that original team. Despite an 18-30 mark over the first three years, progress was evident and Turner was rewarded with a contract extension through 2001. Over the past four years, Turner has notched a 33-30-1 mark that includes three winning seasons and one NFC East championship.

Turner's six years of service in charge of one team is exceeded only by Bill Cower (Steelers) and Dennis Green (Vikings) who have been with their respective club for seven years each.

SUPER (BOWLS) IN DALLAS

Rebuilding is nothing new for Turner, who was instrumental in taking the Dallas Cowboys to two consecutive Super Bowl victories. In 1990, the Cowboys ranked 28th offensively and finished the season with a 7-9 record. Dallas head coach Jimmy Johnson named Turner as offensive coordinator and the results were immediate as the Cowboy offense finished ninth in the NFL and qualified for the post-season with an 11-5 mark.

The offense continued to improve the next two years finishing fourth in the NFL in 1992 and 1993 while capturing both Super Bowl trophies.

The Cowboys' three-year mark prior to Turner's arrival was 11-37 compared to a 43-13 record during his three seasons in charge of the offense.

No one benefited more from Turner's presence in Dallas than quarterback Troy Aikman. In 42 games under Turner, Aikman completed 69% of his passes (810 of 1,228), averaged 221 yards per game, tossed 49 TDs to just 30 interceptions, and had a 91.7 QB rating. In the two years prior to Turner's arrival, Aikman had a QB rating of 62.1.

"You can talk about myself...or any number of people that have been in this (Dallas) organization," says Aikman. "Norv Turner had as much to do with our success as anybody who's ever been here."

Emmitt Smith would later write in his autobiography, "I owe my career to Norv Turner."

RAMMING INTO THE NFL

Turner broke into the NFL in 1985 as the receivers coach with John Robinson's Los Angeles Rams.

The Rams had not passed for 3,500 yards in a season since 1950. After Turner arrived as the receiving coach, the team accomplished the feat in each of his last three seasons, finishing third, fourth, and third again in 1988, '89, and '90 respectively. The year before his arrival, the Rams were 27th in the NFL in passing yards and last in the league in completions.

Under Turner, Henry Ellard and Flipper Anderson each went over 1,000 yards in 1989 and 1990. Quarterback Jim Everett enjoyed the best years of his career combining for 60 TD tosses in 1988-89.

The highlight was a NFL-record-shattering 336-yard receiving game by Willie Anderson against the New Orleans Saints in 1989 - a mark that still stands today.

The Rams advanced to the playoffs in four of Turner's six seasons while establishing the top three passing seasons in club history.

PERSONAL

Turner's personal history is an inspirational story of a driven, self-made man who beat the odds.

Norval Eugene Turner was born in LeJeune, North Carolina on May 17, 1952. He was raised in Martinez, California, one of five children in a single-parent household, nurtured by a loving and remarkably strong-willed mother caught in the vise of multiple sclerosis.

While the disease may have ravaged her physical strength, it could not defeat her emotionally or spiritually. Reluctantly relying on welfare and public housing, Vicki Turner made the decision to remain at home and care for her children.

"I am here today and we survived because my mother did an amazing job of keeping us together," says Turner. "She gave us love. She taught us right from wrong. She had a great sense of humor; always found a way to laugh about whatever was funny and try to make things as positive as she could. She taught us to treat people the way we wanted to be treated. And she never gave up."

That remarkable Turner trait was passed onto the athletic fields of Alhambra High School where Turner was a multi-sport star. The starting quarterback for the Bulldogs, one of his receivers was his younger brother, Ron, now the head coach at the University of Illinois.

Off the field, Turner was just as accomplished. The Martinez (CA) City Council was so impressed with him that they asked him to serve on the council as a student advisor.

Turner was recruited to the University of Oregon by a pair of assistant coaches named John Robinson and George Seifert.

For two years, Turner played behind Hall of Fame quarterback and current ABC Monday Night announcer Dan Fouts. "Norv enjoyed the game," said Fouts, "and he enjoyed talking about the game. 'What did you see there? What's happening?' Just being into it mentally."

After starting two years for Oregon, Turner became a graduate assistant for the Ducks in 1975.

The following year, Robinson hired Turner as an assistant at USC. Turner oversaw the receivers (1976-79), defensive backs (1980), and quarterbacks (1981-83), before he was named the Trojans offensive coordinator in 1984.

Robinson, who left USC in 1983 to become the head coach for the LA Rams, would hire Turner into the NFL just two years later.

Today, Norv and his wife, Nancy, (Robinson's secretary at USC when the two met) have three children: Scott (18) a senior quarterback at Oakton (VA) High School; Stephanie (16), and Drew (10). They reside in Oakton, VA.

VINNY CERRATO

Director of Player Personnel
11th NFL Season / 2nd Redskins

It's been a busy off-season for the Washington Redskins, which means Director of Player Personnel, Vinny Cerrato, is hard at work. In the four months since the end of the 1999 season, Cerrato has acquired soon-to-be-Hall of Famers Bruce Smith (Buffalo) and Deion Sanders (Cowboys); two-time Pro Bowl safety Mark Carrier, punter Tommy Barnhardt, fullback Adrian Murrell, and cornerback Tyronne Drakeford. He orchestrated trades with the Miami Dolphins (Matt Turk) and swapped first-round draft picks with the 49ers. Cerrato oversaw a draft in which the Redskins had the second and third pick with whom they chose Penn State standout linebacker LaVar Arrington and Alabama's outstanding tackle Chris Samuels.

Vinny Cerrato joined the Redskins on July 23, 1999 after serving in the same role for the 49ers for four seasons (1995-99). Cerrato was a member of the San Francisco front office since 1991 when he accepted a position as Director of College Scouting (1991-94). Under his direction, the 49ers drafted such players as Ted Washington, Ricky Watters, Merton Hanks, Dana Stubblefield, Elvis Grbac, Bryant Young, William Floyd, Lee Woodall, and Tyronne Drakeford - even more remarkable because the 49ers never picked in the first half of a round due to their successful seasons. In 1995 when Cerrato was promoted to the Niners Director of Player Personnel, he oversaw all college scouting and draft activities in addition to the team's scouting of NFL players and opponents. Again, Cerrato made an impact as his drafts produced such stand-outs as Terrell Owens, Greg Clark and JJ Stokes. In the free agency market, Cerrato evaluated and signed Roy Barker, Chris Doleman, Roy Brown, and Garrison Hearst.

Before breaking into the NFL, Cerrato served as the football recruiting coordinator under Lou Holtz at Notre Dame (1986-90). During that period, the Irish played in four bowl games, won the 1988 NCAA National Championship, and had 23 players drafted in Rounds 1 and 2.

Cerrato started as a graduate assistant for the Minnesota Golden Gophers (1983-84) before he was promoted to Recruiting Coordinator in 1985 - a position he served one year before moving to Notre Dame.

A 1982 graduate of Iowa State, Cerrato lettered at quarterback and wide receiver all four years, and earned one letter in track.

Born 1/4/60 in Flushing, NY, Cerrato grew up in Albert Lea, MN, where he was a star in football, track, and hockey.

BOBBY MITCHELL

Assistant General Manager
31st NFL Season / 31st Redskins

A 1983 inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Bobby joined the Redskins' personnel staff in 1969 following his retirement as a player. He was promoted to Director of Pro Scouting, then to Assistant to the President in 1978. In 1981, he was named Assistant General Manager.

Mitchell was an eighth round draft selection by the Cleveland Browns in 1958 and shared the most valuable player trophy in the 1958 College All-Star game, catching two touchdown passes against the NFL champion Detroit Lions.

He played in four Pro Bowls (one with Cleveland and three with Washington) over his 11-year playing career.

He was traded to Washington in 1962 along with Leroy Jackson for Ernie Davis (Washington's number one draft choice in 1962). As a Brown and Redskin Mitchell gained 2,735 yards rushing on 513 attempts (5.3 avg.); 521 receptions for 7,953 yards (15.3 avg.), 69 punt returns for 699 yards (10.2 avg.), 102 kickoff returns for 2,690 yards (26.4 avg.). He totalled 91 touchdowns for 546 points and 14,078 yards.

A 1958 graduate of Illinois, he is a member of the University's Presidents Council and is on the Board of Directors of the University of Illinois Foundation. He received the University of Illinois Foundation National Network Outstanding Leadership Award and is a member of the Advisory Board of the University Library.

Mitchell is Chairman of the Metropolitan Washington, DC Area Leadership Council and is a Board Member of the American Lung Association of DC. He has also worked with the White House Task Force on Drugs and has served on the Howard University Cancer Research Advisory Committee, the Washington Board of Trade and the Friendship House.

Mitchell sits on the NFL Alumni Executive Committee and serves on the Advisory Board of the United Negro College Fund. His Bobby Mitchell Hall of Fame Golf Classic has raised more than $1.5 million.

The NFL Alumni Association honored Mitchell in 1998 presenting him with the Order of the Leather Helmet. The award is presented to individuals who have made significant contributions to the game of professional football.

Born June 6, 1935 in Hot Springs, AR, he is a 1954 Langston High School graduate.

Bobby and his wife, Gwen, who is a Washington, DC lawyer, have two children: Terri, a graduate of Illinois, and Robert C. Jr, who completed Stanford University and Georgetown Law School. The Mitchells reside in Washington, DC and Manassas, VA.

JOE MENDES

Contract Negotiator / Salary Cap
22nd NFL Season / 8th Redskins

Joe Mendes is responsible for negotiating all player contracts as well as staying abreast of and applying the NFL's complex salary cap.

The Redskins had an extremely active and productive off-season signing numerous free agents and draft choices. Mendes had the task of restructuring the contracts of certain veterans in order to create room for all these maneuvers and keep the club within the NFL's rigid cap constraints. What made this even more challenging was that Washington owned the second and third pick of the draft — no team has ever had two of the first three picks since the advent of the salary cap.

Mendes was hired by the Redskins in 1993 as the NFL's first "capologist". He is one of the very few people in the league to have extensive knowledge in both the personnel and economic aspect of a football team.

A former personnel scout, Director of College Scouting, Director of Player Operations and Vice President for Player Operations, Mendes he is in his eighth season with the Redskins. He came aboard after a short stint as a scout with San Diego after spending the previous 12 seasons (1981-92) with the New England Patriots, the last two as Vice President for Player Operations. Mendes joined the NFL in 1978 as a college scout with the Los Angeles Rams under the late, and then-general manager, Dick Steinberg. He then followed Steinberg to New Orleans as a scout in 1980 before again moving with Steinberg to the Patriots.

A native of the picturesque Northern California community of Ferndale (a popular location spot for television and film), Mendes entered scouting in 1977 when he was hired by Mike Giddings for Pro Scout, Inc. A 1974 graduate of Chico State University, he spent one year as an assistant at Chico before stops at Hawaii in the World Football League and at the University of California. He and his wife, Sandy, reside in Leesburg, VA.

JJ JEFFERSON

Director of Player Programs
1st NFL Season / 1st Redskins

In March, 2000, JJ Jefferson joined the Washington Redskins as the Director of Player Programs. In this role he is involved with Redskins players in such areas as internships, financial seminars, and career development programs. He comes to Washington after serving five years as the Director of Student-Athlete Life at the University of Kansas.

Jefferson was the San Diego Chargers' first-round draft pick in 1978 as a wide receiver out of Arizona State. During his three years in San Diego, Jefferson amassed 1,001, 1,090, and 1,340 yard seasons. He was a three-time Pro Bowl selection not only for his outstanding numbers, but for his spectacular acrobatic catches. Jefferson played four seasons with Green Bay (1981-84) and concluded his career in 1985 in Cleveland.

Born February 3, 1956, in Dallas, TX, Jefferson and his wife Dee have two children: Tiffany and John Jr.

RUBIN CARTER

Defensive Line
5th NFL Season / 2nd Redskins

Coaching: Rubin Carter begins his second season with the Redskins in charge of the defensive linemen. Last year, the line garnered 30 of the Redskins' 40 sacks. The unit continued to improve throughout the season, holding three of the final five opponents under 90 rushing yards including a stifling 31-yards against the Lions in Week 13.

Carter entered the coaching ranks as an assistant with the Denver Broncos in 1987. He tutored four Pro Bowl linemen: Simon Fletcher, Rulon Jones, Karl Mecklenburg, and Greg Kragen, and helped the team reach Super Bowl XXIV.

In 1989, he was named the Defensive Coordinator at Howard University where he molded Jose White into the Vikings fifth-round pick in the 1995 draft. After four seasons, Carter joined the staff at San Jose State as the defensive line coach (1994-95) before returning to the east coast to join the staff at the University of Maryland where one of his players was current Redskin DT Del Cowsette.

Playing: Carter completed an impressive 12-year NFL career with the Denver Broncos in 1986. At the time of his retirement, his 152 games at nose tackle was the most in NFL history. Carter totaled 1,036 tackles and 33 sacks while missing just two games in his first 11 seasons. He participated in Super Bowl XII and XXI.

A fifth-round draft choice by the Broncos in 1975, Carter was a star at the University of Miami where he was named the team MVP as a junior. As a senior, he was a Kodak, UPI, and AP all-American and was voted MVP of the 1975 Hula Bowl. In 1992, Carter was inducted into the University of Miami Sports Hall of Fame.

A native of Ft. Lauderdale, Carter attended Stranahan High and in 1981 he was inducted into the city's hall of fame.

Personal: Born 12/12/52, Carter and his wife, Karen, have one daughter, Diandra, and three sons: Andre (a standout football player at the University of California), Alvin, and Joshua. They reside in Laurel, MD.

FOGE FAZIO

Linebackers
13th NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: A 33-year coaching veteran, Foge Fazio joins the Redskins for his first season and will have the responsibility of teaching the linebackers. Fazio has impressive talent to work with in 100-tackle Shawn Barber, 83-tackle middle backer Derek M. Smith, and fourth-year vet Greg Jones. Fazio will be responsible for overseeing the development of LaVar Arrington, the second overall pick in this year's draft.

Fazio comes to Washington after four years as the defensive coordinator for the Vikings during which time they qualified for the playoffs each year. In '98, Fazio's defense ranked sixth in the league allowing just 296 points and shut out opponents in 29 of 73 quarters. He played a part in developing Pro Bowlers John Randle and Ed McDaniel. Fazio also has experience integrating first-year players into the starting line-up ... in '97 three rookies started: Dwayne Rudd, Tony Williams, and Stalin Colinet.

Fazio began coaching football as an assistant at Ambridge High (PA) (1961-62) and Coraopolis High (PA) (1963-65). He jumped to the college coaching ranks in 1966 with a two-year stint as offensive line coach at Boston U. In 1968 he joined Harvard' staff as d-line coach helping the Crimson Tide to a 9-0-1 mark - its only undefeated season in 77 years.

Fazio took over linebacker duties at Pitt from 1969-72 before he became defensive coordinator at Cincinnati (1973-76). In his final year, the Bearcats finished 9-2 -- their best mark in 53 years. Fazio returned to Pitt as coordinator in 1977 and his defense finished in the nation's top 10 four times in fewest points allowed. In 1982, Fazio became Pitt's head coach and guided the Panthers to two bowl games in four seasons. Fazio joined the Notre Dame staff in '86 and led the defense for two years, laying the foundation for their 1988 national championship.

Fazio entered the NFL in 1988 as the special teams and tight end coach for the Atlanta Falcons. Under his guidance, Elbert Shelley was named to the Pro Bowl four times as a special teamer and the Falcons led the conference in punt coverage.

In 1990, Fazio joined the New York Jets as the linebacker coach. In his four seasons, the Jets ranked among the top five in the NFL in run defense and scored nine defensive touchdowns (three by linebackers). After four seasons, he was named coordinator in Minnesota.

Playing: Fazio was a linebacker/center at Pitt from 1957-60 where he was teammates with Mike Ditka. In 1960, Fazio earned honorable all-American honors as center and was one of the first draft choices of the expansion Boston Patriots as a future pick in 1960.

Personal: Born 2/28/39 in Dawmont, WV, Serafino Dante Fazio and his wife Norma have one daughter Kristen Anne and one son Vince.

PAT FLAHERTY

Tight Ends
1st NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: A 20-year coaching veteran, Pat Flaherty begins his first year in the NFL in charge of the Redskins tight ends. Flaherty will oversee the continued development of Stephen Alexander, who has 66 receptions for 707 yards and seven scores in two seasons. Challenging Alexander are 10-year veteran James Jenkins and a group of energetic rookies.

Flaherty comes to DC from the University of Iowa where he was in charge of special teams and tight ends while coordinating all recruiting activities. Prior to Iowa, Flaherty spent six seasons at Wake Forest (1993-98) coaching tight ends, the offensive line, and special teams.

His collegiate coaching career began in 1980 at his alma mater, East Stroudsburg (PA), working with the offensive line for two seasons. His success was quickly rewarded with a position on Penn State's staff in 1982. The offensive line paved the way to the Sugar Bowl where the Nittany Lions defeated Georgia for the National Championship.

In 1984, Flaherty joined the Rutgers staff working with the offensive line for eight seasons (1984-91). While at Rutgers, Flaherty coached current Redskins tight end James Jenkins.

In 1992, Flaherty coached the defensive line at East Carolina before moving to Wake Forest.

Playing: Flaherty was an all-American center at East Stroudsburg.

Personal: Flaherty was born April 27, 1956 in Hanover, PA. He and his wife Lynn, have two children: Shawn Patrick and Colleen.

RUSS GRIMM

Offensive Line
9th NFL Season / 9th Redskins

Coaching: Veteran Redskin, Russ Grimm enters his 19th year with the organization and his ninth as a member of the coaching staff. While starting his coaching career with tight ends, Grimm begins his fourth season in charge of the offensive line. In his first year tutoring the line, the Redskins yielded the sixth fewest sacks in the league (33) despite starting six different line combinations. In 1999, the line surrendered just 31 sacks, second best in the conference - despite the fact that Washington attempted 537 passes - second-most in franchise history. Running back Stephen Davis had a Pro Bowl year running behind a line that missed just four games to injury (guard Keith Sims, knee).

In 2000, Grimm is in the enviable position of returning all five starters. In addition, depth has been added in the form of nine-year veteran Jay Leeuwenburg and the third overall pick in the draft, Alabama tackle Chris Samuels.

Grimm stepped off the playing field and immediately onto the coaching staff as Joe Gibbs entrusted Grimm with the responsibility of tight ends. Under his tutelage, undrafted free agent James Jenkins developed into a versatile and durable tight end playing in 123 games.

Playing: One of the greatest guards in NFL history, Grimm was voted to four consecutive Pro Bowls (1983-86) and was a first-team selection to the 1980s all-decade team. During his 11 seasons with the Redskins (1981-91), he was the cornerstone of the offensive line known as the "Hogs" and helped make "counter-trey" and "counter-gap" household words. Grimm led the Skins to four Super Bowl appearances including three victories.

An all-American center at Pitt, Grimm was a third-round choice by the Redskins in the 1981 draft. His brother, Don, was a starting linebacker on Notre Dame's 1988 national championship team.

Personal: Born May 2, 1959 in Scottsdale, PA, Grimm was inducted into the Western Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame. He and his wife Karen have four children: Chad, Cody, and fraternal twins Devin and Dylan. They reside in Herndon, VA.

LeCHARLS McDANIEL

Special Teams
7th NFL Season / 4th Redskins

Coaching: LeCharls McDaniel heads into his third season in charge of the Redskins special teams. In 1999, Washington tied for third in the league with an 83.3% success rate on field goals and was fifth overall with a 42.7 punt average. The Skins were one of three teams with two punt returns for scores, and finished second in the NFL with 1,772 kickoff return yards.

In 2000, McDaniel will have the challenge of developing an equally successful unit with different players. Trades and free agency require the Skins to employ a new punter, kick returner, and punt returner.

McDaniel opened his coaching career in 1984 at California's Hartnell College as a secondary coach for five seasons. He became an assistant special teams coach for three seasons with the San Diego Chargers (1989-91). In 1992, McDaniel joined his alma mater as the special teams/secondary coach at Cal-Poly-SLO and the following year returned to the NFL as the Arizona Cardinals' wide receiver coach. The following year, McDaniel returned to the college ranks as special teams coach for San Diego State in 1994-95. In 1996, McDaniel joined the Philadelphia Eagles as a pro scout, but assumed on-field responsibilities the following year with Washington.

Playing: A star defensive back, McDaniel attended Cal-Poly-San Louis Obispo where he led the school to the NCAA Division II Championship in 1980. He was signed by Washington as a free agent and spent four years in the NFL with the Redskins (1981-82) and Giants (1983-84). He was a member of Washington's Super Bowl XVII championship team.

Personal: Born 10/15/58 in Ft. Bragg, NC, McDaniel attended school in California at Seaside High. He and his wife Sheryl have two children, Michael and Michelle, and reside in Sterling, VA.

RON MEEKS

Defensive Backs
4th NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: Ron Meeks enters his first season as the Redskins Defensive Backs coach after three successful years in the same role with the Atlanta Falcons. In 1999, Meeks' Falcons were one of three NFC teams that limited opponents to fewer than 200 yards passing per game. In 1998, he helped guide Atlanta to Super Bowl XXXIII as two members of his secondary were named to the Pro Bowl (Ray Buchanan and Eugene Robinson). Furthermore, the secondary helped the defense finish fourth in the NFL in fewest points allowed and three of Meeks' four starters scored a touchdown.

In Washington, Meeks will be responsible of molding veterans Darrell Green, Deion Sanders, and Mark Carrier along with younger stars such as Champ Bailey, Sam Shade, Matt Stevens, Tim Denton and this year's third-round selection CB Lloyd Harrison and fifth-round choice S Quincy Sanders.

Meeks entered the coaching profession in 1984 with his alma mater, Arkansas State. Two years later, he joined the Miami Hurricanes (1986-87) before working on the staffs at New Mexico State (1988) and Fresno State (1989-90).

He entered the NFL in 1991 as a defensive assistant for the Cowboys. The Dallas offensive coordinator at the time was Norv Turner. The following season he joined the Bengals (1992-96) and in 1996 Cincinnati led the league with 34 interceptions. Under his tutelage, Ashley Ambrose was named AFC Defensive Back of the Year. In 1997, Meeks started with the Falcons.

Playing: After concluding his playing days at Arkansas State, Meeks played professionally in the CFL making stops at Hamilton (1977-79), Ottawa (1979), and Toronto (1980-81).

Personal: Meeks was born August 27, 1954 in Jacksonville, FL and attended Robert E. Lee High.

RICH OLSON

Quarterbacks
6th NFL Season / 2nd Redskins

Coaching: Rich Olson returns for his second season as Washington's QB Coach, following a year in which Redskins quarterbacks had their most successful season in nearly two decades. Brad Johnson was voted to the Pro Bowl by completing a team-record 316 passes for 4,005 yards - just 104 shy of the club record set in 1986. Johnson's 471 yards in Week 15 broke a club mark that stood for 51 years and was the highest in the NFL in 1999. Johnson returns in 2000 along with free agent acquisition Jeff George (Vikings).

Olson came to the Redskins following four seasons in Seattle (1995-98) where he also tutored the quarterbacks.

Before he joined the Seahawks, Olson served 19 seasons in the collegiate ranks. He started as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Washington State (1970), and then took a position as a high school coach. In 1976 he was a part-time assistant at Fresno State and then became a part-time offensive line coach at USC in 1977 where he worked with Norv Turner on John Robinson's staff. The following season, Olson accepted a position at SMU in charge of the offensive line and running backs (1978-80). From 1981-83, Olson coached the defensive backs at Arkansas. In 1984, Olson moved to Fresno State as the offensive coordinator - a position he held for eight seasons. In 1992, Olson moved across the country to coach the QBs and WRs at the University of Miami. The following year he was named the Hurricanes' offensive coordinator (1993-94).

Playing: Olson lettered two seasons at Washington State as both quarterback and free safety.

Personal: Born July 7, 1948, in Los Angeles, Olson attended California's Montebello High. He and his wife, Cindy, have one daughter, Kasey.

RAY RHODES

Defensive Coordinator
20th NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: When Ray Rhodes accepted the post of Defensive Coordinator, he brought with him 19 years of NFL coaching experience and five Super Bowl rings. He has missed the playoffs just six times. Rhodes' responsibility in Washington is to improve a defense which ranked 26th against the pass and 27th against the run last year. To help him with that task, the Redskins have added free agents Deion Sanders, Bruce Smith, and Mark Carrier along with the second-overall selection in the draft, LaVar Arrington.

As head coach for the Green Bay Packers in 1999, Rhodes led the Pack to an 8-8 mark and missed the playoffs due to the tiebreakers. His four years in charge of the Philadelphia Eagles produced a 30-36-1 mark and he is the only head coach in the Eagles 67 year history to qualify for the playoffs in each of his first two seasons. Rhodes was named NFL Coach of the Year in 1995 when his Eagles finished 10-6 and rolled up 58 points in a Wild Card win over Detroit.

Prior to his head job with Philadelphia, Rhodes was the defensive coordinator in San Francisco (1994), during which time the 49ers won the Super Bowl. Rhodes first experience as a defensive coordinator came with the Green Bay Packers (1992-93). In '93, the Pack defense ranked second in the NFL and sent two defenders to the Pro Bowl for the first time in 15 years.

Rhodes broke into coaching in 1981 as an assistant secondary coach for Bill Walsh's 49ers immediately upon his retirement as a player. In 1982, Rhodes was promoted to defensive backs coach and served in that role for the next 10 seasons (1982-91).

Playing: Rhodes was a running back at TCU (1969-70) before transferring to Tulsa (1972-73) where he was converted to a wide receiver and defensive back. The NY Giants drafted him in the 10th round. As a receiver for the Giants, Rhodes led all NFC receivers with a 20.7 yards-per-catch average in 1975. In 1977, Rhodes won the starting cornerback job. In 1980, he was traded to the 49ers in a two-for-two swap that included current Tampa Bay head coach, Tony Dungy. Rhodes completed his seven-year career with 51 catches for 980 yards and seven scores and eight interceptions.

Personal: Born October 20, 1950 in Mexia, TX, Rhodes and his wife, Carmen, have four daughters: Detra, Candra, Tynesha, and Raven.

TERRY ROBISKIE

Passing Game Coordinator
19th NFL Season / 7th Redskins

Coaching: Terry Robiskie is entering his 19th season in the NFL and his seventh with the Washington Redskins. In 1999, the Redskins ranked sixth in the NFL with 3,926 yards through the air. Under his offense, first-year Redskin Brad Johnson established a club record with 316 attempts and was named to his first Pro Bowl. Wide receiver Michael Westbrook had the finest year of his five-year career with 1,191 yards and Albert Connell developed into a 1,000 receiver nearly matching Westbook's numbers.

Robiskie entered the coaching profession with the Oakland Raiders in 1982 as the running backs coach where he coached Marcus Allen to two Pro Bowls and 1,000-yard seasons. In 1985 Robiskie took over special teams duties, and in 1988 he tutored the Raiders tight ends. In 1989, Robiskie was named the Raiders Offensive Coordinator. His 12 years with the Raiders included seven playoff stints, four division titles, and a victory over the Redskins in Super Bowl XVIII.

Playing: An eighth-round selection by the Oakland Raiders in the draft, Robiskie was a runningback who played three seasons with the Raiders and two years with the Miami Dolphins.

Personal: Born November 12, 1954, in New Orleans, Robiskie and his wife Cynthia have three sons: Brian, Andrew, and Kyle. They live in Fairfax, VA.

MIKE TRGOVAC

Defensive Line
7th NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: Mike Trgovac (pronounced: TER guh vack) joined the Washington Redskins staff on January 28 in charge of the defensive line. It is the third club with which he has worked for Skins defensive coordinator Ray Rhodes, having teamed with Rhodes at Green Bay and Philadelphia.

A highlight of Trgovac's 16-year coaching career came in 1998 when his Eagles line finished third in the NFL in sack percentage and first overall against the pass. His 1995 line totaled an NFL-best 42.5 sacks and sent William Fuller to the Pro Bowl and awarded all-rookie honors to Hollis Thomas and Brandon Whiting.

Before joining the Eagles, Trgovac spent 11 years coaching collegiate defensive lines. He started in 1984 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Michigan. After two years in Ann Arbor, Trgovac made stops at Ball State (1986-88), Navy (1989), Colorado State (1990-91), and Notre Dame (1994), where he served as assistant head coach to Lou Holtz his final two years. Two of his Fighting Irish players graduated to become impact players in the NFL: Bryant Young (49ers), Junior Bryant (49ers) and Jim Flanigan (Bears).

Playing: As a player under Bo Schembechler (1977-80), Trgovac started three years at middle guard and was a second-team all-American as a senior. He twice earned all-Big Ten honors and enjoyed three trips to the Rose Bowl. An all-state football player at Fitch High in Austintown, OH, Trgovac was named the Defensive Lineman of the Year in 1976 and won the state heavyweight championship in wrestling.

Personal: Born February 27, 1959 in Youngstown, OH, Trgovac and his wife Angela have two children: daughter Jordan and son Michael.

KIRBY WILSON

Running Backs
4th NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: After serving as the New England Patriots' running back coach for the past three seasons (1997-99), Kirby Wilson joins the Washington Redskins staff in a similar role. The Pats had 1,000-yard rushers in each of Wilson's first two years on the staff. In 1997, Curtis Martin established a career-best 4.2-yard average while gaining 1,160 yards in 13 games. The following year, rookie Robert Edward replaced Martin and gained 1,115 yards and nine TDs.

In 2000, Wilson will inherit a veteran group of backs. Stephen Davis is coming off a Pro Bowl season with a career-best 1,405 yards and 17 scores on 290 carries. Two time Pro Bowl fullback Larry Centers led all Redskins with 69 catches for 544 yards. Adrian Murrell and Skip Hicks provide competition for Davis with Mike Sellers backing up Centers.

Wilson's coaching career began in 1985 at Pasadena Community College where he served as Wide Receivers Coach. The following year, Wilson attended school to complete his bachelor's degree from Eastern Illinois before resuming his coaching career. In 1989, Wilson was hired at Los Angeles Southwest Community College in charge of running backs and wide receivers. After two seasons, he moved to Southern Illinois where he coached the linebackers in 1991. The following year he was promoted to defensive coordinator and secondary coach.

In 1993, he joined the University of Wyoming staff as the secondary coach (1993-94) before joining the Iowa State staff in 1995 as the Running Back Coach. As a member of the Cyclones staff, Wilson coached Troy Davis who led the nation in rushing both years, accumulating 2,010 yards in 1995 and 2,185 yards in 1996, thereby becoming the first player in NCAA history to rush for over 2,000 yards twice in a career.

Playing: Wilson earned all-league honors at Pasadena Community College before transferring to the University of Illinois where he stared as a wide receiver and return specialist. He was named captain as a senior in 1982 and led the Illini to a second-place finish and Liberty Bowl appearance. Wilson played pro ball for two years in the CFL with Winnipeg (1983) and Toronto (1984).

Personal: Born August 24, 1961 in Los Angeles, Wilson and his wife Danielle have three children: Kris, Michael, and Tyler.

JASON VERDUZCO

Offensive Assistant
1st NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: Jason Verduzco enters the NFL coaching ranks after spending six years in the collegiate ranks. For the last three seasons, Verduzco served as a defensive graduate assistant at his alma mater, the University of Illinois, under Coach Turner's brother, Ron. Verduzco was a member of the staff that turned an 0-11 season into an 8-4 mark with road victories over Ohio State and Michigan and a 63-21 victory over Virginia in the MicronPC.com Bowl.

Prior to joining Illinois, Verduzco was the offensive coordinator at New York's Hamilton College (1994-96).

Playing: An all-state wrestler and quarterback at Antioch High in California, Verduzco accepted a football scholarship to play at Illlinois. In four seasons as quarterback, the Illini accumulated a 30-17-1 record. He played one year in the CFL for the British Columbia Lions (1993).

Personal: Born April 3, 1970, Verduczo and his wife Laney reside in Ashburn, VA.

KIRK OLIVADOTTI

Defensive Assistant
1st NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Coaching: Kirk Olivadotti enters the NFL coaching ranks after three years in college ball. Olivadotti spent two seasons as Defensive Backs Coach at Indiana State (1998-99). Prior to that, he coached the wide receivers and tight ends at Maine Maritime (1997). He was named defensive coordinator at St. Joe's (IN) before joining the Redskins.

Playing: Olivadotti spent four years at Purdue as a wide receiver.

Personal: Born January 1, 1974, he is the son of Tom Olivadotti - current New York Giants linebacker coach who has also spent time with Cleveland, Miami, and Minnesota.

DAN RILEY

Strength Coach
19th NFL Season / 19th Redskins

Coaching: The senior member of the Washington Redskins coaching staff, Dan Riley enters his 19th season as the director of the Redskins' "Fitness Laboratory". Riley has been an integral part of nine playoff appearances, six NFC East titles, four NFC Championships, and three Super Bowl victories.

Complacency is not a word heard in the Redskins' weight room. Time after time, the Redskins conditioning and strength program has given the Redskins an extra edge. Riley's off-season and in-season strength program is unsurpassed in the NFL.

Riley came to the Redskins in 1982, after Joe Gibbs' first season. Previously he spent five years as the strength coach at Penn State (1978-82) and four years for Army at West Point (1974-77).

Riley has authored four books on weight training, was a columnist for the Washington Post on physical fitness, and currently submits a monthly column titled "Power Line" to Scholastic.

College: Riley graduated from New Hampshire's Keene State where he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education and minored in English. In 1973, he earned a master's degree in physical education from Indiana University.

Personal: Born 10/19/49, Riley is a native of Manchester, NH and attended Central High School. He and his wife, Brenda, have two sons: Marty, a software engineer working for Microsoft, and T, a switch-hitting second baseman who was drafted by Texas Rangers in the 24th round.

JASON ARAPOFF

Conditioning Director
9th NFL Season / 9th Redskins

Coaching: Jason Arapoff enters his ninth season as the Conditioning Director for the Redskins. His responsibilities include leading the team through stretching exercises prior to each practice as well as loosening the players during their daily strength programs. Arapoff also assisted in computerizing the Redskins strength and conditioning and nutritional programs. In addition to his eight full-time seasons, Arapoff spent three years as an intern for the Skins while he pursued his master's degree.

College: Arapoff was a four-year defensive back at Massachusetts' Springfield College. He earned his degree in health fitness in 1989 before acquiring his master's degree in exercise physiology from American University.

Personal: Born 7/8/65 in Weymouth, MA, Arapoff attended Marshfield High. He and his wife Jennifer have one daughter, Julia (1/9/00) and reside in Centreville, VA.

CHARLIE BROWN

AFC Pro Coordinator
1st NFL Season / 1st Redskins

Charlie Brown rejoins the Washington Redskins in 2000 for his second tour with the club. Most recently he served as Offensive Coordinator for Mississippi Valley (1999). Brown spent 1999 training camp with the Redskins as an intern, working closely with the scouting department. He also interned with the Rams during their 1999 mini camp, and with the 49ers during their 1998 training camp. Brown played wide receiver for the Redskins from 1981-1984, visiting in the Pro Bowl in 1983 and playing in two Super Bowl contests. He was a starter for four years at South Carolina State, where he recorded the best single game mark with 11 catches for 280 yards vs. Morris Brown. Brown resides in Charleston, SC with his wife Diane and their children: Charles, Marquise, Carlos, and Bianca.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Named as a first alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team in 1999.
- Team-high five catches for 86 yards and career-high two TDs vs. NYG (9/19/99).
- Caught 37 passes for 383 yards and four TDs, all career-highs, as a rookie in 1998.
- Tallied career-high seven catches at Carolina (12/13/98).
- First NFL catch was a TD vs. the Giants (9/6/98).

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Redskins in second round of 1998 (48th overall).

1999 SEASON: Alexander caught 29 passes for 324 yards (11.2 average) and three TDs, earning a spot as a first alternate on the NFC Pro Bowl. He started 15 games and put forth his finest performance in the Redskins 50-21 rout of the Giants in Week 2. He caught a season- and team-high five passes for 86 yards and two TDs, one- and 27-yard passes from Brad Johnson. The next week, he pulled in four passes for 62 yards, including a long of 21, in the Redskins 27-20 victory over the Jets. He caught one pass for five yards in Week 4 vs. Carolina and two passes for 18 yards, including a one-yard TD catch, the next week at Arizona. He caught three passes for 24 yards in Week 6 at Dallas and three passes for 23 yards in Week 9 at Philadelphia. At that point, he was en route to exceed his excellent rookie-year performance but strained a hip flexor in Week 10 vs. the Giants. He saw limited action in that game, as well as in Week 11 vs. Philadelphia. Due to the injury, he was inactive for Week 12 at the Lions, the only regular-season game he didn't start. But he bounced back, catching two passes in Week 15 and another two for 38 yards in the regular-season finale vs. the Dolphins. He started both playoff games, making one catch for 12 yards vs. Detroit and one catch for four yards at Tampa Bay.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Alexander proved to be a quality tight end as a rookie. He played in 15 games and totaled 37 catches for 383 yards (10.4 average) and four TDs. His first NFL catch was a 1-yard TD against the Giants in Week 1. In Week 3 vs. the two-time defending Super Bowl Champion Denver Broncos, he had three catches for 52 yards, including a 25-yarder that set up a Redskins TD. With Jamie Asher on injured reserve, Alexander started his first NFL game in Week 10 vs. the Eagles. He started five of the last six games and established himself as the Redskins tight end of the future. Over the final eight weeks of the season, he caught 29 passes for 297 yards (10.2 average) and three TDs, helping the Redskins to a 6-2 finish. In just his second start, he had four catches for 72 yards and a season-long catch of 33 yards vs. Arizona. In Week 14 vs. Carolina, Alexander caught a season- and career-best seven balls for 47 yards, including a 17-yard TD in which he extended his body in mid-air. It proved to be the winning score. Some of his biggest highlights appeared in Week 15 vs. the Buccaneers. He had six catches for 62 yards, all of which came in the fourth quarter and were key to the Redskins come-from-behind victory that included 13 unanswered points. In one reception, he made a one-handed catch tip-toeing along the end zone sideline with 5:56 left for the winning score.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: Alexander led Oklahoma as a senior in 1997 in receptions with 29 for 450 yards (15.5 average) and one TD. He ended his four-year Oklahoma career with a 121-yard, 7-catch performance vs. Texas Tech. His 19-yard scoring grab helped lift the Sooners to a 32-21 victory. He was named to the all-Big 12 Conference second-team. Alexander finished second on the team with 22 catches for 438 yards (19.9 average) and two TDs. As a sophomore, he earned all-Big Eight Conference first-team honors, leading all-Big Eight tight ends and the Sooners in receptions with 43 for 580 yards (13.5 average) and two TDs. Alexander caught 10 passes for 123 yards and one TD as a true freshman. He was a Blue Chip Illustrated and USA Today all-America selection at Chickasha (OK) High School, adding Super Prep National Player of the Year honors. He was an all-state and two-time all-district Defensive Player of the Year as a defensive end. As a senior, he caught 37 passes for 561 yards and nine TDs as a tight end and made 127 tackles (68 solo) and 10 sacks as a defensive end. He also lettered in basketball, averaging 17 points and 10 rebounds, and in track, winning the state high jump title (6-8) as a junior. He was also a member of the National Honor Society, graduating 16th in his class with a 3.75 grade point average. He majored in management information systems at Oklahoma. Alexander lives with his wife, Mandy, in Potomac Falls, VA. The couple "adopted" two children for the annual Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation "Christmas with the Redskins" party in 1999.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Intercepted three passes at Arizona (10/17/99), becoming the youngest player in NFL history and 15th Redskins player to perform such a feat. He returned one of those INTs 59 yards for a TD.
- NFC Defensive Player of the Week after Week 5 at Arizona last season and NFL Rookie Defensive Player of the Month for October 1999.
- Collected a season-high 10 tackles on defense vs. Miami (1/2/00).
- Named a third alternate at cornerback on the NFC Pro Bowl team last season.
- Finished second on the Redskins in INTs (five), first in passes defensed (17) and fifth in total tackles (83) as a rookie.

HOW ACQUIRED: Selected in 1st round of 1999 draft (7th overall).

1999 SEASON: As a rookie Bailey showed he has the tools to be a star cornerback for years to come in the NFL. One of the most versatile and athletic players to enter the league in 1999, he started all 16 regular-season games at cornerback, finishing second on the Redskins in INTs (five), first in passes defensed (17) and fifth in total tackles (83), including 55 solo stops. He was named a third alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team. Bailey saw consistent action on special teams, collecting 54 blocks and 14 tackles (10 solo). In the Redskins first pre-season game vs. New England, he started and intercepted an early Drew Bledsoe pass, returning it 46 yards for a TD. In the season-opener vs. Dallas, Bailey picked off a Troy Aikman pass and made seven tackles. He finished second on the team in tackles in Week 2 vs. the Giants (eight total, seven solo) and limited star receiver Keyshawn Johnson to only three catches in the Redskins 27-20 win over the Jets in Week 3. Bailey made eight tackles (six solo) in Week 4 vs. Carolina, tying Derek M. Smith for second on the team. His biggest game was in the Redskins 24-10 win over Arizona in Week 5. As the Redskins defense held the Cardinals to 274 total yards, Bailey intercepted three passes, becoming the youngest player in NFL history and 15th Redskins player to perform such a feat. He returned one of those INTs 59 yards for a second-quarter TD. He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week. The next week, Oct. 31 vs. Chicago, Bailey was third on the team with eight tackles (seven solo), had one pass defensed and one forced fumble. He tallied five blocks on punt returns. The NFL again honored Bailey, naming him Rookie Defensive Player of the Month for October. In Week 9 at Philadelphia, he made his first sack and had one pass defensed, two solo tackles, three blocks on punt returns and one tackle on kickoff coverage. He picked off his fifth pass vs. Arizona in Week 13 and collected a team-high two solo tackles on kickoff coverage. In the regular-season finale vs. Miami, he had a season-high 10 tackles (seven solo), two passes defensed and two blocks on punt returns. He started both playoff games and made a total of six tackles.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: Bailey was regarded as one of the greatest multiple threats (offense, defense, special teams) in his three seasons at Georgia. The following numbers from his 1998 junior year tell the story: 52 tackles (four for-loss), three INTs, seven passes defensed, 47 catches for 744 yards (15.8 avg.) and five TDs, 84 yards rushing on 16 carries, 12 kickoff returns for 261 yards and four punt returns for 49 yards. Bailey averaged 103.5 all-purpose yards per game and logged 957 plays (547 on defense, 301 on offense, 109 on special teams). Against Virginia in the Peach Bowl, he caught three passes for 73 yards, including a 14-yard TD, rushed three times for nine yards, returned five kickoffs for 104 yards, returned a punt 12 yards and made two tackles and one pass defensed at cornerback. He was a unanimous all-American and all-SEC first-team selection and claimed the Bronko Nagurski Award as America's top defensive player. In his college career, he played in 33 games with 24 starts, posting 147 total tackles, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble, eight INTs and 27 passes defensed. He was an all-SEC first-team selection as a sophomore, starting every game at left cornerback and one game at wide receiver. Bailey set a school indoor long jump record in 1998 of 25-10 3/4 to finish third at the SEC Indoor Track and Field Championships. Bailey attended Charlton County High School in Folkston, GA. He was a Class A all-state selection. He earned all-USA Today honorable mention honors and was a second-team all-South selection. He was voted MVP in each of his final three seasons. He rushed for 1,858 yards and 28 TDs, threw for 277 yards, averaged 33.3 yards on punts and made 37 tackles and two INTs as a senior. He rushed for 3,573 yards with 58 TDs, threw for 1,211 yards with 10 scores and gained 5,855 total yards with 394 points in his high school career. He also made 80 tackles, eight INTs and four fumble recoveries. He was an all-state honorable mention selection in basketball and was the state high jump champion his junior year. Last season, he participated in the Redskins Season Kickoff Cruise to support the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation and "adopted" a child at the foundation's "Christmas with the Redskins" party. He lives in Sterling, VA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Finished second on team in 1999 in total tackles (148) and solo stops (100); first in assisted tackles (47); tied for most forced fumbles (three).
- Returned an int 70 yards for a TD vs. the Giants (9/19/99), the ninth-longest INT return for a TD in Redskins history.
- Career-high 17 tackles vs. Buffalo (11/7/99).
- Forced a critical fumble with less than two minutes left in regulation that stopped a potential, game-winning drive by San Francisco (12/26/99).
- 34 tackles, three passes defensed, one int. and one forced fumble as a rookie.
- Led Redskins in 1998 with 15 special teams tackles.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Redskins in the fourth round of 1998 (113th overall).

1999 SEASON: Barber started all 16 regular-season games, finishing second on the team in total tackles (148) and solo tackles (100) and first in assisted stops (47). He also posted a sack, two INTs, three forced fumbles, five passes defensed and six QB pressures. With three forced fumbles, he tied for first on the team with Marco Coleman and Darryl Pounds. On special teams he tallied eight tackles. In Week 1 vs. Dallas he led the team with Derek M. Smith for total tackles (nine). The next week vs. the Giants, Barber had an impressive all-around performance. He returned an INT 70 yards to give the Redskins a 27-7 second quarter lead. It was the ninth-longest INT return for a TD in franchise history. He tallied eight tackles (six solo) in Week 3 at the Jets, a team-high 15 tackles (10 solo) in Week 5 at Arizona, nine tackles (six solo) in Week 6 at Dallas and 10 tackles (eight solo) in Week 7 vs. Chicago, tying Sam Shade for the team-high. The next week vs. Buffalo, he posted a career-high 17 tackles (10 solo), second on the team to Smith's 18. He had 10 tackles (six solo) in Week 11 vs. the Eagles, nine tackles and an INT (five solo) in Week 14 at Indianapolis and another 10-tackle game (six solo), plus three QB pressures, in the Redskins 26-20 win over San Francisco in Week 15. Against the 49ers, Barber made one of the most crucial defensive plays for the Redskins all year. With the score tied at 20, less than two minutes left in regulation, and the 49ers driving, Barber forced a fumble that teammate Anthony Cook recovered. The Redskins won in OT to clinch the NFC East title. Barber closed the regular-season with 14 tackles (eight solo) vs. Miami. Against Detroit in the Wild Card Playoff, he made a team-high nine tackles (six solo). He then contributed 10 tackles (seven solo) in the Divisional Playoff at Tampa Bay, helping the Redskins hold the Buccaneers to only 186 yards. His 10 tackles vs. Tampa Bay were second on the team.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Barber developed well in his rookie season, earning the starting right linebacker spot heading into 1999. He tallied 34 total tackles, three passes defensed, one QB pressure, one INT and one forced fumble. On special teams, he led the Redskins with 15 tackles. He substituted on defense and played on special teams in the season-opener vs. the Giants. Two weeks later, he made his first career start at linebacker vs. Seattle, tallying six tackles and one QB pressure. Barber began to emerge in Week 11 vs. the Cardinals. He made a key stop at the goal line, stuffing running back Larry Centers, a current Redskins player. The next week vs. the Raiders, he exploited his chance to replace the injured Ken Harvey. He had eight solo tackles and one QB pressure and forced two turnovers, one being his first career INT. It set up a Redskins TD. He continued his strong play in Week 13 vs. the Chargers, with six solo tackles, one tackle for a loss and two passes defensed. He tackled Terrell Fletcher in the open field for a seven-yard loss on the Chargers last drive, helping preserve a 24-20 win.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Barber began his college career at Richmond playing safety but moved to linebacker in his sophomore year. He had 94 tackles (56 solo), six sacks, 13 tackles for a loss, three interceptions, two blocked kicks, and a forced fumble as a senior en route to becoming the Atlantic 10 Defensive Player of the Year in 1997. In his four seasons at Richmond, he played in 44 games with 33 starts and tallied 305 tackles, 20 sacks, 30 tackles-for-loss and five ints. He earned Player of the Week honors after a game vs. The Citadel in his sophomore season when he posted 20 tackles, five tackles-for-loss, a sack, two forced fumbles and one int in a 17-13 Richmond victory. In his prep career at Hermitage High School (Hermitage, VA), the strong safety was all-district, all-region and a team captain. As a senior, he returned three ints for TDs and averaged more than 20 yards per catch as a receiver. He also earned all-district honors in basketball and lettered once in track. Barber was the Redskins nominee for NFL Man of the Year in 1999. He spearheaded the team's participation in the 1999 National Race for the Cure to support the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. He also visited the Johns Hopkins Children's Center in Baltimore and made several trips to the Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C. He helped build a home with Habitat for Humanity during the NFL/United Way Hometown Huddle, and he attended the Knockout Abuse event in support of domestic violence victims. He also started a football camp in Richmond, where he lives in the off-season. He lives in Ashburn, VA, during the season.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on Feb. 13, 1998.

1999 SEASON: Brown played in Week 1, but didn't see consistent action until Week 8 vs. Buffalo. He played in every game in Weeks 8-16. He had his best game in the Redskins 21-10 victory over the Dolphins in the regular-season finale, posting one solo tackle, one tackle-for-loss and a fumble recovery. Overall, Brown played in 10 games, collecting six tackles (three assists, two solo, one tackle-for-loss).

PRO CAREER: 1998: Brown saw his first NFL action in Week 2 vs. SF but was inactive for most of the first half of the season. His first NFL start came in Week 8 vs. NYG due to injuries to Stubblefield and Boutte -- he made two tackles. The next week vs. Ariz, he had five tackles (four solo). His top game came vs. Phil in Week 10 (eight tackles, six solos, two pressures). He had three tackles and one pressure the next week vs. Ariz, but left the game early with a knee injury. He returned to the lineup the next week and started four of the last five games while splitting time with Boutte. Brown collected a career-high 29 tackles (17 solo). 1997: Brown spent the season on Buffalo's practice squad after signing with the team as a rookie free agent.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Brown was the 1996 CFA's Defensive Player of the Year and was a first-round draft choice of the Calgary Stampeders in the 1997 CFL draft. He was named to the 1996 NAIA all-American team after 55 tackles and 8.5 sacks. He earned first-team all-conference honors as a junior and senior. Brown had 36 tackles and 6.0 sacks as a junior. Brown is one of the top rugby players in Canada. He lives in Sterling, VA, during the season and in British Columbia in the off-season.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Chicago in first round of 1990 (sixth overall).
HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on February 17, 2000.

1999 SEASON: In his third year as the Lions starting free safety, Carrier made 108 tackles, third on the team, and was named a Pro Bowl alternate. His tackle total marked the fifth time he had more than 100. He received the Lions Joe Schmidt Leadership Award for the second straight season. He made a season-high 12 stops in the regular-season finale at Minnesota, his third double-digit tackle game. He was also in double-digits (10) in the NFC Wild Card Playoff at Washington. He made two INTs in the last month of the season, including one in the Lions end zone vs. Denver (12/25), the 31st of his career and his third of the season. He sat out the Chicago game (11/25) due to an NFL-levied one-game suspension. He returned to action vs. Wash (12/5), had nine tackles, and broke up a pass that was initially ruled an interception, but later overturned after 'further review'. He made 10 stops at Arizona (11/14) and recorded his first int of the season at Carolina (10/24) in the Lions end zone. He also forced fumbles in each of the season's first two games, one of which he recovered.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Carrier was Detroit's starting free safety for second straight season, posting 75 tackles, three ints (tied for team-high) and two forced fumbles. He was the Lions defensive co-captain and received the team's 1998 Joe Schmidt Leadership Award. Sports Illustrated magazine named him the NFL's top free safety at season's end. Carrier was a consistent play-maker when healthy. He was hindered late in the season with plantar fasciatis in both feet and missed games at Jacksonville (12/6) and the season-finale at Baltimore (12/27). He was also less than 100 percent in Games 14-15. He sat out the game at Chicago (10/4) due to one-game NFL suspension. He returned vs. Green Bay (10/15) with two ints, the third multi-INT game of his career, and 10 tackles. That performance earned him NFC

Defensive Player of the Week honors. He had his third pick-off and a forced fumble vs. Minnesota (10/25). He made 10 tackles at Philadelphia (11/8) and a season-high 11 tackles at Tampa Bay (11/22). 1997: Carrier signed with Detroit on June 19, 1997, after spending his first seven seasons with Chicago. His Lions teammates voted him one of two defensive captains, and he made all of the defensive calls in the secondary. He led the team with five ints and finished third with 113 tackles. He also ranked second with 13 passes broken up. He returned to Chicago's Soldier Field (9/14) by breaking up three passes and making his first int of the year in the Lions 32-7 win. He was named the Lions defensive player of the game vs. Green Bay (9/28), intercepting a pass on the Packers last possession, breaking up three passes and making six tackles. He picked off his third pass of the year at Green Bay (11/2), setting up a Lions FG late, in addition to making seven tackles. He tallied a career-high 14 tackles at Washington (11/9) and was named Lions defensive MVP for his performance vs. Minnesota (11/16), when he intercepted a pass and returned it a career-long 66 yards to set up a TD. He made his fifth int vs. the Jets (12/21), setting up Detroit's first FG. He was second on the team with eight tackles in a Wild Card Playoff at Tampa Bay (12/28). 1996: Carrier started the first 12 games at free safety in his last season with Chicago but injured an ankle and missed the next three games. He returned to start in the season-finale at Tampa Bay (12/22) and finished with 76 tackles and two INTs on the season. Carrier had played in 108 straight games to begin his pro career before missing the 13th game of the season. 1995: Carrier led Chicago with 15 passes defended and finished fourth on the team with 103 tackles. He paced the Bears with 11 tackles and three passes defensed in a Monday night win at Minnesota (10/30), earning a game ball. He posted a career-high four passes defensed vs. Pittsburgh (11/5). 1994: Carrier made 107 tackles, third on the Bears. He recorded four double-digit-tackle games and returned a blocked FG 54 yards vs. New Orleans (10/9). He also intercepted a pass at Tampa Bay (11/6). He made a season-high 12 tackles at Minnesota (12/1) before dislocating a finger. He played but didn't start in the next game at Green Bay (12/11), making six tackles. He returned to the starting lineup vs. the Rams (12/18) and intercepted his second pass of the season vs. New England (12/24). He made four tackles in a playoff loss at San Francisco (1/7/95). 1993: Carrier made his third Pro Bowl appearance, tallying four INTs and 91 tackles for Chicago. He intercepted passes vs. Tampa Bay (9/26), Minnesota (10/25) and at Green Bay (10/31), and scored his first career TD on an INT return vs. Green Bay (12/5). He made a season-high 11 tackles at the Rams (1/2). 1992: Carrier recovered fumbles in consecutive games at Minnesota (10/4) and vs. Tampa Bay (10/18). He made a season-high seven solo tackles at Detroit (12/20) and posted a season-best 11 tackles in the regular-season finale at Dallas (12/27). He also made six tackles on special teams. 1991: Carrier started in his second Pro Bowl. He finished third on the Bears with 93 tackles. 1990: Carrier had a phenomenal rookie season. He made a Bears franchise record 10 INTs to become the only player in the 1990s to record double-digit INTs in one season. He started all 16 games and was voted to his first Pro Bowl. He was named to every all-rookie team and was AP and Football News Defensive Rookie of the Year. He was third on the team with a career-high 122 tackles and posted a career-high 20 passes defensed. He intercepted a career-high three passes and made nine tackles at Washington (12/9). He earned NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors with 11 tackles, two INTs, a forced fumble and a pass defensed at Tampa Bay (11/4). He made a then-career-high 13 tackles at Minnesota (11/25). He intercepted a pass on the last play of the game to seal a playoff win over New Orleans (1/6/91).

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Carrier was a three-year starter at USC, where he intercepted 13 passes and made 336 tackles. He entered the NFL draft as a junior after the 1989 season, when he was named first-team all-American by The Sporting News, AP, Kodak the Football Writers of America and Walter Camp. He won the 1989 Jim Thorpe Award, given to college football's best defensive back. He led the Pac-10 with seven ints as a junior in 1989. Carrier was a first-team all-American selection and consensus all-Pac 10 choice as a sophomore. He was also a Jim Thorpe Award finalist. He was a second-team freshman all-American in 1987 and was named the country's top freshman defensive back by The Sporting News. He redshirted in 1986 after breaking a foot in preseason drills. He was named high school all-American by USA Today, Parade and Adidas after his senior year at Long Beach (CA) Poly High. He chose USC to stay close to his father (Willie), who lives in Long Beach and was paralyzed in an automobile accident in 1979. Carrier worked for WKBD-TV in Detroit as a co-host on Sunday night sports telecasts while playing with the Lions. While playing for the Bears, he worked as a football analyst for WGN-TV and radio in Chicago. He served as honorary chairman of the Special Education District of Lake County, IL. He also works with Special Olympics. He donated $15,000 through his foundation, MacKids, to assist with Los Angeles earthquake relief. He holds a 3-on-3 fundraising basketball tournament in Long Beach every July. He earned a bachelor's degree in communications in 1991. His full name is Mark Anthony Carrier III. He and his wife, Andrea, have a son, Mark Anthony IV, and a daughter, Alexandra.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Arizona in the 5th round of 1990 (115th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on July 6, 1999.

1999 SEASON: Centers caught a team-high 69 passes for 544 yards and three TDs. His reception total was one shy of the team record for a running back, and it was the sixth time in eight years he has led his team in catches. He was also third among NFL running backs in receptions behind the Rams Marshall Faulk (87) and Green Bay's Dorsey Levens (71). He was a first alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team. Since 1992, Centers has caught more passes (589) than any back in the league. He has also caught a pass in 105 straight games. Centers started every game for the Redskins at fullback and was consistent throughout the season. He caught six passes in Week 1 vs. Dallas; four passes for 39 yards in Week 2 vs. the Giants; a team-high six passes for 69 yards, in Week 10 vs. the Giants; and nine passes (a Redskins single-game high in 1999) in Week 11 vs. Philadelphia. He totaled a season-high 71 yards receiving vs. the Eagles, as well as two solo tackles on kickoff coverage, and was awarded a game ball. The next game vs. Detroit, he made seven catches for 47 yards and two solo tackles on kickoff coverage. He caught four balls (38 yards) in Week 13 vs. Arizona and two passes (16 yards) in Week 14 at the Colts. In Week 15 vs. San Francisco, caught seven passes for 66 yards and turned in perhaps the Redskins biggest play of the season. He caught a 33-yard TD pass from Brad Johnson in overtime, capping a Redskins rally to beat the 49ers, 26-20, and clinch the NFC East title. It was his longest reception of the season. Centers caught four passes for 36 yards, including a long of 14, in the regular-season finale vs. Miami, and posted 10 catches for 69 yards in the two playoff games. On the season, he rushed 13 times for 51 yards and made seven special teams tackles.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Centers was a first alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team. He finished the season second among NFL running backs with 69 catches, behind only the Colts Marshall Faulk (86). Overall, Centers had 69 catches for 559 yards with two TDs and carried the ball 31 times for 110 yards. He caught his 500th career pass at Detroit in Week 8 on a seven-yard toss in the first quarter. Four catches for 35 yards including a four-yard TD vs. Wash and a nine-yard TD catch and 30 rushing yards in the rematch. He turned a short dump pass into a career-best, 54-yard gain vs. the Giants in Week 12 to set up the Cardinals second TD. He finished the game with five catches for 68 yards. He was key in the Cardinals playoff-clinching, 16-13 win over San Diego in the season-finale, catching six passes for 59 yards. In the postseason, he caught three passes for 16 yards, including a seven-yarder that set up a Cardinals TD near the end of the first half, providing a 10-0 lead in Arizona's 20-7 Wild Card Playoff win over Dallas. 1997: Centers caught 54 balls for 409 yards and rushed 101 times for 276 yards with one TD. His 54 catches put him second among NFC running backs behind the Rams Amp Lee (61). Centers' streak of consecutive games played ended at 91 after he missed Week 5 with a knee injury. His best all-around game was in Week 8 vs. Tennessee, when he had 14 carries for 57 yards and three catches for 22 yards. He finished the season on a high note vs. Atlanta, rushing three times for 20 yards and catching four passes for 32 yards, including Jake Plummer's game-winning, one-yard pass with nine seconds left. 1996: Centers started in his second straight Pro Bowl after finishing the season with 99 catches for 766 yards and seven TDs. He added 116 carries for 425 yards and two TDs. His 99 catches placed him third in the NFC behind San Francisco's Jerry Rice (108) and Detroit's Herman Moore (106). He finished the season with 28 third-down receptions, second in the NFC behind Detroit's Brett Perriman (29). Centers began the season with 11 catches for 108 yards vs. Indianapolis. He outdid his performance the next week vs. St. Louis, posting a career-high 13 catches for 83 yards and one TD in Arizona's 31-28 overtime victory. He had a season-low two catches vs. the Giants in Week 11 but managed a season-high, 39-yard reception that set up the Cardinals second TD. He also rushed 10 times for 43 yards, including a 17-yard run on his first carry, in the 31-23 victory. 1995: Centers earned his first Pro Bowl trip in perhaps his best season as a pro. He caught 101 balls for 962 yards and two TDs, becoming the first NFL running back to exceed 100 catches in a season. He also broke J.T. Smith's record of 87 catches for the Cardinals. Centers led the league in third-down catches with 33. He led the Cardinals in receiving nine times in 16 games and caught five or more passes in 13 contests. He also rushed 78 times for 254 yards and two TDs. Centers totaled five catches for 37 yards in a 20-17 victory over Detroit in the season-opener and followed with seven catches for 83 yards vs. Dallas in Week 2. He tallied seven catches for 101 yards and added 13 carries for a career-high 62 yards rushing in a 40-37 victory over Atlanta in Week 12. He had a big performance in the Monday night season-finale vs. Dallas. He caught 12 passes for 172 yards, including his 93rd catch of the season, which broke the reception record for a running back set by San Francisco's Roger Craig (92) in 1985. 1994: Centers was a first alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team at fullback behind the Cowboys Daryl Johnston. He led NFL running backs with 647 receiving yards. His 77 catches tied him for second with Denver's Glyn Milburn. They were just one catch behind the league-leader at the position, Green Bay's Edgar Bennett. Centers also had 115 carries for 336 yards and led the team with five rushing TDs. He had seven TDs overall. In Week 4 vs. Minnesota, he led the team with nine catches for 66 yards and sealed the 17-7 Arizona win with a six-yard scoring run midway through the fourth quarter. He caught six passes for 66 yards, including a pair of 20-yarders in the fourth quarter, to spark the Cardinals in their 19-16 overtime victory vs. Washington in Week 6. He caught a season-best 10 passes for 59 yards in Week 12 vs. Chicago. Centers scored two TDs, a 10-yard draw and a 10-yard reception, in the Cardinals 28-7 win over Cincinnati in Week 15. With four catches on the day, he broke Ottis Anderson's Cardinals record for single-season catches by a running back (70). 1993: Centers was one of the NFL's top third-down "go-to" players, tallying 66 catches for 603 yards (9.1 average) and three scores. He finished the season second in receiving among NFC running backs behind Philadelphia's Herschel Walker (75 catches for 610 yards). Centers had 28 catches for 283 yards over the last four games. In Week 9 vs. Philadelphia, he provided a much-needed spark for the running game in the absence of injured teammates Johnny Bailey and Garrison Hearst. He rushed for a season-high 59 yards on just six carries, including a career-long 33-yard run. In Week 10 vs. Dallas, he led all receivers with seven catches for 59 yards. He started at halfback vs. the Giants in Week 11, rushing 11 times for 52 yards and catching four balls for 25 yards. He caught a season-high nine passes for 77 yards vs. Detroit in Week 13, including a 25-yard reception that helped set up the Cardinals second TD. He caught five passes for 84 yards to help lead Arizona to a 17-6 victory over the Giants in Week 15. In the season-finale vs. Atlanta, he caught eight passes for 61 yards in Arizona's 27-10 victory. On special teams, Centers contributed 13 tackles and four stops inside the 20-yard line. 1992: Centers had a solid season, playing in all 16 games and catching 50 balls for 417 yards and two TDs. He added 37 carries for 139 yards. In Week 3 vs. Dallas, he had seven catches for 64 yards. Centers caught five passes for 36 yards, including the game-winning score on a nine-yard TD catch with 41 seconds left, to lift the Cardinals over Washington, 27-24, in Week 4. The score marked his first career TD. In Week 7 vs. Philadelphia, he replaced the injured Johnny Johnson and carried the ball a then career-high 14 times for 30 yards. He tallied seven catches for 63 yards in Week 12 vs. Washington. In the season- finale vs. Tampa Bay, he caught seven balls for 87 yards, including a season-long of 26. On special teams, Centers had eight tackles, including a team-high four inside the • Tampa has twice hosted a Super Bowl: The Los Angeles Raiders beat Washington 38-9 in Super Bowl XVIII on January 22, 1984. On January 27, 1991, with the U.S. mired in the Gulf War, the New York Giants edged Buffalo in the Bills' first Super Bowl, 20-19. Both games were played at Tampa Stadium (later Houlihan's Stadium), the Buccaneers' former home.

• New Orleans has hosted eight Super Bowls, currently tied with Miami for the most ever. The Superdome has hosted five of the Bayou's Super Bowls, including the Bears' victory in Super Bowl XX on January 26, 1986, (the others: XXXI, XXIV, XV, and XII). Tulane Stadium was home to Super Bowls IX, VI, and IV.

• The San Diego area has hosted two previous Super Sundays, a decade apart: Super Bowls XXXII and XXII. Doug Williams sparked the Redskins to a record 35 second quarter points in routing Elway's Broncos 42-10 at what was then called Jack Murphy Stadium, on January 31, 1988. Ten years later, John Elway led the Broncos to their first Lombardi trophy with a 31-24 win over Green Bay on January 25, 1998 in Qualcomm Stadium.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Miami in the first round of 1992 (12th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as an unrestricted free agent on June 3, 1999.

1999 SEASON: Coleman was the Redskins first key acquisition made under new owner Daniel M. Snyder, and the veteran defensive end didn't disappoint. He started at right end all season, finishing first on the team in QB pressures (44), second in sacks (6.5), and tied for first in forced fumbles (three). He was eighth with 65 tackles and had 42 solos, 14 assists, and nine tackles-for-loss. He also recovered a fumble and returned it 42 yards for his first career TD. Coleman was one of five finalists for the Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award (Redskins MVP). He began the season posting 33 tackles by the midway mark. He earned three game balls, one after Week 2 vs. the Giants when he had four tackles (three solo), two pressures and forced a fumble. The next one came after a 27-20 win over the Jets in Week 3, when the entire defensive line was recognized for their play. Coleman collected five tackles (four solos) and two pressures. He had seven QB pressures in Week 4 vs. Car and eight QB pressures, 1.5 sacks, four tackles, and three assists in Week 7 vs. Chi. In Week 9 vs. Phil, suffering a sprained cervical spine. He left the game but bounced back to start the next week vs. NYG and received his third game ball on three solo tackles, two assists, 1.0 sack, one tackle-for-loss, and a recovered fumble he returned 42 yards for a TD and his first career score. He posted six solo shots, three tackles for a loss and two QB pressures in Week 15 vs. the 49ers. Coleman made four tackles in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Det and eight tackles (six solo) in the Divisional Playoff at Tampa Bay, when the Redskins defense held the Buccaneers to 186 total yards.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Coleman propelled a San Diego defense that allowed just 263 yards and 71.3 yards rushing per game to claim the NFL's best overall defensive ranking. He led the Chargers defensive linemen in tackles for the third straight season with 51. He added 3.5 sacks and two fumble recoveries. He collected a season-high nine tackles and a sack in Week 14 at Sea. 1997: Coleman led San Diego's defensive linemen in tackles for a second straight season (48). He added two sacks, one INT and forced a team-high three fumbles. He recorded a season-high five tackles, a half sack and his first career int at NO in Week 2. He also had five tackles in both Week 7 at KC and Week 15 vs. the Chiefs. 1996: Coleman finished with 42 total stops, 4.0 sacks and one forced fumble for SD, which signed him in the off-season as an unrestricted free agent from Miami. He had a season-high six tackles and a sack in Week 6 vs. Oak on Monday night. 1995: Coleman ranked seventh on Miami's defense with 65 tackles and was second with 6.5 sacks. He had a season-high nine stops and added a sack vs. NO (10/15). He set a postseason career-high with 11 tackles vs. Buf in a Wild Card Playoff (12/30). 1994: Coleman finished with 66 tackles, 6.0 sacks, four forced fumbles, and three passes defensed. He had five or more tackles in eight games. Opened the season with eight tackles and a sack vs. NE. Recorded eight tackles, 2.0 sacks and one forced fumble at SD in an AFC playoff game (1/8/95). His two sacks tied a team playoff record. 1993: Coleman finished with 54 tackles, 5.5 sacks, two forced fumbles and one pass defensed. He had a season-high eight tackles and recorded a sack vs. Buf on Sept. 26. He fractured a hand vs. Wash (10/4) and was inactive vs. Clev the next week because of the injury. He returned vs. Ind (10/24) and made two tackles. He also made two tackles and 1.5 sacks vs. NE on Nov. 21. 1992: NFL Rookie of the Year by Sports Illustrated and Defensive Rookie of the Year by Football News. Finished the season with 84 tackles, 6.0 sacks and one forced fumble. His 6.0 sacks was the third-highest single-season sack total ever among Dolphins rookies. Started season at outside linebacker but moved to right defensive end for the final 12 games. Had 13 tackles and 3 sacks vs. Ind at his new position, followed with a six-tackle, 2.0-sack performance vs. the Jets. First rookie in Dolphins history to have back-to-back games with two sacks. Had 11 tackles vs. Buf (11/16). Five tackles and one sack vs. Buf in the AFC Championship.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Coleman finished as the Yellow Jackets all-time leader with 28 sacks despite playing just three years. He earned all-ACC honors playing in 11 games in 1991, tallying 67 tackles, 10 sacks and one fumble recovery. He helped lead Georgia Tech to a share of the national championship as a sophomore in 1990 with 81 tackles and 13 sacks. Named ACC Defensive Player of the Week after a 12-tackle, 5-sack performance vs. Maryland. He started all season as a redshirt freshman at outside linebacker with 63 stops and 5.0 sacks. Born in Dayton, OH, Coleman was an all-area linebacker at Patterson Co-Operative School in Dayton. He posted 84 tackles, 31.0 sacks, three forced fumbles, six fumble recoveries and a blocked extra point as a senior. He lettered three times in football and once in track. He performed a cameo role opposite actor Jim Carrey in the movie "Ace Ventura: Pet Detective." He and his wife, Katrina, live in Atlanta in the off-season.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Albert suffered a knee injury in the first game of the season. The injury forced him to miss the second game of the season and continued to limit his playing time over the early part of the season. In Week 6 vs. the Eagles he caught two passes for 44 yards, including a 33-yard reception. The following week against Minnesota Albert recorded one 22-yard reception. He started his first game of the season and caught three passes for 22 yards against the Giants in Week 8. In Week 10 against the Eagles, Albert recorded three receptions totaling 80 yards, including a career-long 56-yard touchdown reception. Albert suffered another injury in Week 12 against the Raiders, forcing him to leave the game early and miss the following week as well. He returned to action with his most productive game of the season, and his career, in Week 14 vs Carolina. Albert started for the injured Michael Westbrook and led all receivers with eight receptions for 116 yards, including the Redskins first score of the game on a 16-yard touchdown reception. His eight receptions for 116 yards also marked career highs for Albert. The following week against Tampa Bay he had four receptions for 86 yards, including a 61-yard catch. For the season, Albert tallied 28 receptions for 451 yards and played in 14 games while starting five.

1997: Albert was inactive for 11 of the 16 games for his rookie season. He made his way into the lineup for the Week 7 contest against the Oilers and caught a 14-yard pass for a first down in the first quarter. He caught the second and third passes of his career in a Week 14 victory against the Cardinals in Arizona. More importantly, he scored the first career touchdown on an acrobatic grab in the fourth quarter. In Week 15 vs the Giants, Albert scored the team's only TD on a 41 yard bomb, and set career highs with five receptions for 89 yards. He started his first NFL game Week 16 against the Eagles and contributed with one grab for 14 yards.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Albert started 10 games at split end for the Aggies as a senior. He led the team with 57 receptions for a single-season record 872 yards. His 57 catches were the third most ever in a season by a Texas A&M receiver. Albert set a single-game record for Aggie receivers with 18 catches against Colorado. He earned first-team all-SWC honors as a junior, catching 41 balls for 653 yards to lead the team. Albert caught seven touchdown passes which ranks second in Aggie history for a season. Albert led Trinity Valley Community College to a 12-0 record and the National Title, hauling in 41 passes for 738 yards and six touchdowns. Albert lettered in football and track at Piper High School in his hometown of Ft. Lauderdale, FL. He and his wife Chanae have three sons: Albert Jr., Moses, and Chase.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Converted 22 of 32 FGs and 49 of 50 PATs to lead the Redskins in 1999 with 115 points which ranked second in the NFC and eighth in the NFL.
- Made 10 FGs over 40 yards and three 50-yarders in 1999.
- Kicked two game-winning FGs: a 31-yarder with :10 left in a 38-36 win over Carolina (10/3/99) and a 27-yard overtime win over Phil (11/14/99).

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Green Bay in the third round of 1997 (90th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on November 13, 1998.

1999 SEASON: Conway converted 10 FGs past 40 yards, including a 48-yarder in the Divisional Playoff vs. Tampa Bay, and three of 50-or-more. Overall, he was among the league's top kickers, converting 22 of 32 FGs and 49 of 50 PATs to finish with a team-high 115 points, the NFC's second-best mark. He was tied for eighth in the NFL in points with San Diego kicker John Carney. He also kicked two game-winning FGs: a 31-yarder with :10 seconds left in regulation in the Redskins 38-36 victory over Carolina in Week 4, and a 27-yarder in the Redskins 23-20 overtime win over Philadelphia in Week 11. He opened the 1999 season blazing hot, hitting his first seven and 11 of 12. He received a game ball for converting 3 of 3 PATs and 2 of 2 FGs, including a 50-yarder, in Week 3 at the Jets. Three 50-yard attempts vs. Chi (10/31) hitting from 50 and 51 while the 53-yard attempt was blocked. Had 12 points. After a three week period in which he connected on half of his 16 attempts, Conway hit on five of seven to finish the season. In the Redskins 26-20 win over the 49ers in Week 15, which clinched the NFC East title, he ignited the Redskins comeback from a 10-point, fourth-quarter deficit by kicking a 34-yarder. Earlier in the game, he made a 47-yarder. He went 2 for 2 in FGs in both Redskins playoff games.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Conway was signed to the Redskins active roster in mid-season. He saw his first NFL action in Week 11 versus Arizona, handling all kickoff duties. He kicked off for the rest of the season. Before joining the Redskins in mid-season, Conway was traded by the Packers to the Jets in August. 1997: Conway's rookie season never really started. He injured a leg midway through the preseason and spent the entire year on injured reserve.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: A four-year letterman at Penn State, Conway was a first-team all-Big Ten selection as a senior and a two-time semifinalist for the Lou Groza Award, given annually to the nation's premier placekicker. He finished his career second on the school's all-time scoring list with 276 points, connecting on 45 of 61

FGs and 141 of 142 PATs. His 45 FGs were the second-most in school history, and he set a Big Ten record by making 129 straight conversions. As a senior, Conway led the Nittany Lions with 93 points, had two game-winning FGs and made a career-long 52-yarder versus Temple. He led the team in scoring with 85 points and was a second-team all-Big Ten selection as a junior. In his prep career, Conway was an all-state and all-America selection in soccer and football at Parkview High School in Lilburn, GA, where he earned three letters in football and four letters in soccer. He was also a Parade all-American and second-team USA Today selection as a senior. He converted four FGs of more than 50 yards in his junior and senior seasons, including a 58-yarder. His soccer team won the state title and was ranked third in the nation by USA Today. He lives in Reston, VA, during the season and in Southlake, TX, in the off-season.

- Totaled 26 tackles and two sacks for the Oilers in 1998.
- Led the Oilers with 7.5 sacks in 1996.
- Made his NFL debut a big one, starting the Oilers season opener against Jacksonville in 1995, and recording two sacks.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Houston in the 2nd round of 1995 (35th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed with Washington as a free agent on March 29, 1999.

1999 SEASON: Played in all 16 games, starting the final seven. Saw limited action at defensive end for the first few weeks. In Week 9, he moved to the right side against Phil and had two tackles-for-loss and three solo stops. The next week, he made his first start vs. NYG and had two solos. In the re-match vs. Phil, he had two solos. He registered his first sack and three solos in Detroit. The next week he had a sack, two pressures and two solos vs. Ariz. His top game came at SF with three solos and a fumble recovery which helped send the game into overtime. He started both playoff games and had two tackles at Tampa Bay.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Anthony played in 13 games with four starts for Tennessee before a shoulder injury ended his season early. He substituted at defensive end for the first half of the season. In Week 3 he recorded three tackles, including one tackle-for-loss, against New England. The following week he collected four tackles against Jacksonville. He continued his solid play in Week 5 vs. Baltimore as he recorded three tackles and his first sack of the season en route to the Oilers victory. Anthony started his first game of the season in Week 9 against Tampa Bay and registered three tackles. He started again the following week vs. Pittsburgh and recorded four tackles as the Oilers completed a sweep of the Steelers. Anthony started his third consecutive game against the New York Jets in Week 11. He recorded one tackle and one quarterback pressure on the day. In Week 13 vs. Baltimore, Anthony recorded two tackles and his second sack of the season before leaving the game early with the shoulder injury. For the season, Anthony collected 26 tackles and two sacks. 1997: Anthony started all 16 games for the first time in his career with the Tennessee Oilers. In Week 11 at Jacksonville, he recorded three tackles and recovered a fumble that led to the Oilers only touchdown. Anthony recorded a career-high nine tackles at Cincinnati in Week 14. For the season, Anthony registered 33 total tackles, including 25 solo tackles, and recovered two fumbles. 1996: In his sophomore campaign, Anthony played in 12 games and started 11 of them for the Oilers. He was inactive for three of the first four games with a knee injury and missed the season finale with a neck injury. Anthony saw time at both the defensive tackle and end positions during the year. Anthony led the team in sacks with a career-high seven and a half sacks for the season. He was second among the defensive line in total tackles with 44. In Week 8 vs. San Francisco, Anthony forced his first career fumble. He recorded two sacks against Jacksonville in Week 14. Anthony registered season-high seven tackles and career-best two and a half sacks against the Bengals in Week 15. It marked his fourth career multi-sack contest. For the season, Anthony recorded 44 total tackles, including 25 solo tackles, seven and a half sacks and one forced fumble. 1995: As a rookie, Anthony played in 10 games with four starts for the Oilers. His first NFL start came in Week 1 against the Jaguars and he recorded two sacks in his debut. Anthony started his second consecutive game in Week 2 vs Pittsburgh and finished with season-high six tackles. Anthony had arthroscopic surgery on his left knee, but returned for the final game of the season vs Buffalo and recorded one and a half sacks, including his first career safety by dropping QB Todd Collins in the end zone. For the season, Anthony registered 22 total tackles, including 13 solo stops, four and a half sacks and one safety. His four and a half sacks tied him for team lead.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Anthony finished his collegiate career as the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference all-time sack leader with 34. He started all 30 games he played in for the Bulldogs, racking up 247 total tackles including 142 solo stops. Anthony was selected Associated Press Division I-AA first-team all-America and first-team all-MEAC as a senior. As a junior, he was selected first-team all-MEAC and AP second-team all-America honors. Anthony set a South Carolina State and MEAC single-season record with 17.5 sacks as a junior, breaking former New York Giant Harry Carson's record of 17 set in 1976. Anthony was an all-area and all-county selection as a defensive lineman at Marlboro County (SC) High School. He majored in electrical engineering technology while at South Carolina State. He and his wife, Shawn, have two children: E'nthany Joi and Keith.

- Posted six 100-yard-plus rushing games in 1999, tying Larry Brown for the second-highest total of such games in one season in team history.
- Recorded a career-high 76-yard run vs. Chicago (10/31/99) and a career-high 189-yard rushing day vs. Arizona (12/12/99).
- Rushed 15 times for 119 yards and two TDs in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit (1/08/00) after missing most of the previous three games due to a sprained ankle.
- NFC Offensive Player of the Week after 183 rushing yards vs. NYG (11/21/99).

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 4th round of 1996 (103rd overall).

1999 SEASON: Davis rushed for 1,405 yards, first in the NFC and third in the NFL behind the Colts Edgerrin James (1,553) and the Jets Curtis Martin (1,464). Davis was named to the NFC Pro Bowl team. His yardage total was a Redskins single-season record, surpassing Terry Allen's mark of 1,353 yards in 1996. Davis also led the NFL with a 4.8 average per carry and with 104 points, the most by a running back. He rushed for all of his TDs (17) and ran for a two-point conversion. He also gained 111 yards receiving and finished tied for fifth in the NFC with the Cowboys Emmitt Smith for total yards gained (1,515). He earned the Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award as the Redskins MVP. After earning the starting running back position in training camp, he posted six 100-yard-plus rushing games, the first on opening day vs. Dallas, when he ran for a then career-high 109 yards. It was the first time a Redskins back ran for more than 100 yards in a game since Terry Allen in Week 9 of 1997 vs. the Bears. The next week, Davis ran for 126 yards on 23 carries and tied a Redskins single-game record with three TDs. He was the first Redskins player to record consecutive 100-yard-plus rushing days since Reggie Brooks in Weeks 7 and 8 in 1993. In Week 7 vs. Chicago, he ripped off a 76-yard TD run to ignite the Redskins in their 48-22 win. He ran for 143 yards and two TDs on the day. After a season-low 33 yards in Week 8 vs. Buffalo, he rushed for 122 yards on 25 carries and two TDs in Week 9 at Philadelphia. He then rushed for 183 yards in Week 10 vs. the Giants, surpassing the 1,000-yard mark. He was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week and received a game ball. He rushed for a career-high 189 yards in Week 13 vs. Arizona. It was his sixth 100-yard-plus rushing game, tying him with Redskins great Larry Brown for the second-highest total of such games in team history. (Brown did it six times in 1970 and 1972, and Bob Goode did it seven times in 1951.) At the time, Davis led the NFL with 1,335 yards and appeared headed to the league rushing title. But after gaining 70 yards in Week 14 at Indianapolis, he sprained his left ankle early in the second quarter and left the game. He was ruled inactive for the final two regular-season games. He returned with a bang in the Redskins 27-14 win over Detroit in the NFC Wild Card Playoff, rushing 15 times for 119 yards and two TDs before leaving the game with a sprained right knee midway in the second quarter. His 58-yard run tied for the longest run in Redskins post-season history with Timmy Smith, who had a 58-yarder in Super Bowl XXII in January 1988. In all, Davis sparked the Redskins to a 223-yard rushing day, the third-highest total in the team's post-season history.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Davis' playing time increased dramatically. He played in all 16 games and started 12, including 11 starts at fullback. He began the season as the back-up to running back Terry Allen. In the first four weeks, he carried the ball eight times for 25 yards. But in Week 5 vs. Dallas, he moved to fullback and proved to be a versatile player in the Redskins backfield. Besides adjusting to his role as the lead blocker for Terry Allen and Skip Hicks, he became a threat to catch the ball out of the backfield with his speed and good hands. In Week 8 vs. the Giants, he led the team in receiving with five catches for 65 yards, including a 12-yard TD catch that helped the Redskins notch their first victory. It was his first TD of the season and his first career TD catch. Perhaps his best game of the season was in Week 12, when he was integral in a victory over Oakland. He led all receivers for the second time that season, amassing seven catches for 110 yards, including a 19-yard strike for his second 1998 TD. He added a career-long catch of 30 yards. He had four catches for 62 yards in the Redskins win over Carolina in Week 14. He got a chance to start at running back in Week 16 vs. Dallas due to injuries to Allen and Hicks. He rushed 17 times for 70 yards. For the season, Davis recorded career-highs of 21 catches for 263 yards and two TDs. He also rushed 34 times for 109 yards. He made five tackles and 21 blocks on special teams. His biggest play on special teams came in Week 9 vs. the Cardinals. He recovered a Redskins on-side kick with 1:04 left in the game that led to the go-ahead FG with 35 seconds left. 1997: With Terry Allen in and out of the lineup due to nagging injuries, Davis' playing time rose from his rookie season. He rushed for 567 yards and three TDs on 141 carries. He was also a receiving threat, catching 18 passes for 134 yards. He got his first NFL start in Week 2 vs. the Steelers due to an Allen thumb injury from the previous game. Davis had very respectable numbers in the Week 2 loss, rushing 17 times for 66 yards with two catches for 20 yards. His big moment came in a Week 6 showdown with the Cowboys on Monday night. After Allen was injured early, Davis stepped in and rushed 22 times for 94 yards and two scores, helping lead the Redskins to victory. Davis started vs. the Oilers in Week 7 (13 rushes, 45 yards) and the Ravens in Week 8 (17 rushes, 59 yards). After returning to a reserve role for a few weeks, he started in Week 14 vs. the Cardinals in a must-win game, leading the team in rushing (20 carries, 92 yards) and receiving (six catches, 27 yards). He also started in Week 15 vs. the Giants (10 carries, 41 yards) and in the season-finale vs. the Eagles (12 rushes, 65 yards, one TD). 1996: Davis showed glimpses of brilliance playing behind Pro Bowler Terry Allen. He rushed 23 times for 139 yards, a 6.0-yard avg. His 39-yard TD run vs. the Giants was the team's second-longest run of the year. In the RFK Stadium finale, Davis came in late to rush eight times for 35 yards and his second career TD.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: Davis gained 1,068 yards (5.9 avg.) and scored 14 TDs as a senior. He also was a consensus all-SEC first-team choice. He tallied 17 TDs on the year, tying Bo Jackson's single-season school record. Davis ended his Auburn career fourth on the school's all-time rushing list with 2,811 yards, trailing Joe Cribbs, James Brooks and Jackson. An all-SEC first-team pick by Football News and the AP as a junior, Davis led the Tigers with 221 carries for 1,263 yards (5.7 average) and 13 TDs. He was named SEC Offensive Player of the Week after gaining a career-high 246 yards on 27 carries with TD runs of one, 24 and 53 yards in a win over Arkansas. He saw backup action in nine games as a sophomore, gaining 480 yards on 87 carries (5.5 average) and three TDs. In his first college action, Davis gained 125 yards on 18 attempts with two TDs. He arrived at Auburn with fanfare. He was Football News National Player of the Year and USA Today Offensive Player of the Year as a senior at Spartanburg (S.C.) High School. He ran for a school-record 2,448 yards (9.2 average) and 32 TDs as a senior, leading the team to the Class 4A state title. His final prep numbers were 4,501 yards on 535 carries with 53 TDs and 5,425 all-purpose yards. In the state title game as a senior, he rushed 30 times for 230 yards and two scores. At Spartanburg, Davis won the state 100-meter dash title twice. He graduated with a degree in vocational education from Auburn. He and his wife, Dee Dee, live in Herndon, Va. He has three children, Dentia, Sherrell and Stephen Jr. Last season, Davis spearheaded the Redskins "Hometown Huddle" project with Habitat for Humanity when he helped build a home in Washington, D.C.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Saw his first NFL action in Week 11 of 1998 against the Cardinals.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 5th round of 1998 (140th overall).

1999 SEASON: Saw only action of season in playoff game at TB (1/15/00) participating on special teams...Dressed, but did not play, for three regular season games...Inactive for 13 games and playoff game vs. Det (1/8/00).

PRO CAREER: 1998: After the Redskins selected him in the fifth round of the 1998 NFL draft, Mark reported for the teams mini-camp in July just prior to training camp. During a routine drill he broke his fibula, which caused him to miss all of training camp. However, Mark remained on the roster but was inactive for the first nine weeks of the season at which time he rehabilitated his leg and studied the Redskins play book. Mark was active but did not play in Week 10 vs. Philadelphia. Mark finally saw his first NFL action in Week 11 against the Cardinals on special teams. He played the remainder of the season with all of his action coming as a member of the special teams unit.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Mark earned all-Big Ten Conference while earning Academic all-Big Ten honors for the fourth straight time in 1997. Mark also earned all-Big 10 honorable mention honors as a junior and sophomore. As a junior, he started the first six games of the season at left guard, before moving outside and completing the remainder of the year at left tackle. He saw action at left guard as a sophomore and was reserve guard as a redshirt freshman. An all-Greater Cincinnati, all-academic, all-city, and all-district first-team selection as a senior at LaSalle (Cincinnati, OH) High School, Mark also received all-State second team honors. He also lettered in track, competing in shot put, with a personal best effort of 58'0". He resides in Ashburn, VA with his wife Angie and son Carson.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Ranks seventh on the all-time NFL list of leading pass receivers with 810 receptions. Trails Jerry Rice (1,206), Andre Reed (941), Art Monk (940), Cris Carter (924), Steve Largent (819) and Henry Ellard (814).
- Ranks seventh all-time with 12,237 receiving yards. Trails Jerry Rice (18,442), James Lofton (14,004), Henry Ellard (13,777), Andre Reed (13,095), Steve Largent (13,089) and Art Monk (12,721). Fryar is 15th all-time in overall yards gained (15,030).
- Selected to play in five Pro Bowls-three times on the AFC squad and twice on the NFC squad. Chosen as a return specialist with New England in 1985, as a wide receiver with Miami in 1993 and 1994, and as a wide receiver with Philadelphia in 1996 and 1997.
- Ranks 14th all-time with 32 100-yard receiving games (12 for New England, 10 for Miami, 10 for Philadelphia).
- Only player to catch 50 or more passes in each season from 1991-98.
- Caught 26 passes for 254 yards and two TDs in 1999 for the Redskins. One catch was a diving, 20-yarder in Week 15 at San Francisco (12/26) that kept a late Redskins drive alive, as they rallied to tie the game before clinching the NFC East title with a 26-20 overtime victory.
- Totaled 1,195 receiving yards in 1996, becoming the first player in NFL history to log 1,000-yard seasons with three teams: New England, Miami and Philadelphia.
- Set a career-high for receiving yards (1,316) in 1997 with the Eagles, the second-highest total in team history.
- Led NFL and set Eagles record with 88 catches (11 for TD) in 1996.
- Career-high 211 yards receiving vs. New England (9/4/94).
- Four straight games of 100-or-more receiving yards in Weeks 10-13: 112 vs. Chicago, 113 at Pittsburgh, 103 at the Jets, 110 vs. Buffalo.
- Chosen with the first overall pick in the 1984 NFL draft by New England.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by New England in 1st round of 1984 (1st overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on August 19, 1999.

1999 SEASON: After the Redskins signed Fryar just before the season started, the veteran receiver told coaches he preferred playing mostly in a reserve role. Even as a backup, Fryar showed he can be a great asset producing 26 catches for 254 yards and two TDs. But one catch was critical to the Redskins fortunes in 1999. With the 49ers leading the Redskins, 20-13, late in the fourth quarter in Week 15, Fryar made a diving, 20-yard, third-down reception to the San Francisco 11-yard line, keeping a drive alive. (The catch was initially ruled incomplete before being changed to a reception upon replay review.) The Redskins tied the game and won in overtime, 26-20, to clinch the NFC East title. He played in all 16 regular-season games, making one start. He caught three passes for 34 yards in Week 1 vs. Dallas, becoming the eighth receiver in NFL history to exceed 12,000 receiving yards. In Week 11 vs. one of his former teams, Philadelphia, he caught two passes, the second one being his 800th career catch. He caught three passes for 19 yards, including a 7-yard TD, vs. Arizona in Week 13. The next week at Indianapolis, he caught two passes for 23 yards, moving into seventh-place on the all-time list for receiving yards. His clutch catch vs. the 49ers was one of a season-high four receptions in his 240th game at wide receiver. He started in place of Albert Connell, who was inactive due to a sprained shoulder, in Week 16 vs. Miami and caught one pass for a 30-yard TD. Fryar played in both postseason games, catching one pass for 17 yards vs. Detroit in the Wild Card Playoff and four passes for 30 yards in the Divisional Playoff at Tampa Bay. His four catches tied him with Connell for the team-high.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Fryar finished second on the Eagles in 1998 in total catches (48) behind Duce Staley (57). Fryar was first in catches among Eagles receivers. He collected 556 yards through the air with an 11.6 average-per-catch and two TDs, including a season-long, 61-yard score in Week 13 vs. St. Louis. He had four, 5-reception games and rushed three times for 46 yards with a long of 32. Fryar retired after the season and worked as a television sports reporter for WPVI in Philadelphia before the Redskins came calling. 1997: The 35-year-old Fryar capped a remarkable season with his fifth Pro Bowl appearance. His teammates voted him the Eagles offensive MVP for the second straight year. He set a career-high for receiving yards (1,316) and fell two catches shy of his Eagles record and personal-best mark of 88. His 1,316 total receiving yards is second in the Eagles record books to Mike Quick, who had 1,409 in 1983. Fryar led the Eagles in every major receiving category for the second straight year and was also among the league leaders across the board. He ranked second in the NFC in receiving yards (1,316), fourth in catches (86) and fifth in third-down catches (26, 359 yards, four TDs). He topped the 1,000-yard mark for the fifth time and for the second straight season, becoming the first Philadelphia receiver with back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons since Quick, who did it in 1983, 1984 and 1985. Fryar posted six 100-yard receiving games, tying a personal-high and matching an Eagles record set by Quick in 1983. He celebrated his 35th birthday (9/28) with nine catches for 120 yards at Minnesota. He later topped that effort with 10 catches for 124 yds and three scores at Jacksonville. He played in his 200th NFL game vs. Arizona (10/19). He caught a 72-yard scoring pass from Bobby Hoying vs. the Giants (12/7), the second-longest catch of his career. 1996: Fryar became the "go-to" receiver in his first season with the Eagles. It ended with his fourth trip to the Pro Bowl. He ranked first in the NFC and fourth in the NFL with a career-high 11 TD catches. He also caught a career-high 88 passes, an Eagles single-season record, for 1,195 yards. He enjoyed a terrific stretch vs. Miami, Carolina and Dallas in Weeks 7-9, catching 24 passes for 379 yards and five TDs. In that span, Fryar became the first Eagles wide receiver to produce three straight 100-yard receiving games since Mike Quick in 1985. His highlight in that stretch was an 8-catch, 116-yard, 4-TD outing vs. his former Dolphins teammates. He tied an Eagles single-game record for TD catches vs. Miami on scoring strikes of 38, two, 12 and 36 yards from Ty Detmer. He subsequently earned NFL Player of the Week honors. Another highlight was a 7-catch, 131-yard effort at Arizona and a huge effort in Week 15 at the Jets, when he caught two TDs in the second half of a come-from-behind Eagles win. Although named a first alternate at wide receiver to the NFC Pro Bowl squad, Fryar played when the 49ers Jerry Rice couldn't. Voted Eagles offensive MVP. 1995: In the last of his three seasons with the Dolphins, Fryar caught 62 passes for 910 yards and eight TDs. He began the year with a 5-catch, 110-yard, 2-TD effort vs. the Jets in Week 1 and a 3-catch, 113-yard, 2-TD effort at New England in Week 2. In those games, he caught 50- and 67-yard scoring passes from Dan Marino. He also caught a 9-yard pass vs. New England (11/12) that made Marino the NFL's all-time leader in passing yardage. Fryar made his biggest catch in Week 13 vs. Atlanta, a 21-yard TD with 11 seconds left that gave Miami a 21-20 victory. The Eagles signed him as an unrestricted free agent (3/19/96). 1994: Fryar had perhaps the best season of his career, leading Miami in every major receiving category: catches (73), yards receiving (1,270), TDs (seven). He amassed 1,000 yards for the second straight year and the third time in his career. He made his 500th career catch vs. Detroit (12/25). His total of 1,270 yards was third in the AFC and sixth in the NFL, and his 73 catches placed him ninth in the AFC and 22nd in the NFL. He logged a team-record four straight games with 100-or-more receiving yards: 112 vs. Chicago, 113 at Pittsburgh, 103 at the Jets, 110 vs. Buffalo. Overall, he had six 100-yard games, tying Mark Clayton (1984) for the second-best mark in Dolphins history. He earned his third trip to the Pro Bowl, backing up the Raiders Tim Brown and the Bills Andre Reed. He had five catches for a career-high 211 yards and three TDs in the second half of the season-opener vs. New England. The 211-yard output marked the second-highest single-game receiving yardage total in Dolphins history behind Duper's 217 yards (11/10/85). Fryar had nine catches for 112 yards vs. Chicago (11/13) and caught six balls for 160 yards at the Vikings. He led Miami in two postseason games with 11 catches for 141 yards and one TD. 1993: In his first season in Miami, Fryar quickly became Dan Marino's favorite target. He caught 199 balls for 3,190 yards over the next three years. In 1993, Fryar became the third player in Dolphins history to post a 1,000-yard receiving season, joining Mark Clayton and Mark Duper. He caught 64 balls for 1,010 yards and five TDs. He ranked fourth in the AFC and ninth in the NFL in receiving yards. He was first on the Dolphins in receiving yards and second in catches and TDs. He caught at least one pass in all 16 games. He was named to the AFC Pro Bowl team for the second time and first time as a wide receiver. He had a 7-catch, 103-yard, 1-TD performance at Buffalo in his first 100-yard game for the Dolphins. He had a 6-catch, 103-yard game, with a season-long 65-yard TD catch, at the Jets. He had four catches for 97 yards vs. the Patriots, including a 44-yard TD pass from Steve DeBerg in the first game vs. his former teammates. 1992: In his ninth and final season with New England, Fryar started 14 games, producing a 55-catch, 791-yard, 4-TD season. He caught eight passes for a then career-high 165 yards and two TDs at the Jets and had a 6-catch, 101-yard, 1-TD day vs. Seattle. He was inactive vs. Cleveland (10/25) due to a right groin strain. Fryar was traded to Miami (4/1/93) for a second-round draft choice in 1993 and a third-round pick in 1994. 1991: Fryar caught 68 passes for 1,014 yards with three TDs. He had three 100-yard receiving games. He caught a then career-high nine passes for 161 yards and was named Miller Lite Player of the Game vs. the Vikings (10/20). He had an 8-catch, 143-yard, 1-TD game vs. the Jets and was named AFC Offensive Player of the Week after a 6-catch, 134-yard, 1-TD effort vs. Buffalo. 1990: Fryar caught 54 passes for 856 yards and three TDs. He returned 28 punts for 133 yards. After a 4-catch, 115-yard, 1-TD game vs. Philadelphia (11/4), he was named Miller Lite Player of the Game. 1989: Fryar caught 29 passes for 537 yards and three TDs. He returned 12 punts for 107 yards and one kickoff for 47 yards. He missed two games with an injured left knee and three with a sprained medial collateral ligament in his right knee. He caught five passes for 102 yards at San Francisco. 1988: Fryar caught 33 passes for 490 yards with five TDs and a long of 80 yards. He was fourth in the NFL in punt returns with a 10.5 average on 38 returns. He had a 3-catch, 122-yard receiving game, including an 80-yard TD pass from Doug Flutie on the first play, vs. Chicago (10/30). He rushed three times for 12 yards at Minnesota. He didn't play at Denver due to a bad hamstring. 1987: Fryar caught 31 balls for 467 yards and five TDs in the strike-shortened season. He rushed nine times for 52 yards, had a 9.7 average on punt returns (18, 174 yards) and a 19.8 average on kickoff returns (six, 119 yards). He caught six passes for 107 yards vs. the Raiders. 1986: Fryar caught 43 passes for 737 yards and six TDs. He averaged 10.5 yards per punt return (35, 366 yards) and 19.2 yards on kickoff returns. He caught a 69-yard TD pass from Steve Grogan vs. the Jets and returned a punt 59 yards for a TD vs. Atlanta. 1985: Fryar was selected to the Pro Bowl for the first time, joining the AFC squad as a return specialist. He started 14 regular-season games and two of three playoff games, as the Patriots advanced to Super Bowl XX vs. the Bears. He led the NFL with a 14.1-yard average on 37 punt returns with two scores. He scored on an 85-yard punt return at Buffalo (9/22), the NFL's longest of the year, and also had a 77-yard punt return for a score vs. Indianapolis. Fryar caught 39 passes for 670 yards and seven TDs. He had a 6-reception, 132-yard game vs. Buffalo. He scored 10 TDs (seven receiving, one rushing, two on punt returns), the most by a Patriots player since Tony Collins had 10 in 1983. He caught two balls for 47 yards in an AFC Wild Card Playoff at the Jets. He missed the AFC Championship game at Miami due to cut tendons in his right little finger. He returned in a reserve role in Super Bowl XX and caught two passes for 24 yards, including Steve Grogan's 8-yard scoring pass for the Patriots only TD. 1984: Fryar entered the NFL as the first overall selection in the 1984 draft. He would play the first nine seasons of his career with New England. He played in 14 games with two starts as a rookie, catching 11 passes for 164 yards and one TD. He returned 36 punts for 347 yards (9.6 average) and averaged 19 yards on kickoff returns. He ranked fourth in the AFC and sixth in the NFL in punt returns. He had a season-long 56-yard punt return and caught a 15-yard TD vs. Seattle (9/16), his first pro scoring catch. He dislocated a shoulder vs. Miami and missed two games.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Fryar was a consensus All-American selection after his senior season at Nebraska, when he caught 40 passes for 780 yards and eight TDs. He finished his career fifth on the school's all-time receiving list with 67 catches for 1,196 yards and 11 TDs. Despite battling injuries in his junior season, Fryar ranked as the nation's third-leading punt returner (15.4 average, 18 returns). As a sophomore, he ranked first in the the Big Eight and fourth in the nation in punt returns. He returned two punts for TDs in his career, an 82-yarder vs. Florida State and a 63-yarder vs. Iowa State. He was a wide receiver and safety at Rancocas Valley High School in New Jersey, the school that produced Hall of Fame running back Franco Harris and Cowboys defensive end Alonzo Spellman. On the personal side, Fryar is an ordained pentecostal minister who is called "The Rev" by his teammates. He attended the South Florida Bible College and Theological Seminary in the spring of 1997 to obtain his bachelor's degree in bible study and is working on his master's degree in divinity. He presided over the wedding of then Dolphins teammate and current Redskins guard Keith Sims in Hawaii before the 1994 Pro Bowl. Fryar formed The Irving Fryar Foundation, which is committed to the cultivation of at-risk youth in Florida. Fryar was named the Eagles finalist for NFL Man of the Year in 1996 and 1997 in recognition of the time and effort he frequently gives to the community. He received the NFL's Extra Effort Award for September 1997 for his work with Jeremy Ilaoa, a 17-year-old from Walla Walla, Wash., who was stricken with aplastic anemia. Fryar also won the Patriots 1776 Quarterback Club Community Service Award in 1988 for his numerous talks to youth groups on behalf of the "Just Say No" and D.A.R.E. campaigns. A talented musician, Fryar can play five instruments: drums, trombone, bass guitar, lead guitar and piano. He majored in meteorology at Nebraska. He and his wife, Jacqueline, have four children: Londen, Irving, Jr., Adrianne, and Taylor. The Fryar family lives in Jobstown, NJ, in the off-season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Has thrown for 300-plus yards in 15 games and never completed less than 54 percent of his passes in a season.
- In 1993-94, threw 279 passes without an interception -- third-most in NFL history trailing Bernie Kosar (308) and Bart Starr (294).
- Produced a 94.2 QB rating in 1999, the NFL's third-best mark behind the Rams Kurt Warner (109.2) and Carolina's Steve Beuerlein (94.6).
- Set Vikings postseason records for passing attempts (50), passing yards (424) and TD passes (four) in last season's Divisional Playoff at St. Louis.
- Amassed an NFL-high 3,917 yards passing in 1997 and was second with a career-high 29 TD passes.
- Established career-highs in completions (336), attempts (557) and yards (4,143 yards), and a career-low 11 INTs, in 1995.
- Named NFL Rookie of the Year in 1990.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Indianapolis in first round of 1990 (1st overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on April 10, 2000.

1999 SEASON: George inherited the starting QB job from an injured Randall Cunningham in the sixth game and proceeded to post the highest QB rating of his 10-year career (94.2) and third-best in the NFL. George's 94.2 mark ranked as the 2nd-best in Vikings history behind Randall Cunningham's 106.0 in 1998. Overall, George completed 191 of 329 passes (58.1 completion) for 2,816 yards with 23 TDs and 12 INTs in guiding the Vikings to a 10-6 record and the second round of the playoffs, where they lost to St. Louis, 49-37. He became the first Minnesota QB ever to win his first five starts: vs. San Francisco (10/24), at Denver (10/31), vs. Dallas (11/8), at Chicago (11/14) and vs. San Diego (11/28). He was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week for his game vs. the 49ers, when he completed 15 of 28 passes for 250 yards and three TDs. He threw four TDs for the fourth time in his career at Chicago, matching his career-high. He had his first back-to-back 300-yard performances ever at Chicago and vs. San Diego (11/28) with 363 and 374 yards, respectively. His 374 yards at Chicago (11/14) was his second-best performance ever. He also threw four TDs vs. San Diego. He set Vikings post-season records for passing attempts (50), passing yards (424) and TD passes (four) in the Divisional Playoff at St. Louis. He posted the second-best QB rating in team post-season history (117.4) vs. Dallas in the Wild Card game. Vs. the Cowboys, he threw the third-longest TD pass in Vikings postseason history, 58 yards to Randy Moss. He became only the third Vikings QB to throw at least three TD passes in a post-season game (Tarkenton and Cunningham).

PRO CAREER: 1998: In his final season in Oakland, George started seven games and led the Raiders to road wins over NFC Playoff teams Dallas and Arizona. But he suffered a groin injury at Arizona (10/4) and was inactive for nine games. He threw for 303 yards vs. the Giants (9/13), connecting on 25 of 44 passes with one TD in his best day of the season. He completed 19 of 31 passes for 270 yards in a season-opening loss at Kansas City (9/6) and was sacked 10 times. He went 16 of 28 for 188 yards and a TD in a loss to Denver (9/20). He hit James Jett for a 75-yard TD in a 13-12 win at Dallas (9/27), a day when he completed 12 of 20 passes for 171 yards. In his last game, he completed 7 of 15 passes for 65 yards vs. Washington (11/29). 1997: George highlighted his first season in Oakland by leading the AFC with a 91.2 QB rating. He completed 290 of 521 passes for an NFL-best 3,917 yards with a career-high 29 touchdown passes, second only to Brett Favre's 35. He was only the fourth Raiders QB to throw for more than 3,000 yards. His 531 attempts and 3,917 passing yards were Raiders records. He also had an INT percentage of 1.7, tops in the NFL among QBs with more than 500 attempts. He ended the season with two games of more than 300 yards passing. He threw a TD pass in all but three games and completed 10 passes of 40-plus yards. He shared the Raiders Commitment to Excellence Award with Tim Brown and Russell Maryland. He started his first game in Oakland at Tennessee (8/31/97) and completed 21 of 37 passes for 298 yards and TD passes to Brown of 59, 27 and 16 yards. 1996: George was frustrated in his last year in Atlanta. He completed 56 of 99 passes for 698 yards and three TDs over three games. He missed the last 13 games after being suspended for four games by the Falcons — breaking his streak of 46 straight starts — and then being released from the team. He began the season ranked 15th all-time in career passing accuracy and eighth in lowest interception percentage. 1995: George had the best statistical season of his career. He completed 336 of 557 passes for 4,143 yards, 24 TDs, 11 interceptions and an 89.5 QB rating. His completions, attempts and yardage total were career-highs and his INT total was a career-low. His yardage total was also a Falcons team record. He led the Falcons to the playoffs as a Wild Card entrant. He tallied four 300-yard games and completed 58 passes of 20-plus yards, ranking second in the NFL. He also completed 100 straight passes without an INT. 1994: Indianapolis traded George to Atlanta on March 24, 1994, for two first-round draft choices and a third-round choice. He responded by throwing for 3,735 yards, completing 322 of 524 passes with 23 TDs. He completed his 279th straight pass without an INT, the third-longest such streak in NFL history. 1993: In his final season in Indianapolis, George completed 234 of 407 passes for 2,526 yards, eight TDs and six INTs. He posted a 57.6 completion percentage, and his 1.5 INT percentage was second-best in the NFL. He set a Colts single-game record for most attempts (37) and completions (59) in a game vs. Washington. He completed 202 passes without an INT, snapping a team record held by Johnny Unitas. 1992: George started only 10 games, snapping his consecutive starts streak at 25. He threw for 1,963 yards, completing 167 of 306 passes with seven TDs. 1991: George started every game for Indianapolis, completing 292 of 485 passes for 2,910 yards. He set a team record by going 14 straight games completing at least 50 percent of his passes. His 60.2 completion percentage was second-highest in club history, and his 2.5 INT percentage was fourth-lowest in team history. 1990: After Indianapolis took George with the No. 1 overall pick in the 1990 draft, he earned Rookie of the Year honors after completing 181 of 334 passes (54.2 completion percentage) for 2,152 yards and 16 TDs. His INT total of 13 was the lowest for a rookie with at least 300 attempts, topping Joe Namath's mark.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: George began his college career at Purdue before transferring to Illinois, where he went 20-4 as a starter. He ranked third on Illinois' all-time passing list with 4,674 yards, completing 428 of 714 passes with 28 touchdowns. He was a first-team, All-Big 10 pick as a junior after leading the conference in passing, averaging more than 240 yards per game. He entered the NFL after his junior year. He majored in speech communications at Illinois. George is a native of Indianapolis. He led Indianapolis Warren Central High School to state football championships in 1984 and 1985, a period when the team won 28 straight games. He threw for 8,126 yards and 94 TDs. He once threw six TDs in a game and totaled 45 as a senior. He was named National Prep Player of the Year in his last high school season. He was also a baseball and basketball standout.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in first round of 1983 (28th overall).

1999 SEASON: At age 39, Green remained at the top of his game. The "ageless wonder" enjoyed one of his most fulfilling seasons in Washington, where he's been playing since 1983. He played in his 17th season for the Redskins, establishing himself as the leader in longevity with the team. He surpassed Sammy Baugh and Monte Coleman, who both played 16 seasons. Green started all 16 regular season games at right cornerback, intercepting three passes to solidify his position as the Redskins career INT leader with 50. He's in third place among active INT leaders behind Eugene Robinson (56) and Ron Woodson (54). He also improved his spot as the Redskins all-time leader for most regular-season games played (250) and started (248). By the end of the playoffs, Green had started in 119 straight games at cornerback. He has started in 265 of 267 games in his career, including 17 starts in the playoffs. On the season, Green tallied 76 tackles (sixth on the team), 15 passes defensed and one fumble recovery. He also posted seven special teams tackles. Opening day was a clear indication that the quality of his play hadn't deteriorated. He made seven tackles vs. Dallas (six solo). Two weeks later vs. the Jets, he intercepted a pass to record at least one nt in 17 straight seasons, an NFL record. He also totaled five tackles and two passes defensed in that game, earning a game ball from coach Norv Turner. In Week 11 vs. the Giants, Green caused an INT, intercepted his 49th pass and posted three solo tackles, two assists and one pass defensed. He received another game ball after the Redskins beat Arizona in Week 14, making his 50th career INT, two solo tackles and one assist. Showing no signs of slowing down, he recorded nine solo tackles in Week 16 at San Francisco. He made four tackles in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit and intercepted a pass in the Divisional Playoff at Tampa Bay.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Green was named a second alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team after recording three INTs, 87 tackles and a team-high 22 passes defensed. The speedster also padded his career highlight film, saving several TDs by chasing down some of the fastest men in the league, including Jerry Rice, Napleon Kaufman and Frank Sanders. Those names joined the likes of Tony Dorsett, Eric Dickerson and Curtis Martin, other NFL greats who couldn't outrun Green. In Week 2 vs. San Francisco, Green made eight stops, including a TD-saving tackle from across the field on Rice. Green kept dangerous rookie receiver Randy Moss in check in Week 7. His first INT was in Week 12 at Oakland. He also made four solo tackles, deflected a pass that Shawn Barber intercepted and once used his speed to catch Kaufman from behind. Afterward, he was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week. His INT in Week 14 vs. the Panthers ended their final drive and preserved a Redskin victory. A week later, he intercepted a Trent Dilfer pass with 1:04 left that secured the Redskins 20-16 victory over Tampa Bay. 1997: Green earned his seventh Pro Bowl appearance in his 15th NFL season. Against the Giants in Week 15, he passed Monte Coleman in the Redskins record book for most games played (217). In the season-finale vs. the Eagles, Green intercepted a Bobby Hoying pass and returned it a career-high 83 yards for a TD. That play helped Green earn NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors for the fourth time in his career. In December, he received the "The USA Today 5th Annual Most Caring Athlete Award" for his community work, which includes his creation of the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation and Learning Center. 1996: Green crafted one of his finest seasons and earned his sixth trip to the Pro Bowl. He intercepted three passes and made 78 tackles (52 solo, three for a loss). He started all 16 games, playing 1,141 of the team's 1,181 defensive snaps (96 percent). 1995: Green had one of the best single-game performances of his career vs. Detroit in Week 8. He intercepted three passes, returning one seven yards in overtime for the game-winning TD, and made a season-high 12 tackles. 1994: Green led the Redskins with 20 passes defensed. His season highlight came in Week 7 vs. the Cardinals when he had two INTs, including a 27-yarder he returned for a TD. The INTs were the 36th and 37th of his career, as he passed Brig Owens as the Redskins all-time leader. 1993: Green's total of 90 tackles was his best mark since his rookie season. He led the team with 13 passes defensed and was second with four INTs. He also sprinted 78 yards with a fumble recovery for a TD vs. the Colts in Week 12, the longest such play in Redskins history. He was the only NFC player with two INTs in a game in 1993, picking off a pair vs. the Eagles in Week 3 and at Tampa Bay in Week 12. 1992: Green broke his right forearm with 4:15 left in Week 2 vs. Atlanta. He missed Weeks 3-10 due to the injury. He returned and crafted his top performance in

Week 14 vs. Dallas: nine tackles, three passes defensed and a key forced fumble on Michael Irvin in the fourth quarter. He missed the Redskins first-round playoff win over Minnesota with a bruised heel but saw action the next week in a Divisional Playoff at San Francisco. He failed to make the Pro Bowl for the first time since 1989. 1991: Green was chosen to play in his fifth Pro Bowl (his second straight as a starter) and was an unanimous all-pro. He tied for the team lead with five INTs, his best output since 1986, and posted a team-high 21 passes defensed. Green twice intercepted two passes in the same game, vs. Detroit in Week 1 and Philadelphia in Week 5. His pivotal int in overtime vs. the Oilers in Week 9 led to the game-winning FG. In the post-season, he again was superb with two ints. Green made a season-high 10 tackles vs. Dallas in Week 12. 1990: Green was named a starter in his fourth Pro Bowl appearance. He was a first-teamer on the all-NFC team for UPI, Football News and Pro Football Weekly; and a second-team all-NFL choice by AP. He began the year with ints in the first three games, a career first. In Week 3 vs. Dallas, he had seven tackles, two pass deflections and capped the Redskins win with an 18-yard int return for a TD. He made a season-best 10 tackles vs. the 49ers and also intercepted a pass. He also had ints vs. Phoenix and New Orleans to finish with four, the most since his five thefts in 1986. He had an int in the Redskins playoff win over Philadelphia. 1989: Against Phoenix in Week 5, Green had two first-quarter ints, helping the Redskins to an early lead. But a fractured wrist in Week 7 vs. Tampa Bay prematurely ended his season. Despite missing the final nine games, he was third on the team with five pass deflections. 1988: Green's value was evident in his absence. He broke a hand in the first quarter of Week 15 vs. Dallas and left the game, after which the Cowboys threw three TD passes to beat the Redskins, 24-17. He led the Redskins in pass deflections with 14 and also made several timely punt returns. His 13- and 18-yard returns vs. the Steelers in Week 2 helped set up a field goal and a TD in a 30-29 Redskins victory. He also made a 32-yard return vs. the Giants. 1987: Green made one of the most memorable plays in Redskins history in the NFC Championship game, applying a last-second hit at the goal line on a fourth-down play on Vikings running back Darrin Nelson, jarring the ball loose and securing the Redskins 17-10 victory. Green played despite tearing rib cartilage the week before in a first-round playoff game. The injury occurred when Green was returning a punt 52 yards for a TD in the Redskins 21-17 win over the Bears. His regular-season highlight came vs. Detroit in Week 10 (career-high three INTs). The last one was on the Lions final possession and preserved a 20-13 victory. Green went to the Pro Bowl for the third time. 1986: A succession of big plays led Green to his second Pro Bowl. In Week 2, his INT in the end zone with 30 seconds left sealed a 10-6 victory vs. the Raiders. He was slowed in Week 12 vs. Dallas when a bruised shoulder forced him from the lineup for the first time in his career. In the playoffs, Green intercepted a pass to set up the go-ahead TD in a 27-13 second-round upset of the Bears. On the season, he intercepted five passes and forced two fumbles. 1985: Green's punt returns of 99 yards and 73 yards were nullified in successive weeks. Nevertheless, his 13.4 average on 16 punt returns was the highest by a Redskins player since Eddie Brown's 13.5 in 1976. 1984: Green earned a starting Pro Bowl spot in his second season. He had a then career-high five ints, a figure he matched in 1986 and 1991. He made 87 tackles and a team-high 14 deflections. He also had a dramatic performance that cemented his all-star selection. With the Skins trailing Dallas 21-6 at halftime, Green returned an INT 32 yards for a TD. Later, he stopped a Cowboys drive with an int in the end zone, and the Redskins rallied for a 30-28 come-from-behind victory. 1983: Green set the tone for his NFL career the first time he touched the football with a 61-yard punt return in a preseason game vs. Atlanta. A contract dispute by Jeris White thrust him into the starting lineup on opening day vs. the Cowboys, and Green chased down Tony Dorsett from behind on a long run. He finished as the team's fourth-best tackler (109, team-high 79 solo stops). He earned a runner-up spot as AP NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year, and he was named to the Football Digest and AP all-rookie teams. He returned an int 72 yards for a TD in the Redskins 51-7 win over the Rams in an NFC playoff game.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Green is legendary at Texas A&I, where he was named to the Football Coaches All-American Division II team with 56 tackles and four ints in 1982. The Lone Star Conference Defensive Player of the Year. He returned two punts for TDs as a senior, 76 and 96 yards. But football was only half the story. His 10.08, 100-meter time was second behind Carl Lewis as a senior. Green was all-state in track and all-city in football at Jones High School in Houston. He has won the "NFL Fastest Man" competition four times over such notable track stars as Willie Gault, Ron Brown and Herschel Walker. Green earned the title "World's Fastest Athlete" in 1991. On the personal side, Darrell is very active in local youth groups. In 1988, he founded the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation, which provides financial and moral support for D.C. youth and their families. The centerpiece is his Learning Center at the Franklin Commons Housing Complex on Franklin Street in Northeast Washington. He hopes the center will be a model educational program for youth nationwide. Besides computers donated by IBM, the facility is equipped with up-to-date education programs such as the Reader Rabbit system, which teaches spelling and word selection. Program participants must attend for 10 hours each week, open a savings account, get a library card and, for those older than 18, get a voter registration card. Green also serves as a local vice president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He devoted charity time to the Big Brothers of America in the D.C. area, the homeless and has worked in several anti-drug campaigns. He runs an annual golf tournament to benefit Hope Springs Farm, which provides care for orphans, foster children and underprivileged children. Green's foundation also helps distribute a Thanksgiving dinner with the help of the Good Samaritan Foundation. The foundation hosts two benefits every year: "Christmas with the Redskins," where Redskins players "adopt" at-risk children, and the Christian Youth Day at Adventure World, when 200 children get free tickets to the theme park. Green has also testified at a Senate Judiciary Panel for drug prevention and appeared as the Redskins representative in the NFL-sponsored United Way commercial. Green received his bachelor of arts degree in general studies/social science on May 10, 1998, from St. Paul's College in Lawrenceville, VA. He's a native of Houston. He and his wife, Jewell, have three children: Jarrel, Jared and Joi. They live in Ashburn, VA.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Raiders in sixth round of 1991 (146th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent, June 12, 2000.

1999 SEASON: Started at left defensive end at Clev (9/12) and was credited with a tackle and fumble recovery. Started in Week 2 at Balt (9/19) and had one tackle and a QB pressure. Had three stops before injuring pectoral muscle vs. Sea (9/26). Inactive next eight weeks. Returned to play at Jax (12/2) and vs. Balt (12/12), but injury recurred and he went on IR (12/15).

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Has started 165 of a possible 172 games over 11 seasons; 135 starts have been at left tackle, 16 at right tackle, 13 at left guard and one at tight end.
- Awarded two game balls from Redskins coaches in 1999, one in Week 2 at the Giants (9/19) and one in Week 7 vs. the Bears (10/31).
- Started all 16 games at left tackle for the Bears in 1995 without allowing a sack.
- Earned NFL all-Rookie honors with Seattle in 1989.
- Became only the second rookie offensive lineman in Seattle history to start on opening day (1989).

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Seattle in first round of 1989 (15th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on June 17, 1999.

1999 SEASON: Heck continued to show extreme durability. After the free agent worked hard in the pre-season to earn the starting left tackle position, he started all 16 regular-season games and the Wild Card Playoff. Overall, he has started 165 of a possible 172 games in his career, including three playoff games. He earned two game balls in 1999. He and the rest of the offensive line were recognized for their solid play in Week 2 at the Giants, when the Redskins won in a 50-21 rout. He received the other one in Week 7 vs. the Bears, a game of special significance because it was against his former team. Heck helped anchor an offensive line that allowed only 31 sacks compared with a franchise-record 61 in 1998. He also helped lead the NFL's No. 2-ranked offense, which amassed 5,965 total yards, the third-highest total in franchise history. Heck tore a hamstring in the first quarter of the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit and was lost for the Divisional Playoff vs. Tampa Bay.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Heck opened his fifth straight season as Chicago's starting left tackle. He started 14 games at left tackle, missing Weeks 4-5 with a broken right big toe. 1997: Heck started all 16 games for the Bears at left tackle. 1996: Heck started all 16 games at left tackle for Chicago. 1995: Heck started all 16 games for the Bears at left tackle without allowing a sack. 1994: In his first season with the Bears, Heck started 14 games at left tackle. He injured his knee in Week 6 vs. New Orleans and missed the next two games. He returned to the starting lineup in Week 9 vs. Tampa Bay but missed the second half after re-injuring the knee. He started for the rest of the season. Heck started in the Bears playoff games vs. Minnesota and San Francisco. 1993: After spending the 1992 season at left guard, Heck moved back to right tackle, starting all 16 games for Seattle without missing a down. He was part of an offensive unit that led the AFC in rushing (125.9) for the first time in Seahawks history. 1992: After spending his first three seasons at left tackle, Heck moved to left guard, starting 13 games for Seattle. He injured his ankle in Week 7 vs. the Raiders and went on injured reserve, missing the next three weeks. He returned to the starting lineup in Week 11 vs. Kansas City and started the rest of the season. 1991: Heck started all 16 games at left tackle without missing an offensive snap. 1990: Heck started 16 games at left tackle and missed just nine plays all season. 1989: Heck played in all 16 games as a rookie, with eight starts at left tackle and one start at tight end. He earned NFL all-rookie honors. He earned his first start in the season-opener, becoming only the second rookie offensive lineman in Seattle history to start on opening day. His first and only career start at tight end came in Week 14 vs. Cincinnati, as the Seahawks opened in a double-tight end set. He played the rest of the game at tackle.

COLLEGE, PERSONAL: A four-year letterman at Notre Dame, Heck switched from tight end to tackle in his senior year. He earned first team all-America honors from The Sporting News, AP, UPI and Football News as a senior and was co-captain of a 12-0 national championship team. He started every game at tight end as a junior, catching five passes for 57 yards. He caught 16 passes for 155 yards and one TD in his career. In his prep career, Heck lettered in football, basketball and track at W.T. Woodson High School in Fairfax, VA, where his jersey has since been retired. His fifth grade teacher, Marylou Winkler of Annandale, VA, was named NFL Teacher of the Year in 1994 after Heck nominated her. Heck graduated with a degree in American Studies from Notre Dame. He and his wife, Jennifer, have four children: Jonathan, 6, and 3-year-old triplets Evelyn, Molly and Charlie. They live in Great Falls, VA, during the season and in Winnetka, IL, in the off-season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Finished as the Redskins second-leading rusher in 1999 with 257 yards on 78 carries and three TDs. Also caught eight passes for 72 yards.
- Set a Redskins rookie record in 1998 for rushing TDs in a season (eight), topping Don Bosseler's mark of seven set in 1957.
- Rushed for a career-high 433 yards in 1998.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 3rd round of 1998 (69th overall).

1999 SEASON: Hicks backed-up running back Stephen Davis most of the season, rushing 78 times for 257 yards and three TDs. His yardage total was the second-highest on the team. He also caught eight passes for 72 yards. He saw limited action through the first four games but in the fifth game at Ariz, Davis injured his ankle and Hicks stepped in, carrying the ball nine times for 45 yards, including a 14-yard TD run. He scored his second TD, an 11-yard run, in Week 14 at Arizona. In the next game vs. Ind, he played the entire second half after Davis spained his left ankle in the second quarter and was forced out of the game. Hicks carried the ball 11 times for 39 yards, including a long run of 10 yards. With Davis ruled inactive for the final two regular-season games, Hicks started in his place. In Week 16 at SF, he carried the ball 13 times for 48 yards, with a long run of 24 yards, and caught four passes for 52 yards, including a long of 25 yards. In Week 17 vs. Mia, he gained a season-high 53 yards on 22 carries and scored one TD, an eight-yard run that gave the Redskins a 7-0 second-quarter lead in their 21-10 victory. Hicks carried 23 times for 46 yards in the playoffs vs. Det (1/8/00). At TB (1/15/00), he grabbed two passes for 27 yards.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Hicks set a Redskins rookie record with eight rushing TDs. He was inactive for the first six weeks of the season but saw his first NFL action in Week 7 vs. Minnesota. In Week 8 vs. the Giants, he replaced an injured Terry Allen and responded by providing a burst for the Redskins offense for that game and the entire second-half of the season. He carried 15 times for 65 yards and his first career TD, the winning score in the Redskins first victory of the season vs. New York. The next week vs. Arizona, Hicks started his first NFL game and carried the ball 15 times for 64 yards and another TD. Hicks started his second straight game and had his best performance in Week 10 vs. Philadelphia. He rushed 26 times for 94 yards and three TDs in the Redskins second victory. In Week 11 vs. Arizona, he rushed seven times for 22 yards and notched his sixth TD. Hicks scored his record-tying seventh and record-breaking eighth rushing TDs for a rookie vs. Carolina in Week 14. Against Tampa Bay in Week 15, he carried 11 times for 59 yards before leaving the game early with a sprained ankle. He missed the season finale due to the injured ankle. For the season, he finished as the Redskins second-leading rusher with 433 yards on 122 carries and eight TDs. He caught four passes for 23 yards.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: As a senior at UCLA, Hicks was a first-team all-America selection by the American Football Coaches Association and The Sporting News. He was an all-Pac 10 first-team selection and the Bruins MVP in 1996. He received the John Boncheff Jr., Memorial Trophy as UCLA's Rookie of the Year and also became the first true freshman to lead the Bruins in rushing. He ranks second on UCLA's all-time scoring list with 324 points. He holds the Bruins career record with 55 TDs, breaking the prior record of 40 set by Gaston Green (1984-87). He totaled a Bruins single-season record with 26 TDs in 1997. He finished his career at UCLA with 638 carries for 3,140 yards (fifth in Bruins history) and 48 TDs. He added 46 receptions for 697 yards and seven TDs. Hicks was a Scholastic Coach all-American honorable mention, Super Prep all-Southwest, all-region, all-district 5-A Offensive Most Valuable Player and three-time all-area pick out of Burkburnett (TX) High School. He lettered three times in football, rushing for 3,600 yards and 41 TDs. He also played defensive back and intercepted six passes. He lettered in track four times and holds the school record in the 100 meters (10.51), long jump (23-3) and triple jump (44-3). He had three letters in both basketball and baseball. Hicks earned a degree in history from UCLA and was named to the 1997 Director's Honor Roll with a 3.33 GPA. Hicks was born Brian LaVell Hicks in Corsicana, TX. His father, Charles, holds most of the rushing records at Southwestern Oklahoma. His interests include cars and airplanes. He lives in Sterling, VA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Started all 16 games at right tackle in his rookie season.
- Earned game ball, along with the rest of the offensive line, for allowing no sacks in the Redskins 50-21 win over the Giants in Week 2 last season (9/19/99).

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 2nd round of 1999 (37th overall).

1999 SEASON: Jansen was a valuable addition as a rookie to the Redskins much-improved offensive line. He started all 16 regular-season games at right tackle on an offensive line that allowed only 31 sacks, compared with a franchise-record 61 in 1998. He made a huge impact in mini-camp, training camp and the pre-season, impressing coaches with his ability to grasp the Redskins system. He was inserted into the starting lineup for opening day vs. Dallas and stayed there throughout the season. He started both playoff games. Jansen was key to an offensive line that earned game balls for allowing no sacks in a 50-21 win over the Giants in Week 2.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: Jansen was a two-time all-Big Ten first-team selection at Michigan, where he set a school record with 50 straight starts. As a senior, he was named a first-team all-America by Burger King/American Football Coaches Association. In 1998, he paced Michigan's down lineman with 106 knockdowns on an offense that gained 4,955 yards. He helped Michigan to a 45-31 victory over Arkansas in Citrus Bowl, as the Wolverines rallied with 21 points in the final eight minutes. He was Michigan's co-captain as a junior and helped lead a Wolverines offense that posted 4,652 yards en route to the national championship. As a sophomore, Jansen started every game at right tackle for an offense that averaged 214 yards passing per game. As a redshirt freshman, he started every game at right tackle and helped propel an offense that amassed 5,140 yards. He moved to that position from tight end during spring drills. Jansen earned Prep Football Report all-Midwest and Detroit News Blue Chip honors as a tight end at Clawson High (MI). As a senior, he caught a school-record 31 passes for 420 yards. He totaled 68 catches in his career and 202 tackles, 4.0 sacks and four ints at linebacker to earn Oakland County Defensive MVP honors. Jansen lettered in basketball, track and baseball. At Michigan he earned the nickname "Rock." He and his wife, Martha, live in Purcellville, VA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Posted 47 blocks, the eighth-best total on the Redskins, and two tackles on special teams in 1999.
- Finished the 1998 season second on special teams with 14 tackles.
- Was the Redskins recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award in 1997.
- Caught four passes in 1997, three for TDs.
- Led the Redskins special teams with 40 blocks in 1995 and 41 in 1996.
- Caught a 1-yard TD pass that proved to be the winning margin in a 24-21 Washington win over the Rams in their final game in Los Angeles (12/24/94).
- Finished third on the team with four TD receptions in 1994 on only eight catches. He hadn't caught a pass in 24 career games before 1994.
- Caught a career-best two TD passes vs. the Colts (10/23) in 1994.
- Snared his first NFL reception at New Orleans (9/11) in 1994.
- Led the Redskins with 16 special teams tackles in 1993.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as an undrafted free agent on April 25, 1991.

1999 SEASON: Jenkins saw consistent action as a blocking tight end and on special teams. He caught one pass, a 30-yarder for a crucial first down in Week 11 versus the Giants. He posted two tackles and 47 blocks on special teams, including seven blocks on punt returns and six blocks on kickoff returns in Week 13 at Detroit. One solo tackle on punt coverage and four blocks on kickoff returns in Week 15 at Indianapolis, and five blocks on kickoff returns in Week 16 at San Francisco. He made his only start in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Jenkins played in all 16 games (three starts) primarily in a blocking roll on offense. He was an important member of the special teams unit. He was the second- leading tackler on special teams with 14 and had 76 blocks. He also played fullback in Week 16 to help fill the void due to injuries to Terry Allen, Larry Bowie and Skip Hicks. 1997: Jenkins caught four balls for 43 yards and three TDs. He played on 83 percent of special teams plays, finishing the season with eight tackles. He was second on the team with 37 blocks. His first catch of the season came in Week 6 versus the Cowboys when he hauled in a 13-yard TD pass from Gus Frerotte in the second quarter. His next catch came in Week 9 versus the Bears on a nine-yard scoring toss from Frerotte on the Redskins opening drive. He continued his perfect catch-to-TD ratio on a 1-yard TD grab in the second quarter of the Redskins Week 10 victory over the Lions. 1996: A mainstay on special teams, Jenkins played in 287 of the team's 442 (65 percent) special teams plays and totaled ten tackles and 41 blocks. He was an extension of an offensive line that allowed the third-fewest sacks in the league (22) and that helped the Redskins lead the NFL in rushing. 1995: Jenkins led the Redskins special teams with 40 blocks and had seven tackles. His only reception was a two-yarder vs. the Cardinals in Week 7. 1994: Jenkins became a scoring threat with half of his career-high eight pass receptions resulting in TDs. He continued to be one of the Redskins top special teamers, finishing fourth on the squad with 11 tackles, including two inside the 20-yard line. His best day came in Week 8 at Indianapolis; he caught 5- and 1-yard TD passes. He followed that with another scoring grab a week later vs. the Eagles at RFK. 1993: He led the Redskins with 16 special teams tackles and was third with 87 total hits. A shoulder injury in Week 15 at Dallas put him on injured reserve for the season's final game. 1992: Troubled by a back injury, Jenkins was sidelined for 11 weeks. In the last five games, he posted 17 total special teams hits, including a season-best six vs. the Giants. He was tapped for his first NFL start vs. the Giants in Week 13. 1991: Jenkins cleared waivers after the final 47-player roster was set and was placed on the practice squad. He was activated Nov. 30 when Ron Middleton was injured. Jenkins played as a backup H-back and on special teams the final four weeks of the season and into the postseason. He posted 11 total special teams hits, with a season-best five hits versus the Eagles in Week 16.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Jenkins was named MVP at Rutgers as a senior after catching a team-high 31 passes for 325 yards. A back-up tight end as a freshman and sophomore, he started four games at linebacker as a junior before switching back to tight end as a senior. Jenkins was a championship-caliber chess player while growing up in Staten Island, N.Y. He played in tournaments until high school and now plays for fun. He studied criminal justice at Rutgers and plans to enter graduate school and work toward a master's degree in forensics. A third-year bowling kegler with a 196 league average and a perfect game to his credit, Jenkins tapes Pro Bowlers Association tour events and studies them. A pro bowling career is something he would consider once his football career is over. His best tournament game was a 268 after bowling eight straight strikes. He once bowled a 644 series. He attended Curtis High School in Staten Island, N. Y. Jenkins has three children: James Jr., Brittany and Justin. He lives in Ashburn, Va.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Threw for a Redskins record 471 yards in the team's NFC East clinching, 26-20 win over San Francisco (12/26/99).
- Finished with a 90.0 QB rating in 1999, the fifth-best mark in the NFL.
- Career-highs in 1999 in completions (316), pass attempts (519), yards passing (4,005), completion percentage (61%), TD passes (24) and INTs (13).
- Set a Redskins record with 316 completions in 1999, and finished second in team history in passing yards (4,005), just 104 yards shy of Jay Schroeder's 1986 mark.
- Earned his first Pro Bowl selection last season.
- Named one of five finalists for last season's Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award (Redskins MVP).
- Twice chosen NFC Offensive Player of the Week in 1999, making it a total of six times in his career.
- Completed 20 of 28 passes for 231 yards, three TDs and no INTs in leading the Redskins to a 50-21 rout of the Giants (9/19/99). It was Washington's largest point total since 1991.
- Tied his career high with four TD passes, as the Redskins came back from a 21-0 deficit in a 38-36 win over Carolina (10/03/99), matching the team's greatest comeback ever.
- Has led teams to six fourth-quarter comebacks in his career.
- Is 26-15 as an NFL starter.
- Led NFL in fourth-quarter passing rating in 1997 (111.8) and 1996 (99.7).
- Had a career-high 109 passes without an INT from 10/12/97 to 11/19/97.
- Set a Vikings record for consecutive games with a TD pass (15).
- Threw a 3-yard TD pass to himself in 1997, only such play in NFL history.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Minnesota in 9th round of 1992 (227th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Acquired in trade (2/15/99) from Minnesota for 1999 first-round and third-round draft choices and a 2000 second-round pick.

1999 SEASON: Johnson had a career year in his eighth NFL season and capped it with his first Pro Bowl. He finished with a 90.0 QB rating (fifth-best in the NFL) after completing 316 of 519 (61%) for 4,005 yards with 24 TDs and 13 INTs. His 316 completions set a team record, topping Theismann's mark of 293 in 1981, and his 4,005 yards passing is second all-time in Redskins history, 104 yards shy of Jay Schroeder's 4,109 yards in 1986. Johnson's completions (316), passes attempted (519), yards (4,005), percentage (61%), TD (24) and INTs (13) were all career-highs. He was one of five finalists for the Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award (Redskins MVP). Johnson started all 16 games and both playoff contests. He directed a Redskins offense that finished second in the NFL in total yards with 5,905 yards. He was hot starting from opening day, throwing for a then-career-high and NFL-best 382 yards vs. Dallas. The next week, he completed 20 of 28 for 231 yards with three TDs and no INTs, leading the Redskins to a 50-21 rout of the Giants and earning NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors. It was the Redskins largest point total since 1991. He maintained that ranking after completing 17 of 28 passes for 241 yards in Week 3 vs. the Jets. The next week, he led the Redskins back from a 21-0 deficit to Carolina, completing 20 of 33 passes for 337 yards and tied a career-high four TDs in a 38-36 Redskins win. It matched the Redskins best comeback ever. He was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week for the second time in three weeks -- the first time a Redskins player has won the award twice in a season since Monk in 1991. His first interception didn't come until Week 6. In Week 13 at Det, Johnson completed 26 of 43 passes for 249 yards, exceeding the 3,000-yard mark for the second time in his career. He was sacked a season-high five times. The next week vs. Ariz, he completed 17 of 31 passes for 191 yards with two TDs and two INTs, establishing a career-high in passing yards (3,222) and matching his career-high in TD passes (20), both of which he set in 1997 with Minnesota. In Week 16 at SF, Johnson completed 32 of 47 passes for 471 yards and two TDs, one being a season-long, 65-yarder to Westbrook. He also rushed for a TD. His play led the Redskins back from a 20-10 fourth-quarter deficit to a 26-20 overtime victory that clinched the NFC East title. His 471 passing yards set a Redskins single-game total, surpassing Baugh's 446 yards in 1948. It was also an NFL season-high. His 32 completions tied him with Jurgensen (1967) and Friesz (1994) for the team's single-game completion record. Johnson played only the first half of the finale vs. Mia but returned to complete 15 of 31 passes for 171 yards and one TD in the Redskins win over Det in an NFC Wild Card Playoff. By season's end, Johnson had developed a 26-15 record (63 percent) as an NFL starter, including three playoff games.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Johnson started the season-opener vs. TB and tied a career-best with four TD passes in the Vikings victory. The next week vs. StL, he was forced out of the game in the fourth quarter with an undisplaced distal fracture of his right leg. He was inactive for the next five games. He returned to the sideline but was inactive as the third QB vs. TB (11/1). He replaced an injured Randall Cunningham in the first quarter vs. NO (11/8) and completed 28 of 38 passes (73.6 percent) for 316 yards. But Johnson broke his right thumb in that game and was sidelined again for the next five weeks. He returned vs. Jax (12/20) and completed 4 of 7 passes for 34 yards and a TD in relief of Cunningham in a 50-10 Vikings win. He was the Vikings backup to Cunningham in the playoffs but didn't play. 1997: Johnson finished fourth in the NFC in QB rating (84.5). Despite missing three games, he finished tied for third in the NFC in TD passes (20) and was fourth in passing yards (3,036). Johnson led the NFL in fourth-quarter passing with a 111.8 rating. He started the first 13 games of the season but injured his neck vs. GB (12/1) and went on injured reserve for the last three regular-season games and the playoffs. At the time of his injury, he led the NFC in third-down passing yards (862) and third-down completions (77). He threw a career-high 109 straight passes without an INT (10/12-11/9) and set a team record for consecutive games with a TD pass (15). He set a career-high for completions (33) and completion percentage (75 percent) vs. Chi (9/7) to earn NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors. The next week, Johnson totaled 334 yards passing vs. TB and completed 13 straight passes vs. GB (9/21). Against Car (10/12), he completed a 3-yard TD pass to himself to become the only player in NFL history to accomplish the feat. For that play, he won an ESPY for the NFL Play of the Year and the Fans Choice

Award. Johnson led the Vikings to three fourth-quarter comebacks during the season: Chi (9/7), Ariz (10/5), Chi (11/9). 1996: Johnson established himself as one of the NFL's top QBs. He played in 12 games with eight starts. He also started the Vikings playoff game. He earned NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors twice and finished third in the NFL in QB rating (89.4). He also tied for third in the NFC in TD passes (17), despite starting just eight games. His 62.7 completion percentage was the second-highest in Vikings history and fourth in the league. He was also fifth in TD percentage (5.5 percent) and tied for seventh in yards-per-pass attempt (7.26). Johnson's 99.7 QB rating in the fourth quarter led the NFC. He replaced an injured Warren Moon in the season opener vs. Det and threw his first career TD pass. It helped defeat the Lions. He started his first career game the next week vs. Atl and earned his first NFC Offensive Player of the Week distinction with 275 yards passing and two TDs. He completed a career-long 82-yard TD pass to Jake Reed at Oak (11/17). Johnson set a career-high with four TD passes and completed 19 of 26 passes (73.1 percent) vs. Ariz (12/1). His 152.4 QB rating vs. the Cardinals was the second-best single-game rating in Vikings history and earned him another NFC Offensive Player of the Week distinction. Johnson ran for a TD in the Vikings playoff game vs. Dallas. 1995: Johnson played for the World League's London Monarchs during the spring. He led the league in completions (194) and was second in yards (2,227) and TDs (13). He played with the Vikings in five games that season. His first action came vs. Pit (9/24), when he completed his only pass for 36 yards. He hit 10 of 17 in the fourth quarter vs. GB (10/22). He had completed 54 straight passes before suffering his first career INT in that game. Johnson replaced Warren Moon in the final quarter of games vs. NO (11/19) and TB (12/3) and saw his final action of the season vs. Clev (12/9), completing 9 of 11 passes for a career-best completion percentage (81.8). 1994: Johnson earned the Vikings backup role behind Moon due to a strong training camp and preseason performance. He played in four games, seeing his first career action vs. Chi (9/18) completing all three passes in the fourth quarter. He led the Vikings to their final TD in a 42-14 victory over the Bears. He also completed all five passes in the fourth quarter vs. TB (10/30). He saw his most extensive action vs. Det (12/17), when he replaced an injured Moon in the third quarter and completed 14 of 29 for 104 yards. 1993: Johnson dressed as the Vikings third QB but wasn't active for the first 10 games. He didn't dress for the final six games. 1992: Johnson, selected in the ninth round (227th overall) of the 1992 draft by the Vikings, was the 14th QB taken. He was inactive for 15 games. Activated but didn't play vs. Wash (10/25).

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: A four-year letterman for Florida State, Johnson played in nine games during the 1991 season. He started and completed 16 of 26 passes for 190 yards and one TD in a 40-15 victory over Louisville in 1991. As a senior, Johnson completed 37 of 61 passes (60.7 percent) for 462 yards and five TDs and rushed for 52 yards on 10 carries. He began the 1990 season as the Seminoles starting QB but was replaced by Casey Weldon, a former Redskins QB, in the sixth game. Johnson finished the season with a career-high 1,136 yards, completing 109 of 163 passes (66.9 percent) with eight TDs. Born James Bradley Johnson in Marietta, GA, he became an all-American QB at Owen High in Black Mountain, NC. Also an all-state basketball player, he was a high school teammate of former NBA center Brad Dougherty. He lettered four times each in football and basketball. He once bowled a 278 in a charity league for leukemia. Johnson runs a program called Brad's Buddies involving the Muscular Dystrophy Association, Children's Miracle Network and Gillete Children's Hospital. He's also active in Toys for Tots. Last season, he took part in the United Way Hometown Huddle with a visit to the National Children's Center in Washington, D.C. He earned a degree in physical education from Florida State. In addition to football, he played on the Seminoles basketball team as a freshman in 1987-88, starting 11 games. His wife's name is Nikki.

FORMULA FOR QB RATING

"Quarterback Rating" is the most complicated of the NFL's official statistics. The formula uses five factors: attempts, completions, gross yardage, touchdowns, and interceptions. It was designed so that a score of 100 would mean "great," with 90 as "very good," 80 as "good" - similar to an A=B-C grading scale. It is possible to score over 100, a feat accomplished by just one QB in 1999... the Rams' Kurt Warner (109.2).

Here's the formula which works when entered into Microsoft Excel. Be careful, there are 196 characters which must be typed perfectly, without any spaces, in order for everything to calculate correctly:

A1 = attempts; B1 = completions; C1 = gross yards; D1 = touchdowns; E1 = interceptions

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Voted to NFC Pro Bowl team in 1999; alternate in 1996.
- Chosen one of five finalists last season for the Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award (Redskins MVP), which went to Stephen Davis.
- Earned a game ball, along with the other offensive linemen, for helping overpower the Giants in Washington's 50-21 victory (9/19/99).
- First NFL start was at left tackle vs. Arizona on 10/16/94.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 2nd round of 1994 (31st overall).

1999 SEASON: Johnson started all 16 regular-season games and both playoff contests at right guard. He threw punishing blocks that opened huge holes for 1,405-yard-rusher Stephen Davis and others. He also helped fortify an offensive line that allowed only 31 sacks, compared with a franchise-record 61 in 1998. He made the NFC Pro Bowl team for the first time as a reserve and was one of five finalists for the Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award (Redskins MVP), which went to Davis. Johnson and the other offensive linemen received game balls for their play in Week 2, when they helped the Redskins gain 395 yards in a 50-21 rout, Washington's largest point total since the 1991 season.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Johnson started 10 games at left guard, while battling through injuries for most of the season. He felt lingering effects from his 1997 shoulder surgery. He was inactive in Week 7 vs. Minnesota with a knee injury. In Week 11 vs. Arizona, he started at left guard but was forced out early with a knee injury that landed him on injured reserve. 1997: Inactive for the first three games due to offseason shoulder surgery, Johnson returned to the lineup in Week 4. He showed his versatility in Week 9 vs. the Bears, switching from right guard to the left side, where he ignited a rushing attack that amassed 203 yards. Johnson played left guard the rest of the season until he was made inactive for the last two games with a shoulder injury. 1996: Johnson was named a first-team Pro Bowl alternate at guard. He played in 917 of 999 offensive plays (92 percent). He and other offensive lineman paved the way for Terry Allen's first Pro Bowl. Allen gained a then team-record 1,353 yards and an NFL-leading 21 TDs. In their nine victories, the Redskins rushed for an average of 140 yards and two TDs. 1995: The Redskins were 5-2 averaged 148 yards rushing in games when Johnson played at least half of the plays — and 1-8 when he didn't. A sprained ankle and a sprained right knee forced Johnson him to miss six games. 1994: Johnson was used mainly on special teams and filled in at both offensive tackle spots for Jim Lachey and Ed Simmons. He made his first NFL start in Week 7 vs. the Cardinals, replacing an injured Lachey. He also saw extensive action in the Redskins-Cardinals rematch in Week 14 when Lachey suffered a deep laceration to his leg. Johnson took 29 snaps in that game before spraining his right foot. The injury kept him out of the last two regular-season games.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: "I'm a real Hog. It's a lineman's dream to come to an organization like this," said Johnson on draft day in 1994. A second-team all-American as a senior at Temple University, Johnson was also a first-team all-Big East selection. He tallied 75 knockdown blocks, and more than 80 percent of the Owls 1,257 rushing yards came through his territory. Johnson played in every game as a sophomore and was named a second-team all-Big East choice after posting 55 knockdowns. As a freshman, Johnson started nine games at left tackle and had 47 knockdown blocks, including 38 in his last six games. Johnson was redshirted as a freshman. He graduated from Temple with a bachelor's degree in social administration and a master's degree in social work. He has since donated $250,000 to Temple's athletic department to build a weight room for the football team. He hopes to develop a youth educational program after his NFL career. The current Tré Johnson Foundation helps less fortunate children. Johnson was an all-league, all-county and all-section choice as an offensive lineman at Peekskill (NY) High School. He earned those same honors while handling shot put and discus duties for the track team. He agreed to complete master recordings in the spring 1999 of at least one composition for Gridiron Records for an album tentatively titled "NFL Jams." Born Edward Stanton Johnson III, he was nicknamed "Tré" by his mother because he's the third person to bear that family name. He has a son, Nygel Mark Johnson and lives in Mitchellville, MD.

HAIL TO THE REDSKINS

"Hail to the Redskins!
Hail Victory!
Braves on the Warpath,
Fight for old D.C.!

Run or Pass and score
we want a lot more!
Beat 'em Swamp 'em Touchdown
let the points soar!

Fight on, Fight on
Til you have won,
Sons of Wash-ing-ton!"

On August 17, 1938, "Hail to the Redskins" made its debut as the official fight song of the Washington Redskins. The song was written by renowned band leader Barnee Breeskin and the lyrics were penned by Hollywood movie star Corinne Griffith, the wife of team founder and owner, George Preston Marshall. CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Saw his most extensive action in 1999, starting 15 of 16 regular-season games and both playoff games at left outside linebacker.
- Made a career-high 68 tackles, including 45 solo stops and 21 assists, in 1999.
- Recorded his first career sack vs. Dallas on Monday night (10/4/98).
- Had his only career interception vs. Tampa Bay (12/19/98).

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 2nd round of 1997 (51st overall).

1999 SEASON: Jones established himself as a solid NFL linebacker, starting 15 of 16 regular-season games and both playoff contests at the left outside position. He posted a career-high 68 total tackles, including 45 solo stops and 21 assists, as well as eight QB hurries, one pass defensed and a half sack. Jones stepped in for perennial all-pro linebacker Ken Harvey, who retired before the season started. Jones began by collecting five tackles (four solo), in the season-opener vs. Dallas. He also had two QB pressures. The next week at the Giants, he had six tackles (four solo) and a QB pressure. Jones had five tackles vs. Carolina in Week 4. His best games of the season were in Week 8 vs. Buffalo and Week 14 at Indianapolis. He made seven solo tackles vs. the Bills and pressured fleet-footed QB Doug Flutie twice. He also tallied seven solos vs. the Colts. Jones missed the regular-season finale vs. Miami due to back spasms before returning to start both playoff games, when he posted a sack.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Jones played in all 16 games with five starts. While backing up Ken Harvey and battling through back problems, he still contributed with 34 tackles (22 solo). He added a sack, one QB pressure, one pass defensed and his first career INT. Jones helped on special teams with nine tackles and 21 blocks. He spent the first 11 weeks substituting at linebacker behind Harvey. He had his only sack in Week 1 vs. the Giants. He started his first game vs. the Raiders in Week 12, tallying three solo stops and one QB pressure. He started the rest of the season for the injured Harvey. In Week 13 vs. the Chargers, Jones had seven tackles (three solo). He made his first career INT vs. Tampa Bay in Week 15 to accompany eight tackles in the Redskins fourth straight win. 1997: Jones made his first NFL start in Week 2 vs. Pittsburgh as an extra linebacker in a certain formation. His first tackle was in Week 4 vs. the Jaguars and his first sack was in Week 6 vs. the Cowboys on a key third-down play late in the fourth quarter.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Jones played defensive end in his last two seasons at Colorado, finishing the 1996 season with 78 tackles, 7.5 sacks, 12 tackles-for-loss and three forced fumbles. His 25 QB hurries were second-most in a season in school history. Jones set a school single-game record with eight QB pressures vs. Texas A&M, in addition to 3.0 sacks. He earned second-team all-Big 12 honors as a senior and junior. He was fifth on the team in tackles (62) and second in tackles for a loss (15) as a junior. He finished the year with 8.0 sacks and led the team in QB pressures (16) and forced fumbles (three). As a left outside linebacker, he earned second team all-Big Eight honors. He had 67 tackles and led the team with 6.5 sacks. Jones got a medical redshirt after suffering a knee injury in August drills as a sophomore. He lettered as a true freshman and played in 10 games, making 3.0 sacks. He earned almost every honor possible as a senior at John F. Kennedy High School in Denver. He was a first-team all-America selection by USA Today, Parade Magazine, Blue Chip Report, Super Prep and Tom Lemming's Prep Football Report. Jones also received The Denver Post's coveted Golden Helmet Award. Jones was named first-team all-state during on offense as a tight end. He also excelled in other sports. As a senior, he averaged 14 points and eight rebounds in basketball and played on the McDonald's all-American team. He won the state triple jump title with a mark of 47-8 3/4. An Honor Roll student and member of the National Honor Society in high school, he graduated with a 3.9 GPA. Jones twice earned "Academic Starters" honors in college and graduated with a degree in small business management. He's very active in the community and speaks to elementary students about the evils of drug and alcohol abuse. Last season, he and his wife, Valerie, attended the Knockout Abuse fundraiser that supports victims of domestic abuse. In 1992, he was awarded the Fred Steinmark Award by The Rocky Mountain News for excellence in academics, athletics and citizenship. Jones and his wife Valerie have a daughter, Avery, and live in Sterling, VA.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Philadelphia in 5th round 1997 (152nd overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on August 30, 1998.

1999 SEASON: Kalu, a pass rushing specialist, played in 12 games at defensive end, recording 25 QB pressures, 16 tackles (11 solo) and 3.5 sacks, all career-highs. He also had one pass defensed and one forced fumble. His pressures and sack totals were fourth-best on the team. In Week 5 at Arizona, he fractured his left foot and was inactive for the next four games. He returned in Week 10 vs. the Giants with one solo tackle, a sack, three QB pressures and a forced fumble that Marco Coleman picked up and returned 42 yards for a TD. His next big games were in Week 15 at San Francisco (one solo tackle, four QB pressures, one tackle-for-loss) and in Week 16 vs. Miami (a sack, two solo tackles, one tackle-for-loss, four QB pressures). The four pressures matched his career-best. Kalu also made five tackles (four solo) in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Kalu played in 13 games in his first season with the Redskins and started once. He had 15 tackles (13 solo), 14 QB pressures and 3.0 sacks. He saw limited action on special teams and made two tackles. Kalu made his first career sack vs. his former team, the Eagles, in Week 6. He added three tackles and one QB pressure on the day. In Week 12 vs. Oakland, Kalu substituted at defensive end and tallied four QB pressures. He started his only game in Week 13 vs. San Diego and had three tackles and one QB pressure. Kalu's best game was in Week 14 vs. Carolina, when he had three solo tackles, two QB pressures and a sack. He made a solo stop and his third sack in the season-finale vs. Dallas. 1997: Kalu played in his first NFL game for the Eagles vs. the Giants in the season-opener. He played mainly in passing situations. In Week 2 vs. Green Bay and Week 5 vs. Washington, he played on special teams. He was inactive for the last 13 games.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: First name is: Ndukwe (pronounced EN doo kway). Last name is Kalo (pronounced: ka LOO). In the Ibo langauge, Ndukwe means "long life and prosperity" and Kalu means "god of thunder." Born in Baltimore, MD, he was the first in his family to be US-born after the family moved from Nigeria. A three-year starter at defensive end for Rice, Kalu compiled a school-record 20 sacks in his career. He played in 44 games with 31 starts and totaled 141 tackles. As a sophomore, he earned all-Southwest Conference honors and set a Rice single-season record with 8.0 sacks. He was an all-state selection as a senior at John Marshall (TX) High School. In his junior year, he led his team to the state Class 5A Division II title. Kalu also lettered in basketball and track during his prep years. He enjoys playing dominoes and reading fiction novels for relaxation. He lives in Ashburn, VA, during the season and in San Antonio, TX, in the off-season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Tallied a career-best 22 QB pressures in 1999.
- NFC Defensive Player of the Week after seven tackles (five solo), 3.0 sacks and one forced fumble vs. NYJ (9/26/99). Sack total was a single-game career-best.
- Career-highs in tackles (76), solos (58), assists (18) and sacks (7.0) in 1998.
- Forced a fumble by the Cardinals Leeland McElroy in overtime to set up the Redskins winning score in the inaugural game at FedEx Field (9/14/97).
- Career-best 10 tackles vs. the Eagles (11/15/98).

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted in 1st round of 1997 (17th overall).

1999 SEASON: Lang tallied 22 QB pressures, 57 tackles (36 solo), 6.0 sacks, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery. His sack total was the team's third-best mark. Lang started the first nine games and had his best performance of the year in Week 3 at the Jets. He played like a defensive lineman possessed, posting season-highs in tackles (seven), solo stops (five) and sacks (3.0). His sack total was a single-game career-high. He also caused a crucial fumble that helped secure the Redskins victory. With the Jets trailing, 20-17, late in the fourth quarter, Lang got two sacks, the second forcing a fumble by QB Rick Mirer that Dan Wilkinson recovered at the Jets 21-yard line. Stephen Davis scored soonafter to put the Redskins up by 10 en route to their 27-20 victory. Lang was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week. He and the rest of the Redskins defensive line also earned game balls. He had another big game the next week vs. Carolina, tallying a season-high six QB pressures and four tackles, two for losses. In Week 6 at Dallas, he had six tackles, one QB pressure and one pass deflected. He started at left defensive end in Week 9 at Philadelphia but moved to the right side after Marco Coleman suffered a first-quarter spinal injury and was lost for the game. Playing end and tackle vs. Miami in Week 16, he collected two pressures, one solo, one forced fumble, and two passes defensed.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Lang started all 16 games. He made a career-high 76 tackles (56 solo, 18 assists). He also led the team with three forced fumbles, was second with 7.0 sacks and 20 QB pressures, and third with nine passes defensed. He saw limited action on special teams. Lang started slowly but showed his talents in the second half of the season. In Week 6 vs. the Eagles, he made six tackles (three solo) and notched his first sack of 1998. Against the Giants in Week 8, he had five tackles, two QB pressures and two passes defensed in the Redskins first victory. He had six tackles, a sack and a forced fumble vs. Arizona in Week 9. The next week, he tallied eight tackles (four solo), four QB pressures, 2.0 sacks and a forced fumble in a win over Philadelphia. In Week 11 vs. Arizona, he posted five solo tackles, one tackle for a loss, one QB pressure and a pass defensed. He continued with seven solo tackles, three QB pressures and a sack in the Redskins win over Oakland in Week 12. He had another big game in the Redskins Week 15 victory over Tampa Bay: seven tackles, two passes defensed, two QB pressures and a sack. 1997: As a rookie, Lang was slowed by a severe inner ear infection that required surgery and a lengthy hospital stay. He missed five games. Upon returning in Week 12 vs. the Giants, he had eight tackles (four solo), four QB hurries, one batted pass and a fumble recovery. Two weeks later vs. Arizona, he had five tackles, five QB hurries, two batted passes and a half sack. He ended the season with eight tackles at New York and seven tackles and a half sack vs. the Eagles.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Lang started every game for Miami at right end as a junior and led the team with 11.5 sacks, the fourth-most in school history. He was first on the team with seven tackles for loss. He had 66 tackles, the best mark for a Miami lineman, and caused a pair of fumbles. As a sophomore, Lang totaled a career-high 73 tackles, 3.5 sacks and four tackles for loss. He had his career-best tackle total at Pittsburgh with 12 total stops. As a freshman, he played in 12 games and started nine. He was voted Big East Rookie of the Year. For the season, he made 51 tackles, 8.0 sacks and an INT that led to Miami's go ahead TD vs. Boston College. Lang was redshirted as a freshman and spent the season on the Hurricanes scout team. As a senior at Maynard Evans High School in Orlando, Fla., Lang was named a first-team all-American by Football News, as well as a SuperPrep all-American. He was also named to the Blue Chip Illustrated Dream Team. He punted for Maynard Evans, averaging 38.7 yards on 23 punts. He was also a three-year starter in baseball and basketball. He batted .370 in baseball and averaged 10 points a game on the court. He played in seven games for Miami's baseball team in 1995 and was drafted in the 43rd round in 1995 by the White Sox. Lang majored in sociology at Miami and was very active in the community, speaking to children at Miami's Children's Hospital and at high schools in the Miami area. He lives in Ashburn, Va., during the season and in Ocoee, Fla., in the off-season. He enjoys traveling and fishing.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Finished second on the Redskins in 1999 in special teams blocks with 89.
- Played in 15 games for the Jets in 1995, his most extensive season as a pro.
- Named special teams MVP on the Jets in 1995 after making a team-high 25 special teams tackles.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by NYJ in 6th round of 1995 draft (178th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on Sept. 21, 1999.

1999 SEASON: Mason was a welcomed addition for the Redskins after they signed the free agent on Sept. 21 with the season two games old. The special teamer played in the last 14 regular-season games, recording 89 blocks, the team's No. 2 mark. He also saw limited time at linebacker, tallying three tackles and one pass defensed. In the playoffs, Mason came off the bench to record three tackles and one assist. His best performances were in Week 3 at the Jets (six blocks on punt returns and a team-high four blocks on kickoff returns); Week 9 at Philadelphia (one assisted tackle on kickoff coverage, team-high seven blocks on kickoff returns); and Week 12 at Detroit (two assisted tackles on kickoff coverage, six blocks on kickoff returns).

PRO CAREER: 1998: After Carolina waived Mason on Aug. 25, Jacksonville signed him as a free agent on Dec. 2. Mason played in the final four regular-season games and both playoff contests for the Jaguars. He finished with nine tackles (five solo) in limited time at linebacker and five special teams stops. In the postseason, he made four tackles on defense and two on special teams. He saw his first action in three years in a Dec. 6 game at Minnesota, competing in 13 plays with two tackles on defense and one on special teams. He played linebacker for 20 plays in the regular-season finale, making six tackles and two tackles on special teams. He saw action in seven plays in an AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. New England and in 23 plays in the Divisional Playoff at the Jets, making four tackles on defense. He had a special teams tackle in each game. 1997: Tampa Bay signed Mason on April 22 but waived him on Aug. 19 in the cut to 60 and he sat out the season. 1996: Mason entered the Jets training camp as their backup right linebacker but suffered a season-ending knee injury in a pre-season game vs. the Giants on Aug. 17. He spent the rest of the year on injured reserve. 1995: Mason led the Jets with 25 tackles on special teams; his teammates named him the Jets special teams MVP. He was inactive for the season-opener at Miami but played in the other 15 games. He made three special teams tackles in games vs. Jacksonville (Sept. 17) and at Seattle (Nov. 26).

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Mason was a four-year letterman at North Carolina. He finished with 184 tackles. As a senior in 1994, he started every game at left linebacker and was second on the team with 76 tackles. He posted eight tackles, one int and two passes defensed in the Sun Bowl vs. Texas. He didn't start as a junior but had 76 tackles, 2.5 sacks and one int. As a sophomore, he mainly saw action on special teams. As a redshirt freshman, he played in 11 games with nine tackles. He redshirted in 1990. Mason graduated in 1995 with a degree in sociology. He attended Jordan Matthews High School in Siler City, NC, where he played outside linebacker and tailback. He received all-conference and all-East North Carolina honors, in addition to being named his conference's linebacker of the year as a senior. He and his wife, Sonya Renee, have a daughter Sydney Lenee. They live in Herndon, VA. He enjoys ministering to the homeless.

PLAYOFF TESTED

Only Tyrus McCloud from Louisville and Joe Zelenka from Wake Forest have been on a NFL roster and have no post-season experience. Of the 58 Redskins who have been on a NFL roster, 56 of them have participated in the playoffs. For Derrick Ham and Rodney Williams, their experience came in the form of winning the 2000 World Bowl in the NFL Europe League.

The 56 veteran Redskins with playoff experience have played a total of 208 playoff games, 15 Super Bowls, and 2 World Bowls.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Produced 1,000-yard rushing seasons in 1996, 1997 and 1998.
- Rushed for 1,042 yards in 1998, only the sixth player in NFL history to gain more than 1,000 yards for different teams in consecutive seasons.
- Compiled career-highs of 1,249 yards and 301 carries in 1996, which included a career-high and Jets single-game record of 199 yards rushing (10/27/96).
- Caught career-high 71 passes for the Jets in 1995.
- First career 100-yard rushing effort with 116 yards on 24 attempts (10/26/95).

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Jets in 5th round of the 1993 (120th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on March 22, 2000.

1999 SEASON: Murrell caught 49 passes, his second-highest career total, for 335 yards. He caught five passes for 49 yards in the season-opener at Philadelphia, including a 19-yarder on a 3rd-and-9 play in a scoring drive that cut the Eagles lead to 24-15 in a 25-24 Arizona win. He caught seven passes vs. Washington in Week 5, a personal-best in a Cardinals uniform. He started vs. Dallas and produced a season-high 72 yards rushing in a 13-9 Arizona win. The next week, he tallied a season-best 50 receiving yards on five catches in a 34-24 Cardinals win at the Giants. His 23-yard catch-and-run moved the Cardinals to the Giants 24-yard line in a scoring drive that gave Arizona a 27-17 lead with four minutes left. He caught five passes (39 yards) for the second straight game in a 21-17 victory over the Eagles on Dec. 5. Four receptions came in the second half, including a 17-yarder over the middle to open the game-winning drive, an 8-yarder to convert a third-and-5, and a 6-yarder in a 16-play, 80-yard scoring drive that cut the Eagles lead to 17-14 with 4:31 left. He accounted for nearly one-half of the Cardinals offensive production at Washington in Week 13 with 41 yards rushing (season-best 5.1 rushing average) and 44 yards receiving. Murrell ended the season vs. Green Bay with 13 yards rushing and 37 yards receiving on five catches.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Murrell upgraded Arizona's rushing attack in his first season with the Cardinals. (The Jets traded Murrell and a seventh-round draft pick to Arizona for a third-round choice in the 1998 draft.) He rushed for 1,042 yards on 274 carries with eight TDs, becoming the Cardinals first 1,000-yard rusher since Garrison Hearst in 1995 (1,070 yards). He led Arizona with 10 TDs (eight rushing, two receiving). His rushing TDs in three straight weeks (2-4) were a Cardinals first since 1995. He duplicated the feat seven weeks later with rushing TDs in Weeks 11-13. Murrell shined in postseason play with a 74-yard run at Dal (1/2), the Cardinals longest play from scrimmage in 1998. In Week 2 at Sea, Murrell was held to 15 yards on five carries in the first half before gaining 64 yards on 15 carries in the second half. He exploded for 101 yards on 12 attempts in the fourth quarter vs. Phil (9/20). He gained 86 yards on nine carries in the game's last drive before running 25 yards into the end zone at the two-minute warning to seal the 17-3 Cardinals victory. Overall, his 145 yards (6.6 average on 22 carries) was the third-best total of his career and marked the first Arizona running back to gain 100 yards in 31 games. In a 20-7 Arizona win over Chi (10/11), he rushed for a game-high 60 yards on 21 carries and caught one pass for 24 yards. Slowed during practice by a calf injury, he didn't start at the NYG (Oct. 18) and carried once for no yards. He was inactive at Det (11/1) but returned healthy vs. Wash (11/8) to gain 107 yards on 23 attempts in a 29-27 Cardinals win. At Wash (11/22) he gained 92 yards on 20 carries with his first rushing TD in six weeks in a 45-42 win. After gaining six yards in the first half at KC (11/29), he gained 71 yards on six carries (11.8 average) in the second half. He crafted runs of 31 and 20 yards and caught an 18-yard pass. Murrell scored both Arizona TDs vs. the NYG (12/6) on 20-yard catch-and-run in the first quarter and 8-yard second-quarter run. He gained 174 yards on 32 carries and caught two passes for 15 yards in a 20-17 overtime win at Phil (12/13). He carried 20 times alone on first down in that game for 118 yards, an average of 5.9 yards. He vaulted over the 1,000-yard mark for the third straight year vs. NO (12/20) with 65 yards on 19 carries. He was a key post-season component in a 20-7 Wild Card victory at Dal (1/2), he rushed for 95 yards on 12 attempts. Once, he dashed 74 yards up the middle, as Cowboys speedster Deion Sanders caught him from behind three yards short of a TD. In the first quarter, he took a shovel pass for a 12-yard TD. In the Divisional Playoff at Min (1/10) he ended up rushing for 62 yards on 15 attempts and catching three passes for 52 yards. 1997: In his final season with the Jets, Murrell carried 300 times for 1,086 yards. He was the second Jets player to post consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons. He finished seventh in the AFC in rushing and had 25 runs of 10 yards or more. His rushing proficiency mirrored the team's success. He gained 774 yards in nine Jets wins and 312 yards in seven defeats. He opened the year with 131 yards on 24 carries in a 41-3 win at Seattle. He led the NFL with 10 rushes for first downs. After gaining just 27 yards vs. Buf (9/7), he rebounded at NE (9/14) with 18 rushing attempts for 110 yards (6.1 average). He helped seal a 23-22 Jets victory over Oak (9/21) with runs of 20 and 10 yards late in the fourth quarter. He also had a 4-yard scoring run. He tallied a career-high 40 carries, tying the franchise record, and gained 156 yards in a 31-14 win at Cin (9/28). He continued with 99 yards on 30 attempts and a 24-yard TD run in a 16-12 win at Ind (10/5). He had 69 yards on 12 carries (5.8 avg) at Mia (11/9), including a career-long, 43-yard TD run. He had 28 carries for 95 yards in a 23-21 win over Min (11/23). He gained 73 yards on 26 carries with a 7-yard scoring run vs. TB (12/14). 1996: In his first full season as a starter, Murell set a Jets record with 301 rushes for a career-high 1,249 yards and six TDs. He was the first Jets player since 1985 to top 1,000 yards rushing. He had five 100-yard outings and consecutive 100-yard games with 134 yards on 31 carries at Wash (9/29) and 102 yards on 20 carries vs. Oak (10/6), a first since McNeil in 1987. He also caught 17 passes for 81 yards and a score. He opened the season with 94 yards on 17 carries at Denver. He had back-to-back 100-yard efforts vs. the Redskins and Raiders. He had a record-breaking 199-yard effort at Arizona that included an NFL season-long 78-yard run late in the fourth quarter to clinch the Jets only win of the season. The next week, he gained 128 yards with two scores vs. NE (11/10), the first two-TD game of his career. He eclipsed the 1,000-yard mark at Buffalo (11/24) with 103 yards on 19 attempts, his fifth 100-yard game of the season. 1995: Murrell generated 1,260 yards from scrimmage (795 rushing, 465 receiving). His 71 catches topped the Jets team record of 67. He opened the season with 47 yards rushing and 52 yards receiving at Mia (9/3). He led the Jets in rushing yards (52) and receiving yards (68) vs. Ind (9/10), including a career-long 43-yard reception and season-long 30-yard run. In his first NFL start, he averaged 5.9 rushing yards (16-95) vs. Oak (10/1). He led the Jets with seven catches (45 yards) at Car (10/15). He accounted for 33 yards of a 61-yard game-winning TD drive in a 17-16 Jets win over Mia (10/22). His other big games included the following: 68 yards rushing and 22 yards receiving vs. Ind (10/29); 70 rushing yards on just 12 carries vs. NE (11/5); 36 yards rushing and 52 yards receiving, including a 41-yard TD catch, in a 28-26 loss to Buf (11/19); and 116 yards rushing on 24 attempts at Sea (11/26), his first career 100-yard rushing effort. 1994: Murrell played in just 10 games due to a mid-season knee injury, rushing for 160 yards on 33 carries and catching seven passes for 76 yards. He also returned 14 kickoffs for 268 yards (19.1 avg). 1993: As a rookie, Murrell was fourth on the Jets in rushing with 157 yards on 34 attempts. He also caught five passes for 12 yards and returned 23 kickoffs for 342 yards. He ran 37 yards for a TD vs. NE (9/26), his first career score.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Murrell was a two-year starter at West Virginia and finished seventh on the school's all-time rushing charts with 2,097 yards. He ranked second in Mountaineers single-season history with 1,145 rushing yards as a senior. He had surgery to repair a meniscus tear in his left knee in April 1999. His father was an Army sergeant. He was raised in Hawaii and lived in Europe for five years. His high school teacher and football coach, Gary Clark, was named NFL High School Football Coach of the Year in 1998 in a program sponsored by NFL Charities. He attended Leilehua (HI) High , setting a state single-game prep rushing record with 332 yards. He gained more than 1,000 yards in his first four games as a senior. He also starred in track and basketball. He majored in physical education at West Virginia. He and his wife, Tania, have two young children: Tylan and Aryn. He was born in Fayetteville, NC.

Cory RAYMER

Center

6th Season
Ht: 6-2 Wt: 288
Wisconsin
Born: March 3, 1973
Signed through 2001

52

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Has 37 straight starts for the Redskins, including both playoff games in 1999.
- Part of an offensive line that earned game balls after the Redskins gained 395 yards against the Giants, 50-21 (9/19/99).
- Played in all but one of the Redskins 1,029 offensive snaps in 1998.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 2nd round of 1995 (37th overall).

1999 SEASON: Raymer was a fixture on an offensive line that helped propel the NFL's No. 2-ranked offense. He started all 16 regular-season games and both playoff games at center, reaching a total of 37 straight games started. He earned a game ball, as did the rest of the offensive line, for his play in Week 2 vs. the Giants, when the Redskins offense amassed 395 yards yards (164 rushing, 231 passing) en route to a 50-21 rout. It was the most points for the Redskins since beating Atlanta in 1991. Raymer was integral on an offensive line that yielded only 31 sacks.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Raymer stayed healthy for an entire season for the first time in his career. He started all 16 games at center, becoming a cornerstone of an otherwise injury-plagued offensive line. He played in all but one of 1,029 offensive plays. 1997: Raymer played in six games as a backup to Jeff Uhlenhake. He started the final three games after a knee injury sidelined Uhlenhake for the rest of the year. 1996: It was a frustrating season for Raymer, as injuries sidelined him for most of the season. He started the first five games, playing in 100 percent of the snaps, until injuring his knee in Week 5 vs. the Jets. He got back into playing shape and appeared for three plays vs. the Colts in Week 8. But two days after the Colts game, he was returning from a fishing trip and suffered season-ending injuries in a serious automobile accident. He had a bruised kidney, a fractured vertebra and a badly sprained left shoulder when his vehicle turned over after he tried avoiding a car that had crossed into his path. 1995: Raymer's rookie season began slowly when he broke an ankle in a scrimmage vs. the Steelers in the first week of training camp. He didn't play a down until making his first NFL start vs. Seattle in Week 11 when he played the entire game.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Raymer was regarded as the premier center in college football as a senior at Wisconsin, earning unanimous first-team all-America honors. Became the first Badgers center since former Steelers Mike Webster to earn all-Big Ten honors. The anchor of the Badgers offensive line, he helped Wisconsin finish ninth in the nation in rushing with an average of 240.8 yards per game. Raymer was one of 12 nominees for the 1994 Lombardi Award, presented to college football's top lineman. He had a big junior year starting every game. He began his freshman year as a backup at center after moving to the offensive line from defensive tackle. But once he adjusted to the switch, he started for the final four games. Raymer grew up a Dallas Cowboys fan despite living in the heart of Green Bay Packers country. A USAToday all-American honorable mention from Goodrich High School in Fond du Lac, WI, he was a consensus first-team all-state defensive tackle. He broke his thumb as a freshman and begged his parents to let him remove the cast and play. Before the season's final game, his parents relented and he shed the cast for one day to play. Besides football, his other passion is riding motorcycles. He rides a Suzuki GSXR. His sister, Lisa, is a special education teacher in Chicago who brought her students to Badgers games. Raymer escorted young visitors around the Wisconsin locker room after games. He once wrote a second grade paper of his intention to be a football player, noting that he wanted to play football on the moon. He was enrolled in Wisconsin's College of Letters and Sciences. He lives in Sterling, VA.

1993: Played in 11 games for the Falcons in 1993 after finishing the baseball season...Named Pro Bowl starter by leading NFC with seven interceptions... NFC Defensive Player of the Month for November with two interceptions and six passes defensed...Only player in NFL in '93 to rush and catch a pass from scrimmage on offense, intercept a pass on defense, and return punts and kickoffs.

1992: NFL leader in Pro Bowl balloting at both cornerback and as a kickoff returner, but by league rules could only start at one position, getting the nod on defense...Led NFL with a 26.7 yard KOR average and 1,067 yards...Had a 99-yard KOR for a TD at Wash (9/13) — the longest return in the NFC in '92...Dashed 73 yards for a score off a pair of laterals at Buffalo (11/22)...Scored his first NFL TD from scrimmage on a 37-yard reception from Wade Wilson at TB (12/13)...Totaled 12 plays of 30-plus yards: eight KORs, two ints, one lateral, and one catch.

1991: Voted to first Pro Bowl starter following the 1991 season...NFC Defensive Player of the Week twice: following a 21-17 win over the Raid (9/22) when he sacked Jeff Hostetler, forcing a fumble that was recovered for a touchdown, and intercepted a pass; and then again when he recorded his first two-interception game, in addition to five tackles, against TB (11/17)...Two-pick effort, including 55-yard return, vs. Sea (12/5).

1990: His 82-yard interception return against Hou (9/9) was the longest TD play in the NFL in 1990...Later in the season, he set a Falcons team record with a 79-yard punt return for a score against Cin (10/28)...His 61-yard interception return for a TD clinched a Falcons win against Dal (12/30).

1989: Drafted by Atlanta in the first round (fifth overall)...Signed with the Falcons (9/7) and marked his NFL debut against the Rams (9/10) by returning his second career punt return 68 yards for a score. That touchdown established him as the only athlete in modern history to score a NFL touchdown and hit a major league home run in the same week, as he blasted a home run for the N.Y. Yankees five days earlier (9/5).

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Two-time all-America at Florida State...Awarded the Jim Thorpe award as a senior...Set Florida State career records with 287 interception return yards (14 interceptions) and 1,429 punt return yards...Played on teams that won four bowl games...Scored six career touchdowns, three each on interceptions and punt returns...Member of the Seminoles' College World Series baseball team as a centerfielder, and a track & field standout who, as a freshman, was named Metro Conference's MVP after capturing the conference title in both the 100 and 200 meters...Qualified for the Olympic Trials as a sprinter in 1988...One of his most memorable athletic performances was the day he played for the Seminoles baseball team in the first game of the Metro Conference tournament, went over to the track to run a leg on the 4x100 meter relay team while wearing his baseball pants, and returned to the diamond to slap the game-winning hit in the Seminoles' second game of the day...FSU's 4x100 relay squad included Sanders and NFL players Sammie Smith and Dexter Carter, in addition to world-class sprinter Arthur Blake. Deion Luwynn Sanders starred at North Fort Myers, FL, High School, where as a senior he passed for 839 yards and rushed for 499 as a left-handed option quarterback. Also picked off four passes as a cornerback, earning all-state honors...Named all-state in basketball (24 ppg) and baseball...Devotes most of his time in the off-season to providing the testimony of his Christian faith throughout the country... In April of 1997, he made a $1 million donation to the Potters House Church in Dallas for the purpose of building a youth center. The donation will be used to help launch "Project 2000," a wide ranging social service ministry that is being started by the church. Sanders is a very active member of the Potters House congregation, where he works closely with the nationally renowned pastor Bishop T. D. Jakes...Deion is married (Pilar) and has three children, daughter, Deiondra, and sons Deion Luwynn, Jr. and Shilo.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Caught seven passes for 105 yards and two TDs in 1999, all career-highs.
- Finished first on the Redskins last season with 124 special teams blocks.
- Scored first career TD on a 33-yard pass from Brad Johnson at Dallas (10/24/99).
- Started first NFL game and caught first NFL pass in the 1998 finale at Dal (12/27).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on February 11, 1998.

1999 SEASON: Sellers performed multiple roles for the Redskins as a blocking fullback, tight end and on special teams. He caught seven passes for 105 yards and two TDs, all career-highs, and led the Redskins with 124 special teams blocks. He also tallied 17 special teams tackles (13 solo). He played in 16 regular-season games, starting one, and both playoff games. His playing time at blocking fullback increased dramatically after Larry Bowie broke his left ankle in preseason. He also posted some big games on special teams early on, including Week 1 vs. Dallas (nine blocks), Week 3 at the Jets (season-high 14 blocks) and Week 4 vs. Carolina (11 blocks). His offensive skills showed in Week 5 at Arizona, when he caught a pass for 17 yards. The next week at Dallas, he caught two passes for 39 yards, including a 33-yard TD. He added two tackles on kickoffs. Midway through the season, Sellers began seeing more playing time at tight end with Stephen Alexander nursing a strained hip flexor. In Week 9 at Philadelphia, he caught one ball for 32 yards and posted a team-high seven blocks on punt returns and four blocks on kickoff returns. In the rematch vs. Philadelphia two weeks later, he caught his second TD, a 6-yard pass. With Alexander inactive in Week 12 at Detroit due to the hip flexor, Sellers started at tight end. He caught one pass for eight yards and had seven special teams blocks. He saw action off the bench at fullback, tight end and on special teams in the final four games. He also contributed in both playoff games.

PRO CAREER: 1998: The rookie was used mainly on special teams and finished third on the team with 86 blocks. He added nine tackles on special teams. He also saw limited action on offense at tight end through the last half of the season. Overall, he played in 14 games with one start and finished with three catches for 18 yards. He saw his first action in Week 2 vs. San Francisco, making five special teams blocks. He had a big day in Week 15 recovering a fumbled kickoff return on the Buccaneers 15-yard line, setting up the Redskins game-winning TD on the next play. He started his first game at fullback in Week 16 at Dallas and he caught three passes for 18 yards. 1997 (CFL): Sellers played on both sides of the ball for Edmonton, making 27 tackles (10 solo) and one sack. At fullback, he rushed for 133 yards on 40 carries and caught five passes for 57 yards. He returned one kickoff for 14 yards. 1996 (CFL): Sellers played in 17 games for Edmonton at defensive end and recorded 23 tackles (16 solo) and three sacks. 1995 (CFL): Sellers signed as a free agent with the Edmonton Eskimos on March 21, 1995. He was transferred to the reserve list on Aug. 23 and to the injured list on Oct. 12 before reaching the active roster on Dec. 18.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: In his only year at Walla Walla Community College in Washington state, Sellers earned JC all-America honors at linebacker. After sitting out one year because of family obligations, he became the youngest player to ever sign in the CFL when the 19-year-old reached a deal with Edmonton. He was a standout prep player in football, basketball and track at North Thurston (WA) High. As a senior, he was Washington state's prep player of the year and the offensive player of the year. He rushed for more than 4,000 career yards and scored 36 TDs. A true native of the Northwest, Sellers enjoys all kinds of fishing. He lives in Herndon, VA, during the season and in Lacy, WA, in the off-season. He and his wife, Nicole, have one child: Kayla.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Cincinnati in the 4th round of 1995 (102nd overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on February 18, 1999.

1999 SEASON: The strong safety led the Redskins with 166 tackles, including 119 solo stops. Both tallies were career-highs. He also tied with free safety Leomont Evans for second on the team with 43 assisted tackles. Shade led the Redskins in total tackles in nine games. He had 10 games of at least 10 tackles and also tallied 10 passes defensed (third on the team), two ints, one fumble recovery, and 1.5 sacks. On special teams, Shade had seven tackles (three solo). He made at least 10 tackles in three of the first four games. In Week 2 at the Giants, he had 10 tackles and made a jarring hit on Giants tight end Howard Cross. The next week vs. the Jets, Shade collected a career-high 17 tackles (14 solo). He made at least 10 tackles in games 6-9. In Week 7 vs. Chicago, he also made three blocks on kickoff returns and two blocks on punt returns. Shade earned a game ball for his effort in Week 10 vs. the Giants, making seven tackles, one sack, one int, one assisted tackle on kickoff coverage and one block on a kickoff return. He had 15 tackles (11 solo) the next week at Philadelphia and 14 tackles (eight solo, two-for-losses) in Week 14 at Indianapolis, when he also recovered a fumble and caused an int. Against the Colts, he also had a great all-around game on special teams, tallying one solo tackle on kickoff coverage, one solo stop on punt coverage, two blocks on kickoff returns and one block on a punt return. He finished the regular season with a team-high 15 tackles (nine solo) vs. Miami. Shade had seven tackles and sacked QB Gus Frerotte twice for losses of 17 yards. Four tackles in the Divisional Playoff vs. Tampa Bay.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Shade started 15 games for Cincinnati and tied for second on the team in tackles (78 total, 60 solo). He missed his only start in Game 5, as coaches decided to start former Steelers player Myron Bell vs. his former team. He tallied six passes defensed, three INTs and two fumble recoveries. He returned one fumble for a TD, the first score of his career. Against GB on Sept. 20, Shade intercepted a Brett Favre pass. He also recovered a fumble to help keep the Bengals close in a 13-6 loss. He made six tackles vs. Pit on Oct. 11 and earned a special teams game ball. He made a season-high 10 tackles and added a sack vs. Ten on Oct. 18. He intercepted John Elway in a Nov. 1 loss to Den, as the Bengals nearly upset the eventual Super Bowl champs. His third INT of the season came when he intercepted Vikings QB Jay Fiedler pass in the fourth quarter and returned it 32 yards. His season highlight came vs. the Steelers on Dec. 20, when he returned a Kordell Stewart fumble 55 yards for a TD. 1997: Shade earned the starting strong safety role. In 12 games as a starter, he led the defense in tackles seven times and finished second twice. He won a game ball for his effort in a Dec. 4 game vs. Ten, with six solo tackles and a six-yard sack of McNair. Shade won another game ball for a Nov. 23 win over Jax, with three special teams tackles and a forcing a fumble on a kickoff return. He made a season-high in 11 tackles (seven solo) vs. Phil on Nov. 30. He added an int, which he returned 21 yards, and a season-high five special teams tackles. Shade led the team in tackles with 10 in a Nov. 9 victory over Indianapolis and set up the game's first TD when he forced a Marshall Faulk fumble. He added a sack. He stayed on all special teams coverage and return units despite assuming a starting role in the secondary. For the season, he had 96 tackles, seven passes defensed, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and one INT. He added 19 total tackles and one forced fumble on special teams. 1996: Shade played in 12 games mainly in goal-line and multiple tight end formations. He preserved a 21-14 Bengals victory on Dec. 8 vs. Baltimore, tackling Carwell Gardner for no gain on a 4th-and-goal from Cincinnati's 1-yard line in the last minute. For the season, Shade made five tackles on defense and 10 stops on special teams. 1995: Selected by the Bengals in the fourth round (102nd overall), Shade played in all 16 games with two starts at strong safety in Weeks 7 and 16. He made nine tackles in his first start, a Bengals victory at Pittsburgh. Overall, he made 16 tackles on defense and five special teams stops.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Shade didn't miss a game in four years at Alabama. As a senior, he finished third on the Crimson Tide with 57 tackles. He also had four tackles for losses, three fumble recoveries and a 28-yard int return. As a junior, he finished second on the team in tackles (73) and had five tackles for losses. A native of Birmingham, AL., Shade attended Wenonah High School, where he played football with former Redskins guard Joe Patton. His and his wife, Jacquetta, have two kids: Justin and Jaila. They live in Reston, VA.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Earned three consecutive Pro Bowl selections with the Dolphins (1993-95).
- Member of a starting offensive line awarded game balls after the Redskins demolished the Giants, 50-21, last season (9/19/99).
- Started 111 of 112 games from 1990-96, including four playoff starts. His only non-start during that stretch was as a rookie in 1990.
- Made his only NFL reception off a deflected pass from Dan Marino for a 9-yard gain vs. the Jets in 1991.
- Earned NFL All-Rookie honors in 1990.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Miami in 2nd round of 1990 (39th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on Nov. 24, 1998.

1999 SEASON: Sims proved to be a valuable addition to the Redskins revamped offensive line. The three-time Pro Bowler started 12 games at left guard, providing leadership for an offensive front that allowed only 31 sacks, compared with a franchise-record 61 in 1998. He helped open huge holes for Stephen Davis, who rushed for a franchise-record 1,405 yards, and protected Brad Johnson in the pocket. Sims started the first eight games at left guard. Along with the rest of the starting offensive line, he earned a game ball in Week 2 vs. the Giants, when the Redskins offense amassed 395 yards in a 50-21 victory. In Week 8 vs. Buffalo, he injured his right knee. An MRI revealed a sprain of the medial collateral ligament, and he was ruled inactive for Weeks 9 and 10. He returned to start in Weeks 11 and 12 but reinjured his knee late in the latter game. He was inactive for Weeks 13 and 14 but started in the final two regular-season games and both playoff contests.

PRO CAREER: 1998: The Redskins signed Sims with five games left to add depth to an offensive line devastated by injuries. He played in the final four games, all on special teams. His only offensive down was in the season-finale at Dallas. Before joining the Redskins, Sims began the season in the Eagles training camp before being released at the end of camp. 1997: Sims started the first four games for Miami. But he injured his left triceps and elbow and required surgery, keeping him out of action for the next five weeks. He returned in Week 10 and played the next three games before the Dolphins released him. The Redskins later picked him up for the last two games of the season, but he was inactive both times. 1996: Sims battled through an injury-plagued season while starting 15 games at left guard for the Dolphins. He played in his 100th regular-season game in Week 10 vs. Indianapolis and made his 100th start vs. Houston in Week 11. He suffered a knee injury that forced him out of action in Week 12 and brought an end to his streak of consecutive starts at 81. The streak dated back to Nov. 18 1991, and placed him eighth on the Dolphins all-time list. Sims returned to the starting lineup in Week 13 vs. Oakland. 1993: Sims started all 16 regular season games and Miami's one playoff game en route to earning his third straight Pro Bowl selection, his second as a starter. 1994: Sims earned his second Pro Bowl selection, his first as a starter, after starting all 16 regular season games and the Dolphins' two playoff games. 1993: In a breakthrough season, Sims started all 16 games and earned his first career Pro Bowl selection as a reserve. 1992: Sims started all 16 regular season games and both playoff games at left guard, helping the Dolphins reach the AFC title game.1991: Sims played and started in 12 games. He started the first six games before injuring a knee that required surgery and landed him on injured reserve for four weeks. He returned to start in Week 11 vs. Buffalo and started the rest of the season. He made his first NFL catch off a deflected pass from Dan Marino for a 9-yard gain vs. the Jets in Week 5. 1990: In his rookie season, Sims played in 14 games with 13 starts, plus two playoff starts, en route to earning unanimous all-rookie honors. He made his NFL debut in the season-opener vs. New England, starting at left guard. He returned his first NFL kickoff nine yards vs. the Giants in Week 3. He started the first four games before injuring a knee vs. Pittsburgh. The injury required surgery and forced him out of action for a few weeks. He returned in Week 7 vs. Indianapolis as a substitute at left guard. He regained his starting role in Week 8 he held for the rest of the season.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: A four-year starter at Iowa State, Sims was named first-team, all-Big Eight as a senior. As a junior, he was selected the team's most valuable offensive lineman. Sims started the last six games of the season as a freshman and every game as a sophomore at left tackle. After receiving a medical redshirt, he moved to guard for his final two years at Iowa State. He earned a degree in industrial technology. In his prep career, Sims attended Watchung Hills High School in Warren, NJ, lettering in football and wresting. He earned first-team all-state honors as a two-way tackle in his senior year. He was married in Hawaii at the 1994 Pro Bowl. Current Redskins teammate Irving Fryar, a pentecostal minister, performed the service. He and his wife, Cammy, have two children, Cairo and Storm. They live in Ashburn, VA, during the season and in Weston, FL, in the off-season. Last season, Sims spearheaded the Redskins "Dine with the O-Line" promotion at Morton's restaurants in the Washington, DC, area. He also participated in the NFL/United Way Hometown Huddle program and the Rally Round the Redskins to support the Ronald McDonald House and the Knockout Abuse fundraiser.

- Widely regarded as one of the most dominant defensive players in NFL history.
- Perennial All-Pro with trips to the Pro Bowl 11 of his 15 seasons and each year from 1992-98.
- Has 171.0 sacks, second all-time to Reggie White (192.5); all-time NFL playoff sack leader with 14.5.
- Recorded double-digit sacks in 1992-98, putting him in a three-way tie for second place with Lawrence Taylor and John Randle for most consecutive seasons (seven). Reggie White is first with nine.
- Has posted double-digit sack totals in 12 seasons, an NFL record he holds with Reggie White.
- Named NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 1990 and 1996.
- Collected career-highs of 120 tackles (1996), 54 QB pressures (1996), 19.0 sacks (1990) and four fumble recoveries (1985).

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Buffalo in 1st Round of 1985 (first overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed by Washington as a free agent on Feb. 12, 2000.

1999 SEASON: Smith kept on track as Buffalo's defensive leader in his 15th NFL season. He started all 16 games, posting 80 tackles, 7.0 sacks, and 25 QB pressures. He and Andre Reed established a new Bills record by playing in their 15th seasons. Smith dominated the line of scrimmage vs. Phil (9/26), picking up his first 1999 sack, which forced a fumble and ended an Eagles drive into Bills territory. He finished with six tackles, two QB pressures, one sack and one forced fumble. He had another impressive effort vs. Mia (10/10), finishing with nine tackles, 1.0 sack, one forced fumble and one QB pressure. He made five tackles vs. Pit (10/10), as the Bills defense held the Steelers to just 48 yards rushing. He again made nine tackles vs. Oak (10/17) and had two QB pressures. He helped shut down the Ravens offense and recorded two tackles, two QB pressures, three knockdowns and one tipped ball. He recovered a fumble at Wash (11/7), and his two sacks vs. Mia (11/14) marked his 48th career multi-sack performance and the first one since NE (11/13/98). He also tallied five tackles, two QB pressures and one forced fumble. He showed his All-Pro form in NE (12/26) with eight tackles (six solo) and 2.0 sacks, and in the Bills playoff loss to Tennessee, finishing the game with nine tackles (seven solo) and 2.5 sacks to become the NFL's all-time playoff sack leader with 14.5.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Smith was selected to the Pro Bowl for the 11th time and 7th straight time. He had 10.0 sacks for his 12th double-digit sack season. He started 15 games, missing the season-opener at SD (9/6) with a knee injury. Thurman Thomas also missed the game, marking the first time that neither player was in the Bills lineup since 10/18/87, a span of 170 regular-season games. Smith appeared in Week 2 at Mia (9/13), tying for the team lead with a season-high 10 tackles. He earned AFC Defensive Player of the Week honors for the eighth time in his career due to a terrific Week 4 game vs. the 49ers: six tackles, six QB pressures, 1.0 sack and one forced fumble. He had a season-high 2.0 sacks in Week 10 vs. NE (11/15). He played in his 200th regular-season game in Week 15 vs. NYJ (12/19) and joined Andre Reed and Jim Ritcher as the only Bills to play in more than 200 career games. He ended the regular season with a sack and fumble recovery in the season-finale at NO (12/16), and made his 19th career playoff appearance in a Wild Card game at Mia (1/2).

1997: Smith had one of his best seasons, starting all 16 games and finishing with an AFC-high 14.0 sacks that tied him for third in the NFL behind Minnesota's John Randle (15.0) and the Giants Michael Strahan. Smith's sack total tied for the third-highest in his career. He earned his sixth straight Pro Bowl trip and 10th selection overall. He had four multiple-sack games to raise his career total to 45. He opened the season with 2.0 sacks vs. Min (8/31) and then had 1.5 sacks at the Jets. He had a season-high 10 tackles vs. Det (10/5) and combined with Phil Hansen on the game's pivotal play. They tackled Barry Sanders in the end zone for the game-winning safety with just over two minutes left. He had a a season-high 2.5 sacks at Ind (10/20) and was named AFC Player of the Week for the seventh time. He garnered AFC Player of the Month honors for October after notching 5.5 sacks, 33 tackles (28 solo) and nine QB pressures in four games. He received that honor for the sixth time. He recorded at least one sack in eight of the season's first nine games and had at least one sack in six straight contests (Weeks 3-9). He sacked QB Dan Marino twice at Mia (11/17). Post-season surgery to clean out his knee and shoulder.

1996: Smith, a 12th-year player, had one of his finest seasons, posting career-highs in tackles (120) and QB pressures (54). He was selected to a ninth Pro Bowl and was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year by AP, UPI, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest, and College and Pro Football Newsweekly. He won the Mackey Award as the NFL's Defensive Lineman of the Year for the third consecutive season. He was named AFC Player of the Month for September and November and AFC Player of the Week for Week 11. He led the NFL with three blocked FGs (no other player had more than one) and led the AFC with 13.5 sacks. He made a key play when he hit QB Dave Brown in overtime to force a fumble that Chris Spielman recovered to set up the game-winning FG at the NYG (9/1). He had 3.0 sacks vs. NE (9/8), giving him 5.5 in the season's first two games. He blocked a FG in the fourth quarter at Pit (9/16) and blocked a 36-yard FG try late vs. Dal (9/22). He moved into sole possession of second place on the NFL's all-time sack list with a sack in the fourth-quarter vs. Mia (10/13). At Phil (11/10), he sacked QB Ty Detmer on a 4th-and-goal from the 3-yard line with 30 seconds to play to help preserve the Bills win. He blocked his third FG at Ind (12/1). He had his streak of consecutive games with a sack snapped at four at Sea (12/8). He made a critical play in the third quarter of the Bills playoff-clinching victory over KC (12/22) when he sacked Steve Bono, forcing a fumble the Bills recovered. He had four solo tackles and one QB pressure in an AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/28).

1995: Smith had a marvelous season. He was selected to his eighth Pro Bowl and was NFLPA Defensive Lineman of the Year. He led the Bills with 36 QB pressures and had his third 100-plus tackle season. He blocked his first career FG vs. Ind (9/17). He made his first sack of the season at Clev (10/2) and added a sack vs. Atl

(11/12). He was the Miller Lite Player of the Game for his 3.0-sack performance at SF (12/3). He had 2.0 sacks at StL (12/10), moving him into third place on the NFL's all-time sack list. He was inactive for the season-finale vs. Hou (12/24) because the game had no playoff implications. He had a team-high five QB pressures in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Mia (12/30). He was inactive for the Divisional Playoff (1/6) vs. Pit because of the flu and subsequent 104-degree temperature.

1994: Smith was unanimous first-team All-Pro. Perhaps his most distinguished honor was being named a finalist for Miller Lite "Player of the Year." He was selected to his seventh Pro Bowl. He was named AFC Defensive Player of the Month (September) and AFC Defensive Player of the Week when he had four solo tackles, 2.0 sacks, six QB pressures, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery vs. the Chiefs (10/30). He led the Bills in forced fumbles (five) and finished third on the team with 92 tackles. He intercepted his second career pass at NE (9/11) and was credited with a half sack of QB Drew Bledsoe in the end zone that caused a fumble the Bills recovered for a score. He tied his personal best of 4.0 sacks at Hou (9/18). He was inactive for the GB (11/20) due to a shoulder injury, marking his first absence from the lineup since 12/20/92.

1993: Smith was again the NFL's best defensive player. He had 14 sacks, the league's second-best mark and No. 1 for the Bills. He won the George Halas Trophy as the Newspaper Enterprise Association's Defensive Player of the Year. He was named Defensive Player of the Year by Pro Football Weekly. He was voted to his sixth Pro Bowl but opted to miss the game for the birth of his first child. Smith led the Bills in QB Pressures (24) and was third in tackles (108). He was the AFC Defensive Player of the Week in Week 8 at the Jets and the AFC Defensive Player of the Month for October. He recorded his first career interception at the Jets (10/24) on a diving grab that sealed the victory. He made his 100th career sack vs. Washington's Mark Rypien (11/1). His six-game consecutive sack streak ended at Pittsburgh (11/15), a streak that matched his own mark in 1986 and Phil Hansen's in 1992. He made 2.0 sacks vs. the Raiders (1/15) to become the NFL's all-time playoff sack leader with 11, overtaking Richard Dent (10.5) and Charles Mann (10). He added another sack in the AFC Championship game vs. KC (1/23). He was the NFL's Postseason Defensive Player of the Week after the Raiders game.

1992: Smith made his fifth trip to the Pro Bowl. He was the NFL Defensive Player of the Week for the AFC Championship game at Mia (1/17). He was nominated as the Bills recipient of the 1992 Ed Block Courage Award. He had 11 tackles (nine solo), 3.0 sacks and two QB pressures vs. Indianapolis (9/20).

1991: In the most frustrating season of his career, Smith appeared in only five regular-season games. He was sidelined after the first week of training camp when his knee was scoped. He returned in Week 5 vs. Chi (9/29). He was inactive the next week at KC (10/7) and was placed on injured reserve (10/12). He was activated on 11/30 and appeared in only his second game vs. the NYJ (12/1). He played in all three playoff games at less than 100 percent but was still effective.

1990: Most experts believed Smith was the NFL's most dominant defensive player. He was selected to his fourth Pro Bowl and was named Defensive Player of the Year by AP, UPI, Football News and Pro Football Weekly. He was Touchdown Magazine's Player of the Year, the NFL Alumni's Defensive Lineman of the Year and AFC Player of the Month (December). He as second in the NFL in sacks with 19.0, just 1.0 behind Kansas City's Derrick Thomas. His 19.0 sacks set a Bills single-season record, breaking his own mark of 15 in 1986. He equalled Bills linebacker Cornelius Bennett's feat of being named AFC Defensive Player of the Week in consecutive games. Smith did it vs. Ind (12/9) and the NYG (12/15). He was second on the Bills tackle list (101). He completely dominated some games, such as at Ind (12/9), when he sacked QB Jeff George four times. He made one of the biggest plays in Super Bowl XXV, sacking NYG QB Jeff Hostetler in the end zone for a second-quarter safety that gave the Bills a 12-3 lead.

1989: Smith became the Bills all-time sack leader when he recorded his 52nd sack. He finished the season with 57.5. He broke the record vs. the NYJ (10/22), when he made 3.0 sacks. He was a Pro Bowl starter for the third straight year. He finished fourth in team tackles (88, seven solo) and made a half sack in the playoff game at Cleveland (1/6).

1988: Smith had a fantastic season that ended with Pro Bowl honors. He was the UPI AFC Co-Defensive Player-of-the-Year. He tied for second in sacks in the AFC with San Diego's Lee Williams (11). He played in only 12 games because he missed the first four after being suspended by the NFL under its substance abuse program. He was ninth on the team in tackles with 56 but first in sacks. He made 2.0 sacks vs. Cin (1/8) in the AFC title game, though he missed some of the game with an injury.

1987: Smith earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl, where he was named game MVP. He received multiple prestigious postseason distinctions, including the NFLPA Defensive Lineman of the Year. He led Buffalo with 78 tackles. His 12 sacks were the most by an AFC defensive lineman. He also had 17 QB pressures. He won AFC Defensive Player of the Week for his 6-tackle, 3.0-sack effort vs. Ind (12/13), when he sacked Sean Salisbury in the end zone, causing a fumble which he recovered for his first ever TD. He partially blocked a FG vs. the Raid (12/6). He started the season with 13 tackles vs. NYJ(9/13).

1986: Smith had 15 sacks, tying him with San Diego's Lee Williams for second-most sacks in the AFC, just a half behind Sean Jones. His 63 tackles ranked 7th on the club. He was an AFC Pro Bowl alternate. He had at least one sack in all but three games.

1985: The NFLPA voted Smith AFC Defensive Rookie of the Year. He was also named to the Football Digest All-Rookie team. He led the Bills in sacks with 6.5 and started 13 of 16 games. He also led the team in QB pressures with 25.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Smith was the 1985 Outland Trophy winner and a consensus first-team all-American as a senior at Virginia Tech. He became the No. 1 NFL prospect. He made 46 career sacks for the Hokies and 25 tackles behind the line. His overall tackle total was 180. He was twice named Tech's MVP and twice selected as the top collegian in Virginia. He helped the Hokies go to the Independence Bowl. He was named to the all-South Independent team three straight years. In high school, Smith was an all-American in football at Booker T. Washington in Norfolk, VA. He also played basketball and helped his school to a Virginia state championship as a senior. He grew up a fan of the Pittsburgh Steelers and has listed Hall of Famer "Mean" Joe Greene as his favorite player. Smith once contributed $500 per sack to the City Mission of Buffalo, making a total contribution of $5,000. He also hosted a celebrity golf tournament in Virginia to benefit Cystic Fibrosis. He donated $50,000 to the Virginia Tech scholarship fund in 1987 and raised $5,000 for the Variety Club Tele-a-thon in 1990 with the sale of his "Leader of the Sack" poster. He was inducted into the Virginia Tech Hall of Fame in 1995. He's one of seven men in the inaugural class of the Independence Bowl Hall of Fame. His full name is Bruce Bernard Smith. He and his wife, Carmen, have a son named Alston.

Derek G. SMITH

Tackle

2nd Season
Ht: 6-6 Wt: 309
Virginia Tech
Born: April 13, 1976
Signed through 2001

70

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Started every game as a senior and junior at Virginia Tech.
- Set a Hokies record for offensive lineman with a power clean lift of 321 pounds.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 5th round of 1999 draft (165th overall).

1999 SEASON: Smith spent the season on injured reserve nursing a tear of the anterior cruciate ligament in his left knee. He suffered the injury at the NFL Scouting Combine in February 1999. Underwent successful surgery on March 3. The Redskins traded a sixth- and seventh-round draft choices to move up and select Smith in the fifth round expecting him to contribute to the offensive line after recovering from the injury.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Smith became one of the nation's top offensive linemen in his senior season at Virginia Tech in 1998. He started every game at left tackle for the Hokies. As a junior, he was named to The Sporting News second-team preseason all-Big East team. He started all 11 regular-season games at left tackle, playing every snap in six of the Hokies games. He also started in the Gator Bowl vs. North Carolina. As a sophomore, Smith played in all 11 games as a backup tackle. He sat out the 1995 season and moved back to tackle after returning for the spring practice. He redshirted in 1994 and moved from left tackle to left guard during spring practice. Smith was named Defensive MVP at Jefferson High School in Kearneysville, WV. He earned West Virginia all-State honors three seasons. He was also voted to the all-Cumberland Valley Athletic League team and the Hagerstown Herald Mail all-area first team on offense and defense. He made 83 tackles, including six sacks, during his senior season and helped Jefferson to a CVAL championship in 1992. He lives in Leesburg, Va., and has pursued an internship in the off-season in the athletic department at George Mason University in Fairfax, VA.

- First Redskins rookie to start all 16 games since Andre Collins in 1990.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 3rd round of 1997 (80th overall).

1999 SEASON: After playing right outside linebacker in his first two seasons, Smith switched to the starting middle linebacker position heading into last season. He made a smooth transition finishing third on the team in tackles with 127 (83 solo), including a team-high 11 tackles-for-losses. He had the team's highest single-game tackle output with 18 in Week 8 vs. Buffalo, a tally matching his career-high from a 1997 game vs. Arizona. In the Divisional Playoff at Tampa Bay, he made a team-high 11 tackles (seven solo). His play sparked the entire defense, which limited the Buccaneers to only 186 total yards, the Redskins second-lowest mark all season. Smith also tallied seven passes defensed, three QB hurries, one INT, a sack and one fumble recovery in 1999. In the season-opener vs. Dallas, he and Barber finished tied for second on the team (nine tackles). Seven of Smith's tackles were solo stops. After making four tackles in Week 2 at the Giants, he left the game in the fourth quarter with a sprained right shoulder. He finished tied for second on the team (eight tackles) in Week 4 vs. Carolina. Six of Smith's tackles were solo. He tallied 10 tackles in Week 6 at Dallas and 18 vs. Buffalo, including 12 solo stops. He again tied for second with Barber in Week 9 at Philadelphia (eight tackles). All of Smith's tackles were solo. He tied for first with Sam Shade in Week 10 vs. the Giants (seven tackles). For the third time, he tied for second with Barber in Week 14 at Indianapolis (nine tackles).

PRO CAREER: 1998: At right outside linebacker, Smith finished as the Redskins second-leading tackler with 157, including 103 solo stops and five tackles for a loss. He added three QB pressures, three passes defensed, a sack, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery. Smith led the team in tackles in five games, including four in the last half of the season when the Redskins finished the year on a high note. In Week 6 vs. Philadelphia, he led all tacklers with 14 stops, (11 solo) and recorded a half sack. He made a career-high 18 tackles vs. the Cardinals in Week 9. That performance included 13 solo stops. He also caused a fumble. Smith again led the team in tackles vs. the Cardinals in Week 11 with 11 (seven solo). In Week 12, he posted a team-best 13 tackles (seven solo) in the Redskins victory over the Raiders. He ended the year leading the team in tackles with 12 (seven solo) in the season-finale vs. Dallas. Smith also had seven blocks and six tackles on special teams. 1997: Smith claimed a starting outside linebacker position in training camp and never relinquished it, becoming the first Redskins rookie since Andre Collins in 1990 to start all 16 games. In the season-opener, he made nine tackles (seven solo) in the Redskins victory at Carolina. The next week vs. Pittsburgh, he made his first career sack. In Week 3 vs. the Cardinals, a 19-13 Redskins victory in the opening game at FedEx Field, he figured directly in the outcome. He made 10 total stops and recovered a fumble in overtime to set up the Redskins winning TD. Smith made a season-high 15 tackles vs. the Giants in Week 15.

COLLEGE/ PERSONAL: Smith started every game for Arizona State as a senior in 1996, garnering honorable mention All-Pac 10 honors. He finished fourth on Sun Devils with 55 tackles and had 4.0 sacksr. Against rival Arizona, he had nine tackles, a sack and a forced fumble. He also picked off a pass late in the game to preserve ASU's victory over Oregon. Smith started all games in his junior year. He finished with 33 tackles and one int. Smith transferred from Snow College to ASU. He made an immediate impact for the Sun Devils, making nine tackles in his first game vs. Washington. While playing inside linebacker at Snow College, Smith earned honorable mention all-America honors, as well as all-region and first-team all-WSFL Conference honors. Smith was nominated for the Pac 10 all-academic squad with a 3.53 GPA in finance. At American Fork High School in Utah, he lettered in football, baseball and wrestling. He captained the football team as a senior and earned all-state and all-region honors. He and his wife, Taryn, live in Sterling, VA.

- Made his first career pick vs. the Jets (10/20/96).

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Buffalo in 3rd round of the 1996 (87th overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on Dec. 8, 1998.

1999 SEASON: Stevens had a team-high and career-high six interceptionss almost entirely in a reserve role. He played in 15 games. The tough-hitting safety also made a career-best 54 tackles (36 solo) and tied for second on the team with Eddie Mason in special teams blocks (89). He played on the kickoff coverage, kickoff return, punt coverage and punt return teams. On defense, he tallied nine tackles (eight solo), six passes defensed and a sack. Stevens put forth a solid all-around effort in Week 1 vs. Dallas. He intercepted a pass to set up a Brett Conway FG goal and added five tackles, three kickoff return blocks and a punt return block. Stevens intercepted his second pass and had a pair of solo stops in Week 2 at the Giants. He had a nice effort in Week 4 vs. Carolina (five solo stops, 10 special teams blocks) and recovered a fumble in Week 6 at Dallas. The next week vs. Chicago, he enjoyed perhaps the best game of his career. He intercepted two passes and, with the Bears trailing 14-0 and facing a fourth-and-1 on the Redskins 22-yard line, he chased down running back Curtis Enis for a four-yard loss, diffusing Chicago's momentum. He started for free safety Leomont Evans, who suffered a concussion vs. Chicago, in Week 8 vs. Buffalo, recording a career-high 12 tackles (seven solo) and a sack. He had two solo stops in Week 9 at Philadelphia, three solo stops and 11 special teams blocks in Week 12 at Detroit, an INT and two solo tackles in Week 13 vs. Arizona, four solo tackles and a forced fumble in Week 14 at Indianapolis and an int, eight tackles (four solo) and four blocks in Week 15 at San Francisco. He had three tackles in a reserve role in the playoffs.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Stevens was signed late in the season, and he contributed mainly on special teams. He saw his first action in Week 14 vs. Carolina, playing two downs on defense and making five blocks and two tackles on special teams. He had his best effort on special teams in Week 15 vs. Tampa Bay (nine blocks, two tackles).

In the season-finale, he had six special teams blocks. Before joining the Redskins, Stevens played in seven games with one start for the Eagles, tallying 18 tackles (eight solo) and one pass defensed. He also had four special teams tackles. 1997: Stevens finished second on the Eagles in special teams tackles (16). He saw his first action on special teams in Week 6 vs. Jacksonville. His best game was in the Eagles 23-20 victory over Pittsburgh in Week 12. He recovered a fumble on a kickoff return and intercepted a pass in the end zone. Before joining the Eagles, Stevens spent the 1997 training camp with Buffalo. He was released at the end of camp. 1996: In his rookie season, Stevens played in 13 games for Buffalo with a career-high 11 starts after being inactive in the first three games. He saw his first action in Week 5 vs. Indianapolis upon replacing an injured Henry Jones at strong safety for the rest of the season. In Week 7 vs. the Jets, Stevens got his first career INT. He had 10 tackles (seven solo) in Week 10 vs. Philadelphia and deflected a pass in the end zone with less than a minute left to help preserve a 24-17 Bills win. He intercepeted his second pass in Week 11 vs. Cincinnati in the end zone as time expired.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Stevens played four seasons at Appalachian State and was a first-team all-American as a junior and senior. He was one of only four ASU players to earn such accolades. He also earned all-Southern Conference honors both years. As a junior at cornerback, Stevens set a school record and led the conference with 10 ints. He was a second-team all-Southern Conference pick as a sophomore. He finished on the Mountaineers all-time int list with 21. In his prep career, Stevens was an all-conference and all-area selection as a defensive back and wide receiver at Chapel Hill (NC) High School. He also earned all-conference honors in track and lettered in basketball and wrestling. He lives in Herndon, VA, during the season and in Avon, NJ, in the off-season. His wife's name is Terri.

1999 SEASON: Stubblefield turned in a solid season after rebounding from a knee injury that cut short his 1998 season. He was a mainstay at defensive tackle, starting all 16 regular-season games and both playoff contests. He tallied 52 tackles, 34 QB hurries (third on the team), five passes defensed, 3.0 sacks and one fumble recovery. He had an All-Pro performance in Week 3 at the Jets, amassing six tackles (five solo), two QB pressures and 1.0 sack. He and the rest of the starting defensive line received game balls, as Jets QB Rick Mirer was sacked six times. Facing the Giants in Week 10, he had an impressive all-around game, tallying two solo tackles, one assist, one tackle for a loss, two QB pressures and a sack. He had four solo stops, one assist and one deflected pass in Week 13, when the Redskins limited the Cardinals to 173 total yards. The next week at Indianapolis, Stubblefield had two solo tackles and four QB pressures. He played a major role in the Redskins defensive performance in the Divisional Playoff vs. Tampa Bay. While the Redskins held the Buccaneers to 186 yards in a 14-13 loss, Stubblefield tallied seven tackles (four solo) and one sack.

PRO CAREER: 1998: In his first season with the Redskins, injuries prevented Stubblefield from matching his 1997 performance, when he was NFL Defensive Player of the Year. He started seven games before a knee injury ended his season. In the season opener vs. the Giants, he recorded had five tackles (three solo), two QB pressures and one pass defensed. His biggest game was in Week 5 vs.

Dallas, when he tallied a season-high 10 solo tackles, two tackles for a loss, a half sack and four QB pressures. He continued his strong play in Week 6 vs. Philadelphia, registering seven tackles (six solo), two QB pressures and two passes defensed. He first injured his knee in Week 7 at Minnesota but managed to record four tackles and a QB pressure. But he re-injured his knee during the Redskins bye week and underwent arthroscopic surgery that sidelined him for the rest of the year. Overall, he made 41 tackles (32 solo) and two tackles for a loss. He added 1.5 sacks, 14 QB pressures and three passes defensed. 1997: Stubblefield had the best season of his career, recording 15 sacks for San Francisco to finish second in the NFL. He was handsomly rewarded. Besides earning his third trip to the Pro Bowl in five seasons, he received NFL Defensive Player of the Year honors from the AP, Football Digest and College and Pro Football Weekly. He earned his first Pro Bowl start. He was also named NFL Defensive MVP by Pro Football Weekly and earned the George Halas Award from the NEA. He became the first player in NFC history to be named NFC Defensive Player of the Week in back-to-back games, receiving the distinctions after a 2.0-sack, 3-tackle game vs. Dallas on Nov. 2 and a 4.0-sack, 5-tackle game vs. Philadelphia on Nov. 10. Two weeks later vs. the Chargers, he added 2.0 more sacks. He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Month for November. He made a season-high eight tackles (seven solo) vs. the Falcons in Week 4, plus a sack and a fumble recovery. 1996: Stubblefield started 15 games for the 49ers, missing only Week 13 vs. the Falcons with a sore back and ribs. He tallied 39 tackles, a sack, an interception and three passes defensed. Against the Redskins in Week 12, he left the game in the second half with a rib injury that sidelined him the next week. He made a season-high five tackles twice: vs. the Bengals in Week 7 and the Saints in Week 9. In Week 6 at Green Bay, he had two tackles, an INT and two passes defensed. He had a sack, four tackles and a forced fumble vs. the Falcons in Week 4. 1995: Stubblefield earned his second straight Pro Bowl honor. He started all 16 games and led 49ers lineman with 40 stops. He also had 4.5 sacks, four passes defensed and one INT. Three sacks came vs. QBs known for their quick releases (Dan Marino, Troy Aikman, Brett Favre). He made his first career INT vs. the Rams on Oct. 22, on a Chris Miller pass. He returned it 12 yards to set up a 49ers TD drive. He set a postseason career-high with 10 tackles, all solo, and added a sack vs. Green Bay in a Divisional Playoff. 1994: Stubblefield earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl in a season that ended with the 49ers victory over San Diego in Super Bowl XXIX. He started 14 regular season games and finished with a team-high 8.5 sacks, four passes defensed and two fumble recoveries. He missed the final two weeks with a strained left knee but returned to start all three playoff games. He made four tackles vs. the Cowboys in the NFC Championship game and two solo stops and a sack vs. the Chargers in the Super Bowl. In the regular season, he made a sack in consecutive games vs. Washington (11/6), Dallas (11/13) and the Los Angeles Rams (11/20). He made 2.0 sacks and a forced fumble vs. Atlanta in Week 7. 1993: Stubblefield earned NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year honors after leading the 49ers with a career-high 10.5 sacks. He added 64 tackles (55 solo) while playing in all 16 games with 15 starts. He made five tackles and 2.0 sacks in his NFL debut vs. Pittsburgh. For the season, he had three multi-sack games. He made five tackles and 2.0 sacks vs. Dallas (10/17) and had 1.5 sacks vs. Tampa Bay (11/14). Against Atlanta, he posted a career-high nine tackles, 2.0 sacks and a forced fumble. He also had four tackles and 2.0 sacks vs. the Giants in a Divisional Playoff.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Stubblefield earned all-America and all-Big Eight after his senior season at Kansas. That year, he tied for second on the Jayhawks with 11 tackles for losses. He was named Aloha Bowl MVP with 4.0 sacks on BYU QB Tom Young. As a junior, Stubblefield made a career-high 77 tackles, including 10.0 sacks, and earned all-conference honors. He twice earned Big Eight Player of the Week during his career. He earned all-Cincinnati honors as a senior at Taylor High School in his hometown of Cleves, OH. He made 52 solo tackles as a senior at Taylor despite playing in just five games. He played in the Ohio North-South All-Star game. He played fullback and defensive tackle in his three-year high school career. He was also selected Western Metro League Wrestler of the Year. In 1994, he created "Stubblefield of Dreams" to benefit the Santa Clara Special Olympics. He pledged $200 for every tackle and sack. He donated $10,000 after the 1995 season and $8,000 after the 1996 season to the Special Olympics. Dana and his wife, Kim, have a daughter, Kayla, and a son Kendall.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Posted his first career kickoff return for a TD (95 yards) at Detroit (12/5/99).
- Led the Redskins with 20 special teams tackles in 1999.
- Started his only NFL game at wide receiver vs. Seattle (9/20/98).
- Career-high four receptions, including only career TD, vs. San Diego (12/6/98).
- Caught his first career pass vs. the Giants (12/13/97).

NFL ACQUISITION: Signed as a free agent in 1997 by Philadelphia.

HOW ACQUIRED: Signed as a free agent on July 11, 1997.

1999 SEASON: Thrash was a critical member of the Redskins special teams units, posting a team-high 20 special teams tackles (11 solo). He also tallied 55 special teams blocks, fifth on the team, and returned 14 kickoffs for 355 yards (25.4 average). He returned one kickoff 95 yards and scored for his first career TD on a kickoff return. Thrash saw limited time at wide receiver, catching three passes for 44 yards with a long of 25. He played only on special teams through the first nine weeks, turning in nice performances in Week 1 vs. Dallas (four punt return blocks, three kickoff return blocks) and in Week 6 at Dallas (two assisted tackles on kickoff coverage, two punt return blocks, two kickoff return blocks). In Week 5 at Arizona, he saved a punt from entering the end zone and downed it at the 2-yard line. Starting in Week 10 vs. the Giants, Thrash saw time at receiver and returned more kickoffs. He caught a pass for 25 yards, his first reception of the season, and returned one kickoff 14 yards. He added two solo tackles. The next week vs. Philadelphia, Thrash returned two kickoffs for 72 yards, including a 48-yarder to start the overtime period that ignited the Redskins drive toward Brett Conway's game-winning FG. He complimented that feat in Week 12 at Detroit, returning a kickoff 95 yards for a TD that gave the Redskins a 10-3 lead with 5:46 left in the second quarter. On special teams, he also had two blocks on kickoff returns, four blocks on punt returns, one solo tackle and one assisted tackle. He caught one pass for two yards. In Week 14 at Indianapolis, he had a team-high two solo tackles on kickoff coverage. He caught one pass for 17 yards in the regular-season finale vs. Miami. Thrash saw action on special teams in both playoff games.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Thrash's playing time from his rookie season increased on special teams and offense. In the season-opener vs. the Giants, he returned his first two career kickoffs, including a season-long return of 39 yards. He added one catch for 13 yards. He started the first and only game of his career at wide receiver vs. Seattle in Week 3 but didn't have a catch. Against the Giants in Week 8, he had three catches for 40 yards, including a long of 19, and made six special teams blocks. He had his second straight multiple-catch performance in Week 9 vs. Arizona with two for 44 yards, including a season-long of 28. He added six blocks and one tackle on special teams. His biggest game on special teams came vs. the Raiders in Week 12. He recovered a fumble on punt coverage and recovered a Raiders on-side kickoff attempt to help secure the Redskins victory. He returned a kickoff for 14 yards. The next week vs. San Diego, he produced his biggest offensive game to date. He had a career-high four catches for 66 yards, including a 25-yard TD, the only one of his career. All four catches came in the first half, helping the Redskins to an eventual 24-20 victory. He played the entire second half with a broken clavical he suffered on his fourth catch. He went on injured reserve and didn't play for the rest of the season.

1997: Signed as a rookie free agent, Thrash immediately raised eyebrows. He began the preseason with a 91-yard kickoff return vs. Tampa Bay and returned a kickoff 96 yards for a TD in the next game vs. the Oilers. Inactive through first seven weeks of the regular season, he saw his first NFL action vs. the Ravens in Week 8. His first catch came vs. the Giants in Week 15 on a 9-yard slant on the Redskins first offensive play. He finished with two catches for 24 yards. Both produced first downs.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Thrash earned first-team all-Mid-America Intercollegiate Athletics Association honors at wide receiver as a senior at Missouri Southern. He finished first in the conference in receiving yards per game and second in receptions. He played in the Snow Bowl (NCAA Division II all-star game) after his senior season, catching five passes for 65 yards and a TD. He caught 79 passes for 1,222 yards and seven TDs in his college career. As a track star, Thrash earned all-America honors in the 200-meter dash and all-MIAA honors in track and field by finishing second in the 100-meter dash and 200-meter dash. He ran a leg on the 400-meter relay team that placed third. He set Missouri Southern school records in the 100-meter dash (10.52) and 200-meter dash (20.9). Thrash ran the offensive unit for the Redskins/NFL Play Football event at FedEx Field last season. He also participated in the NFL/United Way Hometown Huddle, helping build a home in Washington, DC, with Habitat for Humanity. He and his wife Amber live in Sterling, VA.

- Scored a TD in his NFL debut on a 58-yard reverse vs. Arizona in Week 1 of 1995. It was the longest run from scrimmage ever by a Redskins receiver.
- Made 34 catches in 1995, the fourth-most ever by a Redskins rookie.
- Tallied 522 yards receiving in 1995, the fifth-most ever by a Redskins rookie.
- Averaged 15.9 yards every time he touched the ball in 1995.

HOW ACQUIRED: Drafted by Washington in 1st round of 1995 (4th overall).

1999 SEASON: Westbrook elevated himself to a spot among the league's elite receivers. He started all 16 games and both playoff contests, finishing sixth in the NFC and ninth in the NFL in receiving yards (1,191) and tying teammate Albert Connell for first in the NFL in average yards per reception (18.3). Both figures were career-highs for Westbrook, as were his receptions (65) and TD catches (nine). His receiving yards, yards per catch (tied with Connell), TD catches and longest reception (65 yards) were No. 1 on the Redskins, and he was second in total catches behind Larry Centers (69). Westbrook was one of five finalists for the 1999 Quarterback Club Jack Kent Cooke Award (Redskins MVP), which went to running back Stephen Davis. Westbrook posted a career-high five games of more than 100 yards receiving, including the season-opener vs. Dallas, when he tallied a single-game, career-high 159 yards on five catches with one TD. His sliding, 41-yard TD catch from Brad Johnson cut the Cowboys lead to 14-10 in the second quarter. He caught a 15-yard TD in Week 2 at the Giants and had his best game of the season in Week 4 vs. Carolina. He caught a season-high eight passes for 140 yards and a season-high two TDs, 17- and 11-yard second-quarter tosses from Johnson that helped the Redskins erase a 21-0 deficit en route to a 38-36 victory. By the end of Week 4, Westbrook led the NFC in receiving yards (442) and TD catches (four). He caught only six passes over the next two games but rebounded with a team-high five catches for 85 yards and a 13-yard TD catch in Week 7 vs. Chicago. Two weeks later at the Eagles, Westbrook tallied 152 yards receiving on four catches with one TD. His longest catch of 55 yards came on the first play from scrimmage, helping set up Stephen Davis' 1-yard scoring run. In the fourth quarter, Westbrook caught a 43-yard TD pass from Johnson that pulled the Redskins even at 28-28 before they lost 35-28. He made the catch sometime after fracturing a bone in his right wrist but didn't leave the game. He played with a cast on his right hand in the next game (Week 10) vs. the Giants, and caught one pass. In Week 11 vs. Philadelphia, caught four passes for 51 yards. He caught five passes for a team-high 108 yards and a TD in Week 12 at Detroit and four passes for 52 yards in Week 13 vs. Arizona. Against the Cardinals, he surpassed 1,000 receiving yards for the year, the first Redskins receiver to do so since Henry Ellard in 1986. In Week 15 at San Francisco, had a team-high 125 yards on seven catches, including a season-long 65-yard TD catch that gave the Redskins a 7-3 second-quarter lead en route to a 26-20 victory that clinched the NFC East title. Johnson hit Westbrook in stride on the pass, the second-longest of Westbrook's career. Westbrook caught three passes in the regular-season finale vs. Miami and a total of three for 26 yards in the playoffs.

PRO CAREER: 1998: Westbrook was headed toward the best season of his career when a neck injury ended it. He played in 11 games with 10 starts and led the Redskins in receiving with 44 catches for 736 yards and six TDs. He also had a career-long reception of 75 yards. The injury occurred in the first quarter of the Redskins Week 13 matchup vs. San Diego. He outjumped Chargers safety Charles Dimry for the ball but was slammed to the ground as he came down, and his neck jammed into the turf. Westbrook had surgery to fuse two vertebrae in his neck, after which he worked hard to rehabilitate himself for the 1999 season. The 1998 season started well for Westbrook, who caught two passes for 73 yards vs. the Giants in Week 1. He also had a TD called back due to a holding penalty. The next week vs. San Francisco, Westbrook led all receivers with five catches for 109 yards. He posted a then career-high 132 yards receiving on seven catches with two TDs in Week 3 at Seattle. His 314 yards receiving after the first three weeks was the NFL's second-highest total. He posted his third-straight 100-yard receiving day in Week 4 vs. Denver, with three catches for 104 yards and a 75-yard TD catch. He had his fourth 100-yard receiving day in Week 11 vs. the Cardinals, catching 10 balls for 135 yards and three TDs, as the Redskins nearly pulled off the biggest comeback victory in NFL history before losing 45-42. Westbrook started fast in the Week 13 contest vs. San Diego with two catches for 23 yards in the first quarter. But he suffered the neck injury on his second catch, ending his season. 1997: In Week 3, the inaugural game at FedEx Field (then Jack Kent Cooke Stadium), Westbrook burned Arizona Pro Bowl cornerback Aeneas Williams for two TDs. The first one was a 7-yard grab in the first quarter to mark the first TD in the Redskins new home. The second was a 40-yard leaping catch in the end zone that gave the Redskins a 19-13 overtime victory. After starting Week 6 vs. the Cowboys on Monday night with two first-quarter catches, Westbrook injured a knee that sidelined him for the rest of the game and the next three weeks. He posted season-highs in catches (nine) and yards receiving (125) in Week 12 vs. the Giants. 1996: Westbrook injured a knee in training camp, causing him to miss the season-opener vs. the Eagles. But he returned in Week 2 vs. Chicago, catching four passes for 38 yards. He started in Week 3 vs. the Giants but aggravated the knee injury after catching two passes for 24 yards. He played again in Week 7 vs. the Giants in limited action before returning to the starting lineup vs. the Eagles in Week 11. The next week vs. San Francisco, he set then-career-highs in receptions (seven) and receiving yards (126). But in Week 13 vs. Dallas on Thanksgiving Day, he suffered another knee injury on the game's second play. He missed Week 14 vs. Tampa Bay but returned in Week 15 vs. Arizona with four catches for 59 yards. He started the last game at RFK Stadium, catching four passes for 80 yards in the Redskins victory over the Cowboys. 1995: In just his second touch of a football in the NFL, Westbrook ran 58 yards on a reverse for a TD. Despite missing five games with knee and ankle injuries and playing in only 46 percent of the Redskins offensive plays (477 of 1,042), he proved his ability to make big plays. He produced 12 plays of more than 20 yards, averaging 15.9 yards every time he touched the ball. Wide receivers in the NFL had five runs of 30-plus yards in 1995. Westbrook had two of them, a 58-yarder vs. Arizona in Week 1 and a 33-yarder to set up a TD in the season-finale vs. Carolina. He collected 91 yards receiving vs. Denver in Week 3 on three catches, including a 45-yard grab that set up a late first-half TD. He made his first career TD catch, a five-yarder late in the game, in Week 11 vs. the Seahawks.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Westbrook is Colorado's all-time leading receiver with 167 career receptions for 2,548 yards and 19 TDs. He earned first-team all-American honors from the American Football Coaches Association, Walter Camp Foundation and The Sporting News as a senior, catching 36 passes for 689 yards

(19.1 average) and four TDs. He also was named to the first-team NCAA Consensus all-America Football Team and was first-team all-Big Eight. His best day came vs. Michigan when he caught seven passes for 157 yards and two TDs, including a leaping catch in the end zone for a 64-yard score with just six seconds left that gave the Buffaloes a 27-26 win in Ann Arbor. He ended his college career with a late TD catch in the East-West Shrine game. He finished the game with four catches for 60 yards and two TDs and was named game MVP. As a junior, he caught 33 passes for 490 yards and two TDs, as Colorado switched to an option-style offense. Although the Buffaloes were throwing less, he was still one of the Big Eight's most explosive offensive threats. He had a season-high six catches for 132 yards, including a 72-yard score, in Colorado's 31-14 win over Oklahoma. Westbrook set a Colorado school record with 76 catches for 1,060 yards (13.9 average) and eight TDs as a sophomore. He averaged 96.4 yards per game and 6.91 catches per game. Only six Colorado players had more receiving yards in a career than he had in that season. His top efforts included a school-record 11 catches for 186 yards and a 52-yard score vs. Baylor. He caught nine passes for 104 yards, including a 41-yard TD, in a 24-24 tie with Oklahoma. He caught eight passes for 135 yards vs. Minnesota, eight balls for 128 yards vs. Missouri and eight balls for 166 yards vs. Kansas. Westbrook played in every game and started four as a redshirt freshman, catching 22 passes for 309 yards (14.0 average) and five TDs. His five scores set a school record for a freshman. His first career TD came on a 20-yard reception vs. Stanford. His top day came vs. Kansas State (seven catches, 91 yards). Westbrook was a prep all-American selection and earned all-metro first-team honors from the Detroit News while playing at Chadsey High School in Detroit. He finished his prep career with 120 catches for 1,764 yards (14.7 average) and 16 TDs, including an 87-yard score off a screen pass as a senior. He also competed on the track team, posting a career-best 6-7 in the high jump and 23-0 in the long jump. He played basketball and baseball. He majored in communications and sociology and was a member of Colorado's "Academic Starters" team. Westbrook's older brother, Alonzo, is a reporter for a television station in Dayton, OH. He was born in Detroit and has a daughter, Ky Lisa.

Dan WILKINSON

Defensive Tackle

7th Season
Ht: 6-5 Wt: 313
Ohio State
Born: March 13, 1973
Signed through 2002

95

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Led the Redskins with 8.0 sacks and was second with 43 QB pressures in 1999.
- Returned an interception 88 yards for a score vs. Chicago (10/31/99). It was the longest return ever by a Redskins defensive lineman.
- Played in more snaps (1,037) than any defensive tackle in the NFL in 1998.
- Made a career-high 60 tackles in 1998.
- Led all AFC interior linemen in 1995 with a career-high 8.0 sacks for Cincinnati.
- Volunteered to yield his starting spot vs. the Eagles (12/24/94) so Bengals great Tim Krumrie could start his last Bengals home game.

NFL ACQUISITION: Drafted by Cincinnati in 1st round of 1994 draft (1st overall).

HOW ACQUIRED: Traded from Cin (2/26/98) for '98 1st- and 3rd-round draft picks.

1999 SEASON: Wilkinson started all 16 regular-season games and both playoff contests, leading the Redskins with 8.0 sacks to match his career-high from 1995. He finished second in QB pressures (43) and posted 43 tackles (28 solo) and one fumble recovery. He also intercepted the third pass of his career when Bears QB Shane Matthews was hit by defensive end Marco Coleman. The ball fluttered to Wilkinson, who rumbled 88 yards. The play gave the Redskins a 14-0 lead, sparking them toward a 48-22 victory. It was Wilkinson's first career TD, the fourth-longest INT return for a score in Redskins history, the longest such return ever by a Redskins player at home and the longest return ever by a Redskins defensive lineman. "Big Daddy" had five tackles (three solo), 2.0 sacks, five pressures, and a pass defended at NYG, when he was awarded a game ball along with the rest of the starting DL. He had a team-high nine pressures, a sack, two solos and one tackle-for-loss vs. the Cards and four solos, two assists and two pressures vs. Phil. Against Det, he had six pressures and two assists. He made eight tackles in postseason play, five in the Divisional Playoff at TB.

PRO CAREER: 1998: The Redskins acquired Wilkinson in an off-season trade from Cincinnati. He led the team in sacks (7.5), QB pressures (50) and tackles for a loss (six). His 50 QB pressures were 30 more than the team's No. 2 man in that category, Kenard Lang. Wilkinson set career highs in total tackles (60) and solo stops (45). He added two passes defensed, a fumble recovery and an INT. When Dana Stubblefield was lost for the season with a knee injury after Week 7, Wilkinson became the Redskins main playmaker on the defensive line. Over the last eight games, he had 35 tackles, 5.0 sacks, five tackles-for-loss, one INT and one fumble recovery. In the Redskins 28-25 win over Carolina in Week 14, Wilkinson sacked Panthers

QB Steve Beurlein for a 7-yard loss on the final drive and finished the game with five tackles, one tackle for a loss, three QB pressures and the crucial sack. The next week vs. TB, he posted similar numbers: five tackles, one tackle for a loss, four QB hurries, a sack. Wilkinson intercepted his second career pass in Week 10 vs. Phil. He picked off the deflected pass deep in Eagles territory and rumbled a few yards before being tackled. The turnover set up the Redskins first TD. He also performed well in both games vs. NYG, with 14 QB pressures, seven tackles and a batted pass. 1997: Wilkinson totaled 34 tackles and a team-high 5.0 sacks. He led the Bengals defensive line in sacks for the second straight season. In Week 5 vs. Jax, he sacked QB Mark Brunell twice. 1996: Wilkinson led the Bengals in sacks for the first time in his career with 6.5, including one in each of the first five games. He also led the defensive line with 44 solo tackles. He had 59 total tackles, one short of his current career-high. He opened the year with a season-high eight tackles, a sack and five QB hurries vs. the Rams. He completed his run of five straight games with a sack vs. Houston in Week 5. He made his first career int vs. Balt on a Testaverde pass. 1995: Wilkinson set a career-high with 8.0 sacks despite missing the final two games with a neck injury. His sack total was the most by a Bengals interior lineman since Mike Reid in 1972. His 18 QB hurries were second on the team. He had three 2.0-sack games: both games against Jax and Week 6 vs. TB. He made a season-high seven tackles vs. the Sea. 1994: Wilkinson became the first player the Bengals ever drafted No. 1 overall. He made 44 tackles and 5.5 sacks, playing in all 16 games with 14 starts. He led the DL with 19 QB hurries. He volunteered his starting spot in the season-finale vs. Philadelphia so Bengals great Tim Krumrie could start his final home game. Wilkinson still made 2. 0 sacks in a reserve role. He had a season-high six tackles vs. Pit in Week 13 and made sacks vs. Sea in Week 9 and Hou in Week 10.

COLLEGE/PERSONAL: Wilkinson played in 1992 and 1993 at Ohio State after being redshirted in 1991. He entered the draft after his sophomore season, when he was a consensus all-American and all-Big Ten player. He played on the scout team as a 348-pound offensive tackle during his redshirt season, then dropped to 300 pounds the next season and switched to defense. He attended Dunbar High School in his hometown of Dayton, OH. He teamed with Star Bank in Cincinnati to fund a charitable foundation named the "Big Daddy Fund," which encourages middle-school students to stay in school. His hobbies include playing golf and restoring old cars. He now has about a dozen cars, including two 1970 Cadillacs, a Chevy Impala, a '66 Cadillac, a Porsche and a '65 Buick Riviera. His wife's name is Shawnda. He has four children: Brooklyn, Daniel Jr., Taylor, and Sydné. He lives in Vienna, VA, during the season and in Dublin, OH, in the off-season.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Claimed the Chuck Bednarik Award as the nation's top defensive player and the Dick Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker as a junior in 1999.
- Finalist for the Lombardi Trophy (college football's top lineman) and the Bronko Nagurski Award (nation's best player) in 1999.
- Sixth in Penn State history with 39 tackles-for-loss and seventh with 18.0 sacks.
- An all-Big Ten first-team choice in 1999 after posting career-highs in tackles (72), tackles for a loss (20 for minus 98 yards), sacks (9.0) and blocked kicks (two).
- First true sophomore named Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year.
- Selected as a first-team all-American by The Sporting News in 1998, the first Penn State sophomore to receive that distinction since 1915.
- Used the "LaVar Leap," to block a 37-yard FG try with his chest, and made a flying leap to stop a running back for no gain on a fourth-and-inches play.

1999 SEASON: Arrington solidified his spot in the annals of college football as one of the most dominating defensive players ever. He earned the Chuck Bednarik Award as the nation's top defensive player and the Dick Butkus Award as college football's premier linebacker. He was also a finalist for the Lombardi Trophy as college football's top lineman and the Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's best player. Arrington, an all-Big Ten first-team selection, played strongside linebacker and recorded career-highs in tackles (72), tackles-for-loss (20 for minus 98 yards), sacks (9.0), blocked kicks (two) and fumble recoveries (two). He was key to the Nittany Lions 10-3 season and their 24-0 rout of Texas A&M in the Alamo Bowl. He concluded his college career making 14 tackles, including an 8-yard sack, and forcing three ints. He began the season vs. Ariz by earning Big Ten Player of the Week honors after making seven tackles with three for-losses. The next week vs. Min, he made a season-high 15 tackles (six solo) and an 8-yard sack. Arrington was again named Big Ten Player of the Week in Penn State's 35-26 victory over Purdue by making five tackles, forcing a fumble he advanced two yards for a TD and sacking QB Drew Brees twice for 27 yards. He earned "Compac Play of the Week" honors for using the "LaVar Leap" to block a 37-yard FG attempt with his chest. Against Pitt, he returned an int 27 yards for a score and blocked a potential game-tying 52-yard FG with four seconds left to preserve a 20-17 Penn State victory. He made five tackles vs. Mia with two stops for losses and recovered a fumble at the Penn State 7-yard line. He then made seven tackles (four solo) with 2.5 sacks for minus 19 yards vs. OSU. He once hurdled over the line to take down QB Steve Bellisari, again earning "Compac Play of the Week" honors. Arrington made seven tackles vs. Iowa and six vs. Illinios. He finished sixth in school history in tackles for a loss and seventh in sacks. 1998: Arrington finished as a first-team all-American selection by The Sporting News, Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year, and a semifinalist for both the Dick Butkus Award and the Football News National Defensive Player of the Year Award. He started the last ten games at strongside linebacker, making 65 tackles (49 solo) with seven sacks for minus 27 yards and 17 stops for minus 52 yards. He caused two fumbles, recovered another and tied for the team lead in pass deflections (11). He also intercepted two passes, returning one 16 yards for a TD in the season-opener vs. Bowling Green. The next week vs. Pitt, he received the Coogan Award as the game's MVP, making six tackles (three solo), 3.0 sacks for minus 27 yards, four stops behind the line of scrimmage and an int. He next posted 11 tackles with a sack, two stops for-losses and two pass deflections vs. OSU, when he also caused two fumbles and recovered another. He once stole a handoff from OSU QB, a play that became known at the "Heist at the Horseshoe." For his effort, Arrington earned ABC Sports Player of the Game. He proceeded with an 11-tackle (nine solo) effort vs. Wisc and a nine stop game vs. Purdue, with a sack and three stops for losses of 11 yards. He made the "Compac Defensive Play of the Year" vs. Illinois after soaring over and between the left guard and center using the "LaVar Leap" to stop Illini running back Elmer Hickman for no gain on a fourth-and-inches. Afterward, head coach Ron Turner, Norv's brother, said: "It's phenomenal what he can do on a football field." Arrington ended the season with a 7-tackle performance vs. Kentucky in the Outback Bowl, including one stop for a 3-yard loss. 1997: A true freshman, Arrington saw significant action in every game, playing strongside linebacker. He tallied 26 tackles (20 solo), two sacks for nine yards, one forced fumble and a pass deflection. In Arrington's first game, he recorded a sack and two tackles and batted down a pass vs. Pitt. He made five tackles vs. Northwestern and Purdue, and delivered a bone-jarring hit on a MSU punt returner that caused a fumble, made four hits and deflected a pass vs. Louisville and tallied three tackles vs. Fla in the Citrus Bowl.

PERSONAL: Arrington was one of the greatest prep football players ever to emerge from the western Pennsylvania gridiron. He was the 1996 Parade National Player of the-Year as a senior linebacker and running back at North Hills High School in Pittsburgh. He was also selected Bobby Dodd National Offensive Player of the Year, Gatorade Player of the Year and USA Today Pennsylvania Player of the Year. He was the first player in Pennsylvania Class 4-A history to rush for more than 4,000 career yards, with 4,357 on 711 carries (6.1 avg) and 72 TDs. He also made 342 career tackles and 10 ints. Once, he subbed for an injured punter and the snap went into the end zone. He scrambled after it and returned it 107 yards for a TD. He was named to the all-time Western Pennsylvania district football team as a junior. He helped lead his team to the 1993 Class 4-A state title. He was twice chosen AP big school all-state. A rrington earned letters in basketball and track. He ran 10.78 in the 100-meter dash and was timed at 4.38 in the 40-yard dash at the NFL Scouting Combine in February 2000. Arrington was enrolled in the PSU College of Education. His older brother, Michael, played basketball at Slippery Rock. His father, Michael, is an ordained minister and military veteran who fought in Vietnam, where he severely damaged both legs. Arrington feels a powerful emotional tie to his father and, each time he takes to the field, he runs "for my father." His mother, Carolyn, is a special education teacher.

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Outland Trophy winner as the nation's best lineman and first-team all-American in 1999.
- Selected first-team all-SEC by coaches, AP, Birmingham News and Mobile Press Register in 1999.
- Made 42 straight starts at Alabama without yielding a sack.
- Won the Jacobs Award as the SEC's most outstanding blocker in 1999.
- Chosen first-team all-SEC by Birmingham News in 1998.
- Named second-team all-SEC by coaches in 1997 and 1998, and freshman all-SEC by the Knoxville News in 1996.

1999 SEASON: Samuels completed his celebrated career at Alabama by winning the Outland Trophy as college football's top lineman. He was also a semifinalist for the Lombardi Award and a first-team all-American. Samuels started 42 straight games, from his early in his 1996 freshman season until his last regular-season game at Alabama, without yielding a sack. (He had arthroscopic surgery on his right knee and missed the Orange Bowl, the Senior Bowl and the NFL Scouting Combine.) Samuels also didn't give up a QB pressure in 1999 and had 91 knockdown blocks. He won the Jacobs Award as the SEC's most outstanding blocker. He played nearly every offensive snap during the regular season and opened many holes for Shaun Alexander, who gained 1,383 yards rushing. Samuels ended the season with 887 snaps, posting season-highs of 90 vs. LSU, 83 in the first meeting vs. Florida and 81 vs. Arkansas in the SEC Championship game. By season's end, many pro scouts considered Samuels the best left tackle in college football. 1998: Samuels was a Birmingham News first-team all-SEC player and a conference second-teamer, according to the coaches. He emerged as Alabama's most consistent offensive lineman, allowing no sacks. He started all 11 games and played in every offensive snap except one of every game except one. Overall, he saw action in 732 of a possible 744 snaps. 1997: Samuels started every game, allowed no sacks and played in 745 snaps overall. He had a career-high 85 snaps vs. Kentucky and 79 snaps in back-to-back games vs. Mississippi and Louisiana Tech. The coaches named him a second-team all-SEC player. 1996: Samuels made steady progress as a true freshman and started the last seven games. He played in 532 snaps, fourth on the team behind offensive linemen Pete DiMario (809), John Causey (771) and Laron White (641). He was a freshman all-SEC selection by the Knoxville News. 1995: Samuels sat out as a redshirt freshman.

PERSONAL: Samuels played for coach Tommy Davis at John Shaw High School in Mobile, AL. He injured his neck late in his senior season and saw limited playing time. But he still graded 90 percent or better in every game whether playing on offense and defense. He helped Shaw to an 8-3 record and a spot in the state playoffs. Samuels majored in human performance at Alabama. He enjoys fishing, swimming and playing basketball. He was recently timed at 4.93 in the 40-yard dash. His brother, Lawrence, played football at Livingston University.

1999 SEASON: Harrison returned for his senior season after bypassing the NFL draft. He overcame a slow start to finish with 68 tackles (56 solo), five ints and three blocked kicks. He intercepted passes in each of the first two games vs. Texas and South Carolina. He also intercepted a pass and had 10 tackles vs. Virginia, and picked of a pass and posted nine tackles vs. Georgia Tech. He was voted first-team all-ACC, a third-team AP all-American and a semifinalist for the Jim Thorpe Award, which goes to the nation's top defensive back. 1998: Harrison crafted his best season in a Wolfpack uniform. He tied as the national runner-up in ints with seven, the most pick-offs by an NC State player since 1938. He was named first-team all-ACC and second-team all-American by the AP and Football News. He was also the ACC Defensive Back of the Week after games vs. Florida State, Clemson and Maryland, when he intercepted two passes in each game. Harrison set career-highs with 80 tackles (55 solo), seven ints and 23 pass break-ups. He was the Wolfpack's leading tackler, and four of his five ints were in the last four games of the season, a stretch when he also broke up 13 passes. His pass break-ups were also a high in the ACC. Harrison picked off two passesand broke up three vs. Florida State, lifting N.C. State to a shocking, 24-7 win. Against Clemson in late October, he caused a fumble and intercepted two passes, the last of which secured a 46-39 victory. He also posted 10 tackles (eight first hits) and three pass breakups vs. Clemson. When the Wolfpack needed a win vs. Maryland to secure a bowl appearance, he intercepted two passes, blocked a FG and dashed 57 yards for the game-breaking score. He collected a career-high 13 stops in an N.C. State win over Ohio to open the season. Harrison was in for 235 special teams plays. He made key blocks on punt returns for TDs vs. Florida State and North Carolina. He was named NC State's most valuable defensive back and special teams player of the year. 1997: Harrison played in all 11 games with two starts, posting 38 tackles (27 solo). He started vs. Maryland and Virginia. He had his best game at Florida State, collecting 10 tackles, and followed that effort with six stops vs. Virginia. 1996: Harrison played in 10 games mostly on special teams. He made three tackles. 1995: He redshirted the whole season.

PERSONAL: Harrison consistently ran a 4.4 40 throughout college but slipped to 4.53 at the NFL Scouting Combine in February. He competed in track at NC State, contributing to the school's ACC Championship 4x100 relay team. As a senior at Sewanhaka High School in Floral Park, NY, he earned all-county honors after rushing for 1,080 yards and 15 TDs in coach Tom Garner's option offense. He also intercepted five passes. He was runner-up for Nassau County Player of the Year. He was first-team all-Nassau County and second-team all-Long Island, according to the New York Daily News. He was MVP of the Long Island Outstanding Senior Games after rushing for more than 100 yards. He rushed for 802 yards as a junior, scoring nine TDs. He also scored on two int returns, a kickoff return and a punt return. He ran track in high school. Harrison majored in business management at NC State, where he was named to the 1997-98 ACC Honor Roll and finished third out of 68 entrants in the College of Management's Business Plan Competition in the spring 1998. During spring break 1999, Harrison made a cameo appearance in a rap video with Da Brat in Cancun. He was born in Jamaica and moved to America at age 3.

Quincy SANDERS

Safety

Ht: 6-1 Wt: 204
UNLV
Born: April 8, 1977
5th Round (155th overall)

35

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Ranked sixth all-time at UNLV with 270 tackles.
- Collected a career-high 104 tackles at UNLV as a senior in 1999.
- Intercepted a career-high two passes in 1997.
- First UNLV player to go as high as the 5th round in the NFL draft since offensive lineman Lonnie Palelei in 1993. He was the fifth UNLV defensive back ever drafted.

1999 SEASON: Sanders started all 11 games at free safety, posting career-best numbers in total tackles (104), solo stops (70) and assists (34). He finished second in total tackles, intercepted a pass, had three pass breakups and caused two fumbles. He overcame an injury that had led to his medical hardship status the previous season. Sixth all-time with 270 career tackles. Set school record for tackles in one game with 22 vs. Air Force in '99. 1998: Sanders played in UNLV's first two games, collecting 13 tackles (10 solo). But he needed surgery on his right anterior cruciate ligament and earned medical hardship status. He missed the rest of the season. 1997: Sanders started 11 games at free safety, finishing sixth on the team with 65 tackles (49 solo) and intercepting a career-high two passes, including one vs. Southern California. 1996: Sanders started eight games at free safety before injuries ended his season. He finished eighth on the team with 49 tackles (31 solo) and broke up one pass. 1995: Sanders, a freshman, was one of UNLV's major signings. A depleted defensive backfield forced him to play by the fifth game, and he started six of the last seven games. He finished with 39 tackles (24 solo) and three pass breakups. He missed the North Texas game due to a one-game suspension after a post-game brawl vs. Nevada-Reno.

PERSONAL: Sanders was the fifth UNLV player drafted by the Redskins, who lead the NFL in selecting players from that school. The Redskins also drafted running back Mike Thomas (1975), tight end Reggie Haynes (1977), defensive end Todd Liebenstein (1982) and wide receiver Keenan McCardell (1991). Sanders is a 1995 graduate of Reed High School in Sparks, NV. A two-way standout for the Raiders, he was a 1994 co-state Player of the Year by the Reno-Gazette-Journal and an all-American by Blue Chip Magazine. He was a two-year letterman for coach Courtney Bossert and helped the Raiders to a 7-2 record as a senior, when he caught 12 passes for more than 300 yards, rushed 10 times for more than 100 yards and made 55 tackles. He was named all-area, all-metro and all-state as a defensive back. He had four ints as a junior. He also averaged 15 points at point guard and lettered three years on the basketball team, which he led to a zone championship as a junior. Sanders majored in sociology at UNLV and was on the school's honor roll as a senior. He enjoys listening to music and writing songs. His favorite football player is another Sanders: Deion.

Stanford
Born: July 6, 1978
6th Round (202 overall)

CAREER HIGHLIGHTS:

- Named first-team all-Pac 10 as a senior in 1999, the first Stanford QB to earn such an honor since John Elway in 1982.
- Finished high in every major Stanford all-time passing category: fifth in passing yards (6,564), total offense (6,428), TD passes (41) and pass attempts (872), and sixth in completions (465).
- Third Stanford QB to throw for more than 3,000 yards in a season (3,092 in 1998).
- Threw for 300 yards in a game nine times at Stanford; twice topped 400 yards.
- School records for passing yards (450) and total yards (447) vs. Oregon State in '98.
- Threw 447 passes in 1998, the second-most in a season at Stanford.
- Threw 159 passes without an interception in 1998, breaking the Pac 10 record of 150. Oregon State's Terrance Bryant later set a new mark.

1999 SEASON: Husak was named first-team all-Pac 10 after leading the Cardinal to its first conference championship and Rose Bowl appearance in 28 seasons. He completed 176 of 308 passes for 2,688 yards and 18 TDs. Those numbers rank eighth in passing yards, ninth in total offense and 10th in TD passes in Stanford's single-season record book. He had five games of more than 300 yards. After going 20 for 35 for 311 yards and four TDs in a Nov. 13 game vs. Arizona State, he was named Pac-10 Offensive Player of the Week. His four TDs tied him for eighth on Stanford's single-game list. He led the Pac-10 and was 18th in the nation in total offense, averaging 269.1 yards per game. He was third in the conference and 11th nationally in passing efficiency. He started 11 of 12 games, including the Rose Bowl vs. Wisconsin. He missed the San Jose State game on Oct. 10 due to bruised ribs. 1998: In his first season as starting QB, Husak threw for 3,092 yards, joining Steve Stenstrom (3,627 in 1993) and John Elway (3,242 in 1982) as the other Cardinal QBs to exceed 3,000 yards in a season. Husak set Stanford's single-game passing record with 450 yards vs. Oregon State (26 of 48, two TDs), breaking Steve Dils' 1978 mark of 430. Husak's 419 yards passing vs. UCLA (25 of 45, one TD) was the third-best game in Stanford history. Overall, he completed 233 of 477 passes (.521) with 17 TDs and seven interceptions. He threw 159 passes without an interception, breaking the Pac-10 record of 150. That mark was later broken by Oregon State's Terrance Bryant. Husak's 447 pass attempts ranked second to Stenstrom's 455 in 1993. Husak's 3,026 yards total offense ranked third in school history behind Stenstrom and Elway. Husak had four games of more than 300 yards passing and two for more than 400. He ranked third in the Pac-10 in total offense per game at 275.1 yards. He won the Gundelach Award as Stanford's top junior. 1997: Husak played in six games. He completed 37 of 78 passes (47.4%) for 582 yards, five TDs and four ints. His most extensive playing time came in back-to-back games vs. USC and Washington State. He replaced Hutchinson in the second half vs. USC, completing 18 of 36 for 266 yards with two TDs. The next week Hutchinson injured his finger on the game's first play, but still hit 12 of 27 for 155 yards, two TDs and four ints. Against UCLA, he completed 3 of 5 passes for 90 yards and led the Cardinal on an 85-yard drive that ended with his 35-yard TD pass to Jimmie Johnson, Stanford's only score of the game. 1996: Husak played in four games, completing 19 of 39 passes for 202 yards, one TD and two INTs. He saw his first action in Week 2 vs. San Jose State. In Week 4 at Washington, he went 2 of 4 for 29 yards. His most extensive playing time came in Week 7 vs. Arizona State. Husak drove Stanford into scoring position to the ASU 32-yard line in his first series. Next, he led the Cardinal on an 89-yard drive that ended with his 45-yard TD pass to Greg Clark. He finished the game 17 of 34 for 173 yards and one TD.

PERSONAL: Husak completed 138 of 240 passes for 1,720 yards and 15 TDs as a senior in 1995 for St. John Bosco High School in Southern California. He was named first-team all-Del Rey League. Blue Chip Report named him a prep All-American and the 10th best QB prospect in the West. Super Prep Magazine named him to their all-Far West Team. Husak was 1995-96 CIF 1-A Southern Section Scholar-Athlete of the Year. He was named a Schutt Academic all-American after his senior season. He belonged to the National Honor Society and the California Scholastic Federation. He also played soccer for two seasons and was selected first-team all-Del Rey League as a senior. Husak majored in history at Stanford. His father, Bill Husak, is the athletic director at Loyola-Marymount University.

Allen Passes Riggo 1996	Terry Allen rushed past John Riggins' single-season rushing record gaining 1,353 yards. Allen also led the NFL in touchdowns with 21 TDs.
Pro Bowlers 1996	The Redskins sent their largest amount of representatives to the Pro Bowl since the 1991 season, when running back Terry Allen, quarterback Gus Frerotte, cornerback Darrell Green, linebacker Ken Harvey and punter Matt Turk made the trip to Hawaii.
So Long RFK Dec. 16, 1996	The Redskins played their final home game at Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium against the Dallas Cowboys. With Redskin greats from the past on hand, the Skins defeated the Cowboys 37-10. The Redskins finished 173-102-3 at RFK, including 11-1 in the playoffs.
Jack Kent Cooke Passes Away April 6, 1997	Jack Kent Cooke, only the second owner in Redskins history, dies of congestive heart failure at the age of 84. At his memorial service, John Kent Cooke, Sr. announces the new stadium will be called Jack Kent Cooke Stadium.
Big Jack Opens Sept. 14, 1997	The Redskins christen Jack Kent Cooke Stadium in style with a 19-13 overtime win over the Arizona Cardinals. In overtime, rookie Kenard Lang forces a fumble and that is recovered by rookie linebacker Derrick Smith at the Cardinals 35-yard line. Two plays later Gus Frerotte throws a 40-yard scoring strike to a leaping Michael Westbrook in the end zone.
Green is Tops 1997	Cornerback Darrell Green plays in his 217th career game as a Redskin breaking Monte Coleman's team record for games played.
Pro Bowlers 1997	Darrell Green earns his seventh Pro Bowl selection in his 15th season. He is also joined by fellow cornerback Cris Dishman, while linebacker Ken Harvey is selected for the fourth straight year and punter Matt Turk makes his second straight appearance.
Mitchell joins Brown 1998	Brian Mitchell led the NFL in total combined net yards for the fourth time joining Hall of Famer Jim Brown as the only players in NFL history to lead the league in total combined net yards four times.
Skip-In to the Endzone	Rookie running back Skip Hicks sets a Redskin rookie record with eight rushing touchdowns breaking Don Bossler's record of seven set in 1957.
Redskins Sold May 25, 1999	Daniel M. Snyder gains unanimous approval (31-0) from league owners to become the fourth owner in franchise history. Snyder buys team for a record $800 million – the most ever for an American sports franchise.
Skins Win East 12/26/99	The Redskins overcome a 10-point 4th quarter deficit to defeat the 49ers 26-20 in overtime. The win gives the Skins their first NFC East crown since 1991.
Records Fall 1999	Brad Johnson completes the season with 316 completions — most ever by a Redskin. His 4,005 yards and 519 attempts are second in club history. Stephen Davis' 1,405 yards are the most ever by a Redskin, lead all NFC rushers, and earn Davis his first birth in the Pro Bowl. Darrell Green increases his team records with his 50th interception and plays in his 250th Redskin game.

SELLOUTS

The Washington Redskins have been sold out for every regular season game since the beginning of the 1966 season. The Redskins have sold out 254 consecutive home games and with postseason contests the total reaches 267 over the 33-year period.

OVERTIME GAMES

In 1974, the NFL established overtime to decide regular season games. Since then, the Redskins have compiled an 13-8-1 record in overtime games.

November 2, 1975 - RFK Stadium
Washington 30, Dallas 24

Ken Houston returned a Roger Staubach interception 14 yards, and Billy Kilmer scored the winning touchdown after 6:34 of overtime action.

November 16, 1975 - Busch Stadium
St. Louis 20, Washington 17

Cards scored with 20 seconds remaining on "Mel Gray catch" to force overtime. St. Louis won cointoss and marched to 37-yard Jim Bakken field goal to win after seven minutes of play.

November 23, 1975 - RFK Stadium
Oakland 26, Washington 23

George Blanda's 27-yard field goal decided contest after 7:13.

September 27, 1976 - Veterans Stadium
Washington 20, Philadelphia 17

Mark Moseley's 29-yard field goal won Monday night game with 12:49 elapsed in overtime.

November 12, 1978 - RFK Stadium
Washington 16, New York Giants 13

Redskins won on Moseley's 45 -yard field goal after 3:32 elapsed.

November 15, 1981 - Giants Stadium
Washington 30, New York Giants 27

Moseley kicked 49-yard field goal on game's final play to force overtime and a 48-yard field goal to win with 3:44 elapsed.

September 12, 1982 - Veterans Stadium
Washington 37, Philadelphia 34

Redskins sent the game into overtime on a 48-yard field goal by Moseley with :01 to play. Moseley won the game with a 26-yarder with 4:47 elapsed.

November 2, 1986 - RFK Stadium
Washington 44, Minnesota 38

Jay Schroeder engineered a four play 63-yard drive ending with a Gary Clark 38 yard TD pass.

December 26, 1987 - Metrodome
Washington 27, Minnesota 24

Ricky Sanders' 51-yard touchdown reception from Doug Williams with less than two minutes remaining ties score at 24. Haji-Sheikh kicks 26-yard game-winning field goal after Sanders' 36-yard kickoff return in overtime.

December 17, 1988 - Riverfront Stadium
Cincinnati 20, Washington 17

Jim Breech connected from 20 yards out seven minutes into sudden death.

November 4, 1990 - Pontiac Silverdome
Washington 41, Detroit 38

Chip Lohmiller's 34-yard field goal 9:10 into overtime capped the Redskins comeback that equalled the team's greatest in history. Down by 21 points in the third quarter and 17 points entering the fourth, Jeff Rutledge's 12-yard run tied the game with :18 seconds remaining.

November 3, 1991 - RFK Stadium
Washington 16, Houston 13

Darrell Green intercepted Warren Moon and Lohmiller's 41-yard field goal 5:01 into overtime moved the Redskins to 9-0. The Oilers tied the game with less than two minutes in regulation and had a chance to win after Brian Mitchell fumbled the kickoff, but Ian Howfield's 33-yard attempt sailed wide left.

October 16, 1994 - RFK Stadium
Arizona 19, Washington 16

Arizona scored the tying TD with :19 in regulation and scored the winning points with 4:56 in overtime. Arizona's game-winner was set up by Terry Hoage who intercpeted a Heath Shuler pass and returned it 12 yards to the 23. Peterson kicked the game-winning 29-yard field goal.

October 8, 1995 - Veterans Stadium
Philadelphia 37, Washington 34

Down 10 points in the 4th quarter, Gus Frerotte guided the Redskins back with a touchdown pass to Henry Ellard and Eddie Murray's 46-yard field goal tied it up with :52 left. In OT, Washington stalled on its opening drive and the Eagles' Gary Anderson won the game with a 35-yard field goal.

October 22, 1995 - RFK Stadium
Washington 36, Detroit 30

Trailing 30-27, Eddie Murray's 39-yard field goal tied it with :04 to play. Darrell Green's seven-yard interception return of a Scott Mitchell pass for a touchdown 3:41 into overtime ended the game.

November 10, 1996 - RFK Stadium
Arizona 37, Washington 34

In one of the most bizarre games in Redskin history, the Skins led by 14 points in the fourth quarter only to squander the lead. The Cardinals won the coin toss, and drove to the Redskins 15, only to have Kevin Butler miss. The Skins' Scott Blanton booted the apparent 38-yard game-winner, but a holding penalty forced a retry from 48 that went wide left. Arizona then tried a 29 yarder that missed, only the Redskins were offside. Butler's third attempt was good from 32-yards.

November 24, 1996 - RFK Stadium
San Francisco 19, Washington 16

San Francisco's William Floyd's 1-yard touchdown run tied the game in regulation. After winning the coin toss in overtime, the 49ers Jeff Wilkins hit a 38-yard field goal to win.

September 14, 1997
Washington 19, Arizona 13

Westrook in the end zone. The winning points were set up two plays earlier when rookie defensive end Kenard Lang forces a fumble and rookie linebacker recovers on the Redskins 35-yard line.

November 23, 1997
Washington 7, NY Giants 7

In overtime the Redskins turn the ball over three times, but the defense forces two punts and the Giants miss a 54-yard field goal. With under two minuets remaining, the Redskins drive to the Giants 36-yard line but a 54-yard field goal attempt falls short with :11 seconds left in overtime.

September 12, 1999 — FedEx Field
Dallas 41, Washington 35

Dallas stopped the Skins' first overtime drive and then scored on a 76-yard bomb from Troy Aikman to Rocket Ismail.

November 28, 1999 — FedEx Field
Washington 20, Philadelphia 17

Brett Conway's game-winning 27-yard FG was set up by a 48-yard kickoff return by James Thrash, which opened the overtime period. The Eagles never had the ball.

December 26, 1999 — 3Com Park
Washington 26, San Francisco 20

The Redskins overcame a 10-point fourth quarter deficit to win their ninth game of the year and clinch the NFC East. Brad Johnson's QB sneak from the 1-yard line with 3:28 in regulation sent the game into the extra period. On the opening drive, Johnson connected with Larry Centers for a 33-yard TD.

FedExField

FedExField is the premier stadium in the National Football League. Located in Landover, MD, the privately financed FedExField was completed in a record 17 months and hosted the Redskins home opener in 1997 – a 19-13 overtime win against the Arizona Cardinals.

The stadium is located on a 200-acre site and is the largest outdoor stadium in the NFL with over 85,000 seats – nearly 4,000 more than the next-largest, the Pontiac Silverdome. FedExField is one of just two stadiums with three tiers of luxury suites, a total of 224. Suites are equipped with restrooms, a refrigerator, televisions, lounge area, two rows of seats, and bar stools.

FedExField increased the Redskins attendance capacity by over 40% when the team left RFK Stadium after 1996. Nevertheless, the Redskins have sold out every home game for the past 33 seasons (254 regular season and 13 playoff games) including all 25 contests at FedExField. All eight games for the 2000 season are sold out as well as both pre-season contests.

Construction on FedExField began in March, 1996 and cost $250 million. The following year, $30 million was spent to create a 170,000 square-foot atrium encircling the entire stadium making the Joe Gibbs Club Level the most spectacular in the league.

Snyder pledges $35 million in improvements

When Daniel M. Snyder became the Redskins owner in July, 1999, one of his first tasks was to make additional improvements to FedExField. Immediately, millions were invested in such projects as replacing metal rails with glass rails in order to provide unobstructed sight lines in the stadium bowl. The sound system was significantly upgraded and the parking lot was re-structured and re-routed to greatly improve the traffic flow on game days.

After his inaugural season, Snyder spent over $20 million to enhance FedExField. New in 2000 are two escalators for fans in the upper tier. The spectacular new Owner's Club Suite Level has been created. A 3,000-foot circumference wind screen has been installed around the top of the stadium to improve fan comfort. Seats were added to both the general and loge level. A sophisticated radiant heating system has been installed throughout the loge level. The Hall of Fame Store has been remodeled and completely re-merchandised with new Redskins products. Finally, the field has been improved and re-sodded.

Recommended Routes

FedExField is conveniently located for fans in Washington DC, Maryland, and Virginia.

Metro: Washington Metro Area Transit Authority (WMATA) provides public transportation to the stadium. Shuttle bus service is provided to and from the Addison Road and Landover Stations.

From Northern Virginia: Take I-495/95 North (Wilson Bridge) to either Exit 15-A (Central Ave. east), 15-B (Central Ave. west), or Exit 16 (Stadium/Arena Dr.)

From Montgomery and Howard Counties: Take I-95/495 south to Exit 17-A (Rt. 202/Landover Road east), Exit 17-B (Rt. 202/Landover Rd. east), or Exit 16 (Stadium/Arena Dr.).

From Prince Georges and Anne Arundel Counties: Take 50 west to 495 south. Exit at 17-A (Rt. 202/Landover Road east), Exit 17-B (Rt. 202/Landover Rd. east), or Exit 16 (Stadium/Arena Dr.).

From Washington DC: Take East Capitol St. east. It becomes Central Ave. in Maryland (Rt. 214) to Summerfield Rd.

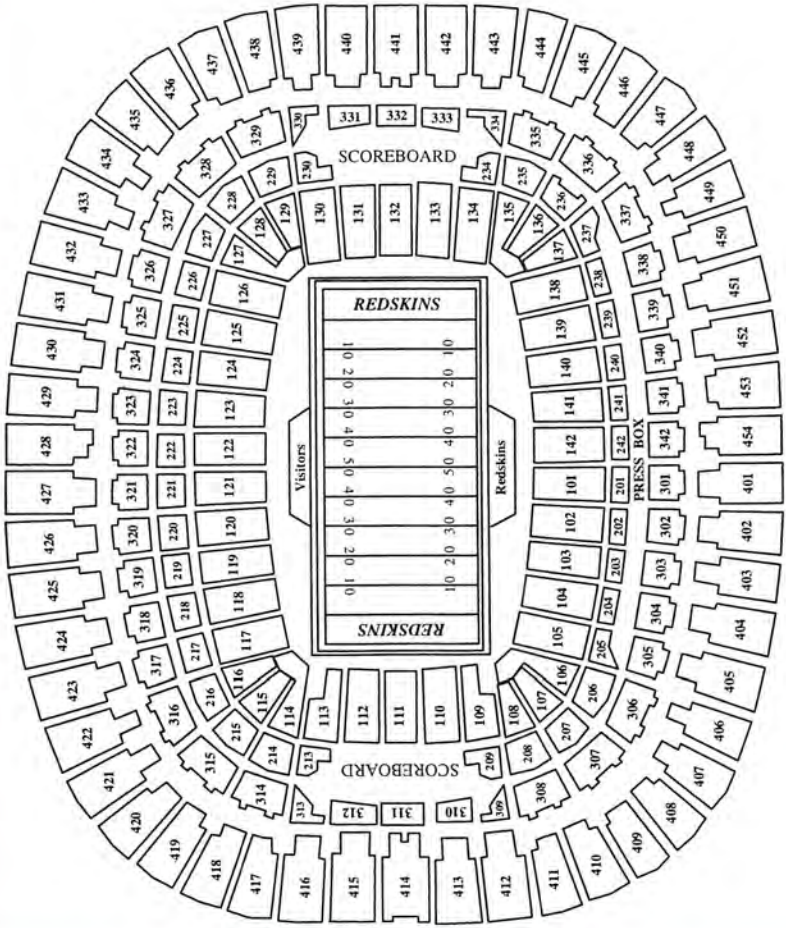

A DAY OF FIRSTS: SEPTEMBER 14, 1997

The Redskins Opened with a thrilling 19-13 overtime victory over the Arizona Cardinals in front of a record crowd of Washington fans.

In their first game at their new home, the Redskins were forced into overtime when Cardinals kicker Kevin Butler connected on a 47-yard field goal to tie the score with just two seconds remaining.

The Cards won the toss to start the extra period, but rookie defensive Kenard Lang stripped Arizona running back Leeland McElroy of the football, and Derek M. Smith recovered for the Skins on the 35-yard line. Quarterback Gus Frerotte was sacked on first down, but on the next play he found Michael Westbrook in the endzone for a game-winning 40-yard TD.

REDSKINS PARK

Rising from a former dairy farm and set on a picturesque 162 acres of land in Ashburn, Virginia is the Redskins' training facility.

The Redskins' home since August of 1992, the state-of-the-art NFL complex has four football fields (three natural grass and one turf), ample parking, and first-class provisions for electronic and print media.

Located in Beaumeade Corporate Park near the intersection of Virginia State routes 28 and 625 (Waxpool Road), the two-story concrete and glass structure houses the front office and coaching staff, as well as team meeting rooms, an auditorium, player and staff locker rooms, the strength and conditioning equipment room, training rooms, and the video studio. The training room also has an X-ray room and dentist office, in addition to private examining rooms for doctors. The building amasses some 65,000 square feet.

The public area of the building consists of large hallways and high ceilings with natural lighting.

The upper floor consists of a large team-meeting auditorium with connecting meeting rooms for offensive and defensive coaches and players. Coaches, as well as college and pro scouts, have their offices and video rooms on this floor.

The club's accounting, marketing, public relations, and administrative offices are also located on the upper floor. An adjacent media room has individual cubicles furnished with desks, and electrical outlets for beat reporters. The media room, as well as the auditorium and locker room, is pre-wired for direct television uplink.

The lower level opens to three natural grass practice fields and one astro-turf practice field.

The 2000 season opens at Redskins Park as the team will hold training camp at its headquarters in Ashburn, VA for the first time ever. The Redskins Park location is a new and unique benefit for Redskins fans as the team prepares for an exciting season. Training camp will be open to the public from July 20 through August 17. In addition to watching their favorite players and gathering autographs, fans will have the opportunity to enjoy the world famous NFL Experience. The NFL Experience incorporates a wide variety of games and football simulated challenges fun for all ages.

The Redskins have also created a fan village including a 6000-square-foot fully air conditioned Redskins store and an equally-sized fully air conditioned Redskins restaurant.

It is expected that media coverage will be extensive. As such, large air conditioned tents arranged to provide electricity, phones, and internet link-ups have been constructed for the working press to allow for comfortable working conditions.

PLEASE NOTE: members of the press are required to obtain credentials to cover the Redskins training camp. Requests must be on the news organization's letterhead and should be mailed to: Doug Green at 21300 Redskins Park Dr., Ashburn, VA 20147. Requests may also be faxed to 703-723-7081.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS LEADERSHIP COUNCIL

In January of 2000, The Washington Redskins teamed up with the CEOs from 40 of the area's largest corporations for the benefit of the community and launched the Washington Redskins Leadership Council. Founded by Redskins Owner, Daniel M.Snyder, the Leadership Council concept is unique to all of professional sports in that it brings together the influence of the Washington Redskins with the assets of 40 area corporations for the benefit of the community. These CEOs help shape the philanthropic efforts of the Redskins for the greatest benefit and impact of the Washington community.

The Leadership Council has defined five focus areas and throughout the year will implement programs, award grants and create partnerships with non-profit organizations to achieve maximum results in these defined focus areas.

The five focus areas for the Leadership Council are:

- Educational Support Initiatives
- Community Service and Youth Involvement
- Access to Technology
- Children's Health Issues and Medical Research
- Drug Abuse Prevention and Youth Violence Prevention

During the summer of 2000, the Leadership Council launched two highly successful signature programs; the Redskins Rookies Read Summer Reading Program to encourage area children to visit their local libraries and Redskins All-Stars, a program designed to get children involved in community service.

WWW.REDSKINS.COM

With the opening of the Washington Redskins Training Camp 2000 on July 20, the team introduced phase one of the re-launch of its web site, adding real time reports and state-of-the-art graphics to an already informative site. Located at www.redskins.com the site is the authority for daily information about the Redskins.

Full of information and news from Redskins Park, training camp, and FedExField, the site provides visitors with new pictures and stories as they develop, as well as the ability to register for e-mail updates when information is posted. Visiting www.redskins.com gives Redskins fans access to behind-the-scenes information that cannot be found anywhere else.

Press releases, photos, breaking news, and team reports are just a few of the features found on the new site. New attractions include daily updates, a sneak peak into Redskin Official Weekly, the official newspaper of the Washington Redskins, and up-to-date statistics to satisfy the most fanatical Redskin follower.

www.redskins.com offers attractions for an eclectic array of readers:

Locker Room: Everything from season statistics, rosters, and up-to-date depth charts. "Ask Redskins" feature allows visitors to submit questions for players, coaches or other team officials and satisfy their own questions about the inner workings of the team and organization.

Press Box: All the latest news and weekly press releases from Redskin Park and FedExField. Sign up here for the Redskin e-mail list, where you are alerted first about new information on the site.

Stadium Info: Find any information about FedExField, including the location of seats, directions to the stadium via car or Metro, parking information, and the rules and regulations governing the stadium.

Tailgate Party: Take a look at pictures of Redskins fans from home and away games. Lyrics to the Redskin fight song (as if you'd forget!) can be found here as well.

Leadership Council: The Redskins' primary community outreach organization is involved in so many events, sometimes it's hard to keep track! Check this part of the site for all times and places of charitable events, so you can help a worthy cause and meet your favorite Redskins as a bonus.

Washington Redskins Cheerleaders: Learn more about your favorite First Ladies of Football. Not only can you read each cheerleader's individual bio, but you can also find information about new calendars and events.

The Redskins Store: All the necessities for the true Redskin fanatic, including jerseys, hats, tailgating equipment, and other unique items.

The re-launch of Redskins.com is just the start of new and exciting changes to come. Check in as often as possible to ensure you don't miss any of the new features or news updates provided at Redskins.com, as the site's content will be changing all the time. Whether looking for training camp updates or Redskin ticket rates, cheerleader bios, or a Deion Sanders jersey — www.redskins.com is the authority for Washington Redskins information on the web.

GAMEDAY

Credentials: Media who have not been issued season press credentials need to request single game credentials. Requests must be on the news organization's letterhead and should be mailed to: Doug Green at the above Redskin Park address. Requests may also be faxed to 703-723-7081. All credentials will be left at the Will Call window located at Gate A. Guests are not permitted in the FedExField Press Box and credentials are issued to working press only.

Auxiliary Press Box: In the event that the FedExField Pressbox reaches its capacity limit, the Redskins will credential press to the auxiliary press box located in the Visiting team interview room. Monitors are provided to cover the game and it will be staffed with a member of the Redskins PR Department. Stats will be promptly delivered and occupants are permitted post-game locker room and interview access.

Media Entrance: All media with proper credentials should enter the stadium at Gate A. The Will Call window opens three hours prior to kickoff.

Photographers: Sideline credentials for field photographers are issued by the Redskins PR department. Free-lance photographers who are not on specific assignment on a recognized sports or news publication will not be accredited. Credentials are marked to only allow photographers on one side of the field – either Home or Visitor.

Parking: Television trucks that provide satellite, uplink, or microwave functions will be parked in Lot B1. Parking passes issued to media are typically assigned to the B1 lot.

Directions: (See page 287 for directions to FedExField.)

Telephones: The Redskins provide a limited number of co-op credit card phones for copy transmission. To order a phone line in the press box, your request must be faxed to: Genae Russell at 703-729-7610.

Post-game interviews: Members of the media needing to conduct post-game interviews will be given access to players and coaches after the NFL-mandated "cooling off period." Access is available only to media with proper credentials. No still photography is allowed in the locker room. Redskins head coach Norv Turner and a key player or two will conduct their post-game press conference in an the press interview room located on the field level of FedExField. The visiting head coach will be available in the interview room located directly opposite the visiting locker room.

DURING THE WEEK

Releases / Stats: All press releases, rosters, depth charts, and up-to-date statistics are quickly available on the Redskins official website at www.redskins.com

Interviews: All interview requests for Redskin coaches, players, or staff, must come through the Redskins Public Relations Staff.

Access: Players are available to accredited media during specific interview periods during the week. On Mondays and Fridays, players are available after their morning workout/practice. On Wednesdays and Thursdays the locker room will be open from 11:45 to 12:45 pm. Players are off-limits on Saturdays and before games on Sundays.

Coach Turner will hold a Monday press conference at 4:00 pm in the media room at Redskin Park. During the week, he is available at the end of each practice/workout.
